His farming operation is well diversified and includes cotton, grain and forage sorghums, alfalfa and beef cattle."

"County School Office Not Needed; Will Be Closed"

Olson Sweat, retired teacher and school administrator, has announced his candidacy for county school superintendent with the intention of closing the office when he wins the election.

Sweat said that his candidacy will mean a financial loss, as he has already had to stand the cost of paying the $150 filing fee, plus the fact that his pension payment could be in jeopardy if he cannot close out the office within a certain length of time.

The office is presently held by Roy Davis Coles, who did not file for re-election. Coles has held the office for the past 42 years and Sweat said that the money for the payment of his salary and that of his secretary is paid out of state funds "which should go to Texas school children."

In announcing his intention to close the office, Sweat explained that he wanted to "do something for the school children," adding, "I'm a conservative and want to see money saved for the general and permanent school funds."

The trend across Texas in recent years has been for people who are concerned about the waste of money in maintaining an antiquated system left over from horse and buggy days to run for the office of county school superintendent with the expressed purpose of doing away with the office as soon as they win the election. Sweat will be following the trend, with the added twist that he is aptly qualified for the office.

He served about 15 years as an administrator, first with the Farm Securities Administration, then with Sweetwater Production Credit Association in Snyder, then as Coordinator of Mitchell County Veterans' School. He then returned to college, attending classes at Sul Ross State University in Alpine to complete requirements for his Master's Degree in Education. He earned his BA at West Texas State University in Canyon. He has 15 years of actual classroom teaching experience and has been active in the Texas State Teachers Association and Texas Classroom Teachers Association.

He is presently assistant state director of the National Retired Teachers Association as well as president of the local county unit of NRTA. He is also president of the American Association of Retired Persons local unit.

In his work with the retired teachers group, Sweat travels throughout the state, helping local units to organize and keeping abreast of news concerning teachers and education. He expressed some concern over the handling of the state teachers retirement fund, explaining that shifting of funds from teachers' control to government retirement control might mean a loss of funds as well as a loss of personal involvement in overseeing the almost $3 billion account.

Sweat served as a Scoutmaster for 10 years and is a deacon of the First Baptist Church where he teaches a men's Bible class.

He and his wife, Flossie, have a daughter who teaches in Austin and has three children.

Money Found Here Leads To Arrests

Mitchell County sheriff's deputies recently aided in the seizure of over 400 pounds of marijuana and the arrest of four persons for possessing and selling marijuana, both felony offenses.

The arrests were made in Big Bend National Park by the Department of Public Safety, U.S. Narcotics Agents, Internal Revenue Agents and U.S. Customs Agents after Mitchell County Deputies Simon Barrera, L. M. Newby and Ann Martin learned of the planned exchange of money for marijuana.

The three sheriff's deputies had known of the drug dealing activity for some time but were unable to get concrete evidence until last week, when an out-of-state suspect was questioned and the deputies learned that a woman traveling companion had been left near the Iatan Road in western Mitchell County and he had been unable to locate her or the almost $20,000 she had been carrying.

Sheriff's deputies made a call to Big Spring and learned that the Big Spring law enforcement officers had located the woman and had helped her search for the money, which was found.

The two were re-united and let go on their way, only to lead the combined law enforcement agencies to their rendezvous in Big Bend National Park with dealers in marijuana from across the Mexican border.

Sheriff Bill McGuire gave all credit to the three deputies in his department who had alerted recognized the man who was questioned here as being a known drug dealer.

Truckers End Blockade

The blockade of Les Fuller's Trucktown Truck Stop came to an end Monday and none of the other truck stops in the county have reported being blocked by striking independent truckers.

The blockade of Trucktown started about midnight Friday.

However, it has been observed that trucks are now traveling in groups, apparently in order to insure safety. One trucker en route to Colorado City from Abilene, reported that at a truck tried to run him off the road but he outran the truck.

Independent truckers are striking and blockading some truck stops in protest of high diesel costs and low speed limits.

Mrs. Jody Neff, city councilwoman, gave the program for the day on the subject "Educate Your Public to Community Improvement." Mrs. Neff said that people need to get involved to meet the needs of the community, that so much depends on the attitude of the people. She said that change is healthy and that many of our homes and businesses need a change.

"If we have to stay home more and business is slower, why not make things as pretty as we can?" Mrs. Neff asked. "We should want to go to work each day because the building is pretty and comfortable."

She suggested some of our businesses could open up the back doors and beautify the alleys. "Bloom Where You Are Planted" is her slogan as well as the Community Development Committee slogan for the year.

Members of the Self Culture Club gave her their ideas for clean-up in the city, which Mrs. Neff said she would present to the council.

The hostess served refreshments to Mrs. Neff, Mrs. Paul Beeman, Mrs. Earl Brown, Mrs. John Brown, Mrs. Billy Culwell, Mrs. Wilfred Fox, Mrs. L. B. Elliott, Mrs. C. P. Gary, Mrs. A. A. Herrington, Mrs. R. M. Reed, Mrs. J. L. Strain, Mrs. L. A. Strain, Mrs. Roy Rhodes and Mrs. E. L. Tiller.

Elmer Martin Expresses His Concern For West Texas Banks

State Representative Elmer Martin of Colorado City today expressed concern West Texans are not aware of how one portion of the proposed new Texas Constitution threatens their community banks.

"The first concern of a bank should be to serve its own community," Representative Martin said. "This is not just a tradition, but an obligation."

"Our forefathers were wise enough to understand this responsibility. That is why our present Texas Constitution specifically provides for a bank to do business only in the town where it is chartered."

The new constitution proposed by the Texas Constitutional Revision Commission, however, omits this requirement.

"If this requirement is not retained in our new constitution," Representative Martin said, "Texas will open the gate for huge bank corporations from New York and San Francisco to move into our communities and choke off our local home-owned and home-concerned banks."

"And these branches will be sending our money back to their big offices in San Francisco and New York for loans to the big corporations instead of putting the money to work in the hometown communities where the money was earned and deposited."

"The local community needs the whole banking service of a home chartered and home-operated bank. Without it, the local businessman, the wage and salary earner, the farmer and rancher will suffer."

Representative Martin said he has been in contact with hometown bankers throughout the five-county area of his 61st Representative District (Nolan, Jones, Fisher, Mitchell and part of Taylor). These bankers know the threat of branch banking, the representative said, and many have written the committee on General Provisions now considering bank regulations for the Constitutional Convention in Austin.

The General Provisions Committee of the convention has conducted two hearings on the branch banking question with hometown bankers from several areas of Texas voicing their support for the new constitution to continue the "no" on branch banking.

However, not one West Texan from the 61st District area was counted by Rep. Martin and his staff at either of these two hearings.

"This increases my concern," he said "as to whether West Texas citizens really understand the seriousness of this threat to their communities if the gate is opened to branch banking."

Section 16 of Article 16 of the present Texas Constitution specifies that a bank shall not be authorized to engage in business at more than one place which shall be designated in its charter."

Section 16 further states "no foreign corporation, other than national banks of the United States shall be permitted to exercise banking or discounting privileges in this state."

Only the prohibition against foreign banks is retained in the new constitution proposed by the Constitutional Revision Commission to the Constitutional Convention.

The minority report of the Constitutional Revision Committee, though, argues for definitely keeping the restraint on branch banking with this proposal for Article 10, Section 16: "No bank shall engage in business in more than one place, which shall be designated in its charter, nor shall it maintain any branch office not physically connected with its domicile."

In addition, Constitutional Convention Proposal No. 33 is also referred to the Committee on General Provisions and calls for both the branch and foreign banking prohibitions.

"This anti-branch banking and anti-foreign discounting is no partisan or special interest effort," Representative Martin said. "This is for the economic welfare of every community in Texas and for every person who lives, works and does business within each of our communities."

The fact of this bi-partisan concern, Martin believes, was shown when conservative-minded bankers saw Texas labor leaders supporting their "no branch banking" stand in Capital hearings.

The minority report retaining the anti-branch banking provision also had a definite bi-partisan flavor. It was written by the well-known San Angelo and Snyder attorney, Mark McLaughlin, and co-signed by former U. S. Senator Ralph W. Yarborough, each representing opposite poles of Texas politics.

"The concern is for our communities and the workers, the businesses and industries, the farmers and ranchers who make up our communities," Representative Martin emphasized.

"If our constitution opens the gate to branch banking," he continued, "then we open the gate for large corporate banks from out-of-state metropolitan areas to come into our communities, open small branch offices with no local ownership, no local management and no local concern."

"And the gate will be open for these branches, on orders from their headquarters in California and New York, to syphon off the money deposits of our communities for loans to huge corporations far, far away from West Texas."

The CJH National Honor Society really had a hard time deciding where to go on their trip at the end of the year. Two committees were elected and each decided on one place to go. Out of those two places, one was decided on. We finally decided on going to the Fort Worth Zoo.

Some of our other choices were Six Flags, Carlsbad Caverns, C-City Lake and Garner State Park. It really doesn't matter that much where we go 'cause the bus ride is the most fun, but we think the zoo would be a blast! There is more to do at the zoo than just look at the animals. There are dune-buggy rides, motorcycle trails and different rides such as bumper cars and it's always fun being together with your friends.

January 31st Lakeview traveled to C-City to meet with a defeat. The C-City team played one of their finest games. It was a passing and ball stealing game for the 8th grade Wolves.

High point men were Kevin Geiger with 17 points and Blake Hammond with 8 points. Leading rebounders were Ed Adams and Kevin Geiger. Somewhere around the 4th quarter C-City was so far ahead of Lakeview that they began to really get rough.

Three tecks were called in that quarter. Colorado City came out on top with a score of 52-25. Coach Mike Hart has cancelled our Monday night game with Lakeview because of the ill mannered attitude of the Lakeview team. So our next and last game of this season will still be played on the road as we travel to Sweetwater.

With Sweetwater we stand 2-1, Sweetwater having the margin. If we beat Sweetwater, and you can sure bet we'll be trying our very best, we will end a successful 13-4 season.

We know that gas is high and sometimes hard to come by, but we sure would like to have a big crowd go to Sweetwater Thursday night for our final game.

The 8th grade plays at 5:30 and the 9th grade at 7:00. We NEED your support.

Volunteer Firemen Kept Busy

The Loraine Volunteer Fire Department have answered an average of at least one fire a day the past few weeks.

The dry grass is the main cause of the fires and was the cause of the fire at the Frank Sanford home Monday.

The Sanford boys were burning off the yard when sparks blew under the house, catching weeds and grassafire and smoke was coming into the house before the family was aware of what had happened.

The firemen were not long in getting the fire out. In the meantime, furniture was being removed from the house and not too much damage was reported.

While the firemen were at the Sanford fire, another alarm was turned in for a grass fire in the west part of town and another unit of the department rushed to the scene.

HYBRID MAIZE SEEDS

Excel Brand 606 BIG-SOFT-RED GRAIN... EXCELLENT STANDABILITY

EXCEL BRAND 606 is a short hybrid that produces red grain in a semi-loose head that dries rapidly. A good yielding hybrid that emerges very fast out of the ground. It may be considered tolerant to cold soil as well as having good tolerance to MDMV and smuts.

EXCEL BRAND 606 is recommended where lodging is a problem; it is a short hybrid with good drought tolerance.

Excel Brand 433 GREAT YIELDS-CHERRY-YELLOW GRAIN-DEPENDABLE

A newly released hybrid with tremendous yield potential that is adapted to a wide range of conditions makes EXCEL BRAND 433 a very dependable grain sorghum. The drought tolerance of EXCEL BRAND 433 makes it an excellent hybrid for dryland farming.

It has excellent seedling vigor, head exertion, resistance to MDMV, head smut and foliar discoloration from insecticidal sprays.

Beautiful cherry-yellow grain is produced in semi-compact heads on short, sturdy stalks.

Excel Brand Millhy 99 HYBRID PEARL MILLET-SUMMER HAY CROP-MORE GRAZING-MORE VIGOR

A hybrid pearl millet that is a rapid growing, hot weather annual used chiefly as a pasture crop. EXCEL BRAND MILLHY 99 is adapted for grazing and for hay over a wide area and has excellent disease resistance.

Because it is a hybrid, EXCEL BRAND MILLHY 99 has extra good seedling vigor. With favorable growing conditions, EXCEL BRAND MILLHY 99 recovers very quickly after grazing, and it produces a quick summer pasture of leafy, fine stemmed, no prussic acid forage crop. It grows well into the fall season, producing an abundance of forage.

EXCEL BRAND MILLHY 99 may be grazed when the plants reach 24 inches high. Do not graze back any closer than six inches. Rotational grazing and good management are the keys to an abundance of summer pasture by using hybrid pearl millet.

Fuel diversification is important to you and your family.

But what is it?

Fuel diversification is the key to our being able to supply the electricity you'll need in the years ahead. It means using several kinds of fuel to generate electricity. Making the best use out of the fuels available to us. And reducing our dependence on fuels in short supply.

At Texas Electric, natural gas is our major fuel, with oil used on a standby basis. We foresaw growing shortages of these fuels and several years ago developed long-range plans to diversify to lignite coal and nuclear fuels.

We now have one lignite plant in operation and two others under construction. A nuclear-fueled plant is planned for operation by 1980.

One advantage of lignite and nuclear fuels is that neither is being used extensively for any purpose other than generating electricity. A disadvantage is that it costs much more to build these plants than gas-fired plants. Lignite plants cost about twice as much. Nuclear plants cost more than three times as much.

In just the next five years alone TESCO must spend $700 million on new facilities. Financing these essential expenditures makes an increase in electric service rates necessary.

We're working to supply the electricity you need, but it will have to cost more in the future.
