County OKs economic referendum

Mitchell County voters Tuesday approved 12 of 21 proposed constitutional amendments and said yes, by a narrow margin, to a local referendum designed to promote the growth and development of the county.

Only 874 of the 5,098 registered voters in the county cast ballots in the election.

The special referendum was approved 450-393 with three of the precincts voting in favor of it and two against. The precincts voting in favor of it included Pct. 1, 202-119; Pct. 3, 134-104; and Pct. 7, 20-19. The two precincts voting against were Pct. 2, 27-61, and Pct. 4, 50-68. Absentee ballots showed 17 for and 22 against.

By approving the referendum, the voters gave the go ahead to create a board of economic development and to authorize the commissioners' court to appropriate money the county's general fund an amount not to exceed five cents per $100 valuation.

Supporters of the referendum said it will not cause a tax increase. The money generated from the fund will be used to implement an economic development plan to attract new business and industry and to encourage existing business and industry to expand.

Voters said yes to proposed amendments 2, 7, 8, 9, 10, 13, 15, 16, 17, 19, 20 and 21.

A look at the 21 proposed constitutional amendments and the Mitchell County vote include:

Proposition 1 - To limit the salary of the Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker of the House of Representatives to not more than one-half of the Governor's salary and to limit the salary of a member of the Legislature to not more than one-fourth of the Governor's salary. For: 293 - Against: 562

Bingo receipts received

The City of Colorado City received a check for $412 in local tax of the gross receipts of charity bingo games for the quarter ending Oct. 31.

The check was the first to be received by the city since voters legalized charity bingo and the city opted to tax the games' receipts.

The State Comptroller's office collects the optional tax of 2 percent and returns the money quarterly to the community.

The comptroller's office also collects a 2 percent state tax on the receipts of all charity bingo games statewide and deposits that money into the state's general revenue fund.

There are approximately 1,850 organizations licensed to hold bingo games in Texas. The only local organization licensed to hold bingo games is the Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department.

Regional landfill plans eyed

Jimmy Moody said Tuesday plans are still progressing for a regional landfill to be located in Mitchell County.

A site near 795-acre site in the Iatan area is being eyed as a possible site because the red clay in the area which will act as a natural liner.

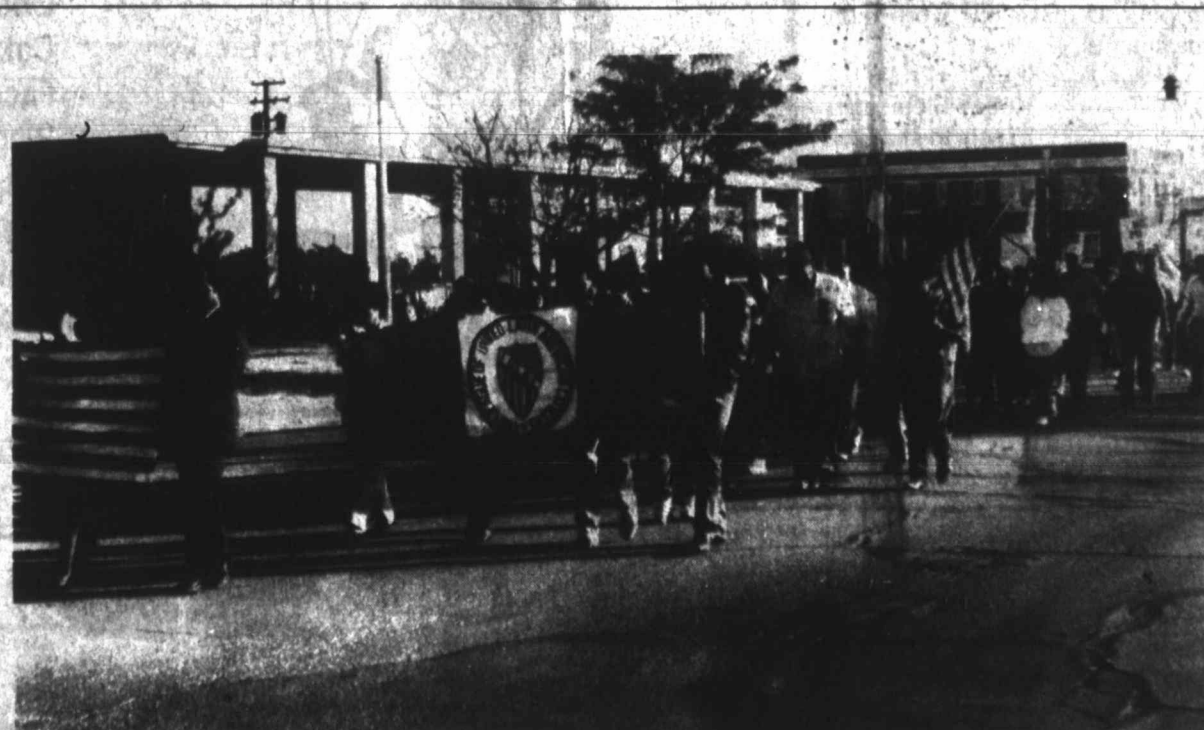

Moody said the landfill will be used for non-toxic, non-hazardous garbage and that 70 persons are expected to be employed directly as a result of the landfill.

Moody said another reason the Iatan site is being considered because of its proximity to the Union Pacific railroad line.

Union Pacific officials have said they are looking into the possibility of hauling municipal waste in West Texas, but said Monday they don't have any details as of yet.

Because of new regulations from the Environmental Protection Agency concerning sanitary landfills, many cities are choosing to close theirs because of the expense involved in bringing the landfills into compliance. As

Letter to the Editor

Thanks, students and teachers

TO THE EDITOR: During the month of October, students in Texas schools are encouraged to be in attendance because state funding for public schools is based on average daily attendance. At Kelley Elementary the teachers and staff worked hard to keep the students in school. And they did exceptionally well, too. Therefore, we would like to thank the students and their parents for making this possible. Without the support from home, we can't accomplish many school goals.

When parents make school important to youngsters they take their role in school more seriously, and do better overall. In the long run we all benefit from our youths' efforts. Thanks again for helping to make our work more meaningful.

Tourism linked to historic preservation

When you travel, are you likely to visit historic sites or museums? In a survey recently completed by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, it was found that most people answer "yes." In fact, next to shopping, visitors to Texas enjoy visiting historical attractions more than any other activity.

It's no accident that sites such as the Alamo in San Antonio, the barque Elissa in Galveston, and the Capitol Building in Austin draw millions of visitors each year. Texans and their visitors are interested in the state's history, and want to learn more about it.

This fascination with history is being noticed by state lawmakers, too. With the slump in oil prices and a growing concern about the state's economic stability, government leaders are looking for other ways to increase revenues. One answer is tourism, a $17.3 billion dollar industry in Texas, and growing. Tourism, particularly in the coming decade, will be inexorably linked to historic preservation—a partnership that will benefit us all.

Already, communities are capitalizing on this interest in history by maintaining local and county history museums, opening bed and breakfast inns, offering historical walking and homes tours, and rehabilitating historic buildings for retail or cultural uses. All along the state's highways and byways, one can now view a variety of billboards advertising a community's museum or historic shopping area.

According to Arthur Frommer, author and operator of one of the largest tour companies in the nation, there are three major reasons why people travel: rest/recreation; a desire to view great natural sites; and an interest in the achievements of the past.

"Among cities with no particular recreational appeal, those that have substantially preserved their past continue to enjoy tourism," Frommer wrote in a recent preservation magazine. "Those that haven't receive no tourism at all. It is as simple as that."

He cites the cities of Atlanta and Charleston, both leading tourism destinations. Atlanta, which has obliterated most of its historic fabric, relies on conventions and business meetings to attract out-of-town visitors. Charleston, on the other hand, offers a rich historical background that draws visitors every year. Tourism and historic preservation, he argues, work together for the entire economy, and other commercial interests, including real estate development, do not suffer as a result of this partnership.

"Little towns, too, have learned that preservation can create a thriving tourist industry," Frommer adds.

P.A.C.K. Written by Hutchinson Elementary P.A.C.K. (Gifted/Talented) Students

By Mandi Waldrup & Jamie Rayburn

On Thursday, Oct. 26, all the fourth and fifth grade P.A.C.K. students went to Abilene. First we went to Hardin-Simmons University. We went to different stations and did different things at each. The first station, we watched interesting slides. At the next station, we learned about the echo system. The third station we made a life web. At the fourth station, we studied rain. At the last station, we learned about complex and simple environments.

This event happened because some people wanted all the gifted/talented students to come together and learn the same thing. This year Colorado City P.A.C.K. students are participating in the WINGS (Winners Intuitively Nurturing Gifted Strategies) program.

Students named to 'Who's Who'

Three Loraine High School seniors have qualified for inclusion in Who's Who Among American High School Students.

The students are Liz Esquivel, Angelic Garcia and Michelle Clayton. They will be able to compete for grants and scholarships sponsored through the organization and numerous colleges and universities.

"Congratulations to these outstanding students," said Marilyn Threlkeld, counselor. "We are proud of their accomplishments."

Junell honored at conference

The Texas Municipal League concluded its Annual Conference last week by awarding a Certificate of Appreciation to Representative Robert Junell (D-San Angelo). The presentation was made by TML Past President Kathy Whitmire of Houston.

Newly elected TML President Joan Baker, Mayor Pro Tem, Lubbock, said, "the cities of Texas enjoyed a very successful legislative session this year by working closely with members of the legislature from around the state and by providing them with timely information concerning municipal issues."

Baker cited several examples of recently enacted legislation which expands municipal authority or simplifies municipal operating procedures. Specifically, she pointed to expanded authority in the area of economic development and in the fight against crime.

"We are honoring Representative Junell because he recognizes the critical importance of local governments and local economic development," Baker said. Baker also pointed out that Representative Junell passed legislation which substantially broadens cities' capabilities to promote economic development and local job creation.

In addition to Representative Junell's Certificate of Appreciation, TML awarded their Legislator of the Year awards to Senator John Montford (D-Lubbock) and former Representative Stan Schluter. Other members receiving a Certificate of Appreciation included Senator John Leedom, (R-Dallas), Representative Gwyn Shea (R-Irving), and Representative Todd Hunter (D-Corpus Christi).

Mayes finds duty interesting

SINAI, Egypt — Standing in the shadows of Egypt's ageless pyramids, a Lorraine native, U.S. Army Cpl. Billy D. Mayes, draws to the end of his peacekeeping duties as a sentry in an area of the world infamous for its unrest and volatility.

An infantryman with the 3rd Battalion, 9th Regiment, 7th Infantry Division, Fort Ord, Calif., Mayes has been working as a member of a United Nations Multinational Force and Observers (MFO) along the southern coast of Egypt's Sinai Peninsula.

Mayes, 21, son of Doyle and Liz Mayes of Lorraine, spent six months of duty rotating between South Camp, on the Red Sea, and small isolated observation posts scattered throughout the Sinai Desert.

The U.S. soldiers operating from South Camp are responsible for reporting all air, land and sea traffic in their sector of the Sinai, while the military of 10 other nations patrol other regions of the country.

"The duty is OK; the weather's hot, but being from Texas, I'm used to it," Mayes said. "I've had a lot of support from my family and friends during my time over here, so that made it a lot better."

After three weeks at a self-contained outpost, soldiers return to South Camp for a week of training, a week on standby, ready to confirm and report any conflict or violations of the 1979 Egypt and Israel treaty, and then a week off. The seven days of free time gives the soldiers a chance to explore historically rich lands surrounding the region.

"I go to the beach a lot, so I'll be returning to the States with a good tan," Mayes said. "I've been to Nama Bay and Dhab, where they've got good beaches. I've also been to St. Catherine's Monastery."

"I've been able to meet a lot of different people and see a lot of different things," he said. "I'm glad I got a chance to come over here but I'm ready to get back to the U.S."

After six months in the desert with little of the comforts of the planned to Lake Tahoe. Some guys and I are going up and just kick back for awhile and enjoy the snow."

Mayes is a 1986 graduate of Lorraine High School.

ARMY CPL. Billy D. Mayes of Lorraine receives a report while serving as a member of the Multinational Force and Observers in the Sinai desert.

Garden Club meets at Mrs. Bodine's home

The Colorado City Garden Club held its November meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 1, in the home of Jeanine Bodine. Marion Bassham was co-hostess. A salad luncheon was served buffet style and the guests were seated at small tables with a floral arrangement centering each.

Following the meal, Mary Ellis, president, presided over the meeting.

The Projects Committee reported on the progress being made on the beautification of the traffic islands. There has been $735 in donations by individuals and $225 designated by the Colorado City Garden Club, and also plants donated by Neff's Nursery. The traffic islands have been cleaned and redbuds, crepe myrtles and youpon planted, making a dramatic improvement in the entrance to Colorado City.

Dovie Brownfield reported that as chairman of the Horticulture Committee she had submitted the committee report on the plants set out by the members in the past year to the Texas Garden Clubs headquarters. The club won a state award for this report last year.

The club voted to present an appropriate gardening book to the Mitchell County Library as a memorial to the Roy Davis Coles, husband of Alice Coles, a long-time Garden Club member.

Plans were made for the Christmas project which is presenting gifts to nursing home residents. Each member will bring a monetary gift to the December meeting and this money will be used to buy gifts suited to individual residents.

An interest has been expressed by some individuals in the community in forming a new garden club. The members expressed pleasure at this interest and the president named Peggy Ratliff as the contact person for citizens in the community who are interested in forming a night garden club.

The District VIII Fall Convention will be in Del Rio on Nov. 10-11. Peggy Ratliff and Dorothy Johnson will be representatives from Colorado City and all members are encouraged to attend.

After the business session adjourned, the members drove to Neff's Nurseries for an interesting and educational tour of the green houses conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Rush Neff.

Julie Fox and Jerry Strain were welcomed as guests. Members attending were Betsy Aycock, Catherine Bell, Dovie Brownfield, Alice Coles, Elizabeth Connell, Faye Daniel, Louise Decovic, Mary Ellis, Nadine Gordon, Dorothy Johnson, Marjorie Kolman, Genevieve Moore, Frances Myers, Peggy Ratliff, Margaret Trulock, Ellene Warren, the hostesses, Jeanine Bodine and Marion Bassham, and new member Dawn Shawn.

The next meeting will be Dec. 6 in the home of Peggy Ratliff.

Whitetailed deer unpredictable

SAN ANGELO - Texas' most popular big game species, the whitetailed deer, may have as many myths surrounding his behavior as he does truths.

Dr. Steve Demarais, a Texas Tech researcher, said results of a four-year South Texas study he conducted using radio collared animals showed some more popular beliefs are sometimes only partly correct.

"The more I work with these animals, the more I realize they are highly unpredictable and difficult to pattern," said Demarais.

He said he did find many patterns of movement, however, that can prove helpful to hunters in their efforts to bag trophy deer.

Demarais spoke during a recent deer hunters workshop conducted here by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The researcher said cold fronts, for instance, are helpful in getting deer to move about. With the arrival of a cold front, movement is significantly greater than before the cold snap.

"This comes as no surprise because we have known that deer move best when there's a front coming through. The new information here is the day after a front is just as good for hunting as the day of the front."

Demarais said another relatively accepted previous fact about hunting was that deer don't move well when it's windy. "This was the case initially. Deer moved most when the wind was zero to four miles per hour and from five to nine miles per hour. Movement started declining when the wind exceeded 14 miles per hour," he said.

"We were somewhat surprised when it was really windy, say 20 miles per hour plus, to find the deer moved more than at any other time," he said.

"This is a little difficult to explain from a biologist's standpoint. I think the deer may just get skittish. Deer are sight-and-sound-oriented in their defense. When the wind increases up to a point they bed-down and hide. When the wind increases above that point they get skittish and if a twig breaks they jump up and run."

What this means to hunters, according to Demarais, is deer are most predictable in their movement when the wind is calm.

"However, as a hunter, you might get a shot at a good buck on a very windy day when most other hunters have gone home," he said.

"A lot of people think a full moon makes for poor deer hunting because deer go out and feed at night," said Demarais.

"We found that deer activity definitely is influenced by the moon. Yes, the deer were out feeding at night, but they also were out during the day. So the hunter shouldn't worry about full moon periods affecting his day hunting," he said.

Demarais said deer move most in the early morning and late evening. In summer, because of the heat, most deer are out only at night.

He said there are exceptions to all rules, and with the whitetailed deer, the big exception is the breeding season, more commonly dubbed the "rut."

Hunters invade county

Last Saturday marked the opening of hunting season in Mitchell County as an estimated 500 to 600 hunters invaded the county to hunt deer, quail and turkey.

Unseasonably warm November temperatures probably hurt the kill, Game Warden Randy Bullard said Monday. "Wildlife moves a lot more during cooler temperatures," Bullard added.

"All-in-all it was a busy weekend for me. I probably checked 70 hunters," he said.

A number of citations were written for incorrect tagging.

Bullard said the largest buck he saw was killed by a Lubbock hunter and had 11 points. The deer was killed on the southern portion of the Spade Ranch.

Bullard also reminded hunters to tag deer as soon as you kill it. Be sure to follow the necessary procedures in tagging game.

Wright Hock of the Spade Ranch said last week he expects 274 hunters to hunt on the Spade this year. Maddox Ranches will be host to about 100 hunters.

Deer and turkey season ends Sunday, January 7 while quail ends February 25, 1990.

Wolves prepare for season finale

Playoff spots undecided

Coming into the last week of district play, three teams will be shooting for two playoff spots, yet one team is virtually assured of a spot.

After their victory over Colorado City Wolves last Friday, the Ballinger Bearcats stand one victory away from the playoffs.

All they have to do is beat Merkel this Friday and they are in, but whether or not they go in as champion or runner-up remains to be seen.

Coahoma's upset of Wylie last week put the playoff race in one big jumbled mess.

It goes like this: if Wylie wins, it is the district champion. But if Wylie loses, Ballinger takes the title and Clyde sneaks in as the runner-up.

In other words, Clyde could end up with an 8-2 record and still miss the playoffs.

The deciding game will be Clyde vs. Wylie this Friday night.

Whoever wins goes to the playoffs and the loser stays home.

The Wolves will be playing for pride this week as the seniors play their last home game against the Coahoma Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs shocked the world last week when they played the role of spoiler and beat then district leading Wylie, 20-7. The Bulldogs also had a 7-0 lead over Ballinger at the end of the third quarter a few weeks back but ended up losing that one.

C-City enters this contest 3-8 after it came unglued against the Ballinger Bearcats last week and lost, 38-8.

Tracy Edwards enters the ballgame as the leading ground gainer for the Wolves, having rolled up over 800 yards rushing.

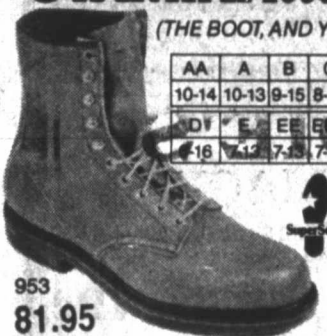

Adon DeLoera, Ray Sutton, and Bobby Silva are the leading tacklers with DeLoera edging out the other two for top honors.

The game will start at 8 p.m. Friday night at Wolf Stadium.

LORAINI ACTION - Bulldog Shawn Finley(44) takes out a would be tackler as Rudy Sanchez(22) waits for Anthony Williams(11) to make a block. Loraine beat Highland Saturday night, 64-14.

Loraine Personals

...by Lois Phillips

Since I visited you last week we have had a nice Halloween and Homecoming. We really enjoyed Halloween this year. We had so many cute little kids and some big kids too, but they were all real nice and all seemed to be having fun.

We wondered if we'd have the kids from our old neighborhood and yes they came to see us. Earl and I both really enjoy the kids. It's kinda like a friend said who lives upon the hill. She told me that she had thought about not taking part this year and she said after a while "I wonder if the kids will miss me." Then she said, "Well who am I fooling I'll miss the kids." She got busy and got ready for the good crowd she had and went to bed happy.

The youth had their own party over in the recreation hall at the church, something called the Big Pumpkin Blow-Out. I think it seemed to be sorta like an old fashioned scavenger hunt. They had lots of fun I hear.

On Saturday we had Homecoming with a very nice turnout.

Several classes held reunions and the class of '59 had the program. I hear it was very nice. Sarah Pratt Zetman was elected coming home queen by the exes. She deserved it. She always comes for the event, I think that is nice. She was presented to her public at half time at the ballgame Saturday night.

Also presented were the homecoming queen and king. The high school kids elect these students. The freshmen presented Sharyl Robin Webb as their candidate with Chris Phillips as king candidate, the sophomore candidates were Queen Cindy Munoz and Leo Garcia; juniors were Jennifer Clifton and Willie Hernandez and seniors were Joey Lujan and Lou Barnett.

Jennifer Clifton was chosen Homecoming Queen and Willie Hernandez was Homecoming King. Congratulations to the king and queen and their court.

We won our ball game and are going to the play-offs and I don't know when or where at this time.

Our junior high kids have completed a very successful season, congratulations.

Mrs. Mary Tanino of Seattle, Washington came to Texas for her 40th year reunion and to visit two sisters who stayed in Mitchell County to marry and raise their families. They are Betty Hackfeld of Loraine and Ruth Bryant of Colorado City. They were part of the Draper family who lived near Laskytown.

Mary probably traveled the farthest to be here.

Truman and Mavis Nix were here and visited her mother Inez Webb. They also came to see the half-time activities since Sheryl Webb is Mavis' niece.

I was told Sug Bynum was at the ball game telling about when she is retiring. Have fun Sug.

Joey Lucas of Houston also came home for Homecoming and class reunion. He makes his home in Houston.

Maylon and Peggy Beaty came for the Homecoming activities. Stacy brought a friend with him and they visited with Earl and Lois Phillips during this time. The visiting young man was Drew Perkins. His parents are in the school business in Abilene. They also visited Maylon's mother, Elba Evans.

Peggy and Ray Harmon of Greenville are in town visiting Peggy's family and in Colorado City visiting Ray's mom, Mrs. Harmon.

Zack Walker of Lubbock came to visit Grandpa and Grandma, Jackie and Patsy Walker. He also has two great-grandmothers here he also visited, Ila Walker and Elba Mae Evans. Zack is Mike Walker's son.

I saw Jo Ed Coldewey, Gary Finley, Dennis and Donnie Cornutt and Dennis sons all on the sidelines Saturday night.

One lady was visiting at Homecoming who was in school here in 1917. She was a relative of the late Chester Anderson and Thelma Richardson. Her name was Alvie Anderson before she married a Mr. Blaylock. She is now 89 years old. I hope she can come back next year.

Mary Love Allbright dropped by to see me and say hello to my broken arm. She left a news item.

Jack and Mary Love Allbright spent the weekend with her mother Syble Walker. They attended the Loraine Homecoming and the First United Methodist Church. Mrs. Walker returned to Odessa with the Allbrights to visit. While there she will visit the Allbright's two children and their families. They are Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Finn and children and Gordon and Mary Allbright and family.

I also saw John McAdams, Gary and Teresa Gale and Rodney Walker, and Pete Andrews.

Ida Prescott Chitsey came to see me after meetings at school Saturday. She stayed a long time because we had a lot to talk over. She then went across the alley to visit my neighbor Irene Kidd. They have also been friends a long time. We all enjoyed her visit.

I hear that Dual Blair is in the Mitchell County Hospital since Saturday. Hope this finds him much improved. Hi Dual and Jody.

I saw LaRue Sheppard Powell from a distance. Also spied Don Crawford in the crowd and of course he was still smiling as always.

I also noticed Jennifer Clifton's sister from Lubbock and a brother-in-law, were here to see her become Homecoming Queen.

Beth Sheppard was also here visiting her mother Madge Sheppard of Colorado City and to attend Homecoming.

Beth, forgive me, I have forgotten your married name.

By the way, I was told that Sug Bynum and Mary Love Allbright spoke to every soul they saw at all the events they attended. I know that made for a lot of fun for a lot of people.

Thanks George and Glenda for another job well done. Thanks to the school, Boosters Club, cheerleaders, band and Betty and her crew and all others I don't know about. It was all very nice and I hope all the exes appreciate you, but then I know they do. Let's don't forget school personnel, for without them it wouldn't work very well. I also think the student council had a part in the success we enjoyed Saturday.

Loraine Senior Center

...by B. Ann Vaughn

If you visited the Senior Center in October you were greeted by skeletons and ghostlike creative mobiles suspended from the ceiling along with trees, leaves and pumpkins in pretty fall colors.

Mitchell County Extension Agent Libbi Garnet spoke to the participants about fruits and vegetables and the vitamins one gets from these food groups.

Home Health Care came to take and record blood pressure October 10 and again October 24.

Effie Wheeler drew the winning ticket on the hand painted china plate and Lewis Claxton has graciously donated a hand crafted handsome windchime for raffle.

The regular Tuesday night social was hosted by the Homer Richburgs and the Ralph Gages. After the popular potluck supper table games were enjoyed along with music from a tape of a Taylor Gospel Group.

A "Skipbo", and a 42 tournament with prizes awarded for high score was held also in October.

October 25 was "birthday party day" and celebrating birthdays in October were Gus Armstrong, Mary Helen Price and Irene Taylor. Billie Schoeder made a fresh apple cake for the special birthday table.

Menus for the month of November are as follows.

November 10, German sausage, barbecue sauce, black-eyed peas, baked potato, salad, hot rolls, fruited Jell-O with topping.

The estimated suggested meal donations is $1.25. For more information call the Center at 737-2711.

October 30 acting as "clowns", Darlene Hamrick and Lava Lewis greeted people at the door with a smile and a bag of Halloween candy.

Loraine junior high undefeated

Loraine jr. high capped off and undefeated season with a 54-20 victory over Ira last Thursday night.

James Lopez got things started with a 41 yard run early in the first quarter. A Steve Gutierrez kick put Loraine ahead 8-0.

Ira hung tough in the early going as Tom Sanchez scored on a 36 yard run to bring them to within two points, but the missed PAT held them down at 8-6.

The Bulldogs then took the bone and ran with it as they poured on the juice and went into halftime with a 26-6 lead.

The opening of the third quarter saw Iras' Sanchez break for a 37 yard run that brought them to within 12 points, but it seemed that for every Ira TD Loraine came back with at least two of their own.

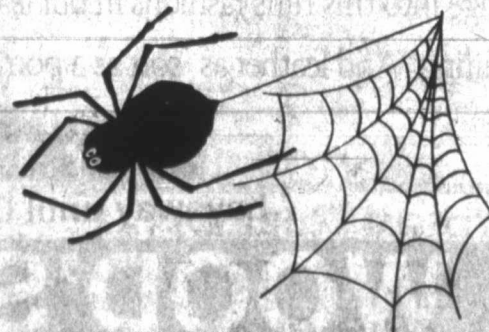

Dwayne Starling led all rushers with 183 yards rushing on only 10 carries as he helped his team run away with the victory.

James Lopez added 101 yards of his own.

Starling led the team with 9 tackles, followed closely by Gutierrez with 8.

Spiders don't lead an easy life. Newspaper advertising creates the kind of customer traffic spiders hate and merchants love. If you're a business owner who seems to be seeing far too many spiders lately, give us a call. Our retail display and classified advertising departments can create the kind of advertising you need to send lazy spiders on their way.

Reily named campaign head

Republican gubernatorial candidate Kent Hance has selected Bob Reily as the Mitchell County chairman of his campaign.

Hance, a former state senator and U.S. congressman, currently serves as chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission. He announced his candidacy for governor on Aug. 15.

"Bob is one of the best grassroots leaders in our party," Hance said. "With strong support from people like Bob, I'm confident we will have the organization of any campaign."
