Tax Laws Revision Given Priority

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A general revision of federal tax laws was assigned top priority today for Congressional action in 1950. It may produce some new taxes in a drive to balance the nation's budget.

Whether the new tax law will bear any resemblance to President Truman's now-abandoned 1949 proposal for a $4,000,000,000 increase — no one now can say. As a general rule, Congress is not disposed to raise taxes in an election year — which 1950 would be.

There were indications that while hunting for new sources of revenue, Congress may actually reduce some levies — probably in the excise list. Some members believe the wartime excise rates to be burdensome both to taxpayers and to business.

House Speaker Rayburn disclosed the tax bill priority for 1950 in calling for immediate House action on a pending measure calling for expansion of the government's social security program.

The idea, Rayburn said, is to clear the way for the House Ways and Means Committee to tackle overall tax revisions early next year.

The speaker did not say definitely what he expects in the new tax law but he did comment significantly that the government cannot indefinitely continue deficit financing — that is, borrowing to pay for day-to-day spending.

This followed a recent statement by ways and means Chairman Doughton (D-NC), top Democratic tax manager, that "I am opposed to deficit financing except in case of war or serious economic emergency... a balanced budget in the near future, in my opinion, is essential to the economic stability and prosperity of the country."

Some experts are estimating that the government, in the current fiscal year ending next June 30, will go into the red by more than $5,000,000,000.

Expected developments in the C. W. Kennemer versus the City of Pampa damage suit failed to materialize yesterday when District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich sounded the docket for the September Term of 31st District Court.

Kennemer's attorney, E. T. "Dusty" Miller of Amarillo, failed to appear before the Court to request a setting. City Attorney Bob Gordon was present but made no statement in reference to the case.

Kennemer entered suit against the city for $5,200 damages resulting from the impounding of his car earlier this year by police for a parking meter violation.

This morning the case took a new twist when the Citizens Bank & Trust Co. filed a forcible closure petition in 31st District Court against Kennemer for recovery of the car.

In its petition the bank alleged non-payment of notes due on it. This was one of two civil suits that had attracted widespread attention.

At the same time Cripps repeated his stand that personal incomes, including those from wages, must stay at present levels.

The chancellor of the exchequer also warned British men: "If there is any further breaking away from the voluntary limitation of dividends I shall consider myself at liberty to introduce legislation to restrict dividends in the next finance bill."

Cripps opened the crucial debate in the House of Commons on the devaluation of the pound. He was fortified by a Labor Party caucus which, informed sources said, decided to stand behind the government on the currency issue.

Miss Top o' Texas Will Be Chosen

Two contests to find two queens at the Junior High School Auditorium tonight at 8:30 will be the preliminary event of the Top o' Texas fair.

Tomorrow at 1 p. m. the fair gates will open, and there will be a crowded series of events through next Saturday.

Thirty-three girls are on the roster of aspirants to be judged tonight by a panel of judges from West Texas State College. There will be one or two more, depending on certificate holders.

Twelve girls 18 through 25 will compete for the title of Miss Top o' Texas — and a trip to American Royal Livestock and Horse Show at Kansas City Oct. 13. In addition, Miss Top o' Texas will receive a trophy and a wrist watch.

The princess contest, strictly local in nature, will involve girls 16 and 17. They will vie for the titular honor and a wrist watch.

Officials say the show, for which there will be a small admission charge, promises to be very colorful and fast-moving. It is sponsored by the Publicity Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the Fair Association.

Following are entries in the two contests, their towns and their sponsors:

QUEEN CONTEST

Industrial Know-How Is Said Lacking

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said today every sign indicates Russia doesn't have the industrial know-how or facilities to stockpile atomic bombs.

O'Mahoney, who led one Congressional group in the drive to fight the secrecy around American atomic developments, told a reporter he doesn't agree with Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) that information leaks may have speeded Soviet efforts to fire an atom bomb.

Schools in the entire district are asked to close so all may attend.

The entire day will be given to the celebration, which will include a free movie, various contests and registering of old timers with prizes awarded to the winners and to the family having the largest number of members present.

Old timers will register in the Landers Oil Co. building with Clyde Patton in charge of registration.

Profits Tax Is Raised

LONDON — (AP) — Sir Stafford Cripps raised Britain's profits tax by one-fifth today to offset the inflationary effect of cheapening the pound.

The tax on profits now is 25 percent. Cripps told the House of Commons he is increasing it "as from today" to 30 percent.

At the same time Cripps repeated his stand that personal incomes, including those from wages, must stay at present levels.

The chancellor of the exchequer also warned British men: "If there is any further breaking away from the voluntary limitation of dividends I shall consider myself at liberty to introduce legislation to restrict dividends in the next finance bill."

Minister Mixes Magic With Religion; Stresses Sermons

DISAPPEARING LEMONADE helps the Rev. Ted V. Voorhees illustrate Biblical points to his congregation. He has been practicing magic from the pulpit for the past 27 years.

CARNEGIE, Pa. (AP)—If a skeptic tells Rev. Ted V. Voorhees, pastor of the Carnegie Methodist Church, that he does not believe in the Biblical miracles, because he doesn't understand them, Voorhees has a counter-attack.

Standing in the pulpit, Voorhees takes an empty cylinder and magically produces a yard after yard of cloth. A competent semi-professional magician, he completely mystifies the congregation.

"If I can do this," he tells the skeptic, "and you do not understand, what must God be able to do with His numerous powers?"

Thirty years ago, Voorhees said, "I was so enchanted by the master magician that he talked about doing the tricks himself. When his wife questioned his ability in magical directions, Voorhees became even more determined and taught himself a few basic tricks."

For the last 27 years, he has been practicing magic from the pulpit. He has recruited several hundred young ministers of all denominations to this theory of teaching faith in God through magic.

Voorhees believes that "one way to religious thinking is through magic. I tell the story of Jesus providing the multitude by the sea more with a single loaf and a single fish."

And, with a mysterious stunt he takes a piece of paper money and proceeds to multiply it. The "multiplying bill trick" serves to illustrate the point to the congregation, particularly the children who love his magical sermons.

Voorhees performs for many local clubs and organizations and has written books on the use of magic in churches. He has known famous magicians personally and served as president of the local chapter of the International Brotherhood of Magicians.

Despite the fact that the Methodist Church no longer requires it, Voorhees continues to wear the clerical collar. He believes a minister should be easily recognized as such.

Besides his interest in magic, Voorhees is also a student of psychology. He is a certified psychological examiner for Pennsylvania public schools, and is working for his doctor's degree in the subject.

AREA ANIMAL HUNTERS TAKE NEWS READERS ON TRIP 'ROUND-WORLD'

By MRS. LUTHER PETTY News Correspondent
McLEAN — (Special) — Few have an opportunity to make a round-the-world trip, but Charles E. (Chuck) Cooke, McLean automobile agent, and A. B. Huggins did recently. The pair hunted elephants in Africa, too.

They flew from Amarillo, July 19, loaded with identification papers, passports and permits to hunt almost anything from mice to elephants.

First important stop was New York City where the two got a tourist-eye view of Rockefeller Center, Times Square and Broadway.

Newfoundland was the next stop and then on to Shannon, Ireland, across the English Channel and finally, less than 48 hours after leaving Amarillo, the pair landed in Paris, France.

Here they found water was a scarce commodity but did manage to buy a bottle of it. They also found the French have little patience with anything resembling traffic regulations and hustle around indiscriminately, the first to make the intersection takes the lead.

Cairo, capital of Egypt was the next stop after leaving Paris. Cooke and Huggins described this largest city of Egypt as relatively nice in some parts, but dirty everywhere else. They said rooms were scarce, apparently, and that the population bathed in the Nile River that runs through the city.

Nairobi, Africa, was the stepping off place for the hunting expedition and when they arrived, all arrangements had been made and the trip was begun the next day. In Nairobi they found a city of about 10,000 with one-fifth of the population white and the remainder native Africans. Nairobi is a fairly modern city. It has many fine homes owned, in the most part, by retired Englishmen.

On the sixth and seventh Cooke and Huggins got their elephants plus a few dollars profit. Each paid $50 for the privilege to hunt and the tasks, just medium size, were sold for $432. To get the elephants, however, meant stalking the animals eight or ten miles a day for the seven days.

The party had been taking pictures of places and incidents of interest, but Cooke and Huggins returned to Nairobi to prepare for the southern trip. On that phase of the journey, the party hunted many types of African animals including buffalo, rhino, zebra, eland, gazelle, antelope, wild-beast, gazelle, apollo, thompson gazelle, hardbreast, toby, water-buck, baboon, ores and snakes, the deadly black mamba and the python. Skins from the two snakes were brought back to McLean and made into purses.

The stay in Nairobi including the two hunting trips, lasted a month.

With the hunting over, the travelers took plane reservations as far as Calcutta, India. They described Calcutta as indescribably filthy and were relieved when they found Hong Kong, their next stop, amazingly clean as compared to Calcutta and Cairo.

Honolulu, Hawaii, they found, was very much like the larger cities in the U. S. and they hired a taxi to drive them through the fine residential sections and out around Hawaii's lush fields.

The plane then took the pair on to Los Angeles, and on August 30, 43 days after leaving Amarillo, they completed the global cruise and were home.

"I only wish everybody could make a trip like Bert and I did," said Cooke, "then they would appreciate, more than ever, this country of ours and see how well off they are here."

Franklin, who stayed after Cooke and Huggins, relates an experience he had after recovering from the malarial attack.

"One day," he relates, "I was hailed by a group of natives riding in a truck. They jabbered Swahili so fast I thought I must be breaking all the taboos in Africa. Then it dawned on me they were our own camp boys and they were asking how I felt and telling me how glad they were to see me again."

"I was amused and surprised, because it had never occurred to me these natives cared whether we lived or died. However, this proved the faithfulness of these boys."

Franklin was fully recovered by the time Cooke and Huggins returned to Nairobi to prepare for the southern trip. On that phase

Don't Call Woman Genius; Author Contends She's Not

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — Tell the average woman she's a genius, and what happens?

She immediately begins wondering if you are trying to break it to her easy that her years are showing, her nose needs powdering, or her face needs lifting. In any case she takes the compliment with deep suspicion.

But if, on the other hand, you remark to her "you're no genius, Esmeralda," she gets downright annoyed. She unsheathes her claws and demands to know why.

Waverley Root gives some of the reasons in an American Mercury Magazine article entitled "Women Are Intellectually Inferior."

Naturally Root doesn't infer that women are mentally lower than barbaric apes, the giant panda, polar bears or the praying mantis. He simply rates them lower than the only other sex they share the human race with—that simple creature of good will, man.

At least he holds this to be true on the topflight I. Q. level. Genius, the man says, is strictly confined to the male.

Root says this isn't just one fellow's opinion. He cites a study made by Mrs. Cora Sutton Castle who sifted six encyclopedias looking for eminent women and found only 868 listed.

"It is a sad commentary on the sex," commented Mrs. Castle dismally, "that from the dawn of history to the present day less than 1,000 women have accomplished anything that history has recorded as worth while."

Getting at the root of the matter, Root says that genius is creative and that while many women have shown fine talent such as Jane Austen, the Brontes, George Eliot and Emily Dickinson none have reached the peak of greatness.

There are absolutely no feminine names, none at all, which can stand beside those of the really great no Beethovens, no Michelangelos, no Shakespeares, no Tolstoys.

And Root says women can't escape this truth by blaming it on the tyranny in which men have held women through the ages. He says you can't explain female lack of genius by lack of opportunity—the girls just don't have the genius factor in their chromosomes, those little gadgets in the sex cells that control heredity. Some lucky men do.

But listen, ladies, to the masculine penalty for being so snooty.

It is also a fact that idiosyncrasy is more common among men than among women, who may well consider themselves happy to rank lower in genius for the sake of ranking higher in sanity.

But Mr. Root certainly loses any claim to genius himself if he thinks that will satisfy the girls. This is the day of the demanding female, and if she wants genius she'll get it—even if she has to carry her equal rights campaign to every chromosome under the American flag.

Commuter Is Feted But Asked for Fare
PLAINFIELD, N. J. — (AP) — A. Clinton Wilmerding has achieved what is the dream of every commuter.

Wilmerding, as he has been doing every day for 66 years, rode to work Friday on the Central Railroad of New Jersey — but with a difference.

To honor his long commuting career and his 90th birthday, the railroad hooked its president's luxurious special passenger on the train of the regular 9:07 to Jersey City — just for him.

When the spry old gentleman climbed aboard he was greeted with a special breakfast, a birthday cake, and numerous newspapermen and photographers.

Then conductor Stephen Gesske asked him for his ticket.

Official Makes Plea for Safety
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A spokesman for the American Football Coaches Association today sounded a grave plea for all grid players, sandlot, high school, college and professional to "check your headgear before each game."

The word of caution came from Dr. Floyd E. Eastwood of Los Angeles, chairman of the coaches' committee on injuries and fatalities.

A toll of 325 players has been fatally injured as a direct result of football injuries according to records compiled over the past 17 years by the committee.

Of this total, Dr. Eastwood said, approximately 68 percent of all direct fatalities were caused by blows to the head, resulting in head or spinal cord injury.

Extensive research is being made into all football equipment, he went on, and far reaching recommendations eventually will be presented to the coaches' association.

Accidents—'Kid Killers'
CHICAGO (AP) — There's a word of warning to all Moms and Dads: Accidents are the greatest kid killers in America!

According to the 1949 edition of the National Safety Council's State-by-State Yearbook, "Accident Facts," accidents far outrank any cause of the more generally feared childhood diseases as a cause of death among children 1 to 14 years.

There were 10,721 accidental deaths in that age group in 1947, three times more than were claimed by pneumonia, the next most important cause of death. And accidents caused 12 times as many deaths as polio.

British Burlesque Bans Blondes' Bumps
LONDON (AP)—Officials of London's famed Windmill Burlesque House said two American-born blondes will move into star parts there next month. But, they stressed, American bumps and grinds are taboo.
The lord chamberlain's office, which keeps an eye on burlesque and other shows, says the girls can show their bodies—absolutely all they like—provided they stand stock-still.

He doesn't think Washington can hold a candle to Omaha as a place to live and is unimpressed with Washington's highly touted social life. His wife and unmarried daughter have spent the summer visiting their four other married daughters. Mrs. Matthews is coming to town permanently soon and they plan to stay in their small apartment in the Mayflower. "We've got a perfectly good house in Omaha and that's enough for us," he reasons.

The biggest kick Matthews gets out of the job is being able to take old friends from Omaha, who happen to drop into town, on the yacht Sequoia, which is assigned to him, for dinner. The officers who have worked most closely with him appear well-satisfied with the secretary of Navy they've drawn.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLES
Standard Oil Company of California Needs New Officers
Germany went to pieces because the big industrialists would not let free enterprise and lined up for a form of collectivism. It will be remembered that a big capitalist by the name of Fritz Thyssen, who was head of a big steel corporation, joined the Nazis...

Now, what do you think this president suggests in his press release? He suggests that the State of California does the State of Texas and then by law the well output oil. He says: "Oil is one of our greatest natural resources and it is a matter of primary public concern to avoid wasteful use of this resource. Any demand, if continued for any length of time, inevitably results in waste and higher costs."

In the first place the greatest resource of any nation is its manpower. So by the same course of reasoning as used by Mr. Petersen, the price and that will increase the competition among nations. By the same course of law, the farmers are perfectly justified in asking the government to regulate the amount of crops that can be produced.

Now why does Mr. Petersen make such a socialistic suggestion? The only reason is that Mr. Petersen doesn't seem to understand the difference between a short-sighted and selfish man. Desd Mr. Petersen know that we do not need to run to the government to stop excess production. All we need to do is let the competition reduce the price and that will increase the supply. Then the supply and demand will meet.

Among the shining figures who carried the banner in this battle were Majority Senate Leader Scott W. Lucas of Illinois and Majority House Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

It is no wonder that the people in this country are confused and are running more and more to the government for special privileges when a man like the head of a great corporation does the same thing. The head of a great corporation should be the man in the world to recommend running to the state. He doesn't seem to know that when you run to the state to get special privilege, you are not getting a better deal. The government is not a charitable institution. It is a business. It is a business that produces goods and the efficient producers are rewarded in their growth in order to keep in production the high cost producers.

The Nation's Press
DEVALUATION
Since the end of the war the British have been co-operating in bilking American buyers of British goods. Importers of woollens, textiles and other goods manufactured in Britain have been obliged to pay their bills with pounds bought at $4.03. At the same time, pounds were offered for sale at the rate of $2.75.

Increased wages have not been offset by more output per worker. A broadened social security system has removed the incentive for hard work. The incentive to malingering. The taxes to maintain social security benefits have added further to British costs of production.

Whether devaluation succeeds in getting costs in Britain down enough so that they can sell their goods in the buyers' market is doubtful. There, as heretofore, the cost of living has gone up, the unions have insisted upon a corresponding boost in wage rates.

Patient Little Animal, Isn't He?

National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — The Eighty-First Congress may not be the worst in recent history, but the 1940-1950 legislators have hung up an attempt to record for hypocrisy and breast-beating for certain causes at the same time that they guffawed about the Capitol in an effort to sabotage the principles they espouse and vote for on the floor.

But the final batch of appropriations will show no savings. The very men who walked the loudest for economy for the other fellow demanded millions for their state or district. They ducked or voted against the resolution requiring President Truman to make an overall 5 or 10 percent in appropriations, which would have meant a saving of $2.5 to $4.2 billion.

HYPOCRISY — Messrs. Lucas and McCormack also happen to be prize exhibits of political inconsistency and double-talking on the question of farm subsidies and retail prices. As leaders, they stand out in this house of hypocrisy.

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — The Ritz Brothers are back in movie favor following their smash hit in an Eastern night club. Fox wants them for a picture and so does U. I. Joan Fontaine writes me from Capri about a love scene she played with Joseph Cotten for a scene in "September". They shot the scene in a native fishing boat. Everything was fine except that the small boat leaked and, said Joan, "our feet were wet all during the tender performance."

Sorry Controversy Has Finally Ended

For those who are interested, the longest walkout on record came to a close a few days ago. The printers' strike against Chicago newspapers, a strike that started over wages and the closed shop on Nov. 24, 1947, has ended.

Several issues were at stake when the 1,500 printers walked out that November. The typographers sought a $14.50 a week wage hike. In the final settlement, they accepted a publishers' offer of $10 a week instead of the $14.50 they had demanded in March of this year.

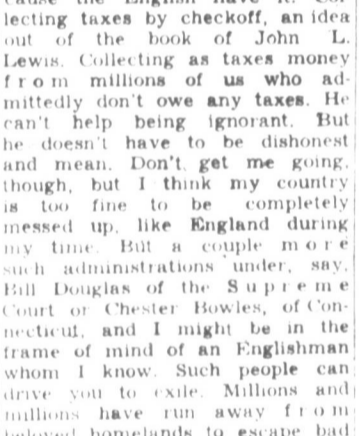

During the 22-month months since they walked out, the printers have lost considerable money, as the figures show. But the publishers were able to go ahead and print a paper through use of a photo-engraving process called varotyping.

Prominent Oilmen Speak at Meeting

FORT WORTH—(Special)—Walter S. Hallanan, chairman of the National Petroleum Council and W. L. Horner, chief engineer, Barnsdall Oil Co., Tulsa, will be featured speakers at IPAA's twentieth anniversary meeting in Fort Worth, Oct. 3-4.

Hallanan is scheduled to address the IPAA membership at 11 a. m. on the opening day. The two-day session will be preceded by advance committee meetings Sunday, Oct. 2.

In keeping with his expressed belief that "next to doing the right thing, the most important thing is to let the public know you are doing the right thing," Hallanan has told the story of the oil industry's record of achievement from coast to coast.

In great demand as a speaker, he gives a large part of his time to filling engagements in all sections of the country.

Hallanan will come to the IPAA meeting shortly after addressing members of the Louisiana-Arkansas division of Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association in New Orleans. Following his appearance here, he will address the San Joaquin Oil Producers at Bakersfield, Calif., and then fly back to appear at a meeting of West Virginia Oil Marketers.

Horner, national chairman of the Topical Committee on Production Technology, API, in 1947, and listed in Who's Who in Engineering, has contributed numerous papers to API, AIME, SEG and various technical journals.

Pipe Company To Be Built At Houston

HOUSTON — (AP) — A. O. Smith Corp., Milwaukee, Wis., has announced plans to construct a Houston plant for manufacture of welded steel gas and oil transmission pipe.

The plant will be known as A. O. Smith Corp. of Texas and will be a joint venture with Sheffield Steel Corp. Production capacity for 8 to 30-inch pipe will be from 30,000 to 35,000 tons per month.

Capital stock will be split equally between the two companies.

Cost of the new pipe mill company officials said, will be in excess of $5,000,000. It is anticipated the mill and expanded operations required at Houston's Sheffield Steel plant will create from 1000 to 1500 new jobs for the Houston area.

Construction of the plant is to start at once and is expected to be completed by mid-1950.

Announcement of the plans was made by W. C. Heath, Milwaukee, president of the Smith Co.

Heath said the Houston mill will be exceeded in size for manufacture of welded pipe only by Smith's Milwaukee plant.

B of M Reports Crude Stocks Down

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Bureau of Mines reported last week stocks of domestic and foreign crude petroleum totaled 260,490,000 barrels on Sept. 17, a net decrease of 727,000 barrels for the week. Domestic crude increased 220,000. Foreign crude decreased 947,000.

Daily average production was 4,848,000 barrels, a decrease of 6,000. Runs to stills averaged 5,396,000, an increase of 58,000.

Stocks, by grade or origin, and change from previous week (in thousands of barrels) include:

Arkansas 2,646, dec 74; North Louisiana 3,511, dec 62; Gulf Coast Louisiana 10,922, dec 37; New Mexico 7,477, dec 58; Oklahoma 30,115, dec 181; East Texas 17,673, inc 1,200; West Texas 47,455, inc 92; Gulf Texas 28,461, inc 657; other Texas 26,376, dec 219.

CONOCO OPENS OFFICE
PONCA CITY, Okla. — (AP) — Exploration department headquarters of the Continental Oil Co. will be established in Houston, president L. F. McCollum said last week.

API Holds Fall Meeting Tonight

API members will get together at 8 p. m. today in the Palm Room of the City Hall for their first meeting of the fall.

H. R. Martin, general superintendent for the Bell Oil and Gas Co., is scheduled for a discussion of rotary well completions in Arconic Lime. Another discussion will also be given, this by representatives of Stanolind and Halliburton. It will concern the new hydraulic fracturing process developed by Stanolind and now licensed to Halliburton.

Both topics are open for discussion at any time during the meeting by API members or by the general public.

The public is invited to the discussion and the general get-together that follows the meeting.

Chairman Named For Meeting of Mid-Continents

HOUSTON — George Sawtelle, president of the Kirby Petroleum Corp., Houston, has been named general arrangements chairman for the 30th annual meeting of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, October 13-14.

Charles E. Simons, association general manager, announced headquarters for the meeting will be at the Rice Hotel.

"Oil and gas operators here feel that Houston is lucky to have the 30th Annual Meeting of this program of activities which will live up to the expectations of oil men from all parts of the state," Sawtelle said.

Louisiana and Oklahoma Oil Reported Up

TULSA, Okla. — (AP) — Reports last week indicated things were looking up for the Oklahoma oil operator, but he-it seems—isn't looking much beyond his immediate operations.

The Tulsa World reported exploration in the state dropped to only 78 new locations in 22 counties. Carter County led with 11 starts.

Statistics, although brighter than last week, remained unimpressive. There were 78 completions, including 54 producers, two gas wells and 22 dusters for a daily average oil output of 5,788 barrels and 113,486,000 cubic feet of gas. Drilling totaled 273,453 feet.

BATON ROUGE, La. — (AP) — Louisiana's daily crude oil production for October is set at 857,000 barrels.

The State Department of Conservation, in announcing the amount, said this is a 48,000 barrel increase over the previous month.

Allowables had been cut sharply in June and July when Commissioner S. L. Digby reported a slackening in market demands.

Bay City Refinery Quits Operations

HOUSTON — (AP) — Hamman Oil and Refining Co. has shut down its refinery at Bay City.

"Prices of refined products are not improving fast enough to allow us to continue operations," said John Hamman, Jr., president of the company yesterday.

Canyon Reef Topped In Scurry Deep Test

SNYDER, Texas — (AP) — Standard Frac No. 1 E. S. Wilkerson—a well in between Scurry County's prolific Kelly and North Snyder fields—was reported to have topped the canyon reef at 6,665 feet. Operators reported elevation as 2,375 feet. The well is located 660 feet from the south and west corner of the southwest one-fourth section 17, J. P. Smith Survey.

Red Sox Displace Yankees

Four-Run Blast in Eighth Against Page Provides Win

NEW YORK (AP)—The Yankees' mighty Sox with the lead in the eighth inning, and they stormed into the American League lead with a 7-6 triumph over the New York Yankees on a four-run blast against fireman Joe in the eighth inning.

Breaking an exact first place tie with the Yanks, the Sox exploded two big homers for their tenth straight victory. It was the first time this season the Yanks had been out of the lead.

With five games to go, this is how it looks:

W. L. GB To Play
Boston . . . 44 55 5
New York . . . 53 56 1	5

And so the ranks, who led Boston by 12 games the night of July 4 and had an imposing five game edge on the losing side some 10 days ago, finally have been collared.

From now on they play at home, three with Philadelphia and a final pair with Boston Saturday and Sunday. The Sox close it on the road, three at Washington starting tonight, and the final two at home.

Pecky rolled the ball toward George Stovewess but the second baseman's error let Stringer score. Now it was 6-5. The Williams shift backed when Teddy grounded to Stovewess in back of first base but Henrich, diving for the drive, was unable to field his position. It had to go as a single, leading the bases with none out. Vern Stephens fly to Gene Woodling brought home DiMaggio to tie the score.

Then came Doer's squeeze play that resulted in the Berry conroversy at the plate involving Henk Manager Casey Stengel and the entire Yankee club. That was the ball game.

Ellis Kinder, Joe McCarthy's 23-game winner with a 13-game win string, came on to protect Boston's lead.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hassel—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What famous slugger holds the record for having hit 30 or more home runs the most seasons in the major leagues?

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA 42, NAVY 20. ARMY 47, DAVIDSON 7.

Football fans who are puzzled by Army's reluctance to play teams of its calibre are heartened by the attitude of the United States Naval Academy, which continues to encounter the most rugged opposition collegiate football provides. The above scores signify the results of last Saturday's games by the two schools. Why Army is dodging championship calibre competition is strange.

The Cadets should have the cream of the athletic crop. A member of the Cadet Corps must be in perfect physical shape. Good athletes among the rank and file of the Army can be transferred to the Academy if they can meet the qualifications. West Point's attitude has become something of a joke among prominent coaches. As one big-time coach, who looked forward to this season with little hope, said: "If the season is as bad as it looks, maybe we can get on Army's schedule next year."

Army last year was ranked sixth in the nation in the AP poll, preceded only by Michigan, Notre Dame, North Carolina, California and Oklahoma. Navy wasn't listed among the top 20. Yet when the two teams met they fought to a 21-21 tie. Army earned its lofty position by rolling up sizeable scores against such opponents as Villanova, Stanford, Harvard, Lafayette and Virginia Tech, Illinois and Pennsylvania. Navy meanwhile was losing to foes like Duke, Notre Dame, Michigan, California, Missouri, Pennsylvania and Cornell. Navy again encounters much the same schedule this season, adding Southern Cal, Tulane and Wisconsin. Army's schedule is indeed not as strong as last year. Having served with an affiliate of the Army during the last war, we are naturally for the West Pointers. But the following editorial from the "Trident," Naval Academy weekly, we feel bears repeating, though it off-handedly chides the Army.

What has happened to Navy? This question was being asked by many of the nation's fans as the 1948 season developed into one of continuous defeats for the Blue and Gold eleven. The obvious answer was that the Naval Academy had not produced a team that was on par with those of other major football colleges in the country. Then why hadn't Navy's executives arranged a schedule which entailed overcoming competition from the best teams?

The reason is that the Naval Academy's purpose is to train officers and not fair weather spectators. This may seem a bit of an argument to the average who appreciates only the cold steel of the won and lost columns, but let us consider some of the significant aspects not apparent to the disapproving critic.

In the past this school has been represented by some excellent football squads. These serious teams had no better training or coaching than that which is being given the players by the schedule Navy chooses each year is a challenging one, should continue to be so as long as there is a football team in Annapolis. There isn't a Plebe who wouldn't heartily protest a season of continuous vicissitudes over second rate teams.

The standards of a military institution such as ours are set in academics and aptitude for service. There is no valid use for deviation from these standards in the field of sports. Certainly there is no room for an element in war, and the basis of our training is to harden us in any situation, favorable or otherwise. No matter what the competition in football, as long as in any of Navy's sports, we will be with the cream of America's teams. The tougher line-up of pre-game opponents, the more spirit and courage are displayed by the inherent of a tradition that cannot be dined by an outcome.

For years the Army-Notre Dame and Army-Michigan contests have had great bearing on national ratings of the teams concerned. Navy is to be commended for its stand on football. And it is hoped that Army, coming around to the Middle West of thinking on the subject, is a natural instinct to want to meet the best in your class as the ultimate hope of an upstart victory that will gain you the desired glory. We feel sure it is the desire of the Cadet to set themselves to want to be the best in the land. But big brass at the Academy did rather look at a winning record, apparently.

What chance for an upset win why Pampa always looks forward to the Amarillo game with great enthusiasm. Though it almost an established fact that the Harvesters will win, that Harvesters victory, when come, though it be only every ten years, is just as good as a state championship.

ANSWER: Babe Ruth crashed 30 or more home runs in 13 different seasons to set a major league record. Jimmy Fox was tied with 12 seasons.

Basketball Merger Sane Setup; Averted $$$ War

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The Basketball Association of America and the National Basketball League merged to form one organization known as the National Basketball Association, thus ending a long and costly squabble in professional sport, and indirectly giving the ordinary paying customer a break.

Eventually the leagues might have folded if stubbornness persisted, and fans who like the professional brand of basketball, and its many top-notch performers, would be left out in the cold.

And as New York Knickerbockers coach, Joe Lapchick, pointed out, "Pro basketball serves as a highly remunerative stopgap while the young men complete postgraduate studies, prepare for a coaching career or seek a spot in the business world."

The B.A.A. dropped the Providence Steamrollers, a poor-paying and poor-playing franchise, also the Indianapolis Jets.

The latter team was in a city in which the two leagues might have clashed if the merger did not come about.

And the unfortunate man-in-the-middle would undoubtedly have been a fine athlete, and equally fine gentleman, by name of Alex Groza, late of the University of Kentucky.

Groza and his fellow-Olympians, Ralph Beard, Wah Jones and Cliff Barker, had signed as a complete unit, and stockholders, in the new Indianapolis Olympians, Inc., of the N.B.L.

It was this stellar attraction plus the leasing by the league of the large Butler University fieldhouse with a capacity of 15,025, with which the war with the B.A.A. was to be fought on common ground, against the latter league's Indianapolis Jets.

Now president of the combined effort, Max Podoloff stated he would join Groza from playing basketball if the Wildcats' center did not report to the B.A.A. at the beginning of the season.

You see, Groza had signed a league contract with Podoloff before venturing into the owner-player deal with his fellow Kentuckians.

If the two teams did not decide to get together for the mutual benefit of all concerned, Groza might easily have been in a situation in which Angelo Bertelli of Notre Dame found himself upon emerging from the Marine Corps and the South Pacific.

The ex-Notre Dame quarterback, you recall, was ill-advisedly induced to sign with Owner Ted Collins of the New York Bulldogs, nee Boston Yanks, to test the legality of the rival All-America Conference in the courts of the land.

As a result, the T-formation passer whiled away his time with the Los Angeles Dons with whom he also had signed a contract, the hospital and law courts. It left him in a mental frame of mind from which he is just emerging, is attempting to perform for the Brooklyn-New York Football Club with a knee now clear of tangled cartilage.

A pro basketball war might have ended a promising and profitable career for Alex Groza, might have ended pro basketball as a well-organized sport. It was a wise and wholesome solution to the entire problem.

SEPTEMBER SONG

Every year about this time there comes that same old story—
The Brooklyn and the Cardinals
Are out for pennant glory.

Though leaves may fall and days grow short,
And football brings a-calling,
September brings its yearly thrill—
That struggle most appalling.

Throughout the land, the acts
Have ended a promising and profitable career for Alex Groza,
Might have ended pro basketball as a well-organized sport.

It was a wise and wholesome solution to the entire problem.

are tuned
To hear the latest action.
North and south and east and west—
There's nation-wide attraction.

All day you listen to the dope,
And nights, while on your pillow,
You dream the pros and cons about—
Should they pitch or pass Furillo?

Should Burt start Roe against the Phils?
Should Eddie bench Chuck Diering?

Reese is slumping; Rice is hurt—
The crucial day is nearing.

If Brooklyn wins, say, three or four,
And if St. Louis loses—
Those ifs and ands and buts around

While fandom blows its fuses,
All summer long the teams have played,
But as they near the wire,
It seems like life is on each pitch—

Class D Baseball Playoffs to Start

BIG SPRING — (AP) — Corpus Christi and Big Spring tomorrow night open a best four out of seven game series for the Class D Baseball Championship of Texas.

Corpus Christi last night beat Brownsville, 18-1, to win the Rio Grande Valley League title in four straight playoff games. Big Spring won the Longhorn League crown recently by defeating Midland in four straight games.

The teams will play two games here and then move to Corpus Christi Saturday to conclude the series.

And you can't resist the fire.
Let Brooklyn win and cop the flag.
Or St. Louis get the mention,
But get this race into the books—
It hurts my hypertension!

WELL UPHOLSTERED—Pat Valentino looks like the Wild Man of Borneo, or maybe it's Gorgeous George at night. Anyway, he tackles Exzard Charles for the NBA version of the heavyweight championship at the San Francisco Cow Palace, Oct. 14.

Football Team Must Depend Upon Its Backs

By The Associated Press
An army may travel on its stomach, but football depends on the back.

There's the quarterback, halfback, fullback, wingback and tailback. All very important fellows.

No matter what you call them, they're the ones who "hit the line; run the tackles; skirt the ends; plunge the guards, and throw the pigskin."

No coach can do without them and most coaches complain the ones they have aren't as good as the ones they should have.

TEXAS' greatest football season is about to burst in full flower. There are more than 900 college, junior college and high school teams in the state. It might be helpful to point out a few of the types of backs you'll see in action.

Quarterback: Usually calls signals (64-38-22) and generally is the smartest fellow in the backfield. When he says "hep" everybody on the team jumps. Hence, he sometimes is known as the "field general."

Left Halfback: Usually very fast, good at deception and adept at scooting through gaps created by large bodies being thrown at other large bodies.

Right Halfback: Usually a very rugged individual who can get in the way of large fellows intent on throwing to the ground—real hard—anyone carrying the football.

Fullback: Usually a very, very rugged fellow. One capable of proving to the alumni's satisfaction that man is indeed mortal, especially when trying to disprove the theory that a straight line is the shortest distance between two points.

Scat back: Like as not to run away and leave if anybody advances upon him in a threatening manner. Just like a black cat when you want him out of the way: scat.

MISSOURIANS LIKE TEXANS, can get Fighting mad

How would you feel about it if you had gone to great pains for three generations to earn a good reputation—and suddenly found that somebody had gone around smearing that reputation?

Would you lie down and take it?

Would you fight back by using similar underhanded tactics?

Or would you fight back by spreading the TRUTH?

We have every faith that if Texans knew the truth about BUDWEISER, the persons who are trying to spread malicious gossip about us would be recognized for what they are.

When we first heard these rumors, we couldn't believe it possible.

So, we asked trained Texas investigators to make a check-up. They found that the smear campaign had been carried on systematically—in Dallas, Houston, Corpus Christi—and in other Texas cities where BUDWEISER has enjoyed great popularity throughout the years.

We didn't like it...would you?

We are not afraid of competition. We have had nearly a century of it and done fine. In fact, we conduct a school in our plant in the servicing and serving of draught beer for small breweries situated all over America. Ask those competitors what they think of how we brew BUDWEISER.

Next time anybody says BUDWEISER is green...ask him if he can prove it

Next time anybody says BUDWEISER is not properly aged...ask him where he got his information.

Next time anybody says BUDWEISER is bitter...remind him of our exclusive rights to a method of ridding beer of bitter by-products of fermentation and that we license ethical competitors to use this method because we believe in healthy competition.

Next time anybody says that BUDWEISER is not brewed in St. Louis...ask him who is paying him to spread that untruth.

We, naturally, are positive that BUDWEISER—brewed, aged and bottled in St. Louis—is the finest beer on earth.

We know that other beers, some of them made right here in Texas, are good beers that please a lot of people, but we know, too, there are some beers in America that are called "aged" when the fact is they are manufactured in from fifteen to thirty days and then are made to bubble with pumped-in CO2 gas.

Look at our label. We have no secrets. BUDWEISER is the only beer we know of that tells you on its label what you are getting—a product of the choicest hops, rice and best barley malt. This permits of no juggling of ingredients or quality.

The Home of BUDWEISER is the nation's biggest buyer of premium-priced brewer's rice, much of which is grown in Texas. It is the biggest buyer of premium-priced barley, America's finest. It buys 40 per cent of all the costly hops imported into America and blends them with the finest of domestic blossoms.

BUDWEISER goes back for extra ageing when ordinary beers call it a day. That long ageing helps to give BUDWEISER its mellow, distinctive, never-bitter taste.

We've told you our story. You'll have to write the last chapter.

Call for a bottle, can or glass of BUDWEISER. Every sip tells you...there's nothing like it...absolutely nothing.

Greenbacks Are Greener in USA; At Least That's What Europeans Say

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEULLY-SUR SEINE, France — We three—a French woman, a Briton and an American—sat down to a good French meal. Conversation at first was personal, what we had been doing, things we had seen and read.

The maid brought the first course, iced melon, and melons have been particularly good in France this year. The British woman's eyes lighted up and she was frankly, gleefully greedy as she selected the ripe, succulent fruit.

"I—the American—had not been in England and asked if the food situation was really as bad as written accounts indicated. She answered sharply, with an edge to her voice that was almost unfriendly.

"Great Britain is poor and she is always going to be poor," she responded. "We British persist in treating our situation as if it would be gone tomorrow. We won't face reality. But things are not going to be any better for us, and we might just as well face up to it. We must reduce our standards of living."

"Why do you say there will never be a recovery," I asked. "Because with the loss of India, the Empire is lost?"

"No, not just because of India," she said. "In the other days England was great because she made things that other countries wanted. Now those countries can make things for themselves and other nations don't have to buy them from us."

She looked at me a little antagonistically.

"After all," she said. "There's nothing disgraceful about being poor. It is honorable poverty. We became that way because we persisted in trying to save all of Europe from Hitler."

I said—rather poor manners, too—that while it was true the British Isles undertook the defense of Western Europe, she was also defending herself as well.

"But if the situation is as black as you say," I continued, "why don't some of the British go to Canada or Australia?"

There was another pause as the fish course was served. Dainty, tasty filets of sole, rolled and covered with a rich white sauce.

"You don't know the problems," she said. "I know some families who would like to go. But the colonies don't want old people. And then there are some families with children who aren't just right—crippled, even, from the blitz—and they aren't wanted either."

We talked generally as the meal progressed to the chicken cooked in wine, with the tiny browned potatoes and the petit pois.

"But you Americans with all your dollars," she said, "you don't have a thing to worry about."

I said that maybe we had a lot of dollars, but the average American didn't see very many of them. She laughed and told a bitter little joke about the British dentists and doctors who had to go to the Riviera to try to spend the huge amounts of money they were making under the British national health insurance.

"Everyone," she concluded, "is getting teeth and glasses because it doesn't cost anything. But how long can we keep doing things like that?"

I decided to change the subject, and turned to my hostess.

"What are the French amused at, what are they laughing about?"

She spooned from a crystal bowl some tiny woods strawberries and covered them with rich, Norman cream.

"Well," she said carefully, "there's really not much to laugh about. Prices are high, food is very expensive and we don't know what is just beyond the horizon. France is bitter, and France is very poor."

I told about a letter I'd received from home, and complaining a little bit because soap repairs to my house and car were going to cost more money than I'd expected. They both listened to my complaints with lifted eyebrows.

"Why do you mind a few hundred dollars?" The British woman asked, and her meaning was not as gay and joking as her words. "You have lots of money. In fact, you Americans have all the money in the world."

I shook my head and said no. But the Frenchwoman and the British woman didn't believe me.

Annual Rally, Promotion Day at Lefors Methodist

The annual rally and promotion Sunday will be observed Sunday, Sept. 25, at the Lefors Methodist Church.

"The Power of God" is the theme of the service, and a period of recreation with refreshments and fellowship will follow the evening services.

On Monday evening, Sept. 19, Mrs. Ellis, Kaschek and Campbell were guests of Pampa WSG at a tea and program.

All working women of the church have been invited to an organization meeting in the church parlor at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 28. They have been requested to take a covered dish for a potluck supper. Mrs. Earl Hill, Memphis, district secretary of WSG, will be present.

Those attending "M-Day" at Memphis on Wednesday, Sept. 21, were the pastor and his wife, Mrs. Midge Page and Mrs. Wayne Kaschek. The main speaker was Dr. John E. Cobb, recently returned from Japan.

All officers of WSG will attend the zone meeting at McLean on Thursday.

Far into the Night

NIGHT AND DAY throughout the year, scientists are working in research laboratories in the interest of public health. During the last two decades many diseases have been conquered. There is reason to believe that more and more progress will be made, that many afflictions now fatal will gradually yield to medical research. Your doctor, and he alone, is well informed on these new discoveries. He includes new medicinal agents in his practice as soon as their therapeutic value has been established. Depend on your doctor. Depend on us to fill his prescriptions.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Written for NEA Service

I was pleased the other day when I received a check for $500 from the Women's Contract Club of Indianapolis, Ind. Mrs. Grace C. Buschmann, president of the club, wrote that it had taken them some time to accumulate the fund, and now they were happy to pass it on to War Orphans Scholarships, Inc.

Mrs. Buschmann is one of the country's outstanding bridge teachers. I recall that many years ago she gave me today's hand as an example of how careful a player must be to avoid a fatal error at trick one. As a matter of fact, you will find several good lessons in the hand if you go over it step by step.

What would you play from dummy on the opening lead of the six of clubs? Would you say that West might be leading away from the queen, and perhaps you ought to take the finesse? Mrs. Buschmann said "Certainly not." The fact that North had bid clubs and West had led them shows that the lead must be a singleton or a doubleton, so go right up with dummy's ace.

Cash the ace of diamonds, then lead the jack of spades, and when East does not cover, do not take the finesse. Go right up with the ace of spades. This leaves the king the only trump out. Now ruff the ten of diamonds.

Then you proceed to cash the king of hearts and ace of hearts, then ruff a heart in dummy. Next cash the king of clubs to strip West of his other club, and lead a spade. All you have to hope for is that West has the spade king. West gets in and must lead either a heart or a diamond. So you trump in dummy and discard your losing club.

Party Given for Gary Dale Butler On First Birthday

Mrs. Derrel B. Hogsett entertained at a party Saturday, Sept. 24, in honor of Gary Dale Butler, son of C. D. Butler, on his first birthday.

The room was decorated in pink and the table was centered with a bouquet of pastel flowers and held a decorated birthday cake.

Movie comedies were shown, and after the gifts were opened, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Plastic cars were given to the small guests as favors.

Those present were David Cummings, Rita Lynn Hogsett, Sandra Erwin, Danny Hogsett, Dennis King, Cynthia Hogsett, Mrs. George Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Duane F. Hogsett, Mrs. Bill Erwin, Mrs. W. York, Mrs. Lloyd King, Mrs. Bob Culpepper, Mr. Butler, the honoree and the hostess.

Miss Pat Lowary Shower Honoree

McLEAN — (Special) — A kitchen shower was given Saturday, honoring Mrs. Clinton Ritter. The shower was given in the home of Miss Pat Lowary.

Miss Marshall Windom received the guests and Miss Lowary was in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Bill Reeves served coffee and cake from the serving table that was decorated with an arrangement of fall flowers.

Miss Gerry Florey presented the gifts.

Those present and sending gifts were Misses Bonnie Willis, LaVetta Gunn, Le Wanda and Darlene Shadid, LaJune Chilton, Effie Lou Carpenter, Sue and Audrey Young, Jo Ann Grigby, Marsalee Windom, Gerry Florey, Eula Mae Scales, Pat Lowary and Miss Bill Gerguson, Mrs. Bill Reeves and the guest of honor.

FROZEN TREAT
Frozen Peanut Balls, as served in a New York restaurant, are made by rolling a scoop of ice cream in finely chopped roasted salted peanuts and surrounding with chocolate sauce.

SPARE THE GARNISH
Don't garnish too many dishes at one meal; if the main course is heavily garnished, for instance, it's not necessary to add extras to the vegetables or salad.

Birthday Supper For Mrs. Hogsett

Mrs. Duane F. Hogsett, a visitor from Oklahoma City, was honored with a birthday supper on Friday, Sept. 23, by Mrs. Frank Hogsett.

A large decorated birthday cake centered the table.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Hogsett, JoAnn, Aveline and Betty; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Gunkel; Mr. and Mrs. Derrel E. Hogsett, Danny and Cynthia La Jean; C. D. Butler and Gary Dale; Mr. and Mrs. Duane F. Hogsett and Rita Lynne of Oklahoma City, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gunkel of Borger.

HARD COOKED EGGS
In hard-cooking eggs stir them several times during the cooking process since this is thought to be an aid in centering the yolks.

Someone to Love

By IRENE LONNEN ERNHART

"This is something entirely different than I felt for Liz." He pulled her to him and kissed her.

"Listen to this," Tod said once. "Wanted: Closers and Conversers." What in the world is a closer?

"After a while he looked up and said casually, "By the way, Mr. Conover phoned today and asked me to come to his office."

"The day before had been rainy and the hot sun now made the fields steamy smelling. There was the scent of honeysuckle heavy in the air, for the vine was thick along the fences, and there was the smell of white clover too from a nearby open field."

"The river was just right, cool and greenish looking, and not a bit muddy in spite of the previous day's rain. Tod had bought on his old fishing tackle and Jenny shook the dust out of the cushions on the furniture."

"Finally they were getting ready to close up the cabin and drive back to town. Tod had already put the fishing tackle away, and Jenny was gathering up the last remnants of their lunch, putting it away in the hamper, shaking out the can of bait Tod had bought on the way out and sat together on the small wooden pier fishing. They talked a lot about Pop, the way it used to be when he was along, the funny ways he had of doing things, the way he used to get so excited when he caught a fish."

"Well, perhaps you'll get a job soon, and then it'll be easy to tell him."

"A few days later Tod did get a job with an automotive supply company. He had to buy a car, but he wouldn't take no for an answer. He insisted that I think it over and give him an answer later."

"May passed and it was June. They went one fine Sunday morning out to Pop's old cabin on the river. Jenny had packed a picnic lunch, deviled eggs, potato salad in a fruit jar, pickles, minced ham
