Snow Reaches Coast Areas; Schools Close

By The Associated Press

Gently falling snow laid a mantle of white across Texas from the Panhandle to the Gulf for the first time in years Wednesday.

The snow continued into the morning along the coast but skies were clearing at scattered places over the rest of the state.

Only the Rio Grande Valley and the El Paso area were untouched as the snow fell as far south as a line extending roughly 15 miles below Kingsville, southwest of Corpus Christi, to Laredo, on the Mexican border.

The great white mass was accompanied by some of Texas' bitterest weather of the winter. Overnight low temperatures ranged from 9 degrees at Lubbock and 10 at Amarillo to 43 at Brownsville.

Police especially at cities where snow and sleet seldom come, prepared for a busy day of auto accidents and snarled traffic.

The snow ranged in depth from more than an inch in South Texas to 5 inches around Childress, in the southeast Panhandle, and Wichita Falls, in North Texas.

Some schools were closed.

A half inch of snow clung to lawns and shrubs at Austin but was melting in streets.

Schools were closed at Georgetown and Johnson City and a heavy snow was reported at Bastrop and other points west and north of Austin.

The big white flakes covered palm trees and Spanish dagger blooms at Rockport where an inch had fallen. At nearby Corpus Christi, the snow melted in streets but clung to grass.

Three inches had fallen at Victoria, the first snow since 1932.

Temperatures were around freezing along the Gulf.

Deputy Sheriff R. C. Arce of Kingsville said the snow extended as far south of Ricardo, 15 miles to the south. Arce commented he was a young man and it was the first snow he'd ever seen there.

The snow continued at Alice after falling for 3 hours, Mrs. Betty Moos, telephone operator, reported. At Pleasanton, between Alice and San Antonio, there was an inch on the ground and the mercury stood at 31 degrees.

Orange got 2 inches and it still was snowing with the temperature just above freezing, the first snow there since 1951.

Skies were clearing at San Antonio and locally clear around El Paso and Midland.

Three coast guardsmen were missing and presumed lost after their 40 foot patrol boat collided with a barge during fog and rain off Galveston early today.

The Galveston base commander, T. F. Knoll, said dragging operations were under way.

The names of the three men aboard Patrol Vessel 4059 were withheld pending notification of their next of kin.

Knoll said the pilot of a Mexican tug, the Pemex XV, reported a boat had collided with a barge it was towing from Houston to Tampico. Efforts to reach the Coast Guard vessel, which was on patrol duty, by radio failed. The Mexican tug was held pending an investigation.

Ice-Covered Roads Still Big Hazard

Snowfall in the Snyder area was relatively light, but ice-coated streets and highways remained a hazard to drivers today.

All schools in Scurry County suspended classes today because of road hazards on bus routes.

About one inch of snow remained on the ground here today, and sub-freezing temperatures prevented a thaw. The low reading here last night was 20 degrees, following a high yesterday of 29 degrees.

Snow and freezing mist had produced .06 of an inch of moisture.

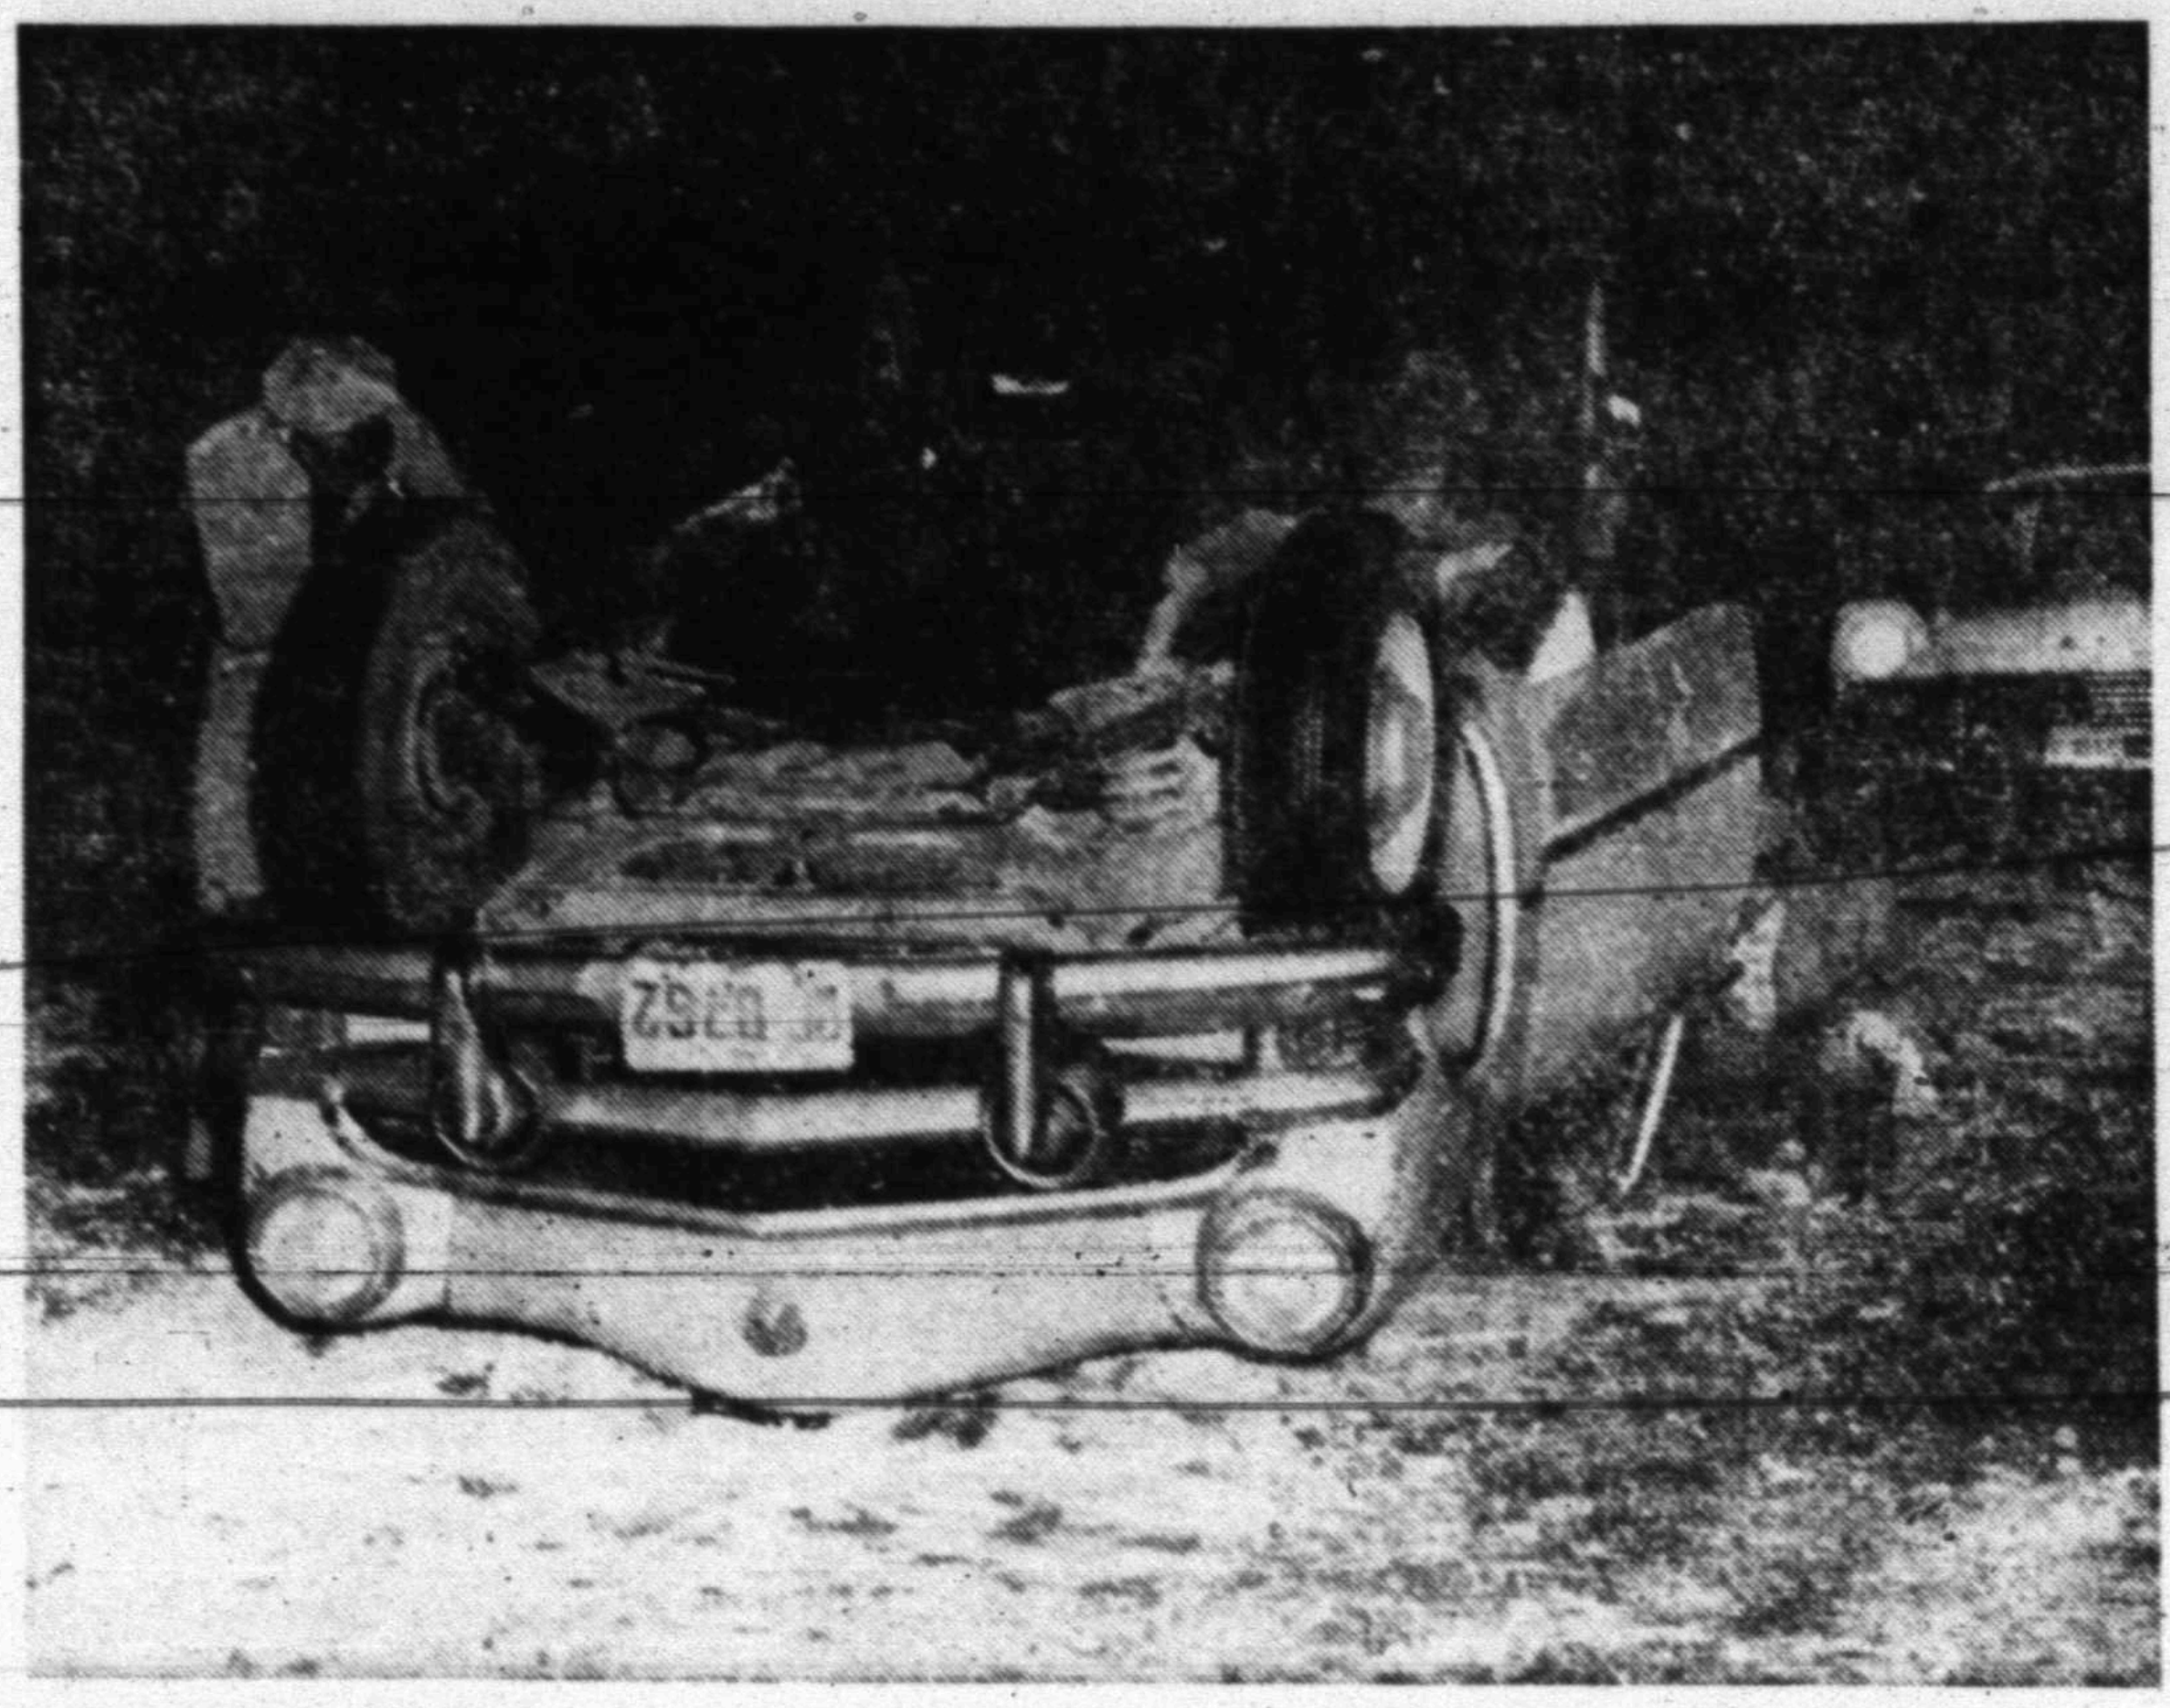
There was one accident yesterday afternoon near Fluvanna on a county road and one southwest of Snyder on State Highway 350.

The Fluvanna area accident, investigated by Jesse Minton, sheriff's deputy, occurred at about 5:30 p.m. yesterday one and three-fourths miles north and one mile west of Fluvanna.

A 1957 Plymouth sedan driven by Elige Leslie Frazier, 50, of 216 Thirty-fourth Street, skidded on an ice-covered bridge and went off the enbankment at the end of the bridge, overturning. Neither Frazier nor his passenger, Glen Atteberry, 3414 Austin Avenue, were injured.

The other accident occurred 1.6 miles southwest of Snyder on State Highway 350 at about 6:30 p.m. yesterday.

Allen Aubrey Kunmey, 58, of Route 2 was driver of a 1951 Ford sedan which skidded on the icy road and overturned. A passenger, Roy Wall, 40, of Route 2, suffered a cut arm, according to Arthur Dyson, highway patrolman who investigated.



ONLY ONE PERSON was slightly injured yesterday when this car skidded on icy pavement and overturned 1.6 miles southwest of Snyder on State Highway 350. Arthur Dyson, left, highway patrolman, investigated the accident, one of two which involved overturned cars on icy roads.

Curriculum For New School Is Discussed

The Snyder school board last night discussed curriculum plans for three-grade junior high schools which are to be instituted here, called the annual school board election, and approved suggested procedures for school warehouse operation and purchasing.

These were major items on the board's agenda. The school board election was called for April 5. Named election judges were Edgar Wilson, J. E. LeMond, and M. L. Andress. Polling places will be at West Elementary, the junior high, and the school tax office.

For candidacy, a persons's name must be submitted by petition by at least five persons by the deadline of 5 p.m. March 5. Filing must be done with Art Nicholas, secretary of the board, at the school administration building. Absentee voting will open March 15 and close three days before the election. According to provisions of a new law passed by the last Legislature, absentee voting must be done with the county clerk.

Terms of two board members expire this year. They are Max West and Bill Grimmett. Board members are elected for three-year terms.

Curriculum for three-grade junior high schools, planned to begin in 1959-60 here, was discussed by the board with Ralph Laswell, junior high principal, and Pat Falls, director of instruction, who represented a group of staff members who had been working on a proposed curriculum for several weeks.

The board made no definite decision last night on the total junior high curriculum. After discussion, Laswell and Falls were instructed to make needed revisions in the proposed plan and discuss the junior high program with the board again later.

Fred Buford of Dallas, architect for the schools on the present building program, was also present at the meeting, and said he will have some preliminary plans for the board's consideration on facility changes at the present junior high. Studies are now being made at the plant in relation to the three-grade junior program.

The newly-approved plan for warehouse operation and purchasing including improving quantity purchasing, freight and parcel post delivery, local purchasing, and budgetary control. Meeting with the board to discuss the new plan were Art Nicholas, school business administrator; Skipper Joyce, director of maintenance and transportation; and Doug Flynn, school accountant.

The new plan would include establishing a working procedure for making quantity purchases of recurring instructional, operational, and transportation supply items and making the warehouse the distribution point for these items; establishing a card-file system for maintaining a running inventory of all items and the re-order point for each; setting up a central receiving point for all freight, packages, and first class mail, and setting up procedure for the handling of purchase orders, requisitions, delivery tickets, emergency purchase orders, work orders, and transfer vouchers.

The board granted a request from a group representing the movement here on a county bond election for a recreation center for youth after the group had asked permission to speak to the high school student body and acquaint them with the proposal. Those representing the group at the board meeting were Mrs. Frank LeFeuvre, Dr. John Hamblen, and Dr. John Blum.

Business Upturn Is Indicated For March, Says Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today expressed deep concern over unemployment hardship, and said he is confident the picture will start to brighten in March.

In a statement, the President left open the possibility that unemployment — which climbed to nearly 4½ million last month—will get worse before the situation does improve.

Obviously troubled about the business recession, the President got out a special statement and also released a study reporting on government steps to combat it.

"From the best advice I can get, and on my own study of the facts regularly placed before me, I believe that we have had most of our bad news on the unemployment front," he said.

"I am convinced that we are not facing a prolonged downswing in activity.

"Every indication is that March will commence to see the start of a pickup in job opportunities, that should mark the beginning of the end of the downturn in our economy, provided we apply ourselves with confidence to the job ahead. As Americans we have a responsibility to work toward the early resumption of sound growth in our economy."

In setting forthsteps the government already has taken or plans to take to deal with the recession, Eisenhower added that if other measures should be needed, "I assure they shall be proposed—and in time."

Eisenhower's survey of the economic situation came less than 24 hours after:

1. The government reported that joblessness last month increased 1,400,000—the biggest monthly rise since the depression of the 1930s—to a total of nearly 4½ million.

2. Eisenhower followed up swiftly with announcement that he is asking Congress to authorize a two-billion-dollar program of modernization of post offices and postal services over three to five years.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks has predicted that unemployment will climb to about five million this month and then commence a downward seasonal trend.

Tunisia Pressing Reprisal Demands

PARIS (AP) — Angry Tunisia pressed military and diplomatic reprisal moves against France today as the French Assembly backed its Algerian command in the bombing of a Tunisian village.

France braced for further international repercussions after the Assembly gave Premier Felix Gaillard a thumping 339-179 vote of support. Gaillard defended Saturday's air strike against Sakiet Sidi Youssef as an act of "legitimate defense," against Algerian rebels based in Tunisia.

Tunisia said the attack left 68 dead, 84 wounded and 10 missing and denied the border town was a rebel base.

The Tunisian government of President Habib Bourguiba launched a campaign to starve out the 15,000 to 20,000 French troops still in Tunisia and French naval forces based at the big Bizerte base.

Tunisian National Guardsmen were reported blocking the land approaches to the Bizerte base and threatening to fire on any French ships entering the port. The government also threatened to sink ferryboats in the narrow harbor mouth and to fire on any French planes that might try to airlift supplies into the base or French military camps, to which the French forces have been restricted since the air attack.

The French began airlifting supplies by helicopter to their blockaded camps.

French officials brushed aside the threats of military action by the lightly armed Tunisian forces. Today the Algerian National Liberation Movement (FLN), major tied half a million French troops to Algeria, offered to back up Bourguiba with their troops. The Algerian rebel camps on Tunisian soil have more armed men than Bourguiba has in his whole army.

Tunisian threats to blockade Bizerte with sunken shipping touched off a flurry of speculation in National Assembly corridors. Deputies recalled vividly Egypt's effective blocking of the Suez Canal after the British-French-Israeli invasion.

Tunisian officials ordered more French families off their farms near the Algerian frontier. Already 35 families have been expelled from the area and sources said more were being sent to Tunis on two hours' notice.

Bourguiba also closed five French consulates in Tunisia.

Tunisia ordered her United Nations delegation to call today for a Security Council meeting on the bombing. Arab informants at U.N. headquarters predicted Tunisia would ask the Council to endorse Bourguiba's demand for withdrawal of all French forces from Tunisia. They have remained under the treaty which gave Tunisia independence in 1955.

The United States tried to steer a careful middle course in the dispute.

Removal Of Troops Asked

TUNIS (AP) — President Habib Bourguiba said today that only the removal of all French troops from Tunisia could restore friendly relations with France.

He spoke after a series of meetings with foreign diplomats to whom he expressed his attitude on the French bombing of the village of Sakiet Sidi Youssef last Saturday.

A crowd of 1,000 or more Tunisians demonstrated outside the presidential palace as Bourguiba met the diplomats, including U.S. Ambassador Lewis Jones.

Speaking to newsmen gathered outside his office, Bourguiba said his primary goal was the removal of French troops.

"That and that alone can re-establish a climate of friendship cleansed of the remains of colonialism," he said.

Post Office Plan Sent To Congress

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, moving to shore up the slumping economy, sent to Congress today a two-billion-dollar program to modernize post offices and postal services.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, disclosing plans for the postal modernization program, described it as one expected to "afford greater job opportunities in every section of the country".

Eisenhower proposed to finance it with revenues from an increase in postage rates. His request for a boost in postage on out of town letters from 3 to 5 cents faces an uphill fight in Congress.

Hagerty said "I think it would be fair" to describe the postal program as part of the administration's planning to combat the economic slump.

The announcement came on the heels of a Labor and Commerce Department report that the number of unemployed had soared 1,120,000 last month — biggest monthly rise since World War II — to a total of 4,494,000.

The White House announcement said the postal program would operate over the next three to five years.

Prompt endorsement came from the National Assn. of Postmasters and from Richard J. Gray, president of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department.

Most of the building would be financed by private interests, under the lease-purchase law which permits the government to authorize such construction under a long-term lease arrangement. The government eventually takes title when the buildings are paid for.

Morse Asks Senate Probe Of Federal Regulatory Agencies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Morse (D-Ore) said today he will demand a Senate investigation of federal regulatory agencies, on top of a House inquiry now bogged down in an internal row.

He said he is preparing a resolution to set up a special committee for the job.

Morse also said he would turn back files given him by an ousted House prober. He said the House can have them back any time it sends somebody for them. He added he had telephoned that advice to House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex).

Dr. Bernard Schwartz, fired as chief counsel for the special House subcommittee looking into affairs of the Federal Communications Commission and five other regulatory agencies, called the papers his "pesonal working files" in disclosing they had been delivered to Morse. He said they could help show that some White House officials have influenced actions of the regulatory agencies.

For himself, Morse said today that the files show "the administration is honeycombed with political immorality." Morse made his comment first in an appearance on the NBC television show "Today." Later he talked with reporters.

Morse said two newsmen telephoned him and said they had the records. He said he told them he would take the files for safekeeping. A subpoena for all files was served on Schwartz.

The newsmen brought Schwartz along when they came to his home, Morse said, and Schwartz left the papers.

Morse said he concluded the records belonged to the special House committee on legislative oversight which has been making the agency study and quarreling over it. His call to Rayburn was the upshot, he said.

But Morse, a frequent and bitter critic of the administration, said he sees a need for a Senate study in the same field.

Schwartz, accusing a majority of the House group of aiming at a whitewash, made it clear he was trying for a study by some other committee.

Byrd Won't Be Candidate

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP) —Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and senator from Virginia for 25 years, announced today that he will not be a candidate for re-election this year.

Byrd, 71, said he had promised his wife six years ago he would not seek re-election again.

"Since then," a statement from his Washington office said, "she has suffered a crippling illness and is an invalid. It is our desire to spend our lives together at home in Virginia."

Ex-Mistress Loses Fight

LONDON (AP) — The attractive former mistress of an 81-year-old baronet today lost her court battle to obtain $33,600 in jewels she says the baronet gave her, then took away.

The baronet, wealthy merchant banker Sir Starti Ralli, said he picked up 41-year-old Jacqueline Gray in a wartime blackout and kept her as his mistress for 15 years.

A jury returned a verdict in favor of the baronet. Miss Gray said he took the jewels away to get them insured, but never returned them.

Ralli denied ever giving her the jewels. But he admitted spending over $140,000 on her during their 15-year association, including a $84,000 house in which she and her 84-year-old mother still live.

Lady Ralli, who told the court she had forgiven her husband after he confessed to his affair with Miss Gray, exchanged smiles with him when the verdict was announced.

Miss Gray, dark-haired and still shapely, was not in court.

DISCUSSIONS OF the board included the possibility of making speech a required subject on the eighth grade, providing a remedial reading course in the same grade for those reading below standard, and making junior high science a requirement.

STUDIES ARE ALSO being made concerning possible addition of some courses to the junior high which would be electives, including Spanish and typing for eighth graders.

Fire Destroys Mattresses

Two mattresses were destroyed in a fire in the E. A. Brooks home, south of Thirty-seventh Street in southeast Snyder, about 6:45 o'clock last night, and there was no damage in an earlier fire call responded to by the fire department.

D. A. Porter, fire chief, said that the first fire yesterday afternoon at about 4:30 o'clock was at a residence at 408 Twenty-eighth Street. The occupants were roasting peanuts in the oven, and forgot about them being in the oven.

"The peanuts were pretty well roasted when we got there," Porter said. There was no damage.

Only the mattresses in the Brooks home were damaged by the fire, but the house was filled with a heavy order of smoke. Firemen deororized the house after putting the fire out.

Testimony Of FBI Agent Is Barred

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prosecution suffered a reverse today in the court-martial of Sgt. Roy A. Rhodes on espionage charges when an FBI agent was forbidden to testify to what the prosecution described as a confession.

The bar may be only temporary, however.

A 30-minute recess was called to let the prosecuting attorney, Maj. Winchester Kelso Jr., dig up another witness.

Rhodes is accused of espionage conspiracy on allegations that he peddled information to Soviet agents for a fee while he was assigned to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow from 1951 to 1953. He pleaded innocent to that and a companion charge that the falsified a loyalty oath.

At the opening of the second day of the trial of the 40-year-old sergeant, Kelso brought James P. Kehoe, special agent for the FBI in New York, to the witness stand.

A slender, balding man with piercing eyes, Kehoe said he and another special agent had gone to the Army pictorial center at Long Island City, N.Y., last July 2 and asked Rhodes to come to their New York office. He said Rhodes agreed and there was a general conversation on the way in.

Defense counsel Lt. Col. John F. Hummel objected when the prosecution asked Kehoe to describe the conversation. Hummel contended it was necessary for the prosecution to prove first that there was a conspiracy and that Rhodes was a part of it before any statement of the accused could be used against him.

Lt. Col. James P. Healy Jr., serving as judge, sustained the objection and cautioned the 10-member court-martial to disregard Kelso's reference to a confession.

Kelso then asked that Kehoe be excused — he may appear later — and obtained the recess.

Kelso had told the court he will show that an exchange of information and money began after Rhodes went drinking and night clubbing with a Russian mechanic and two Russian women, and wound up in the apartment of one of the women.

Subsequently, he said, Soviet agents told Rhodes the woman was pregnant and used this as a threat to extract information.

Rhodes is married and his wife says she is standing by him because she believes in his innocence. Their home is Eatontown, N.J.

The tall, lean, 40-year-old sergeant listened intently but expressionlessly as Kelso told the 10 officers on the court-martial that Rhodes met the Soviets five or six times in Moscow, gave them information about his training in code work at the Pentagon and information on the habits of U.S. Embassy personnel, and received some $3,000.

Kelso said Rhodes also told the Soviets where he could be contacted on his return to this country.

Involved in the American end of what Kelso contended was an espionage conspiracy were two Soviet officers, Col. Rudolph Abel and Lt. Col. Reino Hayhanen.

Abel was convicted of espionage in a Brooklyn, N.J., trial last October and sentenced to 30 years in jail. The conviction has been appealed.

Hayhanen turned against the Soviet Union and was a key witness in the Abel trial, as he apparently will be in the court-martial case against Rhodes. Kelso said Hayhanen reported that Abel talked with him about a Soviet agent whose code name was "Quebec" and whose real name was Rhodes.

The FBI stepped into the case when Hayhanen defected. Kelso said, and turned up what he said is "convincing evidence" of Rhodes' guilt.

Lt. Col. John F. Shummel, chief defense counsel, pronounced all this "a story that is rather fascinating" if Kelso could prove it.

Much of it is a playback of things that came out in the Abel trial. Rhodes was a witness then and admitted meetings with Soviet and receiving money from them, after a wild party involving a Soviet woman.

Lost 'Isotope' Not Dangerous At All

GARLAND, Tex. (AP)—A Geiger counter was hurriedly brought to the school. Ambulances rushed up. Then came police and the sheriff. Finally a three-man Atomic Energy Commission team rushed in from nearby Dallas.

Then the AEC team found that the Geiger counter was haywire and that the suspected lost radioactive isotope, for which a wide search is being made in the Dallas area, was only a harmless lead sinker, the kind boys use in fishing.

Fine Is Assessed On Liquor Count

A fine of $123.50, including court cost, was assessed in county court this morning against Jose Carillo north Snyder, who pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of intoxicants.

Carillo was arrested yesterday afternoon by Arthur Dyson, highway patrolman, on the Big Spring highway. Carillo had 72 quarts of beer and one-half pint of whisky in his possession.

press secretary, was asked whether Eisenhower's prediction that joblessness will begin to decline in March means that the administration looks for an increase in February.

In direct reply, Hagerty simply referred newsmen to Eisenhower's expression of confidence that the "beginning of the end will come in March."

At the outset of his statement, Eisenhower took note of the unemployment figures made public yesterday. He said they indicate that "the current falling off in the economy is sharper than usual for this time of year."

The Census Bureau has said that the decline last month was about twice normal.

"I have confidence in the recovery of our economy later this year for two reasons," Eisenhower said.

"First, it is my conviction that the underlying forces of growth remain strong and undiminished.

"Second the firm policy of the government is to foster this recovery in every sound way."

The President said everyone is deeply concerned over the hardships that the unemployment figures reflect "for the families of the additional breadwinners temporarily out of work, and those that have gone on a shortened work week." He added:

"I know that we are concerned, too, with the loss of production involved and the pressure this puts on many businesses across the land. While these developments reflect important features of our present economic situation, they must be seen in perspective as we look ahead."

Eisenhower then went on to predict the start of recovery in March.

Referring to the programs already undertaken or planned to combat the recession, Eisenhower said he was making it public "to dispel false impressions and to make clear the activities of the administration in these fields." Referring then to such activities, he said:

"They include action in recent months by the Federal Reserve System to ease credit, with dramatic results already achieved in a greater availability of credit and lower borrowing costs. Steps have been taken, going back to last August, to stimulate home building, even though we were disappointed by the failure of the Congress to authorize interest rates that would attract mortgage money into many phases of home construction.

"They also include sharply stepped-up expenditures on the national highway building program, an increase in activity under the urban renewal program, and a sharp increase in the first half of this year in the rate at which defense procurement contracts will be placed with private industry."

culating a petition for a $145,000 county bond election to build a recreation center as a part of the county park system to provide recreation for both boys and girls under constant supervision. The recreation center, the group said, would be strictly for youths, although proposals call for a community meeting room to be constructed with the center but with a separate entrance and operated apart from the recreation center.

Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, superintendent of schools, presented to the board results of a survey made among high school students on whether they eat in the cafeteria, reasons for leaving the high school at lunchtime for those who do not eat at the cafeteria, and how the students would respond if a student center-snack bar were provided in addition to cafeteria facilities.

The survey showed that, of 656 students surveyed, 200 eat at the cafeteria five days a week, 60 four days, 67 three days, 23 two days, 31 one day, 275 who do not eat in the cafeteria, and seven questionnaires which could not be classified.

Asked where they eat lunch when they do not eat in the cafeteria, 139 answered they ate at home, 177 at a cafe, 33 at home or a cafe, 23 take their lunch, 37 do not eat, 34 have a coke or candy, and seven made no reply.

In answer to a question as to how many times they would eat at a student center-snack bar if there were one, 152 said they would not eat there, 54 one time a week, 137 twice, 125 three times, 52 four times, 119 five times, and 17 made no reply.

Asked whether they would eat at a snack bar in preference to the cafeteria, 296 said most of the time, 295 said part of the time, 45 none of the time, and 20 made no reply. On whether they would eat at a snack bar in preference to leaving school at lunch, 250 said most of the time, 277 part of the time, 96 none of the time, and 33 made no reply.

Yarbrough reported that an experimental program in reading is now being tried in West Elementary School and that so far the program is showing good results. The experiment involves grouping students in the third grade according to reading levels for one period of the day and using different teachers with different reading levels.

Escape Plot By Shaver Is Disclosed

SAN ANTONIO (AP)— Convicted rape-slayer Jimmy N. Shaver, 31, who still faces probable death in the electric chair, planned an escape attempt while at Bexar County jail a few months ago.

This was disclosed last night by Sheriff Owen Kilday, who obtained details of the escape plan from a 20-year-old jail inmate.

Kilday said Shaver and Donald Martin Summers, 32, plotted the escape attempt while they were cellmates. It never came off, the sheriff said, because the pair had planned on the help of a man who was to be released from the jail.

Inmates can't visit other prisoners within 60 days of their release, he added, and Shaver and Summers apparently didn't know this.

Summers, facing a 20-year prison term for armed robbery, saved Shaver from death in the electric chair a week ago by "confessing" it was he, not Shaver, who killed and raped 3-year-old Chere Jo Horton here in 1954.

Bond Of $250 Set

Bond of $250 was made this morning here by Jack Walton Pruett, charged in county court with driving while intoxicated.

Sureties on the bond were Gene L. Dulaney and J. L. Browning. Pruett had been arrested by city police.

Plastic Rocket Is Fired By Japanese

AKITA, Japan (AP)—A Japanese team today launched a plastic rocket, believed to be the world's first. The inventor said it cost about a fifth less than a metal rocket and should give more accurate observations of electrical phenomena.

The tube-shaped rocket was 9 feet long, 51 inches in diameter, weighed 78 pounds and carried a radio transmitter.

Experts from Tokyo University who sent it up said it climbed to 7,200 feet, then arced down about 33,000 feet off the northwest coast. Its speed was estimated at three times that of sound.

HEART O' THE HILLS—Shown above is a view of the main building at the Heart o' the Hills camp near Kerrville, Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jones, owners and operators of the camp will be in Snyder Thursday evening, Feb. 13, and will show a movie at the Martha Ann Woman's Clubhouse at 7:30 o'clock. Parents and girls from ages 6 through 13 are cordially invited to this showing. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will be guests here in the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Roberts, who are sponsoring the program.

Girls Camp Film To Be Shown Thursday Evening

Young girls and their parents will be thrilled Thursday evening at the beautiful films to be shown by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jones, owners and operators of the beautiful Heart O' the Hills camp at Hunt, Tex.

Several girls from Snyder attended the camp last year. It is located 16 miles west of Kerrville in the South Fork of the beautiful Guadalupe River. All the luxurious facilities of this resort are exclusively for use of the campers. The aim of the camp is to provide recreational experiences out-of-doors with ample opportunity for educational and social life through group living. The desire of the Camp is to find the abilities and talents of each girl and to encourage their development and use.

The most valuable training for the campers does not appear on the regular schedule of activities. Self-reliance is gradually developed through the performance of various duties. Each girl learns to care for herself as she never realized she could. She finds that mother is not beside here and the "Teepee Squaw" expects each Indian to keep her possessions neat and straight. Naturally, she will not be perfect, but whatever tasks seem too hard, the able assistance of her leader soon makes everything easy. She will learn group living that other girls have rights which she must respect.

This wonderful training will promote confidence in the young lady and she will realize her profits from this camp as she is growing into a wholesome woman.

The girls are not just all together in their duties. The age groups are broken down into Midgets who are 6, 7, and 8 year olds, sub-juniors 9 years, Juniors, 10 and 11, and the senior group includes 12 and 13 year old girls. There is a teen group which includes 14 year old campers who come by invitation only.

This film promises to show the people of Snyder the profits their children can gain by attending such a wholesome and educational camp. They will realize that a wholesome camping experience develops self-confidence, a better sense of responsibility, independence, and the ability "to be a success" away from home. Plan now to attend.

THE HOUSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Symphony To Appear Here Is Relatively Young Group

The Houston Symphony which will present a concert here on Friday, February 21st, for members of the Civic Music Association, has been called by Sir Thomas Beecham, one of the finest orchestras in the United States. Sir Malcolm Sargent, Ernest Ansermet, Bruno Walter and other eminent conductors who have appeared with the Houston Orchestra in recent years, have been equally enthusiastic about its quality.

Now, with Leopold Stokowski as Music Director, the Orchestra is in a great new phase of its development. Its calibre continues to heighten. Names of virtuosi musicians, well-known in the profession, are intermingled with those of younger instrumentalists who come highly recommended from the best conservatories.

The average age of the musicians in the Houston Symphony is 33, well under that of many other orchestras. This is one reason for the vitality and added zest for which the orchestra has been acclaimed. With the exuberance of youth, they approach each musical work as a challenge to conquer.

OUR VIEW

Challenge From Within

Our way of life, which is a source of deep pride to Americans, takes a cutting all too often on the front.

The latest example is the investigation of the Federal Communications Commission by a congressional committee.

Although Democracy was not designed that way, it appears that we always have with us those who have no scruples whenever there is an opportunity to use a public position for self gain.

They are positive thinkers so long as such thoughts are calculated to result in personal benefit to themselves. They are immediately negative, or apathetic at best, if there is no personal gain involved, no matter what the benefit may be to their community, state, or nation.

Congressional "probers," as they have come to be known, have uncovered many of these. The methods followed by the probers often appear crude, and we wonder occasionally if there is no less brutal way to expose the greed that exists. Yet the individuals involved are not reluctant to become brutal themselves if it serves their purpose.

Too often when fears are expressed for the country's [illegible]e, Washington points across the sea, and perhaps we ourselves are prone to cast wary glances toward Washington when we could be doing our bit closer to [illegible]

In recent years, the tide appears to be rising, from top to the bottom. On the other hand, it may be that the spotlight of public opinion has been turned on such wrong doings with a brilliance never before attained. If so, let's increase the voltage.

Regardless of whether it involves federal, state, county or local positions, one case is too many.

Every time one develops, Americanism is dealt a [illegible] from within.

Primitive Tactics Kill Gas Measure

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some people cut their throats once, and that's enough. But the natural gas people are beginning to make a hobby of it.

They spend a lot of money trying to get through Congress a natural gas bill which will free them of government price control and mean millions for them.

Then, by primitive tactics, they wreck their chance. They did that in 1956. In Texas this week they about ruined any hope for passage of a gas bill this year.

Things were going well in 1956, with President Eisenhower favorable toward a natural gas bill and Democratic and Republican leaders in Congress behind it.

Then suddenly Sen. Case (R-SD) shocked the country by telling the Senate some lawyer he didn't know had dropped $2,500 into his reelection campaign fund. And he said he thought it was done to influence his vote on the bill.

Democrats and Republicans [illegible] up anyway to pass the bill. But by now there was an [illegible] from this piece of gas legislation and Eisenhower vetoed it.

After the 1956 disaster, with no action in 1957, a new try was to be made this year. On Monday night Rep. Joseph Martin, House Republican leader, was given a [illegible]-a-plate dinner in Houston. Martin was the speaker at what he said was "just another one of those Republican fund-raising dinners."

It was put on by H. J. (Jack) Porter, Republican national committeeman and an Eisenhower supporter from away back.

But the Washington Post brought to light a letter written by Porter Jan. 30 to boost the sale of tickets for the dinner.

The letter said it would be up to Martin, described as a friend of the bill, "to muster at least 65 per cent of the Republican votes in order to pass the gas bill this year." And the letter added: "The dinner must raise substantial amounts of money for the Republican party as part of these will go towards the election of Republican congressmen and senators." The post estimated the dinner raised $100,000.

After this letter appeared in the Post Tuesday, the Eisenhower administration and the Republican party leadership began denying any knowledge of it. Eisenhower's press secretary James C. Hagerty said no one at the White House had known.

Meade Alcorn, Republican national chairman, said the same, plus this: "The Republican National Committee will not accept any funds from the proceeds of the Houston dinner."

Martin, too, denied any knowledge of the letter but said he would vote for the bill.

Another Republican, Sen. Aiken of Vermont, said: "It's odd that people who can amass millions of dollars show so little political judgment."

This whole episode gave support to opponents of the bill. It's bound to make Democrats and Republicans who'd like to vote for it a little self-conscious. No one now sees a rosy future for the bill.

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

Business Firms Are Pepping Up Selling

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Companies are pepping up their selling efforts today as a cure—for their own firm at least—for the recession.

They are wooing the consumer with promotions and gimmicks from trading stamps to discount-type price cuts. They are looking to the colleges to turn out more good salesmen—and egging on the ones they have to try harder.

They are making pleas to the buying public to keep the purse strings loose in everyone's interest. George P. Hitchings, manager of the economic analysis department of Ford Motor Co., says buying at the normal rate can keep the slump from going deeper.

They are planning conferences to convince consumers they should upgrade their eating, clothing and housing standards.

Through their representatives they are urging Uncle Sam to come to their aid by cutting taxes to release more buying power and by increasing government spending.

In some ways it's an uphill job.

In recruiting college students as salesmen there are a couple of snags. J. D. Staunton, director of training, headquarters staff, National Starch Products, Inc., says a survey of 31 colleges in 25 states shows that many college men look on a selling job not as a career but as a way to find out about a company in preparation for stepping into a management job.

College men also generally have wrong notions of what a salesman's job today includes, he says.

Businessmen ought to help change this, he says.

Or take the efforts to get people to upgrade standards — meaning, buy more or spend more. Some 40 farm and food industry groups are meeting in Washington soon. Aim: to try to reverse the "rising consumer indifference to the necessity for an adequate and balanced diet."

Homer R. Davison, president of the American Meat Institute and chairman of the planning committee for the conference, blames the trend on "food fads, self-prescribed diets and the American tendency to hurry and rush" which result in "meals lacking the nutrients essential for good health."

He says the conference is backed by farmers, processors, distributors and merchandisers.

In some other lines that the selling is getting harder. Rising prices have a big part in this. But economists point out that there are other reasons.

For one, many consumers have had 10 years to buy the home and other gadgets denied them during the war. They might always want more of them, but their need may not be urgent.

And family needs change. The big baby crop of the 40s are entering the expensive school ages, with large families the style. Sending a boy to college takes a lot of discretional spending money out of the family budget.

Today's salesmen, especially of durable goods, run up against this every day. A tax cut would make his job easier—but still not a cinch.

Ice Threatens To Block River Traffic

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mississippi River boats are fighting through foot-thick ice from above Alton, Ill., to below the junction with the Ohio River at Cairo, Ill. Traffic may soon be blocked entirely.

Gorges of ice piled up as high as three feet along the river and at locks.

The Mississippi has been frozen over in the St. Louis area for 10 days, the longest freeze of the winter.

Mild Solon Backs Schwartz To End

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mild-mannered is the word for Morgan M. Moulder.

The Missouri Democrat is about the last member of Congress you would expect to be embroiled in a headline controversy.

But he hit the front pages resoundingly yesterday through his middle-of-the-night resignation as chairman of a special subcommittee investigating six government agencies.

And he seemed relieved that the burden of the job was behind him.

Moulder, 53, wears dark suits of solid color, stiff collars and conservative ties.

He is no sourpuss. His manner is quietly courtly with a generous overlay of geniality. Friends say he can hold his own in a friendly poker game.

But there was nothing friendly about the fracas in which Moulder has been involved, increasingly, over the past six months—that is, ever since he named Bernard Schwartz of New York as chief counsel of the subcommittee.

Schwartz's investigative zeal — or his methods, depending on who's telling the story — got him in trouble with Rep. Harris (D-Ark) and some other subcommittee members almost from the start.

But Moulder remained a Schwartz backer to the last, and gave up the chairmanship — to Harris, for now at least — when the subcommittee voted 7-4 after a daylong row Monday to fire Schwartz.

What he may lack in color, Moulder makes up in consistency.

"Even-tempered . . . levelheaded . . . hard-working"—these are the terms by which colleagues tend to describe him. Much of his Capitol Hill work has been as a member of the Committee on Un-American Activities.

A native of central Missouri, Moulder attended public schools, was graduated from Missouri University and studied law at Cumberland University in Lebanon, Tenn.

He served four terms as prosecuting attorney of Camden County, Mo., where he still maintains a home, and was a Circuit Court judge when first elected to Congress in 1948.

Moulder is married and has one daughter.

Political Ride Due Gas Bill

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Self-styled Democratic liberals made it clear today they will be prepared to cite the Republican voting record on the natural gas bill both in Congress and in the fall election campaign.

Both proponents and opponents of the controversial measure agreed, however, that the bill's chances of passage were lessened by the furore over a Texas group's tying support of the measure to a Republican fund-raising dinner.

Texas Republicans raised $100,000 Monday night through a $100-a-plate dinner in Houston, advertised as an appreciation dinner for House Republican Leader Martin (Mass). H. J. Porter, Texas Republican national committeeman, urged contributors to purchase tickets because, he said in a letter, Martin had helped to pass a natural gas bill in 1955 and would need to muster support of 65 per cent of the GOP members to pass the bill this year.

Both the White House and the Republican National Committee disavowed any connection with the appeal and the national committee said it would accept none of the money. Porter and other Texas party officials said they did not know what would be done with the proceeds.

Martin said he also knew nothing in advance about the gas bill's connection with the dinner, which he said he considered "just another one of those Republican fund-raising dinners."

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said in a statement that Martin's name was "used to give prestige and authority to the shoddy exercise in mass bribery. . ." He described it as shocking.

The gas measure would remove producers from direct control of the Federal Power Commission, but would continue FPC regulation over interstate pipelines. It is generally favored in gas producing areas, but opposed by many major consuming areas, including many large cities.

While most supporters and critics of the measure thought the current publicity would kill it, House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) said the bill will be called up in the House late this month.

Martin said he is still for the gas bill and will support it when it comes to the floor.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) predicted the bill will be defeated. He has contended the measure would result in an increase in gas bills paid by consumers.

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) said he was amazed by the "brazen approach" he said Porter and Texas oil contributors had taken in efforts to get the measure through Congress.

Sen. Clark (D-Pa) called on President Eisenhower to disavow the measure—similar to one Eisenhower vetoed two years ago because of the "arrogance" the chief executive said oil lobbyists had displayed.

"The event at Houston demonstrates that the oil men have lost none of their arrogance," Clark said.

Confessed Killers Await Grand Jury

WACO (AP)—The admitted killers of a Waco filling station attendant and kidnapers of two other men were in the McLennan County jail today awaiting an appearance before a special grand jury session.

The ex-convicts face a quick trial here if Dist. Atty. Tom Moore Jr. gets his wish to try them within three weeks.

Moore said he would ask for murder and robbery indictments against Franklin Perkins, 28, Oklahoma City, and Allen Edward Runo, 24, Houston, in the slaying of Ray Spencer, 51, Waco filling station attendant.

Perkins yesterday told newsmen he was alone when Spencer was "accidentally killed." He said he tried to hit Spencer over the head with a gun that discharged.

Perkins and Runo were brought here last night from Houston by Sheriff C. C. Maxey, Police Chief Jesse Gunterman and Texas Ranger Capt. Clint Peoples.

Both men pleaded guilty to murder without malice and robbery in an examining trial before Justice of the Peace Ray Ormio. They were denied bond.

Perkins and Runo made written statements Monday night at Liberty, Tex., in which they admitted the Feb. 3 slaying of Spencer. Police Lt. Woody Stephenson and Peoples also questioned the pair in Houston.

Stephenson said the two men told him of a series of events that began Jan. 11 in Houston with the theft of eight shotguns in a dry goods store robbery. Two of the guns were used, Stephenson said, in a $2,000 robbery Jan. 24 of a Houston supermarket.

The men were arrested in New Orleans.

Dairy Farmer, Attorney Are Left In Race

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A dairy farmer and an attorney, both young and relatively unknown, will battle over a vacancy in Minnesota's First Congressional District Tuesday. Each won nomination in a primary that followed the form chart all the way.

State Sen. Albert Quie, 34-year-old dairy farmer aided by his party's endorsement, easily topped a field of seven Republicans.

Eugene Foley, 29-year-old attorney from the little Mississippi River town of Wabasha, also bearing his party's blessing, had an even easier time beating two independent Democratic candidates.

The combined unofficial Republican vote total was 58.5 per cent with 3 of 410 precincts missing. This was about one and a half per cent less than the district's Republican vote for Congress in the 1956 primary, and well under that of elections of prior years.

Democrats took some heart from that percentage in girding for the Feb. 18 runoff fight between Foley and Quie for the seat emptied last month by the death of Rep. August Andresen. Andresen had represented the district in Washington for 31 years.

Oil Firms Bid On Indian Land

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP)—Bids totaling nearly seven million dollars submitted by oil companies for drilling rights on 119,752 acres of Navajo land in Arizona and Utah were tabulated here yesterday.

This brought to nearly 26 million dollars the offers made for oil leases on the reservation in the past two months.

In yesterday's tabulations, the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the Navjo Tribal Council opened high bids totaling $6,424,527.26 for exploration leases on 73,825 acres of reservation land in Arizona. The high bids on 45,927 acres of Indian reservation land in Utah totaled $445,124.68.

A combine of Sinclair, Phillips and Pan-American Oil companies submitted the largest single bid. It was $1,308,441.60 for 2,560 acre tract seven miles south of Mexican Waters, Apache County, Ariz. The offer, averaging $511.11 an acre, was described by oilmen as a record for unproven oil land.

The same combine bid $1,067,367.45 for an adjoining tract of 2,357 acres.

A total of 32 tracts were offered in Arizona and 19 in Utah.

Yesterday's bids will be reviewed by the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the tribal oil consultant. Leases then will be awarded by the bureau.

The bids cover drilling rights only. Should oil be produced on the land, one out of every six barrels will go to the Navajo tribe.

Testimony In Murder Trial Is Resumed

ALICE, Tex. (AP)—Testimony resumed here today in the murder trial resulting from a highway crash which killed five persons.

Innoncencio Ozuna, 31, is on trial, accused of ramming from behind a car driven by Perfecto Saenz in June, 1956.

Judge Woodrow Laughlin yesterday allowed a state witness to read a statement which Dist. Atty. Sam Burris said was signed by Ozuna the day after the crash.

The statement said Ozuna was "a little drunk" at the time of the accident. He said he saw he was getting too close to the Saenz car but realized it too late.

County Atty. John Mullen read the statement. Mullen's testimony came after state efforts to impeach its own star witness, Samuel Trejo, 24, of Premont, Tex. Trejo, a passenger in Ozuna's car, said in an earlier statement that Ozuna deliberately tried to ram the Saenz vehicle. Burris charged that Trejo's testimony was at variance with the earlier statement.

Four other witnesses testified that the Saenz car was knocked into the path of a car approaching from the opposite direction. Killed in the crash were William Burke Page, 47; Mrs. Elviva Martinez Saenz, 30; Delores Saenz, 4; Gasper Saenz, 6; and Perfecto Saenz Jr., 3.

Men Actually Weaker Sex

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Actually men are the weaker sex," says Dr. W.C.W. Nixon, professor of obstetrics at the University of London, England.

He told a gynecological conference here that more than 15 per cent of English fathers insist on being in delivery rooms with their wives.

"One father fainted dead away while watching his child being delivered," Dr. Nixon said. "He smashed to the floor and was knocked for six (knocked out).

"When we could get around to him, we discovered he had a broken jaw. His wife went home with the baby in four days, but he spent six weeks in our hospital."

Tigers Claw Wolves, 66-53; Reed Hits 20

Led by Leon Reed's second straight 20-point performance, the Tiger basketeers romped to a 66-53 victory over the Colorado City Wolves last night at Tiger Gym to remain tied for the District 3-AAA leadership.

Coach J. P. Ward's charges made it five district wins in six starts last night, the same record held by the Sweetwater Mustangs who last night outscored Lake View, 76-69, at Sweetwater.

The deadlock will be broken Friday night when the Tigers and Mustangs clash head-on at Sweetwater.

Reed, who broke out of a scoring slump with a 23-point output at Lamesa last Friday despite the fact he played only three quarters, came back last night with another scintillating performance, pouring 20 points through the hoop.

The big 6-3 forward also came up with 14 rebounds last night, second only to teammate Bill Phillips who snared 15.

Richard Compton, Colorado City star cager, led the Wolves with 18 points. Compton fouled out with 1:19 minutes left to play.

The Tigers, too lost a player via the personal foul route, Phillips, with 3:10 minutes left.

The Tigers never trailed in last night's game. Colorado City managed a 2-2 tie in the first 1:45 minutes of play when the Tigers' John Ward and the Wolves' Compton traded field goals.

The Tigers then took the lead for good after 2:45 minutes of play on a free throw by Phillips, 3-2. The Bengals went on to a 14-7 first quarter lead, 29-22 halftime edge and 48-37 lead after three quarters.

Colorado City never came closer than nine points of catching up with the Tigers in the fourth period.

Two other Tigers hit in double figures last night, speedy Gary Vice with 14 points and Ward with 12. The Wolves also had two others in twin figures, forwards Barton Smith and Jimmy Richardson with 11 points apiece.

The Tigers had about an average night from the floor, hitting 23 of 60 shots for 38.3 percent. From the free throw line, the Tigers hit 20 of 29 for 68.9 percent.

The Tigers won the "B" game, too, 63-49, over the Wolf B team. Danny Tankersley led the future Tigers with 18 points, followed by Kenneth Drake with 16 and Johnny Drake with 10. Tommy Thomason was high for C-City B with nine.

Preceding the varsity game, Miss Toni Best, high school senior, was crowned the 1958 Tiger "Basketball Sweetheart." Performing the crowning honors were tri-captains Leon Reed, John Ward and Gary Vice.

Miss Best, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Best, was presented a bouquet of flowers compliments of the Tiger squad.

BUD HINTS CHANGE OF MIND

Mike May Yet Play For OU

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—There were strong indications today that Mike McClellan, the Baylor freshman track and football star, would eventually participate in athletics at Oklahoma.

McClellan was the athlete who left Baylor and entered Oklahoma only to be barred from athletics because the former school wouldn't give him the kind of release Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson required.

Wilkinson had said that McClellan could not participate but yesterday he changed it. "If at some future time, through his own action and his own decision, Mike indicates he will not under any circumstance continue his studies at Baylor we would feel justified in reconsidering the case." Wilkinson said.

And at the same time Wilkinson called on Baylor to publish any concrete evidence it might have proving that McClellan was recruited by the Oklahoma coaching staff.

But at Waco, Abner McCall, chairman of the Baylor athletic council, who refused to certify that McClellan had not been recruited, said he would make no further statements in the matter. "The case is closed as far as we are concerned. I am not going to air any charges in the newspapers. If Oklahoma thinks its conscience is clear in this matter it can go ahead and accept Mike McClellan into its athletics."

McClellan said he probably would return home to Stamford, Tex., soon. "I'll be back. I will try to enroll at a junior college, then transfer to Oklahoma," he said. But he gave no specific time.

"Nearly all statements attributed to us have been made by Baylor people," Wilkinson said. "We now feel it is necessary to clarify our position.

"As Baylor told him, there are no rules that would prohibit his transferring to Oklahoma. This is not a case of rule violation but rather one of principle. The central issue is whether Mike himself decided he was unhappy at Baylor and had made up his mind to leave or whether he was induced to leave by the University of Oklahoma.

"Our action in refusing him a scholarship was not taken to protect the university but to protect the boy. Unfortunately, this is a day when many people automatically believe the worst about all phases of college athletics. Since Baylor will not release the boy and if we were to accept him Mike would be cast in the role of a tramp athlete... He is too fine a boy to be subjected to such unjustified and unfounded criticism.

"Baylor has accused us of unethically recruiting the boy. We have not recruited him. Their charges have been vague and if they have any concrete evidence we would appreciate their informing us and also publishing the facts."

Wilkinson reiterated that he was contacted by McClellan's high school coach, Gordon Wood. He added that McClellan would be welcome at Oklahoma now if he could afford to pay his own expenses.

Morrow Eyes Race With Dave Sime

DALLAS (AP)—Bobby Morrow already has the title of world's fastest human but he figures another clash with Dave Sime might better emphasize it.

The Abilene Christian college star, who was sprint champion of the Olympic games, king of the AAU and NCAA and co-holder of the world's record in the 100-yard dash at 9.3, is looking toward a 17-meet schedule this year.

But thus far he's down to meet Sime, the Duke flash who set all kinds of records except when he ran against Morrow, only once—in the Penn Relays April 26. Morrow isn't saying so but this will be called a "grudge" match.

"I'm really looking forward to it," Morrow declared today as he prepared to come to Dallas to accept the Sullivan Award at a sports achievement dinner tomorrow night. The AAU named him the nation's amateur athlete in 1957.

"I would like to run against Sime anywhere in a regular race" Morrow said. He didn't get to meet the Duke star last year at all.

In 1956 Sime beat Morrow at 100 yards in 9.4 at the Drake Relays. But Bobby whipped Dave in a 10.4 100 meters in the NCAA meet the same year. Sime pulled up lame in the 200 and they haven't met again.

Morrow is training at Abilene right now although he won't get to compete in some of the early meets because he's a senior and already has been in these meets three times. He can't defend his sprint titles in the Border Olympics at Laredo March 8 and he is excluded from the Texas Relays in April.

"I'm just as anxious to run this season as ever," Morrow said, "but I'm going to take it easy in early meets and point for the big events like the California Relays and Meet of Champions at Houston later."

Arkansas kept a tight fist on the Southwest Conference basketball lead Tuesday night by beating hopeful Southern Methodist but Rice was still lurking with a smirk.

As the Razorbacks evened things with SMU for the season by edging the Methodists 65-63 on Fred Grim's two free throws in the final seconds, Rice was whipping Texas A&M 67-57 to remain just a half-game back.

Rice beat Arkansas on its home court and the Razorbacks must yet play the Owls in Houston.

Southern Methodist dropped into a tie for third with Texas Tech, which, like Arkansas, won its game in the fading seconds—one second to be exact. The Red Raiders ran into an upset-minded Baylor and if little Gerald Myers hadn't sped through for a layup with just one second to go, Tech might be in the limbo of the eliminated. The Raiders won 74-72.

SMU and Tech each is a game back of Rice and 1½ games behind Arkansas.

Texas Christian and Texas, both of whom are just hanging on, will clash at Fort Worth Wednesday night.

More big doings are scheduled Saturday night when Texas Tech hosts Arkansas at Lubbock. Southern Methodist will play Texas Christian at Fort Worth, Texas and Texas A&M clash at Austin and Baylor and Rice tangle at Waco.

Grim's two points gave Arkansas a 65-61 margin and SMU scored a field goal and barely missed another before time ran out. Rick Herrscher of Southern Methodist and Grim tied for high point honors with 21 apiece.

Myers was the big show for Texas Tech as it put itself in position to contend for first place in the battle with Arkansas Saturday. The little Red Raider guard rolled up 29 points in leading his team back into contention. Tech was upset by Texas last week.

Myers' winning basket came 10 seconds after Tom Kelly had put Baylor ahead 72-71 with a tip-in. Myers also got a free throw after time had run out.

Rice was hot in the field to tumble Texas A&M and just about eliminate Aggie hopes of even sharing the title. The Owls, led by Tom Robitaille with 18 points, connected on 50 per cent of their second-half field goal tries.

A&M led Rice at halftime 33-31 but Robitaille, Temple Tucker and Gerry Thomas went on a scoring binge in the final period.

Blue Devils Extend Win Streak To 8

By DON WEISS

Duke's Blue Devils, coming with a rush since Coach Harold Bradley junked height for speed a month ago, are top dog in Atlantic Coast Conference basketball today.

Probably the best five-time loser around, the Blue Devils climaxed an eight-games-in-a-month streak last night by making it to the top of the conference with a 65-48 road whipping of North Carolina State.

combination and turned 'em loose.

Duke has a 13-5 record and the No. 8 ranking in the nation.

San Francisco's fifth-rated Dons were the only other top-ranking team in action last night. The Dons, beaten once in 18 starts, ran their winning streak to 13 in a 69-49 romp over St. Mary's of California, just about wrapping up the title in the West Coast Conference. Gene Brown's 16 points led the attack.

Arkansas bolstered its lead in the Southwest Conference, edging challenger Southern Methodist 65-63 on Fred Grim's two free throws with 28 seconds left. Gerald Myers' last-second layup capped a 71 per cent team field goal performance in Texas Tech's 74-72 victory over Baylor, and Rice hit half its shots to beat Texas A&M 67-57 in other Southwest features.

Loudermilk Puts BS On Cage Map

BIG SPRING (AP)—A California-born giant named Jan Loudermilk is leading Big Spring High School to the most successful basketball season the school has experienced in a quarter of a century.

Loudermilk, who now makes his home with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Hull, on a farm near here, scored 615 points in the Steers' first 26 games this season for a 23.7-per-game average. Big Spring won 20 of the games.

The 6-feet-6, 215-pounder has been named to all-star teams in every tournament in which he has competed since his junior high school days.

In a practice game against Odessa Ector High earlier this season, he bucketed 75 points, one of the highest game totals ever achieved by a Texas high school player.

Loudermilk established a Big Spring season scoring record last year with 530 points in 24 games and, of course, beat that easily this year. He and his teammates close out regular play Fridayr night in a championship District 2-AAAA contest.

In three seasons of play, Jan has tallied a total of 1,548 points.

But as valuable as Loudermilk close out regular play Friday night in a championship District 2-AAAA contest.

In three seasons of play, Jan has tallied a total of 1,548 points.

But as valuable as Loudermilk is on offense, his coach, Johnny Johnson, considers him an even greater asset on defense. He captured an average of 17.4 rebounds in each of the team's first 26 games.

He has received scholarship offers from virtually every college in Texas, as well as Navy, Wake Forest and the University of San Francisco, among others.

The young man also lettered three years in football and has played baseball.

Loudermilk hasn't committed himself on a choice of his scholarship offers but says he intends to study engineering.

He doesn't have much free time. His farm chores await his return home and he is adept at plowing a furrow or milking the cows. He is a B student in class.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS

JUST AS WE FIGURED, Oklahoma is anticipating taking Mike McClellan into its fold even though she may not get the letter she has asked for from Baylor University.

Oklahoma officials apparently figured they would eventually get the letter they asked for which would state McClellan wasn't recruited by Oklahoma.

But Baylor officials are standing pat on their refusal to give OU that letter. You can't blame Baylor, though, for not giving OU the "release letter."

After all, Baylor still believes that McClellan was recruited by Oklahoma in one fashion or another, and, of course, she would only be "lieing" if it gave Oklahoma a letter saying OU didn't recruit Mike when it isn't what they (Baylor officials) believe.

Coach Bud Wilkinson said at first that he wouldn't take McClellan if he didn't get the release he asked for from Baylor.

Now that it looks like Baylor is not going to come through with the letter, Bud is showing signs of changing his mind.

Wanted To Have Conscience Clear

If Oklahoma thinks she can can make Baylor believe that Mike can attend OU if he pays his own way, they're crazy.

Bud says, if it looks like McClellan isn't going to return to Baylor, then he might re-consider taking him in "only if he pays his own way."

Mike, naturally, wouldn't want to return to Baylor now even if he wanted to.

The main reason OU wants the release-letter from Baylor, to be sure, is to clear its conscience of recruiting the ex-Stamford flash.

But if OU goes ahead and accepts Mike, then she will have the unethical recruiting of McClelland on her mind because it appears Baylor isn't about to give them the said letter.

3-AAA Loses First Grid Coach

The first football coaching change since District 3-AAA was formed will be made next fall.

Bob Reily, head coach at Colorado City, has tendered his resignation effective at the end of the current school term.

Reily is leaving the coaching field in favor of an insurance selling career.

Bob was here last night for the Tiger-Colorado City basketball game shortly after he had tendered his resignation to the Colorado City school board.

We hate to see Reily leave the coaching ranks as he apparently had a big future in the trade. But he should make a heckuva insurance salesman.

Note: Don't come to see me, Bob. I'm "insurance poor" now as it is.

Five Aggies Lose Battle With Books

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Five members of the Texas A&M football squad, including letterman Don McClelland, have become scholastically ineligible.

McClelland was a regular end on the 1957 team.

Charles Massey, Alice fullback; Larry Broaddus, Caldwell fullback; Ray Cummings, Beaumont tackle, and Richard Kirtley, Houston guard, were the others becoming ineligible.

Addition Of Ted Kluszewski Should Boost Pirate Stock

Ninth of a series of articles written by major league managers evaluating their clubs' pennant prospects for 1958.

By DANNY MURTAUGH

WOODLYN, Pa. (AP) — Youth, greater experience, improved pitching and greater power should make the Pirates a stronger team in 1958 than they were last year.

I thought our club had two outstanding weaknesses last year. First, we didn't have another hitter to go with Frank Thomas. Second was the lack of pitching depth. I think our team will be stronger, powerwise, with the addition of Ted Kluszewski. Ted could do the job with Thomas, if he is physically able.

I think we'll have considerably more pitching depth this year. I feel we have three standout, righthanded pitchers in Bob Friend, Vernon Law and Ron Kline. Everybody knows that Friend is one of the top righthanders in the league. Kline got off to a bad start last year, but he won seven of his last eight. Law was 10-8 in '57, missing the last month of the season.

Late last season, a young lefthander named Bob Smith pitched three great games for us, and we have reason to believe he can continue this fine work. We also made a deal for Don Gross, another young lefthander, for whom we have high hopes.

We are high on two boys coming up from Hollywood — Bennie Daniels and George Witt, both righthanders. Daniels, 24, made the PCL All-Star team in his rookie season with a 17-8 record. Witt, 23, posted an 18-7 mark and had a 2.45 ERA. Our scouts tell us they are ready to pitch in the major leagues.

We had a very young, inexperienced team last year, and I think with a full season under their belts, the boys cannot help but improve. I certainly don't look for Bill Virdon and Roberto Clemente to have two bad years in a row at the plate.

Both hit over .300 for us in '56, and I feel that is closer to their true averages than last year's percentages of .251 and .253, respectively. Defensively, these boys leave little to be desired. I would rate only Willie Mays above Bill in center and Clemente is considered by many to be the top rightfielder in the league.

We expect to get some help from outfielder John Powers and catcher Dan Kravitz. Powers hit 30 home runs and drove in 98 runs for Columbus last year despite the fact he missed a full month of the season. Kravitz was lacking defensively, but from the latest reports he's ready.

I am in no position to talk pennant for 1958. It is pretty hard for a team to finish tied for seventh one year and compete for the pennant the following year. I feel that if our team is competing for a first division berth I will be satisfied.

We have a couple of spots on our team, however, where we are as strong as any club in the league, namely second base and shortstop. In Bill Mazeroski, our second baseman, the Pirates have potentially the upcoming No. 1 second baseman in the league.

Dick Groat is one of the most underrated shortstops in the league. Although he doesn't have the range of Roy McMillan, he is a sure fielder and can make just about all the plays. Dick is a fine hitter in the bargain as well as a great team man.

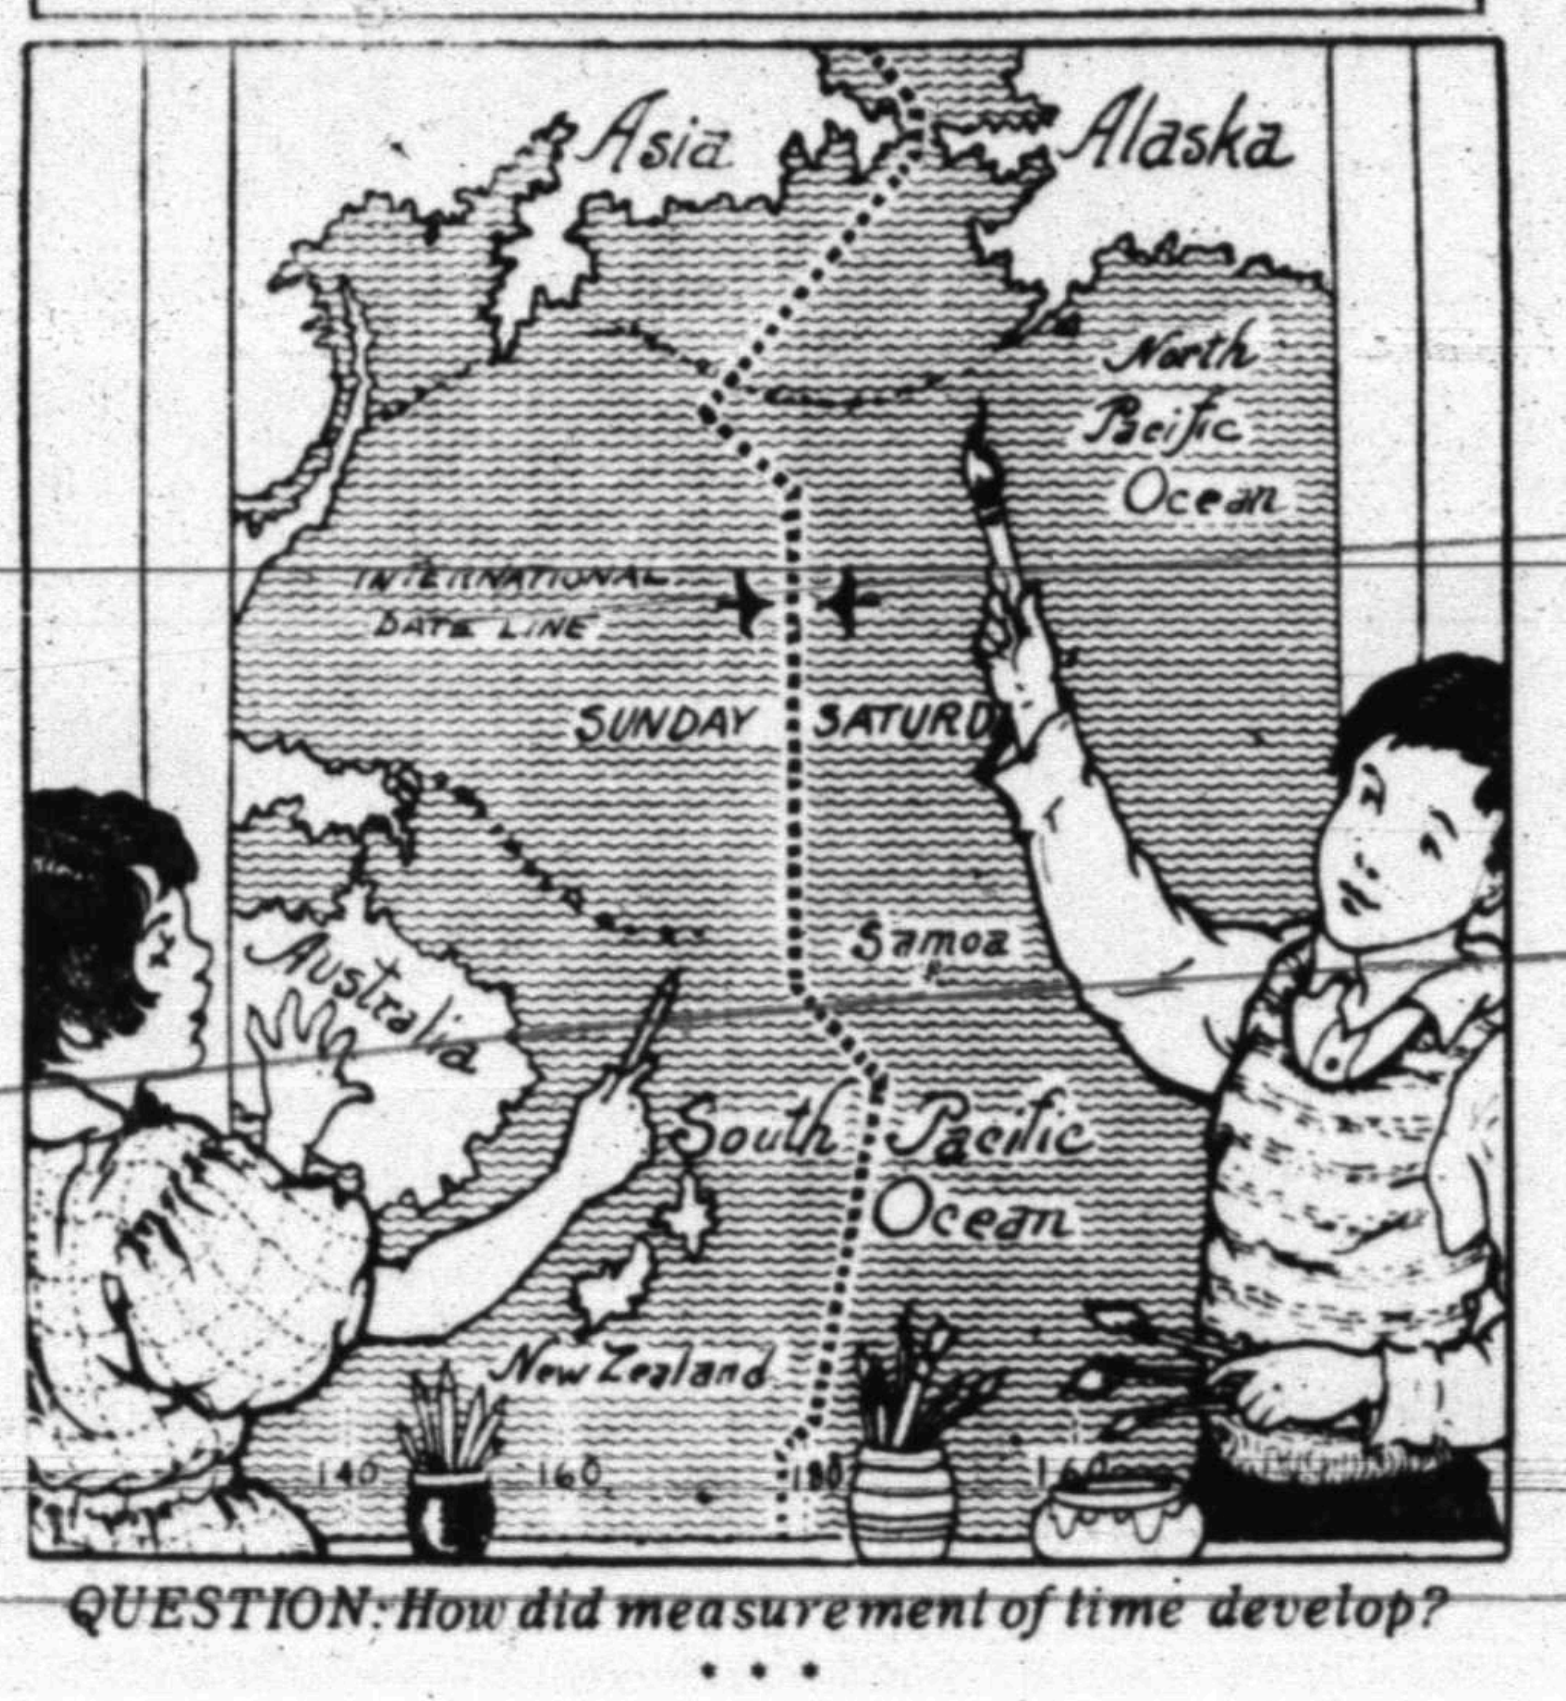
Junior Editors Quiz on TIME



QUESTION: How did measurement of time develop?

ANSWER: Man has used various devices to measure time. Early ones included the water clock, the hourglass and marked candles; Today we use accurate watches and clocks.

Astronomers figure time from the meridian which passes through Greenwich, England, where a famous observatory is located. If it is 3 o'clock at Greenwich, it is 4 o'clock at a point 15 degrees east of there, where the sun is nearer setting. And it is only 2 o'clock 15 degrees west of there, where the sun is farther from setting.

Because of that, there are four 15-degree strips or "time zones" in the United States, and you have to set your watch back three times when flying across the country.

Also, in traveling around the world, one comes to an "international date line" in the middle of the Pacific. Fly across that line and you find yourself in a different day. It curves around land masses so that people do not have to change days just while traveling from one side of an island to another.

• • •

Romance Starts Slowly, But Grows

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When studio executive Robert Rains, 36, first asked actress Julie Van Zandt, 27, for a date she told him, she recalls, that she didn't care one way or the other about meeting him, but she was very eager to see the movie.

So, she went along. That was two years ago. Yesterday they got a marriage license.

Anastasia Case Probers Quiz Lansky

NEW YORK (AP)—Police investigating the slaying of mobster Albert Anastasia have seized for questioning Meyer Lansky, reputed kingpin of a Havana, Cuba, gambling circle.

Lansky was arrested on a vagrancy charge early today. This often is a device to allow exhaustive questioning by police.

Lansky's arrest was the second since two gunmen slew Anastasia former lord high executioner of Brooklyn's once-dreaded Murder, Ind., gang. Lansky was once called a "director" of the crime syndicate.

He was trailed by detectives from his arrival at Idlewild Airport to Broadway and 53rd Street, where he was seized.

Under questioning, the 55-year-old ex-convict was of no help in the Anastasia case, police said. He readily admitted, however, that he has been engaged in Cuban gambling operations for the past two years.

Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan has linked Anastasia's slaying to Cuban gambling.

Lansky said he came here from Miami for medical treatment. He said he was in New York a few days prior to Oct. 25, the day Anastasia was slain by two gunmen in the barbershop of a Manhattan hotel.

Lansky said he was either in Florida or Cuba on the day of the murder.

Parade Asked For Graham

GUATEMALA (AP) — Organizers of Billy Graham's revival meetings here called on the public to welcome the U.S. evangelist today with a mass demonstration and parade.

Graham speaks tonight and tomorrow night in Guatemala city's 25,000-seat football stadium.

Guatemalan Catholics, the bulk of the population, were warned by a priest "not to offer any kind of collaboration" with the two-day revival.

Half-page newspaper ads calling for attendance at the meetings were matched by ads addressed to Catholics by Father Isidro Iriarte, Jesuit chaplain of La Merced Church.

The priest acknowledged "indisputable merit in the person of Billy Graham" but warned that "his views and doctrine are inadmissible to Catholics."

"Die Meistersinger" was Wagner's only comic opera. It satirizes critics.

Elvis Is Sporting A Normal Haircut

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — That Army barber who yearned to scalp Elvis Presley's sideburns won't get the chance.

The rock 'n' roll singer is sporting a normal haircut for his current and last pre-induction movie — "King Creole." And it makes him look quite handsome.

Producer Hal Wallis, who got an eight-week deferment from Elvis' draft board, finally let a reporter on the set to talk with Elvis. He said he didn't cut his sideburns off because of impending Army duty.

"I've worn long sideburns in all my other movies," he explained, "so I figured I'd be a little different in 'King Creole.'"

Elvis finishes the picture March 14, takes a train for his home town of Memphis and expects to be at Ft. Chaffee, Ark., by March 22.

Does he think that some tough sergeants may give him a bad time because of his fame?

"Well, if they do it won't be because of anything I do to provoke it. I'm going in to be a soldier and the Army can do anything it wants with me and send me any place."

He did say that he would utilize furlough time to cut records to keep his name alive. Presley has sold 20 records that have each hit over a million sales.

Does he have a favorite singer?

"Well, I never have answered that question but since I'm going in the Army, I'll tell you."

His choice, believe it or not, is his greatest rival for the bobby-sox trade—Pat Boone.

"He has a fine voice and is probably the most versatile singer in the business. He's about as good as they come and I'm not picking him out of friendship because I don't know Pat."

Then he added with a smile: "Besides, I heard the first sergeant at Ft. Chaffee is president of the Pat Boone Fan Club there."

Official Opposes Suspension Policy

NEW YORK (AP) — A Brooklyn school official told three staff members of a special U.S. Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency yesterday that he opposes the Board of Education's mass suspension policy.

Dropping troublesome children from the schools en masse is no solution to crime in the schools, said Joseph C. Noethen. He is an assistant superintendent in charge of two Brooklyn school districts.

"The mass suspensions were a treatment of the symptoms, and not the causes of the problem," Noethen told the staff members. He said the Board of Education's action was more political than professional.

The staff members came here with James Sullivan, chief counsel of the investigating subcommittee, to determine whether a congressional investigation should be made of the New York school situation.

Acting on a wave of violence in some schools, the Board of Education last week ordered the suspension of at least 644 pupils. Rapes, knifings and assaults have occurred on and near school property. Both white and Negro students were involved.

Noethen said suspensions should be left to the discretion of the principals or superintendents involved. He appealed for more funds for psychiatric and social staffs and special schools for problem children.

After the hearing, a reporter asked him whether racial conflicts are a factor in student crime.

"My best integrated schools is the one for delinquent boys," he replied. "There is no racial conflict at all."

In another development, City Council President Abe Stark urged that abandoned school buildings be used to instruct suspended children.

The city's five special schools that handle maladjusted pupils are filled to their capacity of 1,200. Six additional special schools are planned.

Girl Lured To Her Death In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A pretty 7-year old girl was lured to the roof of a Bronx apartment house yesterday with a promise of 10 cents and a lollipop and thrown 12 floors to her death.

Francis Michael Medaille, a 15-year-old boy suspended from a parochial school a month ago, surrendered to police and admitted: "I put my hands around her neck and choked her a little bit; I don't know why. And then I pushed her off the roof."

He was charged with homicide.

Police said Medaille, son of a hotel desk clerk, vehemently denied that he had any intention to harm the girl sexually.

Killed instantly when she landed atop a first-story abutment on the building was Kathleen Hegmann, one of eight children of John and Rita Hegmann, who lived in the same apartment house as Medaille.

Medaille told Deputy Inspector John V. Halk that he had said to the girl: "I need a strong girl to help me bring a heavy box down from the roof. If you come up and help me I'll give you 10 cents and a lollipop."

The boy appeared at a police station shortly after the girl was found dead and told police: "I just threw a girl off a roof. I want to turn myself in."

Medaille was suspended four weeks ago from Cardinal Hayes High School after he flunked three subjects.

Lost Money Being Returned Gradually

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mrs. Betty Gold, who lost her wallet containing $25 last month, is getting her money back on the installment plan.

The loss was noted in the Philadelphia Inquirer Jan. 16. Since then, Mrs. Gold has received three dollar bills in the mail, all postmarked from Waynesboro, Pa., 140 miles west of Philadelphia.

The first two envelopes contained only money. The latest had a little note asking Mrs. Gold to notify the newspaper the money was being returned.

Teen-Agers Pass Dance For Theology

OMAHA (AP) — Will teen-agers pass up a Saturday night dance to talk about theology?

Yes, they do it every other week in Kansas City, says Dr. H. Dale Small, minister of education at the Second Presbyterian Church there.

His description of a young people's group he works with has attracted attention at a meeting of the National Council of Churches' Division of Christian Education.

Dr. Small's group is called "Comrades of the Way."

There are about 75 high school juniors and seniors in the group, most of them members of the fraternities and sororities, leaders in school activities, some of them athletes—"sharp kids" according to Dr. Small.

The organization itself meets on Sunday night with 97 per cent about par for attendance.

Every other Saturday night, from 8 to 10 p.m., some 35 to 40 will gather for "fireside chats." They are encouraged to bring dates. The talk is about theology.

Dr. Small, 42, said the "Comrades" answered a need for a church group to capitalize on the desire of young people to belong to a group, an organization in some way exclusive and not "just another organization."

It is meant to appeal to the desire of youngsters to think for themselves, Dr. Small explains. It is not "sugar-coated with social activities.

Does the theology really take in the case of the teen-agers?

"One of my problems now is that the kids know so much more theology than their parents," confides Dr. Small.

"He's now reorganizing adult education in the church to help the parents catch up.

Alcoholism Units Planned

AUSTIN (AP)—The associate director of the National Council on Alcoholism today continued his tour through Texas in an effort to stir up interest locally on alcoholism as a major health problem.

William J. Plunkert started an 11-day trip through the state with a visit in Houston yesterday. He will address citizens interested in starting local councils in Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Austin, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Tyler, Marshall and Dallas.

Nelson Brown, executive director of the Texas Commission on Alcoholism, said, "Formation of local councils on alcoholism to carry on alcoholism-abatement programs at the community level is the first objective of the commission."

He said Texas has about 190,000 for the nation's total of about five million alcoholics.

Newspaper Ads Grow

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Charles T. Lipscomb, president of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publisher Assn., said in a speech that newspaper advertising would grow from a present $10,400,000,000 to more than 15 billion dollars by 1965.

Music's Effect On Spaceman Studied

By GARTH JONES

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Whether soft background music will help space travelers of the future stay in orbit is another problem that Airman Donald G. Farrell is helping scientists solve.

Farrell, 23-year-old native of the Bronx, passes his 72nd hour in the Air Force's experimental space cabin at Randolph Air Force Base today. That is three times longer than any other known human has spent in a hermetically sealed container breathing the same air over and over again.

If Farrell stays in the 3-by-5-foot tanklike cubicle until 9:35 a.m. Sunday scientists at the School of Space Medicine here believe he will have proved that a human can live in the crowded cabin of a space rocket for seven days.

Lt. Col. George R. Steinkamp, chief of space medicine, reported that Farrell was doing "exceptionally well." He revealed that the blond six-footer was following a 14-hour sleeping and wakefulness cycle in contrast to the normal 24-hour day and night cycle. Farrell sleeps 4½ hours then has two four-hour work periods with half-hour periods of relaxation sandwiched in between.

During his work periods or relaxation he can request, by flipping a switch, that hi-fi music be piped into the steel cell.

"That's perfectly all right," Steinkamp said. "Kind of like a kid studying better with the radio turned on."

Steinkamp estimated that during Farrell's first full day in the space cabin, on Monday, the recorded music was played for several hours.

"We're watching the effect the music has on this man's work performance during the seven-day period and it might tell us whether background music would prove a means of relaxation in a regular space ship."

Scientists have said previously that it would be entirely possible for space ships orbiting around the earth to receive radio music broadcasts during at least part of their flight.

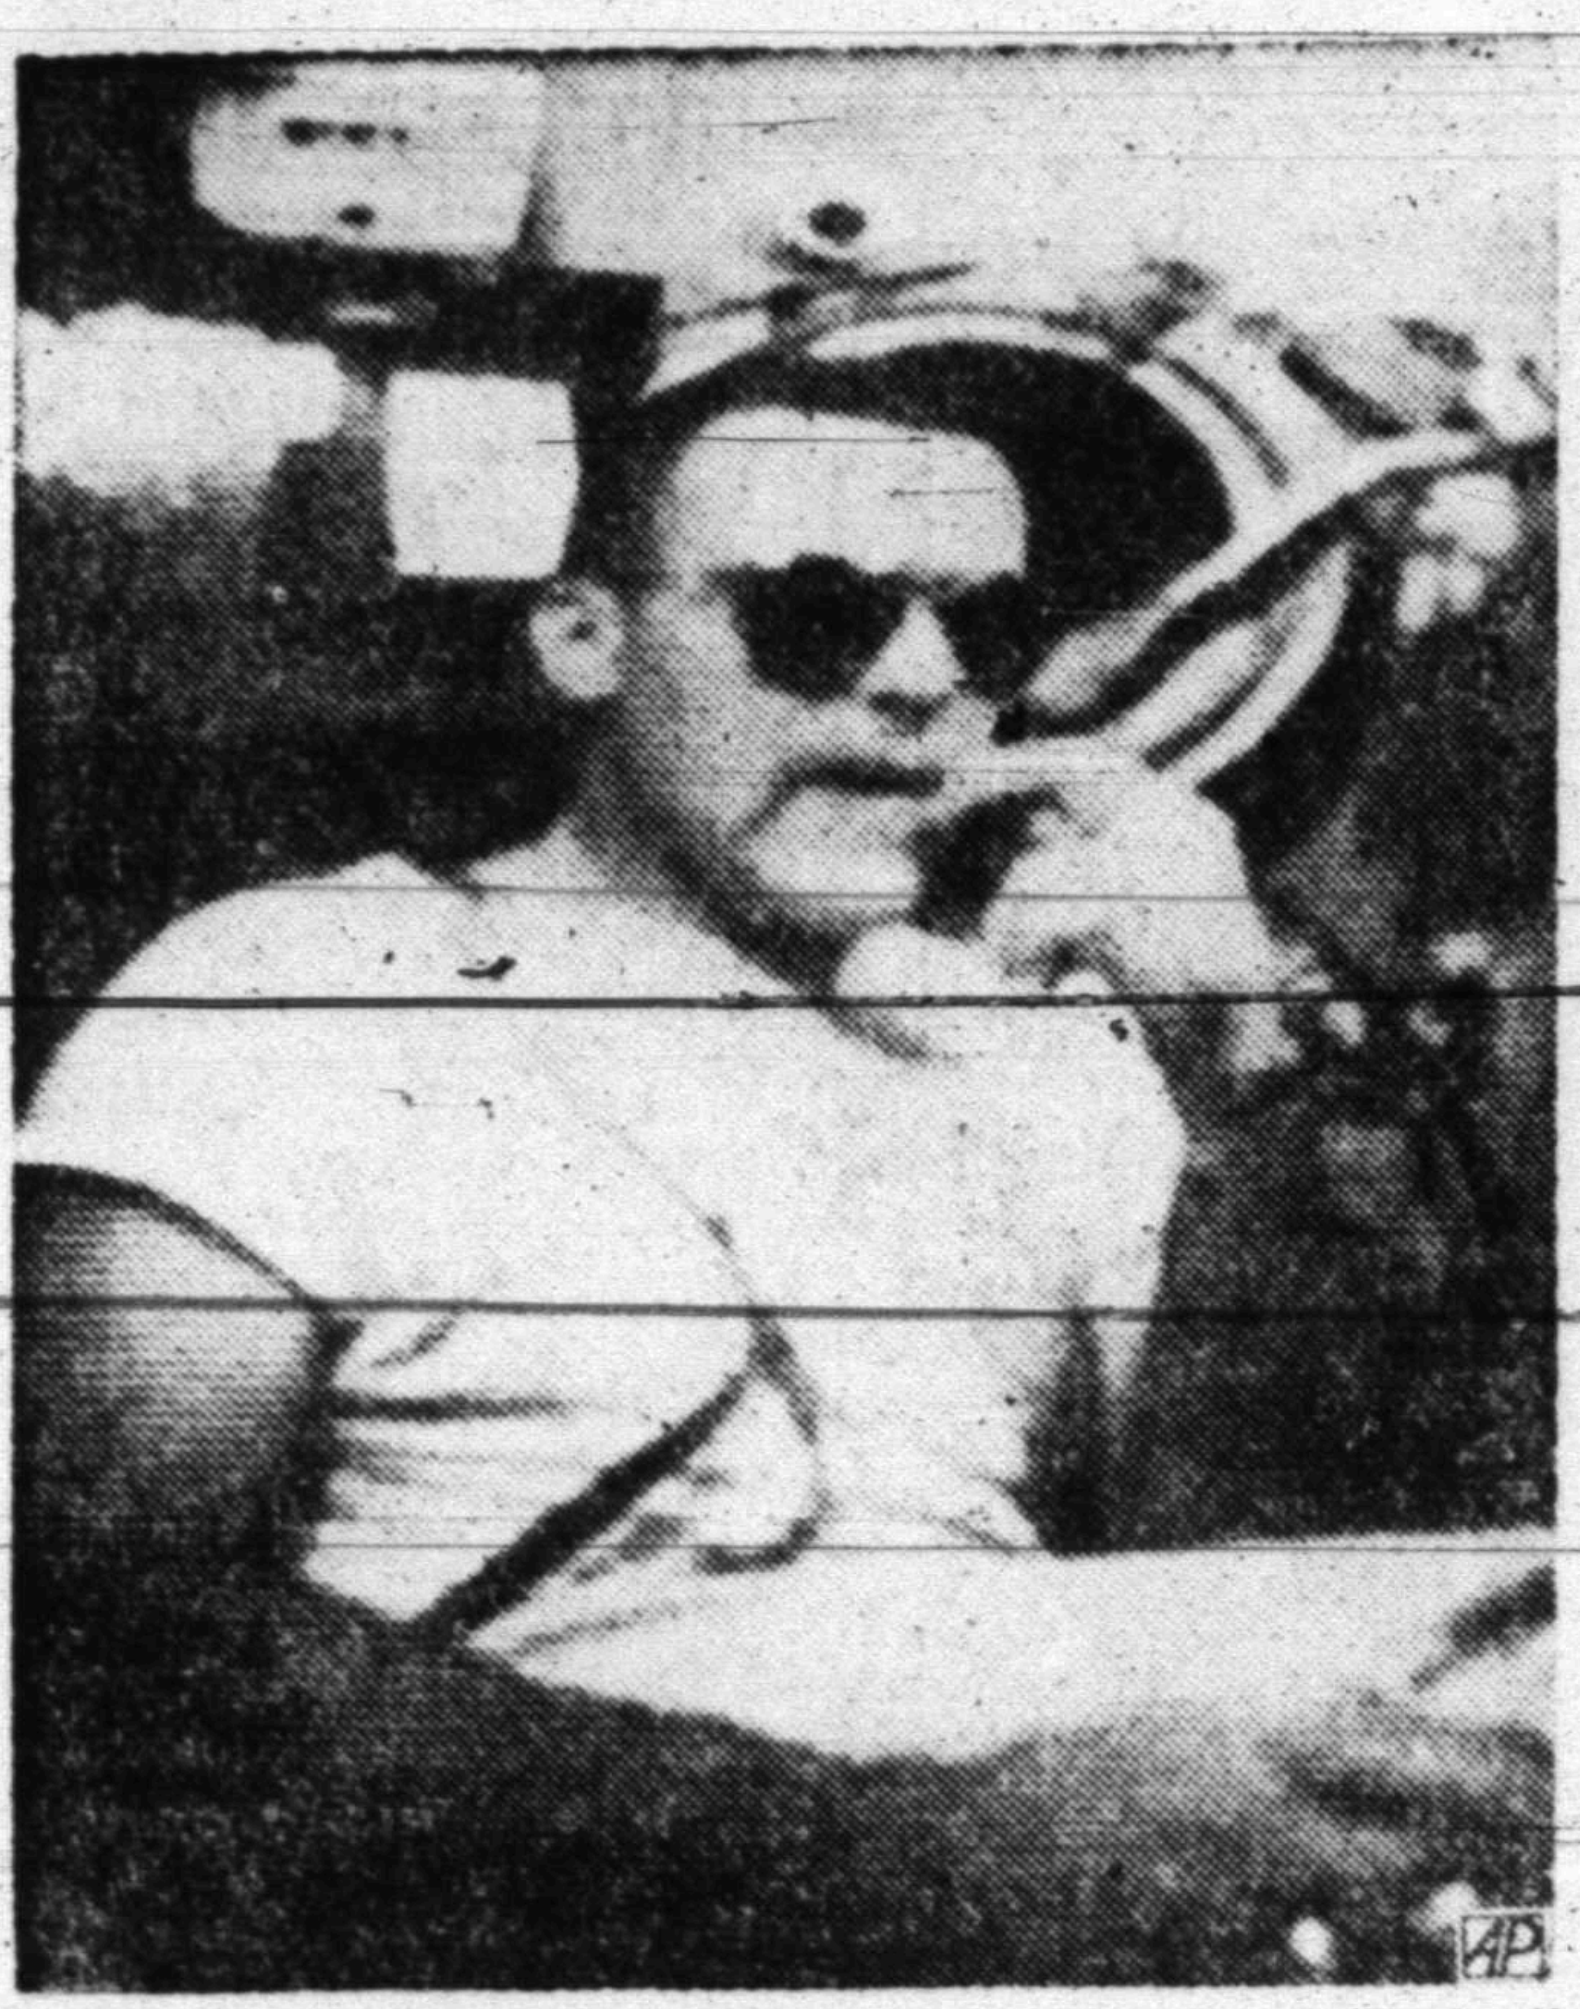
"He seems to like the light classics and popular songs of the ballad type most," said Steinkamp. "He definitely does not care for rock 'n' roll, thank goodness, because we listen to all of the music on a squawk box (loudspeaker)."

Steinkamp reported that Farrell was in excellent physical condition. "His alertness is exceptional and there are no signs of boredom."

He said the battery of instruments attached to electrodes taped over Farrell's body show "no significant changes whatever" in respiration, heart, blood pressure, or other physical conditions.

Greenland Records 143-Inch Snowfall

GREENLAND, Mich. (AP)—Greenland has the cold comfort of topping the Houghton - Hancock - Calumet area in snowfall so far this season. A reading of 143 accumulated inches was reported in this upper Michigan community yesterday. Its rival to the northeast had only 100 inches.



SPACEMAN PONDERS — Airman Donald G. Farrell ponders a problem in the experiment as he carries on in his simulated space cabin flight at the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Air Force Base, Texas. Subjected to 250 watts of light at all times—for photographic purposes, Farrell put on dark glasses shortly after entering the cabin. This photo was made from a television screen recording Farrell's reactions while in the chamber. (AP Wirephoto)

Lincoln Went From Captain To Private

WASHINGTON (AP) — A little known fact of the military life of Abraham Lincoln: he entered the Black Hawk War a captain and left it a private.

Muster rolls preserved in the National Archives here disclose this. The Black Hawk War was the last major war with the Indians for the upper Mississippi Valley.

Records of the Illinois Militia, which later became a part of the National Guard, show that Lincoln was one of 68 volunteers enlisted from Richland, Sangamon County, April 21, 1832.

It was the custom at that time to allow the men to elect their own commanding officer by lining up behind the man of their choice. Lincoln's friends shoved him out in front, and three fourths of the men lined up behind him.

Lincoln's company, a part of the 4th Regiment of the Illinois Mounted Infantry, was mustered out of service May 27, 1832.

But Chief Black Hawk and his followers still had not been defeated, the governor pleaded with the volunteers to sign up for 21 more days. Lincoln was among those who responded, and served as a private. And that was his rank when the fighting ended.

The major contribution of orange juice to a diet is vitamin C. And Purdue University nutrition specialists say frozen orange juice and fresh juice have about the same vitamin C content.

The new 4-passenger Thunderbird abounds in luxury—yet it is priced far below other luxury cars!

Pure Thunderbird in spirit and performance, but now it seats Four...with full fine-car room, comfort and luxury!

Utterly unlike any other car on the American Road, the new 4-passenger Thunderbird is the first of a new size and new type of fine automobile.

This straight-lined, low-swept jewel stands only slightly larger than the raciest car built, a mere 52.5 inches high. It handles and parks like a dream. Yet it gives enough leg, head and shoulder room to seat four varsity crewmen in lap-of-luxury comfort. And the doors are exceptionally wide—even in furs and evening dress a lady can step in and out with ease and grace.

Pure Thunderbird in design, this new 4-passenger beauty is pure Thunderbird in vigor and spirit as well. This means brilliant performance whether on Main Street or on U.S. 1.

Ford engineers have lavished their most advanced design features on the new Thunderbird: New 300-horsepower Thunderbird 352 Special V-8 Engine is a superlative precision instrument, thrilling to command. New single unit body construction molds top, body and frame into one single, solid piece of sculptured steel.

Conceived, designed and built to be the most advanced prestige car on the American Road, the new Thunderbird is so wonderfully poised, so uncannily sensitive to your every wish that you must drive it to believe it.

Luxurious comfort and full fine-car passenger roominess distinguish the glamorous 1958 Thunderbird. The exclusive "panel console" rises from the floor and houses heater controls, ash trays, radio speaker—and power window controls serving the convenience of all four passengers. And wide, glide-through doors give you direct access to all four individually contoured seats. Clearly, the new Thunderbird is America's most individual car for purity of line, for elegance, for vigor.
