Burglars break into Key Bros.

Burglars made off with over $13,000 in tools and equipment in a break-in of Key Bros. Implement Co. on 208 North here sometime last Sunday night.

The intruders cut through the fence on the west side then cut a hole in the wall of the building to gain entrance. Lt. Pat Taylor, who is investigating, reported.

The company's shop truck and shop trailer were used to load up two large tool boxes, 2 kerosene heaters, a tire changing machine and other tools. The truck and trailer were driven out to the west, but became stuck in the sand. The burglars retrieved another unknown vehicle loaded the stolen loot in it and departed leaving the shop truck stuck in the sand.

A suspicious vehicle was seen at the scene and the police are searching down a probable suspect.

The break-in was reported at about 7:30 a.m. Monday.

Total Cost estimated at $76,779

FROM THE SCRIPTURES—"Buy the truth, and do not sell it. Also wisdom and instruction and understanding." Proverbs 23:23

First, former Aggie George Smith gives 8 hours of taped testimony and a sworn affidavit that he was telling the truth about receiving "hush-money" from Coach Jackie Sherrill, thus posing an NCAA "death penalty" on Texas A&M. Then, he retracted his accusations as being just made-up fodder for a book and movie.

Smith must have been the Aggie who received the following letter from his mother:

"Dear Son:
Just a few lines to let you know that I'm still alive. I'm writing this letter slowly because I know you cannot read fast. You won't know the house when you come home. We have moved.

About your father, he has a lovely new job. He has 500 men under him. He is cutting grass at the cemetery.

There was a washing machine in the new house when we moved in, but it isn't working too good. Last week I put 14 shirts into it, and pulled the chain and I haven't seen the shirts since.

Your sister Mary had a baby this morning, but I haven't heard whether it is a boy or a girl, so I don't know whether you'll be an aunt or an uncle.

Your Uncle Dick drowned last week in a vat of whiskey in Dublin Brewery. Some of his fellow workers dived in to save him but he was able to fight them off. We cremated his body and it took three days to put out the fire.

Your father didn't have much to drink on Christmas. I put a bottle of castor oil in his pint of beer. It kept him going until new year's day.

I went to the doctor on Tuesday and your father came with me. The doctor put a tube into my mouth and told me not to open it for 10 minutes. Your father tried to buy it from him.

It only rained twice last week, first for three days, and then for 4 days. Monday was so windy that one of our chickens laid the same egg four times.

We had a letter yesterday from the undertaker. He said that if the last installment wasn't paid on your grandmother within seven days, she comes up.

Your Loving mother
P. S.: I was going to send you $10 but I had already sealed the envelope."

THE LONE WOLF SAYS, "Many colleges have two serious problems: too many dropouts and too few kickouts."

DID YOU KNOW? The maturing of Americans will raise the nation's median age to Jack Benny's never-changing 39 by the year 2010. The median age—meaning half of Americans are older and half younger than that mark—touched 30 for the first time in 1950.

Answer line...

Q. Why have the traffic lights in downtown Colorado City not been working?

A. Woody Crabtree, who maintains the traffic signals for the City, said Monday that one of the main electrical lines has apparently broken in one or more places. It has been difficult finding the break(s) since the lines run in conduit under the paved streets. If the break(s) can be located they can probably be repaired. "If not, new line will have to be laid. Either way, Crabtree said he hoped the lights would be back in operation by the end of the week. In the meantime, drivers are urged to observe the flashing yellow caution, and the flashing red stop signals which are still operating at the intersections.

C-C firemen answer six recent alarms

The Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department has responded to six alarms the past two weeks. On November 9 at 8:14 a.m. there was a false alarm at 7th and Locust.

On Saturday, Nov. 12, a grass fire was reported at 1:16 p.m. at the west end of the Landfill Road. Sunday, Nov. 13, at 2:10 p.m. there was another grass fire on the filter plant Road.

Last Thursday, Nov. 17, a cotton trailer fire was reported at 5:01 p.m. southwest of Westbrook.

Saturday, Nov. 19, there was a false alarm reported at 9:19 a.m. at the 120 Cotton Compress Warehouse.

Sunday, Nov. 20 a structure fire was extinguished at the Green Haven Nursery, 112 Elm, at 4:20 a.m. Light damage was reported as boxes near a floor furnace caught fire.

Local man indicted for indecency with a child

One of the two sealed indictments handed down by the Mitchell County Grand Jury last Friday, was released when Samuel Thomas Parham turned himself in to Sheriff Wendell Bryant Monday.

Parham, 39, was indicted on a charge of indecency with a child following the investigation by the grand jury.

District Judge Weldon Kirk set his bond at $2,500, which Parham made and was released the same day.

Sheriff Bryant said the other indictment would probably remain sealed for quite some time while they search for the other accused person.

JAIL

New bids are to be received and opened at 2 p.m. Monday, December 12, the Court's next regular meeting.

It is estimated that the masonry needs can be obtained for about $12,000. In addition, general expenses, not included in the bid process total approximately $8,338.

If the estimates come in close to expectations, and added to the accepted bids, the total cost of the Jail Kitchen addition, will be approximately $76,779.

OTHER BUSINESS:

The Court passed a resolution in support of West Central Council of Government's effort to implement a Housing Assistance Program through HUD. Under the plan, local rental property, which meets basic standards, can be placed in the program and offered to low-income families. HUD will make up the difference between the approved rental rate requested by the owner, and the amount that a low-income family can afford to pay. The program will provide better rental prospects for the property owners, ability of the owners to make improvements on the property, thus enhance the tax values; and make more low-rent housing available to local families. There is no cost to the County, but the County's support of the program was requested by WCTCOG.

The Court also heard an offer by Phone Billing Examiners (PBX), an Arlington firm, offering to audit the County's telephone and/or electric bills for possible billing mistakes and overcharges, at a percentage of the funds recovered. Since the service had also been used by the City of Colorado City and the Hospital District, the Court tabled action on the proposal in order to check with the City and Hospital on their experience with the program.

All members of the Court were present for the called meeting.

FOCUS

by LIBBI GARNETT
County Extension Agent

Last week there was a most disturbing documentary on television about prisoners who have been released and their readjustment into society. One man in particular had a very interesting story. His name was Michael Carmichael. He was imprisoned at age seventeen to serve a two-year term. He soon was in trouble in prison and was sentenced to an additional eighteen-year term. He rose to the leadership of "Brotherhood", the toughest prison gang in the system. Known as "Quiet Mike", Carmichael reportedly ran the gang, could command and control people and situations inside and outside the prison, and for a word could order drugs, sex, and even executions.

During the latter years of his term - he "straightened up". He held a job in the prison and finished paying his debt to society, if you will. Now he is at home and the documentary told of his new life on the backside of thirty in an alien world. For twenty years he's had many decisions made for him, such as what to eat or wear. Now he is in job training and trying to learn the system "outside".

He was pictured holding a blank resume, wondering what to write. As leader of that prison gang, he probably had many skills he did not even realize: financial management, personnel management, marketing skills, persuasion in recruiting and sales, human relations skills, (imagine living in such close quarters in such a rude and discourteous environment), organizational skills and so on. There was one thing drastically missing: Michael Carmichael's sense of self-worth. Just guessing, I'd bet in those first seventeen years of his life, there was no one telling Michael Carmichael that he was a winner, no one encouraging him or giving him faith in God, himself, or others, no one to hear his problems or his prayers. Maybe there was. Maybe not.

Parents have a tremendous responsibility. Children are dependent on their parents to provide them with the nurturing they need to become contributing citizens. All children need parents who will give them the care and love they need to feel confident and capable, the guidance they need to be responsible, and the cooperation, support, and instruction they need to achieve in school. They don't need to hear that they are stupid, ugly, or worthless. They need to be allowed to make mistakes and instructed on how to do things better next time. I once heard a saying, "treat your family like friends and treat your friends like family." Interesting.

Are you raising your children for success? Do you know the difference between guilt and shame? Do you correct your child for a misbehavior or do you scold and tell him/her that he/she is a BAD boy/girl?

When you demand of your child, "you know better than that", do you ask yourself what things you have said or done to teach the child "better than that?" Have you set an example? Most importantly, parent, See FOCUS, Page 11

4-H Gold Star awards presented

Bonnie Herrington and Francesca Helm were presented the coveted 4-H Gold Star Awards at the annual Achievement Awards Event last week when numerous 4-H members and leaders were honored for their participation and progress in 4-H activities.

Also receiving special awards for major project records were Dawn Butler, clothing; Bryan Butler, gardening and horticulture; Krystal Butler, dairy foods; Caasi Smith, Santa Fe; Francesca Helm, Santa Fe; Andrea Holm, home environment; Matthew Helm, public speaking; Bonnie Herrington, agriculture; and Justin Herrington, agriculture.

Also honored as the 1988 Friend of 4-H was Bill Ellis, owner of Colorado City Livestock Auction, who has been a long-time supporter of 4-H in Mitchell County. Each year before the County Livestock Show, Ellis and his auction barn help raise several thousand dollars in stock show prize money through a Chinese auction of a ceramic bull donated by Mrs. Helen Williams. Ellis and his company are the largest single source of prize money for the County Show. The Friend of 4-H award recognizes him for this support and allows 4-H members and leaders to show special thanks for his support of livestock projects.

4-H members throughout the County were recognized for participation in special activities that included livestock projects, foods and nutrition, clothing and fashion, livestock judging, horse, public speaking and shooting sports.

Also 4-H leaders were recognized for volunteer service, instruction and assistance to the Mitchell County 4-H programs.

The Gold Star Award is the highest award a 4-H member can receive at the County level.

Bonnie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Herrington of Loraine, who have been strong adult leaders throughout Bonnie's 7-year 4-H career. Some of Bonnie's major projects have been beef, swine, horse, livestock judging, clothing and foods and nutrition. She won the 1988 Robert Cooper Memorial Award for outstanding showmanship, and exhibited the champion American cross steer at the 1988 State Fair of Texas. She has been elected to all major offices of the Loraine 4-H Club and is currently serving as vice-president. One of her most memorable 4-H experiences was serving as a member of a group who took animals to Abilene State School for a "petting zoo".

She plans to pursue a career in history education upon her high school graduation. Francisca, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Austin Helm of Colorado City. She has completed major projects in foods and nutrition, having won district and advanced to the State 4-H food show. She was a member of a district winning rifle and shooting sports team in which she also competed at the state level; and has completed a prize winning 4-H record book that was entered in state competition.

Francisca has given recreation leadership to a District 4-H council meeting, and has served as a modeling coach for the 4-H fashion project.

Francisca plans to pursue a business career. The annual awards event was held Monday, Nov. 21 in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church in Colorado City.

Lawmakers turn attention to less controversial matters

AUSTIN—While legislators prepare to convene in January, one Democrat departed radically from normal party rhetoric and called for a tax cut for the oil and gas industry.

Meanwhile, with the election over, other officials took up business that could not otherwise be conducted without controversy:

- The feds started sending delinquent notices to some 3,700 Texas farmers facing foreclosure on Farmers Home Administration loans, and

- The state prison board relaxed the tough restrictions on prison furloughs which were quickly adopted last month after becoming an election issue.

Among those now eligible for furlough are inmates convicted of homicides, manslaughter and aggravated robbery.

How quickly postures change after an election.

Severance Tax Cut

Railroad Commissioner John Sharp, who headed the Dukakis campaign in Texas, announced his plan to cut the state severance tax to encourage Texas oil production.

The bill, which will be sponsored by state Rep. Rick Perry, D-Haskell, quickly drew the endorsement of Comptroller Bob Bullock as the best proposal lawmakers are likely to see.

Plaudits Deserved

Here's a Democrat calling for a tax cut, and not just any Democrat: Sharp was the point man for Dukakis in Texas.

Moreover, his proposal has the backing of Bullock, the man who stood tall during the revenue crunch by returning unspent funds.

Skeptics might say this proposal is designed to please conservative businessmen. If that were so, it's still more than is offered by liberals who plead for a personal income tax.

Dukakis, the liberal's liberal, got thumped, and not because of any fault of John Sharp. In fact, some who knew Sharp as a conservative senator, wondered how he fit the Dukakis mold.

The answer, of course, is party affiliation. But unlike some in his party, Sharp apparently heard the voters' message. Whether the liberals hear Sharp's message remains to be seen.

Hightower vs. Gramm

One who apparently didn't hear the message is Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, who holds the unapologetic far left position among statewide officials and was a Jesse Jackson supporter.

STATE CAPITAL

HIGHLIGHTS

Hightower surfaced in Washington at an environmental group press conference to promote reduction of the use of oil because of pollutes, the day after Sharp called for increased production.

Such mixed messages may confuse Texans, but Hightower surprised no one by saying he will announce within weeks whether he will run against U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm in 1990.

Farm Foreclosures

Hightower also ripped the FHA for giving some 3,700 Texas farmers 45 days to work out debt problems or face foreclosure.

He thinks it's a heartless blow, and for Texas to lose that many farmers would be staggering, supercollider or no.

Certainly, this news coming in the same week that OPEC threatened $5 oil is hardball indeed.

Alamo Battle

San Antonio state Rep. Orlando Garcia will ask lawmakers to put the Alamo and its budget, run since 1905 by the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, completely under state oversight.

"We're serving notice that the Alamo isn't their exclusive shop," Garcia said.

A DRT spokesperson said, "We don't argue with oversight. We've always filed an annual fiscal report with the governor. If the governor wants to come down and check our books, we'll welcome him—but not every member of the Legislature."

At issue is a $1.8 million surplus from souvenir sales and what some feel is the lack of recognition for Hispanics who died at the Alamo fighting against Santa Anna.

Mailing Draws Fire

A Houston Republican drew fire from a colleague for mailing an office newsletter with a voter petition for a proposed remedy to a controversial school funding court decision.

State Rep. John Culberson denies he used state funds to illegally influence the fate of a legislative issue, but a crosstown Democrat, Paul Colbert, rapped Culberson's newsletter as one-sided.

Culberson wrote that if the court ruling is upheld by the Texas Supreme Court, then "Judge Harley Clark will control the Texas public school system the same way that Judge William Wayne Justice now controls our state prison system."

One of the most common examples of pollution control is municipal sewage treatment. Sewage is treated at the wastewater treatment plant.

The components of sewage, also known as wastewater, and their possible effects on the environment determine the design of the wastewater treatment plant. Basically, wastewater is generated from the sinks, bathtubs, toilets, dishwashers, washing machines and drains connected to the wastewater treatment plant's collection system of piping. The items which pass through this common plumbing determine what will arrive at the treatment plant.

Of course, the most common item reaching a treatment plant is water. In fact, sewage is over 99% water, and it is this water that transports the wastes. The less than 1% which is considered waste material is, however, well mixed by the time it reaches the plant. It is this percentage which necessitates treatment.

The sewage flowing into the treatment plant is known as influent. Colorado City has the most common type of centralized wastewater treatment. It is the activated sludge process, consisting of lift station, bar screen, aeration basin, clarifier, digester, and chlorine contact chamber.

Following this process, the wastewater is considered treated and is ready for discharge from the plant. The treated wastewater is called effluent. Effluent water may be used for irrigation purposes or discharged through a pipe into a body of water.

The same bacteria conversion process which happens in a treatment plant happens in a lake or stream. However, each water body can handle only a certain amount of pollutants at a time on its own before it is overrun. Wastewater treatment plans are designed with these studies in mind to remove the amount of pollutants necessary to prevent overloading a water body. In this way, the stream quality standards set by the state for each body are maintained. The Texas Water Commission is the enforcement agency.

"Life is not so short but that there is always time enough for courtesy."

Telephone customers pay less here

27 cents per day charged

Southwestern Bell Telephone (SWBT) customers in Colorado City and across the state pay less for basic residential local telephone service than most customers across the nation, according to a recent study by the Federal Communications Commission.

"In Colorado City, residential one-party customers pay only $8.15 per month which is about the same as the price of a large pizza," said Jim West, Area Manager-External Affairs. "Or, on a daily basis, the basic rate here is 27 cents per day for a service that's always available, providing contact with friends, relatives and emergency services," he said.

Nationally, the average monthly rate for basic residential service is $12.19. In Texas, residential service rates range from $8.15 to $11.05 per month depending on the size of the local calling scope.

Rates quoted in the FCC study include only rotary dial, unlimited calling, one-party basic service. The monthly rates do not reflect federal subscriber line charges, state and local taxes, long distance, custom calling, touch-tone and other optional services.

Southwestern Bell Telephone subscribers in Texas also have a lower-cost option available to them. Economy service, available throughout most of the state, allows 25 outgoing calls and unlimited incoming calls, for half the basic charge.

"We don't sacrifice service to achieve lower rates," West said. "Customer satisfaction levels in Texas are at record-high levels."

The company's customer surveys show that 96 percent of those customers questioned say they are satisfied with their telephone service.

"The survey demonstrates our employees' dedication to help keep down costs," said West. "We're proud of our service and the value our customers receive for their hard-earned dollars."

The FCC study compared basic monthly residential telephone rates in 95 cities. The rates ranged from a low of $6.60 in Fort Dodge, Iowa, to a high of $23.39 in Huntington, West Virginia.

Six Texas cities included in the study rank near the lower two-thirds of the 95 cities surveyed nationwide. The Texas cities, where each ranked in the survey, and the basic monthly residential

Toys can be dangerous

AUSTIN - Christmas and Hanukkah just wouldn't be the same without toys for the children. But each year many children are injured by cute, seemingly harmless playthings meant for their joy and entertainment. Texas Safety Association offers the following safety guidelines to help you make the smart choices during your holiday season buying.

--When selecting toys for babies or toddlers, choose those made of washable, flexible materials. Toys-constructed of glass, brittle plastic, or other hard materials should be avoided.

--Toys should not be small enough to fit in mouths, ears, or noses.

--Avoid toys with cords or strings that could wrap around a child's neck.

--Select brightly colored toys that are light enough not to cause injury if dropped on the child. Mobiles, squishy stuffed dolls, or squeeze toys make good choices.

--Avoid toys with sharp edges, small detachable parts, or electrical or toxic components.

--Check stuffed toys for internal wires, or small pieces such as eyes that might be pulled off and swallowed.

Purchasing toys for older children require a safe approach, as well.

--Be sure that playthings are well-constructed and strong enough to withstand hard use.

--If you purchase electrical toys, make sure that they bear the Underwriters Laboratories (UL) label. You can eliminate shock and cord hazards by buying battery-operated toys, instead.

--Avoid toys that have heating elements.

--If used with the chemicals provided in the set, chemistry sets are generally a safe-buy.

--Avoid toys that shoot a projectile, such as arrows, rubber-tipped darts, disks, or other hard materials that could injure an eye.

After all the gifts have been opened and the wrapping thrown away, show your children the safe way to play with their new toys, and how to store them when they are finished. Remind older children to keep their toys out of reach of smaller children, and if a broken toy can't be fixed, through it away.

Texas Safety Association is a non-profit, non-governmental organization whose members work in government, private industry, and as individuals to prevent accidents and needless loss of life and property.

Safety urged for holidays

AUSTIN - Displays in department store windows are the first sure sign that the holiday season is approaching. Soon, Christmas trees and decorations will be appearing in homes, and houses will be strung with colorful lights. While you are decorating your home, remember that festive decorations can be hazardous. Texas Safety Association warns that more residential fires occur during the holiday season than at any other time of the year. The following safety tips can help keep your holidays safer, healthier, and happier.

--If you buy a real Christmas tree, look for a fresh one with a strong pine scent and flexible branches. A tree can be a real fire hazard, especially if it has been allowed to dry out. Bounce the tree on the ground two or three times - if more than a few needles fall, it is too dry.

--Before you set up your tree, cut about two inches from the end of the trunk, place the tree in water, and stand it in a cool place. When you are ready to set it up, choose a location away from heat sources (fireplaces, heaters), and out of the normal foot traffic areas. Use a strong, water-holding tree stand and check the water supply each day.

--Try to place your tree near an electrical outlet - avoid using extension cords if possible. Use lights and electric cords that have the Underwriters Laboratories (UL) mark. Inspect them for bare wires, loose connections, broken sockets, and dead bulbs.

--When decorating, use a sturdy stepladder. Don't hang breakable ornaments on lower branches where children or pets might pull them off.

--Always unplug your lights before going to bed or leaving the house.

--Keep decorative seasonal candles away from flammable materials, and out of reach of children. Don't place Christmas greenery on mantles over working fireplaces, and avoid hanging stockings too close to a fire.

--Avoid burning wrapping paper in your fireplace - some gift wraps contain materials that are toxic when burned.

--Keep a fire extinguisher in an easily reached place.

--Make sure that you have smoke alarms, and that they are in good working order.

TEA oversees driving education

"Mom, Dad can I borrow the car?" is a familiar refrain heard across the state every day.

To ensure that the state's drivers are properly trained before hitting the streets, the Texas Education Agency, in cooperation with the Department of Public Safety, oversees driver education and traffic safety courses in the state's public schools.

A student in Texas may enroll in driver education and traffic safety courses at age 14 if he or she will turn 15 before the classroom phase ends. Upon successful completion of the course, a student is eligible to apply to the DPS for an instructional permit.

The driver education course consists of two phases, classroom and in-car instruction. In the classroom phase, students receive 56 hours of instruction in courses for state credit and 32 hours of instruction in noncredit courses. The in-car phase consists of seven hours of actual behind-the-wheel instruction and seven hours of observation.

Students who successfully complete an approved driver education program may apply for a regular driver's license at age 16.

Colorado City Wolves drop 27-7 Area title

BROWNWOOD-Colorado City's district championship season came to an end here at Gordon Wood Stadium Saturday as the Decatur Eagles ran their way to a 27-7 Area championship.

Decatur, 8-2-2 champions of district 5-AAA, advanced to a regional contest against the Brownfield Cubs. Colorado City, district champions of 7-AAA, ended the 1988 season at 10-2.

The Decatur Eagles ran for over 300 yards Saturday with their wishbone attack. Colorado City's defense kept the Wolves in the game throughout the first three quarters of play but seven interceptions kept the offense from mounting any sustained threats.

Colorado City trailed only 13-7 at one point of the second half but Decatur added two scores to put the game out of reach.

The Wolves entered the game with questionable status for injured players and failed to match the Eagles' offensive output.

Colorado City got the first break of the game when Raymond Sutton recovered Decatur quarterback Bobby Bishop's fumble recovery with 9:17 left in the first period.

The Eagles made the first of their seven interceptions with 7:46 remaining in the first period. Vondrick Jackson intercepted Mark Russell's halfback pass at the Decatur 37 yard line. Five plays later halfback Craig Pennartz drilled a 45 yard touchdown. Talented kicker Roger Miller booted the extra point to make it 7-0 with 5:56 remaining in the first half.

Colorado City's first possession of the second quarter also ended in an interception. The Eagles' Willie Klose intercepted quarterback Chris Perkin at the Colorado City 47. The Wolves' defense held behind a jarring hit by linebacker Jerry Hulme. Hulme's hit caused a fumble but Pennartz recovered it back for Decatur. It left the Eagles in a fourth and 10 at the Colorado City 12. Still, Miller faced a stiff breeze for a 29 yard field goal attempt. Miller drilled it for a 10-0 lead with 6:30 left in the first half.

The Wolves answered with their only serious threat of the first half. Colorado City began the drive at its own 24. A pitch from Perkin to Pat Tillis followed fullback Beau Rees for a 15 yard gain to the 39. With the Wolves facing fourth and 1 at the 48, the Eagles were called for offsides to make it first and 10 at the Decatur 47.

A finger-tip catch by flanker George Rivera put the Wolves at the 38 and Rees powered for three yards and a first down at the 35. A delay of game penalty made it third and 8 at the 33. Perkin and Mark Russell connected on a pass that would have made first down inside the 20 but Jackson's hit for Decatur caused the first of two consecutive incompletions that ended the threat.

Perkin had overthrown Russell on an earlier first half pass that had 6 points written all over it. Decatur outgained Colorado City 134-80 in first half yardage but the difference was the close incompletions and Colorado City's punts into the wind (for an average of 23 yards). Decatur was also able to recover five first half fumbles.

Miller began the second half by drilling a 41 yard field goal for Decatur. The kick into the wind had yardage to spare and made it 13-7 for the Eagles with 9:14 left in the third quarter.

Colorado City didn't make a first down in the third quarter when it had the wind. The Wolves' second drive of the half ended on a Jackson interception of Perkin.

Colorado City gained a ray of hope on the next possession. Sophomore George Ramsey came in to replace Perkin at quarterback with 1:09 left in the third quarter. On second and 9 at the Decatur 30 Ramsey threw deep right. Defenders went for the ball which sailed over their heads and into the arms of flanker Russell. Russell completed a 70 yard score. Dane Hoover kicked the PAT to make it 13-7 with :52 left in the third quarter.

Decatur answered with another score to quiet a revived Wolves team. Bishop's second completion of the game, a 15 yarder to Hoss Hudson, made it first and 10 at the Decatur 33. Three plays later Pennartz took the ball on a pitch around the left side and raced to a 60 yard touchdown. Miller's kick made it 20-7 with 10:00 left in the game and the Wolves were unable to regain any momentum.

Three of the next four Colorado City possessions ended on interceptions of Ramsey. Caleb Vaughan, Jake Hilton and Brent Kelton made the steals. Colorado City's last possession ended on Casey Carter's interception of Perkin.

Decatur's last score, a 3 yard run by Miller with 3:56 left in the game, came after the Eagles took possession at the Colorado City 27 after a Hoover's 19 yard punt into the wind.

Texas A&M psychologist develops treatment for the grade-school bully

COLLEGE STATION - The grade school bully who verbally and physically tormented his schoolmates or was destructive to property will probably be just as maladjusted later in life, predicts a Texas A&M University school psychologist and author of a new textbook on the subject.

Dr. Jan Hughes says that two-thirds of aggressive children are rejected by their classmates and that their teachers develop negative attitudes towards them as well.

"Childhood rejection is one of the best predictors of later maladjustments and problems. Parents should be concerned if their child is shunned and actively disliked because of his or her annoying behavior," said Hughes.

Hughes' two-fold solution to behavioral problems is to reward non-aggressive behavior and teach non-aggressive responses by role-playing, for example. The child therapist acts as a coach - telling, showing, then having the child practice the new behavior over and over.

181 Loraine students rewarded for attendance

The Loraine School has awarded 181 students with T-shirts for perfect attendance during the October attendance period. The school is very proud of these students and they are to be commended for their excellent attendance. We feel that 181 out of 221 students to have perfect attendance is outstanding.

Classes with the best attendance in grades K-5, 6-8, and 9-12 were treated to a hamburger, French fries, and a soft drink at the Cree-Mee. Those classes were the first and third with 100% each, sixth with 99.09%, and the seniors with 99.37% attendance. Thank you students and parents for your support.

Thanksgiving season!!! What do we have to be thankful for? My answer is "lots of things." Both of us are fairly healthy, our kids are both well so are the grandkids and both in-laws. Prayers have been answered so all is well in our world.

There are friends and loved ones who will have a sad Thanksgiving and we must pray for them because only God can help them as they need to be helped. We should also remember those who are cold and hungry and do something about helping them as much as we can. May God bless the Stewarts, the Prices, the Bowlines, the Narrels, the Hendersons, the Grays, Mashburns, Snyders, the Walkers and Griffins at this season.

We also lost a very dear friend in Evelyn Horton last week. A few weeks ago her husband, Tommie Horton was buried. That couple meant a lot to everyone who knew them and that was a lot of people. Their influence will live on and we will always have sweet memories of them.

Loyd and Allie Ruth Wiggins and Ruby Lee Small attended Evelyn's funeral last week in Big Spring.

The Ready Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met at the Cree-Mee last week for their annual Thanksgiving dinner. They enjoyed visiting, the good food and the fellowship. Those present were Alta Miles, Iva Armstrong, Gladys Hart, Mrs. Virgil Parnell, Estelle Lee, Wilma Wells, Allie Ruth Wiggins, Bertha Faye Snyder, Ruby Lee Small, one visitor Amy Horton Mickey of Big Spring and Hazel Ruth Blair.

Husbands present were George Lee, T. J. Blair, Loyd Wiggins, Virgil Parnell, Homer Hart and Gus Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Elliott of Colorado City visited her sister, Mrs. Dan Butler of the Loraine Nursing Center last Sunday.

Mrs. Edna Fowler moved last week. Because of her health she moved from her apartment at the Senior Citizens Complex to the Loraine Nursing Center. We sure hope she likes her new home and soon feels better. Mrs. Fowler moved from Colorado City to Loraine several years ago to be near her daughter and son-in-law, Gene and Chrystene Britton.

Mrs. Elva Smith visited friends at the nursing home this week.

Randy Hallmark and his children of Colorado City visited with their aunt and great aunt, Mrs. Edwin Hallmark of the Loraine Nursing Home.

If you called Inez Webb's residence this week you probably got this cute young voice answering the phone. When I asked who he was he said Adam, then Adam who I asked. But he didn't tell me, finally I said is this Memaw Webbs residence and he said yes, want to talk to her?, the little voice said. His dad had to go to Dallas on business and he dropped Adam off with Grandpa Truman Nix on an Uncle Linton Ray's deer lease, so that is the mystery behind the small voice on the phone.

I saw several ex-Loraine citizens at Ben's funeral Sunday. One fellow I was especially glad to see was a neighbor of my family, he is Pete Morrison or Glen Morrison from the Stanton area and the son of the Seth Morrisons.

I also was glad to see Luline Britton, you remember her she taught school around her after finishing high school here. She married Preston Morrison. Seth and Preston are both dead.

I guess Big John could say his prediction came true. We didn't get that old blue norther, but it got plenty cold. Wait a little while and the blue norther will move in.

Wendell Cranfil of Lubbock visited Mrs. Edwin Hallmark at the Nursing home this week. Wendell is Mrs. Hallmark's nephew.

Reba Gross of Lake Buchanan is visiting with her daughter and family this week, Sandra, Donnie and Chris Phillips.

They are expecting Sandy's brother Larry Gross and family for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Saw Wright Hock in Colorado City last week. When I asked about Suda he said she was doing fine. I guess she was because she had come to the beauty shop and I am real glad she is up and about.

I want to tell you this little story about my car breaking down. It sounds kinda like Thanksgiving.

I had started to Colorado City to the beauty shop. On that exit there by Taylor's Too, what I thought was smoke started coming from under the hood and I thought it was going to burn up. I tried to get it out of the exit and out of the way. Knowing what I know about a car is where to sit if I am driving, using the brake to stop, when I have a flat and buy gas to make it run so I just got out and walked off to let it burn.

Just at that time this man came along from that road under the underpass to Mac-Michael's. He stopped to see what was wrong and I told him I thought it was on fire, but said maybe a hose was broke and he was right. He asked me what I was going to do with it and I said I'd call a mechanic and he asked who. I told him Gene Britton, then he said where do you need to go next and I said to a telephone so we went to Mac-Michael's where he told the people what I needed and they handed me a telephone and even looked up my number for the beauty shop for me.

I called Chrystene Britton at City Hall, and asked if Gene could come to my aide and she let him know. Then I called Martha and she came to pick me up to do my hair. Well Gene fixed my car and Martha took me back to pick it up.

Don't say you can't get help when you need it, just "ain't" so and you can deal with city hall. To the Ladies at Mac-Michael's to Gene and Chrystene Britton a great big thanks, also to Martha who made two trips for me.

I asked this fellow who stopped who he was and introduced myself. He said he was Don Delaney and I remembered him from a small child as his family lived next door to my mother's sister. To Mr. Delaney I want to publicly thank you for your help and kindness, so again don't tell me you can't get help when needed. Look how many people I had involved in my trip to the beauty shop and got my hair done also. Maybe this sounds small to you, but to this old woman, who is crippled and can't walk very far, it was really a blessing.

May God bless each one of you. It is Thanksgiving time.

do you believe in yourself as an individual? What is your self-worth? Do you want success for yourself and thereby encourage your child to be an achiever?

The challenges of parenting are so great. All these questions seem convicting and demanding. They are usually easier said than done. The future is surely determined by the present. Parents, I salute you. You indeed have a tremendous responsibility. Many of our newest parents are teenagers themselves. God bless you as you invest in the future of your family, your child, and our country. Congratulations also to our school teachers, our 4-H volunteers, our scout leaders, and community service volunteers. If you work with youth whether as parents or friends, you invest in the future. Parents, encourage each other. Let's all make a special effort this week to encourage a child, to make him or her feel important, and to give praise and encouragement to parents who want to be a part of raising children for success.

Unemployment benefits: the real story

COMMISSIONER
Mary Scott
Nabers

TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY

Dear Commissioner Nabers: Like everybody else it seems, my unemployment tax rate went through the ceiling this year. In reading all the standard rhetoric about the poor economy, the number of unemployed, the insolvency of the unemployment fund, etc., I wonder why nobody wants to discuss the amount of money the Texas Employment Commission pays out to people who really don't want to work.

I am not against temporarily paying a reasonable amount to someone who deserves it, but there are plenty of people who make subsidized unemployment a way of life. There is not much incentive to get a job when you can sit at home, do nothing, and draw over $800 a month. Instead of raising taxes, why don't you cut or reduce these benefits?

Based on what I have seen of the system, people miraculously find jobs as soon as the benefits run out, not before. Maybe the secret is to have the benefits run out sooner. Bad economy or not, people do what they have to do to put bread on the table. I know because I...

Started Out As A Dishwasher

a week for 26 weeks.

The legislature recently froze the maximum weekly benefit amount at $210 and this freeze will remain in effect for two years.

Finally, our data shows that most claimants do, in fact, return to work prior to exhausting their benefits. Add this to the fact that less than half of the unemployed in the state even file for benefits and I think it must be conceded that the system, though certainly subject to abuse, nonetheless serves the majority as it was intended.

Dear Started: Many employers feel as you do. Let me give you some information that may cause you to take a broader view of the system.

First, the benefit formula is calculated to provide only a 50% average wage replacement for a maximum of six months. Receiving only half of what they could be earning if employed, claimants are fortunate if they can cover their basic obligations.

Second, the $800 figure you mention is a benefit amount available only to individuals who have earned at least $20,000 a year for the last year and a half. Benefit amounts vary greatly depending upon the individual claimant's past earnings. They may be as little as $34 a week for 10 weeks or as much as $210

Ms. Nabers represents 336,000 employers throughout Texas. If you have any questions you want answered, please write Commissioner Nabers at: TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY, 614 Texas Employment Commission Building, 15th and Congress, Austin, Texas 78778.

Education becomes computer oriented

As the 21st century looms closer and closer, computers are becoming commonly accepted pieces of equipment in many businesses, homes and schools.

Computer training is now mandatory in Texas for junior high students, and many elementary schools across the state already use computers in a variety of ways. Children as young as five years old are learning how to read and write on computers.

Beginning in September 1989, all school districts in Texas must offer keyboarding skills to students in the elementary grades.

The goal of the new State Board of Education rule requiring elementary computer instruction is to ensure that students have learned the computer keyboard by the time they reach the seventh grade. At the same time, the state does not want to add another subject to the already crowded school day. State educators say both goals can be accomplished by integrating computers into the overall curriculum and using them as a classroom tool to teach other subjects.

The state already requires that one semester of computer literacy be taught in the seventh or eighth grade. At the high school level, one year of computing (which includes such courses as computer science and computer math) is required for the advanced high school program, and computer courses are offered for vocational classes as well.

With computers becoming a big part of the school day, how can a computer at home help? Tom Boudrot with the Texas Education Agency says it is never too early to start a child on a computer. He says parents might wish to consider investing in a home computer before their child begins kindergarten.

"Computers are so multi-sensory. They're a great learning device for young children," Boudrot says.

He suggests that parents who may be interested in buying a home computer first inquire as to what type of computers are being used in their child's class and why they're being used. For example, if the child is using a specific computer and word processing software package at school to learn composition, then that would be a good reason to invest in the same equipment at home.

Also, Boudrot recommends that parents find out if their local schools have a software library. This can save money.

"Over the long haul software becomes more expensive than the initial investment of just the computer. It's just like buying books. Many schools have software libraries where students can check out the software."

Parents can save money by buying a used computer, too. Many people outgrow their use for their home computer, but such a computer may be ideal for a child.

Before making the costly investment a computer requires, Boudrot says parents must ask themselves: "Why am I buying this computer?"

"Some people buy computers purely for the kids, others for themselves and some buy them for the whole family. But parents must remember that a child's computer may not have enough power to run the needs of a household or a small business."
