Ray Nell Bearden appointed to finish term

County Commissioner Connie Bearden dies

Floyd County Commissioner, Connie Dale Bearden, died early Wednesday morning, July 3, 1996, at Lubbock's Methodist Hospital.

Bearden was feeling well when he went to bed Tuesday night but sometime during the night he apparently suffered a heart attack.

Services for Bearden were held in Floydada, at 10:00 a.m., Thursday, July 4th at the First Baptist Church. Rev. Howell Farnsworth, minister, officiated.

Burial followed in Floyd County Memorial Park under the direction of Moore-Rose-White Funeral Home.

Because of the seat vacated in the commissioner's court by Bearden's death, on July 5 County Judge Bill Hardin appointed Bearden's wife, Ray Nell, to fill the position until the next general election.

"Connie Bearden was a very effective county commissioner and dedicated to his service to the people of Floyd County," said Judge Hardin.

"Through my contact with Ray Nell and her knowledge of county affairs, I felt that she was the logical choice to take Connie's place on the court."

Bearden, and four other men, ran for County Commissioner in 1988 in the Democrat primary. A run-off election was necessary and Bearden won the seat. He was unopposed and re-elected in 1992.

Bearden was on the Democratic ballot for re-election in November 1996. He had no Republican opponent.

Bearden, 61, was born April 19, 1935 in Roaring Springs. He was a farmer and lifelong resident of Floyd County. He graduated Floydada High School in 1953.

He married Ray Nell Irby on December 26, 1954 in Floydada.

Bearden served 2 years in the U.S. Army during the Korean conflict. He was currently a director of Brown Gin and has filled that position for 20 years.

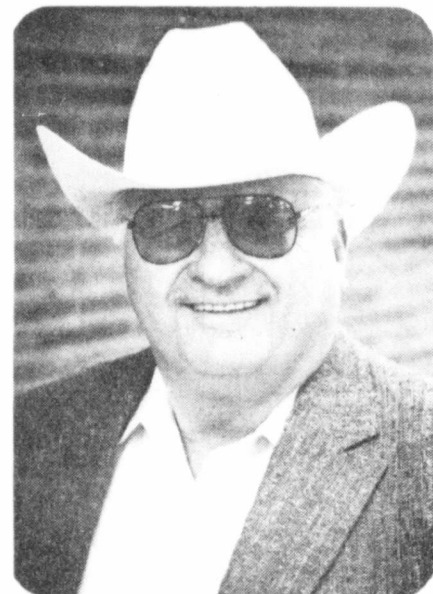

He had served on the Floydada EMS Board since the board was first formed in July 1991.

In 1972 Bearden was appointed to the High Plains Water Board. He served in that capacity for 8 years.

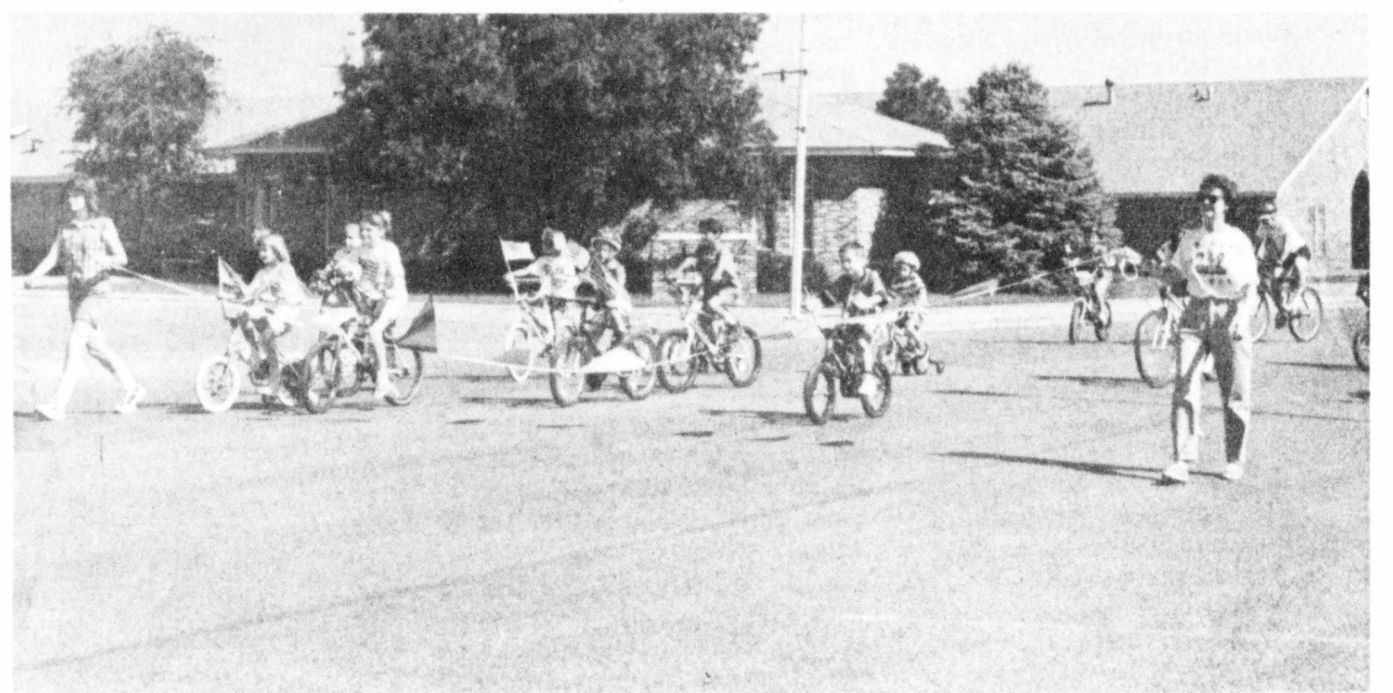

Besides his wife, Bearden is survived by his son, Shane Bearden of Dallas; two daughters and son-in-laws, Stacy and Victor Smith of Floydada, and Shelley and Byron Brock of Silverton; one brother, Junior Bearden of Roaring Springs; two sisters, Thelma Lee Bearden of Amarillo and Aria Williams of Floydada; four grandchildren, Shonda Smith, Joni Smith, Beau Brock and Brooks Brock.

The family suggests memorials be made to the Kitchen Fund of The First Baptist Church in Floydada.

Court to share costs of fire truck repairs

By Juanita Stepp

Floyd County Commissioners voted to pay one-third, up to a maximum of $6,000.00, for repairing the county fire truck damaged in a grass fire last month. The truck is used by the Lockney Volunteer Fire Department and insured under the City of Lockney according to Floyd County Judge Bill Hardin.

The vehicle sustained approximately $18,000.00 in damages including the loss of a $14,000.00 pump. Commissioners agreed to pay a third of the repair cost, sharing the balance with the City of Lockney and the Lockney Volunteer Fire Department.

Motion for the action came from Precinct 2 Commissioner Lennie Gilroy with a second by Precinct 4 Commissioner Jon Jones. The Lockney Fire Chief will be able to request the funds as needed for the project.

Voting in favor of the motion were Gilroy, Jones and Precinct 1 Commissioner Ray Nell Bearden. Precinct 3 Commissioner George Taylor was not present at the session on Monday, July 8.

Commissioners also approved the payment of monthly bills and several budget amendments and transfers. Transfers including $12,000.00 from Road and Bridge funds to each of the four precincts for a total of $48,000.00.

Treasurer Mary Shurbet reported that the county began the month of June with $407,580.67 in county accounts. Receipts totaled $92,902.55 and transfers in were $72,685.86. Transfers out totaled $72,685.86 and disbursements were $152,119.89. This left $348,363.33 in county accounts at the end of June.

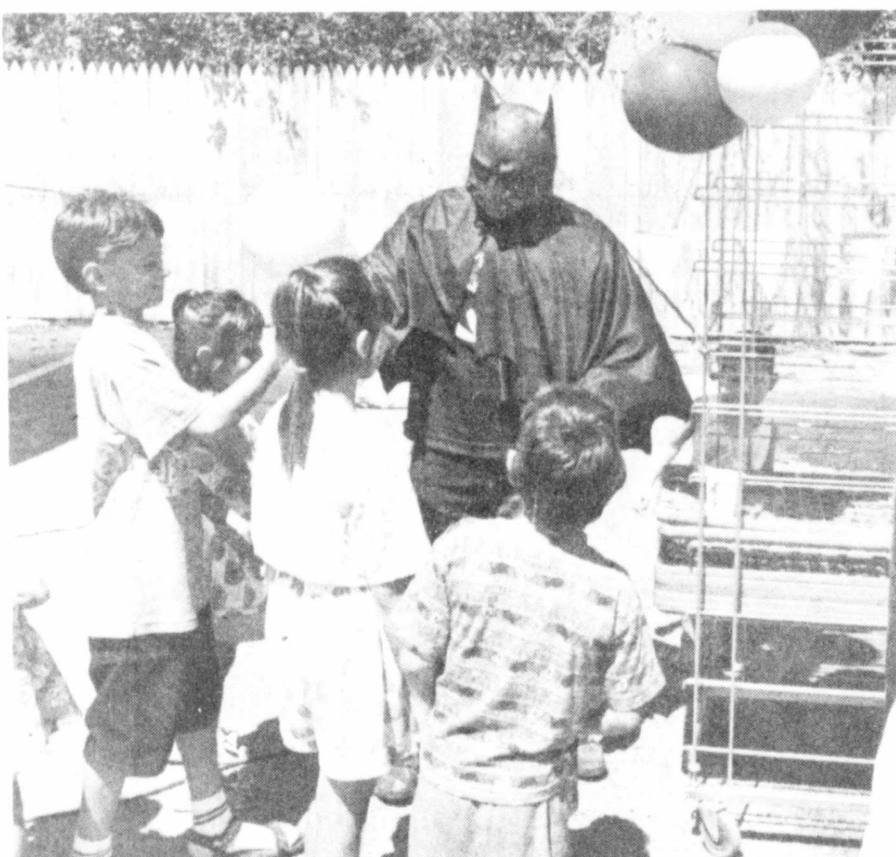

Shurbet also reported Certificates of Deposit in the amounts of $300,000.00 in undivided taxes, $25,000.00 for Precinct 1, $20,000.00 for Precinct 2, $106,000.00 for Precinct 3, and $25,000.00 for Precinct 4. Interest on CD's and interest bearing checking accounts so far this fiscal year totals $32,193.58 according to her report.

The court unanimously approved the tax roles for 1996 as presented and certified by Chief Appraiser Shelia Faulkenberry. The 1996 tax role totals $269,419,752. This is an increase of more than $5 million from the 1995 tax role totals of $264,098,209. Motion was made by Jones with a second by Gilroy.

Election judges for the November General Election were appointed on a motion by Bearden with a second by Jones. All voted in favor.

No action was taken on agenda

FISD reviews proposed budget

By Juanita Stepp

FLOYDADA — Trustees for the Floydada Independent School District reviewed a revised version of the proposed $6.5 million budget for the upcoming 1996-97 school year during a regular meeting on July 9. According to Administrative Assistant Jimmie Collins, there were only three changes made.

Collins stated that a line item of $40,000.00 had been added to the budget for employee Christmas bonuses and teacher salaries were adjusted downward. The decrease was possible due to the new teachers entering FISD employment this fall. Newer employees will earn a smaller salary than did the more experienced teachers they are replacing.

These changes left the capital improvements line item with $43,325.00 available for use in the coming year. The district usually devotes $100,000.00 to capital improvements and had originally budgeted $75,000.00 for 1996-97 due to decreased surplus funds.

Superintendent Jerry Cannon told the board, "Our surplus funds are nearly depleted, but we have almost paid for the new gym without borrowing. We will have to use some of our credit line to make the final payments on the gym in a month or so."

Collins also indicated that it might be necessary to borrow enough funds to enable the district to meet payroll and expenses for August and September before tax revenues begin to arrive in October and state funds start to arrive.

Board members discussed proposing an ad valorem tax rate of $1.098 per $100.00 of assessed valuation. No action was taken on the matter at this

Floydada Lions Club to celebrate 50 years

By Jimmy Willson

The Floydada Lions Club has reached a milestone through some difficult years. On Saturday, July 27, the civic organization will gather past and present Lions together to celebrate 50 years of service to Floydada.

The Lions will gather at the Massie Activity Center at 6:30 p.m. to exchange war stories and get reacquainted and at 7:00 p.m. will sit down to enjoy a meal together.

Twice stopped--Three times forward would be a quick history of the Floydada Lions Club. This organization of 40 active community leaders is joined by 1,419,408 other Lions in 42,880 Clubs in 180 countries of the world in fulfilling the motto--We Serve.

The first Lions Club in Floydada was chartered and formed from a group of men who had been meeting as a luncheon club for three years prior to 1928. On November 26, 1928, W.C. Davis President of Childress Lions Club presented the first charter on that date to the Floydada Lions Club.

This was an active group of Lions. According to a Plainview newspaper story, a group of Lions from Floydada led by J.M. Willson, Sr. met with men of like desires and started the first Lions Club in Plainview in 1929.

Lions listed on the charter were: W.E. Pattey, President; E.L. Norman, Secretary; J.C. Gilliam, S.W. Rose, J.G. Wood, John Maxwell, W.L. Fry, A.A. Bishop, J.C. Wester, F.L. Davis, J.M. Willson, Sr., C.H. Davis, W.H. Henderson, P.G. Stegall, O.P. Rutledge, Joe Breed, Ed Bishop, Glad Snodgrass, Tom Bishop, I.W. Hicks, C.R. Houston, O.T. Williams, P.D. O'Brien, W.B. Hall, Lon M. Davis, R.L. Snodgrass, J.C. Clements, S.N. Tarwater, G.V. Smith, Troy A. Jones, Charles Bedford, A.J. Folley, T.C. Russell, A.B. Keim, W.G. Collins, O.M. Watson, Sr., E.P. Nelson, J.E. Dickey, J.A. Arwine, H.R. Stanley, A.N. Bratton, W.M. Windsor, R.A. Garrett, J.D. Weatherby, T.S. Stevenson.

The Lions were active until 1931 when desperate times came to Floyd County. Our area was not only suffering from the depression but was in the grip of a terrible drought. The Lions Club was combined with the Rotary Club which was meeting at the First Methodist Church. The early meals were twenty five cents each.

In 1936 times were improving, business was active and farming was beginning to recover. Under the leadership of O.M. Watson, Sr. and with the assistance of the Matador Lions Club the Floydada Lions Club was rechartered. This group was active in the community until 1942 when the identity was lost because so many of the members were younger men and the draft for World War II took the bulk of the membership. Again the Floydada Lions Club was merged with the Rotary Club.

In 1946 under the leadership of Ed Johnson, J.M. Willson, Sr., (who had continued his membership as a member at large in the Plainview Lions Club) and with O.M. Watson, Sr. and J.M. Jimmy Willson secured the membership and application for another charter for a Lions Club to be started in Floydada.

This was accomplished and for a year the Floydada Lions Club had a large membership until the young men who came home from World War II began to move on to other areas. The men who revived the club received their Charter on July 18, 1946 and presented the Charter to District 2 T 2 Governor Charles A. Dean of Lubbock. It is this charter date the Floydada Lions are celebrating Saturday, July 27.

The 1946 Charter members were: W.H. Brock, W.G. Collins, Dick Fenner, L.F. Gresham, W.E. Grimes, W.N. Henry, Buck Hickerson, Earl Hogue, Edd Johnson, G.E. Mayo, E.L. Norman, L.N. Sparks, S.E. Sparks, O.M. Watson, Sr. J.M. Willson Sr., J.M. Willson Jr., J.G. Wood and Jake Watson.

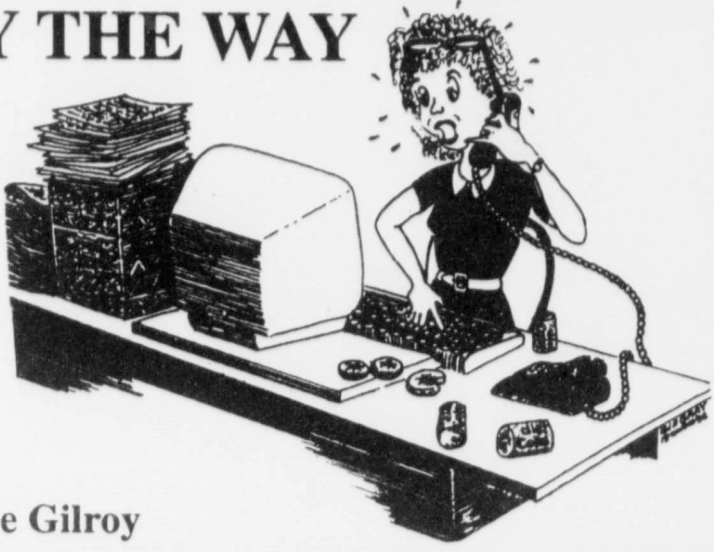

Present 50 year members of Floydada Lions are James H. Word and J.M. "Jimmy" Willson. Kenneth Bain has served in the Floydada Lions for 47 years.

During the past 50 years the Floydada Lions Club has been active in many projects and from the records we can find it has given to the community over $150,000.00 in service. These projects have included: building downtown ramps for the handicapped and sidewalks from the rest home to the clinic. In the past year the Lions have also supported the reading program at the Junior High School.

A long time project of the Lions is to furnish glasses for young people

BY THE WAY

By Alice Gilroy

I wonder how long you can fool yourself into thinking that you just recently graduated from college--or worse--high school.

Since I have an easier time remembering what happened in college than I do remembering what I did yesterday, I find it very easy to pretend like those school years were just yesterday.

The problem with ignoring the aging process is there are so many things around me that keep trying to remind me that I didn't just receive my diploma.

Gray hair out front on my bangs is the least of my worries. Lots of very young people have gray hair!

The accumulation of wrinkles on my face doesn't even bother me. I call them laugh lines--or for even more of a cop out you can say they give me Character!

The doctor tugging on my double chins (which popped up overnight) did bug me a little, but if I sit with my hand rested properly under my chin you can't even see the sagging.

If I wear loose enough clothes and stay out of swimsuits I can hide the effects of gravity and overeating. If I stay away from the optometrist I will not have to wear the bifocals the doctor said I was going to have to get at my next checkup.

There are many ways to ignore what is happening. The one thing you can't ignore is your children--they keep getting older.

It is hard to explain to someone how your child can be turning 10 when you haven't had any birthdays since he was born. How can your children continue to grow when you are staying the same age? I guess it's just one of those miracles God has blessed us with.

When my kid is 20, am I still going to be 35?

Duffy Hinkle said that pretty soon her 19 year old daughter, Pepper, is going to be the same age as her mother. Not only that, but Duffy said pretty soon Pepper was going to pass her up altogether.

I guess Pepper will stop aging when she has children of her own.

One inch of rain means $91 million

By Carmon Cain

An inch of rain means about $91 million in market value for corn, wheat, grain sorghum and cotton grown in 15 southern Panhandle and northern South Plains counties, says Carmon McCain, information/education director for the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District.

Using the multiplier effect, the overall economic impact of one inch of rain translates to $318 million for the region.

Those dollar amounts resulted from the data collected by the water district and Dr. Leon New, agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, who looked at the average crop production per acre-inch of irrigation water, McCain said.

An inch of rainfall equals 27,154 gallons (a layer of water one inch deep over one acre), or an acre inch of water, he says.

With each inch, the value of corn That inch of rain generates an extra 10 bushels of wheat, or $25 per

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

First, let me say that I enjoy the Hesperian-Beacon very much, and my mother, (Ethel) and I look forward to it coming every week.

Also, since no one seemed to be sure of the whozit picture in the June 20th issue, let me say that I think the boy is that of Carroll Johnston of the McCoy Community.

I grew up in the Starkey community and remember Carroll and his family raising and showing Chester White and Duroc hogs.

Carroll, who would know, may still live in Plainview. He may still own the Spudnut Shop there.

Keep up the good work,

Sincerely,
Billy Gene Warren

Dear Editor,

Monday, July 1st, I left Floydada on my way to the Lubbock airport to pick up Jim. Just West of Idalou I had a blow-out. I was only there a couple of minutes when I saw a patrol car going east. I waved him down. He turned around and came to my aide. He was so kind and immediately started changing the tire.

His name, on his shirt, was Riston and he said he was going home to Childress. Another patrolman saw our problem and turned around and came to help. His name was Vasquez and he was heading for Floydada where he lives.

I just wanted to say "thank you" to these men. They were like angels to me. I truly appreciate their help and their kindness.

Sincerely,
Margaret Word

FLOYDADA - The center is open Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. If you are 60 years or older this center is for you. Please call by 10 a.m. if you plan to eat lunch.

The Davis Cousins Reunion took place at the Floydada Senior Citizens Building, Sunday, June 30th. Saturday evening the group met at Bob and Evalene Goodnight's home for a backyard weiner roast. Floyd Medley of Floydada and his grandson from Hereford attended. Others came from Colorado Springs, Knoxville, Tennessee, Tatum, New Mexico, Brownfield and several places in between. There were about 30 in attendance.

Bob and Evalene's nephew, Jim and Carol Goodnight stayed until Tuesday, July 2. While they were here they toured the Goodnight Ranch.

Guy Garrison's nephew, Darrel and Ann Garrison from Amarillo spent June 27 with Guy.

At the center Wednesday, July 3rd for lunch was Ramon Peralez (who is at the center everyday). His wife, Josephine, came with him. Also their daughter Lilly and Frank Maldonado and Frank's mother Simona Maldonado came.

Letha Mulder brought Louvenia Brown to the center July 3rd for lunch.

Alma Rape's sister from Colorado visited last week. A few days later, Alma's grandson and his wife and son from Slaton paid her a visit.

We are having people to send in memorials and donations to the center. We appreciate you for doing this. The center needs extra financial help. It is a struggle to make ends meet. We always need your help. Thanks.

James Lovell, while in college, became a good friend of Wayne McCowen and his family. Ever since their friendship started, they have attended each others family reunions. July 3, 4, and 5th, James and Sue Lovell attended the McCowen family reunion which took place in Levelland this year. Out of 12 children, eleven and their families were there, coming from a number of states from Florida to Washington. There were 60 in attendance. Each family brought their state flag and they all displayed them in front of the building where they had the reunion. They had a great three-day get-together.

Grace Jarrett's son-in-law, Gerald Hall from Sweetwater, Grace's daughter, Leslie Noyes and daughter Ashley Noyes of Great Bend, Kansas, and a great granddaughter Summer Fountain from Houston, all visited her this past week.

Gordon Hambricht had knee surgery, Monday, July 8th.

Students seeking summer jobs should be wary of promises

If your child is seeking a summer job, you need to make him or her wary of help wanted ads for traveling sales crews that may promise more than they deliver. These companies sell items like magazines or cleaning products door to door across the country. Applicants who are hired during interviews in hotels or motels are asked to begin the job in a few hours or the next day. Once on the job, new employees find the work involves very long hours, cramped living conditions, and little personal freedom.

They may also be asked to use questionable sales pitches. In some traveling crews, hotel expenses, canceled orders, 'misconduct fines' and daily allowance for meals and personal items are deducted from the earnings. The BBB urges that potential employees of a traveling sales crew thoroughly check the company out by calling the BBB at 763-0459 or (800)687-7890, get all promises in writing and how friends and family can contact you and who arranges transportation home.

Dr. K.C. Patzer honored in Austin

FLOYDADA - Dr. K.C. Patzer, chiropractor, was one of seven chiropractors selected to be honored and presented a plaque for exceptional commitment and many years of chiropractic service to humanity, by the Travis County Chiropractic Society in Austin, this past weekend. A very touching moment was, Dr. Bart Patzer, of Austin, was requested to present this plaque to his father.

An hour documentary movie titled "From Simple Beginnings" was shown to an audience of approximately 500. It's contents were primarily the events of 100 years of progress of Chiropractic from its beginning to present. This profession is now 2nd largest healing profession world wide.

Dr. Patzer, came to Floydada in 1954 and has practiced here for 42 years. In 1958, besides maintaining his practice, he became involved with the Grostic and Orthospinology Research Program, which required a lot of time in Atlanta, Ga. He also served on the advisory board and was an instructor for several years. Recently, he resigned from this group, but still meets with younger chiropractors periodically on weekends in Dallas and Austin, encouraging the younger D.C.'s to become involved. This research and application is specifically for care of the cervical spine, the most critical area of the spine.

June Patzer, wife of K.C., and Kelley Patzer, wife of Bart Patzer, were invited to share in these activities.

Martin is July bank artist

By Martha Farris

The First National Bank of Floydada is pleased to present the artwork of Lubbock artist, Byron Martin, in exhibit during the month of July. This is Martin's first exhibit in our community, although he has been in demand in other areas for several years.

A native of Lubbock, graduate of Lubbock High School and Texas Tech University with a degree in Architecture, Martin was a member of the construction firm Claude Martin and Sons until retirement in 1985. The firm built schools, churches, hospitals and commercial buildings over the South Plains from 1954-1985. Since that time, the artist has been Bond Construction Manager for Lubbock Independent School District for the 1989 Bond Program and currently for the 1995 Bond Program. He served as a trustee for LISD from 1968-1976.

"I began painting with watercolors while I was in architectural school," said Martin, "and I enjoy art as well as architecture. Currently, I am devoting more time to art and especially watercolor."

Martin has attended workshops and had the privilege of painting with several accomplished artists. He recently attended a workshop with Michael Atkinson of Santa Fe. He is a member of a group of 24 artists who meet twice yearly for a "paint-out". The group calls themselves the G A S group which stands for Geriatrics Art Society. "I enjoy the challenge that painting presents, and try to gather plans for art as I travel", said Martin. He plans to spend two weeks in Scotland this summer.

Byron and his wife, Wanda, have daughters Robin Hightower of Midland, Le Ann Grantham of Lubbock, and a son, Lane, of Lubbock. They have seven grandchildren.

Customers and friends of the area are cordially invited to view the exhibit of this talented artist during regular banking hours through the month of July.

Have a good week!

Scouts receive awards at banquet

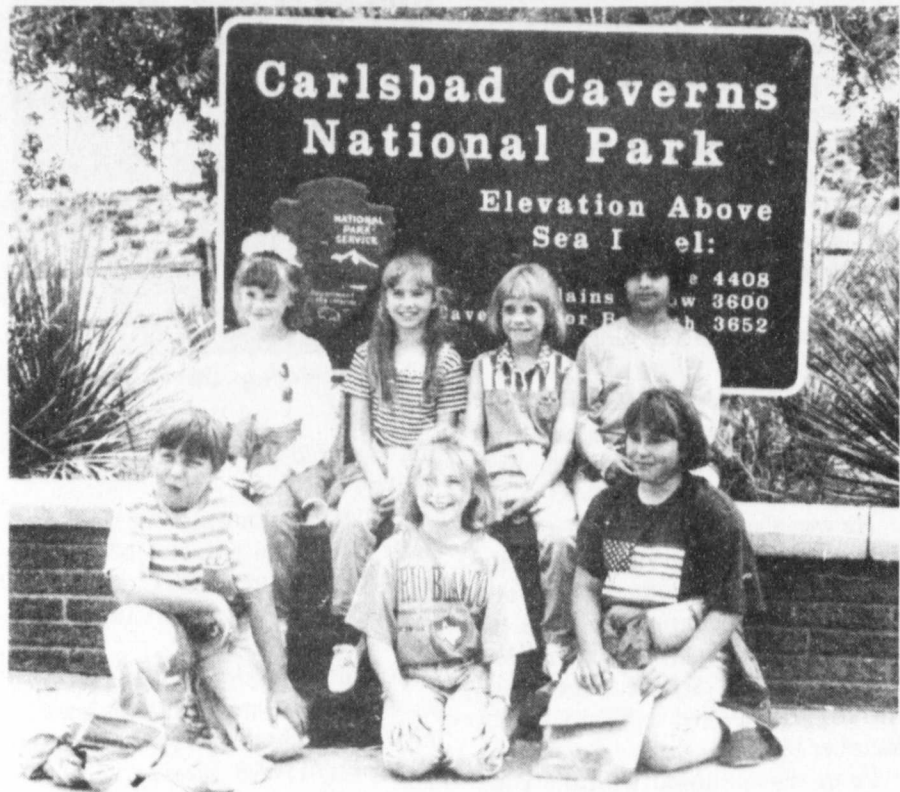

By Debra Graham
FLOYDADA - Brownie Troop #56 recently had their awards banquet. The theme for their banquet was "bridging to the future." During the bridging ceremony, the girls Jr. Girl Scouts, each girl received her Brownie wings and her bridging patch. They also received a carnation flower from their leaders. Last, they received their Girl Scout Pins. Cookie awards were given out. The cookie sales were a great success with the troop making over $500. Meghan Graham and Katie Gooch were top sellers, both selling over 400 boxes. Joy Allen was recognized for having 25 years of leadership and Debra Graham and Elizabeth Sims were recognized for having 15 years of leadership. Special guest, Bobby Weir was given a plant from the troop as a thank you for letting the troop use the school. We truly appreciate her support. We would also like to say thank you to Floydada for their great support.

Brownie Troop #56 recently took a trip to Carlsbad Caverns. We really had a great time. The girls toured the National Zoo and Desert Garden. We went to the drive-in movie, something some of them had never done. One of the highlights of the trip was the melodrama at Granny's Opera House, where leader Debra Graham became a star.

The group of girls who attended were Kristian Lackey, Katy Gooch, Whitney Williams, Kimberly Aleman, Jackie Burns, Meghan Graham and Lauren Powell. Adults going on the trip were Debra Graham, Tonya Gooch, Karrie Williams and Julie Lackey. The girl's trip was funded by their cookie sales.

Who's Who offers come with a catch

All too frequently, pitches for "Who's Who"-type publications, biographies or nominations for awards or special memberships have a catch to them. In some cases, honorees who receive such letters and calls are not chosen by a select committee as they are often told, but plucked off a mailing list. Their name might never appear in the well-known biography directory as promised. The executive who is flattered into providing the details of his or her career may be stuck with a subscription fee, a membership fee, a charge for the listing, an inflated price for buying the publication, or a solicitation to purchase one or more copies of the publication. There is no guarantee that the advertised publication will be distributed beyond those persons purchasing copies for themselves or even that it will be published at all. To help you distinguish the reputable biographical directory from those of little value or no value, give the BBB a call at 763-0459 or (800)687-7890.

ATHLETIC PHYSICALS

Floydada ISD will give physicals to incoming 7th grade and 9th grade athletic students on Thursday, August 1. Physicals will also be given to any athletic student who had an injury during the last school year.

Students needing physicals should meet at the fieldhouse at 4:15 p.m. to go to Lubbock by bus.

Anyone not attending will be responsible for obtaining their own physical.

Local youths participate in Junior Olympics

Eight Floydada youth competed in the U.S.A. Track and Field West Texas Regional Meet in Levelland on June 29. They were Ross Bennett, T.J. Fuller, Tyrell Fuller, Aaron Kirk, Matthew Kirk, Kelsy Pierce, Kyle Pierce, and Joey Snell. Six of these advanced to the U.S. Region VII meet in Arlington on July 13, 1996.

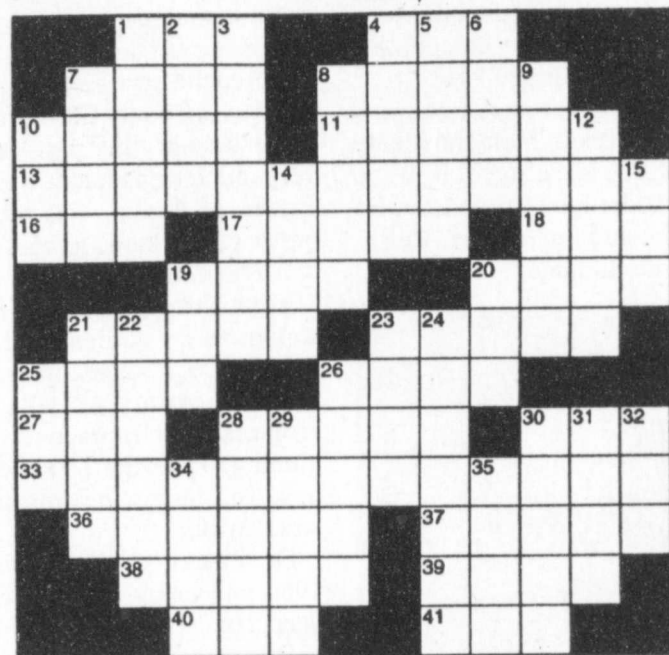

Those who advanced were Ross Bennett in the 400m, Tyrell Fuller in the 100m and 200m, Aaron Kirk in the 100m and 400m, Kelsy Pierce in the 100m hurdles, Kyle Pierce in the 110m hurdles and triple-jump, and Joey Snell in the 1500m. This is one step away from the National Junior Olympics being held in Houston this year.

These young people have worked hard to make it this far and should be commended as they go to represent our community at this event.

"FOCUS ON THE FAMILY" with Dr. James Dobson

Question: What are some of the factors that hinder parents from building their child's self esteem?

Dr. Dobson: In a very real sense, parents have systematically been taught to worship beauty and brains, as everyone else has. So have our grandmothers, grandpoppas, uncles, aunts, cousins and neighbors. We all want super children who will amaze the world. Let's face it, folks: we have met the enemy, and it is us.

Often the greatest damage is unintentionally inflicted right in the home, which should be the child's sanctuary and fortress. Furthermore, I have observed in working with parents that their own feelings of inferiority make it difficult for them to accept gross imperfections in their children. They don't intend to reject their sons and daughters, and they work hard to conceal these inner thoughts, but their "damaged" child symbolizes their own personal inadequacies and failures. Thus, it takes a very mature parent to look down upon an unattractive child, or one who is clearly deficient in mentality, and say, "Not only do I love you, little one, but I recognize your immeasurable worth as a human being."

The first step in overcoming this bias is to examine you own feelings even be willing to expose those guilt-laden attitudes which previously may have been unconscious. Are you secretly disappointed because your child is so ordinary? Have you rejected him at times, because of his lack of appeal and charm? Do you think he is dumb and stupid? Was he born during a difficult time, imposing financial and physical stress on the family? Did you want a girl instead of a boy? Or a boy instead of a girl? Was the child conceived out of wedlock, forcing an unwanted marriage? Do you resent the freedom you lost when he came, or the demands he places on your time and effort? Does he embarrass you by being either too loud and rambunctious or too inward and withdrawn?

Quite obviously, you can't teach a child to respect himself when you dislike him for reason of your own! By examining your innermost feelings, perhaps with the help of an understanding counselor or doctor, you can make room in your heart as a loving parent for your less-than-perfect youngster. After all, what right do we have to demand super children when we are so ordinary ourselves!

Question: I am a 19 year old girl, and I'm still single. I'm aware of some pretty awful circumstances that can occur in marriage. If that's the way it is, why should I bother to get married at all?

Dr. Dobson: Coping with a bad marriage can be a terrible experience, I'll grant you, but a good marriage is a lifelong treasure. I can tell you from a personal point of view that marriage to my wife, Shirley, is the best thing that ever happened to me, and there are millions who can offer a similar testimony.

You see, life involves problems no matter what your choices are. If you remain single, your frustrations will be of a different nature, but they will occur, nevertheless. As to whether you should get married or not, I would offer you the same advice given me when I was an 8-year-old child by a teacher whose name I don't even remember. He said, "Don't marry the person you think you can live with; marry the person you think you can't live without...if such an individual ever comes along."

Either way, I think you're ahead by knowing in advance that married life offers no panacea--that if it is going to reach its potential, it will require an all-out investment by both husband and wife.

tax rate of $1.098 and $1.11 at the time.

This would be just short of a three percent increase in the effective tax rate on a tax base of $159,809,310.00. The appraised value of taxable property in FISD has risen this year by more than $2 million according to figures provided by the Floyd County Central Appraisal District.

Tier II funding from the state which FISD received based on the 1995 tax rate was approximately $800,000.00. A tax rate of $1.23 per $100 would result in about $1.4 million in Tier II funding to FISD said Collins.

Board President Mitch Probasco asked that Collins provide information concerning Tier II funding with a next board meeting, a called session scheduled for the morning of the back to school breakfast, August 12.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Board Secretary Trena Simpson and approved as presented.

Payment of monthly bills was approved on a motion by Simpson with a second by Steve Lloyd. All voted in favor.

Collins presented the tax report stating that collections now total $1,607,853.00 and CED delinquent collections are $818.00. This represents a collection rate of 96.81 percent compared to last year at this time when it was 97.12 percent.

Bids were opened on the purchase of a 19 passenger handicap equipped bus for Caprock Special Education Cooperative. One bid was received from Bridges-Hemphill, $37,000.00. The bid was approved on a motion by Charlene Brown with a second by Billy Joe Villarreal. The vote was unanimously in favor.

Grant Hambricht presented the annual update of the district improvement plan, detailing the policies, mission and objectives the district hopes to achieve in the coming five years. The plan was unanimously accepted by the board on a motion by Brown with a second by Probasco.

Board members also approved an application to the state for a staff development waiver allowing staff development days on October 28, February 14, and May 5. The application asks for three days rather than the six requested last school year. Motion to approve the application came from Simpson and was seconded by Brown. All voted in favor.

Resignations were accepted from: Jennifer Hodnett, girls assistant coach at high school; Pat Sneed, 6th grade teacher at R. C. Andrews; and Stefanie Shortis, FJHS teacher and girls basketball and track coach.

Employment of several new employees was authorized. Those hired included: Randall Eddleman, coach and Health at high school; Pam Rickerts for ESL English and Spanish; Kay Rainwater as 6th grade teacher at R. C. Andrews; Kathy Cortinas as 5th grade teacher at R. C. Andrews; and Carol Brooks as bookkeeper at the Alternative School.

Motion to accept resignations and hire personnel as presented by Superintendent Cannon was made by Simpson and seconded by Villarreal. The vote was unanimously in favor of the motion.

FISD board members agreed to increase reimbursement for travel expenses from 26 cents per mile to 28 cents per mile. Motion was made by Lloyd and seconded by Villarreal. All voted in favor.

A SPECIAL THANK YOU

There are no words that can describe our feelings for everyone who expressed sympathy for us during our recent loss of a wonderful man. The cards, flowers, food, prayers and presence with us was such a great comfort that we will cherish each time we remember Connie Bearden.

We want to express a special thanks to the Floydada EMS who were so prompt to arrive and so efficient in helping us to get the best care. To Brother Farnsworth, your words touched us all so deeply and left us feeling like a great tribute had been paid to such a special man.

To Kay Crabtree and Harvey Allen, it was a special request from Daddy himself for the past several years that your harmonica and piano duet would be the main focus of the musical selections played at his funeral. Your music was absolutely a gift from Heaven.

To Penny Giescike and Roberta Hardin, the love and respect you displayed to our family as you returned home from a vacation early to play such beautiful music meant so much to us.

To all the ladies who were so kind to bring food and work in the kitchen and put together such a fine meal for the family to have together, we appreciate your time and efforts.

And most of all, thanks to every single person in the First Baptist Church on July 4, 1996. We were so honored that each of you thought enough of the man we loved so much to be with us on Independence Day - We treasure that you chose to spend it with our family.

Sincerely,

Responsibilities given in caring for PPE

From Melissa Long, CEA-FCS
(This article was taken from Gempeler's ALERT Newsletter, June 1996.)

In the past, your employees had some options on what to do with their contaminated protective clothing.

But now, few employers of pesticide applicators can afford to run the risk of violating the Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) Worker Protection Standards (WPS).

The WPS not only makes employers responsible for providing protective equipment (PPE), but also says you must:

- * Provide a pesticide-free area for putting on and taking off PPE;
- * Clean reusable PPE before each day of reuse;
- * Store and wash used PPE separately from other laundry;
- * Teach employees who clean PPE how to do it correctly so they don't contaminate themselves.

Decontamination Process

Protective clothing made out of certain materials is meant to be disposed of once it has been contaminated with pesticides. But reusable fabric protective clothing needs to be decontaminated before it is re-worn.

Warning: If your fabric protective clothing has been saturated with a pesticide concentrate, dispose of it. Don't take any chances that decontamination will remove the pesticide residue.

Here are 10 steps for you or your employees to follow when decontaminating fabric protective clothing.

1. Always wear gloves when handling pesticide-contaminated clothing (8 mil to 14 mil nitrile gloves are a good choice).

2. Wash your protective clothing daily - preferably as soon as possible after it has been worn.

3. Keep the contaminated clothing separate from any other wash. Launder it in a separate washing machine specifically dedicated to that use.

4. Pre-rinse the clothing by hosing it outdoors, soaking it in a pail or tub or agitating it in an automatic washing machine.

5. Wash a few items at a time. Be sure that coveralls contaminated by different pesticides are not washed together.

6. Use these washing machine settings: hot water temperature (140 degrees to 160 degrees), extra large or large load, normal (12 minute) wash cycle, double rinse.

7. Use heavy-duty laundry detergent. But do not add bleach and ammonia. Neither helps remove pesticide residue, and mixed together, they produce a poisonous chlorine gas.

8. Re-wash the clothing two or three times, if necessary.

9. Thoroughly rinse the washing machine when you're done. Do this by running it through a complete cycle, using hot water and detergent.

10. Line dry your protective clothing. Don't dry clean it, and be sure not to put it in the dryer. Toxic levels of pesticides can build up in dryers over time.

Removing Contaminated Clothing

Pesticide contamination can occur when you remove protective clothing and other PPE.

Here are some steps to follow when taking off contaminated one-piece coveralls and other protective gear.

1. Wash the outside of your gloves and shoes or boots with soap and water while they are still on.

2. Remove any accessories such as respirators or goggles.

3. Unfasten the protective clothing.

4. Take off your contaminated gloves, then put on a clean pair.

5. Roll the protective coverall down your body, starting at the shoulders. Be careful not to touch the outside. Only the inside should be showing by the time it is rolled down to your ankles.

6. Take off the protective clothing the rest of the way and dispose of it or put in a container marked for decontamination.

7. Remove your shoes or boots.

8. Re-wash your gloves with soap and water, then remove them.

9. Immediately wash your hands with soap and water. Then take a shower.

Pest Management Report

General Situation

Once again scattered thunderstorms have blessed portions of Crosby and Floyd Counties this week. Some areas have received as much as two inches, which is most unusual for the first week of July. Cotton replanting has wrapped up with several producers still planting grain sorghum and sunflowers. Some early planted cotton which survived harsh weather is blooming this week in the Crosbyton, Mt. Blanco, and Dougherty areas.

Cotton growth stages range from emerging to first bloom in both counties. This could make for difficult decisions when it comes to managing cotton insects later in the season. Younger cotton is still vulnerable to thrips and fleahoppers, while older cotton is being worked on by boll weevils and boll worms.

Boll Weevil

Trap captures were about the same in Crosby County this week. However, trap captures in Floyd County more than doubled when compared with the previous week. A large portion (36) of these weevils were captured in trap #10 East of Cedar Hill. The six traps in the Kalgary area captured 25 weevils this week. If your cotton has reached the point of squaring it might be wise to monitor your fields closely. Some producers have already made applications for boll weevils in early planted cotton. At this time in the season Vydate® CLV would be the product of choice as it is easier on beneficial insects.

Boll Worms

Boll worms egg lays have occurred in several of the program fields. Moths are attracted to and lay eggs in cotton that is producing new growth. Moths usually lay eggs on the tops of young, tender terminal leaves in the upper third of the plant. Eggs are pearly white to cream color and are round with ribs from top to bottom. These should not be confused with looper eggs, which are flatter and are usually laid singly on the underside of leaves. Eggs hatch in 3 to 4 days, turning light brown before hatching. Young worms usually feed for a day or two on tender leaves, leaf buds, and small squares in the plant terminal before moving down the plant to attack larger squares and bolls. When these small worms are in the upper third of the plant, they are most vulnerable to control by insecticides and beneficials. Cotton fields should be scouted every 3 to 5 days during predicted moth egg-laying activity.

The decision to apply conventional insecticides for boll worm control at this time should be made very carefully. Conventional insecticides often kill beneficial insects and spiders, thus allowing a rapid increase in boll worm numbers. Under most conditions, do not use conventional insecticides before blooms are present in the field. Treatment may be warranted if 15 to 25 percent of the green squares examined are worm damaged and small worms are present. Consider using a microbial insecticide (i.e., Bt's) to preserve beneficials. After bolls are present, divide cotton fields into quadrants depending on the size of the field. Make whole plant inspections of five randomly chosen sets of three adjacent cotton plants in each section. Count the number of eggs, worms, and key predators encountered and estimate the number of each per acre using the following formula. Take the number of eggs, worms or key predators counted, and divide it by the number of whole plants checked. Now multiply answer by the number of plants per acre. This will give the amount of worms, eggs, or key predators.

Treatment may be justified when counts average 5,000 or more small worms per acre. The actual treatment level will vary according to the ability of the individual scout locate small larvae. The well trained eye can locate more of these small larvae, thus a threshold of 10,000 larvae per acre would be an acceptable treatment level. However, if two or more key predators are found for each small worm, control measures may not be needed.

Sunflowers

Sunflower moths are present in high populations of every field inspected this week. The adult moth is about 1/2" in length and is buff gray to silver in color. When not in flight the moth roles its wings downward giving it a slender, almost cigar shape.

Treatment is usually justified when 20% or more of the plants begin to bloom and moths or small larvae are present in the field.

No assessment due on failed cotton

By Shawn Wade

Producers going about the unhappy task of certifying and failing cotton acreage DO NOT have to pay a boll weevil assessment on failed acreage.

According to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG) some producers are concerned, and rightly so, that they have been billed for assessments on cotton acreage that had been failed out.

Officials at the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation have confirmed that invoices are printed automatically as soon as certification information is received from USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA).

Fortunately the situation appears to be under control and producers can easily clear their account with the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation by providing two easily attainable documents.

"The message we are trying to get out to all of the FSA County offices and to producers is that when they fail their acres they will not owe an assessment even though a bill may come in the mail," explains Tom Allen, Chief Financial Officer of the TBWEF. "All we need to clear these accounts is a copy of two forms the producer can get at the time they certify their acreage - a copy of FSA Form 574 and TBWEF's Proof of Crop Destruction Form."

Allen notes that producers simply need to fill out these forms and return them to TBWEF's Abilene office and their account will be changed to reflect the failed acres.

Producers filling out the TBWEF form should simply include their name, address, farm number, and acreage figures, both planted and failed. That and their signature is all that is necessary.

PCG officials expect to hear on Friday a final decision on whether or not other signatures will be required on the Proof of Crop Destruction form.

"We have been working with the WBWEF since this issue first came up a few days ago to develop a workable solution for High Plains producers," says PCG Executive Vice-President Donald Johnson. "As a result of this effort it appears that the Foundation will indeed eliminate the requirements for any additional signatures on the form and accept them with the producers signature only."

Another important piece of information is that when a producer sends in these forms it will clear all accounts associated with the individual farm numbers. Landlords do not have to send in a second form. Any accounts that have payments received prior to the receipt of FSA 574 will be reviewed and refunds issued automatically.

CERTIFY COTTON BY AUGUST 15 FOR LOANS PROGRAMS

Producers who want to have 1996 cotton production eligible for the upland marketing loan program, or who would like to receive Loan Deficiency Payments should they become available, must certify their 1996 cotton acreage prior to August 15.

According to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, the FAIR Act of 1996 does not require a producer of program crops to certify acreage except in specific instances. One of those instances happens to be loan eligibility.

Some producers are electing to certify their crop acreage in order to keep their Farm Service Agency files up to date as possible even though they are not specifically required to do so by law.

"Most producers are already in the habit of certifying their acreage and will continue to do so voluntarily," notes Johnson. "With the situation that currently exists regarding farm programs, it may be that producers who keep these records up to date will be in a more favorable position down the road."
