Five given 'State' try...

All Region choir selections chosen

All Regional choir competition Saturday at Abilene's Cooper High School saw five Snyder students qualify to advance to state competition in Odessa Jan. 5.

They were among 32 area singers who were chosen. All levels of high schools compete against each other in the singing events.

In addition, of the 20 SHS choir members who qualified to compete at Abilene Saturday, 18 were named to the All Region Choir and the remaining two were chosen as alternates.

The top four singers in each vocal category were selected to advance to state. The top 16 in each category were chosen for the 128-member All Region Choir.

Snyder choir members who qualified to compete at state and how they placed Saturday include:

—Soprano I: Dana Parham, first.

—Tenor I: Terry Rumpff, second.

—Tenor II: Marvin Morrell, third.

—Bass II: Patrick Malone, second; Geoffrey Chamblee, fourth.

These singers are also part of those chosen as members of the All Region Choir. As part of this designation, they qualified to attend a choir clinic scheduled in Vernon Dec. 1 — a Saturday.

This clinic will conclude at 7 p.m. that day with a performance of the 128-member group in Wilbarger Auditorium.

Heading up the clinic will be

STATE QUALIFIERS — These five members of the Snyder High School Choirs qualified to audition for the TMEA All-State Choir during All-Region Choir auditions in Abilene Saturday. This year's state qualifiers are (front from left) Geoffery Chamblee, Patrick Malone, Dana Parham, (back) Terry Rumpff and Marvin Morrell. A total of 18 SHS vocalists made the All-Region group with two chosen as alternates for the honor. (SDN Staff Photo)

Recent rain at 2 inches

Weekend rains left more than 2 inches of moisture in select areas of Scurry County.

Snyder received .58 of an inch in all, upping the year's total to 14.89 inches. The area east of Snyder received 2 inches of rain.

Fluvanna reported 2½ inches while Ira received 2 inches, Hermleigh 2.01 inches and Dunn 2.03 inches.

The west end of Lake Thomas reported 1½ inches of rain.

Fireman of year honor scheduled

Four Snyder firemen and one auxiliary member will be honored Tuesday night when the local firefighters gather for their 55th Annual Thanksgiving Banquet at the Snyder Country Club.

Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell will conclude the formal presentations for the year with the presentation of the annual Fireman of the Year Award.

Also on the agenda is the naming of the 1984 Fire Department Sweetheart and the presentation of service pins to department personnel.

Fire Captian Terry Sowell will receive a 10-year service award Tuesday with five-year pins to be presented to Ronnie Clawson, Bobby Hataway Sr. and John Pilgrim.

Mexico City fire rages

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A series of explosions at a natural gas processing complex triggered a huge fire today in a suburb of the Mexican capital, devastating a densely-populated residential area. Authorities said at least 80 people were killed and more than 550 were seriously injured.

Mexico State Gov. Alfredo del Mazo said in a live television interview, "A little more than 80 people have perished and more than 300 were injured."

Red Cross and police rescue workers, setting up first aid facilities in a subway station and a church in the poor, crowded city of Tlalnepantla on the northeast outskirts of the Mexican capital, said at least 550 people had been treated for serious injuries.

"The place is full and more still are coming. They're all over the place," said Dr. Alfredo Jaime, a surgeon at the Medica Center General Hospital.

At midmorning, rescue officials were evacuating thousands of residents — some in city buses and some in school buses — because they feared flames could ignite a huge central storage tank containing millions of gallons of liquefied gas belonging to the state petroleum monopoly PEMEX.

Witnesses reported the fires broke out immediately after one large explosion followed by perhaps a dozen others. The fires, which sent plumes of smoke rising a mile into the air, were still burning four hours after the first explosions.

Many people fled the fires on foot, some clad only in their underwear.

Health bid ok'd Monday

A bid of $48,654 was awarded Monday morning to T.E. Shelburne & Son for interior renovation to the Scurry County Health Unit.

The work will consist of new vinyl wall coverings plus new carpeting for the facility.

A portion of the building's floor has also "sunk" a few inches due to the settling of the foundation.

These uneven floor levels are to be repaired also.

The local company's bid was the only one received for the project Monday.

In other county business, commissioners agreed to consider a request to allow an unused "bath house" at Winston Park to be converted into a meeting room for a local chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Without granting a final okay, however, the court agreed to look at the facility to determine what might be done.

Local AA representative Doug Riley noted the group was about to lose its current meeting spot at the Humble Smith school campus.

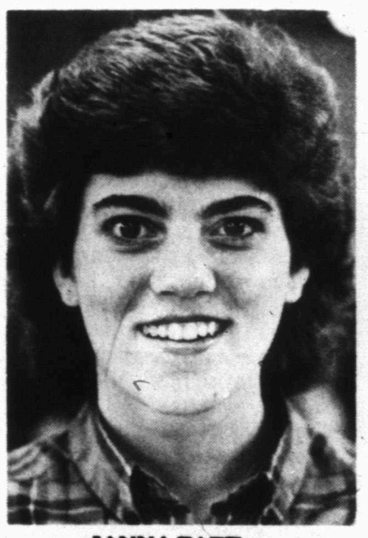

He said the proposed facility, unused since the swimming pool at Winston Park was closed, would require considerable fixing up, however.

As part of his request, he said group members would be responsible for such fixup items as adding a new metal roof and eliminating petitions now inside the bath house.

He also noted that as part of the tradition of AA, they would rent the facility rather than ask the county to provide it for free.

Gold Star winners head for Lubbock

Snyder's two 4-H Gold Star winners were to join other youth from across West Texas at the 27th Annual South Plains 4-H Gold Star Banquet Monday night in Lubbock.

Representing Snyder will be Janna Tate and Tammy Ritchey. Jana is also among program participants at the banquet.

In addition, Dr. Don Newbury, president of Western Texas College, will be the keynote speaker at the event.

The 41 most outstanding 4-H members in the 20-county Lubbock district will be honored with the Gold Star Award, sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

James E. (Pete) Laney will serve as master of ceremonies. Jim Bob Carver of Abernathy and Brandon Harris of Lamesa will narrate the awards ceremony.

Dr. Catherine B. Crawford, district extension director for home economics; and Billy G. Gunter, district extension director for agriculture, will present

Q. — Has the official first freeze occurred for Scurry County yet and when does this normally occur?

A. — Frost has been noted on at least two mornings, but an official freezing temperature has not been recorded as yet. The average first freeze date for the county is Nov. 4.

In Brief

Issue denial

MANILA, Philppines (AP) — The presidential palace said today that President Ferdinand E. Marcos is well and working "as usual," and denied a former Cabinet minister's claim that Marcos had undergone a "major surgical operation."

A palace news release quoted Amante Bigornia, assistant presidential press secretary, as saying that Marcos, who has not seen in public for several days and has been rumored to be ill, "has been in touch with key officials of the administration all the time."

Game break-in

The break-in and theft of items from a football fan's automobile was reported Sunday to police. The incident was filed by Kay Logston of Stamford.

She called at 2:24 p.m. and told investigators that her car had been broken into Friday night while parked at Tiger Stadium during the Stamford-Seagraves football game.

Listed as taken from the car were some radio equipment and an undetermined amount of cash.

Car returned

Police are investigating an unauthorized use of a motor vehicle complaint filed by a local used car dealer Sunday morning.

According to reports, Kirk Casey, an employee of T.C. Goss' Southside Motor Co. on College Ave. called police at 8:31 a.m. Sunday. Officers were told a car on the lot had apparently been taken and driven without the permission of the owner. The vehicle had been returned to the lot.

Debakey treated for ulcer

HOUSTON (AP) — World-famed heart surgeon Dr. Michael DeBakey was alert and in good spirits after doctors began treating him for an intestinal ulcer, a hospital spokesman says.

DeBakey, 76, was in "very good condition" Sunday in Methodist Hospital, where he was taken by ambulance a day earlier, David Blackshear said.

"He's in a very good mood," Blackshear said. "He's in good spirits."

Doctors determined DeBakey has a benign ulcer on the duodenum, the upper section of the intestine that adjoins the stomach, Blackshear said.

DeBakey was alert when he arrived at the hospital Saturday afternoon for tests and treatment of an "intestinal upset," Blackshear said, adding that officials don't know how long DeBakey will remain hospitalized.

Marie Osmond, husband separate

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Marie Osmond, married two years ago to former Brigham Young University basketball player Stephen L. Craig, has "temporarily separated" from her husband, a family spokesman says.

The spokesman told the Salt Lake Tribune the couple, who became parents of a boy last year, decided last week to spend some time apart.

Boy who killed duo approaches freedom

DALLAS (AP) — David Randall Keeler was 14 when he shot his parents to death in their wealthy North Dallas home.

That was three years ago, and Keeler, who will turn 18 Dec. 29, is about to be released from an exclusive psychiatric facility.

Those who know him say the youth is a lot like any other high school senior approaching graduation. He thinks about attending college and wonders what the future might hold for him.

But Keeler is the family outcast. His relatives speak to him only through lawyers. They want him to go to college only if it's far away.

Keeler was a handsome honor student at St. Mark's School of Texas when he shot his parents following a scolding by his father over his hairstyle and failure to make his bed.

The deaths of William A. Keeler, president of Arco Oil and Gas Co., and his wife, Anita Faye Keeler, on July 12, 1981 shocked the couple's friends. They described the parents as devoted to their youngest child.

Health experts say the father's criticism unleashed an uncontrollable rage in his son that had been building for years.

Texas law did not allow Keeler when he was 14 to face charges as an adult and doctors advised against sending the boy to the Texas Youth Commission. Instead, they recommended that Keeler be committed to Timberlawn Psychiatric Hospital.

The recommendation was followed by state District Judge Craig Penfold.

In an interview with the Dallas Morning News, Penfold said he is convinced that Timberlawn was the proper place to send Keeler because of the limted resources of the state youth commission.

The judge said he believes society has been protected and that the youth's restricted lifestyle at Timberlawn has served to punish him.

"He also has to live with what he did for the rest of his life," Penfold said. "That may be the worst punishment of all."

On his 18th birthday, Keeler will be declared an adult not subject to control by juvenile authorities. His juvenile record can be sealed and he cannot be prosecuted in adult court for the slaying of his parents.

Unless his family tries to have him declared mentally incompetent to manage his own affairs, Keeler will also be emancipated from a legal guardianship imposed on him by a Dallas probate court judge.

As part of a settlement agreement with his sister and two older brothers, David will share in the $1.2 million estate left by his parents.

"I think the spirit of the deal is that no one will comment," said Darrell Jordan, an attorney for Keeler's sister, Barbara, and brother, Robert.

Penfold said a condition of the settlement was that Keeler not attend Southern Methodist University in Dallas or the University of Texas at Austin because of the proximity to his siblings.

"It's just tragic situation," Penfold said.

Penfold, who has received monthly reports from the boy and his doctors, said Keeler has made "superb" grades in school and steady progress in learning how to express his feelings constructively.

Man Can Find Lost Love By Following Her Oregon Trail

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: This is for "In Love in Oregon," who went to Harris Beach, Ore., and met a girl from Grants Pass. He said it was love at first sight and they spent a fabulous weekend together, but they said goodbye before he could get her last name. He asked you to help him find her.

If he's sincere, he should have no trouble finding her. He could go to Grants Pass and knock on doors, asking, "Does Mary live here?"

Or he could place an ad in the local newspaper saying, "Mary, I love you. Call me!" (And give his telephone number.)

Or he could get copies of the local high school yearbooks for the appropriate years and find her picture.

He could also have fliers printed saying, "MISSING. THE GIRL I LOVE. FIRST NAME 'MARY.' PLEASE HELP ME FIND HER!" and tack the fliers on telephone poles.

Of course, if he feels that the time and expense aren't worth it, he doesn't deserve to find her.

PORT RICHEY, FLA.

DEAR PORT: If he places an ad in the Grants Pass newspaper saying, "Mary, I love you. Call me," and gives his telephone number, he may have more marriageable Marys than he knows what to do with. He might even meet another "Mary" and fall madly in love with her at first sight, too.

There's even an outside chance that his Mary is already married, or going (or living) with someone, and she's hiding.

DEAR ABBY: Your recent column in which you made a pitch for handgun control was a lot of bull. You said: In 1980, handguns killed 77 people in Japan, eight in Great Britain, 24 in Switzerland, eight in Canada, 23 in Israel, 18 in Sweden, four in Australia and 11,522 in the United States. You said we must be doing something wrong.

I can tell you what we're doing wrong. In foreign countries, criminals are stopped after their first crime because bleeding-heart liberals haven't forced the judicial system to put the rights of the criminal before those of the victim.

If people really want to get rid of handguns, they should put the criminals behind bars where they belong. Then the rest of us won't have to carry guns to protect ourselves and loved ones.

DEAR ABBY: I'm hoping that you or perhaps one of your readers can help me. I am a cross-country skier who froze the tips of two toes the winter before last. This past winter, they were very sensitive to the cold and did not take long to freeze. I was miserable.

I have even considered having these toes amputated, one to the first joint and the other to the second joint, but I'm afraid they will feel like they are still there, and frozen.

Does anyone have any suggestions about how to keep these toes warm and from freezing?

I've asked in ski shops, and no one has come up with a solution.

DEAR LOVES: Please, do not consider amputation! See your physician. Surely he or she can come up with a suitable solution.

Night-time court session conducted

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Jurors in the trial of a businessman accused of killing his family heard testimony in a rare Sunday night session ordered by a judge who wanted to prevent them from seeing a television movie about an Army doctor convicted of a similar crime.

The extraordinary night session was ordered in the murder trial of David Hendricks of Bloomington to coincide with the broadcast of NBC's two-part dramatization, "Fatal Vision."

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Make your imagination work for you today, not against you. Try to envision yourself a winner, instead of seeing yourself coming out on the short end.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be on guard this evening so a dispute does not ensue with a pal over something material. Place friendship notches above worldly goods.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Evaluate your objectives and goals wisely today or you might waste a lot of time and effort struggling for something you may not need or want.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Friends may find you a trifle difficult to get along with today because of your reluctance to reveal what's really disturbing you. Be forthright.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be doubly careful if you have to conduct financial matters later in the day. If you're less alert, your chances for costly mistakes increase.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Have faith in your own abilities today but by the same token, don't underestimate your competition. Poor judgment could turn a winning situation into a losing one.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Confrontations can be avoided today if you're not too critical of others or try to remake them in your own mold. Let each express his individuality.

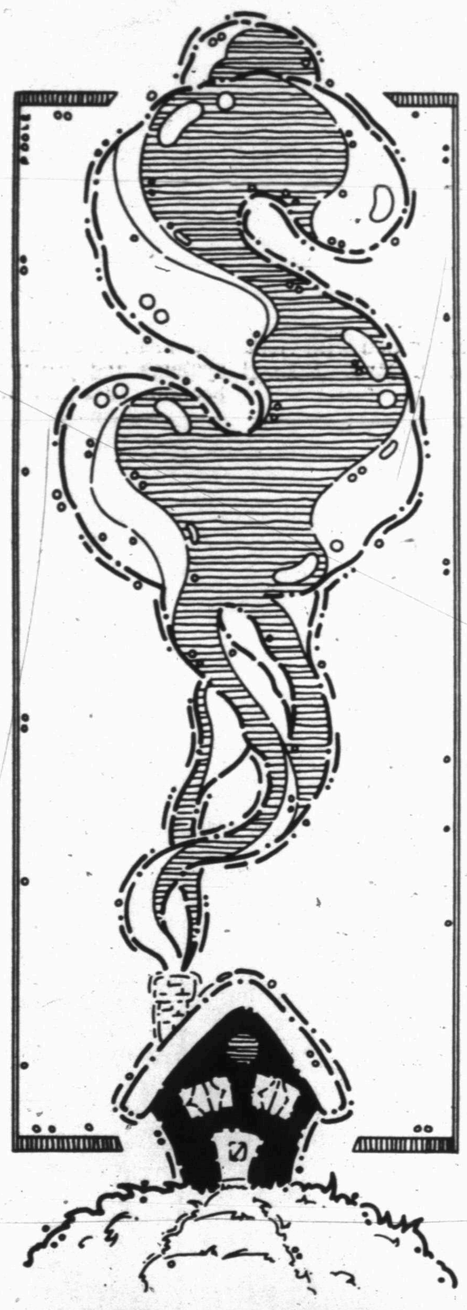

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't allow yourself to be pressured by others today to abandon or lower your standards for their selfish purposes. Abide by your ideals.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A failure to cooperate with one who has been supportive in the past could jeopardize this relationship or perhaps even sever it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Keep a close eye on co-workers today who are using dangerous tools or materials. Be sure that they are taking sensible safety measures at all times.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Do not take wild gambles today in order to recoup previous losses. Foolish risks could put you deeper in the red instead of getting you out of it.

WHY SPEND SO MUCH TO KEEP WARM?

Get a gas furnace.
Gas furnaces save money. In fact, if you're heating your home with a non-gas system and you switch to high-efficiency gas heat, you'll cut your operating costs in half.
Sound too good to be true?
Believe it. Because high-efficiency gas furnaces operate for half the cost of non-gas systems. And compared to older gas models, that are 60% efficient, new high-efficiency furnaces are 83 to 96 percent efficient. And most come with a twenty-year warranty. So you can save on heating costs for years to come.

An overbidder gets lucky

By James Jacoby

The Fall North American Championships in San Diego are in full swing today, with the finals of the Life Master Men's and Women's Pairs taking place. The results of those two prestigious events will not be known until late tonight. Whoever wins will surely be able to tell of an occasional ridiculous contract brought in by good luck. But don't forget good bridge. For an example of both, look at the current deal.

Since North and South were using the negative double, North's double showed enough values to be able to respond and four cards in the heart suit. South was aggressive to bid three no-trump, since a jump to two no-trump would have been adequate. Slam-minded North might now have contented himself with six diamonds, but tried for all the marbles with six no-trump.

The club 10 was a good opening shot. East won the king and returned a spade. Declarer won the spade ace, played the club queen to dummy's ace and continued with the diamond jack. East covered with the queen, and declarer won the ace as West showed out. Declarer now played a heart to the jack (holding his breath a little here), cashed the club jack on which he pitched a small spade, and proceeded to run the diamonds. Eventually poor West had to dump the spade king or let a heart go. Either way declarer had 12 tricks.

What if East had not covered the jack of diamonds with the queen? I imagine South would have had a bad score, and we would be looking at a different bridge hand.

Face school days

NEW YORK (AP) — Many companies are sending their employees to school so they can keep up with the rapid change of technologies.

Warren Baise of the Institute of Advanced Technology says, "Subjects that were not taught in the past, such as information systems and productivity, have become essential for success, while traditional subjects, such as strategic planning and the methods of increasing market share, need a new look."

Baise says some of the most popular courses are offered in the fields of computer science and computer science management.

Tiger cagers open seasons

Snyder High School opens the 1984-85 basketball season with a packed slate here this evening.

Coach Ken Housden's varsity girls host Post at 7 in the high school gym, while Coach Larry Scott's boys entertain Lubbock High at 8 in the coliseum.

Junior varsity teams will also compete. The girls will play at 5:30; the boys at 6:15.

Housden's Lady Tigers return several starters from the 1983-84 squad, including all-district talent Carie Housden and Karlene Thompson, Threasa Ashworth and Wendy Lunsford. Also back are Becky Gray, Janetta Pylant, LeeAnn Pierce and Sylvia Martinez.

Up from the junior varsity are Hope Hernandez and Stephanie McKnight. New additions to the program are Donna Anderson and Christi Comer.

In contrast, Coach Scott's Tigers go into tonight's varsity game lacking in experience. Scott added six players to the roster Saturday morning, meaning the unit has not even had a full workout together.

Returning players are all-loop choice Willie Greathouse and Mike McWilliams. Others are Charles Bollinger, Abey Munoz, Chris Garrett, Trey Tippens, Wade Forga, Don Osborn, Jackie Anderson, Bobby Scott, James Powell and Tim Courtney.

The girls also play here Tuesday night, taking on Brownfield at 7:30 in the gymnasium. Further action for the boys will be in Abilene, 7:30 p.m. Saturday against Cooper.

Westerners rip Tyler, 91-78

Using the kind of depth and quickness that has become a trademark of Westerner basketball, Coach Phil Spradling's WTC men ran past Tyler Junior College in the WTC Classic here Saturday evening, 91-78.

The victory keeps Western Texas' record unbeaten at 7-0 as the Westerners prepare to play in Cisco at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Spradling put a dozen players on the Scurry County Coliseum floor and 10 contributed points. Four ended the night in double figures, with 6-5 freshman James Dawn leading the way. He put in 26. Alvin Hicks slapped up 18 while Jeff Gibson notched 12 and Ed Teal added 10. Anthony Smith had 9.

Western's win spoiled an otherwise fine performance from Nolan Richardson, Jr., son of former WTC coach Nolan Richardson. With his father in the audience, the youngster put in 21 points - 17 in the second half - to lead Tyler.

Dawn got his 26 by hitting 8 second-half field goals. He was also four-for-five from the freethrow line. Hicks was six-for-seven and Gibson four-for-four as the Westerners went 21 of 28 from the line.

Gibson and Vince Turner pulled down 7 rebounds apiece to pace WTC's 44 to 34 domination of the boards. Dawn and Hicks had 6 apiece.

Gibson also had 6 assists and 4 steals. Victor Spencer led in steals with 5.

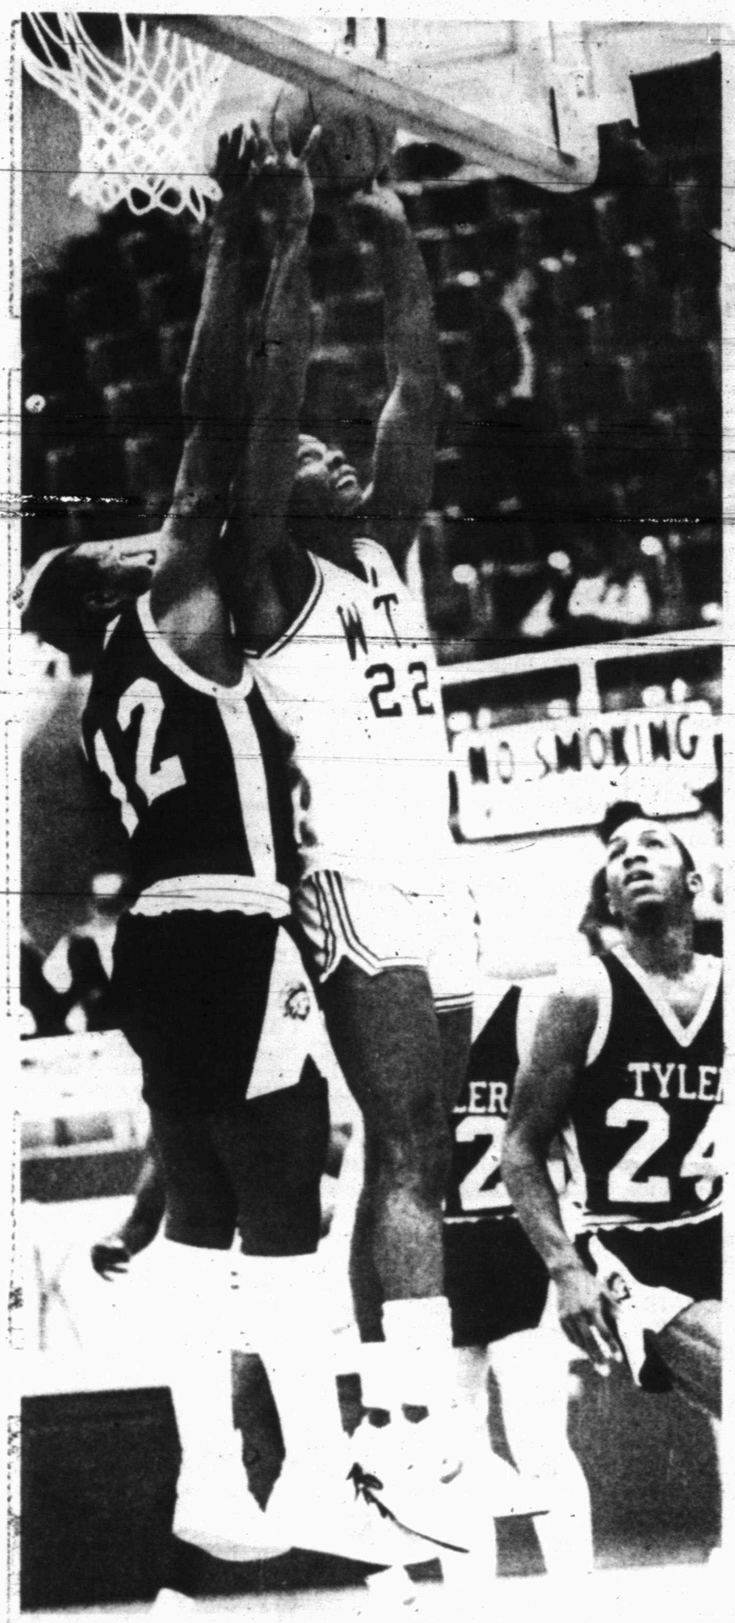

The game stayed close until late in the first half when WTC broke away for a 45-33 lead. The Westerners trailed by more than 20 points in the second half.

UP STRONG -- Western Texas College's Victor Spencer is crowded underneath by Tyler's Nolan Richardson, Jr. during Saturday night action of the WTC Classic here. Western won the contest 91-78 - the Westerners' seventh win of the season. Both WTC teams will play in Cisco on Tuesday. See related articles. (SDN Staff Photo by Noble Young)

Dusters grab AC Classic title

AMARILLO -- Western Texas College Coach Joe Cushing was still sky high Monday morning, following his Dusters' 65-58 win over Amarillo in the Amarillo Bankers Association Classic.

"We beat Amarillo for the second time in seven years in Amarillo," said Cushing, who copped his second classic tournament championship this season along with a 10-1 record. "I was real pleased with our defensive effort. We really played hard."

Clara Campbell, WTC's 6-2 standout from Dallas, held Lady Badger Donna Conder, 6-6, to just four points for the night.

"That was a major factor," said Cushing. "That and Renvy (Evans) doing the number she did on Georgia Walton."

Evans limited Walton, one of the top scorers in the conference, to 12 points.

Campbell led all scorers with 24 points. She also pulled down 13 rebounds. Patti Hayes added 11 points while Lyndy French scored 10. Rhonda Hoelting scored 8.

Western out-rebounded the hosts 48 to 25. Frencn and Hayes had 8 and 7 boards respectively. The Dusters also had 14 assists and five steals.

"Offensively, we still have a lot of room for improvement. But we are getting use to the offense and learning more about it everyday. Eventually it's going to come," noted the coach.

"The greatest improvement we've had is limiting our turnovers. We're not losing the ball near as much."

Western had only 12 turnovers against the Lady Badgers.

Amarillo, led by Debby Jones' 16 points, pulled within 53-52 after trailing 36-28 at halftime. But, said Cushing, "We really did a good job of keeping our poise and doing what we needed to do."

The Dusters take their near-spotless record to Cisco for a 6 o'clock ballgame Tuesday, then host the third annual WTC Classic in Scurry County Coliseum on Nov. 23-24.

Miami, Dallas lose

by The Associated Press

The Miami Dolphins can now forget about 1972 and concentrate on 1984.

"There won't be any more comparisons now" with the Dolphins' unbeaten team of 1972, Coach Don Shula said Sunday after Miami's first loss of the season, a 34-28 overtime decision to the San Diego Chargers. "I guess we won't have to worry about that anymore."

Miami, 11-1, lost for the first time in 17 regular-season games dating back to last year.

Meanwhile, Buffalo shocked Dallas 14-3, Philadelphia stunned Washington 16-10 and the New York Giants defeated St. Louis 16-10 to throw the NFC East race into a three-way tie. The Cowboys, Redskins and Giants are each 7-5, while St. Louis dropped to fourth with a 6-6 record.

In other games, it was San Francisco 24, Tampa Bay 17; Denver 42, Minnesota 21; Los Angeles Raiders 17, Kansas City 7; Chicago 16, Detroit 14; Cleveland 23, Atlanta 7; Green Bay 31, Los Angeles Rams 6; New England 50, Indianapolis 17; Seattle 26, Cincinnati 6, and Houston 31, New York Jets 20.

New Orleans hosts Pittsburgh tonight.

Dan Fouts set San Diego records with 57 pass attempts and 36 completions while throwing for 380 yards in the game and four touchdowns during regulation play.

Bills 14, Cowboys 3

Rookie Greg Bell scored two touchdowns, one on an 85-yard run on the first play of the game, as the previously winless Bills shocked the Cowboys. The Bills, 1-11, snapped a 13-game losing streak that extended back to the last two games of 1983.

Bell rushed for 206 yards on 27 carries in becoming the first player to run for 200 yards against Dallas since Jimmy Brown of Cleveland in 1963.

Eagles 16, Redskins 10

Andre Waters returned a kickoff 89 yards for a touchdown and Paul McFadden kicked three field goals as Philadelphia stunned Washington.

Washington's Mark Moseley had given the Redskins a 10-9 lead on a 33-yard field goal with 5:26 left in the third period when Waters broke loose on the ensuing kickoff.

Giants 16, Cardinals 10

Ali Haji-Sheikh kicked three third-quarter field goals and Mark Haynes picked off two passes for the Giants.

The Giants forced four interceptions and two fumbles in the bruising battle.

Broncos 42, Vikings 21

John Elway threw five touchdown passes in less than three quarters to spark Denver's 10th straight victory. The victory raised the AFC West Division-leading Broncos' record to 11-1 and set up a showdown with second-place Seattle, 10-2, next week.

Raiders 17, Chiefs 7

Linebacker Rod Martin returned one Kansas City fumble for a touchdown and forced a second that set up another Los Angeles score as the Raiders broke a three-game losing streak.

Oilers 31, Jets 20

Houston's Warren Moon threw three touchdown passes - two to Tim Smith - during a string of 31 straight points to lead the Oilers over the Jets. The loss was the fourth straight for the Jets.

Western 5th, 6th in weekend rodeo

LUBBOCK -- Western Texas College's Jason Phillips scored a 76 to win the bull riding and Bliss Mayhan carded a 71 to take second in the bareback as the Westerners competed in the Texas Tech NIRA Rodeo over the weekend here.

WTC men finished sixth overall in the competition with 100 points. The Western Texas women's squad placed fifth in its division with 57.

Despite those two strong individual performances, WTC's men did not place well here. Tobin Tate tied for fifth in the bull riding with a 72 while Mayhan and Van Hale tied for sixth in the saddle bronc with 57s.

Canita Cass provided all of the WTC women's points with a third place finish in goat tying. Her time was an 8.7.

Tarleton State University won the men's division with 250.5 points. Second was Odessa with 154, followed by Eastern New Mexico with 144, Texas Tech with 120 and Sul Ross State with 113. Seventeen colleges and universities competed.

Tarleton and Vernon Regional JC chalked 180 points each to tie for top women's teams. Sul Ross had 121.5 for third.

Israel rejecting Lebanese wants

NAQOURA, Lebanon (AP) — Israel rejected Lebanese demands for the release of prisoners and the payment of up to $10 billion in war reparations as talks on the withdrawal of Israeli troops resumed today in this border town.

As the third round of talks opened, Israel's chief delegate instead stressed the need to agree on measures to protect Israel's northern border after an Israeli withdrawal from Lebanon, which it invaded almost 2½ years ago.

"In regards to the request for compensation of $8 (billion) to $10 billion, I wish to assert most vigorously that the Israeli delegation rejects this request outright," Brig. Gen. Amos Gilboa said, according to a statement distributed by delegation spokesman Lt. Col. Yonah Gazit.

"The reason for our presence in this forum is to discuss security arrangements which will insure the safeguarding of our northern border. It is not our role to discuss the irrelevant matter of compensation," Gilboa said.

During the second session of the talks last Thursday, Lebanon demanded the war reparations to offset the cost of repairing damage caused by Israel's invasion and occupation of south Lebanon.

Gilboa also rejected other Lebanese demands, including the release of hundreds of prisoners held by the Israelis at south Lebanon detention centers and the opening of key roads connecting south Lebanon with Beirut and the north.

"Israel at the present time cannot permit herself to make such gestures as long as the hostile activities against her continue," Gilboa said.

Israel had sought a cease-fire in south Lebanon but the offer was rejected by Shiite Moslem leaders.

Attorney wants teen's trial moved to another location

HOUSTON (AP) — Attorneys for a teen-ager accused of murdering a female letter carrier say the trial should be moved to another city because of publicity generated since the youth's parents were jailed for refusing to testify before a grand jury.

Attorney Jack Zimmermann said he would ask State District Judge I.D. McMaster today for a change of venue.

No trial date has been set, but prosecutors have said they hope to start the proceeding early next year.

David Port, 17, is charged in the shooting death of Debora Sue Schatz, 23, who disappeared June 7 while delivering mail in the affluent west Houston neighborhood where the Port family lives. Her body was found two days later in a wooded area north of Houston.

The teen-ager remains free on $20,000 bond.

The case has been highly publicized in recent months because the youth's parents, Bernard and Odette Port, refused to testify before a grand jury investigating the slaying and were jailed Sept. 12 on contempt charges.

Bernard Port was released Nov. 9 after he answered the panel's questions. Mrs. Port also appeared before grand jurors, but McMaster ruled her testimony was insufficient to purge her of the contempt charge.

Mrs. Port, the teen-ager's stepmother, was the first to arrive home the day of the killing. Investigators searching the couple's home say they found bullet holes in the stairwell and blood on the stairs.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals has asked to review transcripts of Mrs. Port's testimony to determine if she should be freed.

The Ports have argued they should not be forced to testify in the investigation, citing a parent-child privilege similar to a state law that allows spouses not to testify against each other. Texas law does not provide for a parent-child privilege.

The victim's mother, Barbara Schatz, said the couple's claims to a parent-child privilege anger her.

"It makes me awfully mad at times. I feel my parent-child relationship has been taken away," Mrs. Schatz said in a Houston Post interview published Sunday.

Mrs. Schatz said her daughter "didn't have a chance to talk about her rights" before she died. "She was doing her job. Next thing she knew her rights and her life were gone."

Mrs. Schatz said she believes her daughter's death contributed to the Aug. 6 death of her husband, Albert, 57, who suffered a heart attack.

"He died of a broken heart," Mrs. Schatz said.

Geter tells youths to live good life

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Lenell Geter, freed from prison last March after being wrongly convicted of robbing a fast-food restaurant, urges youths to "stay away from the things that will cause you to be an enemy of the people."

Geter, a black engineer who works for E-Systems Inc. in Greenville, Texas, told a youth prayer meeting that "you should live the kind of life so that if someone says bad things about you, there will be somebody who will say, 'That's not true.'"

Geter was convicted of robbing a Balch Springs Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant in 1982 and sentenced to life in prison, even though co-workers at the E-Systems plant said he was working when the robbery was said to have occurred.

Charges against Geter were dropped earlier this year after a twice-convicted narcotics dealer became the prime suspect in the case.

He told youths at the Pilgrim Valley Baptist Church on Saturday that they were where they should be to win the loyalty that helped him through his ordeal.

"Stay away from the things that will cause you to be an enemy of the people who protect the laws," he said. "Get an education. Make yourself a marketable product. Go to school, Stay away from drugs. Our future is in you all."

Although his ordeal made him skeptical of the criminal justice system, he says it strengthened his faith in God and his friends.

"If you ever come in contact with misfortune, believe me that the devil is trying your faith," he said from the church pulpit Saturday. "Whenever you call yourself a Christian, you can expect an attack from the devil."

In prison, Geter taught Bible classes and preached while his family, fiance and co-workers launched a campaign to get him released.

After national publicity, Geter was released for a retrial, but Dallas County District Attorney Henry Wade dismissed all charges against Geter.

Now, a book and movie about his ordeal are being planned.

however, he noted this yearly rent could likely not exceed approximately $125.

He said the relative isolation of the building as a meeting spot was an advantage in the eyes of AA members. He noted also that "a place not so fancy works better for us."

At Monday's meeting, the court also re-appointed Dr. Robert Pierce as the county health doctor.

2 fire alarms Sunday night

Snyder firemen answered two alarms Sunday night within a three-hour period.

Firemen were summoned to the scene of a reported car fire ½ mile south of Dunn on Texas Highway 208 at 10:55 p.m.

Upon arrival, it was discovered a 1979 Mercury driven by John Hoyle of 2101 Ave. M had overheated after its radiator hose had broken. A passing motorist had noted the smoke and steam and reported the fire.

Firefighters were next summoned at 1:54 a.m. Monday to the Billy Matchett residence at 2206 Huffman Ave. There they extinguished a mattress fire in the house.

According to firemen, damage to the residence — owned by Elmo Powell of Snyder — was considered minor.

Parked vehicle is struck Sunday

Snyder police investigated a minor traffic mishap in the 400 Block of 29th St. at 6:34 p.m. Sunday.

According to reports, a parked 1976 Chevrolet owned by Robert Morales of Rt. 1, Snyder was struck by a 1979 Ford driven by Carl Edward Scott of 418 29th St.

Arrests reported

Weekend arrests here include two suspects on warrants for misdemeanor assault.

Nine other suspects were jailed also on various misdemeanor charges over the weekend.

Six men were booked into the county jail for public intoxication, two for DWI and one was arrested on a municipal court warrant for unpaid traffic tickets.

McDonald's grows from small start

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — 1948. America was home from the war. The baby boom was on. And in San Bernardino, Calif., Dick and Maurice McDonald were poring through receipts from their drive-in restaurant.

They noticed something odd.

"Ninety percent of the orders were for hamburgers, french fries and a cold drink," recalled Dick McDonald, 75.

Theirs was a successful California drive-in, with carhops and a big, busy menu. From their barbecue pit, they offered "hotdogs, hamburgers, steaks, beans — you name it." The parking lot was always full.

But that day, the McDonalds decided to close their restaurant, fire the carhops and gamble on their instincts.

Three months later, McDonald's restaurant reopened with a short menu — burgers, fries, drinks — and delivered it with assembly-line efficiency.

That assembly line, according to McDonald's Corp., will fry its 50 billionth burger this week.

Dick McDonald, whose brother died in 1971, will be served the symbolic burger at a griddle-side news conference Tuesday in New York City. The president of McDonald's U.S.A., Edward H. Rensi, will grill it.

The McDonald brothers' stripped-down restaurant hardly looked, at birth, like the beginning of a chain of 8,000 restaurants in 31 countries.

"It was a complete disaster at first," McDonald said in a telephone interview from his home in Bedford, N.H. "There were times we were tempted to throw in the sponge. The carhops were gone. People didn't like having to wait on themselves and throw away their own trash."

But the teen-agers didn't mind. "The youngsters became our most loyal customers," McDonald said. They brought their parents.

It wasn't long before as many as 200 customers were waiting in line. That's when Ray Kroc, the milkshake mixer salesman from Illinois, arrived.

Kroc, who died this year, described in his autobiography, "Grinding It Out," how he was struck with the speed and simplicity of the McDonald brothers' operation.

"I felt like some latter-day Newton who'd just had an Idaho potato caromed off his skull," he wrote.

Kroc acquired franchising rights from the McDonalds, agreeing to use their restaurant design with the golden arches.

He opened his first McDonald's the following year in the Chicago suburb of Des Plaines, ringing up sales of $366.12 on the first day. The 1.6-ounce hamburgers cost 15 cents.

The next year, Kroc sold his first three franchises; by the end of 1957 there were 21. McDonald's sold its 100 millionth burger in 1958. Three years later, Kroc bought out the McDonald brothers for $2.7 million.

Today, Rensi is projecting the addition of 500 restaurants a year and continued strong profits. McDonald's reported sales of $3.2 billion in the last four quarters, with a net profit of $364.2 million.

The menu, of course, has grown. Fish sandwiches were added in 1963; Egg McMuffins a decade later. Breakfast foods came in 1977. Chicken McNuggets were introduced in 1983 — and quickly made McDonald's the nation's second-largest chicken retailer after Kentucky Fried Chicken.

Seventeen million people eat at McDonald's every day. The company sells 4.35 billion burgers a year, despite vigorous competition from Wendy's, Burger King and others.

Enjoying it all is Dick McDonald, who said he has no regrets about selling his business to Kroc for a fraction of what it's worth today.

"Everybody has an ego and I must admit I enjoy seeing my name on restaurants all over the world," he said.

He recalled being introduced at a party as "the man who invented the McDonald hamburger. The man, who'd had a few too many, looked at me and said, 'Don't you wish you were.'"

U. S., Nicaragua are talking again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Nicaragua are resuming diplomatic talks over their bitter political dispute, but Nicaragua's foreign minister says it is up to the Reagan administration to make concessions.

Miguel D'Escoto, the Sandinista foreign minister, said Sunday the talks would begin today in Mexico between Harry Schlaudeman, special U.S. envoy to Central America, and Victor Hugo Tinoco, Nicaragua's deputy foreign minister.

The White House has said only that the discussions, which began in June and recessed last month, would resume in the near future. The State Department, following past practice, declined Sunday to pinpoint the time and place.

Appearing on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation," D'Escoto said the success of the negotiations rests with the Reagan administration, which he accused of stirring up "official hysteria" against his leftist Sandinista government.

Asked whether he expected any progress to be made in the talks, D'Escoto replied: "It all depends on whether the Reagan administration is into engaging in fruitful and constructive dialogue."

He said Nicaragua wants peaceful relations with the United States.

He defended Nicaragua's acceptance of arms shipments from the Soviet Union and would not rule out the possibility that weapons are on board another vessel headed for his nation.

"What I can tell you for sure is there's nothing that we don't have a right to obtain," he said.

In Santa Barbara, Calif., where Reagan was vacationing, a spokesman said the administration had no plans for a summit with Nicaraguan leader Daniel Oretega, who on Friday called for a meeting with Reagan.

Deputy press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said the administration feels that the Schlaudeman-Tinoco discussions are "the right level for talks."

Israel rejecting Lebanese wants

NAQOURA, Lebanon (AP) — Israel rejected Lebanese demands for the release of prisoners and the payment of up to $10 billion in war reparations as talks on the withdrawal of Israeli troops resumed today in this border town.

As the third round of talks opened, Israel's chief delegate instead stressed the need to agree on measures to protect Israel's northern border after an Israeli withdrawal from Lebanon, which it invaded almost 2½ years ago.

"In regards to the request for compensation of $8 (billion) to $10 billion, I wish to assert most vigorously that the Israeli delegation rejects this request outright," Brig. Gen. Amos Gilboa said, according to a statement distributed by delegation spokesman Lt. Col. Yonah Gazit.

"The reason for our presence in this forum is to discuss security arrangements which will insure the safeguarding of our northern border. It is not our role to discuss the irrelevant matter of compensation," Gilboa said.

During the second session of the talks last Thursday, Lebanon demanded the war reparations to offset the cost of repairing damage caused by Israel's invasion and occupation of south Lebanon.

Gilboa also rejected other Lebanese demands, including the release of hundreds of prisoners held by the Israelis at south Lebanon detention centers and the opening of key roads connecting south Lebanon with Beirut and the north.

"Israel at the present time cannot permit herself to make such gestures as long as the hostile activities against her continue," Gilboa said.

Israel had sought a cease-fire in south Lebanon but the offer was rejected by Shiite Moslem leaders.

Attorney wants teen's trial moved to another location

HOUSTON (AP) — Attorneys for a teen-ager accused of murdering a female letter carrier say the trial should be moved to another city because of publicity generated since the youth's parents were jailed for refusing to testify before a grand jury.

Attorney Jack Zimmermann said he would ask State District Judge I.D. McMaster today for a change of venue.

No trial date has been set, but prosecutors have said they hope to start the proceeding early next year.

David Port, 17, is charged in the shooting death of Debora Sue Schatz, 23, who disappeared June 7 while delivering mail in the affluent west Houston neighborhood where the Port family lives. Her body was found two days later in a wooded area north of Houston.

The teen-ager remains free on $20,000 bond.

The case has been highly publicized in recent months because the youth's parents, Bernard and Odette Port, refused to testify before a grand jury investigating the slaying and were jailed Sept. 12 on contempt charges.

Bernard Port was released Nov. 9 after he answered the panel's questions. Mrs. Port also appeared before grand jurors, but McMaster ruled her testimony was insufficient to purge her of the contempt charge.

Mrs. Port, the teen-ager's stepmother, was the first to arrive home the day of the killing. Investigators searching the couple's home say they found bullet holes in the stairwell and blood on the stairs.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals has asked to review transcripts of Mrs. Port's testimony to determine if she should be freed.

The Ports have argued they should not be forced to testify in the investigation, citing a parent-child privilege similar to a state law that allows spouses not to testify against each other. Texas law does not provide for a parent-child privilege.

The victim's mother, Barbara Schatz, said the couple's claims to a parent-child privilege anger her.

"It makes me awfully mad at times. I feel my parent-child relationship has been taken away," Mrs. Schatz said in a Houston Post interview published Sunday.

Mrs. Schatz said her daughter "didn't have a chance to talk about her rights" before she died. "She was doing her job. Next thing she knew her rights and her life were gone."

Mrs. Schatz said she believes her daughter's death contributed to the Aug. 6 death of her husband, Albert, 57, who suffered a heart attack.

"He died of a broken heart," Mrs. Schatz said.

Geter tells youths to live good life

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Lenell Geter, freed from prison last March after being wrongly convicted of robbing a fast-food restaurant, urges youths to "stay away from the things that will cause you to be an enemy of the people."

Geter, a black engineer who works for E-Systems Inc. in Greenville, Texas, told a youth prayer meeting that "you should live the kind of life so that if someone says bad things about you, there will be somebody who will say, 'That's not true.'"

Geter was convicted of robbing a Balch Springs Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant in 1982 and sentenced to life in prison, even though co-workers at the E-Systems plant said he was working when the robbery was said to have occurred.

Charges against Geter were dropped earlier this year after a twice-convicted narcotics dealer became the prime suspect in the case.

He told youths at the Pilgrim Valley Baptist Church on Saturday that they were where they should be to win the loyalty that helped him through his ordeal.

"Stay away from the things that will cause you to be an enemy of the people who protect the laws," he said. "Get an education. Make yourself a marketable product. Go to school. Stay away from drugs. Our future is in you all."

Although his ordeal made him skeptical of the criminal justice system, he says it strengthened his faith in God and his friends.

"If you ever come in contact with misfortune, believe me that the devil is trying your faith," he said from the church pulpit Saturday. "Whenever you call yourself a Christian, you can expect an attack from the devil."

In prison, Geter taught Bible classes and preached while his family, fiance and co-workers launched a campaign to get him released.

After national publicity, Geter was released for a retrial, but Dallas County District Attorney Henry Wade dismissed all charges against Geter.

Now, a book and movie about his ordeal are being planned.

however, he noted this yearly rent could likely not exceed approximately $125.

He said the relative isolation of the building as a meeting spot was an advantage in the eyes of AA members. He noted also that "a place not so fancy works better for us."

At Monday's meeting, the court also re-appointed Dr. Robert Pierce as the county health doctor.

2 fire alarms Sunday night

Snyder firemen answered two alarms Sunday night within a three-hour period.

Firemen were summoned to the scene of a reported car fire ½ mile south of Dunn on Texas Highway 208 at 10:55 p.m.

Upon arrival, it was discovered a 1979 Mercury driven by John Hoyle of 2101 Ave. M had overheated after its radiator hose had broken. A passing motorist had noted the smoke and steam and reported the fire.

Firefighters were next summoned at 1:54 a.m. Monday to the Billy Matchett residence at 2206 Huffman Ave. There they extinguished a mattress fire in the house.

According to firemen, damage to the residence — owned by Elmo Powell of Snyder — was considered minor.

Parked vehicle is struck Sunday

Snyder police investigated a minor traffic mishap in the 400 Block of 29th St. at 6:34 p.m. Sunday.

According to reports, a parked 1976 Chevrolet owned by Robert Morales of Rt. 1, Snyder was struck by a 1979 Ford driven by Carl Edward Scott of 418 29th St.

Arrests reported

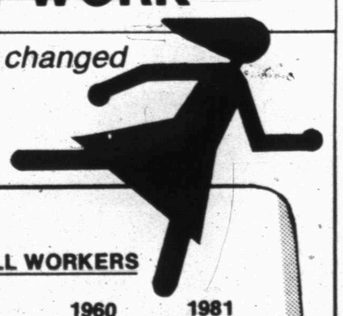

Weekend arrests here include two suspects on warrants for misdemeanor assault.

Nine other suspects were jailed also on various misdemeanor charges over the weekend.

Six men were booked into the county jail for public intoxication, two for DWI and one was arrested on a municipal court warrant for unpaid traffic tickets.

McDonald's grows from small start

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — 1948. America was home from the war. The baby boom was on. And in San Bernardino, Calif., Dick and Maurice McDonald were poring through receipts from their drive-in restaurant.

They noticed something odd.

"Ninety percent of the orders were for hamburgers, french fries and a cold drink," recalled Dick McDonald, 75.

Theirs was a successful California drive-in, with carhops and a big, busy menu. From their barbecue pit, they offered "hot-dogs, hamburgers, steaks, beans — you name it." The parking lot was always full.

But that day, the McDonalds decided to close their restaurant, fire the carhops and gamble on their instincts.

Three months later, McDonald's restaurant reopened with a short menu — burgers, fries, drinks — and delivered it with assembly-line efficiency.

That assembly line, according to McDonald's Corp., will fry its 50 billionth burger this week.

Dick McDonald, whose brother died in 1971, will be served the symbolic burger at a griddle-side news conference Tuesday in New York City. The president of McDonald's U.S.A., Edward H. Rensi, will grill it.

The McDonald brothers' stripped-down restaurant hardly looked, at birth, like the beginning of a chain of 8,000 restaurants in 31 countries.

"It was a complete disaster at first," McDonald said in a telephone interview from his home in Bedford, N.H. "There were times we were tempted to throw in the sponge. The carhops were gone. People didn't like having to wait on themselves and throw away their own trash."

But the teen-agers didn't mind. "The youngsters became our most loyal customers," McDonald said. They brought their parents.

It wasn't long before as many as 200 customers were waiting in line. That's when Ray Kroc, the milkshake mixer salesman from Illinois, arrived.

Kroc, who died this year, described in his autobiography, "Grinding It Out," how he was struck with the speed and simplicity of the McDonald brothers' operation.

"I felt like some latter-day Newton who'd just had an Idaho potato caromed off his skull," he wrote.

Kroc acquired franchising rights from the McDonalds, agreeing to use their restaurant design with the golden arches.

He opened his first McDonald's the following year in the Chicago suburb of Des Plaines, ringing up sales of $366.12 on the first day. The 1.6-ounce hamburgers cost 15 cents.

The next year, Kroc sold his first three franchises; by the end of 1957 there were 21. McDonald's sold its 100 millionth burger in 1958. Three years later, Kroc bought out the McDonald brothers for $2.7 million.

Today, Rensi is projecting the addition of 500 restaurants a year and continued strong profits. McDonald's reported sales of $3.2 billion in the last four quarters, with a net profit of $364.2 million.

The menu, of course, has grown. Fish sandwiches were added in 1963; Egg McMuffins a decade later. Breakfast foods came in 1977. Chicken McNuggets were introduced in 1983 — and quickly made McDonald's the nation's second-largest chicken retailer after Kentucky Fried Chicken.

Seventeen million people eat at McDonald's every day. The company sells 4.35 billion burgers a year, despite vigorous competition from Wendy's, Burger King and others.

Enjoying it all is Dick McDonald, who said he has no regrets about selling his business to Kroc for a fraction of what it's worth today.

"Everybody has an ego and I must admit I enjoy seeing my name on restaurants all over the world," he said.

He recalled being introduced at a party as "the man who invented the McDonald hamburger. The man, who'd had a few too many, looked at me and said, 'Don't you wish you were.'"

U. S., Nicaragua are talking again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Nicaragua are resuming diplomatic talks over their bitter political dispute, but Nicaragua's foreign minister says it is up to the Reagan administration to make concessions.

Miguel D'Escoto, the Sandinista foreign minister, said Sunday the talks would begin today in Mexico between Harry Schlaudeman, special U.S. envoy to Central America, and Victor Hugo Tinoco, Nicaragua's deputy foreign minister.

The White House has said only that the discussions, which began in June and recessed last month, would resume in the near future. The State Department, following past practice, declined Sunday to pinpoint the time and place.

Appearing on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation," D'Escoto said the success of the negotiations rests with the Reagan administration, which he accused of stirring up "official hysteria" against his leftist Sandinista government.

Asked whether he expected any progress to be made in the talks, D'Escoto replied: "It all depends on whether the Reagan administration is into engaging in fruitful and constructive dialogue."

He said Nicaragua wants peaceful relations with the United States.

He defended Nicaragua's acceptance of arms shipments from the Soviet Union and would not rule out the possibility that weapons are on board another vessel headed for his nation.

"What I can tell you for sure is there's nothing that we don't have a right to obtain," he said.

In Santa Barbara, Calif., where Reagan was vacationing, a spokesman said the administration had no plans for a summit with Nicaraguan leader Daniel Oretega, who on Friday called for a meeting with Reagan.

Deputy press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said the administration feels that the Schlaudeman-Tinoco discussions are "the right level for talks."

Jail population grows 41 percent in 5 years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spurred by the same get-tough attitude that has packed prisons, the number of jail inmates in this country grew 41 percent in five years to reach a record 223,551 in 1983, the Justice Department says.

Reporting on the first census of local jails since Feb. 15, 1978, the department's Bureau of Justice Statistics said Sunday the rate of incarceration in jails grew by 29 percent, from 76 out of every 100,000 persons to 98 out of every 100,000 as of June 30, 1983.

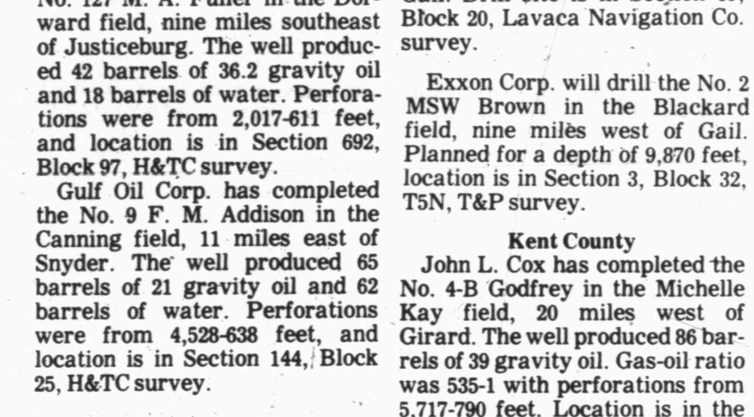

The growth appeared during a period when the population of prisons run by the state and federal governments rose to a record of more than 400,000.

Attorney General William French Smith attributed the increase in jail inmates to what he called a public demand for tougher treatment of criminals.

Noting that eight million people were admitted to jails, while 7.9 million were released, in the 12 months preceding the census, Smith said increased jail incarceration may have contributed to the decrease in reported crime in the last 2½ years.

The 1983 census figure represents a count of the total number of people in jails across the country on the date of the census, June 30, 1983.

Slightly more than half the jail inmates had not been convicted and were awaiting arraignment or trial, as was the case in 1978.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been taking laxatives or stool softeners for approximately 10 years. It started when I was in high school, when I became constipated from dieting. I'm now 26.

I've tried to stop, but I become so miserable and constipated that I feel it isn't worth the agony. I have seen two rectal doctors and they said the only thing wrong is that I have a weak, thin colon from this habit.

I had a child two years ago and took Senokot-S, which my doctor said was OK. However, he didn't realize that I have been taking it for so long. If I don't take it, my stool gets too hard, won't pass and it hurts, and I get one heck of a case of hemorrhoids. Please help me to stop taking these and return to being a normal person.

I've tried bran and bulk foods, salads, apples, cabbage and prune juice. They all cause a lot of gas and make me feel worse.

DEAR READER — Many of the bulk agents do cause gas. They are bulk because they cannot be digested. Most of them are complex carbohydrates, as bran certainly is. Undigested bulk is food for bacteria to act on, which causes gas.

Bulk is not the same thing as a stool softener. The softeners are not laxatives, but serve solely to make the stool soft. The Senokot-S you have been taking contains a stool softener (docusate sodium) and a laxative (senna concentrate). The stimulating action of the latter increases colon contractions, which is what you want to stop.

Why don't you switch to a plain stool softener? Colace is just docusate sodium without any laxative. It should provide the softening effect you apparently need for now. At the same time, if you are not having bowel movements, you can use a tap-water enema every three days if needed. If you quit using chemical laxatives and follow a good program, in time you may be able to decrease or eliminate the stool softener as well.

Many people are confused about the differences between stool softeners, chemical laxatives and bulk-forming agents. I have discussed these in The Health Letter 12-8, Laxatives, Enemas and Suppositories, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband has high blood pressure. He is under a doctor's care and takes Dyazide and Minipres to control his pressure. Since we moved to our present home, his blood pressure has risen and he has had to take a greater dosage of medicine to control it.

My question concerns the water softener we had installed here. If calcium, magnesium, iron and other minerals are replaced with sodium ions, wouldn't this added sodium be harmful to someone with high blood pressure? Before our water conditioner was installed, our water contained 17 mg. of sodium per liter; now it contains 210 mg. per liter. Would this level of sodium be bad for my husband?

DEAR READER — Yes, it would. Your husband's medicine is meant to help his kidneys eliminate sodium. When he started to get more sodium from your water softener, he needed more medicine to eliminate the increased intake of sodium. Not all water softeners work this way. Anyone who uses a water softener and needs to limit his sodium salt intake should find out, as you have, exactly how much sodium is in the water. In some such cases, it might be wise to use distilled water for drinking and cooking.

McDonald helped out ill inmate

BASTROP, Texas (AP) — Prison officials aren't giving convicted killer Dr. Jeffrey MacDonald, who is the subject of the television miniseries "Fatal Vision," much credit for helping a sick fellow inmate.

"He didn't do anything that you or I wouldn't have done," Larry Taylor, a spokesman for the Federal Correctional Institute in Bastrop, said Sunday night, the night the television movie began.

MacDonald, a former Green Beret who has been tried and convicted twice for the 1970 Fort Bragg, N.C., killings of his wife and two daughters, told a Vermont newspaper the movie "Fatal Vision" is causing him "rage, pain and humiliation."

MacDonald, a former Army physician, was in the prison unit Saturday at 8:40 p.m. where the unidentified inmate was found unconscious, Taylor said.

Several several inmates called MacDonald because of his medical background, Taylor said, adding that MacDonald accompanied the man to an Austin hospital, where the inmate was treated and later released.
