STATE GARDEN CLUB AWARD TO WELLINGTON

Mrs. Luther Gribble, right, here receives a certificate and check for $80 as an award presented at the annual convention of the Texas Garden Clubs in Austin for work the Wellington Garden Club has done on the town's two cemeteries. The presentation was made by Mrs. C. B. Kilpatrick, chairman of this division of the awards program.

Garden Club Receives New State Award

Wellington Garden Club has become the first in Texas to be a winner in the annual Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., program of community improvement and beautification, Mrs. Luther Gribble, club president, announced this week.

Mrs. Gribble attended the 36th annual meeting of Texas Garden Clubs in Austin recently, where the awards were presented.

The Wellington club received an $80 cash award and certificate for its cemetery improvement project, entered in the memorial garden division. Two years ago Wellington won the top award of $500.

The Garden Club was judged on the work done on its cemetery project during the 1963 club year. This is a continuing project, and is the major work of the Wellington organization.

Planning the work this year was a committee made up of Mrs. Woodrow Wood, Mrs. R. W. Brantley, Mrs. Earl Epps, Mrs. Chas. Slay, Mrs. O. B. Raburn and Mrs. Chas. Neese.

The major projects carried out were completing the circle and memorial marker in the North Wellington Cemetery, installing the marker and assisting the Wellington Cemetery Association in constructing the retaining wall along the front of the West cemetery.

Future plans also were considered, and these include the planting of shrubs in both plots, working toward getting the street in front of the North plot and entrance paved, improvement of driveways, and completion of the retaining wall.

Clubs in towns and cities of all sizes compete together in the Sears, Roebuck & Co. contest, including Houston, San Antonio, Fort Worth and Dallas.

Approximately 400 women attended the convention, Mrs. Howard S. Kittel of Ft. Worth is president of the Texas Garden Clubs, Inc.

For the fourth consecutive year, Sears, Roebuck & Co., and Texas Gardens, Inc., cooperated in the beautification program. Sears provided a sum of $6,000 each year, which was allocated by a committee of Garden Club members to various clubs and councils throughout the state on the basis of project outlines submitted to them together with their applications for participation.

So far, 86 projects in more than 40 Texas counties have received Sears grants to implement community improvement.

Local Politics Picks Up As Election Nears

Politics on the local level picked up during the last week as candidates entered the last round of campaigning.

Republicans will hold a primary for the second time, although there are no candidates for county or district offices on the ticket, according to David Baumgardner, county chairman.

The Republican Primary will be in the fellowship hall of

First Christian Church. There will be only one box.

Absentee voting for both the Democratic and Republican primaries will end Tuesday, April 23, Lorene Jenkins, county clerk, this week reminded voters who plan to be out of town for the May 2 elections.

Mrs. Jenkins said that the law regarding absentee voting has been changed, and votes must be cast during office hours, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Through noon Tuesday, 18 persons had voted absentee or received applications to vote absentee on the Democratic ticket and one on the Republican ticket.

The Republicans for the first time will vote a preference for President, with four names appearing on the ticket:

Barry M. Goldwater
Nelson Rockefeller
Margaret Chase Smith
Harold Stassen

Most interest centers in the race for United States Senator, in which there are four candidates: George Bush, Jack Cox, Dr. Milton V. Davis and Robert Morris.

One candidate, Bill Hayes for Congress at large, is well known to Collingsworth Republicans, having campaigned for lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket two years ago. During that time, he visited the county several times.

The Republicans, like the Democrats, will nominate a county chairman and precinct chairman, both by the write-in method.

The principle was helping to install air conditioners on the top of the cafeteria, and with him when he fell were Verrell Leeper of Leeper Sheet Metal and Horace Clay, school custodian.

After receiving emergency treatment at St. Joseph's Hospital, Mr. Davis was taken to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo, where he remained until Sunday.

Confined to a wheel chair, he was at school Tuesday morning. Mr. Davis said he expected to be in the wheel chair for about three weeks.

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS

WTU is proud to be a part of your community

PAYROLLS

... sparkplug for economic growth

Payrolls pay off when new manufacturing industry begins operation in a town. Memphis, population 3500, is a good example. Pictured above is the Hall Plant, a unit of Burlington Industries, famous textile manufacturers. It brought a payroll to this Texas Panhandle town for more than 100 employees, mostly women, and has become an important addition to the local economy.

National studies show that payrolls, which come from 100 basic new jobs in a community, add 100 more homes such as the total electric Gold Medallion home pictured left ... increase retail sales by $331,000 annually ... create three new retail establishments ... bring 359 new people including 91 school children ... and add 97 more car registrations.

This is another PATTERN FOR PROGRESS.

American industry is on the move ... expanding, relocating, and establishing new product facilities all over the Nation. Here is another opportunity for communities to seek new manufacturing payrolls. WTU suggests that every community give serious consideration to this opportunity, since payrolls are, as we have seen, a sparkplug for economic development and growth.

M. E. Rountree

Local Woman's Life in County Spans 73 Years

Editor's Note: This study of one of Wellington's older women, 89-year-old Mrs. M. E. (Maggie) Rountree, is by a friend of more than sixty years, Mrs. Alfred Hutchinson. For many years, Mrs. Hutchinson, then Mrs. Jim Light, was correspondent for The Wellington Leader from the Aberdeen community, and contributed, besides regular news, many delightful sketches of that area. She gave up the work only when Aberdeen, like many other areas, became a community of only a few families.

By Mrs. Alfred Hutchinson

In every community there are many interesting, independent older people who keep interested and busy, thus growing old gracefully, by keeping their minds and hands busy.

Mrs. M. E. (Maggie) Rountree fits into this category.

Looking back over the span of years of her life, she firmly believes you are as young as your faith, and as old as your doubts. As most persons her age, she has experienced hardships, with years of toil, wisdom of economy and virtue of patience, and has felt the best pay she ever got was experience.

Pioneering is a vivid memory to her, both on the farm and in the home. Modern conveniences, as she now enjoys in her home, are a far cry from her early days of housekeeping. The range has been replaced by an electric stove. Water is no longer carried in and out of the kitchen, and a refrigerator eliminates the running water coolers and caves. The daily chore of trimming the wicks and filling the kerosene lamps has been replaced simply by pressing a button.

Mrs. Rountree was born Margaret Brock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brock, at Central, South Carolina. Later they came to Montague county, Texas, where she and Albin G. Rountree were married Dec. 27, 1891.

A year later they moved to Collingsworth county. She was the mother of ten children, nine now living. They are Reuben of Hereford; Zannie (Mrs. Henry Lowry) of Spokane, Wash.; Jess Rountree and Burgess Rountree of Littlefield; Mrs. Grace Duncan of Oklahoma City; Mrs. Sam White (Lola) of Childress; Joe Rountree and Ernest Rountree of Lutie; and Tracy Rountree of California.

Mrs. Rountree has had the ability to make decisions and the willingness to live with the consequences during her lifetime. Much of her happiness has been centered around raising her family.

During her early life, she was never discouraged in the face of difficulties, but met them with an optimistic spirit and continued on with her work.

Not only was she solicitous of the well-being of her own family, but was ever ready to help a neighbor who needed assistance because of illness or misfortune.

She, having passed the 89th milestone on life's journey, can look back on a record of unselfishness and usefulness.

Upon coming to Collingsworth county, Mrs. Rountree and her family lived in the Aberdeen community. There she and six other people of that vicinity organized a Baptist Church some 60 years ago. She, herself, has been a devoted member of that denomination 66 years.

Both she and friends recalled that she helped deliver a number of children in those pioneer days of few doctors.

Mrs. Rountree now lives alone at 1010 Bowie Street. Frequently she walks to town and she remains independent, alert and active.

Our Town and County Has a Diamond Jubilee Approaching

Collingsworth county and Wellington in 1965 will observe their diamond jubilee . . . an event that must not go unnoticed.

Measured against the history of other parts of this nation, 75 years is short. Measured in accomplishment, Collingsworth has moved swiftly. It has become what its earliest settlers envisioned it—a rich agricultural area, capable of producing lush crops and fine fat cattle. Its people have remained what the forefathers hoped they would—sturdy, stout-hearted, progressive and forward looking.

We have 9 months to get ready for the anniversary year, and this is none too much to prepare for an occasion so important in Panhandle history.

In just a few years, there will be no one to give a first-hand account of the county and town's births. No one can describe in simple yet expressive words of the pioneer the tall grass, the quail and deer, the loneliness of the prairie and the warmth of pioneer hospitality as his own eyes saw them. This we must capture now.

There are many ways in which we can celebrate our diamond jubilee — some transient and passing, others permanent and of lasting value.

We must decide on these quickly . . . then just as quickly we must get to work.

Texas Population In Steady Rise

Although the Texas State Health Department reported an "uninterrupted decline" in the state's birthrate per 1,000 population between 1956 and 1962, the state's population continues to rise.

Births in 1962 totaled 244,069. New settlers moving in from other states accounted for a 200,000 increase, helping to make the population pass the 10 million mark last year. But at the same time the number of deaths for one year reached an all-time high of 81,118.

Heart disease was the leading cause of death, accounting for 33 per cent; cancer was second with 15 per cent; apoplexy, third with 12 per cent; and accidents of all kinds was fourth with 7 per cent of the deaths.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where the doctors over in Belgium went on strike, and some people say it's sinful of them to run out on the sick like that.

But my pro-union neighbor says going on strike is a basic human right, and how can a strike be successful unless it hurts somebody?

And he thinks a doctor strike in the U.S. could get real interesting, if the doctors put their hearts into it, and sent out goon squads to dynamite the patent medicine factories, and to rough-up Dr. Kildare for showing people all the medical techniques, so they can doctor themselves.

I see where some folks argue that it's either improper or stupid to import meat from Australia and elsewhere when U.S. meat producers are glutting the market with the stuff.

Which shows that the griper class just don't realize it would be anti-World and also Discrimination for U.S. officials to favor U.S. cattlemen over foreigners.

And, also, if we cut down on our meat imports from Australia, it could be mighty hard on folks who like kangaroo-burgers, or who hanker for steaks whittled off of those great big possums.

Big world expert says all right-bent extremists are too ignorant to realize the world is now so complicated that its main problems can't be solved, and will just have to be lived with.

But my plain-brain neighbor says even simple problems are apt to look complex to the souped-up mind, which goes around solving for two plus two with a slide rule.

Says he once tried to solve his personal financial problems by modern egghead economics principles, but finally had to give up and fall back on the old decadent conservative formula for getting ahead, by going to work.

My pre-retired neighbor says he always knew if he waited patiently something would turn up like the LBJ promise to take it away from the Haves and give it to the Have-Nots.

Says this is a little hard on folks who have worked themselves to a frazzle over the years, getting to be third- or fourth-rate Haves, and are now going to get it taken away from them.

But, of course, these work-brittle square types are just natural victims of the Unwrit-

State Observes Civil War Week April 20-26

Speakers in 245 Texas counties will relate the stirring events of 100 years ago when they appear before civic groups, study clubs and school assemblies during Texas Civil War History Appreciation Week.

This week of April 20-26 has been proclaimed by Gov. John Connally as a time when each county should have at least one public review of Texas Civil War history.

This activity is part of the program of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee and its Texas Civil War Centennial Advisory Committee to research, record, educate and recognize Texas Civil War history.

"It is so necessary that, in order to determine which course to take today, we must know what happened and why it happened yesterday," said Gov. Connally.

Working through County Historical Survey Committees functioning in more than 245 counties, the TSHSC hopes that by the end of this period, every Texan will know a little more about what happened in Texas during the Civil War.

Also cooperating in the program series is the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs which has called on local clubs to plan Civil War programs for this week.

Museums and libraries have planned special exhibits for the week, displaying the literary contributions to Texas in the Civil War as well as many of the mementos of the Civil War soldiers.

Throughout the Centennial period, County Historical Survey Committees have been concerned with three phases of the Civil War Centennial program—research, observances, and programs.

Carl Spinks Dies in Accident

Carl Spinks of Rusk, who has visited in Wellington many times, was killed instantly when his car was involved in a collision with a truck Thursday, April 16.

His sister-in-law, Mrs. Alton Abbott, the former Mittie Lee

To bring to light many facts long-forgotten, county committee members have been surveying, recording and marking the graves of Civil War veterans—Confederate and Union; searching Commissioners Court minutes, 1861-65 to determine the activity that was conducted in the county; Checking the 1907 Census of surviving Confederate veterans in Texas to help locate graves, relatives, and others who could possibly fit together the pieces of the unfinished puzzle of what happened in Texas during the Civil War.

Newspapers from 1930 back are being checked to glean any additional information, interviews of sons and daughters of Civil War veterans are being recorded to gain interesting information. This information will then be placed in individual county files in the State Archives for future historians. The observances are being planned by counties for the commemoration of battles, incidents, skirmishes, Indian raids, frontier forts, coastal fortifications, sites of manufacturing and supply, places where distinguished units were mustered-in, structures or homes associated with the period. Confederate Memorial Information markers have been placed to commemorate many of these.

Royal, was injured. The accident occurred between Palestine and Rusk. Mrs. Abbott, who with her sister and law through the winter, had a broken leg, broken ribs and other injuries.

Mr. Spinks was married to the former Mary C. Royal, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Royal, and had a number of friends here.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday at Rusk. Mr. and Mrs. Harris Royal attended from here.

Buick has a great transmission.

An automobile transmission, we grant you, isn't the most soul-stirring subject on earth. Nothing to look at either.

But if you'd like for your next new car to give you a better break on performance and gasoline mileage, something happened last week to be your guide.

The Los Angeles to New York Mobil Economy Run proved one thing for sure. There's quite a difference in the transmissions of new cars.

Three out of four for Buick

The long-time champion in the transmission league—Buick—walked off with the 1964 economy pennant. No other single make of car won as many events as Buick. Four entries, three winners.

The winning Special carried the new Super Turbine 300 automatic transmission; the LeSabre was equipped with the Super Turbine 400 (both optional at extra cost). They're the latest in a long line of Buick transmissions well known for their smoothness and absence of "shift feel". The Super Turbine is a refined and improved torque converter type to help you safely pass cars and trucks as well as gas stations.

You'll hear a lot about it in the next couple of years as this modern kind of transmission is adopted by more and more car builders.

What about engines?

Of course, an efficient transmission gets more efficient when teamed up with a lean, agile engine. The winning Buick power plants were our new V-6 and V-8.

The 300 cubic inch V-8 in the winning Buick Special (the lowest priced of all Buicks) and the Buick LeSabre (the lowest priced big Buick) is like a well-conditioned fighter. All muscle, no fat. Weighs in at far less than other V-8's of similar punch. It took every other V-8 in the Economy Run.

Your type of driving—regular gas The Run was through cities and towns, across super highways, in traffic, out of traffic. This was not race track driving or proving ground driving. This was your kind of driving—even though you can't expect to get as good mileage as these expert drivers in their finely tuned production cars. The distance was 3,243 miles, about what most families log in four months. All three Buicks used regular gas. So the Economy Run is not just a cross country tour for the Mobil people and a few car buffs. It's a reliable test of a car's power team and what it's able to squeeze out of its fuel.

We don't expect everybody to rush out this week-end to buy a new Buick just because we won a few economy trophies. There are so many other good reasons for leaning to Buick that economy usually gets second billing. There's styling, naturally. An unusually great ride. Extraordinary engineering and workmanship. And very young performance. Small wonder Buick sales are running at 11.5% over last year.

But it's nice to get economy as a plus in a Buick. Beyond the dollars saved on gasoline, there's a certain pride in knowing you have a car that's built to get the most out of every tank of gasoline.

Wouldn't You Really Rather Have a Buick?

Airmen Offered Blood for Leon Furgason

AMARILLO AIR FORCE BASE.—Members of the 3344th School Squadron of the 3320th Technical School at Amarillo Technical Training Center recently volunteered to donate 36 pints of blood for a Wellington man who later succumbed to a heart ailment.

The airmen, under the direction of 1st Lt. Lewis Barker, squadron commander, and 2nd Lt. Benjamin Mason, squadron administrative officer, volunteered the blood after hearing and reading of the need.

The blood was needed by Leon Furgason, who was to undergo open heart surgery at the John Sealey Hospital in Galveston, had his physical condition permitted the operation.

Furgason suffered from rheumatic fever as a youth and early this year was hospitalized with pneumonia.

Lone Star Gas Mails Refunds

DALLAS.—Lone Star Gas Company is mailing refund checks to its Texas industrial gas customers, following confirmation by the Texas Supreme Court of a claim that the state's dedicated reserve gas tax was unconstitutional, according to L. T. Potter, Lone Star president.

The court decision followed legal action by Lone Star and virtually all other interested gas utilities to legally sustain their position. This was the third time in nine years that a special tax on natural gas, paid under protest, has been proved unconstitutional, Potter added.

Lone Star has collected the dedicated reserve gas tax from its industrial customers over the past two and a half years, and has transmitted the amounts collected to the State in payment of this tax. Refunds totaling $320,000 represent the amounts which Lone Star has collected from these customers over this period of time, Potter said.

GRASS JUDGING WINNERS

Awards Made

Banquet for Five Champions "A Unique Experience"

"This is a unique experience. I often speak at banquets honoring one district champion, but I have never spoken at a banquet honoring this many champions," Berl Huffman, varsity baseball and freshman football coach at Texas Tech told Wellington high school athletes and townspeople Saturday night, April 18 at the second annual all-sports banquet.

Huffman's talk, fast moving and hard hitting, stressed both scholarship and athletics, and came after the presentation of the WHS athletic awards. Winners of these honors had not been announced.

Five District 2-A major sports championships were represented at the banquet, something unequalled in Wellington high school history, and probably not in the southeastern Panhandle high school athletics. The tennis team had won its title only Friday.

The others were the Skyrocket football and boys and girls basketball teams, and the track team.

But this was not all. There was another winner that in an ordinary year would have held the spotlight. After three days practice and during the week of bi-district basketball play-offs, the girls volleyball team won the district title.

Coach Don Beck then introduced the B football and basketball teams and the golf team.

Eight handsome trophies were presented as individual awards.

The best all around football player trophy, given by Henard Brothers, went to Bryan Hatch, and a few minutes later Hatch again stepped forward to receive the trophy as the most valuable track man, given by Brooks Auto.

The first award goes to the man who offers the most to his team in all respects; the second goes to the man who gave the most in leadership, example and desire.

The other awards were: Best all around lineman was presented to Joe Rudy, as the offensive and defensive lineman who gave the most effort in workouts and games. The trophy is given by Jim Martin.

Billy Clubb was chosen by his own teammates to receive the Fighting Heart, as the man who had the most spirit and desire, who never quit no matter what obstacles faced him.

Carol Blain, only girl to receive an award, was named Miss Basketball, and Roger Weems was named Mr. Basketball. These are the most outstanding all around basketball players.

For the second year, Danny Martin was named the best student athlete — the athlete with the highest academic stan-ward and who is a good citizen as well as good athlete.

Named as Mr. Skyrocket was Kenneth Patterson, the senior boy who participated in football, basketball and track, and who gave the best all around effort to his school in all three sports combined.

Glenn Thomas was recognized as having won a football scholarship to Oklahoma State University.

Boys basketball, Roger Weems, Bill Spillman and Wayne Barton; girls basketball, Ann Orr, Jane Orr, Carol Blain and Betty Courtney.

Coach Huffman, early in his talk, told the crowd that they must realize that one of the most important subjects is competitive athletics, needed more today than ever.

"Today it is the school's duty to build students physically as well as mentally. Twenty years ago this wasn't true," he declared. Then he came out strong against those who would curtail high school athletics to intermural participation. There won't be any athletics without competition, he reminded, adding that competitive athletics build the two qualities needed in crises, emotional stability and physical stamina.

"You are privileged students," he told the teen-agers. "You are not the dropouts. You are the winners. You are the achievers, and I appeal to you boys and girls to help save the dropouts."

Urging excellence in scholarship, Huffman recalled the day when an A on a report card was something many students were ashamed of.

"That day is gone. The A student is the popular student. They're not paying off for mediocrity any more. If you don't excel, somebody's waiting to take your place. You've got to beat somebody trying to do what you're doing better than you are."

The Tech coach reminded that not every student can make A's, but every student can give 110 per cent effort. "The I-Will is just as important as the IQ, You bet it is."

He rounded out his speech by telling the crowd a lot of people have filed over their consciences pretty smooth.

"Ten people doing something don't make it right; 1,000 people doing it don't make it right and 10,000 doing it don't make it right."

Master of ceremonies for the banquet was James Larson, and head coach Don Deck introduced the athletes and the speaker.

Vocal entertainment was by Patty Overton and a group

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Officials of the Farmers Co-op Gin in Wellington went to the hearing on a restraining order in Wheeler April 16; but the plaintiff and his attorneys did not show. The restraining order and application for a permanent injunction was dismissed and the gin officials promptly issued orders for the rebate checks to be put in the mail. So the rebate checks from both Wellington and Dodson are now circulating.

More than one person has challenged my remark of last week about the money from the rebate checks changing hands four times in two months. They claim new money introduced into the channels of trade changes hand five times in thirty days. I believe that the figures they are thinking about refer to payroll money which does change hands rapidly in a few days. Some of these big farm operators with money in the bank may keep most of theirs for weeks or months; but eventually it will go for gasoline, insecticides, fertilizer, new farm equipment, etc. Money does change hands faster than you think.

The big news about Co-ops this week is the Greenbelt Electric Cooperative which will be observing its Silver Anniversary at the annual meeting in the Community Building Friday, April 24. It does not seem like it has been that long since Orval Couch at the suggestion of Harry Patterson was out rounding up members for the proposed co-op. Orval had some lively tales about the year he spent in getting it started. His biggest bust was in going to see the Hollis Chamber of Commerce — they promptly started organizing one of their own. Another tale was that he went without salary for over a year and at one time owed Olive Raburn a year's grocery bill.

If you want a vivid picture of the changes the Electric Cooperatives have brought to farm and ranch living turn over to another part of the paper and read the advertisement of The City State Bank. The idea is that of Zook Thomas, who once worked for this newspaper. Even the suggestion for the type of illustrations he wanted came from Mr. Thomas. This is not something he read in a book or a magazine — Zook was there when the work was carried from the well.

George Henry and his associates have done a splendid job in carrying on this work and we extend our best wishes. Their work is important to our community and their members appreciate the way they get out after tornadoes, blizzards, and freezing rain. It is a service that deserves commendation.

The service work of all the utilities after storms and in times of danger is something that stirs the imagination and the courage and hardihood of the men who climb the poles and fix the mains whether it be gas or water or electricity is something that we should esteem beyond the more glamorous activities of

Tennis Team Wins District 2-A Title

The Wellington high school tennis team won the District 2-A championship Friday, April 17, the fifth district title in athletics for this season. Coach E. W. Clement announced.

Betty Courtney won the girls singles and Bill Spillman the senior boys singles and will compete in the regional Inter-scholastic League contest at Lubbock Thursday, April 23.

Joe Wood won the junior boys singles, but junior winners compete no higher than district.

Wellington made 46 points to win first place, while Memphis was second with 35 and Clarendon third with 13, and Lefors fourth with 10, Clement said.

Betty drew a bye in the first round, then defeated her opponent from Clarendon. She won the finals from Memphis 6-4 and 6-2 for the best two out of three. Six teams were entered.

Beverly Singley and Carol Blain, the doubles team, lost out to Clarendon in the first round 6-3 and 6-2. Six teams were entered in this division also.

Spillman won over his opponent from Canadian Thursday, then returned Friday to defeat his Lefors opponent 6-4 in the first round of the best three out of five. Bill lost the our super athletes. Lying in our warm beds we take their work for granted; but as a former city official I have been there as they went to fight fires or repair damaged lines after a storm and I have a vivid recollection of their ordeals. These are strong and able men and deserve our thanks.

There will be a meeting in the County Court room next Tuesday, April 28 at 8 p. m. to explain the new wheat and cotton program. Since the new program is fairly complex and there is more than one option on the cotton program it might be a good idea to make your plans to attend the meeting.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT 3

I take this means of soliciting your vote, for your Commissioner in the May second Democratic primary election. Due to my duties, and the death of my brother, which was such a shock to me, I haven't been able to see you personally. I want you to know that I will appreciate your vote. If you see fit to elect me as your Commissioner for another term. I will endeavor to serve you to the best of my ability. I have certainly enjoyed working for the precinct and county for the past three and one-half years, have appreciated your cooperation. There have been problems to solve, but I have enjoyed working with the other members of the court.

Electric Co-op Has Outstanding Safety Record

A safety record that is outstanding in the Panhandle has been written by employees of the Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc., over its 25 year history.

Accurately kept accounts reveal that on April 1, Greenbelt employees altogether had worked 177,505½ hours since the last accident serious enough for anyone to be off work. This is the equivalent of 13½ years.

There have been only two accidents since 1950, when the cooperative began keeping records, and very few prior to that, Manager George Henry points out.

The number of employees ranges from 15 to 19, and there are eight motor vehicles in operation every working day.

Greenbelt employees seldom discuss their outstanding record of preserving health and life. However, 10 certificates hang across the wall in one room of their building and the eleventh will go up in a few weeks. Each of these signifies one full year without any time lost due to accidents.

The safety certificates are given jointly by A&M College Extension Service, the Vocational Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Texas Job and Safety Unit. The first certificate was received in 1950.

Two other safety awards have been received, both from insurance companies. One, received in 1959, was for 50,000 consecutive accident-free hours, and the other awarded in 1962 was for one accident-free year.

The one tragic accident to a Greenbelt employee came in June 1958, with the death of Royce Daves. He lost his balance and fell from a ladder onto the concrete floor of an elevator in which he was working near Groom, Henry recalls. The other recorded accident was a minor one; Dick Pendle-

GREENBELT MANAGER

George Henry became manager of Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc. in December 1954, after having been an employee since May 22, 1945. He was promoted to that place from line superintendent. Under Henry the co-operative has continued its expansion program and built its handsome new home at the corner of Amarillo and Tenth Streets.

Jim Cobb to Speak Friday at Meeting

Guest speaker at the annual meeting of Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc., Friday, April 24 at 2 p.m. is J. R. (Jim) Cobb, general manager of the Texas Electric Co-operatives, Inc., with headquarters at Austin, and a pioneer in rural electrification in Texas and the South.

A native of Louisiana, Cobb was educated in that state, including degrees in agricultural and electrical engineering from Louisiana State University.

His first association with rural electrification was in 1936-37 when he was with the Louisiana State Agricultural Extension Service. He helped develop the first electric co-ops in Louisiana — including the system at Lafayette, La., now the largest in the world.

His success in co-op organizational work came to the attention of officials of the Rural Electrification Administration, and they secured him to work in the agency's utilization division. In this position he worked with co-ops throughout the Southeastern United States.

In 1938 he worked in Texas, developing new co-ops and as a utilization representative of REA.

REA transferred him to Washington, D.C., in 1941 to head the agency's installation loan division. In 1946 he was promoted to assistant chief of the applications and loans division.

Cobb left REA in 1948 to head the rural sales division of General Motors' Frigidaire Division. In 1952 he was promoted to head of laundry equipment sales.

From 1954 to 1956 he headed the utility and rural sales division of Frigidaire. In 1957 he was promoted to assistant to the general manager of Frigidaire's Southern States Branch and Distributor Sales.

Greenbelt Electric Co-op, Inc. Observes Silver Anniversary

Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc., will observe its 25th anniversary of service to the central and eastern Panhandle with the annual meeting Friday, April 24.

The meeting will be at 2 p.m. in the community building, according to George Henry, manager.

The guest speaker will be J. R. (Jim) Cobb of Austin, general manager for Texas Electric Co-operatives, Inc.

At this time, members will hear a review of the impressive record their cooperative has made.

During the business session, the financial report will be heard and new directors elected from three districts.

Nominated for these places are:

District 3: Selba Rainey of Lutie and Gus Gooch of Dozier; District 6: A. J. Garland and Lloyd Reid, both of Route 1, Clarendon; and District 7: Harold L. White of Hedley and E. W. Barbee, Route 1, Clarendon.

Musical entertainment will be by the Quail FHA Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Lowell Wells. This group has appeared regularly for approximately a dozen years.

Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc., now serves nearly 3,000 customers in an area that extends into seven counties. This begins at Claude, in Armstrong county and extends eastward to Vinson, Okla., including all of Collingsworth and Donley counties, and parts of Wheeler, Gray, Childress, and Hall counties in Texas, and Harmon county, Okla., Manager Henry points out.

He became general manager of Texas Electric Co-operatives, Inc., in March 1958.

Cobb is vice president of Texas Federation of Co-operatives.

FRIDAY SPEAKER

J. R. (Jim) Cobb, a pioneer in rural electrification in Texas and the South, will be the guest speaker at the 25th annual meeting of the Greenbelt Electric Cooperative, Inc. here Friday afternoon. Cobb is general manager of Texas Electric Cooperatives, Inc.

But the history of Greenbelt goes back to a sweltering September fifteenth in 1938, when a small group, small enough to get in the Commissioners' Court room, came to hear about getting electricity for themselves by organizing a cooperative and borrowing money from the Rural Electrification Administration.

As many as could sat in the windows, where there was a little breeze, but they organized and elected the late Harry Patterson of Dodson as their president. The other directors were Walter C. Stam of Quail, vice president; J. S. Driskill of Wellington, secretary-treasurer; and Wallace O'Rear of Rolla, A. N. Wiseman of Wilnuclear; Guy Beasley of Abra, and S. W. Norwood of Samnorwood.

Only Mr. O'Rear and Mr. Beasley are still living.

It is with pride and gratitude that we extend congratulations to this co-operative that has rendered such faithful and valuable service to the rural people of our area for the past 25 years.

It is impossible to calculate the economic value their service has brought to the central and eastern Panhandle and a portion of Western Oklahoma.

Since Greenbelt was established in 1939 a whole generation has grown up that does not know what it is to do without electricity on the farms and ranches of our area: but they do love their homes because of the comfort, entertainment and increased efficiency the Greenbelt Co-op has provided

We extend our best wishes for another twenty-five years of useful and vital service.

R. A. Yarbrough Tells B&PW of Trip to Uruguay for State Department

A visit to the South American nation of Uruguay, on a mission for the State Department, was described by R. A. Yarbrough of Childress for the members of the Business and Professional Women's Club on Tuesday evening, April 14.

Mr. Yarbrough, manager of the Gate City Electric Co-operative, Inc., described life in both rural areas and metropolitan Montevideo, the capital city.

The purpose of his 1961 trip was to describe rural electrification to the people of Uruguay.

He spoke of his cordial reception, and the eagerness with which people of that nation accept citizens of the United States.

One of the nations most advanced in the ways of democracy, Uruguay has little illiteracy and poverty, and such freedoms as freedom of the press, the speaker told the group. On the other hand, there is no coal or oil, and the homes are ill-heated. Cotton was bringing 8 cents per pound and bananas 10 pounds for 5 cents, at the time of his visit.

Mr. Yarbrough is a retiring director of the National Rural Electric Co-op Association from Texas, a post he has held 11 years. He has served as its president and vice president two years each. At the national convention in Dallas this year, he introduced Governor John Connally and Senator Ralph Yarborough.

He has been manager of the Gate City Co-op since its organization 23 years ago.

Presented at this meeting also was the B&PW Girl of the Month, Carol Blain, daughter of Mrs. L. E. Ward.

Carol is an outstanding girl athlete, and has been president of the band, winner of the student conducting title in regional competition, and this year played in the TWU All Girl Band. She is a past president of the Junior Music Club and of T-I-ca. These are only a few of Carol's school honors, and on the community level she is assistant organist of First Methodist Church.

Mrs. John Coleman, B&PW president, appointed a nominating committee composed of Mrs. Zook Thomas, Miss Sara Jones and Mrs. Rufus Sweat.

She announced that Judge Mary Lou Robinson of Amarillo will be the guest speaker at the inter-city meeting in June.

Present were Mrs. Don Jones, Mrs. Ernest Harwell, Mrs. Luther Gribble, Mrs. Jimmie Kelson, Miss Jones, Miss Blain, Mrs. Dee Coleman, Mrs. Byron Duncan, Mrs. Guy Owens, Mrs. Dudley Phipps, Mrs. Fred Watkins, Miss Edith Jackson, Mrs. Lydia McPherson, Mrs. Otis Emmert, Mrs. Sweat, Mrs. Truett Thomas, Mrs. L. W. Wells, Mrs. Frank Kennedy, Mrs. H. L. Jenkins, Mrs. Rob Isbell, Mrs. Truman Estes, Mrs. Harold Keller and Mrs. Thomas.

Hospital Group Sees Film

The St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary met on April 10 for its regular monthly meeting.

In the business session with the president, Mrs. B. M. Sims presiding, a report was given on the anniversary dinner served to the Sisters. Final plans for National Hospital Week observance were formulated with Mrs. Lyndon Orelia as local chairman.

Slide films of the twenty-fifth anniversary of St. Joseph's Hospital were shown by Mrs. Carter Holcomb.

"My Life Story," a film made available by the American Cancer Society, was shown by Mrs. E. H. Harwell, board member of the Collingsworth County unit.

One guest, Mrs. Bob Goforth, was present. Members present were Meses. Emory Hunter, Lyndon Orelia, Truett Thomas, E. H. Harwell, Carter Holcomb, Bernice Welch, Earl Keller, Joe Thompson, B. M. Sims and A. L. Elliott.

Mrs. Elliott 1924 Hostess

Mrs. A. L. Elliott was hostess to the 1924 Study Club members for a regular meeting on April 9.

An audio-visual approach was given "Feminine Focus... on 'America for Me'." The assembly singing of "America, the Beautiful" set the pace for the program.

Soon thousands of Americans will heed the "song of the open road." The viewers of "Tour Tips" will be oriented in traveling with ease on a week-end jaunt or a cross-country tour. This film, shown by Mrs. Edward White, catered to proper packing of luggage for an individual, a coupe, and a family.

From luggage and travel tips, the group was given a preview of the New York World's Fair via film strip. Viewed were extravaganzas of present and future fantasies as well as recreations of the past. With "Peace Through Understanding" as its theme and the Unisphere as its symbol, this fair beautifully depicts the progress of the nations and peoples of the world.

Mrs. Velman Warrick was the recipient of two adult admission tickets to the World's Fair which is to open April 22. These tickets were made available by The Travelers Insurance Company as was the latter film.

The business session included a report from the delegates to the city federation and this club's part in the National Library Week observance on April 17. A report of the recent Top of Texas District convention was given by Mrs. Mack Bush and Mrs. B. M. Sims.

The year book committee appointed includes Meses. J. R. Ross, A. L. Elliott, Jack Moreman and Mack Bush.

A sherbet medley was served to Meses. Bill Bradley, Bush, R. R. Crawley, Chester Fires, J. B. King, Warrick, Moreman, Sims, White, J. F. Michael, Howard Riggs, Elliott, and Miss Sara E. Jones and Miss Hattie D. Wells.

DEFENSE FOR SECURITY

A Navy captain showed me a newspaper clipping the other day in which the writer, a reporter on a Northeastern newspaper, was critical of the Navy for maintaining the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier "Enterprise," the world's mightiest naval vessel and the mainstay of our Mediterranean Sixth Fleet.

The reporter called the "Enterprise" a "sitting duck" in a nuclear war and hinted that the "Enterprise" was kept in commission not because of any real value in our defense effort but because of "tradition."

He wrote, "... the 'Enterprise' is really not a modern weapon, despite the efficiency of her 5,000-man crew and her eight nuclear reactors ..."

Perhaps the "Enterprise" would be a "sitting duck" in a nuclear war. The City of Chicago, the Panama Canal, Amarillo Air Force Base — any point on earth; none of these would be immune from obliteration if a potential enemy chose to make them a target in the ultimate, civilization-destroying horror of a nuclear war. But the point is this: the obligation of the United States goes far beyond maintaining a capability to respond massively if subjected to nuclear attack.

The security of the United States does indeed depend heavily on our nuclear "arsenal," its dispersal at strategic points, the effectiveness of the weapons, the training and skill of our military personnel.

At the same time, the Nations' security also depends on our being able to conduct successful military operations of a more conventional character, on our being able to force decisive results when the fight is not global.

Because we must be prepared to meet so many contingencies, the U.S. taxpayer bears an enormous burden of supporting a defense establishment ready for big wars and small. The President's budget request for Fiscal Year 1965, which begins July 1, calls for defense expenditures totaling $55.2 billion. Of every dollar of the proposed administrative budget 55 cents is earmarked for direct defense spending. Other programs involved in preserving our security—the "indirect" defense costs—add billions of dollars more.

The Department of Defense carries out ten major programs which provide the military diversity and flexibility required for our security. These are:

1. Strategic retaliatory forces, including manned bombers, intercontinental ballistic missiles, Polaris missile-launching submarines, and the facilities (such as communications) needed to control these forces.

2. Continental defense forces, which combine warning systems against missile or manned aircraft attack with the means to resist an attack, such as interceptor aircraft and ground-to-air missiles.

3. General purpose forces, which combine ground, air and sea forces equipped and trained to cope with conventional or brush-fire wars.

4. Airlift and sealift forces to move our combat forces quickly wherever they are needed.

5. Reserve forces to provide swift additional strength to the regular forces when needed.

Research and development activities on which continued military effectiveness depends.

7. through 10. General support activities: civil defense activities, including development of warning and fallout shelter facilities; military assistance, under which equipment training, and related services are provided to allies to bolster Free World strength.

Obviously, if the Nation's obligation for insuring its security (and helping to insure that of other free nations) could be met by providing only a nuclear deterrent, we could do away with the "Enterprise," large numbers of other ships and aircraft and uncalculated tons of other military "hardware" and discharge hundreds of thousands of soldiers, sailors, and marines.

Our defense budget would be reduced by many billions of dollars—and still we would be ready for ultimate war, the day when the military forces of Free and Communist nations traded nuclear destruction.

Just as obviously, we can-

More Opportunity in Agribusiness

COLLEGE STATION.— The opportunities for employment in agriculture have increased despite the reduction in rural farm population, according to Dan Davis of the Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department, Texas A&M. He points out that as agriculture has become more scientific, many of the new jobs are performed in the city. These, having to do with the business side of agriculture, are concerned with industrial processing, marketing, transporting and financing agricultural products.

On the other side of the agribusiness picture, farmers and ranchers buy from agribusiness about everything that goes into the raising of their product. They buy seed, fertilizer, chemicals, fuel, equipment, medicine, and all types of services. In fact, says Davis, they rely on the agribusiness man for about everything except the land and their own labor.

Professor Davis suggests that high school students find out more about training needed for the many jobs in agribusiness through their high school counselors, vocational agriculture teachers, county agents, or by writing to the College of Agriculture, Texas A&M University, College Station.

not protect ourselves by this course alone, a course that would open the way for unchecked piecemeal aggressions all over the world.

We must be prepared to meet military challenges in whatever form they develop. We are so prepared today and, while seeking economies where economies are possible, we will continue on the present course as the Cold War moves toward the end of its second decade.

Game Warden For Each 1,300 Square Miles

AUSTIN.—Game wardens for the Parks and Wildlife Department have one of the biggest chores in the field of enforcement of almost any agency in government, according to Executive Director J. Weldon Watson. In fact, each game warden in the State of Texas on an average patrols an area bigger than the entire State of Rhode Island.

Watson pointed out that the state has some 262,840 square miles of land, 4,499 square miles of inland waters, and 3,875 square miles in the tidelands areas of the Gulf of Mexico which extends some three marine leagues. This represents approximately 170 million acres of area available where fish and game may be found.

"Enforcement, game management and protection of the fish and wildlife in this vast area is a great responsibility," Watson explained. The director stated that the department has 194 budgeted positions for game wardens and conservation officers.

"That means, on the average, a game warden for every 1,300 square miles or so, or one for each 830,000 acres of land," said Watson. "That's an area of approximately 100 square miles larger than the State of Rhode Island."

Watson acknowledged that the vastness of the area to be covered makes it impossible to prevent all fish and game law violations or apprehend all the violators. "We know that our warden force is spread pretty thin but the fact that our game populations and game harvests are on the upswing indicates that the enforcement people are on the job," he said.

"Of course, there is room for improvement in each functional area of the department and it is our intention to continue enforcement, biological studies, and research on a sound, practical basis. Our challenge is to continue to improve and to do the best we can—and we will," Watson concluded.

Congratulations

To Our Many Friends of the . . .
Greenbelt Electric Coop, Inc.

FOR THEIR SERVICE TO THE FARM AND RANCH PEOPLE ON THEIR . . .

25TH Anniversary

As a Service Institution that has worked for people of this area for over 50 years, we are pleased to congratulate the Greenbelt Electric Cooperative, Inc. on their Silver Anniversary. They have made a notable contribution to the welfare of the people who live on the land.

It would be hard for us to visualize what living on a farm or ranch would be like if it were not for the electric power and light that adds so much to the comfort and efficiency of the people who produce food and fibre to feed and cloth a nation.

It is also hard to visualize what a rural community would be without a functional and serviceable weekly newspaper. As we congratulate our friends we also rededicate ourselves to the task of providing you with an outstanding weekly newspaper.

State Draft Quota 258
AUSTIN.—The state draft quota for May calls for 258 men, compared to 449 for April, Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said last week.

The state quota of 258 for May is the Texas share of a national call for 7,000 men, all for the Army.

The state Selective Service director also announced pre-induction physical and mental examinations for 6,000 men in May.

The May quota will be filled mostly with men who are volunteers under 26 years old and non-volunteers ages 19 through 25. Most of them will be 22 years old.

No man whose draft file reflects that he is maintaining a bona fide family relationship with a wife or a child or children will be selected in response to this call.

CONGRATULATIONS

As an old country boy who once toted Mesquite wood for the kitchen stove when we ran out of coal, carried water from the cistern and sometimes the windmill for cooking and bathing purposes and got my book learning by the aid of a coal oil lamp, it is a miracle to me to step into a modern farm home — replete with lights, refrigerators, egg beaters, churns, washers, dryers and all those things that make life in town seem cramped and a little bit "countryfied."

The astonishing change has been brought about by the Electric Cooperatives such as Greenbelt.

So it is a genuine pleasure to congratulate them on their outstanding service during the past 25 years.

1963 Traffic Toll Greatest in History

AUSTIN—The Texas Department of Public Safety reported recently that a preliminary count of traffic deaths in the state for 1963 shows that 2703 persons were killed—by far the greatest toll in history.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of DPS, noted that this means 282 more persons died in traffic last year than in 1962, or an increase of approximately 12%.

He also pointed out that the 1963 toll of lives was 92 greater than the previous all-time high of 2611 in 1956.

DPS Statistical Services said it is estimated that when all reports are received for the year 1963, the death figure for traffic accidents in Texas will be 2725.

"To attempt to place the blame for this great tragedy on one single factor would be pure speculation," Garrison said. "The records indicate consistently that speed too fast for conditions is the most prevalent law violation involved in fatal accidents. The second most frequent factor involved in fatal accidents is driving while drinking, and the third is driving on the wrong side of the road. A combination of these things is often involved. And we do know that in almost every fatal accident there is at least one violation of some traffic law involved."

"Therefore, it would seem that the best explanation for the upward spiral in traffic fatalities, both in Texas and in the nation, would be a combination of general carelessness and disregard for the law."

"As for the matter of speed, we cannot over-emphasize that the Texas law clearly states that no vehicle shall be driven at a speed greater than that which is reasonable and prudent for existing conditions. This holds true regardless of what the posted limits may be."

"In other words, the law clearly places the responsibility for not exceeding safe driving speeds upon the driver himself."

"With these things in mind, we wish to appeal to all Texans to recognize the seriousness of the traffic situation with which we are faced, ex-

Soil Bank Land Utilized

AUSTIN.—John Wood, district conservation chief, and Horace Gore, wildlife biologist, Brownwood, report the Soil Bank Land in Central Texas is fast being returned to the landowners.

This land consists primarily of farms which have been leased to the government and has been deferred from its normal uses from five to ten years.

Most of these fields had been returned to grasses or other cover crops. Farmers and ranchers are beginning to graze these long idle soil bank plots which have been a wonderful haven for bobwhite quail.

As these food and cover patches begin to disappear, the quail hunter will probably notice a reduction in the quail population in some areas.

LOOKING AHEAD

by Dr. George S. Benson

AFFLUENCE AND POVERTY

Early in the year a leading magazine, U. S. News & World Report, published a survey of the business and economic outlook for 1964.

Every indicator on their board, except two, showed prospects upward; more spending, more prosperity, more gains.

The two negative factors were decreasing farm income and a higher rate of unemployment, despite creation of ½ million new jobs.

Everything else, mostly the result of business optimism and buoyance, was on the upswing.

Europe, too, the periodical said, and Canada and Japan are expecting more boom, with more jobs than people in some countries, particularly West Germany.

In Communist areas of the world, however, the outlook was bleak, with hunger and scarcity rampant. This, it is obvious, is in glaring contrast to the West.

The outlook for the Communist empire to remain the world's poorhouse and for these countries to fall farther behind the West.

This is not without its irony. Today, the world's chief government-run tyrannies are in famine. At the same time, the chronic problems arears in the U.S. that are not keeping up—labor (unemployment) and agriculture—are the very areas where government has done the bulk of its tinkering and adjustment.

It is also ironic that the magazine, almost coincidental with the President's announced drive on poverty, should feature this story in headlines, suggesting that 1964 may well be the Affluent Year.

The "affluent society," you know, is the phrase of John K. Galbraith of Harvard, formerly on the Kennedy staff and later Ambassador to India. His view is that too large a portion of the wealth of Americans is in private hands, that too little belongs to the government.

Just where Mr. Galbraith stands with regard to the "war on poverty" amid such prosperity, we do not know.

Perhaps he too would have the federal government eliminate poverty by bringing every family up to $3,000 in yearly income. But this would hardly do, for this would increase the wealth in private hands. Several more billions (borrowed) would thus be required for socialized subsidization of the poor.

The nation presently spends about $44 billions ($31 billions of it federal money) each year, to help the needy, but it has not, so far, eliminated poverty.

Expanding the private economy would be bad, in Mr. Galbraith's view. All of this private affluence predicted for 1964 would serve to degrade our citizens and undermine the society. More government spending apparently will be fine, but the government would have to forego the tax cut.

Yet, any good New Frontiersman knows that without a tax cut AND deficit spending, the nation is heading straight for a recession.

Well, we begin to see the ambiguity of the position that everything must be done by the federal government. These Liberal G-Men like to insist that they know exactly just how everything should be done. They would be completely at ease in the all-powerful State as long as THEY control it, just like the Communists.

Big Sam could easily solve the unemployment by hiring 4,000,000 or more who are supposed to be out of work. Everyone is entitled to a job, you know, even if it's a government job. It takes away your breath, what the government can do for you!

The trouble with all this is that it is morally wrong in a free society for the State to seek control over the lives of its citizens. It is moral weakness for the citizen to submit himself to the mercy of the government's bread lines in time of prosperity.

Charity and help for the unfortunate have a place in our society already, President Johnson notwithstanding. But not this! When this nation comes to the place where the government has to guarantee everyone a job or so much income, two chickens in the pot and two cars in the garage (one a Volkswagen), we are finished! Medicare, at the top of the list as one of the big guns in fighting poverty, would cost about $1 billion annually to begin with and nobody knows how much later.

This medical care for the aged, under Social Security financing like most of the programs of compulsion, is not needed. With the Kerr-Mills plan providing help now to those who can't afford it, private health insurance programs already cover most everyone.

At the end of 1963, 60% of Americans over 65 had private plans, and the total coverage is more than 145 million persons of all ages.

One might ask: Whose welfare, yours or the State's?

Congratulations TO THE GREENBELT ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, INC. UPON 25 years OF SPLENDID SERVICE

When we think of the beginning of The Greenbelt Electric Coop, we think of kerosene lamps, coal or wood-burning stoves, rub boards, carrying water from the well; and NOT having air conditioners, refrigerators, deep freezes, vacuum sweepers, electric stoves, electric welders, pressure pumps, electric fences and many other modern appliances.

When we received our first electricity on the farm it was like a dream come true.

We want to congratulate all of the Greenbelt people on the fine service they have rendered over the past 25 years. Every employee of the Greenbelt has always rendered prompt, courteous and efficient service regardless of blizzards, floods and freezing rain. We thank them all.

And as we extend congratulations on 25 years of work well done, we also extend our best wishes for a greater service in the years ahead.

Fertilized Grain Sorghum Pays

COLLEGE STATION.—Fertilization of grain sorghum has paid dividends for the past six years at the Blackland Experiment Station at Temple, according to Dr. E. D. Cook, station agronomist. On the Houston Black Clay soils, continuous cropping of grain sorghum has shown little increase in yields from phosphorus alone, he says. Nitrogen alone gave some increase in yields but the greatest increase was produced with a combination of nitrogen and phosphorus. Thirty pounds each of phosphorus and nitrogen increased yields about 700 pounds per acre, while an additional 30 pounds of each element gave 200 more pounds of grain. This last 30 pounds of each fertilizer element was just about paid for by this increase in yield, says Dr. Cook.

from fertilization of grain sorghum following cotton was not as large as that from sorghum following sorghum. In other studies conducted at Temple it was shown that the source of nitrogen used on grain sorghum had little to do with yields of the crop, says Dr. Cook. Ammonium nitrate, anhydrous ammonia and urea were found to be about equally good in the tests. Also the time of application of fertilizer had little or no effect on grain yields, but early application is best from the standpoint of land preparation, he says.

Greenbelt

Judge Luther Gribble was selected the co-operative's attorney and he held that post until his death in January. Those who come to the annual meeting Friday will feel his absence, for this is the first time he has missed.

Orval Couch, a native of Wellington, was hired as manager, a post he held until Nov. 30, 1954.

It lacked but six days of being one year from the time the Greenbelt was organized until the first lines were energized, Sept. 9, 1939. There were 154 miles serving 235 customers, in Collingsworth, Donley and Harmon counties.

By the time Pearl Harbor came, three years later, Greenbelt Rural Electric Co-operative had grown to 533 consumers and 312 miles of line.

Even during World War II the cooperative continued to grow, and in December 1945, there were 1052 consumers and 464 miles of line.

In the next ten years, Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc., expanded to 2,317 consumers and 1870 miles of line.

In December 1960, there were 2,737 consumers and 1909 miles of line, while in December 1963 this had grown to 2,759 consumers and 1943 miles of line. The impact that electricity made on the users in Collingsworth as well as adjoining counties is nowhere more graphically shown than in the way they used the service, an increase from an average of 11 kilowatt hours per consumer per month in 1939 to 372 kw h in 1963.

Users themselves recall that when they first could push a little button and light their homes, the use was confined pretty well to lights and two or three appliances, such as a toaster and iron in the home.

Now consumers Greenbelt serves enjoy every convenience that can be offered in the home and its farm uses have soared.

When Couch resigned to become manager of an electric co-operative at Homer, La., directors of Greenbelt promoted one of the co-operatives' own men to manager, George Henry. He has served since Dec. 1, 1954.

Harry Patterson served as president of Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc., until his death in November, 1945.

W. D. Franklin of Hedley served in that office until April 1946. Other presidents have been the late J. A. Coleman of Dozier, 1946-1952; A. J. Garland of Clarendon, 1952 to 1955;

Luther Lowry of Claude, 1955 to 1956; Fred Bourland of Quail, 1958 to 1960; and again Mr. Garland from 1960 to the present.

Directors serving with Mr. Garland are Bill Cantrell of Twitty, vice president; Selba Rainey of Lutie, secretary-treasurer; Forrest Overton of Vinson; Russell Blanton of Claude; D. C. Bennett of Clarendon and Fred Bourland of Quail.

While the growth of Greenbelt has been impressive, two steps stand out. Wellington has always been the headquarters for Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc. From its organization until 1959, it was located in the Gribble Building, 914 West Avenue.

Then in July of that year, the co-operative moved into its own handsome red brick contemporary building at the corner of Amarillo and 10th Streets.

In the beginning, Greenbelt was thought of as serving rural people, but it quickly outgrew that. The co-operative can point proudly to its part in developing the eastern Panhandle oil and gas fields, in the northern part of this county, and in Wheeler and Gray counties, for the electric power to these fields comes from Greenbelt.

Colorful Range Talk Captured in Book

AUSTIN.—If the honest-to-goodness West Texas cowboy has a sparse crop of grass on his land, he might comment, "There's not enough grass to wad a smooth-bore single-barrel shotgun."

In a seasonable year, however, the cowboy's description would be that "the grass is belly-deep to a camel."

In a new book, "If I Can Do It Horseback: A Cow-Country Sketchbook," published March 16 by The University of Texas Press, John Hendrix discusses the language of the range.

"As the men of the sea have a jargon almost unintelligible to the handlubber, so has the cowboy of West Texas a language of words and phrases to describe his physical condition or the condition of the cattle, horses, grass and men of the outfit that he works for," Hendrix says.

The author notes that when "two men of the range meet along the fence line, the conversation flows smoothly and freely."

After the meeting each man "goes his way with a complete knowledge of the other's affairs and the condition of the outfit—a knowledge that has been arrived at without waste of words," Hendrix writes.

Range language is only one of the many aspects of West Texas ranch life and the cattle industry which Hendrix discusses in his new book. He examines economic influences and technological changes as well as the personal aspects of range life.

He tells about the operation of the cow camp; the activities of the men, their duties and entertainments, their clothes, food and horses. He describes the rise of some of the "cattle kings," including the Waggoners and the Burnetts, and the development of such towns as Quannah and Colorado City. He discusses the geography of the West Texas cattle country and the development, problems and achievements of typical ranches.

The book is a compilation of articles which originally appeared in The Cattleman magazine.

Hendrix, who died in Sweetwater in 1952, was a West Texas writer, rancher and promoter. Born in Gainesville, he grew up in Quannah and attended the old Goodnight and Clarendon Colleges at Clarendon.

Greenbelt Electric Co-op Inc. Brought A NEW DIMENSION IN AGRICULTURE TO HELP A FERTILE AREA PROSPER

An inspiring story is told in the service rendered by Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc. through the last quarter-century. In a real sense, it brought the bright light of modern living across a prairie that was dimly lit. It strengthened the sinews of production on farms and ranches . . . in war and in peace.

Greenbelt brought a new environment . . . for electric power is in the background of much of today's farm and ranch operations. The people in Greenbelt country practice an agriculture that is progressive and sound . . . leaders in the swift changes now being made in the production of our food and fiber.

As one of the principal suppliers of material to Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc., we congratulate them on their record of service, and we look forward to a continued association through their second quarter-century.
