Drive for State's 45
Electoral Votes
Now On

G. O. P. NOMINEE SPEAKS TONIGHT

Curtis Out to Get Up-State Favor
for Party

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(P)—Herbert Hoover today was on the home ground of his Democratic opponent to wind up his campaign in the east with an address tonight at Madison Square.

The Republican presidential candidate arrived here last night from Washington so that he might give a full day to conferences with party leaders and aid them in mapping out the strategy for the closing days of the fight for the 45 electoral votes of New York state.

In addition he was to receive various groups of foreign-born voters and delegations from independent organizations working on behalf of the Republican national ticket and make an address at a luncheon to which county chairmen and vice-chairmen of the empire state and many Republican campaign workers had been invited.

After spending the entire day at his hotel, the nominee is to go to Madison Square Garden shortly before 8 to deliver the last set speech he will make until he starts his California home to vote early next week.

Elihu Root, secretary of state in the administration of President Taft, will preside, and will first present Vice President Davis, who will make his first speech of the campaign. Hoover will start speaking about 8:30 o'clock and the whole program will be carried to the country on an extensive radio hook-up.

EN ROUTE WITH SENATOR CURTIS TO UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 22.—(P)—brought Senator Curtis, the party vice-presidential nominee, into the up-state sector while Herbert Hoover was in New York City.

Senator Curtis speaks tonight at Utica, Wednesday. He speaks at Rochester. This is his second rally into the upper New York. He appeared at the state fair in August at Syracuse.

The senator has objected to going into the official home city of the Democratic presidential nominee, saying it is against his way of campaigning, but it is planned for him to have luncheon at Albany at noon tomorrow with party leaders.

Opening the final drive of the campaign, the 68-year-old nominee came into New York state from a steady grind from now until election day, but he pronounced himself "fit" and "ready to go." He rested in Hartford, Conn., yesterday. He is due in Utica by mid-afternoon.

MOHAIR IS SOLD

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 22.—(P)—The entire accumulation of Texas' fall mohair, with the exception of 100,000 pounds, has been sold with the average price at the warehouse being 63 cents for regular hair and 73 cents for kid hair. The accumulation amounted to about 7,000,000 pounds.

Moody to Speak for Smith, But He

Will Not Answer Senator Wm. Borah

DALLAS, Oct. 22.—(P)—The Times-Herald today said that assurance was being expressed at state Democratic headquarters that Governor Moody has decided definitely to deliver an address here appealing for the support of Gov. Alfred E. Smith and Senator Joe Robinson.

J. T. Benton, Pioneer of Gray County, Is Dead

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TUESDAY AT HOME

In the death of J. T. Benton late yesterday afternoon, Gray county lost one of its highly esteemed pioneers. He had been ill only two days before death, although he had been in failing health since last May.

Mr. Benton was born in Stone county, Arkansas, July 23, 1864. He moved to Gray county in 1906, purchasing land from the White Deer land company in the east part of this precinct. In 1912 he purchased land in section 63, block 3, and has since resided there.

Mr. Benton was a member of General Price's Arkansas regiment in the Confederate army. His last campaign was in Missouri in 1884. After moving to Gray county, he continued to take a keen interest in military affairs, and attended the reunion of Confederate veterans four years ago.

Besides his wife, he leaves to mourn his loss eight children, Mrs. Jennie Ledbetter of Clovis, N. M., and Mrs. Tom Miller, Mrs. J. M. Saunders, Mrs. Tom Darby, Walter D. Bert, George and Joe, all of Pampa or vicinity.

Funeral services will be conducted at his home five miles east of here tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Rev. Jas. Todd Jr., pastor of the First Christian church. Interment will be at Fairview cemetery.

More Facilities For Farm Work in Schools Urged

Commendation of the work of Prof. J. L. Lester and his vocational agriculture students is contained in the report of C. L. Davis of Austin, state supervisor of agricultural education, a copy of which has been received by Supt. R. C. Campbell. Mr. Davis was here about two weeks ago.

The report, however, points out needed extensions in the facilities for vocational work. A larger and better lighted workshop is recommended to the school board. Instead of six-hour projects, 50-hour work is suggested. Four sows per boy are urged, instead of one, and 50 acres of wheat instead of 10 acres.

With the help of the school board and the cooperation of local civic clubs the requirements outlined can be met during this school term. The Rotary and Lions clubs are actively supporting the work through committees appointed to assist boys in obtaining livestock, especially hogs, for their projects.

Frank Hill went to Memphis yesterday.

Gordon Bain of Canyon spent yesterday in this city.

City to Have Another Chance on Mail Delivery

Another survey of the city will be made by postal authorities on the question of free mail delivery, a letter received at the local postoffice this morning stated. Full requirements for free delivery have been made here, it is believed.

The only obstacle in the way of the free delivery service is the late arrival of the afternoon trains. Because of that condition it is not definitely known whether mail delivery service here would be feasible.

House numbering has been nearly completed, additional sidewalks have been laid, and more streets paved, all of which were needed for free delivery, according to a report from the postal department following the last survey made.

A map of proposed delivery zones, compiled by George Briggs and postal officials, was submitted some time ago, when the last paving program was outlined. This data resulted in reopening of the local request.

DEPORT PASTOR TO COME HERE

The Rev. A. A. Hyde of Deport called to the local Presbyterian church, has tentatively accepted the Pampa charge. In a letter to the church here, he says that he will place his resignation before his church and ask to be released.

He preached here two weeks ago.

Dynamite Blast Kills Fort Worth Railroad Employee

FORT WORTH, Oct. 22.—(P)—One man was killed and another injured seriously when a dynamite cap which a crew of workmen was using in blasting under the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railway tracks about a mile and a half south of the city limits exploded today.

Bert Carter, Kansas City, Mo., was killed and J. H. Hoagland, whose home is believed to be in Parsons, Kans., is in a critical condition.

The men, who were members of a construction crew working out of Parsons, Kans., were putting in a storm sewer under the tracks a mile and a half south of the city. Carter, it is believed, was attaching a dynamite cap to a fuse, when the explosion occurred.

V. P. FOUNDER DIES

MAPLEWOOD, N. J., Oct. 22.—(P)—Clayton D. Lee, 63, formerly president and one of the founders of the United Press association, died at his home here today.

BIG OIL PROFITS

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(P)—The Transcontinental Oil company of Tulsa, Okla., for the first 9 months of the year reported today a profit of $1,248,032 against a net loss of $63,350 in the corresponding period in 1927.

ROBBED AND KILLED

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—(P)—Ted Carlson, 57, was robbed and killed last night by two men. They got only $10, but clubbed Carlson so severely that he died.

BARS IN WINDOW SAWED TO ALLOW PASSAGE

After sawing a section out of the heavy bars on a south window of the county jail, three prisoners escaped early this afternoon. One was recaptured shortly afterward in the warehouse at Stark and McMillen Grain company.

Officers are scouring the vicinity in hope of capturing the two men at large.

One of the escaped men is Beryl Walker, arrested recently at Mexia and returned here to face a charge of cattle theft.

Waitresses at the New Schneider hotel saw the men squeezing through the window and gave the alarm which brought city and county officers to the scene.

The escaping men walked casually for half a block south, then ran at top speed in different directions. The jail is crowded beyond the point of comfort, there being 25 prisoners, several of them held for investigation in connection with petty larceny over the week-end.

The other man not captured is known to officers as Spelix, held on a charge of pickpocketing. The man captured, named Tyler, is held for car theft.

How saws were smuggled to the prisoners is not known, unless in food cooked for them by friends Sunday.

CHECKING FAIR ATTENDANCE

DALLAS, Oct. 22.—(P)—Officials of the State Fair of Texas were checking records today to determine whether one million people had attended the event this year on paid admissions. As the fair closed last night, officials said the number of paid admissions was very close to, if not above the million mark.

Mexican Quakes Come Before Mr. Morrow Retires

MEXICO CITY, —(P)—American Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow's earthquake battered bedroom is being repaired again.

The walls and ceiling of his sleeping quarters in the embassy residence have been cracked three times this year by earthquakes.

Mr. Morrow has never been in the bedroom at the time. After each jolt the repairs have been scarcely completed when another temblor has reopened the cracks or caused new ones. The damage has not been serious or dangerous, and other parts of the embassy residence, and the office building, have been cracked even less than this particular bedroom.

Ambassador Morrow makes light of the matter. Friends have commented that it is rather considerate of Mexican earthquakes to occur early in the evenings before Mr. Morrow retires to his bedroom, which seems to have an earthquake hoodoo.

SCOUTING TO BE DISCUSSED

Business Men Asked to Attend Meeting
Tomorrow

Pampa's incomplete Boy Scout financial drive and the local program of Scouting will be the subjects of a meeting of business men here tomorrow evening.

Scout Executive E. D. McIver has mailed invitations to about twenty local men, asking their presence at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Ways and means of making Boy Scout work here more effective will be discussed along with plans for the adult leadership training course which will be held within a short time. Mr. McIver reports that the business men of other cities of the Adobe Walls council are finding time to give to Boy Scout activities. Lack of adult leadership is the chief obstacle in Pampa, it is pointed out, since the boys are willing and eager to join the movement.

BLIND VENDOR IS VICTIM IN ONE ROBBERY

Petty thefts kept officers of the sheriff's department busy Saturday night and Sunday morning. Several arrests were made, but the right persons probably not apprehended.

The first report received was from the Johnson hotel, where Mr. Johnson had been awakened by someone entering his room. Before the thief entered Mr. Johnson's room, he had entered the room of a blind peanut vendor and taken $25 from a suit.

D. C. Moore, resident on West Foster, lost two new tires and rims and a motorometer off his new Buick sedan. Entry was gained by breaking the lock from the garage door. Not having a jack to work with, the thieves used a board to lift the car while the tires and rims were being removed.

Nothing was stolen when the office of the British American gasoline company's warehouse was entered, not from the Dodd Hatchery where entrance was gained through a rear window.

Officers have made several arrests and identification of one man is thought possible.

Roosevelts Will Head Expedition Into Southeast Asia

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—(P)—Col. Theodore Roosevelt and Kermit Roosevelt will head their second zoological expedition for the field museum of national history November 10, it was announced today by Stephen C. Sumner, director of the museum.

With Suydam Cutting of New York City, they will seek rare animals in unexplored mountains and jungles of Southeastern Asia. The scientists will survey the region lying northward of Indo-China, along the gorges of the Mekong river and abutting the borders of Burma, Siam, and Yunnan.

The latter objective of the expedition will be sought by a second party to start Dec. 12 under leadership of Harold Coolidge, Jr., a young mammalogist of Boston. He will be accompanied by Dr. Josselyn Van Tine, assistant curator of birds at the museum of zoology of the University of Michigan, Dr. Ralph E. Wheeler of Cambridge, Mass., who will be medical officer and assistant naturalist, and Russell W. Hendree of Brooklyn, N. Y., recently returned from three years' work in South America as a zoologist.

Hypothetical Army Will Move on

San Antonio in Giant Maneuver

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 22.—(P)—High ranking officers of the regular army National Guard, and organized reserve from five states that comprise the Eighth Corps area will move out in maneuvers from Fort Sam Houston this afternoon with a hypothetical army of more than 200,000 men to defend San Antonio against a "Red" phantom army advancing from the North.

Brigadier General Albert J. Bowley, commander of the Eighth Corps area and Second Division, is in command of the forces participating in the first army post exercise conducted by the United States army, called a conference of all officers at Fort Sam Houston at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. At that time, he will give them the plan of action and send them into the field to begin maneuvers that will last until Friday.

Although no troops will be involved except details to outsize enemy positions and to operate a complete army communication system, the machinery for handling an entire field army will be set up.

SMITH SEEKING VITAL SUPPORT IN FIVE STATES

Whirlwind Campaign Is Outlined for Last
Ten Days

NEBRASKA IN FEVERISH MOOD

Senator Joe Robinson
at Lincoln Tonight
for Speech

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 22.—(P)—Confident that he has lined up under his banner all of the states touched on his 3,600-mile tour just ended, Governor Smith now is pinning his hopes on five strategic Atlantic seaboard states with a total electoral vote of 123, or ten less than half the number needed to place him in the White House.

Starting on Wednesday with a speech at Boston, the Democratic presidential nominee will carry his fight to Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York, making his final ten days of campaigning before election a whirlwind affair closely paralleling his past gubernatorial battle finishes.

Only a tentative schedule had been mapped out today beyond the Boston address. Subject to change, it calls for speeches at Philadelphia next Saturday; Baltimore October 29; Newark October 31; Brooklyn November 2 and New York City November 3.

While labor, foreign relations, reorganization of government and other subjects remain to be discussed by the candidate, he has not definitely settled in his mind where he will take up these particular questions. He has indicated that he may make his Boston address an appeal to the labor elements of that center, but he is withholding decisions.

All five seaboard states to be visited by the nominee were in the Republican column four years ago. Massachusetts with its 18 electoral votes New York's 46, Pennsylvania's 36, New Jersey's 14, and Maryland's 8—all fell under the avalanche of ballots that swept Calvin Coolidge to victory.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 22.—(P)—Nebraska Democrats, working strenuously to put their state in the Smith-Robinson column, made the visit to Lincoln of Senator Joe T. Robinson today the vehicle for one of the biggest rallies of the campaign.

On hand to welcome the vice-presidential nominee of their party were former-Senator G. M. Hitchcock, himself a candidate at Houston for the presidential nomination, and Charles W. Bryan, brother of the Commoner, who is seeking the governorship of the state.

Senator Robinson was prepared to send the host of party workers who had come to hear him speak tonight in the 20,000-seat university of Nebraska auditorium back to their labors with additional campaign arguments. Answer the subjects he has selected to carry on his midwestern campaign, are an attack upon the Republican farm relief policy and a bid for the support of women voters.

Fad Wouldn't Down

When, a few years ago, only the boys and mechanics gave much heed to radio, and there was a thrill in showing off your home-made apparatus—static and all—to the wondering neighbors, the pastime didn't have much rating in the regular circles.

Radio achieved stability as a mode of communication because it was stable—you couldn't deny that when the sets began to be perfected. But as a musical device: well, jazz had a higher rating. Then radio began to promote jazz, and the better artists wouldn't risk their reputations in radio broadcasting rooms. But soon the radio studio was derived, big corporations began to get behind exploitation of radio, and the business of making sets gained volume and a credit rating.

Today Fort Worth is opening a radio show which will be a revelation. WBAP, another good example of brilliant newspaper service, is building a wonderful studio and will become a 5,000-watt station, one of the big eight of the nation. Radio had a part in the general election of 1924, but nothing like the devastating influence it has in the present one. The shy little man who would be pitifully inadequate in an open air debate may put to rout—via the radio—the blustering opponent whose noise isn't good studio technique. Radio, another industry, science, and art, has a good lead on such other innovation as talking movies and dirigible oceanic travel.

The Future Farmers

Future Farmers of Texas is a new organization with a purpose and a "future." We like the idea. It presupposes that the member has taken a look into his future and has picked farming as a dignified and worthy vocation.

The boy who is not ashamed of his occupation and is studying how to make it better ought to mean a great deal in this basic industry. The old-time assumption that farmers were common laborers in the sense of having no intellectual attainments or needs has been wiped out in those sections where farming is a scientific business and a success.

Farm relief begins at the farm. The farm wives and children need relief such as they are going to get when the Future Farmers have their way. No one-crop plan is going to satisfy the young farmers, who will figure their prospective income years in advance with proper allowance for crop failures.

Future Farmers point the same way to back-to-the-farm movements which will make this movement worthwhile to the movers.

According to the current trend of the American drama, golfers are cheating posterity by not dashing off a couple of plays.

Futility of Calling Names

Ponca City News: When politicians begin calling names, the time to quit campaigning is at hand. Little can be accomplished after that. The voters may laugh at a crude joke or a vulgar comparison, but they are not influenced by it. Such remarks merely serve to heighten the feeling of those who have already made up their minds. The campaign becomes a personal thing to them and they even grow suspicious of old and tried friends. One reads in the press of speeches on both sides that should never have been made. It would probably be unfair to charge either of the parties with responsibility for such speeches. We doubt if any election was ever changed by campaign lies. The voters are too well informed as a class to be fooled. The News had hoped to see this campaign kept on a high basis of real issues. But it is not to be. Those responsible for lowering the tone will no doubt continue their way until November 6, appealing to prejudice and passion, because they lack ability to assemble real arguments.

Twinkles

Well customers: Let it rain—we have thirsty wheat, thirsty lakes, and need thirsty ducks, and, moreover, most of us are on or are in "so many blocks" of paving. There is an over-supply of hip boots in Pampa homes, as the "old-timers" of 1926 well know.

In football, as in ordinary life, the futility of bucking an unbending line is most easily seen from the bleachers. It is admirable to try, try again, and again the knotty problems, but while doping out a way to untie them it is laudable to try a few ends runs in football and in life.

Heard: A local preacher congratulated for not preaching on Hickman Sunday, so soon after the hanging.

An Amarillo grand jury suggests officers there are making many arrests just for fines and fees. Well, if so, its a shame, that the city and county do not profit as do the arresting officer, justice of the peace, county attorney, etc. While the "costs" provide nice sums—often netting those concerned $25 to $50 a day—the people's treasury gets the paltry $1 in too many instances. Why not put the fine up high enough to do more than merely license law breaking?

There are 1,300 kinds of face powder on the market. But to judge by the number of faces needing correction, the point of market saturation is far from reached.

WASHINGTON — There is just a remote chance that the result of the forthcoming presidential election will be seriously contested by the minority party. There has been no such contest since 1876.

There will be no contest unless the winning candidate's margin in the electoral college is very small, if then. Electoral college majorities are nearly always of substantial size, but the fact that many political forecasters admit the possibility of a close vote this year enhances interest in what might happen.

Failure of Congress to reappoint its membership, according to mandatory provisions of the Constitution, is responsible for the raising of this question. Electoral college votes are apportioned in accordance with congressional delegations. Each state has an elector for every senator and representative. Congressional representation is supposed to be determined by population. The changes demanded by the Constitution have not been made since the census of 1920—the first case of such omission in history. Reapportionment was formally refused in a vote by the House during its last session.

Thus there has been a chance that some bright lad might raise the issue of whether or not any piece of national legislation passed in recent years could be considered constitutional. No one has quibbled about that, but the matter takes on added importance when it is recalled that the electoral college system, by which presidents are elected, is also involved.

The question already has been raised in responsible quarters. Congressman Barbour, after the House vote, said he could readily see how the correct interpretation of William Starr Myers, professor of politics at Princeton and the Constitution might throw the 1928 election into the courts.

historian of the Republican party, also has foreseen the possibility of serious trouble and has accused Congress of "utter recklessness" in failing to reapportion. He even suggests that the present House is not constitutionally formed. Pointing out the possibility of "even revolutionary action," he warns against the danger of another Hayes-Tilden contest.

Harvesters to Battle on Tuesday

Harvesters likely to meet the fast men of Amarillo on the game has been called off at Fair park, the Harvesters.

Harvesters needs some stiff opposition entry into the finals, and Hinton should prove on this week. The Amarillo sported to be a tough, hard proposition that has been at all season.

Afternoon the local squad in Hinton, Okla., and expects the battle of the season thus far. In the best of physical condition, having had three weeks of fall before the season opened, teams trained with Hinton at Fair park and know they will have a battle.

With Mitchell will use his first team in both games. Hinton is out of the games on account of broken nose, but should be back for the Wheeler conference game Nov. 2. A definite playing place has been announced but the local commission is endeavoring to have the game played here.

Weak Opponents in Southwestern Are Missing

DALLAS, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The day is fast past when Southwestern football teams can ease up training program for weak opponents and roll up imposing scores through the motions of playing the reason is that in the conference, no such "set-ups" much defense and an them as title threats.

At the gridiron unexpected victory. Centenary long the events, and the standard of victory, 28 to 0, although the team had been defeated by the former single touchdown, was the aggressor.

The game, as a result, was overshadowed by the Yale-Army affair. It will be featured, nevertheless, by the first severe test for New York university's high scoring machine, against Colgate. Carnegie's attempt to down Pittsburgh and keep in the top flight; Dartmouth's efforts to maintain a winning streak against Harvard; Pennsylvania's attack upon the battered Navy crew, and Cornell's invasion of the Princeton Tiger's lair.

In the Southwest, the Texas Aggies 1937 champions, virtually have been put out of this season's conference race at the start by defeat at the hands of the Texas Christian. The Aggies play Arkansas this week while Texas university seeks to stay around the top by beating Rice.

All three of the undefeated Pacific Coast conference contenders meet non-conference foes this week. As a result of the scoreless tie between California and Southern California, the only undefeated and untied eleven in conference competition is Stanford.

Borah in Dallas for Talk Tonight

DALLAS, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Senator William B. Borah of Idaho today came into the traditional Democratic stronghold of Texas to deliver a speech here which was regarded by Republican leaders as one of the most important thrusts of the campaign to sway the Lone Star state's voters to the cause of Herbert Hoover.

The address, which will be delivered tonight at 8 o'clock at the state fair park auditorium is the sixth of the campaign trip that the Senator has been making through the "Solid South" and border states in behalf of the Republican presidential nominee. It will be broadcast over a regional radio hook-up which includes most of Texas and Oklahoma.

Conference Tilts to Hold Spotlight Next Saturday

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 22.—(AP)—The intersectional angle that has been so conspicuous so far in college football fades into the background this week. The spotlight turns on at least a dozen games of outstanding importance to conference or sectional championship aspirations in the East, South and Middle West.

Three of these conspicuous contests bring together six undefeated teams, among the nation's best gridiron products so far, and the atmosphere may be distinctly cleared as a result.

The East's big spectacle will see West Point's Cadets charging upon Yale before some 75,000 in the bowl at New Haven, Minnesota's juggernaut invades Iowa's stronghold for the all-important "Big Ten" clash of the day. Those ancient Missouri valley rivals, Missouri and Nebraska, furnish a third vital attraction at Lincoln with the leadership of the new "Big Six" at stake.

A few others should be mentioned. Two of the three "unbeaten" Rocky Mountain conference eleven, Utah and University of Colorado, will fight it out to see who will stay with Colorado college at the top.

In the South, where the main conference, two is getting better, every week, two of the pace-setters, Clemson and South Carolina, renew an ancient feud on Thursday, in advance of such other important battles, on Saturday as Georgia Tech-North Carolina, Vanderbilt-Virginia, Georgia-Tulane and Tennessee-Washington, and Lee.

The eastern program is somewhat overshadowed by the Yale-Army affair. It will be featured, nevertheless, by the first severe test for New York university's high scoring machine, against Colgate. Carnegie's attempt to down Pittsburgh and keep in the top flight; Dartmouth's efforts to maintain a winning streak against Harvard; Pennsylvania's attack upon the battered Navy crew, and Cornell's invasion of the Princeton Tiger's lair.

In the Southwest, the Texas Aggies 1937 champions, virtually have been put out of this season's conference race at the start by defeat at the hands of the Texas Christian. The Aggies play Arkansas this week while Texas university seeks to stay around the top by beating Rice.

All three of the undefeated Pacific Coast conference contenders meet non-conference foes this week. As a result of the scoreless tie between California and Southern California, the only undefeated and untied eleven in conference competition is Stanford.

Bobby's Monopoly On The Top Rung

By O. B. KEELER

Soon after the famous play-off between Johnny Farrell and Bobby Jones in the United States open championship at Olympia Fields, when the greatest finish in golfing history was over, and Bobby shooting the last two holes of the 36 in birdies, had been met with a birdie by Farrell at each to stop his rush to gain back a single stroke. I saw Bobby in his room at the club. It was the first chance, I had had to talk with him. He was taking a bath. He did not look at all down-hearted. Not at all as he looked at Oklahoma last year. I said something about being sorry he had not finished on top in the most brilliant and hardest-fought finish in all golf. "I don't mind—so much," he said. "Johnny's a great golfer, and a great kid. He deserved to win. I did my best and it wasn't bad. And, anyway, as long as I finish one-two, I'm darned well satisfied."

For several days I pondered this statement. I knew, of course, that no man with a heart of a champion is immediately satisfied after coming out second in so brilliant and so game a struggle. Then I began to understand, I think. It is my own notion, for Bobby never spoke of it again. "One-two"—what did it mean, to Bobby?

Well, it meant, as I see it, that in eight out of twelve national open championships—and they only are the major fixtures of golf—he had finished "one-two." Three British opens; nine United States opens—a dozen in all, and eight times he had finished either first or second. No other man is close. Jack Hutchinson finished first once in one of those British opens, and second once, in an American open. Others had been first once—second, never.

In the nine successive United States opens in which Bobby has played, he has been "one-two" six times; first twice, and second four times. Not another man has been better than "one-two" once. No man has been "one-two" in two of the nine.

In nine successive United States opens, Bobby has been "one-two" six times. It is a record that, I think, will stand.

Perhaps that was what he meant. Anyway it will be a tough mark against which to shoot.

Deaths of Two Children to Be Inquiry Subject

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(AP)—An inquiry into the death of two baby grandsons of the late Benjamin Gugenheim by falls from the roof of the Hotel Surrey Friday has been ordered by Chief Medical Examiner Charles Norris.

When playing on the roof with their mother, Mrs. Milton S. Waldman, wife of an associate editor of the London Mercury and youngest daughter of the late copper magnate, the two boys, Terrence, 4, and Benjamin, 14 months, fell 13 stories to the roof of an adjoining building.

Mrs. Waldman told police the older boy was attempting to climb into her lap and knocked the baby from her arms, then lost his balance and followed his small brother over the two foot wall. She has been confined to a hospital since the occurrence.

Ray Is Beaten by Brilliant Arab in Marathon Race

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Somebody is always taking the joy out of life for "Chester Jole" Ray. When Joe was a miller it was Pasvo Nurmi, the famous Finn. At the marathon distance it's El Oufi, the little dark-skinned, wire-haired Arab.

Making his professional running debut at Madison Square Garden last night, Ray, once king of American millers, was distanced by El Oufi who repeated, by a decisive margin, his triumph over the little Chicagoan in the Olympic marathon at Amsterdam this summer.

The gallant little American runner hung like a shadow to the splendid-legged Arab for more than a score of miles but in the end El Oufi's superior stamina told. Ray began to falter on the 23rd lap and the Arab, sensing his condition, immediately lengthened his stride and soon picked up a full lap on the American. Before the punishing grind of 26 miles, 385 yards was completed El Oufi had stretched his advantage to close upon three laps. His time was 2:44:55 2-5, remarkably fast for indoor running.

Souvenir Hunters Find Diamonds in Burned Mail Plane

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 22.—(AP)—A postal inspector today was collecting diamonds which disappeared in a "rush" on the burned remains of the air mail plane in which a National Air Transport pilot fell to his death near Folk, Pa. The diamonds were part of the mail cargo in the plane.

The plane, piloted by William G. Hopson, crashed and burned some time Thursday night. Wesley L. Smith, superintendent of mails of the Air Transport company, salvaged part of the mail and what he thought was all of the diamonds and then announced that the plane had been abandoned.

Souvenir hunters found a few diamonds in the wreckage and the rush was on. One man scooped up earth near the plane which he took home and sifted to find four diamonds. Some skeptics sold their finds for $2 to $3 only to find they were worth $85 or more.

When word reached post office authorities William Tafel, an inspector, was sent here to recover the diamonds. He obtained a list of those reported to have found diamonds in the wreckage and started collection of the gems. The transport company ordered a thorough search of the wreckage.

Plains Special

PLAINVIEW—A logical highway extension for the Panhandle-Plains section is the proposed route from Plainview to Dimmitt, connecting with the Dimmitt-Herford highway and the Herford-Vega highway and from there through Oldham county to Channing on State Highway No. 5. This route will cut off 49 miles on all traffic from Plainview and points south on Highway No. 5 and all Colorado points, according to Secretary Arnold of the Herford Chamber of Commerce, who was a visitor in Plainview in the interest of the highway.

A bridge across the Canadian in Oldham county would be necessary on this route at a point that would be easily bridged. Most of the year the river can be crossed on a fairly well improved road by Tascosa.

It would connect five county seats, now accessible only over circuitous routes. These county seats are Plainview, Dimmitt, Herford, Vega and Channing.

Mr. Arnold is enthusiastic about this route and is urging commissioners courts an edict in each county to join in a movement to get State and later Federal designation of the route. He points out that it will be some time before the state could take the highway over, their requirements as to grading and road condition must be met, but only a few years' time would be required to do this without making a burden on any of the counties. Once accepted by the state maintenance is at its expense.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
JERRY HAY decided that love is a delusion and makes up her mind to marry for money. She works in a store and denies herself petty luxuries in order to save for a vacation at Atlantic City in "the best hotel." But her money is stolen the night before her departure and she is stranded by the loss. Nothing remains but to go camping with her roommate, MYRTLE, on the north shore of Long Island.

But their camp is wrecked the next evening when an airplane crashes into it. Wealthy young ALESTER CARSTAIRS, from an adjoining estate, was taking a lesson from his pilot, JESSE VEY. They escape injury, also Myrtle, but Dan picks Jerry up unconscious from a blow on the head. He is holding her in his arms when she comes to. Then Alester sends her for the doctor and pays Myrtle for the damage done.

The doctor finds Jerry not seriously injured, but desires to make a fuller examination of his office next day. Both men offer to drive her there and Jerry accepts. Alester becomes of the money, although her heart belongs to Dan. She is amazed when he hands her a hundred-dollar bill next day to pay the doctor's fee.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER V

SHE must not argue with Alester. Carstairs about money. Jerry told herself.

"Lucky for you I didn't break an arm," she said.

"I'm glad you didn't, of course," he replied, "but I'd be happy to assume any liability I might incur with you."

Jerry was slightly confused by his remark, and her confusion annoyed her. He hadn't done anything to cause her to add a double meaning to the things he said. She turned quickly toward the house—Dr. Belden's office was in his residence.

Alester smiled as he watched her go.

"Not so dumb," he told himself complacently.

"When Jerry returned she handed him some folded up bills.

"Thirty-two dollars," she said, meaning the change. "What is Dr. Belden, a millionaire?"

"He's a renowned surgeon," Alester told her. "What did he say about you?"

He took the money because something in Jerry's manner made him realize that he could not pay for her injury with dollars, except as she must pay for it. The other girl had accepted his check for $150 a little too eagerly. He was glad Jerry was different. Such girls as she, those who scorned small change, usually wanted something worth while, he believed. He liked costly things himself—even expensive playmates.

"I'm not to have any excitement for a while," Jerry said, and laughed softly.

EXCITEMENT! Why, not 48 hours back the bottom fell out of her world and it had been a tragedy. And now she knew that it had dropped her right into an entirely new universe, a universe that hitherto had been only a dream to her.

"In that case I'll have to see that you're kept quiet," Alester assured her promptly. "Can't go back to camp. Dan's taking the plane over to the hangar, I think. No room to take it off where it is."

Jerry wished he hadn't mentioned Dan. For the moment he was out of her mind. She'd been getting a tremendous kick out of spinning along on a work day in a car that would have drawn a crowd even if it had been parked on Fifth Avenue.

Thought of Dan dispelled some of her thrill. She didn't want him to think that she had refused his offer to bring her to Dr. Belden's simply because Alester could account for more gold. . . . but that was precisely why she had refused him!

"We'll drive out to Port Jefferson and drop in for tea at the Rolling Stone Inn on our way back," Alester was saying. "The prospect of a drive appealed to Jerry—perhaps a sense of motion and constantly changing scenes would help her to think as she wanted to think."

THERE had been days when she worked in the humid, breathless atmosphere of Fate's on which she'd have been tempted to gamble with her soul at stake for a drive like this.

The sweeping, wooded hills, the sudden descents upon little harbor villages, the landscaped grounds of beautiful estates, the luxury and speed of the high-powered motor car—all were exquisitely new to Jerry. They seemed to release a wellspring of emotion to cause her to feel as if she were fairly soaring over the earth.

And yet her elation was dimmed by a troubled conscience—she felt she had been ungrateful to one who had been tender toward her.

At Port Jefferson they turned back inland, and drove far beyond the speed limit on their way to the inn. Jerry thought of many cool back seats charging furiously ahead of them. This man-made thing under the hood held power

Jerry thought he must be deeply interested in her to want to know so much about her.

She became self-conscious. Her dress, of course! She knew this she wasn't dressed as the girls of Alester's acquaintance dressed.

Oh why had she been too indifferent about sampling to care who she wore! All those pretty, dainty things in her suitcase! She must get them tonight when she went to town with Myrtle and George. She wondered what time it was and how long it required to have tea in the Rolling Stone Inn. She hoped they would wait for her if she was late.

There seemed to be no hurry about bringing their refreshments. Indeed, Alester did not bother to give an order. Jerry expected him to ask what she liked, but he didn't do that either.

They talked. He's been asking her questions all afternoon. Jerry thought he must be deeply interested in her to want to know so much about her.

Where did she come from? What did she do?

Where did her family live? Presently, when she was wishing that he would talk of something else, a waiter appeared with a tray and Jerry found a tall glass filled with amber fluid and tinkling ice set before her. It looked like tea. There was also a plate of tiny paper-thin sandwiches. Jerry regarded them greedily. She had eaten little at lunch. But Alester ignored them, not even suggesting that she have some.

SHE looked around for sugar for her tea. There was none. Alester lifted his glass. She couldn't take tea without sugar.

"Will you please have the waiter bring some powdered sugar?" she asked, wishing she didn't sound so timid. The next time . . . when she was better dressed . . . and people didn't look at her so strangely . . .

"Sugar?" Alester repeated. "I don't think you'd need it with this. No one ever has improved upon Slim's mixing."

Jerry wondered what he meant. Perhaps iced tea came to the table after she had finished the Rolling Stone Inn. She told herself that she must be more careful about making stupid remarks. She said nothing more about sugar but lifted her glass and took a drink from it. Instantly she set it down, a startled expression on her face.

This was not tea!

Alester was watching her. "What's the matter," he asked. "Don't you like it?"

Jerry stuttered. Her throat tingled and her eyes smarted. She had almost choked over the strong beverage and only an heroic swallow had saved her from greater distress.

"It's too strong," she managed to say when she could take away the napkin she had hurriedly pressed to her lips.

"I'm sorry," Alester said. "I should have asked what you'd like."

Jerry smiled at him. "If you don't mind," she said hesitantly, "I'd like tea. That's more boldy, with sugar."

This wasn't at all the way she had planned to act when she got "her chance." Where was her composure, the woman-of-the-world air she meant to assume?

She glanced anxiously at Alester. But apparently he was not noticing her stammering. His attention was held by someone who was approaching them across the porch.

And his face wore a very odd expression.

Gasoline Poured
on Georgia Man and Match Applied

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Ernest H. Sykes, 35, of Clyde, Ga., lay in a hospital here today, his body a welter of severe burns and his eye-sigh gone—victim of an attack of two unidentified assailants who waylaid him early yesterday, dished a bucket of gasoline over him and applied a match. Sykes said he was en route home, about 3 a. m., and was set upon by his assailants when he had to slow his automobile down in passing a rough place in the road. The assailants leaped into the car, Sykes declared, forced him from the wheel, and halted the motor a short distance down the road.

A few paces from his front yard the car was halted and he was forced to get out, Sykes added. It was at this point, he said, that the gasoline was dashed on him and his clothing fired.

Mrs. Sykes and a neighbor, hearing Sykes' screams, rushed to his assistance. Sykes said he believed he could identify one of his assailants, but was unable to suggest a motive for the attack.

SMITH-ROBINSON
CLUB COLUMN

The year 1928 is one year when farmers are prone to vote as farmers—not partisans. For nearly eight years the Republicans have given the farmers in distress only empty promises. In 1920 the Republican platform made the farmers promise—and did nothing. In 1924 the Republican platform again made the farmers promise. The promises were again broken. In 1928 the Republicans repeated word for word the broken promise of 1924. Can farmers believe them this year?

Under the same hostile leadership of Herbert Hoover, the chief adviser of the republicans, will the 1928 promise be deemed more binding than the broken promises of 1924 and 1920? Having the dreary republican promises in mind, is it not well to consider the heroic figure and promises of a leader who keeps his word such as Governor Smith?

Governor Smith gives his word that he stands squarely on the Democratic platform which indorses the principle of the McNary-Haugen bill. That bill seeks to establish an effective control of the farmer's surplus and the sale thereof. Governor Smith stands for it. Mr. Hoover is against it. Governor Smith in his Omaha speech said: "I pledge to the farmers and to the people of this country that no stone will be left unturned to give immediate and adequate farm relief by legislation carrying into effect the Democratic platform" which the farmers have indorsed and which has been indorsed by the Republican United States Senator G. W. Norris of Nebraska. Now, hear this in mind: Governor Smith keeps his promise. He has kept his promise so well to the voters of New York that they three times re-elected him their governor. The best hope of the farmers is in the election of Governor Smith.

Yes, but partisan republican will say, "all that may be true, but is not Governor Smith a member of the wrong Christian church? Beware of the pope!" They would have you believe that if Governor Smith is elected, the pope will come to this country and eat up some of our good Baptists and Methodists, blood, bones and all! Is it possible that hateful intolerance can reach greater depths of ignorance? Can the republicans who make such an appeal make a more un-American one? Tell these narrow minded politicians to re-read again our beloved Constitution which provides there shall never be any religious test for public office!

What are the facts? They are these: Every great church has its leaders. Every flock has its shepherd. The higher leaders in the Methodist churches are called Bishops. In the Catholic church the largest single branch of the Christian church, that spiritual leader is called the pope. In other words the pope is merely the foremost Christian leader of his own church. The present pope is a man noted for his piety, his intellect and his spirituality. There are members of his church scattered throughout the entire Christian world in many many flocks.

As the official head of his church, his official quarters are in the city of Rome. His home is called the Vatican, just the same as the official home of our president is called The White House. There is no more danger of his removing his Vatican to the United States than there is that the United States will remove the White House to any other country. Millions of protestants, without accepting the leadership of the pope, respect and admire him and the great service his branch of the Christian church is doing for humanity in every country and in all climes.

The pope never has and never will meddle in American politics. The folly and danger of dragging any church into politics has received a new illustration in one John R. Straton, a Baptist of New York who has spoken in many Southern pulpits for the republican party, dividing his church into warring factions, and breeding Christian hatred instead of brotherly love.

As Mr. J. N. Duncan, Pampa's grand old Methodist states it, the Catholic church has built more schools and hospitals than any other Christian church. If you get sick, whether Jew or Catholic or Protestant, they will take you in.

Lindbergh to Hunt
Bear in Mexico

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, flying his fast Curtiss Falcon plane, today was combining business with pleasure. On his way to hunt bear in Mexico he was surveying landing fields.

Before his takeoff from Curtiss field yesterday he said he would make a survey of landing fields for the Transcontinental Transport company, whose technical committee he heads. Advice from Mexico City told of plans for him to go on a bear hunting trip this week with Col. Alexander J. McNab.

Lindbergh stopped at Columbus, O., for the night. Four Mexican military aviators plan to fly to the border from Mexico City Wednesday to meet their distinguished visitor of last summer and escort him to the La Barla ranch of Hal Mangum where the bear hunt is to be held.

TENANT KILLS LANDLORD

TEXARKANA, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Joe Reagan, 38, tenant farmer, was charged with murder in the fatal shooting of H. T. Rosanen, his landlord, today. Rosanen, in a dying statement, was said to have named Reagan as his assailant. District Attorney Wright Patman declared he had received a statement from Reagan. The shooting occurred at Reagan's home.

Many Entries—

the $736.50 Chevrolet Coach, and the beautiful diamond rings and watches to be given away when the campaign ends on December 15. Nominations may be made by simply filling out and bringing or mailing to the Contest Manager the "nomination blank" which will be found in the lower right hand corner of a page advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

The importance of getting nominations is NOW while the race is just getting started, cannot be over-emphasized. Those who intend to enter the contest, and have ambitions to win the costly automobiles offered in exchange for just a little of their spare time effort, should not wait for someone else to nominate them, but should do it themselves. Getting your nomination in now means that you will share in the tremendous advertising value of having your name in the first list of entrants, which will be published just as soon as a few more have entered. The contest manager was reluctant to publish the first list without having as many entrants as there are prizes to be awarded. It was believed that by this time there would be 40 or 50 striving for the 15 handsome prizes, but instead of that number, there are still less than the number of awards to be made.

Of course, if not enough ever enter to take down all the prizes, The Daily News will just keep the ones which are left over, and give away the other prizes, starting with the automobiles, and going down the line in value until we run out of entrants to give them to! But of course, there will be plenty of entrants before long. The sooner people realize that the Daily News is going through with this campaign just as advertised in the beginning, regardless of profit or loss, the better. Every prize has been purchased and must be given away, even if it takes only a couple of coupons clipped from the paper to win them.

There will be no backing down on the part of the Daily News. If this newspaper has got to play Santa Claus in order to keep its agreement to the public, it is prepared to do it. But we know our friends and readers will not back down on us that way. New entrants are coming in regularly, but slowly. Before many days have passed it is believed we will have a contest on that will be a rousing race, replete with thrills for the participants, and containing no dull moments.

Upon receipt of a "nomination blank," the Contest Manager promptly furnishes the nominee with a voting book, and other supplies, and then all the entrant has to do is get busy collecting votes. Votes, and votes alone will win in this contest. They cannot be purchased, nor transferred from one to another, but come only in free coupons clipped from the paper, and with new and renewal subscriptions. The first subscription a contestant turns in counts a bonus of 10,000 extra in addition to the regular number of votes allowed on the subscription. If the first subscription a contestant turns in is for a year, he or she starts off with 17,000.

There is an entry blank in today's paper, good for 2,000, if you will take the trouble to look it up. All you have to do is clip it out, send it in and get busy.

Right now is the best time of all to enter. The preliminaries are about over and those who mean business will plunge into the merry vote gathering with a will this week.

There is an automobile waiting for YOU in this campaign if you will stir yourself enough to investigate. Come in and have a talk with the Contest Manager, and see for yourself the wonderful opportunity to win that is open.

Defense of Davis
Brothers Surprised at Death Verdict

EASTLAND, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Lawyers for Thomas Davis, 17-year-old Eastland youth, convicted of the murder of Lucian Shook, prepared today to make a stubborn effort to upset the verdict and to save Davis from the electric chair.

The jury reported late yesterday and the severity of the verdict was a surprise to defense counsel. The defense had been so confident that the jurors would not heed the State's plea for the death penalty that a motion for suspended sentence had already been made, to be acted upon in case a prison term was recommended.

Davis was led stumbling from the courtroom to a cell beside that of Clyde Thompson, another 17-year-old youth given the death sentence in the same case last week.

The two were indicted with Woodrow Wilson Davis, Thomas' 12-year-old brother, after the bodies of Lucian and their cabin at Leary. The Shook brothers had been shot and beaten. Woodrow Wilson Davis was cleared of murder charges in order to permit him to appear as a state witness in the trials.

Hoover Warns His Supporters Not to Lessen Enthusiasm

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover declared today that he had no slightest doubt of the outcome of the November election if the Republicans of the country would continue their efforts.

"The only danger is that of overconfidence," the Republican presidential candidate said at a conference with newspaper correspondents. This was the first public statement regarding the outcome of the election which Hoover has made.

"Never has there been a greater unity in the Republican party in a quarter of a century than at this moment," the nominee said. "We have an able organization and more zeal is being shown than ever before."

Hoover declined to discuss issues of the campaign but in response to questions he said prosperity was one of the larger issues.
