LOMA CONN'S COUNSEL SPRING TWO SURPRISES IN SELF DEFENSE PLEA

State and Defense Rest at Time of Adjournment and Case Goes Before Jury Sometime Today.

Loma Conn, 19-year-old Iowa Park girl, shot and killed William Penrod, her former sweetheart in the operating booth of the Park theater of that city on the night of Jan. 17 in self defense.

Upon that plea her fate will rest when the case in which she is charged with murder goes to the jury today.

In a remarkable short trial the state and defense had rested at time of adjournment Monday night and with only the pleas of the attorneys and the charge of the court to be heard this morning, it is expected that the case will go to the jury by noon today.

"What do you want?" she declared she asked the deceased on the night of the tragedy when in reply to repeated requests she went from her seat in the balcony of the theater to the booth, where he was operating the movie picture machine. She said that Hattie Brinn, the "mystery woman" of the case was sitting on the lap of the deceased in a chair when she opened the booth door. They were seated in an indecent posture, she added.

"You know what I want,' she declared the deceased replied, at the same time reaching back, she thought for a revolver in a coat.

Shot to Defend Self.

"I then shot him because I thought he was going to shoot me," declared the witness in concluding the story of the actual shooting.

District Attorney Jones, both in direct evidence and with rebuttal witnesses, offered evidence tending to tear down several features of the girl's testimony regarding the immediate events leading up to the killing. The state scored in rebuttal when Lewis Lauderdale, proprietor of the theater, testified that on the night of the shooting there was no chair in the booth and only a small stool.

The plea of self defense came as a surprise to a packed court room late Monday afternoon when the defendant herself took the stand. Repeatedly denying statements of previous witnesses which intimated the relations between her and Penrod had at one time been improper and that she had killed him out of jealousy of other girls, whom the deceased was known to have paid special attention, she declared that she fired the fatal shot only when she thought he was about to shoot her, and that she had no other motive than to protect her own life.

Spring Second Surprise.

The reliance on self defense to acquit the accused was the second surprise sprung by the defense during the afternoon examination of both state and defense witnesses. The first was brought out by R. E. Taylor, former federal district attorney, defendant's counsel, when in cross examining Mrs. Milda Penrod, mother of the slain man, she testified that the deceased was a married man and that he had been separated from his wife about two years prior to the night of the tragedy.

Later, the accused girl testified that it was when she was made aware of this fact by the mother that she broke off her engagement with the man she killed.

The crowded courtroom more than half of which were women quieted as the defendant moved to the witness stand as the final witness in direct evidence. As she seated herself she removed her hat at the suggestion of her counsel. Choking up to a sob when she first began to reply to the questions of counsel she soon regained her composure and except for a short period when she was replying to the rapid fire cross examination of District Attorney Jones she spoke in distinct, but low tones, addressing a large number of her replies directly to the jury.

Met Him in 1918.

She stated that she first became acquainted with Penrod in the spring of 1918 when he came to that city to work as a movie picture operator. She said they began going together at that time and that they became engaged a short time later. The engagement continued, she said, until she went to Dallas in the fall of that year to go to school. At that time, she said, she became acquainted with the deceased's mother, a resident of that city.

On her second visit his mother told her in detail of his marriage of which she knew nothing until that time. The mother, she said, told her that she had asked her son several times to tell her of his marriage and that she was doing it because he would not.

She declared that as soon as she know of his marriage she broke off their engagement and told him she

MILLIONAIRE FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Alleges Actress Wife Intimate With Other Men Acquaintances.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 11.—James Stanley Joyce, millionaire Chicago lumberman, today filed suit in superior court for annullment of his marriage to Peggy Hopkins, an actress, charging that she already was married at the time of her wedding and that this ceremony was performed as part of a conspiracy through which he was defrauded of from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

Mr. Joyce also charged cruelty and named several noted persons as co-respondents in the case. Among them were Evans Spaulding, New York, an official of the American Woolen Mills, Maurice, a former dancer, Henri Letellier, editor of the Paris Journal, Barton French, described as a "European sportsman."

On August 14, 1920, the bill said, Joyce left Peggy Hopkins, the bill charging that during this trip to Europe she had had illicit relations with the men named as co-respondents, with the exception of Spaulding, the bill stating that she associated with him in New York, Palm Beach and Miami, Florida, after returning from the European trip.

The bill charged that Peggy Hopkins travelled from Paris to Venice and back with Letellier and that she associated with French at Torquay, England, and was intimate with Maurice during her stay in London. An "E. James," whose address and business were known, also was named as co-respondent, London being given as the city where he and Peggy Hopkins became acquainted. Dates and places are specified in all of the charges.

NEW CONGRESS CONVENES AT WASHINGTON

Harding to Make Opening Speech After Which Initial Work of Session Begins.

Sixty-seventh Meeting of Law Making Body Made With Few Precedent Departures.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The 67th congress convened today with few departures from precedent and adjourned until tomorrow, when at 1 o'clock a joint session will hear President Harding deliver his opening message.

Appointment of committees to notify the president of the assembling of the extraordinary session, re-election of Speaker Gillette and other republican officers of the house, introduction affairs were the principal feature of today's session. The senate, which was organized by the republicans at the extra session last month, was in session only 20 minutes, but the house organization required several hours. Crowds of spectators thronged both senate and house galleries.

President Harding's message tomorrow is to be the signal for beginning the session work.

Senate Begins Work.

The senate also will get down to business tomorrow, when bills and resolution are to be introduced and debate begun on the $25,000,000 Colombian treaty. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, republican leader, stated today that he would move for open discussion and himself make the initial speech in behalf of ratification. The final vote will come April 20 under the previous agreement.

The emergency tariff bill, introduced today, is to be the first business of the house. Debate is to start Wednesday and leaders hope for prompt passage. Chairman Penrose of the senate finance committee, said tonight that the bills also would be rushed through the senate. He also announced that the finance committee would meet Wednesday to take up internal revenue revision.

G. O. P. Work Precisely.

In the preliminaries today, the overwhelming republican majorities of 22 in the senate and about 170 in the house, worked with precision. Speaker Gillette was re-elected, 298 to 22, with Representative Kitchen of North Carolina, democratic floor leader, his prefunctory opponent. Representative London of New York, the only socialist member, voted "present." The republicans also bowled over an attempt by Representative Flood, democrat of Virginia, to investigate the election of Representative Richard E. Bird, republican of Kansas, who, it was alleged, spent in excess of $10,000 in his election campaign, in violation of the federal corrupt practices act.

In the senate the republicans, under the leadership of Senator Lodge, held off attempts to introduce bills and other business today. Senator Lodge said the precedents were for postponement until after receipt of the president's message.

All house committees were organized today, but the senate committee's went over because of a desire of the republicans to increase their representation on the ten principal ones.

Mostly Old Measures.

Most of the house bills introduced today were old measures which failed during the last congress. A similar situation tomorrow in the senate was expected. Among the measures to be introduced tomorrow are Senator Borah's proposal for a naval disarmament conference between the United States, Great Britain and Japan. Introduction by Senator Knox, republican of Pennsylvania, of his separate peace resolution, promised tonight to be delayed a few days, pending further development of the republican program for effecting peace. Chairman Cummins of the senate interstate commerce committee will introduce tomorrow his resolution for an investigation of railroad affairs and plans to begin extensive hearings about May 1.

CANDIDATE IN CITY ELECTION CONTESTS VOTE

Absence of Election Certificates at Two Polling Places Basis of Contesting Papers.

Thirty-odd Allegations Charging Discrepancies at Booths to Be Used to Declare Election Illegal.

Papers contesting last Tuesday's municipal election will be filed sometime today, or tomorrow at the latest, according to a declaration of B. D. Sartin, attorney for George Hodgins, candidate for alderman, place 1, on leaving the council room following the refusal of the council to check the poll list by the list of qualified voters as shown by the poll tax rolls.

"I am going to fight this thing right on through to the supreme court," Mr. Sartin said.

"There has never been a legal election held in Wichita county, and I think now is a good time to start.

"I will make a special effort to have the papers in the case ready for filing Tuesday, or the next day at the latest."

Numerous Allegations

Some thirty-odd allegations will be made in the pleadings filed with the court, it was learned last night.

Prominent attention will be given in these to the absence of certificates of election from either the city hall or the court house boxes—the city hall having one certificate missing completely, and the court house box having one which was unsigned.

In addition to this, it was learned that the petition will show the lack of voting booths at the polling places, as required by law. It will allege that the officials holding the election at the court house were not sworn in, it was also stated; that the list of qualified voters was not employed to check statements regarding the payment of poll taxes; and that "electioneering" was allowed within the legal limits and even in the room itself where the voting was done, and under the very eyes of the judges of election.

The purpose of the contest appeared to be designed more to having the election declared illegal, than to contest the actual vote of this election for the discrepancies are alleged in both boxes, one of which was presided over by a supporter of the administration and one by one of the prominent leaders of the anti-administration forces.

In making a request to the council that they check the list of voters with the poll tax list, Mr. Sartin said that he felt it was the duty of the council to fully satisfy themselves that the election was legal in every way.

He admitted that even if the poll list showed a number of disqualified voters among those who cast their ballots, that the council would have no right to go into the ballot boxes to determine the correct result. He declared, however, that if this list showed only a few voters not qualified, if any, that the contest could not change the result of the election, but that if a couple of hundred or more were showed, that the result of the election might be changed and the finding would show a contest to be necessary.

Sartin's request brought a lively bit of verbal fencing with the mayor, who through his questions indicated the belief that in checking the poll lists the council would be going out of their province in the first place, and would not be proving anything in the second place.

Election Contest Anyway.

"There is going to be an election contest anyway, isn't there" he asked.

"Then let it come up in the courts where it belongs and not before the city council, which can only certify as to the face of the returns."

Several cases wherein a man might be a qualified voter and not show on a poll tax list were cited by Judge Bonner.

W. G. Bralley, Dr. J. F. Reed and R. E. Shepherd were declared formally elected and the oath of office was administered to these candidates.

The official count as certified by the aldermen shows that 1,819 votes were cast in the court house box and that 564 votes were cast in the city hall box. It corresponds identically with the unofficial returns published last Wednesday by The Record News.

These results were declared: R. E. Shepherd, 1,433; Rhea Howard, 885; Joe B. Hatchitt, 1,094; J. F. Reed, 1,207; W. G. Bralley, 987; George H. Hodgins, 808; R. L. Yates, 548; W. Lawrence Smith, 45.

TEXAS LOSES FIRST POINT IN FIGHT ON OKLAHOMA BOUNDARY

Decision of Supreme Court Regarded as Unimportant, However, as Biggest Issues in Controversy Remain to Be Settled Before Titles Clear.

By B. N. TIMMONS.
Record News Staff Correspondent.

Special to the Record News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11. — Although Oklahoma won the initial victory in the famous Texas-Oklahoma boundary suit today, the question decided was relatively unimportant as compared with the general aspects of the case.

The supreme court, in the decision today by Justice Pitney, forever decided that the south bank of the Red river is the boundary between Texas and Oklahoma. But the big question yet remains to be decided, that is: Where is the south bank of the Red river?

Former Attorney General Thomas Watt Gregory, of counsel for Texas, said today that Texas would contend the south waters edge of the stream at mean low tide is the south bank.

Oklahoma is expected to contend that the boundary is at the Texas bluff, contending also, perhaps, that the course of the stream has changed since the treaty between the United States and Spain in 1819.

Texas Loses Little.

If the Texas contention is upheld the Lone Star state will lose very little. If Oklahoma wins in the proceedings to follow, then millions of dollars worth of land believed at the time of the discovery of oil to have been in Texas will be lost to the Lone Star State.

Texas, in case of an adverse decision in her further contention will be out of the case. Then will come another question of whether the land belongs to Oklahoma, to the United States or to Indian Wards. The United States intervened in the suit after Oklahoma had brought it.

Oil Lands Tied Up.

Boiled down the decision means this. The valuable oil land between the Texas bluffs and the south banks of the river will be tied up in receivership until the court can decide the big question. (Where is the South bank of Red river)

Had Texas won her contention that the center of the stream at ordinary flow is the boundary, victory would have been complete and the receivership would have come to a quick end and the land passed back to the men holding it under Texas title.

Congressman Lucian W. Parrish, representing the Wichita Falls district, today said that future proceedings will be as follows:

"The attorney generals of Texas and Oklahoma have thirty days in which to suggest a boundary. It is not anticipated that they can reach an agreement. A commission will then be appointed to take testimony and mark the boundary on the ground. The commission, with maps, will then be presented and the court asked to hand down a decree in accordance with the commission's finding.

It is possible that briefs will be filed and arguments made for or against the commission's findings."

Parrish Preparing Bill.

Congressman Parrish also announced that he has begun preparation of a bill giving the men who acquired the land under a Texas patent, prior filing rights on the land in case it is found to be public domain. The bill will closely follow the bill passed by congress to protect settlers when the land in Greer county changed sovereigns twenty-five years ago. There is expected to be little opposition to the bill.

The decision today completely demolished Texas' denial that the treaty between the United States and Spain of February 22, 1821, fixed the boundary of the United States at the South bank.

The court held as admissable the memories and diary of former Secretary of State John Quincy Adams against which Attorney General Cureton of Texas made violent objection in the argument of the case. Cureton insisted that they were not state papers and therefore not admissable. Attorney General Freeling of Oklahoma held that the papers written by Adams in the quiet of his library were reliable, even if they were not state documents.

Spanish Minister Yields

Adams, in his diary, declared that he insisted on the South bank of the stream while Don Luis de Onis, the Spanish minister, insisted on the center of the stream. Adams in his diary said his own contentions prevailed and that De Onis yielded.

Justice Pitney said that only two questions of law were involved in the decision handed down today. "The

HARDING TALKS TO HAVANA

Direct Telephonic Communication Established by President.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Direct telephone communication between the United States and Cuba was inaugurated today by President Harding and President Menocal of the Island republic, exchanging renewed assurances of friendship and good will.

Completion of the under-sea circuit was marked by a formal ceremony at the Pan-American building where Mr. Harding, several members of his cabinet and other high officials, gathered at the Washington end of the wire, while a similar group of notables participated at Havana.

As an added feature, Washington and Havana, as well as many other cities scattered across the country listened to a report to a wireless telephone operator at Catalina island in the Pacific ocean. The distance from Catalina to Cuba is 5,700 miles and the feat was said to have established a new distance record for transmission of the human voice by a circuit of radio, wire and cable.

The message of Mr. Harding formally opening the wire was as follows:

"I want you, President Menocal, and the government and people of Cuba to know how gratifying it is to participate with you in this ceremony which signifies so much in the establishment in the more intimate and understanding relations between Cuba and the United States."

LLOYD-GEORGE TO MEDIATE IN COAL DISPUTE

Representatives of Both Owners and Miners to Meet With England's Premier Today.

Prospects of Peaceful Settlement Are Favorable, but Crisis Has Not Yet Passed.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, April 11.—The respective contentions of the mine owners and striking miners are now in the hands of the prime minister, who is to take them under advisement, and meet representatives of the two sides in the coal dispute tomorrow.

The conference of the owners and miners, with government officials participating, met at the board of trade this morning and at the request of the premier submitted at the afternoon session exhaustive statements of their cases, which Mr. Lloyd George has arranged to discuss with them separately, after which the joint conference will be resumed.

The prospects, therefore, are favorable, although it is still too early to say that the crisis has been averted. Present indications are that conference proceedings will be protracted.

An official statement was issued announcing that the prime minister had presided at the afternoon session. There were present also Sir Robert S. Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, T. J. MacNamara, labor minister, and William Brace, minister of mines.

Premier Presides.

It is significant, that although in recent phases of the trouble the government has taken the attitude that now the industry has been taken out of the government control, it was a matter solely between the mine owners and miners, the premier himself presided over the conferences. The presence of the chancellor of exechequer especially gave color to reports that the government contemplates affording temporary financial assistance to meet exceptional circumstances of poor yielding mines being unable to afford wages to provide a decent standard of living.

This was in fact, indicated by the premier himself at the morning sitting in the course of his statement on the government position, when he said the government was unable to grant any "permanent contribution to maintain industry out of taxes.

According to some unofficial reports the government will refuse this temporary assistance unless the miners, on their part, abandon their claim for a settlement of the wage dispute on a "national" basis, such national basis not necessarily meaning uniform rates of pay in the different districts but insuring a universal minimum living wage. As it is believed the miners will insist upon a "national" settlement, it would seem premature to predict a peaceful outcome of the conference, and in the meantime the triple alliance is not withdrawing its strike notices.

TEXAS LOSES FIRST POINT IN BOUNDARY ROW

decree of this court in the case of the United States vs. Texas, 162 U. S. is:

First—Final and conclusive upon the parties in this case, in so far as it declares that the treaty of 1819 between the United States and Spain fixed the boundary along the south bank of Red river.

Second—If said decree is not conclusive then did the treaty of 1819, construed in the light of pertinent public documents and acts place the boundary along the middle of the channel of Red river or along the banks of said river?

Having reached a conclusion upon the first of the two questions proposed for decision, it is unnecessary to consider the second, which is whether the treaty by proper construction, fixes the boundary along the mid channel of the south bank of the stream. The matter being re judicata, as a result of the decree in the former suit, it is no consequence whether it was correctly decided or not. We say this without intending to intimate the least doubt about the propriety of that decision."

Justice Agrees on Treaty.

Justice Pitney held that the treaty between Adams and De Onis was agreed to by Mexico on January 12, 1828, when it obtained its independence from Spain and by Texas on April 5, 1832, after it had obtained its independence from Mexico.

The entire Greer county case was carefully studied before arriving at the opinion rendered today, Justice Pitney said. "There is identity of parties between the former suit, the Greer county case and the present one, so far as concerns the property interests, not set up by the United States," Justice Pitney said in the decision.

"As to governmental jurisdiction the state of Oklahoma has succeeded in part to the position, formerly held by the United States and is therefore in privity with it.

Texas claimed the south bank was not one of the issues litigated in the Greer county case and that the words "along the south bank" should be excluded.

To this Justice Pitney said "clearly the conclusion of the words amounted to a decision that the correctness of the particular definition of the boundary was within the issues of the case. But we concede that, in a subsequent suit upon a different cause of action, the question whether the matter decided on the former occasion was within the issue then decided, or was properly presented and actually determined in the course of deciding those issues, is open to inquiry and that unless it be answered in the affirmative, the matter is not res judicate.

Based on Narrow Contention.

Justice Pitney said that the Texas contention was based on an unduly narrow interpretation of the congressional act of May 2, 1890 authorizing the suit of the government against Texas for Greer county, and the subsequent pleadings.

"Even less substantial is the suggestion that the language of Section 25 of the act of 1890 authorizing the suit to determine the title to the tract, lying between the north and south forks of the river and the use of that phrase in the amended bill had the effect of excluding from the issue, land south of the middle of the south fork." Justice Pitney said.

"Upon so narrow an interpretation the controversy might as well be confined to the upland between the forks, leaving the United States without any claim to the bed of the stream, if the south fork proved to be the river of the treaty. The contention of Texas that the evidence and arguments in the Greer county case raised no controversy as to whether the boundary followed the mid channel or the South Bank of Red River is not well founded."

Kell Advises Younger Men To Activity

That the younger set in the active business world of Wichita Falls must get behind every conceivable opportunity to boost and build to bring into realization the determination to make a city of 100,000 inhabitants of Wchita Falls by the year 1920, was indicated in the communication sent to the A. Club by Frank Kell, after he had received their resolution expressing their determination and desire to bring this about.

Mr. Kell said that to accomplish this feat would require the co-operative effort of every civic club of the city if we are to accomplish this feat by the year designated.

In the resolution, the club members pledged themselves as a body, or individually, ready to do anything in their power to assist in "making Wichita Falls a city of one hundred thousand in the year 1920."

THREE POSTOFFICES GET HIGHER RATING

The postoffices at Nocona, Childress and Paducah will be changed from third to second class, effective July 1, according to information received Monday by H. A. Wallace, postal inspector for this district.

The promotion of these offices to second class places the clerks on a civil service basis and will increase the future, according to Mr. Wallace.

LOMA CONN'S COUNSEL SPRING TWO SURPRISES

would have nothing more to do with him. She told how during the remainder of the time she stayed in Dallas he indeavored to meet her, and the schemes he used in attempts to see her.

Attention Forced on Her.

She declared that when she returned to Iowa Park the deceased continued to force his attentions on her. She said that she repeatedly repulsed him and would not go with him. She stated that she knew of his engagements to other girls during that time.

The silence of the court room became oppressive as she brought her story up until the Saturday night previous to the shooting on Monday night. She said that on the Saturday night between 11 and 11:30 o'clock the deceased came to her house in a drunken condition and entered her bed room without warning. She was alone with her father, she said, he being in another room and unable to hear what was going on, due to the fact that he was deaf.

Deceased Had Gun.

She declared that the deceased had a gun with him at that time and that he threatened to kill her. She said that while struggling with him and trying to get him to leave the room she tore a button from his rain coat. He finally left but told her he would see her again.

On Saturday afternoon, she said, he called her on the phone and wanted to see her. She refused and she heard nothing more of him until Monday night. She accompanied her sister and boy friend to the theater, the three taking seats in the balcony. She said that after she was seated he kept motioning her to come over to the booth which was to the rear of where she was seated. After several requests, she said, she went back and it was then that the shooting described above took place.

Brinn Girl Was Sorry.

She said the Brinn girl told her immediately after the shooting that "she was sorry that I caused you to do this."

Efforts of Fletcher Jones to shake the accused from her story of the tragic shooting for the most part proved futile. Her voice quivered and her eyes filled with tears for a short time when Jones in his cross-examination shot several questions as to whether or not she was jealous of the attention that Penrod was known to be paying to other girls.

She said that she had purchased the gun last summer to protect her and her aged father. She stated she knew of no special reason why she carried the gun the night of the tragedy, and was prompt in her reply that she had no thought of killing Penrod when she left her home on that Monday night.

Says Penrod Drank.

"I never knew him to be without one," she declared in reply to District Attorney Jones query as to whether or not the deceased was in the habit of carrying a revolver. Her testimony as to the deceased drinking was to the effect that he drank a great deal.

As the defense rested the state brought back several witnesses in rebuttal to contradict certain features of the girl's defense.

Lewis Lauterdale, proprietor of the Park theater in which the shooting occurred, said that the deceased had worked for him over a year and that he had never known that Penrod drank. Regarding the gun, he said that the deceased had carried one at times, but that 30 or 35 days before the shooting he had traded it off. In direct testimony Lauterdale had been one of the main witnesses for the state. In that testimony he said he was down on the first floor when he heard the shot which he at first thought was a fire cracker. He said he started up the stairway to the balcony, and met the defendant at the top of the stairs.

"I Shot Him," Witness Said.

"I shot Bill Penrod," the witness said the defendant told him. He said he continued on to the operating booth followed by the defendant. He said the deceased was lying down under the machine with a bullet hole over his left eye. He said that while there the defendant turned to him again and said, "I tried to make this boy do what I wanted him to do for a long time and he wouldnt do it, so I killed him."

The witness testified regarding the Brinn woman. He said that she was visiting a Miss Hamilton who played the organ at the theater and as a guest of an employe of the theater she was allowed to go anywhere in the theater that she wanted to. He said that she left Iowa Park soon after the tragedy and that it was his understanding that she was now living outside the state.

Brinn Woman Not Found.

There was considerable argument between attorneys as to the Brinn woman to whom the defense referred as the only "eye witness to the shooting." The state produced a subpoena showing that they had attempted to secure her as a witness, but were unable to locate her. She was described as a woman about 30 years old and attractive. One witness indicated that she was now living in Brooklyn, N. Y.

As rebuttal witnesses, Herman Mills, and Warren Clark friends of the witnesses, testified that they never knew the slain man to drink. In direct evidence for the state the two had testified that previous to the shooting they had heard the defendant say "You darned coward I will kill you." They with the sister of the defendant and her friend were the only occupants of the balcony outside of the Brinn woman the principals in the case.

Engaged to Young Girl

Maurine Apple 15-year-old girl testified that she had become engaged to the deceased when she was 14 years old and that their engagement with her parents' consent had continued up until the shooting. She said she knew he was married but that he had told her he was getting a divorce and that they would be married as soon as it was obtained.

Mother Testifies

Mrs. Milda Penrod, mother of the deceased, added her testimony in rebuttal to the effect her son was not a drinking man. As the first witness for the state she told of her interest in the defendant after the latter came to Dallas to school. She said she was interested in defendant for her sake alone and that she told the defendant that her son was married. She declared that the defendant found that out and told her that it made no difference if he was.

Several other witnesses were introduced by both the state and defense. Several were called by the defense tending to show that the deceased made disrespectful remarks regarding the defendant and other girls. It was shown by the testimony of the girl herself that following his engagement of the defendant and previous to his engagement to Miss Apple, the deceased had been engaged to Miss Eunice Davis, postoffice clerk at Iowa Park.

THIS YOUNG MOTHER

Tells Childless Women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Her

Millston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful medicine. We are very fond of children and for a considerable time after we married I feared I would not have any owing to my weak condition. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I have a nice strong, healthy baby girl. I can honestly say that I did not suffer much more when my baby was born than I used to suffer with my periods before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound years ago. I give all the credit to your medicine and shall always recommend it very highly."—Mrs. H. H. Jansen, Millston, Wisconsin.

How can women who are weak and sickly expect or hope to become mothers of healthy children? Their first duty is to themselves. They should overcome the derangement or debility that is dragging them down, and strengthen the entire system, as did Mrs. Jansen, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and give their children the blessing of a good constitution.

FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH FOUND IN PASTURES

A three-legged stool, a milk pail and a thoroughbred cow in the back lot or pasture are the essentials required to outdistance Ponce de Leon in his search for perpetual youth, according to Dr. A. E. Douglass of the city health department who said Saturday that milk, just ordinary sweet milk, such as anyone can buy for about 15 cents the quart, is perhaps the only naturally balanced ration in existence and that every adult would perhaps be benefitted materially if he would drink a quart of sweet milk daily. Dr. Douglass also said that the growing child should have a pint of milk daily and that this course would result in decreasing the cases of malnutrition found throughout every city.

"The cow is a most wonderful laboratory. She takes the grass of the pacture and the roughage of the fields and converts them into the most perfect food for man. In that food there is a mysterious something which scientists have found essential to the highest health of the human race and which can be found no where else. Men have sought for centuries the fabled Fountain of Youth. The nearest approach to that fountain which has yet been discovered is the udder of the cow. Without her milk children languish, the vigor of the adult declines and the vitality of the human race runs low.

"There may be a let down in production in some industries in the state," said Dr. A. H. Douglas, "but the cows of Wichita Falls are 'not guilty' and at present there is a surplus of milk in this city. There was a shortage last year at this time."

This can be accounted for, Dr. Douglas said, by the fact that there are fewer people in the city than a year ago and also by the fact that the crop of spring calves is a fine. The green pastures are also helping, he said.

Wichita Falls' milk supply comes principally from 15 dairies, which milk from 1,500 to 2,000 cows. They mid do it by hand, mechanical contrivances having been discarded in practically all of the dairies. A man will milk about 25 cows a day and the dairymen of Wichita Falls generally start their milking at about 2 in the afternoon and at 2:30 in the morning. The average dairy cow in the county will produce about two gallons of milk per day the year round and the records on the cows of the farms is less than one gallon per day during the year.

City Parks Are Receiving Much Attention Now

Huff McGregor park at the corner of Sixth and Broad streets, has been receiving the attention of the park beautification worker under Superintendent Dobson during the past week.

Over 40 loads of tin cans and trash have been hauled away from this place as the first move toward making it one of the beauty spots of Wichita Falls. The ground has been levelled, grass has been planted, shrubs set out and the walks graded. Other work includes the placing of attractive seats at selected places in the park and of painting the pergola.

Two tennis courts will be built in Bellevue park for the use of the public. Another court will be constructed on a lot owned by the city across the street from Huff McGregor.

In Buchanan park at Tenth and Buchanan streets, the walks which have been laid out will be gravelled the first part of this week. The grass in this park which was planted some time past is reported to be coming up with great promise and the park is beginning to look like a real beauty spot.

Scotland park will be the next park to receive the attention of the park board, it was said by Mr. Dobson. Other work on the parks under the plans of the board is going ahead according to scehdule and improvements in the appearance of the city's park systems have been noted by numerous visitors here lately.

Building Code to Be Enforced, Officials Say

Rigid enforcement of the city ordinance restricting the building of frame buildings in the fire limits, will be put into effect immediately, according to an official of the fire department Monday. Within the past week several buildings coming under the provisions of the ordinance have been erected, it is said, and they have been ordered out by the fire department. No building of wood can be constructed in the fire limits, according to Fire Chief McClure.

This fire restricted district comprises 50 blocks and begins at the railroad tracks up Fifth street to Scott, up Scott to Sixth, up Sixth to Austin, down Austin to Thirteenth, down Thirteenth to Lamar, down Lamar to the railroad tracks.

PAVING WORK GETS IMPETUS WITH WEATHER

Construction work on paving and various city building projects has been given added impetus according to the engineer's office by the almost ideal weather prevailing now for such work and they believe that this week will see many of the projects in which the city is interested well under way and perhaps a few completions.

Over three hundred men are employed on the work by the contractors and the city itself, all of which work is subject to inspection by the engineers department.

With twelve jobs underway requiring supervision daily and furnishing employment to between three and four hundred laborers and craftsmen the city engineer's department is kept up and going, according to one of the men in the office.

Work on the south end of Ohio street is expected to start Tuesday morning, and the other work in which the city is taking part of supervising is the curb and gutter work on Grant street, the paving on Brook street, the paving of an alley between Seventh and Eighth streets the storm sewer project, four gangs working on the sanitary sewer, one construction crew at work on the building of the city incinerator, two sewer outlet crews, and water main construction.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE.

Vocational guidance is making rapid progress in the schools of the United States. Both high schools and colleges are establishing vocational bureaus to help pupils find the job for which they are best fitted.

There is a danger that over emphasis will be placed on the vocational work and the job will become of more importance than the education which precedes it or the opportunity to service which it should represent.

One critic suggests that there should be carved above the doors of every school and college the words, "Enter that you may the better serve." The dean of Ohio State University expressed the same idea when he said in a recent speech: 'This talk about getting jobs and degrees puts forward wrong ideas of education. For the undergraduate, getting a job is not so important a consideration as the rendering of superior service after the job is obtained. Training for a specific job usually results in the neglect of some of the higher aims of education in favor of the element of skill."

Skill is necessary and so is efficiency. But there is a tendency today to regard them as ends in themselves instead of merely tools for happier, fuller life.

Thoughtful promoters of vocational guidance are not going to make that mistake. They will help the pupil, whether in high school or college, to seek that broad educational foundation which will enable him to build his special training on broader and sounder lines than under the old undirected system.—Ithaca Journal-News (Ind.)

UNCLE SAM'S ALMANAC.

The day of the farmer who planted his crops by the almanac which hung on its hook near the clock between the pantry and the door leading to the back kitchen has passed.

The newspapers and bulletins from agricultural colleges keep today's farmer up to date, or perhaps he has a son who is a graduate of one of the colleges which have done so much to make the farm pleasant and profitable. He may have taken a short course himself and have a knowledge of soil analysis and fertilizers that his grandfather would have given his best pair of cowhide boots to possess.

But whether of the new or of the old vintage the sentiments in the Agricultural Almanac for 1921 issued by the United States Department of Agriculture will tickle his risibilities. This publication does not contain some of the useful information the oldtimers did, such as "About this time look for squalls," nor the entry so dear to the boy with the copper toed boots and a new pair of skates which read "Heigho for skating" opposite a certain date in February. The following is one of the best sentiments the new almanac can boast of and it ought to be pasted over the hearth of every farmer and stock raiser in the Union: "The owner of a scrub bull should have a leather medal—made from the bull's hide."

The new editor of Uncle Sam's almanac says "Beware of false prophets. Don't plant by the moon; get the best seed, and prepare the seed bed, then plant when soil and moisture conditions are right." That sort of advice should fill every granary and smokehouse in the United States.—New York Herald (Ind.)

OATH FOR TEACHERS.

Legislation has been suggested providing that all teachers in the public schools of the state shall be required to take an oath of loyalty to the nation and to the state. Objection to this legislation has already been heard from several quarters. Some of the teachers object and other objections come from elements within the state which are not loyal and who object to loyalty being made a requisite when teachers are being employed.

It is difficult to understand why there should be even slight objection to a requirement of this character. Certainly any teacher who is loyal and patriotic would not hesitate for an instant to give the pledge asked of her or him. But should such a teacher possess views of a radical nature which are generally regarded as unpatriotic, and which might cause such teacher to withhold the required pledge, this certainly would be a confession that such person was unfit to teach in the public schools and undesirable to have associated with the growing generation.

Parents are compelled to send their children to schools. They have reason to expect that in the schools they will not imbibe pernicious doctrines that are peculiar to a few individuals, but which are not accepted by the masses of people. Contention that disloyal teachers should not be excluded from the schools amounts to a contention that children should be forced under the influence of the disloyal.—Geneva Times (Rep.)

GASSING MURDERERS.

Nevada's attempt to soften the horrors of the death chamber by providing for the execution of criminals by means of gas administered while the victim "sleeps" is not accepted by the entire press of the country as a step toward humanizing capital punishment. While many writers support the new plan which they believe eliminates the horrors of the noose and the electric chair, others feel that the mental suffering would be as great or even greater during the hours of suspense before the sleep that would be the last. The "painful features" of any execution, many agree with the Pittsburgh Gazette Times, "can be avoided only by abolishment of the death penalty."

The Roanoke Times feels that "just as the electric chair was deemed an advance over the gallows, so the gas chamber seems to be an advance over the electric chair" and "to execute a man in his sleep," the Newark News believes, "invokes a practice as nearly humane as when Socrates drank the hemlock." The Utica Press considers gas "in a sense less horrible than the electric chair" and the Joplin Globe, recalling that in Missouri "capital punishment was restored because public sentiment seemed to demand it" looks upon the inauguration of the gas chamber as "an important development of crime punishments" worthy of being watched with interest. It is "an improvement," the Omaha World Herald believes, "on all attempts to make capital punishment less horrible for the condemned and less horrible for the public to contemplate."

This deduction would seem correct "at first glance" the Harrisburg Telegraph remarks, but demands that its readers place themselves "in the condemned man's position." It continues:

"Fear would keep him from sleep until utter exhaustion closed his eyes; for days he would be on the verge of total breakdown, fighting away the sleep that might be his last. Insanity would very possibly result, as the interminable suspense of the Spanish Inquisition broke down the mind of its victim."

In striving to provide a humane method of execution, the Fort Wayne News and Sentinel thinks that Nevada has perhaps "adopted a plan of refined torture" for no doubt prisoners "of a nervous organization will die a thousand deaths" under the impression that "gas has been introduced into their cells before it really has."

"Electrocution is favored by some newspapers and the Trenton Times expresses doubt "whether the Nevada method will be any more painless or human" though under the latter procedure "the condemned man will be spared the experience and excitement of being prepared for the death chair in the presence of a score or more officials and witnesses. But "lethal gas," it concludes, "is to be preferred to either shooting or the gallows," the alternatives between which sentenced Nevadans were formerly to choose. To place a man in the specially constructed cell immediately after the death sentence "would tend to produce insomnia," the Hartford Courant believes, "and in time a most refined torture." This, it points out, "is exactly what the law was designed to abolish."

The Times of Buffalo, N. Y., recalls the post mortem of the first criminal to be executed in the electric chair in that state and quotes the authority, Dr. Spitzka, "who has witnessed hundreds of electrocutions" and who has declared "very emphatically" that the "infliction of the death penalty by electrocution was by far the most humane way of disposing of such cases." It adds:

"Medical scientists, so-called humanitarians, criminologists and officials entrusted with the pursuit and prosecution of homicidal criminals may be expected to take widely divergent views on this vital and interesting problem."

DINNER STORIES

A certain society day, who was not quite so young or so beautiful as she used to be, underwent an operation.

On her recovery she was assured by her friends that the operation had taken ten years away from her looks.

Laughingly, she complained one day to the doctor.

"If three hours on the operating table made me look ten years younger, why didn't you keep me five hours and make me into a girl again?"

"Five hours there, my dear madam,' soberly retorted the doctor, 'would have made you into an angel."

"Who is that man with the red nose you just bowed to?" inquired Mrs. Flatbush.

"Oh, he's a man I met out west," returned her husband.

"He is certainly not a prohibitionist, is he?"

"Why I never had occasion to ask him dear."

"But how did you happen to meet him?"

"Well, we were traveling out of Milwaukee on the same train one night. He had a bottle and I discovered that I had a corkscrew."

"You have done well in life."

"I hope so."

"You seem perfectly willing to impart the secret of success."

"Yes," said the great man, "and I sometimes think it is the only secret in the world that nobody cares about hearing."

CHURCH.

They go to church to see the barefoot dancers,
They go to see a motion picture show,
And other forms of classy entertainment—
The only reasons that some people go.

But some old fashioned folks go there to worship,
To hear the parson preach and sing the hymns.
They've never learned to like the jazz religion,
With its new-fangled follies and its whims.

An old newspaper man, Colonel Harvey, will be ambassador to the court of St. James's, but if he wears knee pants and buckled garters we [illegible] to him as a newspaper man.

The scientists are at work on a method to measure the emotions. They hope to be able to tell you just how sad you are when you are sad and whether you mean it or not when you shed copious tears. They will also measure the sincerity of a blush. The physical sign of emotion is known as the "psychogalvanic reflex" and this affords a perfect gauge on human temperament. Personally we hope this thing will never be worked out. It would be a hardship on the ladies (bless 'em) who seem able to blush and weep regardless of their psychogalvanic reflex, and it would not be fair to show them up, and much less chivalrous. If they must try it out let them try it on a bunch of grand opera tenors, actors and column conductors.

If Strangler Lewis really wants to use his old chancery headlock on somebody, we favor turning him loose among the profiteers.

The Forestry department has just asked if anybody wants a buffalo, having twenty-five or thirty to dispose of. We have just sent and asked for one and we suppose it will be coming along any day now. We intend to keep it in our apartment as a family pet. We have tried all other kinds, from gold fish to alligators, but have never yet found one that seemed to fill the bill. A buffalo is a large, pleasant faced animal of good American ancestry and can be taught tricks, like chasing the janitor around the block or scaring away bill collectors. But the real reason I want a buffalo is this: Every Sunday three or four hundred husky men are seen leading small ten-ounce dogs around the neighborhood. I need exercise, but I'll be hanged if I'll ever be nurse maid to a French poodle. So when the others go out with their toy terriers, I am going for a walk with my buffalo, on the end of a strap. It may cause some comment, but anyhow I'll keep my self-respect.

IGNORANT ESSAYS

By J. P. McEVOY

THE SYNCOPATED GLOM SHOP

Where once nothing could be heard but the dull rasp of the tin trap on the calloused hop, jazz music now titillates the tympana and trickles through the eustachian tubes into the proletarian noodle. The call of the hambock to its mate will be drowned in a soothing symphony of cow bells and the salmon singing in its can on the delicacy counter will hear other cans being galloped with great good will by the enterprising drummer who thinks that Wagner's first name was Hans and that he played shortstop in Pittsburg.

It may well be said that the man who decided to put a jazz band into his cafeteria had read the immortal lines: "Music hath charms to sooth the savage beast." What could be more savage than the breast, or rather the region directly beneath it at meal time, and what could make it more savage than spearing the shy seductive cheer-on-rye with one hand, while the gentleman behind you is dropping a goodly portion of his cream-of-tomato down your neck. Certainly music may palliate if it cannot condone these tribulations.

I see a new school of composers arriving on the horizon once the cafeteria jazz band comes into its own. We will have appropriate music for the various stages of the gastronomic parade that begins at the tin trays and paper napkins and ends at the human adding machine, who is called a cashier for lack of a more fitting caption. But until this inspired school of composers arrive, I will try to fill the gap by suggesting a series of appropriate melodies which may be woven into a subtle medley; a concord of sweet sounds which will accompany you on your pilgrimage from the tray to the till.

As you pick up your tray the orchestra will play: "Old Dog Tray." At the salad counter you will hear the gentle strains of "Green Grow the Bushes 'O." As you pause over the hard-boiled eggs with the appetizing tooth picks stuck in them and the blush which you may think is pride, but which is really only paprika, I say, at this stage, the orchestra will croon: "When You and I Were Young Maggie."

As you go farther down you will find the fish department and upon your arriving there, one of the jazz performers will arise and to the accompaniment of a fish horn obligato he will recite that pathetic little ballad:

Little fishy in the brook,
Papa catch him with a hook,
Mama fry him in a pan,
Baby eat him like a man.

And after that comes the meats and vegetables and the desserts. Need I go on? (Chorus, "No.!") Furthermore—

When music, heavenly maid, was young
As someone else has said,
She never thought she'd sing among
The spinach, cabbages and tongue.
To earn her daily bread,
Accompanying with merry lays
The tintinnabulating trays.

Boy Scouts Appreciate Assistance

Confident that the people of Wichita Falls will respond to the appeal of boy scouts of the city for their budget of $6,000, the scouts are looking forward with anticipation for Tuesday to come that they may remove all uneasiness that the totaled checks might by chance not fail to show their request gratified.

Speakers appeared at all churches Sunday morning to tell of the work of the scout movement and to urge that the budget be subscribed. It was declared that the scout movement provides more wholesome training for the boys of the country than any other organization in the world. It teaches the boy high ideals, provides him an outlet for supervised play that he may work off his surplus of boyish enthusiasm and permits him to engage in activities that always help and never hinder, is among the many benefits attributed to the scout movements by the speakers.

Scout leaders ask that the finance committee be thanked for the "bang" and enthusiasm they put into their campaign in behalf of the movement.

Troop meetings were all, with two or three exceptions, in fine shape Friday afternoon.

Scouts are urged to come out Mon' day afternoon to the park. Tree planting was good Saturday afternoon and a larger attendance than usual was present.

This is the week for Troop 3 to help at the library. Scouts are urged to do a little good turn by helping 3 out once and a while.

Troop 15 is going to be organized at the church on Adams street, across the railroad tracks, Monday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock.

Troop No. 6 has started the ball rolling across the tracks and it looks as if we will have a full troop the first meeting.

Some are laughing and some seem slightly disappointed over the results of Saturday's ball games. The scores were reported as follows to headquarters. One vs Three, score 11 to 15; Seven vs. Five, score, 10 to 17; Two vs. Nine, forfeited to Two; Six vs. Eight, score, 26 to 1; Four vs. Eleven, forfeited to Four.

Troop 14 has registered with 14 members to start with.

It is reported that a new troop is to be organized at the church near the brick plant.

STRANGER CALLS OUT DEPARTMENT ASKING DIRECTION

Desiring to know the way to 806 Front street an inquisitive stranger Monday noon asked the fire department. He was understood over the telephone to be, reporting a fire at 806 Bluff street and as soon as the receiver could be slammed back on the hook the Central station firemen were on their run.

Arriving they saw no signs of fire and it was only after considerable investigation that the true cause of the alarm was ascertained.

Strange Drama Played in Case Against Two

Love, burglary, a wrecked automobile and recovered stolen goods went to make up the drama enacted at the police station Monday afternoon when John Bain and George Schrette were turned over to a police officer from Aubrey, Denton county, and Miss Nellie Hood, formerly of that place, elected to return with the men though no warrants are out against the girl.

Bain, said to be an ex-convict, and Schrette are charged with the burglary of a store at Aubrey and with the theft of an automobile belonging to Dr. T. M. Harris of Pilot Point.

Part of the stolen goods were recovered here at the Van Noy check stand. An attempt to hide the check to the suit case containing the goods by dropping it behind some benches in the corporation court room was made, according to the police, but they were finally told where it was.

The girl admits that one of the men was a "very, very good friend of her's" and that when she left Aubrey for Wichita Falls he told her that he would soon see her. According to her statement they told her of the burglary, but she declares she had no hand in it.

"Follow him back, I should say so, I'd follow him to——" was Miss Hood's statement.

The stolen automobile was found near Gainesville. The men were arrested Monday morning in company with the girl.

APHRODITE ROBE THAT SHOCKED PARIS REACHES U. S.; WILL IT JAR MORALISTS?

With the Women of Today

Mrs. David O. Mears, who is noted as an orator, educator and writer, has just completed a speaking tour through the central west. She comes from Cambridge, Mass., and is now on her way through the Pacific coast territories delivering addresses before the parent-teachers associations on the the work of the national association, of which she is first vice president.

For a number of years Mrs. Mears has been a leader in parent-teachers' work, which has now spread all over the country. Almost every city has its parent-teachers' organizations, which help settle school problems and many of the strongest of these are affiliated with the national organization. Mrs. Mears is well versed in problems relating to education and has a son who is a professor at Stamford university.

It is her intention to return to the east by way of the southern states, speaking in the principal cities while on the journey.

Doctor Runs for Mayor.

Dr. Grace M. Norris, the first woman coroner in the United States, will run for mayor of Utica. She is chairman of the Women's Republican club there.

Woman Elected Justice.

Mrs. Jennie McMillen of Glen Park, N. Y., is the first woman to be elected a justice of the peace in that state. She has been active in politics.

Chinese Women in Industry.

Chinese women are beginning to enter industries. Aside from domestic service, to which they are peculiarly adapted, the Chinese women find employment in many occupations. The Nanyang Brothers, a big tobacco concern, is said to have in its employ the largest number of women—about 2,500. Very recently many female workers have secured positions in an American company for manufacturing electric blubs in the city of Shanghai. This is probably the newest industry to use women employes.

Although the women's working hours are generally the same as those for men workers they invariably receive lower pay. This prejudice or discrimination against women is dying out fast in this country, but it will likely persist for some time to come in a young democracy such as the Chinese republic.

Women as Church Officials.

Bishop Thomas J. Garland advocates having women elected as delegates to the diocesan convention, as they are busier in the work of the church and in the missionary field than the men. The Lambeth conference in London adopted the following resolution: "Women should be admitted to those councils of the church to which laymen are admitted, and on equal terms. Diocesan, provincial or national synods may decide when or how this principle is to be brought into effect."

Drain on brown paper and serve garnished with parsley.

GOODIES.

Lemon Cookies—Cream a cup of sugar with half as much butter and add the juice and grated rind of half a lemon. The rind can be omitted, as it is not easily digested. Add two well beaten eggs, a pinch of soda dissolved in two teaspoons of milk and flour enough to make a stiff dough. Roll thin, cut into crescents, rings and other interesting shapes and bake until light brown.

Apple Delight Cake—One cup of scalded milk, four tablespoons butter, four tablespoons brown sugar, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one cake yeast, two eggs, two tablespoons melted butter, flour, six tart apples. Prepare the apples by removing the cores and cutting in thin slices lengthwise. Combine the milk, butter, sugar and salt. When cooled to a lukewarm temperature add the yeast cake, unbeattes eggs and enough well sifted flour to make a stiff dough. Cover and allow to rise until double in bulk and cut down with a knife. Let rise again, roll out into a sheet of dough one inch thick and place in a well oiled large rectangular bread pan. Spread the melted butter and arrange thin slices of apples over the top. Press the edges of slices into the dough so that they will not slip off.

Sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon. Cover the pan with a clean cloth and let rise. Bake in a moderate oven twenty to thirty minutes. Cut into three-inch squares and serve with whipped cream while hot. The cake also may be served plain and cold.

TRY THESE.

Save the wooden skewers that come in roasts of meat to use in cleaning corners of windows and woodwork where it is difficult to get the cloth in. Put the cloth over the end of skewer and dust and dirt are easily removed.

When baking cakes, after pans have been greased sprinkle with flour and they will never stick to pans.

Burnett Returns From Reservation

Tom L. Burnett, manager of the Round-Up, which will be staged here April 28, 29 and 30, returned Monday from the Oklahoma Indian reservation, where he went to visit the Indians and to make final arrangements for their visit to the Round-Up.

Mr. Burnett stated that when he mentioned the barbecued buffalo meat he nearly caused a stampede on the reservation, as practically all of the Indians want to be in on the barbecue.

It is estimated that between 75 and 100 of the full bloods in war paint and feathers will be allowed to leave the reservation to visit the Round-Up.

COULDN'T DO FULL DAY'S WORK FOR TWO YEARS

But I Haven't Lost a Day Since I Took Tanlac," Declare Keefeton Farmer; Feels Fine Now.

"At the time I got Tanlac three years ago I hadn't been able to put a full day's work for two years; but the medicine fixed me up to where I felt fine and I've not lost a day's work on account of ill-health since," was the statement made by Charles Hambleb, well-known farmer residing on R. F. D. No. 1, Keefeton, Texas, recently.

"About five years ago my system got out of order and I went down in health until I was so weak I could hardly stand up, and, as for work, I was scarcely able to do anything. I had no appetite, and what little I did eat seemed to do me no good, and I had headaches constantly. I was also troubled with a persistent cough, and it seemed that my old-time strength and energy were gone for good.

"But, it didn't take Tanlac but a little while to straighten me out and I was soon full of new life and energy. Ever since then I've been praising Tanlac, and I'm glad to give this statement for what it may be worth to others. Tanlac is the best medicine I ever saw or heard of."

Tanlac is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller Drug Store, in Electra by Tarlton Drug Co., in Burkburnett by West End Drug Store and by all leading druggists.—Adv.

American League Clubs Show Class as They Line Up for Start

TEAMS AS THEY WILL APPEAR FOR SEASON'S OPENING, WEDNESDAY

Cleveland and Yankees Are Conceded Best Chance for Pennant in Sprint of 1921.

With two teams, Cleveland and New York, conceded to have the inside track in the 1921 American league race, but with several of the other six clubs looked on as dark horses, the junior major circuit will start its 22nd pennant chase Wednesday afternoon.

The Yankees with their formidable batting strength and the Indians with a fine array of pitching talent as well as an almost perfect infield and outfield, not to forget one of the best catchers in the majors, will probably stage a merry fight to participate in the world series against the winners of the National circuit next October, and American league magnates are looking for a busy season at the box offices. Nearly all of the other teams have been improved with the exception of the Chicago White Sox. Even the lowly Athletics are expected to spring a surprise before the season is many weeks old.

Here is a prospective as to how the teams will look as they enter the fray tomorrow afternoon:

CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, April 11. — The Cleveland Americans, world's champion baseball team, will start the season with the same line-up that won last year's baseball classic, Manager Tris Speaker figuring that the team that was good enough to go through the critical stages of winning the American League pennant and later the world's series flag in two nerve racking, fight-to-the-last-game clashes, is good enough to repeat this year, according to advices received from the spring training camp at Dallas, Texas.

All the members of last year's team believe the Indians will win the pennant again this year, basing their judgment on the claim that the tribe has the best balanced baseball club in the country, both as regards batterymen, infielders and outfielders—well balanced defensively and offensively.

The Cleveland pitching staff this year will have the same "Big Four"—Coveleskie, hero of last year's world series; Bagby, Caldwell and Mails, the team's sensational lefthander. This quartette may be changed into the "Big Five" as reports from the south indicate that George Uhle, the big righthander is already showing mid-season form.

Coveleskie, already in great pitching form, is generally conceded to be the best spitball pitcher in the country; Bagby is said to have as great a pitching repertory as any twirler in the league; Caldwell is a tower of strength to the pitching staff and Mails is expected to repeat his wonderful performance of last year.

The Indians' catching staff, headed by Steve O'Neill is said to be as strong as any in the league.

Manager Speaker announces that Joe Evans and Joe Wood, outfielders and George Burns, at first base, must be considered regulars as much as Outfielders Jamieson and Smith and First Baseman Johnston, for it is his intention to shift these players against right and left hand pitchers.

NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 11.—With the wealth of playing material at his disposal Manager Miller Huggins, of the New York Americans is finding it difficult to properly place his various players. Not since their debut in the junior league have the Yankees started the season with brighter prospects than those prevailing on the eve of the 1921 pennant race.

Stars from both major and minor leagues have flashed brilliantly during the spring training at Shreveport, until despite more than the usual number of injuries Huggins has been in a quandary as to the best method of placing his men. Judging from present indications it is likely that the line-up will vary almost daily during the first few weeks of the season or until such time as Huggins evolves a combination which proves to be the strongest both at bat and in the field. The team will open the season particularly well fortified against injuries for almost every position will have two or more available players between whom there is little difference of ability.

While the various club officials are chary of expressing their opinions regarding the probable make up of the team at the close of the season it appears to be the general consensus of opinion that the Yankees will finish among the first three. Some of the baseball experts are already on record as predicting that they battle for a place in the [illegible] between the Yankees and the Cleveland Club, but, with a remembrance of the disastrous experiences and injuries which have handicapped the New York Americans in past years the owners and other officials of the club refuse to give public expression to their optimistic hopes for fear that the hoodoo of yesteryear will arise again to blast their predictions.

While it is virtually impossible to indicate accurately the line-up of the New York team in the opening games of the year it appears reasonably certain that Wally Pipp will have first call upon first base with Ruth and possibly Meusel as substitutes or relief players on the initial bag. Chick Fewster my be expected to hold down second with Aaron Ward ready to step into the midway position when not officiating at third in place of "Home Run" Baker who is generally conceded the first choice at the far corner. Peckinpaugh and John Mitchell will be the leaders in the battle for shortstop.

For the three outfield positions Huggins has a number of hard-hitting candidates of whom "Babe" Ruth, Ping Bodie, Bobby Roth, Meusel and Connelly are the outstanding stars. Their positions and the method of alternating is a matter of final decision of which there has been little indication up to the present.

Behind the bat Wally Shang and Fred Hoffman are expected to do the majority of the catching while Carl Mays, Bob Shawkey, Walter Hoyt, Harry Harper, Jack Quinn and Bill Piercy will have first call upon the hurling assignments.

ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, April 11.—Lee Fohl, manager of the local American League team has not indulged in any prediction as to the outcome of the coming pennant race further than to say: "My players will go just as far as our pitchers can and they'll be in there fighting all the way."

The Browns led the American League in batting last year with an average of .308 and ranked with the leaders in runs scored. Fohl expects his pitchers to better the standing of the team in this year's race, having finished in forth place last season. The line-up will be slightly changed, the Browns' infield having been broken by the release of Joe Gedeon, the second baseman, for his reported betting activities in connection with the World Series in 1919. Bill Gleason a recruit from the Chattanooga Club of the Southern League, has favorably impressed the manager by his work at second while in training camp.

Sisler, Gerber and Smith, are back again with still another veteran, Jimmy Austin and two recruits, McManus and Dudley in reserve.

In the outfield Williams, Tobin and Jacobson hold their regular positions, while Wetzel from the Mint League is the leading contender for the utility berth. Severeid and Billings are again expected to do the bulk of the catching with Collins as the third man.

Fohl had a legion of moundsmen working during the training season. Shocker and Davis, who turned in 38 of the 76 Brown victories last year are counted on to repeat, and from the other veterans including Burwell, Vangilder, Boehler, Sothoron, Caflop, Palmero and Deberry, who was with the team a short while last year, Manager Fohl expects to obtain the necessary assistance.

CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 11.—Building a pennant contender from the wreckage of one of the greatest teams ever assembled in the major leagues is the task that faces William "Kid" Gleason, manager of the Chicago Americans, this season. The team was torn to pieces last fall as a result of the grand jury indictments charging seven of the players with participation in the world's series scandal of 1919.

Instead of opening the season with a sure flag contender, Gleason was forced to start anew, and one of the largest squads of recruits ever taken into a spring training camp was assembled. In the beginning, Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the club, did one of the rarest things in the history of baseball. He purchased, practically complete, the entire outfield of the Salt Lake City club, acquiring three star players who have worked together and know each other thoroughly. They are Eddie Johnson, a former major leaguer, who managed and played shortstop for Salt Lake last season; Willie Mulligan, third baseman, and Earl Sheeley, first baseman, who led the Pacific Coast League in hitting

Glancin' 'Round The Sport World

WITH VAN

Local fans will see the Spudders for the last time this spring in exhibition games when the Abilene club of the West Texas league come from here for two contests this afternoon and Wednesday. Skipper Salm will probably give the Spudders a day's rest after the game Wednesday so as to start the season with a team that is in perfect form.

The Spudders are in great shape and should breeze through the first month of the season in championship form. Salm has a perfect outfield, a bang up infield, two of the best catchers in the Texas league and a staff of pitchers, youngsters and veterans, that will make any team in the circuit step fast to keep up. As Lloyd Weaver and R. O. Harvey say: "Bring on your Marines and Panthers, we'll beat 'em."

Why Salm's club should be a "mystery" to the sport writers 'round the Texas swing is something Wichita Falls fans cannot understand. The names of Kroh, Marshall, Kitchens, Tanner, Clark, McDonald, Miller, Bischoff, Bowman, Darrough and several others should be familiar enough in the Texas league to prove doubting writers in other cities that the Spudders have something besides a "mystery" team. About the only thing that the other seven clubs in Doak Robert's organization will find unfathoumble will be how "the Spudders win so easily."

Jimmy Thrash, with Wichita Falls during the spring training season has signed with Cisco of the West Texas league according to the announcement made by Manager Billings of that club. In a recent controversy Thrash was claimed by Salm but the local manager has given Jimmy his unconditional release and the fleet little outfielder will report to Cisco today.

The annual amateur boxing tournament with entries from all over the United States and Canada started in Boston last night and will continue on through the best part of tonight. Many notable amateur boxers are scheduled to appear, among whom are the champions of the various classes who won their titles in the contests last year.

Dallas has a pitcher who, as a laugh getter, is said to rival our own "Rube" Marshall. This Marine bird goes under the cognomen of Reisigl, has a net set of cowboy legs and is said to be just "funny" to look at. Would that he be sent to the mound on the day that Marshall draws the assignment here. The fans will watch the ball game—mebbe.

The Texas Aggies made the Southern Methodist University look foolish in their annual track and Field meet this year, the Farmers winning 97 to 20. The Aggies took first place in every event but the broad jump and lost that by an even inch. The big score, however, was due to a very weak entrance by the S. M. U., Coach Rix bringing only twelve men of the Mustang squad to compete.

Rocky Kansas and Johnny Mendelsohn are scheduled for a ten round mit slinging contest at Detroit this evening. Rocky is on his way to a meeting with Benny Leonard, the lightweight champ and it behooves the Buffalo boy to beat Mendelsohn by a decisive margin if Rocky desires to impress his class. His opponent is not of championship calibre but is able to put up a cracking good battle. George Chip, former middleweight champ and Jack Delaney are booked for an eight round scrap at Philadelphia tonight.

TEARNEY CONFERS WITH UMPS BEFORE SEASON COMMENCES

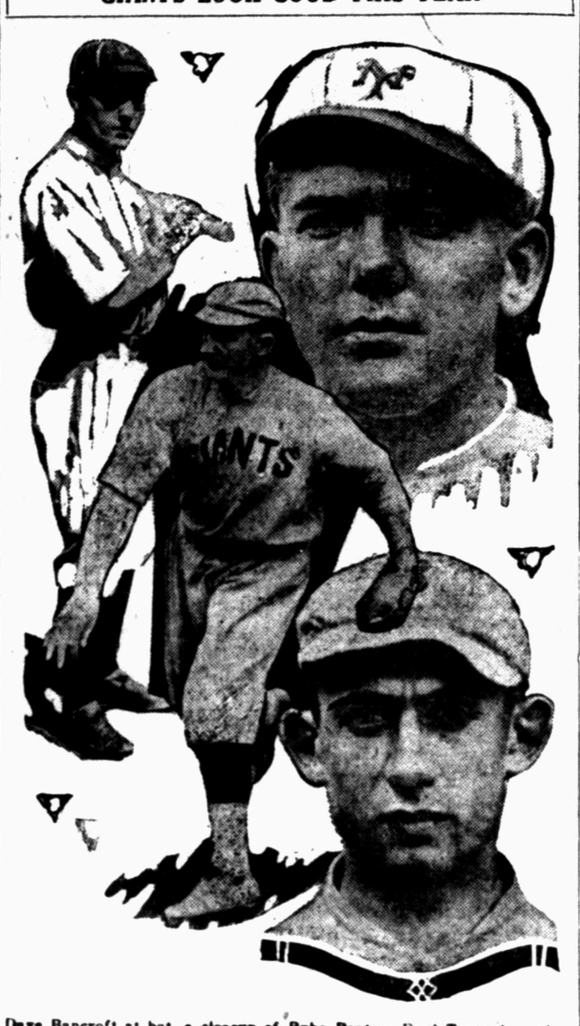

CHICAGO, April 11.—President Tearney of the Western League left today for Joplin, Mo., for a conference tomorrow with the umpires preliminary to the opening of the season Wednesday. The assignments for the opening games follow:

DeLave and Guthrie at Oklahoma City; Daly and Burnside at Wichita; Anderson and Becker at Joplin, and Holmes and Buckley at Tulsa.

With the acquisition of Guthrie and Holmes from the Pacific Coast League, President Tearney considers his staff the strongest in the minor leagues. Guthrie officiated in the coast league for eight years. DeLave, Daly, Burnside, Becker and Buckley were in the Western League last season. Anderson is from the Southern Association.

It is never difficult to make good laws, but sometimes it does vein a terrible task to find some way of [illegible]—Geneva Times.

GIANTS LOOK GOOD THIS YEAR

The Giants were headed for the pennant in the N. L. last year when their pitchers slipped and the team got off its stride. The Dodgers nosed out a victory. This year the Giants are stronger on the field and have what they lacked most of all last year, competent coachers an strategy board.

Aggies Schedule Thanksgiving Day Football Contest

COLLEGE STATION, April 11.—Preparations for the annual Thanksgiving football game between the Farmers and the Longhorns are well under way already. This game will be staged at Kyle Field, College Station, Texas, November 24, 1921. James, Sullivan, business manager of Athletics will leave nothing undone to take care of the large crowd that is certain to attend this game regardless of the showing either team makes during the season. Last year at Austin there were 20,000 people in attendance and Mr. Sullivan predicts that this fall at College Station the game will be witnessed by at least 25,000 football fans. The athletic council has authorized a seating capacity to care for the crowd and on one will be turned away. All seats will be reserved and plainly marked so there will be no confusion in the seating.

The officials to handle this all important game already have been agreed upon and Mr. Sullivan has their contract signed in his office. E. W. Cochrane of Kansas City, Mo., will referee; E. M. Tipton, also of Kansas City, Mo., will umpire and A. M. Venne, of San Antonio, will act as umpire. All of these officials are well known to the football fans in Texas since all of them have worked in the largest games played in the South. Mr. Cochrane has been handling the A. & M.-Baylor games for years and both Mr. Tipton and Mr. Venne have worked in the Farmer-Longhorn games in years gone by.

Hendricks Thinks Indianapolis to Finish in First

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 11.—Two good pitchers and a catcher who can hit, are needed to make Indianapolis a contender for the American association pennant this year, in the opinion of Manager Jack Hendricks. He expected to have the three players before the season begins or soon thereafter.

As the team lines up, at present, Hendricks is confident it will finish in the first division. Only two changes in the infield of 1920 will be made at the start, Sicking being at second base and either Baird or Lutske at third. Covington will be at first, Schrieber at short and Gossett behind the bat.

Rehg will be in center field. He batted well over .300 last year. Kinsella, a leading batter in the International league in 1920, will be in left and Shinners, last year utility, will cover right besides these men. Hendricks has Van Dyke and Morris.

Cavet, Whitehouse and Jones are the veterans of the pitching staff. Bartlett, Ettling and Stryker are other pitchers. Besides Gossett behind the plate, the Indians have Dixon, obtained from the New York Giants.

LESE MAJESTY.

An elephant strode to the pool,
Just at the close of day—
A monkey hit him with a rock,
And, hooting, ran away!

Babe Ruth advanced with bases full,
Amid the public shout—
A rookie pitcher whizzed them in,
And lightly struck him out!

Some day, Jack Dempsey will oppose
Some kid, held crude and cheap—
That kid will fight like seven wolves,
And knock him in a heap!

Few are monarchs who can hold
For long the royal crown—
Some humble mark is sure to rise,
And whack the sovereign down!

Jack Dempsey has the far sighted eye of an eagle. He can see Georges Carpentier way over in France but he can't see Harry Wills here in America.

Too bad nobody has ever thought of starting a college among the Tarahumara Indians of Northern Mexico. Wouldn't that name go great in a college yell?

"Circumstantial evidence," says Bubbles Hargrave, the catcher, "is a terrible thing. As an example of its errors, take a tragedy that occurred when I was with the Cubs, and Hank O'Day was manager. Leaning from the window of my room on the sixth floor of a New York hotel one day, I saw, on the sidewalk directly below a person whom I greatly desired to smite. I hurriedly secured a very large paper bag, filled it with ice-water, balanced it carefully, and let it go. And just as the bag left my hand, the intended victim stepped along, and Hank O'Day came out of the hotel. The bag took Hank right on his new derby, and the circumstantial evidence was complete. Do you think I could ever convince Hank that the bag of water wasn't mean for him? Not in a thousand years!"

Recent disclosures indicate that pacifism must have a strong following among ball players. What would have happened to anybody who had made such propositions to Anson Ewing, Kelly, and Pete Browning as those Heinie Zimmerman says were made to various New York performers?

Baseball wheels revolve rapidly and make strange changes. Doesn't it seem odd to see Harry Hooper and Duffy Lewis, both with different teams than the Red Sox, and so widely separated?

Speaking, even passingly, of Pete Browning, makes us think of the days when the Gladiator was the idol of Louisville, and a magnificent gold watch was subscribed for him by the fans. When the Mayor of Louisville handed Pete the watch at the home plate the Gladiator gazed upon it unwinkingly, and then asked, "Where is the chain?"

KIWANIS LEADING CAMPAIGN TO COP OPENING DAY PRIZE

Entire Club Votes to Turn Out in Body and Occupy Seats Along First Base Line April 15.

The Kiwanis club voted at their weekly luncheon to "gang up" in a body near the first base line for the opening game of the Texas league season when the Spudders tangle with Dallas so they could be right near the action. This live club is doing its best to arouse the enthusiasm which is needed to get the necessary attendance at the opening game to win the cup offered annually to the city showing the biggest opening day crowd.

"We can have a record-breaking crowd if everybody takes it upon himself to come and see that his neighbor does likewise," opinions Ben Neal, secretary of the Kiwanis club.

A number of the Spudders were present at the Monday luncheon, the guests of the club, and were introduced by their familiar nicknames. Those present, besides J. Will Gray, the Spudders' secretary, were: "Buddy" Tanner, "Specks" Comstock, "Slim" Works, "Biff" Bisheff, "Well" Miller, "Mite" Darrough and "Benedict" Clark.

A committee is at work on completing the arrangements to have, not only the Kiwanis members out in force but to have all Wichitans on hand when the official "batteries for today" is sounded. Mayor Cline, so his friends say, has been warming up behind the barn so as to split the plate on the first heave, being scheduled to throw the first ball.

The Kiwanis club, through Mr. Neal, has suggested that every advertiser in the local newspapers from now until Thursday, carry something in their ads that will give publicity to the opening game and help secure a record crowd.

Stands have been constructed to take care of any overflow crowd and everybody who wants to go can get a seat.

Mayor Cline Urges All Fans in Wichita Falls to Be Present at Spudders' Opening.

An urgent call to all Wichitans to loyally rally to the supoport of the home team, particularly on opening day when the Texas league attendance cup will be a trophy contended for all over the circuit, was issued Monday by Mayor Cline.

"I think it a civic duty for all of us to take a part holiday on the opening day of the season, and to go to the ball park and back our representatives on the start of another season's campaign," he said.

"Such an action on the part of every citizen would only be an example of that loyalty on the part of the citizenship on which Wichita Falls prides itself.

"Then on opening day, there will be the element of civic pride to add to that of loyalty.

"To bring to Wichita Falls the attendance trophy, offered for the largest crowd on opening day, would be an achievement in which every citizen might well take pride, as the capture of the trophy would mean it's being snatched away from cities many times larger than Wichita Falls—no mean achievement.

"I am not going to issue the usual proclamation. I don't believe in proclamations.

"But I do believe that it would be proper to issue an appeal to the loyalty and civic pride of all Wichitans to make a part holiday on next Friday afternoon and turn out to do their city proud before the eyes of the state on that occasion."

newcomers, whose chances of ipating in the opening game bright, are Lew Blue, a first an, obtained from Portland, and Bassler, a catcher, also the Pacific Coast. Blue is ed to take Harry Heilmann's the latter being shifted to field. Bassler's chance of ap- in the first game of the depends largely upon the condition of Eddie Ainsmith, who reported late at the southern training camp.

The development of the Tiger team is being watched with considerable interest throughout the major league circuit, speculation centering around the managerial ability of Cobb, one of the master minds on the playing field. Cobb is making his debut as a big league manager, leading the club of which he has been a member 15 years. The Georgian himself has studiously refrained from making ambitious claims for his first year. He has told friends, however, that he will not be disappointed if the team finishes sixth. Reports from the training camp have told of strenuous practice sessions, featured by lessons in base running, the hit-and-run play, the hook slide and other departments of the game that Cobb helped to make famous.

The reports also tell of utmost harmony among the players and all indications point to perfect team-work on the field.

With the exception of Oscar Stanage, catcher, and Pinelli, a third baseman, all of last year's veterans are on the Tiger roster for the 1921 season. In addition Manager Cobb has a squad of recruit pitchers, Sutherland, Cole, Holling, Stewart and Middleton, and two new catchers, Bassler and Woodall, expected to aid Ainsmith and Manion back of the plate.

Howard Ehmke, or Hub Leonard will pitch the opening game according to early advices from the training camp. In the outfield will be Heilman, Cobb and Veach, while the infield will be in charge of Blue at first base; Young at second base; Bush at shortstop, and Bobby Jones at third.

PHILADELPHIA

From Lake Charles, La., Connie Mack's training camp among the rice fields, where the Philadelphia American league baseball club has been rounding itself into shape for the forthcoming season, has come the following estimate of the team—a consensus of opinions of baseball writers who have been watching the Athletics in their practice and exhibition games.

The strength of the organization lies in its pitchers. Mack calls his premiers his "Big Six" for there are six in number and each is six feet or more in height. Five of them—Perry, the veteran; Naylor, Rommel, Hasty and Harris, hurl from the starboard side, while Roy Moore, who completes the sextet, is left handed.

Frank Brazil, a Spangler, Pa., boy, just old enough to vote, has pictured the bright particular star in hitting and appears to have won himself a permanent job at first base. He was the property of the Athletics last year, but was farmed out and performed in four separate leagues before the last season closed. Despite this peripatetic career his batting average for the season was .264—mark which he gives promise of maintaining in big league company. He is left handed and fleet of foot. The remainder of the infield probably will be Dykes at second and Duggan at third. A contest has been on for shortstop in which Shannon appears to lead, with McCann, a 19-year-old boy and Galloway following closely.

In the outfield the forecast is partly cloudy with sudden changes. Tilly Walker in left field. Frank Walker in center and Welch in right seem a possible combination. But Paul Johnson, a Worcester, Mass., boy, who is a hard, righthanded hitter, and fast afoot, undoubtedly will be retained. Then there is Lawson Witt, whose .321 batting average last year is in his favor. Another candidate for the outer rim is Glenn Myatt, who operated behind the bat last season.

In the catching department Perkins will be the regular, with Styles and Johnny Walker held in reserve.

WASHINGTON

Neither President Clarke Griffith nor Manager George McBride is doing any boasting as to what they expect from the Washington club this year, but they do promise the fans that they will make the strongest teams extend themselves to win the American league pennant. They claimto have gotten together a well-balanced machine, both on attack and defense, and are confident that if the pitching staff lived up to expectations the Nationals should end the season close to the top.

As usual, great hope is being pinned on Walter Jonhson, and it is declared the veteran star has fully recovered from the ailment to his pitching arm that put him on the inactive list during the latter part of last year. With Johnson in form, Griffith and McBride feel they should be well up in the list, as they have Shaw, Erickson, Schacht, Zachary and Courtney, of last year's team and Mogridge, obtained from the New York Americans to round out the pitching staff.

Zachary and Courtney are left-handers of ability.

Gharrity, Picinich, Torres and Brottem, the last named obtained from the Little Rok Southern Association team, make up a formidable catching staf. Gharrity, who is considered to have few superiors in the league, will do the bulk of the catching.

In the infield the only job giving any concern is that at third. Ellerbe, who did most of the hot corner work last season; Shanks, veteran utility man, and Foss, a newcomer, are the players from which the selection will be made. Foss has shown good form and is expected to get the call for the regular berth. At first Joe Judge has Brower, the former Reading International, as a heavy hitting understudy. Harris will go back to second this year, with O'Rouke at short. Rice Milan and Lewis will compose the outfield, with Lamottee, a promising rookie; Shanks and Miller, a clouter from the Southern association forming a good reserve force.

Discussing other clubs in the league, President Griffith sees a chance for the Cleveland Indians to slip and characterizes the New York Yangees as a remarkable collection of stars and mediocre ball players. He looks for formidable opposition from the St. Louis Browns, whom he thinks should have finished many points higher in the club standing than they did last year. He also has a wholesome regard for the managerial abilities of Ty Cobb, now at the helm of the Detroit Tigers.

With the Pugs

Charley White, who has more chances at the lightweight title than any other man of his class has started another campaign for a match with Benny Leonard, the present champion.

Ted (Kid) Lewis must be on the down grade. Nate Seigel, a mediocre welterweight whipped the former champion to a fare-thee-well and almost had Lewis out in the ninth round of a ten frame battle at Boston a few nights ago.

Will the Harry Wills-Jack Thompson bouts ever stop? Wills licked the Oklahoma negro for about the 87th straight time the other night in St. Louis. The two are getting as monotonous as the Britton-Lewis bouts of yore.

Several good bouts are scheduled this week, none of which however, will have a champion contending. Dundee, Mendelsohn, Rocky Kansas, Pete Herman, Montreal and several other top-notchers expect to entertain the fans in different cities.

Dick Griffin, Fort Worth's pride seems to have a hard time getting in the limelight even though he generally wins the bouts in which he engages. The fiasco with Joe Lynch in the Panther City several weeks ago perhaps gave him more space in the newspaper columns than he has ever received before. Dick should go east and pick up a little of the easy money said to be floating around there for the ambitious boxer.

Purdue Baseball Veterans Fight To Hold Places

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 11.—Veterans of the urdue University baseball team are facing a fight this year for their positions. Last season's freshmen team produced a number of stars and these men are striving hard to displace some of the regulars.

Coach Ward Lambert, who is being assisted by "Humpy" Pierce, manager of the Flint team in the Michigan-Ontario league last season, is looking the squad over carefully and announces that the new candidates will be given an opportunity to win places on the 'varsity nine. Both Lambert and Pierce express confidence regarding the team's ability to make a good showing during the approaching collegiate season.

Lambert is counting on three good pitchers. From last season he has Wegner and Wallace and to supplement these veterans he has Volkstadt, who did some star twirling for the freshmen last year. Capt. Roberts, catcher of last season, is again available with McQuaid, one of the yearlings, as a substitute.

Barnaby, shortstop, and McConnell, third sacker, are missing this year, but Lambert has a number of good candidates for all of the infield positions. Stanwood, White and Fawcett, last year's outfielders, are all back and will probably retain their positions.

Kansas City and Millers Anxious To Start Season

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 11.—Thoroughly overhauled and materially strengthened in the pitching department and field, the Kansas City club will open the American association season here Wednesday with Minneapolis. Manager Otto Knabe s confident the team which ended a disastrous season last year in the bottom position, will be a formidable contender for the pnnant this year.

Three new players will appear in the line of this year. Ewilling, who was brought here from Indianapolis, will be at right; Cochran, third, and Butler, formerly of Milawukee, at second base. Cochran retired from the game last season but s back in the Blue's lineup again and in preseason games has displayed the same form that gave him a high rank among the A. A. batsmen of 1919.

"Bunny" Brief will be back at first base and Kansas City fans e? pect him to do some heavy batting.

This year's pitching staff will be composed of Ames, Nick Carter, Purchased from the Chicago Nationals; Bono from the Internatonal league; Lambeth, Williams(Reynolds, Lambert and Hortsman. Possibly two of these will be released or traded before the season gets well under way.

In the opinion of critics, three weak spots will have to be bolstered up before the Kansas City machine is complete—left field, shortstop and the catching department. A good first string catcher is needed, Felix in left field lacks experience and Wright, a youngster from the University of Missouri, is not regarded by Knabe as fully developed. Manager Knabe is after major league pjlayers to fill these places.

The probable line-up for the opening game:

Cochran, third base; Butler, second base; Good, centerfield; Brief, first base; Zwilling, right field; Felix left field; Wright, shortstop; Carter or Lambeth, pitcher; Brock or Lamb, catcher.

NEW YORK COFFEE.

NEW YORK, April 11.—According to some of the reports reaching here fully a million bags of coffee have already been purchased by brokers operating for the Brazilian government, but today's official cables showed a improvement in the primary markets, and prices here were lower under scattering liquidation. The opening was at a decline of 7 to 15 points and July contracts sold off to $6.01 during the afternoon with the decline accompanied 4's 9 1-4 to 9 3-4c.

Spot coffee dull, Rio 7s 6c; Santos by reports that some of the cost and freight offers were lower.

N. Y. SUGAR.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The local market for raw sugar was quiet today and while no sales were reported, the undertone was a little unsettled and offerings were quite liberal at at quoted prices. The committee made no fresh announcement and their price remained at the 5 cent level for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 6.02 for centrifugal, although uncontrolled sugars, including porto Ricos and full duty sugars were available at equal to $5.77 for centrifugal.

There was no increase in the demand for refined sugar, although prices were easier with another refiner reducing list prices to the basis of 7.75 for fine granulated, while others were unchanged at 8 cents.

The sugar futures market was easier owing to the unsettled feeling in the spot market, which led to increased selling by commission houses. Final prices were 10 to 17 points net lower, or at the lowest point of the day. Final bids: May $4.55; July $4.70; September $4.65.

HIGH PRICE PREVAILS IN COTTON MART

NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—High prices prevailed in the cotton market today, but the gains were made during the first half of the session, the market having a slight tendency to react during the last half. The close showed net gains of 29 to 31 points with May at 11.70. Most buying was stimulated by the favorable turn is the British labor situation but some buying was done on cold weather over the belt.

Toward the middle of the day the official forecast of fair and warmer weather for the entire belt caused something of a reactionary feeling, but the widest recessions carried the market barely 15 points down from the top. In the late trading the market steadied again. After the mid hour early buyers liquidated in a moderate way. Reports from points in Louisiana told of young cotton having been wiped out by frost and reports from south Texas that heavy rains and high rivers of last week had completely wiped out new crops in come sections.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, April 11.—A better feeling over the British labor situation led to advances in the cotton market here today, but there was continued nervousness with uncertainty as to result of negotiations now in progress and early strength was followed by partial ractions. July contracts which sold up to $12.65 during the early trading eased off to $12.49 and closed at $12.55 with the general market closing steady at a net advance of 24 to 30 points.

The market opened firm on the higher Liverpool cables and reports that the safety of the British cal mines was assured pending the outcome of the conferences at London.

Nothing definite was learned regarding the progress of the strike negotiations, however, and after the advance to 12.12 for May and 13.20 for October contracts, prices turned easier under scattered realizing. Most positions sold a shade below opening figures during the afternoon but there were moderate rallies just before the close on renewed covering and a little buying for Liverpool account. Reports of an important failure in the German textile trade were without any apparent influence.

The discussion of measures for facilitating exports continued. In the meanwhileit was reported that the finance corporation is considering the matter of financing shipments of cotton goods to Rumania amounting to about $5,000,000.

WHEAT FALLS UNDER REPORT OF SUPPLIES

CHICAGO, April 11. — Wheat dropped today to the lowest level since January, 1915, for May delivery. It was said exporters were trying to resell and that farmers were hauling more freely in Illinois, Kansas and Nebraska. The market closed heavy, 2 1-4 to 5 1-4 net lower with May $1.25 1-4 to $1.25 1-2 and July $1.10 1-4 to $1.10 1-2; corn lost 1 1-4 to 2 1-4c; oats 3-4 to 7-8 to 1 1-8c and provisions 12½ to 42½c.

Only a transient slight upturn of prices in the wheat market resulted from the cold wave of the last 48 hours. Buying quickly subsided when indications pointed to absence of any serious damage. Continuance of hopes for settlement of the British coal strike tended further to give an advantage to the bears and proved much more than an offset for drought news from Hungary, Roumania and Bulgaria. Signs of an enlarged domestic movement from first hand gave a decided impetus to the downward swing of the market, emphasized by big primary receipts and by reports of a falling off in demand for flour. July delivery did not break as fast as May, but both months finished at about the bottom figures of the season.

Corn and oats showed stubborn resistance to bear pressure but finally gave way in sympathy with wheat.

Lower quotations on hogs and grain took away support from provisions.

CASH WHEAT TO BE CUT AGAIN ON LOCAL MARKET

A drop in the price of cash wheat quoted by local elevators from $1.20 to $1.15 on the basis of No. 1, was predicted to take place this morning on the strength of the drop of 5½ cents in the Kansas City market.

The market has been very weak during the past week with the indications of the increased acreage and prospects for a bumper crop.

PROMINENT DANE COMMITS SUICIDE

By Associated Press.

COPENHAGEN, April 11.—M. J. Ballin, one of the foremost figures in Danish industry, died early today as a result of a self-inflicted bullet wound. Ballin, was reputed to have spent his private fortune in a vain attempt to prevent the decline of the stock of his Soenner Company which was quoted at 60 today against 320 in 1918. Ballin was prominently named on the allied "blacklist" during the war.

HESITANCY PERVADES EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, April 11.—The stock market today resumed its recent dull and hesitant characteristics, although domestic and foreign developments over the week end were mostly of a more encouraging nature.

The local money market was distinctly lighter, however, call loans opening at 7 per cent and holding at that rate throughout the session. This was attributed to the deficit in clearing house reserves, as disclosed in last Saturday's bank statement. There were fewer offerings of time money and little inquiry for merchant's paper.

Rails were under moderate pressure, some of the high class or investment issues easing 1 to 2 points. Conditions in that group were not improved by the further fractional decline of Pennsylvania to the new low record of 32 3-8. Oils, motors and many of the specialties comprising the food, tobacco, leather and textile issues were higher at their best by one to nearly 3 points, coppers also displaying a better trend.

Exchange on London was responsive to the better labor outlook, rising 3 1-2 over last week's low point. All other European rates were stronger, especially Italian, Spanish and Scandinavian remittances.

Dealings in bonds were light and mainly lower, liberty issues almost without exception closing at losses.

CITY PERSONNEL AND PAY TO BE INQUIRED INTO

Recommendations as to the proper way to handle the various departments of the city, in the way of personnel, salaries and work to be done the coming year, were called for by mayor Walter D. Cline at the weekly meeting of the city council Monday evening.

The mayor stated that he wished each department head to prepare a list of recommendations for his department, taking into consideration the work accomplished in the past and to be accomplished in the future; and submit it next Monday. He also asked that a list of employes of the city, who appear on the semi-monthly pay rolls be prepared and presented the council and said that he did not stand committed to the salary provisions that had obtained in the past. The mayor did not say that he was in favor of a reduction in salaries but emphasized the fact that it was necessary that the city know at the earliest moment what amount of money was necessary to carry on the work the coming year.

Books to Be Audited.

The employment of a certified public accountant to audit the books of the city for the past year was authorized by the council on recommendation of Mr. Shepherd and he announced his intention of employing Ira S. Harris to do this work.

Besides asking for recommendations as to the conduct of the various departments, the mayor emphasized the need of the speedy preparation of the budget for the coming year and urged the councilmen to take this matter up at the earliest possible moment.

The proposition of employing a purchasing agent for the city again came up, but no definite action was taken, though it was suggested that some one in the engineer's department might be given this work.

Mr. Shepherd presented a proposal to employ a competent bookkeeper to work in the office of the city clerk.

Ask for City Depository.

Sealed bids for the designation of city depository and official newspaper were ordered advertised for. It was pointed out that any bank in the county was eligible to be declared the depository of the city. The designation of the official city paper will depend upon the lowest bid in the way of printing all of the city's advertising and ordinances.

Bids on both these proposals will be opened at 8 o'clock April 25.

Reed's First Act.

Dr. Reed's first entry into the business of the council was his declaration in connection with the budget plan that he would like to confer with the Chamber of Commerce committee, which has in charge the working out of a park system, and indicated that he was very interested that improvements be made in the city cemetery.

He suggested a committee to be composed of Burr Bean, Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, Mrs. Kell and Mrs. Addicks to advise the council in this work. The mayor requested that he withhold this recommendation until the next meeting of the council.

Ready for Hospital.

That the city is now ready to cooperate with the county in the establishing and maintaining of a public hospital was indicated by the council's act in adjourning to meet at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning at the court house where, with the county commissioners, they will go into the matter at length and try to arrive at a conclusion that will allow the work to proceed. It was said at the council meeting Monday night that the county bonds for this work have been sold and the money necessary is in hand.

Property Valuations.

No reduction in property valuations should be made for this year according to Mayor Cline after a report by City Assessor and Collector Anderson that thirteen and one-half per cent of the 1920 taxes were as yet uncollected. Mr. Anderson suggested that he thought some of the property owners were "riding their six per cent too hard,' and suggested the advisibility of suits to collect these taxes. Mr. Anderson said that property in Wichita Falls was being assessed on a fifty-per cent basis and he believed that the city would have more money from this year's taxes than from last year's account of new additions and buildings having been placed in the city limits the past year.

Mayor Cline said that he did not believe many reductions should be made in assessments as the city must have a certain amount of money and if the assessments were lowered the tax rate must be raised.

Ordinances Go Over.

With the exception of passing the Fifteenth street paving matter on its first reading no action was taken on the ordinances and franchises pending before the council for their third reading, the mayor declaring that he wished to get into the election canvas as speedily as possible.

Property owners on Seymour and Lee streets and in the Scotland addition appeared before the council and asked for water service in their various localities. In each instance they were assured that the water would be given to them as soon as it was possible for the work to be done by the water department.

Give County Pipe.

The city appropriated to the use of L. N. Jernigan, superintendent of the county farm, a quantity of sewer pipe to be used in the irrigation project at the farm. The city has some property owned jointly with the county at this place.

Citizens requested a fire alarm box at Jefferson and Bridge streets and the request was referred to Fire Chief McClure.

Squatters Troublesome.

Declaring that the property in the neighborhood of their homes was being rendered less valuable and pleasant by squatters, L. F. Scott, M. J. Marshall and R. J. Moore requested the city to take some action against persons erecting houses of packing boxes, etc., in the neighborhood of Cowan and Houston streets. This presented some difficulty as the property is not owned by the city and the opinion was expressed that it was out of the city jurisdiction to remove the squatters unless it could be done through some clause in the sanitary regulations.

YOUNG RAILWAY LINEMAN MAKES HEROIC SWIM

The storm and flood that interrupted service on the Northwestern railroad during last week brought out a fact that sometimes the maintenance of the railroad service carries its employees into dangers that inspire awe to outsiders but are accepted as part of the day's business by the employees themselves.

One particular instance that is told is that of Ernest Crain, a young lineman with the telegraph department of the Katy, how he, when confronted with the necessity of restoring communication by wire that had been broken by the washout near Tipton, Swam the swollen stream with the telegraph wire in his hand. The current was strong and the distance further than he expected and with the extra burden of dragging the length of wire he had a hard time swimming to the other side of the stream.

However he finally reached the part of the bridge that was still intact and made a connection of the broken strands of wire and the dispatchers offices all along the line stopped their cussing.

WISE MEN DESIRE NO MORE THAN THEY GET JUSTLY AND LEAVE CONTENTEDLY—WEEKS

A powerful "lay sermon" on some of the ways that individuals may better "invest their lives" was given by W. F. Weeks as the principal address of the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club Monday noon at the Kemp hotel.

Mr. Weeks brought out some of the more spiritual aspects of business and professional life that are sometimes lost sight of in the daily struggle of competition. His talk was attentively received by a large crowd.

Judge H. P. Jordan of Waco, president of the Kiwanis club there, which succeeds the local club as the baby of Texas, spoke briefly, endorsing the remarks of Mr. Weeks and expressing the hope that the club would take up matters of civic and moral betterment as advocated by the speaker.

Dr. M. W. Hoover, president, and Ben Neal, secretary of the local club were elected delegates to the international convention to be held in Cleveland with W. S. Curlee and Jouette Bonner as alternates. A large attendance of Texas Kiwanians is expected at this convention.

Spudders There

J. Will Gray introduced a number of the Spudders who were present as the guests of the club. It was announced that the Kiwanians would attend the game in a body Thursday and a committee is working on getting a full representation.

Other features of the day were special music by Misses Keene and Roper, accompanied by Mrs. F. C. Barron and a talk on the Boy Scout fund campaign by Representative B. F. Johnson.

"What Good May I Do?"

"The noblest question in the world is, what good may I do, however the most popular question today is, how much is he worth?" said Mr. Weeks. "A wise man desires no more than he can get justly, use soberly, distribute cheerfully, and leave contendedly. I judge a man's wealth by his contentment. It has been said a wise man is one who learns from everybody, a powerful man is one who can control his own passions and a rich man is one who is content. The thing that will conduce most to contentment is to work as if you were to live 100 years and pray as if you were to die tomorrow. A man who leaves only wealth in this world has made a mistake of life. History will not record much of him. 'If you would not be forgotten as soon as you are dead and rotten, then write things worth reading or do things worth writing.' For a life to be well invested you must understand your relationship to the public, your fellow creatures.

"'Invested gold may bring return, but gold is all that money earns, a richer joy should crown the strife that marks a well invested life.'

"Let us invest ourselves in service and let that service be not selfish but for the public good.

Too Much Materialism.

"I know that when a speaker discusses a reduction of taxes or a retime, he at once elicits your attention forsee another boom within a short time, he at once elicits your attention and strikes a popular chord. We pay too much attention to this side of life and, to a large degree, we are all one-sided individuals, most of us worrying about the same thing. We forget that we are taxed not only by taxes, but we are taxed twice as much by our idleness, three times as much by our pride and four times as much by our folly. So your motto, 'we build,' does not mean that we build only for wealth, commercially and industrially, but that we build to improve life.

Opportunity For Service

You can render great service as an organization to promote public health and improve public morals. It is only through organizations that much can be accomplished along either of these lines as you rarely ever see individual effort expended for such purposes. Then why not have a standing committee on public health and also a committee on public morals or civic morality? You often hear it said that we learned great lessons from the war. We did learn them but how soon we forget! We are eager to approve doctrines but slow to adopt them into our living. In the civil war about one-half of all professional men were physically unfit for service. Forty-six per cent in commercial life and forty-three per cent of the laborers and mechanics. In the recent war we learned that our conditions had not improved, although in all other respects, during this more than half a century, we had shown marked improvement and had performed great achievements.

Along other lines when we realize that 80 per cent of the tuberculosis, 60 per cent of typhoid fever, 30 per cent of blindness and 40 per cent of pneumonia are all preventable and due entirely to our negligence then we appreciate how really derelict we are. How often do you see the tragedy of a man's trolley slipping or a nervous break down occuring in early life.

Health

We must remember that health is the bulwark on which everything that we prize in intellectual life and religious culture depends. There is an old saying that each year a bad habit rooted out will in time, make the worst man good throughout.

During our recent war the government set on foot an earnest campaign against veneral diseases, but since the war the campaign is waning. It seems to me that we now have more time and a better opportunity for such work than during the war. The battle is one that will take years to fight, disease has rooted itself into society. To eliminate it completely will require a well constructed program.

Require Effort.

It will require effort from all the social organizations throughout the land. A great deal can be done by spreading proper propaganda and earnest co-operation with public health officers. Your committee, along this line, would have a broad field, because most every thing affects the public health. You would, of course, encourage and support the building of hospitals, you would co-operate with sanitary officers, you would encourage out-door sports, play grounds and parks. You would sponsor a Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and other like enterprises.

"Take care of the body, the house of the soul, if you would its inmates keep hearty and while. As the soul may take coal and catch fever as well as folks who in rickety tenements dwell, so look to it faithfully, citizens, I pray, the home of the spirit, this temple of clay."

Civic Morality.

What are you doing to improve civic morality? In this work your committee can keep a close vigilance on proposed legislation, which affects all social life. Most of us do not think of legislation until enacted into law. It is often difficult to repeal a law, whereas, if we had interested ourselves before its passage we would have better results. To illustrate, only recently the legislature passed a law providing that every truck operator, such as wholesale grocery houses and other institutions operating trucks, as well as those operating trucks in public service, should pay a tax to the state of 7 per cent per mile each way, whether loaded or empty.

Most of us did not know that such legislation was proposed and was not aware of it until after it became a law. Now we are seeking its repeal as here probably never was a more foolish or iniquitious law than this. There are always questions of legislation and law enforcement with which all civic organizations are called to deal. You know there never was a time when the morals of this country were looser than today.

Adverse Conditions.

Conditions growing out of the war, the moving picture shows, automobiles and the public dance which always is getting more public have added to weaken our morals. Our juvenile officers are not as plentiful or as alert as they should be. Probably they do not have the backing and support of the people that they should have. It is now the custom for young boys and girls to embrace each other on any street corner and you cannoe ride out any public street in Wichita Falls without passing many automobiles loaded with boys and girls who have no hesitancy in spooning in public. It seems that the young people have lost much of their modesty and refinement. Their conduct is in a sense licensed because they hear no public protest against it. The most important officer in Wichita Falls today, in my opinion, is the juvenile officer, if he will do his duty.

You keep down speeding by having a motorcycle cop ride up and down the streets, although he does not make any arrests, his presence has a good deterrent effect. Likewise if the same notoriety is given in protest to "speeding" along other lines and vigilance is threatened the effect will be good, although I admit it is hard to scare people into being modest and refined.

Ae least let us all strive to exemplify the highest attributes of Christian character. Let each man improve his own conduct. Let us possess purity, love for one another, generosity, patience and humility. We come together lending ourselves to civic organizations for the good we may do the city and for the good we may do our own lives by mutual association.

To Better Invest Lives.

To better invest our lives we need: Purity, "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God."

"Generosity, because we love charity, we love to help others.

"Love, because the greatest commandment is 'Love thy God with thy whole soul, with thy whole heart and with thy whole body,' and the second commandment is 'Love thy neighbor as thyself, love one another.'

"Humility, because 'He that can humble himself as a little child will be the greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven.'

"Patience and meekness, because we must not return evil for good. If you get a mean letter from a man sit down and answer it, giving him 10 times what he sent and then throw both letters in the waste basket. A forgiving spirit is one of the highest attributes of character,

"'Oh, man, forgive thy worldly foe and never strike him blow for blow, for all the souls on earth that live to be forgiven must forgive. Forgive him seventy times and seven, for all the blessed souls in heaven are both forgivers and forgiven.'

"In business let's not complain of our burdens or become discouraged, but pray for more strength to bear these burdens. Let us introduce greater efficiency. Let us shun prodigality, for prodigality of time produces poverty of mind and estate. Let us encourage frugality. The American people have forgotten how to save. We are masters in spending and in speculation. Let there now begin a sane era in business and in right living."

Tom Bergin is going to give the Ford away at last—Tuesday noon at the University club luncheon, he announced Monday.

"I am going to turn the whole thing over to Judge Guy Rogers and the University club crowd to handle," he said. "They can manage the drawing and handle the entire procedure as they see best.

"I would have given it away before now—in fact I offered to come down and get it over with when some of the more anxious asked me about it, but when they found out that I was entertaining a case of small pox they decided that they could wait a few days."

CARPENTERS QUIT WORK AFTER CUTS

Carpenters who drew down $8 per day on last Saturday, as well as those working for him who drew $10 a day, working on old jobs not yet finished, left their jobs today, according to a statement made by John Taylor, of Taylor Brothers, contractors, and members of the local association of general contractors who recently announced an $8 per day scale on all new work.

Mr. Taylor said that he did not know, but supposed that the same thing had happened to other contractors who had started new work at the $8 scale.

All members of the association, it was stated last week, would have new work going this week, on which they would pay off at $8 Saturday.

"I am not going to make a single concession," said Mr. Taylor, Monday.

Says Prices Falling

"I have gone as far as I could. The cut in the wages of the carpenters was not made because I wanted to see them get less money, but because I had to reduce the prices in order to continue to do business—building prices are falling."

He stated that he and several other members of the association would be out of town this week attending a lumbermen's convention and he expected that the matter would be settled by their return, but said whether or no he intended to go on without making concessions.

He expressed the belief that the men who had been with him a long time and who knew his attitude toward them, would go thoroughly into the situation and accept the situation before a very long time.

Official Says All Working.

W. B. McNeely declares that so far as he knows, no carpenter was paid less than $10 per day for his work last Saturday; that he was paid at that rate; that so far as he knows there have been no carpenters quit; that all are working and receiving $10 per day, so far as he is aware.

In announcing a meeting of the carpenters local for Tuesday night, he said he anticipated little but routine business; he knew of no other business to come up.
