TEMPERATURE DROP IS FELT IN THIS CITY

Old man Winter was an unexpected visitor in Lubbock and the South Plains last night and today, as a cold driving norther left the section in the throes of a calm and cold spell which prevailed throughout the day.

The temperature reached the low mark of 26 at about 7 o'clock this morning, beginning a gradual rise that time. The mercury stood at 37 degrees at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The lowest temperature of the day was six degrees warmer than two previous ones of winter, on December 3 and 8 when the mercury descended to the low mark of 29 degrees.

MINIMUM OF 26 SEEN IN LUBBOCK; ROADS BAD ON NORTH PLAINS

The cold weather brought an end to the moisture that has hovered over the section for the past week. A small amount of sleet was seen in Lubbock last night with the arrival of the norther.

Other sections of the South Plains report cold weather. Advice from Crosbyton state that a norther there last night drove the mercury to 28 degrees for the coldest weather of the season. Shifting of the wind to the west failed to bring warmer weather, reports stated.

SOUTHWESTERN AREA VISITED BY SNOW

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 17 (AP).—Snow, following heavy Sunday rains, fell in the southwestern states today, extending deep into the Texas Panhandle. Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma likewise were affected.

HOTEL BLAZE CLAIMS FIVE

HAZARD, Ky., Dec. 17.—Search for five persons missing in the Combs Hotel fire of Saturday night from which five bodies have been recovered, was renewed today with a detachment of Kentucky National Guard on duty. Property loss was estimated at $260,000. It was feared several of those unaccounted for might be dead.

The known dead are J. Edward Firtle, 30; his wife, Mrs. Mayme Watson Firtle, 28; Miss Emily A. Sizemore, 18, chambermaid. The bodies badly burned were taken from the ruins and identified by keys and rings. Guests of hotel unaccounted for are: W. A. Wooders, 52, president of the Wooters-Finley Taylor, 54, a railroad yardmaster; H. F. Rainey of Lancaster, Scott Stone, Roy Baker, Miss A. D. Melvin and H. S. Walden.

While Mayor J. W. Craft said he knew of no foundation for reports that incendiarism was responsible for the fire, the authorities were understood to be considering ordering a grand jury investigation. Two bodies were taken from the ruins later today and identified as those of Taylor and Wooders. Firemen dug up a partly burned coat containing a hunting license issued to E. W. Phillips and efforts were made to establish whether he was missing.

EARLY FINISH FOR FEDERAL COURT IS SEEN

With the continued hearing this afternoon of the review in bankruptcy of the case of B. B. Bessent of this city, the last case on the docket, the business of the initial session of the Lubbock division of the Federal court for the Northern District of Texas was expected to be concluded sometime today.

No decision has been returned by Federal District Judge James C. Wilson in the bankruptcy case of the West Texas Utilities company against the city of Spur, which consumed four day and two night sessions of the court last week. It is probable that Judge Wilson will return a decision in this case at the conclusion of the hearing reviewed by him before adjourning the court for this term.

All of the court attaches, with the exception of Judge Wilson and Deputy Marshal Doug Campbell, have already returned to their homes. In the review of the bankruptcy case of Mr. Bessent, the hearing concerns whether or not the bankrupt will be allowed his homestead claim. According to W. D. Girard referee in bankruptcy, the bankrupt asks that two houses be exempt.

'The Public' Throws Postoffice in Muss

United States District Attorney Norman A. Dodge will recommend to the attorney general that Lubbock county not deed the federal building site here to the government, County Judge Charles Nordyke said this morning. Judge Nordyke said that in the opinion of Dodge it was impossible to convey the title from the "public" to the government and that he thought it useless to prepare a deed. Either the selection of another site or special legislation will be necessary, he said.

Oil Leases Bring Million To Snyder

SNYDER, Dec. 17.—According to the oil lease records in the Scurry County court, the Magnolia Oil company has paid out for mineral leases and royalties a total of $500,000 in the past six months in this county. While this company owns a larger lease acreage than any other there are about a dozen companies in the field leasing on every hand, that will bring the total of money paid out in Scurry county to a million dollars for the past six months.

Ired At Car, He Fills It With Holes

Because his car stalled and refused to run on a highway near Lubbock Saturday night, a Mexican took out his sixshooter and shot the car full of holes. Since his car was reeking suspiciously with the smell of liquor he was arrested shortly afterwards by county officers. The Mexican was still in jail today, but he at least had the satisfaction of doing what many people want to do, but don't.

ANTI-LIQUOR FUND DELETED IN COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—The first real prohibition argument of the session broke in the senate today over the action of conferees of the house and senate in striking from the treasury-postoffice appropriation bill an item of more than $270,000,000 for dry law enforcement.

The exchange began when Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia, opposed approval of the conference report which recommended restoration of $13,500,000 to enforce prohibition in place of the larger figure voted by the senate a few days ago.

Senators Bruce Caraway, of Arkansas, and McKellar of Tennessee, Democrats, argued for a large appropriation and charged the administration with having no wish to enforce the liquor laws. Senator Harris declared that too little money has been made available for enforcement. Senator Caraway asserted that sufficient funds should be appropriated so that "the administration will have no alibi," and Senator McKellar said he favored general appropriations so that "we can see whether this administration is joking."

"Isn't it true," McKellar said, directing his conversation to Caraway, "that many good people voted the Republican ticket last fall?" "No, no, no, not good people," Senator Caraway interjected. "Well, many excellent but misguided people," McKellar continued, "because they thought they were voting the country dry."

Senator Caraway replied in the affirmative.

Santa-Rancher Is Missing This Year

PRESCOTT, Ariz., Dec. 17 (AP).—The Santa Claus who annually visited Wagoner, an isolated range town thirty miles from here, will not bring gifts to the children this year. He was killed when his gift-laden automobile plunged into a ravine during a snowstorm yesterday.

The gift bearer died among his wrecked toys, but with his last breath he murmured to the rescue party: "Boys, for God's sake see that those kiddies are happy." Tom Goodwin, wealthy bachelor cattleman, loaded his automobile with Christmas toys and candy Saturday and with Miss Pearl Johnson, a Wagoner school teacher, and Reg Thomas a cowboy friend, who had aided in purchasing the Christmas gifts, started for Wagoner. Thomas and Miss Johnson were found, dazed and suffering from exposure, by a search party. In a ravine 100 feet below the road Goodwin lay dying.

PLANE TESTS TO OPEN YEAR

FLIGHT IS PLANNED FOR JANUARY FIRST; MAY HAVE FAR EFFECT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP).—With the dawn of 1929, an army plane called the "Question Mark" is due to take off at Los Angeles on an endurance test flight which may herald another era in the rapid development of aviation. Secretary Davis revealed today that the feasibility of refueling in the air will be tried on a big scale there shortly after daybreak on January 1, with Major Carl Spatz, Captain Ira Eaker, Lieut. Elwood R. Quesada and Lieut. H. A. Halverson, as pilots, and Sergeant Ray Hoop, as mechanic, aboard. The flight is intended both to put the modern airplane engine to the acid test of endurance and to determine the strain of protracted flight on the human system.

The "Question Mark," leaving Bolling Field here today in company with one of the refueling planes, will go to Rockwell Field, Los Angeles, by way of Middletown, Dayton, Scott Field, and Oklahoma City. Authorization for the test was granted following a successful series conducted over Bolling Field here yesterday by these two planes. A third plane will be arranged for at San Diego, Calif., making two refueling planes.

Mr. Mateer died Saturday and a letter found in the home made coffin detailed instructions regarding burial.

LOCAL MAN HELD ON BOOZE CHARGE

Kerr's bond was set at $1,000 in Justice of the Peace W. S. Clark's court, but it had not been made this morning. A complaint was filed and a search warrant procured previous to the arrest. Only a small amount of liquor was found, officers said.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP).—Notification that Paraguay had received the offer of the Pan-American conference to assist in mediating the dispute with Bolivia, and an indication that it would be accepted, was given the state department today by Dr. Juan V. Ramirez, Paraguayan charge d'affaires. Definite acceptance of the offer has not yet been communicated to the conference or the state department but spokesmen for the two countries have indicated that they were agreeable to the move, although Bolivia has been expected to

The ministry of war also announced in an official bulletin that a Bolivian airplane had dropped four bombs while flying over Bahia Negra, none of which exploded. Bahia Negra, which is also known as Puerto Pacheco, is in the disputed territory, about 350 miles north of Asuncion and the Paraguay river.

The commander of the Paraguayan forces in the Chaco, said that the Bolivians had attacked Forts Mariscal Lopez, Valdes, Rivarola, and General Genes. The Paraguayans had resisted for eight hours although the attacking forces stated to be superior in the point of numbers.

The commander added that the Bolivians were finally repulsed. Word of the attack on the forts started a tremendous demonstration of patriotism in the capital.

Eaton this morning stated that he stood pat on his prediction of between 35,000 and 40,000 bales as the cotton yield for the county this year. Mr. Eaton reports that cotton harvesting is progressing very slowly throughout the county, and that the total production is both lighter and later than last year.

Gin men of the county report generally a lighter yield than last year.

COUTURIERS MODELS ARE SIMILAR

Three printed frocks seen at the race track, though designed by three different Paris couturiers, have the same waistline, flustering skirt movement and similar tight, long sleeves.

By JEAN PATOU
For NEA Service

PARIS, Dec. 17.—Fashion can only be born in an atmosphere conducive to inspiration, execution and distribution.

Paris is ideally situated to fill all these requirements. That is why the success of everything pertaining to fashion is due, it is said, to the atmosphere of Paris. It is also an undisputed fact that this particular "ambiance" or atmosphere constitutes a very important element and exerts a great influence so far as the creations of couturiers are concerned. So strong is this atmosphere, influence, call it what you will, that it manifests itself throughout all the numerous collections, although they are shown almost simultaneously in Paris. Undoubtedly the most extraordinary feature of it is that although each collection is inspired by a different creator and executed by different "modellistes" unconsciously they manage to strike a note of harmony and concordance.

Rivals Show Similarity
How secretly these creations are executed everyone connected with the world of Parisian fashions knows. I am quite aware that men will make the obviously masculine remark that in a milieu so essentially feminine no secret can possibly be guarded. But however paradoxical this may seem, I affirm that every couturier worthy of the name works out his ideas without ever bothering about what his colleagues may be doing. This, of course, does not apply to second rate dress making houses nor to rank copyists who thrive on other people's ideas and inspirations.

There existed before the war in the world of fashion over here a certain unity of conception that has almost entirely disappeared today.

Paris influences alike
I find it infinitely more agreeable that each couturier should thus be able to assert his independence and work out his ideas when preparing a collection rather than have us all follow the same style like so many sheep.

What is certain is that there is an intangible quality in the atmosphere that sets couturiers working on the same idea, just as artists are influenced in the same direction of something in the air. A case in point was evident a few years back when everything pertaining to creative art was distinctly reminiscent of the Second Empire. The public at that time was obviously ready for the movement. After all that is part of his mission and will happen time and time again.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

IRREPRESSIBLE YOUTHS OFTEN MAKE STERNEST OF PARENTS

I wonder how many of my young girl friends will remember, 20 years hence, how they felt when they were as they are now—emotional, yearning for everything mother thinks they shouldn't have. Think the mother and father are cold and stern and that no one understands. Isn't it funny—although it's tragic, too—that men and women should forget their own youthful troubles and be unsympathetic to their children. And very often those who were the most irrepresible in their youth are the sternest and least understanding of parents.

A little girl at the most emotional age writes me at length. Here is her letter in part:

"Dear Mrs. Virginia Lee: I am 16 years old and in the first year of high school. My mother and dad strictly forbid me to have boy friends. Last year I was madly infatuated with a fellow. He was also very much in love with me. I explained to him about my parents. He begged and begged me to let him see my parents and talk to them, but I refused because he would only misunderstand and then it would be just terrible for me. He started asking me to go places with him. I refused a great number of times, then I did go on a date with him, and before I knew it we were going steady. Of course I had to sneak out, and how I hated it! How I longed for understanding parents. We went together for a year. We quit two months ago. After about six months' mother found out I was going with him. I was nagged at, beaten and threatened. My mother was always following me around. I have three other sisters, two married. These two lived lives just as mother wished and never longed for more. My other sister longed for everything a young girl wants, but she is settled and I seldom see her looking blue. Sometimes I think I can't belong to that family. They are so settled and proper, while in my heart it seems a fire is always burning. I cry so much I've nearly ruined my eyes. Tonight I went to a very respectable dance hall against my mother's wishes. I had a very good time and spoke only a hello and goodbye. When I got home mother nearly threw me out of the house, and it was only 11 o'clock and I had spent the whole evening with a bunch of girl friends. Please tell me what to do. Mrs. Lee, to solve this problem of making a nagging mother understand her emotional daughter. Thanking you from the bottom of my heart, I remain,

"BROKEN HEARTED AND DISCOURAGED."

Did you ever stop to think, dear, that you are as much a problem to your mother as she is to you? She probably thinks of you as a disobedient child, unwilling to do what she thinks is best for you and you don't confide in her, do you? She is very likely just as puzzled and unhappy over the situation as you are. You say you have two sisters married, so you see they must have been allowed boy friends. You made your mistake when you did not let your boy friend go to your parents. He might have made friends of them and then you could have gone together openly. Dry those tears, it never pays to cry and pity yourself, certainly not to the extent of ruining your eyes. Your mother may not be well, and that would account for part of the nagging. Or, please forgive me for this, you may exaggerate the amount of the nagging. Now dear, make up your mind that you are very fortunate to have a home, parents and sisters, and that you will find out how to be happy. Tell your mother if she will let you go out on Friday nights with your boy and girl friends you will not go without her consent. Try to understand your mother and perhaps you will find a pal in her. And don't forget, when you are a mother, about these unhappy days you have spent when you felt you had not one to understand you.

Jolly Sue attracts men until they find she doesn't get, and then it's all off. Aren't there any nice boys? Yes, there are, Sue, so cheer up. I can't make you acquainted with any because I have neither time or inclination to start a correspondence school, but you'll meet him soon enough if you stick to your principles.

PARAGUAY AND BOLIVIA ENTER CONFLICTING CLAIMS IN ROW

(By Associated Press)

Who fired the first shot in the question between the South American disputants. Paraguay insists that the 35-man garrison of Fort Vanguardia fired the first bullets while Bolivia maintains that the initiative came from an attack by 300 Paraguayans. She is so certain of this that she has notified all concerned that she will consider no mediation until Paraguay has made reparation for what is considered a gross insult to Bolivia.

The Pan-American conference at Washington, the council of the League of Nations at Lugano, the Argentine republic and the Vatican have all taken active steps to prevent a war.

Shows World Scope

The council of the League hesitated to take any action until it became apparent that failure to do so would create a widespread feeling that the League was more European than world-wide. There was also doubt as to how the United States might view any League intervention but this was dispated when a precedent was found in similar action in 1921 after Costa Rica and Panama had ended diplomatic relations over a boundary question. The council meeting, as expected, gave opportunity for numerous "eye to eye" talks on the problems of German reparations and evacuation of the Rhineland. Gustav Stresemann, German foreign minister, restated his country's position; that the two subjects were distinct and added that complete evacuation of the occupied territories could not be expected until reparations had been fixed. But on the same day in Giedmany Hermann Mueller, the chancellor, said speedy removal of the Allied troops would be only right and just.

Subjects Are Parallel

The reason for the Stresemann attitude came out several days later when it was learned that this "Big Three" had about agreed that while experts were examining the reparations problem, negotiations for evacuation should be continued by the governments, thus making the subjects parallel.

The troublesome frontier questions between Lithuania and Poland are also to go to a board of experts. Premier Waldemaras of Lithuania finally agreed to this with the understanding that the penalty element of the investigation should be dropped.

With this question put aside temporarily, August Zaleski, Polish minister of foreign affairs, started an acrimonious debate with Stresemann over the rights of German minorities in Poland. Dispatches describing this exchange at Lugano were coincident with the official word from Warsaw telling of a bitter attack upon Germany in the foreign affairs committee of the Polish parliament.

Loaded Gun Does Not Always Shoot, Negro Asserts.

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, Dec. 17.—One Dallas "High Brown" is a least a believer in proverbs.

He had heard that it's always the unloaded guns which shoot people, but he didn't believe, until last night, that loaded pistols don't always shoot.

Patrolman J. R. Cowley was hunting a black hi-jacker. He saw a negro and accosted him. The "High Brown" jerked a pistol from his pocket and pulled the trigger three times. But no bullets tore their way into the patrolman's middle, where the pistol was pointed.

"Seems lak them sayin' wuhks bof ways", he said ruefully in his jail cell today.

He was killed Saturday when struck by a truck near here. The truck was driven by S. H. Hornbeak of Corsicana, who said he was passing another automobile when he struck the man. He said the lights of the other car had blinded him.

Registration Of Autos Continues

That the 1929 registration of automobiles will be the largest in the history of Lubbock county is indicated with the advance sale of next year's license plates at the county collector's office.

Thirty-six of the new licenses were purchased Saturday bringing the total sales so far to 147, with two weeks more before the beginning of the new year.

This year's initial allotment of license plates to this county is 9,200 as compared to the first allotment for 1928 of 8,500. During the present year 8,947 cars were registered and about 950 commercial cars, bringing the total near the 10,000 mark for the year.

Simplicity of design

means better *P*ERFORMANCE

"MAKE it better—make it simpler" has always been the keynote of Ford engineering and manufacturing methods. This policy has been carried forward to its highest, fullest expression in the new Ford.

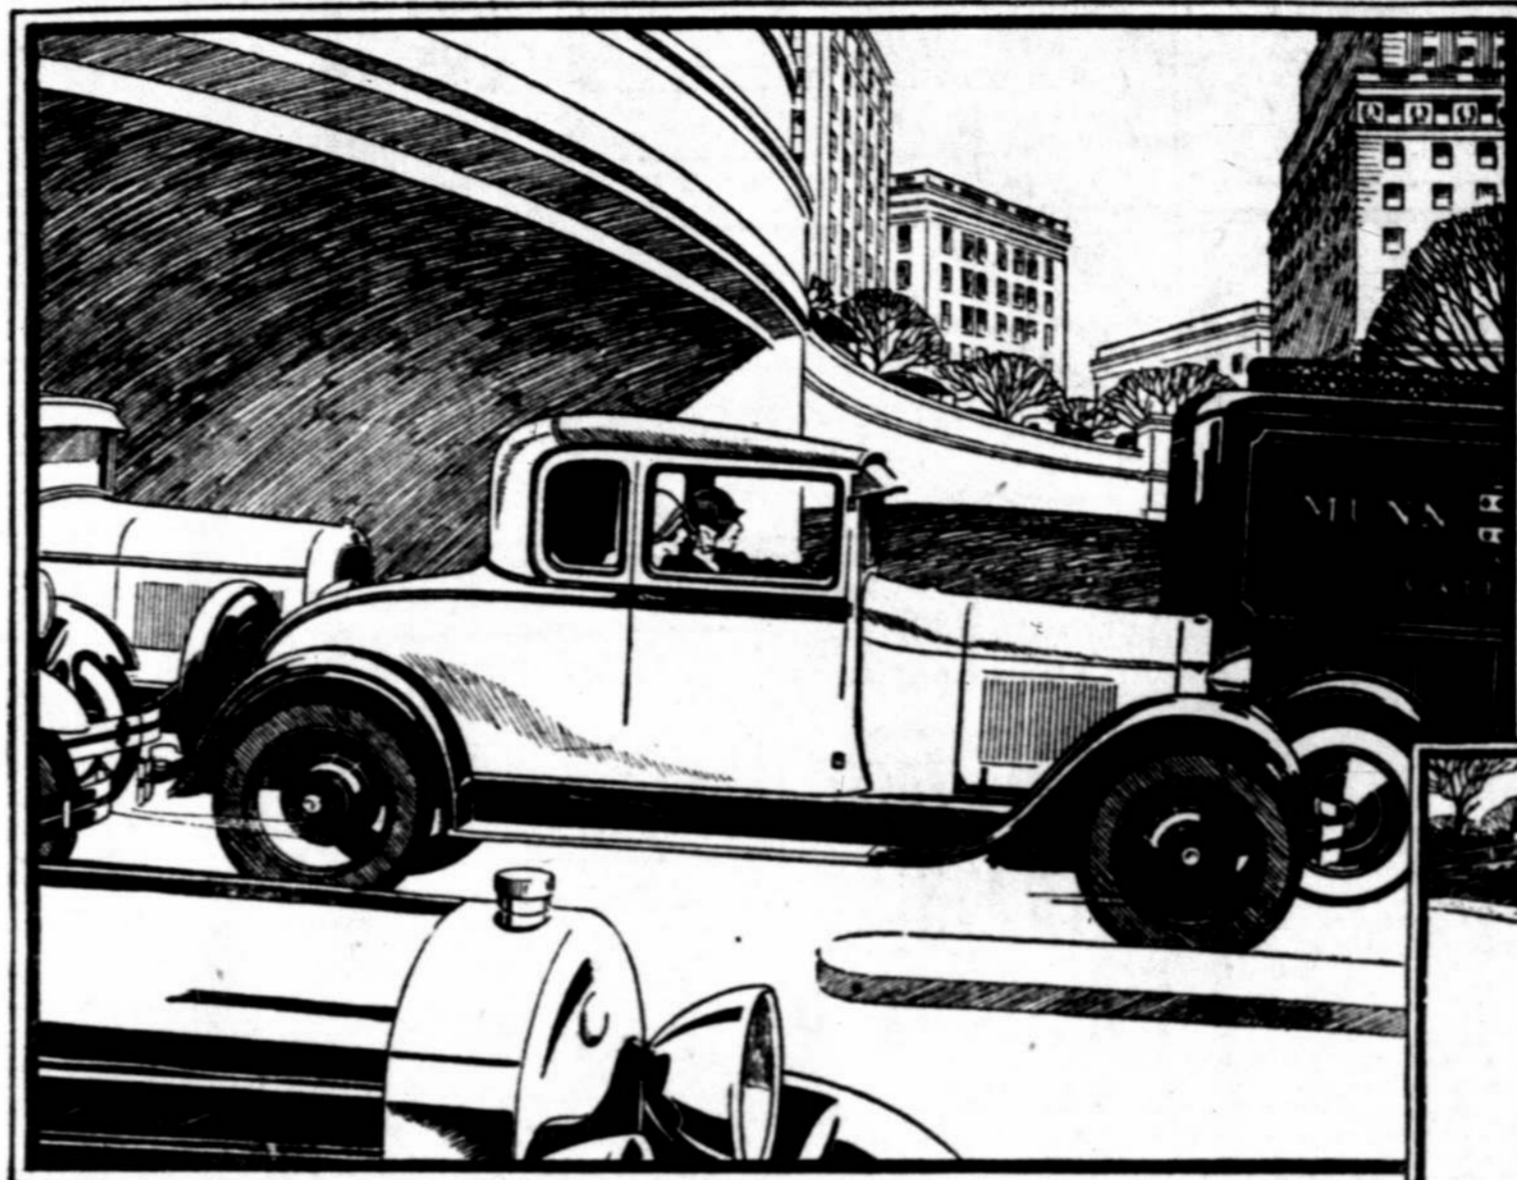

You see evidence of a carefully planned simplicity of design the instant you lift the hood. Its value becomes increasingly apparent when you drive the new Ford.

Smoothness, quick acceleration, remarkable hill-climbing ability, speed of 55 to 65 miles an hour—all these are brought to you in the new Ford without sacrificing economy and reliability. The whole tendency is to give you the most performance with the least machinery.

This applies not only to the engine but to every detail of the electrical, ignition, cooling, lubrication and fuel systems. The engine itself is but one part of a motor car.

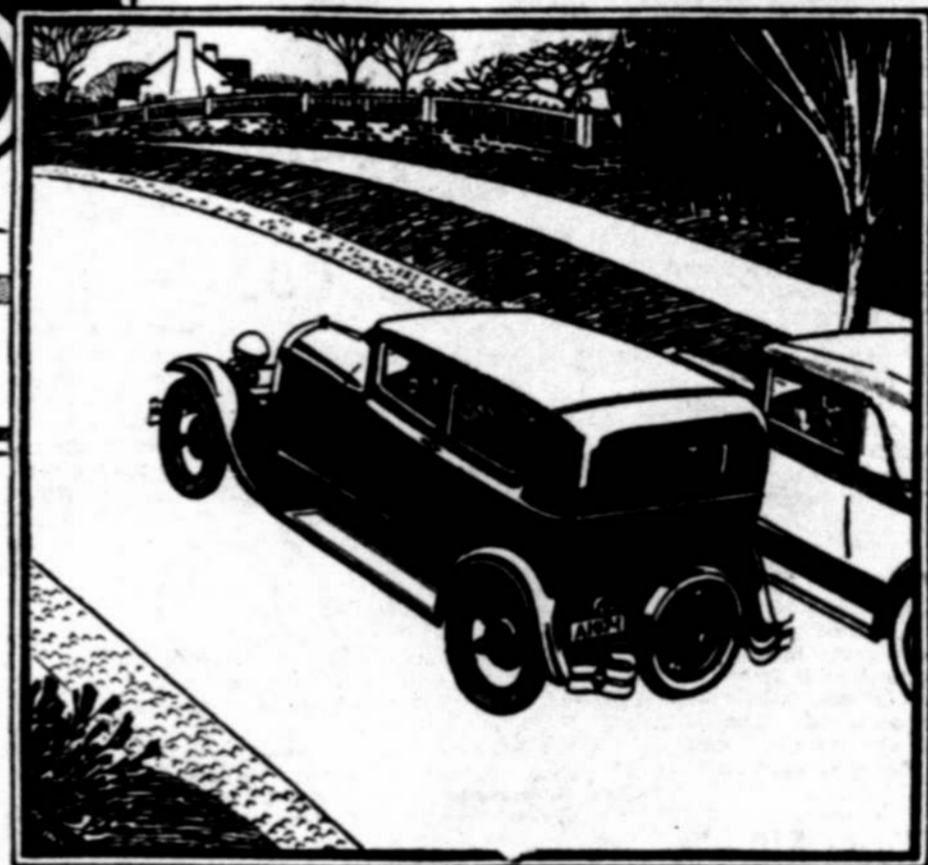

An example of Ford simplicity of design

Take the engine lubrication system. It is a combination of pump, splash and gravity feed and is unusually reliable and effective. There is but one movable part—the pump.

The new Ford Coupe is distinguished by the trim sturdiness of its lines and beautiful colors. An unusually good choice for the woman driver because it is so reliable, safe and easy to control. The Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield is an important safety feature.

Everywhere you go, you note the smooth speed, power and acceleration of the new Ford—its alert, capable performance in traffic, on hills and on the open road. It has set a new standard for a low-priced car.

From valve chamber down, the entire flow of oil is as simple in principle as water running downhill. Ford design and Ford manufacturing methods have made it trouble-free. The only thing for you to do is to see that the oil level never falls below low (L).

Only one high-tension cable in ignition system

This same trouble-saving simplicity of design is shown also in the Ford ignition system, which reflects much that is new in mechanical design.

A particularly unique feature is the elimination of high-tension cables from the distributor to the spark-plugs, these connections being made by means of thin bronze springs. There is but one high-tension cable and this connects the coil on the dash with the distributor.

The distributor head itself is water-proof and has been specially designed to prevent short circuits from rain, snow, etc.

Another exclusive Ford development is shown in the construction of the housing of the steering gear mechanism. This is made of three steel forgings, electrically welded together.

The housing is then electrically welded to the steering column, thus making a one-piece steel unit.

Many other vital parts of the new Ford are also electrically welded, permitting the use of steel forgings instead of stampings or castings and giving greater simplicity and strength than if several parts were riveted or bolted together.

More steel forgings, in fact, are used in the new Ford than in almost any other car, regardless of price.

All six brakes are silent and fully enclosed

Equally important to good performance is the design of the brakes on the new Ford. The six-brake system is unusually safe, reliable and effective because both the four-wheel service brakes and the separate emergency or parking brakes are of the mechanical, internal-expanding type, with all braking surfaces fully enclosed for protection against water, sand, dirt and grease.

For many years this has been recognized as the ideal combination. It is now brought to you on the new Ford because a simple, easy way has been found to accommodate two sets of full internal brakes in a two-in-one brake drum of great strength on the rear wheels.

A further improvement is effected by the self-centering feature of the four-wheel brakes—an exclusive Ford development. Through this construction, the entire surface of the shoe is brought in contact with the drum the instant you press your foot on the brake pedal. This prevents screeching and howling and makes the Ford brakes unusually silent.

Such simplicity of design is not easy to achieve. Yet it is the first essential of good performance in a low-priced car.

It is made possible only through Ford manufacturing and production methods and the experience gained in making more than fifteen million automobiles.

Back of the new Ford is a larger purpose than the making or selling of a motor car. It is to bring the benefits of modern, economical transportation to all the people and to help every motorist get the greatest possible use from his car over the longest period of time at a minimum of trouble and expense. That is the reason for the value that has been put into the new Ford. That is the reason for its outstanding performance.

WASHINGTON.—Nevada, whether so many folks seeking divorces, has a marriage boom. With the divorce rate up and the marriage rate down throughout the country last year, until there was one divorce to every ten marriages, Nevada had the leading marriage rate of 81 per 1,000 population. The census bureau explains it all away as due to a change in the California marriage law requiring a three day delay before the issuance of a license which leads couples to slip across the border.

YEAR OF 1928 IS LIKELY TO BE CLASSED AS SEASON OF SALES

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—It may be that 1928 will become known in baseball circles as the year of the "Big Trade Winds." The playing season is no more than two months past yet already some clubs have so radically revised their rosters that a fan may be excused for being a bit bewildered as he sees apparent fixtures shunted off. It has become an annual feature for Rogers Hornsby to go on the market and Emil Fuchs, of the Boston Braves, didn't disappoint a waiting public. He graciously gave "The Rajah" to the Chicago Cubs for Percy Jones, Freddy Maguire, several rookie players and a fat bundle of cash. Not to be outdone by their National League rivals, the Boston Red Sox have consented to let Washington have Buddy Meyer, crack third baseman, for the trifling consideration of five players. In place of Meyer, who was the Red Sox's best batter last year and the league's leading exponent of the art of pitching with abandon, Washington of the Red Sox, will have to find room for Horace Lisenbee and Mill Gaston, pitchers, Bobby Reeves and Grant Gillis, infielders, and Ed Bigelow, a Southern Association outfielder who clouted minor league pitching with abandon. Pittsburgh needed a left-handed pitcher so the Pirates sent Glenn Wright to the Brooklyn Robins for Jess Petty and Harry Riconda, the latter an infielder when he's not sitting on the bench. George Uhle, who has had his ups and downs at Cleveland, will see whether the weather at Detroit is any better for his pitching arm while Jackie Tavener and Ken Holloway doing their infielding and pitching for the Indians.

Seven years ago when Arthur "Dazzy" Vance broke into the majors, everybody predicted he would be the next Babe Ruth. Any arm that was subjected to such a violent strain as was the flipper of Dazzy, would go limp in one or two seasons, figured the smart guys. But they were wrong. Vance has just completed one of the most successful seasons of his career and his stuff shows no sign of diminishing, nor his arm a trace of glass. After seven years of continuous bearing down with that good right arm, Vance stands out the best pitcher in the National League.

All the big red-head accomplished during the 1928 season was win 22 games and lose only 10 with a terrible baseball club. Also he struck out 200 batters and held the hostiles to the meager average of 2.09 runs per game. Despite "Dazzy's" great work at Brooklyn, rumors persist he will be on the trading block this winter. Although Vance can stand batters on their heads, he has been unable to pitch the Dodgers into a pennant. Neither has his box office value kept pace with his worth on the diamond and the Brooklyn management figures a trade for Vance is now ripe, considering the big right-hander is well past the thirty mark. Imaginative fans can paint mind pictures of the "Dazzier" in the uniform of a Giant, a Cub or a Cardinal.

BIG TEN SQUADS CLASH THIS WEEK

CHICAGO, Dec. 17 (AP)—Big Ten basketball teams received another rigid preliminary test this week when they clash with several of the fastest scoring combinations in the Midwest. Nine games are on the program, topped by Notre Dame's attempted conquest of Northwestern and Indiana at South Bend, Pittsburgh, defeated by Northwestern and Wisconsin last week ends its disastrous Big Ten invasion tonight against Ohio State at Columbus.

GEORGIA TECH IN TRAINING FOR STANFORD

FLU MAY CUT RANKS OF SOUTH'S UNBEATEN FOOTBALL ELEVEN

(By Associated Press) ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 17.—Georgia Tech's undefeated football eleven selected to represent the East in the annual East-West game in Rose Bowl, Pasadena, Calif. New Year's Day, settled down today to the business of getting in physical condition for the clash with the California Golden Bears. Resumption of practice comes after a week's layoff, following the game with Georgia, Dec. 8, and although some of the Tech performers have been suffering from flu, Coach Bill Alexander had the entire variety in uniform today, for the first of a series of strenuous workouts.

OLTON TEAM WINS FROM LITTLEFIELD

SUDAN, Dec. 17.—Playing their first basketball games of the season the Sudan high school basketball team won one and lost one game. The second string team from Sudan played the Littlefield reserves and lost, 21-10. The regular teams of each school then entered into the contest and Sudan won a hard fought victory 8 to 3. This was the first time in the history of the two schools that Sudan had forced the Littlefield quintet to bow to their skill. Coaches Brown and Newton are doing some good work with the Sudan High squads. Between the two games of the boys, Miss Hammock's high school sextet of co-eds, won a sweeping victory over the Littlefield girls, beating them by a score of 24-17. With few letter players in either girls' or boys' squads, it seems that Sudan coaches are developing some strong teams.

FOUR HORSEMEN GALLOP AGAIN

FAMOUS BACKFIELD REACHING FAME THIS TIME IN ROLE OF COACHES, NOT AS PLAYERS

BY BOB MATHERNE, NEA Service Sports Writer It seems a difficult matter to keep the Four Horsemen of a few years back at Notre Dame out of the reading columns. Not that anyone wants to, but it does seem as if four fellows who got as much space as they did as collegians would not be grabbing much these days. Of course, all of this is unsolicited and comes out from the fact that these four young men are galloping ahead in the coaching game with just about as much success as they galloped to touchdowns for Knute Rockne and the South Bend institution in 1924.

As individuals and as a group, they're doing nicely, thank you, and they probably will be doing nicely the next time you bring their names up over a cup of coffee. Two of them are connected with undefeated teams, one is with a team that lost only one game in nine plays, and the fourth is Jimmy Crowley, whose pay check at Georgia wasn't much this season. One of these young men is trotting back to Pasadena this year to see some of his proteges attempt to do what he and his mates did there in January, 1925—beat a powerful western team. This is Don Miller at Georgia Tech.

Miller and Crowley are assistant coaches in charge of the backfield candidates at Georgia Tech and Georgia. Elmer Layden is the boss at Duquesne, a team that lost only one game this year, and Harry Stuhldreher is at Villanova, an undefeated although tied team of 1923. Had the team with which Crowley is connected with had as nice a season as the ones Miller, Stuhldreher and Layden are with, the Four Horsemen might have set some sort of a record for victories this season. As it is, counting the five socks the Georgia boys took on the chin, the four teams compiled a record of 28 victories, six losses and one tie for the year.

The record of Villanova and Duquesne answers any question you may ask concerning the ability of Stuhldreher and Layden as coaches, and the fact that Georgia Tech and Georgia backs as groups are considered the equal of just about any name in the country are enough recommendations for Miller and Crowley. Georgia Tech has one of the most versatile backfields in the country. Not just four men, but about 10 of them. One of the lot is an All-American at Fayetteville; Feb. 8-9, Texas at Austin; Feb. 15-16, Rice at Fayetteville; Feb. 22-23, A. and M. at Fayetteville.

PLANS ALL-STAR ASS GAME

ASSEMBLE THE GRIND CONTEST

(The Journal) 17.—Plans for the Green Coaches Clyde Matty Bell's Southern Coach Ernest Star team at the S. M. U., Dallas, Dudley and McCrary running largely. Injuries stepped in, a failed to function properly as should have, and as a result didn't hear much about these as the season went on. But the backs, behind the line they had, 1927 with Nash and Shiver on would have been heard a-plenty.

It is a recognized fact that leaders in this coaching business those fellows of long experience the Warners and the Rocknes the Zuppkes, but there is a younger fellows just below the group who are coming along—Hanleys, Mechals, Wades and Barmans, and there's still another group, you might term them kids of the game, that also is lining along in great shape. Into this last group, along with Joe McKenny at Boston, Bo McMan at Kansas State and the numerous other young coaches throughout the country, the Four Horsemen fall, and from the success they have achieved it seems only a matter of time before their stars shine higher.

Jokes About Santa In the town of Paris, Ky., a seven-year-old girl is in the story because she has learned that there isn't any Santa Claus

THE PLAINSMAN

That Girl on Broadway says it's all appearance that a woman can't keep a secret. She knows her boy friend is going to marry her and she hasn't even told him about it yet!

Courses in corrective sleep have been prescribed at University of Texas. Now that the football season is over the students will have another method of passing the time away.

EXTR! EXTR! Terrible accident! Two taxicabs collided in Glasgow and 18 Scotsmen were injured!

Which monkey business reminds The Plainsman of that new gorilla song, so popular now on the radio. You've heard it—'Gorilla My Dreams. It's You.'

The fact that the John Deere Implement Company and the International Harvester Company, two of the largest manufacturers of farm machinery in the world, are in Lubbock county now working on a mechanical cotton harvester, is good news for this and other sections of the South. There is nothing original in the plans of either company but the fact that high officials of both organizations are on the ground watching the tests being made indicates that the long sought-after invention may not be so far in the offing.

A mechanical cotton harvester, one which can be purchased at a nominal sum and which will gather practically all the crop from the stalks, is not nearly so much of an impossibility as it was a few years ago. In fact, as The Plainsman sees it, it is not an impossibility at all. It is in fact already a probability.

The Plainsman, interested in the prospects for cheaper cotton harvesting, had a long talk with an official of one of the companies testing their machines here and was struck with one idea set forth. The idea came as a surprise to this writer and will probably strike you the same way. It is the fact that the big companies have nothing to hide in their plans. They know what each other are doing and are hoping to do. They don't mind letting the public know just what is being done along the line of perfecting the harvester. The only things that they are particular about is that the public is not misled concerning the efficiency of the machines thus far and that the machines are thoroughly tested in all sections of the cotton producing country before they are regarded as perfect.

Officials of the two companies see, in addition to more rapid and efficient cotton harvesting, cheaper gathering of the crop and cheaper ginning prices—two points which will prove a boon to the planter. When the mechanical harvester is perfected it is estimated that the $15 to $25 per bale cost of production today will be cut to somewhere near $5 per bale, which of course will mean prosperity though the price hovers from 12 cents to 14 cents per pound.

Needless to say, that is something to work for. Something of prime interest to every man and woman in this and other cotton sections. When that day arrives our farming sections will profit greatly and all other lines of business, dependent as they are upon agriculture, will likewise prosper.

That Man on Avenue Q says mornings like today's make us wonder whether or not red flannels are such a bad thing after all.

Six more shopping days are left in which to buy our presents. Six more days of spending then we all must live like peasants!

St. Paul recommended kissing as an expression of Christian fellowship but of course that was before the time of Grease Garbo.

Mr. Me' Mussolini and his friends of fact Italy have barred their doors to the wearing of the emblem of Rotary International. We can't help but wonder about the status of the Old Ladies' Sewing Circle.

'Cold In Amarillo' was a headline recently appearing in our contemporary, Amarillo Daily News. The Plainsman suggests that the News keeps the head standing and ready for daily use until June 15th, at least. It will save much time in composition.

Mrs. W. A. Oldfield, Widow Of Democratic Whip, Is Not So Sure She Should Hold Her Post, Allene Sumner Says

By ALLENE SUMNER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Mrs. W. A. Oldfield, our fifth congresswoman in the present session of Congress and fourth widow of a congressman who will sit in our next Congress, is not sure that she approves the practice of assigning deceased congressmen's seats to their widows.

Congressman W. A. Oldfield of Arkansas, Democratic whip of the House, died in Washington late in November. He was serving his eleven terms. His widow's name was immediately placed in nomination by the Arkansas state Central committee and submitted to the governor of her state for consideration at a special election.

But the fifth congresswoman is not sure that she wants the honor, nor that she believes in it, though she does appreciate it.

"It merely means that the appointment is given through sympathy, and not because of ability or fitness for the job," she said to me. "One can't be touched by the loyalty and honor and tribute to the services of one's husband, of course, but I do wonder if it's just the thing."

"Here am I, for instance, a woman who firmly believes and has always practiced the belief that woman's career is in her home and husband, and that if she does that job well she has no time for outside 'hires nor, is needed in the outside world."

"Because of my domestic interests almost solely I am utterly unprepared for this job. I know my husband's interests, of course, and will try to carry them out as well as I can. I know some appointments he wanted made to West Point and Annapolis, and I will take care of those. But as a congresswoman with any general vital interests in affairs of the nation, I just won't be printed in the directory there is a doubtless enough ingenuity among the New Yorkers who want something of the administration to overcome that obstacle."

There may arise in consequence a situation unparalleled in the public life of America. It may come to pass that day after day the mayor will be absent from city hall because he is chained to the telephone. Channel swimmers and other celebrities will wait in vain for the bestowal of the freedom of the city. The "wisecracks" that once amused the multitude will be resorted to by the "party" at the other end of the telephone line. We submit that something should be done to protect the mayor against his own good nature. For his own sake he should be forced to tear himself from the telephone. Even the healthiest of presidents of the United States could not be expected to withstand the strain of hours before the transmitter. And the public has a selfish interest in the demand for such protection. Even if the mayor fails to become a model of punctuality under the new order he will at least continue to make those public appearances which are a joy and delight to newspaper readers and the ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience the country over.—Temple Telegram.

Nobody has to be urged nowadays to keep the home fires burning. It's an interesting prediction, at any rate.

In New York By Swan Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Dorothy Fannie Baker is 19 and since leaving school several years ago has been a lady's maid. The other day she arrived in New York, her purse fat with money, her head crammed with ideas.

Miss Baker came from Chicago. Up to the Waldorf she rode in a taxicab, looking for all the world like some little story book heiress or a movie queen in New York for a few days rest.

Her luggage and her person were above suspicion. She was blond, she dressed smartly. There was an air of prosperity about her. You would like her.

Next day Miss Baker hopped gaily into a taxicab at the Waldorf entrance. She was going to see a few lights. The driver leaned back to listen for his destination.

"Niagara Falls," said Miss Baker, just like that. "Huh?" The driver turned to take a good look.

"I said Niagara Falls," Miss Baker replied sweetly. "We don't generally go there," said the surprised driver.

"Well, that's where I want to go," Miss Baker insisted.

And so they went. That is, they went after Miss Baker had extracted from her purse a large roll of money.

Miss Baker liked the Falls. After a night there, she and her chauffeur set out for New York. At the entrance to the Waldorf again, the bill amounted to exactly $234. She paid it, gladly.

But, ah! Before leaving New York for Niagara Falls, Miss Baker had written to a girl friend in Chicago.

And shortly after her return from the Niagara cruise, she was visited by a man named John J. Brennan, who wanted to ask her a few questions, please. He had a telegram from Chicago, earnestly requesting that Miss Baker be entertained in some way in New York until the Chicago police could find out about a matter of $2,100 that disappeared about the time Miss Baker went to see America.

At the police station, Miss Baker admitted taking some money, but couldn't believe it was "as much as $2,100." Had she counted it? Oh, no! It was just some money, and she had wanted to see things.

You'd feel sorry for her. You'd almost like her, this Miss Baker, even if you knew she had taken that $2,100. If you could sympathize with her dream, you would.

Did you know that you could go from New York city to Ithaca for 10 cents a mile? On one special trip recently, that was the charge. Usual rates vary, however, from 25 cents to $1.50 per mile. It depends on the trip and whether or not an empty return trip alone must be made.

CUTTING OF FOOD CALORIES ONLY WAY TO REDUCE WEIGHT

Muscle Tissue Takes Up Less Space "Why is that my measurements are going down through systematic exercise, but I am not losing in weight?"

The reason is that you are developing muscle tissue to replace the fat tissue. Fat tissue contains oil and muscle tissue contains water. Oil is lighter than water (you know it will float on water); hence of equal weights of fat and muscle tissue, the muscle tissue will take up less space.

If you want to reduce in weight also, you will have to eat out more calories from your diet. But you are sensible to be increasing your exercise, for exercise is necessary to tone up the muscles and keep all the organs in good condition.

Have you our instructions on reducing? Our pamphlet on the subject gives detailed information. We also have an article on the Abdominal Wall, which outlines some splendid exercises for the trunk.

Yogurt is a fermented milk. It is a good food largely because it is milk. When Metchnikoff worked with the Bulgarians, he thought their robust health and longevity might be due in part to their fermented milk, which they consumed in great quantities. But we believe now that any milk, fermented or unfermented, improves the diet, although the fermented type does agree with some persons where plain milk doesn't.

All forms of fermented milk are due to the different types of lactic acid bacteria, and they all help to combat intestinal putrefaction. No there is no foundation for the belief

WHY MAYOR WALKER IS ALWAYS LATE For many months nearly all the country has been wondering why Mayor Walker of New York is always late for his appointments. The question has been asked again and again and it sometimes has been put in a manner to indicate that the tardiness was regarded as reflecting upon the chief executive of the nation's greatest city. The implications has been plain that Mr. Walker did not have much regard for convenience and feelings of those who waited. His lack of punctuality also has been pointed to as another example of the lack of efficiency in the American business world. In this land of go-getters it is next to a felony for anybody to fail to be there on the dot for an appointment. But the head of the government of New York city may nearly always be expected to be late for every appointment.

The Boston Transcript, however, points out that there is another side to the case. Mrs. Walker was asked about it the other day and her reply is of interest. She said: "It is due to his good disposition. He gets up in the morning in plenty of time but the telephone will ring. He will answer it and talk as long as the other party wishes. He is never abrupt and is always afraid of hurting somebody's feelings."

In other words, the mayor is late because of the goodness of his heart. And in the goodness of his heart he may refrain from chiding his fond wife. She, too, meant well, but there is reason to believe that she made a mistake. Now that the New York public is informed from source so reliable of this reluctance on the part of the mayor to cut short a telephone conversation, it is almost appalling to think of the many who will try to reach him over the wire. Even if the number of his telephone should not be printed in the directory there is a doubtless enough ingenuity among the New Yorkers who want something of the administration to overcome that obstacle.

There may arise in consequence a situation unparalleled in the public life of America. It may come to pass that day after day the mayor will be absent from city hall because he is chained to the telephone. Channel swimmers and other celebrities will wait in vain for the bestowal of the freedom of the city. The World And All

IN NEW YORK Beverly Nichols, editor of the American Sketch, a new smart periodical published by Doubleday-Doran, is a young Englishman of interesting personality. He has a charming apartment in the thirties, Manhattan, and as a host at afternoon tea he is hard to beat.

Edward A. Ross, University of Wisconsin professor, author and lecturer, is now sailing the seas as director of education in the University of Africa. I lunched with him the day before his sailing, and he wasn't in the least worried about the matter of discipline aboard the floating university during the school term ahead.

"Great care has been taken in selecting the students," he said, "and we aren't at all worried about the boys and girls being too closely associated during the voyage. Boys and girls are associated in all educational colleges; why not in this one? A whole range of mountains was constructed out of a very small molehill on a previous voyage of a floating university.

"We'll give the boys and girls so much useful and interesting work to do that they will have little time for nonsense."

Recently I attended a performance of "Macbeth" at the Knickerbocker theater, and noticed a new wrinkle in tip-extracting. The users do not hand you a program as they show you to your seat, but instead say, "Did you get a program?" The answer in the negative, and the usher says, "I will bring one right down to you," as if he were promising to bring you a freshly roasted turkey. When next he passes your seat, he hands you your program very ceremoniously. I am happy to report that few patrons are so simple-minded as to buy their free programs after all this horse-play.

The Mexican government has set up broadcasting apparatus in court rooms. Once in a while a trial is broadcast in this country, too.

"Great care has been taken in selecting the students," he said, "and we aren't at all worried about the boys and girls being too closely associated during the voyage. Boys and girls are associated in all educational colleges; why not in this one? A whole range of mountains was constructed out of a very small molehill on a previous voyage of a floating university.

What we are chiefly interested in is maintaining a high standard of scholarship and then getting credit for the work in the most strict universities ashore.

ONE DROWNED IN STORM AT DALLAS

DALLAS, Dec. 17.—At least one person was drowned and property loss estimated at $250,000 resulted from a downpour yesterday and last night, when 4.13 inches of rain fell.

Although the sky was clear and cool today, it was expected additional damage would be added when the Trinity River, now at 20.7 feet, rose to its crest, about 35 feet, inundating additional lowlands.

Traffic between Dallas and Fort Worth on the usual pike also was impossible. Chamber of Commerce officials said, because of the wash-out of a bridge near Hendler.

day for the banquet.

McGarr has a quarter section farm, and produces four major crops on it each year, wheat, cotton, sheep and chickens. One feature of McGarr's farming operations is that he produces several acres of wheat each year especially for pasture purposes for sheep. He is regarded as one of the outstanding farmers of this section of Texas and has probably farmed here for a number of years. In addition to being successful from the standpoint of making money, McGarr is an outstanding public spirited citizen of the South Plains.

Ozona Man to Stock Large Scurry Ranch

SNYDER, Dec. 17.—One of the largest sheep ranches in West Texas will shortly be started on the arrival here of Bill Miller of Ozona who has purchased the Fulllove ranch of 10,000 acres for a consideration of $57,200 cash.

This ranch was reported recently as having been sold to Rufus Wright of Sweetwater but the sale was never fully consummated.

The ranch is to be immediately converted into a sheep ranch and stocked with some of the finest sheep ever brought to this section.

City Manager Gus McCleary and wife left today for Honey Grove where they will spend the Christmas holidays with relatives.

Solves Problem
NEW YORK—The leaf tobacco board of trade thinks it knows how to meet the country's need as stated by the late Thomas Ellex Marshall. The way to get a good five cent cigar, said Howard S. Cullman, president of U. board, at a banquet, is to reduce the tariff on Java and Sumatra leaf.

Bath House Prospers
PARIS—Dug's bathhouses are prospering. New establishments are being opened because of the rush of trade. A standard price of 25 cents for small dips is in effect in the better places where hot towels and electric dryers are used.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

At last into the music shop old Santa jumped and shouted, "Stop! We've heard enough real funny tunes, and had a heap of fun. I'm very sure you little gents have tried out all the instruments and found they all are working right, so now this task is done.

"Please put the drums and horns away. It's late. No longer must we stay in this small place. I still have heaps of other things to do."

"I am sure that all the rest agree with me. Just lead the way, and we will follow you."

So Santa led them down the street. "This time," said he, "I will be a treat to do the task that must be done. It isn't work; it's play. We're going to the little place where we make things that roll and race.

Some scooters and some wagons, too, must be tried out today."

Then they arrived where they were bound, and dandy things the Tynies found. "These vehicles," said Santa Claus are for small girls and boys. They all have wheels, as you can see, and every year it's up to me to see that they all run all right, although they're only toys.

"Oh, my," said Clowdy. "You are kind to let us help you. We don't mind this sort of work one little bit. In fact we love to ride. We'll stay right here and roll about as long as need be. There's no doubt that we will all enjoy ourselves till everything is tried."

And then, as Santa walked away, the Tynmites began to play. Wee Coppy seized a scooter and went scooting across the floor. They rode on that, and rode on this but didn't find one thing amiss. When they had tried out everything they wished that there was more.

affirmative and added:

"If we have got to have prohibition we ought to enforce it. I believe there has been no enforcement because the administration does not believe in it. I believe it is a good thing to try to enforce it. If it requires $30,000,000 let us appropriate it so as to give them no opportunity to elude."

"But if the administration has the courage to enforce it and gets the money won't the law be enforced?"

Senator Bruce who had sat silent during the debate declared at this juncture that the law could be enforced as the inauguration had enforced laws in Old Spain.

"But," he shouted, "at the price of what liberty?"

Declaring there were "a few members" of "this body who have never touched a drop of liquor," that the main difficulty was the unwillingness of the majority of members of the senate to "face any of the political risks they may be called upon to face if they did anything by voice or vote to alienate the good will of the prohibition fa-notice of this country." Putting the shoulder of Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, author of the eighteenth amendment, Bruce said there were "many sincere prohibitionists here." He called Sheppard "my dear friend."

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, suggested that it be made an offense to take a drink of liquor. Bruce agreed that would be consistent, but he didn't believe such a law could be enacted under the eighteenth amendment.

Becker, Texas, where a 5 inch snowfall was reported. Upward of an inch of snow had fallen at Wichita today. A hard fall began here about midnight.

Street car and automobile traffic were tied up last night in Dallas following a heavy all day rain which flooded streets and lowland homes. Firemen were called out to rescue several families whose homes were inundated. The Trinity river there was on a sharp rise. The heavy rain was general over northern Texas and in Oklahoma where the temperature turned down last night and snow flurries began.

Predictions were that the temperature would remain in the lower twenties over the affected states today.

COPENHAGEN (AP)—The United States once offered to send a man-of-war to Denmark to fetch a book—the diary of Capt. Jens Munk.

There was a flurry of price fixing by spinners and some trade buying later which carried January to 19.58, March 19.66 and May 19.62, or 8 to 11 points above Saturday's close.

TEACHERS STAGE ANNUAL INSTITUTE

SUDAN, Dec. 17.—Teachers of the Sudan public school system and of Bailey county assembled in joint institute here Saturday. Local educational problems were the order of the discussion. A splendid address by Superintendent Harrison of Littlefield on "The Truck Problems of the Plains Schools" was the high point of the day, for this question is one of the vexing problems of the plains schools, yet it seems to be the best solution of educational advantages for rural pupils.

WHAT IS SO RARE AS A HOLLY WREATH IN JUNE?

Holly wreaths have their place—but their place isn't on a man's Necktie. Especially if he intends to wear it in any other month besides December. That's the reason we see Uncle Martin sadly draping his Christmas neckwear over the edge of the waste basket.

Men whose ties came from our shop don't have to worry about wearing them out of season. Ours are Cheney Cravens, and that means they're in splendid taste from one end of the year to the other.

The foreign office authorized all legations to say that the army had not been mobilized. It was added that the clashes at the north in the Chaco region were participated in only by the border garrisons.

When word of the Bolivian victory at Fort Boqueron (Mariscal Lopez), was received, men, women, and children were moved to a patriotic frenzy. They paraded the streets of La Paz and gathered in front of the national palace where the clamor of the crowd brought President Siles and Foreign Minister Elío from their offices. The president and the foreign minister spoke to the assembly and counseled serenity.

BOLIVIANS CHEER FOR AMERICANS

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Dec. 17 (AP)—The American legation here was the center of a manifestation for the United States late last night. More than 10,000 persons paraded before the building. The direct cause of this was publication of dispatches stating that two former American ministers to Bolivia were making a press campaign in favor of Bolivia and that three American aviators had offered to serve in the Bolivian army.

The demonstration was so insistent that David E. Kaufman, American minister, was forced to say a few words. He told the crowd that in critical moments Bolivians must realize the greatness of peace and expressed the hope that Bolivia's present difficulties would be settled peacefully.

Seeks To Have Stamps Redeemed

DALLAS, Tex. Dec. 17 (AP)—Thirty thousand two-cent United States postal stamps, stuck together after the mucilage had been softened when they were dropped into a goldfish container, have been sent to Washington by the postmaster for a Dallasite who is making an effort to have them redeemed.

The stamps were purchased by the man to have been used in mailing out Christmas cards for his business firm.

After he had made the purchase he trudged away on other Christmas gift errands. At one store he paused at a goldfish pond, and his interest in the fish caused him momentarily to loosen his grip on the stamps and they fell into the container.

SUBMARINE DEATH TRAP MAY SHOW WAY TO AVOID DISASTERS

ABOARD U. S. S. CHEWINK, OFF BLOCK ISLAND, R. I., Dec. 17 (By Radio & the Associated Press.)—The submarine S-4, death trap of 40 men off Provincetown a year ago, was sunk again today, this time deliberately.

The navy, which had fitted her with new lifting books or "dead eyes," wished to test this and their apparatus designed to save seamen from death, and the crewless S-4 was sent to the bottom of Great Salt Pond, a land locked bay off Block Island.

Standing by the submersible, were a coast guard control boat, the submarine rescue ship Chevinck and the submarine tender ship Falcon. From the latter the lifting tests are being directed by Commander Palmer H. Dunbar.

The act of lifting the submarine was started immediately, a corps of divers working under Chief Gunner Clarence Tibbels, a member of the

STOCK TRADES AID BUSINESS

THIS IS VIEW GIVEN BY ASSISTANT SECRETARY FOR COMMERCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Recent stock market fluctuations were declared today by Secretary of Commerce Whiting to have strengthened the business situation. Taken in consideration with other business factors, the secretary said:

"The market fluctuations have operated to strengthen business conditions, by bringing stock prices down more into line with intrinsic security values."

"In the meantime," he added, "trade and industry are proceeding at record volume, particularly due to the retail trade of the season and the general confidence in stability of commerce, because of the small accession to stocks of goods on hand."

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex., Dec. 17 (AP)—Shot in the abdomen while bed last Tuesday, Mrs. Pauline Erikson Rowden, 28, died of the wound in a hospital here yesterday.
