Dog Uncovers Body Of Baby Near City

Officers Start Investigation Of Case Discovered Tuesday; Laundry Mark Is Sole Clue

Neatly wrapped in a cup-towel the body of an unborn child was uncovered by a dog yesterday afternoon in a cotton patch two and one-half miles northwest of Lubbock.

The remains of the infant were only about six inches below the ground and gave indication of having been buried the previous night. Footprints from the near-by road showed that the body had been brought from a car. Attempt to cover up the footprints had failed partially and pictures were taken of the unmoistened ones by members of the sheriff's department for further investigation.

Laundry Mark Is Clue

A laundry mark on the towel in which the child was wrapped was the only clue available for officers. The sheriff's department refused to divulge the mark.

Interest In Pecan Industry In West Texas Is Growing

Thirteen Different Orders From 12 Towns Have Been Received by WTCC; Reduced Prices Offered

(Special to the Avalanche)
STAMFORD, Jan. 29.—Thirteen different orders from twelve different towns have been received by B. M. Whiteaker, agricultural manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for pecan trees since the offer of reduced prices given if ordered through the regional organization was made public.

Halbert and Burkett varieties seem to be most popular with Nugget also in demand. One order was received for the Success variety. Although three ages of trees, the two year old trees, those between three and four years old, and those between four and five years old, were offered, the preference is for the older trees.

Memphis Man Orders
A. W. Saxauer, of Memphis, Texas, sent in his order for four three and four year old trees, and two two year old, and left the selection up to the nurseryman. H. H. Howard of Water Valley, Texas ordered his trees from the four to five year old stock from the Success variety.

The larger order was received from Wilbur S. Patrick of the Spur Chamber of Commerce. Fifty trees were ordered for the members of the Board of Directors. These were 18 Burketts, 16 Halberts, and 16 Nuggets. Ten of the oldest trees were ordered by Robert E. Bruce, of the F. & M. Bank at Ballinger, and six of the oldest trees were ordered by Mrs. F. E. Gillen, of Fort Worth. She ordered two of each of the leading West Texas varieties.

Post to Have Trees
J. P. Williams of Mineral Wells, ordered 12 of the four to five year old trees to be sent to his brother, E. W. Williams of Post.

Other orders varying in quantity from two to 15 trees have been received from H. E. Hoover, of Canadean, W. Wirt House, of Roscoe, E. C. Brand, of Sweetwater, The Big Spring Experimental Station, in Big Spring, Mike Walton, of Haskell, and A. C. Cooper, and R. L. Penick of Stamford.

These orders have been sent to the nurseryman. Other orders are expected.

YOUTH IS SENTENCED

August Frost Gets Sixty Days In County Jail

August Frost, local youth, yesterday was found guilty of swindling by a jury in the Lubbock county court and sentenced to sixty days in the county jail.

Frost was arrested by members of the sheriff's department some time ago after it was charged that he disposed of stolen property. He pleaded not guilty to the charges. County Judge Robert H. Bean, presided in the case.

SLATON MAN BURIED

(Special To The Avalanche)
SLATON, Jan. 29.—Joseph Thomas Walker, 76, was buried here Monday afternoon, his death having been caused by a heart attack which he suffered at his home here. Funeral services were held at the First Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. B. G. Holloway. Interment was made in Inglewood cemetery.

Suffered For 15 Years; Then Took Sargon, He

New Treatment Did Him More Good Than Trip To Hot Springs, Says Texas Man

"For fifteen years I suffered from a complication of troubles that I believe started with an inactive liver. I was weak, nervous and generally rundown. I frequently had sharp, shooting pains in my side. My sleep was poor and I lost weight, strength and energy. Nearly everything I ate caused indigestion. I took a trip to Hot Springs, but got no relief there, and then I visited several health resorts in the North seemingly without benefit.

"A friend of mine told me about the fine results he had gotten from Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills, so I bought a bottle. I could see a difference for the better from the first few doses. I began to sleep better and to eat anything I wanted.

"I now feel like a new man. My appetite is fine. The pains in my side have disappeared. I am not the least bit nervous, and am full of new energy. I have gained in weight and my friends are all commenting upon my wonderful improvement.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills are wonderful. They ended my constipation and biliousness without griping in the least.

"I wouldn't be without Sargon if it cost twenty dollars a bottle."

The above remarkable statement was made by A. J. Mason, residing at the Colonial Hotel, Fort Worth and owner of considerable property, in that city.

Sargon may be obtained at the City Drug Stores in Lubbock and at the City Drug Store in Slaton.

Year Gets Off To Good Start, Bank Statement Shows

Favorable Conditions For Record Closing Volume Of Business In 1928 Give Impetus to Continuance

(By Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 29.—Favorable conditions which provided the impetus for a record volume of business in the latter part of 1928, said the monthly statement of the Kansas City Federal Reserve bank, issued tonight, were visible at the turn of the year and, allowing for usual January slackness, 1929 got off to a good start.

Evidence of the good start, said the statement, was seen in the daily volume of payments by bank checks in thirty cities of the Tenth Federal Reserve district in the first three weeks of January. They were larger by about 6 per cent than in the corresponding period last year. Freight car requirements for the first quarter of 1929 were reported as about 2.5 per cent larger than for the corresponding period in 1928.

December Is Active

Industrial, trade and banking activity in the district, which increased gradually during the fall and summer of 1928 turned up sharply in December, continued the statement, and the year closed with the volume of business greater than 1927.

"Building and general construction activity was at the low point of the year in December, although a very substantial increase in the value of contracts awarded and a high valuation placed in permits issues indicated a large amount of construction for the early spring months. The value of contracts awarded in the district in 1928 was 16.7 per cent larger, and the value of permits issued was 9.9 per cent larger than in 1927.

LYNN COURT OPENS

TAHOCA, Jan. 29.—County court was opened Monday for the first time under the new administration of county officials. This week is being devoted to non-jury cases with G. C. Grider, the new county judge, on the bench. Monday, February 3, jury cases will be heard, the new county attorney, G. H. Nelson, prosecuting.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 29.—Balliff Gus Hanna is still looking for the person or persons who succeeded in blasting the order of the court presided over by Judge George P. Baer. Gus likes his ceremony. But the other day when his gavel came down at the end of the "Hear ye! Hear ye!" there ensued an explosion which all but routed Gus' dignity. Someone had placed a top pistol cap where it would do the most good under the malliff's lusty gavel swing.

Martin Baking Co. ANNOUNCES

another revolutionary step in the Baking Industry of Texas and of the south

Effective to-day the Martin Baking Company inaugurates the Five day week working plan for its employees!

From both a business and a humanitarian standpoint the decision was made. We believe the loyal employees of our company, who now work 10 hours daily, are entitled to the recreation afforded by a 5 day week working scale.

We believe their efficiency will be increased and they will be allowed more time to improve their life, mentally and physically.

All employees will receive the identical amount of salary as was in effect on the 6 day week scale! New employees will be added to take care of production on the 5 day scale.

This step is taken voluntarily by Mr. Martin and as a surprise to the employees of the company.

After all, MARTIN BAKING COMPANY'S success depends on merit—merit orious products as well as meriting the loyalty of its faithful workers.

It is our opinion that no product can be better than the management desires and the management of any business depends to a great extent upon the regard given the employees.

Martin Baking Company is the only Baking Concern in the South operating on the Five Day Working Scale!

Lubbock City Women Are Invited To Attend Lectures On Home Problems; Experts Talk At Tech Short Course

Food Selection, Clothing, Color Combinations And Other Subjects Discussed During Two Days

Women of Lubbock are invited to attend the women's division of the first annual Farmers' Short Course now in progress at the Technological college, according to Miss Margaret Weeks, dean of the school of home economics.

Illustrated lectures on topics of interest to every homemaker are being given by Miss Weeks and Misses Mary Telford and Vivian Johnson of the home economics school and the meetings are being conducted in the home economics building. The school opened yesterday morning and is to continue through today, closing with a tea and inspection tour of the home economics school and practice house at 2 p. m.

To Talk On Color

A talk on color selection will be given at 8:30 o'clock this morning by Miss Marie Delaney, head of the Tech department of applied arts and this will be followed at 10 o'clock by two talks. Miss Mabel Erwin will discuss curtains and draperies for the home and Misses Mayme Telford and Vivian Johnson of the college faculty will lecture on attractive desserts.

Charles Mahoney, head of the college department of horticulture, will talk at 1 o'clock on yard improvements. Forty-five women registered yesterday from Abernathy, Lorenzo, Hale Center, Plainview, Crosbyton, Slaton, O'Donnell, New Hope, Otton, Amherst, Canyon, Lubbock and other points. Miss Marian L. Normington, head of the home economics department at the West Texas State Teachers college in Canyon, attended and was accompanied by nine home economics seniors of the college.

Speaks On Diet

Miss Weeks opened the lectures yesterday morning with a talk on "Eating for Health" during which she stressed the necessity of having all the necessary elements for health included in the day's menu. Foods containing the various elements were shown, combinations suggested and questions answered which were propounded. The vitamin element was emphasized.

Miss Week's talk was followed by one on "The Use and Care of Rayon Fabrics" given by Miss Grace Baker who has joined the clothing faculty recently. Miss Baker told a history of the rayon manufacturing processes, showed proper methods for washing and keeping rayon.

The Morning Avalanche Menu for the Day

By SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Stewed dried peaches, cereal, cream, liver patties with crisp broiled bacon, bran and raisin muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Stuffed green peppers, lettuce rolls, cranberry whip, coconut cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Plank steak en casserole, sweet potato balls, curly endive with bacon dressing, deep dish apple pie, milk, coffee.

Green peppers are delicious stuffed with a combination of rice and sardines. Lemon juice and a mere suspicion of onion juice worked into the fish give an intriguing flavor to the dish.

Cranberry Whip

Two cups cranberries, 3-4 cup water, 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 4 tablespoons cold water, 2 whites of eggs.

Put cranberries and water into sauce pan and cook until berries burst open. Add sugar and let stand until sugar is dissolved. Rub through a fine sieve. Bring to the boiling point and add gelatin softened in cold water. Stir until dissolved and let stand until cool and beginning to jelly. Fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Turn into a mold and let stand until chilled and firm. Serve with custard sauce.

Custard Sauce

One and one-half cups hot milk, 2 egg yolks, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon flour, few grains salt, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Mix and sift flour, salt and sugar. Beat yolks of eggs, gradually beating in dry ingredients. When thoroughly blended slowly beat in hot milk. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture coats metal spoon. Cool and stir in vanilla. Chill before serving.

If the milk is added slowly and carefully mixed the custard will not need to be strained after cooking. (Copyright 1929, NEA Service, Inc.)

New Set Is Built For Theatre Play Here Thursday

Properties and Costumes Are True to Setting For "Sun-Up" to Be Seen At High School

For the first time in the history of the Little Theatre work here, an entire new scenery set has been built and will be used tomorrow evening when "Sun-Up" is staged at the high school auditorium. The curtain is to rise at 8 p. m.

The set, which was designed and executed by the stagecraft class at the Technological college under the direction of Miss Ruth Pirie, is true to the setting for this play.

The costuming of characters is to be another feature of the presentation. Under the direction of Mrs. James E. Watson, who is chairman of the costuming committee, dress has been secured, some of it being costumes that have come from the mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina where this scene is laid. Properties, also, have been collected to represent truly the conditions existing there.

Music in Keeping

The time of the play is set during the recent World War and an orchestra, which will play during the evening, will play music of that period, according to an announcement that has been made.

"Sun-Up" is a three act drama and will be produced under the direction of Miss Ruth Pirie. It is the third local Little Theatre play of this season.

POPULATION DECREASES Lubbock Has Only 27 Dogs, Tax Records Reveals

Either there has already been a sudden ending to a great portion of Lubbock's canine population—or else there will be quick eradication soon. The penalty for non-payment of dog taxes is death.

According to City Tax Collector R. A. Holland, only 27 dogs have, so far this year, been recorded at his office as having their taxes paid. Last year there were approximately 300 dog taxes paid. These should be paid by January 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Thrush have returned from a brief visit with the latter's mother in plainview.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Loving and young son, Z. T. were Monroe business visitors Tuesday in this city.

Mrs. R. D. Looney of Bovina, and Miss Elizabeth Bond of Sudan, have returned to their homes after a brief visit with Mrs. D. A. Atkins.

How Doctors Treat Colds and Flu

To break up a cold overnight or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsillitis, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the purified and refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel and salts combined, without the unpleasant effects of either. One or two Calotabs at bed-time with a swallow of water—that's all.

No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger. Get a family package, containing full directions, only 35 cents. At any drug store. (adv.)

How to Achieve Beauty

BY NINA DELENA RUBINSTEIN

SIMPLE EXERCISES ARE OFTEN MOST INTERESTING

I know the interest that new exercises have for us all. Naturally, in any kind of work which requires constant repetition, the element of variety is infinitely attractive. Nevertheless, it is perfectly true that simple exercises are often most effective. You do not even have to follow a given outline, just so long as you spend a certain amount of time every day in giving the muscles of your body the encouragement to require to exert themselves. Stretching exercises are probably the easiest and the most interesting to do, since you may introduce all kinds of variations into simple forms such as I am describing today.

Your family cat may well furnish inspiration for your exercises. Have you ever noticed the sinuous stretching which the cat indulges in so often during the day? It is one of the causes for his graceful body and genuine agility. Probably if we could learn to keep all of our muscles supple in the way that the cat does, and through his means of exercise, we might speedily become as perfected in our muscular action. Stretching should be done in all positions, both while you are standing up and when you are lying down.

In the morning before you arise, lie flat on your back in the bed. Discard your pillow, and first stretch your legs, then your hands, palms outward and fingers stretched. Let your arms swing down, palms toward the ceiling, and let them pull the muscles in your body until you can feel the action all over you. Continue this until you want to stop, and then relax.

Then hop out of bed. Stand on the floor and raise your arms again, this time trying to pull all your muscles up, and pretend to pull a rope, as though ringing the bell. If you do this correctly you can feel the pull in the back of your legs, which is just as it should be.

Another form of the imaginary rope pulling exercise, which is a good form of stretching, is as follows: Extend your arms to the right and then, with your hands clenched, pull toward you, as though you were grasping a rope to the right side of you in tug-of-war fashion, stretching your body, and then pulling toward your body. Pretend that there is a heavy weight on the other hand, and let your motion be firm and strenuous. Repeat from left side.

The tug-of-war position for imaginary rope pulling from front and back are also excellent exercises. You probably know from your school days what the tug-of-war is. Half a dozen people are at one end of the rope and you, with five people in back of you, are on the other. A line is drawn at a given point which exactly marks off the center of the rope. The winning team succeeded in forcing its opponents over the line. Imagine yourself as a member of one of these teams, with your hands first to the right and then to the left of you, pulling with all your might, feeling the action in your back muscles, the calves of the legs, even your neck. Then imagine that the weight has shifted, and pull from both sides, the front and the back. You can combine all of your stretching exercises into this one action, and you will do a lot of good to these much-neglected, seldom-used muscles.

about Grandma, or getting lessons or helping Daddy with chores about the house, will register with John a thousand times more deeply if you wait for the psychological moment.

It is the same with discipline. Nothing throws off punishment as completely and quickly as a guilty conscience. As soon as a child has done wrong and knows it, he builds up a wall of defense for himself that all your scoldings and disciplining won't break through. He will be only too apt to resent them as being unjust.

But wait until that false wall of defense has vanished. It may take a day or more. And then talk to him about his misdemeanor when he is in a frame of mind to listen to you and profit by what you tell him.

We are too apt to get after children when it suits us, not them, and usually it suits us when we have lost control of our tempers. Take the combination of the defense-wall of the child and the outraged excitement of a parent, and that is a very poor time for discipline.

What you say then will be remembered much longer than if you choose a time when his mind is filled with something else.

If John is all excited about going to a movie, that isn't the time to call him into your room and give him a talking-to about his rude treatment of Grandma.

If you think your son is not as careful of Grandma's feelings as he should be the thing to do is to wait until a day when he is in a particularly thoughtful mood and then in a skillful and not too personal way tell him the real reason for being kind to old people, and Grandma in particular.

"You see, John, it isn't so very long ago that Grandma was a young woman like me, and Daddy was a little boy like you. And now she has no home of her own and she pretends to herself that you are her little boy and this is her home all over again, and she loves you as much or more than she did Daddy. So we mustn't give her cross answers and we have to pretend we like it when she fusses over us too much."

The Woman's Day

By Allene Sumner

Again Henry Ford remarks that there is too much drudgery in the home and that the great throbbing world of industry and science must do for the woman in the kitchen what it has done for her husband in the shop, on the farm, in the office.

In his new book, entitled "My Philosophy of Industry," he writes—"We shall soon find a way to do much of the cooking outside and deliver it in a hot and appetizing condition at mealtime at no greater cost."

He elaborates other ways in which wholesale work outside the home could absorb the retail work of the home, giving women leisure and time for the many other interests of life.

HIS IDEA NOT NEW

Henry Ford's voice isn't the first raised against the waste of woman power in the home, nor is he the first to present a solution.

Years ago they tried out community cooking, community nurseries, and, after all, what is the public laundry and restaurant but a way for women to transfer her individual laundry and cooking to the wholesale world outside?

The big question in all attempts to deliver woman from "drudgery" is the same question which the Chinaman asked when told of all the time that he could save—"Yes, and what do we do with this time?"

It is possible that the bulk of women are really ready for deliverance from bondage. But it is also possible that they are not, and that if what our Henry Fords are pleased to call "drudgery" were taken from them, they would ask, "What do I now do with my saved time?"

I have noticed that the chief carpenter against all attempts to lighten home labor are women themselves. Nobody ever sniffed more sniffily at the first attempts at community kitchens and community nurseries than women; the older women who, having gone through their own course of sprouts, wanted other women to get the same dose, and the younger women who chafed at the idea of their own job being taken from their own hands.

After all, having a hot meal delivered to one's door at mealtime doesn't seem the answer to a mother's prayer, does it? How does it differ so much from the fact that if years hot home-cooked foods could be brought in a myriad places a delivered, too? Perhaps the chef has the advantage on the count here, but there have always been church suppers available for the family when the "Missus" felt the need of escaping the getting of a meal herself.

The industrial and commercial world has done more for women within the past decade than even a Henry Ford seems to realize. It's amazing, for instance, to realize the families who eat out at least one a week to save mother the trouble of cooking, whereas such a thing was never dreamed of a generation ago.

The laundry, the dressmaker, the playground, the community center, have taken other jobs from her hands, and I ask again, are women really ready for a complete lifting of the load? Frankly, would the masses of them know what to do with themselves without their household work?

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton

©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

One of the most important things in the life of an adult is what we call the "psychological moment." In plain words, the right moment.

Still more important is the "right moment" in the life of a child and in your training of him.

If you wish to teach a little lesson it is better to wait for one of these times. Undoubtedly there are moments when your boy or girl seems nearer to you, when there is a clearer understanding, a deeper sympathy.

What you say then will be remembered much longer than if you choose a time when his mind is filled with something else.

If John is all excited about going to a movie, that isn't the time to call him into your room and give him a talking-to about his rude treatment of Grandma.

O. W. Moore Opens Up Business Here

O. W. Moore, formerly with Toney Chisum for nine years in Amarillo, is moving to Lubbock and will conduct the business of the Graham-Paige motor cars agency recently established here. Mr. Moore is owner of the agency which will be maintained at 1106 Main Street in his name.

New cars of several models are now on display in the showrooms and Mr. Moore plans to have a greater array as soon as other models can be obtained from the Graham Brothers factory, pioneer makers in the automobile industry. A complete agency will be maintained.

Mr. Moore is to move his family here from Amarillo.

WE WELCOME O. W. Moore To The Graham-Paige Organization

In the 18 months that have passed since we acquired ownership control of this company, it has been our pleasure to announce many forward steps—in production facilities, in our product, and in the organization associated with us.

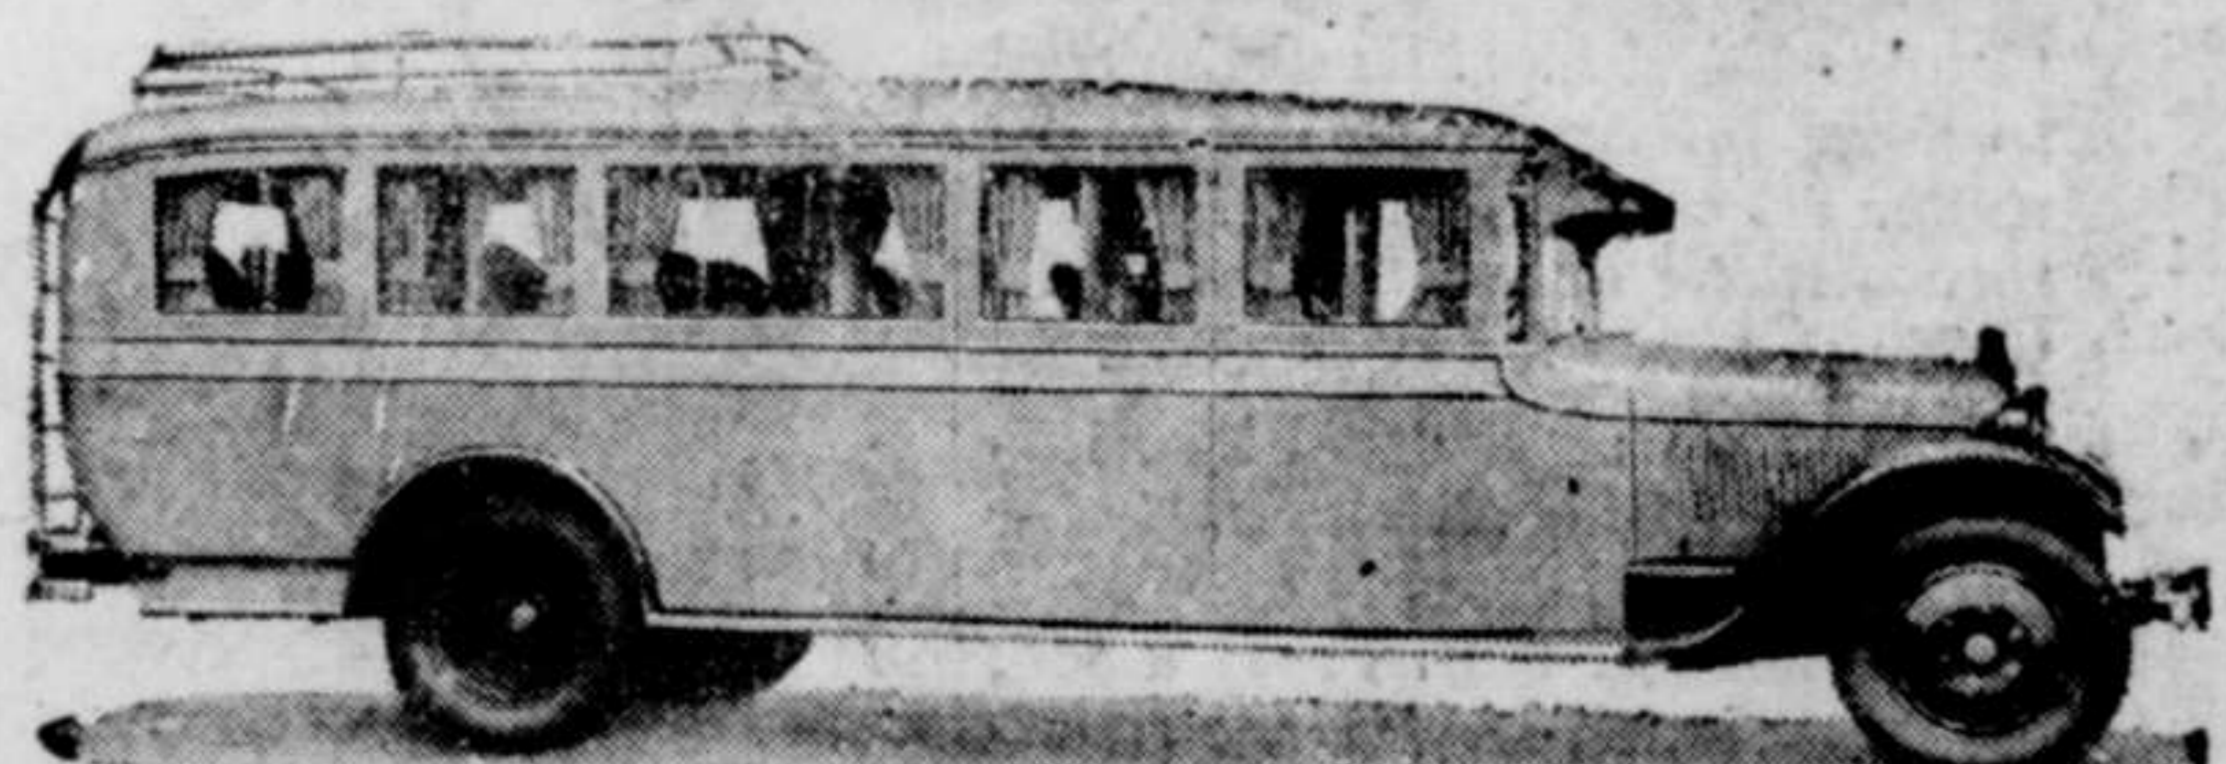

It is with particular pleasure that we now announce the appointment of O. W. Moore as Graham-Paige dealer for Lubbock.

We know that O. W. Moore possesses the three qualities necessary to represent Graham-Paige adequately and successfully—Character, Capability and Capital. We know that his business will be conducted on a basis of integrity and fair dealing, which guarantees lasting satisfaction to car buyers and owners.

Arkansas Will Meet Three Southwest Teams On Grid

IN THE REALM OF SPORTS
WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Avalanche Sports Editor

ACTION APLENTY
A hot basketball chase is in store for the followers of the City League. Whereas the first half of the season was more or less a walk-away for the Business College quintet, the current session promises to be anything but a set-up for the college team.

Two teams who were down the line in the final standing at the end of the first half have come back with re-inforcements that has already stamped them as dangerous contenders. The Teachers, winners of the championship last season, fell before the onslaught of the Business College sharpshooters in the first half, but are likely to be among the leaders when the final tabulation is made around February 23. It is unlikely that any team in the league could have stopped them at the fast pace they were setting Monday night when the Army five went down 74 to 26.

Another team which seems to be of championship caliber at this stage of the race is the Wholesaler crew, which has recently been strengthened by the addition of Luenberger, former Super Service star, to its lineup. In their first appearance with the revised lineup, the wholesaler team won a forfeit contest from the Teachers after the team had battled through a fast game to a deadlock, and last Friday night took the measure of the National Guard cagers by a narrow margin. The Army five is the same outfit that was runner-up for first half honors.

Thus from present indications it looks like a three-cornered scrap for supremacy this last half. Practically every team in the league has been improved but the Business College, Teachers and Wholesalers will likely lead the chase. While the Army five cannot be counted out of the running, their two defeats within the last week will be hard to overcome.

WERE AGIN IT
The disadvantages of doing away with Thanksgiving games in the southwestern conference seem to overshadow the advantages of change. It would be mighty hard to dissociate football and Thanksgiving Day. Turkey Day has always been the climax of the grid season and to do away with it would seem a bit radical. There are many ardent football fans who are unable to attend any but the holiday game at the close of the season, and to shift it to the Saturday following Thanksgiving would deprive these of seeing any games.

TIME TO ACT
We are yet to be convinced that Lubbock baseball fans are willing to let the baseball franchise go to some other town in West Texas. Given a leader who is willing to work for the interest of the club and the city and the baseball enthusiasts here will rally to the cause. But where is the leader? Only a few days are left for local citizens to take advantage of the offer made by last year's voters. It's time to act.

Amarillo Painter Endorses Orgatone

SAYS WIFE WAS SICK IN BED, SUFFERED SEVEN YEARS WITH DIGESTIVE TROUBLES, BUT FEELS FINE NOW

"I had two doctors with my wife, this Christmas eve, and then when she didn't get any better, bought a bottle of Orgatone, and she began to improve right away," said Floyd E. Grifford, residing at 2300 Tyler, Amarillo, Tex., while talking with the Orgatone representative recently. Mr. Grifford is a painter.

"My wife has suffered for seven years with stomach and digestive troubles. She had pains in her neck and back and her heart was affected, every time she ate anything. The food would not digest and caused gas formation to crowd her heart and she would get weak and dizzy. She had severe attacks of indigestion and would have pains in her abdomen and cramp for hours. She was very bilious and dizzy, most all the time, and never was able to rest or sleep of a night and was very, very nervous. She was constipated and had to take strong laxatives most all of the time. Every time she ate anything, she had to go to bed. Any kind of food would make her sick. She was very ill, Christmas eve, and I went to town and saw where Orgatone was helping so many people and got a bottle. This indeed, was a nice Christmas present for us, for the very first dose she got better right away. She eats anything she wants now, feels better in every way. She is not constipated any more, does not get dizzy and bilious. She says that she feels she owes it to Orgatone to give a statement so that other people may know the benefits. We are both grateful to it."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drug and may be obtained in Lubbock, Texas, at the Bowen's Drug Store, under the personal direction of the special Orgatone representative—adv.

Porkers Booked To Invade Texas For Two Gridiron Conflicts In 1929 Conference Football Chase

Texas, Baylor and Texas Aggies On Schedule For Coach Schmidt's Pupils; Nine Games Carded

PAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 29.—Arkansas University has booked three gridiron conflicts with Southwest Conference rivals in 1929.

October 12 the Razorbacks will meet Texas University here. October 19 will find Coach Schmidt's pupils tackling Baylor University at Waco, and October 26 they are scheduled against the Texas Aggies at College Station.

Some games are on the Porkers' 1929 schedule, including combats with Louisiana State, Centenary College, Oklahoma A. and M. and Henderson-Brown.

YOU and BASKETBALL

By H. C. CARLSON, M. D. University of Pittsburgh Basketball Coach

While the time spent formerly on perfecting center plays was out of proportion, it is, nevertheless, advisable to have a few simple plays in reserve. The most advantageous time to spring these plays is at the start of the halves or after a timeout, especially in a very close game. It is of importance not to leave your defense wide open, because the play may backfire and lose a game.

Some of the simplest plays are often the most efficacious.

(1) With both forwards rushing in for the ball, one pivots and makes a quick cut for the basket. The other continues and hits the ball back under the basket. The guards are in strong defensive positions and the play is better with opposing guards sticking close to the forwards and rushing in for the center tap.

(2) One forward going fast to center tips the ball back to a guard on the same side for a dribble in shot. The opposite guard crosses over to the vacated guard territory and his man is taken by the second forward coming back into defensive territory.

(3) A safe and sane play is for one forward to get the tap behind the center, with the other forward coming over to the sideline of the first forward. The first can bat the ball safely to the sideline, with the center cutting first for the two-man triangle. If he is unable to go into the basket, he can pivot and give the ball to the first forward, who is completing the circle around the center and cutting for the basket on the opposite side of the original side of the floor.

Regardless of the possibility of the plays, there is no possibility of minimizing all the threats of individual offense.

Start Intramural Football Thursday

Engineers to Meet Liberal Arts In First Football Clash Between Schools; Play Three Games

The first Tech intramural football game will be played on the Tech gridiron Thursday afternoon. It was announced from athletic headquarters yesterday. The Engineer gridsters will tangle up with the Liberal Arts eleven in the first contest between the three major schools of the college.

On the following Tuesday, January 5, the Aggies will meet the Liberal Arts aggregation and the final game will be played Saturday, February 9.

The school teams have been training for the past two weeks under the direction of varsity football letter men of the college, the Liberal Arts squad under Sid Knowles, Engineers under Chubby Dewitt and the Aggies under Vaughn Corley.

Because of the possibility of discovering potential varsity football material as well as the keen rivalry between the schools of the college, the intramural games this year have created unusual interest. The football staff of the school are particularly interested in the games and can be depended on to be there watching every move of the embryonic gridsters.

Intra-mural football in past years have contributed their share of football stars, one of which was Charley Woodruff, who first gained the spotlight in an intramural game last year.

Tahoka Defeated By Santa Fe Crew

(Special to the Avalanche)
TAHOKA, Jan. 29.—Tahoka was decisively defeated Saturday night on the home court by the Slaton Santa Fe shop team of all-stars by a score of 50 to 17. Although several brilliant spurts of play were made by the locals, they were not able to cope with the speedy and spectacular gat set by the visitors.

In a preliminary contest, the Tahoka High school girls team lost to the O'Donnell High school girls by a one-point margin. The game was the most tightly contested game played by the girls this year.

Approximately 300 people witnessed the games, which were played in the old Connolly Motor Company building.

French letters now are advertising French wines. The new cancellation mark bears the legend: "Wine—a tonic and restorative drink."

They Will Mix February 1

Whether or not Johnny Risko, left, will continue to fade out in heavyweight circles and Max Schmelling step farther into the limelight, will be determined February 1, when the pair meet in a battle in New York. Risko began to slip after his battle with George Godfrey, the giant negro, while Schmelling, imported from Germany, jumped into prominence a couple of weeks ago with an easy win over Joe Sekyra.

Stribling Slated To Arrive Today In Miami Beach

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 29.—With the arrival here today of Jack Sharkey's trainer, Tony Polozolo, announcement was made by Jack Dempsey, that W. L. "Young" Stribling and his party will arrive tomorrow to prepare for his fight with the Boston sailor February 27. Sharkey and his party will arrive in Miami Beach Friday night, Dempsey announced.

"Pa" Stribling gave Dempsey his information on the arrival here of the Georgia youngster. The latter, the elder Stribling said, has acceded to Dempsey's repeated requests that he refrain from flying until after the fight. Young Stribling with his wife and children, Pa and Ma, and his younger brother, will arrive by train tomorrow.

Stribling will be the guest of honor at a dinner given by Dempsey tomorrow night at "social headquarters" of the Madison Square Garden corporation, and will appear at the Miami Beach Kennel club later.

Frog Basketeers Shake Up Lineup For Second Half

New Combination More Effective Than Early Team; Will Play Six More In Conference Race

(Special to the Avalanche)
FORT WORTH, Jan. 29.—Having won only one of their first six starts, the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs enter the second half of the schedule with a shake-up in their team. The new combination was started against the Aggies and functioned well until Roy Eury, the main-spring of the Frog scoring combination was forced from the game due to a leg injury.

The Aggies captured the tilt 40 to 21 after overcoming an early Frog lead.

Under the new system Clyde Roberson, forward, is shifted to guard to aid Capt. Horace Wallin. Eury remains at center, with Flynn and McDonnell at forward.

This combination appeared to work more smoothly than any Bell has placed on the floor, and it is probable that he will hold it throughout the remainder of the season.

The Frogs have six more contests. Two games are carded with Texas and Baylor and one more with S. M. U. and Rice. The Frogs have slight chance of placing anywhere near the top, with five losses and only one victory to their credit. From the pace that the Longhorns are setting it is improbable that the Frogs can take either game with the Orange cagers. They appear to have an even chance with Baylor and Rice, and may be able to even the series with the Mustangs.

Is anybody here who can remember the good old-fashioned day when football used to be fun? The Yankees' numbered players idea might go in boxing, too, if the magnificent seating distances ever became popular again.

If Dempsey should return to the ring he probably would want some other number than 14, though. Numbers for hockey players might be fitting. But then, of course their days are numbered.

Teachers Will Be In Action Tonight

Two Montgomery Ward basketball teams will play in the City League competition tonight. In the opening contest, the Montgomery Ward girls meet the Bell Telephone sextette and the Montgomery Ward boys take on the Teachers in the feature game.

Montgomery Ward boys are considerably stronger than the team which represented that concern in the first half of the City League race, while the Teachers have exhibited unsteady basketball in their last two games.

The games will start at 7:30.

Girls A. A. U. Basketball Tournament Has Inquiries Fifty-Nine West Texas Schools

(Special to the Avalanche)
SNYDER, Jan. 29.—Inquiries have been pouring in here rapidly during the past week in connection to the West Texas girls' high school A. A. U. basketball tournament to be held at Snyder, February 14, 15 and 16. Up to date 59 West Texas high schools have been heard from.

Teams that have already mailed in their entry blanks are: Hobbs, Breckenridge, Ira, Fluvanna, Sierra Blanca, Blackwell, Pecos, Divide, Ralls, Roby, Lorenzo, Tulla, Rankin, Colorado, Lamesa and Big Spring.

The Snyder Lions club, sponsoring the event, is holding a popularity contest in connection with the tournament. The trophies are to be shown for the first time in the weekly luncheon Wednesday, at which time more than 80 members and guests will join in the ceremonies.

An attendance contest between two teams has been a means of bringing practically every merchant in the city or his store representative out to the weekly meetings. County Superintendent A. A. Bullock is general chairman of the basketball tournament.

Two Different Reasons for using CONOCO-ETHYL BOTH OF THEM GOOD

1 To Save Wear and Tear

If you keep an accurate record of what it costs to operate your car, you'll soon realize that Conoco Ethyl Gasoline actually saves you money—despite the fact that it costs a few cents more per week than ordinary gasoline.

It saves by keeping out the knock that wears and tears the engine... and by producing 100% power from every drop. There's no waste when you use Conoco Ethyl. It burns cleanly and at the right time—regardless of the compression of the motor.

Conoco Ethyl will reduce your cost per mile. Try it and convince yourself.

2 To enjoy High-Compression Performance

With the introduction of Conoco Ethyl Gasoline into this market, your dreams of an ideal motor fuel become accomplished facts. Conoco Ethyl has blazed the trail to superlative motor operation under all conditions of temperature—uphill or on the level—in traffic or along the open road.

There is no motor fuel like it—for it combines all the superior qualities of Conoco, the Triple Test Gasoline, with Ethyl Fluid, the Anti-Knock ingredient developed by General Motors after years of exhaustive research.

Why not get the most from your motor? Fill your tank at the Conoco Ethyl pump—at service stations and garages.

Designations Are Sought by O'Neill

Chairman of County Road Movement Points Out Further Need of Designated Routes

In the effort at having the proposed highway from Idalou to Lockney and Silvertown, by way of Becton and Petersburg, designated as a state highway, Charles F. O'Neill, chairman of the Lubbock county organization formed last week to attempt a program for another countywide road paving bond election, announced Tuesday that a special committee had been appointed to work on this project.

The highway, as proposed, follows the right of way of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad, from a point directly north of Idalou to Lockney. The committee includes: E. T. Daniels, Idalou; A. M. Becton, of Becton; A. B. Brown, of Petersburg; and James H. Goodman.

"This committee will work on securing an early state and federal designation for this highway and will see all Lubbock county voters in the district before the road bond election is called," Mr. O'Neill explained.

MEETING POSTPONED

County Commissioners To Meet On Thursday

Scheduled for 2 o'clock this afternoon, the meeting of the Lubbock county commissioners court has been postponed until Thursday morning, it was announced yesterday afternoon by County Judge Robert H. Bean.

Postponement was due to the fact that several of the commissioners wished to attend the first annual Farmers' Short Course in session at Tech College.

Ex-officio salaries will be set and other important county business will be taken up at the meeting of the commissioners.

Show Boat Troupe Fails To Swap Thrills With Gotham; Calliope Makes No Stir In Tin Pan Alley; Want To Go Back To "Ole Ohio"

By HORTENSE SAUNDERS
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Coming by train into the nation's greatest metropolis and playing in an honest-to-goodness theater gave both a thrill and a disappointment to the Princess Show Boat Players—a thrill because most of them had never seen the big town, much less played it, and a disappointment because their coming made so little of a ripple. For when the show boat glides in a river town, heralding its approach with the calliope, it is an event.

The players, who came for a month's engagement on Broadway, brought their calliope along, even if they did have to leave the Princess on the Ohio. And every night the instrument shrieks under the inspired touch of Ruth Watson, who has played it on every one-night stand along the Ohio river and its tributaries.

Even a steam calliope can't expect to make much of a stir right in the heart of clamorous Tin Pan Alley. Yet this troupe of Princess Show Boat actors, headed by Norman F. Thom, modestly carrying the title "John Drew of the River," is unique among Gotham's entertainments, not only for its repertoire, done in the earnest manner of the General Grant period, but for its cast.

Her Role Is In Real Life
Life itself has given "Ma" Webster a gorgeous role, and made of her a richer character than any portrayed on Broadway. Plain, honest, and very wise, she owns an interest in the boat, is grandmother-in-law to the leading man, mother of the leading character actress, grandmother of the leading lady, and grandmother of the child wonder.

She won't tell her age, but she has been taking tickets on show boats for close to half a century. She has acted as a bouvier on occasions when such a person was needed. In the absence of a cook she has rolled up her sleeves, attacked the potatoes and roasts single-handed and come out victorious, with a banquet scene.

When temperamental on the Show Boat, reaches the boiling point, "Ma" Webster cools the atmosphere with a little common sense and a few well-chosen words so that an armistice is soon declared.

"Ma" is the company doctor, a practical nurse, and she knows her remedies. She has mothered the whole troupe so many years now that, though she has never acted, she always has had the star part in the company's destiny. Her daughter, Mrs. Pansy Mason, a thoroughly untheatrical person with honest curves and a middle-aged spread, has played in the company for some 30 years, and has graduated, by reason of her obvious maturity, to mother roles.

A Thespian Family
Mrs. Mason's daughter, Mrs. Norman Thom, slim, young and fairly pretty, plays the ingenue or the leading lady, according to the needs of the script, and her own small daughter, Kim, plays the child roles imitating Al Jolson, and does "specialties" between the acts.

Metropolitan life does not interest the river troupe as much as you might expect. They feel no thrill in the heights of the buildings; the crowds confuse them; they hesitate to cross the streets, and they mistrust New York eggs.

"I tell you, New York doesn't hold a candle to river towns," said "Ma." "Salaries are bigger, of course. Our players get about $30 a month on the river—but there isn't a cent of expense. Good room, good food, fresh milk, eggs and vegetables right from the farms, and swimming and outdoor life all the time. They don't need swell clothes, and have time to make what they need.

Boat's Coming Is Event
"Wherever we stop, folks come for miles to see our show. Come on horseback, barefoot, and in their wigs. Sometimes they pay their admission with a gallon of huckleberries or some fresh green corn. Lots of them have never seen a show except on a boat.

"Everything matters on the river, and nothing matters here. I know city folks are all right, if you could just get to them. But you can't. Everyone is too busy. And it costs more to live here than you can make."

The show boat troupe are presenting four of their most popular dramas, "The Parson's Bride," "Hearts of the Blue Ridge," "My Jim," and "Stroke of Ten."

The Princess itself is moored at Beverly, Ohio, where "Ma" Webster herself makes her winter home. Next March it will start down the river again for another season that the sailing troupers love.

R. H. Martin Inaugurates Innovation In Lubbock Labor Movement; 5-Day Schedule To Go In Effect At Bakery

The five day week—heretofore generally visioned as a dream of a "golden age" for the working man—is to be made a reality in Lubbock by at least one employer.

Effective today, the fifteen individuals employed at the Martin Baking Company here are to be placed on a five day schedule.

The idea is original with R. H. Martin, proprietor of the establishment, and carries out a pet ambition conceived, as he puts it, more than twenty years ago when he was employed as a railroad section hand.

Applies Golden Rule
"I determined then to apply the Golden Rule if I ever was cast in the role of a 'boss' he explained yesterday. "I then determined to treat those working for me as I would like to be treated."

Under the new plan, employees at the bakery will have two days out of every week to themselves.

"An employer has a responsibility not often realized," Mr. Martin stated, in giving his viewpoint. "It is up to him to make pleasant living conditions for those over whom he has control."

The bakery is the only establishment in Lubbock operating on the five-day schedule. Perhaps it is the first bakery in America to adopt such a system.

Career Is Romance
One of those many romances of business is to be found in the story of R. H. Martin and the Martin Bakery. Mr. Martin came to Lubbock nineteen years ago, penniless and totally void of prospects for the future. He borrowed twenty dollars and started the business which today is represented by the present plant of the Martin Baking Company.

Texas, It is undoubtedly the largest bakery in the United States for a town anywhere near the size of Lubbock.

A special spur track has been built to the rear of the spacious brick and concrete bakery building on Broadway. Flour, sugar and the other ingredients used in baking the bread and sweets which are turned out in such vast quantities are loaded direct from the car to a storeroom at the rear. Conveyors, powered by centrifugal force, carry the ingredients to a mixing room on the second floor. Two huge ovens, one of which alone contains two carloads of white brick are included in the plant. Then there are sanitary heating racks and automatic wrapping and sealing machines. The office rooms and store space are at the front of the building. Trucks are loaded inside the building through specially constructed driveways.

H. T. Kausch, native German, graduate of three of the foremost baking schools in America, is in active charge of the plant. Kausch is not only an expert baker but a trained chemist.

BEING FRIENDLY

There is hardly anything that will bring better results than being friendly. It is the friendly store that gets the business in preference to the store where there is little or no concern shown in customers.

We are proud of the fact that Lubbock is not made up of people of that kind, but are on the other hand endeavoring to force the price down, and there is practically no competition in that respect.

PUBLIC UTILITIES NOW SHUN SECRECY

BY CHARLES P. STEWART Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The public utilities industry is a convert to open diplomacy. It took an explosion to prove it to the utilities magnates. However, these magnates are not the kind of folk who can't learn. One explosion was enough for them to know enough now not to want any more.

In other words, the allied utilities hired a high-class professional press agent.

Naturally the utilities like to be regarded as a bunch of philanthropists—altruistic, disinterested, benevolent—all that.

Formerly they depended on a lot of amateur propagandists to disseminate these ideas.

The amateur system was to get views into textbooks—to have them taught in schools, from kindergartens up to universities—to inspire authors to write them into literature—to make them as much a part of every-day life as food.

This plan of beginning with the rising generation, while still in its cradle, and keeping abreast of it until it closes its eyes in death, has the merit of being thorough, and, in its way, it's intelligent.

The only fault which has been found with it is that the present generation, busy paying the bills, has a right to know what is going on.

The amateur propagandist's theory appears to have been that what present-day folk are ignorant of can't hurt 'em. So the amateurs kept their operations hidden under a bushel as long as they could.

It worked all right for quite awhile, but then, one day, the utilities industry fell foul of the federal trade commission, and the commission promptly proceeded to turn the whole bag of tricks inside out.

The utilities magnates complain merrily that the bag's contents, as exhibited by the commission look a good deal worse than they really are.

Quite likely this is true.

It may be that there was nothing reprehensible about what the amateurs were doing, and that the sole reason why it appears to have been of color was because the amateurs were so mysterious about it.

The federal trade commission investigated and investigated. Finally it took a recess. A few days ago it began to investigate again.

Just before the resumption of the "probe" out came the utilities industry's new press agent with an announcement, for the whole world to see and read. Believe me, he cast secrecy to the four winds.

"My organization," he proclaimed, "has been employed to handle news out of Washington on the public utilities industry.

"We expect to deal openly, without camouflage."

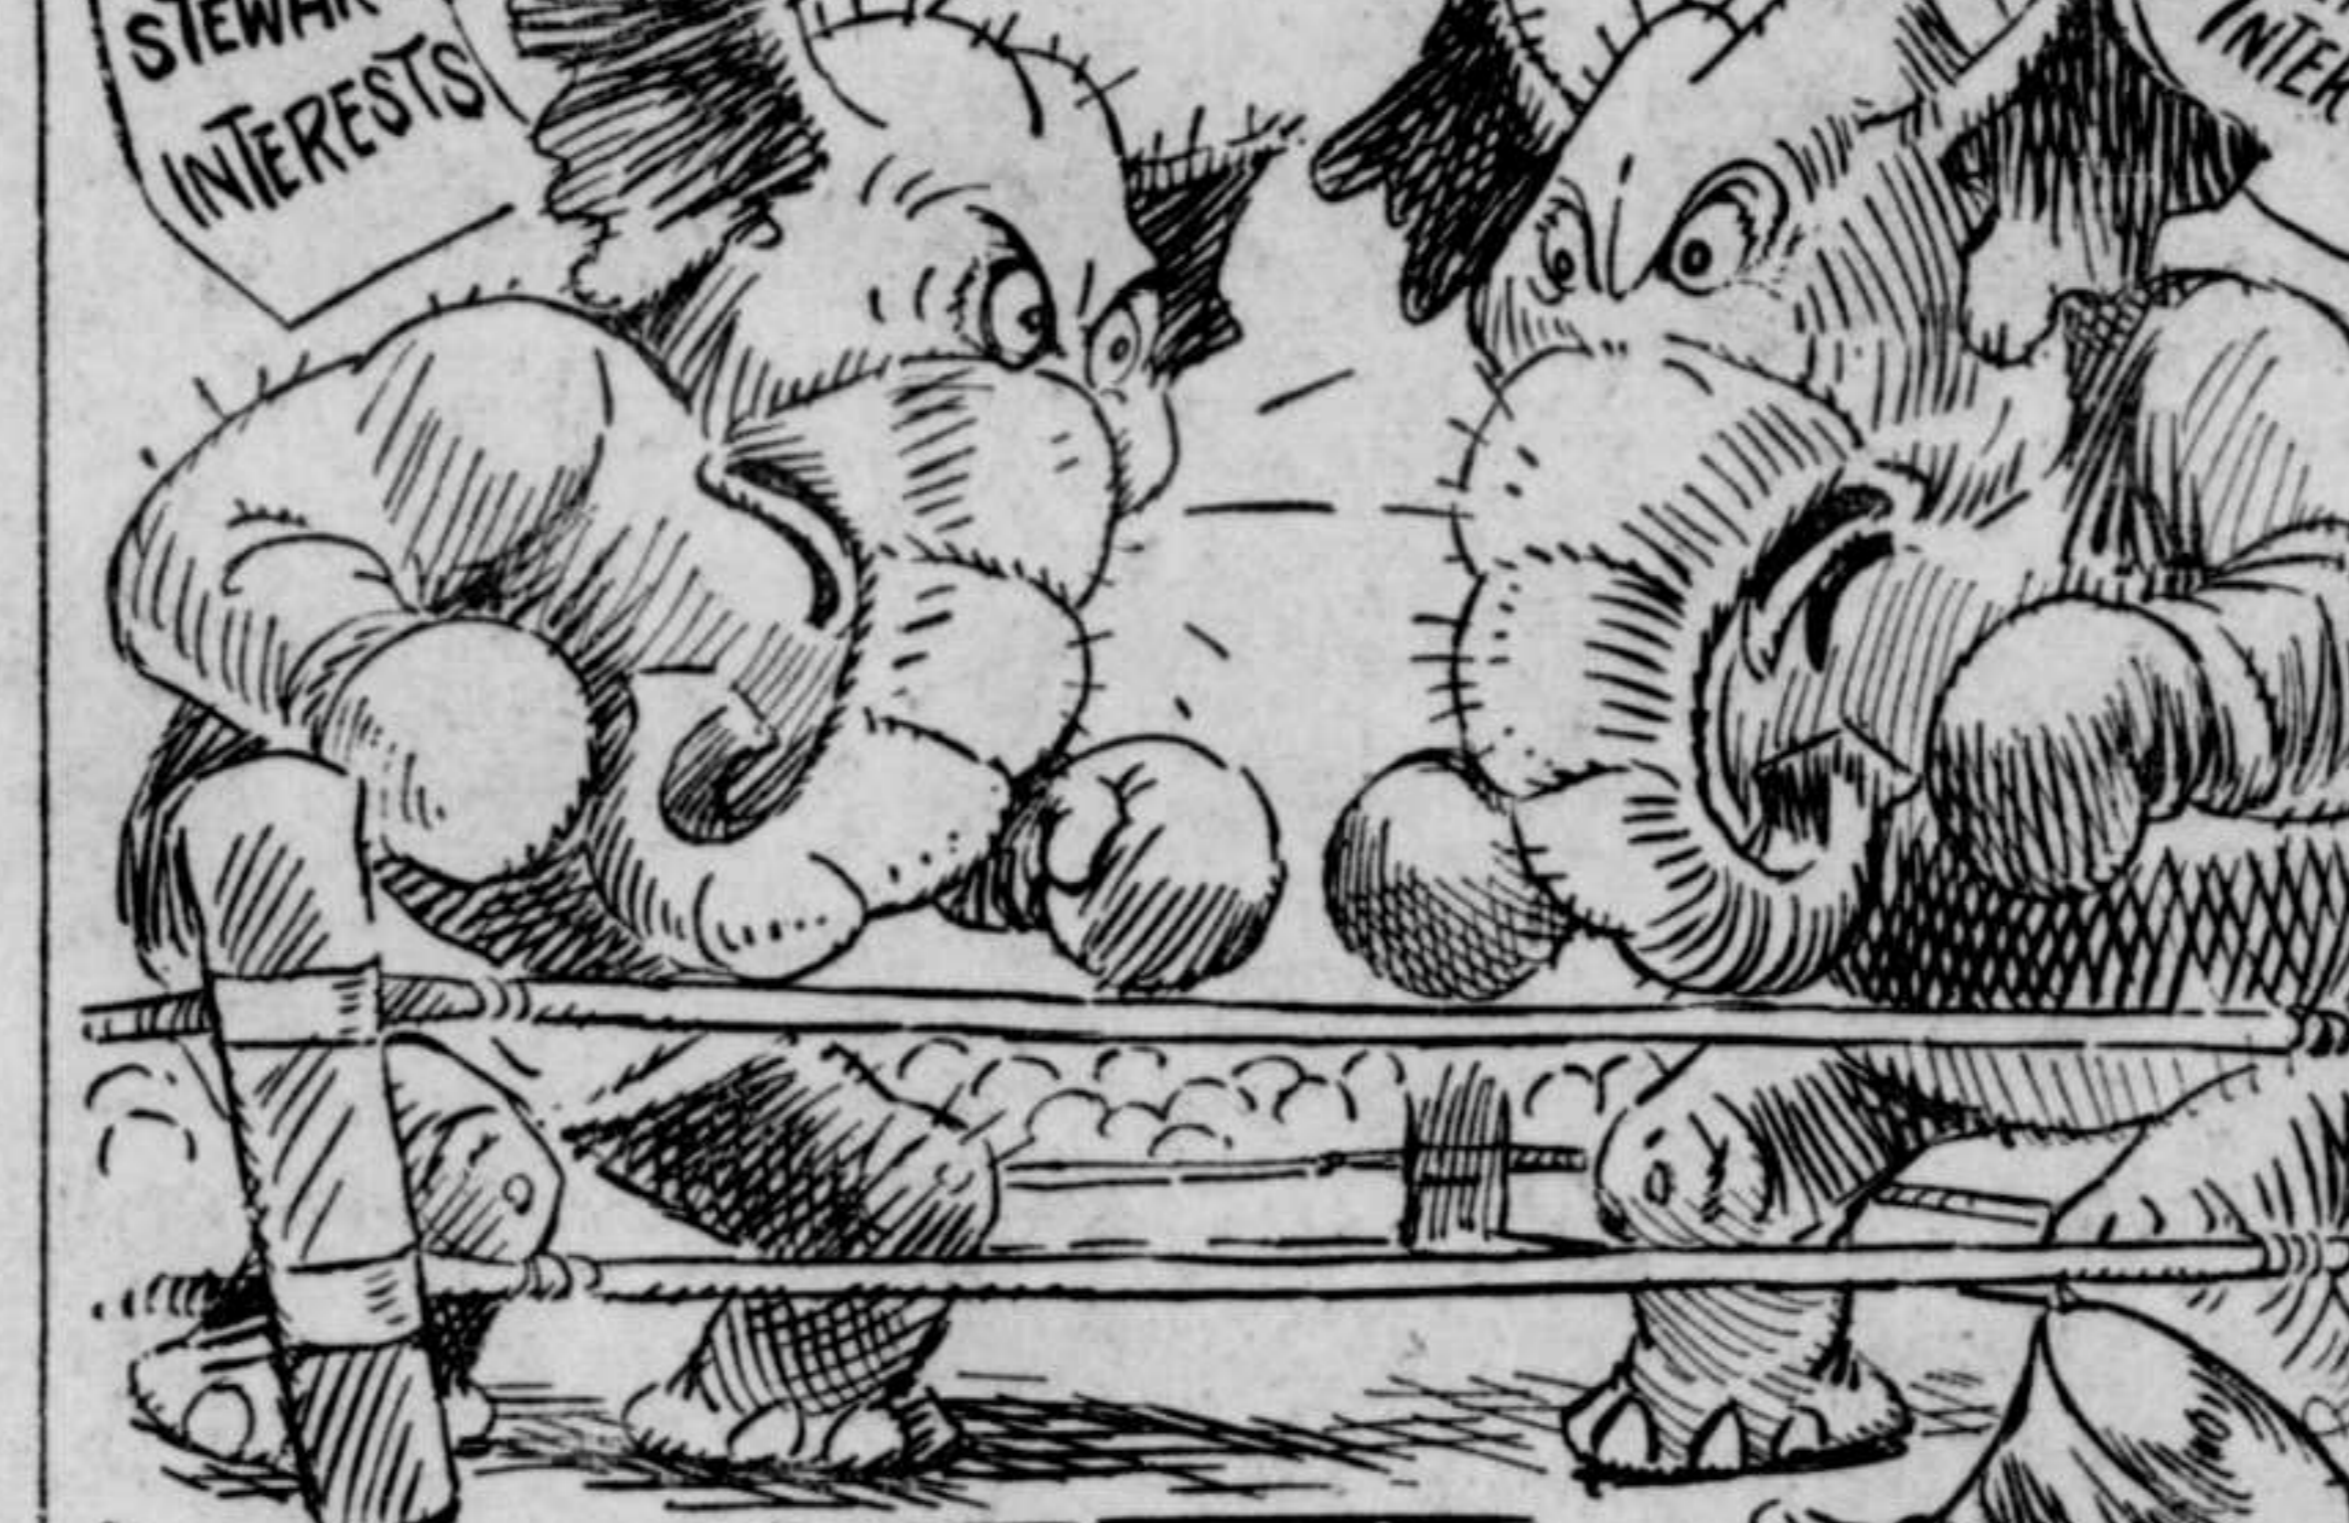

This is a reversal of policy with a vengeance. Nobody expects a press agent to put anything but a client's best foot foremost, but that's perfectly O. K., if he frankly introduces himself as just what he is.

There's nothing amateurish about Tom Shipp, the utilities' new, professional publicity man.

He's no altruist and he has the sound judgment not to pretend he is.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

ASHTORETH ASHE, adventuring far from home, has a thrilling adventure in the West Indies. There she meets, by accident, her employer, the rich and famous Hollis Hart. She misses the boat on which she is traveling, and goes with him to his house in the mountains. Her clothes have gone ahead on the cruise ship, but Hollis fits her out as best he can, and they spend a dangerously glamorous week together.

Six wonderful days have passed. And the ship is due back again. Ashtoreth and Hollis prepare for their last day together. Suddenly, almost without warning, a horrible hurricane rushes in from the sea.

The servants seek refuge in the hurricane shelter, a great chamber in the mountain side. Hollis takes Ashtoreth to the house, where they spend the day, and most of the following night, quite safe.

Ashtoreth does her best to vamp her host. She even dons pajamas and wanders with him, through the garden . . . and lets him hold and kiss her. He calls her "Orchid," and she secretly tender name—because she reminds him, he says, of the flower.

Ashtoreth loves him, too. At least, she thinks she does. Probably almost any girl would love a handsome multi-millionaire, and she made love divinely, and adored the very ground she walked on.

They have been together for a glorious week, in a little house on a mountainous island in the West Indies the evening was entirely accidental, but Ashtoreth—naturally—made the most of it. She was traveling at the time for her health. Hart was taking one of his frequent cruises, and had stopped off at Dominica on his way to South America.

Now they are on their way back to Boston, returning on the cruise ship which Ashtoreth unceremoniously abandoned at Dominica as soon as she saw Hollis.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXIII

They sat on the deck at night, and talked about their wedding trip.

"You've never been to Paris?" he asked.

"I've never been anywhere," she told him. "Paris! My goodness, Hollis, stenographers don't go to Paris."

He smiled at her fondly.

"It will be very wonderful," he said "to mark the world, and dear, it would be so too bad to go honeymooning with a girl who'd been everywhere, and seen everything. It's going to be glorious, taking you to my favorite haunts and shrines. I know a little place in the country, where George Sand used to live—"

"The country, Hollis!" Ashtoreth interrupted breathlessly. "My dear, you'll never be able to lure me from the city. I know a little place in the country, where George Sand used to live—" have noticed Mona. She had gorgeous clothes and jewels and things. But she only rated their contempt. Family has something to do with it. Holly, Tradition and background, and all that sort of thing. Now, if you wear nouveau riche, they'd snub you, too—for taking up with me, I mean. But you're Hollis Hart from Boston. You've generations behind you of the sort of thing they worship.

"You can do no wrong. Because you come from one of the best families in America. Because you're one of the biggest financiers in the country. Because you're handsome, and well bred—and rolling in the filthy lucre they pretend to despise. They'd give anything in the world if they could feel superior to you. But, my dear, you've everything they've got, and so much more, that there's nothing they can do but lick your boots. You've been everywhere that they've been—and everywhere else besides. They can't criticize your manners, nor your clothes, nor your education. They can't show you up on a single thing—and so, my dear, they must kowtow.

"You're the biggest, richest, most important man they ever had a chance to know. And they'd toady to me, if they could, in order to impress themselves on you. Oh, I know."

Hollis patted her hand under the steamer rug.

"Little Bolshevik," he called her. "But tell me, dear, is this man Smythe the novelist who put Mona in a book? I heard them talking in the bar about Pariah Girl, wasn't that the name of it?"

"Yes," she said. "And what do you bet, Holly, he doesn't put you and me in his next novel? Adventurous stenographers and handsome millionaires make the nicest plots."

"Well," he smiled. "we've lived a perfect beginning—you and I—for any old novel. I wonder what the next chapter will be."

"The wedding," she supplemented.

"That's right," he agreed. "Novels today always begin with the marriage, don't they? You know that's the way they used to end—and then they lived happily ever after. But modern novelists have sensed that the plot is only just beginning there. The drama and the tragedy these days follow the marriage. And it's very, very seldom that anybody lives happily ever after."

She pressed his hand warmly.

"But we will!" she cried. "We'll be different, won't we, Holly?"

"Of course we will," he told her. "We are different, aren't we, dear?"

"Oh, my goodness, yes!" she exclaimed. "Just as different as can be."

Hollis smiled at the wise old moon. And the wise old moon twinkled back again. Probably that was because the moon had heard so many lovers make the same protestations.

"Let's talk some more about our wedding trip," she suggested, and snuggled cozily against his shoulder.

"We might go around the world," he proposed, "and stop off at the places we liked."

"For how long?" she asked.

"Oh, a month, or a year, or forever."

She shivered delightfully. "Oh, Holly, isn't it just too wonderful—being rich?"

"You'd like Africa," he told her. "And the Garden of Allah, where roses and jasmine grow in the desert."

"Oh, I saw the movie," she exclaimed. "Is it like that?"

"It's lovely," he pronounced solemnly. "You can't see the colors on the screen. Sunset, and moonlight, and the dawning... You'll love the bazaars, too, Orchid. And I'll buy you all the eastern jewelry and perfumes in Constantinople."

"Have you been to Turkey, too?" she asked. "I heard a Turkish lady lecture once in Boston. Madame Halide Edib. She told all about the harems—but, my goodness, I never dreamed I could see the heavenly things she talked about. The mosques and minarets, and the beauty of old Stamboul."

"I had a strange adventure there," he told her. "The Arabs you know, are a strangely emotional race. Well, I heard a group of dark-skinned sons of the desert talking once in a Turkish coffee house. There was an Anatolian girl dancing for them. A seductive creature. And, the Arabs, intoxicated by her beauty, asked her to die. Mad with the loveliness of her voice and person, they declared they could not bear the idea of so much perfection existing on earth."

"Ashore!" she asked.

"Oh, no—quite sober," he said. "Emotional—that's all. The world, my love, is full of the strangest people."

"And we're going to see them all," she cried. "Oh, Holly, I'm thrilled to death."

A cabin boy came hurrying down the deck.

Rise in Call Rate On Wall Street Is Buying Confusion

Tuesday Finds General Tendency Toward Lower Levels; Market Feared On Decline by Wednesday

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER Associated Press Financial Writer NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—The stock market closed about confusion today, with the general tendency toward lower levels, although a handful of utilities and industrials were bid up from 5 to more than 14 points.

A rise in the call loan rate to 7 per cent after holding at 6 for nearly two weeks, was an unsettling factor, although $7,500,000 in gold arrived from England late in the day, and London advices indicated that $5,000,000 would be shipped tomorrow.

Another cause of uneasiness was the meeting of the U. S. Steel directors after the close. Some fears were expressed that if the much rumored extra or stock dividends should fail to materialize, the market would sell off sharply tomorrow. This view was not really accepted, however, as most traders of late had expected nothing more than a favorable earnings report at this time.

The Steel Corporation's report, showing $11.61 per common share for 1928, in contrast to only 8.81 per share in 1927, was generally regarded as satisfactory, although it fell somewhat short of more optimistic estimates.

The market opened rather quieter than of late, but with prices pointed upward. Heavy selling came into the market before noon, however, carrying a wide assortment of important issues off 2 to 6 points. As money went no higher than 7 per cent and further gold shipments were announced, short covering became heavy and most losses were reduced. Total sales, 4,291,700 shares, were the smallest for a full session since January 17.

The day's news included the arrival of Montague Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, supposedly to confer with federal reserve officials. Action to stem the flow of gold to New York, is regarded as imminent and may take the form of a higher discount rate at London, which would probably lead to similar action of New York. General Motors reported an increase in dealer sales of 18 per cent in 1928. Inland Steel raised its dividend rate to 3.50 from 2.50.

The heavy buying of utilities was regarded as discounting future merger and expansion developments. The Associated Press index for 29 of this group rose more than 4 points to a new high record. Philadelphia company nearly equalled its previous high in a gain of 14 1/2 points, while American Power and Light, and American Water Works jumped more than 7 points to new tops.

U. S. Steel fluctuated between 183 and 187, closed at 184 3/8, off nearly a point. Oilsand Motors were

Better Classes Of Stock at Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH, Jan. 29. (AP)—The better class of cows here Tuesday apparently had a little better demand than on yesterday when they were very slow; not quite as high, but buyers willing to look them over and place steady bids. Steers included in the receipts, with about six loads selling early at steady values around 8.00 for some of the common kind, up to 10.75 for some near top cattle.

No carlots of bulls included in the day's trading, but package lots and individuals sold, fully steady with a fair demand. The better ones sold at 8.00 to 8.50, common light bulls mostly around 6.50.

Butcher and beef cows in a little better demand. Carlots sold at 7.50 to 7.85, with some of the better ones up in the 8.00 notch. Canners and cutters sold at steady prices with the bulk of sales at 4.50 to 5.75.

A few cars of stocker cows sold during the morning session at steady to strong values with carlots with a few head reaching the 8.00 mark.

The supply of calves light with buyers paying prices in line with Monday's market. Fair kind of calves in the southern yards sold at 10.75, other loads in the 10.00 notch. Bulk of the cull calves around 6.00.

Trade in sheep steady. About 500 head of good lambs from Oklahoma arrived on coitraft. Some woolled feeder lambs sold at 14.35 and some woolled feeder yearlings at 11.50 and woolled feeder wethers that only needed a little finish sold at 10.50.

No early sales in the rail section but truck hogs showed an advance of fifteen cents to a quarter, with the top at 9.15 and bulk of the 175-250 truck butchers at 8.40 to 9.00.

Generally heavy. Allied Chemical, Commercial Investment Trust, Green Cananea, Indian Refining, General Motors (old), and Motor Products lost 3 to 6 points.

The commodity markets generally felt selling pressure. Cotton closed 30 to 70 cents a bale lower and grain sold off slightly.

Foreign exchanges were generally steady, Sterling showing notable lack of response to the flow of gold this way, although cables were quoted slightly lower at 4.84 15-16.

New York Cotton Market Irregular On Sales Decline

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—The cotton market was more or less irregular today but showed a declining tendency under liquidation combined with some southern and local selling, probably prompted by less favorable advices from Lancaster and absence of aggressive demand. After selling at 19.97 early, May declined to 19.76 and closed at 19.97. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 6 to 14 points.

There were some overnight buying orders brought in by the steady tone of yesterday's market. They were readily supplied. The market eased off during the middle of the day under comparatively small offers.

March declines from 19.95 to 19.76 and July from 19.53 to 19.44. New October contracts sold off from 19.28 to 19.13, making net declines of about 10 to 17 points.

It was supplemented by covering and the market rallied several points from the lowest. The demand tapered off on the advance, and weakened again in the late trading.

There was a comparatively small volume of business, with the market narrow enough to feel the influence of small orders either way.

Apprehensions of labor troubles in Manchester owing to the dispute over oiling and cleaning machinery during working hours were repeated by cable advices and may have an unsettling effect on sentiment.

A private authority was quoted as estimating the world's consumption of American lint cotton for December at $1,250,000 and for the first five months of the season at $2,250,000 against $2,336,000 for the same period last year. Port receipts today 40,438.

U. S. port stocks, 2,286,074. Exports, 33,305, making 5,542,163 so far this season.

BIG NEWS VICKSBURG, Miss.—How it feels to find yourself rich unexpectedly could be told by William Blaney, 43-year-old former aviator. He received first notice of a $63,000 legacy from an article in a local newspaper.

Irregularity and Erratic Buying Is Market Feature

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 29. (AP)—Irregularity and erratic fluctuations characterized today's session of the cotton market but the general trend of prices was slightly downward.

May contracts after trading up to 19.35 in early trading reacted to 19.14, recovered 7 points but eased off again and closed at 19.16, 13 points net down. The general market closed steady at net declines of 11 to 13 points.

The market opened irregular. As Liverpool cables were slightly easier near months opened 1 to 4 points down. New York, however, opened higher causing an initial gain of 1 to 5 points on later positions here.

Prices continued to advance after the start in keeping with the improvement in the northern market and March sold to 19.31 May 19.35, and July 19.31, or 3 to 7 points above the previous close.

A report that Georgia and Carolina mills were curtailing production brought out considerable liquidation and ring selling. The subsequent decline was aided materially by cables asking that shipments be deferred and before the offerings were absorbed March reacted to 19.10, May to 19.14, and July 19.15, or 16 to 21 points down from the highs and 12 to 15 points under yesterday's close.

In the early afternoon a bullish private estimate of world's consumption of American cotton and reports of backwardness in new crop preparations brought out moderate purchasing which carried the price level 6 to 7 points above the lows but as soon as the demand was supplied the market weakened again and final prices were within 2 points of the lows.

LUBBOCK LIVESTOCK

The following report furnished by McDonald Packing company: Cattle: calves, choice white face 9.50-10.50; good medium 8.00-9.50; common and dogs 6.00-7.00; yearlings and heavy helters, choice 8.50-9.50, good medium 7.00-8.00, common 5.00-7.00; cows, choice 6.50-7.00, good medium 5.00-6.50, common and cutters 4.00-5.00, canners 2.00-4.00; bulls, heavy butchers 6.00-7.00, heavy hologna 5.00-6.00.

Hogs, choice butchers 8.00-8.25; choice light weights 6.50-7.50; choice heavies 8.00-8.25; packing sows 6.00-7.00.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK KANSAS CITY, Jan. 29. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—A broad shipping demand influenced a stronger undertone in the hog market at the opening and some sales were slightly higher, but later trade to big packers ruled dull.

Selected light hogs reached 10.20 at St. Louis for the day's extreme top. Offerings at eleven markets totaled 98,000 against 112,618 last Tuesday and 158,526 a year ago.

Trade in fed steers and yearlings was dull and most of Monday's advances in prices were erased. Values were considered 15 to 25 cents lower with spots off more on short feeds. Choice heavy steers scores 15.50 at Chicago, while most of the arrivals at all points sold from 11.00 to 13.00. Fat steers uneven at steady to 25 cents lower rates.

Limited stocker and feeder supplies held prices at fully steady levels. Total arrivals were 40,900 as compared with 26,869 a week ago and 48,739 a year ago.

Fat lambs moved slowly at weak to 25 cents lower prices with extreme cases off more. Choice close-ly sorted lots at Chicago were noted at 17.25 to 17.65 but the bulk at this market ranged from 16.50 to 17.00. At the river markets desirable fed lambs sold from 16.75 down. Matured classes sold at steady to 25 cents lower levels with the demand limited. Offerings totaled 58,000, an increase of 16,000 over a week ago and the same day a year ago.

NEW ORLEANS.—Some people never know when they've had enough. Paul Piazza, 64, remained to see a motion picture show the second time and thought he was getting more than his money's worth. Later he discovered that during the second show his pocket was picked of more than $300.

New Highway From New Mexico

LAMESA, Jan. 29.—The Dal-Paso Cavern Highway Association in the co-operation with J. J. Carson, town promoter of Hobbs, New Mexico, is building and grading the road west from the Texas line following a survey of the New Mexico State Highway body. The grade will connect at the west line of Gaines county to the already excellent road graded for the state highway department of Texas and will continue eight miles west through Hobbs, a new oil town.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 29. (AP) Interest in the Oklahoma City oil area today had shifted to the Cromwell-Franklin No. 1. Thompson, in section 15-12-3W, just north of the state capitol. The test, the deepest in the state, was drilling ahead a 7,161 feet in sand which was topped after going through green shale. It was believed the new sand was the second break in the Wilcox.

Coring deeper into a sand topped at 3,969 feet, the Ramsey Petroleum corporation number 1 Fortson, in CSW-NE-24-3W, encountered broken sand and shale to 3,979 feet for a sand body to 3,990 feet, with only a swell of gas. A one-foot core taken late yesterday showed both oil and gas. The location is in the South Oklahoma City field.

TULSA.—Declining 2,851 barrels from yesterday's yield, greater Seminole field today gauged 283,333 barrels. St. Louis pool contributed to the drop, registered a decrease of 1,337 barrels during the past 24 hours.

Ring out the scum! Ring in the soft water!

Good news! Water need no longer be hard, even in this hard-water country. Scum need no longer form in the bathtub! Dirty rings need no longer be scrubbed from tubs, dishpans or washbasins!

Use Melo to soften hard water! It prevents the forming of the dirty ring. It makes water delightfully soft. It saves from 1/3 to 1/2 the amount of soap ordinarily used. It makes soap much more effective. With or without soap, water softened with Melo is a wonderful cleaner. Get it at your grocer's.

Shovels and Skyscrapers

Trucks rumble down into a huge abyss and back up to a panting machine. A shrill whistle blows, a mechanical arm reaches out and dirt that has lain still for ages is lifted by a mammoth scoop and deposited on the truck.

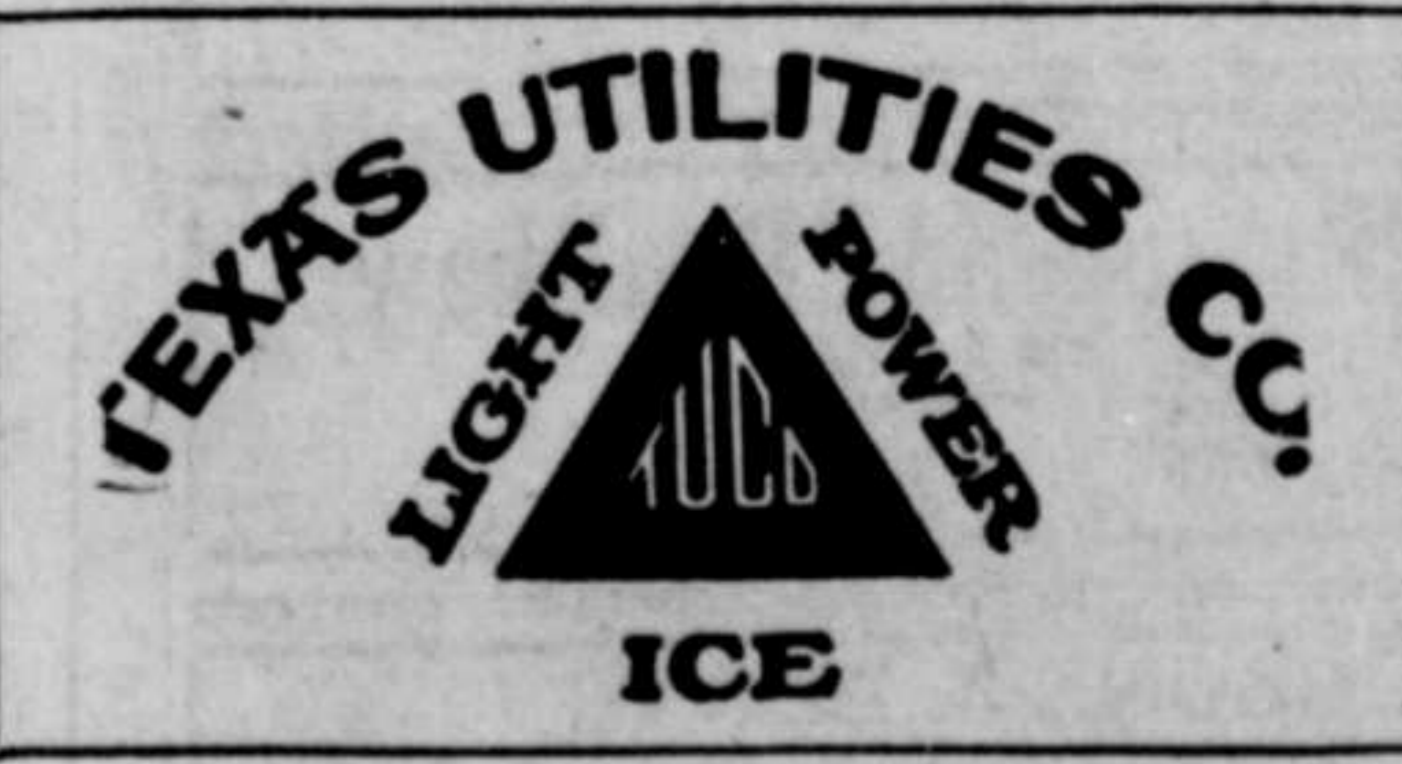

With roaring motor the truck goes up the incline and another slips noisily but quickly into place. Again the signal and more dirt is scooped up and sent on its way.

On the sidewalks above, the passing throngs stop to watch, fascinated by the movement and the meaning of it all. For there is no more fascinating sight on a street today than a new building under construction.

Nineteen twenty-eight construction costs in the whole of Texas reached the amazing value of $231,000,000. Of this total, more than $150,000,000 was for buildings alone.

Highway construction for the past year amounted to $22,000,000 and is sure to be even more in 1929. Building totals, based on value, reached $17,580,000.

And through all of this major building your Utilities has played an active part in the building... in the home and in the skyscrapers

Outlook for Dairy Show Is Promising

Eaton Reports Prospects for Show Unusually Bright; Development in Section Expanding

D. F. Eaton, Lubbock county agriculture agent and president of the Panhandle Plains Dairy association stated Tuesday that outlook for the spring show to be held at Plainview by the association is the best ever known in the history of the organization.

Mr. Eaton was in Plainview, at a meeting of officers and directors of the association Monday and reports that the contract for the new building which is to house the show this year will be awarded in the near future. This building is to be erected at a cost of approximately $20,000 and will be a permanent one. Development of fine dairy cattle, throughout every part of the Panhandle and South Plains country, is rapidly increasing, according to Mr. Eaton, as farmers are more and more freeing themselves of the detriment of one-crop systems.

New convenient sizes

NEW

New—fresh and inviting in a blue and white can with an interesting modern design that somehow makes you think of the curl of Snowdrift on a spoon.

Convenient—new three and six pound buckets that are just about as wide as they are tall and which permit you to scoop out even the last spoonful without rubbing your fingers on the sides of the can.

And air-tight of course, with the Snowdrift inside the can always fresh and creamy and ready to mix with flour or sugar with just a few stirs of the spoon.
