Senate Okays Plan To Lift Rent Controls

"OLD WEST" LIVES AGAIN IN LUBBOCK—The Old West returned to Lubbock Wednesday afternoon as a colorful and long parade of fine mounts, wagons, floats and cars took part in the annual Boys' Club Rodeo parade through the city. The parade, the highlight of the opening day's Boys' Club Rodeo show, attracted thousands of persons who lined Broadway from the downtown section to College avenue, the parade route. Shown above is a portion of the Lubbock County Sheriff's Posse. Riders shown in the foreground are, left, W. AEC Isotope Program Hit

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 8 — Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) accused David Lilienthal and the Atomic Energy commission today of causing a "potential imperilment of our national security" by sending radio-active isotopes abroad for military research.

Lilienthal coldly denied any wrong-doing, saying the shipments gave away no atomic secrets. He was supported by Dr. Henry De Wolf Smyth, author of the famous Smyth report on atomic energy, who was recently appointed an AEC commissioner.

The nature of isotope—materials produced by bombarding metals with atomic "bullets"—has long been known abroad, Smyth said.

Shipment Opposed

On the other hand AEC commissioner Lewis B. Strauss supported Hickenlooper's stand that the shipments should not have been made.

Strauss said he believed his fellow commissioners—who outvoted him 4 to 1—"overstepped the law" in approving the export of isotopes for industrial research.

Highlighting a stormy congressional hearing, Hickenlooper said isotopes were sent to Norway for research on steel in connection with the development of jet planes and rockets.

He emphasized that they were shipped direct to the Norwegian military establishment, and he observed scoffingly:

"It would torture reason to presume a humanitarian objective in the research conducted by a military establishment."

Smear Campaign Charged

Lilienthal promptly retorted that there is no secret about isotopes and they are not a form of atomic energy itself.

Lilienthal said the AEC's general advisory board approved the shipments, and he remarked:

"Those men are not dopes."

Earlier, Lilienthal protested angrily that the Senate-House investigation of the AEC is being exploited to "smear people by innuendo." The 49-year-old atomic chief, whose resignation Hicken-

Divers Salvage Most Of Plane In Which 53 Persons Met Death

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, June 8. (AP)—The U.S. Navy said tonight divers had salvaged most of the wrecked transport plane which crashed into the Atlantic off San Juan Tuesday and brought death to 53 persons.

Only 28 of the 81 aboard survived. Bodies of 43 have been recovered and 10 are still missing. The charter plane was enroute to Miami, Fla. It plunged into the Atlantic off San Juan after reporting engine trouble and asking permission to return to the airport.

Only debris from the plane remained at the bottom. Divers said they saw no additional bodies in the search area, but the hunt for additional victims will continue.

Meeting On Bill Is Set

By MAC ROY RASOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, June 8.—The Senate tonight passed finally the bill removing rent controls in Texas after Senator Jimmy Phillips abandoned a six-hour filibuster.

The House-passed measure must return to the House for concurrence in two Senate amendments.

The vote on final passage was 25 to 3.

Although the husky senator from Brazoria county lost his battle to delay action on the measure until August, he picked up considerable support as a result of his long grind of argument.

Senator Jim Taylor of Kerens, G. C. Morris of Greenville and A. M. Aikin, jr., of Paris backed him strongly in an attempt to put on an amendment which would have softened the effect of the bill in areas where there are military installations. In such regions, the matter of rent control would have been left up to the city councils.

This amendment was defeated 17 to 11.

Both Taylor and Aikin pleaded with the Senate to adopt the amendment and leave the entire matter up to the local governments.

Senator Kyle Vick of Waco, Senate sponsor of the rent decontrol bill, argued that the "war had been over four years" and it was past time to do away with controls.

The two amendments the Senate did accept were:

1. To allow cities to reinstate controls if they desired.

2. A "saving" clause providing that if any section of the law is ruled invalid by a court, only that section is affected—not the entire law. (This actually was included in the House version.)

Phillips actually yielded the floor at 6:25 p.m. in arguing for his motion to postpone consideration of the bill. It was the second straight day of filibuster, and Phillips had charged the Senate with holding up action on every bill on its jampacked calendar by insisting on immediate rent decontrol.

The motion to postpone lost 20 to 5.

Phillips said the question was this:

"Do you want to strip cities of the power to control rents or do you want to give it to the legisla-

Three Persons Die In Tornado

(By International News Service)

BELVIDERE, Neb., June 8 —Three persons were killed tonight and several were injured by a tornado which swept down the main street of Belvidere.

Two of the dead were identified by sheriff's officers as Orville Bell, Jr., 13, and Elmer Polage, 50, both of Belvidere. The other fatality was an unidentified railroad worker from Kansas.

All of the dead were in a cafe operated by young Bell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Bell, both of whom were injured. The building was demolished.

The twister struck during the evening dinner hour while the cafe was occupied by railroad men from Kansas. Four or five suffered injuries in addition to the one killed.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell were taken to the Hebron, Neb., hospital for treatment.

Jury Praises, Cautions Law Officers Here

By CHARLES STONE
Avalanche Staff Writer

A 99TH district grand jury, which reported to Judge G. V. Pardue at 9:15 p. m. Wednesday, generally commended law enforcement officers here on the program of enforcement which they are carrying out, but cautioned that there had been several instances where a few officers have been overly zealous in the methods of effecting arrests."

The report, which followed three days of investigation into reports of alleged mistreatment of persons under arrest and other "discourteousness" on the part of officers, was made after approximately 70 persons—mostly negroes—had appeared before the grand jury to voice their grievances.

While law enforcement agencies were all but given a "clean bill" on recent charges, the grand jury did point out several instances which should be corrected at the earliest possible moment.

Vagrancy Program Studied

Most frequent single complaint against law officers here concerned the police department policy on arresting of negroes on vagrancy charges, it was reported.

Several of the negro business and professional people were subpoenaed Wednesday by the grand jury in order to get a well-rounded picture of the problem. One negro businessman, R. C. Priestly of 2102 East Ave. D, was a member of the jury making the investigation.

In relation to the vagrancy program of police, the grand jury report said that "a number of colored people have been arrested and charged with vagrancy who were not vagrants."

The report went on, however, to say, "We do not condemn the overall purpose of the vagrancy program of the police department, but on the contrary commend it, in coping with those individuals who are repeatedly guilty of misdemeanor offenses and who frequent places of ill repute and congregate in gambling games and are not gainfully employed. But we do call upon those officers working in this program and upon the heads of departments to use careful judgment and discretion and every available means to make certain that no innocent

18 Indictments Returned Here

Eighteen bills of indictment were returned by a 99th district grand jury which reported to Judge G. V. Pardue at 9:15 p.m. Wednesday. George Langford was foreman.

The indictments included two murder charges, one assault with intent to murder charge, one burglary, four forgeries, two cases of removing mortgaged property out of the state, one theft by bailee charge, one charge of swindling, one second offense drunk driving, and five desertion cases.

Eight of those named in indictments, one having been named on two counts, were in custody or had posted bond, the sheriff's department said.

The indictments were as follows: Seab Lee, 45, a negro of Lubbock, charged with murder by stabbing of his wife, Nell Lee; Juan Ysasaga, 21, of Lubbock route 6, murder by shooting of Benito Perales, jr., at a Mexican dance at Slaton; Bartolo Esparzo, 19, of Slaton, assault with intent to murder; Jack Tillory, 34, of Dallas, burglary and forgery; I. L. Stockton, forgery; Anestasio Alegria, 27, of Lubbock, removal of mortgaged property out of the state; Travis C. Fugate, 29, of Lubbock, second offense drunk driving; and Leonard C. Heavy Rains Cover Roads, Stall Train

Train Stranded At Quitaque; Heavy Rains, Hail Hit Wide Part Of Area

BATTERING rain, heavy hail and gale winds raged across the South Plains for the fourth night in a row Wednesday —dumping deluges that blocked several highways, stalled at least one train and caused heavy damage to crops, trees and some property.

The downpours, coming on the heels of several days of wet weather over most of the South Plains, started "backing up" in numerous areas, temporarily isolating some sections and blocking highway travel in some points.

The severe storms were continuing over a wide section early today and no immediate relief was foreseen from the weather. More of the same was forecast for the area today and tonight, and possibly through the rest of the week.

Passenger Train Is Stranded

The Municipal airport five miles north of Lubbock, Muleshoe, Olton, Matador, Abernathy, Hale Center, Quitaque and Earth apparently were the points receiving the brunt of last night's terrific downpours, heavy hailstorms and near tornadic winds.

A near "cloudburst" struck the vicinity of the Lubbock Municipal airport shortly before 10 p.m. last night, Savage winds battered the Weather station with sustained recorded velocity of 58 miles an hour and gusts of from 65 to 68 miles an hour. The Weather station said the wind was "high, straight and from the north."

From 9:55 to 10:05 p.m.—the height of the storm at the airport, at least 1.50 inches of rain fell in torrents. Some hail accompanied the sheets of water—one of the heaviest downpours for so brief a period in the history of Lubbock. By 1:15 a.m. today, the Weather bureau reported that 1.87 inches had fallen since 6 p.m. Wednesday. This brought the month's total to 2.93 inches and that for the year to 17.71.

Heavy Hail Hits Olton Section

The thunderstorm activity over the area started during mid-afternoon in the Olton, Muleshoe and Quitaque and Turkey areas.

A heavy rain in the Quitaque area "washed out" the Fort Worth and Denver City Railroad's line between that city and Turkey Wednesday afternoon, temporarily stranding the FWDC Train No. 101 in Quitaque. The train had left Lubbock at 2:10 and was due in Childress at 7:30 p.m. FWDC officials said early today that the number of passengers on the train, consisting of an engine and one coach, was not known, but usually numbered from five to ten persons.

Mrs. W. R. Scott of the Quitaque Post said that rains from Tuesday night to Wednesday at 6 p.m. totaled 4.80 inches there, that most of the cotton in the area had washed out and damage to wheat was feared unless dry weather returned soon.

Numerous Other Points Hit

Other points reported hit by rain or hail or both last night included:

Olton, more than three inches of rain and hail that "covered the ground like a white blanket;" Muleshoe, "bad hail storm" about 6:30 p.m. with stones the size of "guinea eggs;" Matador, where 1.87 inches of rain fell until 10 p.m. and another inch with hail that stripped leaves off trees and covered ground fell in one hour after that time.

Hale Center, 1.50 inch rain with part of streets flooded and some hail and high wind; Abernathy, 1.52 inches of rain and three hail storms in forty minutes; Lockney, one inch rain and hail Wednesday afternoon and again last night; Crosbyton, estimated one and one-half inches; Ralls, estimated between two and one-half

First Night's Program Is Impressive

Boys' Club Rodeo Gets Good Start

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE first performance of the annual Boys' club rodeo was presented last night in Jones stadium on the Texas Tech campus before as enthusiastic group of spectators as could be found anywhere.

It was presented, too, before an unpredictable Mother Nature, who at first gave only partly cloudy skies and cool breezes for the event, then sent heavy clouds and lightning, followed by chilling winds. Finally, she let loose a soaking, chilling, rain which halted the rodeo show before all the events had been presented.

What she has in store for tonight remains, of course, to be seen, but if rodeo events which last night were cancelled because of rain and wind are up to the standard of those events which were presented before the premature close of the first night's show, it's well worth risking the whims of the weather to be on hand when the second performance begins at 8 p.m. today.

Attendance at last night's rodeo was approximately 7,000.

One of the hits of the show, in addition to the cowboy clowns who came in for their share of the attention, was Ann Hendricks, a member of the famous World's Championship rodeo company brought here for the four-day rodeo, and her horse, "King Richard," billed as the "world's greatest dancing horse."

Dances Make Hit

And dance he did, drawing applause from the spectators for his equine interpretations of the "Carioca," "Spanish Trot," and "Extended Hesitation Waltz," in addition to that famous dance from Hawaii, the hula.

First rodeo event last night following the colorful grand entry, in which some 130 horsemen and horsewomen took part, was the cowboy's bare back riding contest, in which Jim Schumacher, of Phoenix, was winner. Second place winner was Wag Blesing, of Glendale, Calif., and third place went to Harry Tompkins, of Ardmore, Okla.

In the cowboy's calf roping contest, in which split seconds count, Toots Manfield, of Rankin, present world calf roping champion, took top honors with a count of 11.7 seconds, while Lanham Riley,

Chambers Names Five Spy Aides

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—Five persons including Alger Hiss and Julian Wadleigh gave government secrets to a prewar Soviet spy ring, Whittaker Chambers testified today.

As he had done before, Chambers named Hiss and Wadleigh as sources of State department secrets.

He did not name the other sources from which he said he received documents when he was a spy ring courier.

In the sixth day of Hiss' federal perjury trial, Chambers was asked by Assistant United States Attorney Thomas F. Murphy:

"Did you have sources of supply in other government agencies other than the State department?"

Hiss Denies Charges

"I did," Chambers replied.

Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman leaned toward the witness and said:

"How many sources of supply, approximately?"

"Three," said Chambers.

"Then did you have a total of five sources of supply?" the court asked.

"That's right," Chambers answered.

Hiss has denied he ever gave government papers to Chambers or that he even saw Chambers

British Troops Unload Ship After Dock Workers Strike

LONDON, June 8. (INS)—British troops tonight boarded the freighter Charlbury and unloaded 7,000 tons of foodstuffs shortly after Prime Minister Attlee intervened in the Liverpool and Bristol dock walkouts.

Attlee warned the 8,000 strikers that the government would not permit the food supplies to spoil and called for an end to the unofficial strike. He added:

"Unless cargoes are handled without delay I have no option but to take all steps to deal with them."

Area Burglaries Believed Solved

Four burglaries in Lubbock and elsewhere on the South Plains, and one forgery, were believed cleared Wednesday by the arrest at Floydada of Jack Tillory, 34-year-old Dallas man, the sheriff's department announced.

Tillory had signed statements admitting the forgery and one burglary each at Lubbock and Lamesa. He had also told officers that he was involved in a burglary at Muleshoe, and tools found in his possession at the time of arrest had been identified by another Lubbock victim.

A 99th district grand jury, which reported late last night to Judge G. V. Pardue, returned two bills of indictment against Tillory, charging forgery and burglary here.

Tools Found At Floydada

The burglary indictment charged that Tillory had broken into a tool shed late in May at 3600-block Thirty-first, and had removed two shoulder boxes of carpenter tools. One of the sets of tools belonged to Jewel White of Shallowater, the other to Ollie Calloway of 609 Ave. L. The defendant had admitted in a signed statement that he committed the burglary.

The tools were later recovered at Floydada and returned to their

House Group Approves Military Pay Proposals After Trimming

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—A House Armed Services subcommittee took another dollar-cutting whack at new military pay raise proposals today before approving them.

The bill, successor to one which the House turned down last month, goes before the full committee tomorrow for expected approval there, too. It may reach the House floor next week.

The subcommittee made a final concession to economy-voting congressmen. At the suggestion of Rep. Case (R-SD), it knocked out a proposed increase of $3 a month in the $32 subsistence allowance now granted to officers.

Rep. Kilday (D-Tex), chairman, said this will cut the bill approximately $6,800,000. Before this action, it was estimated the bill would add about $314 million more a year to the armed services payroll

Decision On Berlin Nears

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, INS

PARIS, June 8 — The United States moved today for a showdown on charges that Russia has failed to keep her promise to lift the Berlin blockade in return for holding the current meeting of Big Four foreign ministers in Paris.

U. S. Secretary of State Acheson asked for action on the post-blockade problem when the ministers failed to dent the deadlock on basic issues involved in a general German settlement.

He proposed that the Big Four military commanders in Berlin be instructed to complete their negotiations for implementing the blockade-lifting agreement by June 13.

Ultimatum Implied

Some British delegation quarters interpreted Acheson's move as an implied ultimatum to Russia to fulfill the blockade-lifting promise by Monday or face a walkout of western ministers next week.

Acheson said the Berlin negotiations were not making satisfactory progress. He called on Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky to join the western ministers in dispatching messages to the Berlin commanders calling for an end to dilly-dallying so that the blockade-lifting agreement can be made effective.

The latest trouble over traffic to Berlin developed as a result of the strike of non-Communist rail workers employed by the Soviet-controlled rail directorate.

The Russians have refused to negotiate with the strikers to end the walkout which has paralyzed

FLOOD THREAT GROWS

DENVER, June 8 (AP) — New flood fears swept the water-logged Arkansas river valley in southeastern Colorado late today. The stricken region has been declared a disaster area. A steady downpour drenched the sector and threatened to bring on more high water in the farming region already heavily damaged by weekend torrents and rampaging streams.

More Than 400,000 To Walk Out Monday

Lewis Orders New Miners' 'Holiday'

WASHINGTON, June 8(INS)—John L. Lewis today ordered a shutdown in all hard and soft coal mining from June 13 to June 20 in protest against "a lack of general stability in the industry."

The United Mine Workers president declared:

"This period of inaction will emphasize a lack of general stability in the industry and the dangers which will accrue therefrom if current harmful practices are not remedied."

Lewis' one-week walkout order came as soft coal wage contract negotiations at Bluefield, W. Va., were recessed until next Tuesday with the UMW charging that Southern operators' proposals cannot lead to a new agreement.

Discussion Set Monday

Lewis meets in Philadelphia Monday with representatives of U. S. Steel to discuss industry offers in connection with a new contract to replace the present mine wage pact which expires June 30.

The agreement to negotiate a new contract with Big Steel was announced earlier today.

Sen. Ellender (D-La), said the work stoppage is a death blow to administration hopes for repeal of a large portion of the Taft-Hartley act. The Senate is considering the administration repeal bill.

The federal circuit court of appeals for the District of Columbia on Monday upheld lower court fines totaling $1,420,000 against Lewis and the UMW for contempt of court for failure to end a coal strike last year.

Holiday Ordered In Letter

The work "holiday" is the second called by Lewis in recent months. The first was a two-week "memorial" stoppage called in protest against appointment of Dr. James Boyd as director of the Bureau of Mines.

Boyd's nomination, pigeonholed in the Senate throughout the Republican 80th Congress, was immediately confirmed by the Senate.

Under the Taft-Hartley act, 60 days notice of intention to strike is required. However, Lewis has authority under coal miners' contracts to order "memorial holidays."

The new one week "holiday" order was contained in letters to all officers and members of the Mine Workers union.

The order applies to all hard and soft coal mining operations.

Public Interest Cited

"It (the work stoppage) will contribute constructively to the abatement of current economic demoralization; it will not adversely affect the public interests; it will help preserve property values in the industry; and it will help preserve the living standards of the mine workers,

Secret FBI Report Labels Actor Fredric March As 'Active Red'

By EARLE MARCKRES

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Actor Fredric March topped a list of Hollywood luminaries flatly labeled Communist party members today in a secret undercover report to the FBI read at the Judith Coplon spy trial.

A "confidential informant" identified only as "ND 402" termed March and the others Communists. The report said:

"The informant (ND 402) further advised that he was satisfied the subject (March) who is active in the Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry, is a Communist party member along with Edward G. March and his actress-wife Florence Eldridge, were asserted in the report to have had "pro-Russian contacts" and to have engaged in many "Communist activities."

Taft Says GOP Willing To Accept 'Technical Repeal' Of T-H Law

By MORGAN REYNOLDS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 8—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today the Republicans have no objections to "technical repeal" of the Taft-Hartley act providing its "main principles" are retained in a new labor law.

But Senator Pepper (D-Fla), tart-tongued advocate of the administration bill to scrap the Taft-Hartley act outright, asserted that if the Democrats accept such a compromise it would be a "repudiation" of their party platform and pledges.

The two men got into a free-swinging word exchange to highlight the second day's debate over proposed changes in the 1947 labor law.

Taft opened up with a charge that Democrats on the Senate Labor committee were playing "politics" in their handling of the administration bill which would replace Taft-Hartley with a modified version of the New Deal Wagner act.

The Ohioan recalled that the Democrats pushed that measure through the committee several

Truman Designates July 24-30 As National Farm Safety Week

Because statistics of the National Safety council reveal the alarming fact that each year some 19,000 farm lives are claimed by accidents, President Harry Truman has proclaimed July 24-30 as National Farm Safety Week, County Agent Dave Sherrill said Wednesday.

The purpose of the special proclamation is to direct serious attention to underlying causes of these deaths and the many thousands of accidents that cause the loss of work days. In 1948 one farm in every six had an accident of some kind which involved expense, loss of time or equipment.

Falls Lead List

The Department of Agriculture wants to stress safety during the special proclaimed week but it is Secretary Charles F. Brannan's hope that care will be exercised throughout the entire year.

The primary goal of National Farm Safety Week is to expose the hazards existing on farms that lead to accidents some of which are fatal. Each member of every farm family will be asked to study these hazards and the hazards of their everyday occupation so that necessary jobs can be performed in the safest manner.

"Everyone in the United States is affected directly or indirectly by farm accidents," Sherrill points out.

Falls were leading the list of farm accidents in all regions. They accounted for 25 per cent of the total. Accidents involving machinery accounted for about one-eighth. Despite the mechanazation that has taken place on the farms, animal accidents in the South and West accounted for 50 per cent more than machines.

Sixteen per cent of the accidents occurred in the home. Only 28 per cent occurred elsewhere than on the farm property.

Males Hurt Most

Three times as many accidents happened to men and boys as happened to women and girls, the report shows.

Although falls were common to all age groups there was one specific type of accident that seemed especially connected with a certain bracket. For example, those under 14 had more accidents due to stepping on or striking against objects; 14 to 24 year-olds had most accidents with motor vehicles or due to burns; 25-44 year group had most accidents involving machinery; 45-64 had injuries resulting from handling heavy objects and equipment; and, the group over 65 had the largest number of falls and injuries from handling animals.

During National Farm Safety Week each day will be devoted to a particular phase of safety. Monday will be home-safety day; Tuesday livestock safety; Wednesday safety from falls; Thursday highway safety; Friday machinery safety; and Saturday a review of all types of accidents.

Secretary Brannan has called on all state and county agents to participate in the program so that every community will have some part in National Farm Safety Week.

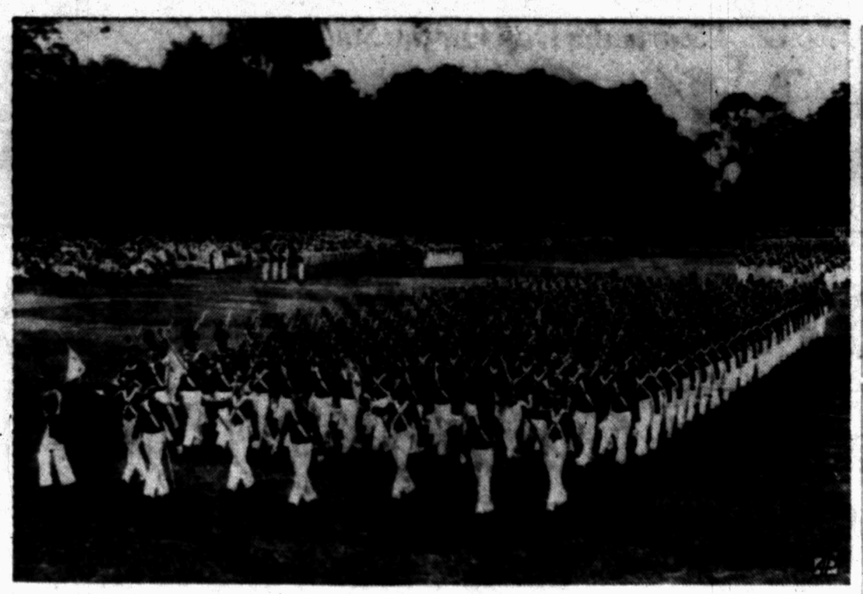

Appeals Court At Austin Hears Arguments In Horsemeat Cases

AUSTIN, June 8 (AP)—Arguments in the appeal of three Tyler horsemeat cases before the court of criminal appeals today centered mainly on the question of whether the convicted men "knowingly" sold the horsemeat for human consumption.

Tyler attorney Byron Saunders asked for a reversal of the Smith County court judgments on the ground that L. R. Neill, his client, did not "knowingly" sell horsemeat for human consumption.

He said his arguments also applied to the appeals of G. F. Phillips, convicted in two horsemeat cases and one case of allegedly treating meat with sulphite, and G. C. Crouch, convicted in two sulphite cases. Nat Gentry of Tyler, attorney for Phillips and Crouch, was reported ill and unable to appear at today's hearing.

Robert Boulter, assistant county attorney of Smith county, told the appellate court: "it's the intent of the man who sells the meat that determines the criminality of the act."

Odessa Taxpayers Group Asks Return Of Ousted Police Chief

ODESSA, June 8 (AP) — The Odessa Taxpayers league asked the city council today to put S. O. Hamm back in office as chief of police. The council tabled the league's resolution for 30 days.

The council asked for applications for a new chief of police. It said the league's resolution on Hamm and the applications for the job would be taken up at a meeting July 13.

Hamm was fired a week ago at a closed council meeting. The council said then he was discharged because he wasn't "running the department efficiently."

An Odessa Taxpayers league, formed this week, demanded to know why Hamm was fired. It voted in a public meeting last night to ask the council to put Hamm back in office.

Brooks said "this man feels he hasn't a chance in the outside world." He added:

"We feel that with a new face, this man may get a new start. The warden says he has earned it."

Veterans Land Bill Is Signed By Jester

AUSTIN, June 8 (AP) — Pretty soon a veteran can pick out some land, get the state to buy it, and then buy it from the state at a low interest rate.

Machinery for the Veterans Land program was signed into law by Gov. Beauford Jester today.

The Governor, Attorney General Price Daniel and state Land Commissioner Bascom Giles form the veterans' land board created in the legislation. They plan to meet in a few days.

Texas voters approved the idea in a constitutional amendment adopted in November, 1946. It allows a Texas veteran of World War II to buy a farm or ranch costing not more than $7,500 with a down payment as low as 5 percent of the purchase price. The rest may be paid over a 40-year period at 3 percent interest.

Money for the program will come from a $25,000,000 fund operated by the board. The veteran may select a tract of private land. The board will evaluate it buy it and then sell it to the veteran.

New Development Traced In Arkansas Ice-Box Murders

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark., June 8 (UP)—Officers hinted today at a new development in the baffling investigation of the ice-box deaths of three small children near here last Friday.

Deputy Sheriff Elmer Etchison said a team of investigators might have an announcement to make today. He declined to elaborate, but he said the questioning of an unidentified 40-year-old farm laborer was being continued.

The three victims in the bizarre tragedy were James Delbert Chastain, two, his nine-year-old sister, Joyce Ann; and six-year-old Shirley Ramsey. Their bodies were found crammed into the narrow compartment of an ice-box at the Ed Chastain home.

Officers have sought to determine whether their deaths were accidental or if the children had met with foul play.

The man being questioned was described by Etchison as the first real suspect in the case. Etchison said the man was a former patient of the state hospital.

The deputy said alibis given by the man had been proved false.

Mexico Accepts Four Bids For Construction Of Mammoth Dam

MEXICO CITY, June 8 (AP)—Mexico has four bids today for construction of what she calls "the world's largest dam."

The structure will be in the Papaloapan river valley development in southern Veracruz state—Mexico's TVA. It will be named for President Miguel Aleman, whose administration began the development.

The dam will store up to five billion cubic meters of water for irrigation, hydro-electric power and flood control.

Four corporations submitted construction bids ranging from 60 to 108 million pesos. The government calculates it should cost 97,234,428 pesos ($11,600,000), and take three years to build.

'Missouri Waltz' Rejected As Official Song Of Truman State

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 8 (INS)—"The Missouri Waltz"—reportedly President Truman's favorite song—missed being adopted as the official state song today by three votes.

The Missouri Senate voted 15 to 14 in favor of adopting the tune. Eighteen favorable votes are required for passage.

Republican Senator William Robinett, of Mountain Grove, led the attack on the song, terming it "a despicable, low-class, second-rate, barroom ballad."

Democratic Senator Floyd Gibson, of Independence, Mo., the President's hometown, asked it be adopted as a tribute to Mr. Truman.

HST To Sign Pecos River Pact Thursday

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP) — The Texas-New Mexico long-standing dispute over waters of the Pecos river will be settled formally Thursday, President Truman will sign legislation then ratifying a pact between the states.

A number of persons who worked on the settlement plan will attend the ceremony set for 9 a.m. CST.

The bill grants the consent of Congress to the agreement. It was sponsored by Rep. Ken Regan of Texas.

The Pecos rises in New Mexico, but flows into Texas before emptying into the Rio Grande. Several irrigation projects on its watershed led to a controversy between Texas and New Mexico.

Texans here for the Thursday ceremony include Charles Miller of Barstow, Texas commissioner on the Pecos River Compact commission, and J. E. Sturrock of Austin, manager of the Texas Water Conservation association.

TEXAS LADY LOSES 47 POUNDS

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat!

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger. Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here is proof

Here is what Mrs. H. P. Bishop, Route 2, Stamford, Texas, wrote us:

"I am very glad to endorse Barcentrate, so please accept my sincere thanks and appreciation for the great benefit I derived from its use. I not only lost weight, but also looked and felt better in every way.

"I had to have a very serious operation and was told that I must lose a lot of weight before the operation could be performed. I went on a diet and tried very hard to reduce, but wasn't losing much weight until I heard of Barcentrate. I began taking it and could soon tell the difference in the way I felt and the weight I was losing. I weighed 200 pounds when I started and I lost a total of 47 pounds and was able to undergo my operation. I can truthfully recommend it to others, since it did so much for me."

At all druggists

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

CO-PILOT'S HEROISM PRAISED

Hostess Describes Tragic Plane Crash In Ocean Off Puerto Rico

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The crash of a C-46 transport plant into the Atlantic ocean off Puerto Rico early Tuesday marked the worst disaster—in the number of lives lost—in the history of civil aviation. Fifty-four of the 81 persons aboard, including 19 children, died, and both in Puerto Rico and in Washington investigations are under way to determine why. High as the death toll was, rescue workers agree it would have been higher except for the heroism and calming leadership of a 24-year-old stewardess, Judith Hale of Binghampton, N. Y. Miss Hale, who kept one woman passenger from drowning in a five and one-half hour struggle against cold and exhaustion herewith tells her dramatic story and reveals "I did not know how to swim" but prayed to "God for courage."

By JUDITH HALE

SAN JUAN, P. R., June 8.—My ears were trained for motor noises so I knew by the strange sputtering of our right engine that something was wrong.

That was five or six minutes after our takeoff from Isla Grande airport for Miami and Newark, N. J.

My alarm grew when I noticed we were losing altitude rapidly and I overheard the decision of the captain to return to the airport.

The passengers were unconcerned. Some were munching their sandwiches. Some were talking. The children aboard were all asleep.

Life Belts Distributed

I confess I was scared, but I realized I must try to avoid panic among the passengers. I began asking them if they were comfortable, when suddenly the crash came. It was not very severe. Some passengers were knocked down, while others were held by their safety belts.

I told them that we were near land and everything was all right, but they already were frantic. The women prayed aloud while the children cried and the men battered the sides of the ship, trying to open the doors.

Co-Pilot Alfred Cockrill came in and he and I distributed as many life belts as we could. The doors were opened, but about half the passengers preferred to stay inside, apparently believing the ship could float indefinitely. It was very dark as the moon was not up yet.

Realizing we were sinking fast, I pushed several passengers out. I was in the tail of the ship and the nose already was submerged. Suddenly I realized I had no life belt. Although I did not know how to swim, I jumped in the water.

I struggled for awhile, desperately asking God for courage. My feet struck a hard floating object—I still do not know what it was—and I clung to it.

I saw Captain Cockrill hand his own lifebelt to a screaming woman. That was the last I saw of him. He died a hero's death.

A woman was struggling a few feet away from me and I called to her to hold to the floating object with me. She was a Puerto Rican, Consuelo Rodriguez, but spoke good English.

We talked and tried to paddle toward a rock in the distance. The plane had gone down and we heard no survivors around us. There was only silence and darkness.

Later a man, who spoke only Spanish, came and clung to our support too. He was a big fellow but on the verge of exhaustion. After two hours, we heard him pray and then he disappeared in the dark water. There was nothing we could do to help him.

On several occasions, Consuelo said she could hold on no longer. I encouraged her and even tried to joke with her to lift her courage. We clung first with one arm and then the other.

It was five and a half hours after the crash when rescue ships finally reached us. It was then that I realized both my hands were badly cut.

Court Rules Uranium Not War Material, Frees Nine Germans

FRANKFURT, June 8. (U.P.)—Pure uranium, vital to atomic bombs, is not a war material and there is no law to prevent anyone from possessing it, a U.S. Military government court ruled today.

Judge Fred J. Cohn of Raleigh, N. C., made the ruling and freed nine Germans who tried to sell a two-inch cube of "99-plus pure" uranium to a criminal investigation agent for $3,000,000.

Cohn nevertheless impounded the cube, part of Adolf Hitler's former atomic stockpile, to await a decision as to whether it legally belongs to the U.S. government or somebody else.

The cube was found in a stream near Garnisch-Partenkirchen in 1945 and was used by a German family as a firestone for nearly a year until it was recognized as atomic material.

It then passed from hand to hand, its price rising with each transaction, until April 22, 1949. Then Wilhelm Baier, an elderly shopkeeper, was trapped by a CID agent.

Electra Nears End Of Wheat Harvest

ELECTRA, June 8 (AP) — Grain men say another day of work will see the wheat harvest in the Electra section finished.

Rain totaling .33 of an inch early today delayed the cleanup. Both the K & K Grain Company, and Wilson Grain company estimate the harvest is 95 percent complete.

Crop totals had not been estimated. The yield was reduced by rain, hail, rust and worms. Sixty cars were shipped from Electra and Harrold by rail. About 40 percent of the crop was hauled in trucks to terminal storage at Dallas and Fort Worth. The rest was stored in local elevators and on farms.

D. H. Dale, vice-president of the Electra State Bank, said there would be little need of emergency loans here under the government's new storage program. He said the major part of the crop had already found approved storage under the government loan plan.

House Un-American Group Asks Schools For Lists Of Textbooks

WASHINGTON, June 8 (U.P.) — Chairman John S. Wood (D-Ga), announced today that the House Un-American Activities committee has asked 71 educational institutions for a list of their text books.

"We are not making any investigation but we are just asking the question," Wood told reporters.

He said the request was sent to colleges, high schools, and boards of education selected "at random." The committee, he added, is interested chiefly in text books on history and philosophy.

A committee official later explained that the action was prompted by allegations that there was Communist propaganda in some school textbooks.

The educational policies commission recommended meanwhile that U.S. schools refuse to hire Communists as teachers.

Union Is Sued By Motor Freight Line

DALLAS, June 8 (U.P.)—A Dallas labor union was named defendant in a $290,000 damage suit charging it forced a motor freight company out of business.

Robert P. Bush, an attorney and receiver for Fast Motor Freight, Inc., brought the action against the Dallas A.F.L. Teamsters union, local 745.

The suit was believed to be the first of its kind ever filed in Dallas county.

Judge W. L. Thornton of 44th district court issued an injunction against the union last fall, forbidding it to picket the motor line which had just begun operations with non-union labor.

Judge Thornton also ordered 16 other transport firms to resume business relations with the struck company, ruling that their boycott was a secondary one and that the union's action was secondary picketing.

Fast Motor Freight had accused the union of threatening the other firms if they consummated interline contracts with the new company.

In his damage suit against the union, Bush claimed the labor organization continued to threaten the other lines with strikes, after the injunction was issued until Fast Motor Freight was forced out of business.

Included in the $290,000 sought by Bush was $90,000 accrued damages, $100,000 future damages and $100,000 exemplary damages.

Actress' Mother Sues Band Leader Husband For Divorce

LOS ANGELES, June 8. (AP)—Mrs. Gladys O'Brien, mother of film star Margaret O'Brien, filed suit for divorce today against her bandleader husband, Don Sylvio.

It was a switch from her previously announced intention of seeking an annulment of their Florida marriage. Sylvio's attorney said: "I believe we'll contest the suit."

The superior court complaint charged extreme cruelty.

The four-month marriage has been a rocky one. Sylvio contends 12-year-old Margaret has supplied most of the rocks.

"I'm the middleman all the way through in this case," the harassed stepfather said last week. "I can't do battle with a little child, but there's just so much a man can take."

Sylvio said that Mrs. O'Brien's manager, Al Blum, offered him $3,000 if he'd agree to an annulment.

Sylvio, 42, and Margaret's mother were wed in Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 22, as the movie moppet wept.

Houston Exchange Awaits Arrival Of Texas' First Bale

HOUSTON, June 8. (AP)—Arrival of the season's first cotton bale — a big event for Texas cotton farmers—is expected here momentarily.

H. L. Gossman, secretary of the Houston Cotton exchange, says there is nothing definite on the bale's arrival time although Rio Grande valley cotton bolls have been maturing several days.

"The status of the crops is a deep, dark secret with the farmers right now," he said.

The Houston exchange annually posts a bonus of approximately $1,200 for the first bale brought here for market. It normally is believed to be the first bale to be marketed in the nation each season.

Last year Pablo Rivera, Starr county tenant farmer, was the winner and received $2,456.20 — $1,156.20 from the auction and a $1,300 bonus.

Gossman said Jim Wells county, with an early planting this year, has a "very remote" chance of producing the first bale.

"But it is most likely the bale will come from the lower Rio Grande valley," he said, "It has for years."

New Addition Of Rooms In Dallas Hotel To Raise Total To 1,000

DALLAS, June 8 (AP) — The directors of the Baker hotel Wednesday authorized that plans be drawn up for a 300-room addition to the hotel, which would make it one of the largest in Texas.

The plans and a cost estimate will be submitted to the directors at a later date for final approval.

The new rooms would be on an adjacent lot east of the hotel, Fenton J. Baker, president and manager of the hotel said. They would make of the Baker a 1,000-room hotel. Only the Rice and Shamrock hotels in Houston have more than 1,000 rooms.

New Trial Set In Amarillo Jail-Break

AMARILLO, June 8 (U.P.)—Bobby Craig, 17-year-old problem prisoner who has said he will never go to prison "whatever happens," has obtained a new trial on charges of attempted jail break because of a hung jury in 47th District court.

The jury deliberated two days without reaching a verdict in the case of the youth who escaped from a deputy sheriff only to be recaptured a few days later in Corpus Christi.

The jurors were considering a charge of attempted jailbreak and wilful injury of a jailer on May 14.

Craig already faces sentences totaling five years on two burglary convictions. He would have had to serve an additional two to five years if found guilty by the jury discharged last night.

Houston Property Owners Group Opposes Any Increase In Rents

HOUSTON, June 8 (AP)—The Houston Property Owners association has gone on record as favoring lower rents where possible.

President L. C. Timmis today said 250 members of the association have voted unanimously in opposition to "unnecessary" rent hikes in event of rent decontrols.

Rents should be increased only in case of hardships, Timmins said in explaining the organizations action. Several property owners already have lowered rents, he said.

WOMEN AND PERFUME

CHRISTIAN DIOR, who has been referred to as Fashion's No. 1 dictator, is now acquiring a position as Perfume's No. 1 creator. According to those who have smelled the fragrances, the Eau de Toilette is as rich as the usual perfume concentrate. Sounds good, doesn't it?

We have been in groups of French women and have noted that a wonderful fragrance pervades the atmosphere about them. Perfume means much to a French woman, being part of her person, her personality and her life. Everything about the Parisian woman seems to carry her perfume. She has it on her hats, on her veils; in fact, she wears it all over herself.

Dior says the perfume lingering in the contents or lining of an old family trunk can tell you more about your ancestors than any written, historical record.

His two fragrances, "Miss Dior and Diorama," were selected and blended from 62 varieties of flowers; one is said to be light and delicate, the other dark and heady.

BY THE way, you might be interested in these suggestions on how to double the appreciation of perfume: Don't pour the fragrance into your hands or fingers, because you wash your hands so often you lose the lasting benefit. Instead, moisten a small wad of cotton or your prettiest hanky with the perfume and apply to various areas of the skin, particularly near the pulse beats, the crook of the elbow, the throat, etc. Your hairpart is a wonderful place for application, as well as the contour of the entire neckline.

And as this last bit of advice: A "sniff" judgment may turn out to be a "snap" judgment. Remember you have to live with a fragrance for at least two weeks to appreciate its full value.

WHEW! IMAGINE!

HOME sewing is now more popular than ever before in history. Last year more than 100 million patterns were sold and some 400 million garments were turned out on home sewing machines. Grandmother's day was never like this!

BE HAPPY, PAPPY!

DADS may expect good chuckles on Sunday, June 19, their day. Many of the cards express love for father with gags and wisecracks, instead of flowery sentiment.

For very card showing Dad resting, there are three with him sweating out Father's day. He's behind the lawn mower, refereeing small-fry battles, repairing broken windows, spading the garden and for a new father, of course—pacing the floor at midnight while he lovingly eyes the chloroform bottle.

Incidentally, there is even an individual card with a guiet floral design for that forgotten man—"My Father-in-Law."

House Orders Probe Of B-36 Purchases

WASHINGTON, June 8 (INS) — A sweeping congressional investigation was ordered today into charges that America's B-36 "Big Bertha" bomber is vlunerable and was foisted on the Air Force by political pressure.

The probe was ordered by voice vote of the House which approved a resolution directing the lower chamber's Armed Services committee to conduct the inquiry. The committee was given full power to subpoena witnesses and records.

Funds Asked For Probe

Committee Chairman Vinson immediately asked for $50,000 to defray expenses of the investigation, including retention of a special counsel and investigating staff.

The resolution decreed that the inquiry go into "all facts relating to when this bomber was purchased, why it has been purchased, how it was purchased, any cancellation of other aircraft procurement that may have resulted from such purchases."

First witnesses are expected to be Defense Secretary Johnson, Air Secretary Symington and plane-builder Floyd Odlum, heavy financial contributor to the 1948 Democratic election campaign.

Charges made before the House have linked the names of Johnson and Symington with Odlum, who controls the Consolidated-Vultee company which builds the B-36, in placement of lucrative contracts.

Krueger-Jones Vows Read

Ceremony Is At Church

WICHITA FALLS, June 8.—The marriage of Miss Barbara Ann Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Jones, and Julius Thomas Krueger, jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Krueger of 2703 Nineteenth, Lubbock, was solemnized Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the evening at First Methodist church with Dr. Joe Z. Tower officiating.

Large baskets of white gladioli and Marconi daisies banked with woodwardia fern fronds were arranged on the altar space. A multitude of branched candelabra formed an arch in the background. Burning white tapers amid clusters of flowers and white satin ribbon marked the aisle by which the bridal party entered the church.

MRS. JULIUS THOMAS KRUEGER, JR.

A program of wedding music was offered by Miss Joya Bullington, organist, and Miss Patsy Cutbirth, soloist, who sang "Until," "O, Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Dress Is Of Satin

Mr. Jones gave his daughter in marriage. She chose a gown of ivory satin romantically designed with a yoke of sheer illusion, a drop shoulder effect which was trimmed with small flowers of Chantilly lace with a seed pearl in the center of each flower. It was fashioned with short sleeves, a fitted bodice and a very full gathered skirt with an applique apron of matching Chantilly lace which fell into a graceful formal train. She wore mitts of ivory satin.

The bride's fingertip veil of pure silk ivory bridal illusion fell from a pill box of matching plaited satin. Her bouquet of stephanotis and a white orchid was arranged in colonial style in a cloud of maline.

Attendants of the bride were her two sisters, Miss Nancy Jones, maid of honor, and Mrs. Robert Timberlake of El Paso, a bridesmaid, and a sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Bobby Layne of Lubbock, bridesmaid. Other bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Hogan of Lubbock, Miss Milly Ann Million, Miss Marilyn McCarty and Miss Geraldine Hunt of Dallas. The maid of honor was gowned in white shadow organdy over white taffeta and the other attendants wore white shadow organdy over yellow taffeta. Their dresses were styled with high necklines, round collars, sashes and bustle backs. Their colonial bouquets were of yellow carnations, pink roses and blue cornflowers surrounded by white maline and showered with white streamers.

Dr. Krueger served as his son's best man. Ushers were Bobby Layne, Richard L. Turner and Penrod Toles all of Lubbock, Bob Miller of Oklahoma City, and Abe Pounds and Bert Scott of Tyler.

Kay Lynn Spruiell of Iowa Park was flower girl. Her dress of white net was made with a ruffled neckline and a full skirt.

Wedding guests were invited to a reception at the Woman's Forum following the ceremony. Parents of the bride and bridegroom, members of the wedding party and Mrs. Harold Story assisted with hospitalities.

A cloth caught at each corner with dainty colonial nosegays covered the bride's table which was arranged with punch bowls on either side, white tapers burning in silver candelabra and a wedding ring cake centered with a bouquet of white roses. Lattice work entwined with greenery provided a background for the refreshment table. Bouquets of yellow carnations and white Marconi daisies were placed at vantage points throughout the rooms.

On Trip To Canada

The couple is on a wedding trip to Canada. For travel the bride is wearing an original suit in palomino color with a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Krueger attended Hardin Junior college and the University of Texas. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. Newsmen Re-Visit 'Lost World' Of Wartime Campsite In France

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

VOUILLY, France.—Time and war have spared both Madame Hamel and her ancient stone chateau. And both are now weathering the peace well.

To many of the 45 war correspondents touring European battlefields via the American Overseas airlines, the trip wouldn't be complete without a visit to Madame Hamel's chateau.

For to them it was one of the great battlefields of the campaign. Around and inside its cream gray walls raged terrible conflicts. But they were all word battles, and all the wounds were mental.

Censorship Rigid

The battles were between newsmen and censors of the American First Army's press camp, which headquartered in the chateau. From it the story of the memorable war in Normandy went out to the world.

I went back to see the place with Ivan ("Cy") Peterman of the Philadelphia Inquirer and Tom Henry of the Washington Star. We turned off the highway into a leaf-bowered lane between two old hedgerows down which the time-stained chateau has looked for centuries.

There was great excitement in the household when we rolled into the courtyard. Madame Hamel herself, a white-haired woman in her seventies, who has retained the blue eyes of childhood, hobbled out to meet us. She gave us each in turn an apple-pink cheek to kiss.

And when the rest of the family tumbled out we saw that something new had been added—two small grandsons. They were the children of her only son Dumilly, a shy farmer of 40-odd who had spent three years as a prisoner of the Germans.

Newsmen Welcomed

"Les correspondents!" cried Madame Hamel. "Les Correspondents!"

It was a wonderful reunion. The family made us come into the living room, where still wander the ghosts of some of the finest censor-slain phrases never printed.

They gave us some wafers and wine and a few nips of rare old Calvados liquer. Madame Hamel showed us a number of letters written to her by soldiers who had enjoyed her hospitality, and "Cy" made appropriate remarks in his impeccable Pennsylvania Dutch French.

I walked to a bright sunny corner of the room that had been the favorite working place of Ernie Pyle. There on the table was the cover of an old magazine with Ernie's picture on the cover, and I wanted to cry. Yes, Madame Hamel remembered. She was shocked when we told her that Ernie had been killed in the Pacific world. Ie Shima is a long way from the village of Vouilly, and she had never learned of his death.

Signs Of Camp Gone

Then we went out into the sunshine and walked across the courtyard and into the old cow pasture. We looked under the great trees at our old campsite, and there was nothing left to show where our tents had stood.

At night we had lain in the tents and heard the German planes roar by on the way to bomb the supply beaches. And the anti-aircraft guns in nearby fields would waken and bark like huge watchdogs — Rumpf! Rumpf! Rumpf! And we'd put our helmets over our faces and hope no spent fragment of weary metal would rip through the tent—and us.

We asked about a young black mare that used to nibble chocolate bars from our pockets. Dumilly led us across the pasture to her. A colt trailed her—her first. But she remembered us, too, or seemed to. Anyway she snuffled some candy from our hands.

Dumilly then led us into a dim stone barn and pointed at a familiar vehicle stabled there.

"Le jeep," he said proudly. It was a jeep he had bought after the war. Someday, he said, he was going to learn to drive it.

Seeing the jeep, this four-wheeled remembrance of things past, made us a little sad.

It was time to go. We skipped a rock across the drying moat for old-times' sake, and then we rode away. And none of us looked back, because it was a world in which we no longer really belonged.

Bowie Of El Paso Wins State High School Baseball Title

Maroons Edged In Upset, 3-2

AUSTIN, June 8. (AP)—Bowie (El Paso) won the Texas Interscholastic League Class AA baseball championship tonight, edging Austin 3-2 in the finals.

It was something of an upset since Austin was a heavy favorite to win the title.

Denison Takes Third

The Denison Yellow Jackets took third place by tallying two unearned runs in the top of the ninth to down Waco 6-5.

Bowie scored an unearned run in the first and two more in the sixth. The El Paso team choked off an Austin rally in the bottom of the seventh.

Austin got two runs that inning, but they weren't enough. Pitcher Jackie Brinkley's single, a walk, an error by Third Baseman Jose Galarza, and hits by Luther Knebel and Johnny Salyer brought the Austin scores.

Bowie Hitless

Bowie didn't get a hit until the sixth. It was a triple by Ernesto Guzman—his sixth hit in 11 tries in the tournament. A fielder's choice and two wild throws later Bowie had its winning margin.

Robert Leach who hurled a ten-inning no-hitter to beat Marshall in the first round of play, tossed a neat seven-hitter, but errors let in four unearned runs. He collected two doubles and drove in two runs to aid his own cause.

Leo Long reached first on an infield error to start the fireworks in the ninth. Taylor Willoughby singled and in an attempted pick-off at second on the play First Baseman Taylor threw wildly and both runners advanced.

Waco Rally Fizzles

Then Melvin Brown lofted a fly to right, and both runners scored as Catcher Richard Todar let the throw-in get by.

Ralph Carrigan started for Waco, but was relieved by A. C. Wetzel in the fifth. He was charged with the loss.

Waco scored in the bottom of the ninth on an error, a hit batsman, and a single, but the rally fizzled as Leach forced one batter at first and got another on a fly.

Leach struck out ten and walked three.

HOME RUN TWINS—Johnny Mize of the New York Giants, left, and Ralph Kiner of the Pittsburgh Pirates seem to insist on a photo finish for first place in the home run derby each year. Twice they have tied for top honors in the National League, with 51 each in 1947 and 40 each last year. They are running just about that close again this season. Mize is a first baseman, Kiner an outfielder.

Texas Softball League To Stage All-Star Doubleheader Friday

SAN ANGELO, June 8. (Special) The Texas Softball League stages its first East-West All-Star doubleheader here Friday night and base hits will be scarce items according to the hurling staffs lined up.

Game time on the opener Friday night in Kiwanis Park will be 8:15 o'clock. Admission charges will be 50 and 10 cents.

Lubbock Manager Named

Managers of Eastern and Western Division teams of the TSL have selected their squads. Blackie Hilliard, manager of the Western leading Lubbock Bluebonnets, will pilot the West and Bill Hinton, skipper of the leading Howard Payne College team in the Eastern half, will be head man for the East.

G. W. Warden, brilliant moundman of Lubbock who twirled his second consecutive no-hitter against San Angelo's Maurice Shop last week, heads the West staff. His aides are Warren (Stringbean) Pope, who leads the loop in strikeouts with 83; Boyd Reece of San Angelo; Red Denham, the Crane fireballer.

Hurling duties in the East will go to Cullen Cranfill of Mackey Co. at Abilene; Roy Weaks and E. W. Mickler of Stamford; and Jimmy Kight of Brownwood.

East Has Edge

Only basis of comparison of the two divisions comes from two exhibition series involving Stamford. Stamford took a doubleheader from Lubbock early in the season and then last week won three in a row from Crane, 1-0, 3-1, 1-0.

Between them, the hurlers have a total of 16 shutouts and five no-hitters in TSL play. Warden (2), Kight, Pope, and Denham have no-hit games. Warden and Denham lead in shutouts with three each.

The TSL's leading hitter, First Baseman Wally Fowler of Lubbock is expected to be a mainstay for the West. Fowler collected four for six trips last week to boost his average to .428.

Squads Are Announced

WEST—Warren Pope, G. W. Warden, Willis James, Wally Fowler, Jimmy Joe Rieger and James Abbott (all of Lubbock); Red Denham, L. E. Weaks, Lefty Wells, Joe Goodwin and David Williams (all of Crane); Boyd Reece, Barnel Malish, R. W. Bowman, Bert Hester and Marvin Nichols (all of San Angelo); and R. T. Stacey of Fort Stockton.

Top WTGA Linksmen In Brownwood Meet

BROWNWOOD, June 8 (AP) — Several of the top contenders in the 1949 West Texas Golf Association tournament toured the Brownwood Country club course today sharpening up for medal play tomorrow.

Matches will get under way Friday with play ending Sunday.

Included in today's practice rounds were defending champion Billy Maxwell, North Texas State student from Abilene; Don Cherry Odessa, WTGA runner-up the last two years; and Jack Williams of Plainview and TCU.

Williams was one-up winner over Cherry for the San Angelo Invitation title May 29. Cherry, low amateur in the recent Texas PGA open, is passing up the national Open for his third try here. He is the chief winner in this section this year, having beaten Maxwell at Sweetwater and won the Hobbs, N. M., tournament after downing Maxwell in the semi-finals.

The 18-hole grass-green, 6,362-yard course here is in near-perfect condition. Heavy grass from recent rains will make busting the par-72 more difficult.

The eight flights are expected to have 150 entries, including a senior flight for men over 50.

Prizes are valued at $1,500.

Estes And Cummings Win Wrestling Bouts

Lots of action filled the entire card at Sled Allen's wrestling arena last night as a wrestle royal and two other events were held.

Piling up in the free-for-all were George Curtis, Danny Demcheck, Balk Estes, Bob Cummings, George Bruckman, and George Dusette, and it took eight minutes before the first two men were downed—Bruckman and Curtis.

In the semi-final bout Dusette, the strongman from Boston, tangled with Cummings in a very fast, match, but only after Cummings and Estes engaged in a little out of the ring activities.

Cummings Beats Dusette

Cummings kicked at Estes as he walked by the ring after the wrestle royal, so Estes grabbed him by the leg and pulled him from the ring before they were broken. Estes challenged Cummings to a bout next weekend.

Dusette made short work of the first fall, taking Cummings in two minutes with a full nelson after several holds had been made and broken. But Cummings came back to win the second fall in 15 minutes with a double ankle hold. With the same hold he stopped Dusette in three minutes of the final to take the match.

Estes Wins Battle

The final event was a real battle between Estes and Demcheck, making his first appearance in the local ring. Estes won the first fall when Demcheck was injured in the lower abdomen following an attempt to leap-frog Estes on a body butt. When Demcheck's injuries kept him from the ring for the second fall the match was awarded to Estes.

Before bowing out Demcheck put on a good showing and had Estes ready for the count on several occasions. Estes suffered a bloody nose and a bruised left eye before the end of the match after 28 minutes.

Referee was Steve Menoff.

Rain Washes Out Hubber Game With Lamesa Leading, 2 To 0

Two Tilts Slated For Tonight At 7

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, June 8—Rain broke up the Lubbock Hubber-Lamesa baseball game here tonight in the top of the second inning and added a doubleheader between the two teams Thursday night.

The Loboes had taken a 2 to 0 lead in the first inning tonight against the Hubbers when the heavens opened. Royce Mills, making his first start on the mound for the Hubbers since May 10, walked the first two men to face him, Hank and Eddie Mellilo. Glenn Selbo followed with a double to drive in both runs.

Rosson Going Strong

Eulis Rosson, former Hubber pitcher, started for the Loboes and retired the Lubbock team in order in the first inning. Manager Jackie Sullivan was leading off, with Al Duarte and Nelson Davis following.

Just as Jim Prince came to bat in the top of the second, the rain descended and broke up the game. After 40 minutes, umpires called the game.

The twin bill Thursday night will begin at 7 p. m. Sullivan is expected to start John Myers (2-4) in the first game against Rosson (3-3), who opened tonight's contest. Sullivan was undecided as to his second game choice, but it probably will be either Bill Grafton (2-5) or Cotton Russell (3-2).

Loboes Getting Pitcher

Manager Jay Haney said that he would use either Leon Hayes (3-3) or himself in the second game. Haney holds one victory over the Hubbers, when he made his debut as a hurler. He has three victories and one defeat.

The Loboes announced through their business office tonight that they had given Jackie Wilcox, former Hubber shortstop, his outright release.

Pygmy Pirates Defeat Indians In Only Scheduled Game, 14-7

Only one game was played in the baseball leagues at Boys club yesterday, and in that contest the Pirates dropped the Indians, 14-7.

Wesley Light had two singles in four times at bat, and Richard Corrigan doubled and walked three times for the Pirates. Billy Crow tripled and singled for the Indians to pace their attack.

Today in the Pygmy and Pee Wee leagues, the Red Sox play the Dodgers, and ABC meets Exchange in the Junior league at 6 p.m.

Landrum Homers Twice, Sox Win

AMARILLO, June 8 (AP)—Manager Jess Landrum's three-run homer in the 10th inning gave the Amarillo Gold Sox an 11-9 triumph over the league-leading Albuquerque Dukes here tonight in the opener of their three game series.

Landrum previously had socked a grand slam four bagger in the bottom of the ninth to knot the count at 6-6 and send the game into extra innings. The Dukes came back in their half of the 10th to pick up three when Les Mulcahy blasted a round-tripper off of reliever Bob Glass with Len Attyd and Frank Shone who was running for Cliff McClain ahead of him.

King Stops Pioneers For Borger, 6 To 2

BORGER, June 8. (AP) — Hugh King came out on top of a pitchers' duel tonight, stopping the Clovis Pioneers 6-2.

Wee Willie Wynns' error paved the way for two runs after two were away. The error cost King a possible shutout. King let the Pioneers down with eight scoreless innings.

Hurler Mathieus held the Gassers scoreless until the seventh, when Gordon Nell broke the duel with his first of two home runs. Wynns socked out a circuit blow in the eighth, with Littlejohn on board to clinch the encounter.

After tossing rhubarb from the dugout in the top of the seventh, Leftfielder Jess Rogerson was ejected from the park by Umpire Sadowski.

A doubleheader is on deck for the Gassers and the Pioneers tomorrow night.

Cards Blank Giants 2 To 0 For Second Day, Cling To Brooklyn

Bums Keep Step; Boston Also Wins

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals shut out the New York Giants for the second straight day today, 2-0. Gerry Staley pitched a three-hitter.

The victory enabled the Redbirds to cling within a half game of the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers, who whipped the Chicago Cubs, 3-1. The Giants sank deeper into fourth place, two games off the pace.

Rookie Eddie Kazak, in a Jekyl and Hyde performance, committed three errors at third base for the Cardinals, but was the offensive hero as he drove in one run and scored the other.

The freshman third sacker followed first inning singles by Chuck Diering and Stan Musial with a long fly to bring in Diering. He singled in the sixth for his second hit of the game, and scored when Enos Slaughter lashed a triple against the right field bleacher wall.

REX BARNEY HURLS TWO-HIT GAME AS DODGERS WIN, 3-1

BROOKLYN, June 8 (AP)—Rex Barney pitched his first complete game of the season today, a two-hitter. The Brooklyn Dodgers subdued the Chicago Cubs, 3-1, to maintain their league leadership and run up a three-game winning streak.

Over the last three games, Brooklyn pitching has allowed a total of 12 hits, and with Barney's six strikeouts, ran the whiffing total over the same span to 27.

Barney was wild in the early innings, but settled down and retired the last 10 men in order.

BOSTON, June 9. The victory kept the pennant defending tribe within a whisper of the leading Brooklyn Dodgers and the second place St. Louis Cardinals.

DEMANDS HIS VALUE

NEW YORK, June 8. (AP)—Max Lanier says he won't pitch again for the St. Louis Cardinals until they pay him what he thinks he's worth.

Players Needed For Legion Ball

Boys ages 12-13 with an interest in baseball have an opportunity to further that interest with active participation in the sport through the American Legion baseball program, currently being held each afternoon at 4 p.m. at Jumbo Webster field.

Equipment Is Furnished

Anyone living in the northern portion of Lubbock, that section north of Broadway, west of Avenue Q, and north of Nineteenth street is eligible for the Jumbo Webster league.

Equipment, balls, bats and catchers uniforms, are furnished by the Legion, but other players should bring their own gloves when they come to practice. At present two instructors are at the field daily to coach the boys who have been coming out for more than a week. The coaches are Ernest Hawkins and Joe Loveless, Hayden Bodenheimer, Bill Mean, and Dan Pursel.

More Players Needed

When enough players report to the field daily, a regular league of four teams sponsored by the downtown civic clubs will begin to function and continue through the summer. But more players are needed to get the league running smoothly. Parents with boys in the required age group are urged to bring them out to the diamond if the children are interested.

The other half of the program is working out at Boys club daily, and a large group of boys has turned out. League play started last week.

Pampa Oilers Unleash Attack For 6-4 Win

ABILENE, June 8. (AP)—Pampa's win-hungry Oilers loosed pent-up batting power against two of Abilene's better pitchers here tonight and took the series opener, 6-4.

Johnny Martin kept the Blue Sox batsmen in check with eight scattered hits, never allowing more than one run in any inning. One of these was a four-bagger by Bob Fernandez with none on in the fifth.

Stan Surma, Pampa third sacker, led his side's attack with four hits, including a double, in five trips, but the blows of Tooter Harper and Catcher Newt Secrest did more damage.

Pampa came from behind a two-run deficit to score four times in the fourth and were never overtaken. They added two more in the seventh to call it a day from a scoring standpoint. Rudy Lorona, considered an ace chunker for Abilene, gave up in the fourth and was charged with the loss after three runs came in on four consecutive hits he allowed. Joe Nakamura took over and the little lefthander was banged around in the seventh for doubles by Homer Matney and Secrest and a single by Harper, for two runs.

CHARLES CLOSES DOORS

KANKAKEE, Ill., June 8 (INS)—Ezzard Charles, contender for the World's Heavyweight Boxing title, went into a "secret training session" today at his Kankakee training camp in preparation for his June 22 meeting with Jersey Joe Walcott.

Golf Play Starts In National Open

CHICAGO, June 8 (AP)—America's top-flight golfers had their last free ride today around Medinah No. 3.

And most of the field of 162 in the final practice round, failed to find the answers to a flock of questions this exacting layout will ask as the 49th National Open tournament gets under way tomorrow.

Golfers Are Puzzled

Includes in the cast of aspirants for the throne abdicated by injured Ben Hogan are 131 professionals, one semi-pro, and 30 amateurs. All appeared puzzled by the meandering Medinah maze with its tree-trimmed fairways and postage stamp greens.

Ten former champions will be seeking the winner's $2,000 pot of gold along with seven PGA and four National Amateur kings. But there was no assurance the new ruler would come from among that batch of tournament-tested talent, for this is the kind of course where the better than average shot maker has just as much chance as the expert.

Course Is Tough

The consensus among the professionals was "anyone good enough to qualify for this tournament can win it," which would tend to make the three-day 72-hole medal play test a wide open affair all the way. The course, approximately 7,000 yards long, plays a tough par 36-35—71.

Regardless of the wide-open angle, the boys who make business of betting a bob on this and that have established Sam Snead, Masters and PGA victor, as the favorite at 6 to 1. Bobby Locke is next at 8 to 1, and Lloyd Mangrum third at 10 to 1.

Last Minute Replacements

Lord Byron Nelson, who hasn't been playing much lately, was quoted at 20-1 despite four rounds of 72-71-71-71 for 285 over last weekend—a score picked by most of the pros as good enough to win.

Last-minute replacements in the starting field soared to 11 today as Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Sanford, Me., one-time leading money winner, and Joe Lopez, Key West, Fla., professional, decided to stay out.

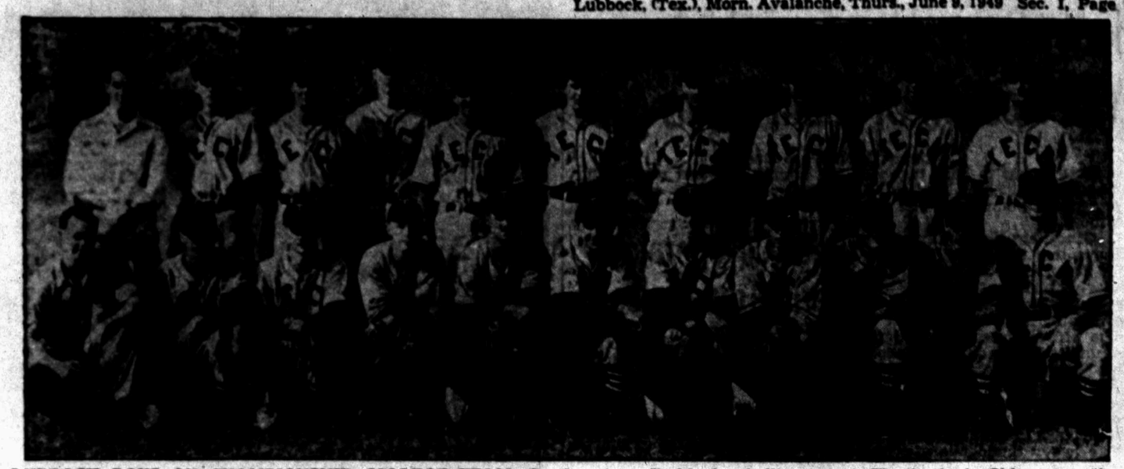

Bill Nary, the iron expert from Los Angeles, moves into McSpaden's spot, and Jock Hutchison, jr., of Glencoe, Ill., replaces Lopez. Lopez also was a substitute having been given the berth forfeited by amateur Ralph R. Sherman of Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla.

Chandler Protects Players And Clubs

Player Limit To Be Open Only 30 Days

CINCINNATI, June 8 (AP)—The 25-player limit may be exceeded for only 30 days by major league ball clubs holding contracts of men Commissioner A. B. Chandler reinstated last Sunday.

And whenever a team puts one of the boys into a championship game, the grace period ends for him and some one other than a returned player must be lopped off the list.

Commissioner Chandler so advised club owners today. At the same time he threw some protection to the 18 men formerly outlawed for jumping to the Mexican league. He told the owners they shall not be released unconditionally, nor their contracts assigned to a minor league club, until the expiration of the 30-day period.

The 30-day period will begin on the date each player is returned to the fold of his particular club, the commissioner's office said.

Until proved otherwise, it would appear that the teams holding the returnees' contract will have a tough time deciding the future of their one-time stars within the grace peri d.

Especially is that true where the one-time jumpers are making more money now in semi-pro ball or elsewhere than their old contracts provide. A few of them already are balking on coming back into the hold at the old price.

Lou Klein of the St. Louis Cards and George Hausmann of the New York Giants, infielders, have applied for reinstatement, Ford Frick, president of the National league, announced today.

They brought to eight the number of National league jumpers applying for reinstatement.

Pitchers Harry Feldman, Adrian Zabala and Sal Maglie of the Giants; Catcher Mickey Owen of Brooklyn, and Hurlers Fred Martin and Max Lanier of St. Louis, are the others.

Oil Belt Schedule Has Game Changes

A few changes in the Oil Belt Baseball league games have been made, Joe Holmes, president of the league, announced after a meeting in Brownfield Tuesday.

The changes affect the schedule of four games, and dates for the playing of makeup contests have also been made.

On June 12 Tahoka will play at Post; June 19 Denver City will play at Post; July 10 Brownfield is rescheduled at Post; and on August 21 Seagraves is at Post. These are changes in the regular schedule.

On June 21 Denver City will play at Slaton, and Levelland meets Denver City at Denver City on June 26 in the rescheduled games.

SCHROEDER DENIES RUMORS

NEW YORK, June 8. (AP)—Ted Schroeder flew to England for his first shot at the Wimbledon tennis championship today, still denying rumors that he has a pro tour with Jack Kramer all mapped out if he captures the U.S. and British titles.

Pakistan is awaiting a Russian Trade mission, perhaps to buy cotton goods there.

Heavy Rains, Hail Again Strike Wide Section Of South Plains

and three inches in hard two-hour fall after 9 p.m. last night; Spur, estimated .50 inch; Littlefield, Levelland, Post, Slaton and almost every other point over the area, good showers with threatening weather.

Conditions To Continue

Hopes that there would be some relief from the unsettled and particularly turbulent weather for the South Plains were dashed by the Weatherman at midnight.

The official forecast called for the unsettled conditions to continue today, tonight and Friday with partly cloudy weather, scattered afternoon and night time showers and thunderstorms with little change in temperature.

The heavy thunderstorm which struck the Weather station near Lubbock shortly before 10 p.m. last night also hit the city of Lubbock just at 10 p.m. Rain fell in torrents for about half an hour but the wind was no where as strong as that at the weather bureau. No immediate damage was reported as a result of the gale force blow.

Olton Section Hard Hit

Three inches of rain fell in the Olton vicinity between 3:30 p.m. and 6 p.m. yesterday to put all roads in the area under water and make the town of Olton appear as if it were "sitting in a large lake," W. B. Smith, jr., editor of the Olton Enterprise told The Morning Avalanche.

Smith said the heaviest part of the fall was confined to the Olton vicinity. However, the Olton to Hale Center and Olton to Plainview highways were reported under water last night. Water up to the hub caps of cars was also reported on the Morton to Hale Center highway in spots.

Smith said hail about the size of "large marbles fell off and on for three hours at Olton . . . It covered the ground like a white blanket," he said. The rain totaled 4.03 inches there since Tuesday morning.

Earth, Muleshoe Battered

Earth also was hard hit. Ted Weems, resident there, said an estimated 1.50 rain fell between 6 and 8:30 p.m. with some hail.

At Muleshoe, R. J. Klump said hail caused some damage there to buildings and crops in the vicinity. The storm struck about 6:30 p.m.

At Matador, Douglas Meador, mayor and editor of the Matador Tribune, said late last night that Matador had a measured 1.87 inches of rain until 10 p.m. and another estimated inch by 11 p.m. Small hail striking at 8 p.m beat leaves off trees and covered the ground there. Crop damage was unknown but the wheat harvest is just getting underway in the section.

Homer Steen at Floydada said heavy rain fell there last night with 1.53 inches Tuesday and no estimate last night.

Ernest Joiner, editor of the Ralls Banner, said a heavy rain there dumped about two inches of water on the city after 9 p.m.

At Post, rain struck about 11:15 and a heavy fall was indicated, Sherrill Boyd reported. An electrical display was accompanying the storm.

Lomer Nelson of Littlefield said between .20 and .25 fell there after 10 p.m. last night. No damage was reported in the area.

C. J. Berutti of Abernathy, reported that water covered sections of the Monroe-Abernathy highway about 11:10 p.m. The highway patrol was checking the area early this morning.

Petersburg was receiving a heavy two-hour deluge at midnight. J. L. Suits estimated about .75 inch there.

At Lockney, Edgar R. Hayes, said at 11 p.m. that a heavy rain was falling and that on top of a one-inch fall received earlier in the night. A hailstorm hit about 3:30 p.m. Crop damage was unknown.

An inch to an inch and a half was estimated to have fallen at Crosbyton last night. Slaton reported a heavy downpour and hard wind about 10:30 p.m. Tom Rambo of Hale Center said streets there were flooded by last night's downpour. Tahoka reported a light shower. Spur experiment station estimated .50 rain there after 10:30 p.m. A total of 1.26 fell there Tuesday. The fall apparently was light or completely missed the Brownfield, Seminole, Seagraves and other points in the Southwest part of the plains.

Rain and hail also was reported in the Panhandle, although not as heavy as on the South Plains.

Reds Co-Operate In Berlin Trade Talks

BERLIN, June 8. (AP)—The Russians are showing a co-operative and even generous attitude in negotiations for an East-West German trade agreement, western sources said today.

Informants said the Russians are more interested in getting an East-West trade agreement here than in reaching any political agreement in the council of foreign ministers at Paris.

"The meeting the Soviets are really interested in is going on not in Paris but in Berlin right now," an American official said.

He declared as soon as the trade pact is concluded, the true Soviet position at Paris will be made clear.

The agreement was reported so nearly completed it could go into effect tomorrow if it were not for the 19-day-old west Berlin rail strike.

Representatives of the U.S., Britain and France have told the Russians they will not sign the agreement while the strike continues. Officials said this stand was not taken to pressure the Soviet-controlled railway union, but to guarantee that trade can move.

Red Officers Drive Off German Strikers

BERLIN, Thursday, June 9 (AP)—Four angry Russian officers drove out a mob of railway strikers who had smashed their way into the headquarters of the Russian-controlled railway in the American sector of Berlin last night.

The officers beat at the leaders of the mob of 200 strikers with their bare hands and shouted "raus, raus (out, out)."

Driven by the Russians to the ground floor of the five-story building, the strikers were directed by newly-arrived West Berlin police to leave.

"The U. S. military government does not want you here," the strikers were told.

The Russians arrived at the building a little more than an hour after the strikers had stormed it.

When the Russians saw the Germans tearing down pictures of Prime Minister Stalin and Lenin from the walls their anger exploded.

They shouted "raus, raus," and struck out at all Germans within reach.

Coal Mine 'Holiday'

their dependents and the communities which depend upon the mine workers' income."

UMW officials would not amplify the order. But it appeared it was aimed at smoothing off the uneven unemployment conditions now maintaining in the coal-mining industry. This indication was borne out by these paragraphs in Lewis' order:

Instability Stressed

"The magnificent production efforts of the mine workers during the current year have created menacing instability in the mining industry.

"Results are apparent in more than adequate tonnage for the domestic and export market; irregular and broken working time affecting some hundreds of thousands of men, while other mines work steadily; economic inequities affecting the mine workers; and a general condition of instability throughout the whole industry.

"Inescapably, continuation of this folly will eventuate in irreparable damage to our basic industry and the national economy."

Earlier today, Lewis had notified the U. S. Steel company of his willingness to open negotiations on a new coal mining contract on Monday in Philadelphia.

Contract To Expire

The existing contract, which affects all soft coal producers in the country, expires June 30.

The UMW currently is negotiating a new contract with the Southern Coal Producers association in Bluefield, W. Va.

Termination of the contract with the Southern coal producers was jointly agreed upon by Lewis and President Joseph Moody of the Southern group, on May 1, thus satisfying requirements of the Taft-Hartley act in so far as that segment of the nation's coal-producing capacity is concerned.

Lewis' walkout order of today authorized continuance of mining "essential to the protection of human rights and property."

It said that the United Mine Workers, under current conditions, are "unwilling further to jeopardize the security of the industry, the mine workers employed therein, and the collective bargaining structure, without which confusion and chaos would exist.

Some veteran labor observers believe that Lewis issued today's order to strengthen his hand in the contract negotiations which apparently will go on in piecemeal fashion during the next few weeks.

Three Texas Cities Ask Rent Decontrol

(By The Associated Press)

Bryan, Mt. Pleasant and Waxahachie are among latest Texas cities asking Gov. Beauford Jester to approve rent decontrol.

The governor said Wednesday he had endorsed similar applications from Highland Park (Dallas suburb), Denison, and New Braunfels.

At Dallas the city council has under advisement pleas that rent ceilings be taken off there. Mayor Wallace Savage said a decision was probable next Tuesday.

Final action by the national housing expediter has decontrolled rents at Electra.

The Dallas city council held a hearing on the matter Tuesday night. City governing bodies at Bryan, Mt. Pleasant and Waxahachie took action Tuesday night. They decided unanimously to petition the governor.

Under the 1949 law a city governing body, after a public hearing, can ask that rent ceilings be taken off. If the governor approves he sends the petition to the national housing expediter in Washington, for final action.

Spy Aides Listed

after Jan. 1, 1937. For saying this before a New York grand jury last December, he was indicted on a perjury charge.

Earlier Testimony Studied

Henry Julian Wadleigh, formerly of the State department, has declined comment on Chambers' statements since they originally were made last year.

Chambers is the government's star witness against Hiss. The government said at the outset that its case against Hiss rests on his charges.

Judge Kaufman also asked Chambers:

"Do you want us to understand that when you testified before the House (Un-American activities) committee in August, 1948, in substance that you had nothing to do with espionage, that you'd forgotten all those sources of supply?"

Murphy told the court there was no testimony that Chambers had forgotten.

Admits False Testimony

Judge Kaufman said he would look at the record before pursuing the question further.

Chambers testified yesterday that on seven occasions he lied to the same grand jury that indicted Hiss.

The witness again today told of approaching A. A. Berle, former Assistant Secretary of State, in 1939. Chambers says he had broken with Communism by that time and wanted to warn the government against it.

"Did you receive State department secrets from Mr. Wadleigh?" the government attorney asked.

"I did," Chambers answered.

Chambers then testified that Wadleigh gave him original documents which Chambers photographed and returned to him.

The government placed in evidence a stained manila envelope in which Chambers said he had hidden documents and microfilms for years in a relative's home in Brooklyn.

Murphy asked Chambers if he had tampered with these papers or added to them after he dug them out of the closet where they had been hidden for 10 years.

"No, I did not," the witness said.

Chambers said last year that these papers later were hidden in a hollow pumpkin on his Maryland farm. He made them public after Hiss began a $75,000 libel suit against him.

Secret Report Read

alleged to have been discovered in Miss Coplon's purse when she was arrested in New York March 4 with Valentin Gubitchev, Russian employe of the United Nations.

The list of celebrities was a roster furnished the FBI by the "confidential informant" in connection with alleged efforts by Lionel Berman, identified as head of the Communist party cultural committee, to infiltrate the motion picture industry.

Others Also Named

The informant said that March was one of the persons who came under Berman's influence.

The report, made by FBI Agent Robert A. Frink, Jan. 13, 1949, also stated that other Hollywood and theatrical personalities, including March's wife, Florence Eldridge, and Helen Hayes, were active in left-wing affairs.

The document was one of 30 brought to the final trial under orders from Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves despite government objections that their disclosure would endanger national security.

March Made Contribution

It said that March and Miss Eldridge, an actress, were prominent in Communist-front groups, had "pro-Russian contacts," and that their alleged left-wing activities dated back to 1942.

Another informant was listed as naming March, Canada Lee, Radio writer Norman Corwin, and "Daniel L. Marsh, president of Boston university" as "Communist party fellow-travelers."

The FBI report contained the declaration that March contributed $5,000 to World Today, Inc., a documentary film organization.

It was stated that this business was headed by Stuart Legg and John Grierson, both of "whom are the subjects of investigation as possible Russian espionage agents."

The report definitely mentioned "Fredric March, the actor," and contained this excerpt regarding his alleged party membership:

"Confidential informant N. D. 402 in April, 1947 advised that Fredric March was member of Communist party and has cooperated with it for many years."

A program of the American Society for Russian Relief in 1945 was cited in which Miss Hayes and March allegedly portrayed the roles of a Russian school teacher and a Russian soldier.

Before the report was read to the jury, prosecutor John M. Kelley renewed his strong objections to making it public, but Reeves rejected the plea.

One confidential informant was quoted as saying that March was very upset when the Daily Worker, Communist newspaper, criticized his actions.

The informant added that there were tears in March's eyes when he informed the newspaper he didn't mind criticism generally but didn't like it from those who represented the world he believed in."

of Fort Worth, came in a close second with 11.9 seconds. B. J. Pierce, of Clovis, N. M., finished in 13.4 seconds.

Lee Roberts, of Roswell, N. M., was winner of the cowboy's saddle bronc riding contest, and second place went to Wag Blesing of Glendale, Calif.

Other Results Given

In the cowboy's steer wrestling contest, last cowboy event presented before the remainder of the show was cancelled, Hank Mills, of Pueblo, Colo., placed first. His time was 8.5 seconds. Other runner-ups were Lee Roberts, of Roswell, N. M., 11.7 seconds; Bill McGuire, of Phoenix, 13 seconds; and Jack Favor, of Arlington, Tex., 35.

Interspersing the cowboy events were a number of specialty acts, including comedy acrobatic trick roping by Jack and Bobbie Knapp, which drew much applause; an exhibition of Roman riding and jumping by the "Flying Twins," Byron and Lee Hendricks; and the Lightning C Horseback Quadrille, led and directed by Everett E. Colburn, managing director of the professional rodeo company.

No rodeo performers were seriously injured last night. Vic Montgomery of Ozona received a bad fall while roping his calf in the calf roping contest. After preliminary examination and treatment by a physician, he was on his feet again within a few minutes.

The eighth annual Boys' club rodeo was officially opened last night with a brief speech of welcome and appreciation by A. B. Watkins, past president of the American Business club, sponsor of the rodeo, who said that "a tremendous amount of work has been done to bring you tops in rodeo entertainment."

He expressed his appreciation to the Lubbock Lions club; to the Will Rogers Range Riders of Amarillo, who were here to participate in the parade Wednesday afternoon, and in last night's rodeo; to the Lubbock County Sheriff's Posse, who also participated; to Lubbock businessmen; to Texas Tech for the use of Jones stadium; and to "the many organizations and individuals who have made possible this show and its success."

Guests Are Introduced

At the grand entry, rodeo officials and outstanding guests were introduced, including Shelley Furr of Lubbock, 1949 rodeo queen; Jack Favor and Bill McGuire, rodeo judges; Delbert Dalby of Amarillo, president of the Will Rogers Range Riders; Bud Brady, of the Lubbock County Sheriff's Posse; and Everett E. Colburn, managing director of the World's Championship rodeo.

Other contestants in the calf roping event and their respective times of completion were: Jess Slaughter, 16.2; Jack Skipworth, 19.1; Shoat Webster, 16.2; Clark McEntire, 22; Willis Brock, 15.5; Billy Kirk, 28.3; Rex Beck, 17.9; Polly Rushing, 34.1; Troy Fort, 18.2; Bill Boman, 23.6; Tater Decker, 16.5.

Other rodeo events, which were not presented last night, but will be included in tonight's performance, include a comedy team, the Moore Family and Beeswax; exhibitions of cowgirls' trick and fancy riding; and cowboys' bull riding contest.

Labor Law Debate

weeks ago on a straight 8 to 5 party-line vote without permitting any changes in the bill.

Notes Demo Shift

He then went on to point out that four of the Democratic members now have joined an equal number of Republicans in backing five compromise amendments. Taft said they have taken this step because they "realize that the Senate will not approve the Thomas (administration) bill as presented and hope to make it more like the Taft-Hartley act in order to secure votes for its support."

But, he added, "they cannot guarantee that the bill even as amended would be acceptable to labor union officials, or to the President."

Noting that chairman Elbert D. Thomas (D-Utah) of the Labor committee had said in the opening debate Monday that "there is a the President to request repeal, the Taft-Hartley law," Taft remarked:

"There may be a mandate on the President to request reepal, but there certainly is no mandate on Congress."

Taft defended the law bearing his name as a "sincere unprejudiced attempt to deal with serious abuses which had arisen under labor laws previously in effect."

"Property owners decided to make up a pot and descend on Austin and try to push this thing through," he shouted in winding up his long argument.

Fears Housing Loss

"If you pass this you're telling the Federal Housing authority there is no housing emergency anywhere in Texas and Texas will cease to receive emergency benefits.

"Some people are going to be homeless as a result of this high pressure."

Aikin said the Senate was "making a mistake in not helping those who can not help themselves."

Taylor told the Senate that enlisted men on fixed salaries forced to live with their families in crowded areas around military installations would be penalized.

CORBIN OKAYS DECONTROL

AUSTIN, June 8. (AP)—This was the way senators voted today on statewide rent decontrol:

For—Ashley, Bell, Bracewell, Bullock, Carney, Colson, Corbin, Cousins, Hardeman, Harris, Hudson, Jones, Kelley of Edinburg, Kelly of Fort Worth, Lane, Lock, Martin, McDonald, Moffett, Morris, Proffer, Shofner, Strauss, Tynan and Vick.

Against—Aikin, Phillips, and Taylor.

Not voting—Hazelwood, Moore and Weinert.

The Senate recessed until 10:30 a.m. tomorrow after the final vote on the rent bill.

Earlier today, the House breathed new life into the driver liability bill. It also advanced a bill to provide a multiple list of textbooks for elementary grades.

Claims Action Delayed

Phillips took the Senate floor at 2:30 p.m. for the third installment of his fight against lifting the rent lid statewide. The first chapter was a brief 45-minute debate yesterday. The second came this morning ahead of a noon recess.

"Suppose somebody is sitting out here about to be lynched and we're delaying action on Judge (S. J.) Isaack's anti-lynching bill," he argued, pointing to Rep. Isaacks bill on the calendar.

Phillips took up the entire Senate calendar—bill-by-bill—to hammer his point and further delay action. He found a pending bill outlawing the installation of television sets in automobiles.

"Do you want to wait until blood runs all over the highways as a result of television sets up there in the front of cars before you do anything about that?" he asked.

Sixth Filibuster Of Session

Senator Hill Hudson of Pecos wondered if some senators had to stay and listen to Phillips if there weren't some rule to make them all stay. The presiding officer said he couldn't think of one.

The incidents gave Phillips a chance to catch his breath.

It was the sixth Senate filibuster this session. A few of the forerunners have been so brief that they barely qualified for the classification. Another—against the basic science bill—was the longest in recent legislative history.

On the rent control issue, Senators had shown early reluctance to wait out a showdown. They voted a recess yesterday that gave Phillips a complete new start today. Then they voted 23-7 today for the two-hour noon recess to provide Phillips with a third start this afternoon.

Phillips had talked two hours during the morning, reading paragraphs from the constitution in what he called a search of authority for a Senate amendment already added to the bill.

The amendment authorized cities to re-establish rent control if they found it necessary to cope with a housing shortage. The governor would have to approve the re-establishment.

Phillips said the amendment was unconstitutional. He moved to postpone action until Aug. 31 to allow the amended bill to go to the attorney general for an opinion.

Phillips' voice — which had cracked quickly yesterday, was back to normal today.

Bill Changes Committees

In the House, a close 61-60 vote took the driver financial responsibility bill out of the Highway and Roads committe and put it in the Committee on Commerce and Manufacturing.

Proponents said the action revives hope for the bill getting back to the House floor.

The bill providing for elementary grades the multiple textbook list system now provided for high schools, was approved on second reading 87-42.

Opponents complained the change would cost the state more money and lose the uniformity they said was essential in basic education in the lower grades.

Area Groups Request New Road Projects

AUSTIN, June 8. (AP)—The highway commission today was asked to build a paved road from Seymour to Crowell so that West Texas products would go to market in Fort Worth and Dallas instead of Oklahoma City.

A ten-man delegation from Baylor and Foard counties and Fort Worth appeared at the public hearing to support the request for 38 miles of paving.

"Right now Oklahoma is getting more West Texas cattle than Fort Worth," said Claude Calloway, of the Crowell Chamber of Commerce.

"We want to maintain our reputation as the livestock center of the Southwest," said W. L. Joyce, assistant manager of the Fort Worth stockyards. "We don't like to see Oklahoma City getting our business because of roads and traffic conditions."

A large delegation from Floyd county asked the commission to locate a proposed farm to market road extension through Pleasant Hill and Sand Hill to serve more residents. Previously the road had been proposed along a route which would miss Sand Hill.

A group from Hockley county said that F.M. 300 from Sundown to Levelland carried more traffic than any other road in the county. They asked the state to rebuild the road and maintain it.

Bids on 18.29 miles of road construction in Garza and Lynn counties will be opened June 21-22, the State Highway department reported. This is one of 44 roads and bridge projects expected to total nearly ten million dollars. Garza and Lynn county bids will be on work from U.S. Highway 84 to Lynn county line one mile north of Jackberry school, and from two miles north of Tahoka to Lubbock county line.

Burglaries Solved

owners. Tillory's arrest yesterday followed an attempt to sell additional tools at the same place in Floydada—tools believed taken in a burglary Tuesday night at Lamesa. The suspect also had signed statements admitting the Lamesa job

Lamesa Church Entered

Four electric saws, an electric drill and a box of smaller tools were taken from a church under construction in north Lamesa. A lock had been forced on the door. Dawson county officers are expected to arrive here today to question the suspect further.

Although he did not make a signed statement to the facts in the case, Tillory allegedly told Chief Deputy Sheriff George Eubank that he had entered a tool shed at the American Legion building at Muleshoe, taking a box of carpenter tools and a skill saw. The saw was recovered at Floydada. Muleshoe authorities also indicated late yesterday that they wish to question the suspect.

Tools Identified

Two tool boxes, valued at $125 each, were taken in a Tuesday night burglary of a tool shed at 2703 Forty-first. C. C. Woody, owner of one of the sets of carpenter tools, said last night that tools recovered when Tillory was arrested were those taken in the burglary. C. R. Shearer, owner of the other set, will appear today to seek identification of his property.

The forgery, charged in the grand jury indictment, was that of a $17.92 check drawn on the Lubbock National bank and signed "C. H. Tisdel." Tillory, who admitted in a statement to officers that he had written the check, said he had passed it at a Lubbock grocery store.

The suspect, who said the car he was driving had been stolen at Dallas, has a long criminal record. Records at the sheriff's office show he was sentenced to four years in the state penitentiary in 1934 after a conviction on a theft charge. In 1939 he was sentenced to serve two two-year sentences in the penitentiary on a conviction of burglary. The sentences were to run concurrently.

Negro Is Arrested

James Taylor, of Apartment 4, Compress apartments, told city police that a 17-jewel, yellow gold pocket watch valued at $67.95 had been stolen from his residence Wednesday morning.

Later Wednesday, police arrested a 20-year-old negro who admitted taking the watch, and took officers to his home where the watch was recovered. Charges will be filed this morning against the negro, police reports indicated. The arrest was made by Homer Harrison and Pete Hubbard, police patrolmen.

Most of the loot taken in a burglary of Behren's drug at 502 Broadway, must have been disappointing to the burglar.

Police were told Wednesday that 60 or 70 pipes required for administration of enemas were included in properties removed by someone who broke two windows and reached inside the store. The pipes, or nozzles, were valued at 10 cents each.

Other loot: five plastic panties for babies and a few sets of plastic dominoes.

Theft of a "boot," identified as a cover for the folded-back top of a convertible automobile, was reported to officials by J. E. Kimmel of 2306 Texas Ave. It was valued at $15.

New All-Metal Cotton Gin At Hale Center Nears Completion

HALE CENTER, June 8. (Special)—The new J. J. Caudle gin here is virtually completed, Elmo Caudle, co-owner, said.

The building, fixtures, and machinery are wholly metal. The large burr-burner pit is completely enclosed in a tile building and there is an enclosure to capture waste trash and cotton lint that ordinarily escapes to a gin yard.

The old J. J. Caudle gin, established a quarter of a century ago by the father of Elmo Caudle and his partner, was wrecked by a fire last fall.

Jury Cautions, Praises Officers

individual is wrongfully charged."

The grand jury went on to state that they found that the Municipal Court of Lubbock was inadequately staffed to make available jury trials to those charged with offenses to which they have pleaded innocent, and that cases are allowed to accumulate upon the Municipal court docket.

However, the grand jury was advised by city authorities that the new budget makes provisions for adequate personnel to alleviate this condition.

Personal Courtesy Recommended

"We find that there are a number of complaints from reputable citizens as to the manner in which officers of the various law enforcement agencies have dealt with them in regard to minor offenses, such as traffic violations of traffic regulations within the city and upon the highways," the report stated. "We recommend to the officers of these various agencies that a stricter policy of personal courtesy be followed in these types of cases."

The grand jury pointed out that it found in an April 7 report that Lubbock and Lubbock county was being subjected to an alarming extent to a crime wave, and that it recommended a strict law enforcement program, particularly with reference to illicit traffic in liquor.

"We desire at this time to commend the various law enforcement agencies, including especially the new Liquor Control board, for their aggressive program of enforcement which has been undertaken and is proceeding effectively. It is our feeling, after a rather extensive investigation of the program, that the good citizens of Lubbock county desire and are supporting a strict law enforcement program.

Pledge Full Support

"We want the officers of the Texas Liquor Control board, of the Lubbock Police department, and of the sheriff's department to know that they have our support in a continuing diligent enforcement program."

The grand jury, after inspecting county properties, found that the county jail was in "good and clean condition," and that the County Old Folks' home "is well kept and in fair condition, except that there is an urgent need for a new roof on the building."

In the inspection of the courthouse, the jury found that "sanitary conditions therein are most lamentable. The public toilets are disgraceful and a public menace."

The grand jury report pointed out that jury dormitories are "in an extremely unclean condition," and that hot water and other facilities needed for juries kept overnight are lacking.

Jury Is Adjourned

It recommended that hot water facilities be installed and, if at all feasible, that some form of air conditioning or better ventilation be installed for summer service.

The grand jury, following its report to Judge Pardue, was adjourned but not dismissed. Pardue pointed out that the services of the grand jury may possibly be needed at a moment's notice at any time up to the end of the current court session which ends about July 4. At that time, the grand jury would automatically be dismissed according to law.

Members of the grand jury are: P. C. Mitchell, Lubbock route 5; C. P. Young, jr., of Wolfforth; G. W. Brassell, Slaton; J. R. Barron, Slaton route 2; E. C. Pounds, Lubbock route 1; Jack Payne, 2818 Twenty-third; George Langford, 2619 Twenty-third; Homer G. Maxey, 3206 Twenty-first; Leonard G. W. Cole, 2106 Sixteenth; Earl Hobbs, Lubbock route 3; W. J. Spikes, jr., 2222 Eighteenth; and R. C. Priestly, 2102 East Ave. D. George Langford was foreman.

Blockade Showdown

western train traffic to Berlin.

(A British spokesman at Essen said only 88 coal trains, with 70,000 tons of supplies, have entered Berlin since the Russians lifted the blockade May 12.

(In Berlin, the Soviet information chief, Col. Serge Tulpanov and Communist leader Wilhelm Pieck predicted the Big Four conference in Paris will end in failure shortly. Both said an East-West trade pact seems to be the only agreement that may emerge from the conference.)

Acheson's move aroused immediate speculation in some diplomatic circles that the western ministers might take the position that the conference is being held under false pretenses since the Soviets have failed to live up to their blockade-lifting agreement.

Acheson Asks Discussion

Acheson's move appeared designed also to bring Vishinsky down to brass tacks on the question of the West's right to free access to Berlin.

This has become an issue of paramount importance to the West since the delegates are generally convinced there is no hope of getting an agreement on political or economic unity, either for Berlin or Germany as a whole.

Acheson requested a discussion of his proposal tomorrow. A Soviet spokesman later signified willingness to talk it over at that time.

If Vishinsky should reject Acheson's proposal outright, the western ministers might move to break up the conference.

British Foreign Secretary Bevin was not present at today's session. He flew to Blackpool to attend the British Labor party's annual conference. Lord Henderson, undersecretary for German affairs, sat in for him.

Movie Rights To Life Story Of Colorful War Hero Bought; Amarillo Site For Film

By DOROTHY MANNERS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 8.—Movie rights, plus radio and television rights, to the life story of Lt. Col. Gregory Boyington, better known as "Pappy," have been tied up tighter than a knot by James and Bob Schwartz, prexies of Tele-Radio, Inc.

"Pappy," whose romantic adventures and misadventures hit the headlines with almost as much attention as he rated as a hero with the Flying Tigers, would like Humphrey Bogart to play him on the screen.

Boyington's war record was a fine thing. Too bad the same cannot be said for his peacetime activities, which continue to be far from peaceful.

To Film Movie In Texas

Robert Preston is interested beyond the line of duty in his role in "Thunder In The Dust." This is the picture in which John Barrymore, jr., makes his debut and Bob is taking the boy under his wing.

He has already met young Barrymore and is impressed with the kid's modesty. John wants to act, and follow in his father's footsteps, more than anything else in the world. But he knows he is going to need all the help he can get from more experienced actors.

The troupe takes off in three weeks to start shooting the technicolor film in Amarillo, Texas. It's a Lemay-Templeton production.

Virginia Grey's break, replacing suspended Gloria Graham, in "Terror" at RKO, couldn't happen to a grander gal. I hope to high heaven this picture swings Virginia right up into the star brackets. She's beautiful. She's talented. But she's waited a long, long time for the role that will put her over.

This may be it. Virginia plays a burlesque girl held hostage by an escaped killer, her first big dramatic part in years.

Hugh King produces with Felix Feist directing. Oh, yes—beg pardon to Mike O'Shea, he is the male star.

STUDY OF COMMUNISM FAVORED

Top U.S. Educators Claim Red Party Members Unfit To Teach

By JAMES LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 8 — Top American educators including Gen. Eisenhower of Columbia and President James B. Conant of Harvard declared today that Communist party members are "unfit" to teach in American schools.

But the blue-ribbon panel of education experts recommended that the principles of Communism and other forms of totalitarianism be taught in the nation's schools in order to help youth reject such un-American doctrines.

20 Join In Report

Eisenhower, Conant, and 18 other members of an educational policies commission made their recommendations in a report on American education as related to the cold war.

The commission was appointed by the National Education association and the American Association of School Administrators.

The report warned that Communist party members must be barred as teachers because "such membership, and the accompanying surrender of intellectual integrity, render an individual unfit to discharge the duties of a teacher in this country."

At the same time, the commission denounced as "careless" and "unjust" the use of such words as "Red" and "Communist" in criticism of teachers "who merely have views different from those of their accusers." The report pointed out:

Urge Freedom To Think

"The whole spirit of free American education will be subverted unless teachers are free to think for themselves.

"It is because members of the Communist party are required to surrender this right, as a consequence of becoming part of a movement characterized by conspiracy and calculated deceit, that they should be excluded from employment as teachers."

The commission emphasized that there must be adequate school safeguards against advocacy of totalitarianism, including the form represented by the Soviet Union and the Communist party in the United States.

Communism Study Favored

The educators maintained, however, that accurate and objective instruction in the principles of Communism would better enable youth to reject such doctrines than if "left to the prey of propaganda through out-of-school channels—often possessing the enhanced appeal of forbidden fruit."

Besides Eisenhower and Conant, commission members are:

John K. Norton, Teachers college, Columbia, chairman; James M. Spinning, superintendent of schools, Rochester, N.Y.; Henry H. Hill, president of Peabody Teachers college, Nashville, Tenn. George A. Selke, chancellor, University of Montana; T. R. McConnell, University of Minnesota; Ethel J. Alpenfels, New York university; Paul R. Mort, Teachers college, Columbia.

Ruby Anderson, Athens (Ga.) high school; Mae Newman, Huntington (W. Va.) high school; Mabel Studebaker, Strong Vincent high school, Erie, Pa.; John L. Bracken, superintendent of schools, Clayton, Mo.

William Jansen, superintendent of schools, New York City; Eugene H. Herrington, principal, Ebert school, Denver; Alonzo G. Grace, education director, American Military government, Berlin.

O. C. Carmichael, president, Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching; Galen Jones, office of education; Worth McClure, secretary, American Association of School administrators; Willard E. Givens, executive secretary, National Education association.

OLD TIMER ATTENDS RODEO—Bob Beverly, 78, of Lovington, N.M., was in Lubbock Wednesday to attend the opening performance of the Boys' Club rodeo. He rode the range around Lubbock before there was a Lubbock, along with such oldtimers as Rollie Burns, Tildy Wolfforth and George Boles. OLDTIMER ATTENDS RODEO

Pioneer South Plains 'Cowpoke' Recalls Old Days On Visit Here

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche Staff Writer

Bob Beverley, one of the few remaining cowpokes who rode South Plains ranges when they were open grasslands, was a distinguished visitor to Lubbock and the Boys Club rodeo Wednesday.

He punched cattle with such other builders of the Southwestern Empire as Rollie Burns, Tildy Wolfforth and George Boles.

And he remembers when Lubbock had the dubious distinction of being the fartherest county seat from a railroad of any in the nation.

Cowpokes 'Die Hard'

The 78-year-old Lovington, N.M., man belies his age. Healthy-looking and ruddy, he says of early-day cowpokes, "They wear out but they don't die easy."

Mr. Beverly is already working on arrangements for the Open Range Boys' annual meeting Monday, Sept. 6, at the home of his son, J. P. Beverly, one mile south of Lovington.

Oldtimers from as far away as California will meet once more to reminisce and pay respects to their comrades who have departed.

Born "down below Fort Worth" in 1872, he was orphaned at an early age, and at the age of 12 came west to ride herd on cattle.

Railroads Moved West

He saw every railroad built west of Fort Worth, he recalls. He's taken cattle for shipment to most of them. And he remembers when all the country southwest of

Governor Signs Final Measure

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, June 8 — Appointment of key personnel to put part of the Gilmer-Aikin school program into effect as soon as possible was announced today.

The appointments were made shortly after Gov. Beauford H. Jester signed the last two school reorganization measures.

State Auditor C. H. Cavness, in temporary charge of the program until a commissioner of education can be selected, handed L. P. Sturgeon of New Boston the job of directing the foundation school program.

Assistants Named

Sturgeon is on leave of absence from New Boston, where he is superintendent of schools. Named to assist him was J. Warren Hitt of Austin. William J. Harrison, assistant state auditor, will serve as audits supervisor, and P. E. Hutchinson will direct the program review section.

Cavness was made interim school administrator under terms of Senate Bill 116. His job will continue until an elected board of education names the commissioner of education. Senate bill 115 does not take effect until 90 days after the legislature adjourns.

Jester signed Senate bills 116 and 117 today. They are effective immediately.

Purposes Of Plan Outlined

"The purposes of this legislation are to correct weaknesses and inequities in our present system, pay our teachers adequately, provide for equalized state aid and equalized local support, and assure the people of Texas that their school tax money will be well spent," the governor said.

"This program will be expensive, admittedly, but if it accomplishes its manifold purposes, the people will approve it," he added.

The new program's cost has been estimated from 180 to 210 million dollars a year.

Backers Witness Signing

The signing ceremony was witnessed by Claud Gilmer, Rock Springs, and Senator A. M. Aikin, jr., Paris, the two men who set off the reorganization of the public school system when they introduced resolutions in the last legislature providing for a long-range study of Texas education needs.

Also present were Senators Jim Taylor, Kerens, wheelhorse of the legislative drive to get the bills passed; Ottis Lock, Lufkin, sponsor of the minimum school program bill; R. L. (Bob) Proffer, chairman of the Senate Education committee; and G. C. Morris,

Canadian River Report Planned

Report on the feasibility of a Canadian river dam, reservoir and pipeline system to supply interested South Plains and Panhandle communities with water for domestic and industrial uses probably will be completed within a week or 10 days.

This information was given Wednesday in a long distance telephone conversation with The Morning Avalanche by Harry T. Burleigh, of Austin, engineer for Texas of the U. S. Reclamation service. Burleigh, now in Amarillo, is supervising preparation of the report.

Proves a Big Task

The report originally was scheduled for release about June 1. The magnitude of the task of accumulating the necessary information for inclusion in the findings has been responsible for the delay, the engineer said.

Burleigh would not make advance disclosures of the information which the report may contain. He explained, however, the procedure which probably will be followed in releasing it.

When the report is finished, he said, officials of the South Plains and Panhandle towns and cities interested in a Canadian river reservoir as a possible source of water supply will be notified.

To Arrange Meeting

They will be asked to arrange a meeting at a time and place convenient to them. The report will be presented to that meeting.

The reclamation service officials will not suggest when or where the meeting should be held, Burleigh emphasized.

The probabilities are, however, that it will be in Plainview as the most centrally located point.

Among the communities expected to be represented there are Lubbock, Amarillo, Plainview, Pampa, Borger, Tahoka, Lamesa, O'Donnell, Brownfield, Post, Levelland, Slaton and probably several others.

To Include Estimates

The report, according to Burleigh, will include estimates of total cost of building the proposed dam, reservoir and pipeline system to get water to interested communities, and the cost of the water per 1,000 gallons to the localities wanting it.

Burleigh declined information

Attorney General Here For Rodeo Opening

Daniel Pledges Fight For State Tidelands

By CHOC HUTCHESON
Avalanche Staff Writer

Price Daniel, attorney general of Texas who Wednesday was in Lubbock for the opening of the ABC Boys' Club rodeo, flatly reiterated his intention to fight to the end for state retention of valuable Gulf coast tidelands.

Questioned regarding his views on a recent compromise proposed by U.S. Attorney General Tom Clark in the state-federal tidelands dispute, Daniel said, "I will never agree to any proposal which does not confirm Texas' right to the property within the state's boundaries as provided by the annexation agreement of 1845."

And, he added, it is highly important that the people and officials of the state remain united in the current U.S. Supreme Court and Congressional fights over the oil-rich tidelands regions.

Claims Cause Weakened

To date, only Lt. Gov. Allan Shivers of top Texas officials has expressed approval of Clark's compromise proposal. Daniel, Gov. Beauford Jester and Land Commissioner Bascom Giles, who comprise the state school land board, all have opposed the measure.

"Compromise talk has only weakened our cause in Washington, and I hope there will be no more of it," Daniel said today. "People who really believe in the justice and validity of Texas' ownership of these tidelands should never offer to compromise our rights. Such talk would indicate lack of faith in our own cause, and it can hurt us beyond recovery in the courts and Congress."

Biggest Land Suit

Daniel estimated the value of the disputed tidelands territory in Texas at "several billion dollars—perhaps as much as $10 billion." Three and one-half million acres of submerged land are involved, he said.

"This definitely is the biggest land suit in the history of the United States," he declared.

Daniel gave this brief summary of the background of the tidelands dispute:

The First Congress of the Texas Republic, on Dec. 19, 1836, fixed the boundary in the Gulf of Mexico at three leagues (10½ miles) from shore, from the mouth of the Sabine river to the mouth of the Rio Grande.

On joining the United States in 1845, Texas assumed responsibility for all debts of the Republic, and in return—under the annexation agreement—was allowed to "retain all the vacant and unappropriated lands lying within its limits."

For nearly a century the federal government made no claims to marginal coastal lands, Daniel said. But in 1938, Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes began to claim California tidelands for the national government. Later the dispute spread to other states, as valuable oil discoveries were made in tidelands areas. In December, 1948, Attorney General Clark entered suit against Texas with the U. S. Supreme Court, claiming Gulf coast tidelands for the United States. State officials have until Sept. 1 to answer this suit.

The latest development came about a month ago, when Clark set forth his compromise proposal. This measure would confirm all of the oil leases heretofore executed

Andrews Test Is Proven Producer

Discovery for Clear Fork-Permian production has been proven for Cities Service Oil Company No. 1-E Cowden, north outpost to the Dollarhide field of southwest Andrews county.

The prospector drilled to 8,972 feet and plugged back to 8,680 feet to make tests of the Fusselman-Silurian, which failed to produce in commercial quantities.

The Devonian then was tested through perforations at 7,755-7,800 feet. The well flowed 380 barrels of oil per day from that section, showing an extension to the Dollarhide pool in that pay.

Perforations Made

Operator then perforated in the Clear Fork at 6,545-6,650 feet, which had indicated production on drillstem tests. The formation was acidized with 5,000 gallons.

The project kicked off and flowed 206 barrels of oil in 12 hours through a 19/32-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was 975-1.

The well was shut in for storage while waiting for a railroad commission permit to dually complete in the Devonian and Clear Fork.

It is about three miles from the nearest Clear Fork production.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 14, block A-52, psl survey.

Survey Being Taken

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Williams, northwest Borden county discovery from the sections between 9,930 feet and approximately 10,000 feet, is taking various sorts of electric surveys to the bottom at 10,035 feet.

After completion and checking surveys, it is expected that operator will set casing and make production tests and complete the wildcat as a new field-opener.

Located 11 miles northwest of Gail, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 45, block 32, EL&RR survey, T-6-N, this prospector showed oil in commercial quantities at 9,830-10,000 feet, which most geologists think is in the Mississippian.

The interval from 10,000 to 10,035 feet made only salt water on drillstem tests.

Some geologists who have checked the drilling samples from this wildcat all the way to the total depth at 10,035 feet, are now

Grain Program Is Under Fire

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, June 8—The government's new program for grain storage is likely to result not only in a heavy loss of grain, but in heavy losses to taxpayers, G. E. Blewett, secretary-treasurer of the Texas Grain and Feed Dealers association said here today.

His statement came as state offices of the Production and Marketing administration in College Station, announced it would be three or four days before farmers will be able to take action to get storage under the new program.

Program Is Announced

The program, announced in Washington Tuesday by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, would allow farmers to store grain on the ground for 90 days while they are building farm storage which the Commodity Credit corporation will help finance.

Some grain men have said that the new program will help the crowded storage situation immediately and that it will have a lasting effect.

No elevator-type storage is planned under the program, Brannan said.

Loss to the taxpayers will come, Blewett indicated, when the government stands the loss on the wheat after it is damaged by weather.

Government Must Decide

"The average county loan in Texas," Blewett said, "is $1.87 for No. 1 hard wheat and 75 percent of this would be $1.45. So if the farmer takes the loan of $1.45 for wheat piled on the ground and the wheat goes out of condition, i then remains to be seen whether the government will take over the wheat on that basis or whether the government will give the farmer the full loan on wheat that has gone out of condition when it is place in suitable storage."

Blewett says the country elevator would pay the farmer about $1.60 for his wheat.

Manufacturing Takes Big Jump In Four-State Area Of Southwest

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Manufacturing in the four states of Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas took a big jump in the eight-year span from 1939 to 1947.

This is shown in a report of the Census bureau giving comparative figures on value added by manufacture in the four states.

Value added is the amount by which the value of manufactured shipments exceeds the cost of materials and supplies and thus is an index on manufacturing.

The report shows that in the four states in 1947 the total value added was approximately $3 billion compared with $800 million in 1939. This was a 275 percent increase, the report said, compared with 200 percent for the country at large.

Texas Leads Group

Texas lead the four states in total of value added in 1947. The Texas amount was $1,715,900,000. Arkansas had a total of $265,600,000; Louisiana $692,200,000; and Oklahoma $340,500,000.

Arkansas, however, led in percentage of gain over 1939, showing an increase of nearly 300 percent. The Texas gain was 280 percent, Louisiana's was 250 percent and Oklahoma's 235 percent.

For Arkansas the report covered 1,924 manufacturing units employing on an average of 65,300 workers, who received wages of $132 million. The largest single industry group in the state was lumber and products, which produced an added value of $81,400,000. Other big industry groups in the state and the amount of value added included: food and kindred products $41,500,000; chemicals $29,200,000 and paper $21,900,000.

7,124 Cities Covered

For Texas the report covered 7,124 manufacturing units employing 296,600 workers at a total salary outlay of $753,500,000. The larger industry groups and their respective value added included: petroleum and coal $356 million; food $330 million; chemicals $234,500,000; machinery, except electrical, $129,600,000.

The Louisiana report covered 2,387 units employing 132,100 workers who were paid $308,900,000. Big industry groups and the manufacturing value they added: food $139 million; petroleum and coal $122 million; chemicals $113,500,000, lumber $84,100,000.

For Oklahoma the report covered 1,740 units employing 55,300 workers who received $143,500,000 in pay. Major industries in Oklahoma and the value added: petroleum an dcoal $79,900,000; food $75,500,000; machinery $37,200,000; and stone, clay and glass $23,400,000.

Two South Texas Ranchers Urge Caribbean Quarantine Station

WASHINGTON, June 8. (Special)—Two South Texas ranchers, J. W. Sartwell, Palacios, and Roy Martin, Cotulla, testified before the Senate Agriculture sub-committee Wednesday afternoon in favor of establishing a quarantine station for foreign cattle at Swan Island in the Caribbean sea.

The quarantine station would be a way station for cattle being imported into the United States, to make sure that they do not bring in the foot-and-mouth disease.

Their position is strongly contested by the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers association and the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers, who say this quarantine station is not adequate guarantee against foot-and-mouth disease. Representative Eugene Worley, Shamrock, has a bill to repeal the law establishing the quarantine station.

Jury Selected For Milton Babich Trial

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 8 (INS) — An 11-man, one-woman jury was selected today in Milwaukee to hear 19-year-old Milton Babich's trial for the slaying of his bride's younger sister.

Opening statements are scheduled to be given tomorrow before Judge Herbert J. Steffes.

Fourty-four members of a 74-person panel were examined before the jury was completed.

Life Sentence Possible

The jury is qualified to find Babich guilty of murder in the first degree. Wisconsin's highest punishment for such a crime is life in prison. The state has no death penalty.

Today's court session was recessed after the jury members were sworn in. Babich's trial is scheduled to resume at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

The dark-haired and poker-faced Babich is charged with murder in the slaying of 16-year-old Patricia Birmingham, sister of Kathleen, the girl with whom he eloped.

Babich has admitted he accidentally shot and killed Patricia last Feb 10 while attempting to frighten her into silence concerning Kathleen's pregnancy. He and Kathleen married more than a month after the slaying.

NEW CASES IN STATE TOTAL 37

Polio Decline Brings Warning To Continue Battle Against Disease

AUSTIN, June 8 (AP)—A sharp drop in polio cases over the state last week brought only a warning from the State Health department today to keep up the fight.

For the week ending June 4, 37 new polio cases were reported, the department said today. That was about half the 72 cases reported for the previous week. Total cases for Texas this year are 343.

"Let's don't be too happy about that," said Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer. "You can't tell about polio. There should be no let-up in the clean-up campaign against it."

Peaks, Declines Noted

He pointed out that last summer, when all previous records were broken, there were several peaks and declines.

As proof that strenuous clean-up campaigns can help materially in the fight against polio, Dr. Cox pointed to Tom Green and Bexar counties, where cases this year have been high. Tom Green county (San Angelo) reported nine new cases for the week ending June 4. The previous week it had reported 19.

Bexar county (San Antonio) had only three new cases, compared to 13 the previous week.

Other new cases by counties were: Travis, 2; Cameron 2; El Paso 2; Runnels 2, and Wichita 2. One each was reported in Bee, Brazos, Chambers, Dallas, Ector, Galveston, Harris, Hidalgo, Kerr, Lamb, Medina, Nacogdoches, Uvalde, Williamson and Zavalla counties.

San Angelo Lifts Anti-Polio Ban On All Public Gatherings

SAN ANGELO, June 8 (AP)—San Angelo's movie houses, swimming pools, schools and churches will be allowed to re-open tomorrow.

The city commission, which had banned public gatherings because of polio, announced today the ban will expire at midnight tonight.

Cases hospitalized here remained almost the same, although 11 new cases have been admitted. There were also ten dismissals, leaving total cases under treatment at 56.

Pet Canary Back In Cage After Chase Through Treetops

Pretty Boy, a yellow-plum-maged canary, played a game of "cat and mouse" this week, but is back in his bright green cage today after an hour's freedom in the out-of-doors.

Mrs. C. G. Spicer, 2415 Twenty-first, let her little pet fly around inside the house Tuesday afternoon, and when her son, Oliver, opened the door to come in, out went Pretty Boy. He flew over the neighboring housetops and finally perched in a treetop on Ave. X. The chase was on!

Family Follows Bird

Because of his brilliant yellow feathers, the Spicers were able to keep the little bird in sight as he flew from one tree to another, stopping in the top of each one to sing a song of delight at his freedom. Oliver climbed up and down trees in an effort to catch the holiday-ing songster, but Pretty Boy toyed with his pursuer like a cat with a mouse. He waited until the young man climbed to the treetop and reached out to grasp the yellow bit of fluff, then with a mocking chirp, swooped away and perched in another tree to continue his song.

The chase went on for an hour, from 1 until 2 p.m., and covered a block, from Ave. X to Ave. Y. On Oliver's seventh tree climbing escapade, the canary, either tired of his freedom or exhausted by his unaccustomed exercise, let himself be taken captive and carried home to safety and to his cage.

Pretty Boy is none the worse for his vacation, but Oliver has a mask of mercurochrome war paint, and a collection of twig scratches and bruises, plus a determination to padlock the family canary in his cage for a long time to come.

Labor Government Favors Goodwill Trip

Britain's Princess Margaret Plans To Visit U.S. This Fall

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 8.—Fun-loving Princess Margaret Rose plans to visit the United States for several weeks this fall.

It's to be a private trip, but she will play a goodwill role.

Sources close to Buckingham palace said today the princess, younger daughter of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, will go to Washington and New York and "probably will travel outside" those cities.

Royal Family Visited U. S.

It was 10 years ago today, June 8, 1939, that her parents arrived in Washington on a brief tour of the United States and Canada. They were guests of President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Princess Margaret, who will be 19 Aug. 21, returned only last weekend from a month's trip to Italy, Switzerland and France.

The visit to the United States, like that continental tour, is billed as "purely private."

"Ambassador Of Goodwill"

Once regarded as the "playgirl of the palace" because of her gaiety and love for pranks, the princess now is looked upon as Britain's ambassador of goodwill. She has made a series of tours within Britain, studying courts, schools, hospitals and industries.

The Labor government is known to favor a trip by some member of the royal family to the United States, where British prestige has dipped somewhat lately because of Britain's economic difficulties.

During the tour of Italy, newsmen and photographers swarmed after her nearly every minute. Some London newspapers finally printed editorials urging newsmen to "let her alone."

A source close to the royal family said "the palace hopes, of course, that there will be no such performance by the newsmen in America."

Solon To Pit Ability To Blackout Mentally Against Mind Reader

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Rep. Aime J. Forand (D-RI) has been thinking on Capitol Hill for so many years he thinks he's got that sort of thing licked.

Sometimes — if he thinks about it real hard — he's able to not think about anything for a few minutes.

So what happens tomorrow night ought to be interesting.

The balding congressman is the sly one. You get a mental picture of him standing there all alone in the twilight on the sapitol steps, thinking about not thinking. And the great Dunninger, the master mentalist, trying to pick up the thoughts out of his brain by long distance. All recorded via television by NBC on what is called a split screen. That is, the public can see what is going on at both ends.

Television Show Planned

Forand is supposed to stand in front of a video camera here and think about something. Maybe the serial number on a government bond. Or the number on a bill the House Ways and Means committee, of which he is a member, is considering. (The gentleman from Rhode Island, by the way, calls it the "woes and moans" committee.)

Dunninger, who claims he is wrong only 10 percent of the time, will try to tell the people what this particular congressman is thinking about.

Forand isn't tipping his hand. He says he may have three or four documents in his fist and not be thinking about any of 'em. He may be thinking about what nag is going to come in ahead in the fourth race somewhere. Or, he may not be thinking at all.

"I don't think the old master is used to working with non-thinkers," he said.

Solon Claims Powers

Incidentally, the 54-year-old congressman claims to be a pretty good mind reader himself. He has been bouncing around Capitol Hill for some 20-odd years. Before he became a member of Congress, he was secretary to two representatives. Both quit to become judges.

"I finally had to run for Congress or be out of a job," he said.

In those two decades, though, Forand became a great student of what the other fellow was about to do.

"You have to figure out the other fellow's thinking in advance in order to know whether a certain bill is going through," he said.

But getting back to tomorrow night.

Master mind Dunninger had better be on his toes! The congressman may foul him up. Forand can, when thinking hard, think about some dandies. Like some of the complicated gobbledgook that goes into the congressional record. What President Truman had for dinner. Or the exact wording of a bill for the relief of homing pigeons. Or maybe the transcript of hearings on the snail menace on some Pacific islands.

Or, as the gentleman from Rhode Island warned, he might approach the cameras and make with an open — and completely blank—mind.

San Antonio Traffic Deaths Reach 20 As News Vendor Dies

SAN ANTONIO, June 8 (UP)—The city counted its 20th traffic fatality of the year today with the death of Jose Vallejo, 76-year-old newspaper vendor who was struck last night by a pickup truck.

The accident occurred as Vallejo crossed a street en route home. He died an hour later in a hospital.

GREEN LIGHT UNAVAILING

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—The traffic signal changed from red to green, but not for John F. Vanderman, 50. Passersby found him slumped over the steering wheel of his auto. The coroner's office said death apparently was due to heart attack.

Sunday communion is to be later at Linby, England, so young workers can "lie in."

SENATE REDUCES MONEY BILL

Move To Slash Governmental Expenses Picks Up Strength

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 8. — An economy drive picked up at least temporary strength in the Senate today but one of its leaders observed that President Truman holds the whip hand.

Senator McClellan (D-Ark) told a reporter that most economy moves — if passed by Congress— probably will run into a presidential veto.

As chairman of the Senate Expenditures committee, McClellan is working on a measure aiming at a balanced budget for the new fiscal year that begins next month. It would propose to trim about $3,000,000,000 from President Truman's original budget for spending just under $42,000,000,000.

Money Bill Cut

"That's about the best that Congress can do now," McClellan said. "If the President should veto it, then that would be his responsibility."

Meanwhile the Senate for the first time this session cut a major appropriations bill below amounts voted by the House.

It passed by voice vote late yesterday the annual money bill for the State, Justice and Commerce departments and the federal judiciary, containing $671,782,281 for all. This was $12,833,821 less cash than voted by the House.

Part of this cash savings was offset by upping contract authority —or the right to spend and ask Congress to pay later—by $6,100,000 to a total of $68,700,000.

Foreign Aid Test

All other annual appropriations have been increased by the Senate as compared with House totals.

Senator McCarran (D-Nev), who served as floor leader for the state-justice-commerce bill, said he "hopes to see this new trend increase."

One of the biggest economy tests was set in the opening of hearings by an Appropriations subcommittee on the $5,617,440,000 foreign aid bill passed by the House.

Many senators have been talking about cutting a billion dollars or more from this. It provides the bulk of funds for the second year of the European Recovery program.

The President originally asked $6,332,200,000 for foreign aid and at first the House threatened a sharp cut. Later it voted to allow the Economic Corperation administration to spend all funds provided in a little over a year instead of 15 months, if necessary.

Opposes ECA Cut

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), GOP spokesman of international affairs, told a reporter he would back the ECA in opposing further Senate reductions.

But Vandenberg said that if Congress later agrees upon some overall cutback of five percent or so on all spending, he would vote to include ECA on this.

Senator McClellan said an expenditures subcommittee will offer an economy measure that would authorize President Truman to cut domestic funds from $1,500,000,000 to $2,000,000,000.

Then McClellan said Congress itself probably should take enough out of ECA—a billion or more—to keep government outgo even with income during the next year.

Reports Of Plane Wreckage Spurs Hunt For Missing Texans

HOPE, Ark., June 8 (AP)—A new report of plane wreckage spurred the search today for a missing Stephenville, Tex., plane.

State police said an unidentified farmer reported hearing a plane flying low about the time the Texas plane was reported missing May 29. Police said there also were reports that wreckage of a plane was sighted about 30 miles east of the Texas-Arkansas line.

The plane, carrying T. C. Elkins and Ben Ferguson of Stephenville, has been missing since leaving Hot Springs May 29 for Stephenville.

SORRY SPECTACLE

The Senate Fumbles

THE POWERFUL dairy lobby appears to be in the process of demonstrating again that selfish minorities with enough money and influence can defeat the processes of democratic government. If this happens, it will be, once more, with the connivance of the United States Senate.

From senatorial sources has come the information recently that the Upper House of Congress probably will not act on proposed repeal of oleomargarine taxes because of "pressure of other business." A flimsier excuse for inaction never has been cooked up in Washington.

The repeal measure was one of the first passed by the House of Representatives during this session. The majority was overwhelming, 287 to 86. The Senate Finance committee has reported it favorably despite delaying tactics by dairy state senators, who comprise about one-fourth of the total Senate membership. Even the most vigorous opponents of repeal of the oleo taxes concede they will be defeated overwhelmingly if the Senate as a whole ever gets a chance to vote on the proposition. President Truman has declared his support of the legislation.

Yet, in some manner, the dairy interests have blocked the showdown vote. Just how they have done it is one of the mysteries of Washington. Conjectures as to the reasons do not flatter members of the Senate, either as individuals or as a legislative body which pompously proclaims itself as the foremost champion of democratic rule.

The plain fact of the business, according to virtually the unanimous censensus of Washington observers, is that the Senate could attend to this business without loss of much time. The pretense that the senators are too busy with more important business is recognized by everyone except the guilty senators themselves, and the lobby, as being an excuse rather than a reason for disposing of a matter which has awaited attention for years. Failure to act upon it will add to the proof that the Senate sometimes functions to defeat, rather than carry out, the wishes of the masses whom they are supposed to represent.

The Batory Case

MOST Americans doubtless approved the official restrictions placed on the crew of the Polish steamship, Batory, on its return to the U.S. after having supplied the transportation for the escape of the Communist espionage agent, Gerhart Eisler.

But the restrictions were more commendable than the motives which may have inspired them. Eisler got aboard the Batory under the noses of Federal Bureau of Investigation agents. Then Eisler, safe in Germany, caused the world to smile when he suggested Attorney General Tom Clark for the "Nobel prize for stupidity." The FBI is in Mr. Clark's department.

The indications are that the FBI acted in this case because the Batory figured in an incident which made the agency and Mr. Clark look silly. Injured pride got action when the danger represented by the free movement of the crew members—all prospective spies from behind the Iron Curtain—failed to stir activity either by the FBI or the Attorney General.

None of this suggests the feeling that the Batory crewmen were abused. On the contrary, probably the national security would be protected better if such restraints were imposed, as a matter of policy, on the crews of all ships from Russia and satellite nations while they are in U.S. ports Unfortunately, it appears that no such protections will be afforded unless alien visitors do something which makes our officials look ridiculous.

Accepting the resignation of Sir William Lawther, head of the British mineworkers' union, as president of the British Czechoslovak Friendship League, the league's executive committee said: "Your ridiculous view that the league is influenced by the Comintern is, at best, a piece of gross impertinence."

Herbert Roberts of Kentish Town, England, who often has kite-fights with a friend, has advertised he will meet all comers—the idea being to cut the other man's string

Island Of Escape

By HUGH LAWRENCE NELSON

Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Bea Cosgrove, unsatisfied that Lilly Warren's death was suicide, has just proved to herself and Fred Sillwell that the alibis of the other Speare Islanders are worthless. But her activities seem pretty well known to George Bascombe and others on the island. However, a storm gathers over the island and the islanders, eight of them altogether, retire to the home of the owner, Henry Gough Harding. Suddenly an alarm is given. There is a fire sweeping through the dry grass of the island.)

XXVIII

HENRY HARDING almost knocked Mabel Jones down as he burst into the main room. He carried a 30-30 rifle.

"Sillwell. Stand away from the others. I'll kill you for lighting a fire in this wind."

"I didn't!" Fred said quickly. "No one could see it in the murk. Why and how could I light it now?"

"It's no beacon," Bascombe said. "It's a fire in the long grass and the brush. It's growing fast."

Bea Cosgrove heard the snick as Harding automatically lowered the cocked hammer of the rifle. He pushed to a place by the window, turned quickly. His voice carried authority when he spoke.

"We've got one chance to stop or turn that fire. We'll go to the shed for tools. Shovels. Hoes. All of you follow me. I'll show you where we can backfire. We may be able to save the house if it rains soon enough."

Henry Harding stuck his shovel upright in the ground, put his long flashlight on a rock so its beam stabbed toward the opposite side of the island. "We'll backfire here." He had to shout to make himself heard.

The others were breathless and gasping from the long run with their tools and equipment.

"Make grass bundles," Harding commanded. He showed them how to twist the tough, long-stemmed grass into compact brown masses that burned fiercely when he lit them with his hoard of matches. He showed them how to scatter the burning bundles along the path of the flashlight. A dozen little fires sprang up. A dozen more as they moved across the island.

As they worked they were conscious of the approaching fire. The gusty wind was hot now and whipped bits of burning grass ahead of its main front. The smoke was denser, yet between puffs there was still comparatively clean air.

The little fires spread out, joined together in a wall between the Speare Islanders and the larger conflagration.

FLATS of shovels pounded at edge. Wet sacks beat out the life of sparks. Hoes scraped dried grass from the hard earth.

Harding had chosen his spot well. A bare outcrop of rock left only a portion of the backfire line to be guarded. But the wind was making up, and the counterfire ate its way to windward slowly, while it zipped and rushed toward the laboring people.

The charred barrier widened gradually dotted with still-burning bushes and shrubs, to offer scant fuel for the main fire. It was close now, close enough so its chuckle and crackle as is swallowed grass and dry brush could be heard plainly.

A few scattered drops of rain fell unnoticed.

The fire on their side of the black path was out. Shouted orders were passed along from one smoke-shrouded figure to another. "Fall back! If it jumps, try to check it. If you can't, try to get back to the rock!" The voices were hoarse, as unrecognizable as the blackened figures.

The wind was a hot fierce blast. Bea Cosgrove staggered along, the wind at her back. She still clutched a shovel. Half blinded and in the uncertain light from the fires, she stumbled over rocks and bushes. put a few more yards between herself and the burned-over area. A few more, and her feet were stinging lead. She tripped, fell heavily. She got up with the aid of the shovel, left it as she stumbled on.

The earth trembled beneath her aching body. In a few seconds a dull rumbling came to her.

BEYOND the main house, from the cove and lower storerooms, flames were leaping high into the air. Gasoline-fed flames. The house, the squatting water tower, made a silhouette against their brightness.

As Bea stared, the house lifted into the air. It moved slowly, in one piece. As it settled back, it disintegrated.

The earth trembled beneath her again, a heavier jar. Concussion pushed at her. There was no sign now of the house or tower.

She was suddenly conscious of growing light near by. She turned quickly to face intense heat. The main flames had jumped the backfire in a dozen places. Its several spearheads were joining into a new solid front.

Bea forced herself to her feet, ran as she could see others running toward the rock outcrop. The scant check of the charred path gave them a few precious minutes to race along the fire's face toward shelter.

It was a near thing for some. A spending of the last strength of desperation for others. And for a time they had to fight for even their scant margin of safety, had to beat at encroaching flames running along paths of grass.

Then the main fire was past. It swept down the island, roaring and chuckling again, apparently unchecked by the slowly increasing rain. Its brilliance merged with the leaping flames from the cove.

"All here? All here?" Hearse questioning voices. A counting of figures. "All here! All here!"

One man stood apart, his face turned up toward the rain, his lips moving silently, in the passing firelight.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

IMPORTANT NOTICE! ! ! If, by any chance you have in your possession any of that uranium oxide which recently disappeared mysteriously from the Atomic Energy Commission's Argonne Laboratory at Chicago, please do not try to use it to make your geraniums grow more prolifically.

BRANDEIS

It won't work, in spite of what I said in a recent column.

I take it for granted that most of you who read that column knew that it was intended to be at least semi-humorous.

There was no intention to induce any of my readers to steal any atomic bomb ingredients for use as fertilizer in their own flower pots.

But, I am afraid, a sense of humor is not part of the scientific make-up, and so I received an official letter from Mr. Ralph Singleton of the Biology Department of Brookhaven National Laboratory in Upton, Long Island, where, according to my information, the geranium experiments were being made.

To be sure that I would be properly called to order, Mr. Ralph Singleton sent a copy of the letter to the editor of the Bridgeport, Conn., Telegram in which he had read my column.

I quote the letter in part, although I must confess that most of it is much too learned for my limited understanding.

"According to your report," writes Mr. W Ralph Singleton, "the radioactive phosphorus caused geraniums to make a luxuriant growth.

"I wonder if you could inform me of the source of your information for this report. It did not come from one of the news releases from this laboratory.

"Furthermore, we have not done any experiments with the effect of radioactive phosphorus on the stimulation of growing plants. We have used radiophosphorus as a source of radiation for the induction of mutations in micro-organisms and also tried to obtain some mutations in corn with it, but apparently did not give sufficient dose to it."

Mr. W. Ralph Singleton continues his lengthy explanation and ends his letter with this castigation:

"Reports such as yours are grossly misleading to the public. If you wish to report on work that is being done at this Laboratory I am sure that Mr. Amrine would be glad to send you official press releases. Such releases should prevent any further misstatements such as appeared in your article."

Knowing that a lot of people have confidence in me I am, of course, terribly worried about the disappearance of the uranium so soon after my column was published. Perhaps

McGRATH GROUP BOILS

Liberal Demos Active

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The Americans for Democratic Action, which is rapidly winning a reputation around the White House as the Roosevelt family's private political organization, has virtually set itself up as a rival to the regular Democratic National Committee, although slightly mugwumpish in its self-laudatory statements.

The A. D. A., which first angered President Truman by plumping for "Ike" Eisenhower at Philadelphia and by forcing adoption of a Civil Rights plank that precipitated the Dixiecratic walkout, refuses to coordinate its ultra-curricular activities or clear its publicity through National Chairman McGrath's office.

Items in its weekly publication sometimes shock him more violently than blasts from Colonel Robert McCormick's Chicago Tribune, and that is saying a lot.

OFFENSE: A. D. A.'s most recent offense was to take credit for preventing the Administration from recognizing France and for forcing President Truman to backtrack on his reported plan to let Congress adjourn without acting on issues on A. D. A.'s "must" calendar especially the Civil Rights Bill.

The White House, as well as many members of Congress, had hoped to soft-pedal the growing sentiment in favor of American recognition of Madrid. The score of Senators who recommended such action still favor closer relations, but they don't want it known by their more liberal constituents back home. But the mugwumpers' latest edition declared that the move would have gone through except for A. D. A.'s protest.

Other controversial subjects on which the Roosevelt-Henderson - Humphrey faction demand action at this session include health insurance, extended social security coverage, the Brannan farm program etc.

Mr. Truman professes a desire for their enactment, but Capitol Hill leaders have told him that it is impossible.

SPOKESMAN: An attempt to cut this left-wing interference with the regulars' program down to smaller size was partially responsible for National Chairman McGrath's hostility to Franklin D. Roosevelt jr. in the recent Congressional election in New York City. A defeat for the late President's son would have deflated the A. D. A.-ers, in the White House belief.

Now that they have pried a headline-making spokesman into Congress to supplant the extremely vocal but inept Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, the outside organization looks for even more strategic successes on the political battlefield.

PROGRAM: Their 1950 program contemplates the nomination of James Roosevelt for Governor of California, and of Representative Helen Gahagan Douglas for the Senate as an opponent of the anti-Trumanish Senator Sheridan Downey.

They may also enter "liberals" in primary contests in numerous other states and Congressional districts, for their performance in Manhattan showed that they will not hesitate to buck the regular machine if it suits their purpose.

MATTHEWS: Francis Patrick Matthews has been denounced by leftish columnists and politicians because the new Secretary of the Navy is generally regarded as an extreme "red baiter." He has served for several years as chairman of the anti-Communist Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Like so many individuals, however, the Omaha lawyer is a curious mixture. His anti-Moscow complex springs directly from his deep religious beliefs and background. He is, perhaps, the most prominent Roman Catholic layman in the United States, and can wear several papal decorations for his services to Rome.

ANATHEMA: On economic and social questions, he probably subscribes 100 percent to the elaborate Truman program in those fields He is, for instance, one of the leading champions of the proposed Missouri Valley Authority, which would be patterned after TVA.

In the eyes of economic conservatives, TVA and its first director, David E. Lilienthal of atomic bomb fame, are as anathema as the Kremlin and Stalin.

REPUTATION: The generally unknown fact is that National Defense Secretary Louis A. Johnson has a reputation as a red-baiter of parts. His reputation derives from the days when he was Under Secretary of War in charge of the nation's industrial mobilization.

When it appears that this program was bogging down in early 1940, the famous economic and planning expert, Robert A. Nathan, was shifted to the War Department to investigate its progress. He found that there was no blueprint for real industrial preparedness, and bluntly blurted out the discovery to Mr. Johnson and to President Roosevelt.

ACCOMPLISHMENT: The "brass" were furious at Mr. Nathan's revelation, and immediately set out to cut him down. Their attack took the form of an undercover report that he was a "Bundist," although he was a leader in all anti-fascist movements around Washington. But for a time Mr. Johnson took the charge seriously.

Eventually, however, the economist shifted to WPA as Donald M. Nelson's top adviser, and was largely responsible for the 1942-1943 setup in production of war weapons.

Today, Secretary Johnson and General Brehon B. Somervell are frequently given credit for a preparedness program that was really the accomplishment of the man they wanted to fire.

Believe It Or Not -- By Robert Ripley

Real Estate Lobby Gets Jitters

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — One unit of what is known here as "the real estate lobby"—the National Association of Home Builders of the United States — shows some signs of confusion and jitters in its most recent Washington letter to its members reporting on the housing bill, which it is fighting so vigorously.

Its attitude reveals some aspects of the strategy of opponents of the Truman social welfare program, in which the housing bill is one item. It indicates a sort of common front.

STOKES

After denouncing the housing bill, which was held up by the House Rules committee after passing the Senate, and saying that it "will drastically change the functioning of this industry for generations to come," the letter goes on to say that, beyond this, approval of the measure "will release a flood of socializing legislation for medicine, education, pensions, social security, etc."

Contradiction Appears

Then, in almost the next breath, the letter declares that "the most controversial issues have been postponed until next session." These most controversial issues certainly would include the so-called "socializing legislation" which would be released, presumably forthwith and at the present session of Congress, by passage of the housing bill, according to the organization.

There seems to be a contradiction here which, however, is not uncommon to lobbying organizations. Comparatively minor, too, and perhaps pardonable are other assumptions. One is that the housing bill is something revolutionary. As a matter of cold fact, which the association knows full well, the principle of public housing in this bill to which it objects so strenuously was established a dozen years ago in the 1937 housing act and by overwhelming vote of Congress.

The assumption that the most controversial issues have been postponed until next session now seems also to be slightly in error in view of President Truman's insistence, conveyed to Congress now by his Senate leader, Senator Lucas (D-Ill) that Congress remain here until it gets its job done which might mean, as General Grant once put it, "if it takes all summer."

Adoption by the home builders of the fright technique about "socialization," which seems to be a rallying call to opponents of other parts of the Truman social welfare program, would appear to indicate some doubt that the Truman program is in as bad shape as it is made out to be. This offers a point to stop and see just where things do stand now.

Despite the apparent slow movement of Congress, there is progress in certain matters of approach and psychology of which little has been said. A prime example, to take one of the home builders' samples, is in health legislation. While a bitter and expensive campaign has been organized against the President's proposal for health insurance, nevertheless Mr. Truman's initiative on this issue already has forced two different groups in Congress, including Republicans and Southern Democrats, to offer compromise programs of their own. That indicates progress in the idea.

AMA Revamps Position

Significantly, also, the American Medical association, which has been in the forefront of the attack on the health insurance proposal, has acted to improve its position with the public, as well as with many of its own members. This was by curbing the authority of the man who has become the symbol of opposition to the President's program, Dr. Morris Fishbein, hitherto its chief spokesman and for years editor of its journal.

For the third time in recent years the Senate has passed a comprehensive housing bill which is now awaiting action by the House. Likewise, it has approved a federal-aid-to-education bill, also awaiting action by the House. Similarly, the House Labor committee had reported favorably for House action a bill to increase the statutory minimum wage.

All these measures can be enacted finally at this session if Congress sticks to its work. The bill to extend coverage of the social security act is being drafted by the House Ways and Means committee, with Republicans active on its behalf. Civil rights legislation was moved forward with Senate Judiciary committee approval of an anti-lynching bill.

The "flood" of which the home builders spoke is possible. But it should not be surprising. It has been long in the making.

Side-Glances ---- ----By Galbraith

"Why, Henry! The way you talk, I don't think you appreciate owning your own home—I'll bet you'd just as soon be back in that stuffy apartment!"

SORRY SPECTACLE

The Senate Fumbles

THE POWERFUL dairy lobby appears to be in the process of demonstrating again that selfish minorities with enough money and influence can defeat the processes of democratic government. If this happens, it will be, once more, with the connivance of the United States Senate.

From senatorial sources has come the information recently that the Upper House of Congress probably will not act on proposed repeal of oleomargarine taxes because of "pressure of other business." A flimsier excuse for inaction never has been cooked up in Washington.

The repeal measure was one of the first passed by the House of Representatives during this session. The majority was overwhelming, 287 to 86. The Senate Finance committee has reported it favorably despite delaying tactics by dairy state senators, who comprise about one-fourth of the total Senate membership. Even the most vigorous opponents of repeal of the oleo taxes concede they will be defeated overwhelmingly if the Senate as a whole ever gets a chance to vote on the proposition. President Truman has declared his support of the legislation.

Yet, in some manner, the dairy interests have blocked the showdown vote. Just how they have done it is one of the mysteries of Washington. Conjectures as to the reasons do not flatter members of the Senate, either as individuals or as a legislative body which pompously proclaims itself as the foremost champion of democratic rule.

The plain fact of the business, according to virtually the unanimous censensus of Washington observers, is that the Senate could attend to this business without loss of much time. The pretense that the senators are too busy with more important business is recognized by everyone except the guilty senators themselves, and the lobby, as being an excuse rather than a reason for disposing of a matter which has awaited attention for years. Failure to act upon it will add to the proof that the Senate sometimes functions to defeat, rather than carry out, the wishes of the masses whom they are supposed to represent.

The Batory Case

MOST Americans doubtless approved the official restrictions placed on the crew of the Polish steamship, Batory, on its return to the U.S. after having supplied the transportation for the escape of the Communist espionage agent, Gerhart Eisler.

But the restrictions were more commendable than the motives which may have inspired them. Eisler got aboard the Batory under the noses of Federal Bureau of Investigation agents. Then Eisler, safe in Germany, caused the world to smile when he suggested Attorney General Tom Clark for the "Nobel prize for stupidity." The FBI is in Mr. Clark's department.

The indications are that the FBI acted in this case because the Batory figured in an incident which made the agency and Mr. Clark look silly. Injured pride got action when the danger represented by the free movement of the crew members—all prospective spies from behind the Iron Curtain—failed to stir activity either by the FBI or the Attorney General.

None of this suggests the feeling that the Batory crewmen were abused. On the contrary, probably the national security would be protected better if such restraints were imposed, as a matter of policy, on the crews of all ships from Russia and satellite nations while they are in U.S. ports Unfortunately, it appears that no such protections will be afforded unless alien visitors do something which makes our officials look ridiculous.

Accepting the resignation of Sir William Lawther, head of the British mineworkers' union, as president of the British Czechoslovak Friendship League, the league's executive committee said: "Your ridiculous view that the league is influenced by the Comintern is, at best, a piece of gross impertinence."

Herbert Roberts of Kentish Town, England, who often has kite-fights with a friend, has advertised he will meet all comers—the idea being to cut the other man's string

SPOKESMAN: An attempt to cut this left-wing interference with the regulars' program down to smaller size was partially responsible for National Chairman McGrath's hostility to Franklin D. Roosevelt jr. in the recent Congressional election in New York City. A defeat for the late President's son would have deflated the A. D. A.-ers, in the White House belief.

Now that they have pried a headline-making spokesman into Congress to supplant the extremely vocal but inept Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, the outside organization looks for even more strategic successes on the political battlefield.

PROGRAM: Their 1950 program contemplates the nomination of James Roosevelt for Governor of California, and of Representative Helen Gahagan Douglas for the Senate as an opponent of the anti-Trumanish Senator Sheridan Downey.

They may also enter "liberals" in primary contests in numerous other states and Congressional districts, for their performance in Manhattan showed that they will not hesitate to buck the regular machine if it suits their purpose.

MATTHEWS: Francis Patrick Matthews has been denounced by leftish columnists and politicians because the new Secretary of the Navy is generally regarded as an extreme "red baiter." He has served for several years as chairman of the anti-Communist Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Like so many individuals, however, the Omaha lawyer is a curious mixture. His anti-Moscow complex springs directly from his deep religious beliefs and background. He is, perhaps, the most prominent Roman Catholic layman in the United States, and can wear several papal decorations for his services to Rome.

ANATHEMA: On economic and social questions, he probably subscribes 100 percent to the elaborate Truman program in those fields. He is, for instance, one of the leading champions of the proposed Missouri Valley Authority, which would be patterned after TVA.

In the eyes of economic conservatives, TVA and its first director, David E. Lilienthal of atomic bomb fame, are as anathema as the Kremlin and Stalin.

Moreover, in these days of bitter conflict with Reds at home and abroad, President Truman apparently feels that a counteracting color in his Cabinet will not hurt him politically.

REPUTATION: The generally unknown fact is that National Defense Secretary Louis A. Johnson has a reputation as a red-baiter of parts. His reputation derives from the days when he was Under Secretary of War in charge of the nation's industrial mobilization.

When it appears that this program was bogging down in early 1940, the famous economic and planning expert, Robert A. Nathan, was shifted to the War Department to investigate its progress. He found that there was no blueprint for real industrial preparedness, and bluntly blurted out the discovery to Mr. Johnson and to President Roosevelt.

ACCOMPLISHMENT: The "brass" were furious at Mr. Nathan's revelation, and immediately set out to cut him down. Their attack took the form of an undercover report that he was a "Bundist," although he was a leader in all anti-fascist movements around Washington. But for a time Mr. Johnson took the charge seriously.

Eventually, however, the economist shifted to WPA as Donald M. Nelson's top adviser, and was largely responsible for the 1942-1943 setup in production of war weapons.

Today, Secretary Johnson and General Brehon B. Somervell are frequently given credit for a preparedness program that was really the accomplishment of the man they wanted to fire.

The play personnel is as follows: Richard Tate, a rising young lawyer, C. J. Atchison; Frances Felton, the cause of all the trouble, Benjamen Powell Zora Hale, very much attached to the cause, Mrs. C. J. Atchison; Alice Malcolm, a close chum of Zora, Miss Audrey Harmon; Mrs. Sarah Ann Mullins, a woman of few words from Happy Valley, Mrs. H. W. Sims; Simon J. Felton, Frank's uncle who never makes a mistake, H. L. Liston; Philander Filmore, humble but wise, Richard Cavett; Timothy Haye, gardener of Happy Valley junction, J. T. Trigg; Silas Sichelmoore, the constable of Happy Valley, H. A. Welmaker.

Guests witnessed a picture at the Lindsey theater and were later taken to Mrs. Ellis' home, 1901 Twenty-fourth street, for refreshments.

Guests included Misses Bennett, Frances Ford, Virginia Bacon, Virginia Murray, Beth Wulfman, Dorothy Rushing, Mary Lois Gamel and Marjorie Ainsworth

Real Estate Lobby Gets Jitters

Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — One unit of what is known here as "the real estate lobby"—the National Association of Home Builders of the United States — shows some signs of confusion and jitters in its most recent Washington letter to its members reporting on the housing bill, which it is fighting so vigorously.

Its attitude reveals some aspects of the strategy of opponents of the Truman social welfare program, in which the housing bill is one item. It indicates a sort of common front.

STOKES

After denouncing the housing bill, which was held up by the House Rules committee after passing the Senate, and saying that it "will drastically change the functioning of this industry for generations to come," the letter goes on to say that, beyond this, approval of the measure "will release a flood of socializing legislation for medicine, education, pensions, social security, etc."

Contradiction Appears

Then, in almost the next breath, the letter declares that "the most controversial issues have been postponed until next session." These most controversial issues certainly would include the so-called "socializing legislation" which would be released, presumably forthwith and at the present session of Congress, by passage of the housing bill, according to the organization.

There seems to be a contradiction here which, however, is not uncommon to lobbying organizations. Comparatively minor, too, and perhaps pardonable are other assumptions. One is that the housing bill is something revolutionary. As a matter of cold fact, which the association knows full well, the principle of public housing in this bill to which it objects so strenuously was established a dozen years ago in the 1937 housing act and by overwhelming vote of Congress.

The assumption that the most controversial issues have been postponed until next session now seems also to be slightly in error in view of President Truman's insistence, conveyed to Congress now by his Senate leader, Senator Lucas (D-Ill) that Congress remain here until it gets its job done which might mean, as General Grant once put it, "if it takes all summer."

Adoption by the home builders of the fright technique about "socialization," which seems to be a rallying call to opponents of other parts of the Truman social welfare program, would appear to indicate some doubt that the Truman program is in as bad shape as it is made out to be. This offers a point to stop and see just where things do stand now.

Despite the apparent slow movement of Congress, there is progress in certain matters of approach and psychology of which little has been said. A prime example, to take one of the home builders' samples, is in health legislation. While a bitter and expensive campaign has been organized against the President's proposal for health insurance, nevertheless Mr. Truman's initiative on this issue already has forced two different groups in Congress, including Republicans and Southern Democrats, to offer compromise programs of their own. That indicates progress in the idea.

AMA Revamps Position

Significantly, also, the American Medical association, which has been in the forefront of the attack on the health insurance proposal, has acted to improve its position with the public, as well as with many of its own members. This was by curbing the authority of the man who has become the symbol of opposition to the President's program, Dr. Morris Fishbein, hitherto its chief spokesman and for years editor of its journal.

For the third time in recent years the Senate has passed a comprehensive housing bill which is now awaiting action by the House. Likewise, it has approved a federal-aid-to-education bill, also awaiting action by the House. Similarly, the House Labor committee had reported favorably for House action a bill to increase the statutory minimum wage.

All these measures can be enacted finally at this session if Congress sticks to its work. The bill to extend coverage of the social security act is being drafted by the House Ways and Means committee, with Republicans active on its behalf. Civil rights legislation was moved forward with Senate Judiciary committee approval of an anti-lynching bill.

The "flood" of which the home builders spoke is possible. But it should not be surprising. It has been long in the making.

Congress Uses Resolution Device Effectively To Indicate U.S. Aims

By SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Because we Americans have been forced to take the lead in the western world, Congress has invented an interesting new device.

Three times now Congress has voted merely to state the way the majority of the members want this nation to act in relation to other nations.

None of the three times that Congress has voted in this manner have the actual words become law. They weren't meant to. In each case it was just Congress saying: "Look, this is the way we want world affairs to go, and this is the goal toward which we intend to work."

New Resolution Urged

In the last few days 90 members of the House have proposed to use that device again. The full Congress must still approve.

Congress first used the device in 1940. France had fallen. We didn't know whether the Germans would grab Martinique and Guadaloupe—French colonies in the Caribbean—and use them against us.

In 1940, Congress decided to remind the world of the Monroe doctrine. It did by simply voting to say that we still felt the same way.

In 1943, when the Allied governments began to plan for a peace that would stop the causes of war, the Congress again announced to the world what it could expect from the American people.

Specific Aims Listed

Through two resolutions—the Fulbright (House) and Connally (Senate) — it said the United States would favor a world organization, and would take part in it.

Last June the Senate passed the Vandenberg resolution.

This went further than a mere statement of principle. It named specific steps it wanted the U.S. to push in the United Nations. It wanted:

1. The veto dropped on some UN business.

2. The U.S. to promote "regional arrangements"—such as the proposed North Atlantic pact.

3. The rest of the world to understand that we intend to act under those regional arrangements.

4. Further efforts to set up a UN police force and to limit mass destruction weapons.

Value Pointed Out

Now, a fourth time, a group of congressmen proposes a reminder to the world that our objective is still a world agency that can prevent war.

They want Congress to approve a simple expression of principle which says "it should be the fundamental objective of the foreign policy of the United States to support and strengthen the United Nations, and to seek its development into a world federation . . . with limited and definited powers . . . but open to all nations . . ."

What good are these resolutions?

These men pointed out that Germany did stay out of the western hemisphere.

And since the debate on the Fulbright-Connally resolutions in 1943 this nation not only has entered a world organization but has taken a lead in it.

And since the Vandenberg resolution the U.S. government has fathered the North Atlantic pact, the most powerful peactime "regional arrangement" the world has ever known. The pact still awaits full Senate approval, but it got a unanimous vote in the Foreign Relations committee.

Daniel Pledges Fight

by the state, and would equally divide between the state and the federal government all future revenues from the lands. Future tidelands control would be vested in a board composed of three federal and two state representatives.

Fears Precedent

In reaffirming his opposition to any compromise, Daniel today declared, "Not only oil and property are involved in this claim of the federal government. In addition, there are principles under which every landowner in Texas holds title to his own land and minerals. If the "paramount power" theory of the federal government can take these minerals away from Texas schools without compensation, the same can be done at some future date on private lands.

"And if the United States is allowed to break the 100-year-old annexation agreement by compromise, how can we be assured that a new agreement would be any better regarded or respected by the national sovereign?"

Daniel said he had hopes that Congress will settle the dispute by passing a bill granting state ownership of the tidelands. Such a bill was passed by Congress in 1945, but was vetoed by President Truman. Daniel expressed confidence that a state ownership bill still is favored in both houses of Congress, but there remains the question of passage by the two-thirds majority necessary to override a presidential veto.

Sees No Hurry

"There is no hurry about settling the dispute," the attorney general said. "The state still is in possession, and an adverse court judgment cannot remove us unless Congress passes enabling legislation authorizing some federal agency to take over and operate the property. Congress has never looked with favor on such a proposal. California, which lost its Supreme Court case more than two years ago, still is in possession of, and operating, its tidelands."

Regarding the California decision, Daniel said he is convinced that Texas "has a stronger case than any other state, because of the annexation agreement."

To date, he said, sales of tidelands by the state have brought $7,000,000 in revenue—an average of about $20 per acre. He said that under federal operation, similar tidelands are leased at just 25 cents per acre.

"More than a thousand applications for leases along the Texas coast have already been filed with the federal government at the 25-cent rate," Daniel said. "The federal officials and the oil company lessees are anxious to rush the states into a compromising position, and I for one am not going to weaken in my determination to fight the lawsuit and to fight for state ownership legislation in Congress."

Necessary funds to continue the fight have been provided by a bill unanimously passed by the Texas legislature, Daniel said.

Earlier Wednesday, the attorney general spoke briefly on the tidelands issue at the weekly Rotary club meeting in the Hilton hotel.

MARKET STAGES SLOW RALLY

NEW YORK, June 8. (AP)—The stock market staged a slow-motion advance again today.

With selling pressure sharply reduced, key issues responded to only modest demand. Individual gains ranged from fractions to around a point.

It was the second languid advance in a row following Monday's sinking spell, one of the worst of the year, during which the general level of prices hit a two-year low and stopped just short of a five-year bottom.

Turnover was 790,000 shares, of stocks traded, 842 advanced and 180 declined.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks moved up 3 of one point to 89.8. The market has a long way to go to recoup the ground lost in three weeks.

Today's improvement came despite unpalatable news items.

Three steel companies announced production cuts because of lack of orders. Bethlehem Steel reduced base prices on steel plates, and the price of zinc was cut again.

Steel, motor, and rail stocks were among the favored groups.

Up fractionally were U. S. Steel at 21⅜, Bethleheim Steel 25, General Motors 53⅝, Chrysler 46⅜ and Santa Fe 84⅛.

Also ahead were Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Boeing, Consolidated Vultee, American Telephone, Western Union, Phelps Dodge, Westinghouse, Dow Chemical, International Paper, Standard Oil (NJ) and Pacific Western Oil.

Also shaded were Packard, Montgomery Ward, General Electric, Radio Corp. and Gulf Oil.

Higher in the curb were United Gas, Pantepec Oil, Lone Star Gas, Humble Oil and Consolidated Mining. Losers included Cities Service.

Corporate bonds improved. U. S. governments added 1-32 or 2-32 of a point.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 8. (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular today in moderately active trading. The market opened strong on active trade and commission house demand influenced partly by announcement of a more liberal grain storage program by the Department of Agriculture.

Traders felt this meant the administration wants to maintain high farm prices.

Increased profit taking and July liquidation depressed cotton futures in late dealings, with the nearby July position relatively steady.

	Open	High	Low	Close
July	32.67	32.79	32.66	32.72

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, June 8. (AP)—Cotton futures advanced early here today on short covering in the July position and trade buying but near the close reacted downward under profit taking and hedge selling.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 8. (AP)—Wheat spurted in a heavy buying movement today, spurred by overnight announcement of an extended government price support program. The bread cereal jumped nearly 9 cents in early dealings and held on to a good part of its gains through to the close.

Buying came mainly from local traders who had been short on the market. They were taken by surprise by the new support program. One trader said, "the government pulled another rabbit out of its hat, and the animal promptly began chewing up the shorts."

Corn, oats and rye made fair-sized gains, but did not match the advance in wheat. Soybeans and lard, which have been very weak in recent markets, jumped for wide gains.

Profit-taking kept the wheat advance in check after the first hour, and some selling resulted because of more unwanted moisture over many areas of the southwest. Important grain centers in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska received overnight rains.

Wheat closed 3½-5¾ higher, July $1.92½-¾, corn was 1¾-2¼ higher, July $1.32¾-⅞, oats were ¾-1¼ higher, July 59⅜-½.

Andrews Producer of the opinion that the Ellenburger was entered at 10,000 feet.

There is no official cerification for that call which has been made during the last 24 hours.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 18-B Cowden, southwest Andrews county wildcat, two miles east and slightly south of the Dollarhide field, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 12, block A-55, psl survey, flowed 227 barrels of new oil, 84 barrels of drilling mud and 30 barrels of acid water during the latest 24 hour period of testing. The flow was through a three-quarter inch tubing choke.

Production At 11,000 Feet

The production is coming from perforated sections at 11,000-026 feet in the upper zone of the Fusselman-Silurian, which had been treated with a total of 19,000 gallons of acid.

A lower section of the Fusselman had some for a small flowing production in previous testing. The Devonian also indicated good production on drillstem tests before casing was run.

It is probable that operator will shortly start production tests in the Devonian, and after the petroleum yielding ability of that formation is determined the new discovery will likely be finished as a dual completion.

specialist for the PMA at College Station, said instructions on handling applications for assistance under the new program will be mailed to county ACA (AAA) offices as soon as possible.

These instructions were being prepared at College Station today.

He said that surplus Army buildings and similar structures probably would be used by PMA in Texas to store wheat in the areas of heavier rainfall but that he expected little trouble in the wheat area of the high plains.

Pioneer 'Cowpoke'

Lubbock was attached to Martin county for judicial purposes.

The South Plains was grassland then. The wind blew as hard as it does now, but there were no sandstorms, he recalls. In the drouth years sand dunes would collect in spots.

And the old Barstow ranch house near Lamesa was one of very few houses to be seen. Drift fences—imaginary lines between ranches—were the only boundaries.

What made the hardy pioneers of those days?

"The main thing that made pioneers was the justice of the peace and the constable," he replies humorously. "When a community got settled enough to have a J.P. and constable, a lot of the cowpunchers moved on west."

Served With Rangers

He himself served 35 years as an inspector, sheriff and ranger in Texas and New Mexico.

And every cowboy with two pistols on his belt?

"Movie stuff," he snorts. If a man carried a gun, nobody saw it until it was smoking. Most of them carried guns, and slept with them, too."

Beverly has lived in Lovington for some 25 years, in the country he knew as the old High Lonesome.

He has a treasured collection of mementoes, including photographs of many oldtimers.

When the Open Range Boys meet at Lovington every September, he makes pictures of them, and he has pictures made every year of many of the real oldtimers. He also has a mastadon jawbone which is supposed to be one of the largest ever discovered in West Texas.

Stories Amuse Old-Timer

Mr. Beverly is visiting a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Durham, at Wolfforth while he attends the rodeo.

They didn't have rodeos back in the early days, did they, Mr. Beverly?" a reporter asked.

"They had a rodeo every time a man changed horses," was his reply.

He mentioned that he was amused by the stories about the man who recently was awarded the title of the world's most weatherbeaten cowboy.

"We were all weatherbeaten," he commented.

But he still loves to watch rodeos.

"I still love a good horse. An automobile has never felt as good under me as a horse. And I don't like an airplane at all."

Reunion Planned

In connection with the September get-together at Lovington, Mr. Beverly had this to say:

"Once again, cowboys, we are to get together on the sixth of September. Let us all gather together to pay our respects to the old hands who paved the way to our present day civilization, a civilization we must all leave behind for those coming later on to enjoy.

"Let us not forget the old boys who made the long drives, either to northern markets or in search of grass and water or in seeking homes for their loved ones so that they could have room to go and come without any fuss out where the land belonged to God and us.

Historical Era Recalled

"To those now living, God has been good, in that we have lived to see the future that the ones gone on dreamed of at night and saw at noontide in the curling smoke of a cigaret as perhaps they rested in the shade of their ponies on some high hill or in some lonesome valley. . .

"And those good old time women folks who followed their men wherever the flocks and herds moved to keep the old hands from being just as wild as the ponies beneath their saddle. . .

"Cowhands, we should be proud we lived when we did, for we lived through the greatest era of freedom the U.S.A. will ever know. Let us all, in our feeble way, try and push on toward the future and forget the bad and revere the good the ones gone on tried so hard to impress on us by the lives they lived and the suffering and the pioneering they endured."

Looking At Life

I am to blame for the theft.

So I repeat, dear readers, if you have the stuff, don't use it on your geraniums! It won't work, says Mr. W. Ralph Singleton, who made me feel as if I should be blown up by an atom bomb for having been inaccurate.

I would advise him not to worry too much over the failure of his experiments on corn.

I am sure that corn tastes ever so much better with a large gob of butter than with any amount of radiophosphorus.

I would also advise Mr. Singleton to have a good laugh at the world in general and at himself every now and then.

Canadian Dam Report

as to what these figures might be. He did say, however, that the findings have been much more favorable than the reclamation service engineers expected when they started the preparation of the report several months ago.

The representatives of the various communities will not be expected to make any immediate commitment on the quantity of water they might contract to buy from a reservoir on the Canadian, Burleigh said.

Study To Be Made

"On the contrary," he continued, "our supposition is that they will want to take the report home with them, study it thoroughly, discuss it with the residents of their communities and then decide what they want to do."

Officials have been advised, however, that the probability of congressional approval of the project probably will hinge upon the sale of enough water to make the undertaking pay for itself within 40 years.

Two sites under consideration for the dam and reservoir are at Sanford, about 40 miles northeast of Amarillo, and at Tascosa, about the same distance northwest.

No Official Estimates

No official estimates have been made as to the probable cost of the whole project, including pipelines. Minimum guesses, however, have been $50,000,000.

Whatever the cost may be, the prospective sales of water will have to be large enough to liquidate about half of it.

The remainder of the cost, it is believed, will be written off for the flood control, recreational advantages and limited irrigation which the project would provide.

Reclamation engineers have been outspokenly of the opinion all along that the water impounded will be abundant in quantity and satisfactory in quality for all towns and cities wanting it during the "forseeable future" — meaning until at least the year 2000.
