NASA schedules flights for shuttle

HOUSTON (AP) — NASA has prepared a schedule for space shuttle flights with the first of nine missions tentativley set for Feb. 5, 1987, according to The Houston Post.

The flights place an emphasis on military payloads.

They include a previously undisclosed military Spacelab flight, set for early 1988, and dedicated to Star Wars research, according to Robert H. Nute, the deputy chief of crew activity planning at the Johnson Space Center, the newspaper reported in a copyright story today.

"That's what we're working toward. We know, obviously, some of the flights are not going to happen," Nute said of the schedule for NASA's three remaining space-worthy shuttles.

"Certainly, it is not cast in concrete," he said.

Teachers await TECAT score

AUSTIN (AP) — Test day has come and gone for more than 200,000 Texas teachers who now must wait about seven weeks to find out whether they did well enough to keep their jobs.

"I'm confident that I passed it. I'm confident that 95 percent of our teachers passed it," State Education Commissioner William Kirby said Monday after he took the Texas Examination of Current Administrators and Teachers.

The TECAT — a test of basic reading and writing skills — was mandated by the 1984 Texas Legislature as part of a massive education reform bill that includes the no-pass, no-play rule that bars failing students from extracurricular activities.

Although about 10,000 teachers were expected to flunk the test, many came out smiling, saying the test was a breeze.

"Honestly, I don't see how a person who fails this test could have ever gotten a degree at any college," said Al Marten, a Texas Education Agency employee, said after taking the exam at Austin High School.

Teachers and administrators will lose the state certificates they need to work if they have not passed the test by June 30. A retest will be given June 28. Those who failed Monday's exam will get diagnostic explanations of their performance.

The grades are due by early May. There will be no letter or number score, only pass or fail.

Gov. Mark White, a test supporter, said he had not expected many teachers to have trouble with the test.

"The exam is only one measure of a teacher's ability to communicate. But if a teacher can't communicate, the student will never get the message," he said Monday.

Kirby agreed, saying it was a basic skills test, not a competency exam.

"The test is not intended to tell the good teachers from the poor teachers. It's intended to identify folks that simply don't have the reading and writing skills necessary to do the job," he said.

Georgia and Arkansas also have teacher testing provisions.

The passing score for the test was 75 percent.

Ask Us

Q. — By accepting the bid from McLennan Community College, how much money did Region V "leave on the table" for its tournament next year?

A. — If Snyder had received the bid to again host the tournament, it would have paid $15,610. Midland would have paid $15,325. McLennan's bid pledges them to pay $4,800 for the same right. Assuming the best bid had been accepted, the amount "left on the table" was $10,810.

In Brief

Ban imposed

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The government today imposed five-year "banning" orders on the two most influential black activists in the troubled eastern Cape Province.

Also today, the government rescinded its order expelling three CBS News staffers, Deputy Foreign Minister Louis Nel said. The three CBS employees had been ordered to leave the country after CBS broadcast footage of a funeral despite a ban on cameras.

In the black township of Kabokweni, in eastern Transvaal Province, police said one man was killed and 13 people were wounded after police fired shotguns to break up a crowd of more than 3,000 blacks who gathered to support eight youths facing criminal charges because of a riot last month.

Trial recessed

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Testimony concluded today in the 22nd week of the Autumn Hills nursing home murder trial.

Defense lawyer Roy Minton told Judge Don Morgan he would not call any rebuttal witnesses.

In reponse, Galveston County District Attorney Mike Guarino said, "The state closes its case, your honor."

Morgan told the jury court would be in recess until next Tuesday when final arguments would be heard. Jury deliberations, he said, would begin next Wednesday.

Hike-bike trail directed toward 'private' funding

Members of the Scurry County Sesquicentennial Committee have been asked by two local taxing entities to seek "private" funding for its proposed hike and bike trail adjacent to Deep Creek.

The project has been tagged at a proposed cost of $450,000 for a concrete trail running beside the creek from 24th through 37th St.

Monday, the Snyder city council approved a motion which stated that the city, in cooperation with county commissioners, "agreed that private donations and private funding should be pursued...as opposed to the city and county funding."

Both entities had been approached by members of the committee for possible funding. The committee had proposed the walkway as the major project for the local observance of Texas' 150 year history.

In the same statement, the city noted that it would continue cleaning out the creek to remove dead limbs and debris.

Charles Anderson, committee chairman, said Tuesday, "In light of the current economy, we can understand the city and county's position."

He added, "The cleanup of the creek area was another one of our goals, and we're happy that this is being done."

At a meeting between council and committee members Feb. 18, the near one-half million cost estimate for the hike-bike trail was offered.

As proposed, the project would have created a 6,000 ft. stretch of concrete retaining wall lining

Soccer group asks playing field okay

A request from the Snyder Soccer Association to develop Snyder ISD-owned land for soccer playing fields will be considered Tuesday by school board members.

The request is part of the March agenda for the school board. The meeting will begin at 7 p.m.

The Soccer Association has proposed developing the area of land between the junior high and West Elementary. Using their funds, they would install an underground water sprinkler system for two fields plus provide material and labor for grass seed and fertilizer.

A third field would be addressed also "if sufficient funds remain in our budget," association members have stated.

In exchange, the school district would be asked to maintain the fields, to include providing water and mowing services.

In other school-related business, trustees will consider:

—The district's vote for two members to the Region 14 Education Service Center. There is one candidate each for the two places, Neil E. Wright of Sweetwater for place 2 and Margaret Rutledge of Abilene for place 6.

—Adopting recommendations for textbooks to be used at the various grade levels during the 1986-87 school year as offered by the district's textbook committee.

—Adopting the official school calendar for 1986-87.

—Adopting policy amendment recommendations which address "contract and noncontract employment." This includes

Places on ballot drawn for WTC vote

The names of four candidates seeking two seats on the Western Texas College board of trustees were drawn Monday to determine in what order they will be placed on the April 5 ballot.

The drawing took place during the regular March meeting of the board, which began with a 25-minute executive session to discuss prospective candidates for the position of college president. No action followed the executive session.

After the drawing for place, Thomas Aishman's name will be listed first for place 3, followed by incumbent Howard Sterling. For place 4, incumbent Bob Hargrove will be listed first, followed by Lee Presswood.

Trustees also accepted two bids Monday. The first was from Snyder Farm and Ranch Supply in the amount of $1,880 for fertilizer. Each year the college and the city bid jointly on fertilizer. Of the 14 tons being purchased, WTC will receive eight tons and the city will get six tons.

Trustees also accepted a bid of $16,200 from Intertel of San Angelo for maintenance of the college's Honeywell equipment. A clause in this bid gives the trustees the option of extending the contract one year at the same price if they choose.

The other bid of $15,525 was submitted by Honeywell. Rex Hopkins, physical plant director, recommended for the Intertel bid.

Trustees also made a change in Policy 3518, in effect stating that trustees can accept out-of-county bids if they think the tax dollar will be better served by doing so.

The next meeting date was changed to April 7 due to a conflict on the night of the regular meeting date.

During the president's report, Dr. Harry Krenek, acting chief executive officer, informed the board that WTC will have its homecoming April 19 and San Jacinto Day--a state mandated holiday--will be April 21.

He noted to the board that problems are being experienced with the tile floor for one of the classrooms in the golf course and

Community garden set for seniors

A community garden for senior citizens is being planned on a plot of ground south of Golden Terrace Village.

Anyone interested in working a space in the garden is invited to contact the Senior Center by March 17.

The land available will be plowed and ready for planting. The size of the individual garden space will depend on the number of persons wishing to participate.

A sign-up fee of $7 will be charged. In addition, $10 per month will be asked to cover the cost of water.

For more information, individual should call the center.

In basketball, if a coach gets three technical fouls, he gets sent to the showers.

But never before have we known of a "coach" getting booted out before the game started.

We're sure it was because of his rowdy Texas Tech background, but West Texas State banker Bobby Beard was ousted before tipoff during the Region V girls basketball tournament which was held last week.

Beard volunteered to be a host for one of the visiting teams. Beard drew McLennan Community College, and was really excited about his official host duties.

Beard scrubbed up real neat, put on a little extra English Leather and had his Howard Limmer suit cleaned and pressed. Even his wife, Diane, thought he looked pretty sharp.

Beard greeted the team on schedule, but the McLennan coach had failed to receive her letter about the "host" program. The coach was afraid Beard might distract, so she asked that he not sit on the bench. WTC trustee Howard Sterling ribbed Beard about the incident, "Bobby, you should have worn your old clothes."

At the same game, chamber president Jack Denman was host for South Plains College. Denman and wife, Frances, got to sit with the South Plains team, but McLennan upset South Plains by 15 points and the Lady Texans got a premature trip back to Levelland.

Denman later told Beard, "Maybe your coach knew what she was doing after all."

A basketball coach says it's late in the season and there's been too many road trips when you come home and dial 9 to get an outside line.

Bike riders will assist St. Jude's

A "Wheels For Life" bike-a-thon to aide the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital is scheduled in Snyder Saturday.

Monday, Sabrina Tidwell, chairman for the event, urged community residents — both bike riders and those willing to donate funds — to assist in the effort.

Sponsors will donate a sum for each mile completed in the bike-a-thon. Bike riders raising $25 will receive a St. Jude T-shirt. Those raising $75 will receive both a T-shirt and a barrel tote bag.

Sponsor forms are now available at Everybody's Thrift-

Tower is leaving arms post

WASHINGTON (AP) — John G. Tower, the former chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, has submitted his resignation as a U.S. arms control negotiator for "personal reasons," and President Reagan will accept it, White House spokesman Larry Speakes said today.

"Certainly the president will abide by Senator Tower's reasons to leave his position," Speakes told reporters. The spokesman said Tower's move "was for personal reasons. It was not over policy differences."

U.S. officials, speaking on condition they not be identified, had said the former senator was leaving for personal reasons having to do with his family and because the job lacked excitement.

Speakes praised Tower as having "performed ably" during his tenure in Geneva. The spokesman described the president's arms control team as being "totally in synch amongst themselves and with the president."

Speakes said he did not know who will replace Tower.

Tower, 60, has handled negotiations with the Soviet Union in Geneva on reducing long-range nuclear weapons. The talks are stalemated. He was appointed to the post 14 months ago by President Reagan after deciding not to seek re-election to the Senate from Texas.

An assistant in Tower's office here said he was out of the country and could not be reached.

"It can be a boring, tedious job, sitting across the table from the Russians," a senior official, who insisted on anonymity, told The Associated Press. "He's used to seeing new faces every day. I don't know why he wanted it in the first place."

Tower had hoped negotiating with the Soviets would be a springboard to a Cabinet post, but there was no opening, and the former politician felt he was on the sidelines, another official said.

Tower, a conservative Republican, had served in the Senate nearly 24 years and was an ardent champion of U.S. weapons strength and a foe of the 1979 Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty with the Soviet Union.

He had argued the accord was not in the security interests of the United States. The SALT II pact, which was never ratified by the Senate, imposed ceilings on various U.S. and Soviet weapons. Tower argued that it did not limit capabilities.

Reagan also opposed the treaty, but since becoming president he has pledged not to undercut its provisions provided the Soviets also adhere to the pact.

A dapper and combative politician, Tower earned a reputation as a staunch conservative and a relentless fighter for Reagan's defense budget, including a missile buildup.

In Geneva, he oversaw negotiations over strategic weapons, serving under chief U.S. negotiator Max Kampelman, who handled talks over space-based defense systems. In the troika arrangement, Maynard Glitman, a veteran foreign service officer, dealt with intermediate-range missiles.

Three U.S. officials said Ron Lehman, an arms expert who has worked at the Pentagon and the White House, was a likely successor.

The last round of negotiations ended last week in Geneva without any indication the two sides made any progress in curbing the arms race. Secretary of State George P. Shultz said last Thursday there had been no "major accomplishment" during the round.

When the talks are resumed in May, Yuli Kvitsinky, one of the three Soviet negotiators, will not be there. He has been named ambassador to West Germany.

Strategic weapons are the globe-circling nuclear bombers, missiles and submarines that are classified as intercontinental. Both the United States and the Soviet Union have proposed sharp reductions, but are far apart on the details.

They are far closer to an agreement on curbing their medium-range missiles in Europe. But the main obstacle to any accord is a dispute over Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative.

The program, known popularly as "Star Wars," is aimed at finding an anti-missile shield.

Loose Use of Labor Term May Require You to Tighten Belt

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: In a recent letter, you incorrectly used the phrase "tight labor market" to refer to a situation where jobs are scarce. Actually, a tight labor market is one in which job openings are plentiful and workers who don't like their work can easily quit and find other employment. Economists use the phrase "loose labor market" to describe job scarcity.

Your mistake in terminology is commonly made. So keep the following rhyme in mind:

When the labor market is tight
Tell your boss to fly a kite.
But when the labor market is loose,
Saying that will cook your goose.

DANIEL J.B. MITCHELL,
UCLA PROFESSOR

DEAR PROFESSOR: You could have fooled me. I erroneously assumed that because the terminology "money is tight" means "money is scarce," the same held true for the labor market. Thanks for wising me up.

Although flying a kite was an electrifying experience for Benjamin Franklin, I wouldn't recommend telling one's boss to fly one under any circumstances.

DEAR ABBY: I was appalled at the ignorance of that doctor who opposed artificial insemination for the unmarried 35-year-old professional woman who wanted to have a child before it was too late. He gave the impression that artificial insemination was done as a lark with a turkey baster. Actually, it's done under hygienic conditions in a doctor's office only after a great deal of investigation and many consultations. Some facts:

One out of every six American couples of reproductive age is infertile, and 40 percent of the cases are attributed to the infertility of the male.

Twenty-six states have already passed laws legitimizing artificial insemination, and approximately 20,000 babies are born every year because of it.

How do I know so much about it? Had it not been for artificial insemination, my husband and I would not be the proud parents of two beautiful, healthy children. Unfortunately, at age 31, my husband had surgery for testicular cancer, which rendered him sterile. Adoption would have meant years of waiting, but with artificial insemination we were able to become parents without delay. Our children have at least one biological parent, and believe it or not, the "donor" was so well-matched that both our children resemble their "father."

LUCKY US IN PASADENA

DEAR LUCKY: Lucky, indeed. And boo to that insensitive doctor.

DEAR ABBY: You mentioned "the rhythm system" as one of the many methods of birth control.

First, I appreciate your respect for the Catholics' objection to artificial birth control, but, Abby, "the rhythm system" is a thing of the past. Today there are many family planning organizations that teach natural methods of birth control. The most popular one is the "sympto-thermal" method. As the name implies, it is a matter of learning to read the signs of fertility. This method is not only approved by the Catholic Church, it is extremely effective whether a woman's cycle is regular or irregular, whether she is nursing or approaching menopause.

Please pass this information on.

PREFERS THE NATURAL WAY

DEAR PREFERS: Thanks for bringing me up-to-date. The sympto-thermal method is effective in reverse, too. It teaches women who want to conceive how to determine their most fertile period.

Vein rupture can be serious

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Would you please discuss the breaking of blood vessels in the eye: the cause, any preventive measures and treatment?

DEAR READER — Like any organs in the body, the eyes are supplied by both arteries and veins. The arteries deliver oxygenated blood that is forced into tiny blood vessels called capillaries; then oxygen-poor blood drains into veins and is returned to the heart and lungs. An arterial rupture is a serious condition because, when it happens, the blood can leak out under pressure and cause more damage by spreading (dissecting) into tissues. Arterial bleeding must be stopped or vision may be impaired; for example, the retina can become detached. Modern treatment usually involves coagulating the broken artery by using methods such as laser therapy.

On the other hand, venous and capillary rupture can be less serious, depending on the location of bleeding. We are all familiar with the condition called scleral hemorrhage, in which a vein in the white part of the eye may burst, causing temporary redness that ordinarily does not require treatment. Although low-pressure venous bleeding may not be of the magnitude of arterial hemorrhage, examination by an ophthalmologist is usually necessary if the vein breaks within the eyeball or retina. Laser coagulation or other treatment may have to be considered. Vision is a precious gift, so I recommend analysis by an eye specialist for any bleeding that affects vision.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a woman 75 years old. My doctor says I have rheumatoid arthritis. My sedimentation rate is around 40. Will taking Clinoril (200 mg.) for too long cause trouble?

DEAR READER — If you do, indeed, have rheumatoid arthritis, a form of joint inflammation, Clinoril can be a useful treatment. However, it must be administered under medical supervision because a small percentage of patients may experience side effects of therapy, the most common of which are: gastrointestinal problems (nausea, cramps, ulcers), skin rash, dizziness, headache, nervousness, ringing in the ears and fluid retention. While taking Clinoril, check with your doctor at periodic intervals to (1) assess the success of treatment and (2) make sure you are not developing any complications of therapy.

What is HYPOGLYCEMIA and how is it treated? You can find out in Dr. Gott's new Health Report on the subject. Send 75 cents plus a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on HYPOGLYCEMIA.

Former JP has to pay $40,000

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — A prosecutor says it's not fair to say the plea bargain deal for a former Hidalgo County justice of the peace was too lenient, since there wasn't enough evidence to send him to prison.

Former Justice of the Peace Ponciano Cantu pleaded no contest Monday to misappropriating funds and was ordered to pay back nearly $40,000 and was assessed a 10-year probated sentence.

However, four other charges against him, including bribery, were dropped.

A one-two punch floors partner

By James Jacoby

In this rubber bridge deal, a bad player fixed his partner coming and going. After the one no-trump opening, North's jump to three diamonds was game-forcing and slam-invitational. Because South viewed his hand as minimal, he signed off in three no-trump. That was wrong. If North has a long diamond suit, he will probably be short elsewhere. Game or slam in diamonds might easily succeed, while three no-trump could fail. In fact, six diamonds is a good contract and would surely make. South should have realized that his prime controls — aces and the heart king — are right for a suit contract and wrong for no-trump. But South did bid three no-trump, subjecting his partner to phase two.

Declarer won East's spade queen with the ace and played the diamond ace and a small one. East won the diamond king and returned the spade nine. The defenders now quickly took four spade tricks to set the contract. As Oswald Jacoby used to say, "He played it as well as he bid it." Since declarer must try to establish the diamond suit without letting East get the lead, he should lead to dummy's club king and run the diamond 10. Although West will win the jack, declarer will pick up East's king when he regains the lead, and three no-trump will make with overtricks. It's not as good as bidding and making six diamonds, but much better than minus 50.

When partner suggests a suit contract, accept when you have aces and kings; prefer no-trump when your high-card strength is in queens, jacks and 10s.

"Designing With Paint" is program topic for sorority

Sue Sewell presided at the Lambda Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi meeting held at Snyder Country Club on March 4. Founder's Day plans were discussed. Dena Ellis won the door prize and Barbara Bills was hostess.

"Designing With Paint" was the program title presented by Gay Idom. She stated that knowing how to use it gave you decorating power you never dreamed of. Like a magician, with a wave of your brush you'll be able to hide flaws, create focal points, completely change the mood of a room, increase the feeling of spaciousness, or turn dull into dramatic.

Mrs. Idom explained color language terms and methods of choosing color schemes using a color wheel and color charts. She cautioned that if a paint chip is the exact color you want, you should choose a lighter shade in a large area because the color intensifies. Lighting tips to remember are that direct sunlight adds warmth to color, daylight through northern windows will have a cooling effect but daylight also washes out delicate neutral shades, so you need to choose a tone one or two steps darker.

Because of the variablility of lighting to assure pleasing combinations and the desired effect, all color samples should be checked in the room they are to be used, with changing daylight and night lighting. Mrs. Idom closed her program by stating that nature itself shows us how color makes the outside world so beautiful. Use it to make your inside world more beautiful and interesting.

Elizabeth Chagra receives 30-year sentence

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Elizabeth Chagra has received a 30-year prison sentence for the second time for plotting to kill a federal judge.

The 32-year-old Mrs. Chagra was convicted of the crime again on Feb. 27 after her original conviction was overturned by an appeals court.

U.S. District Judge William Sessions, who in 1982 ordered Mrs. Chagra to serve a 30-year term, re-issued the sentence Monday.

She will be eligible for parole in 1992, according to federal prosecutors.

"I thought it was a grisly, grisly bit of work on the part of the judge," her attorney Warren Burnett said after the sentencing.

"I was quite disappointed. She's been a splendid prisoner and has been rehabilitated. Both of these factors should have been taken into consideration," he said.

Burnett urged leniency so Mrs. Chagra could tend to her ailing parents.

"You have nothing but the most compelling evidence of her rehabilitation," Burnett told the judge. "We are deceiving ourselves to think that she would be further rehabilitated by further incarceration."

Mrs. Chagra made a tearful plea to the judge that she be imprisoned near her family in El Paso. But Sessions did not specify where she would be incarcerated.

She told Sessions she did not know how much longer her parents would live and that her three children had become almost strangers to her.

"If I can't be their mother, I want to at least be their friend," she said.

Mrs. Chagra was convicted of plotting to kill U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr., who was gunned down outside his home here May 29, 1979.

Known as "Maximum John" for his stiff sentences, he had been presiding over a drug case involving Jimmy Chagra, Mrs. Chagra's husband.

She testified in the most recent trial that she delivered $250,000 to Wood's hired killer, Charles Harrelson. But she said she thought the money was to pay off a gambling debt owed by her husband.

He was convicted of obstruction of justice in the Wood murder, but was acquitted of conspiracy.

Chagra is serving concurrent 47-year and life terms for drugs, tax evasion and obstruction of justice charges as well as for plotting to assassinate former assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr.

Jimmy Chagra pleaded guilty to the Kerr conspiracy charge and in return, Sessions agreed to consider a sentence reduction to 20 years for Mrs. Chagra.

A few months later, her original conviction was overturned.

Crisis Hot-Line now operating in Big Spring

BIG SPRING--A new service--a Crisis Hot-Line--began service for a 23-county area surrounding Big Spring effective March 1, according to A. K. Smith, superintendent, and Jack Stovall, director of community programs for Big Spring State Hospital.

"This newly established Crisis Hot-Line will be operative 24 hours a day, seven days a week," Smith said. "It is being established to provide constant crisis coverage to the 23 counties in West Texas that make up Regions 37 and 38, the region for which Big Spring State Hospital is the mental health authority."

In explaining the operation of the new service, the two hospital officials pointed out that any call to the new line will light up an emergency light on the switch board at the hospital and the operator will promptly transfer the call to a mental health professional.

"All that any caller from the counties covered has to do is contact the telephone operator in his area and ask for Enterprise 8-4357," Smith said. "When the call comes in to the hospital it will be handled promptly. During the day service hours--8 a.m. to 5 p.m.--the call will go immediately to the Outpatient Clinic, where it will be handled by one of the 14 professionals of community services. At other times the request will be referred to a professional on call for that purpose.

"The professional who takes the call will evaluate the call and decide just what measures need to be taken. The community services workers will rotate the after-hours duty, so that some of them will be constantly available to offer help," Smith said.

The Crisis Hot-Line number will be listed in the yellow pages of all telephone directories that cover 23 counties in the Big Spring State Hospital service area.

"The salient feature of this new service is that there will always be someone on duty to deal with the crisis," Stovall said.

The 23 counties included in the Big Spring State Hospital service area are: Andrews, Dawson, Gaines, Garza, Howard, Mitchell, Nolan, Reeves, Loving, Scurry, Terry, Ward, Upton, Crane, Fisher, Kent, Martin, Runnels, Terrell, Winkler, Yoakum, Glasscock and Borden.

To get in touch with the mental health Crisis Hot-Line ask the operator for Enterprise 8-HELP (4357.)

Shelburne & Son specializes in remodeling jobs

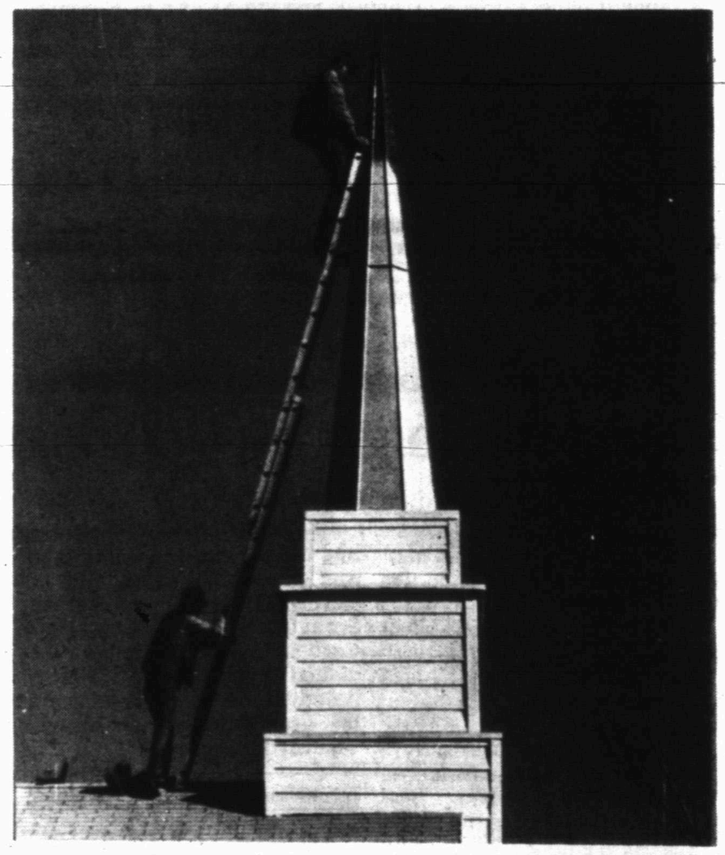

T.E. Shelburne & Son has made quite an impact on Snyder over the past 31 years. A trip through residential areas will pass numerous homes that are either built or remodeled by T.E. Shelburne & Son. Throughout the business district, T.E. Shelburne & Son has built or remodeled commercial buildings for virtually every conceivable use. Shelburne's skilled and qualified employees are capable of and willing to accept and accomplish any remodeling job.

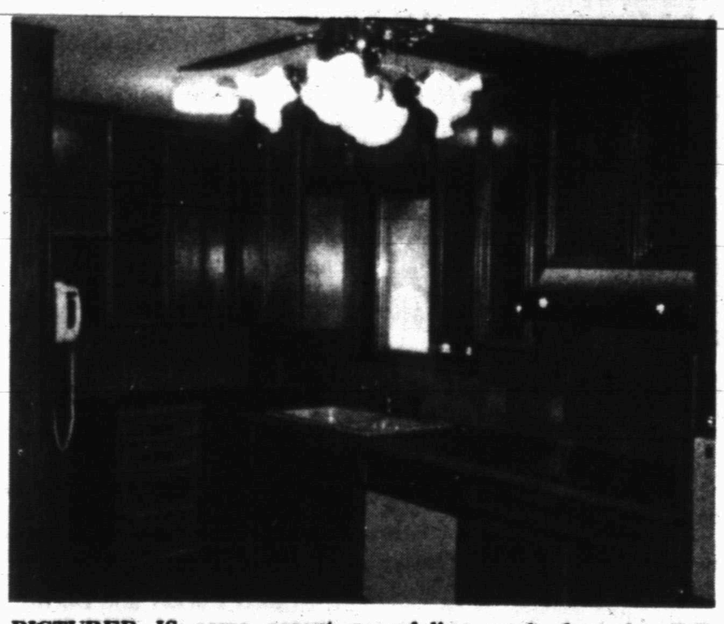

Every additional space when remodeling does not have to include added on space. Let T.E. Shelburne & Son put some of its talent to work to show how rearranging available space can give added usable space at a substantial savings over major add-on. However, if add-on is the only way to accomplish the desired effect, allow T.E. Shelburne & Son to show you how to get the most for your money.

Remember, along with quality and reliability, T.E. Shelburne & Son includes a one year guarantee on all workmanship and materials in most cases. This removes the added burden of "will it work?" from most remodelings. With T.E. Shelburne & Son, it will work.

So drive around Snyder and see the handiwork of T.E. Shelburne & Son. The visual impact is great, but greater still is customer satisfaction of a job well done, be it large or small.

Every prospect is treated with equal importance. If remodeling is in your future be sure to call on T.E. Shelburne & Son.

Prostitution charge sparks investigation

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The arrest of two Brown University seniors on prostitution charges has sparked an investigation into whether the women are members of a sex-for-money ring involving college students, police say.

One of the 21-year-old seniors at the Ivy League school charged with prostitution said Monday that she and her friend were innocent, and accused police of violating their rights.

Dana E. Smith, of Avon, Conn., and Rebecca R. Kidd, of Orange, Conn., were arrested Thursday, police said. Both were arraigned and released, said Deputy Police Chief Walter Clark. He refused to discuss specifics of the probe.

"All I can say is that there is an investigation of prostitution being conducted," he said. "We haven't linked anybody to this investigation yet."

Detectives said no information on the arrests would be available until today.

WJAR-TV of Providence, quoting sources it did not name, said the women got involved in the alleged ring by answering a personal ad in a newspaper.

Ms. Smith, in a telephone interview, declined to discuss the circumstances of her and Ms. Kidd's arrest, citing advice from her attorney.

Comedian Myron Cohen dead at 83

NYACK, N.Y. (AP) — Comedian Myron Cohen, who for more than a quarter of a century humored audiences with stories told in dialect, has died of heart failure at Nyack Hospital. He was 83.

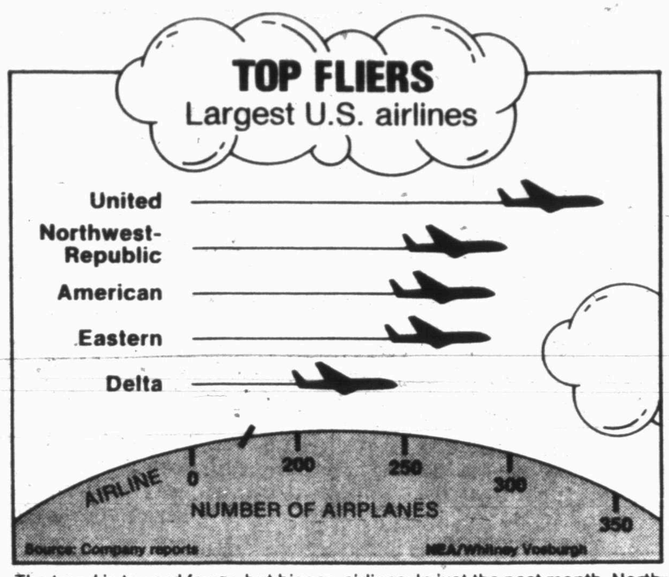

Cohen, who died Monday, had worn a pacemaker for some time and suffered a heart attack in September, said his nurse, Vivian Stowbridge. She took him to the hospital from his home in nearby New City earlier that day.

"I'm so shocked, I can hardly talk," said fellow comedian Henny Youngman.

"We've been friends for something like 50 years, and we've been pals for years ... we've been to a lot of shows together and he was the best story-teller around in the last 40 years."

Cohen, whose last public performance was in 1984, was a perennial favorite at nightclubs and resorts around the country.

He was a former salesman in the silk industry and began as a comedian with a routine at Leon and Eddie's nightclub in New York.

The trend is toward fewer, but bigger, airlines: In just the past month, Northwest bought Republic, while Eastern was acquired by Texas Air, although it will keep its own separate routes and fleet.

Benefits available for ex-POWs

Statistics compiled by the Veterans Administration show that more than half the 142,227 American servicemen and women held captive by enemy forces during four periods of conflict dating to 1917 are alive today, E. H. (Dan) Dever, Jr., Scurry County Veterans Service officer, said.

An estimated 79,000 of these veterans are over 65.

The VA has made special efforts to insure that former prisoners of war are fully informed of their benefits. Legislative changes in 1981 and 1984 eased criteria for former POWs to establish service connection for certain disabilities. Veterans interned 30 days or more can have disabilities presumed to be service-connected from certain diseases.

Compensation rates for service-connected disabilities were increased effective Dec. 1, 1985, with compensation entitlement applying to all service-connected disabled veterans and not just former POWs.

Veterans who need information about VA benefits may contact Dever's office in the Western Texas College Administration Building. The office is open each weekday and can be reached by telephone at 573-8511.

TDC improvements continue

PALESTINE, Texas (AP) — Budget cuts by the Texas Department of Corrections will not affect the department's court order to build new facilities and improve living conditions for inmates, prison board chairman Alfred Hughes said.

"We're not cutting any associated items," Hughes said Monday. "But we've stopped all capital projects, except those that are court-related."

Hughes said the TDC will be able to comply with only half of Gov. Mark White's request for all state agencies to cut their budgets by 13 percent in light of the state's oil-related economic problems.

Items that were eliminated, he said, include a new department adminstration building and projects like parking lots.

Hughes also said the department would not attempt to renegotiate the federal court agreement in hopes of trimming costs.

"That would be a waste of all our time," he said.

Hughes, speaking during a meeting of the Texas Board of Corrections, said the budget cuts for his department are still undergoing scrutiny and no decisions will be made for a couple of weeks. He said a special board meeting likely will be held to approve the final cuts.

"This is a little different from other agencies," Hughes said. "Much of our funds are not discretionary. We've still got to feed inmates."

James Lynaugh, deputy corrections director for finance, said the department already has put a temporary halt to promotions, transfers, rehiring and all hiring except for "critical positions," such as medical staff and corrections officers.

In addition, he said, all capital purchases have been stopped, out-of-state travel must have prior approval and department-paid mileage for personal car use has been halted to encourage use of TDC-owned vehicles.

"We need to finish an entire review before we make decisons (on the overall budget), Lynaugh said.

"In the meantime, we're attempting to enforce the governor's order," he said. "We'll do the best we can. But we will not impair TDC in regards to court commitment and health and safety."

On other items, board member James Parsons said discussions are still under-way with local officials in Huntsville for administration of the annual prison rodeo. The corrections department wants to get out of the business of staging the rodeo, but will do so once more in October.

TDC Deputy Director James Riley said the system's violence problem continues to decline, with incidents this year down 63 percent from the same period a year ago. The last prison homicide occurred in September.

"We're certainly encouraged by these long-term trends," Riley said.

Salinity study now underway

BIG SPRING--The U. S. Geological Survey and the Colorado River Municipal Water District are joining in a study of salinity problems along the Colorado River and its substantial tributaries from Lake J. B. Thomas to the confluence of the Concho River.

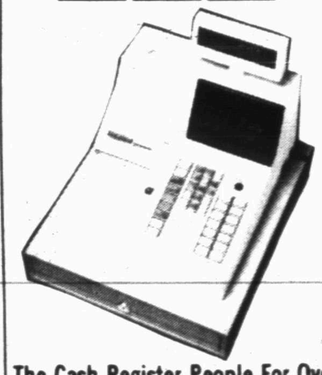

The three-year evaluation will cost approximately $300,000, which will be shared equally by the agencies. Field work will be done by the USGS through its San Angelo office, and reports will be available.

Water gain and loss investigations will be made on the Colorado, also on major tributaries such as Beals Creek, Elm Creek and the Concho River. Salinity levels will be determined during specified three-day intervals during summer low-flow stages and winter medium-flow periods.

Water wells within a few miles of the river will be investigated and tested for water levels and salinity. All possible sources of saline intrusion will be explored, including natural salt seeps, discharges from properly plugged oil wells, disposals, etc,

All field data collection will be directed by Raymond Slade, hydrologist with the USGS in San Angelo. Field personnel will be contracting land and well owners to take advantage of their knowledge.

Solons, FAA clash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration insists it has enough air traffic controllers to direct airplanes safely, but members of Congress are showing increased skepticism and worry about the margin of safety.

"I see a healthy (air traffic control) system out there," FAA Administrator Donald Engen told a group of senators Monday who had joined a task force to examine air safety issues.

The task force is made up of Senate Republicans, but its chairman, Sen. Bob Kasten of Wisconsin says it was formed because of the heightened worry about airline safety — a concern he said Democrats share.

In the House, a new round of air safety hearings are scheduled for next week in the wake of a General Accounting Office study that said controllers are overworked and that air traffic should be restrained at least during peak travel times at the busiest airports.

The FAA has said no further curtailment of air traffic is necessary.

Rep. James Oberstar, D-Minn., chairman of the investigations subcommittee of the House Public Works and Transportation Committee, said last week's GAO report "shows clearly that there are serious stresses on the nation's air traffic control system."

Engen's appearance at the Senate task force meeting Monday was marked by sharp exchanges with senators.

Court refuses to allow strip searches in Lubbock County

LUBBOCK (AP) — The nation's highest court didn't accept Lubbock County's argument that strip searches are necessary for jail safety.

The Supreme Court, without comment, refused Monday to let jail personnel continue conducting strip searches of everyone arrested, including those held in connection with minor offenses.

The county's strip-search policy was challenged by two women, Paulette Stewart and Barbara Wilkerson.

Ms. Stewart was arrested for public intoxication and Ms. Wilkerson was accused of issuing a bad check. A federal jury awarded Ms. Stewart $1 in nominal damages and $17,000 in lawyer fees. Ms. Wilkerson was awarded $15,000 by a federal jury.

A federal judge also ordered Lubbock County officials to discontinue the searches.

Don Stapleton, chief administrator of the Lubbock County Sheriff's Department, said Monday that searches are essential for jail security.

"The purpose of the strip-searches was to keep any kind of weapons or any contraband — dope, money, things like that — from coming into the jail," Stapleton said. "Since the federal court order was handed down that we couldn't strip-search everybody, we've seen an increase especially in the marijuana and small amounts of dope being smuggled into the jail."

Since the federal judge issued his order, jail personnel have limited strip searches to people entering the main confinement area, Stapleton said.

"While it's a situation we'd rather not have to operate under, we have been able to operate under it without too great a difficulty," he said.

Cage coaches tumble; NTSU's Newman quits

by The Associated Press

The day after 96 postseason tournament bids were issued, coaches from six schools that received no invitations were either fired or resigned.

Tom Apke of Colorado, John McDougal of Northern Illinois and Bill Trumbo of Idaho were dismissed, while Boyd Grant of Fresno State, Paul Covington of Jackson State and Tommy Newman of North Texas State all resigned Monday.

Apke, who was at Colorado for five years and had two years remaining on his coaching contract, was fired after the Buffalos completed the season with 17 consecutive losses.

Grant walked away three years after leading Fresno State to the 1983 National Invitation Tournament title. He rebuilt what had been a mediocre program before his arrival nine years ago.

"I felt this would be a good time to resign and leave the program," said Grant.

Trumbo was fired at Idaho because of eroding support for the Vandals' program, which had sunk to the bottom of the Big Sky Conference, Athletic Director Bill Belknap said.

Covington, who had been head coach at Jackson State for 19 years, said of his resignation, "It wasn't something that came overnight. I started thinking about this 10 months ago. I talked with my wife back then and she said it was enough and that I'd been up and down the highways too long."

Newman, who spent three years at North Texas State, cited "the best interests for me and my family" as his reason for quitting. The 41-year-old coach had an overall record of 24-60, with a 10-18 record this season.

McDougal, 61, head coach at Northern Illinois for the last 10 years, was offered reassignment within the athletic department, said school spokesman Robert. J. Brigham.

McDougal had an overall record of 136-141 at the DeKalb, Ill., school. His team this year was 15-12 before being upset in the Mid-American Conference postseason tournament by Toledo.

Froggies hope to counter Montana offense with 'D'

MISSOULA, Montana (AP) - Montana and Texas Christian will bring distinctly different styles of basketball to the opening game of the National Invitation Tournament, with the Grizzlies' inside power game squaring off against the quicker, guard-oriented offense of the Horned Frogs.

"TCU will be well-coached and disciplined and take good shots," said Montana Coach Mike Montgomery. "I think they will run a man defense and a four-man passing game."

The Horned Frogs, 21-8, will be led tonight by guards Carl Lott and guard Carven Holcombe, who average respectively 14.9 and 12.8 points a game. Lott was named the Southwest Conference's newcomer of the year.

TCU also features one of the best defenses in the country, giving up just 57.2 points a game and allowing its opponents to shoot just 40.5 percent from the floor.

Montana's bread and butter is senior forward Larry Krystkowiak, a 6-foot-9 All-America candidate who averaged 22 points and 11.4 rebounds a game. Krystkowiak is the school's all-time leading scorer and rebounder, and was named the NCAA District 7's player of the year.

He is joined on the front line by 6-10 senior center Larry McBride, averaging 10.8 points a game, and 6-5 forward John Boyd.

Texas Christian finished its regular season in a tie with Texas and Texas A&M for first place in the Southwest Conference, but lost in the conference's postseason tourney to eventual champion Texas Tech, 71-64.

Texas Tech also happens to be the only common opponent this season of TCU and Montana. The Grizzlies lost to the Red Raiders 65-58 at Lubbock last November.

Montana, 21-10, ended its regular season tied for first place in the Big Sky Conference with Northern Arizona, and lost in the postseason conference tournament title game to Montana State, 82-77.

Wednesday night in the first round of the NIT, it will be Dayton, 19-8, at McNeese St., 20-10; Boston University, 21-9, at Providence, 15-13; and Pittsburgh, 15-13, at Southwest Missouri State 22-7.

St. John's Berry unanimous All-American cage selection

NEW YORK (AP) - Walter Berry, the leading scorer and rebounder for Big East Conference tournament champion St. John's, was the only unanimous selection on the 1985-86 Associated Press Division I All-America college basketball team announced today.

The 6-foot-8 junior who played center for the 30-4 Redmen this season was joined on the first team by seniors Len Bias of Maryland, Kenny Walker of Kentucky and Johnny Dawkins of Duke and Indiana junior Steve Alford.

A panel of 10 sportswriters and broadcasters comprised the selection committee.

There are no repeaters from last year's first team. Bias, Walker and Dawkins were second team selections last year.

Berry, who played in the shadow of All-America Chris Mullin at St. John's last season, moved from forward to center this season. He averaged 22.9 points and 11.3 rebounds despite facing double and triple coverage most of the season.

Berry used his great leaping ability, unorthodox style and soft left-handed touch to lead the Big East in scoring. He made 60 percent of his field-goal attempts and holds the school record for total points in a season and blocked shots.

He was named winner of the John Wooden Award Sunday, one of the sport's honors as college basketball's top player.

"He's so cunning inside it's incredible," says Villanova Coach Rollie Massimino. "His style is so different. I don't know, maybe the only way to stop him is to break his arm."

Bias, the AP's unanimous choice as the Atlantic Coast Conference's Player of the Year, averaged 22.9 points on 55 percent shooting from the field and 86 percent from the free-throw line. The 6-8 forward, relying mostly on outside jump shots, has scored 2,092 points in his career, surpassing Albert King as the Terrapins' all-time scoring leader.

"Bias is not only an All-American," Lefty Driesell, the coach of 18-13 Maryland, said, "but he's all-world. He's the best player I've ever coached."

Walker, also 6-8, has been the main force behind Kentucky the past two seasons, leading the Wildcats to Southeastern Conference titles in both the regular and post season this year. He averaged 19.6 points on 57 percent shooting from the field, bringing his career total to 1,976 - third on Kentucky's all-time list.

He also averaged 7.6 rebounds while playing forward in the the 29-3 Wildcats' three-guard, two-forward offense.

Eddie Sutton, in his first season as Kentucky coach, also likes the way Walker takes charging fouls, his defense and turnover rate (1.4). "That's a complete player," Sutton says.

"He's one of the greatest ever at the University of Kentucky," Louisiana State Coach Dale Brown said.

Dawkins, a 6-2 off guard, teamed with Tommy Amaker in leading top-ranked Duke's pressure defense which forced an average of 19 turnovers this season. He has been the Blue Devils' scoring leader in each of his four seasons, giving him a total of 2,403, tops in Duke history and second all-time among ACC players.

He also became the first player in ACC history to accumulate more than 2,000 points, 500 rebounds and 500 assists in a career. He averaged 19.3 points this season on 54 percent field-goal shooting and 81 percent from the foul line.

"Johnny has been not just consistently good, but consistently excellent for four years," says Duke Coach Mike Krzyzewski, whose 32-2 team won the ACC regular-season and tournament crowns.

Alford, a 6-2 off guard for the 21-7 Big Ten runner-up Hoosiers, has averaged 22.4 points on 56 percent shooting from the field - normally outside jumpers - and 87 percent from the foul line. He's scored more than 30 points five times this season and ranks as Indiana's fourth all-time scorer with 1,665 points.

After a recent strong shooting effort, Hoosiers Coach Bob Knight said, "He's not big, he's not strong, he's not quick and he has just scored a ton of points. He's as good a scorer for being strictly a jump shooter as anybody I've seen."

The second team comprised 6-11 sophomore forward Danny Manning of Kansas and four seniors - 6-4 guard Dell Curry of Virginia Tech; 6-11½ center Brad Daugherty of North Carolina; 6-6 forward Ron Harper of Miami of Ohio and 6-1 guard Scott Skiles of Michigan State.

The third team consisted of two seniors - Michigan's 6-11 center Roy Tarpley and Mark Price, Georgia Tech's 6-0 guard. The others are juniors - 7-0 center-William Bedford of Memphis State, David Robinson, 6-11 Navy center, and Syracuse 6-2 guard Dwayne "Pearl" Washington.

Bass Club schedules meeting for Thursday

Snyder Bass Club will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Snyder National Bank community room for its monthly meeting.

The meeting will conclude the club's first tournament of 1986, a month-long, lake-of-choice tournament that prompted "tremendous interest and fantastic fishing."

Prizes will be awarded to the top three finishers plus the winner of the Big Bass Pot. Lake Falcon will likely proclaim the majority of the winning strings, with Tommy Hood weighing in five fish for a total 29 pounds, eight ounces; the largest a nine-pound, five-ounce bass. Ronnie Parsons weighed in one fish tipping the scales at 11-pounds, 13½ ounces.

Also on the meeting's agenda will be a film titled "Fishing From Top to Bottom with Rick Clunn" and discussion of the club's April 12 invitational tournament at Lake Spence.

New members are accepted at the meeting also.

The club would like to annouce its 1986 Tournament Trail. The club will hold its monthly tournaments on the following dates and at the sites indicated below:

March 15-16 – Lake Colorado City
April 12-13 – Lake Spence
May 10-11 – White River
June 14-15 – Lake Champion
July 12-13 – Lake Thomas
August 16-17 – Hubbard Creek
September 13-14 – Possum Kingdom
October 11-12 – Lake Stamford
November 1-2 – Oak Creek

Registration for the Colorado City tournament this weekend will be accepted at the meeting,

NBA roundup...

Mavs shock Boston

DALLAS (AP) - There couldn't have been a more unlikely evening for the Dallas Mavericks to finally defeat the Boston Celtics after six years of trying.

Dallas' high-scoring Mark Aguirre was out with the flu and Boston's Larry Bird tied the Reunion Arena record with 50 points.

But the Mavericks clawed back from a 13-point deficit in the closing minutes to nick the Celtics 116-115 Monday night on a pair of Rolando Blackman free throws with eight seconds left.

It was Dallas' first victory over the Celtics in 12 tries since joining the NBA in 1980. Boston was the only NBA team the expansion Mavs hadn't defeated.

"It's very exciting for us to beat Boston," said Blackman, who led Dallas with 32 points. "It ranks right up there with the first time we got into the playoffs."

In the only other NBA games, Phoenix surprised Detroit 120-109 and Seattle tripped Golden State 111-108.

Dallas Coach Dick Motta said he wasn't sure he would ever see the Mavericks beat the Celtics.

"It was going to come eventually whether I was the coach here or Rip Van Winkle," Motta said. "Bird put on a clinic and we were fortunate to survive."

Bird said scoring 50 points didn't mean much in a loss.

"I would rather have a 20-point game and win," he said.

Suns 120, Pistons 109

Larry Nance equalled his NBA career high with 44 points and Phoenix snapped Detroit's 15-game home winning streak.

The Suns never trailed after Nance scored 20 points in the first quarter, leading them to a 36-27 advantage at the end of the period.

Phoenix extended its margin to 75-62 early in the third quarter before the Pistons rallied to cut the deficit to seven. A 10-4 streak rebuilt the 13-point bulge and the Pistons got no closer than nine the rest of the way.

Kelly Tripucka scored 30 points for Detroit, which played without star guard Isiah Thomas, out with a sprained thumb.

Sonics 111, Warriors 108

Jack Sikma's three-point play with four seconds remaining gave Seattle its first victory of the season by a margin of three points or less.

Goaltending was called against the Warriors' Larry Smith on the decisive play and Sikma was fouled by Golden State center Joe Barry Carroll. Sikma's free throw gave him a total of 11 points in the final quarter.

Xavier McDaniel scored 26 points and Sikma 23 for the Sonics, now 1-10 in games decided by three points or less. Carroll and Purvis Short scored 22 each for Golden State and Terry Teagle had 21.

Bedford leads all-tourney team

DALLAS (AP) - Texas Tech's Tony Benford, a near-unanimous choice as outstanding player after leading the fifth-seeded Red Raiders to the Southwest Conference Post-Season Basketball championship Sunday, was the only unanimous choice on the all-tournament team announced Monday.

Benford was named on all 70 ballots, after getting all but two votes in outstanding player balloting.

Others selected to the all-tournament team were Texas A&M's Winston Crite with 64 votes, Texas Christian's Carl Lott with 56, Tech's Dwayne Chism, 47, and A&M's Don Marbury, 35.

Eighteen players from five schools were listed on the balloting. Five each from TCU and A&M received votes, along with four from Tech, three from Texas and one from Arkansas.

Named to the second team were Texas' John Brownlee with 21 votes; Tech's Sean Gay, 14, and Ray Irvin, nine; A&M's Jimmie Gilbert, eight; and TCU's Greg Grissom, seven.

NFL on drug issue...

Rozelle plans to take a hard-line approach

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) - Pete Rozelle has decided on the hard-line approach to drugs in the National Football League, challenging the NFL players' union to approve his plan for random testing or have it imposed unilaterally.

Speaking in the wake of a winter of drug-related developments in professional basketball and baseball, the NFL commmissioner said Monday that he hopes to have an agreement on testing worked out "in four to six weeks" with Gene Upshaw, executive director of the NFL Players Association.

But Rozelle also said that if nothing has been agreed to by the opening of training camps next July, he will impose random testing unilaterally.

"When you're paid an inordinate amount of money for six months work, there has to be some payback besides a great performance on the field," he said at a news conference during a break in the NFL owners' meetings here.

Rozelle's position, in his strongest statement to date on the subject, states that drugs are eroding the financial health of the league as well as the physical health of its affected players.

"This is not a public relations problem," he said.

"It can affect the money that comes into the NFL so its a pure economic problem. We'll lose ratings, we'll lose television advertising, it will have a long-term effect."

But Dick Berthelsen, the union's legal counsel, said by telephone from Washington said that any effort to unilaterally impose a drug plan would violate the union contract.

The contract, which expires after next season, allows testing at the opening of training camp and for "reasonable cause" during the season. Some teams maintain players can be tested in post-season physicals, testing that players on some teams - notably the St. Louis Cardinals - declined to take this season.

"We already have a drug policy and it can't change its terms by unilateral action," said Berthelsen, who pointed out that 78 percent of the players who responded to a union survey opposed random drug testing.

Berthelsen noted that the union had already added the "reasonable cause" clause to the agreement. He said he had informed Upshaw that "Rozelle doesn't have the legal right to impose such tests."

But the commissioner said he would go ahead with the plan whether or not the union agrees. "It's important enough whether I had legal assurance or otherwise I would sure take the shot," he said.

Rozelle's stance stems in part from his contention that there's not a team in the NFL that's untouched by drugs.

Hagler disposes of tough Mugabi

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - Marvelous Marvin Hagler likes to say nothing pleases him more than a good fight. Against John "The Beast" Mugabi, he got that - and more.

Hagler, pushed hard by a determined Mugabi, battered the challenger through the late rounds Monday night before knocking him out at 1:29 of the 11th round to retain his undisputed middleweight title.

It was a crowd-pleasing performance by Hagler, who appeared to dominate much of the bout, but had trouble putting Mugabi away. And, at least in the eyes of the ringside judges, Mugabi was in the fight until the end, trailing by three points on two cards and only one on the third.

"It wasn't that close," insisted Hagler. "I thought I had full control of the whole fight."

The victory, coupled with Thomas Hearns' devastating first-round knockout of James Shuler an hour earlier, set up a planned Hagler-Hearns rematch - a prospect Hagler wasn't was looking forward to after going 11 bruising rounds with Mugabi.

"I've given it a lot of thought ... this may be my last fight," he said immediately after the bout.

But after getting some attention to a bruised right eye, a shower and a change of clothes, Hagler backed off a bit.

"I'm not committing myself to anything now," he said. "I just got through with a tough fight. Let me get home a put it together."

Hagler opened the 11th with a flurry that backed the challenger up, then connected with two rights, followed by a left, and three straight hard rights that put Mugabi down.

Lane counted Mugabi out as he sat on the canvas, one hand clutching the ropes.

Mugabi, who moved up from the 154-pound class to challenge Hagler, didn't offer any excuses.

"I tried my best," he said. "He's a great champion."

Mugabi's manager, Mickey Duff, said his fighter may have earned more than his $800,000 purse with the showing.

Hagler, who earned $2.5 million plus a percentage of total revenues, ran his record to 62-2-2 with 52 knockouts before a sellout crowd of 15,335 at the cold, damp outdoor arena at Caesars Palace.

'Nothing to lose' for hobbled Remy

by The Associated Press

Jerry Remy is getting the last chance of his baseball career this spring after seven operations on his left knee.

Remy, 33, in the last year of a five-year contract he signed when he had two healthy knees, played second base Monday for the first time since May 5, 1984 and helped the Boston Red Sox beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-6 in a spring training game.

"Hey, this is it, I have nothing to lose," Remy said after his single set up the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning. "I want to go all out down here and see what happens. I don't think I can do any more damage to the knee and I know doctors can't do any more for me."

Remy, who said he also tried "acupuncture, faith-healing and voodoo" for his knee, also started a double play in the ninth to kill a Los Angeles rally.

"It felt good to be out there and to contribute, but I can't let myself get too excited over it," said Remy, who was disabled the entire 1985 season after appearing in six games as a designated hitter in spring training.

In other games Monday, Cincinnati topped St. Louis 4-1; Houston beat Detroit 6-2; Philadelphia nipped Minnesota 2-1; the Chicago Cubs toppled Cleveland 9-5; Seattle got past San Diego 1-0 in a game shortened to six innings by rain in Arizona; Milwaukee beat Oakland 4-1 in a six-inning game; and San Francisco blanked California 1-0.

Rain in Florida also washed out games matching Toronto and Montreal, the Chicago White Sox and Kansas City, Atlanta and Baltimore, New York Mets and Pittsburgh and a scheduled night game between Texas and the New York Yankees. The Rangers-Yankees game was rescheduled for Wednesday night, with the Rangers splitting their squad to play both Atlanta and New York.

The Red Sox, who had 16 hits, trailed the Dodgers 6-5 before Todd Benzinger tied it with a double, went to third on Remy's hit and scored on Ed Romero's sacrifice fly.

After getting the lead, Boston went with ace reliever Bob Stanley in the last two innings. Stanley allowed two hits, but was helped by the double play in the ninth.

Phillies 2, Twins 1

Philadelphia left-hander Steve Carlton, trying to come back from a strained rotator cuff injury last season, yielded one run on four hits in three innings and was the winning pitcher against Minnesota.

Carlton, 1-8 last year, got the victory when Chris James hit a two-run homer off Mike Smithson in the bottom of the third.

Giants 1, Angels 0

Four San Francisco pitchers, starting with Vida Blue, combined on a seven-hit shutout victory over California to keep the Giants unbeaten in four games.

Set several schools records...

Girls place 2nd at Andrews

ANDREWS -- Snyder girls showed marked improvement for the most part at their second track meet of the season here last Saturday.

The girls polled 135 points to finish second behind powerful Odessa Permain.

Permain talled 187. Carlsbad, N.M., was third with 101. Andrews was a distant fourth with 48.

"The girls really did a great job last weekend," said Coach Patty Grimmett. "In the finals they were running in a pretty gusty wind. Even with the wind the majority improved their times and heights and distances."

Snyder also set or tied several school records. Melissa Williams tied the SHS record in the high jump with a leap of 5-foot. Kima McLarty set a school record 6:29 in the 1600 and LaFon Williams established a record 15:02 in the 3200 meters.

Those times and records are especially promising since Snyder has only recently had individuals competing in the high jump or distances.

Snyder came up with several first places, including Melissa Williams' 5-0 effort in the high jump. Also taking first place was Karlene Thompson. She won both the triple jump, with a distance of 36-7¼, and the long jump, with a 17-8½.

Thompson was also second in the 200 meters with a time of 25.9.

She was pushed in 200 meters by Katrina Reed, who took third with a 26.1.

In other events, Stephanie McKnight was third in the long jump with a 15-10½; Hope Hernandez was third in the discus with a 106-1 and McLarty was third in the 1600 with her 6:29.

The Lady Tigers also came up with a number of fourth, fifth and sixth place finishes.

Snyder relay teams swept second place in all three events. The 400 team of Sharnette Thompson, McKnight, Kim Koening and Yolanda Rivers ran a 52.2.

The 800 squad of Reed, Rivers, Koening and Thompson ran a 1:46.0. The same foursome also ran the 1600 relay, turning in a time of 4:18.0.

Snyder girls will compete in the Tornado Relays this Saturday. Field events are scheduled at 9:30 a.m. and running prelims are set to get underway at 1:15 p.m. Finals begin at 5 p.m.

Tiger runners vie at Andrews Relays

Snyder tracksters accumulated 39 points in the Andrews Track Meet, held here last Saturday.

The Tigers, who finished sixth place overall, will now gear up for the Tornado Relays this Saturday in Lamesa.

Dan Krenek got Snyder's only second place finish with a time of 54.5 in the 400 meters.

The Tigers pulled down several thirds, including one in the shot put when Jimmy Hunter hurdled a 47-6¾. Also sharing third were William Foree and Jacky Anderson, who cleared 5-10 in the high jump.

The Snyder 400 relay team got fourth with a 45.3 while the 1600 squad was sixth with a 3:47.5.

Placing fifth in respective events were Todd Pollard with a 16.2 in the 110 high hurdles and John Pena with a 24-flat in the 200 meters.

Sixth were Trey Tippens in the 400 meters with a 59.5 and Jamie Cofer in the 200 meters with a 24.1.

Saturday's relays in Lamesa are slated for a 9:30 a.m. start. Running prelims begin at 1:15 p.m. The finals are scheduled to begin at 5 p.m.

BRIEFS

BASKETBALL

NEW YORK (AP) - Earvin "Magic" Johnson, who led the Los Angeles Lakers to five victories last week, has been named the NBA Player of the Week.

Johnson averaged 26.4 points, 12.8 assists, 5.2 rebounds and 1.8 steals a game as the Lakers went undefeated for the week and clinched their fifth straight division title.

BOXING

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - Tim Witherspoon, who tested positive for marijuana, after beating Tony Tubbs for the World Boxing Association heavyweight title, must give Tubbs a rematch within 90 days, WBA counsel James Binns said.

Witherspoon was fined $25,000, but the WBA did not withdraw title recognition from him, Binns said.

Gun Club may want to show racks

Canyon Gun Club members are urged to contact Calvin Goebel or Dennis Chisum if they would like to show racks or deer heads at an event scheduled Saturday at Willow Park Inn.

The show will include displays from across the state and will include sculpture, taxidermy and films.

Those interested should call Goebel at 573-6938 or Chisum at 573-1961 no later than Friday evening.

BASS CLUB

the new Western Auto Store or at Keyboard-Bass Pro Shop. The tournament headquarters will be at the state park loading ramp with fishing hours Saturday from 6:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday from 6:30 to 3 p.m.

Everyone interested in bass fishing is urged to attend the meeting. New members are always welcome.

Rogers Hornsby, a Hall of Famer with a lifetime batting average of .358, played for five different major league teams.

SHS plays in Brownwood; set for Snyder tournament

BROWNWOOD -- Snyder baseball team gets its final tuneup before the Snyder Tournament here today when the Tigers take on the Lions of Brownwood at 5 p.m.

Snyder goes into the game with a 3-4 record.

The annual tournament, slated Thursday through Saturday, will be held at Moffett Field in Snyder.

The tournament opens at 1 p.m. with Lamesa taking on Brownfield. At 3, Lubbock Estacado and Plainview meet and at 6 Snyder takes on Lubbock Dunbar.

The other first-round game, pitting Brownwood and Levelland, will be held at 10 a.m. Friday.

Winners of the Lamesa-Brownfield and Plainview-Estacado ballgames will play again at noon Friday while the losers vie at 2 p.m.

In the lower half of the bracket, the Dunbar-Snyder victor will play the winner between Brownwood and Levelland at 7 p.m. Friday. Losers vie at 5.

Saturday's action begins with a seventh place game at 10 a.m. Consolation follows at 12:30 p.m. Third place is at 3 and the championship is at 6 p.m.

Sports briefs

FOOTBALL

NEW YORK (AP) - The United States Football League announced a new divisional alignment and playoff format for the 1986 season, with the league divided into two four-team divisions.

The Liberty Division will include the defending league champion Baltimore Stars, Birmingham Stallions, Memphis Showboats and New Jersey Generals, while the Independence Division will include the Arizona Outlaws, Jacksonville Bulls, Orlando Renegades and Tampa Bay Bandits.

Harry Usher, the USFL commissioner, made the announcement, adding that the 18-game regular season schedule will open Sept. 14 and conclude on Jan. 11.

Ray Milland dies

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — Ray Milland, who played opposite some of Hollywood's top female stars in the 1940s and won an Oscar for his portrayal of a tormented alcoholic in "The Lost Weekend," has died of cancer at age 78.

Milland, who learned only within the last few months that he had cancer, died in his sleep Monday at Torrance Medical Center, said agent Ronnie Leif. He was admitted Friday, said hospital spokeswoman Carmela Welte.

Born Jan. 3, 1908, as Reginald Truscott-Jones in Neath, Wales, the son of a steel mill superintendent, Milland appeared in nearly 150 films, including the classic "Dial M For Murder," and horror films in the 1970s.

One of his best known roles was the alcoholic writer in "The Lost Weekend," which won him an Oscar for best actor in 1945. The film, co-starring Jane Wyman, also won for best picture and best director for Billy Wilder.

In his 1974 autobiography, "Wide-Eyed in Babylon," Milland wrote that his portrayal created a domestic crisis. A friend saw him stagger down a New York street during the filming, but failed to see a camouflaged camera. The friend called Milland's wife, Muriel, to report that her husband had become a bum, prompting a frantic call from her for reassurance.

OPEC 'back in saddle' again

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) is "back in the saddle again," an oil company spokesman and former television newsman says.

Robert Goralski, director of communications for Gulf Oil Co., and a former NBC-TV correspondent, made the comment during a speech Monday at the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association's 53rd annual meeting.

Goralski said the current oil price situation has the world returning to the times of the late 1970s, with "OPEC back in the saddle again."

Americans face a "lowered standard of living" because of plunging oil prices and the nation's dependency on foreign oil.

Last year, Goralski said, America's balance of payments, the money paid for foreign goods opposed to what is paid by foreign countries for American goods, reached a record deficit of $125 billion.

The purchase of foreign oil accounted for $55 billion, or 44 percent of the deficit, he said.

In another speech Monday, Goralski told an Abilene civic club that lower oil prices and dependency on foreign oil eventually could hurt consumers as much as oilmen.

Low pump prices mean higher consumption and waste and greater levels of imports in the future, he said. By 1995, he predicted, the nation will be importing about 60 percent of its oil.

Oil is already the single greatest balance-of-payments problem, Goralski said, accounting for more of the trade deficit than cars and far more than shoes or textiles.

America is in the same shape with its oil supply that Japan and Germany were on the eve of World War II, and that's not good, he said.

"Japan and Germany went to war for lack of oil," Goralski said.

Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor was merely to protect its left flank while its military machine went after the real targets: the oil fields of the East Indies, Goralski said.

Nazi Germany attacked its ally, Soviet Russia, with a goal of seizing the Caucasion oil fields in the southern U.S.S.R., he said.

American oil fueled Allied victory in both World Wars and was again the major source of supply to the American and United Nations forces fighting in Korea, he said.

But in the war in Vietnam, Iran supplied the great bulk of oil used in the war effort, he said, noting that Iran is a source no longer available.

Signs are that the Soviet Union's oil production has started a decline that inevitably will leave America's major adversary an energy-importing nation, Goralski said.

That's ominous, he said, because it raises the specter of the "two big giants ... at each other's throats to get it."

Goralski criticized Congress for its track record on energy but cautioned that even lawmakers from energy-consuming states have a tough time voting for energy producers, even when they understand their point of view. Others simply don't understand, he said.

At the WECTOG conference, Goralski also noted the public's lack of interest in trying to understand the oil problem.

Neither the federal government nor the public realize that the energy industry already is taxed more than any other domestic industry, he said.

"Americans are the most uninformed people among the world's democracies," he said. Many "are not concerned about things until they become a crisis."

WTC trustees meet Monday landscape technology building.

Several possible solutions were mentioned including removing the tile and laying carpet. Hopkins told the board that several days will be involved with the repair of the classroom floor and he suggested doing it over spring break. Trustees authorized the repairs as long as the cost is below $1,500.

Krenek also said that summer tuition charges will change at the college due to a mandate by the state. The minimum payment is $100 for six weeks and $150 for a nine week session. He said this will cause foreign and out-of-state students to pay more for tuition.

Trustee Bill Wilson told Krenek and fellow board members that when they start preparing the next college budget they should all keep in mind that Gov. White has asked for 13 percent cuts and the further decline in oil values as prompted by falling oil prices.

At the beginning of Monday's meeting, the board was treated to a demonstration of HERO, a robot put together by engineering students. Bill Sutton, engineering instructor at the college, put the robot through its paces and explained its operation and uses.

Trustees attending were Bill Jones, Hargrove, R.C. Patton, Wilson, Edwin Parks and Roy Baze.

each side of Deep Creek.

One side of this wall would have included a concrete pad comprising the walkway.

This would have followed the creek from 24th St. through to 37th St. The plan was further broken down into three sections. These included an 850-ft. strip from 24th to 26th St. (at a cost of $63,750); a 2,100 ft. strip from 26th to 30th St. (at a cost of $157,500); and a 3,050 strip from 30th to 37th St. (at a cost of $228,750).

The city action came during a called noon meeting of the council. Attending it were Mayor Rod Waller and Councilmen Mickey Nunley, David Hines, Truett Bryan, Don Osborn and Troy Williamson.

At the meeting's end, the council convened in executive session to discuss pending litigation against the city regarding its current method of at-large voting.

In other action, the council voted to:

—Approve on second reading a zone change ordinance changing a block located in the 1500 Block of 23rd St. from M-1 (manufacturing) to R-3 (general residential). The change was requested by Moody Ward.

—Approve on final reading a replat of the Chisum addition located at 3200 College Ave.

—Authorize repairs to the city water treatment plant to include the installation of a new flocculator and baffles for the clarifier.
