Proposed Airport Spotted

Engineering is underway for a proposed Howard County airport which would be located approximately four miles from the north city limits, on the Snyder highway indicated runways and entrance road are shown in the circle at top right. Howard County property-owning taxpayers are to vote next Saturday on a $500,000 bond issue to finance construction of the civil airport facility (Map courtesy of Benson-Thompson-Nash, land engineers on the project).

PROPOSED HOWARD COUNTY AIRPORT

Snyder Highway Site Selected For Airport

County commissioners propose to locate the county airport adjacent to the Snyder Highway about four miles northeast of Big Spring, if the $500,000 airport bond issue is approved next Saturday.

County Judge R. H. Weaver said Saturday the site has been selected subject to approval by the Civil Aeronautics Authority. The judge said he expects the CAA to approve the location, in light of recent rulings by the agency in other areas.

The tentative site is on land owned by John Sherrod and others near the intersection of the Snyder Highway with the old Colorado City road. Weaver estimated that from half a section to a section of ground will be required.

The judge said commissioners have considered other sites, but they are from 10 to 12 miles from Big Spring. The Snyder Highway location was picked because of its proximity to the city.

Plans call for construction of two runways. One will be surfaced and the other graded. Two buildings — a hangar and an administrative facility — will be required.

Commissioners ordered an election for next Saturday on a proposed $500,000 bond issue to finance land acquisition, runway and taxiway improvements, and the buildings. All county taxpayers, otherwise qualified, are entitled to vote.

Absentee voting in the election will be concluded Tuesday. Forty-three persons had marked absentee ballots by noon Saturday.

BIG SPRING RODEO

5,500 Attend Last Performance

Another large crowd — approximately 5,500 — turned out Saturday night for the fourth and final performance of the 23rd annual Big Spring Cowboy Rodeo and Reunion.

Although they saw some fast times and daring rides, they didn't get to see the champion calf roping in action. Jimmy Cooper of Monument, N. M., had sacked that up Friday night when he wrapped up his calf in 11 seconds, the fastest time ever recorded in the 23 years of the rodeo here. This gave him 31 seconds on two calves, and easy margin. Lefty Wilkins, Yuleta, who set the pace on opening night, was second with 32.8 on his two calves.

Top honors in the girls barrel race went to Pat Wiley of Roswell, N. M., who had an aggregate of 76.3 seconds on her four nights of riding.

Danny Daniels of Fort Worth, on the strength of a brilliant dive and twist Friday evening, took first place in steer wrestling with 17.8 on two calves.

Top man in bareback bronc riding was Ira Thomason of Silesia, Mont., while Billy Weeks of Abilene was the best in saddle bronc riding.

Raymond McKee, with a 15.6 catch and tie Saturday night, shaded E. P. Driver for the Howard County roping championship. He had a total of 33 seconds on two calves and Driver had 33.7. Curiously both of them might have finished in the big money had they

Demo Party Strife Centers In Big Cities

BY ROBERT E. FORD

Rump county Democratic conventions involving three big blocs of votes threw the question of who will control Texas party machinery into turmoil Saturday night. All three of the counties helped give Sen. Lyndon Johnson and his "moderate," liberal-loyalist coalition a sweeping victory in the May state convention and a Texas delegation to the national convention pledged to support the party nominees.

That fight was billed as a Johnson-Gov. Allan Shivers contest because the governor helped lead the state away from the Democratic presidential slate in 1952 and into the Republican column.

The big-vote counties with disputed delegations were Harris with 270 delegates, Tarrant with 96 and Jefferson with 37.

Elsewhere, the loyalist forces appeared to be strengthening the victory won in May.

Gray and Gregg counties, each with 11 votes, swung from the Shivers-conservative column to the liberal-loyalist side, as did Lavaca with its 7 delegates.

At stake is control of the Sept. 11 Democratic state convention in Fort Worth. At that meeting, Democrats will pick the Texas Democratic Executive Committee for the next two years and make party rules which might have an effect on the state and national political picture.

In Harris County, the dispute grew so involved that both sides agreed to let the convention organization decide which delegation will be seated. There was no bolt.

The 270 Harris County (Houston) votes will be a rich prize for either the conservatives or the liberal-loyalists.

The decision will be made by a credentials subcommittee appointed by the conservative state executive committee.

However, the convention as a whole could overrule the credentials group and seat a delegation not recommended by the subcommittee.

In Tarrant County (Fort Worth), the conservatives were in firm control and the liberals staged a genuine rump convention. The same happened in Jefferson County (Beaumont and Port Arthur).

Liberals were in control in Nolan County and the conservatives bolted.

There was a scattering of uninvited delegates whose liberal-conservative leanings could not be determined, but they will hold the balance of power only if a decision rides on only a dozen or so votes.

There also was a scattering of resolutions supporting each of the candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, U. S. Sen. Price Daniel and Ralph Yarborough, but support of these candidates was not a direct issue in many conventions.

In Throckmorton County, the convention held what was called a "Yarborough rally" in nearby Baylor County, a resolution instructed delegates to follow the platform and leadership of Daniel in the convention. Yarborough received cheers and applause when he appeared at the Travis County (Austin) convention.

Most of the conventions controlled by loyalists also passed party loyalty resolutions. The vote-heavy, Dallas County convention voted down such a resolution.

Only a few counties took any action on a request of state loyalists.

McKeon Gets Boot, Prison Term In Surprise Sentence

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., Aug. 4 (AP)—Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon today was ordered discharged in disgrace from the Marine Corps for the April 8 death march that cost six recruits' lives. He also got nine months in prison.

The sentence jolted the rigidly erect Marine. His shoulders slumped. His voice choked. Tears flooded his blue eyes. But he recovered in a few minutes and, with his wife, headed for the Roman Catholic chapel on the base to pray.

"I'll never forget those six kids," McKeon said to his wife, Betty, 28, as they left the school house where McKeon's 19-day court-martial was held. He referred to the young Marines who drowned in Ribbon Creek as McKeon led the 74-man recruit Platoon 71 on a night disciplinary march.

McKeon's sentence is not necessarily final. It will be automatically reviewed by the Navy Department and, if not reduced there, may be appealed. He will not be imprisoned until it is finally settled.

But, if upheld, it means the end of an 8-year Marine career that McKeon had cherished above all else. And it means he will return to civilian life as a man forever branded, ineligible for most veterans benefits, unacceptable for a Civil Service job, and a marked man in any civilian pursuit he may undertake.

Other terms of the sentence provide that he be reduced to the rank of private. If the sentence is upheld, the reduction in rank will become effective the day he is committed to prison. He would be discharged as private the day after his prison sentence ends.

The 31-year-old 6th grad N22, the 31-year-old Marine could have gotten a maximum of three years in prison and a dishonorable discharge. He was convicted last night of drinking on duty and negligent homicide, the latter defined by the courts as "absence of due care by one responsible for the safety of others."

McKeon was cleared in the verdict of manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking in front of a recruit—charges which would have doubled the maximum. The same jury that renders a court-martial verdict also fixes sentence.

In view of the favorable verdict, McKeon and defense lawyer Emile Zola Berman were confident of a light sentence as they stood at attention before the president of the court, Col. Edward L. Hutchinson, who read the sentence.

Berman earlier had asked the court to set McKeon free to be with his wife, whose third child is expected next week. He also urged that McKeon's Marine career "not be cut short."

McKeon, himself, had said a few hours before the sentencing: "I'll stay in the Marines if they'll have me."

Hutchinson read the sentence:

A dismissal with a bad conduct discharge—a blot on a man's record only a few degrees above a dishonorable discharge.

The difference between the two types of discharge is not great. A dishonorable discharge denotes a more serious crime, in the class of a felony. A bad conduct discharge is punishment for bad conduct, rather than a serious offense. In some states, a dishonorable discharge automatically costs a man his right to vote and hold public office. A bad conduct discharge may, but it need not.

Forfeiture of $30 a month for a period of nine months from McKeon's pay.

Nine months at hard labor.

Reduction in rank to private, cutting McKeon's pay and allowances from $345 a month to $241, less the $30 forfeiture.

McKeon already has two small children, a daughter, 5, and a year-old son.

The first reporter to reach McKeon asked him his reaction to the verdict. His eyes filled with tears, and his voice choked. He spread his hands in an expression of incredulity. Then Berman grabbed his arm brusquely and said:

"No comment, let's get out of here."

Later, both McKeon and Berman relaxed somewhat.

McKeon's wife, who wept at the verdict last night, was dry-eyed at the sentence, apparently not understanding immediately its effect on her husband's career.

"I don't even know what he said," she commented of Hutchinson's sentence.

As he awaited sentence, McKeon seemed more relaxed than he has been yet during the court-martial.

"Whatever they give me will be fair," he said then.

After the sentence, he refused to say anything critical of the seven officers who ordered cut short his career.

McKeon took an unruly platoon of 74 recruits—aged 17 to 21—on a disciplinary night march into Ribbon Creek about 8 p.m. of a Sunday last spring.

The platoon floundered into deep water and six of the boys died.

McKeon had a near perfect Marine Corps record until the tragedy and this was put before the jury. It contained no previous criminal convictions, either in or out of service.

Sentence Brings Wave Of Sympathy

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., Aug. 4 (AP)—The sentence given Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon in his court-martial today evoked a wave of sympathy among sergeants on this sprawling training center.

A few hours after the 2 p.m. sentence was announced, a large glass jar appeared on the bar at the Staff NonCommissioned Officers Club.

It was labeled "McKeon Family" and was rapidly being filled with money, mostly bills.

During the first five minutes the jar was passed around more than $100 was contributed. More continued to flow into it during the afternoon.

But the McKeon family is in no press of finances at the moment. While awaiting the automatic review by the secretary of the Navy—which may take several months—McKeon continued to draw his pay as a staff sergeant. The sentence cannot be executed until it has been approved by the Navy secretary.

The sergeant's wife, Betty, a wide-eyed brunette, expects their third child next week. No financial strain is expected there because in any case she will get the medical attention allotted each serviceman's family.

Sympathy for the 28-year-old wife during the trial ordeal had its effect. A newspaper reader in Dillon, S.C., sent a package of diapers to the expectant mother.

Several offers of money were received by the defense during the trial but were not accepted, including one of $5,000 from a wealthy ex-Marine in Grosse Pointe, Mich., Henry Stevens IV.

This afternoon the convicted sergeant watched a baseball game on television with two brothers, Edward and James, both from Worcester, Mass.

"He's just marking time until the review," James commented.

7 Persons Die In Auto Crash

WOODVILLE, Tex., Aug. 4 (AP)—Seven members of a Beaumont church group returning from a swimming party were killed and two others were critically injured today in a three-car pile-up about five miles south of Woodville on U.S. 69.

Killed were Julian William Gerard Jr., 18, Mrs. W. H. Belshie, 29; Wanda Gale Belshie, 2½, daughter of Mrs. Belshie; Jerry Burnett, about 18; Nancy Hamie, 17; Monroe Cooper Busbee, 16; and Sharon Mabry, 16.

Critically injured were Roy Cade Jr., Hillister, Tex., and Willie D. Jerue, 20, Woodville.

Nasser Vows Fight As Suez Crisis Grows

LONDON, Aug. 4 (AP)—Replies to invitations to the big Suez conference started coming in today while Britain and France made ready to blow the military whistle on President Gamal Abdel Nasser and his plans for taking over the great Middle East waterway.

Nasser was reported by a close Egyptian friend in Cairo to have "made up his mind to fight if necessary" against the British-French-American plan to set up an international authority over the Suez Canal.

He was said to have almost decided—but not quite—against even accepting the three powers' invitation to the 24-nation conference in London 12 days hence when the showdown may come whether the world-shaking Suez crisis will be decided peacefully or by force.

The Egyptian President was described by his friend as being convinced that the Western military threats were no bluff, and as being worried that some incident might bring an expedition down upon Egypt. But he was said to be resolved to take the consequences and to fight.

The London conference is expected to approve a plan to assure that the 87-year-old canal remains open to all nations and is not subject to Egypt's national policy alone. Informants have said the conference will go on whether Egypt attends or not.

The British Foreign Office, for courtesy reasons, refused to list the nations which already have accepted conference invitations, leaving the announcement to the countries themselves. First Pakistan and then Portugal, however, announced they had accepted the bids. Premier Hussein Ala of Iraq said in an interview his country also would attend.

Truck Crash Fatal To Big Spring Man

Glenn Wayne Goolsby, 22, was hurt fatally Saturday in a two-truck collision 12 miles west of Stanton on U. S. 80.

Pinned in the crushed cab of his truck after it plowed into the rear of an oil transport, Goolsby was rushed to the Martin County Hospital. He died at 3 p.m., little more than two hours after the crash.

Remains are at River Funeral Home and arrangements are pending.

George A. Buckaloo, 28, Odessa, driver of the transport owned by Jones Bros. Construction Company of Odessa, was unhurt.

George Winstead, Midland, state highway patrolman, said that Buckaloo had just turned into the highway from a lateral road where he had unloaded a cargo of asphaltic oil. Goolsby, also westbound in a Big Spring Grain Company truck, collided with the rear of the heavy transport. The mishap occurred almost opposite the Country Store, which is in Midland County. Traffic was detoured temporarily until highway crews could sand down an estimated 8 to 10 barrels of road oil spilled by the impact.

Goolsby, who was born Oct. 9, 1933 in Coahoma, had lived here virtually all his life. He and his wife and their three children made their home at 1105 N. Scurry. Besides his wife, survivors are two sons, Aaron Wayne Goolsby and Terry Lane Goolsby; a daughter, Betty Diane Goolsby; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Goolsby, Big Spring; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam F. Goolsby, Lenora.

Sen. Duff Says Red Attack On U.S. Would Be 'Suicide'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—Sen. Duff (R-Pa.), defending administration defense policies, said today the U.S. Air Force is so powerful it would be "suicide" for Russia to attack.

If the Soviets attempted a surprise atomic onslaught on this country, he said, the Air Force would strike back with a nuclear blow that would inflict casualties "on the order of several hundred million deaths."

Duff is one of two Republican members of a special Senate Armed Services Subcommittee which has been investigating the relative position of U.S. vs. Soviet air power.

His view, set forth in a statement, was that "the U. S. Air Force has the most powerful striking force in the air in the world today."

He said he based this on testimony by "top commanders of all branches of the military services, scientists of the military services and other scientists, as well as former top officers of the U. S. armed services."

"We are not only the best but we must continue to be the best," Duff said. "To do that we must keep on our toes. That we intend to do."

Duff's confident claims for present and planned air superiority indicated a probable split in the final report of the five-member committee headed by Sen. Symington (D-Mo.), a former secretary of the Air Force.

Duff said that "despite all the bluster and bluff of the Communists, our Air Force is a positive deterrent force, so strong that the Russians would not dare to make an attack against us for fear of the horror of retaliation."

He said the heavy B52 jet intercontinental bomber now coming into production is "without question superior to any similar plane of its kind in the world today."

Democrats have been demanding that the administration step up production of this heavy long range bomber. They contend the new Russian Bison bomber is comparable to the B52.

Duff said this country also has the best jet fighter planes in the world in the F104 starfighter.

As to Navy air power, Duff said "The United States has the greatest Navy carrier fleet in the world. Nothing compares with it."

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

With numbing irony, the same showers which revived flickering crop hopes in some areas also brought tragedy in another. Little Mark Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Thomas, was drowned in a flooded borrow ditch. To add to the irony, showers weren't so heavy where he was, but it was the volume of water which came unsuspectingly in from downpours upland which created the swift stream.

Nor did violence end with this. On Tuesday R. G. E. Warren, a resident of Big Spring for only three months, died in a Midland collision in that city. On Saturday, eight miles east of Midland on U. S. 80, Glenn Wayne Goolsby, who spent virtually all of his 22 years in Big Spring, was injured fatally

Supporters Switch Sides As Governor Candidates Lay Plans

By GARTH JONES

Supporters of Ralph Yarborough and Price Daniel switched sides Saturday as the candidates for governor got their runoff campaigns rolling.

Yarborough planned to take off Monday for a wide swing through Central Texas and across West Texas on to El Paso.

Daniel sketched a no less strenuous vote - getting tour through East Texas and then into Central Texas.

The Texas Election Bureau made a final report on the July 28 primary showing Daniel with a lead of 164,173 votes over Ralph Yarborough.

In other state runoffs Waco Dist. Atty. Tom Moore said he was in the race "all the way" with former Supreme Court Justice Will Wilson for attorney general. Wilson led Moore in the primary by 183,804 votes.

LI. Gov. Ben Ramsey will appear on the ballot although his runoff opponent, Sen. A. M. Alkin Jr. of Paris, withdrew Friday on what he called doctor's orders.

Alkin trailed Ramsey by 270,514 votes in the primary.

"I think you ought to pick delegates to the state convention that will be loyal to the party and its nominees," Yarborough told the Travis County convention. "However, if you want to pick delegates who will be friendly to the next governor, pick delegates who are friendly to me, I am going to be the next governor."

Daniel attended his home county convention in Liberty, and made brief speeches at nearby Cleveland and Livingston. He said: "The personal issue in this campaign is already evident. The voters have a choice between a man with a program and a man with a grudge. I shall continue to campaign on my own program of honesty and integrity in politics and government and unity and progress for Texas. No one is going to bait me into taking any other course."

The battle of petitions continued. Former Court of Criminal Appeals Judge Tom Beauchamp and 18 other backers of W. Lee O'Daniel in the first primary pledged support to Daniel in the runoff.

Jim Fitts, Austin accountant and Central Texas leader for O'Daniel, asserted a poll of 38 O'Daniel workers in central Texas showed 36 would support Yarborough.

Fitts said he had employed the Hillbilly Boys, a fiddle band that traveled with O'Daniel to hit the road with Yarborough. It is added that hiring the band did not necessarily mean O'Daniel was backing Yarborough.

Yarborough said the campaign manager of Reuben Senterfitt's home county, San Saba, was now working for Yarborough.

A telegram signed by 52 persons in Waxahachie "who supported you in former years" urged Daniel to get out of the race in favor of Yarborough.

A statement from 24 self-styled

"loyal Democrats and your former supporters" Friday urged Yarborough to quit.

Daniel's schedule calls for appearances Monday in Kountze, Silsbee, Kirbyville, Newton, Jasper, Woodville and Lufkin. Tuesday he will be in Nacogdoches, San Augustine, Center, Carthage and Longview. Wednesday he will be in Tyler. Thursday Daniel will campaign in Anson, Terrell, Dallas, Irving, and Fort Worth. Friday, Daniel will be in Dallas and Saturday he has appearances in Waxahachie, Corsicana, Wortham, Mexia, Groesbeck and Waco.

Yarborough on Monday will visit Round Rock, Georgetown, Copperas Cove, Killeen, Gatesville, Hamilton, Hico and be at Stephenville for an 8 p.m. rally.

His tentative schedule includes Tuesday at Dublin, Comanche, DeLeon, Eastland, Ranger, Cisco and a night rally at Abilene. Wednesday-Sweetwater, Snyder, Colorado City, Big Spring, Denver City, Andrews, Odessa and Pecos. Thursday-A breakfast in Midland, then fly to El Paso for the rest of the day.

Auto Impounded

A green, 1932 Studebaker has been impounded by sheriff's officers after being abandoned on the Andrews Highway about 11 miles west of Big Spring. Officers had the machine towed to Big Spring after it sat beside the road for three days. Keys were in the car which was in running order. It was registered to a former West Texas man who sold it to a Clovis, N. M., used car dealer.

Allies Hold Shaky Link In Suez Fight

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (U-P)—The United States, Britain and France have achieved at most only a shaky and uncertain cooperation in dealing with the Suez Canal crisis. This is one of the most dangerous aspects of the situation because it weakens the heart of the Western alliance.

Responsible authorities conceded today that the lack of strong and complete Western unity was apparent in the Suez report, given to the nation last night by Secretary of State Dulles.

Pinning his hopes on a coming international conference to set up international control of the canal, he refused to say what the United States may do in case the conference fails. No commitments have been given, he said.

While Britain and France went ahead preparing for a military showdown with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser if necessary to secure the canal from his grip, Dulles reportedly barred his advisors from even considering such a prospect.

Apart from the Western split beneath the surface agreement on holding a Suez conference, at least two other fundamental points stood out here after a week of crisis diplomacy brought on by Nasser's seizure of the waterway:

1. The United States, Britain and France have offered Russia a recognized role as a Middle Eastern power by inviting it to attend the proposed 24-nation conference on the canal. Serious thought had been given here to omitting Russia.

The danger that the Suez crisis will lead to at least a limited war in the Middle East continues to be grave. The two chief factors in determining whether it will or not are the amount of restraining influence which President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles can exert on their British and French opposite numbers and the degree of restraint which Nasser can exercise on himself.

Dulles, who made the first definitive statement of U. S. policy in the crisis last night, conferred at his home today with Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy and William M. Rountree, assistant secretary.

Both have been working full time on Suez problems. They were able to report to Dulles that Nasser had not finally slammed the door on the international approach to a compromise settlement which Dulles succeeded in selling to the British and French governments in talks at London in midweek.

The core of the whole matter as far as the United States is concerned is the danger of war. Dulles warned that for the Western nations—meaning Britain and France—to have responded to the seizure of the canal by landing troops and marching into Egypt would have violated United Nations principles and endangered world peace.

Beyond that Dulles expressed confidence that the proposed 24-nation conference opening in London Aug. 16 would succeed. Authorities said today that Dulles is concentrating so completely on the conference method that he will not allow associates in the State Department to work on alternative policies in event of a breakdown of the meeting.

The contrast of his conduct with that of British and French leaders could hardly be greater. Prime Minister Anthony Eden has put through a declaration of "great emergency," started small scale mobilization and begun redeploying forces in the Mediterranean. French Premier Guy Mollet has declared French determination to "use every means" to prevent Egypt from continuing control of the Suez Canal and powerful units of the French fleet have been concentrated for Mediterranean action.

The reasons for the differing Western positions are briefly summarized by the experts here as follows:

FRENCH—The Paris government blames much of its trouble with Arab tribesmen in North Africa on the support which they get from Nasser. French leaders have seen in the Suez crisis a chance to destroy Nasser as a political power in the Arab world.

BRITISH—The Suez Canal has been the jugular vein of Britain's economy for a century. The British people and government reacted to Nasser's sudden seizure as an individual would react at an alien hand at his throat. British pride and prestige are involved.

UNITED STATES—The White House and State Department were not so alarmed by Nasser's nationalization of the canal as they were by the fact that he might use his power over it to strangle economically any nation he did not like. Dulles and Eisenhower felt, however, this was not an issue for shooting but for negotiating.

Furthermore, this is a presidential election year in the United States and the pressures on the administration to seek peaceful solutions to all international problems, instead of standing on the brink, are very strong.

Fender skirts for a black Ford Victoria are being held for their owner at the sheriff's office.

The accessories were recovered after arrest of a man on theft charges at the rodeo grounds Wednesday night. Deputies arrested the man after they saw him tampering with an auto. They were unable to locate the car after capturing the suspect.

Demand For Water Falls

Cooler temperatures and rain helped keep water consumption down in Big Spring the first three days of August. Daily usage was only about 5.8 million gallons.

Average for July was over eight million gallons per day. Highest day of the month is 6,006,000 gallons used on Thursday.

Wednesday the total was 5,865,000 and Friday it was 5,739,000 gallons for a three-day total of 17,609,000 gallons. The average is 5,869,000 gallons per day.

Cadillac

Feels Even Better than He Looks!

Ever notice how a man looks when he takes the wheel of his new Cadillac and heads for his favorite highway?

Take a good look the next time you have a chance—and we think you'll see a happy man! There's just no mistaking the pride and satisfaction that show in his face . . . or the happiness and contentment that reside in his heart.

And, as any experienced Cadillac owner can testify, he feels every bit as wonderful as he looks! For a journey in the "car of cars" is both a marvelous tonic for the spirit . . . and a wonderful opportunity for physical rest and relaxation.

It starts the instant he slips into the driver's seat and rests his hands on the wheel. Those deep, soft cushions hold him in perfect comfort . . . and he is surrounded by beauty and luxury.

Even before he sets the car in motion, some of life's care and worry seem to go out of his day.

And then comes the miracle of Cadillac performance. It's an inspiration just to sit at the wheel . . . to look out over that graceful hood . . . and to watch the miles flow gracefully by.

And how easy it all is. Just a gesture of his hand on the steering wheel and the car follows effortlessly and obediently. Just a touch of his toe to the accelerator and the car answers instantly to the command. Just a nudge of his foot on the braking pedal and the car comes to a smooth, safe, silken stop.

Sound wonderful? Well, we sincerely urge you to come in at your first convenience—spend an hour at the wheel—and see for yourself.

We'll be happy to give you the keys . . . and the car . . . and some wonderful news about the cost and delivery advantages that you will enjoy if you make your decision for Cadillac today.

They Call The Signals

Quarterbacking some 900 takeoffs and landings each day at Webb AFB is the responsibility of men who operate the control tower. Two of those assigned to Airways and Air Communications Service are A-2C Mickey Hallam and A-1C Gerald D. Perrin, shown above. Safety of all craft coming or leaving Webb is in their hands.

Control Tower Is Base Nerve Center

"The Tower" is the nerve center for all takeoffs and landings at Webb AFB, and as such it is one of the busiest spots on the base. In a normal month, the tower will give instructions governing four active runways, plus two runways available for emergency use only, for something like 25,000 to 35,000 landings and takeoffs. This breaks down into about 900 military and four civilian aircraft daily. Besides landings and takeoffs, the tower gives on an average something like 2,000 directional findings per month. This is a procedure which determines the direction from which a plane's radio signal originated, and hence enables the tower to bring the craft in safely. In connection with this work, the tower keeps the lanes clear while the GCA (Ground Control Approach) landings wherein operators viewing radar screens literally talk the pilots (flying blind) down to safe landings. Last month there were 1,277 of these. Every aircraft must be cleared by the tower before taking off and the pilot must check with the tower for instructions before attempting to land. Men who operate the tower are highly skilled specialists in their field. Back of each one is a long record of training and experience. They must first of all graduate from an Air Traffic Control school and then put in many months of on-the-job training after returning to their base. Moreover, the men must pass an Air Traffic Controllers test for a United States Air Force certificate as an ATC. They must also hold a junior Civil Aeronautics Administration rating. The over-all work of the tower shapes up under Capt. Oliver E. Rogers and under A-1C Bert E. Eckstein, tower chief. More traffic is handled at Webb AFB on a regular day than would stream through Chicago's Midway airport, the busiest civilian port in the nation. That gives some idea as to the responsibility resting on the tower.

Demos Attack Power Policies

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP) — A Democratic National Committee advisory group said tonight the Eisenhower administration has used "double-talk and phony sloganeering" in an effort to justify a "destructive" policy on natural resources. Declaring the development, conservation and management of natural resources has become "a real and critical issue" in the campaign, the advisory group called for a broad program of change, including resumption of federal multi-purpose, self-liquidating dam construction. The "partnership" policy of the administration was termed a "constant and calculated effort to destroy the comprehensive river basin approach" in resource development. This policy, the group added, is "nothing more than an unholy alliance between the federal government and the private power companies." The report was made by a committee on natural resources headed by Oscar L. Chapman, former secretary of the interior in the Truman administration. It called on all citizens, including "Republicans and independents who resent the Eisenhower administration's attack on conservation principles to rise to meet this challenge" at the ballot box this November. The report recommended an 11-point program in land, water, energy and minerals. Chapman said it will be used as the basis for a platform plank at the party's national convention. In place of the "partnership" policy which loans in many cases toward local and private power development of the nation's rivers, the committee proposed returning to and strengthening the principle of comprehensive river basin development. Under this, it said, the federal government is the planning agent and supplier of investment capital, cooperating with states and localities. The report struck out at what it called "giveaways and attempted giveaways" at Hells Canyon and Niagara and efforts to "break the

King-Size Texas Delegation Heads For Chicago Saturday

AUSTIN, Aug. 4 (AP) — A king-sized Texas delegation armed with 56 potent Democratic national convention votes leaves for Chicago next Saturday still pledged to cast them for a favorite son, Sen. Lyndon Johnson. Two Negroes are in the Texas delegation. Texans will take major roles in the convention. Its presiding officer will be Speaker Sam Rayburn, Johnson's absolute control of his own favorite-son votes could give him a decisive voice in maneuvering over the nomination. Johnson hasn't said what he might do. The Senate majority leader has been in virtual seclusion at his Pedernales River ranch west of here since Congress adjourned. Neither he nor Rayburn has commented on Sen. Estes Kefauver's withdrawal from the nomination contest. Johnson for months has refused to single out any Democrat as his favorite, asserting only that the party has many top men who can win in November. Johnson had been widely mentioned as a strong possibility in case the convention deadlocks. The May state convention bound the Texas delegation, of which Johnson is chairman, to vote for him until Johnson releases it. The 56 Texas votes could be a major factor in nailing the nomination down for Adlai Stevenson on an early ballot if released. Johnson and Rayburn worked hard for Stevenson in 1952 when Texas Democrats, led by Gov. Shivers, swung the state into the Republican column for the second time in a half century for Dwight Eisenhower. Texas voted for Herbert Hoover in 1928, rejecting Al Smith. Shivers has indicated he might back Eisenhower again if Stevenson is the Democratic nominee. Many of the 250 Texas delegates, alternates and delegation staff will go to Chicago on a special train or special cars leaving various points Saturday. Rayburn will board the train at Dallas or Denison. If enough cars are not lined up to make a special train, the Texas sections will be attached to the MKT's Texas Special. The Texans will arrive at Chicago Aug. 12 and are to caucus that night. Texas' 56 votes will be cast by 112 delegates named in May. There are 70 alternates—most of whom plan to be spectators—and a big secretarial staff. The dele-

Lutherans Planning Evangelistic Services

LAMESA, Aug. 4 — What is believed to be the first Evangelistic service to be conducted by a Lutheran Church in Dawson County is scheduled for St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, at Sparenberg, Sept. 8-13. The pastor, the Rev. E. Kleber, has announced that the Rev. Harold Klawitter of Pecos will be the special speaker.

Prescription Pharmacists

... can you count the factors entering into your prescription. Pharmacy deals with a multitude of details, and the many thousands of items in your pharmacist's stock prove the point.

Your prescription specifies drugs, amount, strength, size, and dosage. Add to these the order of mixing, compatibilities, and hundreds of procedures and diversities within the knowledge of your pharmacist. They multiply the selective factor of medicines, and establish pharmacy as a most complex profession. All of these skills are employed to serve you when we fill your prescription.

Aid Asked For Fire Victims

Fire Chief H. V. Crocker has started taking contributions from firemen here for families of firemen who died in the Dumas tragedy last Sunday. He said Saturday that not only was he asking for contributions from firemen, but if anyone in Big Spring wanted to add to the fund, that would be appreciated. Many ex-firemen might want to contribute, he said, to help the families of the volunteer firemen. A letter from the state fire marshal's association has asked for gifts. A goal of $1 per fireman over the state has been set. Crocker urged any citizen wishing to contribute to call the fire station.

THE WEEK

when his truck collided with the rear of another.

Spotted and sometimes intense showers did benefit part of the north half of the county. Perhaps 100 square miles in the general area of Luther came in for helpful rains ranging to as much as three inches plus. There was a smaller spot southeast of Knott with two to three inches and still another in the northwest part of the Moore community. The moisture could add a thousand or 20 bales of cotton to our poor prospects.

Hardly had the announcement been made that the freeway, east from Big Spring to connect with the divided section in Mitchell County, than District Engineer Jake Roberts was here with word of more work planned for U. S. 80. Grade separations and access roads across the county will cost $3 million of construction. The ultimate for U. S. 80 is to be nearly as free of cross traffic as a toll road.

There was other news about roads, for the state sends $25,884 as the county's share of the road bond retirement surplus. This will be applied to the lateral road program, which incidentally gives every promise of meeting its goal of 20 miles of new permanent road this year.

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District met here Thursday and decided to take another long-range look at water potentials and demands. As part of the look, they agreed to study possibility of serving Midland at some future date. This would probably be on a customer basis if such an arrangement were mutually advantageous.

Incidentally, the City of Big Spring announced a peak water consumption of 254 million gallons in July. The CRMW also had a peak July, producing more than a billion gallons for the second consecutive month. A billion gallons is enough to cover the corporate area of Big Spring with more than a foot of water.

Two north side swimming pools, originally (and optimistically) slated for June completion, may be ready for filling by the middle or latter part of this month. And just for the heck of it, we hope they will be filled this season.

There have been rodeos with more cheesecake, but none in the 23 years of operation moved off with any more precision than the one concluded last night. And a fast moving show with 150 horses, and scores of calves and cows pounding through the arena, leaves very few bored. The association and Everett Colborn put on a good production.

Governor?

Actress Cleo Moore (above), tells newsmen at a press conference called by her agent in Hollywood, that she is thinking of jumping into politics and becoming a political Florence Nightingale.

Miss Moore, a 27-year-old blonde, said she bought property in Louisiana two months ago and plans to run for governor of Louisiana in 1960. When asked if she will run as a Democrat, she promptly replied, "Well, naturally, honey."

DEMOS

ist leaders that resolutions be passed denouncing any attempt to interfere with the naming of state executive committee members by district caucuses. This loyalist plea was aimed at assuring a liberalist state committee no matter who is elected governor.

The September convention is known as the "governor's convention" because the nominee for governor is expected to hand pick a state executive committee favorable to his views.

Almost equally ignored were requests by Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd that the conventions act on a long list of states rights issues. However, numerous conventions did vote resolutions in favor of continued school racial segregation and in favor of states rights in general. Other conventions took the definite action of voting against such expressions.

The fight in Harris County centered around disputed precinct delegations. The liberalist-loyalist conservatives said they had the majority 1,474-1,321.

By agreement of the two factions, both sides will send delegations to the state convention, and the convention organization will determine which group will be seated.

The Jefferson County battle resulted in a rump session. The liberalist-loyalist conservatives claimed they had the majority.

In Tarrant County, conservatives had the strength to organize the convention by a vote of 595 to 508. The liberalist-loyalist, led by County Democratic Chairman Tom Ward, walked out and staged their rump session when the temporary chairman, Burton B. Paddock, ruled out of order a liberal effort to get a vote on the loyalty pledge.

The Tarrant conservatives named a slate of state convention delegates termed 98 per cent supporters of Sen. Price Daniel, candidate for governor.

Bailey Yarbrough, who stressed his party loyalty in his 1952 campaign for the governorship against Gov. Allan Shivers and is doing so again in the runoff with Sen. Daniel this year, received cheers and applause when he appeared at the Travis County convention, firmly held by liberals.

"I feel like I'm entitled to go to a Democratic convention," he said, "because I have always been a Democrat and intend to always be one."

He added: "I'm proud to be back in this Capitol Building. I plan to be here for quite a spell pretty soon."

The Travis County Convention passed a resolution asking that a convention be called to replace the present conservative state executive committee before the regular September convention.

The liberal-conservative fight in Fort Worth (Tarrant County) led to last-minute action. Judge Harry Brewster of 6th District Court ruled shortly after noon Saturday that the county Democratic chairman, a liberal, had no authority to interfere with the certification of some of the delegates to the county convention. Judge Brewster said the County Executive Committee alone had the right to settle delegation contests.

The Jefferson County convention resulted in a bolt of conservatives, who will take their case to the state convention. The conservatives, outnumbered, walked out over a point of procedure and held their own convention, while the liberal group continued with its meeting. Both named 37 delegates to the state party. Gov. Shivers, who didn't attend the May 22 state convention in Dallas, was named a delegate by the conservatives.

Calf Roper Sets 11-Second Mark

Jimmy Cooper established what is probably the fastest time on record in a Big Spring rodeo Friday night when he roped and tied his calf in 11 seconds flat.

The Monument, N. M., man's time was the most sparkling of a performance that attracted approximately 5,500 enthusiastic fans. The arena, muddied the evening before due to showers at showtime, was firm and fast.

Toots Mansfield, Big Spring, roped his calf in 14.2 to open the evening's proceedings and momentarily took the lead in the total for two calves with 36.2 seconds. But this respectable time was good enough only for fourth place in calf roping for the night and probably not enough to get him into show money. If Jim Mitchell, Brady, hadn't been the barrier, Mansfield would have been crowded out of fourth place Friday. Mitchell got his calf wrapped up in 13.6 before a 10 second penalty.

Business picked up in steer wrestling, too, for Danny Daniels, Fort Worth, spilled his steer in 6 seconds flat. This, however, was far off the pace in 1953 when Bill Agee, Amarillo, dumped a steer in 2.7 seconds, which at that time was 1 of a second faster than any reported anywhere.

Cooper's roping victory was no fluke, for in 1953 he had posted a 14.5 calf here and finished second in the show money with 31.1 on two calves. His sizzling 11 seconds Friday night was a fraction of a second faster than the 11.2 set by Doyle Riley, Ballinger, in 1953.

Riley's production moved off rapidly. Dick Harrell, riding Cheater, barely escaped serious injury when his saddle horn contorted and fell back on him. Jody Jones, Ozone, made a wild dive at his steer in the bulldogging event and caught a face full of the arena dirt instead of the steer's horns, but he was unhurt.

2 Hospitalized After Accidents

Traffic accidents sent two persons to hospitals for treatment Friday, but one has already been released.

Mrs. W. R. Taylor, 1010 W. 3rd, was injured as she started across the street in the 1000 block Friday about 5 p.m. She was struck by a car driven by Raymond D. Vincent of Webb. Mrs. Taylor later told friends she did not see the car.

Officials at Malone-Hogan Saturday afternoon said she was in good condition, having sustained a hip injury.

Edward Garcia Reyna, 628 NW 3rd, spent the night in Cowper Hospital Friday night for observation, sustaining cuts and bruises inflicted in a two-car collision at Fourth and Douglas Friday night Reyna was in a 1950 Ford which collided with John Brunson, 805 W. 5th, who was driving a taxi owned by the Yellow Cab Company.

Both Reyna and Mrs. Taylor were taken to their respective hospitals in River ambulances.

After being released from the hospital Saturday morning, Reyna was taken to the police station and charged with no driver's license, and then transferred to the county jail.

Steel Strike Nearly Ended

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP)—The 35-day nationwide steel strike virtually ended today.

Companies producing more than 90 per cent of the nation's steel—including all of the so called Big Three—completed signing contracts with the United Steelworkers of America.

A back-to-work movement by the 650,000 men who walked out last July 1 in a wage dispute was under way.

"Tell them to tear up the picket lines," the steelworkers' president David J. McDonald told his negotiators. "We won't be needing them for a long time."

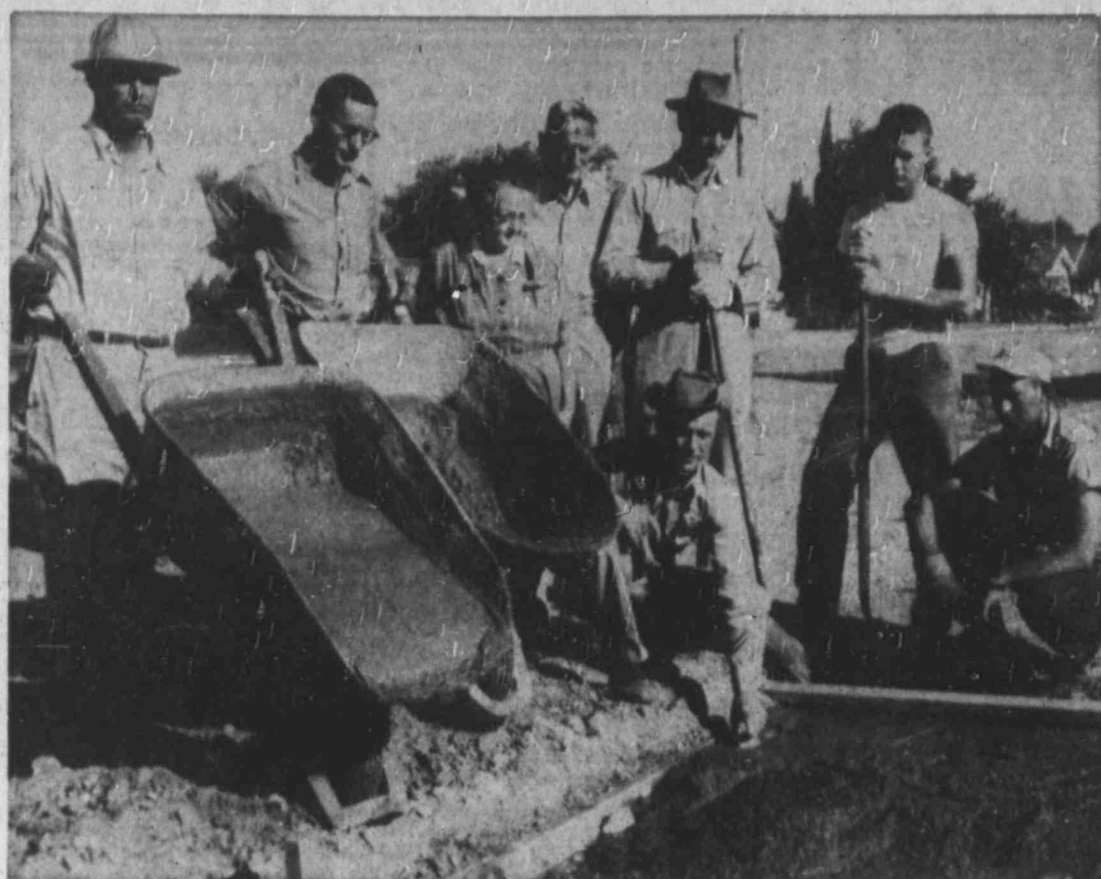

The prolonged stoppage in the nation's basic industry approached an end on an affectionate note.

Addressing the union men, Joseph Larkin, vice president of Bethlehem Steel, declared:

"Boys, you've got a good president, a good union, a good contract and a good company. God bless you. Now we'll get back to making steel..."

Bethlehem was the last of the Big Three to agree on terms with the union. The second largest producer, it signed its contract this afternoon.

As it did, maintenance men of other companies already were back on the job to pave the way for full-scale resumption of production. This is expected to require three to four weeks.

W. Texas Editors Slate Convention

SAN ANGELO — Editors from a vast West Texas area gather in San Angelo Aug. 9-11 for their 26th annual West Texas Press Association convention.

Waiting for them is a program studied with top names in Texas government, journalism and industrial development.

Attorney General John Ben Shepherd, Cong. O. C. Fisher of San Angelo and State Rep. Truett Latimer of Abilene are the political leaders on the slate.

David C. Leavell, Galveston and Texas City publisher who is president of the Texas Press Association; J. Q. Mahaffey, editor of the Texarkana Gazette and News, and Bill Latham, managing editor of the El Paso Times, are among the headliners from the newspaper ranks. Latham will speak Saturday noon.

Feature attraction of the entire convention is a half-day panel session Friday afternoon on the problem of what's happening to the small town, and what can be done to save it. Industrial development opportunities will figure into this discussion.

Roy Fox, co-publisher of the Colorado City Record, is program chairman of the convention, and also first vice president of the WTPA. If members follow past cus-

Ten Commandments Go On Subway Advertising Card

NEW YORK (AP) — Anything can happen in New York — even an advertisement in the subway listing the Ten Commandments and signed simply "This Space Paid for by a Friend."

The weary strap-hanging hordes accustomed to scanning ads for cigarettes and headache pills may have wondered briefly about this strange addition to subway literature. Probably some read the majestic words for the first time. And some may have found comfort or new resolution in them.

That was the hope of the woman who paid for the space. It took considerable detective work to find her, and then a great deal of persuasion to convince her that it would not be bad taste to reveal her identity.

Adelaide O'Mara has worked as a stenographer for the New York Life Insurance Co. for 32 years, and all that time she has been riding the subway twice a day from Brooklyn to New York and back.

"It's been my dream for many years," said Miss O'Mara shyly, after she recovered from the first shock of having her secret discovered. "It's just something I always wanted to do. I thought it might do some good."

Woman Recites Tale Of Attacks Preceding Slaying

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 4 (AP) — There came a knock on the door in a televised movie called "Casanova Brown."

Mrs. Pearl Ella Moore, 38, told police Sgt. Maurice Kinney that her husband Audrey, 48, was beaten by whisky and insisted she answer the knock early today.

She said she refused and he began beating her over the head with a clawhammer, then missed her with a thrown butcher knife. Meanwhile, she said, he turned off the TV set several times and she turned it back on each time.

Finally, she said, he rushed at her with a bread knife and she took it away from him and stabbed him to death.

The mother of two children was treated in a hospital for head bruises and then jailed on a preliminary charge of murder.

Lamesa Baptists To Choose Contractor

LAMESA, Aug. 4 — After interviewing several prospective builders, the Building Committee of the First Baptist Church of Lamesa will meet again Monday night in an effort to select a contractor for the church's new $200,000 educational building.

W. G. White, chairman of the Building Committee, reported that all the hard-to-get materials had been purchased and that final approval had been given the blueprints by the committee. Said White, "It appears that naming a contractor is about all we now lack."

Meeting Called Monday In Behalf Of Airport Issue

Meeting of a steering committee handling the campaign in behalf of the county airport bond issue has been called for 5 p.m. Monday.

The session will be held at the Chamber of Commerce office, said Jack Cook, C.C. aviation chairman. He said final plans will be mapped for a week's intensive campaign to publicize the election and to stimulate a large vote for the bonds. Cook said all supporters of the proposition are invited to the Monday meeting.

A $500,000 bond issue will be before voters next Saturday.

No, It Wasn't Hot Rodders

JACKSON, Mich., Aug. 4 (AP) — "Put out a burning street" said the order to Leoni Township's fire department.

Sure enough, flames were spouting up along a 60-foot length of roadway. It had been treated with waste oil to lay dust. But the oil contained a quantity of lacquer thinner which was ignited when somebody discarded a lit cigarette. Damage was confined to two wilted willow trees.

Kansas To Cap Hot Campaign

TOPEKA, Aug. 4 (AP) — Republican voters in President Eisenhower's home state of Kansas on Tuesday will decide one of the wildest, name-calling primary election campaigns in the state's political history.

The main fireworks have centered over the Republican nomination for governor—a race between Gov. Fred Hall and Warren W. Shaw, Topeka state legislator and attorney.

The Democrats, gleefully watching the Republican factions show each other with charges of wrongdoing and lies, also have had a lively gubernatorial campaign. It matches George Docking, Lawrence banker and Democratic nominee in 1954, against Harry Woodring, a former governor and one-time secretary of war who is bidding for a political comeback.

Also to be decided are races for 125 seats in the state House of Representatives and 40 state Senate seats.

Republican Senator Frank Carlson, who has never lost an election in a long political career, is being challenged for renomination for a second term by Walter I. Biddle, Leavenworth judge. Carlson is the overwhelming favorite.

Three incumbent members of the solidly Republican congressional delegation, Ed Rees of Emporia, William H. Avery of Wakefield and Errett P. Scrivner of Kansas City are unopposed for renomination.

LAST OF THE OLD 'FRONTIER BATTALION'
Jeff Roberts with great-granddaughter, Mariann Williams

Jeff Roberts Is Last Of Texas Frontier Rangers

By JESS BLAIR

When 105-year old Noah Armstrong died recently, he left only one survivor of the old Frontier Battalion of Texas Rangers. This is Jeff Roberts of Big Spring, now approaching his 96th birthday.

Today Mr. Roberts lives with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Martin, at Elm Courts in west Big Spring. He is still able to get around with the aid of a cane, but says his eyesight is failing.

However, his memory is still keen and he enjoys talking about frontier days, particularly the two-year period when he served with the Texas Rangers.

Jeff Roberts joined the Rangers in 1880 under the supervision of his uncle Captain Dan Roberts. Captain Roberts immediately had the nephew transferred to the company of Captain C. L. Neville. During the next two years he led an exciting life with the Rangers chasing Indians and outlaws, sleeping wherever night overtook them, and engaging in several battles.

Those were the wonderful days, he said, and rangering was an adventurous way of life. Those early day Rangers did a great service in protecting the isolated settlements from Indians and bad white men. Perhaps no group in history appeared as glamorous as the men who tamed the frontier back in the 70's and 80's.

Yet, their record for compassion and fairplay was not spotless. Mr. Roberts engaged in one of the last Indian battles in Texas and says there were parts about it he'd like to forget. The white man was often just as merciless as the Indian when he had the advantage. On this occasion a group of 25 Rangers was sent to the Davis Mountains near the present town of Van Horn to find a scattered remnant of Apaches who had been dealing out trouble.

They rode northwest on the trail of the Indians and about daylight one morning rode abruptly upon the Apache camp. There were four teepees and about 16 sleeping Indians, including women and children.

The Indians saw they were outnumbered and tried to make a run for it. The Rangers opened fire, cutting down several bucks with the first volley, then ran down the fleeing warriors.

One squaw had a small baby with her, but in getting away she accidentally dropped it and didn't stop. An Indian man ran with her, and as the Rangers hemmed the two against some rocks, he turned and started shooting. He was one tough buck, Mr. Roberts said. After two bullets had ripped into his head, he still stood there trying to get off one last shot.

A short distance away another squaw and a little girl about eight were trying to hide from the officers. They saw the woman was badly wounded and knew she couldn't live more than a few hours.

While they were holding the captives, a young Ranger rode in to the group and tried to shoot the women. The captain slapped the gun down and told him bluntly that he was a civilized person sworn to uphold the law, and the Indian women were not to be killed.

"The boy didn't shoot," said Mr. Roberts, "but he still wanted to. His own brother and sister had been massacred in Arizona and he passionately hated all Indians." The Rangers handed the girl a cup of sugar, and she stood there licking it while the tears ran down her grubby little cheeks. Evidently the older squaw who lay dying was the child's mother. The young squaw clutched her baby which had also been wounded, and she too was crying.

"Those Indians were tough," said Mr. Roberts. The fight was part of our job, and even though their tribe had massacred women and children, still I felt almost sick to see that squaw standing there holding her hurt baby and crying just like a woman of any race would do. You rarely saw an Indian cry, but this woman and little girl were crying as if their hearts were breaking, and they probably were, too. This fight meant the end of their families and the Indian way of life.

When the Rangers prepared to leave, the Ranger captain had a tough decision to make. The squaw was too weak to be moved, so he decided to leave her there.

They mounted their horses putting the young squaw and baby on one horse and the little girl on another. As they rode away, the little girl's face was turned back toward the camp for so long as she could see — back to where her mother lay dying.

They took the squaw to Fort Davis, and during that day's ride she sat astride a horse for 50 miles without getting off, all the while holding the baby in her arms.

Mr. Roberts and another Ranger took care of the pack animals and rode by themselves. Along in the afternoon they saw a movement off in the foothills which they took to be an Indian. A search failed to find him, so they rode on.

That night after they pitched camp, they heard a sound like a hoot owl, first to the west and then again to the east. The captain asked some Mexicans in the group what they made of it. They said it came from Indians because hoot owls stayed only in timbered country.

The captain then commanded every man to remain on his pallet, because they might shoot one another in the dark. Several hours later about 40 Indians' horses that had been captured were stampeded, and the Ranger horses, though hobbled, almost got away.

The squaw grabbed up her baby and made a beeline out of camp, but was caught before she got 20 yards away. The Indians who started the stampede knew they had no chance, and so faded into the darkness to escape.

The group rode on toward Fort Davis next day, where the Indian woman and baby and the little girl were left in custody of the U. S. soldiers.

After Mr. Roberts quit the Ranger service, he made two trips up the trail to Colorado and Montana after that he bought a ranch of his own near Llano and spent over 50 years as a Texas cattleman.

About 17 years ago, he sold his holdings and divided the money among his four children, holding out enough to take care of himself for as long as he lived. For the last seven years he has lived quietly in Big Spring with his daughter and son-in-law and their children.

"It's been a long life and a good one," he said. "Not many people realize the hardships those early settlers had to endure. The frontier was a rough, tough place and there were all kinds of people — the good and the bad. Yet, there were enough good ones to finally settle it up and make it what it is today."

GOP Magazine Hits Demos, Avoids Comment On Stassen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—The Republican National Committee's magazine came out today with a blast at the Democratic-controlled Congress and hardly any mention of Vice President Nixon's bid for re-election.

Although National Chairman Leonard W. Hall has made clear he believes an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket is all set, the convention issue of the GOP publication "Straight From the Shoulder" steered a noncommittal course on the controversy raised by Harold E. Stassen.

Stassen, on leave as Eisenhower's disarmament assistant, has called for an "open" convention. He wants delegates to consider his proposal to replace Nixon in second place on the ticket with Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts.

Perhaps in deference to this viewpoint, "Straight From the Shoulder" didn't use any pictures or make any reference to the "like and Dick" placards and signs assembled by the National Citizens for Eisenhower as part of that group's "Eisenhower bandwagon and barrage balloon school" that will tour the country.

The magazine spoke only about "I Like Ike" and kindred Eisenhower placards. It printed a picture of a mechanical elephant bearing the legend "For Peace and Prosperity—Stick with Ike." Neither was there mention of Nixon in the accompanying article, "The Bandwagons Ready to Roll" which opened with the statement that "The Republican party is busting its campaign button to get going and whoop it up for Ike."

In picturing convention officials, the magazine included a photograph of Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, who will place Eisenhower's name in nomination. There was no picture of Herter, who agreed at Hall's urging to put Nixon's name in nomination. However, the text did mention that Herter will nominate Nixon.

The magazine also quoted with evident approval a Nixon pronouncement in the field of foreign affairs. In a speech to a Lafayette College audience, Nixon said: "The uncommitted nations are not going to be frightened into alliance with the West by military power nor can their allegiance be purchased by dollars. . . whatever we do, we must deal with other people as our moral and spiritual equals."

It followed this up with a quotation from Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) that in this speech "the vice president has given us both a comprehensive and constructive summary of the world situation . . . it should be read and re-read . . ."

In its attack on the Democratic Congress, the magazine said the lawmakers had failed to pass school aid, health reinsurance, civil rights, labor and distressed area aid bills backed by Eisenhower.

It charged "administration opponents" with delaying Eisenhower's soil bank proposal and defeating his pre-payment plan for farmers who contracted to comply.

Three Churches Begin Revivals

LAMESA, Aug. 4 — Revival services began Friday night in three Baptist churches in the Lamesa area. In Lamesa, Rev. Donald White of Liberty is the special speaker for the evangelistic services, at the Sunset Baptist Church. Rev. B. C. Wilkins, pastor, reports that the services will continue through Aug. 13.

Rev. DeWitt Chandler, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Clyde, is the evangelist at the Five Mile Baptist Church. He is a former schoolmate of the pastor, the Rev. Wayne Hughes.

The third revival is at the Welch Baptist Church. Rev. Fred Blake, pastor of the Klondike Baptist Church is the speaker. He is a brother of the pastor, the Rev. Rueben Blake. Guest music director is Gene Campbell of Lamesa. Both the Welch and Five Mile Services will last through Aug. 12.

Texans Hit New Record In Voting

By The Associated Press

The Democratic contest for governor brought out more voters in the July 28 primary than in any previous primary election in Texas.

The Texas Election Bureau, in its final tabulation, reported Saturday that 1,569,990 voted in the six-man race.

The previous record was 1,456,220, cast in the second Shivers-Yarborough primary of 1954.

The final tabulation gave Price Daniel a lead of 164,172 over his runoff opponent, Ralph Yarborough.

Daniel got 624,833, Yarborough 460,661; W. Lee O'Daniel 244,555, J. Evetts Haley 89,960; Reuben Senterfitt 37,636 and J. J. Holmes 10,536.

Daniel led in 150 counties and was second in 72. He had a clear majority in 30.

Yarborough led in 36 counties, was second in 76 and had a majority in 2. Henderson and Kleberg, O'Daniel led in 65, was second in 79 and had a majority in 1, Somervell.

Haley led in one, Loving, and was second in four. Senterfitt led in 2, Glasscock and San Saba, and was second in 2, Lampasas and Mills.

Returns from all 254 counties, 259 complete.

In the lieutenant governor's race, incumbent Ben Ramsey led runnerup A. M. Alkin by 270,514. Ramsey polled 653,214 and Alkin 384,700.

Alkin withdrew Friday saying he did so on doctor's orders. The State Democratic Executive Committee was expected to certify Ramsey as the party's candidate in the November general election.

The vote of the other two candidates for lieutenant governor: John Lee Smith 221,630, C. T. Johnson 151,223.

Totals in other races: Attorney general: Will Wilson 668,068, Tom Moore 484,264, Ross Carlton 130,041, Curtis Hill 79,515.

Agriculture commissioner: Incumbent John White 739,001; Bill Jones 280,071; Jim Barber 238,433.

Congress-at-large: Rep. Martin Dies 879,790; Bill Elkins 447,397.

Land commissioner: Incumbent Earl Rudder 645,574; Ned Price 614,680.

Supreme Court: James Norvell 613,667; Robert Hughes 608,443.

Treasurer: Incumbent Jesse James 805,370; Warren Harding 328,732.

Referendum: School segregation: Approval 838,841; against 246,046. Intermarriage ban: Approval 856,916; against 22,110. Interposition: Approval 829,994; against 196,291.

World's Largest Coaching School Underway This Week In Lubbock

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

LUBBOCK, Tex., Aug. 5 (AP)—The Split T and multiple offense, the zone defense and wider lane and Bobby Morrow's chances in the Olympics will be chief topics for almost 2,000 tutors of football, basketball and track here next week.

HILL.

It's the world's largest coaching school, a 5-day affair that will be climaxed by all-star basketball and football games that match the strategies of the Southwest Conference.

The coaches start arriving tomorrow morning. They will register in the afternoon and will hit the "classrooms" Monday to hear Paul Bryant of Texas A&M, Abe Martin of Texas Christian and Jess Hill of Southern California discuss the latest in football offense and defense; E. O. (Doc) Hayes of Southern Methodist and Ken Loeffler of Texas A&M talk about basketball, and Oliver Jackson of Abilene Christian will describe the development of track champions.

They'll also get the latest methods for treatment and prevention of injuries from one of the crack trainers of the state—Delmer Brown of Texas Tech.

L. W. McConachie of Edna, executive vice president of the Texas High School Coaches Assn., said he expected 1,920 coaches to enroll for the school, some 50 short of the all-time record of 1,972 set at San Antonio last year. He had advance registration of 337. There probably will be fewer enrolled than last year because so many of the high school coaches are away in college doing advanced work and South Texans don't travel like West Texans. Lubbock is a long way from the Gulf Coast.

But McConachie thought the records for attendance at both the all-star basketball and football games might be broken. The record for basketball is 4,034 set at Fort Worth in 1952. The top attendance for the football game was 19,657 set at Houston in 1953.

Eighty of the state's top football and basketball players who finished their high school eligibility the past year will arrive by 4 p.m. Sunday and will be housed at the athletic dormitory of Texas Tech.

They will start workouts Monday morning and will hold practice sessions twice daily.

Both the North, coached by Martin, and the South, tutored by Bryant, boast plenty of all-stars, nine on the north squad and 12 on the south.

Heading the North squad will be Bobby Boyd, versatile Garland halfback; Sam Caudle, Abilene guard, and the Midland star, Wahoo McDaniel. Other all-stars are: Juan Delgado, Ozone guard; Jerry Graves, Big Spring center; Charles McKenzie, Grand Prairie tackle; James Shillburg, Kermit tackle; James Shurbet, Ralls halfback, and Bennett Watts, Breckenridge quarterback.

Others on the North squad are: George Bodey, Bismarck, Sherrill Headrick, Fort Worth North Side; Eugene Brudigan, Wilton; Marvin Lassiter, San Angelo; Don Meredith, Mt. Vernon; Robert Robinson, Dallas Sunset; Jack Bledsoe, New London, and Jack Spikes, Snyder; back; Bobby Brevard, Beckville, and Billy Turnbow, Burk Burnett, center; Frank Riley, Dallas Forest, and Charles Tevebaugh, East Mountain, guard; Donald Floyd, Midlothian, and Arvie Martin, Dallas Pleasant Grove, tackle; Lynn Fauson, Winters; Monte Lee, Hale Center, Walker; Winchell, De Kalb; Billy Davenport, Lufkin, and Robert Benton, Lubbock, ends.

The South all-stars include: Charles Mistard, Tyler, quarterback; Gordon LeBeau, Fort Worth, fullback; Bobby Lacey, Westlake, quarterback, and Larry Ward, Nederland, end. Others are: Lee Benner, Temple, guard; Clifford Grubbs, San Antonio Harlandale, halfback; Dick Jones, Corpus Christi, Ray, tackle; Franklin McLean, Deer Park, halfback; Ned Long, Houston Reagan, guard; Tommy Collins, Luling, guard; Jimmy Franz, Alice, tackle, and Rene Ramirez, McCombs, end.

Others on the South squad are: Billy Allen, Meridian; Jerry Muenkel, Honda, and Carrel Williams, West Oso, centers; Bobby Lovelock, Houston, San Jacinto; Aubrey Conner, Waco; Joe Glass, Baytown, guards; Raymond Martin, McAllen, and Cecil Vaughan, Victoria, tackles; Marvin Dibbons, Hempstead, and Larry Stephens, Angleton, ends; Larry Dault, Corpus Christi, Miller, quarterback; Gordon Spear, Burgers Hill and Bobby Matlock, Gonzales, halfbacks; E. D. Molina, Galveston and Shepard Touchette, Beaumont French and Trey Wilson, Waco, fullbacks.

Eight all-stars will be among the 24 basketball stars that appear in Thursday night's game. Hayes, who has won the Southwest Conference championship the past two seasons, will coach the North squad. Max Williams of Avoca, A. C. Black of Dallas Crusier Tech. Gene Arrington of Amarillo Palo Duro and Pat Neakes of Fort Worth Poly are the all-stars who will greet Hayes when workouts start. Black was all-state last year and was in Southern Methodist the last half of the 1955 season.

The South, coached by Loeffler, also has four all-state players: Philip Trammell of Laredo, Jerry Don Smith of Baytown, James Mearl of Buna and Jay Arnette of Austin McCallum.

Others on the squad are: Pete Merkle, Houston Austin; George Suratt, Humble; Bobby Young, Kyle David Russell, Harlingen; Pat Jensen, Webster; R. A. Davalos, San Antonio Edison; Wilbert Rigotti, Deer Park, and Billy Riley, Banquette.

Favored West Is Defeated

KERRVILLE Aug. 4 (AP)—Favored West Texas was beaten 50-56 Friday by underdog East in a football game which ended the three-day, six-man football coaching school at Schreiner Institute.

Jerome Laby of Garwood ran 64 and 76 yards for touchdowns the two times he carried the ball for the East.

Other touchdowns were scored by Eugene Peveo of Orangefield, Hershel Williams of High Island and Billy Beebe of Oklaunion.

Donny Du Boise of Jayton and Carl Hallford of Bulah each scored 12 points for the West. Jimmy Saegert of Pflugerville also scored for the West.

Claude Morrison of Bulah was elected president of the Six Man Coaching Assn.

Others on the squad are: Pete Merkle, Houston Austin; George Suratt, Humble; Bobby Young, Kyle David Russell, Harlingen; Pat Jensen, Webster; R. A. Davalos, San Antonio Edison; Wilbert Rigotti, Deer Park, and Billy Riley, Banquette.

EBLING HURLS YANKEES TO VICTORY OVER OWLS

Dick Ebling, a very busy young fellow Friday, tossed a no-hit game as the Yankees sewed up championship honors in the National Little League by defeating the Owls, 5-1.

The Owls scored their only run in the third when Ebling temporarily lost his control and walked three batters in a row. Donnie Anderson raced in to score when catcher Jeff Brown made a throw that got away from Butch Vaughn at third.

The Yankees collected eight hits, including three by Coy Mitchell and two by Brown.

Ebling struck out 12 and walked seven.

Rainey Takes Loss In Alpine Battle

Mike Rainey of Big Spring made a mound appearance for the Odessa Eagles in the club's losing effort to Abilene Onyx in the NBC Northern Division baseball tournament at Alpine Friday evening.

Abilene won the game, 9-7, although out hit by Odessa, 11-10.

Rainey appeared as a relief hurler in the fifth and was destined to be charged with the loss before departing the game in the eighth.

The loss was the second of the tournament for Odessa and eliminated it from the tournament.

Area Draws Sixteen Wildcats In Month

Sixteen wildcats were initiated in the seven-county Big Spring area during July — for a total depth of 87,861 feet — with seven being staked in Mitchell County alone.

Only Dawson County failed to report a new wildcat during the month. Already one of the ventures, in Sterling, has been plugged and abandoned.

The seven prospectors in Mitchell included one old venture being plugged back. It is Advance No. 1 C. C. Thompson eight miles southwest of Colorado City and was originally projected to 7,715 feet. Plug-back depth is 3,500 feet.

Other July-staked ventures in Mitchell include Ed's No. 2 Chalk, 3,500 feet; Forward No. 1 Wright, 2,350; Kimbell No. 1 Holman, 2,300; Melton-King No. 1 Mills, 3,000;

Miami No. 1-A Adams, 7,500; and Odum No. 1 Hyman, 12,111 feet. The Ed's venture is in the same section with the Ed's No. 1 Chalk, which recently completed in the Yates. Both are about nine miles northeast of this Chalk. Odum No. 1 Hyman is about a mile away.

Deepest venture staked during the month is the BBM No. 1 G. H. Cowden in the southwestern corner Martin County. It is being carried to 12,000 feet.

In Sterling, three were opened, with one already being plugged. Strube-Callaham, Mahoney & Gregg staked two, the Nos. 1-A and 1-B Suggs. The 1-A venture has been plugged. The third wildcat in Sterling is Ultra No. 1 C. H. Suggs, 22 miles southwest of Sterling City, to be drilled to 5,300 feet.

The lone wildcat staked in Howard County is Grappe-Cosden No. 1 Cranfill, three miles southeast of the Big Spring (Fusselman) field. It is contracted to 9,000 feet trying for the Fusselman.

In Glasscock, the venture is Advance No. 1 Howard, about 18 miles southwest of Garden City. It is a 7,500-foot test.

Anderson-Prichard staked two of the three wildcats in Borden during July. One is the No. 2 Bella Clark and the other is the No. 1 Keen. The Clark is going to 7,200 feet and the other 100 feet deeper.

Brennand No. 1 Roper is the other venture in the county. It is slated as a 8,200-foot test.

While the 16 were being staked in July, four others were being plugged and two completed.

Wildcat completions were in Borden and Mitchell Counties.

The Borden discovery was the Anderson-Prichard No. 1 Clark three and a half miles southwest of Gall. It produced 135 barrels of oil on potential, from the Spraberry.

Ed's No. 1 Chalk, bringing 44 barrels, was the Mitchell discovery.

Three of the four failures were in Borden, with the other in Mitchell. In Borden, they were Calkins No. 1 Milliken, General Crude No. 1 Jones, and Texas No. 1-D-NCT-1 Clayton.

The Mitchell duster is Kimbell No. 1 Berry.

Pipe Pinch Continuing To Be Felt

Drilling operations are continuing to feel the pinch of short pipe supply even though the end of the steel strike has been agreed upon. Prospects are that the effects of the strike will be felt for two to three months more.

One operator here Saturday said he believed that the net result of the strike, on small independents at least, would be to set back one quarter of the year's projected drilling program.

Several have limited supplies of tubular goods, but they aren't embarking on an unrestrained program because these supplies are barely enough to meet their offset and similar pressing obligations.

Even the mills and major suppliers aren't moving stockpiles of pipe until new price schedules are imposed. This is further drying up of supply lines.

It is not as though pipe is impossible to obtain. Almost any operator can secure any kind of pipe he needs — but for a price. Some of the quotations have been running around 60 per cent above the regular market price, and, complained an independent, "a lot of this is on second hand pipe."

Because a lot of shallow wells are on a pay out close to being marginal, operators simply can't afford to gamble on recovering the higher casing prices out of production. That means these wells will be delayed.

EXPLORER IS ANNOUNCED

A wildcat and a field location have been reported this weekend in Mitchell County.

The prospector is Durham Drilling Company No. 1 R. S. Brennan Jr. and will be 10 miles northwest of Westbrook. Site is 330 south and 1,980 feet from east lines, 6-28, T&P Survey.

Rotary drills will carry to 3,500 feet.

In the Iatan, East Howard, pool, Istandard Oil of Texas is trying the No. 1-20 W. L. Foster. It will be 330 feet from south and 1,650 feet from west lines, 5-29-1s, T&P Survey, and about two and a half miles southwest of Iatan.

Operator will be projecting to 2,900 feet with rotary equipment.

Two Counties Get Explorers

Wildcat locations have been staked for immediate drilling in two West Texas counties.

Dunigan Tool & Supply Company of Abilene has spotted location for No. 1 Lee Fawcett in West Tarrant County, seven miles southwest of Sonora.

Drill site is 2,320 feet from north and east lines of section 142 block D, GC&SF survey and five miles southwest of production in the Sonora (Canyon gas) field.

It will be drilled to 6,800 feet with rotary tools.

Monterey Oil Company of San Antonio No. 14-29 D. D. Feldman is a new 6,000-foot Cambrian sand wildcat in Southeast Nolan County. It is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 20, block 1-A, H&TC survey and two and one-half miles northeast of Blackwell.

Drill site is one and one-half miles northwest of the one-half B-A (Gardner sand) pool and the same distance northeast of the East Blackwell (Elenburger) field.

C-C Directors Meet Monday

The federal interstate highway system and local road projects will be discussed by Chamber of Commerce directors at their noon luncheon Monday.

J. H. Greene, Chamber manager, will report on Highway Department plans for the interstate system as well as on progress on road projects in the Lake J. B. Thomas area.

Other items on the agenda are reported on an "area action" meeting to be held in San Angelo Thursday by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the meeting of highway committee members and directors with a Texas Research League representative Thursday, and the community survey of retail business facilities.

Greene announced he also will appoint 113 chairmen to assist with "orientation" of Chamber of Commerce members concerning dues. Directors will meet at the Permian Building.

Riley Is Chosen

LUBBOCK, Aug. (SC) — Billy Riley of Banquete has been named to replace Don Stourgeon of Medina on the South All-Star Basketball squad, which meets the North All-Stars in Lubbock's new Coliseum Aug. 9. The 17-year-old Riley, 5-11, 155, was coached at Banquete High by J. R. Blahuta. He fills in the guard position which left vacant by the withdrawal of Stourgeon.

Report Reflects Rapid Growth Of Nation's Pipeline System

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—More and more crude oil and oil products are being moved by pipeline, as most oil men know. Statistics from the Interstate Commerce Commission this week tell the story of the oil pipeline industry's growth in recent years.

In five years, for example, oil pipeline mileage has been expanded by nearly 12,000 miles, the ICC said.

Most increase was in truck lines, instead of gathering lines. The ICC, which has jurisdiction over pipelines engaged in interstate commerce, reports that in 1955 a total of 84 companies operated 89,729 miles of truck lines and 50,645 miles of gathering lines.

Five years earlier, the ICC figures show, 70 companies and 89,936 miles of truck lines and 47,539 miles of gathering lines costing $1,655,972,000.

Net income of the oil pipeline companies nearly doubled in the five-year period, rising from $81,303,156 in 1950 to $153,354,200 in 1955.

The report said this underground network moved 4,057,925,296 barrels of crude oil and refined products last year as compared with 26,896 workers and $151,381,766,409,702 in 1950.

In 1955 an average of 24,794 oil pipe line employees received $141,960,296 in compensation, compared with 19,042 in 1950.

There were 150 dry holes last week making 4,849 this year, compared to 4,333.

The average calendar day allowable Aug. 1 was 3,359,000 barrels, down from 3,414,271 July 28.

Yoakum Discovery Pay Identified As The Wolfcamp

Shell Oil Company No. 15 Dora Roberts, pumping discovery in southwest Yoakum County is getting its oil from the Wolfcamp and not from the Wichita-Albany.

That strike completed for a daily pumping potential of 221.7 barrels of 41 gravity oil, plus 4.2 barrels of water, from perforations at 8,448-83 feet.

It is eight miles west and slightly north of Denver City and 2,310 feet from north and 1,650 feet from east lines of section 793, block D, John H. Gibson survey. The discovery is in the southwest side of the Wasson (San Andres) field, which produces from pay above 5,000 feet.

A previous report stated the pay section in this wildcat was Wichita-Albany.

Operators have projected a Borden County wildcat to less than 3,000 feet of its contract depth.

The venture, Brennand No. 1 J. R. Roper, has been drilled to 5,425 feet. It is five miles southwest of Gall, 1980 feet from south and west lines, 9-31-4s, T&P Survey, on a 160-acre lease.

Contract depth is 8,200 feet.

Price Of Tidelands Leases Have Soared

HOUSTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—Prices paid for Louisiana tidelands oil leases have skyrocketed since 1947.

Nine years ago the CATC Offshore Group paid a bonus of $3.25 an acre for a 200,000-acre tract. A few months ago, CATC, now the largest leaseholder in the Gulf, paid over $900 an acre for 29,340 acres.

Of the 400,000 or so acres under lease by CATC about 75 per cent was acquired in 1947-1948. The overall cost of this early 300,000 acres accounts for only 6 per cent of 43 million dollars invested in leases since four oil companies pooled resources 10 years ago to form the CATC group.

Although it did not complete its first offshore oil well until 1953, the group's early lease purchases have proven sound investments. The group has paid an average of $79 an acre for its leases. Other operators have paid an average as high as $270.

Industry sources estimate 293 million dollars has been paid for offshore leases. About 91 per cent or 259 million dollars has been spent the last two years.

Four companies decided 10 years ago that the risky and costly pioneering operations offshore would be too much of a gamble for a single operator. Continental, Atlantic Refining, Tide Water and Cities Service formed CATC to join the offshore search for oil. Results have been expensive and encouraging.

CATC officials predict the costly operations may begin to pay off, possibly within 10 years.

On an industry-wide basis, the offshore investment is about $1,300,000,000. The return has been estimated at 290 million dollars.

CATC has risked 102 million dollars and gained 43 oil and gas wells in 14 fields off Louisiana.

An offshore well usually costs about six times as much as an on-land well. CATC officials say their numerous prospects offer bright hopes for the future. CATC's discovery rate has been

Grayburg Strike Is Completed

T. F. Hodge has completed No. 1 University as a pumping discovery from the Grayburg in Southeast Reagan County.

The well pumped 24 hours and made a potential of 24.5 barrels of 33 gravity oil and no water. Gas-oil ratio was too small to measure.

Production is from perforations at 2,139-2,401 feet which were fractured with 24,746 gallons. Total depth is 2,450 feet and top of pay was reported at 2,139 feet.

Location is 330 feet from north and west lines of section 22, block 48, University Lands survey and eight miles southeast of Big Lake. It is one-half mile west of the Block 48 field.

TOWER ENROUTE

Cosden's New Unit Being Adjusted

Cosden Petroleum Corporation's new Reformer, on stream for the past week, is steadily making adjustments and may be running at capacity within a matter of days.

The new unit for upgrading straight run gasoline into a high octane automotive fuel component, erected at a cost of approximately $2½ million, has from the start been meeting quality specifications. It yields a 98 clear octane product, which in turn can be raised to 102 and 104 octane rating with tetraethyl lead.

On full stream it will have a designed capacity of 4,000 barrels fresh stock or 5,400 combined (fresh and recycled) stock daily.

Now that the Reformer is in use, Cosden has freed its original better than two completions out of every three wildcats drilled. The national industry average is about one in seven.

The group's operations began late in 1946 with the purchase of five ships ranging from 37 to 65 feet for use in geophysical work. The dispute over ownership of the tidelands halted most offshore operations from 1949 until the Tideland Act was signed in 1953.

Since 1953, CATC has completed 61 wells. Included were 18 dry holes, 23 producing oil wells, two shut-in oil wells and 18 shut-in gas wells.

In 1954, the group christened a 200-foot, 2,505-ton drilling tender. Three others have been added since then. A fifth is under construction.

Some 25 drilling platforms, costing $700,000 to $1,500,000, have been built. In May, wildcat operations in 112 feet of water began on a $1,200,000 structure off Grand Isle.

New Method Of Perforating Makes Hole, No 'Carrot'

A revolutionary jet perforating method which results in "all holes no carrot," has been developed in Midland, and now is in the field ready for service.

Industry statistics show that "carrot" or copper slugs resulting from conventional jet perforating, may cut down effective penetration some 50 per cent by blocking the hole. Removing this slug opens the way to greater production by improving the drainage flow from the formation.

Recent laboratory tests made of a new jet perforating charge, under the supervision and control of a special investigative committee, resulted in a penetration of 3.7 inches, with an entrance diameter of ½ inch, and left the perforation free of the customary plug — or "carrot."

This completely clean hole is made possible by eliminating the formation of a "carrot" through internal diffusion of the charge debris inside the gun body.

The new jet perforating method, known by its trade name of Rock-

Spraberry Producer Finals In Dawson

Producing 146.26 barrels of oil in 24 hours, Felmont Oil's No. 1 H. C. Asfelder finished in the Felken (Lower Spraberry) field of Dawson County as a pumper.

The well is seven miles southeast of O'Donnell, 660 feet from south and west lines, 4-1, J. Polite survey.

Fifteen per cent water accompanied the potential, after operator had fractured with 10,000 gallons. Gravity was 35.6, and gas-oil ratio is 455-1.

Top of the pay zone is 6,904 feet, and perforation interval is 6,904-14 feet. The well is plugged back to 6,650 feet from 7,619, and 5½-inch string extends to 6,969 feet.

Also in Dawson County, Humble Oil and Refining No. 1 R. C. Koger, a wildcat four miles southwest of Spaberry, is drilling below 10,182 feet.

Operator took drillstem test from 1072-100 feet in the Pennsylvanian, with the tool open one hour. Recovered was 85 feet of mud and 118 feet of salt water. Flowing pressure was 0-170, and shut-in pressure for 30 minutes was 2,257.

The venture is 660 feet from south and east lines, 32-35-5n, T&P Survey.

Texas Co. Slices Low Gravity Price

HOUSTON, Aug. 4—The Texas Co.'s posted price for 40-degree crude oil dropped seven cents to $2.83 today in West Central Texas.

The usual two-cent differential per degree of gravity below 40 degrees will make a new posted price of $2.41 for 20 degree crude and below.

The new prices are effective in Callahan, Fisher, Jones, Nolan, Shackelford and Stephens counties. Cities Service Oil Co. started the decrease in prices three weeks ago. Stanolind, Humble and Shell followed suit.

New Wildcat For Andrews Slated

Report has been made this week-end of a new wildcat venture in the central part of Andrews County. It will be drilled by H. L. Brown as the No. 1 D. W. Carmichael, one mile north of Andrews.

Plotted site is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines, 16-A45, Public School Lands Survey.

Contract depth is 4,900 feet to be depth with rotary equipment.

Superhighway Is A Side Road

DETROIT, Aug. 4 (AP)—A road mapped out as a superhighway to ease the layoff woes of auto workers has turned out as something of a side road for those who travel it.

The route sign is spelled SUB, meaning the supplemental unemployment benefit plan negotiated with the auto industry last year by the United Auto Workers Union.

It was set up to cushion the automotive production cycle that forced furloughs of thousands of workers each year because of inventory pileups or model changeovers.

SUB went into effect June 1. Now, after two months travel, those who engineered it say the road definitely has some rough spots and doesn't run far enough. But they add emphatically:

"We're on the right track. And we'll keep working on it until we get there."

Ideally, the laid off worker, after a one week waiting period, would get up to 65 per cent of his take home pay for four weeks, then 60 per cent for an additional 22 weeks counting state unemployment pay and SUB.

As it works out, he gets an average SUB check of $11, instead of a possible $25. And he collects it for only four weeks, then is cut off.

Grayburg Strike Is Completed

T. F. Hodge has completed No. 1 University as a pumping discovery from the Grayburg in Southeast Reagan County.

The well pumped 24 hours and made a potential of 24.5 barrels of 33 gravity oil and no water. Gas-oil ratio was too small to measure.

Production is from perforations at 2,139-2,401 feet which were fractured with 24,746 gallons. Total depth is 2,450 feet and top of pay was reported at 2,139 feet.

Location is 330 feet from north and west lines of section 22, block 48, University Lands survey and eight miles southeast of Big Lake. It is one-half mile west of the Block 48 field.

TOWER ENROUTE

Cosden's New Unit Being Adjusted

Cosden Petroleum Corporation's new Reformer, on stream for the past week, is steadily making adjustments and may be running at capacity within a matter of days.

The new unit for upgrading straight run gasoline into a high octane automotive fuel component, erected at a cost of approximately $2½ million, has from the start been meeting quality specifications. It yields a 98 clear octane product, which in turn can be raised to 102 and 104 octane rating with tetraethyl lead.

On full stream it will have a designed capacity of 4,000 barrels fresh stock or 5,400 combined (fresh and recycled) stock daily.

Three Arrested On Bad Check Charges

A man and woman accused of passing six forged checks here Thursday and Saturday were arrested Saturday afternoon a few minutes after the man fled from a grocery store where he was attempting to pass another.

Picked up about the same time was another man who will be charged with giving a worthless check.

Arrest of the trio came after police and sheriff's officers pooled manpower to look for the group.

The man and woman, who said they are from Tucuman, N. M., came into town for the radio. Checks were forged on E. P. (Pep) Driver, secretary of the Big Spring Radio Association, and were marked as payment for hay. They ranged in size from $22 to $35.45, sheriff's deputies said, and were made payable to "R. V. Beauford."

The man was arrested near the Radford grocery warehouse shortly after he was reported attempting to cash one of the checks at the Alexander Grocery, 300 NW 3rd. He ran out of the store as employees went into a stall to await arrival of police. A woman, who said she was the man's wife, also was arrested.

The other man was picked up at the Auditorium Barber Shop on East Third, after authorities were notified that he had given a worthless check for $239 at the E. M. Wasson Men's Store in exchange for clothing and $10 in cash. The clothing was recovered. The suspect was identified as a Big Spring man.

Both he and the New Mexico couple are being held in the county jail. Charges are to be filed against all three Monday.

Former Minister Speaks At Lamesa

LAMESA Aug. 4—Rev. Clem G. Sorley, pastor of the Arlington Heights Presbyterian Church in Ft. Worth, will fill the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church Sunday for both services.

He is a former pastor here. In 1950 he was injured in an automobile accident and was forced to resign as pastor and moved to be closer to a specialist.

The Rev. Walter G. Horn, pastor of the church, and his family are spending a month's vacation in the mountains of New Mexico.

Young Burglars Freed To Parents

Two boys, 14 and 16, have been released to their parents after promising to pay for damages and other losses resulting from break-ins at the Little League baseball park.

The youths admitted breaking into the ball park on Sunday and Wednesday. They were arrested by police, following a traffic violation.

Prisoner Transferred

Billy Ray Baker, charged with child desertion, was brought from Andrews jail to Big Spring Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Floyd Moore. Charges were filed here Friday.

Lamesa Plans Cotton Fete

LAMESA Aug. 4 — The Agriculture Committee of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce is exploring the possibilities of expanding the cotton industry recognition program.

The Chamber is preparing to sponsor the 1956 First Dawson County Bale contest. With the cooperation of other agricultural groups, the committee expects to make the total cotton promotion program here something which will benefit the county as a whole. Some of the fields suggested to the committee include a Maid and Matron of Cotton, enlisting the cooperation of girls' and women's groups; a modified first bale program; a production contest; and the observance of National Cotton Week on a grand scale. The committee plans to seek the cooperation of the Dawson County Farm Bureau and the Lamesa Cotton Growers in the building and conducting of the expanded program.

Dawson Farmers Get Bracero Bills

LAMESA Aug. 4 — The bracero back pay controversy began to rage in Dawson County again with the announcement by Wright G. (Cowboy) Boyd that the Dawson County Cotton Growers Association had been billed for about $30,000 the U. S. Department of Labor says is due the braceros for cotton pulled in Dawson County between Oct. 20 and Nov. 6, 1955. Boyd said that the association will appeal the billing. The Labor Department gives the association or individual billed five days in which to appeal their findings. Boyd reported that each of the members of the association involved in the controversy had received a copy of the letter sent to him.

Several individual bracero users and other associations in the county and area have been billed, according to Boyd, with some of the smaller associations and a good many individuals paying off without appealing.

The president of the Dawson County Farm Bureau, Fred Raney, said Thursday night that the original estimate of $75,000 cost to the county will be small if it's collected. Farm Bureau directors voted to give one annual membership in the farm organization to the producer of the first bale of cotton grown in Dawson County this year. In other action, the directors heard read a letter of resignation from their secretary, Gerri Barrett. Miss Barrett, secretary of the farm group for the past several years, will leave the office Aug. 31 to marry. Raney appointed Scott Russell, Green, Ralph, Gary, and Bill Smellgrove to a committee to hire a new secretary.

Eddie Brown, Lamesa Agriculture Stabilization Committee manager, asked the directors for suggestions as to program to be included in the Texas practices in 1957. The directors asked for reinstatement of land deep-broken prior to 1954 as eligible for deep breaking again, and for representation of District 6 of the ASC in a meeting at College Station on Aug. 14 to establish practices for next year.

He said the turkey population of Howard County was quite small, as usual, with the biggest flock being raised by Mrs. Carl Robinson in the Morgan community. She had between 500 and 600 last year but is supposed to have a few more this time.

No one else is raising more than a few dozen turkeys, although in Martin County Willis Walker has 100 or more.

Burklow says chickens are also few in number except for the caged operators. One thing that hurts the egg producer now is the cost of replacements. "A few years back when they were using heavy hens, the owner could sell a culled hen for as much

THE WEEK'S CONVERSATION

Farmer: "I'm not going to plant anything this late if the field blows clear to Florida. I'll just list it deep and let 'er go."

Country Storekeeper: "Credit has got to be a nightmare. Friends want to charge it a few days, but if they get started, there's no end to it. I've said no so often I'm beginning to look like a banker."

Dairymen: "Friend, I thought you were a stranger. If you had been, I was going to sell you a dairy. But no one except a stranger or a fool would buy one."

Rider at the Rodeo: "That's one bull I'm glad I didn't get. He don't buck so hard but his old hide just rolls in every direction."

Two women on their favorite subject—another woman: "My dear, you should of seen that hair! I couldn't get to her on account of having two customers waiting, so she goes over to—s. And did she get fixed up? Why, when I saw her she looked like a wooly dog that's been caught in a whirlwind. The poor thing was so embarrassed and so mortified that I says to her, 'Honey, next I'll get to you even if I have to—etc., etc., etc.'"

Nina Fryar Wed To Neil Pruitt In Candlelight Rites Saturday

The wedding vows of Nina Jean Fryar and Richard Noll Pruitt were exchanged by candlelight Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church. Formal double ring rites were read by the Rev. Wayne Cook of Lubbock, an uncle of the bride.

Tiers of candles were interspersed with greenery, while baskets of radiance gladioli combined to form the setting. Pews were marked by candles in tiers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fryar, Rt. 1, are parents of the bride; the bridegroom, who is from Lamesa, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Pruitt of that city.

A pre-nuptial prelude, played by Mrs. Champ Rainwater, included "Arioso," "Tramere," "Romance" and "To The Evening Star."

Mrs. Rainwater accompanied Minnie Lee Thompson of Lubbock as she sang "I Love Thee" by Grieg, and "Where'er You Walk" by Handel.

During the ceremony, the organist played "Jesu, Joy Of Man's Desiring." She used the traditional wedding marches as the processional and recessional.

WEDDING GOWN
The bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Her bridal gown was an original model of French silk hand-dipped Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta. The shaped waist, on long torso lines, joined a bouffant floor-length skirt, which swept in to a chapel train.

Appliques of lace banded the tulle skirt, and the neckline, following the design of the lace, was underlined with tulle. Seed pearls lightly touched the lace, and, with iridescent sequins, decorated the Queen Anne's cap of lace. To this was attached a veil of silk illusion. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of apianthus and pink radiance gladioli.

Margaret Fryar attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Beverly Willett of Fort Worth and Mary Ella Bigony. Their frocks, identical in design, were of rose pima cotton with matching headresses. The softly draped bouquets were attached to full waist length skirts with shirred cummerbunds.

The attendants carried cascade bouquets of gladioli shading from pink to deep rose and tied with American beauty ribbons.

The bridegroom was attended by Charles Jenkins of Lamesa; Merrill Humes and Bill York, both of Lamesa, were groomsmen. Ushers were Bill Temple of Lamesa and Don Armstrong of Lubbock; they also lighted the candles.

Maribeth Stasey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Stasey of Hobbs, N. M., served as flower girl; the rings were carried by Roddy Gabriel, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gabriel of San Angelo, a cousin of the bride.

RECEPTION
Pink gladioli brightened the parlor of the church for a reception after the wedding ceremony.

Receiving guests were the bride couple, their parents and the bride's attendants. Mrs. Richard Deats and Joyce Gound served from a table laid with a lace cloth over rose linen.

A center arrangement of the bridesmaids' bouquets and the bride's cake was used on the table. The tiered cake, frosted in pale pink was decorated in rose.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Wayne Noland of Lubbock and Yvonne Pratt of Lamesa. Others in the house party were Mrs. W. A. Hunt, Mrs. Arnold Marshall, Mrs. J. A. Coffey, Mrs. J. T. Baird, Mrs. Rex Baggett, Mrs. Wayne Gound, Mrs. Melvin McFall, Mrs. B. M. Kees, Lucille Hester, Twila Lomax, Mrs. J. R. Gabriel of San Angelo and Mrs. Wayne Cook of Lubbock.

Sally Cowper and Marlene Mann furnished music during the reception.

For a wedding trip, the couple went to south Texas. Mrs. Pruitt wore a charcoal cotton suit by Miller-Cupaioli, accenting it with a John Frederick's hat of aqua velvet, with gloves to match. Black lizard pumps and bag completed her ensemble.

Upon their return, the couple will be at home at 2118 33rd St., Lubbock, where both will continue their studies at Texas Tech.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and has attended Tech for two years. She is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Gamma Nu, honorary societies. She has been employed at the First State Bank during the summer.

The bridegroom, a senior student in architectural engineering at Tech, is a graduate of Lamesa High School. A member of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity and American Institute of Architects, he is currently employed by Herbert Brasher & Associates, Lubbock.

Attending from out of town were Melba Watson of Monahans, Elizabeth Naylor of Fort Worth and Virginia Peacock of Seymour.

Miss Martin, Roger Ridgway Wed In Informal Ceremony

Informal double ring rites were read Saturday evening for Margaret Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Martin, 1004 Wood, and Roger Ridgway, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ridgway of Dallas.

Repeating vows in the First Christian Church before the Rev. Clyde Nichols, pastor of the church, the couple stood in front of an archway. Baskets of flowers flanked it in combination with tall candelabra holding white tapers. A floral arrangement also formed the background of the arch.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Bob Simpson, organist, who accompanied Mrs. Charles Mangum as she sang "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Wearing a gown of embroidered organza over taffeta, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The bateau neckline of the fitted bodice was formed of the self-scaled organza, as were the short sleeves.

The full, gathered skirt was waist-length; a fingertip veil of illusion was secured to a crown of embroidered organza, featuring seed pearls and iridescent sequins.

Gardenias and lilies of the valley, with ribbon streamers, formed the bride's flowers, which she carried on top of a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS
Light blue dotted swiss made the frock worn by the maid of honor, Betty Earley. The empire bodice, fashioned with a round neckline and short sleeves, was attached to the skirt with a cummerbund of polished cotton in a deep blue. A blue hat of polished cotton completed her attire. She carried a colonial bouquet.

Glen White was best man; guests were seated by Bill Earley and Sam Hall, who also lighted the candles. Donna Rumold, of Borger, a niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

A reception was held in the parlor of the First Christian Church after the ceremony.

Receiving guests were the parents of the bride, those of the bridegroom, the bride couple and the maid of honor.

Baskets of white gladioli and fern decorated the entertaining suite, while the bride's flowers were placed on the registration table. Here, Georgia Phillips, a cousin of the bride, and a cousin of the bride, assisted in registering guests.

A white embroidered organza cloth covered the table, where the bouquet of the maid of honor was used as a centerpiece. It was flanked by crystal candle holders with white tapers. Crystal serving appointments were used by Mrs. Robert E. Phillips, an aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Don Rumold of Borger, a sister of the bridegroom.

Assisting in the house party were Mrs. H. C. McPherson, Mrs. Ervin Daniels, Mrs. W. L. Shaffer, Mrs. E. W. Love, Mrs. Melvin McFall, Mrs. A. G. Hall, Mrs. Ray McMahon and Mrs. Bill Earley.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. John Crews of Fountain, Colo., a grandmother of the bride; her uncle and cousin, R. E. Phillips and Robert of Las Vegas, N.M., Don Rumold and Mary Jane of Borger; and the bride's sister, Mrs. David Williams and Margaret Ann of Albuquerque, N. M.

WEDDING TRIP
The couple will visit points in North Texas on their wedding trip. For traveling, Mrs. Ridgway chose a box-style suit of blue linen and added white accessories. Her corsage was a gardenia.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and attended West Texas State College. She was a member of Tau Beta Sigma Sorority and a member of the Amarillo Symphony Orchestra.

Ridgway, who was graduated from Dumas High School, is also a graduate of WTSC, where he was a member of Kappa Kappa Psi Fraternity.

The pair will make a home in Borger, where Ridgway is employed by Phillips Chemical Corporation.

MISS NICHOLS TO WED IN SEPTEMBER

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Nichols, 1019 Nolan, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Beverly, to Jimmie Lee Sundry. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Mack Sundry, 1509 West 5th. Wedding vows will be exchanged Sept. 21 at the Westside Baptist Church.

Ice Cream, Coffee Good Combination

In the cool of a summer's evening, let's take dessert and coffee outdoors after dinner and enjoy them on the porch or patio. A last course that is ideal for summertime dining is home-made coffee ice cream served with minted Coffee Malt and perhaps a bowlful of crumbly butter mints for nibbling. Sound cool?

Coffee Malt is a midsummer version of demitasse. It couldn't be simpler to prepare. Just heap old-fashioned glasses with crushed ice and then fill them with hot, strong demitasse coffee. You serve Coffee Malt with sugar and a twist of lemon peel. Sometimes you might like to add a topknot of fresh mint for both flavor and color.

Home-made coffee ice cream is a real joy any time of year, but it is never more appreciated than at the end of a long, hot day. And here's a serving suggestion for coffee ice cream: crumble a few butter mints over the top for a cool, delicious combination of flavors.

This is a recipe for coffee ice cream which you will want to keep: COFFEE ICE CREAM

1/4 cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon flour
Pinch of salt
1 cup hot, double-strength coffee

1 egg yolk, beaten
1 teaspoon unflavored gelatine
2 tablespoons cold coffee
1/4 cups heavy cream
2 teaspoons vanilla

Mix 1/4 cup sugar with flour and salt. Add to hot coffee. Cook over hot water 15 minutes, stirring constantly until thickened, then occasionally. Pour over egg yolk which has been mixed with remaining 1/4 cup sugar. Return to heat. Cook 2 minutes or until mixture coats spoon. Sprinkle gelatine on 2 tablespoons cold coffee. Add hot mixture and stir until gelatine dissolves. Chill thoroughly. Whip cream stiff. Fold into chilled mixture. Add vanilla and pour into refrigerator tray. Freeze at coldest setting, stirring every 30 minutes, until mixture holds shape. Finish freezing. Makes 6 servings.

MR. AND MRS. LEE AND STORMY

A Half Of Newcomers Real Thing

A newcomer in the sense of being a new householder is K. P. Lee, 307 West 6th. He has been working here for about two years, but it was just recently that he was married, and it's really his wife who's the newcomer.

Originally from Hamilton, he has been employed by Cosden. In June, Lee married Irene Key, also of Hamilton. She had been employed by an oil company in Fort Worth until their marriage.

A question about her ability to cook brought such laughter from the couple that it was plain the process is going on at the present. Her husband said, "Ask me about her cooking," but it seemed the better part of valor to drop that subject.

Fishing and hunting are the main interests of the couple, who also spend time training their boxer dog, "Stormy."

The name wasn't given because of her disposition, which is very pleasant and friendly. Mrs. Lee selected the name because of the stormy night on which the six-month-old pet was born.

Lamesans Are Married Thursday

LAMESA — In a double ring ceremony read Thursday afternoon, Mary Helen Stephens became the bride of David Lowell Vandiver. The Rev. Rush J. Barnett read the ceremony in the First Christian Church.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Stephens of Rt. C, and Mr. and Mrs. Pervis Vandiver, Rt. C, Lamesa.

The bride's only attendant was Minnie Cox. She wore a dress of yellow dotted swiss with a corsage of white carnations. Keith Vandiver was his brother's best man.

The bride chose a dress of ice blue tulle with a sweetheart neckline. Her fitted bodice terminated with a deep point in both front and back from which fell a full skirt. She carried red roses tied with white satin streamers to a white Bible.

Following a wedding trip to New Mexico and Juarez, Mexico the couple will be at home in Las Cruces, N. M.

The bride was graduated from Lamesa High School where she was a member of the National Honor Society, GAA, and Morning Watch. Prior to her marriage she was employed by McPhaul Motor Company as a bookkeeper. The bridegroom is a graduate of Lamesa High School. He was a member of the FFA, Morning Watch and Math Club.

Here's The Low-Down, Girls; What'll You Have?

By VIVIAN BROWN

NEW YORK — Men the world over like to park with their girl friends.

But except for that one similarity, says blonde Lotte Wohlbold, men are as different as they can be.

Lotte qualifies as an authority on men on an international scale because her airlines job takes her gadding around the globe. She explains:

"I've met all types of men and parking is universal. Nothing stops them. You spend a long pleasant evening with any man, and somehow he is biding his time until those few minutes at the end of the evening."

Lotte, who trains air hostesses, says it does a girl good to get a world picture of men. It's helpful knowledge for husband seekers to have at vacation time.

Her cataloging of men around the world shows: Austrians are the most romantic and charming; Englishmen the coolest; Egyptians the wealthiest. Italians are the best dressed and Germans look the most masculine. Spaniards adore blondes and so do Egyptians.

It's the Frenchman, Lotte says, who'll see that you have soft music, tea dancing, ultra cuisine and onion soup at the early morning market after a late date.

Austrians concentrate on the romantic aspects of a date—the atmosphere of a restaurant, gypsy music, candles on the table, a leisurely dinner and the old-fashioned wait.

Spanish gentlemen are difficult to understand. They are gallant and they also make audible, complimentary comments as you walk by them — a strange custom to most girls.

It's a treat to go out with Italians, who are so elegantly dressed. Your date will have his mind made up about where you'll go, and it's often the opera — but he'll remark that he "hopes you like it."

German men are the most positive in their opinions and manner, says Lotte, who was born in Nuerenberg, Bavaria and came to the United States in 1950. The German hates weakness and makes every effort to appear strong, manly and in complete possession of every situation, she says.

Egyptians are temperamental, mysterious, suave and have "a good line," she says. They entertain you royally at the races, best restaurants and camel riding. But they stop and stare at you on the streets if you're young and blonde.

"I had been in my Cairo hotel room only five minutes," Lotte recalls, "when a man called saying he'd overheard my room assignment and would like to take me to dinner."

The Englishman will take you to the theater and occasionally a night club, but he's not romantic. He hesitates to ask for a good-night kiss. A Frenchman, on the other hand, must be pushed away after the third.

So what does Lotte think of American men?

"I'll take American men any day," says Lotte. "When they take you out on a date they want you to enjoy the occasion. They'll compliment you and maybe send flowers, unlike the Englishman, who seldom pays a compliment. American men are charming and have a wonderful sense of humor, unlike Germans, who are too serious; and they'll give a girl a choice of dates, unlike Italians. They're the happy medium, a combination of all the traits a woman looks for in a man."

MR. AND MRS. JESSE COLEMAN

(Photo by Bradshaw)

Results Of 1906 Ride; 50 Years Of Happiness

By JOE PICKLE

In 1906, Jesse Coleman a young man following the carpenter's trade, rode by a certain house in Laredo.

Two young women were in the front yard. Coleman turned to his friend and said, "There's my kind of girl."

She was, too, for when he met Miss Martha Burrus for the first time, he became an ardent suitor. Later that year they were married.

Today, with all their children present with their families, they will observe the 50th anniversary of the ceremony, which launched both of them in a long career of happiness. The wedding rites took place on the front steps of the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Burrus, a mile east of Laredo. Mr. Stonewall, Church of Christ minister, solemnized the rites.

"We never saw him before or since," said Mr. Coleman. Evidently Mr. Stonewall tied a firm knot. For about another year, Mr. Coleman continued to work as a carpenter in the budding community of Laredo. Then he and Mrs. Coleman settled on a farm north of the town near Lone Wolf Mountain in the Valley View community.

In 1924, they moved to a farm in northern Howard County 21 miles north and slightly west of Big Spring. They have operated the half-section farm continuously since, sometime with bumper yields, more often with a drought to combat.

Mr. Coleman used to be famous for his home grown and ground sausage and home cured meats. Now he's given all this up and he and Mrs. Coleman regard themselves as "tired farmers, if not retired." They both are members of the Ackerly Methodist Church and Mr. Coleman has been a steward and trustee.

Today they are observing open house at their home from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., and all their friends are invited. Serving will be the four granddaughters, Mrs. L. E. Allen, Goldsmith; Mrs. Hardin, Midland; Carlene Coleman, Big Spring, and Wanda Sue Coleman, Ackerly.

With them will be their eight children, Mrs. W. C. (Elsie) Witt, Rising Star; Mrs. R. E. (Leona) Hughes, Big Spring; Luther Coleman, Big Spring; Leonard Coleman, Rising Star; Mrs. Olin (Altha Dean) Neff, Seminole, and Mrs. W. R. (Margaret) Norman, San Angelo.

There also are 19 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren who are due to join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Coleman "happy Golden Wedding anniversary."

Recent Bride Presented At Coffee

Mrs. G. G. Sawtelle Jr. of El Paso was introduced to Big Spring circles Saturday morning at a coffee given at Caden Country Club. Mrs. Elmer Cravens and Glyn Jordan were hostesses.

The honoree is the former Martha Monedero of El Paso, who was married on June 16 to Gilbert Sawtelle. He is the son of Mrs. G. G. Sawtelle, 210 West 22nd.

The hostesses greeted guests and presented the senior Mrs. Sawtelle, who introduced her daughter-in-law and her sister, Mrs. F. J. Miller of Henry, Ill.

An arrangement of large bronze chrysanthemums and yellow pompons were combined with Pampas grass and gold canna leaves as a centerpiece. This was contained in a brass casserole chafing dish on a brown linen cloth.

Alternating at the table were Mrs. Jerry Currie, Mrs. B. Broadrick, Mrs. Jim Bill Little and Mrs. Paul Schaffer.

Also assisting with hospitalities were Mrs. Coy Nalley and Mrs. Ralph Baker.

Golf Group Discusses Style Show

Further discussion of the Fall Style Show to be sponsored by the Ladies Golf Association of the Big Spring Country Club was held when the group met Friday. The show is slated for Sept. 13.

At the luncheon meeting, reports were given by committee chairmen. Mrs. Jack Irons presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Fred Lutting. It was decided to dispense with the September meeting because of the men's golf tournament and the style show.

Guests were served at foursome tables centered with arrangements of zinnias in small brass holders. A center table held marigolds and greenery in a white tureen.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Tommy Hutto, Mrs. W. E. Ramsey, Mrs. Marvin Saunders and Mrs. Jasper Atkins.

A special prize was won by Mrs. E. L. Powell. Guests were Mrs. Everett Colburn of Dublin, Mrs. Shine Phillips, Mrs. Don Burk, Mrs. Jake Morgan and Brenda Barr.

Bridge games were the diversion for the afternoon.

Vows Taken Before Minister Who Married Bride's Parents

Saturday evening in Houston, Nellie Lee Jefferies and Abner Shelton Zachary III repeated wedding vows before the same minister who had officiated at the marriage of her parents 30 years ago in Laredo.

He is the Rev. Dwight Sharpe of Dallas, who read the rites in the Saint Andrews Presbyterian Church in Houston for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Jefferies Sr. of Houston. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. A. S. Zachary Jr. of Denton.

White satin ribbon marked pews, and smiles covered the altar rail for the wedding. Arrangements of white stock and peonies stood beside the communion table, with a background of tapers in tall candleholders.

Jim Clark was organist, and he accompanied Mrs. A. E. Blackburn as she sang "The Twenty-Third Psalm," "O, Perfect Love" and Motette's "Lord's Prayer."

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE
Mr. Jefferies gave his daughter in marriage. White Chantilly lace made the classically fashioned bridal gown, with a princess silhouette and empire bodice. The Queen Anne collar was scalloped to follow the pattern of the lace.

The bodice was accented in the back with a row of tiny self-covered buttons and long sleeves tapered over the hands. A cap of the lace, edged with bridal pearls, held gathered tiers of French illusion, which hung to fingertip length.

The bride's flowers were white roses and stephanotis with a shower of lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Clarence B. Jefferies Jr. of Laredo attended her sister-in-law as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Kelly and Jerrie Nan Swinford, both of Houston; Mrs. Paul Harrison Sloan of Abilene and Nelda Bristow of Pearland.

All the attendants were frocked in Nile green taffeta, styled with portrait necklines and brief sleeves. The basque bodices joined bell-shaped skirts, ballet length and featuring bustles. Matching slippers and white gloves completed the attire along with shadow cloches of taffeta accented with small bows and nose veils.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, H. B. Zachary of Denton. Groomsmen were C. B. Jefferies Jr. of Laredo; P. D. Jefferies of San Antonio, a cousin of the bride; Arthur Gallagher of Eastland, a cousin of the bridegroom; and James Tankersley of Dallas.

Ushers were Richard Damon and Bruce Derrenberger, both of Houston. Annalee Jefferies, a niece of the bride was flower girl. She wore a bouffant dress of white. Clad in a miniature tuxedo, Chris Alan Jefferies, nephew of the bride, carried the rings.

Dunns Honored At Going Away Parties

FORSAN — Wilma Dunn was honored Friday evening with a watermelon party in the back yard of the Dunn home by Cheryl Ann Moore, her cousin. Girls of the 4th grade class were guests and nine attended.

Mrs. W. B. Dunn was the honoree Friday morning at a coffee in the home of Mrs. John Kuback. Other hostesses were Mrs. L. W. Moore and Mrs. J. D. Gilmore. Mrs. Dunn was presented with a corsage of rose gladioli.

The serving table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of mixed artificial and sprayed cotton balls, cattails and tiny daisies. Mrs. Bob Honeycutt and Mrs. A. J. McNallen helped in serving the nineteen guests who were present.

The Dunn family is moving to Odessa Tuesday.

Pink And Blue Party Fetes Mrs. Cutright

Mrs. Marple Cutright was the honoree at a pink and blue shower recently in the home of Mrs. Pete Thomas of Sand Springs. Other hostesses were Mrs. Pete Earnest, Mrs. James R. Swan and Mrs. Harry Weeg.

A music box filled with flowers played tunes while guests were served from a lace covered table. About 20 guests were present.

were used for coffee and punch served with the five-tiered cake at the reception, held in Fellowship Hall of the church. Guests were registered by Searcy Lou Miller of Houston.

Assisting the bridal couple in receiving were the parents of the bride, the bridegroom's mother and grandfather, H. B. Herring, and the feminine attendants.

In the house party were Mrs. Thomas J. Pope of Dallas; Polly Smith of Rockdale, a cousin of the bride; Mrs. R. L. Baker of Bryan; Mary Lou Daniel of Houston and Suzanne McMullin of San Antonio.

For a wedding trip to New Orleans, Mrs. Zachary chose a brown suit with dark brown accessories. This was accented with lime green gloves and a scarf of the same shade. She wore lizard shoes and bag; her corsage was a cymbidium orchid.

The bride, who is a 1955 graduate of North Texas State College, taught English in the Forsan Schools last year.

The bridegroom has attended Tulane University in New Orleans, and NTSC. In Tulane, he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity.

When the couple returns from the trip, they will make a home in College Station where the bride will teach in the A&M Consolidated Schools. The bridegroom will finish his studies at A&M College.

BRIDAL AFFAIRS
Pre-nuptial parties honoring Miss Jefferies have included a coffee on June 9; a kitchen shower was given June 20, with a china and silver shower on July 16.

On July 19, friends honored her with a pottery and stainless steel shower, followed on July 24, by a linen shower. A miscellaneous shower was an affair of July 26. Mrs. Clara McLendon of Houston, a great-aunt of Miss Jefferies entertained with a luncheon on July 28, and on Friday, the bridesmaids luncheon was given by Mrs. E. A. Blackburn Sr. and her daughter, Jerrie Nan Swinford, at River Oaks Country Club in Houston.

Methodist Women Hear Mrs. Koberg

Mrs. Charles Koberg brought the devotion to members of the Susannah Wesley Sunday School class of the First Methodist Church at Friday's meeting. The group met at Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. Koberg's message was titled "Being Thankful," from the 104 Psalm.

Mrs. Gus Hart and Mrs. John Chaney and their groups were hostesses for the meeting.

Besides the 28 members present, guests were the Rev. and Mrs. Richard Deats.

Bridal Tea Given; Many Vacationing

FORSAN — Leila Mae Fletcher was the honoree at a personal bridal shower Saturday morning in the home of Mrs. M. M. Fairchild. Mary Ann Fairchild assisted her mother as hostess. Miss Fletcher, bride-elect of Jimmy Roy Porter, will be married Friday evening in Big Spring.

Leaving Saturday for a month's vacation were Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Wash and Danny. The family plans to visit in Denver and Colorado Springs, Salt Lake City, Yellowstone Park, Los Angeles, Las Vegas, Grand Canyon and the Petrified Forest in Arizona.

Going to Ruidoso Saturday for their vacation were Mr. and Mrs. L. B. McElrath. Also making the trip to New Mexico were Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Story, Nancy and Elizabeth and Jerry Lynn Stephenson of Big Spring, and Linda Camp.

Miss Nance Feted At Bridal Shower

Rexie Jean Nance, bride-elect of T. L. Kennedy, was honored with a bridal shower recently in the home of Mrs. Clarence Todd. Wedding bells and rings were placed over the arch of the dining room which lead to the serving table. The table featured the bride-elect's chosen colors of blue and white.

The table was laid with a white lace cloth over pale blue taffeta. White asters formed the centerpiece and attached to the arrangement were blue satin streamers with "Rexie and T. L." written in gold letters.

Around 40 guests called during the evening.

60th Anniversary

LAMESA — Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Shipley celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary Thursday with a reception at the Loop Community Building. The Shipleys were married August 2, 1896 in Wise County and lived in Lamesa until they moved to Loop last year. Their two daughters, Mrs. Fred Warden of Andrews and Mrs. Woodrow Owens of New Castle, were at home to assist their parents with the celebration. About 100 guests called. The serving table was laid with white linen with a centerpiece of cut flowers and the wedding cake. Music was furnished during the evening by a string band.

For The Red Cross

One of the welfare projects of the Eager Beaver Sewing Club is that of making cancer bandages to be used by the Red Cross. Meeting every Friday, the group sets aside one session a month for this worthwhile activity. "Many hands make the work light" is proven by Mrs. John Freeman, at left, Mrs. Denver Yates, Mrs. Dalton Johnston, Mrs. J. D. Kendrick. Seated on the floor are, left to right, Mrs. Pat Patterson, Mrs. Clarence Bell and Mrs. M. W. Rupp.

'Eager Beavers' Not Ordinary Sewing Club

By ANNE LEFEVER
The old description of a sewing club, "They met; they sew; they chat," certainly could never be applied to the Eager Beaver Sewing Club.

This group, with three of its five charter members still active, will mark its tenth anniversary Wednesday. In celebration, there will be a family picnic at the City Park at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Members are planning to bring their children and grandchildren, or, as one member said, "pictures of them so we'll stand a little chance in the yakety-yak."

Besides having fun at every meeting of the group, the club does welfare work. One Friday each month, cancer bandages are made for the Red Cross; each Thursday, four of the 12 members work at the Veterans Hospital in the central supply office.

Assistance is given regularly by other members in helping wheel-chair patients outdoors. Each Wednesday, Mrs. H. D. Bruton shows movies for the men, and some of the women are always ready to fill in for her or to help with the showing.

The group maintains a fund for use at the VA Hospital in making loans or grants to patients unable to pay their fare home. Members assist in all charity drives, and they assemble baskets for the needy each Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Three of the members, Mrs. M. W. Rupp, Mrs. Bruton and Mrs. Dick Hooper have served over 350 hours at the VA Hospital, and the club as a whole has compiled about 1500 hours of service there.

To finance their various activities, the women have made quilts and sold them. They have entered floats in several parades, winning at different times, first and second prizes and honorable mention on their entries.

The club had its start when a group of five met in the home of Mrs. Hooper on Aug. 8, 1946. Present were Mrs. Bruton, Mrs. Neil Bryant, Mrs. Ben Jernigan and Mrs. Roy Spivey.

Colors of orchid and white were chosen by the group, with the club flowers being the orchid dahlia and the shasta daisy. The motto of the organization is "Open mind; open heart; willing hands to do our part."

Son's Birth Told

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Phillips, 106 East 18th, are parents of a son, Robert Wesley, born Thursday at Malone-Hogan Hospital. Mrs. Phillips is the former Patty Bond, daughter of Mrs. Beulah Bond. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Phillips.

Guild Changes Meet

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church will hold its meeting in the parlor of the church Thursday at 7:30 p.m. instead of on the regular meeting date.

Visiting Misses Pearl and Jo Cole have been Mr. and Mrs. Johnny O'Bryan Jr. and family of Daharan, Saudi Arabia, and Mrs. John O'Bryan of Big Lake. While visiting here the group attended the Big Spring Rodeo.

Wood-Berrey Vows Taken

In a double ring ceremony Saturday morning, Mrs. Lois Wood became the bride of J. R. Berrey. Rites were read by the Rev. Maple Avery in the East 4th Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. W. M. Hillburn of Big Spring. Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Berrey of Norton are parents of the bridegroom.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. James Lloyd Curry, sister and brother-in-law of the bride. Mrs. Berrey is a recent employee of the VA Hospital and the groom is an employee at Webb AFB. After a wedding trip to San Antonio and Austin, the couple will make their home at 1806 South Monticello.

Guests, Trips Make News From Forsan

FORSAN—Visiting relatives in Fort Worth are Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Lamb.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Kubecka were Mrs. Jimmy McCormick, Susie Bee and Charles of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Nolan Childress, Dianne and Tim of Garden City.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cardwell are in Abilene this weekend visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Breithaupt.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl King have returned home from San Antonio where Mr. King was hospitalized for several weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Prater went to San Antonio to bring the Kings home.

Vacationing in Arizona, Oklahoma and Odessa were Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Huettis, Gaye and Bobby. While in Odessa they were guests of their son and family, Wayne Huettis.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Mary Sue Hale

Maybe you didn't know that there is an ocean about two hours drive from Big Spring, but there is. An ancient ocean, Bruce Frazier's combined biology and geology classes set out in the college bus Thursday morning bound for Fluvanna, where, armed with pick hammers, packed lunch, and canteens of water, they spent several hours digging ancient sea fossils out of the rocky hillside.

Included in those making the trip were Bruce Frazier, Penny, Jimmy and Mac Frazier, Jim Jolley, Robert Henkley, Sally Baber, Frank Parker, Wade Choate, Mrs. Cliff Wiley, Mrs. Claude Miller, Shirley Ward, Jim Allen, Frank Hunt, Tammie Jo Williamson, Mary Doorley, Lou Anne Parsons, John Birdwell, Trust Newell, and Mary Sue Hale.

You girls who are planning to attend HCJC this fall better make a note of the Lass-O Slumber Party, which is scheduled to be held in the SUB Aug. 18. Designed to introduce prospective members to the organization, the event will begin at 9 p.m. with each girl bringing her bedding, plus a midnight snack. Mrs. Marshall Box is sponsor of the club, with JoAnn Watkins serving as president. Other officers will be elected next year, so as to give new members a chance in the leadership.

LaVerne Cooper, editor of next year's HCJC yearbook, The Jayhawker, has announced her staff members for the '56-'57 annual, although she hasn't assigned positions, as yet. They are Rodney Sheppard, Clara Freeman, China Carroll, Yvonne Peterson, Billy McIlvain, and Max McCullough. Mr. J. L. Clements will serve as sponsor.

Final college arrangements were made by Kenda McGibbon this weekend, as she, with her parents and other members of her family left Friday for Dallas. While there, Kenda took time out to see a touring Broadway show, starring Liberace. Kenda will attend SMU this fall.

Sue Wheat and Marie Hall, two local girls who are attending summer sessions of college out of town, came home for the weekend last week; Sue from Baylor, and Marie from S.M.U.

Arah Phillips, who will head the women's Physical Training Department at HCJC next year, is presently in charge of girl's pre-registration for the college. If you prefer to register for your classes in advance, contact Miss Phillips by calling AM 4-2262 to make an appointment. Since she is trying Take your problems to Church this week —millions leave them there!

Don't cry, little man, don't cry...

This unhappy little fellow is learning an important lesson — tears do not solve problems.

Life brings many difficulties to the average person, often heavy burdens of responsibility, grief, and pain that must be met without compromise.

But there is a wise solution for all of us if we fortify ourselves with qualities that will give courage, faith, and hope in the face of all trouble.

In hours of stress and anxiety, the Christian religion is a rock of refuge. In the Church you will find spiritual strength, guidance, and enduring comfort. Go to God's House and put your trust in Him.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Engagement Announced

The engagement and approaching marriage of Minnie Jane Singleton of Austin to John H. Crow Jr., of Marble Falls has been announced. Miss Singleton is the daughter of Duke Singleton of Marble Falls. Mr. and Mrs. John H. Crow Sr. of Big Spring are the parents of the prospective bridegroom. The bride-to-be is a graduate of Marble Falls High School and attended North Texas State College. She is now employed in the General Land Office. The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of Amarillo High School and Abilene Christian College. He is now minister of the Church of Christ in Marble Falls. The ceremony will take place at the Church of Christ in Marble Falls on Sept. 17 at 7:30 p.m.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Talk about a 'Naked City'. Ours will look like one when all the rodeo bunting gets taken down during the week. I guess that will be about the last dressing up until the Christmas season. This is strictly personal, but I do hope the powers that be won't start the Christmas season so early that by the time the holiday season gets here everything and everybody are worn out and the decorations are tarnished and bedraggled.

Nomination for Father of the Month is COL. CHARLES YOUNG of Webb. He has taken a two weeks leave and, while his wife will be the envy of many other wives, he won't make many friends among the fathers. He is baby-sitting with the three little Youngs, Chuckie, Cindy and Carol, while their mother visits her mother in Redwood City, Calif. This will probably be a new phase of his education.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL F. MCCRARY have returned from a two weeks trip spent in New York and Canada. They were guests of his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver McCrary, in Groton, N. Y., and also visited his sister and her husband, the Rev. and Mrs. Walter McPherson in New York City. Mrs. McPherson is director of the Protestant Council of Churches of New York City.

LT. AND MRS. K. R. CARMAN and their children have returned from Montgomery, Ala., where they have spent several months while Lt. Carman took special courses.

Off for Akron, Ohio and the Soap Box Derby are the WAYLAND YATESSES. Kent, their son, will stay in Abilene with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Yates, while his parents are away. They were to leave Abilene today and do a little touring enroute to the Derby city.

They plan to visit Mr. and Mrs. Roy Durwin, former Big Spring residents in Sarnia, Canada, on Tuesday or Wednesday. Mr. Durwin worked for Cabot Carbon here. They also hope to visit Niagara Falls and to be in Chicago during the Democratic convention. All this and the races too!

MR. AND MRS. W. A. FRENCH and sons, Bill and Randy, are in Acapulco, Mexico, where they will have a four weeks vacation.

MRS. SHELBY READ and daughter, Mary, have returned from a trip to Oklahoma City.

Do you have an ex-Cub Scout whose uniform you no longer need? There are many little fellows that need uniforms whose parents are not financially able to buy them and there's a woman who will be glad to come and get yours if you have one to give away. She is Mrs. R. J. Leighty at 200 N. W. 4th St., and her telephone number is AM 4-8050. It's getting time for all the dens to start meeting again so if you can help, do it right away.

MR. AND MRS. R. W. CURRIE have returned from their yearly trip to Long Beach, Calif. While he enjoys the ball games and horse races, Mrs. Currie enjoys visiting in Orange with her childhood friend, Mrs. Dorothy Ellington Bove, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. O. Ellington of this city.

MR. AND MRS. K. H. MCGIBBON and Kenda and Lt. Charles

Lamesa WSCS Party

LAMESA — Members of the WSCS of the Clark Methodist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Harold Parsons. Following a short business meeting presided over by Mrs. Sam Haney, president, a Bible quiz game was played. Refreshments were served to eight.

HI--TALK

By CAROL ROGERS

A newcomer to Texas usually expects to find a scene somewhat like that of a Western movie. One would not have been disappointed in Big Spring during the past week. As you know, the annual rodeo was held the 1, 2, 3, and 4 and it made a complete change in the routine of Big Spring citizens.

The teen-agers, as usual, played a large part in the festivities. Several clubs sponsored floats, and many students rode in the parade Wednesday afternoon. But the teen-agers' activities only began with the parade. Several of the rodeo contestants were students of BSHS and the rest shared in the fun by attending the parade and rodeo.

Visiting in Big Spring for the past two weeks is Shelby Smith, senior in Snyder High School. Shelby writes Teen Talk, a column in the Snyder Daily News each Sunday. She is visiting Dimple Clark, who attended school in Snyder last year.

It was hard to tell who was more surprised — Annette Boykin or Kathy McRee — at the surprise party for both girls Wednesday morning. The party was given in Kathy's home and attending were Sue Boykin, Lou Ann White, Darlene Agee, Charlene Lansing, Dianne Green Jacqueline Smith, Carol Rogers, Janet Hogan, Jean Robison, Nancy King, Linda Coker, Anita Gardner, Annette, and Kathy. The girls discussed coming school activities over refreshments.

Janet Hogan, Sue Boykin, and Valjean LaCroix left this morning to attend the Student Council Summer Workshop in Alpine. The students, accompanied by Mr. Roy D. Worley and Mrs. Betty Lou Ratliff, will be among 150 student council members from all over the state. They will stay in the Sul Ross College dormitories, and the Big Spring group will return late Friday.

There's nothing like getting an early start, and the 1956 cheerleaders have certainly done that! Sue Boykin, Lou Ann White, Sue Barnes, Valjean LaCroix, Sammie Barr, Sammie Sue McComb, Barbara Coffee, and Julie Rainwater were the performers in the ballet which was a part of the swim meet held here sponsored by the YMCA.

The students of BSHS will miss went with them to Gladewater. They are visiting friends, who live on a lake shore so Charlene and "Ticky" will have a good time boating, swimming, and fishing.

Brenda Gordon and Susan Landers went to San Antonio Wednesday to visit Linda Wohnen. Linda attended junior high here. The girls planned to come home next Wednesday.

Jennie McEvers left this morning to attend the state planning conference at Lake Brownwood this week. The conference is sponsored by the First Christian Church.

Wednesday, Jennie will go to Ft. Worth, where she will meet Gerry Girdner. They will attend the First Christian State Youth Convention there. The convention will include educational, inspirational, and recreational programs. The girls will return to Big Spring Sunday.

The girls in the water ballet Friday night certainly did a beautiful job. Sue Barnes, Carlene Coleman, Diana Dawson, Cecilia McDonald, Sandra Havens, Brenda Barr, Sammie Sue McComb, Barbara Coffee, and Julie Rainwater were the performers in the ballet which was a part of the swim meet held here sponsored by the YMCA.

The students of BSHS will miss

All Of Us Know This But Here It Is Again

By DOROTHY ROE

The most important job in every woman's life is to get along with men, says Mrs. Florence Pew, who has made a life work of teaching women of all shapes, sizes and ages to be happy, charming and successful.

This sparkling, silver-haired lady, herself a highly successful wife, mother and executive, explains her point thus: "Any woman who wants to be successful in life, whether it is in marriage, a career or running a house, has to know how to manage men. A woman must deal with men all her life. She starts by learning how to get along with her father. Next she must learn to be popular with the boys at school. "Later her life still is ruled by men. She must know how to help her husband, make him happy, aid him in his work and keep him devoted."

"If she has a job, she must get along with her boss. And in everything she does there is some man to be met and won over—the doctor, the butcher, the grocer and the milk man."

Mrs. Pew is vice president of Dale Carnegie Publishers and founder of the firm's special courses in human relations for women. Mrs. Pew gives some well-tested advice on her favorite subject—how to get along with a man: "Help a man to be gallant. Let him light your cigarette and open doors for you. Seek his advice and respect his opinions. No man likes to have a woman take charge, flag down her own taxicab, order her own meal, try to manage his life as well as hers. The charming woman never lets her efficiency show, even if she heads a worldwide corporation during working hours."

"If your husband or your best beau wants to take you out on the town, or suddenly gets an urge to do some foolish things such as going to Coney Island or taking a ride on the ferry, always be ready. Fall in with his mood."

"Don't short-change your man on sugar. Nobody ever had too much love. So if you love him, don't be afraid to show it."

"Let him be a knight on a white charger, and school yourself to be a helpless and adoring helpmeet—even if you have the muscles of a mule and steel-trap mind. Just don't let them show."

Vacationing in Mexico City are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Holbert, 1607 Vines.

Miraculous Recovery

Work and will power are two of the things which helped staling star Jane Froman walk again after a near-fatal airplane accident. She was forced to live in a cast for years.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Jane Froman's Story Of Work, Willpower

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—The inspirational story of Jane Froman's recovery from the airplane crash which threatened to make her a permanent invalid is well-known to all who saw "With a Song in My Heart," the movie of her life. Now Jane has resumed her career in better voice, and she is more attractive than before.

When she appeared recently on NBC-TV from Hollywood, a noted critic remarked, "I have never seen anyone who radiated so much joy of living."

"What seems like a disaster at the moment often turns out to be a blessing," she exclaimed with a happy shining face when I told her what the critic said. "I have come out of all this infinitely on such a terrible stutter that I couldn't talk in front of an audience. Now I have overcome this."

"You move with the grace of a ballet dancer," I commented, about the way Jane had glided around the stage. "How do you manage this?"

"Work and will power," Jane said quickly. "The doctors told me that one leg would be an inch and a half shorter than the other. They wanted to put lifts on my shoe but I wouldn't let them. I told them that I would overcome that by raising my hip on one side and lowering it on the other."

Jane picked up the skirts of her hostess gown to show a leg, a mass of scars and a brace below the knee. She moved about without a limp.

"I concentrated on walking with a glide. I am able to move more rhythmically now than before. My leg was in a heavy cast. Jane continued, "and I was afraid it would be stiff. 'Not if you exercise it,' the doctor told me. So I began to move it a little at a time, lifting it up from the bed. The cast weighed 35 pounds. Eventually I was able to swing it so high that it is now more limber than my other one."

Jane held on to the back of a chair and kicked as high as her head with the injured leg.

I wanted to know her most prized beauty secret.

"After the first bloom of youth is gone it takes more than cosmetics to create the illusion of beauty. Lasting beauty comes from within and you realize this when you lie in a cast for years and years. Your appreciation of the simplest things is sharpened. Being able to stand up and go for a walk becomes a delight."

"I had lots of time for thinking. How easy it is for money, fame and a beautiful appearance to be taken away and how great is love, and good will."

"I learned the importance of not judging people and how to understand them. I had a nurse who was very disagreeable. She did her duty but never once did she smile. Then one day I discovered that she had two dwarfed front teeth. She was so self-conscious that she had trained herself not to smile. After that she no longer seemed disagreeable."

"Another beauty secret is rest. There is nothing like it to smooth out the lines from your face and nothing like activity to keep you young. This may sound contradictory," Jane explained, "but my mother who is in her 80's is still teaching voice and piano at college. She is taken for 20 years younger and is astonishingly contemporary. She knows all the current slang, what's on the hit parade and for her, birthdays don't exist."

"There are so many exciting things in life, so many interesting things to do that I have no patience with bored people. Those who are the most charming are alive and eager.

"Now that all my doctor bills are paid," Jane confessed, "I have arranged my life so that I only work six months out of the year and play the rest. I am going to visit friends, read, finish my suit," she said bringing out a handsome jacket she was knitting from wool and twine giving a tweed effect, "and," she added, "play golf."

I did a double take. "With a cart?"

"After I have learned to walk 18 holes I might use one but I have played nine and my swing is good," she smiled. "It's wonderful to be on the course because I never thought I'd play golf again."

"I like a floral fragrance," she confessed, and named several perfumes of her choice — sweet pea, lily of the valley and carnation. "Isn't it wonderful," she said with her electric enthusiasm, "to be able to give yourself the fragrance of the sweetest flowers, to be like a walking garden wherever you go?"

"And I have a green thumb," Jane told me. "The flowers on my terrace in New York are so beautiful."

"And so are you," I couldn't resist saying, "inside and out."

Bridal Tea Given For Miss Brown

LAMESA — Miss Laura Brown, bride-elect of Lloyd Young, was complimented recently with a gift tea in the home of Mrs. A. G. Barnard.

Guests were greeted by a hostess, Mrs. Darrell Merrick, and in the receiving line were the bride-elect; her mother, Mrs. C. F. Brown; mother of the prospective bridegroom, Mrs. W. O. Young; Mrs. James Foster and Zona Brown. Mrs. Charles Davis, a hostess, registered the guests who called while Mrs. Barnard furnished music during the tea hour.

The serving table was laid with white linen and featured a centerpiece of pink and white daisies flanked by pink candles. The appointments were of crystal and silver. Two more hostesses, Mrs. Bob Newsome and Mrs. Monte Grissom, alternated at the punch service. About 50 called during the evening.

Other hostesses were Mrs. Arlene Richey, Mrs. Carl Seay, Mrs. Buster Rhoades, Mrs. Dick White and Mrs. Paul Webb.

Miss Brown and Mr. Young will be married Aug. 10 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Burns of Lamesa.

Rev. Hankins Feted

LAMESA—Members of the Northside Baptist Church surprised their pastor, the Rev. Giles Hankins, with a birthday supper recently on the church lawn. Ice cream and cake were served by the ladies of the church to about 75.

COSDEN CHATTER

Ozark Vacation, Family Reunion For John Hills

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Hill and son, Bobby, are vacationing in the Ozarks. They plan to attend a family reunion in Missouri before returning to Big Spring Aug. 20.

E. B. McCormick has been a guest of the Clark Brothers Company in Olean, N. Y., along with other engineers from refineries in this area to witness the operation of a gas turbine which Clark Brothers are putting into commercial production. He returned to Big Spring Friday.

Mike Phelan and family will vacation in Taos, N. M., next week.

A number of Midland people visited the engineering department during the week. They included Tommy Reynolds of Graybar Electric Company; James R. Turner with Crane Packing Company; F. L. Hayhurst of Ingersoll-Rand Company, and Doug McLaren of the I. W. Hynd Company.

Dick Taylor will spend a week visiting his sister, Mrs. James Lebrun, in Dallas.

Russian Influence Seen In Fall Fath Collection

PARIS — Capes and drapes filled the Fath collection, opening the second day of the new Paris fashion season. Wide skirts dropped two to three inches.

Tightly draped sheaths might have been designed to show off the curves of a Marilyn Monroe. Russian Cossack caps in fur, and onion dome headgear in shiny feathers struck a diplomatic political note—or perhaps only echoed the popularity of the Moscow circus and Russian ballet on their recent Paris visits.

The longer, midcalf skirts in the Fath show did not cause the sensation that Dior's nearly ankle-length tweedy day dresses stirred up yesterday. The Fath version is inconspicuous because it is restricted to dressy afternoon, cocktail and evening skirts, where it is not much of an innovation.

The Fath skirts are about 16½ inches from the floor in slim skirts and 14 inches in full ones. While Dior says "Down with sheaths," Genevieve Fath is still turning them out like mad. Great puffs of drapery bows, loops and cascades perch here and there, but especially on the hip, for a sexy silhouette.

Visit Californians

Mrs. E. E. Bryant and Mrs. J. A. Whisenand and Fred have returned from a trip to Hillsboro and Dallas. While in Dallas they attended the wedding of their niece and cousin, Nelda Boatman. Miss Boatman married Ken Staller of Venice, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Boatman are parents of the bride and are former residents of Big Spring.

Mrs. Edna Malone, Mrs. Ivy Hodnett of Knott and Mrs. Alice Angel of Midland have returned from a two weeks vacation in Modesto, Calif., with Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Copeland. Mrs. Hodnett remained for an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. Copeland. As a continuation of her vacation, Mrs. Malone visited her children, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Engle in Adrian, and they returned home with her to attend the Big Spring Rodeo.

FOR CAMPUS WEAR

Shirtwaist Sheath Has Ease Of Adaptability

Annie Klein of Jr. Sophisticates knows the kind of thing that is most likely to succeed on the campus—it's this step-in shirtwaist sheath designed without a waistline to add to its casual air and adaptability.

Although tailored in appearance, it can serve at many occasions since its formality depends on fabric choice. Thus in wool, tweed, gabardine or dark cottons it is a classroom favorite.

In shantung, faille, brocade or novelty materials it becomes a lovely afternoon tea or cocktail model, and you might try moving the belt up under the bust—or even lower than your normal waist.

Even a beginner will discover how easy this is to make, in spite of the blind front opening and vented and welted bodice pockets, because the pattern is custom cut with accurate perforations, to insure precise matching.

This hand cut, custom made pattern is not standard sized but is the only pattern available with exclusive designers retail sizing measurements for a more accurate fit, better styling, less altering. Open perforations for easy markings without damaging tissue; also time saving, fabric saving, money saving; no tracing wheel or carbon paper needed; easy to follow instructions for beginners.

From this chart select the size best for you!

Size 7 bust 32½, waist 22½, hips 33½, length from nape of neck to waist 15½ inches; size 9 bust 33½, waist 23½, hips 34½, length from nape of neck to waist 16 inches; size 11 bust 34½, waist 24½, hips 35½, length from nape of neck to waist 16½ inches. size 13 bust 36, waist 26, hips 37, length from nape of neck to waist 16½ inches; size 15 bust 37½, waist 27½, hips 39½, length from nape of neck to waist 16½ inches.

Size 13 requires 3½ yards of 39-inch material for dress and ¼ of a yard of 35-inch material for interfacing.

Alcoholics Show Good Progress In 'Self-Treatment'

By WAYLAND YATES

Dedicated to a common objective—regaining the respect of families and friends—a group of patients at the Big Spring State Hospital are providing their own means of recovery.

They're not mental patients, by any means. On the contrary, you'll find some of the sharpest minds you've ever met in the group of about 25 men and women.

They have a common affliction. Alcoholism. And they're in the hospital because they want to rid themselves of the monster that has made nightmares of their lives.

"Group therapy" is their means of combatting the disease. The patients are providing most of the therapy.

The fight on alcoholism is a new program of Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools. First funds for that purpose became available less than a year ago, Sept. 1, 1955. It was a mere $35,000 for the six state hospitals which have opened departments for treatment of alcoholics. Next year, Nelson Brown, chief of the state-wide program, will ask the legislature for nearly 10 times that much money—$324,000 for fiscal 1957 and $340,000 for the following year.

It's too early, Brown said here recently, for an accurate appraisal of the undertaking. But he knows for sure that 25 per cent—probably a much higher percentage—of the patients treated during the first six months of the program have licked the problem of alcoholism up to now.

A greater proportion of the patients who received the therapy at the Big Spring State Hospital have benefited, Leslie Ross, counselor on alcoholism at the local institution, says that at least 50 per cent of the patients discharged here are "still making it all right."

Ross believes the percentage is even higher here, but he too lacks evidence to back up higher claims because former patients are not investigated until at least six months after they're discharged.

The counselor said that about 200 alcoholics per year can receive the full course of treatment at the local hospital. Since Nov. 1, 1955, there have been 123 admitted. In the group were 104 men and 19 women. A few days ago, there were 22 alcoholics in the hospital, 13 men and four women. The number fluctuates from day to day, due to admissions and dismissals. Ross worked only part-time at the hospital during the last part of 1955 and early this year. He went on fulltime duty Feb. 1. Since then he has worked with 90 alcoholics. Their average stay in the hospital is about 30 days.

The therapy they receive at the hospital is almost identical with the program of Alcoholics Anonymous, the only "treatment" that has been widely proved to be successful. In the program, the patients strive to help themselves by helping others with the same problem.

Of course, the patients get a complete examination on admission to the hospital and the staff of doctors seeks to eliminate all other ills before they turn the alcoholics over to Ross' department.

First step in the therapy is for the patient to confess "To God, to himself and another human being" that he is an alcoholic, Ross explained.

"The patients must realize that he is victim of a disease—that he's allergic to alcohol just like diabetics are allergic to sugar—and that to defeat the disease he must forever forego another drink of alcohol," Ross declared.

After that, patients gain a greater knowledge of their problem through group discussions, talks by other alcoholics who have abstained for years, motion pictures covering every phase of rehabilitation, and by "talking up" the morale of fellow victims.

Every Thursday afternoon the group meets for a "round table." A different patient leads the discussion each week, and at the conclusion of the discussions he appoints the topic master for the following week.

Ross says these weekly meetings are key to success of the program. Patients are encouraged by one of their own number to bring their problems out into the open, for comparison with experiences of others and to emphasize the necessity of total abstinence from alcohol.

Apparently nothing is held back. The day a Herald reporter attended one of the round tables, he was formally welcomed by several members of the group. Two, telling of treatment they had received in so-called private hospitals, said they hoped something would get in the paper about the state hospital program.

LEADERS OF FIGHT ON ALCOHOLISM
Leslie Ross, Big Spring, and Nelson Brown, Austin

"I tried and tried, and always wound up worse than before," one said. "I didn't know there was a place like this anywhere. This is just what we need."

During the meeting, patients told of homes wrecked by alcoholism, and of the loss of love and respect of husbands, wives, children and parents.

"Don't misunderstand us," the leader of the discussion said. "This is not a reform movement. If the other fellow wants a drink, we're perfectly willing for him to have it. But alcoholics are forever denied that privilege, or we'll wind up right where we were."

"We're one drink away from a drunk," is the way another member of the group explained it.

Ross and his patients work closely with the local chapter of Alcohol Anonymous. The patients attend meetings of the AA and are encouraged to become members of AA chapters after discharge from the hospital. The counselor attempts to place patients in towns where AA's are active, in cases where they must leave Big Spring.

Employment is recommended after discharge. Even at the hospital, the patients are given small jobs to perform, "to help keep their minds occupied."

An effort is made to eliminate all "social misfit drinkers" from the rehabilitation program. This group Ross classifies as "plain drunkards," not alcoholics.

Alcoholism departments are now operating in the state hospitals at Rusk, Terrell, San Antonio, Austin and Wichita Falls, as well as Big Spring.

The department here has a wing of one hospital floor to itself, a modern, clean layout that would do credit to any hospital. Men and women patients live in different sections.

Brown said the program of rehabilitating alcoholics was born with the Texas Constitution of 1875 which provides for establishment of "an inebriate asylum for the cure of drunkenness and the reform of inebriates." The Texas Legislature in 1951 made hospital facilities available, but failed to appropriate any funds. Last year's appropriation of $35,000 was the first ever made for the program.

High School Group Will Attend Sul Ross Meeting

Several Big Spring High School students and two teachers will attend a "workshop" of the Texas Association of Student Councils opening today at Sul Ross State College, Alpine.

George E. Mathes, director of student activities for the Denver, Colo., public schools, will be consultant. Roy Worley, Big Spring principal, will be director of the sponsors' meeting.

The conference will last through Friday.

At daily general assemblies and group discussions, sponsors and students will become acquainted with the role of the student council in development of student attitudes and relationships.

Sponsors and students will have an opportunity to pool knowledge and share experiences for the purpose of increasing the effectiveness of their councils.

Consideration will be given to constitutions, elections, qualities of leadership, and basic attitudes and characteristics necessary for leadership. Evaluation, student-administrative relationships, student-faculty relationships, and other aspects of student council organizations will be discussed.

The delegates from Big Spring are Janet Hogan, Sue Boykin, Valjean LaCroix and Betty Lou Ratliff, sponsor.

The Question: Do We Need An Airport?

Next Saturday Howard County voters will decide whether to approve $500,000 in bonds as a means of financing a civil airport.

There are many facets to this problem, but ultimately the question resolves itself into a simple one: "Do we need a civil airport?"

We believe that the answer to that is an emphatic "yes!" We believe that we need this facility urgently enough that it will be well worth the $500,000 it will cost, plus the amount required over the years for debt service, plus any reasonable amount of operational help until it becomes self-sustaining.

There doubtless are some questions in the minds of the public about various phases of the airport proposal. One of these is location. At this stage it is impossible to say where the port will be located, but the county is making its surveys and preliminary engineering on a site about 4½ miles out on the Snyder highway. Once a site in this area was not approved by the CAA, but now there are indications that it may be given favorable indications.

Lack of finality should not be cause for obscuring the real issue on the port itself, for the commissioners court certainly would be inclined to acquire the most acceptable site as near to town as the CAA and military will permit.

In the meantime we need to consider the fact that Big Spring and Howard County are among the largest subdivisions in the country without some semblance of a permanent civil airport. Our airport — at our invitation — became Webb AFB. As an expedient and purely as a temporary matter until the picture became clearer, the city occupied Hamilton Field, a small private port at the northeast edge of town. Its unpaved runways are not only bumpy and unpaved but are wholly too short and devoid of prospect of enlargement.

Now that it is apparent that Webb AFB is here to stay for many, many years — as witnessed by the continual development at the base and the authorization of a multi-million dollar on-base housing project. Whether an official "permanent" designation can be secured for the base remains to be established, but this much is known — there is no hope of such a designation unless and until this community is in a position to offer the land and previously improved facilities to the government in fee. We cannot do that until we have a permanent civil airport to take its place.

It requires no genius to fathom the fact that aerial transport will increase steadily if not rapidly. We might as well be without terminal facilities for trucks, buses, etc. as to be without an airport. The way to obtain one is to be sure you have rendered your property for taxes this year and to be sure and vote affirmatively Saturday.

'All Things Are Possible ...'

Would you be surprised if, as you read this, the paper on which it is printed disintegrated and disappeared before your very eyes? Would you call it a miracle?

Well, that is not likely to take place. But, it could happen, and it would be no miracle. D. Philip Anthony quotes the explanation of a physician, Dr. Gotthard Booth, of the Seminar of Religion and Health at Columbia University. This is Dr. Booth's explanation of the "miracle."

"Accidentally, all the electrons composing it could have moved into a pattern allowing it to fall through the empty spaces composing your hand or desk like salt running through the top of a salt shaker. The probability of such an event is small, but by no means infinitesimal."

If such phenomena could happen, it is not at all strange, is it, that physical afflictions could disappear just as mysteriously.

Some months ago in a speech, I told the exciting story of Walter Davis, a young man who, by a remarkable spiritual experience, had overcome the effects of infantile paralysis to become the champion high jumper of the world. A woman in his audience that night had come in a wheelchair, pushed by her husband and son. The doctors, I later learned, could find no physical reason for her inability to walk, but, nevertheless, she was unable to rise from her chair unaided.

She was profoundly moved by the Walter Davis story. When the meeting was over, the two men wheeled her out of the auditorium. They came to the top of a long flight of stairs leading to the street level and, as was their custom, they started to pick her up and carry her. But she amazed them by saying quietly but firmly, "Just help me out of the chair. I am going to walk down these steps."

They tried to dissuade her, and then to assist her, but she said firmly, "Just let me rest my hand on the arm of one of you." And somewhat unsteadily she walked down every one of those steps with increasing confidence. At the bottom, she turned to her family and said, "If that young man could become champion high jumper of the world after infantile paralysis, I can certainly walk without a wheel chair." She has been walking ever since.

Did she experience a miraculous healing of the legs? No. There was nothing with them. Of the mind? Yes. Of the soul? Yes. In an instant, Almighty God had touched her with a healing and vitalizing thought of strength and delivered her from whatever it was that paralyzed her mind so that she was able to rise up and walk.

The miracle that happened to this woman happened in her mind. But is the mind so different from the rest of the body? Clergymen of the Protestant faith report many examples of physical infirmities even as serious as cancer, all medically diagnosed, and healed by the power of faith. At Lourdes, the famous Catholic shrine of France, Catholic authorities have worked closely with medical specialists to assemble impressive other examples.

"If thou canst believe," says the Bible, "all things are possible to him that believeth." What a great healing combination! God and the doctor. Faith and science working together can perform miracles, and never doubt that God can touch you and cure you. "And the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up. . . . Believe and pray and perhaps you too can witness in the lives of you and yours, the miracle of healing."

Republican Prospects Have Changed

Rather suddenly, so far as the public is concerned, Republican prospects have taken a turn, and have become less clear and less bright. The cause of this turn is a spreading uneasiness about the rate of the President's recovery. It is plan enough now that this is the cause of what would otherwise have been an absurd thing for a practical politician like Mr. Stassen to do. It alone explains his having waited until it was so late in the day. For it was about the middle of July that doubt arose about the official prognosis, on which Chairman Hall and Mr. Hagerty have been acting.

Quite evidently, the less satisfactory the rate and character of the President's recovery, the more serious a liability is Mr. Nixon. For virtually every press and public opinion has shown that there are a majority who would not vote to elect Nixon to be President of the United States. If, during the campaign, Mr. Eisenhower is ailing, if he does not look and feel and act more fit than he does now, the outcome in November will be very much in doubt.

This, we may be sure, is why Mr. Stassen has not been obliterated for challenging the plan, of which Mr. Hase was the manager, to renominate the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket by acclamation. There are powerful elements in the Republican party, veteran sponsors of Eisenhower, who have never liked Nixon. There can be little doubt that they realize, the President's health being what it is, that they are running a double risk—the risk of losing the election and the risk of ending up with a President who belongs to the Old Guard.

It is not clear whether they have backed Mr. Stassen, or whether he has raised a flag to which they are rallying. But in any event, Mr. Stassen is no longer playing a lone hand, and on his main point, that Nixon should not be taken for granted, he has now carried the President and Mr. Hall with him.

Mr. Hagerty won the confidence and admiration of the press and the public for his handling of the publicity after the President's heart attack. He has not been equally successful since the President's second illness in June. For he has led the country to expect that by this time the President would be fully recovered, as good if not better than before. The excessively optimistic prognosis of June was an unwise gamble with fate and with the nature of things.

It would have been far better, as things have turned out, if the country had been told that illitis is a serious disease, that the operation was a serious one, and that the President would need time for his convalescence. Then it would not have been necessary to subject the President to a press agent's stunt, like taking him to Panama and compelling him to show how much weariness and boredom he can endure.

The Republican prospects, which have become darker than they appeared to be at the beginning of July, would surely be greatly improved if Nixon were replaced by Herter. In fact, if they go on with Nixon, the Republican leaders will be placing a bet that by September or early October, the President will be so well recovered that his health will not be in issue. With Herter, they would be reinsuring themselves against what might become a big secession of Eisenhower Republicans.

But even with Herter, there is no longer any certainty, as most of us have assumed there was, about the outcome in November. More than a year will have passed since the President was first stricken, and if he is still convalescent, the paramount question will almost certainly be how and by whom the powers of the Presidency are going to be exercised for the next four years. Mr. Eisenhower's enormous personal popularity, which is reflected in the Gallup Polls, cannot be separated from a belief that personally he will and can carry on. A very considerable number of voters will be looking for signs not so much about his life expectancy, which they will take for granted, but about his strength and his energy to carry on.

A realistic appraisal of the political prospects must take into account also the probability that the Democrats seem likely to prove formidable. If, as is now so probable, they have united behind Stevenson, they will have a record in Congress and a candidate which fits the situation. They will not have much of an issue against Eisenhower. But there is no issue against Eisenhower that could be raised effectively in the campaign. The issue is about Eisenhower's ability to carry on.

The Democrats will be offering an alternative for the Eisenhower Republicans and the Eisenhower Democrats to go to if they become too uneasy.

Creeping Optimism Goes With Creeping Inflation

This is a period of creeping optimism as well as creeping inflation.

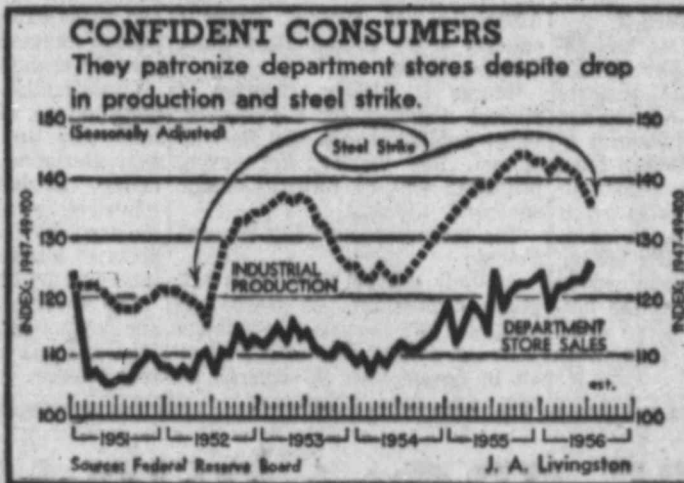

Hardly a day goes by without some announcement of a price rise. Westinghouse Electric boosts appliance prices 1 per cent to 10 per cent; B. F. Goodrich advances tire prices 2 per cent to 3 1/2 per cent — other rubber companies follow; Royal Typewriter marks up typewriter 5.7 per cent to 10.4 per cent. And steel prices are sure to go up 7 per cent to 8 per cent as an aftermath of the recent wage agreement. Steel scrap prices have already soared skyward.

Price advances are always a sign of hope, of optimism. They're always announced, of course, as an "unavoidable necessity" — to meet increases in operating costs. But they're made on the assumption that the market can take them. Roger M. Blough, chairman of United States Steel, commented with appealing frankness on the prospective price advance: "On the whole our economy is in a healthy condition. The steel settlement may be said to add to — as distinguished from setting off — another round of inflation."

The creeping optimism extends to international affairs. Wall Street laid out a wren-sized egg when President Nasser, of Egypt, announced the seizure of the Suez Canal. Yet, here was a threat to peace, a grave international crisis. Fortunately, Communist Party Chief Khrushchev called for calmness and deliberation. He quelled apprehensions, even though he did side with Nasser.

Quite properly, the British and the French are incensed — not only as property owners, whose dividends are threatened, but as users of the Suez Canal. The United States, too, is directly involved. As a maritime power, we cannot rely on one-man control of a sea lane on which we depend for commerce and, conceivably, national security. Nevertheless, if the reaction of stock markets is a guide, investors and speculators assume the dispute will be settled by talk, not guns.

The creeping optimism is caused by many things:

1. The new ease in the Kremlin. Khrushchev and Bulganin seem earnestly to want a prolonged period of peace to carry forward their industrial plans for the Soviet Union. This eases international tension in spite of Nasser.

2. The continued spate of stock splits and dividend increases, including, notably, the issue of rights by American Telephone & Telegraph to raise $75,000,000. The rights are worth between $7 and $8 a share and are an effective replay to clamorers for an AT&T stock split, a higher dividend, or both.

3. The rise in spending power. Personal income in the U. S. reached a $324,000,000,000 a year in June, $1,500,000,000 higher than in May. Here is evidence of continued stability in the economy — ample proof that the automobile and housing setbacks have not spread out.

4. The confidence of consumers. In spite of the drop in production and resulting layoffs in the auto industry, in spite of the steel strike, people generally have been in a spending mood. Thus, department store sales have been strong throughout the year (see chart). This, in turn, is reflected in . . .

5. The willingness of people to go into debt, and, conversely, the confidence of lenders that borrowers will be able to repay. Installment credit advanced $209,000,000 in June to a new high of $239,000,000,000. Auto credit rose $201,000,000, biggest jump since last September. Used-car dealers complain, "We haven't much to sell."

6. The fall business outlook. The depletion of steel inventories and the production of 1957 automobile models promises a big bulge in production. This is calculated to provide plenty of jobs, higher incomes, and retail-sales acceleration. Merchants already are optimistic about Christmas prospects — even though it's "plenty early."

Even the coming political campaign doesn't upset America's grand equanimity. Adlai Stevenson, the front-running Democrat, doesn't scare business men or Wall Street. He's regarded by many persons as a Democratic Eisenhower.

For that reason, the President's health hasn't become a cause for general nervousness. But it easily could. The President's press conference Thursday showed him to be less energetic than he had been. As the campaign gets hotter, concern about his health may mount — particularly, if it seems as Eisenhower seems a sure shot, fears of Stevenson's race in favor of Adlai Stevenson, even though a sizeable number of delegates were committed to the Kefauver banner. Delegates are not chosen by popular vote in many states, and delegations are not bound by the results of the primary elections, either.

It is possible to deduce from what Mr. Eisenhower said at his press conference that he likes Richard Nixon and would prefer to see him run again. The President said that Mr. Nixon "didn't seem to detract" in 1953 from the strength of the Republican ticket. Mr. Eisenhower added: "I can't believe that the United States does not consider that Mr. Nixon has made a splendid record as Vice President in these past four years."

This comes as near an expression of preference or endorsement as a President could make in advance of action by the convention itself, especially since in the same press conference Mr. Eisenhower specifically refused to answer a direct question as to whether he would be happy to have Governor Herter on the ticket with him. The only name on which Mr. Eisenhower did express himself favorably was that of the present Vice President.

But it is possible for the anti-Nixon people — and Mr. Stassen immediately took advantage of the opening — to construe the President's remarks as falling short of a 100 per cent endorsement of and demand for the re-nomination of Mr. Nixon. This means the fight will go on.

For, while Mr. Stassen talks of a "six per cent stronger" ticket with Mr. Herter on it, there is the other side of the coin. It will be a 20 per cent weaker Republican ticket with Mr. Nixon removed from it. It is not a personal affair in any sense. Mr. Nixon has become the symbol of the anti-Communist feeling in the Republican party which can, if pushed to extremes, persuade many Republicans to stay at home and forfeit the election.

The fight against Nixon has been a smear campaign from the start. It comes primarily from the "left-wing" and also from many of the groups which have been protesting against the efforts in Washington.

Around The Rim

Here We Go Again, To The Conventions

If my creaking memory is anywhere near correct, the first national convention nomination that was sent out on what we now call a radio broadcast was that of Warren G. Harding in 1920.

From that time on, the good citizens have been able to stay right on top of what goes on — for better or for worse — at those spectacles called party conventions.

Now, of course, we see as well as hear, and the television industry will be pulling out all the stops for coverage of the two big shows just ahead.

Monday week, the Democrats will be assembling in Chicago. The following Monday, the Republicans take over the screen as they meet in San Francisco.

So, more people than ever will be aware of the weird proceedings that make up a national convention. And there'll be a new blast of criticism of conventions when they're done with. A lot of people say conventions are no damned good.

Matter of fact, the founding fathers did not consider the conventions necessary. No provision was made in the Constitution for nominating presidential candidates.

The old boys started out with what they called a caucus system, wherein they would get together informally and put the finger on a likely choice for the high office. This, it seems, began to be abused, and there was a gradual shift to the convention procedure, at first on the state level. New York had the first state convention in 1824.

A party that didn't last long — the anti-Masons — held the first national convention in 1831. The same year the National Republicans (no relation to the present GOP) tried the same method, nominating Henry Clay for president. The first presidential nominating session of the Democratic party as it now exists was held in Baltimore on May 21, 1832.

This was promoted, a little book tells me, by Andrew Jackson. He was sure of nominating himself, but he wanted to be sure that Martin Van Buren was his running mate. He feared Martin wouldn't make it under the caucus system, so he drummed up a convention over which he could preside with an iron hand. Sure enough, Van Buren was nominated.

Van Buren got more than the two-thirds votes which then were necessary for the nomination. The Democrats used that two-thirds rule for 104 years, but it got thrown out in the Roosevelt days. There are some Southerners today who still mourn its demise.

By 1848 the Democrats took the next obvious step by forming their National Committee, and they've been off and running ever since.

It was just a century ago, in 1856, that the present Republican party held its first nominating convention in Philadelphia.

The forthcoming festivities appear to be cut-and-dried affairs, and not even the TV promoters are going to generate much steam out of them. There have been dull conventions, but on the other hand there have been some real cutters for tenseness and excitement.

There was that killer-diller of 1924 in Madison Square Garden which went to 103 ballots before John W. Davis was nominated to break the Smith-McAdoo deadlock. Remember it? You ought to recall "Alabama casts 24 votes for Underwood."

And that other chant which still has rhythmic echoes — "We Want Willie!" the great chorus in Philadelphia in 1940 that brought a comparative unknown into the political limelight.

Color, fanfare, soaring oratory — all to be sure. Perhaps it's this excitement, and not the actual business at hand, that makes a national convention a great setting in the American scene.

See for yourself in a few days. —BOB WHIPKEY

Forcing A Split In GOP Ranks

WASHINGTON—Today the biggest political fact facing the Republican party in its 1956 campaign is that, under the guise of helping Eisenhower, there is a faction which is determined to force a split in the party.

The move to "get Nixon" and keep him from being re-nominated for Vice President is out in the open and President Eisenhower himself has been caught in its meshes. For no President can be in the position of publicly dictating who shall be second man on the ticket with him. Hence, a dozen press conferences cannot put an end to the intraparty conflict that Harold Stassen has initiated.

Realizing this restriction, which every President must impose on himself just before a convention that is to re-nominate him, the anti-Nixon faction has a free field to make trouble for Mr. Eisenhower and endanger his chances of re-election. For the next two weeks, therefore, a member of the President's own official family "on leave of absence" will be giving aid and comfort to the Democrats by stimulating a disparaging campaign about the Vice President in the face of the fact that Mr. Eisenhower himself speaks highly of the same individual. The Democrats naturally will take advantage of the split personality in the Republican party's leadership.

What Mr. Eisenhower said at his press conference, of course, follows the conventional and customary line—he doesn't "demand" or "request" that Mr. Nixon or anyone else be nominated for Vice President. For the President himself, technically speaking, has not been re-nominated yet. There must be preserved, it seems, the fiction that national party conventions are "wide open" affairs never controlled by groups or leaders and subject only to the "free and untrammeled wishes" of more than 1,000 delegates.

This, of course, is the shrewdest bunkum and Harold Stassen knows it, as does everyone who reads in the newspapers this week that Senator Kefauver had withdrawn from the Democratic race in favor of Adlai Stevenson, even though a sizeable number of delegates were committed to the Kefauver banner. Delegates are not chosen by popular vote in many states, and delegations are not bound by the results of the primary elections, either.

It is possible to deduce from what Mr. Eisenhower said at his press conference that he likes Richard Nixon and would prefer to see him run again. The President said that Mr. Nixon "didn't seem to detract" in 1953 from the strength of the Republican ticket. Mr. Eisenhower added: "I can't believe that the United States does not consider that Mr. Nixon has made a splendid record as Vice President in these past four years."

This comes as near an expression of preference or endorsement as a President could make in advance of action by the convention itself, especially since in the same press conference Mr. Eisenhower specifically refused to answer a direct question as to whether he would be happy to have Governor Herter on the ticket with him. The only name on which Mr. Eisenhower did express himself favorably was that of the present Vice President.

But it is possible for the anti-Nixon people — and Mr. Stassen immediately took advantage of the opening — to construe the President's remarks as falling short of a 100 per cent endorsement of and demand for the re-nomination of Mr. Nixon. This means the fight will go on.

For, while Mr. Stassen talks of a "six per cent stronger" ticket with Mr. Herter on it, there is the other side of the coin. It will be a 20 per cent weaker Republican ticket with Mr. Nixon removed from it. It is not a personal affair in any sense. The fight against Nixon has been a smear campaign from the start. It comes primarily from the "left-wing" and also from many of the groups which have been protesting against the efforts in Washington.

ton to get rid of Communists in government. As Senator Mundt of South Dakota, Republican, expressed it, the "Americans for Democratic Action," which masterminded the Stevenson campaign in 1952, is behind the anti-Nixon movement and is trying to dictate to the Republicans that they must get rid of Nixon. Mr. Mundt says it's probably because the ADA fears him most.

At present writing, most of the Republican delegates probably believe the President wants Mr. Nixon re-nominated. If the President, by so much as a nod to someone else or a phrase dropped carelessly in a press conference indicates some other preference, Mrs. Stassen will be quick to cry that this isn't dictation to the delegates but inspired advice in a "great cause." The chances are that the President will not say anything that will widen the split in his own party. Mr. Stassen will do that job, and Mr. Eisenhower will be helpless publicly to stop it.

Test Run

OMAHA (U) — The way things worked out, John Garfield, 67, got a quick trip to the hospital and the police got an honest-to-goodness patient for what had been planned as a test emergency run.

The empty ambulance was making a test run to see whether motorists were giving right of way to emergency vehicles when Garfield dropped over on the sidewalk across the street, a victim of the 102 degree heat.

Garfield was hustled into the ambulance and off it went with a swarm of motorcycle police — to catch offending motorists — in pursuit.

On Interest

DENVER (U) — Ted Gano, city circulation manager of The Denver Post, has a dollar he hadn't counted on and someone in Aberdeen, Wash., has a cleaned conscience.

The dollar came in a letter from a woman at Aberdeen. She explained her son once was customer of Gano's when he worked as a carrier boy for the Portland, Ore., Oregonian.

The son had owed Gano 55 cents but never could find him to pay it. She said the dollar "certainly would not be paying all we owe if we counted interest."

Faculty 'Workshop' Slated Aug. 29-31

A pre-school "workshop" for Big Spring teachers has been mapped by a committee of school officials, Supt. Floyd Parsons has announced.

The three-day workshop will be held Aug. 29-31 at the high school. Theme of the conference will be "The Teacher as a Public Relations Agent."

Parsons outlined three objectives of the workshop:

1. Organization of the faculty for the 1956-57 school term,
2. Planning of the in-service education program for the year, and
3. Providing teachers with an opportunity to get acquainted.

Activities will include grade-level and subject-area meetings, daily talks by the superintendent, and a round of social events. In his talks, Parsons will outline his plans for the year and touch on his philosophy of education.

A kick-off breakfast will be held to open the workshop, as a reception for new teachers. The superintendent said another reception, for all teachers, will be held Aug. 30 with a number of Big Spring business and civic leaders to extend greetings.

On the faculty workshop planning committee are W. C. Blankenship, superintendent emeritus, Principal Roy Worley, Junior High Principal Tom Earnest, Dr. Loy V. Norman, director of elementary education; Oma McGahey, Ruth Rutherford, Thelma Kioven, Mary Arnold Hefley, Jeta Plant, Franklin McDonald, Colleen Slaughter, Eloise Beasid, Roscoe Newell, E. B. Pierson and Parsons.

Dr. Norman will serve as director of the workshop.

Rotarians To Hear Talk On Chemical Industry Tuesday

The story of how Texas moved from nothing to third place in the organic chemicals field in 15 years will be told to members of the Big Springs Rotary Club at the Settles Hotel Tuesday.

Speaker will be T. A. Wilker, manager of the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Company plant in Texas City.

"The chemicals industry is so new and has grown so fast that many Texans don't know exactly what it is," says Wilker.

In his talk, which is entitled "The Chemical Industry in Texas," Wilker will tell why the industry chose Texas, why it is presently centered in the Gulf Coast area and its relation to other parts of Texas, what it means to people of the State, and what its raw materials and potential raw materials are, and the future of the industry.

Wilker, who heads up a plant that sprawls over 417 acres of land and employs over 2,650 persons, came to Texas in 1948. He is a chemical engineer, graduate of Baldwin-Wallace College and Yale University, 1938. A specialist in vinyl plastics, he rose from area supervisor to assistant superintendent in 1951 and to plant manager in 1955.

Although he was born in Hannibal, Ohio, and spent his youth in the North and East, Wilker has adopted Texas as his home.

He has been a member of the LaMarque Rotary Club since 1951 and has served as vice-president and member of the board.

Man Perishes In Fire At Reynosa

REYNOSA, Mex. (U-P)—Fire fanned by a stiff wind destroyed a block of buildings and killed one man in this border city yesterday. The fire started in a restaurant when a gas tank exploded. Miguel Wong, the owner, burned to death. The fire destroyed a tavern and a tortilla factory, leaped a road and destroyed 19 buildings in the block. Among the buildings was a wholesale warehouse valued at $80,000. Seven vehicles in the road were destroyed.

Officer On Bike Catches Suspect In Traffic Jam

NEW YORK (U-P)—This detective collared his man in a mad race reminiscent of the Gay '90s.

The detective, John Keeney, said he became suspicious when he saw a young bicyclist riding along Park Avenue near 94th Street and looking into parked cars.

Keeney, following in his police car, was held up by traffic.

Leaping out of his auto, he hastily borrowed a delivery boy's bike and pedaled after his quarry. He caught up with him at Park Avenue and 59th Street.

Camello Vanderpool, 20, a Negro, was held in $500 bail pending arraignment on a petty larceny charge.

Police said Vanderpool admitted he stole the bike he was riding.

French Gas Higher

PARIS (U-P)—French motorists had to pay another penny per gallon for their gasoline today to help finance their country's fight against nationalist rebels in Algeria. The increase brought prices per gallon to nearly 72 cents for ordinary grade gas and just over 75 cents for the higher grade.

Budget Exceeded

DALLAS (U-P)—Dr. R. A. Springer, treasurer for the Baptist General Convention of Texas, said Texas Baptists exceeded their annual mission program budget of $6,750,000 by $1,065,743 during the first nine months of 1956.

Nothing takes to the road like a Chevy!

Once in a blue moon a car like this comes along—a design so advanced in performance, so beautifully balanced that it stands out above every other car on the highway.

It has a solid, sure-footed way of going that makes driving safer and more pleasant on any road. And you feel a very special sense of security in its rapid-fire responsiveness to your touch on the wheel, brakes and accelerator.

You can see that the '56 Chevy is a stand-out for style. But until you have driven one you're missing the best part of the news—the fact that Chevrolet is the smoothest, solidest, most wedded-to-the-road automobile you ever bossed. Try it and see.

Chimney Sweeps Now Wear White Jackets

By RAMON COFFMAN
ON TRAIN IN ENGLAND — I have been looking at fields in the southern part of the country, also at houses in towns through which my train passes.

The chimneys on the houses have caught my interest. They are made of bricks, but rising from each large opening are several little chimneys made of tile. One ordinary chimney has two, three, four or more tile chimneys.

A single residence may have three or more large chimneys, with a total of a dozen of the small tile variety.

A person wonders why a British house may have many chimneys. The answer is that various rooms in the houses have fireplaces. This is true of bedrooms, dining rooms, drawing rooms and so on. From each fireplace (in many homes) a flue rises through the chimney.

If this flue becomes clogged, the services of a chimney sweep are needed.

In the time of Charles Dickens, and later, chimneys were different. Small boys were employed to climb through them, and to clean the soot from the inside. Naturally the clothes and skin of those chimney sweeps became soiled by the work.

Now the residents of this island can point to a step of progress. The modern way of cleaning a chimney here is with an extension from a vacuum cleaner. Men wearing white jackets describe themselves as chimney sweeps and go about the cities and villages with special vacuum cleaners. It is rare nowadays for a jacket to be soiled in the course of this work.

Coal is the most common fuel on the British Isles. It is burned in homes and factories, and the residents feel (to some degree) that they are being patriotic when they use coal which has been taken from mines in their own land.

There is trouble, however, with the use of coal. The smoke carries particles through the air, and these particles settle on houses and streets. It seems remarkable that the British are able to keep their homes, office buildings and stores in as good condition as they do.

The Fontaine Sisters, backed by the champagne music of Lawrence Welk, present "Lonesome Lover Blues" a zesty complaint about an absent lover. An uncredited male vocal group contributes to this Columbia record, which accounts for the pleasant harmony. Fairly new on the market, it is creating more than average attention.

Morris Stoloff combines two not-too-old-not-too-new songs, "Manhattan Romance" and "Sweet Sue, Just You" for an unusually pretty single number. If you will remember that it was Morris Stoloff's recording of "Moonlight" that was the most popular.

The breathy voice of Gerry Southern brings the Decca recording "Would I" into the spotlight. This one is brand new and features extra-special orchestra backing by Sonny Burk.

But that you can guess, without my telling you, just what the best local record is: "Don't Be Cruel" and "Hound Dog" by Elvis Presley. This newest by Presley has taken unbelievable strides in the direction of the top tune in the entire nation, and has just about reached it.

Wouldn't it be exactly typical of the American record buyers, juke box players and DJ spinners to the Elvis "Don't Be Cruel" with Mitch Miller's relaxing "Song For A Summer Night" for most popular record in the nation. A greater contrast in pop music would be hard to find.

Remember the flying saucer scare a few years ago? Now Buchanan and Goodman offer a minute account of the landing of one of those things. The information is broadcast by roving radio announcers giving play by play description of the approaching saucer. Not as boring as it sounds by my description; experts from currently popular records are used in many places. The roving reporter, asks frightened spectators what they would do, should the object land. Among these people are the Four Lads, "Standing on the Corner." Little Richard, who would "jump back in the alley," and Elvis Presley, who would "take a walk down lonely street."

In this day of novelty records, could be that this one will have its day; a short day, probably.

With the characteristics of his one time big favorite, Johnny Ray is currently offering the public his latest for Columbia, "In the Candlelight" and "Just Walking In the Rain." Both are done in the famous Johnny Ray manner, but with the exception of extreme emotion.

Grady Martin, with his "dew foot five," have an instrumental version of "When My Dreamboat Comes Home" that is doing almost as good in rock and roll circles as Little Richard's version on the same tune.

Any way you look at it!

Here's an angle you may not have considered: The money you "save" by not calling a Doctor promptly may turn out to be poor economy. A prolonged illness may cost you a lot more than the physician's modest fee—not to mention the needless suffering. Take care of your health. And take care, too, to bring your Doctor's prescriptions to this "Reliable" source for prompt, precise compounding.

No Use To Fight It, So Lamas Becomes A Singer

HOLLYWOOD — Fernando Lamas has decided, in the words of the current song hit, what will be, will be.

So he's singing. He didn't want to sing. He wanted to be a serious actor, as indeed he had been in his native Argentina. But when he came to this country, MGM saw him as a romantic star. And a singer.

"I never sang at all before — except in the bathtub and sometimes at a party with friends," he remarked. "But MGM decided I should sing. Still, I never took lessons. Before I started a musical picture, I would go in and work out the songs."

When he ended his exclusive tract with MGM nine months ago, he drew a number of offers for film musicals. He nixed them. But so many singing offers came in following months that he changed his mind.

"If that's what they want me to do, I'd better do it," he reasoned. "Why fight it?"

And so he went all-out. He took TV offers, such as one for the

Wm. Holden, Deborah Kerr In Frank Romance Of Wartime

A frankly told love story of a hard-bitten Marine Raiders colonel and a Red Cross girl from high society is that told in "The Proud and Profane." This is the Ritz theatre's offering for five days beginning today.

Adapted from a top-selling novel of the same title, the picture casts four leading players in the chief roles: William Holden, Deborah Kerr, Thelma Ritter and Dewey Martin.

It has some other name attractions back of it, too. William Perberg and George Seaton, the team who made "The Country Girl," and "The Bridges at Toko-Ri," are producer and director, respectively.

The production was filmed in Vista-Vison. Setting for "The Proud and Profane" is the South Pacific island of New Caledonia during World War II. There, in the backwash of war, Holden and Miss Kerr, two violently opposed and hostile personalities at first, later find a love that overrides all restraint and prudence.

Thelma Ritter is seen as a dynamic Red Cross supervisor who tries to hold the couple back from the brink of disaster; Martin is a Marine driven to attempted murder of Holden by his protective love of Miss Kerr. There's also William Redfield as a sensitive young chaplain who has to combat Holden's strong enmity toward anyone who "spoils" his men for combat.

The picture was filmed in the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico. It's a strong and compelling romance, with Holden and Miss Kerr reportedly turning in performances to match such portrayals in "From Here To Eternity," and his in such works as "Stalag 17," and "The Bridges."

PLATTER PALAVER

By Mary Sue Hale

Andy Griffith, who made his record debut about four years ago with a novel record telling of an experience of wandering into a football game by mistake, has come up with something else. This time, it's Andy Griffith with "Standing On the Corner," with the help of the Four Lads. The flip of the disk is "No Time For Sergeants."

From Britain's hit parades comes Johnny Dankworth with "Applecake" and "Experiments With Mice." The first mentioned is the end in modern jazz, while second mentioned is more or less novelty, with imitations of the orchestras of Billy May, Benny Goodman, Glenn Miller, Gerry Mulligan and Stan Kenton, to mention a few.

The new orthophonic high fidelity sound by R. C. A. is featured in one of the most record albums, locally speaking, "It's Love Lena Horne," which of course features the dusky, emotion-packed voice of Lena Horne. Lennie Hayton and orchestra support the numbers including "Frankie and Johnny," a song with a new twist; "Let Me Love You," a number some consider the best in the album; "I'd Do Anything," "You Do Something To Me," and "It's All Right With Me."

Twelve songs made up Joni James' newest album by M. G. M. With orchestra and chorus under the direction of David Ferry, includes numbers such as "Little Girl Blue," "I'm Through With Love," "These Foolish Things," and "That Old Feeling."

Entitled "Kruppa and Rich," Clef records, with backing by Oscar Peterson and others, features the two greatest jazz drummers recording together for the first time in a studio. These two, Gene Kruppa and Buddy Rich, have done more than anyone else to bring their instrument from the background into the spotlight. Several of the best numbers in this album are "Buddy's Blues," "Bernie's Tune," "Gene's Blues," "Sweethearts on Parade," and "I Never Knew." Some of the numbers are duets by these two great entertainers, others solos.

Artist-Model In Gay Story Of 'Petty Girl'

The most lucid magazine girl of all time would be the Petty girl, and she has been brought to the screen. "The Petty Girl" is returned here for showings at the Terrace on Thursday and Friday.

Joan Caulfield has the title role and Robert Cummings, is starred with Elsa Lanchester and Melville Cooper in featured parts.

Cummings has the part of the famous artist, and the gay story is about his attempts to get his illustrations accepted in the field of commercial art. He is diverted from his goal, however, by a predatory society girl who persuades him to go in for highbrow painting. The beautiful Miss Caulfield is a sedate teacher who loses her position when she becomes involved in the artist's escapades, insists that he continue his cover illustrations, and agrees to serve as his model.

There's music, dancing and comedy with the unfolding of a yarn of success and young love. Miss Lanchester is seen as a prim teacher and Cooper as a presumptuous butler.

There are four songs introduced in the picture: "The Calypso Song," "Fancy Free," "Ah Loves Ya," and "The Petty Girl."

Joshua Logan Back For Hollywood Job

Joshua Logan, famed New York producer-writer-director, returned to Hollywood after an absence of 17 years to direct "Picnic," which stars William Holden, Kim Novak, Betty Field, Susan Strasberg, Cliff Robertson, and Arthur O'Connell.

"Picnic" offers Holden as an ex-football star who drifts into a small midwestern town in search of a friend from whom he wants a job. He's getting on in years, decides it's time to seek solid ground. His meeting with Kim Novak touches off electric tension, and soon she realizes that the small-town boy is not the fellow she wanted after all.

Then there is Miss Russell, an aging school teacher who also is

No Sympathy In Holden's New Role

William Holden, currently rated as the screen's most versatile actor, adds another new face and personality to his list in "The Proud and Profane," dramatic love story with a wartime background. Sporting cropped hair and a brush mustache, Holden shoulders his way through the part of an unscrupulous Marine officer who uses deceit to win over a susceptible Red Cross worker. For the first time in his career, Holden plays a thoroughly unsympathetic role.

Stranger Conquers Women In Pulitzer-Prize 'Picnic'

One of those pictures you'll like a lot if you like it at all is the noted "Picnic," which returns here for Sunday and Monday screenings at the Terrace drive-in.

It's that film version of the famous William Inge play, and has a potent cast that includes William Holden, Rosalind Russell, Kim Novak, Betty Field, Susan Strasberg, Cliff Robertson, and Arthur O'Connell.

Location Jaunt Was A Tough One

What must go down on the books as the roughest location trek of modern picture making was completed by Victor Mature and Janet Leigh in "Safari," the African spectacle.

The company drove, by auto caravan, from Nairobi to a location site in the Mau Mau heartland of the Kenya jungle, a distance of 200 miles.

Dallas Plant Burns

DALLAS 48—The Klimt Store Fixture Manufacturing Co. plant burned last night. At least 15 firemen were overcome by heat and smoke. One went to a hospital with respiratory failure. Damage was estimated at $75,000 to $100,000.

'Safari' Is Potent African Adventure

It's the mysterious, alluring and deadly jungle of Africa that's the background for a sweeping production, "Safari," at the Jet drive-in. The picture, in Technicolor and CinemaScope, plays tonight through Tuesday.

Victor Mature and Janet Leigh are co-starred in this adventure piece which actually was filmed in Kenya's fabulous North Frontier District, home of the dread Mau Mau. It's these natives that provide some of the film's breathless moments.

Mature plays a white hunter in the film; Miss Leigh, a former chorus girl who is affianced to an elderly, wealthy Englishman with an obsession—he is determined to kill a black-maned lion, rarest and greatest of the man-eating jungle kings. The safari, under Mature's guidance, pushes deeper and deeper into the dangerous Mau Mau country, facing incredible tensions created not only by the perils surrounding them but by their own personal entanglements and conflicts.

Among the dramatic highlights of the love-adventure that is "Safari" are such desperate scenes as Mature's face-to-face combat with the lion; the drum dance of the Chukkas; the Mau Mau ambush leading to one of the most terrifying onslaughts ever filmed, according to Hollywood; and a scene in which Miss Leigh is trapped and helpless in the rapids of a crocodile-infested river.

In the supporting cast are John Justin and Roland Culver. Direction was by Terence Young.

Double Features At The Drive-Ins

Double-bills are in order at a couple of the drive-ins during the coming week.

For the last three days of the week, the Jet combines "Brute Force," with Burt Lancaster, with a picture called "The Naked City," which features Barry Fitzgerald. Thursday and Friday, the Terrace offers "The Petty Girl," and a war drama, "Fixed Bayonets." On Saturday at the Terrace there is "Canyon Passage," plus "The Houston Story."

No Loyalty Oath

WASHINGTON 48—The government has dropped the effort to require a "loyalty oath" from persons occupying federally aided low-cost public housing.

Romantic Conflict

That's the term for the torrid relationship that exists between Deborah Kerr and William Holden, pictured here, in the story, "The Proud and Profane." It's about a rough, cynical Marine who overcomes a sensitive Red Cross girl. It's a South Sea wartime setting for the picture, now playing at the Ritz.
