Thai Forces No Secret, Says Bundy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asst. Secretary of State William P. Bundy says about 25,000 American military men — most of them in the Air Force — are stationed in Thailand and "there is really no secret" about the American commitment to the Southeast Asian nation.

The basic strength of American forces in Thailand "is certainly a matter that has been widely reported and is understood, I think, in the Congress and has been fully discussed with the congressional leaders," Bundy said Sunday.

The Pentagon has been refusing to release the troop strength.

Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., says he wants to know if America is getting into "another Viet Nam" in Thailand. He has promised to hold committee hearings to find out.

Sources say closed hearings are planned for about Sept. 19, and that the committee hopes to persuade the administration to agree to open hearings on the topic later.

Bundy said on the NBC radio-television program "Meet The Press" that the Thais are facing a "real threat of insurgency" but that they are dealing with it themselves.

"And our role is to supply them equipment and to assist them in training as they may desire," Bundy said.

LBJ Tours Labor Citadel

By FRAN KCORMIER

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — President Johnson campaigned in Michigan today by bluntly telling organized labor on its own holiday that "it can't make all the gains it wants — all at once."

After volunteering this anti-inflation warning in Detroit, citadel of the United Auto Workers Union, Johnson flew to Battle Creek to help mark the 100th birthday of a sanitarium founded by the late cereal king, Will Keith Kellogg.

In remarks prepared for his Battle Creek audience, Johnson touched on another aspect of inflation — the rising price of health care.

He said: "Government does share a lively concern for the progress of medical care and the cost of medical care. And so long as I am in office, we will make every effort to ensure the greatest possible progress at the lowest cost to the individual."

Returns are not yet in from a federal study of medical costs which Johnson recently ordered.

The President's talk about "responsibility" in medical science did not match for directness, however, his words to the organized workingman.

Johnson, starting his first admittedly political trip of the campaign season, coupled a blunt call for labor union restraint in wage demands with these promises:

—He pledged he would not forget the goal of an annual subsistence wage.

—He promised to fight in 1967 for repeal of Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, which authorizes states to outlaw the union shop contracts that require all eligible employes to join the union.

In a Labor Day address prepared for a union-sponsored memorial service at Cobo Hall for Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, D-Mich., Johnson said he did not want to varnish rough facts about inflation—"a pickpocket."

He asserted in a key passage: "Labor wants — and labor deserves — a growth of real wages, not just money wages. It wants wage gains that will offset some of the recent rise in the cost of living. But it can't make all the gains it wants — all at once — no matter how big wage increases become. For in the long run, even the strongest union, with the power to negotiate massive wage increases, cannot hold its own if it contributes to an inflation that wrecks prosperity."

As for businessmen, Johnson said the manufacturer knows "that the abundant profits he earns from keeping his plant fully used can be destroyed by shortsighted attempts to get a little higher profit through higher prices."

The President, his travel paid for by the Democratic party, was visiting Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., Dayton and Lancaster, Ohio. Freshman Democrats in the House face Republican opposition in the November election in all these communities.

While in effect lecturing his Detroit audience, assembled under sponsorship of the AFL-CIO, Johnson sought to blunt labor's unhappiness over the administration's defeats in efforts to repeal Section 14B.

Bayonets, Rifles Guard Marchers

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

National Guardsmen and police used bayonet-tipped rifles and billy clubs to maintain order Sunday as marchers for open housing invaded the all-white community of Cicero on Chicago's West Side.

Six whites were bayoneted, none seriously, and others were beaten with police nightsticks as the officers battled to keep the 192 marchers, mostly Negroes, and the heckling whites apart.

In contrast to previous marches on various Chicago neighborhoods, this demonstration — organized by the Congress of Racial Equality — saw the Negroes firing back at the whites the rocks and bottles thrown at them.

CORE caller for the march after Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, postponed a planned demonstration in Cicero after Chicago officials agreed to a far-reaching program to promote open housing.

Some 2,300 National Guardsmen, with orders to shoot to kill if fired upon, joined approximately 700 city, county and state police in escorting the marchers into Cicero. In addition to keeping the whites away from the demonstrators, the officers and Guardsmen kept the Negro marchers from breaking out of line to reach the hecklers.

Elsewhere on the racial scene:

The violence that troubled Dayton, Ohio, last week appears over, police officials reported in saying they could foresee no difficulty in providing security for President Johnson's visit today.

The nearly 1,000 National Guardsmen who had been ordered out to halt rioting on the West Side Negro section are down to about 300 men, all on standby basis. Police have resumed patroling the streets.

State Drenched By Heavy Rains

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Downpours of up to five inches drenched scattered points from the Red River to the Rio Grande Sunday while a tornado funnel and a waterspout were sighted along the Texas Coast.

Between 4 and 5 inches of rain sent water swirling over U.S. Highway 54 about two miles south of Newman in far West Texas as Las Cruces, N.M., 35 miles to the northwest, was hit by a torrential downpour that washed cars off the streets, sent four feet of water through a motel, and knocked out power.

Heavy showers, which continued early today, hit El Paso but no damage was reported.

The thunderstorm activity preceeded a cool front that today pushed deep into the state. Arthur City reported 2.68 inches, Paris 2.67, Hagansport 2.32 Deport 2.10, Texarkana Dam 1.90, Maud 1.87, Sulphur Springs 1.77, Pine Springs 1.69, Naples 1.62, Kaufman 1.55, Downing 1.53, Winnsboro 1.43, Telephone and Gilmer 1.35, DeKalb 1.34, Quitman 1.27, Trenton 1.20, Emory 1.15, and Boxelder 1.01.

Rocksprings in Southwest Texas had a three inch downpour while Brackettville, near the Rio Grande had 1.85.

A water spout was sighted in the Gulf of Mexico near Port Lavaca and a tornado funnel was seen near Indianola in Calhoun County but no damage was reported. Port Lavaca received .91 of an inch of rain within an hour.

The forecasts called for clear to partly cloudy skies over the state with widely scattered thundershowers in Central and West Texas today.

Chinese Vessel Sunk, Charges Radio Peking

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Red China charged today U.S. planes attacked and sank a small Chinese vessel, damaged another and killed nine crewmen in the Gulf of Tonkin in a "provocative and grave incident."

Radio Peking said the attack was made a week ago. Spokesman for the U.S. Military Command and the 7th Fleet refused comment except to refer to a Navy communique of that day.

The communique said carrier-based planes sank a North Vietnamese patrol boat and possibly damaged two others in the Gulf about 70 miles southeast of Haiphong. Later a briefing officer said another Vietnamese boat was sunk.

In Washington a Pentagon spokesman declined comment on the Red Chinese broadcast.

Radio Peking said the Chinese vessels were sailing on a normal course when attacked.

"This is one of a repeated series of war provocative steps committed by the American imperialists," it added.

In the air war, the U.S. Command announced that North Vietnamese ground fire shot down three U.S. fighter-bombers in raids near Hanoi Sunday and another plane was knocked down farther south today.

Only one of the five pilots was rescued, a spokesman said. The aircraft losses brought the number of U.S. planes reported shot down over North Viet Nam to 361.

While American jets pounded oil depots, missile sites and other targets in the North Vietnamese heartland, government troops in South Viet Nam reported wiping out nearly half of a 600-man elite Communist force in a three-day operation in the sweltering swamplands of the Mekong Delta 120 miles southwest of Saigon. The fighting broke a 10-day lull in ground action in the south.

As the allies braced for increased Communist terrorism in advance of the national election next Sunday, 5,500 South Korean troops arrived aboard three U.S. transports at the central coast port of Nha Trang. They bolstered the six-nation allied force, exlusive of the more than 700,000 Vietnamese troops, to 341,000 men.

Mishaps plagued air operations in the South.

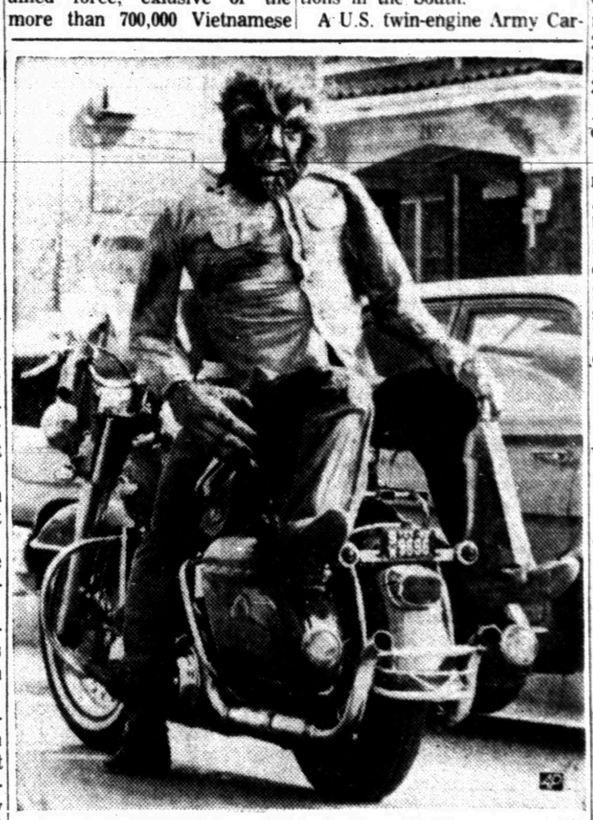

A U.S. twin-engine Army Caribou transport plane crashed into a Vietnamese village Sunday shortly after taking off from Dong Tra airfield about 250 miles northeast of Saigon. Four villagers were killed and 20 to 25 other persons were injured, including three U.S. crewmen.

A few hours later, a Zuni rocket accidentally discharged as it was being loaded onto a U.S. Marine jet at Da Nang, and hurtled into a nearby Vietnamese military building at the airfield. A Viet Cong prisoner was seriously injured. Four South Vietnamese soldiers, an 8-year-old boy and a U.S. Marine were less seriously hurt.

Only two weeks ago amid a rash of accidental bombings Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, issued a directive urging extreme care to avoid civilian casualties.

U.S. planes flew 134 missions against North Viet Nam Sunday, including strikes on four missile sites — three in the Hanoi area — and 13 oil storage depots, a spokesman said.

Smoke billowed up 10,000 feet as the planes set off numerous explosions and fires at the fuel dumps, the spokesman said. The pilots reported hits on two missile sites.

Grizzly Record Looms On Road

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A succession of traffic crashes involving cars crowded with holiday celebrants sent the 78-hour Labor Day weekend traffic toll toward what the National Safety Council said looked like a "pretty definite" record.

One collision in Michigan today killed eight. Another in Florida killed seven. Four were killed Sunday night in a Colorado collision. The grimmest accident occurred Saturday when three cars collided west of Norwalk on the rain-slickened Ohio Turnpike, killing nine.

The death toll reached 495.

The Michigan accident was an almost head-on crash of two cars on U.S. 12 near Coldwater. Both cars carried five persons and the two survivors were injured.

The crash on U.S. 19 a few miles north of Clearwater, Fla., killed three boys and four girls, all in their teens, and injured three others.

"Unless there's some radical improvement," said a safety council spokesman, "it will be near the top of our estimate—630 deaths. This, of course, would far surpass the record of 563.

"At this point, it looks pretty definite," he added.

For comparison, 505 persons died on a recent non-holiday weekend.

Two multiple—fatality accidents Saturday took 11 lives. A collision in Jacksonville, Ill., killed four members of one family and two other persons and injured two others critically. A head-on crash near Wagner, S.D., resulted in five deaths and four injuries.

The 78-hour holiday began at 6 p.m. local time Friday. It ends tonight at midnight local time. Halfway through, 279 persons had died in traffic, compared to 225 at the midway point during the 1965 weekend.

The safety council points to the past as it warns that tired drivers mean more accidents during the last half of the holiday.

Ambulance Applications Are Asked

Anyone interested in applying for a franchise here to provide ambulance service should submit an application by noon Tuesday at the city hall, City Manager George Patterson announced.

Patterson and two county commissioners and two city councilmen are on a special committee to study the ambulance service possibilities here. Local funeral homes have announced that they will cease ambulance service at the end of this month. In addition to Patterson, members of the joint city-county committee are County Commissioners Bill Herring and Thane Mebane, and City Councilmen Marshall Erwin and Rayburn Burgess.

The committee hopes to take some recommendations before the city council tomorrow night Patterson said.

Weathermen Eye Greta

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Greta, the season's seventh tropical storm, was expected to grow to hurricane intensity today as scientists considered whether to try to seed her angry winds into submission.

Although she was still small and no immediate danger to land, forecasters predicted Greta would increase in size and power as she ranged over the warm waters of the South Atlantic.

Officials of Project Stormfury, the tropical storm "seeding" agency, were expected to decide during the day whether to sprinkle Greta with silver iodide.

Her location and probable track made Greta a candidate for the process which is designed to convert a storm's destructive force into harmless rain.

Fiscal Dangers Cited By Wilson

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) —Prime Minister Harold Wilson said today "one false, careless step" in the present international trading and fiscal situation could plunge the world into a depression as grave as that of the 1930s.

The British leader delivered this warning in appealing to Britain's organized workers to back his socialist government's wage-price-dividend freeze.

He spoke against a background of economic troubles among the world's big powers including the United States and West Germany.

Wilson was addressing the annual conference of the Trades Union Congress whose 170 member-unions form the industrial wing of Britain's powerful labor movement. They provide the campaign funds for Wilson's ruling Labor party.

The prime minister sought to bring home to the delegates what a major world depression could mean for Britain.

"We as a nation more dependent than almost any other on overseas trade could well be plunged into a depression such as we have not seen in this generation, where the workless might be numbered at 1.5 million to 2 million," he said.

About 400,000 Britons now are jobless out of a working population 23 million but unemployment is rising sharply as a result of the government's austerity program.

More than 1,000 delegates — representing 8.5 million workers — are due Wednesday to cast block votes — in the names of the unions they represent — for or against the government's economic program that includes the freeze.

LIVING COSTS ALSO UP

Employment High On Labor Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — Flags wave, workers parade, bands blare and speakers laud labor's role in American life as the nation observes Labor Day today.

The holiday dates back to 1882, when workers staged the first Labor Day parade in New York City. It has been a legal holiday since 1894.

This year's observance comes amid record employment and a growing discontent over inflationary pressures.

The government announced last week that 76.4 million Americans were at work in August, a carryover of July's record-breaking figure. A week earlier, it had announced the cost of living had reached a record high.

Labor's top spokesman, George Meany, president of the 13-million-member AFL-CIO, defended the right to strike as vital to democracy and said in a holiday statement labor is not to blame for rising prices.

President Johnson said Labor Day is a time to focus on new ways to assure every citizen an equal share in the greatness of America.

"Every segment of American life — labor, government, business, the public at large — has a special stake in extending our prosperity to those it has eluded for too long," Johnson said in his Labor Day message.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz steered clear of controversial economic issues in their Labor Day messages, confining themselves to praising labor's role in seeking a better life for all Americans.

In the background of the Labor Day celebration hung the strong possibility of a major strike in the telephone industry, following hard on the heels of the recent crippling airlines walkout that spurred new talk of antistrike legislation.

"In recent weeks and months, some of the basic precepts of free trade unionism have been challenged," Meany said in an obvious reference to the airlines furor.

"Anyone who says he believes in the right to strike must accept the fact that strikes will sometimes occur," he said.

Congress was considering legislation to end the airlines strike when the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists settled with five airlines. There are signs that new legislation to deal with strikes may come up in the next session of Congress.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When you advised her aunt (whose attractive young niece was coming to visit her) not to withhold the fact that the girl was a recent divorcee, I think you overlooked an important factor.

To label a young woman "divorcee" is like hanging out a sign, "Wolves, Welcome." All males immediately assume that a divorcee is starved for affection, and they rush to her aid. Not until a nice young man wants to make a lifetime arrangement need he know all the facts. And in the meantime, the girl doesn't have to fight him off.

When he asks, "How come a nice girl like you isn't married," she should not say, per your advice, "I was." She should say instead, "I am waiting for some nice man to ask me." If he is interested, he will prove it. Then there is plenty of time for integrity and confessions.

MRS. M.

DEAR MRS. M.: Some people would not knowingly pursue an interest in one who has been divorced. (I am not necessarily condoning this view, I am merely stating a fact.) So, the word from here is still unqualified honestly from the word, "Hello."

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Now what do we tell brides? I refer to an obvious error in the official White House wedding invitation for Pat and Luci. You know every bride in the country wants to emulate someone as important as the President's daughter. But I was shocked — after 40 years in the printing trade to note the invitation read:

"on Saturday the sixth of August. . ."

Our most authoritative sources, which we follow, indicate that it should have read:

"on Saturday, the sixth of August. . ."

separating the day from the date with a comma.

Who is correct? Amy Vanderbilt? Emily Post? We? Or the White House printers and engravers?

Yours for fostering social tradition!

C. J. UNDERHILL,
SAN DIEGO, CAL.

DEAR MR. UNDERHILL: Technically, you are correct. I, too, am for fostering tradition, but in such a tremendous undertaking as the Johnson wedding, if the most serious omission was a comma, I would credit them with a monumental job.

DEAR ABBY: I am a shoe salesman with a pet peeve. Why don't women who come in to try on shoes wear hosiery? Or bring a footlet? Very few do.

A lady will come in, look around, and then tell you she wants to try on a shoe. If you don't watch her, she will put her bare foot right into the shoe! When you object, she says, "Don't you have a stocking or something I can use?"

When you produce a footlet, which most shoe departments keep for that purpose, she says, "Me, Use This?" Abby, we can't use a new footlet for every customer. Can you offer a solution? Maybe just printing this might help.

SHOE DOG

DEAR SHOE DOG: Offer the footlet you keep for that purpose (providing there is no law prohibiting it) and if you get a, "Me, use This" reaction, politely direct the lady to the hosiery department. ("You can always use another pair of hosiery, Madame.")

Blast Tears Office Of Red Paper

NEW YORK (AP) — A crude bomb exploded Sunday at the offices of the Communist newspaper, the Worker, wrecking a basement room and shattering windows, including a number of stained-glass ones in a church across the street.

There were no injuries. Police said the pipe bomb, 10 to 12 inches long and probably filled with gunpowder, was detonated in the basement areaway of the three-story brownstone building.

The church damaged was the Serbian Orthodox Cathedral of St. Sava.

A party spokesman blamed the blast on the "fanatical, fascist ultra-right . . . now inflamed by the Johnson war policy."

Henry Winston, national chairman of the Communist party, said the FBI should have known who planted the bomb because it "has long had the building under every known form of surveillance for 24 hours a day."

An FBI spokesman said the matter 'is under police jurisdiction."

Sun Emits Potent Flare

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The most potent sun flare in nearly six years has wrought havoc with long-range radio transmission throughout the world.

The flare, an explosion on the sun which sends a stream of electromagnetic particles through the earth's atmosphere, began Friday. Physicists at the Institute for Telecommunication Sciences and Aeronomy at Boulder say it should be about over.

The flare was rated Class Two on a zero to four-point scale. Although a Class Four is the biggest flare, the rating is based on a visible measure of its area. The recent flare is not the biggest, but the strongest since about 1960.

Dale B. Bucknam, a physicist for the Space Disturbance Laboratory at the institute, reported such sun activity is on the increase in an 11-year cycle of solar disturbances. He said 1964 was "the year of the quiet sun" and that activity will increase until 1967-68, slowing down after that to complete the cycle in 1975.

Mrs. Chaney was taken to a Sherman hospital where her burns were listed as serious. Two other children escaped injury in the fire which destroyed a five-room house.

Officers said Mrs. Chaney and her children apparently were sleeping when the fire broke out.

50 Beauties Gather To Open Pageant

By PHILIP WECHSLER

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — She's 19 years old, stacks 35-24-35 measurements on a 123-pound, 5-foot-6 frame and has brown hair and blue eyes.

And she can draw a whistle of appreciation from any man.

That is the composite picture of the 50 contestants who register today for the opening of the 39th Miss America Pageant.

The girls will spend a hectic week displaying their prettiest smiles, posing for scores of pictures and answering questions.

It is also a week when the girls are celebrities with swarms of spectators asking for their autographs.

"Imagine, somebody asking me for my autograph," said Miss Tennessee, Vicki Hurd of Kingsport, after she signed slips of paper for three visitors.

Miss Mississippi, Robbie Robertson of Hattiesburg, had another surprise in store for her.

"I'm just amazed at how friendly the people up here are," she said. "Everyone is so kindly. To tell the truth, I heard different stories about Northerners."

While posing for photographers at a hotel pool, movie actor James Darren — vacationing here — strolled over to the contestants.

Said Miss Texas, Susan Logan of San Angelo, an aspiring actress: "It is a funny feeling for me to be in the spotlight and to see James Darren on the sidelines."

Susan, incidentally, is the biggest girl in the pageant. Although she and four other contestants are listed on the programat 5 feet 9, Susan confided "I'm really a half an inch taller than that."

Alaska, the largest state in the nation, has the smallest girl entered. She is Nancy Wellman, 21, of Fairbanks, who is 5 feet 2 and weighs 101 pounds. She has a 34-22-34 figure.

At midnight Saturday one of the 50 girls will walk down the runway of Convention Hall and be introduced to the nation as Miss America of 1967.

South African Government Bans Student Union Head

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — To some, the 21-year-old white student, who invited Sen. Robert F. Kennedy to South Africa has become a kind of martyr.

The student, Ian Robertson, is banned — the word used here for restriction of activities. Under this government decree, he cannot speak for himself. However, he is known to be considering a trip abroad to continue his studies.

Justice Minister Balthazar Vorster put him under ban in May after Robinson, as president of the National Union of South African Students invited Kennedy. The New York Democrat came here but was ignored by the government, which holds he has liberal views on such things as integration.

Opponents of the government have launched attack after attack on Voster, and the whole system of bannings came under suspicion when accusations which Vorster made against Robertson were found faulty.

Vorster acted against Robertson — and hundreds of others — under the Suppression of Communism Act. No charges were made, no defense was allowed. For five years Robertson cannot be quoted for publication, cannot attend gatherings, is severely restricted in his movements and cannot teach, the profession he especially wanted to follow.

Vorster gave no reason for the banning but there were cries that it was an attempt to dissuade Kennedy from coming.

Students held mass meetings and marched to condemn the action and critics of the government called on Vorster to put Robertson on trial to give him a chance to defend himself.

Apart from telling a students' delegation Robertson was considered to have been furthering the aims of communism, Vorster waited until the new parliamentary session to give his reasons.

Robertson, he eventually told Parliament, had served on the committee of "a Communist front organization" the Defense and Aid Fund, and had gone to the neighboring British territories of Swaziland and Basutoland where he had undesirable contacts.

The Defense and Aid Fund had been used to pay for the defense of defendants in political offenses trials.

It is now banned.

The minister has shown little sign of backing down on the Robertson case.

He told Parliament he would reconsider any case where there was fresh evidence, and while Robertson passed his 100th day in restriction Vorster studied a bundle of pro-Robertson affidavits sent to him.

Vorster, backed by the government's parliamentary majority holds the trump cards. There is no law which requires him to explain or account for his banning orders.

Knowing this, Robertson is almost certain to leave South Africa next week to continue his studies in Britain, where he has been offered a scholarship. He may later study at Harvard in line with a possibility he discussed with Sen. Kennedy.

To Reward Punctuality With Stamps

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Officials of an Atlanta manufacturing company were trying to solve the problem of tardy employes when they finally licked it — with trading stamps.

Now, they give away about 100,000 stamps a week as bonuses—to the wives of workmen who put in a full 40 hours.

"It's cut our absentee rate about 8 per cent," said B. W. Roberts, production manager of Southern Iron and Equipment Co., a maker of railroad cars.

"We think it's an incentive for a wife to see that her husband gets to work on time. I guess we're soliciting a little help at home."

Roberts said the stamps amount to about $1.50 a week in extra pay, but the workmen are careful to pick them up on Fridays.

"Several employes, when they failed to get their stamps, have come by the office," said Roberts. "They say, 'Let me have my stamps. I can't go home without them.'"

Although the men take some kidding, their wives think the stamps are great. "I like the idea," said Mrs. George Fretwell, whose husband is a machinist at the company.

"I don't have any trouble getting George to work," she said, "but I guess it helps keep some of the men at work who'd like to lay out for a while.

"They'll catch the devil at home if they do."

Carr Cites Need For Christian Principles

WEATHERFORD, Tex. (AP) —Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr called Sunday for increased emphasis on teaching Christian principles to young people as a means of reducing the crime rate.

Carr, Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate, told a Knights of Pythias homecoming that society should instill in young people "a sense of responsibility for their own actions."

He added that crime will continue to increase unless the lawless learn they will be dealt with swiftly and severely.

"What good will it do us to conquer war, hunger, pestilence and death, if we live in mortal fear of riots, murder, maiming and looting?" asked Carr.

Heart Patient To Go Home

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Methodist Hospital was expected to announce today a definite date for the discharge of its successful artificial heart pump patient, Mrs. Esperanza del Valle Vasquez.

Late last week the hospital said the 37-year-old Mexico City beautician probably would be released today or Tuesday but said an exact discharge date was pending.

Today marks the fourth week since Mrs. Vasquez, the only survivor of surgery for a mechanical heart pump, underwent the operation. The temporary assistant heart was removed 10 days after it was attached.

In its Sunday medical advisory, Methodist said Mrs. Vasquez continued to recuperate with no complications, remained in good spirits and was increasing her activities.

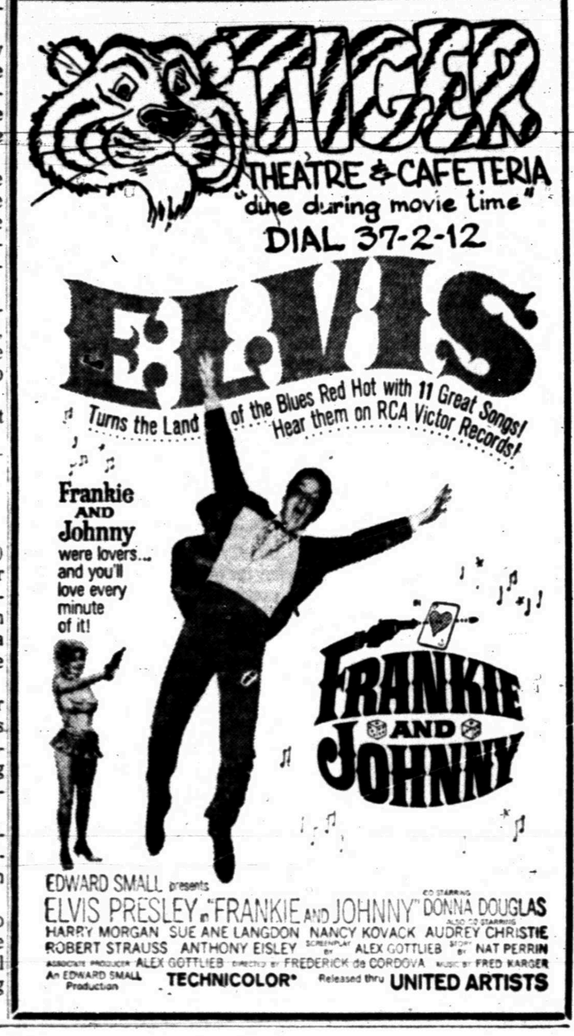

Officials said she would be available for pictures and would make a statement when she is released. Also, a detailed report of her case, a diagram of the plastic pump and several pictures taken during her hospitalization are to be issued to news media.

CAROLINE BIRD

Depression Effects Keep Hanging On

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK — Women in the newly independent countries are better accepted in public life than the so-called emancipated American women, says Caroline Bird.

"And the reason," she goes on "may be that the Great Depression perpetuated the notion that woman's place was in the home — not because there was work to do there, but because a woman who worked might take a job away from a man."

The Great Depression of the '30s is Caroline Bird's special preserve. After years of research she wrote "The Invisible Scar," a book about what the Depression did to American life, then until now.

She was a student at Vassar during that fateful time and consequently couldn't be considered one of the Depression casualties. Nevertheless, as she maintains, everyone who lived through that period bears invisible scars.

"Our depression lasted longer than the depression abroad, in part at least because we did not rearm as Europe did nor did we go heavily into socialistic schemes as it did. So we had a big group of unemployed men whose women had all they could do to bolster their morale.

Unemployment was easier on women than men if only because men were supposed to make a living and a woman couldn't be blamed if she didn't, says Mrs. Bird.

"One result was that a whole generation grew up with strong mothers and weak fathers and American women have been stooping, like 6-footers, ever since."

Mrs. Bird thinks the Depression was especially hard on all "minority" groups.

"When jobs were scarce, employers could choose the prettiest, the easiest, or those they happened to like for reasons that had no relation to the work, she says.

"Thus Negroes, Jews, and women all found themselves discriminated against in employment, cut out of jobs they could have done, and made so dispirited and retarded as the Negroes have been since. As a matter of fact, we have not had a militant Negro movement until Negroes who grew up under full employment became adult to lead the marches and protests."

In some respects, ponders Mrs. Bird, American women are worse off as a minority than Negroes.

"They have been threatened with loss of their sex-identification if they do what is called 'competing with men.' And they have been sold the Feminine Mystique that the goodies in the ads are to keep them happy rather than to keep everyone employed," she says.

Love affairs of the Depression, Mrs. Bird says, "tended to be rather high - minded, sexually subdued partnerships for mutual support and companionship."

Pregnancy became a disaster as "young people seriously debated whether they had 'a right to bring children into a world like this, perhaps to starve'."

Mrs. Bird, a handsome, articulate, vivacious woman, who works for a public relations firm and manages a New York apartment and upstate home for a writer husband, is also the mother of a daughter born in 1935 and a son born in 1961. She says:

"The baby boom of the '40s was an attempt to make up for lost babies during the Depression. It set up a succession of waves of high and low births which are troublesome to marketers and school boards. In a way, my 4-year-old son, born when I was 46 is a 'made up' baby from the Depression trough. Young women can't understand why I'm so pleased to have a youngster at my (to them) advanced years."

Vivid View Of A Stormy Age

THE TIME BETWEEN THE WARS. By Jonathan Daniels.

From the Armistice of 1918 to Pearl Harbor, the United States was the scene of a tremendous rush of events, both great and small.

In politics it was the time of Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover and Roosevelt. The League of Nations went down, Lend-Lease to Britain came in. The feverish economic boom of the '20's ended with the stock market crash of '29 and was followed by the Great Depression and the New Deal.

It was the time of NRA, TVA and the alphabetical agencies, Scott Fitzgerald's Jazz Age, prohibition and gangsterism, flappers, isolationism, the Monkey Trial, the Algonquin Round Table and Will Rogers, trans-Atlantic flights and Sally Rand the fan dancer.

The story is all here, written by a man who was a close observer of many of its scenes, as a reporter and later as a member of Roosevelt's staff.

It is a sophisticated narrative that touches all the major themes a historian would write about, and gives them a feeling of presence and nearness. It finds the faults and foibles of its major characters as well as the virtues, and it depicts them with flavor and wit.

One of the author's effective techniques for illuminating events is to focus on the personalities of the people who took part in them. For example, he points up the fact that such contrasting figures as gang leader Al Capone and discredited utilities magnate Samuel Insull had strangely similar problems"; and that such different people as Wendell Willkie and Harry Hopkins served their country in similar ways.

There also is a brief reference to Roosevelt's long affection for Lucy Mercer, who once served as his wife's social secretary—an aspect of his life not generally known.

Daniels has created a vivid panorama of a turbulent age.

Simmer . . . Don't Boil

When you read in a recipe that a certain cut of meat is to be covered, it means just that! Simmering, if your're using a thermometer in the water, means keeping the temperature of liquid at 185 degrees F. (if at sea level) while boiling is 212 degrees F.

Are there bubbles in the liquid in simmering? Yes, they form slowly and break below the surface. It's different from the constant bubbling and furious activity that one encounters with boiling temperature.

Why is simmering recommended rather than boiling? It's a more moderate temperautre in keeping with lower temperatures advised for cooking meat cuts. Cooking meat at low temperature gives a more attractive, more tender and more juicy product. It also reduces shrinkage.

Tap water in most United States cities is not as chemically pure as that of one of the Amazon's major tributaries, the Rio Negro.

Fresh Grape Tarts

¼ cup cornstarch
½ cup sugar
1-16 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon mace
1¾ cups milk, scalded
4 egg yolks, slightly beaten with ¼ cup cold milk
1½ teaspoons vanilla
Tart Shells
Seedless grapes

In a medium - size saucepan thoroughly stir together the cornstarch, sugar, salt and mace. Gradually stir in scalded milk, keeping smooth. Cook and stir constantly over medium heat until clear and very thick (like mayonnaise) —about 5 minutes; keeping over low heat, gradually stir in the egg-yolk mixture and cook and stir constantly for several minutes to thicken again. Off heat, stir in vanilla; cool completely. Spoon into Tart Shells; chill for several hours. Just before serving, cover tops of tarts with grapes. Makes 8 servings.

TART SHELLS: Sift together 1½ cups sifted regular flour, 1-3 cup sifted confectioners sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt; butter until fine. Lightly mix in 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind and 2 tablespoons milk to form a dough. Divide into 8 equal parts. Roll each very thin (1-16 inch) into a round. Fit into 8 tart pans (3½ inches across top and 2 inches across bottom;) prick pastry well. Bake in a 350 -degree oven 15 to 20 minutes; cool completely before filling.

Use Round Steak To Wrap Carrots For Braised Dish

It takes the average factory worker 24½ minutes to earn enough to buy a pound of round steak. In 1958, it took him 30 minutes; in 1951, 41 minutes.

This is one of the reasons beef round steak is popular: it won't wreck the budget. When cut into pieces, pounded to increase tenderness, explains Reba Staggs, meat authority, it can be wrapped around carrots for cooking, browned in a small amount of lard or drippings, covered and cooked slowly with moisture. That's called braising.

Skillet Steak Dinner

1 beef round steak, cut ½-inch thick
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 small carrots, cut lengthwise into fourths
¼ cup lard or drippings
4 potatoes, peeled
4 small onions
2-3 cup water
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed mushroom soup

Cut steak into pieces about 3 x 5 inches. Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat with seasoned flour. Place 3 or 4 carrot sticks on each piece of steak. Wrap steak around carrots and fasten with a wooden pick. Brown rolls slowly in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add potatoes and onions to steak. Mix water with mushroom soup and pour over all. Cover tightly and cook slowly in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) or on top of range 1½ to 2 hours or until meat is tender and vegetables are done. 4 servings.

EMBARRASSING QUESTION?

Okinawans Seek Return Of Homeland To Japan

By EUGENE LEVIN

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Okinawans demand that the United States return their homeland to Japan. In the same breath they admit that this is hardly practical now.

It's more a dream for Okinawans than an expectation. It's easy to talk about "reversion" without having to worry about the economic and political problems it might bring.

It's not difficult for Americans to promise, as long as they don't have to set a date.

The United States is building up its bases on Okinawa, largely making it a supply and maintenance base for the Viet Nam war.

Last November the major U.S. headquarters installation on the island was formally named Ft. Buckner. In U.S. military language an installation called a "fort," rather than a "camp," is viewed as a fairly permanent one.

Okinawa's politicians all demand reversion. The ruling Democratic party, which works closely with the U.S. high commissioner, is no exception. But no Okinawan sets a deadline.

Tsumichiyo Asato, chairman of the Okinawa Social Masses party, the island's biggest opposition party, says it will become harder and harder to achieve as time passes. He insists his party wants friendship with the United States and feels reversion is in the interest of Americans. "We don't want Okinawa to be a problem between the United States and Japan," he says. "Keeping the status quo here would give fuel to Communist propaganda and give the United States a black eye."

The Viet Nam war has increased the importance of the U.S. bases and simultaneously emphasized the reversion question. Many Okinawans oppose U.S. policy in Viet Nam or fear Communist retaliation.

Some Okinawans say violence is just below the surface and could explode at any time.

Lt. Gen. Albert Watson II, the U.S. Army artillery officer who is high commissioner of the Ryukyu Islands, says he does not feel he is sitting on a powder keg. But he admits that Viet Nam has had a major impact on Okinawa.

Some leftists complain because the U.S. dollar, ar not the Japanese yen, is the currency. Another irritation is the invisible barrier between the 80,000 American servicemen and their dependents living on these islands and the 940,000 Ryukyuans. The Americans live apart in residential compounds.

Meanwhile, Okinawa is getting economic aid from both the United States and Japan. The American bases on the island provide a built-in income, and special Japanese customs regulations give an indirect subsidy to this island's main export, sugar.

U.S. military spending — estimated at more than $200 million in fiscal 1966 — is enabling Okinawa to keep its payments balance in the black.

The United States has given the island $220 million in direct economic aid since World War II ended. Japanese aid is running about $16 million annually, and the United States is planning to boost its yearly aid figure from $12 million to $17 million.

Junior Editors Quiz on WOODPECKERS

QUESTION: Why do woodpeckers peck wood?

• • •

ANSWER: When you hear a rapid "tap tap tap" coming high from the trees outside, you can be reasonably sure you are hearing a woodpecker at work. These are unusual and interesting birds. Most of them have a special arrangement of the toes, two in front of the foot and two behind. These enable them to cling tightly to the bark of a tree trunk. There are stiff feathers at the end of the tail which give support to the bird in the upright position he assumes. A woodpecker's bill is sharp and chisel-like. He uses this to drill holes, searching for insects and grubs which hide under the bark. His tongue is barbed and has a sticky end, which helps him to pull the insects out. In the picture, Bill and his sister are looking at a downy woodpecker. This small attractive bird is the woodpecker most commonly seen. He has a larger cousin, the hairy woodpecker, who resembles him closely. In the upper left, we show a large, handsome woodpecker of the Pacific Northwest with its conspicuous scarlet crest.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Put a bit of suet with some wire mesh over it on a tree trunk. Woodpeckers will love it, especially when winter comes. 9-5

Texas Payroll For Industry Ranks High

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Labor Department says Texas ranks sixth in the nation in the number of non-agricultural employes and first in the South.

Non-agricultural employment in Texas increased 18.1 per cent to 3,037,400, compared to the national increase of 11.5 per cent, between 1965 and 1966, the Southern regional office of the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics announced.

The survey included 12 Southern states—Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

Earnings of Texas factory production workers have increased from a weekly average of $53.34 in 1949 to $103.91 in 1965, the second highest among the Southern states.

The Beaumont - Port Arthur area, with a high concentration of petroleum and petrochemical industries, had the highest aveage weekly earnings, $135.05, of any major area in the South.

Texas cities checked, with the number of manufacturing employes and average weekly earnings were:

Austin 6,300, $73.42.

Beaumont-Port Arthur 33,900; $135.05.

Corpus Christi 10,200, $120.96.

Dallas 120,000, $95.26.

El Paso 16,600, $76.24.

Fort Worth 61,000, $109.36.

Houston 116,000, $122.69.

San Antonio 26,300, $78.09.

Employment in all Texas' major nonfarm industries advanced during the 1939-1965 period. A breakdown showed the increases by industries with the 1939 employment figures given first and the 1965 figures second:

Mining 68,100; 109,900.

Contract Construction 69,500; 188,300

Manufacturing 183,000; 571,500.

Transportation and Public Utilities 137,300; 225,300.

Wholesale and Retail Trade 280,900; 720,800.

Finance, Insurance, and Real Estate 44,500; 153,400.

Service and Miscellaneous 139,100; 423,500.

Government 153,300; 520,200.

Mexico To Update Narrow-Guage Line

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government - owned National Railways of Mexico announced Sunday plans to modernize its narrow-gauge line linking Mexico City and Puebla via Cuautla.

Officials say the line, the remaining narrow-gauge operated by the company, will be brought up to date to aid in the economic develpment of the regions through which its passes.

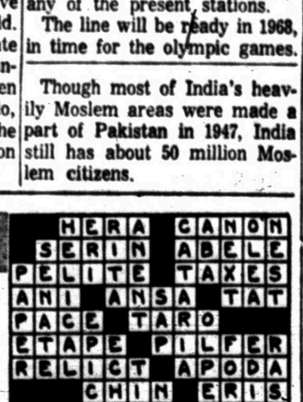

The modernization program will consist mainly in eliminating the many winding sections of the line as it goes through the mountains. The line will be more direct, the technicians said, although it will not bypass any of the present stations.

The line will be ready in 1968, in time for the olympic games.

The American bison or buffalo" is the only representative of wild cattle in the New World. The bison came to the U.S. late during the Ice Age, perhaps only a little while before men came. It is not a true buffalo, but has a close relative in the nearly extinct European bison or wisent.

Though most of India's heavily Moslem areas were made a part of Pakistan in 1947, India still has about 50 million Moslem citizens.

Yankees May Be Ready To Go Down For Count

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Big Jim Kaat shook up the Yankees with a left hook and little Luis Aparicio punished them with five right-hand shots.

One more punch and New York will be down for the count.

Kaat, Minnesota's 225-pound southpaw pace, breezed to his 22nd victory of the season Sunday as the Twins pounded the Yankees 9-2. Aparicio, Baltimore's 155-pound shortstop, drilled five straight hits, leading the Orioles past the Chicago White Sox 8-5.

The winning Twins-Orioles combination dropped the Yankees 24½ games off the pace in the American League — and left them one short step from mathematical elimination.

Should the first-place Orioles beat them in either game of today's holiday doubleheader at Baltimore, the Yankees will complete their earliest fade-out since 1925.

The Yankees, who finished seventh in an eight-team league that year, are in danger of hitting bottom in this season's 10-team race. Sunday's loss tumbled them into eighth place, only 1½ games out of the cellar spot shared by Boston and Kansas City.

The A's and Red Sox divided a doubleheader Sunday, Kansas City taking the nightcap 7-2 with the help of a triple play after losing the opener 3-0.

Washington climbed past the Yankees into seventh place by downing California 5-3 and second-place Detroit remained 9½ games off the pace by edging Cleveland 4-3 in 12 innings.

In the National League, Pittsburgh outscored Chicago 8-5, San Francisco walloped St. Louis 9-2, Los Angeles trimmed Cincinnati 8-6, Atlanta blanked Houston 2-0 and Philadelphia shut out New York 5-0.

Kaat, now 22-9, scattered six hits — including homers by Lou Clinton and Horace Clarke — to for the most victories in the majors. The Twins' ace struck out 10 on the way to his seventh straight triumph.

Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva, with three hits apiece, led the Minnesota attack against Pedro Ramos and two successors. Ramos was making his first start for the Yankees after 128 relief appearances over the past 2½ years.

Aparicio stroked four singles and a double in five trips to the plate, increasing his hit total to 161, the top figure in the Orioles' line-up. He capped Baltimore's decisive three-run rally in the eighth with his fourth single after pinch hitter Charlie Lau's triple broke a 4-4 deadlock.

The Athletics gained a split with Boston as left-hander Gil Blanco, helped out of a first-inning jam by the triple play, yielded only two hits over the first seven innings. Relievers Wes Stock and Jack Aker completed the three-hitter.

The A's turned Tony Conigliaro's bases-loaded bouncer into their first triple killing at Kansas City. Shortstop Bert Campaneris flipped to Dick Green for the force at second, Green doubled Conigliaro at first and catcher Phil Roof completed the play, taking Tim Talton's throw and tagging out Rico Petrocelli, who had overslid the plate.

Rookie Darrell Brandon blanked the A's on three hits in the opener and Joe Foy keyed Boston's two-run burst in the first inning with an RBI double.

Washington's Ken McMullen blasted a three-run homer in the fifth inning, then drove in the deciding run with an infield single in the ninth. Jim Fregosi homered for the Angels, who scored two runs in the seventh, tying it 3-3.

Willie Horton opened the 12th inning with a homer off Sam McDowell, lifting the Tigers past Cleveland for their fifth straight victory. McDowell had forced across the tying run in the fifth with a bases-loaded walk to Orlando McFarlane.

Quarterback Club To Fete Gridders

Football players in Snyder Junior and Senior High Schools and their fathers will be special guests of the Snyder Quarterback Club at its regular meeting tomorrow night in the high school cafeteria.

The local organization which boosts Snyder School athletics will host an ice cream supper for the youngsters and their fathers. The ice cream supper actually takes the place of two pre-season events usually sponsored by the Quarterback Club.

At the organizational meeting last Tuesday night the Quarterbackers voted to forego the Pigskin Prevue this year and to have the ice cream supper instead of the watermelon feed which had been held annually for several years. Since the Tigers open the season at home and some of the junior high teams will not actually begin formal practice sessions until this week, it was felt that the Pigskin Prevue would be too much of a chore for coaches and players.

Quarterback Club members and junior high gridders have been asked to come to the high school cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday for a showing of the Humble Oil Co. film, "Southwest Conference Highlights of 1965." High school gridders will come to the cafeteria after their workout session and the ice cream will be served following the showing of the film.

The Quarterback Club has its annual membership drive underway at present. A membership card costs $5 and all of the organization's funds are used to help boost the athletic program in local schools. The club meets every Tuesday night during the football season, with the weekly programs featuring reports on games of the previous week, including a film of the varsity game, plus scouting reports on future foes of the Tigers and general reports from local coaches.

Native Wins Italian Grand Prix

MONZA, Italy (AP) — Lodovice Scarfiotti became the first Italian to win the Grand Prix of Italy auto race in 15 years Sunday, but Jack Brabham already had his third world championship tucked away.

Brabham, of Australia, one of the pre-race favorites, was not even around at the finish. In fact, he left after only seven laps of the 244-mile race. But with only two events — the U.S. Grand Prix and the Mexican — remaining, his total 39 points is untouchable.

Jochem Rindt of Austria was second with 18.

Only Juan Fangio of Argentina with five has won the world title more times than Brabham.

Scarfiotti drove a Ferrari to a record time of one hour, 47 minutes, 14 seconds for an average speed of 136.7 miles per hour over the 68-lap, five-band Monza track.

Mike Parkes of Britain, also in a Ferrari, finished second in 1:47.20.7. Denis Hulme of New Zealand, driving a Repco-Brabham, was third in 1:47.20.9 and Rindt fourth in 1:47.46.3 in his Cooper-Maserati.

Women's Tennis Meet Underway

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Maria Bueno of Brazil, three-time winner, makes her debut in the 85th U.S. Tennis Championships today and faces Kathy Blake, a young Rollins College student from Arlington, Va.

Miss Bueno is the only past winner in the women's event.

She won for the first time in 1959 and captured the championship again in 1963 and 1964. Last year she was eliminated by Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., in the semifinals. Mrs. King lost to Australia's Margaret Smith in the final.

Chargers Get Off To Winning Start

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The San Diego Chargers opened their season with lots of wallop Sunday by downing the defending American Football League champion Buffalo Bills 27-7.

It was a revenge victory for the Chargers, who were trounced 23-0 by Buffalo in the final AFL game last Dec. 26.

Buffalo's starting passer, Jack Kemp, blamed himself and the Chargers for his team's loss. "I completed only four passes in 20 throws and lost three on interceptions.

"I stunk," he said dejectedly. "The Chargers were ready for us. They played a strong game. But, it's a long season. We'll be back," said Kemp, a former Charger who went to Buffalo four years ago for the waiver price.

Kemp has recently been nursing a sore elbow, but did not blame the injury for his ineffective passing.

The former Charger has twice led the Bills to two AFL title wins over San Diego.

Sparking the Chargers was the passing of quarterback John Hadl, last year's league-leading passer, who connected on 14 of 18 throws for 157 yards and two touchdowns.

Flanker Lance Alworth was the leading receiver, snagging five for a total of 46 yards. Charger Leslie Duncan made a spectacular punt return, zigzagging 81 yards across the field. Hadl and Alworth credited Coach Sid Gillman's planning for the win.

"Sid gave us a great game plan and we stuck with it," Hadl said.

In a Saturday AFL opener, the Houston Oilers overwhelmed Denver 45-7, so completely dominating the game that the Broncos did not make one first down, gained only 32 yards and never got beyond their own 40.

The National League, meanwhile, wound up its exhibition program with a four-game schedule that saw Cleveland edge Pittsburgh 13-10 behind Leroy Kelly's rushing and receiving, Green Bay wallop New York 37-10, Washington whip Philadelphia 35-20 and Los Angeles crush San Francisco 29-9.

Astros Chalk Up 8 Losses In A Row

ATLANTA (AP)—It was the eighth straight loss for Houston's hapless Astros Sunday when the Atlanta Baves whipped them 2-0.

Eddie Mathews was their nemesis this time. Mathews slugged his 14th homer for a 1-0 lead in the first inning, enough to win it.

But Jay Ritchie, the Atlanta relief pitcher, singled in an insurance run that wasn't needed, in the seventh. Woody Woodward had tripled ahead of him.

Don Schwall pitched five innings before tiring and earned his second victory since coming here from Pittsburgh in June.

Takes 6-Stroke Lead

Copeland Leads In City Golf Tourney

It looks like a clean sweep for young golfers in the annual City of Snyder golf tournament being held at the County Club.

Don Copeland fired a 74 Saturday and came back with a 70 Sunday to take a 6-stroke lead into the final 18 holes.

Most of the scores were sky high as high winds hampered the golfers Saturday. The weather improved Sunday, but most of the cards turned in didn't reflect a corresponding improvement in scores.

R. J. Kidd, runnerup last year, shot an opening round 74, then blew to an 81 Sunday.

Jimmy Featherston, another young golfer, put together two 75's, while Lonnie Crosby carded a 77 and 74 for the two rounds. Darrell Haney posted an 80 and a 75, and Larry Anderson shot an 82 Sunday after taking a 75 Saturday.

First flight leader is Ken Cole with two 78's. Dutch Stehley and Chester Simons are still in contention with 157 totals for the two days. Don Holder also is grouped with the pace setters. He shot an 80-77 for 157.

Jim Durbin leads the second flight with two 81's, and R. D. Faver set the pace in the third flight with an 87-93. Jim Cloud is slightly behind with an 81-85.

The final round in the 54-hole match play tourney was set for today with a barbecue on the agenda tonight.

For the most part, young golfers who were on the high school team of a couple of years ago, were posting the best scores.

TOP MONEY — Blonde Mickey Wright smiles as she holds up a copy of a check for $10,000 which she earned for winning the first Ladies World Series of Golf at Springfield, Ohio. The pro from Dallas, Tex., shot a five-under-par 67 and had a 36-hole total of 136 enroute to her four-stroke triumph. (AP Wirephoto)

NL Race Is Topsy Turvy

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

No, Herman, Walter and Harry, Alfred Hitchcock did not make up the final month of the National League schedule. It just seems that way.

The way things are going to break for the top three contenders in the pennant race, their managers may have to keep a careful watch on their sanity. It's going to seem as if there's nobody else in the league.

And, in fact, that's almost the case. Herman Franks' San Francisco Giants, for instance, have 25 games left. Starting today, they play their last three with the Los Angeles Dodgers and then have no less than seven left with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Harry Walker's Pirates, in first place by two games now, face the same situation. Of their last 25 games, three are with the Dodgers and then those seven with the Giants.

Walter Alston's Dodgers have it a little better. Or do they? Of 27 contests remaining, three each are with the Giants and Pirates. But Los Angeles also has six games left with Philadelphia, which is in fourth place, and is as hot a club as there is in the league at the moment. The Phillies presently have won five in a row.

In Sunday's action, the Pirates retained their grip on first with an 8-5 victory over Chicago, San Francisco kept pace with a 9-2 pounding of St. Louis and the Dodgers did the same, beating Cincinnati 8-6. The Phillies beat New York 5-0 and Atlanta blanked Houston 2-0.

In the American League, Baltimore took Chicago 8-5, Detroit edged Cleveland 4-3 in 12 innings, Minneapolis bounced New York 9-2, Washington beat California 5-3 and Kansas City trimmed Boston 7-2 after losing 3-0 in the opener of their doubleheader.

The Pirates spotted the Cubs a four-run lead but came back with four in the third and three in the fourth, two on Manny Mota's pinch-hit single.

Juan Marichal won his 21st game and Willie McCovey provided the punch, a homer and two-run single, in the Giant victory. Tito Fuentes also homered for San Francisco.

Jim Lefebvre hit a two-run homer and Tommy Davis chipped in a two-run double, carrying the Dodgers past the Reds. Cincinnati came back with a rally of sorts in the late innings on a three-run homer by Art Shamsky, but it fell short. Deron Johnson also homered for the Reds.

Chris Short struggled to a 10-hit shutout over the Mets, who threatened often but couldn't score. It was Short's 17th victory.

Atlanta won its fifth in a row on a combination six-hitter by Don Schwall and Jay Ritchie. Eddie Mathews hit his 14th homer, his fourth of the five-game series, and Woody Woodward tripled in two runs.

Top US Golf Prize Goes To Canada

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

ARDMORE, Pa. (AP) — Gary Cowan took America's top amateur golf prize home to Canada today with the expressed hope it would be a symbol of victory in future international competition for his countrymen.

The 27-year-old Cowan defeated Deane Beaman of Bethesda, Md., for the U.S. National Amateur title Sunday by a stroke in a playoff at the Merion Golf Club. He shot a five-over-par 75 to 76 for Beman.

It was a close, bitter struggle between the two insurance men and wasn't decided until the blond, handsome Cowan closed it out with a six foot putt on the 18th.

Beman, who threw away a three-stroke lead Saturday on the final two holes of the regulation 72-hole tournament, was more disgusted than disappointed.

"I didn't make a single mistake," said the 28-year-old two-time champion. "I'm amazed I could post a 76 with that few bad shots. I'll be thinking about that for a long time."

"It doesn't matter how many good shots, or bad shots you make as long as you win," Cowan said.

Asked how it felt to be the first foreigner to win the American amateur title in 34-years, Cowan said:

"I hope it convinces Canadian golfers the Americans can be beaten.

"Our golfers read so many press clippings about how good the Americans are that they feel we can't beat them. I've proved it to myself and played with them long enough to know this isn't true."

Grid Tickets For Tiger Games Ready

Local football fans who have purchased season tickets to the Snyder Tigers' home games this season should pick up their tickets as soon as possible, the school business office has reminded.

Some of the purchasers of season tickets already have picked them up, but many who have paid for their tickets have not, said E. D. Flynn, school business manager.

Sale of season tickets will continue this week for those who have neglected to buy them earlier. Of course many of the choice seats in the stadium have already been claimed, but plenty of good locations remain for all five home games.

Single game tickets for the season opener with the Andrews Mustangs will go on sale at the school administration building tomorrow. The Tigers and the Mustangs will open the 1966 season at 8 p.m. Friday in Tiger Stadium.

Richest Horse Race Set At Ruidoso

RUIDOSO, N.M. (AP) — Owners, trainers and jockeys looked for the sun in hopes of a dry track today for the $430,600 All American Quarter Horse Futurity, billed as the richest horse race in the world.

Racing enthusiasts continued to arrive for the Labor Day program at Ruidoso Downs Racing Track, nestled in the pine-studded mountains of southern New Mexico.

More than 10,000 persons were expected for the eighth annual 400-yard race for 12 swift 2-year-olds.

The winning owner will receive $198,300, highest in the race's history.

The track was solid beneath a thin layer of mud after afternoon rains Sunday.

Championship Finals At Lake Texoma

DENISON, Tex. (AP)—With an anticipated 25,000 fans lining the one-mile oval course, 144 boats will be reeling off 12 races in the Pleasure Boat World Championship finals today at Lake Texoma.

A maximum of 12 boats is allowed in each of 12 classifications, based on size, and it will be the largest championship ever held. There were 11 classifications until this year when the 90-100 cubic inch class was added.

Thirty-six drivers qualified Sunday, joining 108 others who did not have to run elimination heats. A crowd of 18,683 turned out.

The races are sanctioned by the National Outboard Association.

More than 50 assaults were made Sunday on world straightaway records but none was broken. Kenny Kitson of Bridgeton, Mo., did 76.27 miles per hour in the unlimited II Class in posting the fastest time for the mile.

Ronald A. Netter of Scarsdale, N.Y., captained Yale's freshman tennis team this spring.

Mexico Petroleum Congress To Study Scientific Data

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A program placing stronger emphasis on an exchange of scientific information is being developed for the 7th World World Petroleum Congress due to convene next April in Mexico City.

A preliminary program for the international forum that meets every four years indicates several major changes since the last sessions at Frankfurt, Germany, in 1963 and New York City in 1959.

There will be no production and refining equipment on exhibit. Organizing committees decided the commercial aspects of such multi-million-dollar expositions conflict with the scientific objectives of the congress.

The technical sessions are expected to attract to Mexico City about 5,000 persons from more than 65 countries. They are being streamlined with an objective of presenting the most up to date scientific information possible.

The April 2-8 forum will be built around 15 review papers, 42 panel discussions and 60 individual papers that will call for the very latest deadlines possible.

Sessions in Frankfurt centered on three general lectures, four review papers and 256 technical papers. New York City had four general lectures and 285 technical reports and, like Frankfurt, copies of most were available at least in abstract form weeks beforehand.

Individual papers to be presented in Mexico have not been selected yet. Current plans for seeking the latest possible developments call for deadlines so late copies may not be available until the day they are read.

The 15 review papers have been assigned to petroleum scientists in nine countries, including five presentations by the United States, three by Russia and two from France.

Russia's review assignments include progress in drilling and progress in production, two areas in which Soviet technical presentations at Frankfurt and New York City drew criticism.

Russia boycotted the New York City gathering after complaining discriminatory travel conditions had been imposed on the Soviet delegates. The 21 papers submitted to the congress by Russian scientists nevertheless were read as scheduled.

One of the Russian papers reported the development of new electrodrill equipment but a Texan at the session immediately termed the devices "only interesting adaptions of various methods tried and discarded in the United States."

Frankfurt presentations by the Soviets said Russia "is bound to become the most powerful oil production nation in the world" within two decades. The Soviets reported discovery of 1,300 oil and gas fields between 1946 and 1960 but gave no figures on how many wells had been drilled nor the number of dry holes.

The Russian claims prompted this remark by Dr. H. D. Hedberg of Princton University:

"It seems the authors of the Russian papers did not come to Frankfurt and the delegates who presented the papers could not answer questions raised during the discussions."

Hedberg was chairman of the new producing regions section of the eight-day Frankfurt forum.

Go Now—Pay Later Plan Begins At Texas Colleges

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Texas college students have access this year to two revolutionary "go now, pay later" programs that may bring higher education within the grasp of every qualified youngster, regardless of his financial status. One educator says the programs are more significant than the GI Bill. Here is a report.)

By TOM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

Two revolutionary loan programs are expected to put some $15 million in the hands of Texas college students this year as a new era of "go now, pay later" educational financing begins.

"If it works out like it should, it will far exceed the GI Bill in significance," said Dr. Carroll V. Galbreath, officer in charge of the Dallas regional office, federal bureau of higher education.

He was speaking of the Guaranteed Loan Program, a federal plan whereby students can secure long-term loans from banks and other lending institutions.

Also in effect for the first time this fall is the Texas Opportunity Plan, a state-operated loan program that makes state money available for needy students.

Both plans allow undergraduates to borrow up to $1,000 a year, not to exceed $5,000. For graduate students, the figures are $1,500 a year, with a $7,500 ceiling. Interest is 6 per cent in both cases.

Perhaps the main difference, aside from the origin of the money, is that the federal plan is not based on "need" criteria. It has therefore been a bit more popular with students who have so far made application, education officials said.

But there is a rub: some banks around the state have been reluctant to make such 6 per cent loans because of the tight money market generally. Most banks have raised their so-called "prime rate" to 6 per cent, which means that most loans would be at an interest rate of more than 6 per cent.

"Before the increase, bankers were in a position to just about break even on these (student) loans," said Ray Fowler, assistant commissioner for the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

"Raising the interest rate has probably erased any profit they might have made," he said.

However, a spokesman for the Texas Bankers Association said the group was "committed to cooperate fully with the program." He explained that banks stand to gain long-range customers and to provide a needed public service, even if they won't make any profits.

Another bottleneck experienced with the federal program at some colleges has been a shortage of forms, which are essential to putting in motion the paperwork associated with governmental projects.

Both state and federal forms arrived late at the University of Houston.

"That is our whole trouble—late arrival," said Mrs. Georgia Robinson, director of student loans at Houston.

She added that bank cooperation with a federal plan is becoming "more and more difficult" except when handled through hometown banks.

Regardless of initial problems, though, federal and state education officials express optimism over the new programs.

"We feel confident that most Texas banks will make the loans, once they fully understand the program," said Mack C. Adams, financial aid officer at Southern Methodist University.

Until 1900, tropical America produced more than 80 percent of the world's cacao. But in 25 years, the center of production had shifted to West Africa.

SNYDER AREA OIL

A. V. Jones & Sons of Albany No. 1 Valgene P. Olson Estate has been potentialed as a Swastika discovery, two miles northwest of Hamlin in Fisher County.

It flowed at the daily rate of [illegible] 40-gravity oil with gas-oil ratio of 500-1. Production was through a 14/64-inch choke and from perforations at 3,682-88 feet, which had been fractured with 5,000 gallons. Surface pressure gauged 250 pounds.

The project drilled to 3,730 feet and 4½-inch pipe is set at 3,728 feet.

Site is 330 feet from north and 1,320 feet from west lines of section 186, BBB&C survey, ¾ mile north of the Wimberly-Keeler pool, 1¼ mile southeast of the multipay Judy Gail area.

LeClair Operating Co. of Abilene has completed No. 1-20 Rotan Townsite Unit as a ¼-mile west stepout to the Rotan (4,100-foot Hope lime) pool of Fisher.

On the daily potential, it yielded 275 barrels of 41-gravity crude flowing through a 20/64-inch choke from perforations at 3,883-88 feet, which had been treated with 500 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 135-1.

Location is 900 feet from north and 2,089 feet from west lines of section 112, block 2, H&TC survey, inside the south city limits of Rotan.

• • •

Midland Operating Co. of Midland has reopened production in the Westbrook, Northwest (upper Clear Fork) pool of Mitchell County with completion of No. 1 J. C. Womack, seven miles northwest of Westbrook.

The ¾-mile northwest stepout to the depleted opener of the area was potentialed to pump 44 barrels of 22-gravity crude daily through perforations between 2,633 and 2,739 feet. The productive horizon was fractured with 40,000 gallons and gas-oil ratio registered 200-1.

No. 1 Womack is a workover project of a former dry hole originally drilled to 3,302 feet by R. M. Vandergriff of Oklahoma City. Operator cleaned out to 2,908 feet and set 4½-inch casing at that point for the completion.

Location is 330 feet from south and 930 feet from east lines of section 21, block 26, H&TC survey.

• • •

A Tannehill sand discovery has been assured in southeast Stonewall County at Virginia Gas & Oil Ltd. of Albany No. 1 Fritz Segerstrom, 16 miles southeast of Aspermont.

The project swabbed 13 barrels of oil per hour naturally, from perforations at 2,472-84 feet. It now is shut in to await potential. Drilled to 2,545 feet, 4½-inch casing is set at that depth.

Earlier on a one-hour drillstem test at 2,470-84 feet, gas surfaced in 13 minutes with no gauges on the amount. Recovery was 780 feet of oil and 120 feet of oil, mud and water. Flowing pressure was 260 pounds, 30-minute initial and final shut-in pressures were 710 and 690 pounds respectively.

Location is 660 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 133, BBB&C survey, ¾ mile north of the SLC (Tannehill) area but separated from it by failures.

The Old Glory, Northwest (Tannehill) field, of Stonewall gained its eighth producer and a location east extension with completion of Homa Oil & Gas Co. No. 1-B Juanita Windsor, 12 miles northeast of Aspermont.

Daily flowing potential was 116 barrels of 38-gravity crude with gas-oil ratio of 200-1. Production was through a ¼-inch choke and perforations at 2,777-87 feet in 4½ inch casing set at 2,899 feet. Total depth is 2,920 feet.

Site is 1,900 feet from south and 2,173 feet from east lines of section 6, block D, H&TC survey.

Monsanto Co. of Midland will drill No. 1 Brooks as a 1,650-foot southeast stepout to the two-well Boyd, Southeast (conglomerate) area of Stonewall, four miles northwest of Old Glory.

It spots 770 feet from south and 990 feet from west lines of E. T. McCanlies survey 2, abstract 1445 (shown on some maps as section 2, block 10, Columbus Tap survey.) Proposed goal is 6,300 feet.

• • •

Bond Operating Co. has dually completed No. 1-A Merrell-Storie from the Glorieta Z-1 and Z-5 zones in the Garza, South (multipay San Andres and Glorieta) field of Garza County.

After being acidized with 2,000 gallons, Glorieta Z-1 perforations at 3,602-628 feet yielded 165 barrels of 37-gravity oil, flowing through a choke of unreported size, with gas-oil ratio of 464-1. Surface pressure was 165 pounds.

The Glorieta Z-5 zone at 3,728-742 feet pumped 150 barrels of 37.2-gravity crude daily, after being treated with 1,500 gallons of acid.

Location is 1,277 feet from north and 2,000 feet from east lines of section 1231, J. V. Massey survey, 1½ mile west of Post.

• • •

BTA Oil Producers of Midland No. 1-722 Ltd. Wallace has been potentialed in the Claremont, East (Strawn) area of Kent County.

It pumped 127.6 barrels of 38.1-gravity crude, plus 37 per cent water daily, with gas-oil ratio gauged at 920-1. Yield was from perforations at 6,510-538 feet which were treated with 11,000 gallons of acid and 6,000 gallons of fracture fluid.

Location is 550 feet from north and 467 feet from west lines of section 58, block 98, H&TC survey, seven miles northeast of Clairemont.

Four petroleum operations have been plugged after failure to show for commercial production. They are:

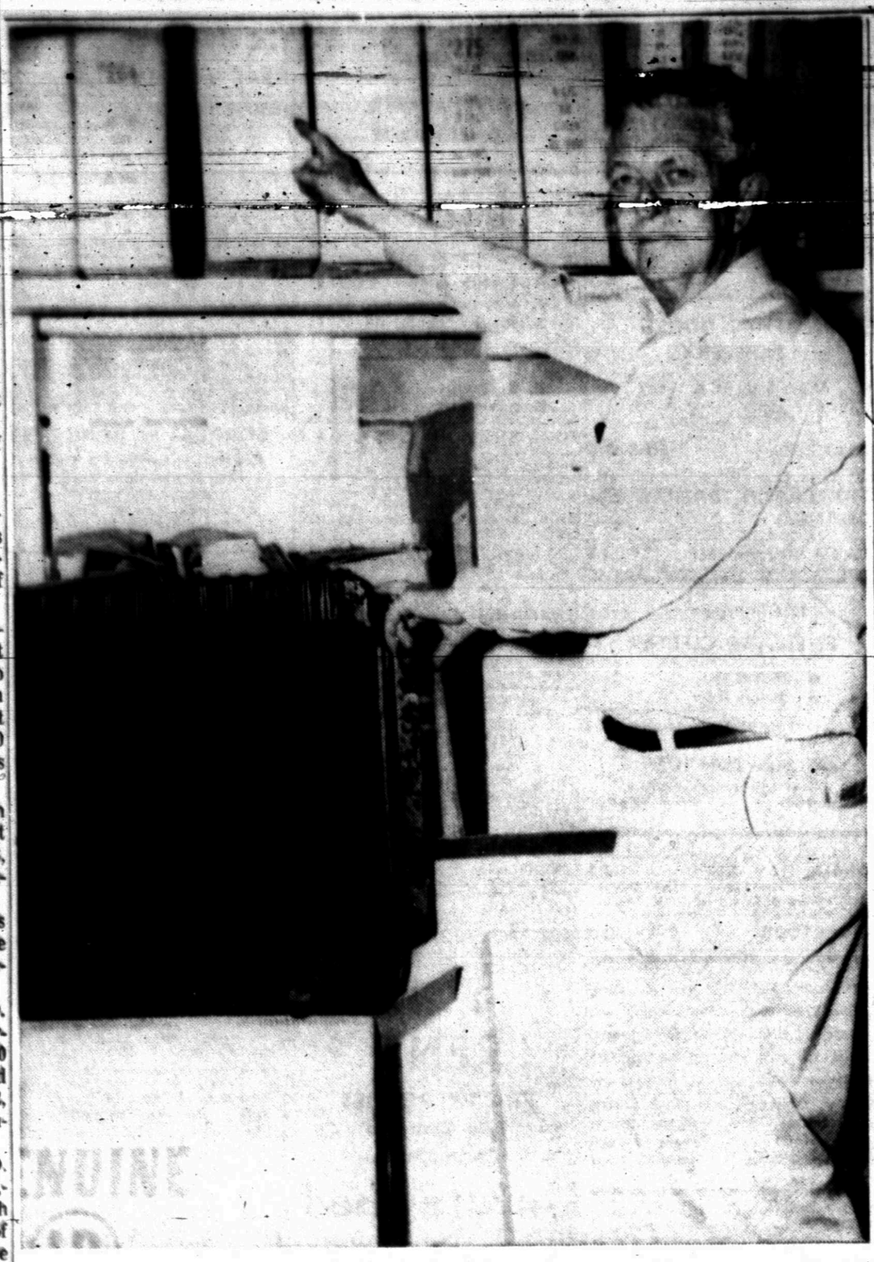

Delwood Oil Co. and J. D. Sandefer III No. 1 Carol Murphy, wildcat, total depth 5,300 feet, 467 feet from north and east lines of section 9, block 2, H&TC survey, two miles northwest of Royston, in Fisher.

Jake L. Hamon No. 1 D. D. Gruben, wildcat, total depth 5,-863 feet, 2,774 feet from north and 2,876 feet from east lines of N. W. Burdette survey 332, five miles northeast of Roby in Fisher.

Sniper's Victims Remember Blood And Bullets At Noon

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Atop the house stands Charles J. Whitman, firing shot after deadly shot at those below.

The house belongs to Alec Hernandez' grandfather. Alec, his mother and father huddle under the house, emerging just long enough to shoot back.

The police have quit firing.

A small boy of the roof with Whitman makes "a noise like a monster in a monster movie."

Then Alec awakens from the dream that has troubled his sleep since Whitman, the University of Texas sniper, shot him off a bicycle with a bullet in his hip Aug. 1.

Alec, 17, is not unusual among the surviving victims of Whitman's marksmanship from the observation area of the University tower.

Whitman is dead, shot down by policemen after he killed his wife and mother in their homes and then slew 14 strangers with rifle fire.

The days and nights of the 30 surviving wounded include dreams of the violence that invaded peaceful, academically sheltered lives, and stubborn memories of horror, blood and bullets at noon.

A few panic at the sound of an automobile backfire.

Some are in constant pain and face the haunting prospect of lifetime disability.

Alec still hobbles about on crutches. He does not plan to be in classes this fall, and doctors predict it will be at least December before he can return to Travis High School, where he is a senior.

He was delivering newspapers when Whitman hit him with one of the first shots fired into the bodies of total strangers.

Some of the victims view the shootings stoically, without outward emotion, but most bear mental and bodily scars.

"Even now, it is kind of slow getting to sleep at night—I keep thinking about it," said Mrs. Nancy Harvey, 21, a soft-spoken, slightly built education major. Her wounded leg "kind of bothers me when I'm up on it too long."

She is back at her part-time office job in the tower. Her husband is building a crib for the baby they expect in four months.

Mrs. Harvey comes from Lake Worth, Fla., Whitman's home town, but she was not acquainted with the sniper, a 25-year-old architectural engineering student.

Nightmares of violence torture Lana Phillips, a freckle-faced senior from Dallas, but she never dreams of the specific incident when one of Whitman's slugs deeply gashed her right shoulder.

"All the brutal things that are happening—Speck, Cross, this.." she explains, her voice trailing off until it is inaudible.

Miss Phillips referred to the mass murder of eight Chicago nurses, with which Richard Speck of Dallas is charged, and last summer's strangulation of two university coeds. James C. Cross Jr. of Fort Worth confessed to those slayings and is serving a life sentence.

The massacre "is still very prominent in my mind and my thoughts, and I guess it will be for a long time," she says. "When I am on or around the campus, it reminds me of it."

Another victim emotionally affected by the campus is Associated Press reporter Robert Heard, whose upper left arm was shattered by a bullet as he ran to be near two highway patrolmen about to open fire on Whitman.

"I still get shook when I see the tower," said Heard, a 36-year-old six-footer who was a Marine officer in the Korean War. "You feel sort of naked standing there."

Heard has been pecking out answers on a typewriter with his right hand to the three large envelopes of mail he has received since the shooting.

"I got a card from someone I never heard of, saying, 'Is that as fast as you can run?"

Heard said he faces a possible return to the hospital for bone grafts if his broken arm does not knit properly. The rod inserted to hold the bone fragments together probably will have to be removed next year, he said.

Like most of the victims, Heard received a short, hand written note from the Whitman family. Dated Aug. 10, the note said: "Dear Mr. Heard, may we express our most sincere regrets. C. A. Whitman Jr. and Family." C. A. Whitman is the sniper's father.

For two other victims, August was a month of happiness as well as suffering.

Janet Paulos, 20, of Garland, Tex., and Abdul Kashab, 26, of Baghdad, Iraq, were married Aug. 27 in Dallas' First Unitarian Church and flew to Mexico for their honeymoon. Their wedding was delayed only a week by the shooting.

Neither showed any signs of their wounds, but Kashab, shot in the right elbow, put the wedding ring on his bride's finger with his left hand. The elbow is expected to have no permanent damage. His bride had four ribs fractured by a bullet, but smiled radiantly for photographers.

Texan's Body Found On Lake Shore

NEW BUFFALO, Mich. (AP) —The body of Howard McInroe, one of three Texas men missing on a flight from Lubbock to Detroit, Mich., was found on the shore of Lake Michigan Sunday.

The body, washed ashore near Lakeside, was positively identified by the Central Air Rescue Command from papers found in the pockets.

Officials said the body was badly mutilated and appeared to have been in the water for some time.

No trace has been found of the other two occupants of a light plane that disappeared Aug. 24 after it left Springfield, Ill. for Detroit.

They were Jack Goodman, the pilot and president of the G&G Construction Co., and Cody Corbell. The three were enroute to Detroit to attend a church meeting.

Between 150 and 200 planes have been involved in the 10-day search that covered portions of five states, making it one of the most extensive air rescue searches ever held in the Midwest.

About 20 pilots from Texas, business associates and friends of the three men have taken part in the search.

Isaac Murphy in 1890-91 and Jimmy Winkfield in 1901-02 were the only jockeys to win the Kentucky Derby twice in succession.
