New Drive To Enforce Cattle Ceiling Prices

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—The government launched a nationwide drive today to enforce cattle prices ceilings and disclosed plans for sharply changing the ceilings themselves.

Michael V. DiSalle, head of the Office of Price Stabilization, said a large part of the OPS enforcement staff will concentrate on checking cattle sales prices. Immediate checks are to be made at slaughter plants to find out whether abnormally high purchases involve any over-ceiling sales.

DiSalle said the beef slaughtering industry advisory committee has been called here for Wednesday to "consider steps to be taken with respect to ceiling prices on cattle in view of the abolition of slaughter quotas."

The OPS is planning to propose then the imposition of price ceilings on cattle sellers as well as purchasers, and ceilings on individual animals rather than on average monthly sales.

Congress, in renewing the Defense Production Act recently, prohibited further slaughter quotas. The OPS had used quotas to divide allowable production each month.

The agency has contended quotas are necessary to block black markets in meat. A move has started in Congress to restore the government's power to impose them.

DiSalle said that, without quotas, the OPS already is receiving "numerous complaints from packers that they were unable to purchase cattle at the ceiling price."

"Since we are no longer able to channel meat into regular normal channels through the slaughter quota system," DiSalle said, "there are growing indications of maldistribution."

"This situation, of course, puts a strain on legal prices, and threatens to move the available supply into fewer areas where higher — and illegal — prices may be obtainable," DiSalle continued.

"There are indications that ceiling price violators are outbidding legitimate slaughterers and are extending their operations far beyond normal.

"As a result honest packers in the absence of slaughter quotas find it difficult to get cattle at the legal prices and they are being forced to reduce their cattle purchasers substantially below normal volume."

DiSalle said investigators and government meat experts will study slaughtering records and "immediate enforcement action will be taken" against violators.

Up to now there have been no ceilings for cattle sellers — the price control being in the form of the averages paid over a monthly period for animals by slaughterers.

The OPS statement said proposals to be discussed Wednesday will include a plan to make price ceilings applicable to sellers as well as buyers of cattle and to each individual animal sold, either by rail grading or live grading.

Slight Blow Of Air During Dawson Test

George R. Brown of Houston No. 1 Krezer, wildcat in Southeast Dawson County, is drilling below 8,578 feet in sand and lime after taking a drillstem test at 8,495-8,575 feet.

There was a slight blow of air which died in 15 minutes. Length of the test was not reported. Recovery was 60 feet of gas cut mud.

Location is 13 miles southeast of Lamesa and less than one-quarter mile east of the Big Spring-Lamesa highway. It is 467 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 20-34-t4n-T&P.

That puts it two miles south of the V. A. Brill No. 1 Grissom, a deep failure which had some interesting shows but not enough to make an oil well.

FISHING

Bankline Oil Co. No. 1 Joe Parks, wildcat 14 miles west of Snyder, is at total depth of 4,593 feet in lime and dolomite fishing for tools.

Lion Oil Co. No. 1 Helms, Northeast Scurry wildcat, is drilling in shale and lime below 6,868 feet.

KENT WELLS

Texaco No. 1 Swenson, Kent wildcat 17 miles northwest of Clairemont, is taking a drillstem test at 7,209 feet in shale.

Kewanee No. 1-F Wil Connell, Polar - Pennsylvanian field stepout, is drillstem testing at 7,219-231 feet in lower Pennsylvanian lime.

BORDEN

In Borden, Jackson, Douglas & Ritchie No. 1 Murphy is drilling below 3,540 feet in lime.

FISHER COUNTY

Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. No. 1 Bessie McCleaskey, nine miles northeast of Rotan in Fisher County, is drilling in red beds and shale below 204 feet.

Screening 90 Cadets Ends

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 17. (AP)—Final screening of 90 West Point Cadets facing dismissal for cheating on exams is virtually complete, a Military Academy spokesman said today.

However, screening boards are looking into other cases of alleged honor-code violations, in addition to the original group of 90.

Col. James B. Leer, Academy public information officer, said the number of additional cases being studied "is less than 29."

Previously, Academy officials said that during the original investigations in which 90 cadets were marked for dismissal, there were 29 others accused but against whom evidence was not sufficient.

Meanwhile, another contingent of the original group of 90 was slated to be checked out of the Academy today. Most of those scheduled to depart are first or upper classmen, including top varsity football stars.

Up to now, 45 cadets, mostly second or lower classmen, have left the campus.

Leer said all of the original 90 have been screened, except possibly for two cadets who were on leave abroad when the scandal broke.

Plans Made To Prevent Wreck Of Jap Treaty

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—American officials have worked out a plan aimed at thwarting an expected Russian propaganda filibuster at next month's Japanese peace conference at San Francisco.

With this as a guide, Secretary of State Acheson hopes to cut short the flurry of anti-American speeches the big Russian delegation is reported ready to unleash.

The "stop-Russia" plan, informed officials said, is the product of nearly four months of careful advance planning by top State Department officials led by Ambassador John Foster Dulles.

Acheson instructed Dulles last April, it was learned, to work out what America's strategy should be in the event Russia, despite its denunciations of the draft treaty, decided to attend the Sept. 4 conference.

Assistant Secretary Dean Rusk, who is in charge of Far Eastern affairs, and Ambassador-at-Large Philip Jessup are reported to have helped in working out the scheme.

Details of the plan are not being bandied about, presumably to prevent their reaching Russian ears.

Russian disclosure this week that it will send a 32-member delegation to San Francisco has reinforced belief that Moscow will try to wreck the conference and prevent signing of the American-British sponsored treaty.

The State Department bluntly told Russia in a formal note Thursday that it was too late to try to change the "final" treaty draft. The meeting, it said, is "not a conference to reopen negotiations of the terms of peace."

No Report On Ouster Probe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—The Senate's MacArthur Inquiry Committee voted 20 to 3 today against making any report on its two months of hearings.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga) said the majority feeling was that any report now on the firing of Gen. MacArthur would only "revive bitter controversy at a critical period in the Korean peace talks."

It was decided to let individuals file a statement on their views to be included in the hearing record to be transmitted later to the Senate.

This apparently would give a group of Republicans a chance to join in a tentative report they have prepared criticizing Truman administration foreign policies in the Far East since the 1950 Yalta conference.

Senator Cain (R-Wash) has prepared a draft of his views which he hopes some other Republicans would sign.

Showdown Vote Today on Aid

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—House Republicans massed strength today behind a drive to cut $2 billion from the administration's $8.5 billion foreign aid program.

Democratic leaders were confident they could blunt the drive but were not too certain they could prevent all of the proposed cut.

The $2 billion GOP target includes $651,250,000 already trimmed from the air program by the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The additional $1.4 billion many Republicans want to cut would come out of both military and economic aid, with Europe getting the heaviest trimming, around $900 million.

No attempt is expected to be made to cut the $415 million aid proposed for Greece and Turkey or the $62 million for South American countries.

And not all Republicans are in sympathy with the drive for the big reductions.

Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), a member of the House Foreign Affairs committee, told newsmen he believes an overall reduction of $1 billion would be in order. He indicated he would oppose further trimming.

Showdown voting is slated for late today.

House Passes Pension Over Truman's Veto

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—The House passed over President Truman's veto today a bill providing $120 monthly pensions to certain veterans disabled from causes not connected with their military service.

It applies only to veterans whose condition requires that they have the services of an attendant. The present pensions for these veterans range from $60 to $72 monthly.

The President vetoed the bill, Aug. 7, after it cleared both the Senate and the House without opposition.

More Texas Cities Have Water Crises

(By The Associated Press)

Texans sweated and grumbled under another hot sun today.

Crops shriveled. Water got scarcer.

The only relief was the report of showers at Beaumont and Galveston. Beaumont had .04 of an inch and Galveston .01 Thursday night.

Dalhart had a low of 63 degrees and Amarillo 67 this morning. The Dallas temperature didn't drop below 83. Corsicana's 109-degree maximum Thursday was its record high for the year.

Telephone workers at Fort Worth and Cleburne were back on their jobs today after a walkout Thursday in protest of the heat.

A brush and pasture fire that scorched 1,200 acres near Valley Mills in Central Texas was under control. Another fire whipped through 1,280 acres of powder-dry timber in Cherokee County of East Texas before it was controlled.

Fort Hood, west of Temple, joined the growing list of places imposing water restrictions because of a shrinking supply.

The underground water level at San Antonio fell to its lowest mark in history Thursday. R. A. Thompson, assistant general manager of the city water board, said drouth conditions make it difficult to maintain water pressure in all sections of the city.

Bridgeport led the state Thursday with 113 degrees.

Twenty-seven persons have died in 100-degree-plus temperatures. Cattle are being sold because pasture lands have dried up.

There have been walk-outs because of the heat as sweltering employees of telephone companies demand air-conditioning.

Galveston was an envied spot. The city on an island in the Gulf of Mexico had only 92 degrees.

Eventual Sale Of Bonds Sure Taylor States

To clarify the rules governing the sale of county bonds, should they be voted tomorrow for a county park and courthouse annex, Edgar Taylor, county judge, today called the attorney general's office in Austin.

George Sparks, in the bond department at the attorney general's office, told Judge Taylor that the Southwestern Investment Banking Voluntary Credit Restraint Committee, a voluntary organization set up to save money, material and labor for defense, has nothing to do with the attorney general's office.

"If the bonds are voted, the attorney general's office either will approve them or disapprove them, as they always have done heretofore," Judge Taylor said.

"If the state approves the bonds," he added, "the county would then make application for the materials and for the credit, and the voluntary credit restraint committee would pass it or reject it.

"There is a possibility that the sale of our bonds would be turned down temporarily, as the projects might be ruled non-essential. But applications may be re-submitted each quarter, and eventually we would get them approved."

The credit restraint committee, which has recently been criticized for disapproving some municipal bonds issues in Texas, has no actual authority. It is an eight-man panel, authorized by the Defense Production Act of 1950, and is supposed to make recommendations about which bond issues should be stopped and which approved. Investment houses are pledged not to lend money on any bond issue the committee has rejected.

If a municipal or county bond issue is postponed as non-essential by the credit restraint committee, the county may appeal the decision to a national board.

Basketball Fix Investigation In New Phase

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. (AP)—District Attorney Frank S. Hogan called a news conference today on college basketball's biggest scandal amid reports that his inquiry was entering a new phase.

Hoganannou nced the conference Thursday night shortly after a New York County (Manhattan) grand jury voted indictments against an unspecified number of persons, reportedly involved in the fixing of Bradley University games.

Details of the indictments were not made public, and Hogan said the true bills would be filed at the same time he holds his meeting with newsmen.

Since the scandal first broke last January, 31 players from six colleges and a number of gamblers have been implicated.

Five of these players, who came here voluntarily from the Bradley campus in Peoria, Ill., testified Thursday before the grand jury that returned the indictments. They waived immunity.

During a four-hour grand jury session, the players and 13 other witnesses were questioned. Hogan said policemen were among those who testified.

The five Bradley stars are Eugene Melchiorre, considered one of the game's best players; William Mann, George M. Chianakas, AAaron Peerce and Charles Grover.

When Hogan first broke the Bradley phase of the scandal several weeks ago, he said the players were offered $11,500 in bribes to lose by seven points to Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio, in the 1949 National Invitational Tournament here.

A last-minute field goal by a substitute not in the plot, Hogan said, ruined the betting coup by sliding the margin to five points, 82-77, for Bowling Green.

Rebuilt Star-lite Drive-in Is Open

A formal reopening of the Star-lite Drive-in theatre is planned within the next two weeks if installation of the lighting on the tower can be completed, Joe Love, owner, said today.

The theatre was open last night for the first time since the tower was destroyed in the windstorm of June 20. The tower has been rebuilt and lacks only the ornamental lighting to be entirely finished.

The concession stand and projection room, undamaged by the storm, were torn down to be rebuilt and enlarged. A new marquee has also been put up near the highway.

An added feature of the theatre will be an outdoor patio where seats will be provided for patrons who prefer to watch the movie outside their cars.

Cease-fire Delegates Work in Harmony; Red Compromise Indicated

MUNSAN, Korea, Aug. 17. (AP) — A four-man subcommittee tackled the Korean buffer zone deadlock today amid official indications the Communists are ready to compromise.

The subcommitteemen declined to comment on what happened in their first session — held in an unusual air of informality for Korean truce talks.

They scheduled their second session for 11 a.m. Saturday (7 p.m. Friday CST).

When they adjourned at 4:22 p.m. (12:22 a.m. CST) United Nations and Communist delegates posed together for the first time.

FRIENDLY POSES

While posing, Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, one of the U.N. representatives, put his arm around North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho.

The other two delegates — U. S. Rear Adm. Arleigh Burke and Chinese Maj. Gen. Hseih Fang — also appeared to be in good spirits.

While they were negotiating behind closed doors, their discussions were broken at times by outbursts of laughter.

The informal attitude — a complete reversal of the cold military formality of all full delegation meetings — strengthened an air of hopefulness brought to Kaesong by a Red broadcast.

The Peiping radio quoted the chief Communist negotiator as saying "it is possible to adjust" the Red demand for a demarcation line along the 38th Parallel "on the basis of terrain and mutual defense."

TERRAIN AND DEFENSIVE

Terrain and defense are the reasons the Allies have insisted on a military demarcation along present battle lines. These are generally north of the 38th Parallel.

Peiping radio, official voice of Red China, reported North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il immediately qualified his statement by saying the United Nations delegation must abandon "its unfair and unreasonable demands" before agreement can be reached.

The broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, said Nam made the statement at Thursday's Kaesong conference. This was the meeting which created the subcommittee.

It was considered significant that Nam was reported to have shown willingness to compromise at the very moment negotiators decided to try a new way to break the three-week-old impasse.

MEETS IN SECRECY

The subcommittee held its first meeting today.

Full dress negotiations were recessed until the subcommittee comes up with a recommendation —or there is some other need for a gathering of all 10 delegates.

The secrecy was to help the subcommitteemen fulfill the recommendation of Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U.N. delegate, to meet "around rather than across" the table.

City Puts Second New Well On Pump; Pressure Is Holding Up

A new city water well, the second to be completed since this summer's water shortage developed, was put into production today, W. J. Ramsey, city superintendent, said.

The well, No. 29, is at Avenue M and Seventh Street, near the recently completed No. 28. Drilling on that site made possible a saving in both time and money, Ramsey said. Both wells showed the same formations on drilling logs so no tests were run on No. 29 before putting it on the pump.

Difficulty in securing a big pump for the well caused the city to install a smaller pump. However, it is producing about 175 gallons of water per minute. No. 28, located between Thirteenth and Fourteenth Streets on Avenue K, has a larger pump and is delivering a steady 200 gallons per minute, Ramsey said.

Both wells have been checked and pumping is not expected to drop the water level to a critical low, Ramsey added, although both are being pumped almost continously. Neither had pumped any air since the pumps have been put in operation.

The addition of these two wells and the city's anti-watering ordinance has relieved the critical shortage, according to Ramsey, and city water pressure is generally good. Highland Park and Towle Place, both in the Southwest corner of Snyder, are the only areas where water pressure drops sharply during the weekly watering periods.

"When everybody starts watering out there, the pressure drops off," Ramsey said, "but it rebuilds immediately after watering stops." Ramsey said the pressure drop was due to the size of the water main rather than lack of water in storage.

Plans are being made to remedy this problem, Ramsey continued, but nothing can be done immediately.

Pressure is generally satisfactory in other sections of town, Ramsey concluded, and storage tanks are usually full to capacity before watering periods open for the day.

Boycott Of Iranian Oil Is Threatened

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 17. (AP) — Chief British negotiator Richard Stokes said today the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company will buy its oil elsewhere if Iran turns down the latest British proposal to settle the grave nationalization dispute.

The threat to boycott nationalized Iranian oil came in the midst of delicate negotiations to break the deadlock caused by Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's rejection of the British offer. The new plan reportedly has the backing of U. S. trouble-shooter W. Averell Harriman, peacemaker in the dispute.

Stokes said the British offer, which recognized Iranian oil nationalization, would give the Iranians a "50-50 principle" for sharing the profits from the world's fourth largest oil producing country.

Stokes said the British proposal "is the best offer I can make." He denied reports that Britain would bring in a more generous proposal at a negotiating session Saturday.

"If Iran does not accept these terms the purchasing organization (of the British-controlled company) would have to turn elsewhere for its requirements," Stokes said. "This is not politics, it is simple arithmetic."

The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company was reported stepping up its production in the shiekdom of Kuwait across the Persian Gulf from Iran where the Kuwait Oil Company, jointly owned by AIOC and the American Gulf Oil Corp., was producing 650,000 barrels a day. Scores of oil tankers diverted from Iran trade were loading crude oil at Mena Al Ahmadi for European refineries formerly supplies from Abadan, Iran.

Tanks and troops moved into Tehran today, the Moslem sabbath, to keep order during anti-British demonstrations planned by the terrorist organization, Fedayan Islam.

Fight Looms On Report Of RFC 'Scandal'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—Republican and Democratic Senators matched wits and wills today in a windup to an investigation of political influence on Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC) loans.

The senators, members of the Senate Banking Committee, called an "anything-can-happen" closed meeting to fight it out.

At issue were Republican members' demands for a report criticizing President Truman in connection with alleged political conniving with the RFC, and some others in the Democratic high command.

Senator Fulbright (D-Ark), who quarterbacks the Democratic majority on the issue, has demanded that the committee withhold all sanction from the Republicans' minority report, which he called "vicious" in its language.

Fulbright himself drew down Presidential wrath last February when he wrote a report, approved by the committee, unanimously charging that the RFC yielded improperly to a political influence ring, of which it said White House Aide Donald S. Dawson was a member.

Worship of State Seen Filling Vacuum of Modern Religion

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON

Recent dispatches from Germany show increasing unease over the progress made by the Communists in influencing German youth in the East Zone. The same psychological devices are used by which Hitler welded individuals into a mob: the uniform, the common gesture, the chanted slogans, the antiphonal responses, all orchestrally directed in mounting crescendo to an orgiastic emotional climax.

Of all the things that the Nazis did, and the Communists do, this is the wickedest. For it is a calculated perversion of the devotional instinct, away from God, toward a secular divinity. The posters carried aloft by youthful devotees displaying the faces of Communist leaders are substitutes for the Ikon of the Greek Orthodox Church, or for the symbols carried in Corpus Christi processions. The gestures, the chants, are liturgical: the speaker assumes the function of a priest, the audience (or congregation) joining in responses physical or verbal.

The function of religious liturgy is to create the sense of communion and community, inspire humble devotion before God, deepen inner contemplation, and contribute to that spiritual catharsis in which one makes one's peace with God and with mankind.

The secular liturgies contribute to no such catharsis. They direct not to inner contemplation but to aggressive outward actions, as the liturgies of primitive tribes end in a war dance. The new divinity is the state, and its personal symbols, whose faces are on the icons. The chants are a doxology. "Praise God from whom all blessings flow!" God is the state. From the state comes the ration card, without which none can eat. Therefore, to the state let be uttered grace before meals.

From the state comes work. Therefore, pray to the state that one's hands be strengthened.

The state is security—from the cradle to the grave—the source of all life and beneficence. Therefore, "Honor thy father and thy mother and thy days may be long. . . ."

The state is all power—creator and destroyer, holding the keys of heaven and hell, both of which are on this earth. Therefore, fear it and keep its commandments. For though the ways of God are inscrutable, they never err. The state, being God, cannot err, and the right hand of God is Stalin, or Hitler, or Tito, to whom be honor and glory, now and forevermore, amen.

* * *

This is blasphemy. These youth festivals are a black mass, but they cannot be answered by democratic arguments—or by throwing oranges to the participants or handing them ice-cream cones! The liturgies are devilish, but they recognize that the devotional instinct is a reality. The Nazis and the Communists do not fear democracy. They fear (and fight) every competing religion.

But irreligion is characteristic of our age, creating the spiritual vacuum into which the divine state pours its black masses. The worship of the state is by no means confined to Communists or Nazis. It is growing and encroaching upon every area of life, in this country as well as in others, asserting its divine rights wherever it meets a contender. God is proclaimed dead in American schools and universities which take no thought whatever for the cultivation of the soul. God has been proclaimed dead by modern materialism, technological science, and humanistic atheism, none of which originated in Russia.

But man is a worshipping creature. If there is no God to worship he worships himself as man or humanity. But since self-worship ends in anarchy and the dissolution of all natural law and natural relationships, God is reintroduced, to save some sort of order. He is the symbolic face on the hoisted ikon. And little children clap hands and sing—

"Praises to the newborn king."

But there is no peace on earth or mercy mild. Only a universal crucifixion of man by man, eternal damnation, without redemption.

Build, or Borrow?

Tomorrow the county will decide whether we will provide ourselves, our children, and future generations with ample recreational facilities.

Maybe the voters will defeat the county park bond issue, preferring to spend each summer driving about West Texas to borrow playgrounds in Lubbock and swimming pools in Colorado City. But we hope the citizens of this county will take this opportunity to provide their own pools and playgrounds, and will build a park that will bring people from a large area to spend their leisure here.

Somehow, the report persists that the park will be located in a remote corner of the county on the shore of the new lake.

The only proposition that has ever been considered is that the park be located in the center of population, near Snyder, and not at the lake. The park with the pool, show barns, playgrounds, and other big improvements would be here.

And to clarify the lake situation: The Colorado River Municipal Water District has offered tentatively to Scurry, Howard, and Ector Counties acreage at the lake for the use of the general public. If the people of this county so desire, land may be purchased on the lake front for picnic grounds, fishing facilities, and boat docks.

The recreational sites on the lake will go mostly into private hands, and unless there is some place provided for the general public there, most residents of Scurry County will not have access to the lake as a recreational spot.

Therefore it has been suggested that the county buy land there. But the main park would not be at the lake, but would be in Snyder.

It is time for the county to decide. We have the money, the oil companies are willng to pay more than 90 per cent of the tax for the park, and it is now up to us whether or not we will build our facilities or continue to borrow those of neighboring cities or just do without.

Great communities are built by men of vision, looking beyond present needs and anticipating future opportunities and obligations. We should build a park here to provide recreational facilities for years to come. Communities are built; they just don't happen.

Voting in Bond Issue Urged

An advertisement submitted to the Daily News for publication Wednesday promoting passage of the county park bond issue tomorrow was in error.

Instead of the wording, "We the undersigned citizens of Scurry County endorse the park bond issue," it should have read, "We the undersigned citizens of Scurry County urge you to vote Saturday."

Sheriff to Return Jail Escapee Here

Charles Gardner, 18, formerly of Fillmore, Calif., last of the five men who escaped from the county jail March 28, to be apprehended, is being returned to Snyder by Lloyd Merritt, sheriff. He is at Fort Ord, Calif.

Gardner is wanted here on a charge of robbery by assault on Elmer Sikes early last spring, the records show.

For the first time during the regime of Sherriff Merritt, he had to obtain permission from the governor to return a prisoner from out of state before the county would pay his expenses, officials in his office said today. Heretofore, Merritt usually went after the prisoner after a waiver had been signed.

Young Researcher Questioned About Fatal Mishap in Drugs

VERMILLION, S. D., Aug. 17. (AP)—A 28-year-old medical school researcher faced new questioning today after admitting a drug he administered by mistake caused the deaths of two human guinea pigs in a sedative experiment.

Dr. Louis F. Michalek, of the South Dakota Medical School staff, told a coroner's inquest Thursday he gave methadon instead of demerol in the test Tuesday.

Jack Clifford, 30, a technician, and Mrs. Arleys Pearson, 36, secretary in the university's pharmacology and psysiology department died in a hospital 24 hours after the drug was injected.

Dr. Michalek told jurors the normal dose of demerol is 100-150 milligrams, of methadon only 10 milligrams. He explained that he mistakenly gave each of the two victims 100 milligrams of methadon.

"Were the bottles labeled?" he was asked by Merlin Wicks, Jr., Caly County state's attorney.

"Yes," the doctor replied.

"Did you read them?"

"Yes."

"Then how do you account for this mistake?"

"It's one of those things, you can't account for. You check it, and then you just don't know how to account for it."

Dr. Michalek said he discovered the error within five minutes. Margery Stavland, another secretary in the department, was to have been the third subject for the experiment. Methadon was to have been used on her.

"I went to check the vials again to make sure I had the right one," the young doctor continues. "I picked up the vial and realized that I had already used the durg. I went for antidotes immediately.

Dr. Michalek said he himself was to have been the fourth person to undergo the test. Weeks asked him why he was placed last.

"It is common for the operator to serve as a subject in such an experiment," the witness said. "I was there alone and wanted to make sure the test was stabilized before I went under influence of the drug."

Dr. Donald Slaughter, dean of the medical school, said Dr. Michalek "made a tragic mistake, but mistakes have been made before." He added that the young researcher had an outstanding record and excellent references.

Byrne Drops Tribe While Yankees Win

(By The Associated Press)

Tommy Byrne, a hard luck guy from way back, found No. 13 the charm to ending Cleveland's all-winning rush toward the American League pennant.

The ex-Yankee, shunted to the last-place St. Louis Browns in mid-June, made his 13th start of the season Thursday. It coincided with a 13-game Cleveland win string. The result was rough on the Indians, whose lead was reduced to 1½ games by a 4-0 loss.

Byrne took complete command, ending the streak by driving home all four runs off loser Mike Garcia before he left the game with a sore arm back in the eight. Duane Pillette finished the shutout job on Cleveland which hadn't lost since Aug. 1.

YANKS SLASH LEAD

The 5-3 New York victory at Washington slashed a full game off the Indians' lead. Both of the other first division clubs lost — Boston to Philadelphia, 10-2, and Chicago to Detroit, 2-1.

There were faint stirrings of hope for a belated race in the National after New York knocked off Brooklyn, 2-1, for a series sweep and a six-game winning streak. The Dodger lead, however, still measured 9½ games with 43 to play.

St. Louis broke loose with six runs in the seventh to trim Pittsburgh, 9-6, and Chicago exploded four in the ninth to whip Cincinnati, 8-4, in the only night game in the majors. Boston and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

GIANTS PULL UP

Philadelphia climbed all over the Red Sox pitchers for 14 hits, including Zeke Zernial's 25th homerun.

Dizzy Trout was the big noise in the Tigers' triumph over the White Sox. He gave up only six hits and beat Joe Dobson with his fifth-inning home run.

Sal Maglie threw a four-hitter at the Dodgers for his 17th win. It took a wild pitch by Don Newcombe with two out in the seventh to give the Gianis the run that proved decisive. Billy Cox's homer gave the Dodgers their only run.

The six-game streak is the Giants' longest of the year.

Gerry Stzley, coming back on relief after losing Wednesday night, picked up his 14th win for the Cards at the expense of Murry Dickson.

Sell-Outs For Southwest Are Sure This Year

DALLAS, Aug. 17. (AP)—Forecasts of slumping football attendance in the Southwest Conference are rejected by pre-season ticket sales.

Some said the conference's home games would draw over one million and that last year's record-breaking 1,225,000 might be surpassed.

At least 10 sell-out games are possible.

Two games already are sell-outs — the Texas-Oklahoma contest at Dallas, Oct. 13, and the Texas-Texas A&M battle at College Station, Nov. 29. The Texas-Oklahoma game will draw 75,000 and the Texas-Aggie test, 40,000.

TCU, which can handle 34,000, looks for three sell - outs — its games with Texas, Texas A&M and SMU.

Rice, which drew 300,000 for six home games last year, thinks it will do as well this time and that games with Texas A&M and Navy will be sell-outs. Rice seats 70,000.

SMU expects all the seats will be filled when it plays Texas here Nov. 3 and that three other home games will draw 50,000 apiece.

Arkansas sees three possible sell-outs — TCU, Texas and Texas A&M. Arkansas handles 25,000 at home and more at Little Rock, where the Texas games will be played.

Baylor is using a new 50,000-seat stadium this year and probably won't fill it in any one game. But they're expecting a home attendance exceeding 150,000. Five games will be played at home.

Pre-season ticket sales generally are ahead of last year.

Frank Runs Up 28 Victories

(By The Associated Press)

Dean Frank, the winnin'est pitcher in organized baseball this season, made it 28 Thursday night. He beat Odessa, 6-2.

Frank hadn't pitched since Sunday, a long absence for him. He scattered seven Oiler hits and pitched shut out ball after the second.

Roswell's victory dropped the Oilers into third. Big Spring shaded Sweetwater, 6-5, to take over second but the Broncs still are 9½ games behind.

San Angelo added a half game to its lead by beating Vernon, 1-0 and 13-1. Midland's Indians nipped Artesia, 4-3.

A home run by Don Petchow in the eighth inning gave San Angelo the first game. The Colts used a 10-run fourth inning to make a run-away of the second.

Three runs in the eighth inning overtook Sweetwater and gave Big Spring that contest.

Julio Delawater singled across the winning run for Midland in the eighth.

2 Fall Short Of 20th Win

(By The Associated Press)

Two bids for Victory Number 20 failed Thursday night in the Texas League. Al Papai, Houston, and Bob Turley, San Antonio, failed to turn the trick.

Papai was coasting along behind a six-run lead going into the seventh. The Fort Worth Cats paraded 13 men to the plate and scored eight runs, all unearned, for an 8-6 victory.

Bob Turley made his bid against Dallas in the second game of a double-header, but lost, 3-2, when Dallas scored single runs in the first three innings. San Antonio won the opener, 3-0.

The loss dropped Dallas into fourth. Beaumont beat Oklahoma City, 4-3 and 19-5.

Shreveport shaded Tulsa, 2-1, in an 11-inning contest in which all runs were scored in the final inning.

Junior Golf Tourney Goes Into 8thRound

DURHAM, N. C., Aug. 17. (AP) — Practically everywhere you looked today in the round of eight of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce golf Tournament, there was a Southerner.

Of eight quarter finalists shooting for their first national championship, five were Southerners — Buddy Manderson, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Bill Parker, Tulsa, Okla.; Billy Deemer, Blacksburg, Va.; Doug Sanders, Cedartown, Ga., and Jackie Doss, Monroe, La.

Don Welch of Whitefish, Mont., and Bob Goetz of Wichita, Kas., complete the cut-down field.

Permian Bowl Opens Tonight

ODESSA, Aug. 17. (AP)—The Permian Bowl football game goes on tonight with 15,000 expected to watch schoolboy teams put on a scoring duel.

The West, packing speed and lightning passes, ruled a slight favorite to whip the East, which has a line average of 211 pounds.

Jess Neely, coach of Rice, is boss of the West which features the scat running of Jim Self of Wichita Falls, George Christian of Pecos and Bobby Jackson of Odessa, along with the passing of Ken Henson of Stanton.

Browns Favored To Take Down All-Stars In Tonight's Game

CHICAGO, Aug. 17. (AP) — The proud, prancing College All-Stars are expected tonight to learn what football really is all about when they crash into the amazing pro champion Cleveland Browns before 90,000 at Soldier Field in a sendoff of the 1951 grid season.

The All-Star spectacle, starts at 7:30 p.m. (CST).

Herman Hickman's All-Stars are packed with the cream of the 1950 collegiate crop.

The wise money says Paul Brown's National Football League champs will win by two touchdowns in this 18th of a series in which the pros lead nine to six, with two games tied.

Such makers of football headlines last fall as Kyle Rote of SMU, Bob Williams of Notre Dame, Whizzer White of Arizona State, Don Dufek and Chuck Ortmann of Michigan all will whale away Yale-born T-attack. Bud McFadin of Texas will start at left guard.

But except for their youth and enthusiasm, the All-Stars likely will be outplayed right down the line by a Brown juggernaut that has won five straight pro titles — four in the ill-fated All-America Conference and one in the NFL — and has been defeated only six times.

Brown, one of the game's keenest strategists and most reluctant losers, has his club bristling with specialists — men who do their jobs effectively and devastatingly.

If the all-stars can throttle the tremendous clutch-passing of Otto Graham; the booming accurate place-kicking of Lou Groza; and the power smashes of giant fullback Marion Motley, they'll have a chance.

THE DAYS OF OUR YOUTH

These are the days of innocent childhood, when the world is beautiful and the future is bright; when the morning stars sing together and Nature is attuned to the music of the spheres.

It is a time when boys and girls should heed the counsel of Solomon, who said: "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, when the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh when thou shalt say, 'I have no pleasure in them'."

It is a time when parents and teachers and friends should endeavor to fortify youth against the pitfalls of the most dangerous period of human life; when a slip or more serious mistake may take the brightness from the skies and leave only gloom and disillusionment.

Youth needs God—needs a deep sense of the Infinite and Eternal in human life. The churches of this community are endeavoring to meet this need.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is the storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Testimony In W. C. Fields' Contest Ends

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17. (AP) — Testimony has been completed in the latest contest of comedian W. C. Fields' estate and the court's decision will be announced Aug. 24.

Comedian Ed Wynn was the final witness Thursday in the suit of Mrs. Edith Williams, 71-year-old Chicago blind woman, for a widow's share of Fields' $771,428 estate. She claims Fields married her in 1893 under the name of Billy Ward and later changed his name to Billy Williams.

Superior Judge William R. McKay held court Thursday in Wynn's Brentwood home. Wynn was ill and unable to make the trip to downtown Los Angeles.

Wynn said he met Fields in New York in 1906 and 1907 and never knew him under any other name. Shown several photographs by Mrs. Williams' attorney, who said the pictures represent Fields at the time he supposedly was living with Mrs. Williams, Wynn said he could not recognize the subject.

"I see no dimple in these pictures," he remarked. "Mr. Fields always had a chin dimple. I had one, too, and we always pointed to our chins when we met."

Wynn said he and Fields shared a dressing room for a time.

Fields who died Christmas Day, 1946, married Mrs. Harriet Fields in San Francisco in 1900. They ceased living together in 1909 but never were divorced and she won in the California courts her suit for the major share of the estate.

Mrs. Williams contends she married Fields when she was 13 and bore him seven children and that he deserted her in Chicago in 1910.

Four Charges of Arson To Be Filed in Race Tensions in Dallas

DALLAS, Aug. 17. (AP) — Arson charges were on file today against four men in the burning of a house in a Dallas area where Negro houses have been bombed.

Officers did not link the cases with the bombings, but Ranger Captain E. J. Banks said "the arsons are entirely the same racial case. This time they involve fire instead of bombs as a terror weapon."

Charged are T. D. Peacock, Jr., 24, of Fort Worth, a former convict; D. C. (Cotton) Bailey, 37, of Dallas; Burl Foster, 30, of Mesquite, who received a five-year suspended burglary sentence as a juvenile in 1935, and E. H. (Red) White, 42, of Dallas.

Allowance Of Sherman's Widow Is Announced

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—The government will provide $75 a month to the widow of Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, late Chief of Naval Operations, according to assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg.

Mrs. Rosenberg mentioned the figure in testifying before the House Armed Services Committee in support of proposed legislation to increase annuities for survivors of members of the armed forces.

TEXAS TINY GETS BIGGEST ON PLACE

LONG BEACH, Calif., Aug. 17. (AP)—It wasn't the biggest accident, but ambulance men swore it was the biggest victim they'd ever seen.

With much huffing and puffing they extricated Guy Cherry, 27, from his car after it jumped a curb and rammed into a store Thursday. Despite minor cuts and bruises, he was given the biggest bed at Seaside Hospital.

Nothing else would do. Cherry, a disk jockey whose nom de spin is Texas Tiny, weighs 640 pounds.

Police Check Street Cars, Find Escapee

CHICAGO, Aug. 17. (AP)—Harry Williams, the husky killer-rapist, who beat a guard to death and escaped from a death cell in the Cook County jail, was captured on a street car without a struggle last night.

The 20-year-old Negro's capture lacked the dramatic overtones of his escape over the jail wall less than 47 hours before.

Williams, neatly dressed, was riding in a street car reading a Bible when four policemen in a squad car spotted him. Two of the officers in plain clothes, quietly boarded the car, captured Williams and took him off. Other passengers apparently didn't know what was going on.

Williams surrendered meekly, insisting that police had the wrong man, that his name was "Billy Lilly." He had a driver's license bearing that name. But police fingerprinted him and established his identity. Williams, sullen and smirking by turns, was questioned more than two hours and finally admitted his identity.

Some neat police work brought about Williams' capture.

A relative of the Negro's had phoned police while Williams rung her front doorbell. He fled when he heard police sirens nearing, but officers figured he would have to catch certain street cars. He was on the third car they examined.

Abduction Of Child Tried In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH Aug. 17. (AP) — Two men stood charged today with burglary with intent to kidnap in the abduction of a 2½-year-old girl from the home of a couple who planned to adopt her.

Complaints were filed against Walter Carl Barnette, the child's father, and Reo Matthew Mares, 27, of Denver. Mares was released on $5,000 bond.

A statewide alert was out for Barnette. The child, Caroll Gene, a chubby blue-eyed blonde, was taken from the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. U. Sechler.

Mares was seized by the Sechlers and held at pistol point until police arrived. The other man escaped with the child.

The Sechlers had cared for Carroll Gene since April. Se was placed in their custody by Barnette's wife, Mrs. Edith Barnette.

The Barnettes had acquired the child from an unwed mother shortly after birth, said Assistant District Attorney James E. Whitmore.

Placement of Carroll Gene with the Sechlers was the aftermath of a separation between the Barnettes which ended with a divorce judgment.

Sechler, 44, a millwright, said two men and two unidentified women made three trips to his home Wednesday night in attempts to carry Carroll Gene away.

Truman Called Only Practical Choice of Democrats in 1952

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON — One way to understand why most political observers are becoming increasingly convinced that Harry S. Truman will be a candidate to succeed himself is to try to answer a simple question. This is: "Who else is there" It is a remarkably difficult question to answer.

A good many Democrats have toyed with the idea of nominating Dwight D. Eisenhower, but the toying has become more and more academic as time goes on. One purpose of Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg's trip to Paris, according to reliable reports, is to try to feel out the political intentions of her old friend Eisenhower. But the plain fact is that if Eisenhower has any intentions whatsoever of accepting the Democratic nomination, some very shrewd political operators, including men like Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Sen. James Duff, have been suffering from remarkable delusions.

* * *

Eisenhower has made no final commitments to anyone. But it goes without saying that Eisenhower has discussed politics with visitors — he could not, under the circumstances, have avoided doing so. These conversations have pointed to the following conclusions: first, that Eisenhower is willing to take the Republican nomination if offered; second, that he realizes that he must take a stand on basic issues well before the Republican convention; and third, that his stand on domestic issues is firmly Republican.

Eisenhower's own public and private statements before he went to Europe confirm the latter point. The faint hope of the dwindling band of Eisenhower Democrats is that Eisenhower will take the Democratic nomination if Sen. Robert A. Taft is nominated by the Republicans, and Truman then bows out. But if the above conclusions are correct — and those who should know are very categorical on all three points — the nomination of Eisenhower on the Democratic ticket looks like a pipe dream. This is barring a war situation, in which case, of course, all political bets are off.

The regular Democrats' first choice after Truman, according to a poll of the Democratic National Committee, is Sen. Paul A. Douglas. But what is not generally realized (although it is very well realized by Douglas himself) is the fact that Douglas has three strikes against him.

* * *

Strike one, of course, is the fact that Truman intensely dislikes him, and would certainly move heaven and earth to prevent his nomination. Strike two is the fact that Douglas suffers from the drastic disadvantage of having written prolifically on political and economic subjects. Certain past writings could — and most certainly would — be quoted out of context to "prove" that Douglas is a roaring radical, a Socialist and probably a Communist at heart. Strike three is that Douglas himself has told all and sundry that he is not qualified by temperament for the Presidency, and that he apparently quite sincerely believes this. On balance, Douglas' nomination seems an extremely remote possibility.

There is the usual collection of very dark horses, of course. There are such able Senators as William Fulbright and Estes Kefauver. But both are also heartily disliked by Truman; both are from border states, endangering the Negro vote; and neither has real national stature yet. There is Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson, but he is far from popular with the regulars. There is Justice William Douglas, hero of the New Dealers, but probably the longest shot of all, since the New Dealers no longer dominate the party.

Finally, there is Chief Justice Fred Vinson, universally put forward as Truman's own choice to succeed himself, if Truman does not run. It is possible to imagine a situation in which Truman would bow out at the last moment, name Vinson as his candidate in a speech to the convention, and secure Vinson's nomination by switching to him all the Truman-committed delegates. Yet this is not very easy to imagine.

* * *

It is true that the Chief Justice has kept his hand in, and is personally popular with the organization men. But Vinson has no real national following, and the Supreme Court is anything but a good jumping-off place for the White House. It is possible that, given the nomination of Eisenhower on the Republican ticket, the Democrats might more or less throw in the sponge, nominating Vinson as a gesture to hold the party together in a time of inevitable defeat. But, as 1948 demonstrated, good politicians never accept defeat as inevitable.

Moreover, although Truman can certainly have the nomination for himself if he wants it, he does not now appear popular or powerful enough in his party to dictate the nomination of a hand-picked successor. Even Franklin D. Roosevelt would have found this far from easy, and Truman is no Roosevelt. For all these reasons, the question "Who else is there?" seems at the moment to suggest no really practical answer. And for these same reasons, the pressure on Truman to run again is likely to mount. Add the fact that the available evidence clearly suggests that this is Truman's intention anyway, and the nomination of Harry S. Truman on the Democratic ticket next year begins to seem a pretty tempting bet.

Young Czech UnderBigBond

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 17 (AP)—United States authorities today were holding Gustav Davidovic, a Czech, under 1,000,000 marks ($238,000) bond on charges of illegally shipping nearly half a million dollars worth of strategic materials from West Germany to Red-ruled Czechoclovakia.

The U. S. District Court here set the bail at the highest figure ever asked in an American court in Germany and served notice it would investigate any who offered to put up the bond.

Chief U. S. Attorney Worth B. Macauley charged Davidovic with engineering at least 11 big shipments — including heavy machines for making tank turrets and heavy guns — from West Germany to Czechoclovakai.

United States customs guards turned back 11 such shipments at the German-Czechoslovak border Macauley said, but Davidovic allegedly managed to get them out by other routes.

Cadet Processing Slows At West Point

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 17. (AP)—The processing of the cadets accused of cheating at examinations slowed down Thursday as review boards continued to hold hearings.

Only one ousted youth left the Military Academy. In the two previous days, 44 of the 90 accused cadets had returned to civilian life.

A public information officer, denying rumors that the slowdown indicated a new phase in the scandal — explained that each accused cadet is given every opportunity to produce witnesses.

Red Youths Predict More Uprisings In East

BERLIN, Aug. 17. (AP)—Further Communist uprisings in East Asia, especially in Malaya and Burma, were forecast today by young Reds from these countries attending the World Youth "Peace" Festival in East Berlin.

Delegates from the so-called "colonial countries" held the spotlight for a day and used it to trumpet against "British Imperialism" and pledge solidarity with the Soviet Union.

U. N. Shoulders Big Korean Relief Bill

TOKYO, Aug. 17. (AP)—The United Nations has given the Republic of Korea $366 million in relief supplies, equipment and services since the war began, the Far East command announced today.

Of the total, $350 million came from the United States.

An additional $150 million is programmed for delivery during the fiscal year 1952.

Blonde Marie Aber, 20, was happy, above, when she won the title of Miss Colorado of 1951, but now she has changed her mind and resigned the title. Her resignation was submitted after her return to Denver from a trip to New Mexico during which sponsors of the contest hunted for her for more than 24 hours. She said she was afraid people might think she hadn't won the title "fair and square" although sponsors of the event had said she did.

Mr. Manicure, Mr. Mustache Discuss The Nation's Future

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. (AP)—To the Hon. Trygve Lie, Secretary General, the United Nations.

Dear Mr. Lie:

The other day a friend took me into a fashionable men's bar in Manhattan. It is as exclusive as $1 a drink can make it.

As we stood gulping, two middle-aged men dressed with conservative elegance entered and took a place at the bar beside us.

My friend whispered. They're about the two biggest gangsters in America. They really run the underworld."

The two men ordered a fine old brandy. And I couldn't help overhearing their conversation. On account of I am a cautious man, I am going to call them Mr. Manicure and Mr. Mustache — instead of their real names.

"I'm worried about the way the world is going today," began Mr. Manicure.

JUST VIOLENCE

"Yes, indeed, I know what you mean," said Mr. Mustache. "Nothing but violence, violence, violence — everywhere. It's shocking."

"Why don't they get organized upstairs like we did downstairs?" continued Mr. Manicure. "It would be a happier world. There would be no gunplay. Everybody could sit down, talk over how to cut up the pie, take his own piece, and go home to his wife and kids."

"I know what you mean," mused Mr. Mustache. "It's cheaper for everybody to make a living by cooperating. That way everybody could have a car and a summer home and eat and drink in the best places. Live and let live, I say."

Just then a small mousy drunk — he looked like a bookkeeper on a spree — wandered in. He pushed woozily in between the two men and mumbled, "Move over, bums."

"LET'S MOVE UP"

Well, Mr. Lie, I really held my breath. Nobody shoved gangsters around like that in the 1920's.

But Mr. Manicure merely moved away distastefully. And Mr. Mustache just lifted a finger and pointed. Two big house detectives moved in, lifted up the little drunk gently, and carried him out.

"Getting back to our subject," said Mr. Manicure. "If we have another international war it may upset out own apple cart. These so-called statesmen are away behind us in organization. It's a crime really a crime.

"Sometimes I think we ought to move in upstairs — just to protect ourselves."

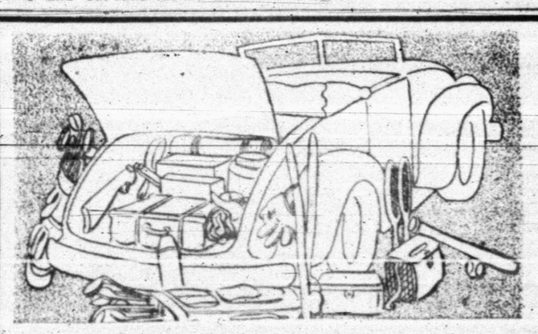

"H-m-m-m-m-," said Mr. Mustache, thoughtfully. "I'm glad to see you thinking along those lines. First, we'd have to —"

Well, Mr. Lie, they dropped their voices then, and I couldn't hear any more. But I thought you might want to know. They couldn't really do what they say, could they?"

Sincerely,

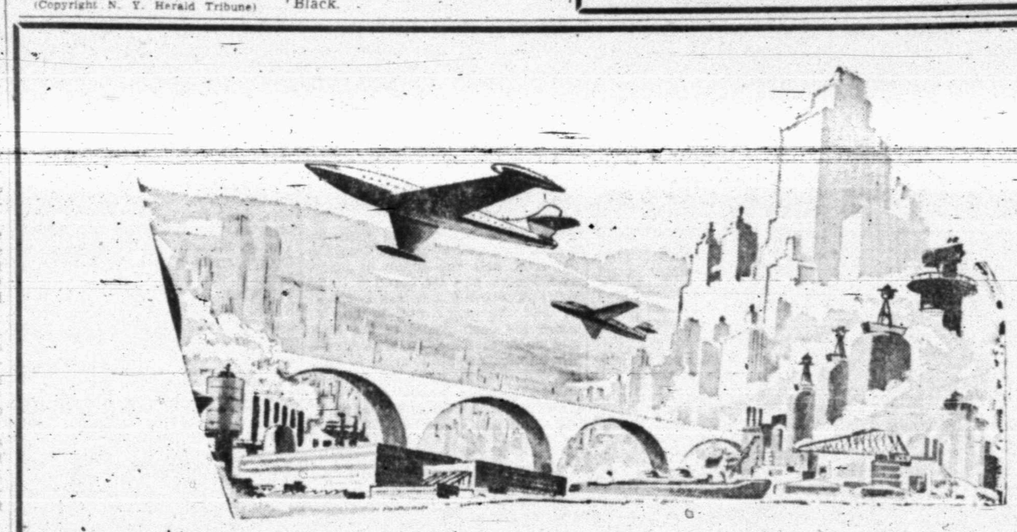

Wilbur Peebie, Patriot.

TALK OF THE TOWN

By FRANCES BROOKS

An "oil widow" is a term loosely applied in the oil circles to those ladies whose husbands have for so many years appeared late for meals and parties that the ladies, hating to relegate their spouses permanently to the dog house, have said, in substance, "The heck with it", and have merrily gone about entertaining themselves as best they could.

Here you see some cheerful examples of oil widows. Snapped at the Lion Oil Camp, a group Tuesday were having a friendly few hands of cards to forget the heat and night assignments some of their husbands would likely call in about. Extreme left, reading left to right are Mrs. Jim Reed, Mrs. R. H. Griffin, Mrs. A. C. Floyd, and Mrs. J. C. Bucy. In the picture, right, are, left to right, Mrs. J. E. Dupont, Mrs. Lonnie Smith, Mrs. E. H. Muhlbach, and Mrs. J. T. Burris . . . . "Let the men have their wells—we have our fun" is the wise philosophy a lot of women married to oilmen have decided.

The LEISURE CLUB is an apt name for Snyder's newest bridge group. So many clubs have sprung up that it begins to tax a woman's imagination to choose a title, but this one is christened perfectly, say the members. The J. E. BUCYS, Lion Oil Camp, were hosts to it Wednesday night, Mrs. Bucy serving a dessert course. Mrs. R. H. CURNUTTE, who was guest of the evening, managed to win both bingo prizes. Mrs. STERLING PARKER taking high score for women, Mrs. HERBERT FEATHER, second, and MR. BUCY winning high for men, A. C. FLOYD, second. Others present were Miss Leah Davis, Miss Florance Dunigan, Mr. and Mrs. Prentis Bass, Mr. Feather, Mr. Parker, and Mrs. Floyd. The Basses will entertain the group Aug. 29.

Here's what you worry about these arid days, if you are the type who's happiest when worrying along constructivety. The Texas Game, Fish & Oyster Commission are sending out a release to the effect that there are whip scorpions out this year. These vicious - sounding critters are nothing more nor less than our old-fashioned "vinegaroon", the animal with all the odd gadgets which most any farm boy or girl has encountered at some time. Its low-slung body is about two and one-fourth inches long. It has two folded pincers in front, eight legs, and a tail two inches long. He has more joints and apparatusses but he's so repulsive looking, even the Texas G.F&O bunch couldn't stand to look at him any longer for a more detailed count. Ornery looking as he is, his bite contains no venom harmful to humans. The little stinker inhabits our plains, along with horned toads and grass burs, stays on a straight protein diet —cockroaches, crickets, grasshoppers, and flies. He has no apparent use for water, getting the little liquid he requires FROM HIS VICTIMS. He feels right at home here.

"I rode "Fancy Pants" and Mrs. Ely was mounted on "Jezebel", recalled MRS. W. E. HOLCOMB, who forgot the rush of life in an insurance firm on her recent trip west. The two women prowled the Royal Gorge on "cute little mules" above named. Mrs. Holcomb said "Gun Powder" was a bit too frisky for them, but they genuinely enjoyed their tours astride their quieter mounts, who could walk "straight up". . . . They were away two weeks, with Mrs. Ely's sister who has a mountain cabin set down in scenic grandeur.

ASK MILDRED

Send your questions to Ask Mildred, Snyder Daily News, or to Mrs. Mildred Sparks, home demonstration agent, Courthouse, Snyder.

Here's a coffee cake recipe which you might like to pass on: Ingredients . . .

2 cups white sugar
¾ cup butter or shortening
¾ cup melted bitter chocolate
4 eggs
2 cups flour
1 cup strong coffee
1 teaspoon soda dissolved in coffee
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup pecans (chopped)

Mix in that order. Makes 2 small loafs.

Your Red Devil's Food Cake was wonderful . . . Now, how about an icing recipe for it? Thanks. M.C.

* * *

This is one of my favorite ideas and I hope that you will print this in the "Ask Mildred" columns. It is on how to keep from defrosting your refrigerator so often. Mrs. A.B.D.

Close the refrigerator door on a dollar bill, if you can pull the bill out easily, then there is a door leak, check in several places; always cover foods to be put in the refrigerator; temperature may be too low in your refrigerator. It should be 35 F to 45 F.

* * *

Why do the pressure cooker manuals say to store the cooker with the lid off. Mrs. M.T.

Storing it closed causes the aluminum to pit and discolor.

* * *

Could you tell me how to make peach preserves? Mrs. C.L.S.

Any variety of white or yellow peach of good dessert quality will make satisfactory preserves if chosen at the firm ripe stage. To prepare, wash and pare the peaches. Either leave them whole or cut them into uniform pieces such as halves quarters or eighths. To each pound of prepared fruit allow ¾ to 1 pound sugar. Combine the fruit and the sugar in alternate layers and let stand 8 to 10 hours or overnight before cooking. Or add the sugar and ¼ cup of water for each pound of the fruit and cook at once. In either case stir carefully while heating to boiling. Boil rapidly until the syrup is somewhat thick, stirring constantly to prevent burning. Pour at once into hot sterlized jars and seal.

* * *

Tell me how to remove ice cream from clothing? Mrs. W. W. H.

Ice cream leaves a sugary spot with protein in it which may be removed with cool water. For any remaining color caused by fruit or berries, treat the spot as for any fruit stain. Then wash in warm soap suds. If materials are not washable, sponge with carbon tetrachloride to remove the grease. Let them dry then sponge with cold water to remove any stain from the sugar and egg in the ice cream. If stain is not completely removed, sponge with cold water, then sprinkle pepsin on dampened stain; let stand one-half hour, then brush off and rinse well.

Following the wedding, an informal reception was held in the bride's home. The table was lighted with white tapers, and all the appointments were in crystal. A bouquet of pastel rosebuds centered the table which was covered with an imported, hand made linen cloth.

The wedding cake was a white square topped with a circle of tiny yellow rosebuds and green leaves.

Hastening Tan's Fade-Out May Get Spotty Results

(By The Associated Press)

Let your tan fade away for best results. Women strive all summer long to get a nice tan and then try to eliminate it over night. Actually the fading process which lightens your tan merely because you haven't been in the sun is best. Sometimes if you try to employ a bleach—whether it is lemon or cucumber or the prepared kind — you are likely to get spotty results.

This is particularly true because most women expect beauty preparations to work miracles in minutes. Whether they use some they have devised themselves or another which has been recommended, they want instantaneous action.

During the summer women show their greatest urgency for quick test gimmes in the use of sun-tan lotions. Every woman wants to be a sun-bronzed goddess overnight, and it is impossible for most of them. After a gal has used a sun-tan cream or lotion for a day or two and her skin becomes a mere sun-shade darker than normal, she will go on to a new lotion, discard her present one, or use several, one over the other. In the end, usually, she challenges the sun, gets a terrific sunburn and ruins all chances for a smooth tan for weeks to come.

Most women will try a night cream or day cream or a lotion intended for their individual needs, and if they don't see a change in their complexions at once will go on to something new.

Any beauty product should be given a chance to prove its effectiveness. You wouldn't discard a brand new car or a sewing machine or a household gadget before giving it a chance to do its job properly, so why throw away cosmetics before they have been given a good test?

If you have a particularly lively tan and freckles predominate, wear your long-sleeved and high necked dresses, come fall. However, freckles can be pretty, and unless you have a phobia about them, why worry? After they have faded you can once again don your strapless, backless gowns without a care.

One New York model who is a redhead has the bother of large, red, unattractive freckles at the end of the season. She solves it by wearing a wide stole over her off-the-shoulder glamor gowns and nobody is the wiser. She keeps the stole wrapped around her even when she is dancing.

Two Hostesses Give Shower At Humble Camp

Mrs C. B. Keever, Jr., and Mrs. W. N. Reese of the Humble Camp Wednesday entertained with an anticipation shower honoring Mrs. Harry N. Strickland.

The party was given in the Humble Recreation Hall. Mrs. Reese receiving guests in a blue and pink summer cotton frock. Mrs. Keever in a chartreuse and brown eyelet dress.

The honoree wore blue. Mrs. Walker Dabbs, who presided at the punch bowl, chose a tan-striped summer frock complemented with pearls at her throat.

The hostesses had arranged a service table which was covered with a lace cloth over blue. Punch was served from a large amber punch bowl, pink and blue cakes from a lazy Susan. Decorations carried out the baby idea.

The guest list included Mrs. C. A. Likes, Mrs. Craig Evans, Mrs. H. R. Hurst, Mrs. P. E. Lewis, Mrs. John Boltz, Mrs. W. H. Elliot, Mrs. J. D. Crane, Mrs. J. L. Young, Mrs. E. E. Newnham, Mrs. G. B. Randolph, Mrs. C. N. Phelps, Mrs. E. O. Kaiser, and Mrs. D. T. Colley, Mrs. J. B. Smith, Mrs. E. W. McLeod, Mrs. V. L. Streety from the Cogdell Camp north of town and Mrs. F. L. Hunter and Mrs. Mary Sawlis from Dunn.
