Third Time Back

Blue Barron, Orchestra Play Here Thursday

Blue Barron, stylist of the "Music of Yesterday and Today" brings his orchestra to Wellington's community building Thursday night, June 14, under the auspices of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Russell Yates, entertainment chairman, has announced.

This is Barron's third time to play in Wellington — by popular request.

Blue began his musical career playing in various college outfits while attending Ohio University. The hysterical tendency of most bands to blare and blast their way through melodies grated on Barron's nerves and he formulated then and there his policy of respect for the listeners' eardrums. This theory helped him to the pinnacle he now occupies as one of the country's leading bandleaders.

After graduation, Blue started his own theatrical booking business in Cleveland and carried on there until the urge to get back in to the band world sent him on the search for talent to organize his own orchestra. He exercised meticulous care in his selection of outstanding musicians. Keeping in mind his theory of combining swing with sweet music. Once the nucleus of his band was formed, Blue Barron worked tirelessly whipping together a musical library. Knowing the value of showmanship, he emphasized this to such a degree that the band won public attention immediately.

The public was not the only one to sit and listen to Barron's music. Soon after the band's appearance, Blue received calls from the enthusiastic owner of Edison and Lincoln Hotels in New York City. Alert to the drawing power of the outfit, the management offered Blue a long-term contract. Blue and his band were started in the big time of the orchestra world!

"Music of Yesterday and Today" swept the country and Barron started on his appearances in leading theatres, ballrooms, and hotels. His music, far from being confined to the dance floor audience has been featured on numerous radio broadcast including the Coca-Cola Spotlight Show and the War Manpower Commission's Sunday Serenade.

Blue returned from a stint with the U. S. Army, declaring with the certainty of first-hand knowledge that the public still demands melody. It need hardly be mentioned that his band is right at the top of their list. Barron's making certain of keeping it there with continued mellow sweet mixtures of nostalgia and swing.

Mr. Roberts and Jack Davis, Elementary School principal, will go to Austin Friday to learn more about the program.

Eight Bushel Average As Wheat Harvesting Opens

Harvesting Collingsworth County's 1951 wheat crop opened Wednesday, June 6, when Mrs. C. M. Terry of Loco sold the first load on the local market, and during the week, several cars have been bought by local dealers, although none has been shipped. Wheat brought in so far has come from the Dodson, Loco, and Arlie area, and from points south of the county line, although a number of other growers indicated they would start cutting Wednesday or Thursday.

Most fields cut so far have averaged from six to 10 bushels. Velman Warrick of the Warrick Feed Store and Jones Singley of Singley Brothers estimated. The wheat brought in so far is No. 1 or No. 2, testing from 58 to 60 pounds, with moisture content ranging from 13 to 15. This crop will be the smallest harvested in Collingsworth County in recent years. This is due principally to the small acreage, for the over-all county yield will not be much lower than it has been in other poor years. There is no accurate figure on the wheat which was plowed up or blew out, but estimates are that only 35 to 50 percent of the 40,000 acres sown will be cut. An average county yield of around 8 bushels is estimated. This would give the county at most a 160,000 bushel crop, valued at around $325,000. Some wheat spotted over the county will make as high as 20 bushels per acre, but no reports of entire fields yielding that much has been received.

Cutting is not expected to reach the section north of Salt Fork River until the middle or latter part of next week.

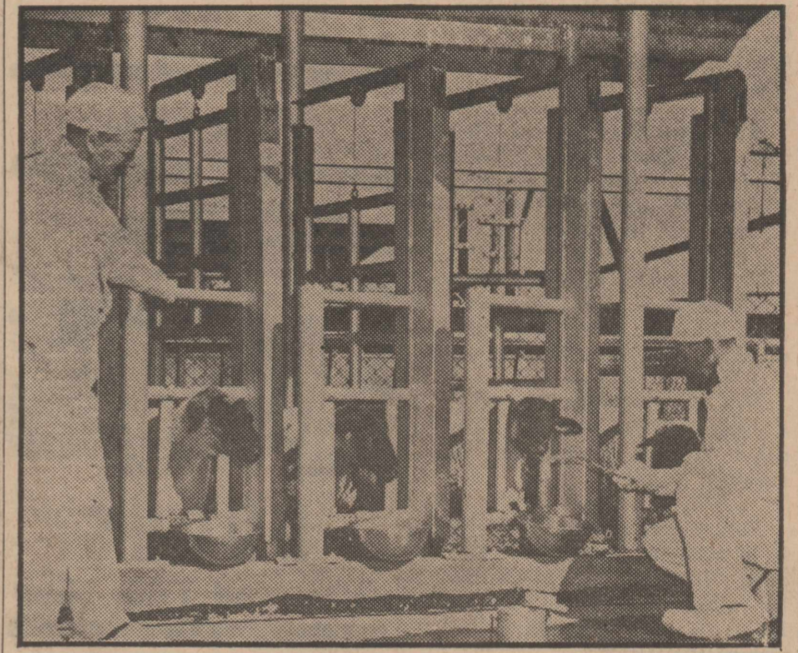

One of the best yields reported to date was brought in by W. D. Duffey of Loco, who said parts of his field cut around 20 bushels, although his average yield would be considerably below that.

M. E. Watts, who lives south of Wellington, reported around 10 bushels per acre on an 18 acre field.

The Jim Wood farm in the Fresno community will average 12 bushels on 125 acres, it is estimated.

The only wheat from north of Salt Fork was brought in by Mrs. Floyd Thompson of Lutie, and this was averaging around 8 bushels.

Bob Stephenson, after a trip over most of the county, estimated the county yield at from 4 bushels up to around 12. "I didn't see any good wheat," he commented. The better wheat was seen in the area from Fresno to Arlie, and the poorer yields in the north part of the county, he said.

Normal Spine Health Necessity

Perhaps you find it difficult to understand why Chiropractors confine their work to the spine, when remote parts of the body are diseased. But you find nothing strange about pushing a button on the wall to light a globe suspended from the ceiling. The procedure is practically the same. Connection is made between the sources of energy, the brain or dynamo and the bodily or electric globe. It makes no difference whether it be heart, stomach, kidneys, or some other organ. Normal functions of all organs, muscles and tissues of the body depend upon supply of the vital nerve energy conveyed to them over the nervous system from the brain which generates this energy.

Nerves emit from between vertebrae, so when falls, jars or strains misplace a vertebrae, pressure on nerves is produced which interferes with normal function, creating disease.

Adjusting misplaced vertebrae is like pushing the button to produce light: its restored flow of vital energy and health is the natural result.

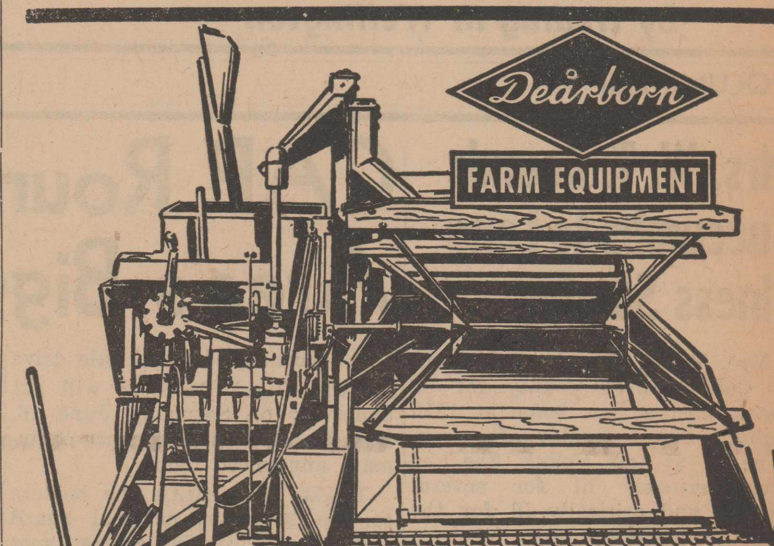

To you it may seem miraculous that we can adjust vertebrae and regulate blood pressure, relieve constipation, sinus, stomach or kidney trouble, and in fact, most of the ills to which humanity is subjected.

Instead of treating effects, the scientific Chiropractor seeks the cause responsible for effect, known as disease, and by proper adjustments eliminate the cause.

Health is your natural heritage. Thousands of men, women and children realize from experience the health benefits obtained by keeping the spine in normal condition.

MISS AMERICA, A ROYAL GOWN GAL—Wearing a crown of delicate gold wire and jewels and a dress by designer Pierre, Balmain, shown in his Paris salon, 21-year-old Yolande Betbeze, Miss America of 1951, looked every inch a beauty queen as she previewed her official pageant gown. Made of ever-glaze cotton satin flown to Paris from the U. S., the dress will next be worn when Yolande surrenders her title at the September coronation ceremonies in Atlantic City, N. J. Its handstencilled gold design outlined in gold embroidery should draw plenty of "ohs" and "ahs."

Alfalfa Added To Blue Panic

Blue panic grass, along with all other grasses, suffered from the severe winter, but it gave County Agent J. W. Thomas a chance to test a theory he has had in mind for some time.

Blue panic fields, where it froze out last winter due to its being allowed to seed, are showing a fine stand of seedlings this year.

Mr. Thomas has added alfalfa this spring, and already, there are indications that his experiment may be what he had hoped for.

"I understand that this combination is used extensively in Australia, where Blue Panic grass is native, but I've never seen it used here. I just wanted to see how it would do," the county agent commented.

Most farmers have not given up on blue panic because they had some to freeze out during the past winter, Mr. Thomas pointed out. In the six or seven years it has been grown here, this is the first time the grass has been adversely affected.

John D. Glens Vacationing in Northeastern States

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Glenn and son, Johnny, left last week for Detroit, Michigan, for a vacation and to drive home a new Chrysler.

They made the trip to Detroit by air from Amarillo, and were taken to catch the plane by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Campbell.

OPS Fuel Man Here June 19

By the time price specialists from the district Office of Price Stabilization start their price clinic day program next week, two important compliance deadlines will have fallen. They concern posting beef prices and consumer services. In their conferences with business men of the Far West Texas district, they will stress to merchants that if they haven't complied, they should do so immediately in order to continue to operate their business legally.

To assist the merchants, Jim Moorean, specialist in the Fuels and Chemicals branch, will be in Wellington Tuesday afternoon, June 19. While here he will maintain offices in the Chamber of Commerce, second floor of Court House.

Although he is a specialist, he will be able to answer most questions concerning compliance in any field, or will be able to help the business man find the answer.

Most of the immediate Wellington area got by up to Wednesday; but the farmers who had tender young cotton just out of the ground were keeping their fingers crossed. Too much has happened north, east and south of us for them to feel easy. Crops in Wheeler, Harmon and Jackson counties were wiped out by excessive rainfall last week. This week hail and excessive rain took care of all the cotton in the Quitaque and Turkey areas. Oh well, somebody needs to raise some grain sorghum, and it ought to be a good price.

If all our acres that are planted produce one-fourth of a bale there is going to be a lot of first class gin machinery worn out in Collingsworth in 1951.

The gins are in the best mechanical condition that they have known in the last twenty years. In the thirties they could not pay for the equipment and in the war years they could not obtain it. But they sure have been buying and installing new machinery since 1945. So if a bumper crop comes, they are in a position to say "Let her rip and roar."

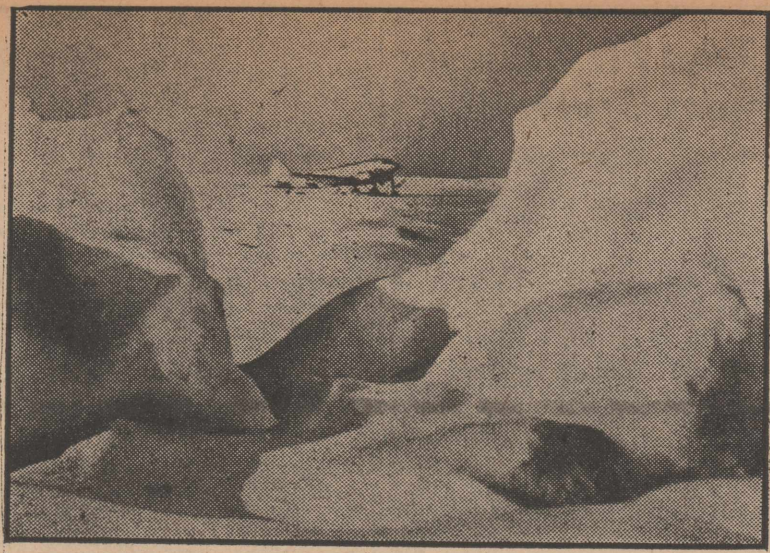

It is a long time until fall. There is more to be feared from Washington than from the weather.

Wes Izzard is conducting a discussion about allowing six-year-old children to start to school. He should read my column of some months past. Children should not be sent to school before they are seven years old. I say that the parents should keep it until that age. The trouble is that there are too few real parents in America today. There are too many people who beget children and then hope that the government, the church, the school or something will rear them so that the mother can go to clubs and so that the father will have more time to work his life shorter earning more money so that the old lady can go to more clubs after he is dead and gone.

Joe Baumgardner wants me to teach his Sunday school class so that he can combine wheat on Sunday. There is nothing wrong with him cutting wheat on Sunday for the Bible provides for action when a man has an ox in the ditch. But I prefer to teach my son about the birds and bees, the leaves and trees, the flowers and fauna and all those other things that a father may give to a fresh, clear, inquiring mind.

Besides Joe Baumgardner's class is composed of old people. I would have no message for them. They are good folks. But outside of helping the young, most of them have done about three-fourths of the good that they will ever do on this earth, and they are so old that they have finished with about ninety per cent of all the sins they are able to commit unless they get into a position of great responsibility and stay there too long like General George Marshall.

Fred LeDerer gave me a copy of an article about President Truman. He should read the article in the March issue of The American Mercury titled "The Tragedy of George Marshall." It was published before MacArthur was fired.

NAVY SCOUTS SANTA'S DOMAIN — Ten members of the Navy's Arctic Science Research Group were up near the North Pole digging up some cold facts on Santa Land when this picture of their ski-shod plane was taken. Two civilian oceanographers and eight Navy men established a record for the northernmost landing of a U. S. Navy plane with their 104-ton "Operation Ski jump" Douglas Cargo plane. Twelve landings were made in the ice country before the researchers had all the information they needed on water depths, temperatures, salinity, direction of currents, bottom samples, and ice thickness.

It is tragic enough for our sons and grandsons. It is tragic to realize that Marshall worked right along with the traitor Hiss and also Acheson-Jessup and others who opposed Churchill, Byrnes and Hull in their views of containing the aggression of Russia while defeating the Nazis. The article should be read. But you can't lay it all on Marshall. It has to come back to the Commanders in Chief. They were Roosevelt and Truman.

I have been reading "This Is The Hour" by Lion Feuchtwanger. It is a historical novel about Goya, the immortal Spanish painter. It was the end of Washington's day here, George Washington that is, and the beginning of Napoleon's in Europe. It was also the beginning of the end of the mighty Spanish Empire. It is a story about a great painter; but in between the lines you can see all too clearly the resemblance between the corrupt officials of Spain of that day and their prototypes under the Truman administration. The novel deals with the times when Spain was departing from the ranks of the great nations of the world.

There will be big doings in Collingsworth on July 4th. The flight barbecue will be held in Wellington as well as a number of other events and the traditional rodeo will be held at Samnorwood. There ought to be something to suit everybody's taste within easy driving distance of Wellington.

Steve Owens has the mumps. To try to help his wife keep him in bed, I wish to report that his ice cream business is doing fine.

I had the measles when I was twenty-five; but I would be ashamed to have the mumps when I was fifty. It shows a lack of energy and ambition in youth.

Do you like superlative popular music. One of the better bands of the nation, Blue Baron, is being brought here Thursday, June 14. It will be worth the price of admission.

Dukes Win 2-0 RIPPETOE STOPS CHILDRESS ON THREE HITS, STRIKING OUT TEN

By JAMES POSEY
Kenneth Rippetoe blanked Childress on 3 hits Sunday chalking up his second straight shut out and his fourth victory without a defeat as Wellington downed second place Childress 2-0 at Childress.

The victory over Childress left the Dukes in first place by 2 and one-half games. Memphis is in third place with Quannah dwelling in the cellar.

Lewis Morris was the big gun in the Wellington victory, by getting 3 hits for 4 times at bat and scoring one of the two Wellington runs.

The entire crowd Sunday agreed this was the best ball game that has been played this year in the Red River Valley League, as both teams played like professionals and both Rippetoe and the two Childress hurlers, Jeffries and Morren, pitched like Bobby Feller. Rippetoe struck out 10 men, walked three and gave up only 3 hits. The two Childress hurlers struck out 7 men, walked 2 and gave up a total of 7 hits.

Childress got some excellent chunking from Jerry Jeffries and Perry Morren. Jeffries pitched the first four innings but had to leave due to a sore arm. Morren came out to blank the Dukes on two hits for the final five rounds.

Wellington won the game with a two-run outburst in the fourth on Morris' single to right. Hoyt beat out an infield hit to score Duvall. Morris tallied the second run on Tabor's single.

That was all the scoring as Rippetoe and Morren served up goose eggs the rest of the game.

Childress' only serious threat came in the seventh. Joe McCraw singled and Morren stroled. Both moved up on Eli Whitley's second out swish. However, Rippetoe bore down to get Ronald Atkinson on strikes to end the inning.

Only one Oriole got as far as third base. Rippetoe was well-nigh invincible. He struck out ten and passed three.

The Stephens, Murphy and McCraw combination came up with their third double play in the last three games in the eighth.

TEACHING EXCEPTIONAL YOUTHS GAINS GROUND OVER PANHANDLE

Education of exception children in the Panhandle area has its sixth anniversary with the closing of schoolhouse doors this spring. Borger, Phillips, Dalhart, Wellington, Childress, Canyon, Friona and Amarillo have participated in this program which financed jointly by the local schools and the Texas Education Agency. The program was begun here last year.

To be eligible for this specialized type of individualized instruction, a youngster must be screened by a qualified physician and school officials. Through the special classes in the elementary grades six types of physical handicapped youngsters were provided for: including deficient vision, hard of hearing, orthopedic handicaps, speech disorders, lowered vitality and nervous disorders, explained Mrs. Velma Cheves, special teacher at Amarillo's McKinley School and secretary of the Panhandle Association of Teachers of Exceptional Children.

Panhandle teachers, who have met the special qualifications for this teaching, are Mrs. Leila Rugeley, Borger; Mrs. Mary O. Barton, Phillips; Mrs. Anna Faye Cooley, Wellington; Mrs. Dora Diggs, Childress; Mrs. Gladys Dixon, Canyon; Mrs. Elmer I. Smith, Friona; Mrs. Hazel Sunderman, Dalhart; Mrs. L. M. Hammonds, Mrs. Velma Cheves, John G. Miller, Mrs. Beatrice Shaver, Mrs. Mary F. Paul and Mrs. Mary R. Harrison, Amarillo.

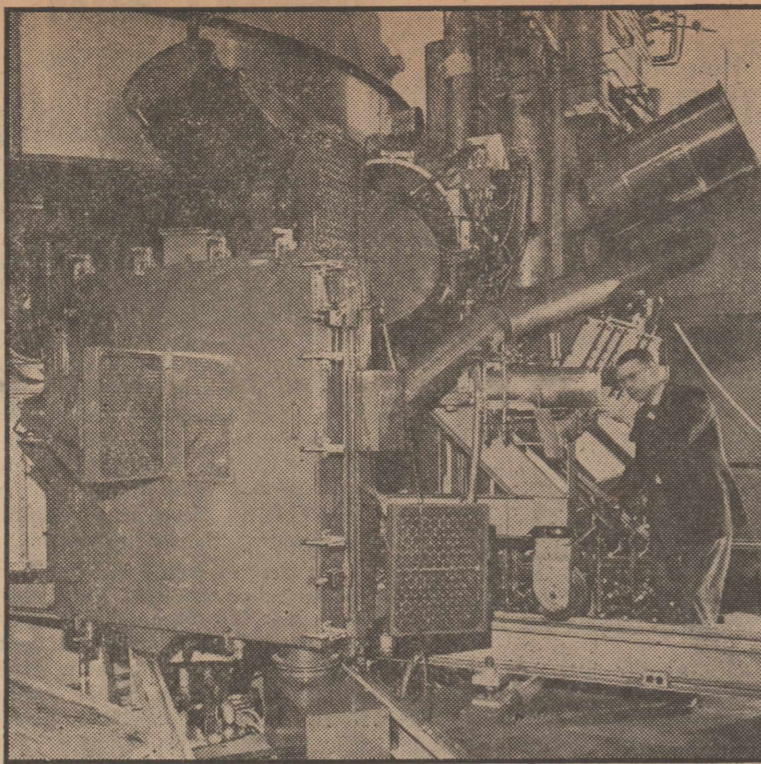

"Although the program is called 'special education,' we actually offer individual instruction in the regular school subjects, and make necessary adjustments to meet the entire personal needs of each child," she continued.

Lip-reading instruction for the hard of hearing, handicraft, music, speech and recreational therapy, occupational therapy and under the guidance of a physician, physical therapy.

Special education became a law in Texas in 1945. Shortly afterwards Amarillo, Phillips and Borger became some of the first to institute such a program.

Panhandle teachers and administrators have high praise for the youngsters in the exceptional classes. "They are among our most eager students and popular with everyone," stated J. S. Evans, principal of Amarillo's McKinley School.

In Panhandle cities, as well as throughout the state, work with physically handicapped children has been a cooperative undertaking with principals, superintendents, supervisors, school nurses and the special teacher cooperating. The Amarillo staff for special education includes Mrs. L. M. Hammonds and Mrs. Velma Cheves, teachers; Mrs. Beatrice Shaver, hearing conservationist; John G. Miller, speech correctionist; J. S. Evans, principal of McKinley School, Mrs. Mary R. Harrison, Barton.

SUPER-SYNCHRO-CYCLOTRON—This maze of nuts, bolts, and odd lengths of tubing is the University of Chicago's new 450-million-volt synchro-cyclotron, believed to be the world's most powerful atom smashing mechanism. The $2,500,000 machine, which is a unit of the new $5 million Research Institute, all but dwarfs Professor John Marshall, one of its creators.

In Phillips the program was begun by Mrs. Jane K. Harris with the assistance of teachers, parents and administrators. After surveying the school, she started the initial program in January, 1947. Other teachers have been Mrs. Jeanette Hampton and Mrs. Mary

Another outstanding program of special education has been at Borger where school officials have reached 150 school children who have disorders of slight speech to youngsters who are practically invalids and have been cared for by resting hours on school beds. Mrs. Leila Rugeley is teacher.

A number of cities possess a Massachusetts vision tester, audiometers for hearing tests, and other educational measuring devices.

Supt. Joe A. Gibson organized the special education program at Childress in 1948 and Miss Florence Kitchen served as special teacher until the mid-term of 1949 when Mrs. Dora Diggs, the present teacher, assumed the duties. Local service clubs have been very generous in giving their financial support to augment state and local funds. The Lions' Club has given a tele-binocular for sight conservation and also glasses for youngsters who need aid.

At Wellington 36 pupils have participated in the program under Mrs. Anna Faye Cooley. "We are studying the child as an individual and are trying to give him the help that will promote his progress in school," she explained. Parents of youngsters enrolled in the program are well pleased with the progress the children are making, according to school officials.

Unofficially, the Friona program was begun two years ago by Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Smith who carried on the program after school hours with four students participating. All facilities, equipment, and time were donated. This year the program was financed by the Texas Education Agency and the public schools.

Another newcomer is Canyon where a special education program was begun this year with Mrs. Gladys Dixon in charge. The program, which has 20 enrolled, includes speech correction and remedial work for the physically handicapped.

Now in its fourth year of operation, the Dalhart program of teaching physically handicapped children is taught by Mrs. Hazel Sunderman and has become a point of pride to citizens of the area. A special class has been conducted in the mornings and in the afternoon a program of corrective speech and counseling is provided for those students attending the regular classroom program.

Sheffy Mahan Opens Office at Childress

Sheffy Mahan, grandson of Mrs. J. A. Mahan of Wellington, is opening a law office in Childress.

He is the son of Mrs. Jimmy Mahan of Childress and the late Mr. Mahan, former district attorney, who was reared here.

During the time he was a student in the University of Texas Law School, Mahan served as State Representative from his district. Later he was with an insurance firm in Santa Fe, New Mexico, and also at McAllen and Munday. He returned to Baylor University Law School and completed his course in March.

Quail FHA Home From Craterville

By SHARLENE SAUNDERS
For their encampment this year, the Quail FHA girls chose Craterville Park and Dude Ranch, where there is much activity. They left early Tuesday morning, June 5.

Some of the entertainment consisted of airplane rides, skating, fishing, swimming, carnival rides, mountain climbing, miniature golf, horseback riding, buggy rides and the fun house.

On Wednesday, the girls boarded the bus for a tour of different points of interest around Craterville. They visited the Game Preserve, where they saw antelope, long-horn steers, deer, wild turkey, etc. Then they drove on to where the Easter Pagent is held each year, to Mt. Scott, and to Medicine Park.

The most interesting parts here were the fish hatchery, swimming pool, skating rink, dam, swinging bridge, and oh, yes, the "Dam Cafe."

From here the bus went on to Fort Sill, where they visited the helicopters land and take off. When they left Fort Sill, they went on to Lawton and went sight seeing through the city. After this they decided it was time to turn back to Craterville.

Approximately 100 Daily Oklahoman and Oklahoma Times boys arrived while the Quail group was there, and as we were packing and about ready to leave for home, the Samnorwood FHA group arrived.

The Quail girls arrived home around 6:30 p. m. Thursday.

Those making the trip were Sue Vaughn, Barbara Weaver, Sonja Atkinson, Janelle Langford, Fern Neeley, Fayteen Peoples, and Sharlene Saunders, Mrs. A. M. Saunders, chapter mother, Mrs. Monty Mitchell, chapter sponsor, and son, Mike, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Parker and son, Wayne. Although 13 attended, they had good luck.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wadley, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Chrisco and family had a very successful fishing party at Lugert recently.

Dodson Church to Childress Service

Members of the Church of the Nazarene at Dodson will attend the opening of the new Church of the Nazarene in Childress Sunday afternoon, June 17, Mrs. C. F. Owens, a member, said.

The group will take a basket lunch to be eaten at Childress park. Some member of the Dodson church will be selected to appear on the program marking the first service in the new church, of which the Rev. Bob Anderson is pastor.

The newly decorated home of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Bartlett was destroyed by fire early Wednesday morning. They were able to save a few things, but what they did save was damaged by smoke.

The neighbor ladies gathered in the home of Mrs. W. M. Durfey Monday and made a lovely quilt for Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett. The members of the local H. D. Club sewed for Miss Genevieve Bartlett, making her some things to take on her band clinic trip.

Mr. Bartlett purchased a house from Mr. Glenn near Wellington and had it moved to the location of his other house here. Several of the neighbor men gathered to help him with that task. Mrs. L. A. Sachse prepared lunch for those who helped.

We extend our deepest sympathy to the Bartlett family, and we hope we may be able to do something to help them in their hour of greatest need.

Myrett Henry of Wellington will be guest speaker at the Bethel Methodist Church Sunday, June 17. Mr. Henry, a layman from the First Church, will deliver a special Father's Day message. We extend a cordial invitation to the members of his family and others in our community to come and worship with us Sunday.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Alton B. Hamman of Oklahoma City who are the parents of a new daughter, Sandra Sue. She is the great granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Hamman of this community.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Hamman went to White Deer Thursday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cunningham, whose home was partially destroyed by the cyclone which struck that city Wednesday night. They also visited Mrs. W. S. Berry. The Cunningham home was the first struck by the storm, and one side of the house was torn away.

Miss Genevieve Bartlett and Mary Sue Crawford will spend the next two weeks in Denton where they will attend a band clinic. Both are members of the Skyrocket band of Wellington high school.

A large crowd attended the ball game at Midway Thursday night. George Adkins has had several loads of sand and gravel hauled from Salt Fork this week. He is fixing some walkways and foundations.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Durfey and their granddaughter, Miss Georgia Ann Durfey, visited a sister of Mrs. Durfey's, Mrs. Ann Mill, at Allred Tuesday and Wednesday. They also visited other relatives near Plainview and Muleshoe.

Good showers amounting to about one-half inch fell here Wednesday. Some hail fell, but it did no damage.

Donley, Childress, Hall, Motley and Cottle," Mr. McIlhenny wrote.

The bill, House Bill No. 62, states that particular emphasis shall be placed on the study of "upbuilding the land, improving production, and determining the types of agricultural products most suitable for the region.

The board of directors of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas is authorized to accept donations of land, water, money, office space or anything they may consider to be of value to the scientific investigations, experiments, and demonstrations which the bill provides for.

The investigations shall be under the general direction of A&M, and shall be operated and conducted by the Director of the Experiment Station or such other A&M system official as may be designated by the board.

"The fact that the Northwest Texas Region has large areas of sandy land which is not being properly farmed, and which is not being devoted to the growing of the types of agricultural products best adapted to such sandy land, all of which has resulted in disastrous sandstorms, loss of production, and depreciation in the value of farm land, and the further fact that there is no adequate activity devoted to the study of means of rebuilding and rehabilitating such areas of this State and the fact that there is no law available for the accomplishment of such purposes creates an emergency and an imperative public necessity demanding that the Constitutional Rule requiring bills to be read on three separate days be suspended and said Rule is hereby suspended and this Act shall take effect and be in force from and after the passage thereof, and it is so enacted," Section 4 of the bill reads.

Parents and friends making the trip were Mrs. A. L. Nowlin, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Wilson, Mrs. Fred LeDerer, Mrs. Robert Posey, Mrs. Fred Yarbrough, and Mr. and Mrs. Mat Johnson.

L. M. Bartlett Farm Home Burns

The home of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Bartlett, three miles south of Loco on the Hollis highway, was destroyed by fire Wednesday morning, June 6. Mrs. Bartlett and her daughter Genevieve, were alone at the time smoke was discovered coming out from underneath the eaves of the house.

Unable to find their car keys, they could not summon help, but a neighbor, Bill Wolf, heard Mrs. Bartlett call for help and came and within a short time Mr. Bartlett arrived home.

Together, they were able to save a small amount of clothing and some furniture.

The seven-room modern home had been completely remodeled in August 1950 and a considerable amount of new furniture bought.

The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Mr. Bartlett has bought a smaller house and moved it to his farm, and work is now under way remodeling and modernizing it. A number of neighbors have taken time out from their crops to help with the work.

Twenty-one members of the Collingsworth County Certified Alfalfa Seed Growers Association have sent in applications for certification on 821 acres, County Agent J. W. Thomas said this week.

This is the smallest acreage on which certification has been sought since the organization of the Association, and is less than one third that on which applications are made.

"The alfalfa growers are not getting into the association because it gives them no definite benefit. As the certified alfalfa seed situation is now, the Association is just keeping alive trying to get a special seed area set up," Mr. Thomas said.

So Well Remembered

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note. The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek may not get anywhere with his contention this week, but you can't blame him for trying.

Dear editor: I was readin last night in a farm magazine, which most farmers read to get their minds off the realities of actual farmin, about an experiment bein conducted in the state of Washington, where timber operators are "scarin" their trees into producin more seeds and cones in a hurry by puttin a metal band around the trunk. This, accordin to the article, makes the tree feel it's bein choked and it makes an extra special effort to grow fast before it's too late, thus producin more seeds and cones.

This has been heralded as something new, but it ain't. I been doin practically the same thing out here on my farm for years.

A lot of people drivin by my farm take one look and conclude I'm lazy, sayin nobody but a lazy good-for-nothin farmer would have as much Johnson grass and weeds in his crops.

Them weeds and that grass is in there for a purpose. They're stimulin the crops to produce faster before they're choked to death, as my crops have learned long ago their growin season is limited, it's a lot shorter than some of these garden-clean farms.

What I've been doin over the years is workin on a hardier grade of cotton, a brand that can fight its way through grass and weeds without no help from me. With me, pamperin a crop is as bad as pamperin a child. Most farmers try to keep their fields so clean their plants are almost hot-house things, they do well while conditions are exactly right but at first hint of a disease they fall out. Why, some crops are so carefully protected from the rough and tumble of livin they're probably subject to whoopin cough and the colic, whereas my crops know if they make it they'll have to fight their own way up.

I may not get quite as good a yield, but on the other hand I don't wear out nearly as much equipment.

What A. & M. College experts ought to be workin on, instead of how to throw up a protective screen of complicated poisons and fertilizers to get these lily-white tender plants to live, is a plant that can make its own way in the world. We need a seed so strong you can throw it a handful of Johnson grass seed out in a field and come back in the fall and find the Johnson grass in ruins and the lone seed a fully developed plant ready for harvestin. I'm workin on the problem.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Honest Doubt Leads to Riches

It is fitting in these days of wide-spread skepticism, that we pay tribute to Thomas, the one disciple who was not content with hearsay evidence.

Mildly rebuked by the Lord for his unreadiness to believe, Thomas received proof. The Lord pointedly said, however, "Blessed are they who have not seen, yet have believed."

The weakness of Thomas seems to have lain not in his inquiring mind and in his hesitancy to believe except upon clear evidence, but in his rather gloomy pessimism, a fault of which we are becoming increasingly guilty.

The great thing about Thomas was that he truly wanted to believe. A sincere desire for faith prompted Thomas to question facts before accepting them. To a lesser degree such disciples of faith and action as Peter, James and John possessed this trait.

Honest doubt has an important part to play, both in the experience of the individual believer and in the progress of religion. Among sincere and earnest seekers doubt has been the gateway to richer experience.

But it was the faith that cried, "My Lord and my God," not his previous doubt, that has created for Thomas a high place among those who have testified to the Resurrection.

To Thomas and the other doubters of his time, successive generations of Christians owe a great debt of gratitude for belief in the fact of the physical Resurrection depends in a large part upon the testimony of those disciples who saw Jesus after His crucifixion.

An ancient law of India called for the widow to cremate herself on the funeral pyre of her husband.

Looking Ahead With George S. Benson

TO THE GRADUATES

In high schools, colleges and universities throughout the nation, hundreds of thousands of young men and women are graduating. Since they are a part of the intellectual leadership of their generation, their thinking and their actions will influence the course of history. The column today is directed to these youth. Its substance is taken from my address to the high school graduates of Chicago public schools. The title was "Today's Challenge to American Youth."

The occasion was the 25th Chicago Central Civic Assembly climaxing Chicago Youth Week. The program was under the auspices of the Chicago Public School System, the Chicago Youth Week Federation and the Junior Association of Commerce and Industry. In the visible audience were 100 graduating Seniors and some 200 school officials and other distinguished guests. The seniors had been selected, two from each of the 50 Chicago high schools, on the basis of outstanding citizenship accomplishments. The invisible audience included the 50,000 students, as well as the faculties, in special assemblies to hear the program via radio.

THE CHALLENGES
To the youth of Chicago—and America—six challenges:
Your first challenge is to help build the necessary national strength to deter aggression which might blot out our Western civilization. While American industry must build the weapons, only youth has the vigorous individual strength and endurance to create the necessary fighting force. You are challenged to defend your country and to preserve freedom for your own and future generations.

You are challenged secondly to build unparalleled American living standard 100 per cent higher than it is today. You can actually give the average American at the close of your generation a purchasing power in food, clothing, housing, travel, entertainment and education 100 per cent higher than we now have. Progress resulting from our ever-increasing volume of research and industrial know-how give assurance that America can continue to increase man-hour productivity by at least 3 per cent a year for another generation—if the American system is kept on the beam.

THE DOWNFALLS
Bit through all the 6,000 years of human history are accounts of nations which, after creating wealth, fell into factions, developed corruption, fought among themselves—and ultimately were destroyed. In America industrial strife, crime and political corruption have reached alarming proportions. Your third challenge is to rise to the responsibilities of citizenship—demand law enforcement and integrity of public officials, and help achieve the industrial peace essential to continued progress.

There is a tendency today to fear the future. So your fourth challenge is to have courage to venture out into the greatest frontiers any generation of youth ever faced. The agricultural frontiers of our grandfathers were insignificant in comparison to the scientific frontiers of today. With faith n yourself, faith in your fellow-men, and faith in your God, have the courage to venture out and pioneer.

BEDROCK FOUNDATION

Out of th deep religious life of the Founding Fathers was born our American way of life with its political, economic, social and educational freedoms. As the pioneers advanced westward, one of the first blessings in each new settlement was a place to worship God. Our first colleges were primarily for training religious leadership. But today our religious habits and practices are gradually giving way before the onslaught of Godless materialism. Therefore your fifth challenge is to repair the breaches in the walls and restore the religious foundations which constitute the only known basis for freedom.

Should you do all these things, you must not be willing to live in an oasis alone, while much of the world lives in darkness, poverty, ignorance and starvation. Your sixth challenge is to carry American industrial knowhow, a new moral integrity and the highest religious principles to the backward people—and make a better world for all the human race.

I believe in American youth and I believe you will rise to face successfully these great challenges.

(Dr. Benson's entire speech, "Today's Challenge to American Youth" has been reprinted in an attractive pamphlet. For free copy write Harding College, Searcy, Ark.—Editor.)

How Honorable?

As five percenters are joined by deep freezes and mink coats in White House circles, Americans with a conscience ask more often: What kind of man is Harry Truman?

As his term of office advances, questioners delve more and more into his past dealings and come up with facts that make it appear that his life before and after 1945 fit into a single pattern.

In its May issue, the American Mercury asks bluntly: "Is President Truman an Honorable Man?" It answers in the negative.

The idea of Harry Truman, honest haberdasher who went broke in 1922, then labored years to pay off his debts, is refuted. A reputable Kansas City attorney, who has represented the president's brother, is quoted as saying that contrary to all reports, Mr. Truman made no effort to pay his debts.

The judgment records of the Circuit Court of Jackson County, Mo., shows that a bank, suing to collect on a note made when the President was in business, won a judgment in the amount of $8,944.78—but it couldn't collect a cent because the defendant was on the public pay rolls and was not subject to garnishment. Later, when the successor to that bank went into liquidation, the Federal Court ordered that a suggestion by Truman's political friends be carried out, and that the bank settle the judgment for $1,000, only 10 cents on the dollar.

This was paid not by the president, but by political followers. The president never did seek out his creditors and ask for long-term agreements on settlements, one of the two honorable courses open to him. He was in Pendegast politics and he was not vulnerable to garnishment, since he owned nothing and he did not keep a bank account. He did not go into bankruptcy, the second honorable course, since that would have been a political liability.

Even after he became president of the United States, some of his friends were asking creditors to accept "settlements" and mark old judgments "satisfied."

Going further into Mr. Truman's brand of honor, The Mercury points to a loan he engineered from the Jackson County School Fund, from which individuals might borrow if they had the right political recommendations. In 1938, the President borrowed $35,000 on his mother's farm from this fund. The loan was not only unsound and non-bankable, it was even illegal, since neither he nor his guarantors owned the required property in excess of the mortgage.

Not one penny of interest on the loan or taxes on the farm were paid, and despite a rapid rise in land values occasioned by the second war, the county finally had to foreclose the mortgage, and President's mother was dispossessed and sent to the little house in Granview where she died.

To the President's assertions that he never had sought the support of the Pendegast political organization in Missouri, and that scandal did not involve it until after he entered the senate, as made to the Associated Press October 16, 1944, even his closest friends do not question that this is a double-barreled lie, the Mercury asserts. Might not the same be said about his announcement that some of the "fixers" in the RFC and other high official places are "all honorable men."

Why then, do Americans continue to judge the president apart from his political friends and appointees, attributing one standard of honor to him and another to General Harry Vaughn, or John Maragon, or Merl Young? Why have men come to Washington broke and left it rich? Behind the laughter at the antics of certain Truman aides, what is being done to manipulate government favor and public money to get rich?

Does this set the pace for our conception of honor? If not our own, what about the generation growing up? How long will we have the standard to distinguish an honorable man from a dishonest one?

"If this nation is to survive—or, indeed, be worthy of survival—its citizenry will have to reject the Truman definition of honor. For why should patriots continue to nourish a nation with their blood when the proper has become what you can get away with, when the expedient has become the honorable, when a lie believed has become the truth?" the Mercury asks.

It Makes Us Wonder

Every so often in Washington, some of the administration's fair haired boys makes a statement that actually astounds the American Public.

It is so startling and usually stupid, that it sets off a chain reaction country-wide.

The latest such statement or comment comes out of Washington and has been attributed to OPS Chief Michael V. DiSalle by the press services.

DiSalle recently advocated the licensing of every United States business. He said this would give the federal government the power to put out of business any firm which violated price regulations!

This makes US wonder if Mr. DiSalle really knows what he said or is advocating?

No doubt this statement was made with an eye toward controlling inflation with price ceilings in mind to help the pocketbook of the average American.

Let's think for a few paragraphs just what it would mean if every business had to have a license to operate.

That would give the government control over all types of businesses. That would mean that businesses that are in competition with government businesses, such as the electrical power companies, the import-export companies, the oil companies, lending agencies, insurance companies, all would be under control, if and when the government decided to enforce it... whether it be for price regulations or something else.

Surely Mr. DiSalle would not advocate this sort of socialistic system if he hopes to consider the extent to which it would run.

Sure, there may be some of the businesses that will not adhere to his price regulations and rules, but that is no excuse to penalize all other businesses for the crimes of a few.

It seems to US that from looking at the Socialistic trend Great Britain now faces is enough warning to halt any turn toward such socialistic practices in this country.

Free-enterprise is what this country was built up on and no international situation now or any time is going to be so strong that this country based on free enterprise can not organize together to defeat any other world power.

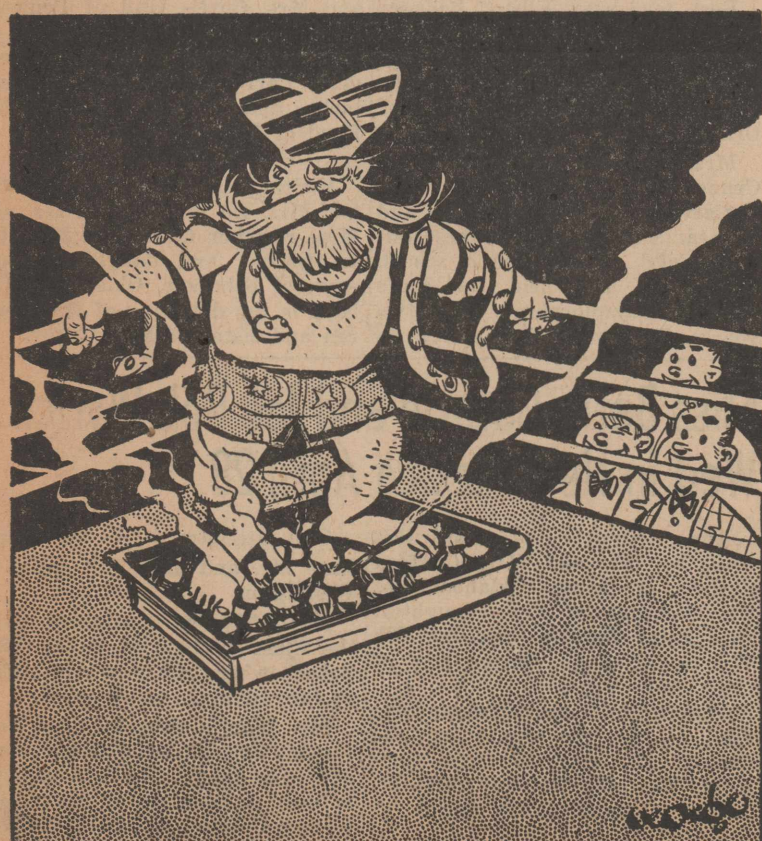

Democracy has proved to be the rock of all civilization and neither socialism, communism or any other kind of ism can surpass or even improve on our Democratic way of life.

Yes, it makes US wonder when we hear someone advocating more government control. Do they want these powers in the emergency or do they want control under any condition?

OVERSTOCKED SALE

Store Wide Sale Starts Thursday, June 14

We are just plain overstocked. The Korean War caused everything to go up in prices; but the scarcity the manufacturers told us would soon be here did not materialize. We bought on their advice and a lot more arrived than we expected. As a result we are overstocked and must reduce in a drastic manner even if it means taking a loss.

We have decided to do our part about trying to stop inflation now by taking our losses and reducing our stock. It is your chance to save on hundreds and hundreds of items for this sale is store-wide.

On this page are a few of the many, many items in our big store that have been slashed in price. Come in early and you will see what we mean.

Mr. Wells Reports Sporting Event for This Newspaper

Editor's Note: Since Mr. Wells spent a whole morning preparing this so-called article when he could have been out selling advertising, we feel that we should publish it to avoid hurting his feelings. It is his first sports offering of the season and we sincerely trust that it will be his last. We apologize to all our readers in advance. V. R.

Some young gentlemen from Quanah and several from Wellington had some kind of contest at the Airpark last Thursday night.

The sporting event was supposed to start at 8:15; but the utility company would not turn on the lights. Some said that Earl Tompkins did not have any money to put in the meter, and others claimed that Cameron Beam had blown his fuse. Anyhow the event started thirty minutes late.

First the Quanah boys took turn holding a stick while a Wellington boy tried to hit it with a ball. He was not a very good server; for he could not hit the stick a single time the first outing.

After that the boys changed sides and the Wellington boys took turns holding the stick. The Quanah thrower was real good and hit the stick every time and seven of the Wellington boys ran around the square. After that the W boys all met out in square and had a nice friendly talk with Earl Tompkins about something.

Then they decided to let the Q boys come in and hold the stick. The W server was still not very good. He did hit the stick one time but the ball bounced in the wrong direction and hit the wire in front of the seats.

Then the W boys held the stick some more. They were allowed to hold the stick more times than the Quanah boys because they were paying for the lights. Three of them ran around the square and three of them stayed on the white sacks until they decided to change sides.

In the fourth outing the W boys decided to play more fairly and let the Q boys hold the stick longer. The W server started throwing better and hit the stick the first time and the ball rolled to the man who was playing on the dirt just inside the grass. He ran up to it and made a beautiful punt and kicked the ball to the man who was standing on the northeast corner of the square. He ran over and picked up the ball and threw the ball clear across the square into the wire and the Q boys ran and ran and everybody was happy and hollered until seven of the Q boys had run around and stomped the white sack in front of the grandstand. Stomping the white sacks was one of the things all the boys seemed to like to do best.

The umpires did not get to hold the stick for this is against the ground rules. One of them stood behind the man with the big glove and hollered stee-ri-ke and then he would tell the man holding the stick to bawl; but they wouldn't mind him at all. In fact the only time any of them ever bellowed was when he would say out; but even then they wouldn't get out. They just got mad and went and sat down on a bench.

Besides throwing the ball at the stick, the server also threw the ball at the umpire. Once they hit Mr. Tompkins on the leg and he changed places with the other umpire so the server could throw at him. The server could not hit the Quanah umpire on the leg; but he did manage to hit him on the arm.

In the fifth outing Bob McAlister got to wanting to talk to his fiancée; so he knocked he ball clear over the wood fence that has signs painted on it. But after about ten minutes somebody found another ball so Bob did not get to go over and talk to his fiancée after all.

In all the Wellington boys ran around the square 19 times and the Quanah boys ran around 8 times. At midnight the umpire pulled off his wire face and told all of them that they had to go home. He explained that the event had been advertised for Thursday only and that it was now Friday morning.

June 18 Deadline For Meat Markets

The nation's more than 300,000 meat markets will have until June 18 to post official OPS retail beef ceiling price lists, the Lubbock district office of Price Stabilization announced this week. This county is in the Lubbock district.

Because of delays in printing the official lists, the agency extended the posting requirement for two weeks from June 4. Retail ceiling prices above which retailers cannot charge for beef went into effect May 14 and posting of the official ceilings had been scheduled to begin within 20 days.

Although the retail beef posting time is being extended until June 18, retailers have been required since May 14 to display their individual prices for cuts of beef by grades. These prices must not be more than the ceiling price. When the official lists are available, housewives will have a readily available check that these prices are not in excess of official OPS ceilings.

The 8 by 17-inch posters in black ink on white paper are now being prepared by the government printing office. There will be 54 different charts—one for each of the three groups of retailers in the 18 retail zones which the nation is divided.

The posters, which carry the title, "Retail Ceiling Prices for Beef," are expected to be available in the Lubbock OPS District Office well in advance of the June 18 deadline. That date has been selected to make sure that an adequate supply will be available in all district offices.

As soon as copies are received by district offices they will start mailing them to retailers who have filed OPS Public Form No. 5. Additional copies of the lists may be obtained from district offices.

OPS Form 5 is the one on which a retailer notifies the OPS of the group into which his store falls—Group 1, 2, 3, or 4. Since most retailers of meat also handle groceries, most of them filed OPS Form 5 when the grocery ceiling price regulations, CPR 15 and CPR 16, were issued and have their classifications.

Retailers may display the price lists as soon as they get their copies from the district office. They may use either the official list which will be furnished free or one that is an exact copy of the official OPS list if the printing is legible and at least as large.

The Diamond Shop
Treasures values at lower prices. Guaranteed watch repair.

The price list must be placed at or near where the meat is sold and where customers can readily see and read it. At least one list must be posted for each 20 feet of meat counter space.

Price officials also called attention of those firms who sell consumer services that their deadline for filing ceiling prices is June 16. The sellers of such services are required by ceiling price regulation 34 to post their ceiling prices in their place of business and mail a duplicate copy to the Office of Price Stabilization, Broadway Building, 1202 Texas Avenue, Lubbock, Texas.

This list must also carry an adequate description of each service performed. Among the firms and services included in the regulation which has been in effect more than two weeks, are; Barbers and beauticians; auto, radio, and household appliance repairs; laundry and dry cleaning and tailor shops; shoe repairs; parking lots; filling stations; checking accounts; bowling alleys, skating rinks and golf fees; and admissions to amusement parks, as well as many amusement and recreational facilities and countless trade and personal services.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Hatch of Eldorado, Oklahoma, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hatch, over Sunday night.

POWER- PACKED -and then some!

THERE are a lot of reasons you can expect a new GMC to keep hauling a lot longer than any other truck you can buy.

First is the fact of horsepower. Whether it's a gasoline-powered 1/2- to 2-tonner with horsepower unbeaten in its class, or one of the new heavy-duty Diesels—you can't beat a GMC for "go"!

But the extra value you find in these great trucks doesn't end at the power plant.

There's the smooth GMC Synchro-Mesh Transmission linked to a sharp-shooting drive line, pouring every ounce of power back to the rugged rear axle. And the solid way horsepower becomes wheel-action—you know there's extra depth of truck performance engineered right down through the broad-shouldered frame of a GMC!

And standing guard over these long-time trucks are husky brakes with more area than most—the surest, easiest steering ever devised to direct a pay load home—all controlled from a spacious "Six-Footer" Cab that's Weathersealed for a lifetime.

GMC's are made in the widest variety of engine-body-chassis combinations to meet any trucking need. And the prices? No better buy anywhere! me see for yourself.

Social Security Compulsory for Self Employed

Apparently there is some misunderstanding of the self-employed person's obligations under the amended Social Security Act, according to John R. Sanderson, Manager of the Amarillo Social Security office. Old-age and survivors insurance is not optional for people who are working for themselves in their own trade or business, or as partners in such enterprises. If you are self-employed and derive as much as $400 in net profit from your business or businesses in any taxable year after December 31, 1950, your social security coverage is compulsory by law.

Sander pointed out that the only exceptions are income derived from self-employment as owner-operator of an agricultural enterprise, and self-employment income derived from practice as a physician, lawyer, dentist, osteopath, chiropractor, optometrist, naturopath,

BULLDOG AND POODLE—Winston Churchill, often considered a symbol of the bulldog spirit in the British character, is shown here as he was joined by his poodle after arriving in London recently from a Paris vacation. veterinarian, architect, CPA, licensed, registered or full-time practicing public accountant, Christian Science practitioner, professional engineer, or funeral director.

As a self-employed person you do not report yourself along with your employees. Your self-employment income must be reported annually on your income-tax form 1040 Schedule C, especially revised for this purpose. Your first such report is due March 15, 1951, covering your self-employment income for the taxable year 1951 and payable along with the report is your self-employment social security tax, which is 2 1/4 per cent of the first $3,600 of your net business profit. If you are a partner in a business, the tax is levied on the first $3,600 of your distributive share of the partnership net profits, whether or not the profits are distributed.

A representative of the Amarillo Social Security Office will be in Wellington at the County Court Room on Wednesday, June 13, at 9:00 A. M.

Farm Storage for Grain Stressed

Farmers with enough storage for their grain on their own places will be relatively independent of increasing transportation and commercial storage difficulties, says J. A. Coleman, chairman of the Collingsworth County PMA Committee.

The chairman points out that each year more and more of the small grains of the county are being harvested with combines. As a result more and more grain must be stored on the farm since transportation and commercial storage cannot keep pace. In the chairman's words, "If a farmer has storage on his farm there will be no question about his having a place to put his grain. If his grain is dry he will be able to get a price support loan. In that way, he will be able to get money to pay current expenses and still be in a position to hold his crop for future sale."

Farmers interested in constructing additional grain storage on their farms still can borrow up to 85 per cent of the money needed not to exceed 45 cents per bushel of the rated capacity of the structure for that purpose through the County PMA Committee, the chairman explains. Information on such loans can be obtained from county PMA Offices.

Rev. and Mrs. Howard Jones and sons, Chaney and David, left Tuesday for a week's vacation at San Antonio. They will return by way of Fort Worth and Mineral Wells to visit members of their families.

Mrs. Joe Bullock and daughter, Janice Ann, are visiting her mother, Mrs. J. L. Burt, this week. Mrs. Bullock's home is in Dallas.

"I got the story on
50,000 Miles-No Wear and changed to New Conoco Super Motor Oil"

says R. L. Emerson
Traveling Salesman
Cedar Falls, Iowa.

"I travel 60,000-80,000 miles a year. I thank Conoco for oil that lets me operate at such low expense," says Mr. Emerson. "With me it's Conoco Super or none!"

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved Here:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence: in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000!

Garage Owner: "I recently gave Conoco Super a thorough test," writes A. E. Stanbridge, Garage Owner, Salt Lake City. "My engine never performed more perfectly. Conoco Super gave me 'super' economy in oil consumption and gasoline mileage."

Mail Carrier: "I depend on my car for my living, so I'm looking for the best in motor oil," states Ewell T. Roe, Rural Mail Carrier, Waxahachie, Texas. "I've found it in Conoco Super. This car still runs like new, after 40,000 miles of service!"

ONE HEN can't fill the egg basket...
In the Gas Business, too
IT TAKES MANY SOURCES OF SUPPLY

It takes millions of hens to produce the eggs for the nation's daily needs. And that recalls a well-known piece of advice: "Don't put all your eggs in one basket."

You may not realize how literally United Gas has put that old adage into actual operation. Wells in more than 200 widely separated fields provide the natural gas for the system serving our customers... and new and additional sources are being connected to our pipe lines all the time.

This diversity of "sources of supply" is important to you, for it is assurance of dependable gas service for homes and industries in the more than 400 cities and towns we serve in the Gulf South.

PLENTY DEGREES COOLER INSIDE

THESE folks are enjoying something that's being pioneered by Buick.

It's freedom from the blinding glare of bright summer sunlight.

It's freedom from hot laps—caused by the sun's rays beating down through the broad expanse of windshield.

These freedoms trace to a new feature you may have noticed in '51 Buicks—a new kind of glass† with a cool, soft, blue-green tint, in every glass area of the car, front, side and back.

Buick engineers tell us that this "Buick first" reduces glare 18% over conventional glass—cuts sun heat as much as 45%—and Buick engineers are very conservative fellows.

This glare-and-heat-reducing Easy-eye glass is factory-installed at moderate extra charge. It gives you a built-in transparent "sun visor" right in the windshield—and it also dulls the dazzle of oncoming headlights at night.

As we've said, this is something Buick owners were the first to enjoy. It takes
