Olney Defeats Harrold 29-23 for District Cage Crown

HORNETS BATTLE GAMELY AS CUBS NOSE OUT VICTORY IN THRILLIN FINAL SKIRMISH

The Olney Cubs bumped into a true hornets' nest when they tangled with the Harrold High school Hornets here Saturday night in the championship final of the district No. 4 interscholastic league basket ball tournament, but the Cubs were equipped with all that was necessary to put down the swarm and won the crown that for the past year has been worn by the Nocona Indians. The score was 29 to 23 and the battle raged even closer than the score indicates.

Olney's superior height and the deliberate passing game of Coach Albert Acker's men eventually took its toll and the Cubs stowed away the game and the championship by putting down the Hornets' uprising that all but tied the score in the fourth period. Just as the Cubs' ability to get the tip-off at center and to take the ball off the backboards had proved the deciding factor in their semifinal victory over Wichita Falls Saturday morning, they employed the same means to keep possession of the ball throughout the final to the embarrassment of a Harrold team that broke speedily and hit the hoop with consistency on its limited number of chances.

Scoring Duo

The splendid scoring combination of Wright and Pratt, Cub forward and center, and the all-round proficiency of their three helpmates, Captain Duckworth, Gilmore and Sloan, was too much power for the smaller Harrold dribblers. Wright and Pratt accounted for all of Olney's points, 16 and 13, respectively, while Nelson, Harrold forward, did enough plain and fancy goal shooting to register a 12 well earned points.

The Cubs started in high and in three shots at the hoop in the Texas Officials to Attend Meeting Monday At San Antonio

CHANCES OF RECEIVING NOMINATION IMPROVES

New York Betting Odds Drop From 30 to 1 to 6 to 1

DALLAS, Feb. 20. (AP)—Texans who have been working for the nomination of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt as the Democratic presidential candidate today announced their decision that "the delegation should be loyal to Speaker Garner" and their "desire to cooperate."

The announcement came from T. W. Davidson, chairman of the Texas Rodsevelt clubs.

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 20. (AP)—Texas officialdom turned thoughts to John N. Garner today. The capitol will be closed Monday while Gov. R. S. Sterling and most of the other political dignitaries join in San Antonio's Washington birthday presidential rally for the Texas speaker of the national house of representatives.

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 20. (AP)—There would have been four present at the organization meeting of the Roosevelt-for-President club here this afternoon if the New York governor had attended.

The three who were there decided that Tom Green county is "John Garner conscious" but that should Garner fail to win the nomination, Roosevelt should be the man.

Governor Sterling has developed into an ardent booster for the Uvalde congressman and said he felt more encouraged daily over the Texan's chances to receive the Democratic nomination at Chicago next June. He said he believed the declaration for Garner by William G. McAdoo, former member of President Wilson's cabinet, would enhance Garner's chances materially.

FIRST SHOCK FOR NEW CORPORATION

A loan of approximately $1,000,000 made to a large banking organization on Feb. 15 was repaid today with interest for five days.

The bank reported there had been a complete change in the attitude of its depositors during the five days, making the keeping of the $1,000,000 any longer unnecessary.

The corporation also has authorized a number of loans which have not been called for.

SOLDIER FOUND SHOT TO DEATH LAWTON HOTEL

LAWTON, Okla., Feb. 20.—"I am tired of living and don't want to go on. I blame no one but myself, so please forgive me," was the substance of a note found on the dresser of a room in a local hotel where lay the dead body of a Fort Sill soldier this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The soldier is Norman J. Coker, private in headquarters battery of the 18th Field Artillery. A bullet from a 38 caliber pistol had entered the right temple, passing through the head and emerging through the left temple. The pistol lay near his right hand on the bed. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide.

The soldier registered into the room at 3:30 Friday afternoon. After the maid at the hotel had tried repeatedly to get into the room, entrance was effected through an adjoining room and the body discovered. The man had been dead possibly 15 hours.

The body of the soldier was taken to Fort Sill. Nothing could be learned as to his term of service or where his home may be until an investigation by military authorities is concluded. No other motive for suicide other than that expressed in the note has been advanced.

CONFEREES NAMED FOR CREDIT EXPANSION BILL

Representatives Tinkham And Blanton Enliven House Proceedings

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. (AP)—House Democrats today got their plan for a committee to study ways and means of governmental reorganization approved by the rules committee and the senate took the day off.

The latter's territories committee, however, agreed on the general terms of a bill which would give the Philippines independence in 19 years if they approve conditions imposed by the measure.

The house named conferees to talk over the emergency expansion bill with senate representatives. There are minor differences in the measures passed by the two bodies but little trouble is expected in arriving at a compromise.

The house also named conferees on another measure which has similar differences to be adjusted, the $10,000,000 bill for the formation of agricultural credit corporations.

Exchanges between Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, and Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas, continued on the house floor. The Massachusetts Republican denied he had pleaded congressional immunity as a defense against the $500,000 libel suit Bishop James Cannon Jr., has brought against him.

Unexpected Blocking Of Japanese Drive Puzzles Observers

Editor's Note—Floyd Gibbons, with a corps of couriers at his heels, plunged into the battle zone on the Shanghai-Woosung front with the sound of the first gun, rushing his dispatches to Universal Service by courier and radio. He viewed the battle area from a Japanese airdrome observation, joined the Japanese headquarters, sped to the Chinese headquarters, visited the Woosung flank, skirted Kiangwan and Chapei, and returned to Shanghai ready to begin the circuit of the front again today (Sunday).

SHANGHAI, Feb. 21. (Sunday)—Hello everybody!

The first day of Japan's scheduled big push against the Chinese ended in failure to achieve even the limited objectives designated for the initial advance.

Foreign military observers are puzzled over the unexpected blocking of the Japanese military effort; the Japanese are apologetically smiling, but bitterly embarrassed and the Chinese are jubilant.

For 12 hours, from 8 o'clock yesterday morning until the same hour last night, some 30,000 trained Japanese fighting men employed their full strength and most of the modern implements of war in a futile effort to take and occupy the single Chinese village of Kingwan.

Chinese Stand Firm

Yes, sir, from almost sun up to sunset strong units of the imperial Japanese army and navy and air forces dropped and hurled whole blacksmith shops of hot metal on a small cluster of Chinese huts, and I'll be doggoned if they have yet been able to oust a comparatively small number of Chinese defenders well-entrenched behind and under the smoking ruins of the village.

If this news doesn't burn up a lot of joes sticks in China today and blow off a lot of hats in the war departments around the world, well, I'll miss my guess. I think it will also rout a few more cheers for the Chinese army, no matter how short-lived its sturdy defense turns out to be.

Why, you know, I believe yesterday's bombardment by heavy artillery and naval guns must have cost the Japanese in the neighborhood of a million yen.

Renew 75 Barrels Per Well Daily Allowable in East Texas Field

MAXIMUM 15 DAYS IN WHICH TO DRAFT ORDER

Governor Had Instructed Wolters Not to Interfere With Wells Involved

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 20. (AP)—Discovery that no injunction obtained at this time against Gov. R. S. Sterling's military control of the East Texas oil field caused the chief executive today to renew his 75 barrels per well daily allowable order against all operators in the area.

Under a misapprehension that the injunction order was in force immediately, the governor had ordered Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, in command of martial law troops in the field, not to interfere with production from the wells of Euegen Constantin and J. E. Wrather. They were plaintiffs in the action brought against the governor, General Wolters and the state adjutant general, attacking their authority to supervise production through their military powers.

In a telephone conversation with Judge J. C. Hutcheson Jr., of the United States circuit court of appeals at New Orleans, one of the judges that heard the case, and who wrote the opinion, E. F. Smith, an attorney for Governor Sterling, ascertained that there is not at this time an injunction in effect.

Governor Revises Order

When the news was transmitted to Governor Sterling the chief executive immediately ordered General Wolters to again bring all wells, without exception, under military supervision.

Smith said that Judge Hutcheson

NO TRACE FOUND MAN SOUGHT FOR MANGUM ATTACK

MANGUM, Okla., Feb. 20.—Greer county officers continued their search Saturday night for clues which they hoped would lead to the arrest of the assailant of Mrs. Fannie Jackson, elderly Mangum widow, at her home here early Saturday morning.

Physicians held hope for the recovery of Mrs. Jackson, who is suffering from three deep scalp wounds, where she was struck in the head with the sharp corner of a metal instrument.

Mrs. Jackson told officers she was awakened about 4 o'clock Saturday morning by a man standing in her room. She called to him, inquiring what he wanted and he struck her in the head, rendering her unconscious. Her son, Harry Mounce, who was sleeping in the same room, was awakened by her cries and summoned a doctor and Sheriff S. H. Tittle.

Officers were without clues or information which might lead to the arrest of the attacker and have been unable to establish any motive.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 21. (Sunday)—Japanese tanks rumbled on Kiangwan under the deafening roar of a major bombardment today in the great offensive against that crucial point in the Chinese lines which still was stubbornly defended against the invaders.

Japanese troops surrounded Kiangwan on three sides, but had not yet occupied it, Japanese officials said as the second day of the big push opened.

Under protection of an artillery barrage, 22 Japanese tanks stormed into action on that front at 9:30 a. m. They attacked the Chinese line east of Kiangwan in hope of pushing westward and southward in a drive against Chapei, at the Shanghai end.

The "crawling dragons," as the Chinese call the tanks, were followed by Japanese infantry.

The tank attack climaxed a night of continual battle.

Over at Woosung the battered guns of the Chinese forts which the Japanese thought they had pounded into scrap iron came to life and shelled the Japanese fleet lying in the Whangpoo river. The

Baering Down on News With 'Baer'

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Tomorrow all White House candidates will honor the man who started the president business.

George was first in war, first in peace and he never finished second in diplomacy.

He left us some durable advice that we have since spoiled with improvements and amendments.

He warned us to keep our nose out of foreign affairs if we didn't want it wiped with sandpaper.

We have deliberately ignored all of Washington's earnest broadcasts with the result that we are tangled up like a kitten in a yarn factory.

We waded too far. And when your rubber boots are full you might as well kick them off.

But we'll celebrate his birthday tomorrow like real patriots. We'll orate, cheer and sing the national anthem. For having fooled George we will complete the cycle of fooling ourselves.

Petitions Bearing 1,000 Names Will Urge Members City Council Not to Discharge 18 City Firemen March 1

A petition bearing more than 1,000 names urging members of the city council and City Manager V. R. Smitham not to carry out plans for discharging 18 firemen March 1 will be presented to the council Monday night, according to J. C. Mataska and R. S. Davis, who said Saturday that after 24 hours' work they already had about 900 names on the petitions.

The city manager recently announced that as an economy move 18 firemen would lose their jobs March 1, reducing the department to 41 men. In the past the firemen have worked on 24-hour shifts. Under the proposed plan firemen will be on duty 72 hours and off 24.

City officials said Saturday that the plan suggested in the petition of cutting all firemen's salaries 15 per cent would not make up more than half of the saving proposed by discharging 18 men from the department.

The petition follows:

Rangers Report Confessions Made By Three of Eight Men Arrested in Alleged Plot to Kill Six Persons

EDINBURG, Texas, Feb. 20. (AP)—The days of six-gun government among the Texas border were remembered tonight while eight citizens of the little town of Donna in this county stood accused of planning to seize control there by a wholesale killing of office-holders.

And as in the days of long ago it was the Texas rangers who rode in the center of trouble to quiet things. Ranger Captains Frank Hamer and A. R. Mace had arrested eight men and charged them with conspiracy to commit murder. The rangers, keeping to tradition, were close-mouthed. They said three of the men arrested had made statements admitting the conspiracy. The statements were not shown to newspaper men.

Long Standing Feud

The trouble was laid to a long standing political feud, going back to the days when Sheriff A. Y. Baker was the undisputed lord of Hidalgo county. He ruled it through the Democratic political organization. All the men arrested warships sent back as good as they got, firing repeated broadsides with their heaviest guns.

JAPANESE BOMBARD WEAKENING LINE

The Chinese positions in Chapei were ripped and blasted early this morning as the Japanese, successful yesterday in straightening out their line all the way from Chapei to Woosung, swept down on Chapei from the rear.

Then the ear-splitting bombardment along the battlefront subsided, although an occasional boom revealed that the gunners were standing by. A heavy smoke pall spread over the zone with the usual morning fog.

Observers said the lines around Kiangwan apparently had not changed since the Japanese arrived on the outskirts of that town Saturday.

Chinese said three of the Japanese tanks that started crawling from the Kiangwan racketrack, with the infantry following up, at daybreak had been badly damaged by Chinese mines, but this was denied by the Japanese.

The race course had fallen within the Japanese lines in the advance yesterday. Japanese field guns were moved up during the night and went into action this morning.

Shanghai, which rocked throughout the bombardment all yesterday, was awakened this morning to learn what a real artillery preparation amounted to.

Batteries of heavy Japanese guns in Hongkew park flung over ashcan projectiles. Japanese airplanes punished the Chinese with huge bombs. The thunder from the front was unbroken. In comparison, yesterday's artillery action seemed popgun.

The Japanese started the second day of their big push from materially better positions.

Chinese Line Holds

Their Saturday objective was Kiangwan, the strategic point of the Chapei-Woosung line and almost exactly in its center. At Japanese headquarters it was triumphantly announced that Kiangwan had fallen, but the Chinese command declared their line had stood up against a desperate assault in which Japanese tanks led the way for the storm troops.

There seemed no possibility that the Chinese defenders of Kiangwan could hold out much longer. The village was surrounded on three sides. A few machine gun nests survived in the blasted and wrecked buildings and behind sandbag barricades, but so furious was the shell fire laid down by the Japanese that it appeared impossible for the Chinese to bring up reserves in time to hold on.

The Japanese command had consistently predicted that once they cracked the Chinese line in its middle they should face nothing more serious than a double mopping-up operation—an action to clear out the Chinese from their positions in Woosung village and from the Woosung forts, where the Chinese flag still fluttered, and another action to smash the Chinese strongholds in Chapei.

Hundreds Dead

The Japanese had no monopoly on artillery action when the fighting was resumed this morning. Frequent bursts of light from the Chinese gun positions in Chapei, followed by reverberating roars, seemingly proved false the recent reports to the effect that the Chinese were dangerously low on ammunition.

In the deluge of shells laid down by the Japanese when they got into action again this morning it seemed that no living thing could survive. Reports from the front told of hundreds of Chinese dead in their trenches.

The spectacle of battle was witnessed by Nelson P. Johnson, United States minister to China, from a ringside seat on the roof of a cotton mill near the settlement boundary.

Columns of black smoke poured up from the ruins of numerous Chinese villages strung along the line from Chapei to Woosung. Geysers of flame told of occasional direct hits on ammunition dumps.

In straightening out their line from Chapei to Woosung during Saturday's fighting the Japanese pushed ahead from one to two and a half miles, but the advance was carried out with a minimum of bayonet work.

Accurate Firing

The artillery preparation for this movement was of surprising proportions.

Almost continual airplane scouting for several days had provided the Japanese gunners with accurate information on the positions of the Chinese reserves, and these positions were battered to a pulp.

The Chinese, knowing what was coming, had done their utmost to build enough trenches and dugouts to insure protection, and when the big noise started they got into the ground, waiting for the barrage to lift.

Woosung village, where the Chinese had built strong trench positions to protect the rear of the Woosung forts, was a furnace this morning. All day Monday six Japanese destroyers shuttled back and forth along the Woosung river front, their guns streaming shells into the forts and the Chinese emplacements behind.

Seven Japanese planes circled above the Woosung area, keeping the warships on the range. The purpose of the action at this end of the line apparently was to keep the Chinese occupied. Only a few Japanese infantrymen remained in the trenches along the western bank of Woosung creek. The rest of them had been moved south to take their part in the major action.

Petition Urges Boycott

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. (UP)—United States cooperation with the League of Nations in an economic boycott against Japan, if that country perists in its Shanghai campaign, was urged today by a group of leading citizens and college presidents.

Headed by Newton D. Baker and President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard university, the group addressed to President Hoover and congress a petition, holding that the league could not enforce a boycott without United States concurrence. It said:

"The events in Manchuria and still more in Shanghai have shown that protests by other governments, and the public opinion of the world, will not alone restrain the use of armed force to attain national ends.

"What will our government do? Will it refuse to sever commercial relations, and thereby prevent almost all the rest of the world from bringing to bear economic pressure which will certainly stop the present bloodshed; or will it act in harmony with other nations to stop it?"

Exercise of the boycott has been repeatedly suggested and has been considered, it is understood, by government officials. However, it is believed extremely doubtful whether congress would consent to such a drastic step.

If all nations represented in the league agreed on a boycott or embargo, however, it might change the United States' attitude.

A boycott, it has been pointed out, would require no legislation, but only popular acquiescene in a national policy. An embargo, on the contrary, would require an act of congress.

Abandon Peace Moves

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. (AP)—The state department has met so many rebuffs in trying to bring peace in Shanghai that it has abandoned active overtures pending a more favorable opportunity for the extension of good offices.

China's appeal yesterday to the department for another effort on the part of the United States to persuade Japan to discontinue its military aggression has not been answered but Secretary Stimson has it under consideration.

Nelson T. Johnson, the American minister to China, and the French, British and Italian ministers to China made a final attempt at conciliation Friday before the expiration of the Japanese ultimatum.

They called on the Japanese minister at Shanghai and were assured by him that "matters now rest with the Chinese authorities."

Johnson advised the state department they also reiterated the warning Japan could not avoid a large measure of responsibility for the "jeopardy to foreign life and property at Shanghai," in the impending battle.

Secretary Stimson refused to make any comment today on the petition sent to President Hoover by Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, and many prominent educators, urging that the United States join with members of the League of Nations in any efforts which they may make to enforce an economic boycott against Japan.

Manchurian Battle

CHANGCHUN, Manchuria, Feb. 20 (AP)—After a three-hour battle 500 Chinese soldiers were driven off with heavy losses today by the Japanese garrison at Tunhua, one of the most important towns strategically in Kirvin province.

The Japanese rushed in re-inforcements from Kirin and Changchun to change the tide of battle, and their scouting planes flew over the warring troops. Japanese losses were put at three dead and 12 wounded and numerous Chinese were killed.

There has been a Japanese garrison at Tunhua since Feb. 17 when a rebellion led by Gen. Teh-Lin, opponent of Hsi Hsia, governor of Kirin, began to look dangerous. Hsi Hsia is one of the military leaders who joined in the formation of the separate Manchurian state under Japanese auspices.

War Office Busy

LONDON, Feb. 20. (UP)—The British war office, admiralty office and cabinet were prepared today for any emergency calling for a war like move in the Far East.

For the first time since the world war the admiralty and war offices were open all night long. They will continue so to operate until the emergency has passed.

An emergency cabinet committee has been formed with full authority to deal with any critical situation which may arise during the Chinese-Japanese conflict at Shanghai, involving British interests.

Great Britain has announced that she will hold both Japan and China fully responsible for any loss of life among her nationals in Shanghai, and for any British property loss in the area.

The emergency committee is prepared to meet on an hour's notice, day or night. It is maintaining constant contact with the Far East.

BARRETT TO LEAD TEXAS CAMPAIGN FOR SALE OF GOVERNMENT SECURITIES

FORT WORTH, Feb. 20. (AP)—Texas must lead and not trail in the nation's reconstruction program.

A. P. Barrett, state chairman of the citizens' reconstruction organization, issued that challenge to Texans tonight on the eve of the first week's intensive campaign to unleash the country's shackled finances.

Preceded by a barrage of newspaper advertisements and publicity and an elaborate poster display, Barrett will lead the Texas division of the movement Monday into a week of educational work preparatory to a series of conferences and public rallies to promote the sale of government securities.

In keeping with the plan being used in many other sections of the country, Barrett urged that all clergymen, school teachers and leaders of civic and commercial groups join the campaigners in "preaching the gospel of better times." He asked that ministers mention the campaign from their pulpits each Sunday during the drive.

Fifty-one manufacturing plants and 50 manufacturers' branch offices have been located at Birmingham, Ala., since 1929.

GOVERNOR LEARNS DECISION NOT BAN

told him that the court's opinion had been misconstrued, that no injunction was in effect at this time. He said that the plaintiffs attacking the governor's military power would have a maximum of 15 days in which to draft an order and submit to the court for adoption. Until then there is no order of the court, Judge Hutcheson told Smith.

Although attorneys for Governor Sterling interpreted the court's findings as having entirely shorn the chief executive of his martial law power, it was likely that some points of the decision not exactly clear at this time would be thrashed out when the order finally is presented for record.

Governor Sterling indicated that his attorneys would confer with Judge Hutcheson and the other judges who heard the case in an effort to clarify some moot questions.

Commission to Take Charge

Meanwhile, the Texas railroad commission, statutory administrator of state conservation laws, was planning to resume supervision of the giant East Texas pool of more than 4,200 producers. The commission was in conference discussing the situation. It was likely it would issue an order within the next few days assuming control.

Governor Sterling, himself, had made a pessimistic evaluation of the court's finding as he understood it and as it was interpreted to him by his attorneys. He said that he felt that not only he but the railroad commission as well, had doubtful authority to curb production in the field, if the court's findings were correct.

His attorneys told Governor Sterling that the court held he not only did not have authority to declare martial law in the four counties of Rusk, Gregg, Upshur and Smith, comprising the petroleum area of East Texas, last Aug. 17, when he sent 1,200 state troops there and closed temporarily all wells, but that his powers to declare martial law at any time was doubtful. The governor claimed that he placed East Texas under martial law because of threatened "riot and insurrection." The court held that that claim was not supported by the testimony.

NATIONAL GUARD KILLS FOUR NICARAGUA BANDITS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. (US)—Four Nicaraguan bandits were killed yesterday in a skirmish with national guardsmen commanded by American marines, the navy department was informed today. No guardsmen were injured. Bandit guns and bombs were captured.

DEMOCRATS PLAN ECONOMY PROGRAM

to the house doors their proposal for a special economy committee to force a curtailment of federal activities.

Meanwhile, they received an unexpected setback when their army and navy consolidation bill was bogged down in the expenditures committee.

Following the party policy of working toward a balanced budget by 1933 through slashes in appropriations and increased taxes, the party leaders expect to be in position to recommend abolition and consolidation of certain government agencies by April 15.

The Douglas resolution authorizing Speaker Garner to establish a special committee of seven to work with the appropriations and expenditures groups in formulating the reduction program was approved today by the house rules committee.

Republican committee members maintained the survey should be made by a joint congressional group. Chairman Pou plans to bring the resolution up for final house action next week.

Favorable aciton, expected today on the Byrns bill to merge the war and navy departments, and effect a $100,000,000 yearly saving, failed to materialize in the expenditures committee. A subcommittee was ordered to make a further study of the proposal in view of claims that it ran counter to existing law.

Representative Martin, Democrat, Oregon, a former general in the army, opposed the proposition along with a number of Republicans, including Representative Schafer of Wisconsin. Representative Williamson, Republican, South Dakota, favored it.

Chairman Cochran expressed the belief, however, that a framable action would come within a reasonable time despite opposition from President Hoover and Secretaries Hurley and Adams. Meanwhile the committee will consider the administration's proposal to create a public works department to concentrate all the public building activities under one head. Secretary Hurley has been asked to appear next Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. (US)—The house today decided to honor George Washington's birthday on Monday by working.

Exercises, participated in by senate and house, will be held in the house chamber at 11:30 a. m. with President Hoover delivering an address.

"I think George Washington would rather we work on the problems facing us than take a holiday," remarked Representative Rainey of Illinois, Democratic leader.

RANGERS REPORT CONFESSIONS MADE

were members of the good government league, formed a few years ago for the express purpose of overthrowing Sheriff Baker. The sheriff is dead now but the remnants of his organization survive. The Democrats control the city government at Donna and the Donna water district.

The rangers, the reports went, received word at Austin that an unnamed Mexican had been hired to pose as a holdup man and kill Walter Weaver, attorney for the water district, and T. W. Hooks, Donna Democratic leader, at Rio Grande City today. Rio Grande City is in Starr county, where the men have oil interests. They were going there today, carrying a payroll for their employes.

Four Others Marked

Officers said four other members of the Democratic faction were marked for assassination if they attempted reprisals. They were Harry Ridgeway, manager of the water district; Bill McReynolds, its tax assessor; Huey Todd, ditch rider; and his brother, L. E. Todd, candidate for mayor of Donna in an approaching election.

Charges of conspiracy to commit murder were filed at Rio Grande City against W. E. McCelland, former city commissioner at Donna; Walter Van Allen, A. F. Dargel, L. E. Schultz, E. J. Farnsworth, George W. Ruthven, Luther Lepley and Stokes Cheney. Officers said the last named three had made statements admitting the conspiracy. McCelland, Van Allen and Dargel made bond today and were released. Examining trial was set for next Thursday in Rio Grande City before a justice of the peace.

Starr county officials said no special session of the grand jury would be called. The next regular session is scheduled March 28.

Captain Hamer said today that Ruthven was arrested Wednesday night. He said he saw Ruthven, at the latter's home in Donna, give a rifle to the Mexican who had agreed to perform the killings. Hamer then arrested Ruthven. The others were arrested at different times, the last five of them at Donna yesterday.

Rangers said that all eight met in Starr county the night of Feb. 11. The Mexican was to have received $500. They said they recovered the money and the rifle from the Mexican.

Captain Hamer said no more arrests were planned at present.

TWO HELD IN WACO JAIL CONNECTED WITH HOLDUP OF BAKERY FRIDAY NIGHT

WACO, Texas, Feb. 20. (AP)—Jack Tate, 40, of San Antonio and a Waco man were held in jail here tonight in connection with the holdup of a Waco baker last night.

Tate was arrested in Fort Worth after a gun battle with officers in which George Diehl, 28, of San Antonio was killed and Polk H. Gatling, 21, of Corpus Christi was seriously wounded.

The other man was taken in custody after Tate said the trio involved in the Fort Worth battle had stayed at his house before going to Fort Worth.

No complaint was filed against either, and neither made a signed statement.

George Jones, president of the bakery, identified Tate and Diehl as the men who held up the baker. Tate said Gatling had stayed in the car.

PETITIONS PROTEST DISCHARGE FIREMEN

the mayor, and city council of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas:

"We, the undersigned resident taxpayers of Wichita Falls, Texas, being advised that on the first day of next month there will be laid off 18 men from the fire department and that instead of the present schedule of a man working 24 hours, the remaining men will be required to work 72 hours without any relief from duty; and being further advised that a great majority, or about 90 per cent, of the men employed in the fire department are willing to accept a reduction in wages from 12 to 15 per cent of their salary in order to avoid the dismissal and laying off of the 18 men and necessitating the remainder of the firemen of working 72 hours at a time without any relief from duty and without any extra pay; and further believing that on account of the number of vacant houses in the event of a severe conflagration it would be an unwise, hazardous and dangerous condition to the protection of not only the property but the persons residing within the city as well if the number of our firemen were reduced and our citizenry's protection reduced to that extent, to say nothing of throwing 18 men and their families in these critical times, out of employment, as well as the probable raise in fire insurance rates should such conflagration and loss ensue on account of such a policy.

"We, therefore, urgently request that the 18 men be not dismissed, but the wages of all the firemen be reduced and all their services be retained, all in order that Wichitans, persons and property, receive the protection which they deserve, and so that the ranks of unemployed not be increased."

Mayor R. R. Kellum's proclamation issued Thursday asked all citizens of Baylor county to give expressions of homage to the father of our country.

The address of the school program will be given by C. E. Rupe, and will be followed by the planting of a hackberry tree on the school grounds.

VARSITY NEWS

By BETTY LOVE RUGELEY

AUSTIN.—On Sunday the fraternity interested people in Wichita Falls will be reading this article for news of rush week, which is to take place this week at the university. But, on Sunday, in Austin, rush week will be over, and every one will be reading the list of pledges who have made their decisions and are wearing ribbons.

Next week I will be able to send a complete list of the girls from Wichita Falls who have pledged, and also a list of the many alumnis who are in Austin for this occasion.

The actives who will take part in the sorority programs are Don Ruth Coffee, Tri Delt; Mary Elizabeth Donnell and Dell Hatchitt, Kappa Alpha Theta; Elizabeth Beumler, Alpha Phi; and Dorothy Peckham and myself, Alpha Delta Pi. These girls are all from Wichita Falls. Miss Mary Grace Milam of Seymour, who is an Alpha Phi and president of the campus Pan-Hellenic, and Virginia Bell of Graham, who is an Alpha Delta Pi, will also take part.

The sororities are having their official rush week on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Feb. 17, 18 and 19. The parties will be cleverly carried out with teas in the afternoons and dinners in the evenings. Very strict rules as regards the places, hours, cost and personnel of these affairs are being enforced. On Friday afternoon, the rushees will sign their preference card and receive their bids officially on Saturday afternoon. Saturday evening each sorority will entertain with open house for their pledges, and then all the university students will attend the German which terminates the girls' rush week.

For the men rushees a different procedure is being carried out. Their rush period will consist of the single day, Feb. 22, which is an official school holiday. The day will be divided into six two-hour periods, which consist largely of "smokers." In the evening, the boys will sign their cards and will be entertained at their respective houses Monday night.

The boys, who are active fraternity men and will participate in this rushing are Bacon Boddy of Henrietta, Beta; I. D. Brown and Frank Burns of Wichita Falls, Alpha Tau Omega; Fred Couper of Wichita Falls, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Bob Gardner of Stamford, Omega Beta Pi; Ed Graham of Graham, Kappa Sigma; James Harvey of Wichitia Falls, Kappa Sigma; Bill Hood, Raymond Strong, James Moore and Edwin Luecke of Wichita Falls, Chi Phi; Glenn Street of Graham, Kappa Sigma; and George Bays and Ralph Harvey of Wichita Falls, Sigma Chi.

The Texas chapter of Alpha Tau Omega has announced the pledging of Ira Dwight Brown of Wichita Falls. Mr. Brown attended the university last year, and attended Wichita Falls Junior college prior to that.

We sincerely regret that Miss Doris Bell of Graham has been ill for several days, and has been unable to take part in rush week as she planned. Miss Bell is a freshman student in the university, and is a resident of the Littlefield dormitory.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Napier and sons were in Austin last week visiting with their son, Edward, who is a junior in school.

Ralph Harvey, Sigma Chi and junior, who is attending the university for the first time this year, is enrolled in the academ school. Mr. Harvey visited in Wichita Falls last week-end.

Ruth Turley, senior from Wichita Falls, can always be found in the Education library, where she is completing her work for her degree in June.

Miss Virginia Bell, Alpha Delta Pi and senior in the school of business administration, has withdrawn from school to complete her business requirements, and she will be getting her required experience with one of the local firms. Miss Bell will probably complete her scholastic requirements in the summer.

Bob Maxey of Lubbock, formerly of Wichitia Falls, is a member of the light opera company of the university and at present he is working on a part for "Firefly," which is to be presented during the Texas round-up. Mr. Maxey is attending the university for the first time, and he will be eligible for fraternity rushing.

Charles I. Francis of Wichita Falls was nominated for the presidency of the University of Texas Ex-Students association at the regular winter meeting of the executive council of the ex-students association on Monday, John Al McCurdy, secretary, announced. Other officers nominated were R. C. Goeth of Austin, first vice president; G. W. Swenson of Stamford, second vice president; James Marley of Austin, third vice president and C. M. Bartholomew of Austin treasurer. Officers will be voted upon by direct mail ballot, McCurdy said.

Ex-students of the university will be sorry to learn of the recent death of William A. Holland, owner of Holland's drug store, which has been on the campus for so many years.

One hundred and five engineering students made the first semester honor roll in the college of engineering at the university this year. Among the best three per cent averages was the name of Milton Ellic from Wichita Falls and Charles Kent from Wichita Falls. Among the best 10 per cent averages was Harold Wray of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Millicent Lees Hoffman, who is grand president of the Gamma Phi Beta, is visiting the Austin chapter during rush week.

Miss Margaret Modesta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Nichol of Galveston, was married to Dr. John G. Little of Big Spring on Tuesday in Galveston.

When appointments for assistantships in the school of business administration were made this semester, Wade Bartlett, Emmett Bau Knight and Bill Duncan of Wichita Falls were named by the department.

Reduction in fire losses in Kansas City over a five-year period exceeded cost of operating the entire fire department.

The committee will also give attention to general activities that tend to make Wichita Falls more attractive, more beautiful and a better place in which to make permanent homes.

Sponsored by the committee, I. C. Morrison, Fort Worth city forester, will speak in an open meeting at the chamber of commerce offices Friday evening, March 11, on the subject of "Making the Most of Our Environment."

Special invitation to attend will be given to representatives of the city and county schools, city and county officials, women's organizations and civic bodies. Mrs. Morrison is touring West Texas under the auspices of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and will be accompanied by D. A. Bandeen, West Texas chamber manager.

His appearance in Wichita Falls will be the starting phase of the progress in the West Texas chamber's five-year beautification program.

RUSSIAN FILM DIRECTOR DETAINED AT LAREDO BY IMMIGRATION OFFICERS

PASADENA, Calif., Feb. 20. (UP)—A report that Sergei M. Eisenstein, famous Russian film director has been detained at Laredo, Texas, by United States immigration officers was received here today by Upton Sinclair, author.

Sinclair said Eisenstein and two assistants, both Russians, have been held at the border city for two days pending action on their entry into the United States under the non-quota classification.

Eisenstein was declared to have been on his way to Hollywood to complete a motion picture of Mexico. He has been 15 months in Mexico taking shots, the author said.

The party had passports issued by the American consul at Mexico City when stopped but the immigration authorities refused to honor these, Sinclair said.

FORMER NEGRO OFFICER SENTENCED FIVE YEARS

CHICAGO, Feb. 20. (AP)—Ira O'Neal, negro, former policeman, was sentenced to five years in Leavenworth penitentiary and fined $5,000 on a plea of guilty to sending obscene literature through the mails.

Postal inspectors at Washington said the material circulated by O'Neal was the "most depraved" seen in 40 years of investigations. Protests against his circulars came from the postmaster at Oklahoma City, a West Point cadet and numerous girls' schools, notably a seminary at Washington.

BLOCKING DRIVE JAPAN PUZZLES

long and even this morning the guns are still at it.

The Japanese semi-officially announced the capture of Kiangwan at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Later they said: "Sorry, a mistake, but we'll be in the village by 3 o'clock sharp in the afternoon."

But again the Japanese failed to keep the date, although the Chinese were still there waiting, and they were still there around 5 o'clock last night when I returned from the Japanese lines with another semi-official promise that the Chinese would be pushed out by sunset.

At midnight it appeared that the Chinese were still sticking around what remains of that little burning village and showing no inclination to go away from there, although the Japanese then claimed their lines surrounded the village on three sides and that they will occupy it without fail at dawn.

Curious Divergence

A curious divergence in Japanese reports was revealed again last night when the Japanese spokesman declared their losses in the entire day's fighting amounted to only four killed and 16 wounded.

I hope it is true, but it sounds weird to everybody in Shanghai whose ears are still ringing with the burst of explosives.

The Chinese refuse to reveal their losses, which I fear have been heavy, but they do claim to have put three Japanese tanks on the used car market and to have brought down one rising sun airplane.

The destruction behind the Chinese lines has been severe and widespread. The night's full silver moon, high over the Whangpoo river, looked down on miles and miles of villages and farmhouses glowing red from fires started by long-range shelling and air bombing, but the Japanese had as yet been unable to advance their lines and occupy them, although there is a strong probability they will do so this morning.

Japanese Communique

The Japanese fleet yesterday afternoon issued the following communique:

"Woosung—Beginning at 8:30 a. m., the destroyer Yubari and others of the first torpedo boat, Flotilla, bombarded the Chinese defense along Woosung creek and continued until noon.

In the afternoon, airplanes from the carrier Notoro bombed the positions. As a result, the Chinese defense lines were silenced. Japanese casualties were ten wounded.

"The Chapei line of defense, assigned to naval landing party forces, reaches three miles, running north and south. The naval forces are now being reinforced by military units.

"The Japanese began firing about 8 a. m. and by 1 p. m. this section of the Chinese force began a retreat. Japanese casualties numbered 22 today."

Americans Given Thrill

During the height of yesterday's naval bombardment of the Woosung sector, American tourists and women and children outward bound aboard the S. S. President Lincoln were given a thrill, if not a fright.

Passing Woosung fort, the President Lincoln found herself with a Japanese destroyer 100 yards ahead and another the same distance behind. Both were loosening broadsides into the Chinese positions.

The tide was running out and the Lincoln's captain was eager to get past the fighting safely. He kept whistling for the shelling to hold off long enough for his ship to pass. Fortunately the Chinese did not return the Japanese fire.

From the decks of the liner, Americans got a clear picture of war's desolating effects. On the shore, 100 yards away, were great stone revetments shattered and pock-marked with the effects of the destroyers' aim as well as bombs from naval planes.

Few Houses Intact

Woosung village showed hardly a single house intact. Smoke from burned buildings added to the somberness of this distressing farewell picture the tourists carried away from China.

Four Japanese destroyers cruised up and down the river shelling the forts and Chinese land positions. The countryside rocked with the detonations. Fires broke out in the forts, while a column of smoke a half-mile wide rose into the air from buildings burning to the west of Woosung.

Naval shells dropped from the Yangtze and lower Whangpoo across a narrow spit of land into the walled city of Paoshan, while to the left of Woosung village came the sound of intensive machine gun fire, indicating that General Uyeda's forces were endeavoring to remove danger on his right flank.

At 1 p. m. all the Japanese forces in the Changwapeng railway yards were rushed, under Captain Kita, to Woosung creek. At the same time, fresh troops arrived in trucks from the international settlement.

They were equipped with long bamboo scaling ladders whose crossbars were crudely lashed in place with rope. The reinforcements likewise brought long slabs of cork, which, with the ladders, appeared to be intended to carry the Japanese across the creek and into the Woosung forts.

I was in Japanese field headquarters in the Kungdan cotton mills when a motor car carrying Captain Hartigan, the American naval attache; Col. Badham Thornhill, British military attache, and Capt. William Mayer, assistant American military attache, was forced to turn back.

The car was then close to the Chino-Japanese fighting lines at the Kiangwan racecourse where heavy machine gun fire rattled. The Japanese warned the party not to proceed further.

told him that the court's opinion had been misconstrued, that no injunction was in effect at this time. He said that the plaintiffs attacking the governor's military power would have a maximum of 15 days in which to draft an order and submit to the court for adoption. Until then there is no order of the court, Judge Hutcheson told Smith.

Although attorneys for Governor Sterling interpreted the court's findings as having entirely shorn the chief executive of his martial law power, it was likely that some points of the decision not exactly clear at this time would be thrashed out when the order finally is presented for record.

Governor Sterling indicated that his attorneys would confer with Judge Hutcheson and the other judges who heard the case in an effort to clarify some moot questions.

Commission to Take Charge

Meanwhile, the Texas railroad commission, statutory administrator of state conservation laws, was planning to resume supervision of the giant East Texas pool of more than 4,200 producers. The commission was in conference discussing the situation. It was likely it would issue an order within the next few days assuming control.

Governor Sterling, himself, had made a pessimistic evaluation of [illegible] pound foolish" legislation.

Athletic Group to Sponsor Benefit Show March 25

The second chapter of "Let's Go Athletic" will be produced on the evening of March 25 at Memorial auditorium, it was decided Saturday at a meeting of the athletic committee of the Wichita Falls High school Parent-Teacher association, which will sponsor the production under the direction of Dr. O. T. Kimbrough.

"Let's Go Athletic" was staged originally early in the fall by the athletic division of the P.-T. A. to furnish funds for equipping the high school pep squad, and the production scheduled for next month is to defray the expense of uniforming the high school band, according to announcement of Mrs. William E. Huff, chairman of the committee.

"All new acts and stunts, with the same general scheme of providing the audience with an hour of high class entertainment, just as in the first show," was the description Dr. Kimbrough gave the other members of the committee Saturday. "And it'll be the same price, 25 cents."

Members of the committee attending, besides Dr. Kimbrough and Mrs. Huff, were J. A. Hood, Mrs. Harry ten Brink, Rev. J. E. Montgomery, Sam B. Spence, Howard Bunch, Dr. Ted Krohn, S. H. Rider, Gerald Coffey, S. H. Rider, Fred Sehmann Jr., Dr. O. W. Wilson and Al Parker.

Medical Science Loses Battle to Save Baby's Life

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 20. (INS)—Little Benito Catillo, 21 days old heard the rustle of death's wings for the 20th and last time in the charity hospital here early today.

Medical science thereby lost its desperate and unique fight to save the infant from a gland disorder of the throat.

Before death actually came the infant had apparently died 19 times before. In each instance, however, physicians injected adrenalin in the heart muscles and administered artificial respiration.

Nineteen times Benito responded favorably but early today he closed his eyes forever.

NO ADMISSION CHARGE

This year, throughout the world, men who love liberty pay homage to our great American, George Washington. With infinite gratitude and reverence we observe the two hundredth anniversary of his birth.

We pause to remember the military genius that made possible our Independence; the leadership that made possible our Union; the wisdom that made possible our Constitution; the glorious statesmanship that made possible our Republic.

We sing praises of the man whose principles of government were conceived with such vision that they survive today to serve a nation of more than a hundred million people.

Hushed, we listen to the words of Abraham Lincoln: "Washington's is the mightiest name of earth—long since mightiest in the cause of civil liberty; still mightiest in moral reformation. On that name no eulogy is expected. It cannot be.

To add brightness to the sun, or glory to the name of Washington, is alike impossible. Let none attempt it. In solemn awe we pronounce the name, and in its naked deathless splendor leave it shining on."

FARM COURSE AND POULTRY SHOW AT MUNDAY SUCCESSES

MUNDAY, Texas, Feb. 20.—The most severe weather of the winter thus far served only to reduce the degree of the success of the two-day short farm course and the annual Munday poultry and pet show which attracted many out-of-town visitors here Friday and Saturday.

Despite its conflict with the events which had been arranged here, the weather change was welcomed. The more than an inch of rainfall further improved the brightest crop outlook in this history of this section, while the drop in temperature will retard the flow of sap in fruit trees. The warm weather of the previous two weeks had caused concern for the fruit crop.

The poultry show here attracted the entry of about 200 birds, including some from Knox City, Goree and other nearby points. The entry list was reduced by the weather. The event was sponsored by the chamber of commerce and the vocational agriculture class of the high school.

JOHNS LOMAX TALKS TO HENRIETTA AUDIENCE ON COWBOY BALLADS

HENRIETTA, Texas, Feb. 20.—"The Cowboy and His Songs," was the subject of an interesting and entertaining lecture by John Lomax, one of Texas' foremost collectors of cowboy songs and folk ballads, at the Walker High school auditorium Thursday evening. Mr. Lomax illustrated his lecture with extracts from the most representative cowboy songs, and delighted his audience with the songs and weird calls of the night-herders.

Preceding the lecture, the Henrietta Cowboy chorus, directed by E. N. Smith, sang a group of cowboy songs, including "Bury Me Not On the Lone Prairie," and "Home On the Range." The stage was effectively arranged to represent a typical cowboy camp, with a chuck wagon and campfire. A row of prickly pears screened the footlights, and were flanked by cowboy saddles. The Cowboy chorus also assisted Mr. Lomax in presenting one of the most enjoyable features of his lecture, "The Old Chisolm Trail."

The origins and nature of cowboy songs were very clearly related by Mr. Lomax, and the excerpts from his varied collection of songs aided in illustrating the characteristics of the songs and yodels of the early trail drivers. Mr. Lomax was one of the first students of native Texas music, and his work in collecting and arranging these folk songs won him several scholarships from eastern universities, among them the Sheldon fellowship from Harvard university. He was presented here under the auspices of the Alpha Delphian club, of Henrietta, for the benefit of the high school music associations.

Bright Spots in U. S. Business

POLL TAX PAYMENTS SHOW 400 DECREASE IN MONTAGUE COUNTY

NOCONA, Texas, Feb. 20.—According to report by tax collector of Montague county, W. E. Reynolds, there were nearly 400 less poll taxes paid this year than two years ago. In 1930 the number of poll taxes paid were 4,174 in this county.

This county in recent years has always polled around 4,000 votes in primaries on election years when there was much interest manifested, but it will fall short this year.

Automobile registrations in Montague county are considerably less than in past years. There were only 2,650 cars and trucks registered for 1932, according to the collector's office, which is about 1,500 less than the total registration for last year.

While the collection of current taxes is off some, the payment of delinquent taxes has been good. Taxpayers availed themselves of the opportunity to pay delinquent taxes without the penalty or interest.

DAIRY ASSOCIATION TO MAKE EVERY EFFORT TO OBTAIN CHEESE FACTORY

Members of the Wichita County Dairy association Saturday voted in favor of making every effort to locate a cheese factory here and President R. B. Carter was instructed to name three committees to make a milk survey, cow survey and to work out a finance plan.

These committees will report at a meeting to be held in the courthouse next Saturday morning.

The play is from intimate moments of the great Washington's life, and is original, one of the latest of Mrs. Oneal's writings. The school is indeed fortunate in securing this unusually gifted and gracious woman for this occasion.

Cholera Scare Subsides

MUNDAY, Texas, Feb. 20.—A hog cholera scare in the vicinity of Goree subsided, according to W. E. Jones, county farm agent, when tests established that deaths of a number of hogs resulted from feeding upon cottonseed. Much uneasiness had been caused, because most of the farmers of that section have gone in extensively for raising hogs, Mr. Jones said.

LITTLE INTEREST IN ELECTIONS AT MUNDAY

MUNDAY, Texas, Feb. 20.—As little interest as ever has been shown in city and school trustee elections has been evidenced in those to be held here next April, according to pioneer citizens.

On April 2, two school trustees will be elected. On April 5, a mayor and two members of the city council will be named. There have been no announcements for any of the places. Friends of Mayor C. L. Mayes and Alderman G. W. Tate have announced, however, their names will be filed as candidates for re-election. THE M'ADOO INDORSEMENT

The indorsement which William Gibbs McAdoo has given John Garner is of vast significance. It means, in the first place, that Mr. McAdoo himself will not be a contender for the nomination. It means, in the second place, that the speaker's views on prohibition do not make him unacceptable to a considerable element of Democratic drys. It means, again, that the Garner candidacy is still further removed from the favorite son category.

The point which Mr. McAdoo makes, that the speaker would be able to unite all the different elements in the Democratic party, is a compelling one.

The McAdoo indorsement leaves some Texas drys, such as Tom Love, out on a limb. Mr. Love has been very busy trying to work up sentiment against the Garner candidacy. Now, with the chieftain of the dry Democrats giving Garner his emphatic approval, and himself stepping aside, Mr. Love is in a position that is uncomfortable, if not embarrassing. Probably the last waning chance to head off the sending of a Garner delegation from Texas has been dissipated.

A DECISION THAT FRIGHTENS

The decision of the court of criminal appeals in the case from Whitesboro, involving the right of the city marshal to question suspicious characters, is little short of ghastly in its possibilities.

The Whitesboro marshal had been instructed by the mayor, at the instance of the city commission, to question suspicious persons found on the streets after certain hours at night. Obeying such instructions, the officer undertook to halt and question one Joe Woods. The latter opened fire on the marshal, wounding him. Woods was charged with assault to murder and upon conviction was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

The court of criminal appeals reversed this verdict. It held that, since the order to the marshal had not been recorded in the minutes of the commission meeting, he was without authority to halt strangers and question them.

We say the possibilities of such a decision are ghastly. We must assume that the decision is in accord with the law. That being so, the need of a change in the law is imperative. The idea that a duly chosen peace officer, undertaking to protect the public, cannot approach a suspicious character without having elaborate documentation of his authority to do so, or without having specific, recorded instructions to do so, is to make a mockery of police protection. In this instance, the Whitesboro officials may have been technically at fault. But there is something radically wrong somewhere when an officer in the discharge of his duty may be shot down with impunity. If the wrong is in the statutes, correction should be made at the first opportunity.

The undertaker in London who advertised free funerals for suicides went broke. He forgot about London's large Scotch population.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And the Lord commanded me at that time to teach you statutes and judgments that ye might do them in the land whither ye go over to possess it.—Deuteronomy 4:14.

Teach the art of living well.—Seneca.

THE EXTENT OF THE STATE'S POLICE POWER

Between the federal court decision in the martial law case and the state court decision in the cotton acreage restriction case, we now have a clearer delineation of the limits of the state's police power.

Cotton acreage restriction is desirable, everybody concedes; but it cannot, if the Franklin county decision is affirmed, be made the duty of the state.

Proration of oil is desirable; in East Texas, it has saved the market from utter demoralization; but the federal court has held that the governor exceeded his authority in enforcing proration by martial law.

The governor's action saved East Texas millions of dollars. The cotton acreage restriction law, if upheld and enforced, would be a great blessing to Texas. Both measures seemed to serve the public interest, but the constitution does not sanction a new law on that ground alone. The state cannot do the right thing in the wrong way. The state cannot intervene to save an industry from itself.

The cotton farmer must work out his own salvation. The oil industry must cure its own ailments. The cures, in each instance, will be slower than those the state sought to administer, but they will be more lasting and more thorough.

The lesson embodied in these two decisions is not a pleasant one, but the soundness of it cannot be questioned. Let us hope that it will be wisely applied.

JUDGE CARDOZO AND PROHIBITION

In spite of the fact that the nomination of Judge B. N. Cardozo to the supreme court has been everywhere hailed as an ideal one, the confirmation of the appointee will not be effected, New York dispatches indicate, without at least the semblance of a contest. A dry organization has protested the appointment, declaring that the judge is a wet. His views on prohibition have not been publicly stated, but the protesting organization takes it for granted that, having voted for Al Smith, the judge is not in complete sympathy with the dry program.

There was a time, not so very long ago, when such an objection would have had much weight in the senate. Probably it will not be seriously urged in this instance. Even the most ardent drys have come to realize the folly of making it the test of a man's fitness. In this case, an organized protest would injure the dry cause more than it would injure the appointee.

Another protest has been made on the fact that the appointee is the son of a judge who was rather too friendly to the notorious Tweed ring. Such a protest reflects on the men who make it. Whoever or whatever his father was, Judge Cardozo's record is unblemished.

S. M. U.'S PACIFISTS

At Southern Methodist university, where pacifist sentiment seems to be more pronounced than at any other southwestern school, one group of students is circulating a round robin denouncing war as a means of settling disputes and pledging its signers to refuse to serve in the event the country became embroiled in war.

One may applaud the students for wanting to see war outlawed. But to pledge themselves to resist conscription in the event of war indicates a spirit that calls for the opposite of applause. It is poor business for young men to be taking that stand, poor business for teachers to commend them for taking it. To say that if a situation arose in which this country needed its man-power to defend itself they would resist the law is going to an extreme which the love of peace, no matter how sincere or profound, does not justify.

Some students withdrew their names from the document after learning its full purport. Another group of students signed a round robin disclaiming any intention of being conscientious objectors if need of their military service should arise. Apparently the extreme pacifist view is not a unanimous one at Southern Methodist university.

THE MARKET VALUE OF HUMAN VALUES

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

When we look back upon the period through which we are now passing we shall say—if we really learn the lesson the time has to teach—that it was a period in which business leadership learned the market value of human values.

The critics of our capitalistic economy have long damned it for its aloofness to human values.

Let me call one of these critics, R. H. Tawney, to the witness stand.

"The burden of our civilization," he has said, "is that industry itself has come to hold a position of exclusive predominance among human interests, which no single interest, and least of all the provision of the material means of existence, is fit to occupy.

"Like a hypocondriac who is so absorbed in the processes of his own digestion that he goes to his grave before he has begun to live, industrialized communities neglect the very objects for which it is worth while to acquire riches in their feverish preoccupation with the means by which riches can be acquired.

"Society will not solve the particular problems of industry which afflict it until that poison is expelled, and it has learned to see industry itself in the right perspective. If it is to do that, it must rearrange its scale of values."

And, elsewhere, in speaking of what seems to him the distorted sense of values that makes us all-too-absorbed in industry for industry's sake, Mr. Tawney says, "Under the impulse of such ideas men do not become religious or wise or artistics; for religion and wisdom and art imply the acceptance of limitations. But they become powerful and rich. They inherit the earth and change the face of nature, if they do not possess their own souls."

There is truth at the heart of these trenchant indictments.

But, to me, one of the solidest grounds of hope for the future is the fact that our whole machine economy has reached the point in its evolution at which it must concern itself with human values in order to maintain market values.

If our ever growing productive capacity is not to result in a permanent stalling of our economic machine, we must move in the direction, as I have said so often, of shorter hours, higher wages, lower prices, and the leisure and means this implies must make for a world in which mankind turns its thought to values beyond bread and butter.

Comfort

At Shanghai they fight from day to day,
With things in a heck of a mess,
But it's not a real war, so the Japanese say,
And that's very conseling, I guess.

The Chinese state of mind probably is that it will do nicely until a real war starts.

I Do Not Choose

The hardy folks who with skis leap,
In the movies I like to see,
I'm sure it must be fun, a heap,
But I'm glad it's them and not me.

Normal

O, the Democrats are in a fuss
But there's no cause for alarm
For when they act obstreperous,
They're running true to form.

We can be glad of one thing—that some of the presidential possibilities aren't presidential probabilities.

G. Washington

We want to do a little vibrating today about George Washington, whose birthday this is.

That business about his reputation for unfailing truthfulness has always interested us greatly. With all due respect to his memory, we believe there has been some exaggeration of his habits, in regard to veracity. His reputation is due largely to the affair of the cherry tree, which happened when he was quite young. It is a relatively simple matter for a child to tell the truth, especially a child of tender years. It takes time for a youngster to develop the attitude toward falsehoods that the little girl had who said that a lie was an abomination in the sight of Heaven and a very present help in time of trouble. Up to a certain stage in its development, a child tells the truth just as naturally as it does anything.

If George Washington's reputation for veracity were based on his childhood experience with the hatchet, therefore, it wouldn't mean anything. That cherry tree business, after all, was a rather simple one. There was the hacked and tortured cherry tree. There was George with his new hatchet. If he felt the impulse to lie about it, he must have realized the futility of doing so. To tell the truth when they have the goods on you is not to your credit. A lie is reprehensible under almost all circumstances, but it is especially so when there isn't a chance to get by with it.

The Reputation's Basis

Our opinion is that the reputation had a more solid foundation than that afforded by the hatchet incident. And, searching through the biographies for additional facts, we have come upon one which we think contains the explanation for the first president's remarkable truthfulness. That is, he married a widow.

It is difficult to lie to a woman whose first husband you are. Difficult, but by no means impossible. It takes practice and study to really get away with it. Most married men get into the habit of lying only in case of necessity. They come to realize that their talents in mendacity must be conserved and brought into use only when the pressure is on them.

But the man who marries a widow is in different circumstances. In his case, the most consummate skill is likely to avail him nothing. For he has had no experience in lying to women, and his wife has had some experience in being lied to.

Probably that is how Washington attained the reputation which has attended his name through all the years. He married a widow and told her the truth because there wasn't any use telling her anything else.

Things That Helped

Another thing that helped him considerably was the fact that he didn't have to do any active campaigning for office. It would be unreasonable, these days, to expect a man to stay in active public life as long as Washington did without doing a little fibbing—a little polite fibbing, at least—once in a while. But Washington didn't have any opposition when he ran for office, so he was able to maintain his reputation.

The absence of such issues as prohibition and the League of Nations helped him no little. He didn't have to write a platform. Think what that meant!

Another thing, there wasn't as many foreign diplomats hanging around Washington then as there now are. Of course, we don't mean that a president has to lie to other countries, even today. Not for a minute. That's what he has a secretary of state for. But it was a great help to Washington not to have the capital all cluttered with ambassadors and such. They put an awful strain on official veracity, even at their best.

So that Washington, after all, had a comparatively easy time of it. All he had to do was defeat the British, organize the United States and then run it for eight years. If he had had as much of a job on his hands as presidents have nowadays, he might not have gotten along so well.

It Was Easier Then

It's as much as anybody can do, these days, to avoid lying to a traffic judge, which is a problem that never confronted Washington. If there had been such things in his day, and he had been called up some morning to try to talk the judge out of a fine, where would his reputation for veracity have been? Or maybe that wouldn't be counted against him. It shouldn't be.

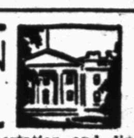
And then, the train service was very bad in those days, and the roads were rough, and he didn't have occasion to make little week-end trips. And there were no stenographers, blonde or otherwise, when he was president.

We can give him full credit for being as truthful as the story-books make him, but it wouldn't be so easy nowadays.

The police may not be able to make the right-hand turners come to a full stop, but maybe they can get 'em to slow down to 35.

This bill they have in congress, to permit beer to be sold with meals in restaurants, doesn't sound very practical to us. A fellow's digestive system would soon break down, eating 20 to 30 meals a day.

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER



By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—A few members of the house of representatives got together in secret session the other day and decided that 40,000,000 bushels of farm board wheat should not be given to the hungry unemployed.

The senate had voted to give the wheat, which was equivalent to 10,000,000 barrels of flour, but the house committee on agriculture, voting 14 to 9, turned down the proposal and kept it from getting to a vote on the house floor.

Explanations for the action range from the assertion that there was not a sufficiently loud clamor for the wheat to the accusation that a majority of the house committee on agriculture is a bunch of dodoes.

The argument that people were "starving in the midst of plenty" while the government kept 160,000,000 bushels of useless wheat was met by the charge that wheat donation would be a "dole."

Senator Bratton of New Mexico had pointed out that the gift would be "like a popgun in a cyclone," but there were those who didn't care to shoot off the popgun.

Although Speaker Garner and Chairman Marvin Jones (Texas) of the agriculture committee favored the resolution they did not force it to the floor.

What happened at the secret session where the resolution was snuk?

Well, one understands that the boys discussed it informally around the table. They represent all the agricultural sections of the country, of course. One wanted to know why the government couldn't also buy up a lot of cotton for the unemployed. And another asked what about rice. And others suggested pork, milk, wool and so on, having in mind the products of their home districts.

And why didn't the government go out and buy the wheat on the open market? A course, it was argued, which would do more to help the wheat farmers. One or two members dwelt on the expenses of transportation and distribution. It was pointed out that the farm board would like to be reimbursed for the wheat from the treasury, instead of charging it up to its revolving fund as provided by the senate.

Chairman Jones argued that the farm board wheat was deteriorating and costing 18 cents a year per bushel to carry. He said it didn't seem like a dole to him, but "more like a fellow discarding an old overcoat which he didn't need."

But the majority indicated an opinion that the bill wasn't of much consequence. It was said that there has been no general excitement about it and no insistent demand for the wheat.

Any way, the wheat program would only be a drop in the bucket. And there were those who warned solemnly that passage of the wheat bill would be a pretty radical step to take unless there were really a tremendous emergency. Congress had better go slow until it decided more definitely just what it wanted to do about this relief business.

So, between one thing and another, the resolution was voted down. Chairman John Barton Payne of the Red Cross, at the open hearing, which considered 20,000,000 bushels as the amount instead of the senate's 40,000,000, said his organization would distribute the wheat if asked.

It would take care of the cost of processing into flour by selling the wheat by-products and would arrange with bakers by competitive bidding to receive so many loaves of bread for so many bushels of wheat.

The Salvation Army and the Quaker relief organization were among those urging passage of the resolution, although a Salvation Army representative did not show up to testify as promised.

Fred Croxton of the president's unemployment relief organization said: "People do not generally starve. They die of something brought on by undernourishment before they starve." It was pointed out that each bushel of wheat made 60 loaves of bread.

Health and Diet Advice

No More Bow-Legs

It has been believed in the past that bow-legs are caused by the baby attempting to walk too early in life, but there is practically no evidence to indicate that this is true. Babies do not attempt to walk or crawl until their tissues are strong enough to withstand the strain.

Most cases of bow-legs are caused by the baby's diet not being rich enough in bone building substance. Of course, a few babies seem to be bow-legged naturally, but I am quite sure that the majority would have correctly formed limbs if the mother's diet preceding the birth, and the baby's diet subsequent to birth, were properly balanced.

If the mother notices that the child's legs are distinctly bowed, she may be able to correct the deformity if she begins early enough in the child's life before the age of 15 to 18 months, while the bones are still pliable.

A slight bow of the baby's legs is normal and should cause no alarm, but, if the bending is excessive, it can be corrected to a large extent by gently attempting to bend the baby's legs in the proper direction two or three times daily. This may sound like a severe treatment, but, if it is done properly, it will not cause the least bit of discomfort to the baby, since the child's bones bend readily. Vrey severe cases, of course, should be treated by an orthopedist.

If the expectant mother's or the nursing mother's diet contains a sufficient quantity of the bone-building foods such as spinach, cabbage, swiss chard, turnips, asparagus, cress, lettuce, celery, cucumbers, tomatoes, lemons, oranges, milk, and egg yolk, the baby will also receive sufficient bone forming elements. If the baby is bottle fed, it should be allowed plenty of raw certified milk and orange juice, spinach juice or tomato juice.

A baby with improper bone formation should also be exposed for a few minutes daily to the action of the direct sunlight, or, if this is not available, to the actinic light which many physicians have installed. After 18 months of age, it is still possible to correct bow-legs to a slight degree through the use of leg bending and strengthening exercises but the bones are harder and no great change can be expected.

It is almost useless for adults to expect to straighten the bones of their legs if they are badly bowed. However, by taking exercises such as the deep knee bend and alternately raising on the toes and heels, the muscles of the calf may be so developed that the bow is not noticeable. Sometimes adults have their legs broken and reset in a straighter position, but this treatment is not generally advisable because bones do not always heal exactly as they are supposed to, and sometimes the result is not pleasing to the patient.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Only One Kidney

Question—Mrs. Norma MacS. writes: "I had one kidney removed because of an accident five years ago. Many people tell me I will not live very long, although I feel reasonably well. Can that be true? Weight only 100 pounds and am five feet four inches tall. What foods are best for me, and are hot baths good?"

Answer—Even when one kidney has been removed, if the other kidney is not seriously affected, there is no reason why you cannot live for many years with only one kidney functioning. The best foods are the fruits and vegetables, with small amounts of proteins and fats, but not many carbohydrates. I do not approve of hot baths except as a therapeutic measure, but you could use warm showers followed by cold.

Reducing Hips

Question—C. K. writes: "Will you please tell me through the newspaper column if it is possible to reduce the hips from 39 to about 35½ inches and if so, how?

Answer—The best way to reduce the hips is to take long walks each day. There are no calisthentic exercises you can take which will take the place of this kind of exercise through walking.

Fruits With Meals

Question—Rheba W. writes: "In a dinner of meat, bread and vegetables, we don't use fruit. But may we eat desserts of fruits, or dried fruits?"

Answer—The acid fruits should not be used at any meal containing bread but small amounts of dried fruits such as raisins, figs, and prunes may be used with whole-wheat bread. Stewed acid fruits, however, may be used for dessert at a meal containing meat, but not containing starchy food.

NEW YORK.—Acres of newspaper space are occupied by stories concerning John D. Rockefeller and his son, but rarely, if ever, are you likely to come across anything concerning Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr.

Of all the ladies of great wealth in New York, she is the most modest and simple in attire; the least exhibitionistic of those luxuries which her riches could buy and the most casual—even indifferent—toward those social splashes in which so many seem to figure.

Those who have observed Mrs. Rockefeller over a period of years inform me that a modest pearl necklace is usually the extent of her jewel decorations. While enjoying the opera, she is not to be found in the "diamond horseshoe" crowd on opening night, and such resorts as Newport and Southampton seem to interest her only casually. Few have been the social affairs that might have been staged at the Rockefeller mansion, just off the "avenoo." Her interest is largely in things concerning private welfare and charity. She has any number of "private" and public philanthropies, and these are said to occupy most of her time.

On the contrary, New York is cluttered with persons willing to devote their lives to struggling for any sort of a niche in the society world or for the reputation of being a "big shot."

One of the many vanities of certain New Yorkers is the possession of automobile license plates that carry with them a certain reputation.

These are the small numerals—1 to 10, for instance.

Governors, mayors and such-like usually rank first, and any of the smaller numbers is supposed to classify the owner as a "person of importance."

For some years, prideful battle was waged for the first numbers on Park avenue. No. 1 actually became a matter of litigation when an argument arose over its rightful owner. A change of the city's numbering is greeted with a wild protest and tradition, legend and history are dragged out.

And speaking of historic dwelling places, the famous Wendel mansion in mid-Fifth avenue has changed within the year from a "house of mystery" to one of ironic import.

When old Ella Wendel died, leaving a fabulous fortune, the final disposition of the estate became a matter for court decision. Thereafter, the stern-looking manse in the heart of the shopping zone where two spinster sisters had lived for a generation according to the standards and manners of the mauve decade, was turned over to four servants. There these loyal slavies have lived ever since—four servants occupying one of the most valuable properties on all Fifth avenue. The tale went that on Christmas, lights burned brightly in the Wendel mansion and that an old-fashioned yule party was held by these four in the handsome, old-fashioned living rooms.

One of the tasks of the servants is to take care of a dog that had been a pet of "Aunt Ella."

Five Billion to Build Ocean Island

PARIS.—Any one with $5,000,000,000 he doesn't know what to do with can get in on the ground floor of M. Leon Foenquinos' scheme to build a floating island in the middle of the Atlantic. Foenquinos' plans construction of such an island—when he gets the money—as a station for air liners crossing the ocean. He has found a place only 200 feet deep and proposes to sink there a ring of 96 huge caissons. These would be the foundation of the island. In size, the island would be about a quarter of a mile in width and a little over a mile in diameter. It would house 200,000 persons, Foenquinos believes. Weighing about 12,000,000 tons, it would be practically immovable in the heaviest of storms, it is said.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

How Silver Was Fought

Editor The Times: In 1896 when I was a "mere lad of a boy" I clerked in a dry goods store at Granbury, Texas, right next door to the First National bank. The banker, the most influential man in the town, was a gold standard man and "agin" inflation. Now this was the year the immortal Bryan and Coin Harvey waged the great fight for free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. And lo and behold all of a sudden our bank went to paying off the cotton farmers' checks in silver dollars, bales bringing $3 to $50 each and a farmer having three or four bales found himself loaded down with sacks of silver dollars. This you understand immediately prejudiced the farmers "agin" Bryan and free silver. Of course they didn't stop to think that it was a mere camouflage and that silver bullion could be deposited in the United States treasury and certificates issued against it just like gold.

It was surprising how it was worked all over the United States and what effect it had on all of us who had to handle and carry so much heavy silver around.

The silver fight is on again and our people should remember this particular way the enemies of silver fought it then and may do the same trick again.

Peggy Piedmont

FOR several weeks now the birthday of George Washington has been observed in one way and the other, and next week the days are filled with tree plantings at the various schools, programs commemorating America's greatest hero, but with the bicentennial luncheon at the Forum club house Thursday, past history, the other elaborate social event centering around this occasion is the charity ball to be given at the Wichita club Monday night.

CHARITY balls for several years have been looked upon as the real social events in most large cities and are patronized by what are considered the most prominent people. This is the first attempt to have one in Wichita Falls and it is sincerely hoped by those of all ages, that it can be inaugurated as an annual affair that will be looked forward to with enthusiasm at the beginning of every autumn.

PATRONESSES for the ball have been selected from among Wichita Falls' well known women in social, civic and church circles, and just to get their reaction on the coming event some were asked for a few interesting comments which were made as follows:

MRS. J. A. KEMP said: "Washington worshipped with equal reverence in Dutch, Catholic, Quaker, Presbyterian, Congregational and Episcopalian services. The charity ball to be given on Washington's birthday will be just as universal in its appeal. Its purpose will be two-fold: the proceeds will go to charity, and we will join in the bicentennial celebration that is to be nation-wide. Circumstances over which we have no control have placed Washington's birthday during lent. Because of such circumstances I feel that we can join in this nation-wide celebration."

MRS. ED HOWARD: "Much hard work is being done by the various committees to make the charity ball a success, and we must give them our full support and cooperation. The cause is a worthy one. Successful charity balls are held each year in every large city in Texas. We must place Wichita Falls in this successful group."

MRS. J. T. MONTGOMERY: "This charity ball is being given for, and in the name of charity. Its appeal is city-wide. I know of no other way in which we can so pleasantly mingle with our friends, spend an enjoyable evening, and at the same time make our contribution to this cause."

MRS. A. H. CARRIGAN: "In accepting the responsibility of being one of the patronesses for the charity ball, I did so with the thought that it was worthy of every success. I believe that all of us should do what we can to make it so. Taking our cue from Washington's birthday, we can make the occasion a delightful one, and at the same time render full value to charity."

MRS. BERT BEAN: "I think the idea of having a charity ball on Washington's birthday is a happy one indeed. To the altruistic motive sponsoring it can be added the patriotic one for celebrating Washington's birthday. We are therefore given a double motive for attending this charity ball."

MRS. C. R. HARTSOOK: "Wichita Falls should have had charity balls for a number of years.

Mrs. Bert Bean Gives Talk at City View Club

Mrs. Bert Bean was the principal speaker at the regular meeting of the City View Demonstration club Friday afternoon which met at the home of Mrs. W. H. Kiel on the Iowa Park road. She spoke interestingly on the planning and planting of the flower garden and mentioned the wide varieties of evergreens, perennials, annuals and bulbs suitable for this climate which by proper planting and selection provides beauty in the garden from early spring even in to the winter. Mrs. Bean said that it is as important to plant a garden by a well defined plan as it is to build a home by plan. It is important, she said that we know something about the growth, blooming time, colors, etc., of plants, as well as their resistance to plant pests. She suggested that every garden picture needs a background, and that just as the walls of a room provide the background indoors, so the use of lattice fences covered with vines, the taller shrubs, and large leaved tall growing perennials, such as hollyhock make excellent background for the garden picture outdoors. Bulb planting should be done in groups rather than in rows, she said, for the best effect.

Annuals should be planted in the summer where the early spring bulbs have been. Shrubs of different height should be provided for accent in prominent borders. She told of her personal experiences in gardening and suggested the use of some evergreens in the garden as a means of keeping the garden from looking too bare during the winter months, but mentioned that plenty of room must be left for the flowering shrubs.

At the present prices of nursery stock Mrs. Bean said that it is within the reach of every one to make considerable improvements in the gardens and home grounds.

In connection with the study of bedrooms which is one of the subjects for the study of the rural women this year, and also linking in with the George Washington bicentennial, Mrs. Ewing Ezell told of her visit to the home of Washington particularly referring to bedrooms. She displayed a bed spread which she had made an exact replica of the one used in Martha Washington's room. It is made of unbleached muslin, in a stars and stripes pattern which is done with a special needle. The spread is exact in every detail including the fringe which ties in three knots. Mrs. Ezell also displayed three hooked rugs and one braided rug similar to the ones used in the Mt. Vernon home.

Mrs. Kiel spoke briefly of the four bedroom requirements: Cleanliness, fresh air, sunshine, and restful appearance. All members answered roll call with quotations from George Washington.

Those present were Mesdames N. K. Shamlian, J. F. Gross, T. H. Murphy, J. S. Yancey, Joe McKinney, W. R. Wilcke, W. B. Taylor, G. Gafford, B. Bean, E. Ezell, J. M. Isbell, Glasscock, Powers, Grigsby and the hostess, Mrs. W. H. Kiel.

The room count was taken and the attendance prize, a beautifully decorated angle food cake baked by Mrs. R. A. Bailey, was presented to Miss Loafman's room for having the largest percentage of mothers present.

Mrs. Bailey announced the nutrition meeting for Thursday afternoon under the direction of Miss Rorabrough. All mothers are invited and urged to be present.

The students of the school will give a patriotic program Friday morning at 9 o'clock climaxing several weeks' study on Washington, which has developed out of the classroom activities.

P.T.A. NEWS NOTES

By MRS. J. M. CRAIN
State Publicity Director

Attention child welfare workers to these important programs which should enlist full collaboration of every local unit.

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers is cooperating with the United States commission in the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington and so is the Texas branch. All of the important celebrations connected with the bicentennial will be broadcast over a nation-wide hookup with President Hoover opening the series in a message to congress broadcast from the house of representatives on Monday, Feb. 22, at 11:30 a. m. eastern standard time. There are to be 28 celebrations put on the air between Feb. 22 and Thanksgiving day, the official period of commemoration as decreed by the George Washington Bicentennial commission.

George Washington's life, character and ideals furnish material for 12 programs and 48 speeches prepared for use of all organizations and study groups planning to participate in the bicentennial celebration. This celebration is to be an all-American observance just as George Washington, the man and patriot, belongs to the whole country. Every parent-teacher member is urged to join in honoring the "Father of Our Country" in order to show the proper respect to the memory of the man who made possible this great nation which we, of today, know and love.

All locals and districts are urged to send your state publicity director the outstanding accomplishments attained this year of wide and general appeal so that Texas will be well represented with its worth while achievements for child welfare in the division of "Out Among the Branches" in the national organ, The Child Welfare Magazine.

Remember that Friday, Feb. 26, is designated as parents' visiting day. Let all who can encourage the teachers and pupils by visiting the schools at this stipulated time unless your association has set another day more convenient for all concerned.

A series of programs under the title of "Our American Schools" is presented each Sunday at 6:30 p. m. eastern standard time under the direction of Florence Hale, president of the National Education association, who will present as speakers leaders in the various fields of education. Mrs. Hugh Bradford, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, will speak on "The School and the Superintendent." Feb. 21. These lectures are quite inspirational as well as instructive from many angles.

Now that this important function is being inaugurated we must go on with it so that each year's celebration will be more successful than the last. I know that every one interested in our city's welfare will be glad to support it."

MRS. P. P. LANGFORD SR.: "At this particular season of the year, and especially this particular year, when the whole nation is planning the bicentennial celebration of Washington's birthday, a charity ball fits in very nicely. I am glad to give it my full endorsement and support."

The bicentennial of Washington's birth is even influencing house furnishings this spring, one well known authority says. The interior schemes wave the flag in commemoration of this event and among the patriotic wall papers available is a reproduction of an old scenic paper that depicts an early American harbor scene.

THIS writer says that if you happen to be addicted to early American furniture, pictures and whatnots, you are right in style this spring. For the Washington bicentennial is bringing such a renaissance of colonial stuffs that those who are already patriotic in their tastes have the edge.

She says that you do not have to put flags all over your wall to carry out this new patriotic interior decorating scheme, however. One of the cutest breakfast rooms I have ever seen is one with stippled white walls and narrow red and blue stripes making a border around the doors, window frames and china cabinets built in at the end. The curtains were specially woven white, with red and blue wide stripes running horizontally, and the hostess has several different kinds of linen to go in the room, basque linens of white with the red and blue stripes or plain white ones on which she uses red glass and blue china.

HOWEVER, if you are in earnest about being patriotic this year, out of respect for Washington, there are all kinds of new fabrics and gadgets to forward your urge.

One of the most interesting of these is a toile scenic, showing George Washington, Columbia, the stars and stripes and a lot of early American things in the preferred red, white and blue design.

THE history of the toile from which it was copied is even more interesting than the toile itself. It seems that the canny British merchants, shortly after the Revolution, realized that they would never succeed without the American colonial trade which they lost during the war. So they had this toile designed, swallowing their pride and having it depict American triumphs. So the story runs, the colonies were pleased as could be with this design and it became a best seller. It is used for draperies and upholstery.

ONE of the most interesting innovations for the bicentennial celebrations is a dinner service set of pictorial scenes of Washington's life. There are two different kinds of plates, one giving scenes such as Mt. Vernon, and Wakefield, his birthplace, the other showing Washington himself in the 12 biggest moments of his life, always in a group of friends or soldiers or statesmen.

WALL PAPERS are represented handsomely in the collection of Washington celebration materials. There are some very fine scenic papers, showing revolutionary scenes that would be decorative on any fine wall. Others portray an eagle and wreath design, and hunting scenes of that period. Still others merely reproduce the colonial papers found on walls in homes Washington visited.

AGAINST these wall papers and to be used with these draperies and upholstery, three are to be found today many inexpensive and quite authentic reproductions of the actual furniture used in Washington's day. These include the Duncan Phyfe styles, the Chippendale, Hepplewhite and Sheraton.

THERE are even carpets and scatter rugs that carry out the red and blue idea, to be used in a room with white walls. Since the white wall is a comparatively new interior decorating note, many very attractive rooms have gone patriotic in this manner. For instance in a country cottage, one room with white walls that have just the slightest cast of blue in them, uses turkey red curtains, with ruffles and the floor is painted a very fine dark blue, with scatter rugs in red and blue used on them. A Russian red and blue cover is used for the table and one wall hanging and the daybed is covered with a lovely old blue cover, with several gay red pillows against it."

And now I will close this patriotic epistle and begin looking over my evening frocks to wear to the charity ball where I hope you will manage to be among those present.

CHARITY BALL CHAIRMAN

MRS. T. R. BOONE

With the weeks of preparation for the George Washington bicentennial charity ball to be given at the Wichita club Monday night at an end, and everything declared to be in tip-top order, "the eyes of almost every one in the city are turned toward this huge affair," Mrs. T. R. Boone, chairman of publicity, said. "Every organization in Wichita Falls is in sympathy with the idea, and all are lending their cooperation, she declared.

"All arrangements have been made to insure a complete success and a happy event, according to Mrs. L. R. Stringer, chairman of the arrangement committee.

The grand march will be led by W. B. Hamilton, general chairman, and Mrs. J. T. Montgomery, representing the patronesses, who with the various committees will follow. The grand march will start promptly at 9 o'clock.

The patronesses are responding cheerfully, and all are working to make the event a great success and many of them are planning to be present in colonial costumes.

W. B. Hamilton stated Saturday that despite considerable sickness and the inclement weather that every indication points toward a large attendance.

A large number of tickets have already been sold, and it is expected that many more will be sold Monday.

The program will be featured by a minuet dance under the direction of Mrs. C. E. Mangum and a 16-piece orchestra will furnish music. Those who do not care to dance may play bridge and sandwiches and coffee will be served on the second floor at the club. Proceeds from this will also go to charity.

Mr. Hamilton repeats that everyone is invited. That this is a city-wide affair and that the entire proceeds will go to charity. He also states that the patronesses who have so graciously accepted the sponsorship for this ball are whole heartedly behind it, and that this fact alone must insure its success.

They include Mesdames G. D. Anderson, Bert Bean, A. H. Carrigan, W. D. Cline, C. R. Hartsook, Ed Howard, J. L. Jackson Sr., J. A. Kemp, P. P. Langford Sr., W. M. McGregor, J. T. Montgomery, J. J. Perkins, J. A. Richolt and J. W. Stringer.

Colonel George M. Leak and party of Fort Sill are making arrangements to attend the ball if the weather permits, and will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Horrace Robbins, and a large number of other out-of-town guests are expected, it is announced.

Alamo P.-T. A. Observes Founder's Day With Program at School

"The character of children is the result of the forces of heredity and environment. A small child has a thinking mind and the new education is proof that teachers and parents are beginning to learn from the children," Mrs. C. A. Spragins said in her talk on "Competent Parents" at the Alamo P.-T. A. meeting Friday afternoon.

"Coordination of home and school is the best thing to bring about parental education. Children have an intimate desire for the better things and parents should be careful not to crush these embryonic spirits in their children," continued the speaker.

Founders day was symbolized by a birthday party, with seven fourth grade girls taking part. A lace-covered table was centered with a beautifully decorated birthday cake, favors and baskets of candies. Each little girl gave an aim or ideal of national P.-T. A. Closing the ceremony Peggy Jo Pond presented the cake to Miss Kate Haynes who was the founder of P.-T. A. in Wichita Falls. The following girls took part under the direction of Miss Leva Davis: Peggy Gray, Jean Harris, Joan Rankin, Jean McLaughlin, Peggy Jo Pond, Colleen Wroblenski and Mary Ann Roberts.

The ferns and cut flowers were very kindly furnished by the Wichita Floral company.

It was voted that the Alamo unit would sponsor a group of Shakespearean plays, featuring Alamo school children and under the direction of Mrs. Ella Merle Mathis Bristol. The date was set for March 25 and 50 per cent of the proceeds derived will go to the Alamo lunch fund.

Mrs. Val Land, sponsor chairman, announced the appointment of two new sponsors, and recommended that each member advertise the P.-T. A. meetings.

Charity Appeal

Mrs. Hal Yeager, finance chairman, made an effective appeal to members to adopt an underprivileged child in Alamo school to feed. She stated that $1 would feed a child a plate lunch each day for a month and Lehracks furnish the milk. Mrs. Yeager also asked that the mothers remind their children to put their pennies in the jar which is kept in the cafeteria, as this money helps to feed the needy children in Alamo school of which there are 38 at present.

Mrs. E. C. Stirman, welfare chairman, made an appeal for clothing for these needy children and also gave a report of the splendid work which has been done.

Mrs. H. S. Gray, president expressed the regret of the P.-T. A. in the loss of Mrs. J. A. Curtis, who is leaving the city. She also announced the next meeting of the Alamo Study club, Feb. 25, from 10 to 11 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. R. Lanphere.

Devotional Given

As a devotional the members stood and repeated the Lord's prayer.

The nursery was in charge of Mrs. Willis with sixth grade girls assisting.

The first prize in room attendance was won by Miss Leva Davis' room and Miss Sadie Fisher's was second which they donated to the lunch fund.

It was voted to express our appreciation to Mrs. W. W. Silk for the splendid service she has rendered as a member of the school board.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Misses Leva Davis, Sadie Fisher, Jennie Louise Hindman, Mrs. W. C. Chapman.

LOSE FAT
This Right Way

Modern science has found that excess fat is largely due to a scanty gland secretion. Too much food which should supply fuel and energy goes to piled-up fat.

Since this discovery, doctors the world over are feeding this lacking factor. The results are seen in every circle. Excess fat has been disappearing fast. Millions have gained slender figures, new youth and vigor, in this right way. They have done it without starvation, by combating the cause.

Marmola prescription tablets present this modern method in a form convenient and cheap. They are prepared by a medical laboratory, famous the world over. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. Now multitudes of people show and tell the results. Some of your friends are among them.

If your figure is abnormal, your vigor below par, do what these people have done. Take Marmola tablets—four a day until conditions are corrected. Don't starve yourself. Don't use methods which are futile. Do the right thing now.

All druggists supply Marmola. A book in each box gives the formula and explains the amazing results. Go start now. You do yourself a vast injustice by remaining over-fat.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Ruth closed her lips quickly. She had almost told Sally that she would come home. Almost been too afraid of threatening loneliness to go on.

She changed her sentence from the one she had planned.

"Will you tell every one that I'm all right, Sally?"

"Of course. Well. I must go. I have to dress for a dinner date. What are you doing tonight?" Sally's voice said very plainly that she knew Ruth was doing nothing interesting.

"I have one, too," Ruth answered. She didn't. But it didn't matter. Nothing mattered now. Joe Raynor was going to marry Sally. To marry—Sally.

She hurried home, and sat down in the dim dusk of the room. After a while she pressed the button on the saffron-shaded lamp on the table. She didn't cry. She didn't move. Just sat very, very still, as people do when they are very hurt and there is nothing that they can do about it.

After a while she remembered that Dale Courtney had suggested food one night when she was lonely, and had told her that it would make her feel better. It had, although she wasn't hungry. She might as well try it again. First, she would take a shower. She had the water going full force when some one knocked at her door. Grabbing a misty green negligee, bought with some money that would have gone to Sally if Ruth had been living at home, she slipped into her old black mules, reflecting ruefully that she would get some new ones next time she was paid, and ran to the door.

"Telephone," the landlady explained.

"Thank you. Is anybody watching?"

"No, you're all right." The woman hurried on.

Dale Courtney's voice came across the wire.

"Ruth? Doing anything tonight?"

"Not anything at all." She started to laugh shakily. "Oh, I know I should pretend that I'm busy . . . good technique, they say . . . but I'm not . . . and I want to be?"

"Grand! May I come around in an hour? I'm lonesome, too. We can eat and then decide what we want to do."

Ruth agreed and went upstairs again. Somehow she was still laughing that shaky laugh. She couldn't understand why. Nothing funny had happened. Life was terrible! But that queer, shaky voice was a laugh. No, maybe it was a sob. She tried to decide. She made it a little louder so she could. Then she stopped, frightened at the mocking echoes. She went to the mirror. She hadn't changed. But she had to laugh . . . and laugh . . . and laugh!

"Nerves, I guess," she said, holding her breath to stop. "I've got to stop. I can't be unhappy like this. I'll die! But I want to die! I want to die!"

The laugh broke on a sob and relief came in swift, flowing tears. She was spent and weak when the storm had passed, but she felt better. She bathed her face with cold water, patted an astringent on the smooth, firm flesh, daubed some cream into her cheeks, and worked a touch of rose-rouge on her cheekbones under her eyes. She made her mouth very red. She was almost ready when Dale Courtney came.

Monday: The dinner date.

Sunday Times Pattern Service

Chic is not a matter of extravagance this season, but an ability to select colors and fabrics that are becoming and readily adapted to the models you have chosen for your new wardrobe. In the mode for sports wear, and that includes morning frocks, are such fabrics as seersucker, percale, cotton broadcloth, linen, men's suiting, madras and others—inexpensive yet extremely smart. Never have these perennial favorites been given such attention rgarding coloring and design. White, as usual, is chic, but with cojorful accessories; next to importance are the pastels and then the prints, gay, geometric and refreshing.

For afternoon wear rough crepes, semi-sheers and sheers in solid colors and prints vie for first place. Here both light and dark grounds are smart with well spaced prints, gayly colored and newly designed. Black and blue are the favorite dark shades, printed with red, beige, green and light blue. In the field of light grounds, beige, grey and white are seen with designs in purplish blue, geranium red, green and orange sprinkled with black and brown. It is a glorious season for prints and there is a print for every woman, no matter what her figure or her coloring.

PATTERN 1154

One of the smartest styles created this season, is the sports frock with widened shoulders and revers. Here it is in printed shantung . . . red on white. Two wide pleats in front give grace and animation to the skirt, and the seaming points upward for slender effect. Equally smart in linen, silk or sheer wool. Sizes 14 to 20 and 32 to 42. Size 16 requires 3½ yards of 36 or 39-inch fabric.

PATTERN 1084

For the matronly figure, this model is perfect in styling and in choice of fabric. The line of the bodice is unbroken and the horizontal tucks at each side mould the garment slightly to the body. Slender effect is created by the narrow collar, V vestee and pointed skirt seaming. The sleeves with flared cuffs are very graceful. We made the frock in brown figured in beige and green canton crepe. Sizes 36 to 46. Size 38 requires 3¾ yards of 39-inch fabric, ½ yard contrasting.

These models are very easy to make as each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern ordered.

Address all mail and orders to Times Publishing Company, Pattern Department, Times Bldg., Wichita Falls, Texas.

Oawakiya Group

The Oawakiya group enjoyed a musical and literary meeting at the home of the guardian, Mrs. Frank Schram, 2001 Pearl. Margaret Hutchinson gave a violin solo. The following book reports were given: Mirrison's "Blue Bandit," by Dorothea Whitehead; Well's "Two Little Women," by Willie Mae Bradley, and Katherine Adams' "Thistle Inn," by Margaret Hutchinson.

A hike was planned for Monday if the weather permits. Members are to bring lunch, meet at Mrs. Schram's and go to Weeks park.

Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess to Annette Adair, Margaret Hutchinson, Lorita Tanner, Willie Mae and Maurine Bralley, Dorothea Whitehead and Lois Schram.

Ahsonsong Group

Members of the Ahsonsong group went with their guardian to the Fresar Furniture company on Thursday afternoon to make plans for the furnishing of the sun room for their 1932 birthday project. Mr. Murchison discussed possibilities with the members and gave them many pointers.

A Washington birthday party was planned for Saturday night at the home of the guardian, Mrs. W. J. Willis, at 1624 McGregor.

Mankilo Group

Members of the Mankilo group met at the home of Mrs. T. C. Lynch, 3106 Tenth, on Wednesday afternoon. Ann Tarry, president, was in charge of the business meeting. Members voted to send notes of sympathy to members who are ill, or have illness in their homes. They also voted to hold one social meeting a month.

Curtains for the club room on the grounds at Crockett school were cut out.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lynch to Hazel Kent, Norene Eason, Ann Tarry, Elaine Steinkoenig, Jane Marie Elliott.

Mrs. Batholomew has been unable to meet with the group for several weeks, due to the illness of her son, Billie, and daughter, Helen.

Adi-Iwah Group

Members of the Adi-Iwah group enjoyed another one of their series of dinner parties which members are giving in fulfillment of the individual requirements under "D—Social Leadership." Mary Elizabeth Largin entertained with a dinner and bridge party at her home, 1808 Kemp boulevard, on Wednesday evening. Mary Elizabeth earned the home honor, No. 1,015, for having a party of 10 with refreshments costing not more than $2.50, keeping accounts. She also earned handicraft No. 107 for making 12 place cards, decorating them herself.

The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. O. Largin, in serving the delightful three-course dinner to guests seated at three tables. The valentine motif was attractively carried out in table decorations.

A game of progressive bridge was played when Joy Moore won high score and Marie Dollard, low.

Active members present, beside the hostess, were Florence Frazier, Thelma Simmons, Margaret Davis, and the guardian, Mrs. Frank W. Michaux. Other guests were Joy Moore, Marie Dollard, Jeannette Russell, Ruth Jones and Eula Smith.

On Monday afternoon at 2:30 the group will be entertained at the home of Thelma Simmons, 1811 Kemp boulevard, with a Washington birthday party.

Acascan Group

Members of the Acascan group met at Reagan Junior high school on Wednesday at the regular club period. The following officers were elected for the new term: President, Leora Burgess; vice president, Marjorie Gibson; secretary, Rose Lee Ivy; treasurer, Edith Cone; scribe, Mary Love Appleby. Miss Leeka Howard, guardian, is delighted to have as her assistant, Mrs. A. F. Appleby, who has already shown her willingness to help. The group met at her home, 1202 Austin, on Wednesday afternoon, and were "all dressed up" ready for the Shriner parade, which was called off at the last minute. The members stayed at the home and made further plans for the group rummage sale, which was postponed until Feb. 27, Saturday of this week, on Indiana street, near the old Busy Bee stand. Any one having rummage to contribute will please get in touch with Mrs. Appleby, phone 3898, or Miss Howard, in the evenings, at 3819.

REMINGTON URGES IMPORTANCE PAYING IRRIGATION TAXES

The urgent necessity of paying irrigation district taxes for 1931 before March 1 in order to preserve the credit of the two Wichita county districts was stressed in a statement issued Saturday by G. A. Remington, general manager of the two districts. The statement follows:

"Under date of Jan. 25, 1932, the board of directors of Wichita County Water Improvement District No. 1 passed a resolution providing that all taxes due said district on its 1931 tax roll might be paid during the month of February 1932 without the penalty of 10 per cent of the tax being added. Under date of Feb. 1, 1932, the board of directors of Wichita County Water Improvement District No. 2 took similar action regarding their 1931 taxes. This action of the two boards makes it possible for a landowner or taxpayer in either district to pay one-half of his 1931 irrigation tax without the penalty and obtain an extension of time on the last one-half until July 31, 1932, without the penalty. Should no payment be made during February the entire amount becomes delinquent.

"There never was a time since the organization of the water improvement districts when the prompt payment of taxes was so necessary as now. On account of tax delinquencies we find it impossible to pay principal and interest on our bonded debt promptly when due. Interest coupons of our district No. 1 in the sum of $120,090 went into default on Oct. 1, 1931, and there is a possibility of a default in principal on April 1, 1932. This is an embarrassing situation and prevents the extension of credit not only to our districts but to our county, city and school as well. We feel that when this situation is clearly understood every dollar of delinquent and current taxes due our districts that can possibly be paid at this time and prior to March 1, 1932, will be made available in cash. The penalty and interest is already attached to taxes on 1930 and prior rolls.

"Kindly give this matter due consideration as it is imperative that the balance due on our tax rolls be reduced to the lowest possible minimum without unnecessary delay."

State Will Tear Down Political Signs on Roads

D. M. Puckett, division engineer of the Texas highway department with headquarters in Wichita Falls, has received a letter from Gibb Gilchrist, state highway engineer, carrying instructions for highway department employes to remove candidates' posters and other campaign literature from the right of ways of all state highways.

The letter, addressed to all division engineers and signed by Mr. Gilchrist, follows:

"Two years ago it was decided by the commission that candidates' posters and other campaign literature would be placed in the same class as merchants' and manufacturers' signs, which are not allowed on the highway right of way. You are, therefore, instructed to follow the same practice this year, giving as much publicity to this plan as possible, in order that it will not be necessary to have to remove such placards. You should instruct all your foremen and other members of your personnel in patrolling highways to see that advertising of this character is not permitted and is immediately removed. Notice of this proposed action should also be given to any local newspapers desiring to publish same in order that the public may be informed.

"As the campaign for various offices in this state is just starting and as no candidate will be permitted to place his name or picture on the highway, the commission believes that this policy is fair to all and is necessary in view of past prohibition of merchants' advertising on the highway."

AMUSEMENTS

Scene from "The Hatchet Man," featuring Edward G. Robinson and Loretta Young, starting Tuesday at the Majestic.

Walter Huston, Jean Harlow and Wallace Ford in a scene from "The Beast of the City," at the State Sunday for three days.

Ruth Chatterton—Paul Lukas In 'Tomorrow and Tomorrow,' Majestic 'The Beasts of the City' at State

Paul Lukas appears opposite Ruth Chatterton in the role of the romantic doctor in Philip Barry's play, "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," an emotional and highly dramatic triangle-theme story, now playing at the Majestic.

In enacting the role of the doctor who brings happiness in love to a young, courageous, and unconventional wife to whom marriage is not enough, Lukas returns to work with the star with whom he rose to talking film fame.

Lukas and Miss Chatterton make a combination admired by fandom, particularly in romantic roles. Both being highly educated, their intellectual and temperamental qualities complement each other and contribute to their effective naturalness in roles involving the love element.

To add to your enjoyment you will see, "Girl Rush," a comedy; "Chip Shots," the second of a series of Bobby Jones' "How I Play Golf," and Fox news in sound.

"The Hatchet Man"

Edward G. Robinson, one of the screen's greatest character actors, seen variously as gangster, gambler and editor, adds another characterization to his long list of "parts" as Wong Low Get, Chinese tong member, in "The Hatchet Man," which will open at the Majestic next Tuesday.

The story is essentially dramatic and is played against an authentic oriental background, the scenes being set in San Francisco Chinatown of today and 15 years ago, and in China. It reveals the similarity between the emotions and instincts of Oriental and Occidental, telling a love story which holds interest to the very end, with the dramatically alive characterizations by Robinson and the supporting cast including Loretta Young.

Manager Stewart of the Majestic is confident that "The Hatchet Man" will receive a high place in the selections for the "best pictures of the year" and is certain that this city's audiences will enjoy what he characterizes as "bigger and better type of picture."

To add to your enjoyment you will see, "All American Kickback," a Mack Sennett comedy, "The Lorelei," a Terrytoon and Paramount news in sound.

"Union Depot"

Can you recognize celebrities in a crowd? If so, you'll have a lot of fun at "Union Depot," which comes to the Majestic next Friday. A number of well-known screen players mingle with the throng of 3,000 extras used in this picture, and keen-eyed film fans will be able to recognize favorite players not even listed in the cast.

However, this is not the main reason for seeing "Union Depot." To use terms appropriate to its title, "Union Depot" is to the ordinary melodrama what a limited is to a local. It's bigger, faster—it whirls you at express speed through fascinating, new territory, even though everything happens within the limits of one railroad station in a medium-sized city.

In addition you will see Fox news in sound and the third of a series of Bobby Jones golf lessons.

"BEASTS OF THE CITY" AT STATE STARTING SUNDAY

The producers of "Hell Divers" which recently made such an outstanding hit with Wichita Falls theater goers, have again proven themselves leaders in picture production. Their production of "The Beasts of the City," which opens a three-day engagement at the State theater Sunday, brings to the screen another dramatic and powerful story, and features a cast of longtime favorites. They are Walter Huston, Jean Harlow, John Miljan, Wallace Ford and Jean Hersholt.

"Beasts of the City" bares conditions that exist in the average American city; most of its sensationalism based on actual happenings taken from police records and newspapers. It's startling story brings to life facts which have heretofore been considered "too close to home" to be told. Walter Huston of "Criminal Code" fame has the principal role as the fighting police chief pitted against politics. Jean Harlow, the famous "Platinum Blonde"; Wallace Ford who scored with Joan Crawford in "Possessed"; the well known character actor, Jean Hersholt, and John Miljan, recently seen in "Hell Divers;" have prominent roles.

Additional units of the program consist of a comedy, a cartoon and the Paramount news.

"Waterloo Bridge"

Few people have not heard of the famous Robert E. Sherwood character, "Myra," in his novel "Waterloo Bridge." This dramatic story of a girl's last stand after a wasted life of playing "lady of the night" comes to the State Wednesday for a three-day engagement, with beautiful Mae Clarke in the character of "Myra." The supporting cast includes Kent Douglas, Doris Lloyd and Enid Bennett.

Saturday only the picture will be "Range Feud" featuring Buck Jones.

FEW ROBBERIES IN CITY FRIDAY POLICE INDICATE

With few robberies and minor thefts listed on police records, crime in Wichita Falls apparently has dropped to a new low level, according to R. M. Hurst, desk sergeant.

C. J. Barnes, 1511 Thirteenth, reported the theft of six Rhode Island reds Friday night, and H. D. Kirk, 1108 Bluff, reported the loss of a rifle, a woman's coat and two men's shirts from a car parked on Bluff.

Mrs. Della E. Yopp, 1510 Fourth, reported the loss of a 1926 Ford touring car from the 800 block on Seventh street Friday night. The license number is N06-678.

SCHOOLS SHOW 7.36 PER CENT FAILURES HERE

Zundelowitz Has Seven Subjects With No Failures For First Semester

PHYSICS HARDEST STUDY FOR HIGH SCHOOL CLASS

Fall Cotton Picking Lowers Record of Several Elementary Schools

By MARGARET FLEMING

Failures in all white elementary schools of the city showed an average of 7.36 per cent for the first semester of the 1931-32 session and failures in high school ranged from zero in several subjects to a maximum of 23.3 in physics, according to figures released Saturday by H. D. Fillers, superintendent.

In the elementary schools Austin had the best record with a 2.94 percentage of failures. There were 793 pupils enrolled, 79 dropped out of school, 21 failed and 693 were promoted.

Figures for the other elementary schools in percentage of failures follow: Alamo, 9:50; Barwise, 3.46; Bowie, 11.80; Carrigan, 6.60; Crockett, 5.69; Fannin, 14.40; Franklin, 3.37; Huey, 3.80; Sam Houston, 4.39; San Jacinto, 12.28; Travis, 14.10; Benito Juarez, 10.66; Washington, 10.45.

In the four or five elementary schools where the percentage of failures is decidedly higher than the average, it is explained by the fact that these schools are in communities where in the early fall many of the children were picking cotton and entered their classes late.

Averages for the different grades of the elementary schools, white and negro, showed a total of 6,282 pupils enrolled, of which 457 were dropped, 443 failed and 5,382 were promoted. There were no failures in the low first grade. Percentage of failures in other grades follows: High first, 18.11; low second, 11.20; high second, 8.47; low third, 7.25; high third, 9.40; low fourth, 7.62; high fourth, 7.25; low fifth, 7.00; high fifth, 9.01; low sixth, 9.85, and high sixth, 6.17.

High Record at Zundy

Figures showing failures in junior and senior high schools are by subjects. Zundelowitz Junior High school had a high record with seven subjects in which not a single failure was recorded. These classes were domestic art, domestic science, manual training, mechanical drawing, art, music and general science.

Other subjects taught at Zundy showed the following failure percentage: English, 6.7; history, 4.9; mathematics, 8.8; Latin, 9.0; Spanish, 10.7.

Figures for Reagan Junior high were as follows: English, 5.3; history, 6.5; mathematics, 8.4; Latin, 8.9; Spanish, 9.0; general science, 3.2; domestic art, 2.7; domestic science, 5.0; manual training, 2.3; mechanical drawing, 5.8; art, 3.7; music, 2.2.

The high school figures: English, 7.4; history, 8.4; mathematics, 9.6; Latin, 5.6; Spanish, 15.60; chemistry, 12.0; physics, 23.30; biology, 5.82; domestic art, 5.9; domestic science, 6.2; manual training, 1.1; mechanical drawing, 7.4; art, 6.9; music, none; bookkeeping, 4.8; commercial subjects, 7.48, and public speaking, none.

The figures for Washington high ranged from no failures in domestic art, physics, general science, manual training to a high mark of 11.17 per cent in mathematics.

Rah, Rah! Toot, Toot! Ding, Dong! Nanking!

Does Education Pay?

By WILL ROGERS

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I see here and there. Now just looking out of the window, what do I see? I am traveling from Peking, (Peiping) all same place, to Shanghai, by way of Nanking. (Nanking is the Capitol of China, that is it was). You see there is a place called Canton. Canton is where all the Americanized Chinamen come from, and they have taken the Government of Nanking over. They are the real Trouble raisers of Canton, that is I mean they are the progressive ones. They want always to be stirring something up.

Well the Nanking Government have fallen and the Canton crowd is in the saddle. But that hasent anything to do with this trip by Trian from Peking, the old Capitol, and by far the most interesting town in China. Well I was to have flown down, that flown is a pretty big word, mabe I better make that flew, I was to have flewen down, but there is a bear of a Snow storm here and there wont be any Planes for days, so I had much against my will to take a Train. Its not a bad train. Its not an extra good train. They have these Wagon Lits cars.

Know what is the Wagon Lits? Well its a French contraption where you sleep cockeyed of the way the train is going. There is a little aisle along the side of the train and then some little Compartments, sometimes there is beds for two and sometimes there is beds for 4 in them. I wanted one alone so I had to pay more, to keep somebody from sleeping with me, or over me or under me. I have heard of these same cars crossing the Transiberian Railway where they are for 10 days on this train, and you might be in the same room with a Woman. I say I have heard of such things. It wouldent be my luck.

But as I was saying I am in this one all alone. We are pulling out of Peking. Its snowing and its cold. The poor Rickasha "Coolies" are out there in the snow trying to make 5 cents in their money for a fare, and one American Dollar is worth four of theirs so that means they are trying to make one fourth of five which is a cent and a quarter to pull you where you want to go.

This is in a deep snow, and they will pull you by main strength, in a trot mind you, for just a fraction over one penny in our money. Then we talk about hard times. Say we havent seen hard times. They wear a little cloth shoe that is exactly like a house slipper. Its no more than a sock, yet there they stand out there, hundreds of em, and there cant be any more than one tenth of them get a passenger, so you see what China is like without even going any further. They say they dont last long. Its their heart that fails em. You go at a run or fast trot, in all kinds of weather, with practically no clothes on, rain, snow, intense heat and all, and you are finished before you are 30, so they say.

Well I hear some people in the next compartment speaking English or something like it, so that dont seem so bad. We are to be on this Rattler two days and two nights, thats if Its on time. This is the line where the Students have been laying on the line and obstructing the traffic, you must have read about that.

Well its a terrible night and if any of them are laying out there tonight, they deserve to have a train not see em. You cant beat education for foolishness. They have been going down to Nanking to see the Members of the Government. They beat up two or three. Aint that a mess!

Imagine Notre Dame going to Washington to beat up Senator Borah, or Yale laying on the track to keep a train from getting to Harvard. There has always been a problem, "Does education pay?" Yes, it does, if you get a sense of humor, you got to pay for your laughs at a Show, so why not at school.

Here we go, a Friend from the City National Bank of New York brought me down a package. They are the real banking Institution out here, they are in all these towns. Let me see, what is in it? Oh Boy, its two bottles (Small ones, darn skinflint) of Champaign. He could just as easy brought two big ones, Course I just met him casually, so you cant expect everything.

There is sure a lot of Chinese on here, most of them in the second and third class cars. But they are like Mexicans, they sure do love to travel, and eat as they go. Every Station we stop at, they are hollering and yowling till it sounds like a Football Game, and of all the queer junk they sell to eat, they have little Charcoal stoves they have it cooking right there before you. Everything is done with Chop sticks, and say these old boys can do more with a pair of them than Bobby Jones can with a Putter. Some of these Chinese Girls are mighty pretty, they are prettier than the Japanese.

Here is a bunch of Students. My friend next door, a Mr. Furgeson, an American that has been here just 47 years, he is giving me all the dope, he says the students are taking up a collection for General "Ma" to fight the Japs. Ma is the old General that fought em pretty good away up at Titzihar. He is a sort of a Pancho Villa. When there is no war with Japan why he just makes up his own local wars to kill time till something better turns up. Well the Students wanted to go up and join him, but he sent word that for them to just send some money. "Smart people these Chinese." All these Students have on Kimonas or long robes, and the Chinese are giving, too, they are very liberal, especially the old ones.

Well I just come from up there, where they are sending this dough, and its no use. The war in Manchuria is over. Japan has already got all she wants and more in Fact. I dont think they will try to hold what they have as it would be too big an expense to patrol it. It would break any Nation to police such a large area. For these Chinese bands that would be on their tails all the time are big Armies, not just a little band of Bandits.

More Students with Banners, "Down with Japan." Graves all over the places, round mounds just scattered around like shocks of wheat, they tend the ground all around them. Just think, here we are jogging along here on a train, over ground that the history of it is known for 4 thousand years. Thats older than some of the jokes we use in the Movies.

Father of Our Country

Two hundred years ago George Washington was born. And in the course of those two hundred years a little group of thirteen straggling, impoverished colonies have grown into the greatest power the world has known, the United States of America.

This is not a mere coincidence. For without the name of George Washington our history might be far different. It was he who gained the independence of the colonies, he who unified them under a central government, he who presided over the convention that framed the constitution, he who guided the destinies of the new nation. Even more, it was he whose breadth of vision made possible a system of federal administration which proved adequate, not only to the needs of his own time, but to the needs of the future.

PLANS FOR SPRING STOCK AND MEAT SHOW NEAR COMPLETION

Six Counties to Participate and Nearly Fifty Entries Are Assured; Extension Service Workers Coming

Wichita Falls' first spring stock and meat show, scheduled for March 2 and 3, is already assured of 45 entries, and of participation by farm club boys from six Northwest Texas counties. Preparations for the show are rapidly nearing completion.

The entries so far include 25 to 30 calves, 10 to 12 pigs and the same number of lambs. Numerous exhibits have been promised for the meat show. The stock will be offered at auction on the second day of the show.

O. B. Martin, extension service director; George Barnes, beef cattle specialist; Roy W. Snyder, meat specialist; Miss Zetha McInnis, specialist in home industries, and Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent, will be here for the show, representing the extension service of Texas A. & M. college.

The program for the show has been announced as follows:

March 2, Morning—Judging of all classes of livestock by George Barnes, beef cattle specialist, extension service; judging of cured meats by Roy W. Snyder, meat specialist, extension service; judging of canned meats by Miss McInnis and Miss Horton.

March 2, Afternoon — Livestock parade, noon; 2 p. m., address by O. B. Martin, director of extension service, Texas A. & M. college; 2:45 p. m., demonstration of cutting of lamb and pork for home use, by Roy W. Snyder.

March 2, 7 p. m. — Exhibitors' banquet.

March 3, Morning—Auction sale of all livestock, J. R. Ray, auctioneer, 10 a. m.; 10 to 10:30 a. m., address to farm women, by Miss Horton; 10:30 to 11 a. m., demonstration of attractive ways of serving canned meats, by Miss McInnis.

March 3, Afternoon—1:30 to 2 p. m., judges' criticism of canned and cured meat products by Miss McInnis; 3 p. m., weighing of all livestock sold at auction. Exhibits to be released to owners at 5 p. m.

The counties of Throckmorton, Foard, Cottle, Archer, Clay and Wichita will be represented and others are likely to be added before the show opens. Members of the agricultural vocational classes from Cashion, Clara, Weeth, Valley View and Iowa Park will attend, in addition to members of girls 4-H clubs from a number of communities.

ANOTHER AUCTION HERE NEXT FRIDAY, WANT WORK STOCK

Encouraged by the success which attended the first two farm auction sales, the marketing committee of the Wichita Valley Development association has arranged for the third sale, which will be held at Call field on next Friday, Feb. 26.

While any articles brought to the sale will be offered, special attention will be given to work stock. Comparatively few horses and mules have been offered at the sales so far, and it is believed that good prices can be obtained for whatever is put up.

J. R. Ray will again serve as auctioneer and Roy King as clerk.

GOOD SHOWING IS MADE LOCALLY IN LOAN REPAYMENTS

After spending several days here in connection with government farm loan matters, M. L. McDonald closed up the office here last Tuesday.

About 80 per cent of the seed and feed loans made here last year have been paid in full, it was learned. Some others were paid in part. Arrangements were made in other cases for carrying the borrowers through another season. The local showing in repayments is said to compare very favorably with that in other sections.

WANT CHANGES IN LOAN PLAN

Fear Tenant Farmer Will Not Receive Aid

STAMFORD, Texas, Feb. 20. (AP)—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce announced today it has advised the secretary of agriculture that unless changes are made in the plan of administering the 1932 crop production loan appropriation of $50,000,000, authorized under the new reconstruction act, there will be a probability of the loan not reaching, in numbers, the class of farmer—the tenant—for whom it is intended.

The chamber is asking for two alterations in the plan under which, in 1930, the federal government loaned $2,418,103 to 15,000 farmers in 67 West Texas counties, of which, in cash and cotton impounded in warehouses as collateral on loans, 90 per cent has been repaid to date. Proposed changes are:

First, to designate banks in the loan area as the responsible agencies for originating loan applications for approval by the branch offices of the department of agriculture;

Second, that leniency be allowed in taking first lien upon the 1932 crops and in securing waivers from landlords and banks.

A lengthy brief in support of the recommendations has been delivered to the secretary of agriculture.

Myra Hess Will Give Piano Solo With Symphony

Myra Hess, distinguished English pianist, will be soloist with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra in the concert which will be broadcast through the WABC-Columbia network from 2:15 to 4 p. m., central standard time, Sunday, Feb. 21. Under the baton of Bruno Walter, Miss Hess will play the solo part in Brahm's first piano concerto, in D minor.

Like all the major compositions of Brahms—even the earlier ones, like this concerto—the work is laid out on bold, classic lines, and is notable particularly for the balance struck between the orchestra and solo instrument in relative importance. The first movement, maestoso ("majestic") is highly distinctive, and the adagio which follows shows Brahms in one of his most characteristic moods, dignified and almost solemn, but nevertheless lyrical and leading naturally into the brilliant rondo with which the concerto ends.

Bruno Walter will open the program with the overture to Weber's "Oberon." This opera was written on commission from the Convent Garden opera in London, and Weber had difficulty in completing it in time, as he was already seriously ill with tuberculosis. In spite of this, the work is cheery in spirit, strongly and dramatically developed, and skillfully orchestrated, and it met with immediate enthusiasm when it was first performed with Weber conducting. A few weeks later he died.

During the intermission in the program Olin Downes, distinguished music critic, will broadcast comments on the music.

C. E. BIRK

G. C. M'GOWN, Ex Officio

Oral A. Jones and A. C. Moline of Wichita Falls and C. E. Birk of Iowa Park have been appointed on the committee to handle federal farm loans for this county, it was announced Saturday. G. C. McGown, county agent, will be an ex officio member of the committee.

No details as to the manner of handling the loans have been received as yet. Announcement will be made through the papers as soon as the committee is ready to receive applications, but so far the necessary information has not been given out at Washington.

Loans not to exceed $3 per acre are authorized by the act under which the committee was appointed. The loans are to be secured by first liens on this year's crops.

Sharp Rise in Commodity Prices During Past Weeks Add $200,000,000 To Paper Value of Nation's Crops

NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (UP)—Almost $200,000,000 was added to the paper value of the country's principal crops by the sharp rise in commodity prices this week.

Wheat jumped 4¼ to 5¼ cents a bushel from levels prevailing just before the Glass-Steagall bill was passed by the house of representatives. This added approximately $44,563,550 to the potential value of a 891,271,000 bushel wheat crop.

The prospective cotton crop, estimated by the government at 16,918,000 bales, appreciated somewhat more than $42,000,000 in paper value prices rising around $2.50 a bale to the highest levels since last August.

Foreigners expecting a drastic inflation in commodity prices following the credit-expansion moves by the country's legislators were mainly responsible for buying which raised cotton prices.

Wheat and cotton, too, were bought heavily by domestic speculators.

The huge estimated corn crop of 2,556,863,000 bushels added about $76,705,890 to its potential value as prices rose between one and three cents a bushel. Oats appreciated $22,242,860 in potential value on a rise of 1⅝ to two cents a bushel.

JURY CONVICTS H. W. M'BRIDE

Sentenced to 12 Years at Waxahachie

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, Feb. 20. (AP)—A district court jury late today convicted H. W. McBride of Dallas of robbery with firearms and sentenced him to 12 years' imprisonment. The jurors deliberated three hours. The charge was filed after the kidnaping of Nightwatchman Bob Cunningham of Ferris and the attempted burglary of a bank there Nov. 17.

McBride was one of four men charged with robbery with firearms and burglary. The others were Schuyler Marshall Jr., former Dallas county sheriff, Herbert Scales and J. Robert Kelly. Marshall last week was acquitted of burglary. The four men were alleged to have disarmed Cunningham and to have tried to burn their way into the Farmers and Merchants bank at Ferris.

PRESBYTERIAN PASTOR TO GIVE SERMON OVER RADIO SUNDAY MORNING

Dr. Stuart Nye Hutchison, pastor of the East Liberty Presbyterian church in Pittsburgh, Pa., will conduct the service of the Columbia "Church of the Air" at 9 a. m., central standard time, Sunday, Feb. 21. The service will originate in station WJAS, Pittsburgh, and be transmitted to WABC in New York and the nation-wide hookup of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Dr. Hutchison's sermon will deal with the "Religious Life of Washington." Music of the period will be furnished by the mixed quartet of the church, under the direction of William Wentzel, choir director.

The usual Sunday afternoon period of the "Church of the Air" will not be broadcast on the 21st, the period being given over to a special broadcast of a talk by Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

ACID THROWN INTO FACE OF SAN BENITO CHILD

SAN BENITO, Texas, Feb. 20. (AP)—Officers tonight were investigating circumstances under which acid was thrown into the face of a sleeping child near here, and three men were at liberty under $300 bail each. The baby was only slightly burned.

Varied stories told officers included a statement by one man that he purchased what he thought was intoxicating liquor at the house where the baby was asleep. He said he found it was "medicine" and, disgusted, tossed it away. He stated it might have gone through a window. The next thing he knew he was stabbed in the back. Marion Perez and Rafael Ramires were charged with assault and Manuel Sosa with selling intoxicating liquor pending a further investigation.

STATE FELLOWSHIP MEET ENDS SUNDAY

the regular service Sunday morning. Dr. C. Q. Smith, head of the Fort Worth Methodist hospital, will speak before the men's class of the First Christian church at the Sunday school period and will offer the sermon at the Grant Street Methodist church Sunday morning.

Fellowship Circle

At 12:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the meet will close with a fellowship circle and consecration.

A "fellowship" hour and dinner featured the Saturday evening program. The principal address was made by Dr. Smith, and the installation of officers was conducted by Mrs. Bessie Hart. The Misses Jesse Hawkins and Idalee Dawson were in charge of the "fellowship" hour.

"Where We Are Building" was the subject of Mrs. Shepherd's address before the afternoon session that followed the business program and worship period. Pure religion, Mrs. Shepherd said, is to visit the fatherless and the widows in their afflictions, and its unchanging purpose is to build a Christian nation responsible to a Christian world.

"Coming into fellowship with Christ," Mrs. Shepherd continued, "we find ourselves with an overmastering impulse to share Christ with others."

Group discussions followed the talk by Mrs. Shepherd. The discussion subjects were "Programs, How It is Done."

"Building With South America" was the subject of an address by Mr. Hopper, who followed the discussion groups.

The resolution committee, composed of Gordon Musgrave, Mrs. H. T. Wood and Opal Longan, presented a resolution from the meeting thanking the Wichita Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce; the newspapers; Pond's laundry; the Donnelly Floral company, the Wichita Floral company, the Morgan Floral company and the Palace of Blooms; the First Christian and Highland Heights Christian churches; and those who took an active part in the meetings.

VICTORY CONCEDED EAMON DE VALERA IN IRISH ELECTION

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Feb. 20. (UP)—Victory for Eamon de Valera's fianna fail party was unofficially conceded today as returns from the free state election gave him a certain plurality over President William T. Cosgrave's administration party.

With all but 16 of the 146 seats in the dail accounted for, the fianna fail—which is sworn to abolish the oaths of allegiance to King George—held a lead of 16 seats over the Cosgrave party.

Labor suffered a serious blow when its leader, T. J. O'Connell from South Mayo, was defeated.

Minister of Education J. M. O'Sullivan and Minister of Fisheries Fionan Lynch, both of the administration party, have been re-elected from county Kerry.

De Valera reiterated his intention of following the policy outlined in the fianna fail election platform, if the final tabulation definitely gives him victory.

That program, briefly, is as follows:

1. Separation of the Irish Free state from the British empire.
2. Abolition of the oath of allegiance to King George.
3. Repudiation of $25,000,000 in annual payments to Great Britain by Irish farmers.
4. Development of a home market for Irish Free state products coupled with the fostering of home industries.
5. Erection of high tariff walls against Great Britain to protect Irish business and reduce the adverse trade balance with England.

SISTER LATE GERMAN KAISERIN AUGUSTA DIES AT GRUENHOLZ CASTLE

ECKERNFOERDE, Germany, Feb. 20. (AP)—Princess Karoline Mathilde von Schleswig Holstein, 72, sister of the late German Kaiserin Augusta, died today at Gruenholz castle.

Her life had been a quiet one, almost wholly devoted after her marriage to Prince Friedrich Ferdinand of Prussia in 1885, to the rearing of the six children—five girls and one boy—born to them.

STREETCAR OPERATOR MISSING AFTER WRECK

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 20. (US)—Leaving a carload of passengers, A. L. Halemba, operator of a one-man street car, was believed today to have committed suicide by leaping in the Willamette river.

The passengers reported hearing a splash in the river after Halemba left the car. The motorman had been involved in a collision with his car a few hours previously.

HUNGARIAN VIOLINIST TO BROADCAST FROM BERLIN

Miss Edith Lorand, renowned Hungarian violinist, will inaugurate a weekly series of programs to be broadcast from Berlin on Sunday, Feb. 21, at 3 p. m., central standard time.

Her initial performance, to be broadcast from the stage of the Scala theater in Berlin, will mark the first time that she has been heard by American listeners. The feature of the program will be her arrangement of an old Hungarian dance, entitled "Boka."

American Retailers association members, meeting in St. Louis, were told the business slump had stimulated interest in home furnishings and handiwork.

GARNER RALLY TO ATTRACT FRIENDS

tion increased from two and a half to one last week to four to one at present. While both firms declared that Roosevelt is at present the national favorite, the official odds against his nomination are two and a half to one.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. (AP)—Senator Connally, who, with Senator Sheppard, both Texas Democrats, have started a full-fledged boom for Speaker Garner, today informed a Fort Worth inquirer that "no american citizen is insensible" to the efforts of his friends to place him in the White House.

The inquirer, Jess M. Brown, had asked Senator Connally the speaker's attitude toward the movement started by his friends. Senator Connally wired Brown as follows:

"While John Garner is not a candidate in the common acceptation of that term, but is busy with his duties as speaker, no American citizen is insensible to the efforts of his friends in advancing his cause towards the presidency of the United States.

"On my own responsibility I feel warranted in assuring you that the spontaneous efforts of his friends will not be unwelcome to those of us who are advancing his cause."

Texas Democratic

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. (INS)—Texas will be back in the Democratic column next November, unless the Democrats kick over their own apple cart, President Hoover was advised today by Col. R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman for Texas.

Texas was one of the four states that deserted the Democratic party in the South in 1928 to cast electoral votes for Mr. Hoover.

Still Good Friends

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 20. (US)—"Al and I are extraordinarily good friends."

That is the answer Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt gave here today when asked about reported personal or political differences with former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Democratic standard-bearer in the 1928 presidential campaign.

Roosevelt blamed "just press talk," for the reports that a rift has developed between him and Smith. He added that he was not prepared to talk politics.

Will Enter Hoover's Name

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. (AP)—An assurance President Hoover's name will be entered in the Ohio primaries today came from the White House as the first open battle move of the chief executive's renomination campaign.

Postmaster General Brown, groomed as the campaign chairman of the Republican national committee, made known the president's decision. Just returned from a reconnaissance of conditions in Ohio—his home state—Brown reported political pointers favorable for his filing.

Tribute to Garner

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 20. (US)—In a stirring plea for unpledged delegates to his party's national convention, Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, today listed Speaker John N. Garner at the head of an array of Democratic presidential material.

Speaking before the state Democratic committee here, Shouse predicted the next president will be a Democrat but urged the American people not to manacle delegates to the convention with pledges, pointing out that there are a dozen leaders any one of whom he could whole-heartedly support for the presidency.

Listing more than a dozen leaders any one of whom he said he could whole-heartedly support for the presidency, Shouse began with Garner praising him in these words:

"I am glad to pay tribute to the sterling qualities of John N. Garner, speaker of the house, a southerner by birth, breeding and tradition, a stalwart citizen not merely of one state but of the country, who right now perhaps is doing more than any other one man through the service he is rendering to make a record that will insure Democratic success.

"With all due deference to other notable speakers of the house, in its entire history there has never been a condition of leadership comparable to that which Jack Garner has shown.

"With a majority of only five or six, through the force of his personality, through the precision of his judgment, he has been able to put through in time of stress and trial the most remarkable program of constructive legislation ever enacted in the same period."

Among the other Democratic possibilities to whom Shouse paid tribute were former Gov. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, Governor Roosevelt, Al Smith, Albert C. Ritchie, Newton D. Baker, Melvin A. Traylor of Chicago, Owen D. Young and a number of others.

Plans No Declaration

HENDERSON, N. C., Feb. 20. (AP)—Speaker John Garner said he had "no intention of making a declaration with respect to any question with which congress does not have immediate concern," in replying today to an inquiry from the Henderson dispatch as to his attitude toward the Democratic presidential nomination.

"This country has problems of too great import to be solved to permit the voters to be led astray upon non-essentials," said the Texas Democrat.

"I have no intention of making a declaration with respect to any question with which congress does not have immediate concern. I am not particularly interested as to how my determination in this respect will affect my political future.

"I am confronted with a difficult task, a task involving greater responsibilities than have fallen to the lot of the speaker since the world war, and my sole ambition is to discharge my duties in such manner that I may be helpful to the American people in relieving the distressing conditions they are experiencing."

Mount Vernon Broadcast

President Hoover and Gov. Jim Garland Pollard of Virginia will head a pilgrimage of 25,000 persons to George Washington's Mount Vernon home on Monday, Feb. 22 to attend ceremonies which will be broadcast over an NBC-WJZ network at 2 p. m., central standard time.

A series of midday Lenten services, to be broadcast by WABC and a nation-wide hookup of the Columbia Broadcasting System, beginning Thursday, Feb. 25, and continuing on succeeding Thursdays to and including Maundy Thursday, March 24, has been arranged by the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission society in cooperation with the Columbia network. The services will be on the air from 11:45 a. m. to 12 noon, central standard time.

The Rt. Rev. William T. Manning, bishop of New York, will speak during the opening period next Thursday, and the choir of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, in New York, will furnish the music of the service.

Brief inspirational talks five or six minutes in length, together with the music, will comprise the programs which will be broadcast from the studios of WABC, and transmitted to the country-wide network.

The Rev. Dr. Frederic S. Fleming, vicar of the chapel of the Intercession of Trinity parish, New York, will conduct the period to be broadcast on March 3. Music of the period will be supplied by the choir of the chapel.

On March 10, the Rev. Dr. H. Percy Silver, rector of the Church of the Incarnation, in New York, will talk, and the choir of the church will sing.

The Rt. Rev. Charles K. Gilbert, S. T. D., suffragan bishop of New York, will lead the period to be broadcast on March 17, and the music of the service will be supplied by the choir of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, in New York.

Maundy Thursday's devotions, on March 24, will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. L. Ernest Sunderland, superintendent of the New York Protestant Episcopal City Mission society. The music will be supplied by the Helfenstein Chorister institute, Scarborough-on-the-Hudson, New York.

REFUSE PETITION FOR PARTIAL DISTRIBUTION OF VALENTINO ESTATE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20. (US)—Superior Judge A. L. Stephens today denied a petition for the partial distribution of the estate of Rudolph Valentino, famous film actor.

Albert Guglielmi and Maria Guglielmi Strada, brother and sister of the dead star, asked the distribution. They petitioned the court to give them $1,000, but the attorneys declared the purpose of the hearing was to determine the true status of the estate.

E. M. Kennedy, administrator, testified that although the gross value of the estate's assets was $130,000, claims, mortgages and other encumbrances against it would probably make it insolvent.

WICHITAN OFFICER STATE WAREHOUSE ASSOCIATION

DALLAS, Feb. 20. (AP)—R. E. Abernathy of Dallas today was elected president of the Texas-Southwest Warehouse and Transfermen's association. Delegates attending the convention named S. J. Beaucamp Jr., of Little Rock, Ark., first vice president and J. P. Tarry of Wichita Falls, second vice president.

PROFESSOR BURIED IN WASHINGTON SNOW SLIDE FOUR OTHERS ESCAPE

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 20. (AP)—A University of Washington professor is believed dead and four other men narrowly escaped with their lives late today when a huge snow slide hurtled down from the top of Mazma ridge into Paradise valley opposite Paradise Inn.

The slide swept down upon and buried Professor Richard Pierce, architectural instructor at University of Washington, and it is believed he was killed by the tons of snow and rock.

Professor Pierce was hiking with four companions when the slide occurred.

The other men, Leroy Limes, Charles McDonald, Palmer Koom, and an unidentified companion, also were buried by the slide, but fought their way clear. They were at the edge of the avalanche.

Tragedy overtook the party shortly after 4 o'clock and the survivors broke clear of the slide and hastened to Paradise Inn and notified rangers of the accident. Help was sent up the trail from Longmore to assist the contingent attempting to reach Pierce.

A rescue crew of rangers and guides worked, under danger of being caught in another slide, in attempting to reach Pierce.

SAN ANTONIO OFFICERS SEARCHING FOR MAN WHO SHOT TWO, ONE FATALLY

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 20. (AP)—Detective Captain Aubrey Hopkins is directing a search for a man who early this morning shot two men, fatally wounding one of them.

The victims of the shooting were George Scott, 41, and Fred Ogden, 34. Scott died late this afternoon from a bullet wound in the chest and another in his abdomen. Ogden is suffering from a bullet wound in the abdomen.

The fact that no revolver was found on the premises convinced the officers that a third man had done the shooting.

SEARCH ORDERED FOR FLIERS BELIEVED LOST IN ARCTIC BLIZZARD

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 20. (US)—Airplane search was ordered today for Pilot William Graham and Mrs. Edna Christofferson, aviatrix who are believed to have perished Monday in a raging blizzard near Atlin, the grave yard of arctic fliers.

Graham and Mrs. Christofferson were en route to seek a million dollar fur cargo aboard the abandoned ship Baychimo in the Bering sea.

The broadcast is in behalf of flood relief in China, constituted by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Foreign Missions Conference of North America with the China Famine Relief U. S. A. to provide relief for flood sufferers there.

MURRAY SAYS HE WILL CARRY PARTY BANNER

'Willing and Ready to Accept Responsibilities Of President'

ANNOUNCEMENT CLIMAX TO PREPARED STATEMENT

Permitted to Name Delegates to Convention At Chicago

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 20. (AP)—Gov. W. H. Murray said tonight he had authorized George Henshaw, President of the Murray-for-President clubs here to file the governor's name in the Georgia presidential primary election.

The Governor was advised that the application with his signature accompanied by $1,000 must reach Savannah by Monday noon if the governor was to enter the primary.

"I've authorized Henshaw to do that," he said. "You can say it was done."

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 20. (INS)—Gov. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma, addressing the state Democratic convention here today, announced himself as "willing and ready to accept the responsibilities of the president of the United States."

The address was the first public utterance of the fiery Oklahoma chief executive in which he made known his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 20. (AP)—Oklahoma's 22 delegates to the national Democratic convention were instructed to vote for Gov. William H. Murray "as long as he has a chance," by the state Democratic convention here today.

Governor Murray informed his hearers that he would "willingly undertake the responsibilities of the president even if it means my death at the hands of those who are seeking to destroy the American people."

Murray's announcement came as the climax of a prepared statement comprising recommendations to the platform committee which was to meet later in the day to draw up a platform.

"I have no exalted illusions about what you propose to do here today," Governor Murray said. "If the American people are to be benefited and saved from the despotism of wealth, it is going to take a platform that means something.

Would Rather Be Spared

The men who run on that platform will not get large contributions. They must run on nickles, dimes and quarters. I am in awe of the responsibility necessary to fill the position. I would a thousand times rather be spared, but I'll undertake it in the interest of service to my fellow citizens.

"I will accept the responsibility of the president of the United States even if it means my death at the hands of those who are seeking to destroy the American people."

"I have devoted years of my life to an effort to understand what the common people need. I have a complete map in my mind of what should be done."

The regular program of the convention at which delegates to the national convention Chicago will be chosen, was sidetracked when the governor appeared to make his address.

Immediately following the address the convention adopted a resolution directing the platform committee to report a plank drafting Governor Murray for the nomination.

BOOKS and MAGAZINES AS TEXANS SEE THEM

With the Magazines

By L. N. C.

The Ladies Home Journal is telling it to the women. Mr. Samuel Crowther explains in capital letters what they may do to help restore normal living and buying, in other words, prosperity. For probably the first time in history, woman is called to order for going shabby; is even warned she may be dressing for the divorce court. Which gladsome news may make some females go out and renew their wardrobe. Mr. Crowther asks "Are you financially hard up or only mentally hard up," and there are quite a large number of mentally hard up people who do not know the difference. The meat of the article is in the following sentences:

Are you really as poor as you think you are?

Make the best possible appearance.

Discuss business conditions with your husband.

Question rumors of impending bank, business and personal failures.

Look over the real estate field.

Look over your own property.

Insist that every one who works for you does a real day's work.

Keep a sharp watch for real bargains in goods.

Look over your motor car.

Keep as little cash on hand as possible. Pay by check.

Learn something about what your country has done in the past.

Do not be afraid of debt.

If you have surplus money, put it to work.

Stop worrying.

"War in the Kentucky Mountains," by Sterling D. Spero, economist of Columbia and Brochis Aronoff, a New York lawyer, tells in the February Mercury how Communism came into Harland county in the heart of the Kentucky mountains. They conclude a stirring story with:

"The situation in Harlan is nothing less than a state of war. It is, too, quite consciously a class war in which the county government with its deputies paid by the companies is frankly recognized by both sides as the organization of the operators. Yet the Harlan miners are not revolutionists.

"The four to five thousand of them who have joined the National Miners union have done so not because of the avowed Communist character of its leadership but because it is the most militant and effective labor union in the field."

"With hardly an exception the Harlan county Communist party local is made up of men of colonial ancestry and of Anglo-Saxon stock."

"Members of Both Clubs," by Owen P. White in the same magazine, is the most interesting and also most amusing political document that we have ever had enlighten us. Mr. White, who knew New Mexico when Billie the Kid ran things with a six-shooter, states he is rather depressed to go back today and note the depressing effect which "civilization, reform, and the new brand of political control have had upon the dress, manners and thoughts of the entire population."

"Last summer," writes Mr. White, "I spent some months down there roaming over old campaign grounds, consorting with my erstwhile political amigos and sympathizing with most of them, either in Spanish or in English over the sad, sad change which has come into their lives." That sad, sad change was that there were no longer any good Democrats or Republicans in the state, but regardless of party lines, all voters were either for or agin the Hon. Bronson Cutting.

Mr. White's article is well worth reading. He says emphatically:

"And it is unique, and it is a fact. Senator Cutting does dictate, and since 1924, when it is said that he sent a Democrat to the senate, has dictated to both parties. How he does it is for the old-timers to say. They say it too, and with no flowers. They use fireworks instead. They claim that he has just bought up the press and the hyphenated vote and that hereafter, or at least for some time to come, the race question is going to be the deciding issue in New Mexico's campaigns. According to them, the strife of the future is going to be between the Spanish-Americans, with Senator Cutting and his bank account at their head, and the Anglo-Saxons."

I must whisper this. In the February Scribners, William Lyon Phelps in his "As I Like It," on page 106, concludes a diatribe against "Hatters Castle" which we applaud, with "Golly what a world!"

Harold J. Laski in "The American College President," in the February Harpers, takes as his thesis that a university president of the American type is an undesirable feature in academic life. He failed to convince us but he puts up a good argument and you should read it.

In the same magazine Elmer Davis has an article "Notes on a New Bible," that is quite readable but which fell flat with us. We acknowledge that in ways we are old fashioned. Last week, when we spoke of Mr. Faulkner's lack of ideals and dreams, we were questioned as to whether we thought people should have them and one bright young man remarked that Mr. Mencken would probably say that people with ideals had few ideas. With all of literature back of us that has lived because of its ideals, we sat quiet.

But the article by Mr. Davis does not convince that the Bible with its poetry and its imagery and its comfort is a book of the past.

As Mr. Davis thinks of it, "The old Bible showed us, by the lights of its authors, what was help and what was hindrance in the endeavor to get the human race forward. We have somewhat brighter lights at our disposal now and we had better use them. A new Bible must of course for a long time be the book of a few. The masses did not read the old Bible because it was the opinion of wise and earnest men; they read it because it was the Word of God."

A review in the McCall's, February magazine by Rev. Joseph Fort Newton, covers one of the essays in Rev. Fulton J. Sheen's volume "Old Errors and New Labels," in this particular case, birth control.

"Dr. Sheen is one of the greatest preachers of the Catholic church," the writer says. "He is professor of philosophy in the Catholic University of America. In 1925, he was awarded the Cardinal Mercier prize of philosophy by the University of Louvain, the first American to win that honor." Reverend Newton quotes the writer in a thesis on making the stork a bootlegger.

"Birth control is the flesh and blood side of prohibition, an amendment to the human constitution stating that the enthusiasm for new life must not exceed one-half of 1 per cent. Both are equally incapable of enforcement. As long as men feel that children are the real wine of life, there will be storks, even if the stork must be a bootlegger."

"The immorality of birth control is not a matter of authority but of common moral sense. It is not wrong because the church says it is wrong, but because it is a misuse of faculties, an abuse of capacities that God has given to mankind. Instead of releasing men and women to live out their lives in full self-expression, it inhibits the finest powers of our being; it thwarts our profoundest life, wherein we resemble God the Father. If carried out logically, it would commit us to a world in which flowers were always blooming but never giving fruit; a world in which every tree would be a barren fig tree and for that reason cursed of God."

Next month in McCalls, Joseph Fort Newton will report the other side of this provocative question as presented by Dr. Sherwood Eddy.

The Feb. 20 Pathfinder has a cover adorned with eagles, donkies, elephants, questionmarks and names of presidential possibilities. It has inside its covers much good sense. But we lift just enough nonsense to show that it has also laughs.

Life's Little Ironies

"Nations talking about disarming and keeping right on selling arms and ammunition.

"The Memphis zoo has a pair of hippopotamuses named Venus and Adonis.

"The wife of a former manager of the Los Angeles Humane society is suing for divorce on the grounds of cruelty.

"The Toronto Liquor Board of Control has brought out a 12-ounce bottle 'for medicinal purposes.'

"From a Georgia paper: 'W. Hicks, who was to lecture on the subject of safety on the highways, was detained by an automobile accident and the lecture has been postponed to Friday night.'

"After making a speech in a Chicago school auditorium on 'The Gradual Decrease of Crime in Chicago,' Municipal Judge Freeman L. Fairbank went outside to find his auto had been stolen."

Of Course

"There, little stock market,
Don't you cry,
A new crop of suckers
Will soon start to buy."

Notes on Books

Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch has celebrated her 13th year by a sale of 4,500 copies. This classic by Alice Hegan Rice was published in October, 1901, by The Century company in a modest edition of 2,000 copies, priced at $1. Less than 6,000 copies were sold during the first three months, and the book gave no indication of the tremendous popularity which it was to achieve. America in 1902, according to the current viewers-with-alarm, had not become mechanized, standardized, or made advertising-conscious. But 176,000 copies of Mrs. Wiggs were sold in that year. In these days of Cheney reports and such things we look back wistfully on such figures.

The total sales of Mrs. Wiggs are hovering around three-quarters of a million copies, and she shows no signs of decrepitude.

Opponents of prohibition (if any) would have had a simply swell time in the days of the Aztecs, says Gregory Mason in "Columbus Came Late." The Aztecs were the original puritans of America. Stealing corn was a capital crime; adultery was punished by drowning; and trampling to death was the penalty for drunkenness. And, still, we hear malcontents sighing for the good old days!

Valentine Williams has chosen a most unusual setting for his new mystery novel, "Death Answers the Bell," published Jan. 20 by Houghton Mifflin company. Court tennis, one of the oldest games in the world and forerunner of racquets and lawn tennis, plays a prominent part in this story of murder in an ancient Mayfair mansion. "The game of kings, the king of games," as it has been called, played on a special indoor court with a highly complicated system of scoring, has a history going back to the middle ages. When at home in England, Mr. Williams, who is a court tennis enthusiast, plays on what is now the oldest court in use. This is the court at Hampton Court palace where Henry VIII was disporting himself when news was brought of Anne Boleyn's execution. The court has been remodeled since the great Harry's time but today it is exactly as it was when Charles II played there. Some years ago Mr. Williams was playing on A. B. Horne's court at Ditton Place in England when his host, who was scoring, interrupted the proceedings in great excitement with the announcement that Williams had just brought off a stroke which had not been seen in England since the end of the 18th century. This was a certain back-handed stroke known as the "coupe de Cabasse." Cabasse was professional to Louis XVI at the tennis court at Versailles (still standing and famous in history as the scene of the "tennis court oath" which precipitated the French revolution) and specialized in this stroke. Valentine Williams' feat was immediately recorded in the London Times and has since been embodied in all histories of the game, so that the British author says he is now almost persuaded that he did it on purpose.

"Some 450 species of ants are known in Brazil; one encounters ants at every step; they are found under almost every stone." This is the conclusion of Dr. Konrad Guenther, the German scientist, whose "Naturalist in Brazil" has just been published by Houghton Mifflin company. "In the ants the most important sensory organs are the antennae; and in these two senses are united, in a manner for which we human beings can find no counterpart. With their antennae, or rather with the hairs situated on the nerve-terminals of the antennae, the ants are able to smell, though their sense of smell is presumably something quite different from ours, which is connected with our respiratory organs. But the ants also feel with their antennae. When two ants meet, we see them at once feel one another; that is the first thing they do. By touch they express their need of food; by touch they appeal for help. The ants' language is dependent on these subtly evolved organs."

The gin rickey was first introduced to a thirsty America by one "Colonel" James Rickey, a suave gambler of the old school who frequented the Mississippi steamboats in the florid days following the civil war. Later he went to Washington, and old-timers still remember his bar, the floor of which was a mosaic of twenty-dollar gold pieces, "Colonel" Rickey was a tradition along the Mississippi when Henry Bellamann was a boy, and he has taken this picturesque character as the prototype for Garrison Gracey, gambler, in "The Richest Woman in Town," a novel which The Century company published Feb. 16. Mr. Bellamann is now dean of the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia.

There have been many attempts in England to discover the identity of the author who writes under the pen name of "Jane Dashwood." Almost every woman writer of note except Miss Marjorie Bowen, who believes in masculine pseudonyms, has been suspected, and not a few men writers. But the secret has not leaked out very far. Her first novel, "Three Daughters," was a choice of the English Book society, and her new novel, "The Month of May," was published in America on Feb. 16 by The Century company.

The Story of the First Great Missionary

"HE UPSET THE WORLD," by Bruce Barton; published by the Bobbs-Merrill company, Indianapolis, Ind. $2.00.

"He Upsets the World," the greatest literary achievement of Bruce Barton, brings to us the life of the world's greatest missionary, Paul, in a way that even the most simple minded will appreciate. Characteristic of the Barton style of writing, the reader is at once plunged into its pages and reads through without stopping.

The book is short and can be read within a couple of hours, unless you read slowly. The author states in his foreword "it is short because I do not claim, even now to know very much. And because I hope that many busy people will be tempted to read it." Surely this idea has been well adhered to throughout the volume.

It is not a formal account of the life of Paul, but is anything but chronological. The "Saint" is for a moment stripped away and Paul, the man, is before your eyes. You see him in his ups and downs, his victories and failures, but always, Paul the man.

A failure at 40, you see him rise to the heights as you, perhaps, never thought before. For we all have a way in our study of Bible characters to place them on a pedestal high over our heads and in looking up to them think only of them as the perfect, the just, and the kind to which we may never attain. This personal condemnation is not so bad, if it were not at the same time so harmful. The very teachings that those Bible characters tried to give their followers are lost in our vain willingness to honor and enthrone them.

If you, as Bruce Barton said he did, feel toward Paul as though he were too serious, too efficient, too humorless, and that his teachings overlaid the simple teaching of Jesus in such a way that he spoiled the good news and created a theology; that he, more than any other was responsible for all the creeds and dogmas and theological fights which have afflicted the Christian world—then make some recompense by trying to see him as he really was. People did like him, that is the first indisputable fact. He knew what was important and what was unimportant, an asset as productive as it is rare. The author has revealed him to us in a way that those who read will never forget and can not help but get new light from his epistles as they are re-read.

"People of today are not only tired out physically," says Roger Babson; "they are discouraged. They lack the faith essential to personal or national progress." It was Paul's privilege to reinterpret the old faiths in terms of new reality. Where he traveled there was hope. If this account of him travels your way, you can not read it without feeling new hope and confidence.

"For five years," say the publishers, "we, and others, have been trying to persuade Mr. Barton to write about Saint Paul. No figure in the Scriptures seemed to us more suited to Mr. Barton's power to create a living picture—no man more modern than Paul, who turned the world upside down for our benefit. 'He Upset the World' surpasses our fondest expectations."

LAVAL IS RETURNED TO THE MINISTRY OF LABOR

War, Navy and Air Ministries Combined Into One Ministry

PARIS, Feb. 21. (Sunday—Premier-designate Andre Tardieu this morning announced the formation of a cabinet, notable in that it contains but 12 portfolios, 10 of which are held by ministers in the fallen Laval government.

Tardieu found his cabinet timber among parties of the right and center.

Tardieu retains the foreign affairs portfolio and former Premier Pierre Laval is returned to the ministry of labor. Joseph Mathieu receives the ministry of the interior. It was former Premier Paul Painleve's refusal to give this important portfolio to a Tardieu adherent that spelled failure for his attempt to form a ministry.

Ministries Combined

Another feature of the Tardieu ministry is the combination of the war, navy and air ministries into one ministry of national defense under Francois Pietri, budget minister in the Laval government.

The other cabinet officers are: Justice, Joseph Reynaud; finance, Charles Flandin; colonies, Louis de Chappedelaine; agriculture, Charles Cheauveau; public works, Charles Guernier; pensions, August Champetier de Ribes; health, Camille Blaisot; education Mario Roustan, and commerce, Louis Rollin. Roustain and Cheaveau are the only ministers who held no post in the Laval cabinet.

With the same political complexion as the Laval cabinet, the new government will continue its predecessor's foreign and domestic policies and thus face the same attack from the left that overthrew Laval.

First Test Monday

The Tardieu cabinet will face its first test in the chamber, probably on Monday.

Tardieu took over the task of forming a ministry as rioting students stormed the senate chamber to express their indignation at the political crisis. It was the senate that ousted the Laval government Tuesday.

Throwing eggs and old shoes, the students were driven back by steel-helmetted police and republican guards. The fight spilled into the Montparnasse station where two of the rioters were arrested.

If as is expected, Tardieu survives test votes in the chamber and senate by a narrow margin, he will head the French government for a second time.

It was a Tardieu ministry that fell late in 1930 to give way to the Laval cabinet.

Tardieu's vigorousness has won him the soubriquet of L'American" —"The American."

Bidders' Rivalry Over Choice Pie Ends in Slaying

PARAGOULD, Ark., Feb. 20. (AP)—Rivalry of two bidders for the choice pie Miss Edna Morten baked and placed on the auction block at an old fashioned pie supper near here sent John Higgins to his death in a fist fight.

The supper was held last night in a country schoolhouse. When the pie of Miss Morten, a popular girl of the community, was offered to the highest bidder, Higgins and Mack Jones bid 30 cents. Higgins raised to 50 cents and Jones boosted it to 60 cents. Then the fight started.

They fought without weapons but Higgins' skull was fractured and he died soon afterwards. Jones was imprisoned.

Aviator After Distance Record Lands in Maine

PORTLAND, Maine, Feb. 20. (AP)—The secondhand monoplane in which Nate C. Browne hopes to break the distance flight record, set last summer by Russell Boardman and John Polando, rested in a hangar at the airport at Scarboro tonight awaiting favorable weather and low tide for the take-off tomorrow afternoon.

The former army flier with Edward Muldowney, a friend, astride the gas tank arrived here at 5:10 p. m. from New York. An adverse tide and dusk prevented his landing on the sand at Old Orchard Beach from where he plans to take off for Buenos Aires.

Browne declined to discuss the flight because of "an agreement not to divulge my plans until 10 minutes after the take-off."

It was learned from sources close to him the flight was being backed by "a wealthy Scranton, Pa., sportsman."

Hunter, arrested in a Tyler tourist camp today, is charged with being one of the four bandits who robbed the Planters Bank and Trust company at Haynesville. Officers say he borrowed an automobile from a tourist camp at Tyler and that the machine later was recovered.

Charlie McWilliams of Gladewater, said by officers to have been occupying the machine, was arrested near where the bandits' bullet riddled car was found south of Junction City.

McWilliams is being held as an accessory to the robbery.

Two Held at Tyler

TYLER, Texas, Feb. 20. (AP)—An oil field roustabout and a garage mechanic were arrested and held for Louisiana officers here today in connection with the $16,000 robbery of the Planters Bank and Trust company at Haynesville, La.

The oil field worker, who formerly lived in Tyler, was arrested on the Gladewater highway north of Tyler by J. O. Ashby, deputy constable of Arp, after he had spent the night at Arp.

He was placed in jail at Tyler, where officers identified him from fingerprints made when he was held on investigation charges Jan. 21.

One of two men already held at Haynesville in connection with the robbery has implicated the oil field worker, Tyler officers said. The man refused to sign a waiver, and extradition papers were said to have been prepared in Louisiana.

Four men robbed the bank about noon and escaped after a gun battle with citizens and officers of Haynesville.

CURRENCIES BOTH JAPAN AND CHINA ADVANCE IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE MART

NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (AP)—Currencies of both Japan and China rallied in the foreign exchange market here today, although the rise of the Chinese silver tael substantially exceeded the yen's gain, thus increasing the spread in favor of the former.

Dealer quoted tael at 34c cents, up nearly a cent from yesterday. The Tokyo rate, which had dropped sharply Friday, improved about an eighth of a cent to 33⅛ cents.

In New York banking circles the strength of Shanghai exchange was attributed to silver purchases by both Chinese and Japanese interests, partly for support of the large military concentrations.

Silver prices have been advancing since the Sino-Japanese conflict assume a more serious turn. Two bullish factors contributed to the upturn. One was the steady reduction of silver stocks at Shanghai because of the hostilities, the other a decrease in silver production in the United States last month to the lowest point since 1921. It is estimated that stocks of bar silver dropped 16,000,000 Chinese dollars during the week.

ALL GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENTS TO JOIN IN STATELY PAGEANT TO INAUGURATE BICENTENNIAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. (AP)—On capitol hill, a site George Washington selected for great events, the stateliest pageantry a nation grown mighty can offer in honor of its founder, will be displayed Monday to inaugurate the bicentennial celebration of his birth.

Senate and house will be joint hosts in this impressive commemorative ceremony, but all branches of the government that Washington envisaged will participate. Vice President Curtis will preside.

The president of the United States and his cabinet, the chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court, ambassadors and ministers, army, navy, marine and coast guard chiefs, the governors of many states—will attend to symbolize what a mighty nation the United States had become.

George Washington and his colleagues thought it out,—and Monday in pomp and splendor, the great government will be present in person—for the lucky few who could get the ticket to the gallery of the house of representatives, where the chief spectacle will take place.

The commemorative program will be all that a founder could ask in dignity and patriotism, with "America" to begin it and "the Star Spangled Banner" to end it—and an address by President Hoover in between. Representative Woodrum of Washington's state—Virginia—will read the concurrent commemorative resolution adopted by both houses.

Senator Fess will introduce the president.

Cubs Beat Hornets In District Final

first couple of minutes counted exactly three goals for a 6 to 0 lead before the Hornets were fairly well warmed up to their job. Doss broke the monotony by dropping in a two-pointer, but the Wright-Pratt duo got going again, and ran the count to 13 to 3, the longest lead enjoyed at any stage of the game, for Nelson three times and Nixon once hit the hoop for Harrold to end the period with the count, 13 to 11.

The second quarter found neither team able to break loose and only five points were scored, the half ending with Olney leading, 16 to 13.

When Pratt and Wright got loose for three goals soon after the intermission, it seemed the Hornets' swan song was about to be sung, for those shots gave the Cubs a 21 to 13 advantage. The Wilbarger champs were not so easily disposed of, however, and the period finally ended with the Cubs out in front, 23 to 18.

Nelson sank a two-pointer, then a free throw to bring the Hornets to within two points of a tie early in the final quarter, but Pratt slapped in a short shot. Gribble matched it with a neat overhead toss, but Wright and Pratt scored again, and it was all over.

Nine county champions and Wichita Falls High school, the only class A school in the district, started play in the tournament Friday morning and the event was run off without a hitch from start to finish. The nine visiting teams brought more than 150 players and school officials to the city, and the event was given official recognition by the chamber of commerce with an informal luncheon Friday in charge of the sports and recreation committee.

The tournament was characterized by B. M. Dinsmore, Electra school superintendent and district athletic chairman, as the finest from all standpoints in the history of the event.

Coyotes Eliminated

Olney and Wichita Falls produced the prize game of the tournament from the fan standpoint in the morning's semifinals, the Cubs winning, 27 to 24, after trailing through the first half. At one time in the first period, the Coyotes had rolled up a 12 to 4 advantage, but this soon vanished under the deadly goal shooting of Wright and Pratt, who accounted for 22 of Olney's points. The former's ability to get the tip-off gave the Cubs possession of the ball through most of the game and set up a handicap the Pack could not overcome. Free throws, however, decided the issue, the Cubs registering nine points from 23 tries and the Coyotes four out of 10.

Harrold had easy sailing into the titular contest, the Hornets defeating Bomarton, Baylor county's champions, 43 to 24. Harrold moved into the lead early and remained in command of the contest at all stages, Nelson leading a relentless attack that netted him 21 points.

GEORGIAN DOOMED TO DIE IN CHAIR DENIED NEW TRIAL

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 20. (AP)—An effort to save Sam Aiken from death in the electric chair next Friday for killing his wife and a neighbor failed today when Judge John D. Humphries, in Fulton superior court, denied an extraordinary motion for a new trial.

Attorneys for Aiken announced they would appeal Monday to the Georgia supreme court for a writ of mandamus, forcing the trial judge to grant the condemned man a new trial.

Today they presented affidavits supporting the new trial motion in attempt to show Aiken killed his wife and Boyce Hunter in June, 1929 while in a jealous rage. The affidavits alleged Mrs. Aiken and Hunter were lovers.

Aiken escaped from Fulton tower about 18 months ago shortly before he was to have been taken to Milledgeville, Ga., for execution. He was captured recently in Houston, Texas, where he had married again. His present wife heard the motion denied today. Aiken was not in court.

His story sounded pretty good, for he drew a suspended sentence of six months.

Dentist Recently Tried for Murder Granted Divorce

RENO, Nev., Feb. 20. (US)—In the same courtroom where he was acquitted two months ago of murdering his sweetheart, Dr. Carl P. Andre, handsome young dentist, today was granted a divorce from Mrs. Dorotha Howard Andre, of Fairmont, W. Va., on grounds of cruelty.

Dr. Andre came here last September and four days after his arrival was arrested in connection with the death of Mrs. Martha Hutchinson, a widow, who he was alleged to have pushed out of his automobile when he tired of her.

District Judge Moran who presided at the murder trial gave Andre his divorce decree.

Andre, smiling and at ease in court, said his wife was extremely jealous of his girl patrons in Fairmont and frequently created scenes at dances and elsewhere in public.

He claimed she also threatened to throw acid in his face and frequently hit him with guns he kept in the house.

The couple were married in Baltimore, Md., in 1921.

Custody of two children, Susanna, 10, and Edward, 7, was given to the mother.

CHARLES LEVINE HELD UNDER BOND LARCENY CHARGE

NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (US)—Charles A. Levine, first Transatlantic air passenger, was held in $10,000 bail today by Magistrate Brandt Jr. in tombs court on a charge of grand larceny.

Levine is a prisoner in Harbor hospital where he has been since Jan. 21 with a broken leg. He registered at the institution as C. Elliott Jaffee. His identity became known through an anoymous telephone call to the district attorney's office.

Magistrate Brandt set the case down for hearing March 25.

Assistant District Attorney Garrison said he will present evidence to the grand jury Thursday.

The charge against Levine arises from his posting as collateral stock valued at $22,000 which is said to have been stolen. The stock disappeared in December, 1929, while in transit between two brokerage houses.

CHICAGO POLITICIAN FOUND BEATEN TO DEATH

CHICAGO, Feb. 20. (US)—Victim of a typical gangland execution, John Morris, minor political figure and a clerk in the board of election commissioners, was beaten to death with an ax today and his body carried in a barrel to Franklin Park, a suburb, where it was found.

Employes at the hotel where he lived said that he had feared he was marked for death and had been hiding in his room for two weeks, leaving today for the first time.

Abe Cooper, politician and gambler in Morris' district, was slain two months ago and his body was found not far distant from the spot where Morris' was thrown today.

Investigators linked the murders and also were considering the possibility that Morris was using his political influence to create a monopoly of gambling privileges and had been removed by rivals.

GADSDEN, Ala., Feb. 20. (UP)—Three bandits robbed the bank of East Gadsden of $10,000 in cash today and escaped in two automobiles.

SPUDDERS LAND TRIO OF PLAYERS FROM MILWAUKEE CLUB

Within the last eight days the Spudders have added four ball players to the 1932 roster, three coming from the Brewers in a deal announced by Secretary Guy Airey, and another having been acquired from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast league the week before. As a result of these deals, the Spudders now at least can put an experienced team in the field, even if the season were to open tomorrow, and that's something that could not have been done before the deals were closed. Harry Green, the purchase from Hollywood, apparently can play first in a pinch, though his record indicates he is more at home in the outfield. Ollie Bejma is the second baseman of the newcomers, and Walter Euller is delivered in the same package for third base. Scoop Scharein returns for shortstop.

The returning outfield of Red Badgro, Debs Garms and Bob Fuss and Skipper Hank Severeid and Art Bradberry, Herb Bryant or Furman Owens as catchers complete a lineup of all experienced talent. It is not a proven lineup by any means, though, and whether it is able to set better than an average pace in the Texas league depends entirely on the improvement that some of the younger players can show over their work of last season. If every man played just as he did last year, and granting that a pitching staff of ability is assembled, that lineup would do mighty well to finish in the first division. If some of last year's youngsters show the improvement expected, then it is an array of considerable promise. Fellows like Bob Fuss and Debs Garms and Art Scharein may well be expected to be better ball players than they were in 1931. Badgro, too, is not too old to be better after a season in which to become acclimated.

The club still is in dire need of a cleanup hitter, the lack of which proved so grpat a handicap last season. Regardless of the improvement that the outfield of Garms, Badgro and Fuss may show, none of the trio will ever fill the cleanup post. They are not that kind of hitters. You may not believe it, but you can prove it by consulting the records: Only seven regulars in the league last season outhit Badgro. His .307 was a mighty figure last season, and since he ranked so close to the top, he surely must be placed among the league's best hitters. But he is neither a distance hitter, nor the kind to throw fear into the heart of the opposing pitcher. The same goes for Garms and Fuss, and nowhere on the infield is there a hitter of the Jenkins, Bennett, Kloza or Burns type that meant so much in the success of the teams from 1927 through 1930.

Carl Williams was forced to use a catcher in the cleanup position last season. In the belief that Bradbury was going to break loose with some lusty swatting, he was used in fourth place for a while in the spring. But when Art slipped down in the .275 rut, it became necessary to make other arrangements until Bud Hungling arrived on the scene. The latter did a neat job of cleaning up, but he still was not the ideal fourth place hitter. It may fall upon a catcher to do the dirty work in this season's scheme of things, and old Hank Severeid is liable to be in that very spot before the season is far gone. Like Hungling, he probably is too slow afoot and too much of an impediment on the bases to bat so high in the lineup if it is possible to avoid such an arrangement.

George Blackerby is one of the latest to sing the praises of the new Spudder skipper. George put in most of last season in the Oakland outfield and played many games against Severeid. Contrary to the impression left with us by at least one man who followed Severeid's work that he is more of a punch hitter than a free swinger, George maintains that Severeid will do a lot of robust extra base hitting in the Spudder park. A right-handed swinger, Blackerby avers Hank is a dead left field hitter and pulls the ball as sharply to that field as anybody he knows in baseball. "Don't let anybody kid you that Hank will not hit a lot of home runs in this park," advises George. "He'll pull a lot of drives over that left field fence in fair territory and he'll fill that deep left field grandstand with fouls when the pitchers are working on the inside."

More a necessity in the Spudder scheme, however, than the presence of a cleanup hitter is the acquisition of more pitching talent than now is available. Unless the Spudder chieftains are believers in miracles, they are planning just such a move before this year's race ever gets under way. A winning pitching staff may be assembled from the present array, but not unless the day of miracles has arrived. It is not impossible that in the fine young hurlers the Browns' scouting forces have put together that Severeid can muster a winning staff, but it surely is improbable. Of the half-dozen or more entirely inexperienced flingers rated so highly by the parent club, the Spudders will be extremely fortunate to come up with one winning Texas league pitcher. From the holdovers, there is only one proven winner, Lester White, and it seems the team's greatest need is in the mound department.

We see no reason why the Browns can not supply the Spudders with the needed cleanup hitter in view of the surplus talent held both by the major league club and Milwaukee, and while the pitching talent may not be so plentiful with the two higher clubs, there will be some surplus to dispose of, and the Spudders seem certain to share in the division of the spoils when the Browns and Brewers start cutting down. At least, it is encouraging to note from the deals of the last eight days that the Browns have not forgotten the Spudders, and further assistance may well be expected in due time.

District Champs

DENTON, Texas, Feb. 20. (AP)—The Dallas Technical High school basket ball team won the district title here Saturday by defeating the Denton high squad 32-23.

Euller, Ferrell And Ollie Bejma Added to Roster

Two Experienced Performers Plug Gaps in Hank Severeid's Lineup

The addition of three players, Second Baseman Ollie Bejma, Third Baseman Walter Euller and Pitcher Marvin Ferrell have been made to the Spudders, according to announcement of Secretary Guy Airey following a communication from President L. C. McEvoy of St. Louis.

All three players ,of whom Bejma is the only total stranger, have been obtained on option from the Milwaukee Brewers, and are scheduled to report along with the remainder of the squad to Manager Hank Severeid on March 8.

The announcement looms as the most important since the close of last season, as it brings the only experienced players added except in the signing of Manager Hank Severeid, and plugs two gaps in the infield that have yawned distressingly since the sale of Bear Allday to Galveston and the recall of Euller by the Brewers at the close of the 1931 season.

Bejma Highly Rated

Bejma steps into a decidedly difficult assignment in assuming the second base role in that he follows a line of wonderful second base guardians in Pete Turgeon, Lin Storti and Allday, but the powers that be have full confidence in the newcomer filling the bill.

Bejma started his professional career with Indianapolis in the summer of 1929, but had indifferent success as an outfielder and was shunted to the Indians' farm at Quincy, where Manager Walter Holke discovered that he was not an outfielder at all, but an infielder. After two big seasons in the class B circuit, he was purchased last fall by the Brewers, and the latter are retaining title to his services in sending him to Wichita Falls.

In 1930 Bejma played in 110 games for Quincy and batted .344. In 424 times at bat he scored 97 runs on 146 hits that included 24 doubles, six triples and five home runs for 197 total bases. He had 22 sacrifice hits, 15 stolen bases and 50 bases on balls. He batted in 88 runs, was caught stealing four times and fanned 27.

All-Star Selection

In 116 games last season he was at bat 451 times, collecting 98 runs and 144 hits, for an average of .319 and 230 total bases. His collection included 24 doubles, seven triples and 16 home runs. He had 11 sacrifice hits, stole 18 bases and drove in 86 runs. He was caught stealing 10 times and fanned 35.

Secretary Airey's reports from the Brown scout who recommended his purchase to the Milwaukee club describes Bejma as "a hustling type of player who has lots of color, and plays just as hard when the club is far behind as when it is out in front. He has a good punch and is a quick breaker on ground balls. His aggressive play makes him a worthy addition to any club."

The newcomer is the only experienced second baseman on the Spudder roster, and consequently is assigned the position until one of the inexperienced men shows enough to shove him out of the picture.

Euller's Return Expected

The return of Euller has been expected for some time in view of Milwaukee's surplus of infield talent and Manager O'Rourke's ability as a third sacker. Placing of the third base job in Euller's hands completes the left side of the infield with steady, capable fielders, as Art Scharein returns for shortstop.

Euller was badly needed early last season when Manager Carl Williams was struggling along with Debs Garms and Jim Geygan at third base, but after he returned from Milwaukee with the season well along he never gained the batting pace he maintained the year before and finished up the season with the weak mark of .256. Close followers of the Spudders, however, are willing to accept the 1931 record as merely an off-season, and his return undoubtedly will meet a popular response from fans in general. In 1930 he was a member of the famed infield of Burns-Stortii-Levey-Euller and turned in a batting average of .293, and possibly the best all-round season of third base play the club had ever received.

Ferrell Promising

The return of young Ferrell adds merely another glowing pitching prospect to the long list already available. Skipper Severeid is going to start spring training early next month with a fine array of rookie pitchers, but a staff that at present is without a shining star and boasts little known talent. Ferrell, like most of the others, is shy of experience to go along with more than average ability, and by no stretch of the imagination can be ranked as a sure winner.

He won two and lost three last season, finishing only one of the six games he started, and suffered mainly from wildness. If Severeid can teach the youngster control, he undoubtedly will be well on the way to discovery of a winning flipper.

The signing of another young catcher was announced Saturday by Airey. The sixth receiver to find his way on the Spudder roster is Tommy Heath from the sandlots of California, signed on the recommendation of St. Louis scouts. He is 18 years old, five feet 11 inches in height and weighs 175 pounds. His home is at Ventura, Calif.

Frogs and Bears Stay on Top With Brace Victories

T. C. U. Whips Rice, 41 to 27; Baylor Beats Longhorns 35 to 28

HOUSTON, Feb. 20. (AP)—The Rice Owls Saturday night waited until the game had only eight minutes to run before they opened long range shelling on the T. C. U. basket. But in those last eight minutes they scored 16 points and turned what had been a route into a contest. T. C. U. stayed in a tie with Baylor for the conference lead by winning, 41-27.

As was expected, "Too Tall" Dietzel was the boy who had the Rice scorekeeper looking for an adding machine. Dietzel scored 22 points. The inexperienced Rice centers were put on the spot by Dietzel, the human steplad der.

Dietzel scored most his baskets by the simple expedient of reaching above the heads of his opponents and batting in the ball. But it was Virgil Dixon, Rice forward, who gave the spectators the goose pimples. Dixon scored 17 points, 12 of those on apparently miraculous field goals. But he waited until the last few minutes to open fire from midcourt.

Coach Schmidt showed a great cage outfit, a team that lost no time in breaking for the basket and that, on defense, permitted few crip shots.

Bears Win, 35-28

WACO, Texas, Feb. 20. (AP)—The accurate goal shooting of Raymond Alford made possible a Baylor victory over the University of Texas quintet Saturday night. The Bear forward scored 16 points and Baylor won, 35-28.

Raymond Strickland, ace scorer of the Bruins, was so closely guarded that he did not make a field goal. He didn't get more than three shots. However, he scored six free throws.

Alford made 13 of his 16 points in the first half. The Longhorns guarded him closely in the second period but it was too late. The Bruins forward hit the basket from all over the court.

For Texas the followup shots of Kubricht, center, featured in the first half. His work in guarding Strickland grew too difficult and he went out early in the second period on fouls. Garrett, who succeeded him, had three personal fouls though he played less than a half.

It was a great game most of the way. The Steers played on even terms with the Bears early in the game and at one time had a 10-point lead. Toward the close of the half Alford got loose and the Bruins amassed an 18-12 lead. After that they were not seriously threatened.

The victory was Baylor's seventh in nine conference starts.

SIR MALCOLM CAMPBELL GETS HIS RACER UP TO ONLY 131 MILES HOUR

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 20. (INS)—An average speed of 131.627 miles an hour was attained by Sir Malcolm Campbell, British daredevil, in two trial runs over the beach course here Saturday afternoon. It was the first time Campbell drove his big car, the Bluebird, since Feb. 5, 1931, when he established the world's record of 245.733 miles an hour.

Nearly 10,000 persons assembled in the sand dunes, witnessed the tune up runs preliminary to Campbell's official try for a new record probably next week. Campbell's first run Saturday was made in a southerly direction. He was clocked through a measured mile in the dead center of the course. He averaged 125.785 miles an hour in this run and his time for the mile was 38.60 seconds.

His second run, due north, was at an accelerated clip. He made the mile at an average speed of 137.930 miles an hour. This time it required only 26.10 seconds to traverse the mile.

His two-way average was 131.627 miles an hour. His two-way average time for the mile was 27.35 seconds.

In the vatican library, the roof of which suddenly collapsed recently, were 400,000 printed books, 53,000 manuscripts, and 6,000 works of art. Most of these, however, were undamaged.

Wildcats Display Sensational Form To Down Cyclone

Four Men Display Scoring Power in One-Sided Win Over Memphis

CHILDRESS, Texas, Feb. 20.—The Crowell Wildcats captured the championship of district No. 3 of the interscholastic league here Saturday night by uncovering more basket ball than had been seen at any stage of the event and swamped the Memphis high Cyclone under a 54 to 23 score. The game ended a two-day tournament that found eight county champions in the field at the start of play. The Wildcats left little doubt of their superiority by winning every game by decisive scores, but their display Saturday night was little short of sensational.

Coach Grady Graves' Cats exhibited a well balanced attack that found four of the five men used figuring almost equally in running up the heavy score. Middleton topped the list with 17 points but J. Todd had 15, D. Todd 12 and Russell 10.

The Crowell team is expected to be matched against Olney, district No. 4 champions, in the bi-district round, and the series is to be arranged as early as possible next week.

CHURCH TEAMS TAKE BRACE OF CONTESTS

Floral Heights Presbyterian church senior quintet came to the rescue of the regular basket ball league five by avenging a defeat administered by Paul Seeds' Caballeros to the latter last week by polishing the band quintet, 31 to 25, in a benefit game at the church gymnasium Friday night.

Bridwell, crack Presbyterian forward, performed nicely in running up a total of 15 points for the winners. Walker led the losers with 12 points.

The two teams will meet in the near future to decide the winner of the series.

The second game saw the fast stepping First Christians swamp the fast Munday Moguls, 50 to 27. The Munday quint had just emerged from a tournament and was somewhat "game worn."

Ollie Reeves, Christian center, led his team's attack with 23 points. Rayburn, Munday forward, garnered 12 points for the visitors.

The first quail to be distributed in the campaign of Wichita Falls chapter No. 100, Izaak Walton League of America, to rehabilitate the upland game bird in Wichita, Clay and Archer counties, were "planted" Friday in Wichita county following receipt of a crate of 24 birds, according to announcement of President Ben G. Three Promising Games Scheduled In Basket Chase

Highland Heights and Temple Israel Teams to Open Tuesday's Program

While the Highland Heights Christians are taking on the Temple Israel five, First Christians meet the crack Floral Heights Methodists in the two feature games on this week's basket ball menu at the Floral Heights Presbyterian church gym Tuesday night. The third game of the weekly triple-header brings together the two Presbyterian teams, Floral Heights and East Side.

With the race again looking like a battle right down to the last game between the two Christian church entries, the program this week will have no outstanding game, but three good games are being expected. In the first game, Temple Israel hopes to break its losing streak which has run through the last six games. Highland Heights has had two hard battles to win in its second half scrap.

Christians in Front

Flashing behind the brilliant basket shooting of their "Three Musketeers," Griffin, Brashear and Janeway, First Christians, champions of the first half, have flashed to the front in the second half with two victories by overwhelming scores, both times going above the half century mark at the expense of the two Presbyterian fives. Floral Heights Methodists won their first game in handy fashion, then gave Highland Heights a scare by forcing the Christians to wait until the closing seconds to nose them out by one point. With Charley Reeves, Fooshee, Cox and Barrett working smoothly this team is a hard one to stop. Olin Harvey, scoring ace, has been stopped cold in his last two games, but is sure to break out sooner or later.

Judging by the comparative scores of the two Presbyterian games with the First Christians, the nightcap Tuesday night will be a merry battle. With East Side led by its midget trio of basket sharp shooters, Grover Dorsey, Earl Smith and Harry Baumgardner, it is a tough team to beat. Floral Heights will attempt to match this pair with its three aces, Otto Stehlik, Fritz Taylor and Bridwell.

Scoring Statistics

Scoring records for the last half of the race show that Griffin and Brashear, First Christian aces, are tied for the peak with the third member of the "musketeers," Jim Janeway, close on their heels. Smith, East Side Presbyterian, ranks fourth, closely pressed by Fritz Taylor, Floral Heights Presbyterian, and Dorsey, also of East Side. Bridwell, Floral Heights Presbyterian, holds up the monopoly of the Presbyterians in the race by ranking seventh. Maynard Creighton of Highland Heights Christian, and Charley Reeves, Floral Heights Methodist ace, are close.

Janeway, First Christian sensation, continues to lead the "Big Seven" in full season averages with a total of 139 points in seven games. Griffin still holds his second place ranking with 88 points.

Ends DANDRUFF Overnight!

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

SEVEN-POUND DAUGHTER BORN TO STEENGRAFES AT OAKLAND HOSPITAL

It's a girl at the Milt Steengrafe's!

News of the birth of a seven-pound daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Steengrafe at the Oakland hospital, Oakland, Calif., was received Saturday by relatives of Mrs. Steengrafe, formerly of Wichita Falls. Both the youngster and the mother were doing nicely, according to the message.

Steengrafe still is a member of the Wichita Falls club, but was given permission during the winter to make a deal for his services for the 1932 season, and according to present plans, will not return to the Spudders.

Seven Cage Teams Entered Thus Far In Church Event

Floral Heights Presbyterian Is Host to County's Independents

The Iowa Park Independents and Paul Seeds Los Caballeros basket ball fives swell the entries in the Floral Heights Presbyterian church county invitation tournament to seven teams, according to Shirley Donnell, who is active in the organization of the tourney. Basket ball fans of Wichita Falls should find all they want in the way of basket ball during this tourney, as most of the best independent teams in the county will be entered in the meet. The tourney is scheduled for Friday and Saturday.

First Christian church, crack basket shooters of the Sunday School league, has been established as the early favorite in the race, but with the growing list of entries this will become harder to hold. Besides their present league line-up, Noel Brashear intends to add Ed Howell, Ollie Reeves and Ben McLarry to the team. The addition of this trio of well known basket ball stars will make the Christians even harder to head off.

At the present time First Christian is the only one of the Sunday School leaguers to sign up for the tournament, but all six of the league teams are expected to enter before the dead line. The hope of 16 teams for the final number of teams in the race should be reached early in the week according to Dr. Nat F. Grafton, pastor of the church. Those who wish to enter the tournament are asked to get in touch with Dr. Grafton at the church by writing 1914 Buchanan street. An entrance fee of $2 will be charged each team to care for the expenses of the tournament.

Teams which are expected to be heard from in the next few days are Burkburnett, Allendale, Nine Rookies, Electra, Fairview, Cashion and the Basketeers. With this number to draw from it is believed there will be little trouble in reaching the desired number of teams.

A Lesson Learned

Not finding a match about, he went in search of one. When he returned, he struck a match and—boom! He had left the gas turned on during the time he was match-hunting.

RAINS HAMPER DEVELOPMENT IN WICHITA FALLS DISTRICT

Several Good Wells Completed Area North of Newcastle and Near Jean In Northern Part of Young County

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

Very little progress was made in the development of the various pools of the district during the past week. Soaking rains that visited the district for the greater portion of the week were responsible for the flooding of almost every tract within the confines of the producing areas. Many wells closed down on account of fuel shortage. This commodity could not be hauled to the sites on account of the muddy roads and it was impossible to continue drilling operations with any degree of success.

In the early part of the week field work had started up with the usual ardor and as a result a total of 12 new locations was staked out in the various pools. A few tests in close proximity to the paved highways continued their drilling, but when the sand was reached operations came to a standstill to wait for fair weather before their completion.

While a number of tests are drilling in the deeper areas throughout the district, the most active section is on the shallow tracts in northern Young county with its numerous spudders. Several nice wells were brought in from the territory north of Newcastle and in the vicinity of Jean townsite during the week's development of these pools.

South Young activities in the Kissinger pool and surrounding territory have been held up on account of the flooded conditions existing in those quarters.

Wichita county activities were confined to the drilling of a few wells in the Sunshine Hill pool northeast of Electra, and the spudding in of a couple of rotary tests in the leases adjacent to Beaver Creek in the southwest part of the county.

Sunday shutdowns continue to have the effect of holding down the district's production to the lowest figures, and each succeeding week shows gradual declines in the runs. The week ended Saturday, Feb. 20, averaged 47,375 barrels per day for the nine pools under the supervision of Jack Elliott, district supervisor and umpire. This was a decrease of 99 barrels daily below the previous week's output.

ALL MID-CONTINENT REFINERS TURN OUT 121 MILLION BBLS.

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 20.—Refiners of the greater Mid-Continent province, taking in Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Texas, North Louisiana and Arkansas, produced 121,836,000 barrels of gasoline last year, an analysis by the Western Petroleum Refiners association shows. In 1930 the refineries in the six states turned out 99,207,000 barrels of motor fuel.

Oklahoma-Kansas-Texas plants alone produced 61,027,000 barrels, three per cent less than they refined in 1930, or 62,929,000 barrels. Inland Texas increased 14.3 per cent, making 32,168,000 barrels against 28,171,000 barrels in 1930. A 6.3 per cent increase was made in North Louisiana-Arkansas plants or 8,621,000 barrels compared with 8,107,000 barrels the year before.

FOLLOW MAGNOLIA PLAN ABANDONING EAST TEXAS FIELD SUNDAY SHUTDOWN

KILGORE, Texas, Feb. 20. (AP)—The Texas, Humble, Sun and Empire oil companies have announced their intention of following the action of the Magnolia company in abandoning the Sunday shutdown plan in the East Texas field.

They will return to a seven-day-a-week production schedule tomorrow, taking 65 barrels of crude daily from each of their wells. Purchases from wells with which they have pipe line connection will be on the same basis.

Inquiries at the headquarters of the major purchasing companies in this city were answered to the effect that the Sunday shutdown of the leases in the Wichita Falls district will continue in force unless orders are received here to the contrary.

Sinclair Also

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 20. (AP)—H. L. Phillips, president of Sinclair Oil and Gas company, announced today his firm would join Magnolia and other Texas companies in abandoning the Sunday closing of wells in the East Texas pools.

Sinclair operates 170 wells in the field and will draw 65 barrels daily, seven days a week, instead of the present 75 barrels a day for six days. The new schedule becomes effective tomorrow.

Phillips said the principal reason the change was being made was that many smaller operators were not observing the Sunday closing, which was a voluntary agreement, and that it was hoped all operators would come to the seven-day policy on reduced daily flow.

That action would not flood the market, he added, as the new plan would increase production only at the rate of five barrels per well per week.

Gulf Joins Procession.

HOUSTON, Feb. 20. (AP)—The Gulf Production company today announced abandonment of its Sunday production shutdown program in the East Texas oil field, making the action unanimous among the major producers.

Gulf, like the others, announced it would go back to seven-day production effective tomorrow.

Mid-Continent Oil Activities

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 20. (UP)—Fears that the conservation program in East Texas would be disrupted as a result of the federal court decision holding military control of that area illegal have passed, oil leaders said today.

Even though military supervision of the productive field is relinquished, oil men pointed out, the Texas Railroad commission is ready to take over supervision of proration.

Gov. Ross Sterling indicated troops would be retained in the field until all matters in the litigation are settled.

Gov. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma, who "invented" the military control of oil fields, rapped the action of the federal court.

Quoting from section 2, article 3, the 11th amendment to the constitution, Murray said:

"I know it's illegal under the constitution for a federal court to interfere with the police power of a state."

If the Texas situation is worked out favorably, oil men anticipated a definite upturn for the better.

Within a few weeks buyers will have to come into the crude and refined markets to replenish depleted stocks. A crude price increase was predicted freely.

New work in Oklahoma increased last week, the state reporting 21 new stakings. Oklahoma county led with five.

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 20. (AP)—A proposal providing for curtailment of production in the mid-continent area to raise the price of crude oil will be laid before the nine-state oil advisory committee meeting March 1 at Oklahoma City.

Announcement of such action was made here last night by Thurman Hill, a member of the Kansas Public Service commission. His proposal calls for a 10 per cent decrease in production if a minimum price of $1.10 per barrel for 36 gravity crude had not been reached by May 1.

The proposal, Hill said, would be in the form of an amendment to the tri-state oil compact and curtailment under the plan would be effected by regulatory bodies of the states.

Maucini to Speak At A. P. I. Chapter Meeting Tuesday

The regular monthly meeting of the Wichita Falls chapter of the American Petroleum institute will be held at 7 p. m. Tuesday, Feb. 23, 1932, at the Wichita club.

Joe Maucini, district geologist of the Continental Oil company for North Texas, will talk on the relation of "New Geology" to the production of oil.

His talk, which was given previously to the production men at Borger, will be "The Microscopic Examination of Sediments and the Relation to Oil Production." The use of geophysical instruments and aerial mapping will also be discussed.

The talk will be illustrated with cores, cross-sections, contour maps, photographs, instruments, etc.

Mr. Maucini graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1915 with a degree as civil engineer and from Columbia university with an M. A. degree in geology.

He spent some time in the Salt Creek field, Wyoming, doing petroleum engineering work, after which he taught geology at the University of Colorado while studying for a doctor's degree in geology. Since 1925 Mr. Maucini has been with the Marland Oil company and Continental Oil company doing geological work in the Rocky mountain, West Texas, and North Texas districts.

The oil fraternity and their friends are cordially invited to attend the session.

TROOPS STILL NEEDED IN EAST TEXAS FIELD SAYS LONGVIEW JUDGE

LONGVIEW, Texas, Feb. 20. (AP)—County Judge W. H. Hughes today advised Gov. R. S. Sterling that troops were still needed in the East Texas oil field to protect property. He stressed the point that the property of private citizens, as well as oil operators, needed protection.

His action followed conferences with a number of prominent Longview citizens. No oil operators attended the conferences.

He said it was impossible for county officers to handle the situation in the oil field and asked that the governor keep troops there, even without the sanction of martial law, as an emergency measure.

Peace officers of four counties in the field could call on the troops for aid in emergencies, he said. This was regarded as a deterrent to possible lawbreakers.

GAS WELL COMPLETED IN WILDCAT TERRITORY

Location Made for No. 2 Green as Offset to Gilbert's New Well

DUNCAN, Okla., Feb. 20.—Two tests in the new area five miles south and two west of Duncan are showing for production and a new location was made in the area during the past week. A shallow gas well was completed in wildcat territory southwest of the town of Comanche.

The Continental Oil company has prospects of deeper production in its No. 2 Dare, in the NW SW SE or 2-2s-5w, after missing two upper sands in the newly active area seven miles southwest of here. A sand was found from 1670 to 1676 feet and casing set for a test. The No. 2 Dare is a south offset to the P. L. Gilbert and associates, an oil producer at 1360 feet, and a west offset to the Concho No. 1 Dare, a gas well at 1433 feet.

George L. Pace had sand showing oil and gas from 1444 to 1448 feet in the No. 3 Allen, in the NW SE SE NE of 3-2s-8w, on the section west of the center of activity, and was preparing to test.

Pace made location and completed derrick for his No. 2 Green, in the SE SE SW NE of 2-2s-8w, west offset to a producer completed 10 days ago by Gilbert and associates, Pace's No. 1 Green is a dry hole.

Branch & Dameron had a gas sand at 365 feet in their No. 1 Dameron, in SE SW NE of 11-3s-6w, wildcat, eight miles east and four south of Comanche, and the well was estimated good for around 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day.

J. C. Chambers and associates were drilling at 1285 feet in their No. 1 Jewell Pollard, in the NW SE SE of 2-2s-8w, east offset to the Conoco No. 1 Dare gas well.

Other Tests

Cohen & Reese still are shut down after cementing surface casing in their No. 1 Green, in the SE SW SW of 35-2n-9w, a test for gas to be drilled six miles north and eight west of Duncan.

The Carter Oil company was swabbing and cleaning out the No. 1 Laura Lynn, in the SW SE NE of 31-1s-2w, in the southeast extension of the Tatums field of Carter county. A series of sands was logged from 1521 to 2141 feet and the well looked good for from 75 to 100 barrels daily.

The Amos Drilling company and Walter Gant No. 1 Hooks, in the SW SW SW of 18-1s-2w, north offset to a 1,000-barrel well on the northeast edge of the Tatums field, had a series of oil sands from 1852 to 2015 feet. Casing was cemented and the well shut in to wait on proration time.

Communities in Wichita Falls Area Take Active Part in Celebration of Bicentennial of Washington's Birth

Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, chairman of the Wichita Falls district for the celebration of the George Washington bicentennial and member of the state commission for the same, on the eve of the 22nd of February expressed gratification at the manner in which the celebration is being received in 14 counties under her jurisdiction.

Plans are being made for extensive celebration during February and other months up to November of this year. The towns that have reported indicating that they will participate in the celebration are Bellevue, Henrietta, Crowell, Paducah, Quitaque, Seymour, Turkey, Burkburnett, Vernon, Wichita Falls, Electra, Chillicothe, Graham, Holliday, Archer City, Byers, Mankins, Charlie, Memphis and Iowa Park.

Rural schools in the counties are also participating, there being scarcely a rural school that is not in some form celebrating the bicentennial either by program or three planting, and in many cases both are being done. Clubs, patriotic groups and P.-T. A. organizations are giving elaborate programs, grade and high schools are participating, and in many schools each grade is planting trees. Churches and Sunday schools will set aside Sunday, Feb. 21, for their celebration, dwelling in their lessons and sermons on the Christian life of George Washington.

Service clubs are giving over programs to talks and discussions of Washington. Home demonstrations clubs are giving programs and setting out bicentennial trees.

Clay county reports county-wide celebration so complete that there will not be an organized group of any form in the county that does not in some way celebrate.

A noteworthy feature of the Washington Bicentennial celebration is that it may be carried into every group and community in the universality of the celebration. As the movement progresses, the national headquarters machinery will be enabled to render even more efficient service. A recent letter received from the Honorable Sol Bloom, congressman in charge of the bicentennial, stated that the supply of music phamphlets is entirely exhausted, but that another will very soon be issued. The daily mail at the bicentennial headquarters in Washington has been so stupendous that it has required four men eight hours a day to open it.

Congressman Bloom and Gov. Ross Sterling congratulate the Wichita Falls district upon their whole-hearted interest in the celebration and express a wish for the continuance of interest throughout the year to November.

"Sounded like all hell was broke loose."

"Are you going again?"

"Nope. It cost 25 cents and wasn't worth it."

And that is that.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Troop 14 met at South Side Baptist church with J. B. Cissell as scoutmaster. The meeting opened with the scout oath and laws. Patrol meetings were held with intensive study. Wade Platt passed the tenderfoot test. Discussion was held on entries for the elimination contest to be held for members of the demonstration team that is to be organized. A game of baseball was played. The meeting was dismissed with the scoutmasters benediction.

Scoutmasters Meeting

Tuesday night at the Highland Heights Christian church the scoutmasters and their wives and sweethearts had a "roast pig" banquet. Thirty people were present and a great time was enjoyed as the scoutmasters put on games and contests. Several troop committeemen and two members of the executive committee were present. The scoutmasters held a short business meeting after the party broke up and several important matters were discussed.

Troop Twelve

Troop 12 met at Grace Methodist church with 12 members and eight visitors and with Dan Martin, scoutmaster, and Charlie Ross, assistant scoutmaster, in charge. The plan of having a public elimination meet for members of the demonstration team was discussed. Interpatrol contests were held. A patrol leaders meeting was called for Monday at 8 p. m. Dan Martin, the scoutmaster, gave instruction in map making. After the instruction period games were played. The meeting was closed with the pledge of allegiance to the flag and the scout oath. This troop has been under the leadership of Don Ross for the past six years, but after his appointment as deputy commissioner, Dan Martin, an employe of the irrigation project, became scoutmaster, and Don's little brother, Charlie, became assistant scoutmaster.

Demonstration Team

For the past six months efforts have been made to organize a team to go from place to place and put on demonstrations of scouting, but the scoutmasters never succeeded in getting boys to prepare. At the scoutmasters meeting Tuesday night it was decided that a list of events that were wanted for the demonstration team be sent to the scoutmasters, and they could have boys prepare on the events that they wanted, and on a given night the contestants from the troops would meet and the best ones in each event would be selected to represent this team. It is planned that a two-week trip of this team be made this early summer to stop at places where no troop is now situated and to show what scouting really is. This team would go into a city and would make camp right on the main street of the town, pitching tents, etc., and with the rolling kitchen that is being built, would show how camp is pitched and would then demonstrate the different things in scouting. A stop of about three hours would be made at each town and three towns could be made in a day.

Troop Four

Troop four met at First Christian church with Dick Hambrick, the scoutmaster, in charge. Owing to the state meeting of the World Fellowship being held at the First Christian church the troop had to give up its meeting place and the troop met in a small upper room. This troop is just reregistered and a little over a year ago this troop had 60 members but now 10 is all the troop can boast of. The meeting had more visitors than it has had for some time and it looks like troop four will again be in the spotlight of popularity. Certificates were issued to the boys that had paid their registration fee. Don Ross, the deputy commissioner, visited this troop and lent considerable inspiration to it.

Alaska Totem Pole

Some time ago the department of interior and the Alaska railroad put on a totem pole contest, giving as a prize to the three winners a trip to Alaska with all expenses paid. The Wichita area council has had one entry. Maurice Lindsay of troop four has completed a totem pole and the same will be on display in one of the downtown windows. The pole stands 30 inches tall and is four inches square.

Troop Sixteen

Troop 16 held its regular meeting at First Baptist church with Kenneth Erwin as scoutmaster. Tommy Cox, the junior assistant scoutmaster, had charge of the meeting, which was opened with the pledge of allegiance. Announcements were made. Troop one, with Floyd Billingsly as scoutmaster, visited the meeting. Tommy Cox gave a talk on the life of George Washington. Patrol meetings were held and special tenderfoot ceremonies presenting tenderfoot badges to James Peevy and Paul Stokes. Compass, signalling and stunts were held. The meeting adjourned with the scoutmasters benediction.

Vernon Troops

Two new troops were registered at Vernon, making 11 troops now in Wilbarger county. All these troops are serviced through Vernon, and several new troops are in the process of organization in the county. The troop at West Vernon will be under the leadership of Olin Cole and the troop at South Vernon under the leadership of Ollie Pearson. A troop is being organized at North Vernon under the leadership of Ollie Pearson. Thursday night a scoutmasters and wives banquet was held at First Baptist church and 30 people were present. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Creighton of Wichita Falls were present. After the banquet Chief Creighton put on games for the crowd. Friday night a Wilbarger county jamboree was held and approximately 300 people were in attendance. Troop two of Vernon won the jamboree.

New Troops

Inquiries have been received and progress made in the organization of scout troops at the following places: Munday, with R. D. Walds as leader; Paducah with Rev. Breedlove as leader; Kirkland with G. W. Booker as leader; Throckmorton with A. L. Showalter as leader; Acme with Lee Morrison as leader; Joy with Rev. Bones as leader; Margaret with Rev. Hood as leader and a new troop is being started at Olney. Also troops are being started at the Catholic church in this city with J. K. Sullivan as leader, at the Floral Heights Presbyterian church with Jimmie Brannon as leader and at the Scotland Methodist church with A. M. Tipe as leader. The goal of 1,250 scouts by Dec. 31, 1932, will more than likely be reached before the last of April as over 1,100 scouts are now affiliated with the Wichita area council.

Moving Picture

Wednesday night the moving picture, "The Scout Trail" will be shown at Olney, at the First Baptist church. The troop at Harrold has asked for an early date for this picture. Several of the P.-T. A.'s of the different cities have made arrangements to show the picture as part of their regular meetings. This has always proven a success and has brought out good crowds.

TIMES' DAILY MARKETS

PRICES TAPER OFF WEEK-END TRADING IN STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (AP)—A week of swift changes came to a close on the stock market today with prices tapering off in a mild flurry of week-holiday selling.

Demand from the shorts manifested some of the urgency that gave the list its push at yesterday's opening. Instead, quotations in some instances gave evidence of a thin market whose technical position had been impaired by substantial covering.

After a narrow opening the market dragged 1 to 2 points lower only to reduce those declines as trading moved sluggishly into the second hour. There was a slight quickening of activity, once more on the downside, during the latter part of the session and closing prices averaged about a point and a half lower. Sales totaled 704,690 shares, much less than a third of last Saturday's volume.

U. S. Steel Lower

Stocks in which covering had been most vigorous were heavy. U. S. Steel finished 2 points off at 48½, which was also half a point under the close of the previous week-end. American Telephone related below 130 for a net drop of 3¼. Auburn tumbled swiftly, down 10 net. Santa Fe yielded 4½, Union Pacific 2⅝, American Can 2½, Allied Chemical 2¼, and Case, Woolworth, American Tobacco "B", New York Central, Southern Pacific and Westinghouse about a point each.

Brokers opinion of the short selling question was divided, but the consensus seemed to be that bears would proceed cautiously, especially with the threat of federal legislation still in the offing. Some commission houses felt it would be difficult to borrow stocks after April 1 when the exchange ruling becomes effective and pooled out the dangers which shorts would face in such a situation.

Studebaker Advances Prices

Two automobile companies, Hudson and Reo, omitted dividends. Studebaker surprised the financial district by denouncing higher prices after March 1. This decision, it was suggested, may have been prompted by efforts of steel producers toward firmer quotations in their industry; the impression has prevailed that demand for motor cards was hardly brisk enough to support a rise in purchase cost.

Steel mill operations next week will be at a lower rate of activity. Youngstown district plants begin 8 points lower at 27 per cent of capacity and the average for the country is expected to show some recession. There has been some betterment in rail tonnage, but this demand is spotty and limited to immediate requirements. Structural materials are very dull, nor has the automotive industry met earlier predictions.

Serious news from the Shanghai sector did not escape Wall street's attention, although it was hardly an influence in the stock market. Chinese exchange ruled above the Tokyo rate; the latter was much firmer than yesterday. Japanese bonds sagged under light offerings.

MILD REACTION IN GOVERNMENT BONDS AND TRADING DULL

NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (AP)—Holiday indifference today pervaded the bond market and prices generally showed little inclination to move in either direction.

The dullness of the trading was shown by the fact that sales totaled only $4,704,000, the smallest aggregate in several weeks. The average for 60 corporate securities closed at exactly the same figure as yesterday.

The United States government list, which for the past week or so has been climbing to higher levels, indulged in a mild reaction. Dealers attributed this to profit-taking which, they said, was no more than natural inasmuch as several of the treasury issues had registered gains of around 5 points.

Much of the recent buying in the federal section is understood to have been by banks. The previous weakness of governments was also blamed on the same source.

The railroad mortgages exhibited some signs of life during the brief session, but 20 of the selected carrier bonds closed only 1-10 of a point higher. Moderate declines were noticeable in a number of the low-priced liens which had previously advanced substantially.

Utilities and industrials maintained a firm position with their slight gains and losses being about equally divided.

With the exception of South Americans, led by some of the Argentines, the foreign department was inclined to sag. Japanese government bonds dropped more than 2 points and German government 7s lost more than a point. French 7s were fractionally lower.

LIVELY SETBACKS IN GRAIN FOLLOW FEDERAL REPORT

CHICAGO, Feb. 20. (AP)—Grain values suffered lively setbacks today following advices that the federal farm board had denied there would be any impounding of government stocks of wheat.

A quick tumble of more than a cent a bushel for wheat took place, as rumors had been current the farm board wheat holdings of 175,000,000 bushels would be held off the market indefinitely after July 1 next, or at least until a price of 80 cents was attained. In some quarters, the farm board's denial was made light of later, it being contended that any impounding would be by congressional action, and that numerous bills have been introduced with this end in view.

Wheat closed unsettled, ½@¾c under yesterday's finish, corn ½@¾c down, oats ⅛@⅜c off, and provisions unchanged to five cents lower.

Heavy offerings of corn to arrive led to sel

HUNTER QUESTIONS TAX REFORM PLAN OF THE FERGUSONS

"It is rather late in the day—and in years—for the Fergusons, who have held the governor's office three times without effecting the elimination of any of the multitude of commissions, bureaus or duplications in office; who have never suggested a revision of the state tax system, to come before the people asking re-election and proposing these and other needed reforms," said Tom F. Hunter, candidate for governor, in a statement issued Saturday.

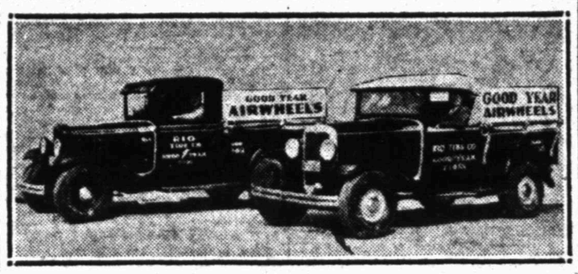
"The Fergusons have never gone before a legislature and fought for the proper regulation and control of the utilities. Utility prices have, since the time Ferguson was first governor, increased 100 to 300 per cent. The Fergusons also permitted our antitrust laws to be impaired.

"The people are awake now. They realize that taxes of all kinds, city, county, school and state, have increased to the point where both the sale and loan value of our real properties are destroyed.

"The people demand a leadership on fundamentals for practical relief. The two-thirds of our wealth escaping taxation must pay its proper part. There must be a reasonable homestead exemption. A revision of the tax system should absorb the state ad valorem, the school district and a sufficient amount of the county ad valorem to discharge the indebtedness of the counties now bonded, to the end that at least 70 per cent of the tax now levied upon real estate may be levied upon the utilities, the transported natural gas and sulphur resources, the purchasers of luxuries and other sources of wealth that pay no just tax.

"To the thinking people it will appear odd that the Fergusons have waited until this late day to suggest these needed reforms."

RIO TRUCKS HAVE AIRWHEELS



Motorists of Wichita Falls had their first opportunity to inspect and ride on Goodyear airwheels last Tuesday when the two trucks shown above gave a demonstration of "airwheel" comfort and ease of operation.

These huge pillowy tires require only 12 to 15 pounds of air and even over the roughest roads they allow the car to glide along with luxurious comfort and smoothness at all speeds.

"It is my opinion," Vice Wisely, manager of the Rio Tire company, declared, "that airwheel tires will soon take the place of the modern balloon tires just as the ballon tires took that of the old high pressure tires. I have reliable information that some of the more popular priced automobiles will show their 1933 models equipped with this type of tire."

STEPHENS COUNTY GETS $690 BACK TAXES FROM COTTON OIL COMPANY

DUNCAN, Okla., Feb. 20.—Stephens county will receive $690 in back taxes from the Chickasha Cotton Oil company of Chickasha following a compromise of an application of S. H. Harris, tax ferret, seeking to assess the firm $650,000 for personal property allegedly omitted from the rolls from 1915 to 1930.

Harris alleged there was a wide discrepancy in the assessed valuation of the company's property in Stephens and other counties and the company's report of assets to the corporation commission. The firm admitted that, through error, personal property was not assessed in 1915 and 1916, but claimed that all of its personal property for the other years had been properly assessed.

Under the compromise, the company was assessed $5,000 for 1915, $5,000 for 1916 and $750 for each of the six years from 1925 to 1930, inclusive.

The Chickasha firm has extensive cotton gin and oil mill interests in Southwest Oklahoma.

WASHINGTON BI-CENTENNIAL
1732 1932
WASHINGTON SAVED
In the days when Washington was leading a ragged, ill-equipped band of colonists against the most impressive army in the world he could not afford to waste a crust or cartridge. He had to make every shot, every cent COUNT. He did it and his success is mirrored by the nation which he helped to found. The economy of yesteryear brings the riches of tomorrow.
This bank invites you to emulate Washington—to save YOUR forces by accepting one of our deposit books.

IF YOU WANT TO GET AHEAD
DO THIS
The president of one of the largest savings banks in America is the author of a simple and dependable formula for you who want to get ahead:
"Put your savings in a bank and forget about it. Save regularly just like you take a bath or have your hair cut. Then don't keep thinking about the $50 or the $100 you have got piled away in the bank. Those very thoughts are dangerous. First thing you know you'll be slipping in and drawing out a little at a time to buy something you could very well do without."
KEEP A DIME out of every dollar you get—and put it to work for you in a savings account.
