Clay Says Soviets May Face 'Revolts'

HUSBAND, 62, CHARGES BRIDE, 19, MARRIED HIM AS BABY SITTER—Mrs. Evelyn C. Ferrier, 19-year-old bride, holds her six-months-old baby at her sister's home in Atlanta, Ga., where she is staying since her 62-year-old husband sued her for divorce. He claims she married him just to get a baby sitter. The husband, Louis Ferrier, stated in his petition that they were married Oct. 11; that his wife took the baby with them on their honeymoon, and that his wife left him as a baby sitter while on the trip. Truman Gives Full Backing To New Deal

(By The Associated Press)

PRESIDENT Truman praised the New Deal Thursday night as representing not only Democratic pride "in what we have done" but as "a program for going forward."

He spoke in a radio program sponsored by the International Ladies Garment Workers union, sent over ABC's network.

In New York, meanwhile, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey dealt with social injustice in America. He called for "a single standard of equal justice and equal treatment for all."

New Deal Praised

Dewey took part in a memorial dinner honoring the late Alfred E. Smith, New York governor who ran for the presidency in 1928 and lost to Republican Herbert Hoover.

Mr. Truman told his radio audience that the New Deal fostered under President Franklin D. Roosevelt built up a "great progressive body of laws." He said the Republicans are out to kill it.

The Republicans, Mr. Truman said, are waiting to get control of Congress and the presidency to do "a real hatchet job."

Gov. Dewey was billed as a non-political speaker at the Smith dinner and not as the Republican presidential nominee opposed to Mr. Truman.

Dewey Discusses Civil Rights

Dewey talked generally of civil rights—a field in which southern Democrats and President Truman have found sharp grounds for disagreement.

From his experience as governor of New York state, with its many minority peoples, Dewey said, he is convinced that it is possible to meet "even our most difficult problems of discrimination against minority groups, of prejudice, of bigotry, of denial of certain human rights."

Henry A. Wallace, the Progressive party candidate for president, meanwhile made news in two ways:

Wallace Loses Test

1. He lost in the Supreme court an attempt to get on the presidential ballot in Illinois. The court held the party as not qualified under state law.

2. He said in a speech for the ABC network of New York that what is needed is resolute planning for an America where "the

Wright Talks Here Tonight

THE junior member of the States' Rights national political ticket, Gov. Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi, will pay Lubbock a visit this afternoon and tonight in a whirlwind swing through the Plains area.

Gov. Wright, vice presidential running mate with Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, will make a campaign talk at 8 p. m. in the district courtroom, third floor of the Lubbock county courthouse. The talk will be broadcast over stations KCBD and KFYO.

To Be Met By Group

Wright, who is following Gov. Thurmond by a month on the second "ballot blitz" of the Lone Star state by the States' Righters, is to speak in Plainview at 3 p. m. today before coming to Lubbock.

He is to be met in Plainview by a Lubbock States' Rights committee headed by former Lieut.-Gov. John Lee Smith, James O. Cade, C. L. Harris and S. P. Boling, and will be driven here for tonight's talk. He is traveling by plane and will leave here Saturday morning for Wichita Falls.

A former member of the Mississippi Senate and House and a former lieutenant-governor, Gov. Wright was elected chief executive of his state in 1944. He was the first man to call the Southern Governors' conference after the Civil Rights program made its appearance under President Truman's endorsement.

New Plan For Berlin Hits Soviet Snag

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Oct. 21.—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky tonight was reported to have advanced some objections to the new plan of the six "neutral" Security Council members for settling the Berlin crisis.

Sources said, however, Vishinsky still was awaiting formal instructions from Moscow as to its final attitude on the compromise formula submitted to the four big powers last night.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister conferred for about an hour in the Soviet embassy with Argentine delegate Juan A. Bramuglia, who is presiding over the Security Council's Berlin discussions.

Objection Given

Vishinsky was reported by one source to have given Moscow's reply on the new resolution, which will be submitted to the council tomorrow, but later it was stated he still had no word from the Kremlin.

Vishinsky was said to have objected particularly to the resolution's provision that the western powers would carry out their agreement to establish the Russian zone mark as the sole currency in Berlin under four-power control. He commented that the proposed currency settlement would not be simultaneous with the lifting of the Berlin blockade.

Vishinsky previously had talked with Bramuglia briefly last night when he was handed a copy of the resolution worked out by representatives of China, Argentina, Canada, Colombia, Syria and Belgium.

Neutrals Confer

Sources close to the negotiators said Vishinsky had raised no objections to the proposal of the six neutrals but quickly passed it on to Moscow last night. An American official spokesman said the compromise plan was acceptable and satisfactory but cautioned against optimism until the Soviet answer was known.

It was understood that the resolution does not call the Berlin blockade a threat to peace as charged by the western powers in their complaint to the council against Russia. Neutral sources said the plan provides:

1. An appeal to the big four to make no move which might lead to war.

2. Russia would lift the Berlin blockade completely.

3. Russia, Britain, France and

Most Russians Oppose Moscow Regime, Escaped Airmen Claim

By GEORGE HERALD
INS Staff Correspondent

LINZ, Austria, Oct. 21—Two Soviet airmen who escaped from the Ukraine said today that 70 per cent of Russia's population is opposed to the Communist regime in Moscow but is afraid to do anything about it.

The airmen compared their flight for freedom with the freedom leap of Mrs. Oksana Kosenkina, the Russian school teacher who jumped out of the Russian consulate in New York to avoid being sent back home.

They said they were prompted to follow her "inspiring example" as a result of the Voice of America broadcasts which told Russians about the case.

Guard Lieut. Piotr Pirogov, 28, and Lieut. Anatalya Barsov, 31, told of the mistreatment of Soviet farmers, voting at "the point of a gun" and Stalin's broken promises of "a better life" in Russia after the war.

They were interviewed at Camp McCauley near where they landed a twin-engined bomber Oct. 9 after a 600-mile flight from behind the iron curtain.

Their presence in the American zone of Austria was made known only yesterday

Reds Assailed For Fighting Recovery Plan

(By The International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Gen. Lucius D. Clay declared tonight that Russian-dominated countries will revolt and set up free governments as soon as prosperity returns to Europe.

The U. S. commander in Germany told the Alfred E. Smith Memorial foundation dinner that "that day is approaching rapidly."

Clay, who arrived from Europe Wednesday night and returns immediately after the dinner, spoke on the same program with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential candidate.

Europe Regaining Stability

Dewey dealt primarily with the subject of human rights. In an oblique reference to the civil rights question which has split the Democratic party he said the government must be so administered as to provide "one single standard of equal justice and equal treatment for all."

The general, who flew to New York after a full day of high-level strategy conferences in Washington, lashed the Soviets for blocking European recovery at every turn, and asserted:

"Meantime, Europe is regaining stability . . . With the return of economic stability now under way comes political stability. With both political and economic stability comes the ability of the proud people of the free countries of Europe who value their freedoms, to defend their freedoms.

Kremlin Blocks Efforts

"When this comes, no government will be able to implant its will upon the peoples of Europe, and throughout Europe, one by one, governments which represent small groups who have obtained control by threat of external force, will be replaced by governments elected by and responsible to the people governed."

Clay said peace "can only come about when the free people of the world are strong . . . and that day is approaching rapidly."

The general recounted U. S., British and French efforts to rehabilitate Germany as a key to general European recovery. He told how every move was blocked by the Kremlin and how the western powers finally moved on their own to establish a separate western German state.

Russia, recognizing that German recovery would stem their

More Planes For Air Lift Okayed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP) — President Truman today authorized General Lucius D. Clay, American commander in Germany, to add up to 66 additional C-54 transport planes for service connected with the Berlin air lift.

The transports will be provided by the Air Forces as they are called for by Gen. Clay to keep blockaded Berlin supplied, a White House official said.

The official said he understood that more than 200 of the large transports already are in the air lift service, either in directly provisioning the Russian-blockaded city or in sidelines to the so-called "operation vittles."

Additional Planes Okayed

Clay visited the White House this morning with Secretary of the Army Royall for a half hour conference with Mr. Truman.

Later in the day, it was understood, Clay attended a session of the National Security council at the White House. The council is made up of the secretaries of State, Defense, Army, Navy and Air, and other government leaders.

It was assumed that Clay had requested the additional transports in the morning session and had received approval of the request from the assembled members of the Security Council.

The White House official who disclosed the new authority for Gen. Clay was Eben Ayres, assistant press secretary. Ayres said the additional planes will be at the disposal of Clay as the general requests them and that some may not enter the air lift service di-

Texan Elected New Legion Commander

By JOHN R. HENRY
INS Staff Correspondent

MIAMI, Oct. 21.—Perry Brown, a trim, 56-year-old Beaumont, Tex., veteran of two world wars, today was unanimously elected national commander of the American Legion.

Brown's election climaxed the Legion's 30th annual convention in Miami in which it reversed a traditional policy to demand pensions for veterans of both world wars.

Brown told newsmen after his election that "outside influences" are attempting to split the legion into factions representing World War I and II.

He admitted that two groups could not be expected to cooperate fully with each other at once, but added:

"We are working all the time toward a better understanding and sometimes this is obtained fastest after locking horns."

The Legion passed a resolution calling for a law that would pay 55-year-old veterans $60 monthly. Legion authorities estimated such a measure would cost the nation $2,200,000,000 to launch the program.

Brown Wins Easily

In four convention days of emphasis on national defense, Americanism and housing, the Legion assailed Communism at home and Russia aggression abroad.

Brown, a 89th division machine gunner in World War I and a tactics teacher in the last war, defeated James F. Green of Omaha, and George Craig, of Brazil, Ind., to succeed James F. O'Neill as national commander.

The balloting gave Brown 2,176 votes, Green 1,262, and Craig six, after the latter had given the 130 votes of his own Indiana department to Brown.

Although he refused to concede the election to Brown as Craig suggested, the 32-year-old Omaha attorney rose at the end of the Water Problems Discussed Here

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

Members of the South Plains chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers, at a monthly dinner meeting Thursday night at Hilton hotel, heard reviews of three aspects of the Panhandle and South Plains underground water situation, with discussion by two of the organization's members and a dinner guest.

Max Tidmore, president of the chapter, presided at the meeting and introduced Bill Anderson and Bob Lacy as prospective junior members of the organization and Norman Igo, at present a junior member, as a prospective regular member.

Pampa Man Speaks

Tidmore presented H. N. Roberts, local engineer, who at the outset commented that the area's water supply has for years been a matter of technical interest, and in the immediate years past, has also become of popular interest.

Roberts introduced Wayland Merriman of Pampa as the first speaker in a three-speaker symposium, who reviewed the occurrence and supply of underground water on the South Plains.

Merriman pointed out that the

Fighting Still Rages In Korea

(By International News Service)

SEOUL, Oct. 22 (Friday)— Korean army headqparters in Seoul reported that heavy fighting is still raging today in Sunchon, one of the two towns seized by Communist-led rebels in American-occupied South Korea.

Three Korean army battalions are attempting to retake the city, but an army spokesman said the rebels were putting up stiff resistance with arms and ammunition stolen from a warehouse at Yosu.

Yosu, 12 miles to the south of Sunchon, is still controlled by the rebels.

Earlier, President Syngman Rhee announced that loyal government troops were driving toward the battle area north of Yosu and that 1,300 insurgents were being encircled in the Chiri mountains.

Late reports said that more than a dozen government planes were seeking the rebels who fled to the rugged mountains but there has been no indication that any of the insurgents have surrendered.

President Rhee last night predicted that the revolt would be completely "mopped up" within four days.

He reported "many arrests" in Seoul of ringleaders of the re-

Jewish Forces Claim New Gains To South

TEL AVIV, Oct. 21. (INS)—Israeli troops claimed the capture of Biblical Beersheba and some 1,000 Egyptian troops in southern Palestine today in a final "mop up" drive completed 24 hours before a cease-fire deadline set by the United Nations.

UN mediator Ralph Bunche established 6:00 a. m. (CST) Friday as the hour at which fighting is to halt in the Negev for four days to permit peaceful settlement of the Israeli-Egyptian dispute which erupted into fighting a week ago.

Both sides fought to the last to achieve the maximum military advantage before the cease-fire became effective.

Israeli spokesmen said the fall of Beersheba and other lightning Israeli drives completed an Egyptian rout in southern Palestine.

23 Persons Hospitalized After Santa Fe Limited Jumps Tracks

GARDEN CITY, Kas., Oct. 21 (AP) — The Santa Fe's eastbound California Limited jumped the tracks near here today, sending 10 of its 12 cars hurtling from the road bed.

Twenty-three passengers were injured severely enough to require hospital treatment. No one was killed.

Dr. G. R. Hastings, of Garden City, reported about 65 passengers were treated, most of them at the scene, for cuts, bruises and shock. Those not requiring hospitalization continued their trip on a relief train.

A brakeman, Earl Gentry of La Junta, Colo., reported a broken rail had been discovered at the wreck scene. He said he thought it caused the accident.

WORK TO START IN NOVEMBER

Plans For $1,000,000 Grain Elevator Announced Here

PLANS for a $1,000,000 grain elevator, one of the largest and most modern in the Southwest, to be built on the outskirts of Lubbock were announced here Thursday afternoon by J. Frank Triplett, vice president and general manager of the Producers Grain corporation of Amarillo.

Work on the 2,000,000-bushel concrete and steel elevator, to be constructed approximately three miles southeast of downtown Lubbock, is scheduled to start by early November, and Triplett expressed hope that the structure will be completed in time to accomodate the 1949 wheat crop in June.

Served by Two Railroads

The project will add further to Greater Lubbock's building total for the year, already at record proportions.

"We think this plant will not only help the grain farmers around Lubbock, but that it will also be an asset to the city of Lubbock," Triplett said as he discussed plans for the project.

The elevator, he said, will have 167 bins approximately 100 feet high, and will feature the most modern machinery.

It will be equipped to receive grain by rail or truck, and will be able to spot as many as 75 railroad cars at a time. Both the Santa Fe and Fort Worth and Denver City railroads will serve the plant, which will handle as much as 55,000 bushels of grain per hour.

Could Add Second Unit

The elevator will be similar in pattern to two other 2,000,000-bushel Producers' Grain corporation units in Amarillo and Fort

Terry-Yoakum Fair Draws Opening Day Crowd Of 2,500

(Special To The Avalanche)

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 21.—An estimated opening day crowd of 2,500 flocked the exhibits and midway of the Terry-Yoakum fair today as judging of community exhibits was completed by George Samson of Post.

Gomez placed first in the community exhibits division, with Wellman, second, Union, third, and Sligo, fourth.

Judging of individual exhibits will be held tomorrow with Samson placing the winners.

Stock Judging Slated

Ray Mowery of the Texas Tech animal husbandry department will begin judging the livestock divisions at 1:30 tomorrow. Winners will be named in dairy and beef cattle, swine, and club boys' calves divisions.

Fair officials said the hog show this year was exceptional, with some of the finest animals in the area on display. Special praise also was given the merchants exhibits, which officials said compared favorably with those at the Panhandle-South Plains fair held recently in Lubbock.

The three day fair was preceded yesterday by the Harvest Holiday and Merchant's jubilee at which Miss Daina Ruth McElroy, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. H. McElroy was crowned queen.

Fair officials are expecting an even larger crowd Friday, and a record attendance on closing day Saturday.

PLANE IS MISSING

ALGIERS, Oct. 21. (AP)—Military authorities said here tonight they had little hope for 17 men aboard a French Air Force B-26 bomber which has been missing for 36 hours.

Martial Law To Curb French Riots Urged

PARIS, Oct. 21. (AP) — Some French cabinet ministers were reported to be urging Premier Henri Queuille to declare martial law in the riot-torn coal fields where more than 170 police and soldiers were injured in battles with strikers today.

Reports tonight said the ministers felt the premier should not only declare a state of siege in the coal fields but send more troops there and call up reserves.

Police reinforcements were flown into Grand-Combe in southern France where 6,000 miners, their wives and friends hurled scrap iron, sticks and stones and routed a smaller number of soldiers and militarized police today. A total of 150 soldiers and police were injured, 20 of them seriously.

SECOND PROGRAM SLATED TONIGHT

Melchior, Famed Metropolitan Tenor, Enchants Audience Here

LAURITZ MELCHIOR, who is heroic in both stature and vocal endowment, provided a rare and wonderful treat to a packed house in his appearance with the Lubbock Symphony orchestra Thursday night at Senior High school auditorium The program opened the fall concert season

An identical program will be repeated tonight at 8 o'clock at the auditorium, to which single admissions have been sold.

Beaming with good humor, despite a wretched cold which he contracted early this week in Corpus Christi, the Metropolitan's "Great Dane," encnanted his audience with the remarkable voice that is acclaimed throughout the world. His numbers ranged from Wagnerian arias, as only Melchior can sing them, to the beloved "Ave Maria" by Gounod and his rich, pure voice was heart-warming in "Because" by d'Hardelot, which was greeted with a thunder of applause. For his first encore the heroic tenor sang Canino's heart-broken "Vesti la Giubba" from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" and his final encores were two lighter love songs,

New Equipment To Aid In Study Of Atom Is Set Up At Cornell

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 21. (U.P.)—A new $2,000,000 Nuclear Studies Laboratory, with a 300-million-electron-volt synchrotron and manned by a 59-member staff, has been dedicated at Cornell University.

Erected on a site overlooking Beebe Lake on the campus, the laboratory center will provide Cornell's physicists with new tools for their investigation of the atom, officials said.

With the huge synchrotron, the physicists hope to produce the mysterious particles called mesons which are believed to hold the atom together. They also plan to concentrate on experiments to learn whether familiar electrical laws stand up under the high energies that a synchrotron produces.

In addition, cosmic ray experiments will be undertaken in a long, roof-deck laboratory.

Staff Grew

The staff, which has grown from a handful of nuclear physicists attracted to Cornell in the 1930's, also includes several other scientists who won recognition for their wartime atomic work. Some of them were among the first of Cornell's nuclear physicists and have returned to the campus to resume fundamental research.

One is Dr. M. Stanley Livingston, who built a small cyclotron which was destined in the words of Dr. Hans A. Bethe to produce "more research per ton of iron than any other electron." Livingston's machine is still in use.

Bethe, who headed a division at Los Alamos during the war, won world fame in 1938 by propounding the generally accepted theory of six nuclear reactions to explain the heat of the sun.

Another is Dr. Lloyd P. Smith, who, with several other scientists, constructed a magnetron which successfully separated the isotopes of lithium and other light elements.

Dr. Robert F. Bacher, who was first named to direct the nuclear laboratory, has since been called by President Truman to became technical member of the Atomic Energy Commission. He and his pre-war associates at Cornell elucidated the first neutron spectral line.

The Nuclear Laboratory building measures 160 feet long and 48 feet wide, with a useful floor space of 30,000 square feet. Attached by personnel and service tunnels is the special synchrotron building, 70 feet long, 68 feet wide and 24 feet high.

Much of the research work will center around the 85-ton synchrotron. Financial support for building the machine came from the Office of Naval Research.

Both the laboratory and the synchrotron building are built of reinforced concrete faced with buff brick and are air-conditioned to assure successful continuous operation of high-voltage equipment during periods of high humidity. The buildings require a potential 1,000 kilowatts of power.

The main structure contains 16 single and three double laboratories four radio-chemistry labs, two machine shops and an electronics shop. There also are stockrooms containing some 3,000 items, synchrotron control and detector rooms, two dark rooms and conference and seminar facilities. The building is equipped also with a kitchen, recreation and shower rooms.

Radiation Shield

Thirty feet of earth and concrete shield the control and detector rooms, located in a tunnel near the synchrotron. The shielding is designed to protect delicate measuring instruments from scattered radiation which might be caused by operation of the machine.

In the roof-top cosmic ray laboratory will be housed equipment for recording experiments. Roof space also will be devoted to setting up Geiger-Muller counters to measure extensive cosmic ray showers.

Other special features of the main structure include a loading platform and hoist, an elevator capable of lifting 4,000 pounds, and special aluminum sunshades on the south side of the building to keep out direct sun rays in summer and admit them in winter.

Old Man River Tired Of Same Course, May Change Path Again

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21. (U.P.)—The Mississippi River is threatening to change its course again and leave its two main deepwater ports—New Orleans and Baton Rouge—high and dry.

During the thousands of years that the Mississippi has been running south to the Gulf of Mexico, it has changed the course of its channel many times, leaving "oxbow lakes" where it used to run.

Now, the river is threatening to run west, at Simmsport, La., about 100 airline miles above New Orleans, and make the Atachafalaya River its channel. The Atchafalaya, running south, is about five miles west of the Mississippi at Simmsport.

It and the Mississippi are connected by Old River. When the Mississippi is high, its water runs through Old River into the Atchafalaya. When the Atchafalya is high, it runs through Old River into the Mississippi.

Engineers fear that a big enough flood would cause the Mississippi to adopt the Atchafalya as a permanent channel. This would shorten the Mississippi's route to the Gulf 163 miles and ruin New Orleans and Baton Rogue as ports. Baton Rogue is as far north as ocean-going vessels can sail on the Mississippi.

Army Steps In

But this time, Maj. Gen. Robert Crawford, president of the Mississippi River Commission says the government will spend $25,000,000 to keep the river from changing its mind.

Army engineers plan to build a steel gate on Long Bayou, another connecting stream between the Atchafalaya and Mississippi, just above Old River and parallel to it. This gate can be closed at will and control the flow of the Mississippi to the west and then to the south.

Then they plan to dam Old River and build a navigation lock, so ships can pass back and fourth from the Mississippi and Atchafalaya. Thus, in flood time, water from the Mississippi could be diverted into the Atchafalaya, but without any danger of its getting out of hand and carving out a new channel.

Salvation Army Caring For Missing Galveston Teacher

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 21. (U.P.)—Salvation Army headquarters here today reported they were caring for Jane Stevens, 32-year-old Galveston elementary school teacher, who disappeared nine days ago.

The attractive teacher drove to the emergency home Tuesday night, a week after she dropped from sight, Maj. Raymond McNeiland said.

"She was terribly confused . . . she wanted advice," he said.

Miss Stevens had not been heard from since early Tuesday, when she drove her brother-in-law, B. M. Barnes, to work in Galveston from the Barnes home in nearby Dickinson.

Maj. McNeiland said the Salvation Army had been careful "not to question her" as to her whereabouts.

Miss Stevens, a graduate of Rice Institute, had been employed by the Galveston public school system for 12 years. She taught handicapped children.

Hamburger Steaks Are Rated Most Popular Food In U. S.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 21 (U.P.)—Of all foods, hamburgers seem to satisfy the greatest number of people, according to Arthur W. Dana, kitchen consultant for the American Hotel Association.

"This was demonstrated during World War II, when Army recruits from east, west, north and south ate hamburger steak with relish," he said.

Dana also told Cornell University students:

Restaurant patrons will eat more when the price includes the entire meal. If dessert and appetizer are extra, about 60 per cent will take dessert; only 20 or 30 per cent will take an appetizer.

Milk has become increasingly popular as a beverage. At least 50 per cent of industrial cafeteria patrons choose milk instead of coffee.

Giant Palomar Telescope Floats On Streams Of Oil

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 21 (U.P.)—The million pounds of moving parts of the famous 200-inch Mt. Palomar telescope are kept floating on lubricating oil to prevent friction.

Steady streams of oil are pumped through small holes, keeping the telescope lifted and rolling, like a ball in a vertical jet of water, asid A. G. Ingalls, an editor of Scientific American.

"This reduces the friction so much that if you were to lay your hand on the side of the telescope, you could easily turn the whole million pounds, provided it were not locked," Ingalls told a General Electric science forum.

IN ON A LIMB—Heading for Hollywood is Jean Fulton, who won a contest among girls of the Union of South Africa and Rhodesia. The 18-year-old Miss South Africa now has a movie contract. Jean celebrates by going out on a limb (pretty, too) in Durban, South Africa.

Plans Complete For Latin American Tour

FORT WORTH, Oct. 21 (U.P.) — Plans were complete today for a nine-day good will tour of Central America and Mexico by 45 business men under the sponsorship of the chamber of commerce.

Before leaving the United States in a chartered plane, they will stop in New Orleans on Oct. 30. There, they will tour International house and port facilities.

They will leave New Orleans Oct. 31 and stop six hours in Merida, Yucatan, before going on to Guatemala. They will leave Guatemala for Mexico City on Nov. 4.

In both countries, the business men will entertain, and be entertained by government officials and business leaders.

Damage Suit Filed In Oklahoma Cemetery Treasure Hunt Case

MADILL, Okla., Oct. 21. (U.P.)—The Madill Record disclosed today that a damage suit seeking $11,490 has been filed in district court here as an aftermath of the ghoulish Marshall county cemetery "treasure hunt" case.

Lucy Brown, mother of Altha Brown, Indian woman who died November 6, 1936, filed the suit jointly with four others of kin to the deceased. The petition named Sid Hall, Sherman, Tex., defendant.

Hall is one of eight persons charged with molesting at least two graves at the Star cemetery, six miles southeast of Kingston, Okla., during an alleged 13-month search for "gold bullion, silver coins and jewelry."

Saw Gold-Lined Coffin

The four who filed the damage suit are Polk Brown, Lewis Brown, Carrie Brown and Lela Hanley.

The judgment sought includes $1,000 for attorney fees and $490 for damage to a steel vault in which the Indian woman was buried.

Gene Jackson, another defendant in the criminal action, told Deputy Sheriff Urkle Hargis and county attorney O. C. Barnes that he saw a gold-lined coffin while he was working for a Denison, Tex., contractor who moved the cemetery from lower ground now inundated by Lake Texoma.

Hall, Jackson and J. B. Wright, the latter of Sherman, were bound over to district court after pleas of innocent were entered at preliminary hearings last week before Peace Justice Charles S. Girden here.

Japan has nearly doubled its production of matches in the last six months.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

TWENTY years from now what is happening today will seem to have been as inevitable as the flowing of the tides, and we will wonder why we were so mystified and did not take better advantage of our opportunities.

SHE REALLY WORKED

WHEN BROWNFIELD residents stage their annual Harvest holiday which is climaxed with coronation of a queen they really put their hearts into the preparations. Mrs. Edith Stice, for instance, worked so hard in selling votes for her candidate, Miss Daina Ruth McElroy, who won, incidentally, that she was forced to view the parade from an ambulance.

She expended so much energy she had to be taken to the hospital early Wednesday morning.

AUTUMN HAZE

THERE'S a logical enough explanation of the haze which is so much a part of autumn. It's a dimming of the surface layers of the atmosphere caused by minute particles, usually solid specks in the air—smoke from burning leaves, lint from the gins, dust from the fields.

In autumn the lower levels of cooling air often lie quietly under the blanket of warmer air above. With no weather turbulence to disturb them, the lazy particles hang for hours across the landscape.

Out here on our beautiful plains, the effect of autumnal haze is like that of rose-colored glasses. When you drive out to get a view of the sunsets, you find it fashioning distant imagined boundaries for the mind's eye.

Autumn in this fair land provides a rich backdrop for reminiscence and dreams.

CAREFUL THERE!

HALLOWE'EN candles, costumes and bonfires can cause serious fire tragedies, the National Board of Fire Underwriters warns, in a plea to parents to safeguard children against burns while celebrating the traditional event.

Children should use flashlights instead of candles in their jack-o-lanterns, it is pointed out. Flashlights, especially those whose reflector heads can be removed, are excellent for illuminating pumpkins, and with fresh batteries they will stay lighted for hours. Many children have been burned trying to light candles or in upsetting pumpkins containing lighted candles.

FOR FURTHER safety from fire at Hallowe'en the board suggests: Don't dress children in flimsy, lacy cotton or rayon costumes. They are too easily ignited.

Don't use flammable decorations for parties, or place lighted candles in windows.

You can flame-proof a cotton costume by rinsing it in the following solution: 9 ounces of borax, 4 ounces of boric acid and one gallon of warm water. The fabric should be well saturated, wrung out by hand and hung to dry. This method is effective in stopping flamespread, but it will not survive laundering.

Cabinet Officer Says Visitors Who Want To See Him In Washington Better Hurry Up

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.— Sideglances at celebrities:

A cabinet officer (no sense embarrassing him by naming him) has been urging a New York reporter to visit him in Washington ever since taking office. The other day they met on the street and the cabinet member said, "For Pete's sake, if you're coming you'd better come soon!"

A doctor in a place named Ben, Ore., can take a bow when (and, of course, if) Thomas E. Dewey is elected president.

May Have Saved Dewey

He cured the governor of a serious attack of laryngitis which had threatened to cause what would have been a suspicion-provoking postponement of the Dewey-Stassen debate. Men who know their political fortunes believe that the primary race was so nip and tuck at that time that Dewey's loss of voice would have given Oregon to Stassen and turned the "prairie fire" into a landslide.

Joe Louis is returning to the ring because most of the money on which he planned to retire has been won from him by a series of golfing friends, who never beat him more than one-up and thus never shattered Joe's sublime confidence in his game. Remember in the old days when fighters used to be forced to return to the ring only because their saloons ran dry of customers?

Band Conductor Is Busy

Fred Waring's difficult daily and Thursday evening broadcasts are but a part of his industrious life. On the side, the Penn State man runs a million dollar music publishing business, conducts a glee-club and choir school, supervises the manufacture of about 250,000 electric "mixers" per year and operates the huge Shawnee Inn and golf club at Shawnee, Pa.

Dr. William D. Coolidge, America's foremost X-Ray authority, and the man for whom a great X-Ray laboratory has been named in Milwaukee, recalls that when he first became interested in the rays at M.I.T. they were regarded with more awed confusion than the latter-day A-bomb.

The New Jersey state legislature banned "X-Rays in opera glasses"—where the rays didn't exist. A London clothier sold countless X-ray dresses to modest maidens who read that vagrant rays would enable the world to see through ordinary clothing.

Eisenhower Wins One

Lou Little, the football coach at Columbia, was ready to move to Yale last year. Everything had been settled. All provisions had been made at Yale for his arrival. Then it was announced that Gen. Eisenhower would become Columbia's president. Lou told his Yale friends that he wanted to say both hello and goodbye to the general. A Yale man who knows Eisenhower well pleaded with Lou not to see Ike, for he know Eisenhower's enormous charm.

But Lou said "Bosh, it's all settled" and walked in. Five minutes later he emerged, as if in a dream, and announced that he was staying at Columbia.

We found out the other day what the general said to the great coach, who is a moulder of men and opinion in his own right. He looked at Lou with those earnest eyes and said, very quietly, "Lou, two things persuaded me to take this position as president of Columbia. The memory of Nicholas Murray Butler and my belief that I would have you as an associate."

Speaking of football, E. V. Durling, one of my favorite columnists, used to coach the game at Woodberry Forest, Va., and Gen. Douglas MacArthur's closest friend in the United States is Red Blaik, who coaches West Point.

Nate Stein, "the mayor of Hollywood," went to Germany recently with a plan to break the vicious cigaret black-market over there by importing tons of U. S. cigarets. He failed, but returned with rights to what could be one of the vivid movies of this tense era: "Operation Vittles."

Commercial Hatching Of Chicks In Texas Shows Slight Decline

AUSTIN, Oct. 21. (AP) — Commercial hatching of chicks in Texas reached a figure of 1,500,000 last month, 17 per cent below September production the previous year, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported today.

During this season of the year, the bulk of the hatch is for broiler production, and demand for chicks was very strong, the reporting agency said.

The average price per 100 for straight run chicks on Oct. 1 was $15.55 for heavy breeds; $14.50 for light breeds; and $15 for crossbred chicks.

Texas farm flocks laid 172 million eggs in September compared with 174 million in September a year earlier, but the rate of lay at 9.4 eggs per hen was more than last year's of 9.1.

Texas-Oklahoma Border Strip Homesteading Called Unlikely

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—Bureau of land management officials are dubious over the possibility of opening of a strip of land on the Oklahoma-Texas border to homesteaders.

The strip consists of about 9000 acres of federal land strung out for 156 miles on the Cimarron base line. It lies within the fields and fences of present property owners.

Federal ownership of the land was disclosed in settlement of a 100-year-old Oklahoma-Texas boundary dispute. Congress last year authorized its sale at $1.25 an acre to persons whose occupancy dates back at least 20 years—and gave them until Nov. 14 this year to buy.

Bureau officials predicted today that most of the occupants will plunk down the money for the land they have been using. This, despite the fact that few of them have yet accepted the offer.

If they don't, then the land will be opened to homesteading—with no cash payment—under land laws. It won't be sold to people who haven't occupied it.

But bureau officials spoke of the homesteading as "theoretical." They don't think it will happen.

Ultrafax, New Communications Method, Tested In Washington

By FRANK E. CAREY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—In just two minutes and 21 seconds, the complete text of "Gone With the Wind"— 1047 printed pages—was sent by radio-television across three miles of Washington today.

It was a demonstration of ultrafax, a new high-speed communications method. A picture of the page is flashed by the transmitter and —at the receiving end—is copied on microfilm.

Officials of the Radio Corporation of America, one of the developers of ultrafax, said development of the microfilm would require about five minutes, and the developed film could then be viewed immediately.

Many Uses Foreseen

For the future, David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America foresaw:

Letters flashing across the country at the speed of lightning.

Military intelligence pouring as many words into the Pentagon in a single minute as wartime communications systems could handle in 24 hours.

Sarnoff made these predictions in an address prepared for the first public demonstration of ultrafax—a new communications system that combines television, radio-relays and high speed photography.

Sarnoff envisioned:

1. Instantaneous tranmission and reception of complete editions of newspapers into every home equipped with a television set and "ultrafax" attachments.

"Radio Mail" Predicted

2. A "radio-mail" system by which mail would be "broadcast" and processed by ultraflax, and then picked up by Uncle Sam's mailmen at receiving points.

3. The transmission of a full-length motion picture from a single negative in the production studio simultaneously to the screens of thousands of motion picture theaters throughout the country.

Ultrafax, developed by RCA's laboratories in cooperation with Eastman Kodak Co. and the National Broadcasting Co., is described as working this way:

Material to be transmitted is "scanned" by a special television camera which transmits it at the rate of 30 pictures a second.

On the receiving end, an apparatus translates the televised signals into impulses of light that are recorded on motion picture film or photographic paper.

A war-developed system of high speed film processing is used to deliver a single frame ready for printing or projecting in 45 seconds.

Jim Wells Borrows Ballot Boxes After Election Protests

ALICE, Oct. 21. (AP)—Ballot boxes, empty ones, that is, are very much in demand in Jim Wells county.

Seems about every time there's an election in Jim Wells county, somebody protests. Then comes an investigantion and the boxes are impounded. And the boxes are kept intact for the investigators. Naturally, that takes a lot of boxes.

Most counties used the same boxes for the July primary and the Aug. 28 run-off and will be using them again Nov. 2. But not Jim Wells county.

The 48 boxes used in the first primary were impounded. Nine of them, found to be empty, were later released and put back in circulation.

Then in August, 20 more boxes were impounded and are being held for the grand jury.

County Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin was combing South Texas today for more boxes. Duval county, which also has hot elections, has promised to loan 20 old boxes it won't be needing and Kleberg county has four spares.

"That's not enough though. Laughlin needs more boxes. Got any old election boxes kicking around?

Southern Slave Crafts Help Make Unique Charleston Museum

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21 (AP)—Miriam B. Wilson of Charleston, S. C., has been making a leisurely trip through the south in search of slave crafts.

In New Orleans, Miss Wilson said her slave mart museum in Charleston is the only museum devoted to the preservation of slave crafts. It contains more than 100 exhibits.

Miss Wilson was excited about two types of slave-made bricks she found in southern Louisiana, as well as a slave-made wooden mouthpiece of a mule bridle.

She said slave crafts are not exactly scarce, but are frequently difficult to track down. She estimated that 90 per cent of all southern plantations were made by slave labor, but she added the present owners usually do not want to part with any authentic part of their residences.

Uncle Sam Spikes Mississippi River With 225 Barrels Of Rum

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 21 (AP)—The government played host to Old Man River and the Mississippi catfish here when federal customs agents spiked the muddy water with rum.

Between 9,000 and 10,000 gallons of rum were poured into the river. It was shipped here from the Virgin Islands during the war but went unclaimed because of the heavy import tax.

Solon Says Congress May Make HST, Hoover Senate 'Members'

By ROSE McKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Sen. Brewster (R) Me., predicted today that the next Congress will pass legislation making President Truman and ex-President Hoover voteless members of the Senate.

He said that of course his prediction is based upon his belief that Mr. Truman will be defeated by Gov. Dewey in the Nov. 2 elections.

However, Brewster told a news conference that regardless of the outcome of the elections, he will re-introduce his bill to make former presidents ex-officio members of the Senate.

Would Receive Senate Pay

He said he has talked over his proposed bill with Mr. Truman and the President is in favor of it.

Mr. Truman has said that the happiest years of his life were spent in the Senate.

Former presidents under the Brewster bill would receive for life the full $12,500 salary of a senator plus a tax-free $2,500 allowance for expenses and a seat on the floor.

They would have no vote but they would have senatorial offices and senatorial assistants. A bill similar to the Brewster legislation has been introduced in the House by Rep. Canfield (R) N. J.

GOPs. Demos Back Plan

Brewster, in predicting that his bill will be passed by the next Congress, said that Democrats have always been for it. In addition, he said, he has been informed his bill has been acceptable to Senate GOP policy Chief Taft (R) Ohio. Brewster added:

"There should be some way in which former presidents could contribute to the Senate. I think both Mr. Truman and Mr. Hoover would accept the opportunity the bill provides to be of help in Senate discussions and business."

Senate Race Not Decided

Brewster conceded that it is still questionable whether Republicans or Democrats will win control of the Senate in the coming election. He said:

"It is a battle and the outcome is not in the bag. But reports I have received in the last few weeks while cruising about the country has been most encouraging for Republicans."

Brewster said that it is impossible to make exact predictions on the outcome of the Senate race. He explained:

"Two years ago we picked up two Senate seats we never expected and missed one we did expect. So you can't be sure."

The two Republican seats which he said the GOP did not expect to gain in 1946 are held by Sens. Malone (R) Nevada and Watkins (R) Utah. The one Brewster said they expected but did not get is held by Sen. O'Mahoney (D) Wyo.

With most senators out of Washington, capital hill experts have been preoccupied mainly on anticipating which party will organize the Senate when the 81st Congress convenes in January.

They pointed out that regardless of the election outcome, Republicans will hold a majority when the 81st Senate meets.

Before any new senators are sworn in, the line up will be 33 Republicans to 30 Democrats. It is said that this could be important for it will give the GOP the opportunity for setting the rules for the admission of new senators and for defining the regulations in case of contests of the election returns.

The outcome of several Senate races could be close enough to set off contested decisions.

St. Louis Visitor Goes On Party, Ends Up Without Pants

E. ST. LOUIS, Ill., Oct. 21 (AP)—A visitor from Braddock, N. D., was a long way from home here, and without his pants.

An all-night party ended for Wesley Thompson when state highway patrolmen found him wandering in his shorts and stocking feet on a deserted street in the outskirts.

As well as he could remember, the party began when he met two women and had a friendly drink in a St. Louis tavern. Somewhere along the line a taxi driver entered the picture and then there was a long cab ride and more taverns.

What happened to his clothes, his companions and his money, Thompson couldn't even guess.

Kiwanis Directors, Officers Introduced

Introduction of new officers and board of directors members who will take office Jan. 1, and reports by several members who attended the annual convention of the Texas-Oklahoma district of Kiwanis International featured yesterday's Kiwanis club luncheon at Hotel Lubbock.

The club voted to hold the Nov. 11 meeting at the O. L. Slaton Junior High school, on invitation of Principal G. E. Dawson ,who said the meal will be served in the school cafeteria and the program will be given in the auditorium by the school's chorus. The day is to be a public school holiday, along with a general business holiday.

It was announced that Cong. Geo. Mahon will speak at next week's luncheon on the United Nations and its relation to public affairs.

Reporting on the Fort Worth convention trip, each of five members of the club's Hot Shots, spoke briefly .They were Harry Delaney, Ralph Stroup, Jack Hall, Raymond E. Hamilton, and Roy Bass, the latter detailing more of convention activities than the others. Fred Sparks, president-elect of the club, who also attended the convention, was in charge of the program, and also spoke briefly.

Club president L. E. Davis was in the chair, with invocation by Dr. Burton Coffman ,Houston minister and past president of a Houston Kiwanis club, who is here in a meeting at Broadway Church of Christ.

'Sausage' Trees On Campus At UCLA Have Possibilities

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21 (AP)—Three sausage trees are blooming on the UCLA campus and if the squirus carolinensis (campus squirrels, UCLA branch) can't read, there may be a lot of drunk squirrels soon.

The trees don't grow sausages, unfortunately. They are native to Africa, were brought here and hand-pollinated last summer by the botany department. They now boast 50 gourd-like fruit, 12-inches long.

But the fruit is not for eating. Signs read: "Experimental tree—please do not pick fruit."

For African squirrels cut off the sausages, nip off the end and let the inside ferment. On occasion they dig in. The result is something to behold.

Now if some undergraduate just doesn't beat the squirrels to it.

Hardin-Simmons Frosh Here Today For Game With Tech Yearlings

Undefeated H-SU First Year Men Favored In Jones Stadium Tussle

The Hardin-Simmons university freshmen, undefeated in four games this year, will take the field in Jones Stadium this afternoon heavily favored to lick a good Texas Tech freshman team in the only meeting of the two teams this year.

The Cowboy freshmen are favored on the basis of their outstanding performances to date, as well as the quality of the material on hand. The Abilene institution's freshmen defeated WTSTC first year men 20-0, while Tech absorbed a 6-0 loss at their hands.

Game Considered Important

An indication of how important the game is to waning Hardin-Simmons prestige is the presence here of Warren Woodson, H-SU head football coach, to direct the freshmen. Ordinarily Woodson leaves such duties to Freshman Coach Al Milch, but this game is against Texas Tech and the Cowboys are out to win it.

Last year the Red Raider Fish fought the H-SU first year men to a 0-0 draw, when the Cowboy gridders were heavy favorites to win. It was in that game that Ray Crenshaw, reserve varsity quarterback for Tech, had his arm broken, leading the Raiders without a capable field director.

It will be almost homecoming for a potent member of the Cowboy squad, with Bobby Hart of Levelland leading the return. Hart was an outstanding player on the Levelland Lobos in 1947 and paced that team to a district championship. This year he is quarterback on what has been termed the finest freshman team ever assembled at Hardin-Simmons.

Buttons Work Out

The Buttons, as they are termed at Abilene, arrived in Lubbock yesterday and took a light workout in Jones Stadium. They appeared husky, fast and capable of causing trouble. In their four games to date, their backs have shown unusual speed, while their line has been almost impossible to penetrate.

In addition to Hart, one of the outstanding quarterbacks in West Texas, if not the state, the Buttons have two other signal-callers of topnotch ability. They are Jimmy Riddle of Wichita Falls and Charles Williams of Refugio. All three are excellent ball handlers and passers.

Dunne Goode of Midland and Tommy Bice of Borger have given the team additional punch in the backfield, as have Harold Taylor of Lordsburg, N. M., and Chick Tiger of Altus, Okla.

Tech Fish Look Good

Against the imposing array of talent from Abilene, Coach Maxey McKnight and Tipp Mooney, assisting McKnight today, will throw a team that so far has lacked an offense. The Red Raider first year men also have been highly touted, individually, but have failed to demonstrate team play.

But Ralph May of Sudan, formerly an H-SU fullback, may ignite the Raider spark. May has no love for the Cowboy juniors and his spirit might start the Tech offensive rolling. He will get good assistance from Bobby Close of Shamrock, an elusive runner, as well as Judson Brawner of Atmore, Ala., former All-State performer.

The Raider yearling line is outstanding, with Jerrell Price of Brownfield at one tackle, Res Pinson of Falfurrias at a guard and Dick Pirtle of Lubbock at an end. Aubrey "Red" Phillips of Fort Worth is another outstanding freshman. And behind these players are several more counted on for varsity play next year.

Cubs Make Cut In Farm Clubs

CHICAGO, Oct. 21 (INS) — The Chicago Cubs today cut adrift eight of their 18 farm clubs and at least 35 persons in the Cub organization in the most drastic economy cutback known to baseball since the war.

Many baseball men viewed the Cubs' action, announced by Jack Sheehan, director of the team's minor league system, as a harbinger of similar moves by other big league organizations.

Reduction of the farm system and staff, said Sheehan, could be traced to "the high cost of operation, the military draft and reluctance of youngsters to sign in the lower minors." He added further cuts may be necessary.

Of significance was that of their six class-D teams—the lowest classification in organized ball—the Cubs retained only a working agreement with St. Augustine of the Florida State league.

To this, Sheehan said:

"We are on the lookout now for just the best youngsters boys who can start their baseball careers in a higher classification than the D leagues."

Of the eight clubs dropped today, six were owned outright by the Wrigley organization. It is possible some of these may not be able to operate next season unless they find some new means of support.

Among the staff personnel let go by the Cubs were the two Chicago pitching heroes of the 1945 World Series, Claude Passeau and Ray Prim, who had been acting as instructors in the Cub chain; full-time scout Jack Ryan, Ed Holly and Jim Keesey; 25 part-time scouts and several business managers.

The eight teams ejected from the Cubs' system were:

Class B—Fayetteville, N. C., (Tri-State league); Selma, Ala., (Southeastern league);

Class C—Clinton, Ia., (Central Association);

Class D—Marion, O., (Ohio State league); Centralia, Ill., (Illinois State league); Janesville, Wis., (Wisconsin State league); Elizabethton, Tenn., (Appalachian league); Lumberton, N. C., (Tobacco State league.)

All were owned outright except Marion and Centralia, with which the Cubs had working agreements.

The ten teams remaining in the Cub farm system are:

Class AAA—Los Angeles (Pacific Coast league);

Class AA—Nashville (Southern Association);

Class A—Des Maines, Ia., (Western League); Macon, Ga., (South Atlantic league);

Class B — Springfield, Mass., (New England league); Decatur, Ill., (Three-Eye league);

Class C — Visalia, Cal., (California league); Springfield, Mo., (Western Association); Sioux Falls, S. D., (Northern league);

Class D—St. Augustine, Fla., (Florida State league)

Six of the clubs retained in the farm chain are owned outright by the Chicago team. They are Los Angeles, Des Moines, Springfield, Mass., Decatur, Visalia and Springfield, Mo.

Loop Clashes Top Schedule

(By The Associated Press)

There will be fewer than ten undefeated, untied teams in Texas schoolboy football when the smoke clears Saturday from the biggest schedule of the year.

There are ten clubs with perfect records as the week-end card begins and at least one of them will be shoved out because two of them meet each other.

This is the feature battle of the state—massive Port Arthur of Class AA vs. John Reagan (Houston) of the City Conference. The game will be at Port Arthur Friday night.

Every district except one has conference tilts.

The Dallas district, last of the City Conference areas to begin championship play, swings full tilt into the schedule. There are "leveling" up games in the other districts except district 4 where Brackenridge and Alamo Heights hook up in a test that might decide the San Antonio district crown.

Odessa will be at San Angelo in an important district 3 game, Paris tests top-rated Denison in District 5 and Breckenridge plays at Stephenville in the game that may determine the district 7 championship and remove an undefeated, untied eleven from the state rolls. Stephenville is the team with the perfect record.

Gladewater and Texarkana, unbeaten in the district 8 Conference race, battle at Texarkana and Alice, another of the state's undefeated, untied, battles undefeated, once tied San Benito for the lead in district 14.

Week End Schedule

The week end schedule in the state:

Friday—North Dallas vs. Sunset (Dallas), Arlington Heights (Fort Worth) vs. Poly (Fort Worth), Reagan (Houston) at Port Arthur, Brackenridge San Antonio) vs. Alamo Heights (San Antonio), Brownfield at Amarillo, Bartesville, Okla., at Borger, Plainview at Pampa, Bonham at Childress, Quanah at Hollis, Okla., Electra at Graham, Midland at Abilene, Odessa at San Angelo, Sweetwater at Lamesa, Isleta at Clovis, N. Redskins Tally In Final Quarter

O. L. Slaton Downs J. T. Hutchinson, 7-6

A fourth quarter pass play that covered 70 yards, with Quarterback Charles Brewer tossing to End Jimmy Crawford, gave the O. L. Slaton Redskins a 7-6 victory over the battling J. T. Hutchinson Rangers in a South Plains Junior High football league tilt Thursday night at Chapman field.

The Rangers, shooting for a major upsets over the second-place Redskins, took the lead in the tight setto in the third stanza when Fullback Billy Presley took the opening kickoff of the second half and raced up the middle 85 yards to paydirt. Presley attempted to drop kick the extra point, but the ball went low and to the side.

Then the speedy Redskins, operating from their smooth-working T-formation, surged back in the final period to clinch the win. Brewer hit Crawford with an aerial that carried approximately 35 yards in the air and the big end raced all the way to the double stripe. Fullback Johnny Tatum plunged for the game-winning extra point.

The Rangers gave the fans another thrill on the last play of the game, when Tailback Ronald Stephenson took a Redskin punt on his own 10-yard stripe and galloped to the midfield marker before he was hauled down.

O. L. Slaton chalked up long yardage during the tussle, but was halted short of the goal line by the brilliant defensive play of the hustling Rangers and by a series of fumbles. Tatum was the most consistent ground-gainer for the Redskins, although it was the Brewer-Crawford passing combination that put the O. L. Slaton crew back into the tilt.

The Ranger forward wall played brilliantly in the setto and the entire Hutchinson team turned in its best performance of the year.

Lubbock's other entry in the area grid loop, the Carroll Thompson Cowboys, protected their undefeated record and first place in the league by defeating the Lamesa juniors, 32-0, in the opening game of the Chapman field "double bill."

The Cowboys were paced to the easy win by the running and passing of Fullback Don Jones, and the pass-snagging and defensive play of End Tommy Yelvington.

Seminole Juniors Gain 7-6 Win Over Andrews Colts

SEMINOLE, Oct. 21 (Special)—Steady running by Halfback Alford Sims and Fullback John Stephens gave the Seminole juniors a narrow 7-6 triumph over the Andrews Colts here tonight.

Sims tallied the Seminole touchdown in the second quarter of the tilt, played on a muddy field, on a 10-yard end sweep. Stephens crashed through the line for the extra point to give the home eleven the margin of victory.

The Colts roared back in the third stanza with a torrid aerial attack to punch across one six pointer, but the try for point failed and the visitors were unable to cross the double stripe again.

Levelland Junior Gridders Defeat Brownfield, 19 To 0

LEVELLAND, Oct. 21 (Special)—Levelland's powerful junior gridders used a crushing ground attack to defeat the Brownfield juniors, 19-0, in a South Plains loop tussle here tonight.

Fullback Harvey Campbell tallied the initial Levelland touchdown on a five-yard plunge in the second quarter, climaxing a 95-yard march. Halfback Stanley Ritchie returned a third quarter Brownfield punt for 60 yards and a counter, then Boyd Pinson completed the scoring in the fourth period with a seven-yard line buck.

Idalou's Wildcats Trounce Meadow 33 To 0 In 4-B Game

MEADOW, Oct. 21, (Special)—The Idalou Wildcats kept the season's record clean here tonight with a convincing 33-0 triumph over the Meadow Broncos in a District 4-B conference game.

Don Jarrett sparked the Wildcats to victory with two touchdowns, while other scores were turned in by Harold Rogers, David Reddell and Donald Seale.

Seale passed twice to Lloyd Allen and once to Alvin Joiner for Idalou's three extra points.

One of Jarrett's plunges for touchdown was set up by a pass by Seale, who ramrodded the victory.

ROOSEVELT CAGERS WIN

Roosevelt High school's basketball team turned in its fourth victory of the season against one loss when they beat Spade last night 38-20 at Roosevelt. Paul Hammett was the leading scorer with seven points for Roosevelt. The Roosevelt girls beat the Spade girls in the curtain raiser, 33-21.

Navy Defeats Army, 12 To 0

ANTON, Oct. 21. (Special) — The Navy licked the Army here tonight 12-0.

Both the "army" and "navy" were graduates of Anton High school who had served with the respective branches of the armed forces during the war. The local American Legion post dug deep into the files of graduates to come up with enough able-bodied men to take part in the game.

Proceeds from the contest, which was witnessed by a large crowd, were given to the school's bleacher fund. Anton is attempting to make large improvements on its athletic plant and the novelty game was one of the ways money is being raised.

Earlier this year, the local Lions club raised money and presented the school with lights for the football field and another organization supplied grass for sodding the gridiron. It is the first time in local history that the football field has been sodded.

Several From Tech

Several of the players on both sides were recruited from nearby Texas Tech, while other comparative youngsters dotted the lineups. But players did not stop with recent Anton graduates, several of the players reaching almost middle-age.

Age meant nothing in the game, which was hard fought, but cleanly played. Navy scored twice, opening the scoring in the first quarter, when Bill Woods, a sophomore at Texas Tech, went over for the touchdown. His plunge climaxed a march of 85 yards down the field.

Later in the game Vernon Belcher, an oil field worker, went over for the clinching tally. Neither extra point was made.

The starting lineups:

ANTON ARMY	POS.	ANTON NAVY
John Manley	LE	Odell Chandler
Pat Byrum	LT	Neil Herrin
Bud Stone	LG	Pee Wee Newton

McWaters, Phillips Acquitted Of Baseball Fixing Charges

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Oct. 21. (INS) — W. C. McWaters and Tommy Phillips were acquitted by a Forsyth county superior court jury tonight of conspiracy and bribery charges in connection with the alleged "fixing" of a Carolina league baseball game last May.

Bernard DeForge, ex-manager of the Reidsville club who pleaded guilty to conspiracy to throw a game, was sentenced to one year in prison by Judge Allen H. Gwyn.

Favored Tech Gridders Leave By Plane Today For Arizona Tussle

A favored Texas Tech football squad of 37 members will leave the local airport aboard a Continental Airlines Convair at 1 p.m. today bound for Tucson, Ariz., where tomorrow night they will meet the Arizona university Wildcats in the second Border Conference clash for each team.

Coach Dell Morgan, realizing that his players could get stale, with half the season gone, has not sent them through more than token scrimmage this week. As a result, the players appear eager for contact work. Spirit was at almost a new high yesterday afternoon and the squad is eager to meet the Wildcats.

Work On Offense

Yesterday's final drills for the game included additional polishing of offensive plays for the Wildcat battle, most of the plays being worked on including new interpretations of offensive work. Tech has been scouted carefully, but Coach Morgan and his staff have come up with potential touchdown plays that the Wildcats have not seen.

The defensive work continued to stress guarding against forward passing, one of the Arizona strong points. The varsity and reserves still appeared weak against the Wildcat aerial game, but showed improvement over early week sessions.

Arizona will come up with a system that employs the modified T, an offensive system that gets a variety of attack and usually for good distance. If Tech can stop the running of Charles Hall, Bill Peterson, Bill Penn and the other Wildcat backs, along with breaking up the passing attack, they stand a good chance of swamping the home club.

Mom's, Dad's Day

It will be Mom's and Dad's Day at Arizona and the history of the event shows that Arizona has been defeated only twice in 17 years. One of those defeats was by Hardin-Simmons and the other was by New Mexico University.

Fans Have 'Til Noon To Reserve Seats On Special Tech Plane

Lubbock fans wishing to take advantage of the special chartered plane to Tucson, Ariz., for the Texas Tech-Arizona game have until noon today to make a reservation.

But late information last night indicated that the proposed plane will be cancelled at noon. Ridgely Mills, Continental Airline agent, said that nowhere near enough fans had indicated that they wanted to fly to Tucson and back to make the plane worthwhile. He said that unless 20 seats had been reserved by noon, the charter would be cancelled.

The Quarterback club originated the idea of the special plane, after approximately 11 men indicated they would make reservations. Round trip fare is $72, with the plane leaving Saturday morning and coming back Sunday.

Rules Meeting Of Officials In District 18 Slated Saturday

A rules interpretation meeting for all coaches and officials connected with District 18, High School Girls' Basketball league of Texas, will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the courthouse here.

A member of the state advisory board of the league will discuss rule changes and interpretations, it was reported, and all officials are urged to attend the session.

Wreck Tops In Defensive Play

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—By holding Auburn to a net gain of 65 yards last Saturday, unbeaten Georgia Tech became the defensive standout among the nation's collegiate gridiron powers, the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau announced today.

The Yellowjackets, who yielded 69 yards through the air but threw Auburn for a loss of four yards on the ground, moved up from third place in the bureau's defensive rankings as North Carolina State dropped from first to fourth while losing to North Carolina.

With four victories in as many starts, Georgia Tech leads the country in defense against rushing as well as in total defense, against both ground and air attack.

42.3 Yards Per Game

Vanderbilt, Tulane, Washington and Lee and Auburn have hurled a total of 213 plays against the Rambling Wreck, which has yielded a total of 169 yards on 135 running plays and 321 yards on 78 aerials. That's an average yield of 42.3 yards per game on the ground and an overall average of 122.5.

Still, defenses continued to crumble all across the country's collegiate gridirons with unprecedented regularity. Such teams as North Carolina, Ohio State and Minnesota, for instance, were able to vault into the top ten despite yields of 100, 112 and 140 yards to their respective foes.

Penn State, which finished the season with the best defensive record in the nation last year, tumbled completely out of the Bureau's total defense listings when West Virginia amassed 285 yards in losing to the Nittany Lions, 157 of them by air.

South Carolina moved from fifth to second in total defense and North Carolina came from far back to take over the third spot.

Cornell Moves Up

With Georgia Tech moving from fourth to first in rushing defense, Cornell stepped up a notch to second, replacing Penn State which slumped to sixth. Cornell's record, showing an average yield of 52.5 yards per game to four opponents on the ground, will be severely tested Saturday against Army, whose offensive record on the ground is tops.

Northwestern lost its place as the best defender against forward passes while being bumped from the undefeated ranks by Michigan. Brown took over the lead. Brown has yielded an average of 32.3 aerial yards to four foes. The yardage allowed per game serves as the basis of ranking in this department.

The last major, uncrossed goal line disappeared Saturday when Duke defeated Maryland.

Furman, with Paul Stombaugh kicking at a record pace, leads all the teams in the punting department. Stombaugh's average is 45.4 yards on 36 punts.

Cowhands To Meet Littlefield Today

Although Lubbock High's Westerners are idle this weekend, Hub city fans will have an opportunity to see two Lubbock grid teams in action this afternoon and tonight at Chapman field.

A torrid clash is slated at 3:45 o'clock this afternoon on the practice gridiron, when the Lubbock Cowhands tangle with the strong Littlefield "B" team. The Cowhands, coached by Pat Farris and Joe Bob Foster, are undefeated this year, but the Wildcat "B" eleven is expected to give the Hub city gridders one of their roughest tussles of the season.

The tilt will not be a battle of "scrubs," since the Littlefield mentors will use all of their high school squad except the top 11 players, and the Cowhands boast a heavy, powerful team that has defeated the Slaton Tigers and the Plainview "B" by impressive scores.

Littlefield's representatives are expected to use the usual "T" formation attack, with the Cowhands using the single wing.

At 7 o'clock tonight the seventh and eighth graders of two Lubbock Junior high schools—the O. L. Slaton Warriors and the J. T. Hutchinson Ranches—will meet in a city tilt. The Warriors recently tied the Carroll Thompson Calfropers, 7-7, but the Ranchers are paced by a speedy backfield and a hard-charging line.

Colorado A And M Eleven Suffering From Injuries

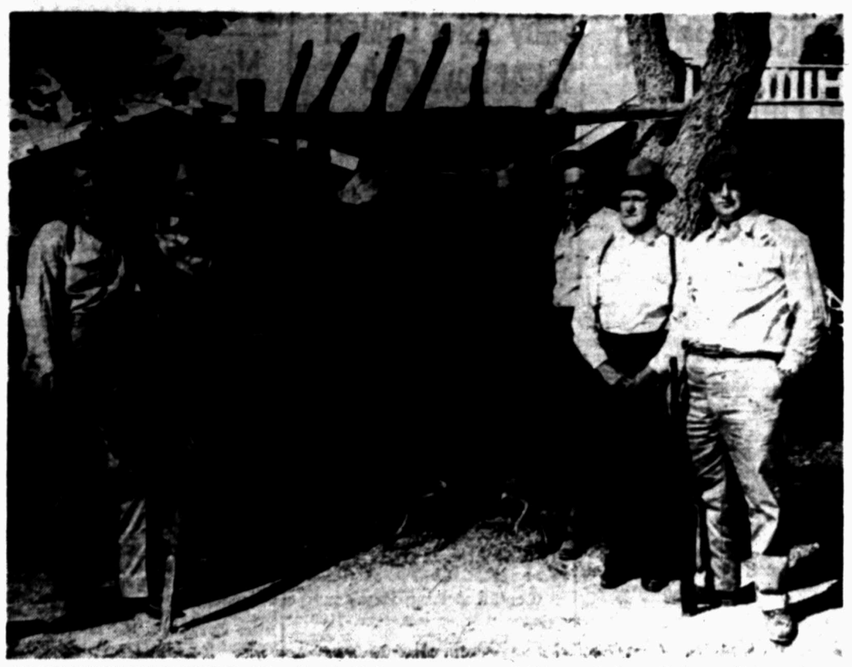

FORT COLLINS, Colo., Oct. 21. Colorado A. & M.'s hopes for a win over the Drake Bulldogs at Fort Collins Saturday appeared to be smothering in a wave of injuries today.

Coach Bob Davis said Eddie Hanna, star Aggie back, will suit up but will probably not play because of injured ribs.

Fullback Pat Green, the Ram's number one line backer, will also be slowed down by a bad arm, Davis reported, while Lyle Stucker and Dasel Hallmark, two and three in the lineup, are both on the no action list, with injuries.

SAVOLD TO FIGHT DEC. 6

LONDON, Oct. 21. (AP)—Promoter Jack Solomons said tonight that Lee Savold of Paterson, N. J., had accepted terms to fight British heavyweight champion Bruce Woodcock in London, Dec. 6.

BACK WITH THE BUCKS—Five South Plains men returned this week from Dolores, Colo., where they were successful in bagging four buck deer in the woods near there. Three of the bucks are pictured above. They weighed an average of 255 pounds and had 6, 8 and 10-point antlers. The hunters, left to right, are: Keith Barnard, Morton; Truett Forbus, Ropesville; Bill Moore, Wolfforth; A. G. Moore, Lubbock; and M. C. Darby, Ropesvile. The men spent three days on the hunt. (Photo by Reeves).

Negro Grid Players In Nevada Lineup Okay With Tulsa U.

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 21. (U.P.)—Tulsa university president C. I. Pontius said today his school would not object if Nevada chooses to place a negro in its football lineup here next Saturday.

Pontius said the report from Reno that Nevada Coach Joe Sheeketski had been warned against using his two negro players in the Tulsa game came as a complete surprise.

"There is no clause in the contract between Tulsa university and Nevada university which would prevent the playing of any bona fide member of the Nevada football squad," Pontius said. "Tulsa university will abide by this contract.

"However, Nevada is aware of the traditional background of intercollegiate athletics in the state of Oklahoma and the decision with regard to the playing of any member of its squad is the prerogative of the University of Nevada."

The question of negro participation in local football has come up several times before when Tulsa played host to Detroit and other northern universities. Tulsa's players have met negroes on the gridiron in away-from-home games several times without incident.

Crucial Tilts Slated In SWC

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The Southwest Conference, exceedingly optimistic before the season opened of hanging up the nation's top intersectional record, is behind the eight ball and what happens this week-end will determine whether it will at least break even for the season.

Southern Methodist and Texas Christian are intrusted with the task of pushing the conference ahead.

The Methodists tackle Santa Clara, one of the top teams of the country, at Dallas while Texas Christian engages Oklahoma, another tough outfit but loser to Santa Clara, at Fort Worth. Both are Saturday night games.

At this time the Conference has won seven games, lost eight and tied one in intersectional play and has six more games to go.

Southern Methrodist is rated a 14-point favorite over Santa Clara but it's no doings of Coach Matty Bell of SMU. "Santa Clara now is the best team on the coast and that includes California, to whom they lost in the final minutes when they tired," said Bell. "They have two fine passers, some great runners and they have a great line. They'll probably beat us."

TCU In Tough Spot

Texas Christian has a tougher row than even SMU in its battle with Oklahoma. The Sooners, who beat Texas, are given a seven-point bulge over TCU in most books. The mighty ground game piloted by the expert Jack Mitchell is considered too, too much for the embattled Horned Frogs. However, the fact remains that the Frogs are the only Conference team that has won all its intersectional tests.

While the Methodists and Christians are trying to pull the Conference back onto the winning intersectional road, four other members of the circuit will be mixing it up in conference games. Two of them—Rice and Texas A. and M.—will be fighting for survival.

Rice plays Texas, winner of its only Conference start, at Houston. A. and M., which lost to Texas Christian in its lone title game, faces unbeaten Baylor at Waco. Defeat for either A. and M. or Rice would pitch them out of the championship race.

Texas is a 13-point favorite and Baylor has been voted the same margin.

CLEMSON TIGERS WIN

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 21. (AP)—The Clemson college Tigers continued undefeated here today getting past the University of South Carolina Gamecocks, 13-7 before a capacity state fair crowd of 25,000. A blocked punt late in the final period led to the winning touchdown after Clemson had driven 88 yards earlier in the quarter.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

Amarillo football fans are pretty happy these days, as the Sandies roll toward what they are certain will be another District 1-AA championship and possibly a state crown. The general attitude of the fans in the Panhandle city is not, "are the Sandies going to win?", but, "how many points are going to beat them?"

That is, of course, a nice way to look at the situation if you have the football team to back it up. And at the present time, who can prove that the Sandies don't have the best club in state? They have certainly been impressive in chalking up five straight non-conference wins over teams like Odessa, Woodrow Wilson of Dallas and Abilene. In our opinion, though, the Sandies will get their best opportunity to show their real strength against the Lubbock Westerners here Oct. 29 and against Pampa's Harvesters on Nov. 13. Pampa is considered the only real threat to Amarillo in the district, but Lubbock teams have at times given the Sandies their roughest tussles.

Here's what Amarillo sports scribe Putt Powell has to say about tonight's Amarillo-Brownfield setto:

"When the Golden Sandies meet the Brownfield Cubs on Friday night at Butler field, Coach Howard Lynch's gridders will be after their 21st straight District 1-AA conference triumph.

"Amarillo hasn't dropped a district game since 1943, when the Pampa Harvesters upset the Sandstorm, 7-0.

"So the Golden Sandies hold four straight wins over Pampa, six over Plainview, six over Brownfield, eight over Lubbock and 15 over Borger.

"In fact, Amarillo has never lost to Borger and Brownfield."

The Sandies will be favored to beat Brownfield tonight by about 40 points. And, speaking from bitter experience, we can assure Brownfield fans that the Sandies will "pour it on" with all the enthusiasm in the world. If there's a low score in the game, it will be a tribute to Brownfield's spirit and fight and not to any kindness on the part of the Sandies.

Most Lubbock fans still remember 1943, when a crippled Lubbock Westerner squad battled the Sandies on Butler field. At the end of the first five minutes of play, only three Lubbock "regulars" were still in the game. The Sandies proceeded to chalk up a 47-0 score against the Lubbock subs, with the Sandie first team playing most of the game. Late in the fourth quarter, with Sandie reserves in the tilt, the Westerners started a drive and made three consecutive first downs. Then in came the Sandie first team—they didn't want to take a chance on the Westerners even scoring!

In case anyone thinks that we are stretching a point on the Lubbock team being crippled, here's a rundown on the "casualty list" that can be easily verified. The Westerners' outstanding end, Jim Joe Reigor, was in the hospital with pneumonia; R. W. Moyers, big center and fullback, was out of the game with a knee injury; little Pup Pearson, one of the best guards in the district, went out of the game with an injury early in the first quarter; and Roy Grimes, a key back, played only a few minutes in the game since his arm was broken and in a cast. But the Sandies are really proud of that win. They sure trampled Lubbock.

Cincinnati's Ezzard Charles To Fight Walter Hafer Nov. 15

CINCINNATI, Oct. 21. (AP)—The Cincinnati Boxing Commission today approved a 10 round boxing bout Nov. 15 between Ezzard Charles, local heavyweight contender, and Walter Hafer of Maysville, Ky.

Charles is scheduled to meet Joe Baksi in Madison Square Garden Dec. 10, and Joe Louis, who announced Tuesday that he will not retire, may give the winner a shot at the championship next June.

Stengel To Keep Plans Secret

GLENDALE, Calif., Oct. 21. (AP)—Casey Stengel made it clear today that he isn't crawling out on any limb in regard to his new job as manager of the New York Yankees baseball club.

Home after all the hubbub attendant to his re-entry into the realm of major league ball, Casey lit a long, fresh cigar, propped his feet on one of Mrs. Stengel's nicest pieces of furniture and began to talk.

"I realize I'm taking on a big, tough job but I feel very fortunate and I appreciate the confidence placed in me.

"Some people are saying," he mused, rather seriously for Casey, "That I got the job simply because of my close friendship with Del Webb and George Weiss.

Worked Way Back

"Personally, I don't think they're going around handing out jobs like that just because they know a fellow by his first name.

"I was in the organization in 1945, managing Kansas City, but I had to go out and work my way back to the majors, just like a player."

Casey climaxed his efforts you know, by piloting Oakland to the Pacific Coast league pennant this year.

Will he receive $35,000 per year with the Yankees, as reported? Stengel grinned.

Store Burglary Is Investigated

Police Thursday were investigating the burglary of the Food Mart, at 1904 Nineteenth street, in which $287 in currency and checks had been taken.

Entrance was through a toilet room, which gave onto the frozen food lockers.

Collision Evidence Traced

Police indicated they would draw a complaint against a Lubbock woman in connection with an investigation into a collision Wednesday night of a car with a parked machine owned by Joe Fortin of 2307 Thirteenth.

Fortin complained to police, and drove his car to a body shop for repairs.

There it was discovered that a crumpled piece of another car's fender was wedged under one of the fenders of Fortin's car.

Charge Deemed Likely

Police began searching for a car with a large piece of fender missing.

The car had been found, they said, but no charges had been filed.

Two bikes were reported stolen from the George R. Bean school. Not long afterward, an official of the East Broadway school saw two juveniles ride up on bikes. Neither had been known to own bikes. The two will be questioned by juvenile officials and a sheriff's deputy. The bikes, police had been informed, were the two stolen from the other school.

Automobile Stolen

Another bike, valued at $48, was reported stolen from the residence of a Mrs. Patterson at 1220 Eighth.

Stella Burford of East Broadway informed the sheriff's department that a 1939 black Ford sedan, license JV 2845 had been stolen Wednesday at Brownfield.

A. R. Ellis of Southern Auto store, 1212 Texas Ave., said that two men had left the store without paying for seat covers valued at $12 which they took with them. The men, 31 and 25, will face county charges of theft, it was indicated.

E. J. Stone of Sudan said that four wheels with tires and tubes, a water heater and a car battery had been taken from his car west of Shallowater, according to Texas Highway patrol reports.

A black 1938 Plymouth coach, license AN 3986, was reported to local authorities as stolen from Slaton.

Eighteen women, arrested at five small downtown hotels, pleaded guilty to vagrancy by prostitution and were assessed fines of $25 each.

Z. Z. Tannery, who pleaded guilty to violation of the state bedding laws, was fined $50 and county court costs.

The charge against Tannery said that a mattress was tagged so as to indicate that all materials in it were new, whereas all were not new, county court officials said.

A fine of $50 and county court costs was also assessed against John Braziel, 29, of Marlin, who pleaded guilty of drunk driving.

Melchior Enchants

"Without a Song" and "For You Alone."

One could easily come to know why Melchior is considered the greatest Wagnerian singer on hearing his rendition of Lohengrin's Narration from the opera "Lohengrin," which he gave with dire drama and sorrowful mood and made epic, and in the warrior Siegmund's Love Song from the opera "Die Walkure," second part of Wagner's tetralogy of music dramas, "The Ring of the Nibelung."

Orchestra Given Praise

The snowy - haired titan of the song world presented a striking picture, his left lapel resplendent with decorations from many countries, as he stood and smiled at his audience, exuding the personality which has made him a favorite in opera, movies, concert and records.

Although it was Melchior's night, words of praise certainly must be spoken for the orchestra, which under the baton of gifted William A. Harrod played with artistic caliber and great assurance.

The orchestral numbers ranged from "Hungarian March" by Berlioz to Beethoven's "Allegretto" which opened with a dirge like quality and closed on a jubilant note and included "Caucasian Sketches," a gay and colorful composition by the Russian Ippolitov-Ivanov.

Singing Violins Featured

After intermission the orchestra played four numbers from Bizet's "L'Arlessienne Suite No. 1, delicate selections which featured singing violins, continued with the Prelude to Act 1 of the popular opera "La Traviata" by Verdi and as the final number offered Cole Porter's ever popular "Begin the Beguine."

After prolonged applause, Mr. Harrod returned to the podium to direct a gay little number "Syncopated Clock," made famous by the Boston "Pops."

Musical history was made in Lubbock Thursday night in a program that was presented in less than two hours.

Senate Election Investigator Talks With Coke's Attorneys

AUSTIN, Oct. 21. (AP)—A Senate election investigator conferred here today with attorneys for Coke Stevenson, who has asked for an investigation of the runoff primary in which Lyndon Johnson was declared the winner of the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Dan Moody, former governor and a leading member of Stevenson's legal staff, talked with the investigator sent by the Senate Rules committee's subcommittee on elections.

Moody said the investigator told him he had nothing to discuss with the press. Moody did not know his name, nor what procedure he planned to follow.

Morton High School Offered Stadium If Grid Team Scores

SUDAN, Oct. 21. (Special)—A stadium for a score.

That's the offer made the Morton High football team for its District 5-A game with the Sudan Hornets here Friday night.

F. O. Masten, wealthy Sudan farmer with extensive holdings in the Sudan and Morton areas, has promised to build a stadium for Morton High school—IF the Indians score Friday night against Sudan.

Three years ago Masten wrote a check for $3,000 which paid for the materials used in the Sudan stadium. With labor donated by other Sudan citizens, the Sudan schools have a stadium now valued at more than $7,000.

And football prognosticators of the area are thinking there's a good chance of a Morton score, if not a Morton victory. The Indians have won three and lost two games, although in conference play they have lost two games. Sudan has won three and lost three, and in conference play have won and lost one.

Emergency Loans On Cotton Announced

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—The Agriculture department announced today an emergency program of financial aid for cotton farmers on their crops.

It will advance $50 a bale to the farmers on cotton stored in insured warehouses. A similar program for farm-stored cotton will be adopted later, if needed.

The department said a shortage of government cotton classifiers has greatly delayed the work of making loans to growers on this year's big crop. This shortage was said to be due largely to inadequate funds.

When the cotton is classified as to grade, the grower will be paid the balance on the loan—that is, the difference between the $50 advance and the full amount of the loan, which is 92.5 percent of parity, or averaging roughly $155 a bale.

The advances will be made through the county Agricultural Conservation committee offices. Officials said these offices will be prepared to make the advances within a few days.

Russians Seek Haven

when it was announced they would be given a haven as political refugees.

The two Russians agreed that "everybody in Russia who has a radio listens to the Voice of America regularly because our people aren't getting a true picture of the feelings and customs in the United States from the Soviet radio."

Pirogov told the battery of newsmen and photographers:

"I never had a desire to become a member of the Communist party because my personal feelings and ideas do not agree with Communist ideology.

Vote At Point Of Gun

"Seventy per cent of the Soviet population feel the way I do but fear to voice their opinion.

"The majority of our people are farmers. They do not want collectives. They live badly and are treated badly."

Barsov, who had been nodding agreement, jumped up at this point and excitedly pounded his fist on a table. He shouted:

"And elections are not free. People can not vote for whom they want. They must vote at the point of a gun."

Promises Not Kept

Both charged that Russian soldiers returning from European occupation duties were prohibited from talking about any of the things they had seen that might reflect on conditions in Russia. Pirogov said:

"They have to say everything is better in Russia."

Both men served in Poland and Germany in 1944 and 1945.

"After victory, we were promised a better life but 1946, 1947 and 1948 came along and there was no improvement."

The airmen wore civilian clothes supplied them by the post exchange at the camp. They later changed back into their Soviet air force uniforms for the benefit of photographers.

The Russian officers said they hoped to go to the United States and "become good American citizens." When several California newsmen suggested they probably would want to live in the golden state, the Russians replied with an emphatic "no." They said they had heard about the Virgihia state fairs over the "Voice of America" broadcasts and that was the state for them.

Do Not Like Force

Pirogov remarked the dislike of the Russians for Communism stems from the fact they are basicly farmers and do not like the collective farms decreed long ago by the Kremlin.

"I will do anything the United States asks me to do, so long as they do not use force," Barsov added. "I will fight for the United States, again, if they do not use force."

Asked whether Russia has the atom bomb, Pirogov hesitated, then replied: "The Russian press and radio do not say anything about it."

Barsov left his wife and child behind in Russia. Pirogov left his bride of three months to make the flight. Neither would discuss the possible fate of their families.

Clay Denounces Soviet Tactics

territorial encroachments, then made its stand for prestige by blockading Berlin. Clay said:

"It was expected that Soviet reaction would be immediate. The almost certain rapid economic recovery in western Germany would prevent the chaos and confusion on which totalitarianism depends, and which might make possible a police state in Germany.

"Stimulated by the promise of economic assistance from the United States, the victories of free parties in elections throughout western Europe proved that Communism had reached its high tide and was receding.

Air Power Fooled Reds

"Only by the re-creation of fear could this recession be stopped. The logical place to apply fear was in Berlin which, by virtue of its location in the heart of the Soviet zone, could be reached by land and water only by passage through the Soviet zone."

However, Clay continued, Russia failed to recognize U. S. air power. He declared the air lift which has supplied western Berlin since the Russian blockade was imposed "can provide the minimum essentials . . . indefinitely."

Clay asked the American people to recognize the cost of the air lift as "insignificant" related to its value in bringing peace and asked that a firm western attitude not be misinterpreted as aggressive. He said:

"We must be steadfast in our determination to keep the peace unless others seek to destroy it by aggressive action . . . To do this is to avoid war; not to make war. The strong can be patient, and we are strong."

Texan Heads Legion

balloting to urge the Legionnaires to make Brown's election unanimous.

It was done by acclamation.

The Legion's auxiliary, meanwhile, elected Mrs. Hubert A. Goode, of Portland, Ore., as the national president.

Five vice commanders of the Legion are Edward J. Kelley, of Taftville, Conn.; Leonard W. Moody, of Marianna, Ark.; James Lane, of Huntsville, Ala.; Walter E. Alessandroni, of Philadelphia; and James Annin, of Columbus, Mont.

Pension Plan Okayed

The Rev. Tom Grice, of Camarillo, Cal., was named national chaplin.

Election of the new Legion commander came after a day-long session highlighted by numerous resolutions.

Under the Legion pension plan a veteran of 55 would get $60 a month. This would be raised to $75 when he passed the age of 65.

Delegates to the final session of the 1948 conclave adopted a forceful resolution urging universal military training, a nationwide civil defense plan, "the strongest striking air arm in the world," and several supporting preparedness measures.

Housing Aid Urged

The defense program was included in a report of the Legion security commission. The report was preceded by a declaration by Air Force chief Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg that a strong military air power "is the best guarantee of peace."

One resolution asked Congress to provide "balanced and realistic" laws to include federal, state and local aid for the national housing program, with preference on new houses being given to World War II veterans.

Vigorous investigation and indictment of housing law violators were urged.

Another stand taken by the powerful veterans' organization recommended the Veterans' administration expedite hospital construction.

Pension Plea Is Surprise

The Legion security commission's plea for defense measures called for military preparedness to be maintained "to the extent that never again will our policy for peace outrun our ability to enforce it."

The surprise resolution was that which backed a pension plan.

The Legion in the past stood only for disability and death pensions. Proposals for an age pension were killed in the 1946 San Francisco convention and again last year at New York.

After the rehabilitation committee had rejected such resolutions, a suggestion was brought to the floor asking for pension laws applying only to World War I veterans, their widows and dependents.

This proposal passed by a vote of 2,024 to 1,364 but later an Illinois amendment to include veterans of the last war was approved by a voice vote.

The accident occurred six miles west of Antlers on state highway 3.

Killed were Mack M. Pittman 25, Paris Tex., and his eight-month-old daughter, Linda Sue Pittman. Pittman's wife, Dorothy, 20, was critically injured.

Also injured were Mr. and Mrs. George A. Lamb, both 63 years old, Miller, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Smith, 68 and 58, also of Miller.

State highway patrolmen Ed Vandergriff and Cecil Snapp said Pittman's truck swerved off the highway, then cut back to the center of the road. As the vehicle reached the center, it turned a complete flip, landing upside down on the hood of Lamb's sedan. The truck then bounced off, landing upright on the road.

Chest Total Soars To $29,546 Here

Contributions to the Lubbock Community Chest late Thursday totaled $29,546.86, thus boosting it to almost one-third of its goal of $97,500, Chest officials reported Thursday night.

The Thursday report showed a gain of slightly over $10,000 over the Wednesday afternoon total, which stood at $19,470.90, and approximately $4,590 over the Wednesday night total, which was $24,956.

All reports from Chest workers were due in Thursday.

Meanwhile, a letter addressed to all faculty and staff members of Texas Tech was sent over the campus Thursday from Frank Junell, assistant to the president, with the suggestion that one day's pay be given to the chest by each.

Contributions will be accepted by Miss Flossie Burkholder, cashier at the college, Oct. 22, 23, and 25. It has been asked that Tech faculty and staff members make their contributions before next Tuesday, in order that contributions reach Chest headquarters as quickly as possible thereafter.

Wiggins Speaks

namic force, not static. "People from the beginning of time have disliked change, but the world changes," he said.

He compared education to a basketball game. As a good player learns to pivot and sidestep, so must a well educated man learn to pivot, he pointed out in his analogy.

"If you can't pivot and sidestep, you're going to be hurt pretty badly," he emphasized.

"The great problem is not to teach young men how to be engineers, doctors or lawyers. It is to teach them synchronization—how to get along in the world and yet use fair play."

Teacher Shortage Discussed

He discussed briefly the shortage of teachers in this country, and expressed his belief that the answer is to be found, not in raising salaries, but in developing common understanding and dignity in the teaching profession and in its relationship with industry and business.

President Hays M. Walker of the Lamesa Rotary club presided. G. B. Wadzeck, superintendent of Lamesa public schools and Ross Woodson had arranged the program. Wadzeck introduced Mrs. John F. Luckie of Brownfield, a former opera singer who sang several numbers. Wadzeck then introduced Ratliff, who introduced Dr. Wiggins.

Invocation was asked by Rev Sam A. Thomas.

Guests included the president of other Lamesa civic clubs, J. P. White of Kiwanis, Perry Roberts of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Tracy Campbell of the Lions, and their wives.

Preceding the dinner meeting, Dr. Wiggins, Mr. Ratliff and Mr. Guy were honored at a stag party at Lamesa Country club, and Mrs. Wiggins, Mrs. Ratliff and Mrs. Guy were guests of honor at a coffee at the Delphian clubhouse.

bellion who had hoped to unite American-occupied south Korea with Soviet-controlled north Korea.

The president announced that martial law, which was applied yesterday to the whole of south Korea, will now be limited to the area of revolt.

In two days of fierce fighting in which hundreds were killed the rebels had pushed 52 miles northward to within 135 miles of Seoul, the capital, before they were stopped and hurled backward by the loyal forces.

The insurgents used a captured train on the south-north Korean railroad and jammed into automobiles and trucks on the main south-north highway.

Pushing desperately for Seoul, the rebel forces, including revolting constabulary, had reached Namwon before the rallying government troops stemmed their advance.

The president said there was no indication of trouble from disaffected elements elsewhere in south Korea, but that as a safety measure the entire army would remain on the alert.

Worth, but will feature several improvements, Triplett said. It is being constructed so that a second plant of equal size may be added if necessary, giving it a total potential capacity of 4,000,000 bushels.

Approximately 25 persons will be employed at the plant under ordinary operating conditions, he said.

Triplett visited Lubbock Thursday to further plans for the project. He was accompanied by H. G. Onstad, representative of the James Stewart corporation of Chicago, engineers for the elevator.

Triplett stated that several details in plans for the structure remain to be completed, and that the date for letting of contract bids will be announced later.

Last Hope For Citywide Vote In Berlin Killed By Soviets

BERLIN, Oct. 21 (AP) — The last hope for a citywide election in Berlin was killed today by what anti-Communists called "impossible" conditions laid down by the Russians.

Every non-Communist official and political leader in the city's three western sectors scornfully rejected the terms offered last night by the Russian commandant, Maj. Gen Alexander Kotikov, for holding a city election in the Soviet sector.

The most eastern point in the United States is West Quoddy Head, a Maine cape.

English Meeting Set Here Today

The first annual English workshop-conference of District IV of the Texas State Teachers association will get underway here today, with registration in the main entrance of Lubbock Senior High school from 1:15 p. m. to 2 p. m., and the first conference session beginning at 2:20 p. m.

The workshop-conference, first of its kind to be held here, is being duplicated at various times during this month in the ten other districts of the TSTA. It is a part of the integration program being carried on by high school and college teachers of English, and will be attended by English teachers in high schools and colleges in the area. Special guests will be English teachers currently inactive, junior high school and elementary school English teachers, and students who plan eventually to teach the subject.

Immediately after registration this afternoon, the group will assemble in the auditorium of the high school where Miss Glenys Honey, general chairman of the District IV committee, will preside. Floyd Honey, principal of the Lubbock Senior High school, will give the welcome address. Dr. Alan M. F. Gunn, program chairman of the committee, will then give a brief review of the integration program. The first session will follow.

Water Problems

South Plains' water comes from the Ogallala formation, a high plateau-like formation which is entirely cut off from any source of water other than water that falls on the surface of the Plains itself.

His talk was illustrated by maps showing the geology of West Texas. He also showed a chart of studies made by the State Board of Water Engineers with regard to irrigation wells in Hale and Floyd counties, which he said shows that there is a general downward trend in the water level in that area.

Tech Man On Program

Second speaker was Dr. A. W Young, head of the department of Plant Industries at Texas Tech, whose talk dealt with the water requirements of various crops raised in this area, or more specifically, the amount of water required by a plant to produce a pound of dry matter.

Yields of dry-land and irrigated crops were analyzed by Dr. Young, who said that an average acre of dry-land cotton yields one-third of a bale while an irrigated acre yielded a bale. Similarly, an acre of dry-land wheat produces an average of 12 bushels, while irrigated wheat yields about 30 to 35 bushels.

Roberts, the last speaker, reviewed underground water conservation movements in Texas from their first inception, and water laws legislation in this and other states.

Discussing in more detail the Texas Water Conservation association, Roberts pointed out that five district water divisions are recognized in the association, including irrigation, municipal, navigation, industrial, and river authorities, and that appointment of seven directors from each division has been provided for.

A water laws committee of the association, composed of advisory committees from the Texas Society of Professional Engineers, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and the High Plains Water Users association, has prepared several bills for presentation to the committee of the whole of the Texas Water Conservation association, with ultimate presentation to the Legislature. The bills have not met complete approval of the committee and the association, however.

At the annual meeting of the TWCA on Oct. 8, members voted to prepare a revised ground water code, Roberts reported, to include the following provisions:

1) Districts to be created within the state for control of underground water by consent of the people within the district, with 2) rules covering the withdrawal of water and drilling and equipping of wells in the district; a groundwater recharge program; and the issuance of bonds by vote of the local qualified voters in the district to carry out the work of the district. 3) Legislation will also provide that waste and pollution will be prohibited and ground water utilized to the maximum benefit; wells for domestic use up to 30,000 gallons per day will be exempt from control, and control of district will be under a local board of directors elected by the people in the district.

A discussion period followed Robert's talk.

Tidmore, upon conclusion of the discussion, appointed five members of the organization as possible members of the nominating committee, with three to be elected to serve on the committee. Elected were F. C. Stanley, G. W. Parkhill, and M. J. Adderton.

Baby Sister Contest Set At Boys Club

The Lubbock Boys' club will hold its third annual Baby Sister contest at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the club house, 2323 Ave. K.

First and second prizes will be awarded to the Big Brothers, and first, second and third prizes to the Baby Sister in each of the four following divisions: Bluest eyes, curliest hair, most talented, and darkest hair.

High point in the contests will be reached with the choice of Miss Boys Club of 1948.

Bob Rose of the American Business club will act as master of ceremonies, and ladies from the auxiliary of the ABC will serve as judges, decorators and servers. Punch and cookies will be served to those present.

Twenty entries had been received for the contest up to last night, but additional entries will be accepted up to 7 o'clock tonight, it was announced.

average worker can earn $100 a week and where the average farmer earns as much as the average worker."

Working men came in, too, for the attention of Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic vice presidential nominee. Barkley told a CIO-PAC rally in New York's Carnegie hall that the Republicans regard workers "not as human beings but simply as grist for the mills of industry."

Truman Sets Tour

The nearing of the end of the presidential campaign— the election comes Nov. 2—found President Truman announcing another gruelling campaign tour.

This last big effort will start from Washington Sunday night, again by presidential train. There will be scores of appearances in big and little cities, with major speeches as follows:

Chicago Oct. 25, Cleveland Oct. 26, Boston Oct. 27, New York, Oct. 28, Brooklyn Oct. 29 and St. Louis Oct. 30.

Mr. Truman will spend this Saturday in Pennsylvania, with a Saturday night speech at Pittsburgh.

Dewey was represented by associates as being particularly interested in building up in Congress the same workable legislative majorities he has enjoyed as governor of New York. They say he is confident of winning Senate control along with the presidency.

Negro Issue Discussed

Democrats, on the other hand, are saying that President Truman's continuous attack on the Republican-dominated 80th Congress will result in control of the Senate by the Democrats in the 81st Congress, meeting next January.

Politics as it affects the negro cropped out during a meeting of presidents of the negro land grant colleges, in Washington. Walter H. Aiken, negro contractor from Atlanta, told the meeting that negroes had had no trouble seeing Mr. Truman, nor President Roosevelt before him, "but Dewey is a different type."

Aiken said "we are going to force him (Dewey) to tell us what he is going to do for negroes."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. The Air Force announced today the 47th wing will transfer to Barksdale Field, at Shreveport, within the next 30 days. It said the Lousisiana field will provide better facilities for the high speed B-45's.

News Briefs

Mrs. Lela Milliken, 78, of Oklahoma, who is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. R. M. Crabtree of 1809 Main street, was treated last night at West Texas hospital for a fractured right wrist and a three-inch deep laceration on the top of her head. The injuries were reported to have occurred when she fell on steps at her daughter's home. She remained in the hospital last night.

Doyle Clark of 1923 Fifteenth street, a city policeman, was brought to Lubbock Memorial hospital last night from Jayton after suffering a heart attack there at the home of relatives, it was learned here. Plains Funeral home here received the call about 6:15 p. m., and arrived back in Lubbock with Clark shortly after 9 p. m. He was reported resting well shortly before midnight last night.

A large crowd, including many visitors, attended the revival meeting Thursday night at the Broadway Church of Christ when Burton Coffman, Houston minister, spoke on 'Peter and the Iron Curtain." He is scheduled to speak at 10 a. m. today on the parable of the marriage feast, and at 7:30 p. m., on the Lord's Prayer. A men's fellowship luncheon is planned at noon.

More than 700 persons attended the fourth meeting of the city-wide Baptist Youth revival Thursday night in the First Baptist church auditorium. Charles Wellborn of Fort Worth spoke on "Haunted House." Warren Hultgren will be the speaker Friday night and for the concluding session Saturday night, it was announced.

New Plan For Berlin

the United States would carry out their agreement that the Russian zone mark be established as the sole currency in Berlin under four-power control.

4. The blockade would be lifted 48 hours after the approval of the recommendation and a council of foreign ministers meeting would be called promptly to discuss Berlin and Germany as a whole.

Friendliness Amazing

In contrast to the bitter struggle over Berlin, peace and good will reigned for a change in the United Nations Assembly's political committee. The committee agreed that a Mexican resolution calling on the five great powers to compose their differences and work for peace was good. The delegates sent it off to a subcommittee, which took only an hour to polish it. It will be voted on later in the full committee.

UN veterans sat amazed at comments such as these: U. S. Delegate John Foster Dulles looked "sympathetically" at the resolution; Britain's Sir Hartley Shawcross said Vishinsky had been "so kind;" Vishinsky declared the committee chairman Paul-Henri Spaak, Belgian premier had "been so good."

Sentence Cut Defended

Earlier today, Gen. Clay told a news conference he had "no evidence" of troop activities in eastern Germany that might indicate Russian preparation for war.

Clay, who flew here from Berlin last week for top level conferences, told newsmen:

1. The Russians have a "Communist indoctrinated police force" of 200,000 to 300,000 men in the eastern zone of Germany. Similar allied forces are "very small."

2. He cut the life sentence of Ilse Koch, widow of the commander of Buchenwald concentration camp, to four years' imprisonment because he believed the trial record did not warrant the stiffer penalty. He said the reduction was in accordance with American principles of justice.

3. The air lift has succeeded and can be maintained as long as "is necessary for our statesmen to find a solution" to the Berlin blockade. He said he did not anticipate any Russian violence in the air corridor.

General Clay discussed the situation in Germany with President Truman this morning. He flies back to Berlin tonight after a speech in New York at the Alfred E. Smith memorial dinner.

At his news conference he was asked flatly about the possibility of war.

He said he saw "no evidence" of Russian preparations for that.

FEPC Legislation Hit

"The Democratic party has no more right to throw States' Rights out of the window and put the FEPC (Fair Employment Practice Commission) in its place than has a Christian church to throw out the Bible and put the writings of an atheist in its place," the Mississippian said.

"The national (Democratic) convention in Philadelphia made a fatal mistake. Its action is not binding to any loyal Democrat. Not only is it not binding, but it is a challenge to every loyal Democrat to rid the Democratic party of the foolish, crazy notion that a Communistic program has any place in the Democratic party."

Wright said President Truman, Governor Dewey and Henry Wallace have embraced policies foreign to the Tenth Amendment of the Constitution.

"All three stand as one committed to usurpation of police power through the anti-lynching law; to federal control of the election machinery of the states through the anti-poll tax law; and for the breaking down of the segregation barriers erected by the individual states from the light of experience and maintained by the responsible members of both races," Wright said.

ATLANTIC DEPTHS TO BE PROBED

British Expedition Hopes To Find Trace Of Fabled Atlantis

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Is the continent of Atlantis a myth or did this fabled inland kingdom actually exist with a high civilization that was swamped by the rising ocean? Egerton Sykes, a fellow of the Royal Geographical society of Great Britain and chairman of the Atlantis Research center, now hopes to settle the long controversy with actual proof. He is organizing and expedition he hopes to take to the Azores next spring to seek submarine traces of the so-called lost continent. In the following article he tells why he believes he can throw new light on its past.)

By EGERTON SYKES

(As told to Fred Doerflinger, International News Service Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Oct. 21 — The fabled "Lost Continent" of Atlantis, possibly the missing link between Europe and America, will be probed by a super-modern, radar-equipped expedition next spring in a major effort to solve one of science's remaining riddles.

As chairman of the Atlantis Research center, I will head that expedition, utilizing every new scientific device obtainable in order to clear up once and for all this tantalizing mystery.

Mentioned Many Times

Its secret has plagued the minds of scientists and philosophers for ten thousand years. Plato wrote of it and so did Voltaire. Solon mentions it in his writings, and an old Frisian legend describes an atmospheric cataclysm that may have been the one that swallowed Atlantis.

Our expedition will operate from the Azores. This is the nearest projecting land in the vicinity where Atlantis is located in all ancient and modern writings. There is a strong possibility that the Azores are perhaps the last unsubmerged peaks of the vanished continent.

Recent subaqueous explorations have confirmed my belief that Atlantis did exist and it can be proved with the equipment obtainable today.

Professor Hans Pettersson of Sweden recently collected more than 200 sediment samples from the sea beds of the Atlantic, Pacific, Red and Mediterranean seas. With the aid of a new boring instrument he was able to obtain specimens as large as 70 feet long.

Findings Are Outlined

Professor Pettersson said:

"The results of detailed analyses are expected to throw light on the past history of oceans and reveal the great catastrophes which have happened to the earth far back in the tertiary age."

I believe that Professor Pettersson's findings prove that there was a continent above water in the Atlantic at the time I believe Atlantis existed.

Many commentators of thousands of years ago—who were closer in time to when Atlantis was a thriving continent—spoke of it.

Plato described it as a sea-girt land, in a warm and delectable climate. The ancient version of Atlantis said its inhabitants were advanced in art and culture. At one time they are said to have extended their sovereignty along the north coast of Africa to Egypt and through southern Europe to Italy.

Called "Venice" of Day

Plato said the island continent extended for hundreds of miles out into the Atlantic, apparently with what are now the Azores as its approximate center. This would place it several hundred miles out, equally distant from Africa and the Iberian peninsula.

The Greek writer and philosopher described Atlantis as a kingdom. He said its capital city was what we could call the Venice of its day. It was ringed with canals which were connected by a long water-way extending to the sea.

Plato said Atlantis had a war fleet of 1,200 vessels.

Hundreds of references may be found in classical writings, including mention of its vast cultural background and the splendid structures it reared. Poseidan, the God of the sea, was the chief deity of fabled Atlantis.

There is no concrete evidence that the people of this storied continent had any literature but there are indications that they knew enough about astronomy to have a calendar and probably were the first to conceive the zodiacs.

Fled Rising Waters

When the waters rose and submerged Atlantis, I believe some of these people who escaped made their way to Central America, traveling up the Amazon to Peru, Bolivia and Colombia. Others fled east to the lower reaches of the Nile.

There is strong evidence for believing the peoples of these widely separated areas have some background in common.

For example, mummification was practiced simultaneously in Chile, Peru, the Canary islands and Egypt.

The Mayas in Central America and the Egyptians both built pyramids.

Megalithic and cyclopean structures—that is massive temples and palaces of boulders or stone—may be found in Mexico, Central America, Peru, and Bolivia as well as England, France, Spain, Portugal and the North Africa coast.

To my mind the most plausible explanation for the disappearance of Atlantis can be found in the cosmis ice theory, postulated by the eminent Austrian engineer, Hans Hoerbiger.

Moon Comes Too Close

The ether is permeated by extremely rarified gases, he said, the general effect of which is to make the paths of planets around the sun inward spiral ellipses. The steepness of the spiral is in inverse ratio to the size of the planet concerned.

According to Hoerbiger's theory the moon was a small planet placed between Mars and the Earth The moon, which had an irregular orbit, came too close to the earth on one occasion and was caught within its gravitational pull.

The gravitational effect of the moon's approach was to draw the waters of the earth from the poles toward the equator deepening the seas by a mile or more.

This was enough to swamp Atlantis.

Many Flood Stories

There are an incredible number of flood stories in the ancient writings of peoples in the Atlantic and Mediterranean basins One of the most graphic is the "Oera Linda," a Frisian chronicle of unknown antiquity. In part it says:

"During the whole summer the sun had been hid behind clouds There was perpetual calm and the damp mist hung like a wet sail over the houses and marshes.

"In the midst of this stillness the earth began to tremble as if she were dying. The mountains vomited fire and flames. Some sank into the bosom of the earth, and in other places mountains gose out of the plain.

"Aldland (Atlantis), called by the sea-faring people Atlan, disappeared, and the wild waters rose so high over hill and valley that everything was buried, and others who had escaped the fire were drowned in the water."

The floods that followed this cataclysm probably covered the ruined cities of Atlantis and probably these ancient structures are deep at the bottom of the Atlantic. We will not attempt a costly survey of the ocean's depths We will start from the top and work down.

I believe we shall find traces of Atlantean civilization that will prove catagorically that Atlantis existed and that it was a peopled continent.

Artist Says Picture Must Tell Something

Lubbock Woman Puts Spirit Of West Texas In Paintings

A Lubbock woman who captures the spirit of West Texas in oils and pastels believes that "a picture should tell you something or it isn't worth hanging in your home."

She is Mrs. Mae Owens, and the orders that flow into her home studio at 2014 Eighteenth indicate that most West Texans agree with her line of reasoning.

Mrs. Owens is an attractive woman with snow-white hair and friendly blue eyes. The Texas material she draws on for subjects to paint is familiar to her, for she has lived in Texas virtually all her life.

She was born in Bastrop county, near Paige. Her father was born in Fredericksburg in 1850 after her grandfather had come with the Germans who colonized that town in 1846.

Mrs. Owens has recently completed a number of pictures for the Andrews public schools. They include portraits of George Washington, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mark Twain, Will Rogers, James Bowie, and paintings of the Alamo, cattle and oil scenes in Andrews county.

She frequently receives commissions from interior decorators or home owners for a series of paintings for an entire home. Her prices range from $15 to $250 or more.

A great range of subjects are painted by Mrs. Owens. Flowers, she believes, are one of the most popular subjects with the public. She also paints pictures of prize-winning cattle, horses, dogs and other animals, as well as mountain scenes and landscapes.

She has just completed "West Texas Sandstorm," an unusual pastel showing two horses on the prairie in a sandstorm.

"I study the faces of animals I paint," she explains. "I believe that animals have facial expressions and characteristics, and I like to paint those with unusual faces. I hate to distort even the face of a dog."

She paints her subjects just as she sees them. She has never tried to imitate the "modern" school of art, although she says she enjoys looking at such work done by other artists. Her goal is to paint pictures that can be enjoyed by all ages.

Mrs. Owens looks forward to painting historical places in Texas and she has selected a number of such places that she plans to work on in the future.

Mexican Official Orders Probe Of Braceros Hiring In Arkansas

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 21. (AP)—A full-scale investigation of reported illegal employment of Mexican nationals as laborers near Pine Bluff, Ark., was ordered by Miguel Calderon, Mexican consul-general here today.

Calderon announced that Gus Garcia, San Antonio attorney and legal advisor to the consul-general, and vice-consul David Mancha Macias have flown to Pine Bluff to aid A. Can Del Castillo, Dallas consul, in the investigation.

It is believed, the consul general stated, that the braceros in question had crossed the border illegally to reach the cotton fields in Arkansas.

Steady Decline In Backing For Wallace Is Seen In Latest Poll

BY GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 21 — The steady decline in voting strength of Henry Wallace's Progressive Party has been one of the major features of the 1948 presidential election.

Measured in percentages of the total national popular vote, the Wallace following today is approximately half of what it was in January when his party was organized.

GALLUP

There are two aspects of this decline of strength which bear importantly on the national political scene:

(1) Mr. Wallace in recent days has been saying that the main purpose behind his candidacy is to lay groundwork for a strong labor-progressive party in 1952.

(2) While the Wallace vote is small, it has from the beginning been a threat to President Truman's chances of reelection. Although Wallace will not come close to taking a single state, his vote will be an important factor in some areas, particularly in those states where the race between Truman and Dewey ordinarily would be expected to be close.

Wallace's greatest strength is in New York State where he polls approximately 12 per cent of the vote. Elsewhere, it ranges all the way down to less than one per cent of the South Carolina vote. The Progressive Party states Wallace is on the ballot in 45 states.

The decline in the Wallace vote can be seen in these figures:

(1) An Institute presidential "trial heat" last January gave Wallace seven per cent of the nation's total popular vote.

(2) Just before the major party conventions in June a similar poll revealed the Wallace vote had slipped to six per cent.

(3) In August, the Institute's first post-convention national standings of candidates revealed another drop to five per cent.

(4) Today, the latest poll shows a further decline to approximately four per cent.

Political significance of this decline is sharpened by comparing today's figure with the results of a survey taken in June, 1947, when the Third Party was in the discussion stage. At that time 13 per cent of voters said they would vote for the presidential candidate, when and if the party were organized.

Today's Wallace vote is more nearly comparable to the 3.3 per cent of the popular vote polled by Eugene Debs, Socialist candidate in 1920, and the 2 per cent obtained by William Lemke, Union Royal Oak nominee, in 1936.

Communist Influences Seen

Institute surveys over the campaign period indicate two possible reasons for the relatively light vote which Wallace polls.

First the survey before the political conventions found that many voters believed the Progressive party was dominated by communist influences. Fifty-one per cent of all voters held that view, while 21 per cent disagreed and 28 per cent had no opinion. Even among the groups to which Wallace makes his strongest appeals, such as young voters, independents and labor union members, substantial majorities of those with opinions felt the party was controlled by communists.

Second, the main features of the Progressive Party's foreign policy program appeal to small minorities of all voters. Overwhelming majorities of voters, for instance, believe the United States and the Western European allies should stay in Berlin, even if it means war with Russia. Wallace opposes this position, but almost half of the people planning to vote for him agree with the general public's attitude.

Wallace opposed a military alliance with the Marshall Plan countries, while his followers are about evenly divided on the subject. Again, a survey made when Congress was considering the Marshall Plan itself showed that approximately half of Wallace's supporters with opinions favored the Plan, although Wallace opposed it from the beginning.

Similarly, a substantial proportion of Wallace voters approved the new draft law which he opposes. The Institute also found that a majority of his supporters agree with the general American sentiment that Russia would not hesitate to start a war to get her way. The Progressive candidate has on many occasions belittled the Russian threat to world peace.

Huge Parts Make Building Of Atom Smasher Major Operation

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21 (U.P.)—Planning an atom-smasher is easy, according to Carnegie Tech's physicists.

It's putting the thing together that's causing the headaches. Especially when some of the parts weigh more than 125 tons and have to be transported about 25 miles over country roads.

Some of the big parts of the cyclotron are being made at Pittsburgh steel plants, but the atom-smasher is being erected at Saxonburg, Pa.

FORMER PRESIDENT DEFENDS U.S. ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Hoover Says Time Has Come For Americans To Take Stock 'And Think Something Good Of Themselves'

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (INS)—Former President Herbert Hoover believes the time has come for Americans to take stock "and think something good about themselves."

For the past twenty years "our American form of civilization has been deluged with criticism," he points out in an article in the current issue of The Woman's Home Companion.

Such criticism, he said, has come from the people themselves; from political parties; from intellectuals; from native Communists, and from "fuzzy-minded totalitarian liberals."

Production Is Tops

But Mr. Hoover thinks America is pretty much all right, and he implies that most of the rest of the world believes so, too. He says:

"We could point out that OUR American system has perfected the greatest productivity of any nation on earth; that our standard of living is the highest in the world.

"We could point to our constantly improving physical health and lengthening span of life.

"In the governmental field, we could point out that with only about six per cent of the world's population we have more youth in high schools and institutions of higher learning, more musical and literary organizations, more libraries and probably more distribution of the printed and spoken word than all the other ninety-four per cent put together.

Asked No Domination

"On the moral and spiritual side, we have more hospitals and charitable institutions than all of them."

Hoover writes that the United States also could suggest that "we alone, of all nations, fought in two World Wars and asked no indemnities, no acquisition of territory, no domination over other nations."

He cited the tons of food and clothes and billions of dollars this country has made as gifts in saving hundreds of millions from famine and governments from collapse.

"Much as I feel deeply the lag in spots which do not give equal chance to our negro population," Hoover goes on, "yet I cannot refrain from saying our twelve million negroes probably own more automobiles than all the two hundred million Russians or the three hundred million negroes under European governments in Africa.

"All of which is not boasting, but just fact. And we could say a good deal more.

"The meaning of our word 'America' flows from one pure source," Hoover says, adding:

"Within the soul of America is the freedom of mind and spirit in man. Here alone are the open windows through which pours the sunlight of the human spirit. Here alone human dignity is not a dream but a major accomplishment."

Thief Takes Fire Chief's Car, Baits Police Over Radio

CLEVELAND, Oct. 21. (U.P.)—From now on, police said today, when someone steals a fire chief's car they wish he would not be "helpful" by giving his location over the two-way radio.

Without aid, they said, they could find him a lot faster and easier.

It all started last night when engine company 38 returned from putting out a small blaze and found second assistant chief Elmer Cain's shiny red coupe missing.

Police Kept On Run

Police dispatchers immediately sent every available cruiser out to find the missing car.

Then the thief discovered the two-way radio. He called central exchange and told them he was in suburban Lakewood on Cleveland's west side. A few minutes later he gave his location in Wickliffe, a suburb some 15 miles distant on the opposite side of town.

Each time police cruisers went tearing off to the designated area.

For more than an hour and a half, the prankster kept police on the run from one end of town to the other. Police agreed it would have been impossible for him to get around so quickly but added they had to check out each location just in case he was telling the truth.

Keeping up a constant chatter with central radio exchange, the thief finally told them he was going to a fire and with a short blast of the siren turned the radio off.

Not much later detectives found the car parked less than 25 blocks from the fire house it was stolen from, not a dent in it and Chief Cain's helmet placed neatly on the seat.

'Political Trick' Seen In Rush Of Mexicans Into New Mexico

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 21. (AP)—A political trick to permit thousands of aliens to vote in the hotly-contested senatorial election in New Mexico is seen by Charles W. Carroll, San Antonio business man, in the recent action of an El Paso immigration official in permitting many Mexican citizens to enter the United States illegally.

Carroll warned the League of Women Voters of the suspected scheme in a speech before a sectional meeting of the group yesterday.

"I am convinced that a thorough investigation of the matter at El Paso wherein thousands of illegal entries were permitted will be found to constitute a political scheme," Carroll declared.

Carroll added: "I believe a thorough investigation of facts will show that many thousands of these Mexican workers were diverted to employers in New Mexico and that on Nov. 2 they will be found voting for Clinton Anderson, candidate for U. S. senator, who has been steadily losing ground to his opponent Patrick Hurley."

Wild Driving Spree Ends With Kansas Motorist Behind Bars

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 21 (U.P.)—Fining the motorist $600 and sentencing him to five months in jail, Judge Roy Rogers said the case was the "worst instance of reckless driving" ever brought to his attention.

Joseph D. Rosario, Jr., 30, drew the penalties for:

Speeding 80 miles an hour at night through heavy downtown traffic in a 20-mile zone, running 12 traffic lights, driving without a license, reckless driving, driving without lights, driving on the wrong side of the street, possessing liquor in violation of Kansas dry laws and resisting arrest.

The wild chase, with two motorcycle officers in pursuit, ended with Rosario's car smashing to a stop in a clump of shrubbery.

New '49 Nash Cars To Be Shown By Lubbock Firm This Weekend

Two completely new lines of 1949 Nash cars are to be shown this week-end by the Massey Motor company, 102 Broadway. Six models of the new cars will be on display and showings will be held tonight and Saturday night so that the public will have an opportunity to view the drastically-changed cars.

The new Nash 'Ambassador' and '600' models are so drastically changed in design that all body dies and major assembly line equipment used on 1948 models had to be scrapped in order to produce them, according to Floyd Massey, owner of the motor company which has the Nash dealership in the Lubbock area.

"These cars are so completely new that they have been given a brand-new name, 'Nash Airflyte for '49,'" Massey said. "By going all the way in aerodynamic design, Nash has achieved not only amazingly beautiful cars, but also revolutionary advances in roominess, comfort and performance. They are America's first cars with fender openings completely eliminated, and with the entire structure from bumper to bumper and road to roof streamlined in swift, low racing curves."

Drastically New Styling

The '49 Nash cars are the first of the industry's postwar models with front wheels totally enclosed. This styling advance, permitting full wheel swing on curves, was made possible because the new fender line is well outside the wheels. Tire removal is accomplished without difficulty. Rear fenders also are fully enclosed.

The new cars feature Nash-pioneered body building methods that incorporate all body and frame parts into a single electrically-welded unit that is strong, rugged and free of rattles or squeaks. Without sacrificing road clearance, the new, larger cars are lower than previous models, standing 62 inches high compared to 68 inches for 1948 models.

Distinctive front-end appearance is achieved with a broad low hood and flowing body lines that taper gracefully.

Improved riding comfort and greater roominess are features of the new Nash 'Airflyte,' which is engineered on aerodynamic principles. The new cars, which have a lower center of gravity, feature frictionless coil springs on all four wheels to provide improved body suspension and contribute to smooth roadability.

"Super-lounge" interiors of both cars are 9 feet 4 inches in length with abundant leg room. The front seat has 5 feet 3 inches of "elbow room," and the rear seat width is 5 feet 1 inch.

Twin Beds Featured

Full-length twin beds are an outstanding new development available in all 2- and 4-door sedan models. The beds are quickly convertible to provide a single bed en route or a double bed when the car is not in motion. The new bed arrangement is entirely contained in the passenger compartment, and to use it, it is unnecessary to disturb contents of the luggage compartment. These comfortable beds can be made up by dropping the divided backrest of the front seat.

A large one-piece curved safety glass windshield, standard equipment on all 1949 Nash cars, is four inches wider than '48 models. Because of its curved sides and elimination of the conventional center post, it provides greatly increased visibility.

The Nash-originated 'Weather Eye' conditioned-air system with automatic temperature control has been improved to provide increased flow of heated or unheated filtered fresh air and faster defrosting at low speeds.

Better Performance

Improved performance features are incorporated in both the 'Ambassador' and '600' series.

The new 'Ambassador' is powered with an improved six-cylinder, overhead-valve 112 h. p. engine, and the '600' with an improved I-head type, 82 h. p. six-cylinder engine which retains the traditional Nash economy of more than 25 miles per gallon at average highway speeds.

Models And Colors

Body styles of both the 'Ambassador' and the '600' series include the 4-door sedan, 2-door sedan and the brougham. The 1949 brougham features a novel rear seating layout with two wide single seats angled slightly to face toward the center.

Nash designers and stylists have developed two new interiors with more massive chrome hardware, combining smartness, pleasing color, practicability and refinement.

Exterior colors consist of eleven basic selections, including Sunset Maroon, Everglade Green, Horizon Blue, Marlin Blue, Ashland Green, Fawn Brown, Nile Green, Peru Gray, Arlington Gray, Black and New Nash Ivory. In addition, there are seven 2-tone combinations. The 'Ambassador' Custom interior comes in four attractive pin-stripe color combinations: brown with gray stripe, gray with brown stripe, gray with blue stripe and gray with green stripe.

Divorces In Texas Drop In Past Year

AUSTIN, Oct. 21 (AP)—Texas divorces dropped from 57,112 in 1946 to 43,584 in 1947 according to statistics compiled by the Texas Civil Judicial council and made public today.

The totals reflect the number of divorces granted by district courts. Dockets also carried 47,605 applications for divorces awaiting trial at the beginning of this year.

Litigation costs in all types of contested civil cases increased from $29.70 in 1946 to $31.29 in 1947. In non-contested cases, the cost jumped from $9.82 to $14.20.

Aside from divorce suits, district courts disposed of 26,315 cases in 1947 compared with 24,792 the previous year. The judges did not call juries in 57,505 cases in 1947 as against 8-,058 in 1946.

On the criminal side, district courts tried 1,518 cases with juries and 11,643 without. By comparison, 1,255 cases were determined by juries, while 11,847 required no jury in 1946. The number of criminal cases pending trial Jan. 1, 1948, was 20,537, up 3,103 from a year before.

HOUSTON CRAFT UNDER WRAPS

Souped-Up Mustang Expected To Break Marks Set By Jet Planes

By PAUL ROSENFIELD
United Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, Oct. 21.—A propeller-driven airplane that may outstrip jet plane speed records was under wraps here today, undergoing final adjustments before test hops.

The craft, a souped-up F-51, the war-famed Mustang fighter, was transformed by North American engineers in the Los Angeles plant for J. D. Reed, 45-year-old Houston sportsman and aviation enthusiast.

The plane's innovation, an oval-shaped water-cooled radiator on each wing tip, was dreamed up to eliminate drag, boost acceleration and climbing speed, and stabilize wing pressure.

Air Scoop Replaced

The twin radiators, placed similarly to wing gas tanks on the jet planes, replace the over-sized belly scoop on the standard F-51, Reed said.

With the scoop eliminated, Reed is confident that his ship will exceed 500 miles per hour on a straight speed course.

"By putting the radiators on the wing," Reed explained, "we have effected a very low drag. The radiators act as a barrier, keeping the pressure under the wing and the lift on top of the wing stable."

In a sharp turn, such as rounding a pylon in a race, his ship would get an extra power thrust, Reed claimed.

Before tests can be made here, there will have to be adjustments in the plane's fuel line. After that, Reed expects to break the jet record for the 1200 kilometer closed course, which stands at 440 miles per hour. He is eyeing the propeller-powered women's speed dash of 418 m. p., held by Jacqueline Cochran.

The modified army ship was scheduled to take part in the national air races last month, but motor trouble forced a crash-landing in a Kansas wheat field en route from the west coast to Cleveland.

Pilot for the tests here, Reed said, would likely be Merlin E. Jacobs of Dallas.

Reed named his craft the "Beguine," hoping that the popularity of the Cole Porter song would extend itself to the plane, possibly combining with a little good luck.

Highly-painted, with even a few notes from the song inscribed on the fuselage, the craft attracted attention on its flight to Houston Wednesday from Wichita, Kans.

One report that use of the bars of music had irked the American Federation of Musicians, and that royalty rights had been demanded by the office of James C. Petrillo in Chicago, could not be tracked down.

Pigeons Constitute Greatest Hazard At Cleveland Airport

CLEVELAND, Oct. 21 (U.P.)—The biggest hazard for pilots using the new downtown airport here is not high wires or fog blowing in off Lake Erie. It is pigeons.

The airport manager, Jack Doyle, says the birds find the new air strip ideal for maneuvers and mass formation landings. It is no laughing matter to a flier.

When a bird bounces off a light plane's whirling propeller, the prop usually gets the worst of it. If the plane is coming in for a landing, the pilot can easily lose his life in the resulting crash.

"We have tried poison corn," said Doyle. "It is effective but slow."

The most practical method yet discovered of clearing the area of pigeons is for Doyle to get in the airport's jeep firetruck and race up and down the field with siren screaming before a plane landing or taking-off.

Army Town Keeps Children Busy, Reduces Delinquency

AYER, Mass., Oct. 21 (U.P.)—This Army town has not had a single case of juvenile delinquency in eight weeks after years during which there was an average of 30 youthful crimes a month.

Police Chief Ernest L. Downing said the record resulted from an idea that "if you keep kids busy you keep them out of trouble."

Last Christmas Downing brought Santa Claus to Ayer by helicopter to attend a party that attracted 10,000 children from every community within 25 miles.

Dallas Bar Assails Jester Appointment

DALLAS, Oct. 21. (U.P.)—It was reported today that the Dallas Bar association was critical of the appointment yesterday of State Rep. Dallas Blankenship to the 101st District Court bench. Blankenship was appointed yesterday by Governor Beauford Jester to succeed Judge William Cramer, who moves up to the Fifth Court of Civil Appeals on Jan. 1. He leaves a two-year unexpired term.

Under previous plans, any attorney interested in the post was to make application and by ballot of the membership three were to be recommended. Blankenship was on the list which was to have been mailed to Dallas bar members Thursday.

Bar President Robert L. Dillard, Jr., was quoted as saying "we don't appreciate the governor's action." He added: "We are thoroughly disgusted."

Blankenship, a member of the State House of Representatives for 12 years, had won the Democratic nomination again this summer.

NLRB Orders Election Among Workers At Port Arthur Plant

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—The National Labor Relations board has ordered an election among workers in the boilermaking and welding department of the Gulf Oil corporation's plant at Port Arthur to determine a bargaining representative.

The workers will decide whether they wish to be represented by the Oil Workers International union, CIO; the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers Iron Shipbuilders, Welders and Helpers of America, AFL, or by neither.

The election, to be held not later than Nov. 15, was petitioned for by the CIO union.

Box 13 Gets Into More Trouble In Election Squabbles

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 21 (AP) — It's the unlucky number 13 that has hexed elections this year.

Box 13 was missing in Alice, Tex., when a probe of alleged irregularities in the U. S. senatorial contest came up.

A recount revealed errors in Brownsville's Precinct 13 in a contest over the county commissioner's race.

And now across the Rio Grande—results of the Matamoros, Tamaulipas, Mexico, municipal contest have been voided after the defeated candidates protested on grounds of election irregularities in—yep, Precinct 13.

The state committee of the PRI (Institutional Revolutionary Party) in Victoria, capital of Tamaulipas, today allowed the protest and declared all candidates will have to run again in general election Nov. 7.

Dentist Discovers Prosperity Wrecks Teeth Of Eskimos

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 21.—Prosperity brought dental woes to the Eskimos, according to Dr. Carl J. Henklemann.

The Lincoln dentist was sent to the northernmost tip of Alaska by the federal government for a dental survey with the naval Arctic research laboratory. He examined about 600 Eskimos, he said, and found their teeth to be "in terrible shape."

Eskimos employed at the Point Barrow naval base draw $300 to $600 a month as laborers, Henklemann said, and use the money to trade their former diet of seal, fish and walrus for the menus of Americans.

Cavities and aching teeth result, he said.

Move To Ask Congress To Drop Tax On Small Fairs Planned

CORSICANA, Oct. 21. (AP)—A move to ask Congress to remove the amusement tax on small county fairs was reported here today.

Herman Brown, a member of the board of directors of the Texas Association of Fairs and Expositions and manager of the chamber of commerce here, said the small fairs are being "choked to death" by the tax.

Brown said that a drive to remove the tax would be mapped out Saturday in Dallas when the association holds a board meeting.

Nebraska Lawyers Offer Program For Combatting Boost In Crime

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 21 (U.P.) — Nebraska youngsters generally are behaving themselves in the eyes of the law.

Their elders, however, increasingly are guilty of forgeries, and no-fund or insufficient fund checks.

So say a sizable majority of Nebraska county attorneys, queried by the state bar association for facts and recommendations on preventing crime and delinquency.

County attorneys were almost unanimous in the opinion that juvenile delinquency is on the wane, while traffic offenses have increased sharply. Frederick Wagener, Lancaster County attorney who conducted the poll, attributed the larger number of traffic violations to better law enforcement.

Warns Public

He blamed high living costs for the increase in check offenses, and urged the public to be more critical in accepting checks from strangers.

Some officials recommended treatment rather than punishment for sex offenders, Wagener said. He was not persuaded this was the best method, but conceded jail sentences do not guarantee against repeat performances.

Authorities recently found widescale sex perversions among Lincoln children, and Wagener believed the same situation exists in other parts of the country.

"Lincoln youngsters are no different from others," he said. "Some way they're going to find out about sex. It's up to us to decide whether it will be intelligently, through the schools, or sordidly."

Would Be Lenient

Willard M. Wilson, Phelps County attorney, recommended charging and paroling a child on his first offense. If the youngster "walks the straight and narrow for about two years, then the charges are dismissed," Wilson said.

Check offenses could be curbed, according to York County attorney John Zeilinger, "if merchants would be more careful about accepting checks, and less willing to drop prosecutions when their money is returned.

"Our banks have been somewhat lax in permitting their 'good' customers to obtain credit (through insufficient or no-fund checks," he commented. "Some of the 'poor' customers feel they are entitled to the same privilege."

Attorney Ernest L. Reeker, Madison, proposed physical examinations and psychiatric or psychological studies of all juvenile delinquents, and required pre-sentence and pre-parole investigation of all felony cases.

Better pay for probation and parole officers was urged by several attorneys.

Old Papers Crowding Historical Society

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 21 (U.P.)—If you have trouble with old newspapers accumulating around your house, consider the case of the Nebraska Historical Society.

The society saves old newspapers—so successfully that the organization is about to be crowded out of its State House quarters.

Superintendent James Olson says the society has more than 28,000 volumes of Nebraska newspapers, each containing a two-week run of metropolitan dailies or a year's file of a weekly. The accumulation takes up the bulk of the society's 18,000-foot square Capitol space.

Papers printed in the 1870s carry their age better than some of those turned out in the present century, Olson says, because better newsprint was used in the old days.

The volumes are in constant use. Army engineers studied them extensively, according to Olson, to determine floodlevels in years gone by.

Olson is considering microfilming the collection to save space, since now there is only aisle room to handle the incoming papers. His public objects, however. Complaints are the microfilm projections would be more difficult to read.

The society is scheduled to move into a new building, but high costs may delay its construction. Meanwhile, the papers keep coming.

Alamogordo Residents Turn Out For Breakfast After Wild Alarm

ALAMOGORDO, N. M., Oct. 21 (U.P.) — Officials of the Otero County Fair agreed they couldn't have thought of a better way to assure a heavy turnout at the kick-off breakfast opening the fair.

At 5:30 a.m., one hour before the community breakfast, Alamogordo broke loose in a deafening uproar. Police cars roared through the streets with sirens going full blast, the fire siren was cranked vigorously and every bell and whistle in town rang out.

Alamogordo turned out en masse for the breakfast.

Man Owns About Everything In Small Illinois Village

ROBBS, Ill., Oct. 21 (U.P.)—When Albert Robbs speaks of his own home town, he knows what he's talking about.

According to the Illinois REA News, Robbs owns every house, industry and store in this small Southern Illinois town of 150 population.

Among his businesses are a flour mill, lumber yard, restaurant, general store and automobile agency.

About the only things he doesn't own are the electric system, the school and the postoffice.

Robbs is mayor of Robbs, too, but he's not strictly a one-town man. He's also postmaster and president of the First National Bank at nearby Golconda.

Army Sergeant Knows How To Travel Cheaply If Not Fast

HUTCHINSON, Kan., Oct. 21 (U.P.)—Clifford H. Kerschner travels, if not too comfortably, at least cheaply.

Kerschner is an Army sergeant, stationed at El Paso, Tex. He made a 970-mile trip home to Hutchinson for $2.80, representing 10 gallons of gasoline and a quart of oil.

He did it on a motorscooter, equipped with a home-made semi-trailer to carry his luggage.

Quiet Ponds Used For Raising Trout

DENVER, Oct. 21 (U.P.)—Fishermen whipping Colorado's famous trout streams in the future may be luring a new brand of finny dynamite.

The new battling trout are being produced at the Poudre rearing pond at Fort Collins, Col. It used to be that trout were reared in narrow, artificial races through which cold water ran with high speed. The trout raisers thought that fast water was necessary for the development of a hardy fish that would survive when turned loose in boiling Colorado streams.

But Gus White, unit supervisor at the Poudre ponds, says the new trout are being raised in ponds where they have the room found in beaver ponds and the larger natural streams.

"You should see the pond trout feed," White says. They are just as lively as any ever grown before.

None of the pond reared trout have yet been turned loose in the streams, but White and his cohorts think they will prove as hardy and will fight just as hard on a hook as have any hatchery grown trout heretofore.

Expert Declares Anyone Can Sing If They Breathe Properly

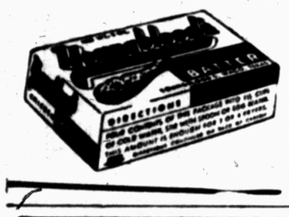

FALMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 21 (U.P.)—Offkey bathtub singers under critical fire from unappreciative wives can turn sour notes sweet simply by learning to breathe properly.

Talbot Howe gave the advice which he said is based on a lifetime study of singing.

Breath is the foundation of singing tone and natural breathing will induce perfect tones from the vocal apparatus, he said. Artificial breathing instructions for singers have destroyed many naturally perfect singing voices, he contends.

Chicago Skid Row Residents 'Crash' Into Movie Filming

CHICAGO, Oct. 21 (U.P.) — A picture company's plan to film two of its stars against a realistic background of Chicago's "skid row," West Madison Street, failed miserably.

The two stars hardly had started their amble through the honky tonk area when they were spotted by the assembled "bums" and loiterers. Saloons were emptied and flop house windows flew open.

Finally the director and cameraman, concealed in a truck, gave up and, with the help of police, picked a few "extras" for the scene. The buddies of the new actors watched proudly while their friends were immortalized on film.

Two Persons Killed, Six Hurt In Fannin County Car Mishap

SHERMAN, Oct. 21. (AP) — Two persons were killed and six others were injured today in a traffic accident south of Honey Grove in adjacent Fannin county.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Theodore Hatchett of Dallas and Mayse C. Frye, Marietta, Ga.

Mrs. Frye, wife of one of the victims, and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lindley were taken to Baylor hospital in Dallas. The Lindleys reside in Commerce.

Mack Rayland, Commerce, was taken to a hospital there.

Gene Bearden Stops Show In Hollywood; Indian Star To Appear In Stratton Movie

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 21.—Such excitement when handsome Gene Bearden, hero of the Cleveland Indians, walked on the MGM lot. All of the big boys out there stopped work just to shake hands with the handsome baseball favorite.

Gene played in the World Series, in spite of the fact that he has a plate in his head and a hinge in his knee as the result of injuries received in the war.

Yes, he is going to be in "The Stratton Story," playing himself. Jack Cummings had a difficult time trying to test him because all the movie folk, even the celebrities on the lot, were like kids, wanting to shake his hand.

Bergman Back In U. S.

Ingrid Bergman arrived back home a few days ago, glad to be back in Hollywood but exceedingly tired.

She said her trip was really more work than vacation. But she did have a wonderful time in Stockholm where she and her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, visited all the old familiar places.

Ingrid says that for the first time in years she has no assignment to make a movie, which means she isn't going to do the one in Italy for Rossellini. That will be a blow to him.

Foreign Stars Worry

I feel sorry for all of the foreign-born stars who are worried about their relatives in Russian-dominated countries.

Vera Ralston, the Republic star, says that there is an iron curtain around her native Czechoslovakia, and all the country's products are being earmarked for export to Russia.

She told me her uncle wrote an urgent appeal to send him some drugs to treat a chronic illness from which he suffers. Ironically enough, her uncle works in a drug store but is unable to get the medicines he needs.

Agnes Moorehead telephoned and asked, "Did you call me?"

I said, "No, but I am always happy to talk to you." I certainly was because I learned Aggie is going to play Jimmy Stewart's mother in "The Stratton Story." She will be good, too.

Funny about these telephone calls. Within a week at least ten people called in, in answer to messages that presumably came from me, but didn't. Wonder who the joker is? It isn't funny when some of the phony calls are made at 2 o'clock in the morning.

Liz Scott, whose low-register voice is her stock in trade, had a serious accident at Republic a few days ago. She broke a blood vessel in her throat when she had to scream at Dan Duryea in a high-pitched voice.

She has been told by her doctor to do no more screaming, and to take it easy. So, there is no more yelling for her in "Too Late For Tears," the movie which she is now making.

State Water And Soil Plan Urged

HOUSTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—Four Gulf coast officials today endorsed a $100,000,000 long-range water and soil conservation program to be financed by state revenue bonds.

The program was advanced by Clarence Debusk, manager of the Beaumont Chamber of Commerce, and approved by H. H. Allen, Corpus Christi city manager, John Simons, director of the city-county industrial development committee, Orange, and Walter G. Hall, Dickinson, president of the San Jacinto river conservation and reclamation district.

All attended the Gulf coast water conference held here yesterday.

Following the conference, Debusk told reporters it has been obvious to him for 20 years that Texas needs a soil and water conservation program.

"Soil is the capital stock of the nation," he said. "The Orange-Brownsville area, in which industry and agriculture are dominant, is the fastest-growing area in the world.

"We should bend every effort to conserve water and soil to insure further growth."

He recommended that the state adopt a long-range program financed by revenue bonds.

"During the depression we voted about $25,000,000 in recovery bonds and we didn't know whether we could pay them off or not," he said. "There is no reason why we cannot vote $100,000,000 in bonds now for conservation."

Says Cooperation Needed

Simons said it is not too late to catch up on conservation.

"Authorities have told us 80 per cent of the flow of Texas streams reaching the Gulf coast is unused," he states. "Industries are just waiting for us to impound that unused water so they can come in and use it."

Hall sees the answer to the state's soil and water woes as co-operation among all interested parties on a statewide basis and a corrective program financed to a great degree by the state.

Allen said the water conference presented facts illustrating the lack of development and the disregard of present and future water needs.

"I hope we don't wait until our water supplies have depleted before taking action," he said. "We will have to begin thinking in terms of million of gallons rather than just gallons."

Elissa Landi Dies In New York Hospital

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 21. (INS)—Talented actress-novelist Elissa Landi, who once described herself as "the loneliest woman in Hollywood," died in Kingston hospital today of cancer. She was 43.

The blonde Miss Landi, born in Italy and reputedly the granddaughter of Empress Elizabeth of Austria, starred on both stage and screen and was the author of five books.

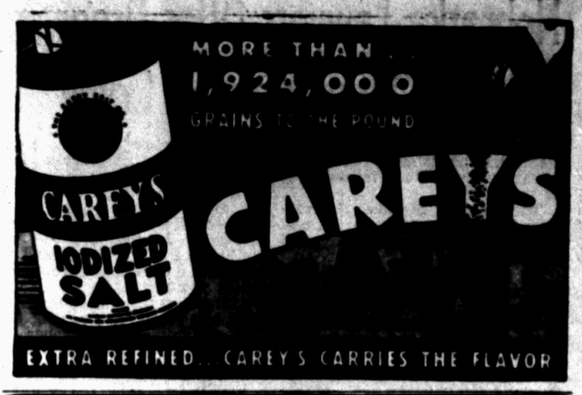

She was wed twice, in 1928 to a London barrister, John C. Lawrence, whom she divorced in 1943, and in 1943 to author Curtiss Thomas. Thomas was at her bedside when she died.

Miss Landi's last motion picture was "Corregidor," in 1944. Her last novel, "Women and Peter," was published in 1942.

According to her physician, Dr. Kenneth Lefever, Miss Landi never knew she had cancer. Throughout her illness, Dr. Lefever's bulletin's on her condition said merely she was suffering from a "chronic" condition.

In addition to Thomas, Miss Landi is survived by a daughter, Caroline, 4; her father, Count Charles Zanardi-Landi, and a brother, Anthony, of Hollywood.

Clear Fork, Lower Permian To Be Explored By Andrews Test

Exploration into the Clear Fork, lower Permian, at a west-central Andrews county project six miles west of the town of Andrews is to be made in the near future by Lario Oil and Gas company.

This prospector is to be Lario No. 1-B Hayden Miles, located 1,-320 feet from south and west lines of section 12, block A-46, psl survey.

It is outside the proven area for production from the San Andres-Permian in the Deeprock field, and had apparently missed that pay in drilling down to 4,516 feet in dry lime.

The development has been shut in for several weeks. Now operator has arranged to continue drilling to at least 7,500 feet using rotary. Drilling ahead is scheduled to start immediately.

Shows Oil Signs

Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 1 Brown, eight miles northwest of Snyder, in Northwest Scurry county, and 1,880 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 440, block 97, H & TC survey, showed some signs of possible oil and gas production in a drillstem test of an unidentified sand at 6,032.5 feet to the then total depth at 6,043 feet.

The tool was open 17 minutes. There was a blow of gas at the surface after 14 minutes, which was not guaged or estimated.

Recovery was 30 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud, 90 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud, and 80 feet of mud cut oil. No water developed. Gravity of the oil was 44.8 degrees.

The exploration—unless it develops commercial production before penetrating into that horizon.

Swabbed From Surface

Champlin Refining Company No. 1-F University, wildcat in Central-Southwest Andrews county, 20 miles southwest of the town of Andrews, and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 34, block 12, University survey, had swabbed on perforations at 8,625-60 feet, and swabbed down to 8,450 feet from the surface.

Recovery had been salty water, with a slight show of gas, but with no signs of oil. The project is to perforate and test higher. The section under investigation is in the Devonian. The exploration had some indications of possible production in intervals above the 8,-625-60 foot section. It is between the Block 12 and the West Parker-Devonian fields.

Waterspouts on the ocean are chiefly of fresh water, not salt water as many people believe.

FOR EDUCATION

Youth Given Home, Cash For Kindness

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21. (INS)—A Philadelphia High school sophomore was willed a home and $10,000 today—for his kindness to a widowed neighbor.

The 15-year-old youth, Renny Madden, received the legacy for his "education, maintenance and support" from Mrs. Emma G. Yeager, who died recently.

The will, probated today, said Renny had helped Mrs. Yeager with household chores after her husband's death four years ago.

Second Mistrial Within Week Is Declared When Juror Becomes Ill During Court Here

Illness of a juror Thursday morning caused Judge G. V. Pardue to order a mistrial in the 99th district court burglary trial of Jonie J. Wood—the second time this week such an order has been issued.

C. S. Black, about 44, listed on court records as living at 2006 Twenty-seventh, was taken from the jury dormitory about 8 a. m. to his physician, suffering of a kidney stone. Two hypos were administered as emergency treatment earlier at the courthouse. Black was ordered admitted to West Texas hospital, where it was indicated he will remain "a day or two." The stone, it was said, is not large, and may successfully be dissolved.

Never before had a juror in a criminal action become ill sufficiently for declaring a mistrial in Lubbock district courts, until Monday, when J. H. Cockerell, 41, of 513 Ave. C, suffered a heart attack and was ordered by a physician to Lubbock Memorial hospital. He was admitted to the hospital, where he made satisfactory recovery. He was a member of the jury hearing evidence in the Walter Echols murder case.

The Echols case, like the Wood trial, was reset by Judge Pardue for Nov. 15.

Wood had pleaded innocent of burglary of property of Smith Keller. The case is one of three burglary charges naming the 24-year-old Plainview defendant. Arthur D. Harris, 33, also of Plainview, was convicted by a plea of guilty Wednesday in a companion case, and sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. He waived a jury.

In another jury action Wednesday, Daniel D. Floyd, 30, was assessed a four-year sentence for theft by bailee of an automobile.

Three cases were decided this morning by pleas of guilty, E. G. Pharr and A. W. Salyars, assistant district attorneys, said.

Charlie Lee Smith, 38, of Texarkana was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for theft Sept. 2 from Roy Miller; Jean Thomas Welch, 30, of the Slaton highway, was allowed suspension of a five-year sentence in a companion case; and Robert Louis Scales, 31, a Lubbock negro, was allowed suspension of a five-year sentence for burglary Aug. 16 of property of Surlester Hereford, another negro.

Judge Pardue dismissed his jury panel Thursday afternoon. A civil jury panel will report to him Monday.

State School Land Board To Receive Bids On Land Dec. 7

AUSTIN, Oct. 21 (AP) — The State School land board will receive bids on some 125,000 acres of upland and submerged lands Dec. 7, Bascom Giles, commissioner of the general land office and board chairman, said today.

Offerings will include surveyed tracts in seven coastal counties. None of the submerged tracts are in the Gulf proper, Giles said.

Compromise Settlement Is Made In Compensation Case

A compromise settlement in the compensation action of C. W. Durrett against Security Mutual Casualty company, whereby the plaintiff was awarded judgment of $1,250 and costs, was approved Thursday morning by Judge Dan Blair of 72nd district court.

Judge Blair set aside an earlier award of the industrial accident board.

The firm of Berry and Ball represented Durrett, the firm of Crenshaw, Dupree, Milam and Crenshaw the defendant insurance company.

An order entered by Judge G. V. Pardue of the 99th district court in the case of The State of Texas against Weldon Eugene Walker ordered that the defendant pay $35 monthly toward support of a minor child, 2½ years old.

Walker was under indictment of a January term grand jury for desertion of and refusal to support the child.

The order is operative until the child reaches 16.

You Can't Swim the Mississippi with a Million Head of Cattle

The Mississippi River always has been the "continental divide" in the geography of the livestock-meat industry. In the old days the great herds of longhorns trailing north from Texas had many rivers to cross. The Red. The Canadian. The Big Blue. The Platte . . . but there was never a trail that ended east of the Father of Waters. The Mississippi was, and is, one river you couldn't swim with a million head of cattle.

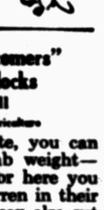

It's a staggering job to get the nation's meat from producer to consumer. Two-thirds of the meat animals are produced west of the Mississippi . . . two-thirds of the meat is eaten east of it. On the average, meat has to be transported more than 1,000 miles. It's a big job—a huge job. Just consider: in 1947 alone, this job of getting the nation's meat from the farm and range to the cooking range involved 32,158,000 beef animals, 24,044,000 sheep and lambs, 82,579,000 hogs!

Harvesting any national crop—from wheat to meat—is a big job. Big machines are needed. Who uses binders when combines are more efficient? Similarly, in the processing and nationwide distribution of meat it takes large-scale, efficient "machinery." There's a need for all of us—producers and meat packers; shippers and marketing people; transportation lines; wholesalers and retailers. We all play a part—whether we are individuals or companies, whether we operate locally or on a nationwide basis.

Over the years, we at Swift have worked to perfect our nationwide system of marketing. We, and 26,000 other commercial slaughterers, provide a competitive cash market for your livestock. We buy your animals and dress them. We process and refrigerate them. Then, we distribute the meat to retail store men everywhere. (Our earnings for all these essential services are only a fraction of a cent a pound.) Because this big job is done efficiently, you producers are assured of markets . . . consumers everywhere are assured of meat. We at Swift & Company are proud of our part in building the "1,000-mile bridge"; the "bridge" which carries meat from the point of surplus production to the point of consumption. So long as all America wants meat it will take efficient nationwide organizations to bridge that 1,000-mile gap.

All That Glitters Isn't Profit

J. F. Brandt

Government reports tell of farm and ranch income from livestock that totals more than 17 billion dollars. Many folks read those reports and say—"No wonder meat is so high. Livestock producers must be coining money."

That is a thoughtless comment, based on misunderstanding. That 17 billion dollars is not profit—it is gross income. Many expenses must come out of your gross livestock income before you can make any profit on it. There's the cost of breeding-stock and feeding-stock . . . of your hired labor . . . of feed, machinery, equipment. All these costs are at all-time high levels. Out of your gross income also must come property and income taxes, interest; insurance premiums; repairs; new buildings; fences; death losses, etc. After you've paid all those necessary business expenses, you're lucky if you end up with 10 or 15 per cent profit.

A lot of people are just as wrong about Swift's profit as they are about yours. They look at our total sales of 2¼ billion dollars last year and say—"That's a barrel of money. No wonder meat is high!" But the fact is that competition in both buying and selling is so keen that from those 2¼ billion sales dollars an average of 79¢ went to pay you for your livestock. 10¢ for pay to our employes. 6½¢ for supplies and other necessary business costs. 3¢ for taxes and transportation. All we had left as earnings was 1½¢.

Yes, in our business, as in yours, there's a big difference between gross income and net profit!

The price we can pay
For your livestock today
Is governed by people
Who live far away.

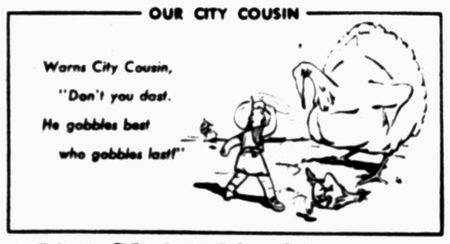

With money in hand.
They create a demand
For roasts, steaks and chops
Throughout the whole land.

And the price at wholesale—
Tenderloin or oxtail—
Is affected by numbers
Of cattle for sale.

This rhyme has been planned
So you'll all understand
That prices result
From supply and demand.

Tally and Cull "Newcomers" in Breeding Ewe Flocks

by Clair E. Terrill

United States Department of Agriculture

As you swing the cut gate, you can increase total salable lamb weight—your margin of profit. For here you can cull ewes that are barren in their first lambing season. You can also cut out those unable to raise singles in their first lambing year. These ewes often get by on their appearance alone. For frequently they are heavier wooled and in better condition than nursing ewes. But they do not always pay their way.

Recent research has proved that subsequent market lamb production from such dry ewes may not justify keeping them in efficient commercial breeding bands. Experiments with Columbia range ewes at the U. S. Sheep Experiment Station, Dubois, Idaho, established this fact. There is a definite relationship between the total weaning weight of lambs produced in the first year and in the three following years of lambing.

All ewes that twinned the first year, regardless of whether the lambs were raised, weaned 19 pounds more lamb weight in the three years of study than ewes that failed to lamb—five pounds more than ewes which did not rear their first single lamb. Ewes that dropped and raised singles had 16 pounds greater annual lamb yield thereafter than ewes which did not lamb. And ewes that did not rear their first lamb later produced 14 pounds more lamb weight yearly than ewes which were barren their first lambing season.

So, to increase efficiency in market lamb production, tally "newcomers" in ewe herds at breeding time. Then mark barren low-producing ewes for culling after the lambing

OPTIMISM FELT

Guide To Business

THE average John Q. Citizen seems justified if he absorbed a feeling of additional reassurance in his contemplation of the future from the atmosphere in which the semi-annual Western Wholesale Clothing market was resumed here during the last weekend.

Retail merchants were here from surrounding areas of West Texas and New Mexico to examine the merchandise displayed for sale by distributors from many parts of the country. Neither the merchants nor distributors pretended to be infallible prophets of events to come.

But it was re-assuringly significant that they were practically unanimous in their belief that business will continue good for at least another year or two. Most of them acknowledged the fear of a recession, or worse, further down the line. But they were frank to say that if such a misfortune is ahead, they perceive no signs of it now. The outlook, as they see it, is good, even though few merchants would take the chance of over-stocking with high-priced merchandise.

They were optimistic, but cautious. They represented a pretty fair cross-section of retail business in a large area. Their optimism justifies a similar feeling among all other groups. Their caution probably is an additional safeguard against a recession. Certainly they won't be in the position of so many merchants during the last depression—the position of being in bankrupting debt for stocks bought on credit at the peak of a boom.

A "Stitch In Time"

A FACT of which many Americans may not be aware, but of which they assuredly approve, is that the Soil Conservation service is maintaining a continuous vigil against the recurrence of dust bowl problems like those of the 1930's.

The SCS has experienced observers in all areas of, and adjacent to, the original dust bowl—which, incidentally, is several hundred miles from Lubbock. Those observers make reports as to existing conditions at intervals of two weeks. If circumstances arise, they make special reports in between.

These precautions obviously do not guarantee that there will be no future dust bowl problems. But they offer excellent assurance that no one will be caught napping if a dust bowl threat should begin developing on a large scale.

The SCS undoubtedly would be in better position, because of the precautions, to tackle and try to solve the problem before it gets out of control. The experience already gained and that being gained continuously strengthens hope that no bowl problem of such magnitude will occur that it cannot be solved.

"Would you like to listen to a woman preach?" asks the inquiring reporter. Well, all married men have to do it.

The town crier missed a bet in colonial days. He should have picked up extra dough by having his news sponsored.

(THE STORY: Dying in the Indian desert, British secret agent Hilary Shenstone feels a desperate need to get back to England and to Nuns Farthing, his family home. He doesn't know the house has been let and that dreamy, 17-year-old Sabrina, whom he has never met, has adopted his old room and eagerly awaits his return. Hilary does return to England and to Nun's Farthing—after death. He is in his old attic room when Sabrina comes up, sits on the window seat.)

HILARY sat down cautiously on the other end of the window seat and watcher her, wondering what was in her thoughts.

At last she spoke again, very low, to herself.

"I don't see why I shouldn't talk to him sometimes—up here," she said.

"Who, me?" said Hilary, delighted. "Why not?"

She turned her head slowly, and her eyes went dubiously round the room, blinking a little in the sunlight. If only there was a picture of him, it would seem more reasonable to pretend he was actually there and could hear if she spoke to him. Or if only one knew his name. . . . You couldn't live in a room all your life and not leave your name somewhere in it—or could you?

She cast a helpless, ingratiating look round the four walls again, as if seeking him. Where could one look? Would he mind very much if—?

"If I could find his name," she said wistfully, just above a whisper, "I think I could talk to him—sometimes."

"My name is Hilary," he told her, with a sudden, aching desire that she know it.

The feeling grew on him minute by minute as he watched her that some sixth sense of hers would surely hear him, that already her sensitive, childlike perception had picked up some impression of his nearness and that she was glad of it.

SHE had risen and gone to the desk, and now she stood looking down at the blotter.

"There's that letter to Thompson," she murmured, "only he didn't sign it."

"The phone rang," she explained.

"He might have had a bookplate," she muttered, drifting disconsolately across the carpet. "But all he ever does is write 'Shenstone' inside the cover."

"It's in my Kipling," he said, following her. "Surely you've had my Kipling off the shelf?"

She stood behind the chesterfield, scowling at the handsome rows of books in their open shelves which lined the walls.

To your right, Sabrina—the other side of the mantelpiece—" He spoke urgently from the middle of the room behind her, motionless there, striving desperately now to reach her with some sense of his words. "Those red and gold books on the second shelf to the right of the mantelpiece—they were all given to me by a dear maiden aunt with a vice for scribbling on fly-leaves, dates and all. Find my Kipling, Sabrina—"

She wavered, hung on one foot, moved vaguely towards the mantelpiece, and halted again.

"Keep to your right, Sabrina—that's it—you're getting warm now—the Kipling, Sabrina, you can't miss it—no, the shelf above that one—above it—"

Her feet had carried her forward uncertainly. Her hand came up, hovered, and fell on "Puck of Pook's Hill."

"Got it!" cried Hilary with infinite satisfaction, from the middle of the room.

SHE lifted the book off the shelf and opened it, turning the leaves lovingly.

"Did you read this when you were little, I wonder?" she murmured. "I did, more than once. It would be fun to read it again—together."

She carried the book to the chesterfield and sat down there, one foot beneath her.

The cover, loosened from much use, fell open, away from the writing on the fly-leaf. Her eyes widened as she read.

" 'To darling Hilary on his 12th birthday, with fondest love from his Auntie Dot. Sept. 6, 1916.' " She gave a little gasp of triumph and excitement, and read the words again unbelievingly. "Why, that's it! I've found you." And she repeated thoughtfully—"Hilary."

"That's it," he said, watching her. "Do you like it?"

"Hilary," she said again softly. "It's perfect. It couldn't have been anything else."

"You heard me!" he marveled. "You must have heard me—in a way. I can get through to you. Perhaps with practice I can make you know all the things I want to tell you—because you found your way to me here."

She had pulled a pillow into place behind her back and begun to read, becoming instantly absorbed. Hilary went back to the window seat and sat down there.

He had a good deal to think about, as they sat together through the lazy June morning. He would have come back to England, he was thinking, in the ordinary course of events, some time later in the summer—about the middle of August. He would have come down to Nuns Farthing at once to see about his room. He and Sabrina would have met then—those clear gray eyes, that wide, engaging smile, the warm little fingers—her implicit confidence in the man who belonged to this room. . . . He would have had to exercise patience—she was so young—but she was his, and he liked to think he would not have been clumsy, or hurried her. . . .

Obviously, whenever, however, he came, he was to find her here waiting for him. But is oughtn't to be like this. Something had gone wrong, out there on the Frontier. It was never meant to be like this. . . .

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

RECENTLY a prominent clergyman took General Eisenhower to task because of a remark the general had made on the relation between democracy and religion.

He said the remark had been "shocking," because it "would seemingly equate democracy with religion."

BRANDEIS

This is what General Eisenhower had said to a group of newspaper reporters when asked whether he was a religious man.

"Nobody goes through six years of war without faith. That doesn't mean that I adhere to any sect. A democracy cannot exist without a religious basis. I believe in democracy."

The clergyman decried that statement as part of the growing tendency on the part of some scientists, educators and other leaders to "make a religion out of our democracy."

It is part of our democracy to be permitted different opinions on important questions and to express them freely.

But when two important men express those opinions not only freely but publicly, and for quotation in newspapers all over the country, then one must be right and the other wrong.

Who is right and who is wrong?

Religion is an extremely touchy subject. I know that from experience. Whenever I write something about religion I get a flood of letters—some of them highly praising me, others condemning me to the nethermost regions.

So, knowing that, thousands of people who read General Eisenhower's statement, and the criticism of it, will ask themselves who is right and who is wrong.

Is it really "shocking" to equate democracy and religion?

During the past few years a number of men of the cloth have complained that religion is not the living thing it ought to be, that instead of being part of our people's lives it has become a Sunday gesture.

That very question has been discussed in quite a few meetings of religious officials. "How can we give religion greater meaning? How can we make it a seven-day-a-week factor?" That is the problem which hundreds of religious leaders all over the country are trying to solve.

IT SEEMS to me that General Eisenhower has given the answer.

Make religion part of our democracy, he said in effect, and make our democracy part of your religion.

To see anything shocking in that suggestion is to show up one of the principal reasons why so many people are not using their religion as part of their lives but only as a superficial Sunday duty.

I have told you many times how much common sense there is in the Bible and how almost every chapter can be applied to everyday life all over the world.

If that Bible were lived by us rather than just read and quoted occasionally, all the troubles of the world would end.

TOP LEADERS SILENT

HST's Move Assailed

By RAY TUCKER

Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — President Truman's Vinson-to-Stalin brainstorm threatens to have far more serious and disastrous repercussions than convincing independents, the internationally-minded and hard-boiled industrialists interested in world recovery that he cannot be trusted to manage grave foreign problems.

TUCKER

It may bring a negative to repeated White House suggestions that the wartime and postwar roll of Secretaries of State issue individual or collective endorsements of his conduct of foreign affairs, particularly with respect to Russia. In that list of endorsers he would also like to include many distinguished men who served in diplomatic posts abroad.

SILENT: So far, however, such eminent Democrats and international experts as Cordell Hull, James F. Byrnes, Edward R. Stettinius Jr., Dean Acheson, Sumner Welles, Joseph P. Kennedy and others of equal standing have remained silent. They have delivered no speeches for the national ticket, and they have issued no requests for Mr. Truman's reelection. Their silence is thunderous.

Indeed, the volumes written by Messrs. Hull and Byrnes contain severe criticism of the very technique which Mr. Truman planned to invoke in bypassing Secretary Marshall by dispatching the Chief Justice to the Kremlin for a personal interview with the Soviet dictator.

SIDETRACKED: Mr. Hull frequently fumed when Franklin D. Roosevelt sidetracked him by sending such figures as Harry Hopkins, Joseph E. Davies and Mr. Welles himself on important foreign missions that should have been entrusted to the Secretary of State.

Mr. Byrnes suffered even more severely when Mr. Truman approved a Wallace speech that tended to undermine him in his negotiations at Paris.

Ironically, the unfortunate Mr. Truman figured that he could resort to the same sort of personal diplomacy because his more distinguished predecessor had set the precedent. But the diplomats listed above had learned from bitter experience and humiliation that international problems cannot be solved in that offhand manner.

LONELY: The abstention of such illustrious Democrats from the campaign serves to emphasize vividly and wistfully what a lonely and unhappy warrior Harry S. Truman is in the most important hours of his political career.

Rarely has a President of the United States presented such a pathetic figure—so pathetic that his plight may win him many sympathy votes.

With the exceptions of Secretaries Marshall and Forrestal, who are not campaigning, he has not an impressive or commanding figure in his Cabinet. Most of them are distinct handicaps.

The most distinguished members of the House and Senate hail from the South, and even those giving him lip support are not sufficiently enthusiastic to wag their tongues, flail their arms or open their pocketbooks on his behalf.

INTERESTED: He has no big business man or industrialist or financier like Owen D. Young, John J. Raskob or Bernard M. Baruch to express confidence in his ability to handle domestic problems such as inflation.

No top agriculturist has stepped forth to praise his leadership on the farm front. Even his organize labor friends are more interested in electing a pro-union Congress than they are in his candidacy.

DISCOVERED: Not a member of the Roosevelt family is breaking his or her political neck for their father's successor.

The more extreme "liberals" have deserted to the Wallace camp. The Rooseveltian brand of reformers seem to question his sincerity by their unwillingness to roll up their Tugwellian sleeves for him.

Newspaper after newspaper which once supported F.D.R. has declared for the Dewey-Warren ticket. Most of the national magazines oppose his reelection.

Mr. Truman has discovered what many a once triumphant but fading politician learns—namely, that it is lonely at the top! And it is never a solace to think in his moments of self examination that he himself has been the author of his loneliness.

PRIDE: As the campaign enters its last fortnight, those around Mr. Truman believe that he has abandoned any hope of victory. In fact, they doubt that he ever entertained the thought that he could win.

He is making such an aggressive and hard fight, according to their version, because of his stubborn but admirable pride. He does not want to be recorded in political annals as one of the worst defeated Presidents—another Landon. Also, as an instinctive "organization man," he wants to leave a foundation, however weakened, on which the party may rebuild.

To apply a prizefight phrase to politics, he yearns to walk out of the White House instead of being carried out!

GOP FORCES MAKING STRONG BID

Demos Hold Tennessee Backing

By THOMAS L. STOKES

Special Correspondent

NASHVILLE—The South offers a crazy-quilt sort of political pattern in this strange year. It is full of paradoxers. It almost denies analysis in some particulars.

The political map shows states like South Carolina, Alabama, and Mississippi very nearly going overboard for the Dixiecrat ticket composed of a South Carolinian, Governor J. Strom Thurmond, and Mississippi's Governor Fielding Wright, yet with comparative minor infection seemingly in some of their neighbors.

STOKES

Republicanism runs strong in some this year, such as Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and there in Tennessee, and this Republican tide will be helped by such defections as there are to the Dixiecrats in this group of states.

Demos Show Strength

Tennessee is part of still another pattern. While of the South it partakes also of the characteristics, political and economic, of a border state, and is often included among border states for political calculations.

When there is a heavy Republican swell over the nation, as there appears to be this year, it might be expected to slop over and engulf border states. That happened to an extent in the 1946 congressional elections in Kentucky, West Virginia and Missouri.

Yet there is strong Democratic resistance this year in those three states which may be successful and that is true, likewise, of Tennessee, the best political judgment here is that President Truman will carry Tennessee, and that it also will elect to the Senate the Democrat, Estes Kefauver, now a member of the House, over B. Carroll Reece, former House member and former chairman of the Republican national committee, as well as choosing for governor, a Democrat, Gordon Browning, who was the state's chief executive once before. He is opposed by Roy Acuff of hillbilly band fame.

Certain psychological factors seem to be involved here in Tennessee that are interesting. In its border state capacity, Tennessee is more of the national than of the South, which explains the existence of less of the typical southern provincialism to which the Dixiecrats appeal.

Tennessee, too, has been the scene of a great economic and social experiment in TVA which has given an insight into the solution of problems that lie beyond state borders and TVA, of course, was a development by the federal government and is, in effect, national in character.

Further, it was a creature of a Democratic administration in Washington. It was natural, consequently, that TVA was the principal topic of Senator Alben W. Barkley, Democratic vice presidential candidate, when he was in the state for speeches in Chattanooga and here. With this mammoth project for production of electric power he coupled atomic energy which also is identified with this state through the Oak Ridge plants that throw Tennessee full into the sweep of both national and international affairs in these times.

Tennessee, too, recently has come through another experience, a political experiment and, in its way, a purging of old ways, this was when it rose up to defeat the hitherto seemingly all-powerful Boss Ed Crump of Memphis whose word has been law in politics in this state for so long through his control of the rotten political borough he made of Memphis, that gave him a balance of political power that he used skilfully to influence politics throughout the state.

His hand-picked candidates for the Democratic senatorial and gubernatorial nominations were defeated in the uprising in which the symbols were Estes Kefauver and Gordon Browning. It hardly seems likely that the state now would turn its back on this revolution and on the two men, both of proven capacity, and turn to Republicans. In his dilemma, Boss Crump has come out for the Dixiecrats, but it does not seem that this can turn the trick for the Republicans.

Nor are Republicans too happily situated with their candidates. These are not times for a hill-billy band leader, with no experience whatever in government, to take over the management of affairs of a big state. While people swarm out to see and hear him and his band, it is the belief here that they will prefer his continued performance in the old opry house, which is his professional line, rather than see him take over the governor's chair.

Carroll Reece is identified with old guard Republicanism, not at all compatible, with the viewpoint of the head of the ticket, Governor Dewey. He is faced also with a division in his own ranks for this and other reasons. At the instigation of Rep. John Jennings, Jr., one of the two Republican House members from this state, who was a Dewey man way back and who is no ally of Mr. Reece, a separate Dewey-Warren headquarters was set up in the state to look after the interests of the national ticket.

Texas Tech May Receive Pantex Plant, Buildings

17,000 Acres Of Land, Several Hundred Buildings On Project

Texas Technological college probably will receive the Pantex ordnance plant property of 17,000 acres and 414 buildings near Amarillo within two and one-half months, Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Tech president, said yesterday upon his return from a conference with War Assets administration officials in Grand Prairie.

"It looks as if the property will be transferred to the college by the first of the year, barring complications which are not anticipated," said President Wiggins.

No Trouble Expected

The application still must be passed upon by the war assets board in Washington, but the college has met all qualifications and zone officials do not anticipate that any problems will stand in the way of final approval, he said.

Dr. Wiggins, accompanied by Frank Juneil, assistant to the president, attended a conference in the War Assets administration zone offices at Grand Prairie Wednesday morning. Government representatives present included C. M. Bushick, chief of the non-industrial division of the Office of Real Property Disposal; F. A. Ramsey, field representative of the U. S. Office of Education, and C. N. Townsend, assistant chief of the institutional branch of the non-industrial division of the Office of Real Property Disposal.

Uses For Property

The property, as specified in the application, would be used for the general purpose of broadening the education of Texas Tech. In the main, training would be related to agriculture and enginering.

Texas A. & M. college has a similar project, having received the Blue Bonnet ordnance plant near McGregor for use in experimentation and research.

Operation of the project by Texas Tech would not involve necessity of large numbers of students being present there. Few, if any, would need to live in that neighborhood in order to receive training on that project, it was stated from the president's office.

17 Miles From Amarillo

The plant is located 17 miles northeast of Amarillo and 139 miles north of the campus of Texas Tech.

The government, which bought the land in 1942 and began setting up the ordnance plant, built most of the 414 buildings, which range from temporary wooden structures, some small, to permanent structures made of tile, steel and concrete. Networks of railroad tracks and utility lines are located on the land.

In event the application is approved, the contract will contain a security clause which provides that in case of war the government could take the property back for government use.

The application from Texas Tech board of directors to the War Assets administration for the Pantex plant is dated March 3, 1948. Prior to that date, however, negotiations preparatory to the applications had been underway.

Requirements Are Met

Numerous requirements have been met. For instance, statement of the director of the Agriculture Experiment station at Texas A. & M. college that Texas Tech is qualified to conduct research work was necessary. The U. S. Office of Education approved the application.

Another example of necessary preliminaries was the agreement Texas Tech entered into to operate a sewage disposal plant serving a housing project on a small part of the land. The housing project is operated by the City of Amarillo.

The application explains in detail various types of research, experimentation and training into which Texas Tech expects to en-

Tech Inauguration Date Set For May

The inauguration of Dr. D. M. Wiggins as fifth president of Texas Technological college will be held at the college sometime in the first part of next May, it announced Thursday by college officials.

Upon recommendation of the Convocation committee of the college to the president and board of directors of the college, the inauguration was set for the early part of that month, with exact date to be determined later.

The recommendation was made in the light of crowded hotel conditions which are expected to prevail in Lubbock Oct. 30, already designated as Tech Homecoming, and on the uncertainty of the weather, since it is anticipated that inaugural ceremonies will be held outdoors in order to accommodate the largest possible attendance. The May date was selected also in order to allow adequate time for plans and preparations for the event.

At the Aug. 14 meeting of the board of directors here, the committee had recommended that Oct. 30—Homecoming day at Tech—be selected as the date of inauguration. No public announcement to the contrary was issued until Thursday.

More Than 100 Ballots Are Mailed By Office

Absentee Voting Gets Underway

Absentee voting in the Nov. 2 general election continued steadily Thursday. Forty-four ballots had been marked in person here and 116 had been mailed to Lubbock county voters who will not be in the county on date of the election.

The announcement was by Louie F. Moore, county clerk in whose office the ballots are marked and applications made.

County Auditor Joe Boyd said 23,750 of the two-by-one-and-a-half foot "blanket" ballots had been printed for Lubbock county.

The county has a potential voting strength of in excess of 22,000, records in the office of J. B. Johnston, county tax assessor-collector, indicate.

For partisan choice, there are eight columns to decide from: Democratic, Republican, States Rights, Prohibition, Progressive, Socialist, Independent and write-in. No candidates are listed in the Independent party and write-columns.

The Democrats, as usual, list a complete slate of 43 candidates—from president to public weigher—and the Republicans have put forward 26 aspirants, 12 of them for state offices and eight for county and precinct places.

The States Rights and Socialist parties have candidates only for president and vice president. The Prohibition and Progressive parties list eight and 10, respectively.

Electors' Names Missing

Names of electors are missing from the ballot, which identifies candidates for president and vice president.

Aside from state and other national races, the Republicans alone dispute the Democrats for Congressman on down to the tail of the ballot.

For congressman, 19th district: George Mahon (D), Mohler D. Temple (R).

For state senator, 30th district: Kilmer B. Corbin (D), Fred L. Parham (R).

For state representative, 119th district: Preston E. Smith (D), Frank Parris (R).

For county judge: Walter Davies (D), Mack Hiatt (R).

For sheriff: Grady Harrist (D), George J. Young (R).

For tax assessor-collector: J. B. Johnston (D), F. E. Carter (R).

For Commissioner, precinct 2: George G. Green (D), Ira Brown (R).

For commissioner, precinct 3: Otis Isom (D), H. O. Gwinn, (R).

For constable, precinct 1: George B. Jones (D), W. H. Castleberry (R).

Amendments Are Up

The voter, in addition, will be called upon to decide his preference for or against eight constitutional amendments, relating to:

1. Providing workman's compensation insurance for county employes.

2. Providing for a board for apportionment of the state into senatorial districts and representative districts in even the legislature fails to make such apportionment.

3. Providing that husband and wife from time to time may in writing partition between themselves in severalty or into undivided interests community property existing at the time of partition so as to convert same into separate property of the respective spouses without prejudice to the rights of pre-existing creditors.

4. Providing for gubernatorial succession in event the governor-elect dies, or becomes disabled, before qualifying for such succes-

DR. HAM SPEAKS IN CITY

Noted Revivalist Says Pastors Can't Displease Members Now

By OPAL DIXON
Avalanche Staff Writer

"There are very few pastors today who can preach anything that displeases their members," Dr. Mordecai F. Ham of Louisville, Ky., noted revivalist who first preached in Lubbock 19 years ago at a city-wide revival, said Thursday afternoon.

In the days when the "old school" of revivalists was conducting meetings over the country, "The churches could come together and go into a campaign for the salvation of souls. Now they are serving sects instead of saving their souls," said the minister.

Curbs On Pastor Now

Revivalists would tell the congregation about their sins, what was wrong and what needed changing. Now, said Dr. Ham, "they won't let the pastor do it and certainly not a revivalist."

Holding the Bible, Dr. Ham frequently referred to the Book and opened it upon passages. "The Bible says the next great war will be fought in Palestine between Russia and her allies and Great Britain and her western allies," he said. Russia intends to sieze the Dardanelles, Suez canal and the Persian Gulf. The Bible said it and they, the Russians, say it."

DR. HAM

"We are living today in the most perilous times we have ever lived," he said. "Seventy thousand people in the United States are committed to overthrow of this Republic," he said.

Forecast World War I

He said that in 1914 at Mineral Wells he forecast the opening of World war I. Crowds stayed away from his meetings until war opened a few days later, then he was carried in on the shoulders of some of those who had stayed away, he said.

Dr. Ham, who said he is a nonsectarian despite the fact he represents the eighth generation of Baptist ministers, delivered sermons at the Tabernacle Baptist church Thursday afternoon and night, during a one-day meeting.

He used some of the gestures described in a newspaper account of the opening service of a six-weeks revival meeting which opened in Lubbock Aug. 18, 1929, shortly after he had resigned as pastor of the Oklahoma City First Baptist church for the expressed reason that he wanted to be "free." He gestures with his hands and

Will Upheld By Jury's Verdict

A 72nd district court jury of which Ira E. McCarver was foreman deliberated only 20 minutes late Thursday afternoon before returning answers favorable to the defendant on four special issues in the suit contesting the will of the late Mrs. C. D. Shaw.

The jury verdict, in effect, upheld Mrs. Shaw's will.

Counsel's arguments started at about 2:20 p. m., following reading of the court's charge on special issues, of which there were four.

Special issues No. 1 and 2 were based on testamentary capacity, and this was applied in special issue No. 1 to the will dated Jan. 25, 1944, and in special issue No. 2 to the codicil, which was dated May 22 of the same year.

Special Issues Outlined

The court's charge defined testamentary capacity as "sufficient mental capacity to understand the business in which she was engaged, its effect in making a will, and the nature and extent of her property. She must be able also to know her next of kin, and the natural objects of her bounty and their claims upon her."

The definition continued that "her memory must have been sufficient for her to collect in her mind elements of a business transaction, and to hold them long enough to perceive at least their obvious relations to each other, and be able to form a reasonable judgment as to them."

Special issues No. 3 and 4 applied to whether or not there was "undue influence by C. D. Shaw," the first concerning the original will, and the other the codicil.

Defining "undue influence," the court's charge set out that it means "such influence as destroys the free agency of the testatrix and prevents the exercise of discretion required by law . . . ", continuing that "undue influence, to invalidate a will or codicil must have been in operation upon the mind of the testatrix at the time of execution of the will or codicil, and her free agency, liberty to act and independent volition must have been overcome by the influence exercised upon her."

The case, in which Dean Owen of Carlsbad, son of Mrs. Shaw by a previous marriage, attacked the legality of the instruments, was called to trial Monday afternoon.

The questioned will was signed jointly by Mr. and Mrs. Shaw on Jan. 25, 1944, and the codicil, also jointly executed, was signed on May 22, that year.

Owen filed the suit on behalf of his two children, who were not mentioned in the will or codicil.

MUSIC, LIGHTING SLATED

Plans For Downtown Yuletide Decorations Take Shape Here

Total cost of this year's program will be approximately $8,500, to be prorated among downtown merchants. Collections are now in progress, O. W. Ribble and Ruel C. Martin, co-chairmen of the Chamber of Commerce decorations committee, announced yesterday.

They asked committees in individual blocks to make their final collections reports not later than next Tuesday to Jim Crook, assistant manager of the chamber. The decorations have been ordered and delivery is expected within the next few days, the co-chairmen said.

Approximately 23 to 25 downtown blocks will be decorated, they added. The proposal to extend the areas beyond the central business district to such thoroughfares as Nineteenth street and College avenue were abandoned because merchants there were not interested.

The cost to downtown merchants on decorated streets will average about 65 cents a front foot, the co-chairmen estimated. This assessment, however, will vary in individual cases. Corner establishments will pay more per front foot, but less for decorations along the side of their buildings.

The decorations will include strands of colored bulbs, twined with heavy spruce roping, strung across all decorated streets. The green roping also will be wrapped around light standards.

The personnel of the city electric department will place and remove the decorations. The city will supply the necessary electric current.

Contributing to the holiday atmosphere will be the playing of Christmas music for a few minutes at half-hour intervals during business hours. A carillon will be used, the keyboard in the lobby of the Hilton hotel. Loud speakers on the top of the hotel will broadcast the carols.

Plans are to turn the lights on Thanksgiving day, Nov. 25. The decorations will remain in place until after the New Year.

Old Swiss Pronouncement May Be Basis For West European Pact

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

GENEVA, Switzerland—"Honor and the public weal are promoted when leagues are concluded for the proper establishment of quiet and peace."

The words, written 657 years ago when the men of Uri, Schwyz and Unterwalden formed the federation which later became Switzerland, are being echoed today throughout Europe.

Men are asking if the leaders of modern Europe are of less stature, less farseeing, than the first peasants in history who ever banded together to fight both the marauders of the countryside and the power of the German emperor, which frequently were one and the same.

Italy, France In Lead

Within the last year many conferences have been held to seek a means of federating Western Europe against chaotic economic conditions sponsored by Communism and against the fear of ultimate armed invasion.

Italy and France are taking the lead. Their new constitutions provide that their governments may, when the time arises, surrender sufficient sovereignty to help establish a supra-national state of Europe. They are supporting a proposal for a European assembly to draw up a constitution.

Winston Churchill is leading the movement in Britain, as is former Premier Ramadier in France. The French government also is officially behind the movement—has even sponsored the inclusion of Germany, despite traditional French fears of that country.

British Group Holds Off

This official British attitude could prove to be one of the great boat-missers of history. France is taking advantage of the situation to attempt to re-assert her ancient leadership of Europe. Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg are ready to go along.

But harassed Europe is not being allowed to forget that Swiss pronouncement in 1291:

"Seeing the malice of the age, in order that they may better defend themselves, and their own, and better preserve them in proper condition, (we) have promised in good faith to assist each other with aid, with every counsel and every favor, with person and goods, within the valley and without, with might and main, against one and all who may inflict upon any one of them any violence, molestation or injury, or may plot any injury against their person or goods."

U. S. Passenger Ships Are Claimed Safest In World

CHICAGO, Oct. 21. (INS)—P. J. Baker, secretary of the American Merchant Marine Institute, said today American passenger ships are the safest in the world.

Baker added that the ships meet such high requirements that some of the most famous foreign luxury liners could not operate under the American flag.

He made his statements before the National Safety Congress at Chicago.

Baker said:

"The 'Queen Mary' and the 'Queen Elizabeth'—the two largest ships afloat, do not comply with United States safety requirements.

"This does not mean that the two famous British liners are unsafe but merely that they do not meet our high standards."

The automotive industry consumes 75 percent of the output of the rubber manufacturies of the United States.

Connally Will Vote Straight Demo Ticket

HOUSTON, Oct. 21. (U.P.)—Sen. Tom Connally, here to address the Texas Manufacturers' association convention tomorrow, said today he would vote a "down-the-line Democratic ticket in November, including Lyndon B. Johnson as his colleague.

"From president, down to the local candidates in Falls county," Senator Connally stated, "I'll vote Democratic down-the-line."

Asked if that included a ballot for Johnson, the silver-haired legislator only emphasized his preceding statement.

Sen. Connally avoided direct questions on world affairs, brushing off reporters with a warning that they were "anticipating" his speech tomorrow.

Concrete Poured Over Gold Find

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 21 (AP) — Gold was discovered in Last Chance Gulch again today, but the finders filled the hole with concrete.

Some $16,000,000 worth of gold was taken from the Gulch following its discovery in 1864. The Gulch is now Helena's main street.

Workmen excavating for a new elevator shaft under the Placer hotel made today's strike. Mining men estimated it was worth about $1.75 a cubic yard—rich enough to be panned out.

But Hugh Gaw, secretary-treasurer of the hotel, told the workmen to go ahead and pour the concrete foundation.

"We don't have time to mess with gold," he said.

Rayon Gaining New Advantages Over Cotton, USDA Reports

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—Rayon is gaining new advantages over cotton in the battle for the nation's fiber market, the Agriculture department reported today.

There have been marked improvements in rayon's strength, appearance and dyeing properties, the department said, with new processes for producing dull and semi-dull finishes as well as the glossy ones. Stretching and shrinkage of rayon fabrics has been reduced or eliminated, it added.

"Each of these developments has increased the desirability or suitability of rayon over cotton in some textile field," the department said in a report on the outlook for cotton in 1949.

A slight reduction in domestic use of cotton but a possible increase in exports were forecast. The European recovery program is expected to give exports a lift.

But the per capita use of cotton has decreased by two and two-thirds pounds since 1946, the department said, while use of rayon has increased one pound.

Since 1944, rayon prices have changed only four times, the report noted. On the other hand, it said, prices of raw cotton and cotton yarns change almost daily.

"This stable price of rayon is an important factor in its favor where rayon and cotton are competitive," the department said.

Rice Crop, 15 Homes, Orchard Are Saved From Forest Fire

BAYTOWN, Oct. 21. (AP)—Volunteer firefighters today were credited with saving a $250,000 rice crop, 15 homes and a pecan orchard last night when a forest fire threatened the Sjolander community eight miles north of here.

N. D. Burnside said the fire was checked at the edge of a 1200-acre field of rice that is ready for harvest.

The rice is owned by Burnside, O. J. Peterson and T. M. Johnson.

Burnside said the blaze swept over an area of more than 12,000 acres in the past three days.

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

39 PERSONS KILLED IN CRASH

$50,000 In Diamonds Discovered Near Wrecked Dutch Airliner

PRESTWICK, Scotland, Oct. 21. (INS)—The Royal Dutch airliner crash which killed 39 persons near Prestwick took a bizarre turn tonight when $50,000 worth of undeclared diamonds were discovered close to the wreckage.

Customs officials expressed belief jewel smugglers may have been aboard the plane and an investigation was begun to establish ownership of the gems.

Nine Americans aboard the four-engined transport were among the victims.

Austrian Among Dead

The only survivor of the Amsterdam to New York airliner is William Hendrick Phillippo, a Dutch subject with a business office in New York City.

Among the dead are Prince Alfred Von Hohenlohe, 59, of Austria, a well-known member of international society and Maj. Gen. Gysbertus Jacobus Sas, Dutch military attache in Washington.

Officials of Royal Dutch airlines (KLM) said that the disaster occurred as the huge plane attempted a landing in bad weather.

The Constellation struck a high tension wire 100 feet from the ground, near Tarbolton. The flaming wreckage was scattered over a wide area.

Americans Identified

The ten crew members who died in the crash included the chief pilot of KLM, Koene D. Parmintier, a famous Dutch airman. Another KLM official who perished was Hendrick Veenendaal, a managing director of the airline.

The American victims were identified as:

Mary Badier, Bronx, N. Y.; Henry Finnie, St. Albans, N. Y.; John Reichel, Washington, D. C.; Ludwig Frederick Rohrs, Pompton Lakes, N. J.; Mathilde Katherine Rohrs, same address; William Francis Gale, New York; James Rampas, Cicero, Ill.; Rupert Wedermeyer, San Francisco, and Emma Wedermeyer, same address.

3,500 Farmers Die In Fires

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (U.P.)—Farm fires cost $100,000,000 last year, killed 3,500 farm people and injured thousands. Ninety per cent of them were preventable.

Backed with those facts, the Department of Agriculture safety council is going all-out on a farm fire-prevention program this week in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week.

By means of "fact sheets," showing causes and ways to prevent fires, through field agents, by radio and press, 4-H clubs and future farmer groups, the council is striving to reach the country's farmers.

They want to call a halt to the "farm fire losses which have been going up steadily," said Richard B. Gossom, Jr., chairman of the safety organization. The council was formed in 1944 as an advisory group on farm and home safety. It developed into six working committees, including farm fire prevention.

Lightning Worst Enemy

The No. 1 incendiary enemy of the farmer is lightning, the fact sheet shows. Lightning causes 37 per cent of all farm fires, according to results of a four year study. The farmer is advised to get "lightning rods of the right size and material" and have them "properly installed." The survey said 400 farm people are killed by lightning every year.

The second major cause of farm fires is defective chimneys, flues and stovepipes. The council fact sheet tells the farmer to "replace rusted or burned-out stovepipe," and to clean the chimney each fall.

Spontaneous ignition can be checked by "frequent inspections of newly stored hay," the council said. But it advises the farmer to make a thorough check by inserting a hay probe, with a thermometer attached, into the bottom of the mow.

States Take Action

Other farm causes such as petroleum, sparks on roofs and misuse of electricity are all diagrammed by the council's circular, with preventative advice.

Some states already have adopted systems to prevent farm fires, Gossom said. Ohio has developed a statewide organization so that "practically 88 counties now have fire prevention programs," he added.

Michigan has a system by which regular inspections of buildings and premises are being made with an outline of 48 items of a safety check list to follow, the council chairman said.

U. S. Woman Will Go To Trial In Germany

FRANKFURT, Oct. 21. (U.P.) — Mrs. Wilma Ybarbo, 24, of Malden and Melrose, Mass., indicated through her attorney today that she would plead self defense when she goes on trial Oct. 27 on charges of murdering her soldier husband, Sgt. John Ybarbo of Victory, Tex.

Military government authorities placed the first degree murder charge against Mrs. Ybarbo, mother of a six-year-old child. She will be tried in Marburg, Germany.

"Wilma is a typical home loving New England girl who acted as any self respecting New England bred woman would have acted under the circumstances," said Stanley H. Gaines, Boston attorney and military government legal adviser. Mrs. Ybarbo asked him to conduct her defense.

The charge was brought under American law in an American military government court. Conviction would carry a possible penalty of death by hanging. Prosecutor Hugh Hinchliffe said he would demand the death penalty.

Mrs. Ybarbo is charged with shooting her husband four times with a Hungarian pistol during the course of an argument in their billets at Fritzal, Germany, last Sept. 20.

Military government authorities said Mrs. Ybarbo was the first American woman to be charged with first degree murder in Germany since the occupation began. Ybarbo was a former constabulary trooper.

USDA Reports Conditions Good In South Texas Vegetable Area

AUSTIN, Oct. 21. (AP) — "Very satisfactory" conditions in the commercial vegetable areas of South Texas the first two weeks of October were reported today by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Growing crops for fall harvest were making good progress. A light harvest of beans, eggplant, peppers and squash is started, and the fall tomato crop is in good condition, said the USDA.

Towards the middle of the north surface moisture was becoming deficient in the coastal bend, but good rains were received over the weekend of Oct. 16 in practically all non-irrigated sections giving them a good moisture reserve.

The recent light norther delayed work some and retarded harvest of the few tender crops now ready, but the USDA said any losses should be more than offset by the improved outlook for crops for later harvest.

5,169 Firms Given Federal Tax Refunds

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP) — Tax refunds totaling $32,036,353 have been given 5,169 firms during the past six years for overpayments on their wartime "excess profits."

Over half that total—$16,672,162—was paid out in the year ending last June 30, the Internal Revenue bureau said today.

All told, 51,006 claims have been filed alleging overcharges amounting to $5,580,195,211. About half—25,762—have been disposed of either by payment of refunds, disallowances and eliminations or withdrawals, the bureau said.

McKesson and Robbins, Inc., New York drug firm, $827,394; Soundview Pulp Co., Everett, Washington, woodpulp manufacturer, $528,548; Noble Drilling Corp., Tulsa oil and gas concern, $475,323; Premier Oil Refining Co. of (Longview) Texas, $412,021; Lion Oil Co., El Dorado, Ark., $387,161.

Defense Department Setting Up New Standards For Newsmen

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 — The Defense department set up standards for wartime news coverage today, banning correspondents who are Communists or fellow travelers from gathering news of the Army, Navy, of Air Force.

The Department declared in addition to "membership in or close relationship or adherence to subversive organizations," disqualifying considerations would involve:

1. Personal conduct of moral or criminal nature.
2. Violation of journalistic codes or standards.
3. Violation of security regulations.
4. Engagement in unauthorized activities.

No Appeal Plan Used

A defense spokesman refused to comment, however, whether accreditation would be given reporters of the "Daily Worker," official Communist newspaper, or Russia's Tass news agency.

The spokesman said this question would be decided "when and if" correspondents for either of these organizations apply for accreditation.

Rep. Rees (R) Kans., meanwhile, disclosed Army Secretary Royall has thrown overboard the President's loyalty program procedure in favor of a 1942 law which permits no appeal above a department head by persons dismissed for security reasons.

Many Seek Okays

Rees said Royall recently wrote him:

"In my opinion, due to the sensitive nature of a preponderance of civilian positions in the Army, the secretary should retain for himself the final decision as to the removal of an employe in the interests of security and that the decision should not be subject to review by another agency."

President Truman's program provides employees dismissed for security reasons may appeal to the loyalty board if they believe a mistake has been made.

At present accreditation is necessary only for newsmen covering occupation areas overseas.

However, officials point out there may be a "twilight period" during which war appears imminent when accreditation would be required for correspondents covering any operating command and areas where martial law exists.

About 150 news organizations reportedly have requested that the accreditation forms be sent to nearly 1,100 correspondents.

Colorado has the highest average elevation of any state in the Union—6800 feet.

Woman Sings Her Way Out Of Jail--Minus Sentence

AUBURN, Calif., Oct. 21 — Irene Rankin sang her way out of jail.

The 23-year-old Roseville, Calif., woman was arrested Oct. 5 on a charge of vagrancy. She was remanded to jail pending trial Nov. 2. She began singing. She sang and sang. All day—every day—and far into the night.

Sheriff E. J. Kenison and his staff liked it at first, but soon it grated their nerves.

Kenison demanded an earlier trial for Miss Rankin. The court complied. She was given a suspended sentence.

She departed — without song.

INFLATED WATER

DES MOINES, Ia. (U.P.)— Dale Maffit, Des Moines water works manager, admits that inflation has hit the cost of a drink. Once, he said, a nickel bought 2,667 eight-ounce glasses of water. Increased rates have upped the cost to five cents for only 2,000 glasses.

New Infra-Red Machine Claimed To Reveal Year Old Bloodstains

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 21 (U.P.)—Criminologists soon may be able to detect bloodstains that are a year old.

With a newly-discovered infra-red magnifier, it is possible to see into the texture of opaque substances.

In the field of crime detection, the infra-red viewer could be used to bring out bloodstains and other substances that are invisible under ordinary microscopes.

Under the magnifier, the substances show up in a characteristic and easily-detected color.

The infra-red device was exhibited here at a regional meeting of the American Chemical Society.

At the outset of the U. S. Civil War, there were about 100 high schools in the nation. Today there are more than 29,000.

Blacktail deer are excellent swimmers and will take to the water for five or six miles at a stretch to escape pursuit.

DEMOS SEEK LARGE TURNOUT

GOP Leaders Claim Sharp Drop Indicated In Nov. 2 Vote Total

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. — Top GOP sources said today a sharp break in registration figures below estimates of 10 days ago indicates probably fewer than 53 million Americans will vote Nov. 2.

They pointed out that this is two to three millions under the 55 to 56 million predicted by nuetral quarters less than two weeks ago. Even this total would surpass the record 1940 popular vote of 49,548,221. About 48 million voted in the war election year of 1944.

The Republican claim was disputed by high labor sources backing President Truman. These sources, making their figures available to the Democratic National committee, insisted at least 55 million will vote.

Demos Seek Large Vote

Republican statistics showed that several of the most populous states were lagging in registrations that had been expected to pile up to an unprecedented high, even considering war growth of populations.

Political experts interpreted the GOP report of falling registrations as another indication that GOP presidential Candidate Dewey and his running mate, California's Gov Warren, will be elected.

Democratic chieftains have contended that if the popular vote exceeds 58 million Mr. Truman has an excellent chance of being elected to succeed himself.

It was this that led the President to conduct one of the most extensive campaigns in history, covering thousands of miles across the continent, and ranging north and south.

Many May Not Vote

The Republican National committee reported today that sharp drops in registration figures for New York state and Pennsylvania led the downward revision of voting estimates.

Committee statisticians said that other big states, such as California, failed to pile up the big registration totals expected of them. A source close to the committee declared:

"It must be remembered that many who register will not vote after all. That has always been the case.

"The earlier estimates of 55 to 60 million November voters are not being born out as the figures come in. We do not look for the vote to exceed 53 million."

New York Total Drops

Final GOP figures place New York state registration at 7,043,573 against 7,212,996 in 1944.

Registration in New York City was 243,157 below the 3,556,677 in 1944, while upstate registration climbed about 75,000. A top GOP source commented:

"The loss is in New York City, a democratic stronghold which always pulled the state for President Roosevelt, while the gain is in Republican counties upstate. This is very good for the Dewey-Warren ticket."

Demos May Be Hit

Observers said the decline in New York City registration was due in part to lack of enthusiasm for the President. They explained that many who voted for Mr. Roosevelt apparently did not take the trouble to register this year.

Pennsylvania, where earlier estimates had placed registration at five million, will send only 4,758,075 to the polls.

More Californians will vote than ever before— 5,062,089 of them — but the figure was considerably below the 5,300,000 estimate of several weeks ago.

Experts explained that a vast upsurge in California's population in the last four years had surpassed the increase in the expected vote from the 4,632,129 mark of 1944.

Washington, with 1,296,341 registrants was said by the GOP to be merely keeping pace with its growth.

Ohio, regarded as likely to repeat its vote in 1944 and go for Dewey, has more than 2,300,000 registrants.

BULGY BALLOT

County Clerk Faces Election Problem

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 21. (AP)—The Nov. 2 general election ballot is too much for county clerk Ford Albritton.

Despite the fact that the county has six different sizes of containers, none of them will take the oversized 17½ by 24-inch ballot.

Albritton has tried folding, bending and rolling the sheets, but to no avail.

Chicago's Famed Boston Store Closes Doors After 75 Years

CHICAGO, Oct. 21 (U.P.) — The Boston Store, one of Chicago's oldest and largest merchandising places, has closed its doors for the last time.

The 75-year-old department store gave its customers a 30-day warning before closing and sold more than $4,000,000 worth of goods in bargain sales.

The store was founded by Charles Net her, who started life as a bundle carrier and became one of the State Street "merchant princes." In 1923, the department store did $33,000,000 worth of business but went into a gradual decline since then. Present plans call for the building to be split into shops and offices.

Petroleum Industry Drafts New 'National Oil Policy'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—The petroleum industry has drafted a streamlined "national oil policy" which it hopes the federal government will adopt.

The proposal still is incomplete, however, and it probably will not reach the administration until next January.

The nation has no formal oil policy, although the Petroleum Industry War council—at the Interior department's request—presented resolutions and a policy outline in 1943, 1944 and 1945.

A National Petroleum council subcommittee completed its draft of the proposed new post-war policy yesterday.

Council chairman Walter S. Hallanan said the policy report, drafted at Secretary of the Interior Krug's request, covers "foreign oil policy, domestic oil policy and natural gas policy."

Borger Construction Firm Is Picketed For Fourth Day

BORGER, Oct. 21. (AP)—Pickets were still up today at the R. G. Hughes construction projects for the fourth consecutive day.

The Hughes company is building 350 homes and a large shopping center in Borger. Hughes said there is no work stoppage at the plant as a result of the picketing.

Business agent S. B. Hunter, representing the unions affected, said that Hughes refuses to bargain with the unions, uses non-union labor and pays 35 per cent lower wages than the union scale.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen are recognizing the picket line and are refusing to engineer trains to Hughes' vast Monarch Cement Co. and batching plant where supplies are normally unloaded.

Food Prices Over Nation Hold Steady Past Week, Survey Shows

(By The Associated Press)

The consumer is getting a break on food prices for the second consecutive week.

Food indexes which declined a week ago showed no inclination to rise this week. And from various sectors of the food industry come indications that the peak may have been seen at least for the time being.

It may seem to cost more than ever to feed your family. But the American Institute of Food Distribution says average retail prices of cost of living foods are getting down to within 3 to 4 percent of a year ago. This compares with a spread of 12 percent on July 15.

Meat is the most noticeable item on which prices have declined. The American Meat Institute in Chicago said meat prices have dropped 7 percent in the past several weeks.

Butter has moved down, too. From an average of around 88 cents a pound retail in New York stores in July, it has slipped to about 73 cents.

Another food that has dropped sharply is onions. Because of abundant supply, 50-pound sacks which sold for $4.50 in the Chicago market early this year now are costing only $1.35 to $1.50.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index this week held at the $6.48 level of a week ago. It compares with $6.90 a year ago. The food price index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound of each of 31 foods in general use.

REARMAMENT PLAN MAY COST OVER $2 BILLION

HST Expected To Submit $45 Billion Budget To Congress If European Arms Program Is Approved

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—President Truman will submit to Congress in January a spending budget of probably $45 billion for the next fiscal year if he endorses a program of western European rearmament.

Officials disclosed that any funds to rearm "free" Europe against threatened Russian expansion would be in addition to the $14.4 billion of defense appropriations which Mr. Truman has announced he will ask Congress to approve.

Estimates Run High

Estimates of the initial sum required for western European rearmament range from two billions for European rearmament to 45.

Indications are that, aside from such a program, the President will estimate expenditures at about $43 billion for the fiscal year beginning July 1—the first year of the Dewey administration if Mr. Truman is defeated.

For the current fiscal year, which ends next June 30, the President has estimated total outlays at $42.2 billion. Expenditures dropped to a postwar low of $36,066,000,000 in the fiscal year which ended last June 30, but are climbing, due to rearmament, foreign aid and rising prices.

A $45 billion budget, experts say, would unbalance the budget at present tax rates and national income levels. An unbalanced budget would erase hope of the further tax cut pledged by Republicans.

HST Must Offer Budget

Regardless of whether he is defeated, Mr. Truman is required by law to submit a budget to Congress soon after it convenes Jan. 3.

Sources close to Republican candidate Dewey have said, if he is elected, he would like to be consulted on the preparation of the budget so that he could start work on the "economy" drive that he has pledged.

It would be entirely up to Mr. Truman to decide whether to agree to this procedure. At most, it is pointed out, Gov. Dewey could only participate in final decisions on controversial items, since the budget has been under preparation since last April.

If Mr. Truman should insist on presenting his own budget, the governor could recommend economy proposals by submitting to Congress reductions in estimates after his inauguration Jan. 20.

As the Truman program now shapes up, defense expenditures will total about $14 billion in the next fiscal year. This figure differs from the appropriation total which the President has announced he will recommend, since appropriations for a particular year usually are not entirely spent in that year.

Other expenditure figures begin to shape up like this:

Foreign aid, $7 billion; veterans' benefits, 6.3 billions; interest on the public debt, $5.4 billion; tax refund, two billions; social welfare, two billions, and other outlays, 6.3 billions.

This totals up to $29 billion. The military budget would boost it to 43, and two billions for foreign aid to 45.

Gov. Dewey could not squeeze anything out of the $5.4 billion for interest, or the two billions for tax refunds which are fixed by law. The extent to which he might trim the others would depend on his policies.

He would be beset by many pressures, foremost of which probably would be renewed demands by the military establishment for $8.6 billion more in appropriations than Mr. Truman has approved.

Baltimore Mother Who Abducted Child Faces Grand Jury Action

BALTIMORE, Oct. 21 (U.P.)—Authorities will seek grand jury action today against Mrs. Leone Shefflet, a 46-year-old mother who said she abducted another woman's baby in hopes that a new child at home would solve her domestic troubles.

Police said Mrs. Shefflet, who has three children of her own, would face a maximum penalty of 20 years' imprisonment if she is found guilty of carrying off 10-week old Jo Ann Mezzanotte.

Jo Ann and her parents were reunited yesterday, some 21 hours after the little girl was stolen from a carriage in front of a drug store where her mother, Mrs. Dolores Mezzanotte, was shopping.

Mrs. Shefflet was quoted by police as saying she acted on impulse in taking the baby and that she thought she could take "better care of it than its mother."

Mountain sheep are cud-chewers and have four-chambered stomachs. Known as the hunter's "most coveted prize," it is considered immoral to shoot one for any reason than to get a fine head.

Reservists May Ask For Officer Training

Army enlisted reservists between ages of 19 and 28 who are high school graduates or have the equivalent may apply at the organized reserve office in the basement of Lubbock court house for entrance to officers' candidate school, it was announced Thursday.

Col. Oscar B. Abbot, senior Army instructor for the organized reserves in Texas, recently had announced enlisted reservists meeting those educational and age qualifications are eligible for officers' candidate school.

All candidates attend officers' candidate school in the grade of sergeant or above, depending on their previous military standing, if any. If the applicant is without previous military training, he must accept a basic training course before attendance at officers' candidate school.

The candidates attend a regular training course of six months and, after graduation, a three months' specialized course for the branch they have selected. Distinguished graduates will be accepted as regular Army officers, if they desire. Other graduates are to receive a commission as second lieutenant in the reserve corps and will be required to complete a two-year tour of active duty with the Army, it was stated.

ANGLER HOOKS PLANE

YONKERS (U.P.)—A strong-armed caster fishing from a dock near the Yonkers seaplane base cast his sinker right through one side of an anchored plane and out the other. Francis Houle, seated in cockpit, reported that the hook broke through the side, too, passing just under his nose to stick in the far side of the cockpit. The fisherman ran.

High Court Refuses To Order Wallace Party On Illinois Ballot

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The supreme court refused today to order Illinois election officials to place Henry A. Wallace's Progressive party on the Nov. 2 ballot.

In a six to three decision, the high bench upheld a verdict by a three-judge district court in Chicago barring from the ballot Wallace and his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Taylor, Idaho.

Justices Douglas, Black and Murphy dissented from the majority opinion of the high court.

Law Is Challenged

The decision ended a last-ditch fight by the Wallace organization in which GOP Illinois attorney general George F. Barrett joined the Progressives in demanding the Wallace ticket be placed on the state ballot.

The Progressive party challenged a section of the Illinois election law which required that petitions nominating candidates of the new party must include at least 200 signatures from at least 50 of the state's 102 counties.

They claimed that this section of the law denied them constitutional protections.

The court conceded that the distribution requirement "gives to the voters of the less populous counties the power to completely block the nomination of a candidate whose support is confined to geographically limited areas."

Douglas Writes Dissent

The court held, however, that the state had the right to make such a requirement. The majority opinion asserted:

"It would be strange indeed, and doctrinaire, for this court, applying such broad constitutional concepts as due process and equal protection of the laws, to deny a state the power to assure a proper diffusion of political initiative . . ." The court added:

"The constitution—the practical instrument of government—makes no such demands on the state."

Justice Douglas, who wrote the dissenting opinion, declared that he felt the contested section of the Illinois election code "as construed and applied in this case, violates the equal protection clause of the 14th amendment," he said:

". . . One effect of this requirement is that the electorate in 49 of the counties which contain 87 per cent of the registered voters could not form a political party and place its candidates on the ballot."

He declared that the section therefore "lacks the equality to which the exercise of political rights is entitled under the 14th amendment."

Wallace headquarters in Washington said the decision "deprives perhaps 500,000 citizens of Illinois of voting for Henry A. Wallace."

They pointed out that it will be possible to vote for Wallace Nov. 2 in every state except Illinois, Neoraska and Oklahoma.

LANDING HAZARD

Geese Block Traffic On Missouri Airfield

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 21. (U.P.)—Hundreds of Canadian snow geese today buzzed Springfield's multi-million dollar airport, landed without instructions from the tower, and refused to leave.

Commercial airliners were able to land only when trucks shooed the big geese off the glistening runways.

The geese thought the cement strips were rivers. They waddled and honked around the municipal field, moving out of the way only on threat of being flattened by truck wheels. None made a move to fly away.

Airline pilots said the geese, which weigh from seven to 10 pounds, could break a propellor or even damage a wing.

Everybody was worried except the geese. They rested on their federal immunity from gunshot wounds. It is against the law to shoot the big birds at the rate of more than one a day per hunter, and only in season.

Petrillo After Notes On Plane's Fuselage

HOUSTON, Oct. 21. (U.P.)—The "Beguine" was still air-borne today, musical notes and all, but rumor had it that James C. Petrillo and the American Federation of Musicians weren't happy about it.

The "Beguine," an F-51 airplane belonging to J. D. Reed of Houston, first attracted attention yesterday on a flight from Wichita, Kans., to Houston.

On its fuselage are painted the first few notes of Cole Porter's famous song, "Begin the Beguine."

At a stop-over in Dallas yesterday, the AFM reportedly tried to reach Reed by telephone. An airmotive official at Love Field in Dallas took the call and referred the AFM to Reed in Houston.

C. J. Killingsworth said Petrillo's office warned that "the owner would either have to take the music off the plane or pay royalties for use of the music."

Reed had no statement to make, but said he had not been officially notified of the AFM's displeasure.

One Killed, Four Injured In Auto Collision Near Pecos

PECOS, Oct. 21. (AP)—One person was killed and four others were injured when two automobiles crashed headon 14 miles west of Pecos on highway 80 yesterday afternoon.

Alta Ladden Moon, 56, Kansas City, Mo., died in a Pecos hospital last night from injuries. He had hitchhiked a ride in a car driven by Calvin H. Hilton, 36, San Angelo.

Hilton suffered face cuts. His companion, Reo Day, also of San Angelo, suffered head injuries. Another hitchhiker with Hilton, Harry Merckese of Brooklyn, also was injured.

Dependency Gap Is Found In New Income Tax Law

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21 (U.P.)—Miss Augusta Rosenberg, lecturer in income taxation for the University of California extension, has found a discrepancy in the recently enacted federal income tax law which makes a certain type of young wage earner neither a dependent nor a taxpayer.

It seems that under the law, no one earning less than $600 a year need pay income tax; however, the old law's definition of a dependent as one earning less than $500 still stands.

"Consequently, Junior still will have to keep his earnings under $500 to qualify as an exemption for father. Junior won't have to pay any tax himself unless he earns more than $600," according to Miss Rosenberg.

If a youngster earns between $500 and $600, she said, he falls into an unclassified vacuum as far as the Bureau of Internal Revenue is concerned.

Illinois Citizen Is Victim Of Busy Telephone Prankster

ROCKFORD, Ill., Oct. 21 (U.P.)—A telephone prankster kept Rockford's police department busy when he placed orders with seven business firms for a harrassed citizen.

The householder found an undertaker at his door waiting for a corpse. Two painters arrived to paint the house. Sixteen cases of soft drinks were left on his porch. A city water department employe arrived to check the water pressure.

A lumber company delivered a ton of coke. A landscaping firm arrived with a load of dirt and at 6:15 a. m. a sanitary district truck showed up with a load of fertilizer.

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of Liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grape fruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 21 (AP)—Reports that Holland was in the market for corn boosted that grain slightly on the board of trade today. Otherwise the market was a dull affair. Wheat and oats did nothing.

Rains in the southwest caused a little selling in wheat, but this was taken without any decline in prices. Cash corn was a little lower and purchases on a to-arrive basis totaled more than 100,000 bushels.

In the closing minutes a little increase in selling, coming apparently from traders who had bought earlier, left prices just about the day's level.

Wheat ended ⅛-⅛ lower. Dec. $2.27 ½. Corn was unchanged to ⅜ lower. Dec. $1.40 ¾-1.41, oats were ⅛-⅜ lower. December 76 ⅜.

MARKET HOLDS STEADY

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—A climbing stock market took a rest today after getting within shooting distance of the highest average since mid-July.

The market got off to a pretty good start but then started to slip. Late in the day a halting rally started, with rails supplying most of the motive power which cut down or eliminated many earlier declines.

Steels made sporadic efforts to get ahead but without much luck. Bethlehem reached a new high for the year at one time but closed a trifle lower. National steel ran up 2 points to a new peak and held the advance.

Airline issues again attracted buying interest, along with railway and utility stocks.

Trading activity stayed at the comparatively high rate which started a couple of weeks ago and turnover passed the 1,000,000-share mark for the fourth day running. Sales of 1,200,000 shares were the largest since the end of September and compared with 1,180,000 Wednesday.

Of the 1,051 stocks which appeared on the ticker tape, 470 advanced and 331 fell back.

Wall Street strategists were pleased with the behavior of the rail group today, which they claim has lagged behind the advancing industrials.

Closing at the year's tops were National Steel at 108, Dow Chemical 49¾, and Peoples Gas 99.

Also ahead were Republic Steel 32¾, Youngstown Sheet 58½, General Motors 63¼, N Y Central 16¾, Great Northern preferred 44½, Central of N J 35, Atlantic Coast Line 56½, Mission Corp. 63¼, Skelly Oil 126⅝, Eastern Air Lines 16⅛, American Air Lines 7½, Douglas Aircraft 60¾, J I Case 41½, American Telephone 152, and Commonwealth Edison 26¼.

Superior Oil of California dropped 5 points at one time but ended with a 2-point dip at 190. Pepsi-Cola equalled the 1948 low at 9¼.

Public Service jumped 2¼ points in the curb. Small gains were posted for American Gas, Solar Aircraft, Humble Oil, and Emsco Derrick.

In the bond market third avenue adjustment 5s advanced 3½ points in the face of news that a strike had been called against one of the company's operating subsidiaries.

U. S. Government issues in the over-the-counter market held steady.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—Cotton futures were easy today under pressure of hedge selling along with scattered local liquidation.

A leading spot firm bought about 3000 bales of nearby December, March and May futures which was credited mostly to domestic mill account, while at the same time sold 2500 bales of nearby December delivery.

Commission house buying was discouraged by the increased hedging orders overhanging the market after it had moved up about ¾ of a cent a pound above the loan level at Memphis.

Cotton closed steady.

Noted Revivalist

sometimes sings hymns in illustration of a point he is making in a sermon.

Tabernacle Was Built

For that 1929 revival meeting, a tabernacle was built at Texas Ave. and Seventh especially for the revival and was torn down after the meeting. It was crowded to its capacity of 4,000 on opening night and boys under 15 years of age relinquished their seats and sat around the platform, Avalanche-Journal files reported. Fifty ushers served during the revival and a choir of 300 voices from different churches in the city sang.

Dr. Ham recalled that business places closed in the morning so personnel could attend the morning service. He said more than 1,000 persons joined churches during the meeting.

Deploring some of the changes over the years, he listed some of the "old school" of revivalists as Sam Jones, George Stewart, M. B. Williams, Charles Ray Scoville, B. Fay Mills, J. Wilbur Chapman, B. A. Torry, D. L. Moody, Billy Sunday and Gipsy Smith. He said he is the only surviving "revivalist of the 'old school'." He formerly was a co-worker 33 years of William J. Ramsey, who died recently. They held Ham-Ramsey meetings.

"My ministry was that of a prophet—the revivalist," he said. "He brings the people back to the truth from which they have departed. The evangelist," he said, "brings good news."

"I have one message—Christ," he said.

No Extended Meetings

He said he had not tried to hold an extended campaign in the last eight years. Reasons, he said, are that churches lost their interests in such extended meetings; that, during the war gas could not be obtained to go to meetings, and that now he "goes into the homes" with radio messages given through free-will support. Dr. Ham delivers the radio messages as the "Old Kentucky Home Revivalist."

"We're putting our money in brick and mortar instead of evangelizing and that never saved any civilization," he said.

He said that he had conducted meetings in 86 Texas cities in the 48 years since he entered the ministry and that 74,000 persons had joined churches during meetings he had conducted. He said that after churches had built up their membership, "They built the big churches and they didn't want to be "revived" any more."

During his long ministry, Dr. Ham has attracted wide attention. Once, he prayed that sufficient rain would fall to fill Lake Worth. Someone called from as far away as Sweetwater to say rain had started there. Heavy rain fell at Fort Worth.

Dr. Ham has crossed the ocean six times and said he had studied every civilization and the cause of its downfall.

He said, "We've got an international hidden group." He said that group, a non-Christian group, was causing wars.

Discussing overseas activities, he said he "wouldn't be surprised" if Hitler is in Rissia.

The length of the boundary of the United States, on all points of the compass, is 10,748.

Will Upheld By Jury

He contended that Mrs. Shaw was not mentally capable, due to injury and illness, and to other influences, of exercising a will.

The original will, valued by official court-directed appraisal, at more than $76,000, left the entire property under the joint signature, to the survivor of the couple. The codicil provided that the survivor have use and benefit of the estate as long as he or she lived, then it was to pass to three grandchildren who were stipulated by name in the instrument.

Representing Shaw and the estate at the counsel table were Geo. W. Dupree and Charles Crenshaw, jr., of the firm of Crenshaw, Dupree, Milam and Crenshaw. Representing Owen were W. W. Campbell of the firm of Campbell and Adams here, and Foster Windham of Carlsbad.

Farley, Back From European Visit, Says Atomic Bomb Keeping Soviets From Making False Move

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—James A. Farley returned on the liner "America" today from a ten-weeks trip to Europe and said he does not think war is imminent.

He declared the fact the United States possesses the atomic bomb "is the one thing that will keep Rusia from making an aggressive move."

Other highlights of the Farley interview aboard ship were:

1. He advocated the United States resume diplomatic relations with Spain by sending an ambassador to Madrid. He also favored the extension of credits to rehabilitate Spain.

2. The European recovery plan, he said, is "helpful" and is discouraging Communism.

Should Keep UN

3. The United Nations, "a great meeting place for world discussion," should be kept "a going concern."

4. Rehabilitation of Europe depends to a large extent on the economic restoration of Germany.

The former chairman of the Democratic National committee—famed for his past political prognostications—declined to predict whether President Truman or Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will win the November election.

"I've been out of touch on domestic politics," said Farley. "I'm not making any predictions regarding New York state or the nation.

"I'm no longer in the predicting business."

Visited Fourteen Nations

Farley, accompanied by his son, James A., Jr., left the United States on Aug. 4 last and visited fourteen countries including Ireland, England, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy, Greece, Egypt, Portugal and Spain.

He talked with many world famous personalities. The highlights of his trip, he told newsmen, were his chats with former Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain at the latter's summer home in England, and his audience with his holiness, Pope Pius XII at Castel Gandolfo.

He described Generalissimo Franco of Spain, with whom he had an hour-and-one-half interview, as "a strong character who was well-informed on European affairs."

Soviets Fear Bomb

He got a "big kick" out of the forthright opinions expressed by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

Farley expressed the opinion that Russia is not prepared, economically or otherwise, to start a war. He admitted, however, that in his view the Soviet Union has been making progress in its conduct of the "cold war."

But, as the ERP continues to work out, Communism goes on the wane in Europe, he said.

"In view of the world situation," said Farley, "the United States should do everything it can to be properly protected. We should rehabilitate our Air Force.

"I'm convinced that the fear of the atomic bomb is what prevents Russia from becoming even more aggressive than she is."

Lubbock Jeweler Named Head Of West Texas Watchmakers' Guild

Lucian Thomas, Lubbock jeweler, is the new president of the West Texas Watchmakers' Guild.

Thomas was elected to the post at a dinner meeting of the organization Wednesday evening at Chicken Village. Twenty-two members, from Lubbock, Plainview, Levelland and Muleshoe, and four guests attended.

Other new officers elected were Lester Harrison, vice president; Burl Pigg, secretary; and Woody Carlton, treasurer. All reside in Lubbock.

Tech Observatory Instruments Record Distant Earthquake

Instruments in the Texas Tech seismological observatory registered a distant earthquake of moderate intensity a few seconds before midnight Wednesday, Dr. Leroy T. Patton, head of the geology department at Tech, reported Thursday.

College seismometers indicated that the quake probably was most severe at a point 2,700 kilometers (about 1,800 miles) west or northwest of Lubbock, Dr. Patton said.

BREAK FOR PRISONERS

TACOMA, Wash. (U.P.)—Prisoners at the city jail couldn't believe their eyes when 78 pints of ice cream were destributed with the compliments of the police department. It turned out that the chief had not become a father.

13,000 Pullers Needed In Area

There has been no slackening in the demand for cotton pulling labor in this area, with recent reports from ten South Plains counties to the Texas Employment commission showing aggregate need for approximately 13,000 workers.

As average frost date approaches, farmers are apparently becoming increasingly anxious about the harvest, the reports indicate, and whether or not the recent mass migration of workers across the Mexico border has or will affect the situation was not made known.

Reports released by the Abilene control center of the employment commission for West Texas show the total need for cotton pullers in ten area counties is 12,985, and the same report indicates that need for hands has declined sharply in areas to the south and east.

Hockley, Dawson Lead

Hockley and Dawson counties lead the list in reported needs, each asking for 2,500 workers, and Lynn county is not far behind, asking for 2,200.

Needs shown in others of the ten counties are Littlefield (Lamb) 1,500, Lockney (Floyd) 200, Lubbock (except Slaton) 1,000, Muleshoe (Bailey) 1,000, Plainview (Hale) 285, Slaton (Lubbock county) 350, Ralls (Crosby) 350, Brownfield (Terry) 1,000.

Pulling prices remain generally at $1.75 per hundred pounds on irrigated crops, and $2 a hundred on dry land, gin delivery basis. In a few points over the area dry land prices are up to $2.25, apparently on poor cotton.

BELIEVED IN WORK

PHILADELPHIA (U.P.) — When the will of Miss Emeline Maddock was filed for probate, it was disclosed that her two grandnephews would not share in its $25,000 in bequests. Miss Maddock explained why. "Too many young men," she wrote, "have been ruined by receiving property for which they never worked."
