State Highway Commission To Stage Hearing

Opening Of Bids On Street Signs Scheduled Today

By H. I. KIEFER
Journal Staff Writer

Members of the city commission were advised at their semi-monthly meeting this morning that they will be given hearing Tuesday before the state highway commission in Austin on proposed paving and storm sewers on North College avenue costing nearly $400,000.

The commission also:

Learned that the city of Lubbock now is worth more than $16,000,000 — nearly $3,000,000 more than last year.

Electric Plant Enlarged

Was advised that installation of a new steam turbine electric plant now is complete at a total cost of $792,182.03, but that another unit of equal or larger size will be required for the city's growing electricity needs by the summer of 1951.

Members of the commission resumed session this afternoon to open bids on new street signs for the entire city. If they are ordered, new street names in many portions of Lubbock will be put into effect when the signs are installed—probably within the next four to six weeks.

To Widen Pavement

The improvements contemplated on North College avenue include pavement 64 feet wide, as compared with the present 36 feet, from Fourth street to U. S. Highway 84, a distance of more than a mile, and storm sewers to drain the larger portion of Northwest Lubbock. The present drainage problem there is acknowledged by officials to be the most serious of any portion of the city.

Members of the commission also described the traffic problem on narrow North College as one of the more serious and dangerous in Lubbock.

Estimates are that the proposed paving and storm sewers would cost approximately $382,000. City Manager Steve Matthews was authorized to tell the highway commission the city will assume up to $152,000 of that cost if the state will pay the remainder.

To Present Argument

Matthews said he will argue that the project should be financed in large part by the state for two chief reasons: First, the thoroughfare is part of the second highway system: and, second, the serious drainage problem there is aggravated considerably by the flow of water from the nearby Texas Tech campus, a state school.

Planning to accompany the city manager to Austin are Preston E. Smith, state representative; L. E. Davis, representing the chamber of commerce, and two members of the city commission — probably Mayor W. H. Rodgers and Commissioner E. K. Hufstedler.

The estimate of the city's present wealth at $16,176,122, as com-

FIRE BROUGHT UNDER CONTROL

Six Hurt In Blast At Phillips Plant

(By The Associated Press)

BORGER, Sept. 22—Officials of Phillips Petroleum company waited for a fire to burn itself out in a gasoline plant today before checking damage from a terrific explosion which injured six men.

The blast, which shook the area, occurred late yesterday afternoon. It was followed by fire in two catalytic units and two propane gas tanks.

The fire was brought under control by nightfall but no one will enter the plant until fire is out in the gas pipes.

None of the injured was in a serious condition. Those hurt were Dial King, Homer Carroll, Barney Fritch, J. W. Harris, W. N. Reeves and Guthrie O'Neal, plant employes. The latter two were treated at Pantex hospital and released. The others remained.

F. L. Rice, public relations manager at Phillips headquarters in Bartlesville, Okla., said the fire started in an aviation alkylate plant and was caused by a ruptured gasoline pipe.

The plant is at Phillips near here. The big Phillips refinery is less than a half-mile away.

Valves Shut Off

The fire could not be fought because of the heat. All the valves that could be reached were shut off to block any new fuel being added.

Two employes of the plant reported there were a couple of explosions. The concussion knocked people to the ground some distance away. Clouds of smoke shot up several hundred feet.

The entire area was evacuated and Borger sent its four fire trucks to the scene.

One man said the first blast was so heavy it sounded "like an atomic bomb."

Heart Attack Fatal To Movie Director

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22. (AP)—Sam Wood, 66, one of the movie's best-known directors, died today of a heart attack.

His death was the third among movie notables in less than a week. Comedian Frank Morgan and actor Richard Dix were the others. Wood directed Morgan recently in "The Stratton Story."

Wood, a native of Philadelphia, spanned the era from silent pictures into sound. In the old days, he megaphoned such notables as the late Wallace Reid, Jackie Coogan and Gloria Swanson. In recent years, probably his most notable achievement was directing "For Whom the Bell Tolls."

John Lewis Nabbed On Traffic Charge

HARRISONBURG, Va., Sept. 22. (AP)—The argument miner boss John L. Lewis faces in Rockingham county trial justice court next month has nothing to do with coal.

Lewis was driving alone near here yesterday, enroute to conferences with northern and western coal operators at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., when he was nabbed by police.

He was charged with speeding well above the legal 50 mile per hour limit and with passing another car in an illegal zone.

Lewis signed a summons to appear in trial justice court at 2 p. m. on October 4. But that didn't mean he necessarily would have to appear in person. With the consent of the court he may be represented by counsil.

VA Error May Hit Veterans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. (U.P.)—Veterans administration officials said today that several thousand ex-GI students may have to pay part of their tuition this fall because VA was too late in notifying them that Sept. 12 was the deadline on applications for new courses.

They also said the students may lose part of their subsistence pay, ranging from $75 to $120 a month, unless VA figures out a way to reimburse them.

VA Admits Mistake

These officials frankly admitted that the first intimation that Sept. 12 was the final day for seeking certificates of eligibility was made in a press statement issued Sept. 15, three days too late. This ruling was amplified in another statement issued yesterday.

The veterans affected are those who have completed courses under the GI bill of rights, or who have quit previous courses, and now seek new certificates permitting them to take new courses this fall at government expense.

Responsibility Recognized

"It is hard to estimate how many students will be thus adversely affected," a spokesman said, "but it is estimated there will be only several thousand out of the 750,000 who are returning to school this fall under the GI bill."

The spokesman said that VA recognized its responsibility for not having publicized the deadline before it was reached.

Cold Front In Area Is Weak

There was practically no change in South Plains temperatures after an extremely mild but much-heralded cold front finally arrived over the area at 3:30 o'clock this morning.

Skies were clear and sunny this morning although the Weather bureau station here saw possibility of some cloudiness during the afternoon.

Minimum Is 60

Victor H. Halliburton, observer at the Weather station at Municipal airport, said this morning's minimum was 60 degrees about 7:30 o'clock. A maximum of 80 degrees is expected this afternoon.

A few scattered showers fell Wednesday north and east of Lubbock, but the heaviest fall reported was an isolated .22 on the west side of Ralls. Only sprinkles fell on the east side of town.

Crosbyton had a light shower between 6 and 7 p. m., the same time as the Ralls rain, while Lorenzo reported a bare sprinkle.

Showers were reported reaching from Ralls to a point about two miles east of Lorenzo. At Lockney, a light shower fell around 3 p. m.

The showers missed Abernathy and Hale Center although rain was reported 20 to 25 miles north of Lubbock.

The latest weather front was so mild that South Plains residents were unaware when it passed.

The need for continued sunshine was explained by C. E.

Gulf Tropical Storm Slows

Squalls Still Threat; Boats Get Warning

Winds Reduced In Speed; Disturbance Heads Northward

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Sept. 22.—Storm warnings were reduced today to an 80 mile area as the season's first tropical storm threat to the Texas gulf coast appeared to be losing intensity.

The U. S. weather bureau ordered that storm warnings be brought down from Port O'Connor to Brownsville and that previous hurricane warnings from Port O'Conner to Freeport be changed to northeast storm warnings.

Squalls Possible

"The disturbance has not increased and strongest winds reported this morning were only about 35 miles per hour," the 10 a .m. advisory reported.

Winds of 75 miles per hour are considered of hurricane strength. Winds of 60 miles per hour had been reported yesterday.

The advisory warned, however, there may be squalls up to 50 miles per hours, and that the disturbance still may increase in intensity.

Latest location of the storm area was placed 160 miles southeast of Galveston near latitude 27, longitude 94.

Its course was said to be turning northward. Its predicted movement was estimated at from five to eight miles an hour the next 12 hours.

Small Craft Warned

Reconnaissance planes today reported the storm area has no well defined center.

Small craft on the Louisiana and Texas coasts were warned to remain in port. Tides were predicted to be considerably above normal along the Louisiana coast.

Storm warnings continued to be displayed from Port O'Connor to Lake Charles, La.

At 4 a. m. (CST) it was centered about 170 miles south of Galves-

Fair Boosters Take New Mexico Trip

A delegation of Lubbock residents, including 34 members of the Sheriff's posse, this morning visited Levelland, Whiteface, Morton, Plains, Tatum and Lovington before stopping for lunch on the fourth and final booster trip in behalf of the 32nd annual Panhandle-South Plains fair.

From Lovington, the fair boosters were scheduled to journey on to Hobbs for an hour and 40 minute visit before starting back to Lubbock. W. D. Rogers and Vernon Peters, trip co-chairmen, predicted the group will arrive back in Lubbock by 7:30 p. m.

The usual stock of balloons, rulers, free children's day tickets and literature were taken in the chartered busses to be distributed along the way as publicity for the fair to be held here next week.

Hopes For Early End To Coal Strike Fade As Firms "Stall"

(By The United Press)

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. V., Sept. 22—Chances for an early settlement of the coal strike faded today even though southern mine owners hinted they were getting ready to make up the back payments to the United Mine Workers welfare fund.

It was the refusal of some southern operators to pay up that touched off the walkout of 480,000 coal diggers last Monday.

Northern and western coal operators meeting here with John L. Lewis sparred for time, watching developments in the steel dispute. Union sources said the mine owners virtually announced they would do no business until there was more clarification of the steel controversy.

Disputes Interrelated

The steel industry is opposing the type of pension proposed by a presidential fact-finding board financed by employers alone. The future of Lewis' pension system built on employer royalties currently at 20 cents a ton may rest on the ultimate settlement in steel.

Neither Lewis nor the operators would discuss details of their negotiations here yesterday beyond the union declaration that the operators were trying to delay the talks.

The Lewis camp gave some signs that the mine leader would use that as the basis for a blast at the operators before a week end recess.

A prominent West Virginia operator beat the UMW leader to the punch. President D. W. Martin of Kanawha Coal Operators association declared that Lewis, "seemingly afraid of public sentiment," had dodged responsibility for calling the strike.

Royalties Major Issue

Martin contended the miners were financially unprepared for the walkout. He predicted that "before the first week of the strike ends, garnishments of earned wages by the miners will be floating through the mining districts thicker than flying saucers."

At Bluefield, W. Va., where Southern Coal producers association members are negotiating with a union team, the issue of paying

Mother Cries Out Against Mercy For The Man Whose Truck Killed Her Son

ATLANTA, Sept. 22 (AP)—A mother cried out in court against mercy for a man whose truck struck and killed her small son in front of her home last Christmas eve.

"Wasn't it enough to lose my child?" Mrs. Marion A. Cobb tearfully asked Judge Virlyn Moore in superior court yesterday. "Must this man go free to kill again?"

The jury recommended mercy in convicting W. J. Thompson of involuntary manslaughter in the death of five-year-old Michael Cobb.

Three policemen testified Thompson was drunk at the time of the accident.

Judge Moore deferred sentence.

The jury's verdict allows a maximum sentence of 18 months imprisonment and a $1,000 fine.

KANSAS OFFICIAL IS CHARGED

Physician Is Held In Narcotics Case

(By The Associated Press)

JUNCTION CITY, Kas., Sept. 22.—A Kansas board of health member was accused today of supplying narcotics smuggled into the Colorado state penitentiary.

The board of health member is Dr. Hugh A. Hope. Federal agents arrested him yesterday at his drug store in Hunter, Kas.

The physician has been active in Kansas Republican circles for many years. He was a delegate to the GOP national convention last year and was featured on a radio network as a typical American delegate.

Sold To Agents

Hope was charged specifically with selling narcotics to two agents posing as underworld men.

Last week Roy Best, Colorado prison warden, reported a ring supplying convicts with narcotics, money and benzedrine had been broken up. Two prisoners were placed in solitary confinement and a guard was charged with smuggling drugs into the penitentiary.

Terry A. Talent, supervisor of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics office at Denver, said Hope admitted orally he sold the drugs to the two undercover agents.

T. J. Walker, agents in charge of the Kansas City narcotics office, said the arrest "cleans up a very important source of narcotics going to the underworld."

Hope waived preliminary hearing at his arraignment here yesterday and was bound over to the next federal grand jury.

Plea For Probation Lost By Prisoner

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Sept. 22 (AP) — Sandra Peterson's husband has lost a plea for probation of his own jail sentence so he could "be at her side."

Sandra, who claims she is 17, faces a murder charge in Brady, Texas.

Her husband, Mauritz Peterson, is serving a six-month sentence for a hit-run auto accident. He is scheduled to be released Oct. 31.

There was nothing Peterson could do for Sandra if he did go to her, county probation authorities ruled yesterday, denying his plea.

She is charged with the murder of Texas real estate man Lewis Patterson after he picked her up in his car outside Brady.

Burglars Hit Used Car Lots

Offices of two used car lots here were burglarized in the night by persons who stole a car, two typewriters and numerous ignition keys, the police and the sheriff's office were informed.

Places burglarized were McLaughlin Motor company, at 2405 Texas Ave., and Dale Robbins used car lot at 2320 Texas Ave.

From the McLaughlin place were taken a 1949 maroon Mercury club coupe, license SH 1271, keys to all the other cars on the lot, and from the office, a portable typewriter.

From the Robbins office was taken a portable typewriter that later was found in a used car on the lot.

Burglars Scared Off

Clyde Loven who lives one block east of the Tahoka highway on Forty-third, told sheriff's officers late last night that burglars attempting to enter his house through a side window had been frightened off, before they could gain entry.

Loven said his wife and daughter heard noise made by the prowlers and left the house for help. The would-be burglars apparently ran off after the two women left the house.

Loven said several other residents of the area had been bothered by prowlers in recent weeks.

Renewed Talks Over Contract Sought Friday

Two Plants Closed By Wildcat Strikes, 2,400 Workers Idle

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—The CIO United Steelworkers today put off for another week their nationwide strike set for Saturday midnight and asked the giant United States Steel corporation to resume contract talks tomorrow morning.

The union's policy committee joined industry in agreeing to accept President Truman's request

COMPANY AGREEABLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (U.P.)—U. S. Steel Corp. announced today it will meet with the United Steelworkers (CIO) in Pittsburgh tomorrow for collective bargaining.

for (1) extension of the strike truce until 12:01 a. m., Saturday, October 1 and (2) quick resumption of bargaining.

Within an hour, the steelworkers proposed to renew contract talks with "Big Steel" at 9:30 a. m., Eastern Standard time, tomorrow in Pittsburgh. No immediate answer was available.

Murray had refused to go back to the conference table until industry accepted the peace formula of Mr. Truman's fact finders.

Two Plants Closed

The action came as wildcat walkouts shut down two Pittsburgh steel plants and idled 2,400 workers. Pickets carried signs demanding "strike—not more extension," and "strike—free pensions."

Murray and the industry deadlocked on acceptance of a presidential board's peace recommendations that the steelworkers get company financed insurance and pensions. The union accepted. Industry objected to footing the bill and refused to be bound by the report without bargaining. They've been feuding since.

Mr. Truman intervened to stave off the week-end strike. In addition to truce extension, he called for direct bargaining and early settlement.

Murray announced the union

Jury Suspends 5-Year Term

A 99th district court jury, in a verdict reported a few minutes before noon to Judge G. V. Pardue, found Elias Garcia, 22, guilty of murder with malice in the Aug. 8 shotgun slaying of Antonio Urtado, jr., but recommended suspension of sentence.

Charles Adams, jr., was foreman.

The jury deliberated approximately 25 minutes before returning its verdict, court officials said.

Garcia Called "Gangster"

Judge Pardue's jury charge was read this morning. Arguments that followed centered on the issue of whether Garcia was justified in shooting Urtado in protection of his life and property. The defendant said he armed himself and approached Urtado, Urtado's brother Alfonso and another Latin American to ask questions after he had been informed by a relative that someone was about to effect entry of a house he had in the Mexican quarters and remove from it a girl who lived there.

The state characterized Garcia as a "gangster," recited how he had been in trouble with the law before, including a charge of assault with intent to rape the girl who lived in his hoouse, and sought to convince the jury the defendant and the girl were common law partners at the time of the shooting.

The firm of Berry and Ball represented the defendant. District

Fainting Is Blamed For Fatal Accident

Nurse Dies Of Burns Despite Blind Woman's Aid Attempts

(By The Associated Press)

FORT SMITH, Ark., Sept. 22.—A blind woman grappled with blazing clothes and intense pain in a frantic attempt to save the life of a nurse here yesterday.

But Miss Mary Yowell's effort failed.

The nurse, Mrs. Hazel Hardway, 41, died of third degree burns several hours after she collapsed and fell across a lighted heating stove.

The blind woman suffered burns on her hands in an attempt to snuff a flaming house coat worn by Mrs. Hardway. Miss Yowell was also burned when she dragged the nurse from her house to the front yard.

Police Lt. Oscar Erke gave this account:

Mrs. Hardway was on duty in the home of Mrs. O. R. Geren, a bedridden patient. The nurse apparently fainted and fell across the stove.

Mrs. Geren cried for help. Miss Yowell, who lives in an upstairs apartment, responded. The 54-year-old blind woman groped her way to the stove and dragged the nurse outdoors.

The nurse died in a Fort Smith hospital about noon.

GOVERNMENT RECOGNITION PROBLEM

Communist Regime In China Moves U. S. Decision Closer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP) — The formation of a communist government in China brought a bit closer today the time when the United States must decide whether to recognize such a regime.

At the moment, however, American officials say that the issue of recognition is not raised by the announcement of the new government made in Peiping yesterday by communist leader Mao Tze-tung.

What is expected is that when the communists have completed their government's organization they will make a bid to establish formal diplomatic relations and Russia or one of its satellite countries will be the first to accept and agree to open embassies at the communist capital.

To Consult Congress

The recognition issue is understood to have been discussed here last week by Secretary of State Acheson, British Foreign Minister Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schuman during their review of the whole Far Eastern situation.

They agreed then that they would discuss the possibility of taking parallel actions when the Chinese communists assert their claims to be recognized. They agreed further not to act hastily in the matter.

Acheson is thus committed to consult with the other western powers before making any decision.

Basic American policy on recognition makes three requirements of a government seeking formal relations with the United States. It must be a regular operating government, must have effective control of its territory and must agree to assume its country's international obligations.

Obligations Problem

Usually the point which arouses most controversy in negotiations over recognition is that regarding obligations. Those include treaty commitments, outstanding debts, trade rights and the like which former governments have agreed to and which the new government is always asked to assume.

Among the best informed diplomats here the belief is that unless the communists raise extraordinary obstacles—as they might do, for example, by mistreatment of foreigners or by denying China's past obligations—the western powers eventually will recognize the Red redime. It is not believed they will be in any hurry to do so and will make clear that whatever action they take is based on what they conceive to be political necessity and carries no approval of communist rule over China.

Ex-Head Of English Conservatives Dies

HATFIELD, England, Sept. 22 (AP)—Lord Queenborough, former British Conservative party leader and one-time business executive and financier in the United States, died today at his home here. He was 88.

Queenborough's name was Almeric Hugh Padget. He was made a baron in 1918.

His first wife, Pauline, who died in 1916, was a daughter of the late William C. Whitney, one time U. S. Secretary of the Navy. His second wife, Edith, who died in 1933, was a daughter of the late William Starr Miller of New York.

Queensborough farmed and ranched for many years in the northwest, later lived in New York City. He was president of the Chihuahua and Pacific railroad and held directorships in several large U. S. commercial enterprises.

In 1928-29 he was president of Britain's National Union of Conservative and Unionist associations, which is in effect the Conservative party.

Minstrel Rehearsal Scheduled Tonight

Rehearsals will get in full swing tonight at the Baldridge bakery auditorium for the annual Lions' club Minstrel program to be staged Nov. 7, 8 and 9 in the Lubbock high school auditorium.

Approximately 75 people appeared for castings in the initial practice session Monday night. Rehearsals will be held each Monday and Thursday night until the play is performed.

To include a cast of 100 persons, this year's minstrel will be the "bestest" yet, according to publicity chairman Frank Junell.

Oil Tycoon Involved In Teapot Dome Scandal Returns To U.S.

By FRANK PITMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

DENVER, Sept. 22. — This mountain city's fabulous "Child of the Gods"—80-year-old Henry M. Blackmer—is expected home Sunday. After 25 years of luxurious self-imposed exile in Europe, he returns to face six federal charges of income tax evasion.

The multi-millionaire oil tycoon planed into Boston yesterday on a trans-Atlantic airliner. After clearing customs, he was whisked away in an automobile. Denver friends said he would fly to Chicago and board a train for Denver, arriving Sunday. He is accompanied by his second wife, Eide Norena, Norwegian soprano.

His sudden return kindled the memories of the Harding administration's Teapot Dome scandal. Two of Blackmer's oil associates, Edward L. Doheny and Harry Sinclair, were involved.

Blackmer slipped away to Europe in 1924 rather than testify at a congression inquiry into the Continental Trading company. He was a director. It was disclosed in a Cheyenne, Wyo., court that the company made $2,000,000 through a paper transaction by purchasing oil from one company and selling it to another. The profits were used to purchase liberty bonds. Government detectives said some of the bonds were traced to Albert Fall, secretary of the interior in the Harding administration.

Fall was convicted of accepting a bribe of $100,000 from Doheny in the leasing of the Elk Hills naval oil reserve, part of the Teapot Dome field. He was sentenced Nov. 1, 1929 to a year in prison and fined $100,000.

Doheny Acquitted

In the same court and before the same judge, Doheny was acquitted of charges that he gave Fall the bribe. Doheny died in 1935.

Fall was released in September, 1932, after serving nine months in Santa Fe prison. He left there in an ambulance, a sick man. He died in 1944 at the age of 83.

Sinclair, who had been accused of passing along more than $200,000 in liberty bonds to Fall in exchange for a lease on government oil fields, was exonerated. Later, however, he served seven months in Washington district jail for contempt of the Senate in refusing to answer questions at a hearing in 1929.

Before his exile, Blacbmer became known as the "Child of the Gods" for his incredible financial success. A former business associate in Denver once said: "Blackmer could make a million dollars on a desert island."

Man Without Country

In 1927 he became a "man without a country." The U. S. government revoked his passport after several futile attempts to extradite Blackmer from France. That restricted his travels to France. But during World War II he managed to reach Geneva, Switzerland where he lived on an estate. He returned to Paris in 1947.

Denver knew Blackmer as a lavish spender, a financial wizard and an unobtrusive philanthropist. Born in Worcester, Mass., he followed his father in the study of law and moved to Colorado Springs in 1891, there he became district attorney.

But the role of small town lawyer didn't appeal to him. He moved to Denver where his political and financial climb was rapid. His first wife was Lucy Carter, daughter of a widely known patent medicine manufacturer.

By 1900 he had amassed a fortune in mining and railroad ventures. He expanded his operations to petroleum and became vice president of the Midwest Oil Co., which was developing the Salt Creek oil field in Wyoming. It is not far from Teapot Dome.

Taxes Mirrors Wealth

Through shrewd operations, he succeeded in affiliating his firm with the Standard Oil Company or Indiana. The company expanded rapidly and he was its president until he fled to France.

Blackmer's tax troubles mirror his vast wealth. In 1932, while in exile, he paid the treasury department $3,670,784 in income taxes allegedly unreported. That action settled a civil suit for back taxes in the years 1920 through 1923. Also in 1932, he paid $60,000 fines on two contempt of court charges for refusing to answer subpoenas.

Still on file against him are criminal charges of perjury and income tax evasion returned by a federal grand jury in Denver in 1928. He is expected to appear in federal court next Monday or Tuesday to enter a plea.

Despite the continental splendor of his exile, friends say Blackmer has yearned to return to Denver. During his overseas sojourn, his son, Myron, and daughter, Mrs. Erle Kistler, both of Denver, visited him frequently.

They took along movies that showed the growth of the city he calls home and the Blackmer properties amassed by his fortune. That heightened his desire to return.

His attorneys have been negotiating several months with the Justice department to arrange his return. After he had agreed to plead to the income tax charges, a passport was granted.

To a Boston immigration inspector yesterday Blacbmer was "just another passenger." His credentials were in order.

New Mexico Solons Denied Salary Hike

SANTA FE, Sept. 22 (INS) — There's no doubt about the fact that New Mexico's voters think their legislators salaries are high enough.

As results of yesterday's special election were tabulated today, it became overwhelmingly apparent that the voters had vetoed proposed amendment number 9, to increase the legislators' pay.

Also vetoed, but only by a slim margin, was amendment number 2, which authorized the legislature to raise salaries of district judges.

Still in the undecided stage late this afternoon was the fate of number 8, which proposed to create a permanent trust fund out of the state's severance tax.

Amendment number 1 also was defeated, but largely because it required an almost unobtainable majority of three-fourths in the state and two-thirds in each county.

Amendments which late tabulations appeared to make certain of being approved included those which: Increased the state highway commission membership to five; authorized the legislature to extend the jurisdiction of probate courts; extended veterans' tax exemption to community property; authorized the enabling act to permit city-county government consolidations; guaranteed tenure to regents of state educational institutions; and reapportioned the legislature.

Total vote in the state was expected to reach about 16,000.

Actor Leaves Estate To Wife And Sister

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22. (AP)—Comedian Frank Morgan's will leave 90 per cent of his estate, valued at nearly $1,000,000, in trust to his widow, Alma.

He bequeathed 10 per cent to his sister, Mrs. Zoyla W. Cook, Santa Barbara, Calif. Morgan died last Sunday at the age of 59.

The will provided no specific amount for the actor's son, George, 33, but specified that trustees could give the son up to 25 per cent of the trust estate to enable him to start a business.

MAMA'S SMART NEW DRESS!...by George'

Feeding The Family kept Mama broke!—till she learned to save $4 to $10 a month, serving delicious "meaty" meals with Skinner's macaroni, spaghetti, and pure egg noodles instead of costly meat dishes. Of course, she'd tried macaroni meals before—but the family didn't go for them!

"Then I tried Skinner's," says Mama. "It's the deluxe macaroni—so good that thousands love it, just boiled with salt and butter. Now my family asks for two Skinner one-dish dinners a week—and I save enough on groceries so now I can get a nice new dress now and then."

More Nice Things For You. If food bills keep you broke, try giving your family Skinner's. Don't ruin your good recipes with cheap macaroni or spaghetti, when Skinner's can turn them into family favorites! Southern women know: Skinner's macaroni is the best macaroni money can buy!

Mary Haworth's Mail

Pooling Efforts To Meet Rent, Pay Bills, Couple Debates Over Buying Fur Coat

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Recently we were evicted from our long-time apartment, due to rebuilding operations, and have been forced to lease another much more expensive place.

Also I am just beginning to walk again, with the aid of a steel brace, after three years' invalidism caused by a traffic accident; and as a result of this we've had heavy medical costs and have borrowed several thousand dollars.

I plan to start back to work again this month to help defray expenses until we are of debt, and we will be on a rigid budget keyed to joint earnings for several years. My husband, a very fine man, has been employed by the same firm for 20 years, and we have two lovely daughters, 15 and 16.

FATHER IS OPPOSED: MOTHER'S SENTIMENTAL

We've had a comfortable living, although with few luxuries, and our elder daughter Doris has been wanting an inexpensive fur coat to wear to high school (which I had tentatively promised before I got hurt), and I have been pressing her father about it. But he seems to think it would be a foolish expense and very bad taste while we are in debt, and certain friends of ours agree with him.

Both girls do baby-sitting to earn a portion of their spending money; but my husband and friends contend that even if Doris could earn enough to buy the coat herself, it still would be a vulgar display in the circumstances, inviting criticism of her character. As for me, I feel that Doris has had to sacrifice so much pleasure during my long invalidism that the coat would help to make up for what she has missed. But should I let my heart or mind decide the matter?

Also, would it be fair to ask my daughters to help me with the household chores when I start back to work? And if so, should I pay them some small amount for this? My family and I are agreed that your kind suggestions will be the controlling factor in our plans. (Signed) T. C.

NEGATIVE VOTE SEEMS ADVISABLE

DEAR T. C.: About the fur coat, here is my view: If the purchase of such a garment while the family is in debt would add a single straw of chagrin or financial worry to the heavy pressures now concentrated on your husband, then I think it should be Doris' pleasure, and yours as well, to cheerfully abandon the idea.

I reaize, of course, how intensely Doris feels about the importance to her life (supposedly), of getting that rabbit or coonskin wrap this year; but the truth is, her "must-have" feeling is mostly sparked by her hope of attaining it.

If she knew positively that she didn't stand a chance, that her dad and you had immovably (though regretfully) decided "No" for good and sufficient financial reasons, then the anguish of readjustment would be shortlived. She'd soon forget the tantalizing vision of herself encased in fur, and her mind would get busy planning other ways of making a hit on contemporaries.

GOOD INSURANCE TO PAMPER PAPA

THE average American high school girl is tenacious and insatiable in her wardrobe "wants" if she has access to a sympathetic source of supply; and sensible parents usually learn, somewhere along the line, that a concise turndown, amiably delivered, is a better form of refusal, when wishes are inappropriate, than pleading with the youngster to "understand the parents' "situation." It leaves the two generations standing in right relation to each other.

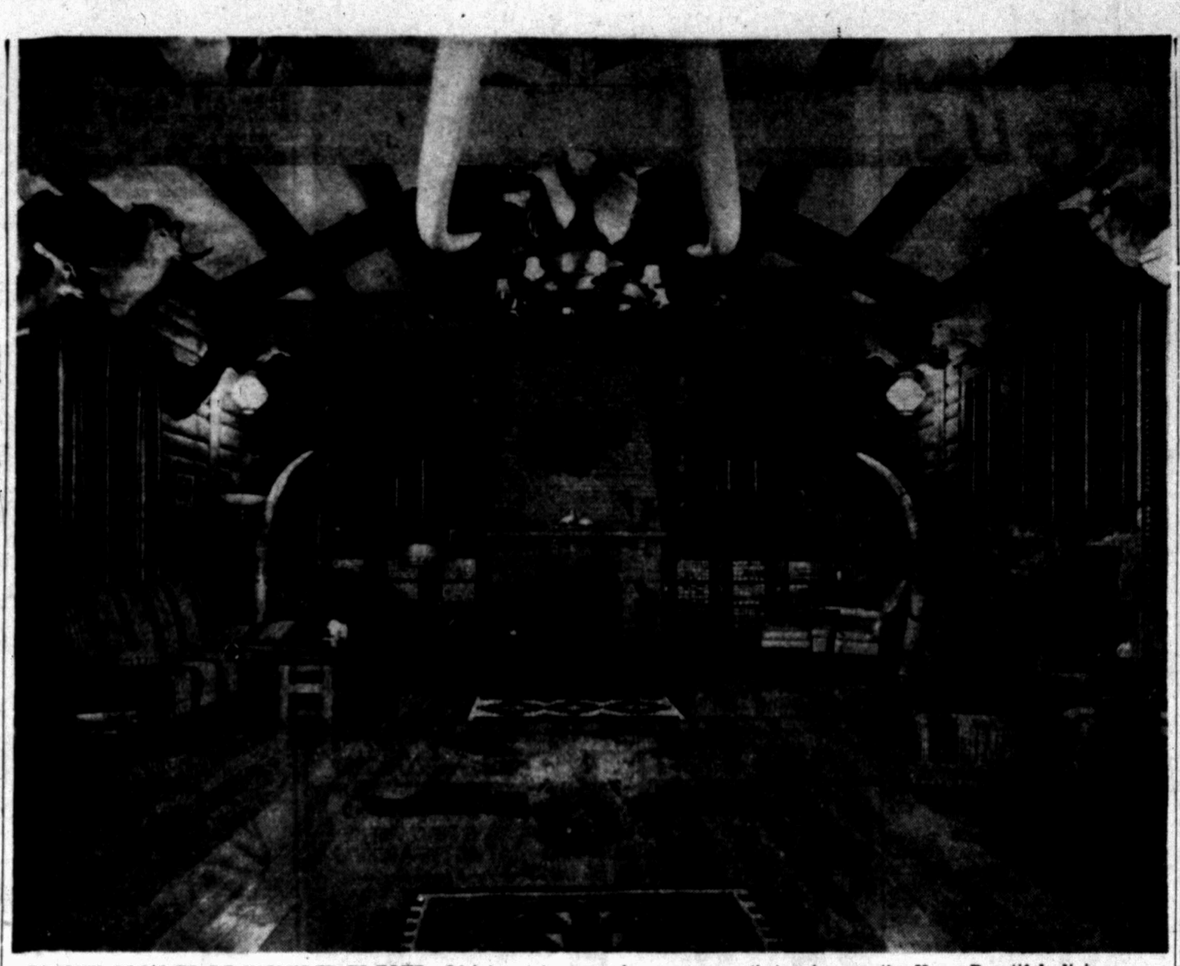

Incidentally, with your two daughters so nearly of an age, why do you feel that Doris especially is entitled to "compensation" for pleasure denied during your invalidism? Didn't the girls fare equally on that score? And what about your fine husband? In my opinion, he's the person most entitled to sentimental cherishing consideration in this picture, at this time.

If the family is facing hard lines for some years ahead, Doris should rise to the dignity of plain garb, in my opinion, and generally develop the character the situation calls for.

Also I think both girls should help substantially with household chores as a matter of cooperative duty, with no pay given and none expected for such services, taking into account the special circumstances.—(Signed) M. H.

Texas Student Hurt In Mountain Mishap

PASADENA, Calif., Sept. 22. (AP)—George Krausi, 21, of Pomona, Calif., was injured fatally and Aaron Seriff, 25, of Austin, Tex., suffered possible fracture of the pelvis and shoulder and internal injuries when their jeep overturned in the Sierra Navada mountains yesterday.

The two were students of California Institute of Technology. They were returning from a field trip involving cosmic ray research.

They were flown to Burbank by Navy plane but Krausi was dead upon arrival.

Rites Slated Today For Snyder Child

HANDLEY, Sept. 22 (Special)—Funeral services were to be conducted here this afternoon for Jimmie Dean Williams, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Williams of Snyder, who was injured fatally Tuesday when he was shocked after he had grabbed a radio aerial wire of a neighbors trailer house.

Burial was to take place in Rose Hill burial park here.

Other survivors are a sister, Shirley, 7, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. George Lane of Fort Worth.

Federal Jury Is Dismissed

A petit jury panel was dismissed for the term by Federal Judge Joseph B. Dooley in U. S. District court today after two weeks of hearing of civil cases.

Judge Dooley will hear non-jury cases the remainder of the September term.

In the final jury case, a directed verdict in favor of the government was returned in the suit of Mrs. Stella Graham et al versus the United States of America, involving a claim on national service life insurance.

Settlements Filed

Two settlements of compensation cases were filed today. They were: H. W. Drinkard versus American Employers Insurance company, $5,000, for injuries received on an oil rig in Hale county; and W. E. Eggleston versus Business Men's Assurance company, $3,125.

A jury Wednesday afternoon returned a verdict in favor of the government against Raymond Grindstaff in a Commodity Credit corporation suit involving 218 bales of cotton, but reported a hung jury in a decision on the government's case against W. L. Bailey and Jack Henry, Lubbock cotton men, involving a portion of the same cotton.

An instructed verdict was also returned for the government against J. P. Williams, involving 24 bales of cotton. The jury also reported itself hung in a cross action brought by Williams against Bailey and Henry.

The government brought the suit, alleging in its petition that the cotton involved, had been removed from Grindstaff's Morton cotton warehouses prior to two fires which destroyed two warehouses on April 6 and 8, 1941.

Presentation of testimony in the suit occupied Monday and Tuesday and the case went to the jury Wednesday noon after a morning of arguments. The jury reported shortly before 6 p. m. Wednesday.

U. S. Architect Said Missing

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—An American architect has been missing mysteriously in Poland for more than a month. The State department twice has asked Poland to explain.

This was disclosed last night by a State department official. He identified the missing man as Herman H. Field, 38, director of building plans for Western Reserve university, Cleveland.

The State department gave this account of the case:

Was Not Aboard

Field went to the Warsaw airport on Aug. 20, planning to fly to Prague. Friends saw him to the airfield. But when the plane reached Prague he was not aboard.

Czech officials said his name originally was on the filght manifest but had been stricken off. Crew members said he was not on the plane.

The State department asked the Polish foreign office to make an investigation on Sept. 13. Three days later Polish authorities informed the American embassy they were doing so and would make a report as soon as possible.

A second request for information went to Warsaw Sept. 17.

Michael F. McDermott, State department press officer, said the U. S. embassy asked whether Field had been detained by customs officials, security police or any other representatives of the Polish government, and whether that government knew his present whereabouts.

School Group Gives Program At Church

The Senior High school group of Asbury Methodist church entertained with a program for members of the church Wednesday night.

A 30-minute devotional was given in the church auditorium by the pastor, Dr. C. A. Bickley, after which approximately 125 persons attending went to Fellowship hall. A sing-song was led by Senior High school group members. A debate, "Resolved That Young People Were Better Twenty Years Ago Than They Are Today," was conducted. June Franklin and Mickie Willis of the Senior High group took the affirmative and two adults, King Sides and Dale Elms, debated the negative.

The Senior High school group challenged men of the church to a volleyball game, After that was played, refreshments were served.

She moved to Green Forest with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Grafton, in 1942.

The body will be sent to Lubbock and burial will be held at Wolfforth Sunday or Monday.

$1 Million Fire Guts Elevator At Denver

DENVER, Sept. 22 (AP)—Fire early today gutted the Crescent flour mill and elevator in north Denver, causing damage expected to run a million dollars or more.

Lawson Harris, miller in charge of the night crew of ten men, said approximately 400,000 bushels of recently harvested wheat were stored in the elevator with another 30,000 in the mill, ready for grinding. At current prices, this grain would be worth more than $800,000.

Only two per cent of the Indians living in America have incomes exceeding $500 a year.

Guests were Shirley Hamilton, Peggy Owen, Mary Chrone, Loraine Hartman, Peggy Watkins and Mary Hartman.

Friendship Club Has Party In Afternoon

Mrs. Vernon Lemons, Route 1, was hostess to the 1948 Friendship club when it met Wednesday at 2 p. m., with Mrs. Oma Coats as co-hostess. Mrs. M. M. Stiles played accordion solos.

Others attending were Mesdames Ken Bozeman, Ben Forbesi, George Phenix, E. E. Coffee, Roy A. Blevins, Guy B. Hilton, J. L. Edwards, Bedford Shearer, J. W. Lemons and R. J. Fisher.

Next meeting will be on Oct. 12, in the home of Mrs. J. L. Edwards with an all-day quilting and covered dish luncheon meeting beginning at 9 a. m. Two quilts will be quilted for Girls' Ranch.

Texas Student Hurt In Mountain Mishap

PASADENA, Calif., Sept. 22. (AP) —George Krausi, 21, of Pomona, Calif., was injured fatally and Aaron Seriff, 25, of Austin, Tex., suffered possible fracture of the pelvis and shoulder and internal injuries when their jeep overturned in the Sierra Navada mountains yesterday.

The two were students of California Institute of Technology. They were returning from a field trip involving cosmic ray research.

They were flown to Burbank by Navy plane but Krausi was dead upon arrival.

Rites Slated Today For Snyder Child

HANDLEY, Sept. 22 (Special)—Funeral services were to be conducted here this afternoon for Jimmie Dean Williams, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Williams of Snyder, who was injured fatally Tuesday when he was shocked after he had grabbed a radio aerial wire of a neighbors trailer house.

Burial was to take place in Rose Hill burial park here.

Other survivors are a sister, Shirley, 7, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. George Lane of Fort Worth.

Federal Jury Is Dismissed

A petit jury panel was dismissed for the term by Federal Judge Joseph B. Dooley in U. S. District court today after two weeks of hearing of civil cases.

Judge Dooley will hear non-jury cases the remainder of the September term.

In the final jury case, a directed verdict in favor of the government was returned in the suit of Mrs. Stella Graham et al versus the United States of America, involving a claim on national service life insurance.

Settlements Filed

Two settlements of compensation cases were filed today. They were: H. W. Drinkard versus American Employers Insurance company, $5,000, for injuries received on an oil rig in Hale county; and W. E. Eggleston versus Business Men's Assurance company, $3,125.

A jury Wednesday afternoon returned a verdict in favor of the government against Raymond Grindstaff in a Commodity Credit corporation suit involving 218 bales of cotton, but reported a hung jury in a decision on the government's case against W. L. Bailey and Jack Henry, Lubbock cotton men, involving a portion of the same cotton.

An instructed verdict was also returned for the government against J. P. Williams, involving 24 bales of cotton. The jury also reported itself hung in a cross action brought by Williams against Bailey and Henry.

The government brought the suit, alleging in its petition that the cotton involved, had been removed from Grindstaff's Morton cotton warehouses prior to two fires which destroyed two warehouses on April 6 and 8, 1941.

Presentation of testimony in the suit occupied Monday and Tuesday and the case went to the jury Wednesday noon after a morning of arguments. The jury reported shortly before 6 p. m. Wednesday.

Florida Expedition Seeks Key To Mystery "Ghost Village"

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Sept. 22 (AP)—A small expedition is pushing through the grassy wastes of the Florida Everglades in search of the key that will unlock the mystery of an abandoned village about 30 miles west of here.

The little safari—traveling in two lumbering swamp buggies—is made up of L. P. Harvey, game warden; William Gill of Davie; Ed Peterson of the state game and fish commission; and three newsmen.

Village Is Visited

The group hoped to learn the fate of a rotting "ghost town" located several days ago by a private pilot, Hully Stirling.

Stirling, Gill and Harvey reported they had visited the village and found the bones of humans and animals strewn through the rotting cypress buildings. They displayed pots and brass kettles which they said were brought from the mystery town.

Several theories have been advanced as to the fate of the settlement, none of which has been substantiated.

One was that the village was founded by Confederate soldiers who fled with a quantity of gold bullion at the close of the war between the states.

Another was that the settlement once was an Army outpost, and all of its occupants were massacred by Seminole Indians.

Still another was that a great tropical hurricane claimed the lives of the entire community, before the storms were recorded.

An epidemic also could have wiped out the population.

The expedition left yesterday in the specially made vehicles for swamp travel. It will take at least two days to penetrate the thick tangle of vines, sawgrass and underbrush.

Two Youths Held In Policeman's Slaying Reveal Story Of Pact Sworn On Crucifix

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (INS) — The dramatic story of a pact made on a crucifix by the two teen aged slayers of Policeman David F. Keating, 34, was unfolded today at the inquest into his death.

Authorities testified that the boys, Sidney Johnson, 17, and Roosevelt Baccus, 15, agreed in their pact that Baccus would take the blame for pulling the trigger because they believed his youth would spare him the death penalty.

Acting Police Capt. Thomas Murphy said the boys admitted to police that when Keating accosted them to ask what was in a package they carried, Johnson whipped out a .32 caliber automatic and fired once.

Hid Under Porch

He added that when the policeman, a father of four children, failed to fall, Johnson admitted firing eight more bullets into his body.

Murphy said the boys fled then and hid under a porch. It was there that Johnson and Baccus swore on a cross Johnson wore that the latter would confess the crime.

Assistant State's Attorney William Brumlik's request to push up the date of the two youths arraignment on grand jury murder indictments was granted by Judge Lunch, who set the date of the hearing for Sept. 23. It earlier had been scheduled for Sept. 28.

Four Persons Dead In Flames Of Home

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22 (AP)—Four persons, including two small children, were burned to death in a rooming house fire today.

The dead, all negroes, were identified as Essie Taylor, four; Lewis Carter, two; Ann Mae Carter, 36, and James Williams, 37.

A third child, Rose Taylor, five, was burned on the arms and legs. Doctors at Hahnemann hospital listed her condition as serious.

Asked the secret of long life in a recent survey, eight Japanese centenarians (the oldest 109) all said: "Do not eat too much."

Albuquerque Dukes Beat Amarillo, 5 To 2

Shone Pitches Title Triumph

AMARILLO, Sept. 22. (AP)—The Albuquerque Dukes officially wrapped up the baseball championship of the West Texas-New Mexico league here Wednesday night with a 5-2 victory over Amarillo.

The triumph, won behind Frank Shone's three hit pitching, completed proof at the end of 12 Shaughnessy playoff games against Lamesa and Amarillo what Hershel Martin's Dukes had proved over the 149 game route—that Albuquerque had the best club in the West Texas-New Mexico league.

It was the first baseball championship for the Duke city since Albuquerque became a member of the WT-NM circuit. The Dukes led the league over the regular schedule in 1948 but were beaten by Pampa, which bowed to Amarillo in the playoff finals.

The Dukes needed seven games to eliminate Lamesa this year, only five to polish off Amarillo. The clincher was the championship exhibition by the winners.

Amarillos three hits against Shone all were singles. He fanned eight batters, walked six. One of the Gold Sox runs was unearned. Two of the hits were on the ground through the infield, the other off the glove of shortstop Ray Hamrick. Amarillo hit only two other balls to the outfield.

It was a 1-1 ball game and a good pitching battle between rubber-armed Shone and Amarillo's Ray Faust for five innings. The Dukes splurged for four hits, half of their total, and three runs in the sixth, and added another in the eighth.

Les Mulcahy led the Dukes at bat with a single, double and homer. His four base smash put Albuquerque in front in the second. His double in the eighth drove in Dick Gyselman who had walked and advanced on a wild pitch.

Gyselman had hit a two run, sixth inning single to count Hershel Martin and Dick Dawson and he counted the third tally of that crucial chapter on Len Attyd's bloop hit.

Amarillo managed its first run when Paul Halter walked and took two bases on Dick Gentzkow's soft knock through the box.

Crawford Howard walked in the eighth and wheeled two sacks on Hamricks bobble on Doug Lewis. The run scored while Al Carr was forcing Lewis.

Amarillo fans joined the players in congratulating the winning Dukes.

Officials of the Dukes decided several days ago against participating in any other post-season series.

Pro Golf Tournament At Fort Worth Opens

FORT WORTH, Sept. 22. (AP)—A field of 59 pros and 25 amateurs moves out today in the opening round of an open golf tournament for the Oklahoma and Texas sections of the PGA.

A purse of $2,000 is up.

The tournament, drawing some of the top pros of the country such as Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kans., Elroy Marti of Houston and Byron Nelson of Roanoke, Tex., will run through tomorrow.

Saturday and Sunday 25-man teams from Oklahoma and Texas will meet in their annual pro cup matches.

Four teams fired best ball 65's yesterday to tie for first place in the $1,000 pro-amateur played as the opening feature of the five-day meet.

The four winning teams were pro Raymond Gafford of Fort Worth and J. T. Mathews of Fort Worth; pro Sammy Speer of Raymondville, Tex., and E. T. Stearns of Fort Worth; pro W. A. Stackhouse of Laredo, and J. J. Ballard, jr., of Fort Worth, and pro C. B. Mims of Dallas and J. Struat Lydick of Fort Worth.

NORTH SIDE TO INVADE LUBBOCK

Westerners Drill For Steer Battle

A last chance to correct offensive and defensive mistakes will be given the Lubbock Westerners today in their final drill before Friday night's 8 o'clock encounter with the North Side Steers of Fort Worth at Jones Stadium.

Fresh from a 47-0 victory over a weak Childress team, the Lubbock eleven will be seeking another win in the victory column at the expense of North Side.

Although North Side lost its opener against Reagan of Houston last week by a 25-12 margin, there are no signs of optimism from Westerner Coaches C. R. Pattison, Bill Floyd and Fred Taylor. Reagan is one of the stronger teams in Houston and had to fight hard to overpower the Steer team.

Even In Games Won

In meetings in 1947-48 Lubbock and North Side are even in games won. Last year the Westerners went to Fort Worth to score a mild upset and down the Steers, 21-14, but the year before the Fort Worth squad dismembered the Westerners, 46-7, handing them one of the worst defeats ever suffered on home ground.

Tickets for the game are on sale at the athletic office at Lubbock High school, and reserved seats sell for $1.50. Last minute ticket sales are expected to be heavy, and the first to buy get the better seats.

Steers Air Minded

North Side is expected to rely on passes for much of their offensive yardage, and last week completed 10 aerials for 125 yards and one touchdown.

Chief pass specialist is Kermit Allen, Steer quarterback, and he will be calling signals again this week. Fullback L. V. Miller can also toss the pigskin and is a favorite target of Allen's passes in the flats.

Wednesday's practice was concerned largely with defensive tactics to be used against North Side, and the offensive team ran plays from the formation used by the Steers.

Speedy Drill Slated

Alternating defensive setups gave the boys a hand in the dummy scrimmage, and benefit was derived from the session.

Offensive plays were run, and today more of the same is expected. The Westerners will be polishing their ground and passing attack for the Friday game, and although there will be little body contact the drills are expected to be speedy.

27 Area Grid Games Slated

One game tonight, Lubbock Pioneers at Meadow, touches off a dynamite-packed weekend grid schedule that lists a total of 27 games.

Class AA competition still will be on an inter-district basis, but in 17 of the Class A and B engagements they will be "playing for keeps," with the results to count in official district standings.

On this week's varied menu are such conference attractions as Floydada-at-Ralls, Sundown-at-Levelland, Crosbyton-at-Lockney, Seagraves-at-Post, and Seminole-at-Pecos, all in Class A, and New Deal-at-Whiteface and Dimmitt-at-Springlake in Class B.

North Side Here

The Class AA "main event" brings North Side (Fort Worth) to Lubbock for a meeting with the fast-stepping Westerners. Another top Double A selection finds Plainview at Lamesa, while in a third Brownfield is at Big Spring.

Conference competition hogs the show in District 3-A. Eight teams will play "games that count," while the ninth (Paducah) remains idle. Lockney, the defending champion, takes on tough Crosbyton, which won its first conference start against Tulia last week on penetrations as the two teams battled to a scoreless deadlock. Lockney has a perfect record in two 1949 outings, but had a narrow 20-19 squeeze against Sudan last week.

Floydada, victor over Slaton and Post in non-conference tilts, goes against the vastly-improved Ralls club. Tulia, a newcomer to 3-A, journeys to Spur, and Abernathy goes to Matador.

Sundown Meets Levelland

Only one conference contest is on tap in District 4-A North. In it, undefeated, united Sundown is at Levelland. The Levellanders haven't scored in two games to date, but have been against first-rate competition in Lamesa and Hereford. Sudan, still a dangerous club despite two early-season losses, is at Hereford, while powerful Littlefield goes to O'Donnell. Muleshoe is at home against Slaton.

Seagraves and Post launch the District 4-A South conference campaign at Post. This one should settle the question as to whether or not Seagraves is ready to take a position as a front-runner in the circuit. Definitely on the weak side for the last few years, the Eagles showed signs of coming to life this fall as they drubbed the Big Spring "B" team 24-0, last week in their 1949 debut.

Rough Games In 5-A

South Plains representatives will encounter rough sledding in District 5-A, and probably will be fortunate to get off with one victory in three games on this week's slate. Andrews plays host to Wink, Seminole goes to Pecos and Denver City is at Crane.

Snyder, in 6-A, gets a rest, after scoring two impressive victories.

Five conferences battles fill the 3-B card. Dimmitt-at-Springlake easily is the headliner, while in less important tussles it will be Spade at Anton, Olton at Amherst, Friona at Hale Center and Whitharral at Farwell.

In 4-B, all-conquering New Deal travels to Whiteface, while Cooper visits Idalou. A third conference engagement sends Petersburg to Plains. Non-conference competition finds the Lubbock Pioneers at Meadow tonight and Frenship at Silverton Friday night.

One six-man tilt on this week's slate sends Southland to Patton Springs for a Friday afternoon meeting.

Bowling Results

Teams in the Women's Commercial Bowling league still are without sponsors, but that has not delayed the action in the league, with a full night's activities reported Wednesday.

Skibell's, led by Maxine Buckner, gained three games from the Frances McDowell quintet. Miss Buckner rolled a 164-485 for the winners, and Frances McDowell had 168-436 for the losers.

The other three-game victory was by No Name 8, with Joyce Noble's 169-443 series high for the winners. Hemphill-Wells was on the short end of the score, and Artie Reid kegled a 190-493 series for her team. The winners were aided by large handicap.

Lubbock Tailoring won two games from Southwestern Public Service, with Juanita Jenkins having a 516 series for the night's highest total. Alexander was high for Southwestern, gaining a 175-449 series.

No Name 3 had an advantage over No Name 7 and took two games. Most damage was done by Billy Slover, and she recored a 158-459 series. High for the losers was Irene Daniel with 170-443.

DAHLSON TEAM WINS

The second meeting of the Business Bowling league was held last night at Plamor Lanes, and Dahlson Furniture and Sears added three games to their win column.

The furnituremen took Hub Laundry to the cleaners with L. D. Cunningham pacing the winners with a 211-535 series. High game for the losers was Dick Colby's 191.

Homer Wright rolled the high score for Sears in leading his team to the victory over Mark Halsey Drug, splitting pins for a 204-513 series, while John Burkholder was high for the losers with 194—522.

Garnet Reeves Insurance won two games from Household Supply, with Lowell Caddel leading the winners with a 197-530 series. High for Household with 166-434 was Bob Pirtle.

West Texas Gas won two games from Stanolind Oil while dropping one. N. G. Terry was high for the Gas boys with 162-418, and the high Stanolind series was rolled by G. L. Maciula with 158-394.

The 400 villagers of Loddiswell, England, have saved $252,000 since 1940.

Red Sox Gain On Yank Team

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Brooklyn Dodgers are still in the thick of the National league pennant fight today thanks to Preacher Roe, a skinny lefthander with plenty of heart and pitching savvy.

Roe kept the Dodger's finger in the pie last night when he pitched his mates to a 5-0 triumph over the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals in the night portion of a day-night doubleheader.

The victory as a "must" as the Cards had scored a 1-0 victory behind Lefty Max Lanier in the afternoon to boost their lead to two and one-half games over the embattled Dodgers.

Red Sox Gain

While the spotlight centered on the Card-Dodger doubleheader, the New York Yankees' American league lead was cut to two games over the Boston Red Sox. The Yanks were upset, 10-9, by the Chicago White Sox while the Red Sox downed the Cleveland Indians, 9-6.

Roe's excellent job reduced Brooklyn's deficit to a game and half again and evened the pressure for tonight's third and final game of the series.

The Dodgers are expected to send Ralph Branca (13-5) or Lefty Joe Hatten (11-8) against the Card's Red Munger (15-6) in the series finale tonight.

Roe limited the Cards to two singles and faced only 28 men in besting Harry Brecheen, Ted Wilks and Al Brazle.

Brecheen held the Dodgers scoreless until the fourth when they clouted him and Wilks for all five runs.

The Cards won the nerve-tingling day game in the ninth inning when Joe Garagiola singled with the bases loaded and none out off Don Newcombe.

Lanier Is Impressive

Lanier allowed only five singles in recording his fifth straight victory and his best since his return from Mexico.

The Yanks blew an 8-1 lead in losing to Chicago. Gus Zernial climaxed an uphill battle with a game-winning three-run, pinch-hit homer in the ninth inning off Joe Page.

Boston was forced to come from behind to beat the Indians, winning in the seventh on Ted Williams' 41st homer, Vern Stephens 'double, a sacrifice and Zarilla's fly.

Outside of the pennant races, the chief excitement was provided my Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner. Kiner belted his 51st and 52nd home runs of the season as the

Fort Worth Pounds Tulsa Oilers, 11-6

FORT WORTH, Sept. 22. (AP)—The Fort Worth Cats had Tulsa's Oilers one away today in the battle for the Texas league pennant.

The Cats followed Preston Ward last night in licking the Oilers 11-6 in the opening game of the final play-off series. The Cat first baseman drove in four runs as Fort Worth pounded three Tulsa hurlers for 14 hits.

Included in Ward's assortment of four hits were two homers.

Big Spring Scores Playoff Win, 6-1

BIG SPRING, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Big Spring Broncs had the Midland Indians one-down today in the battle for the Longhorn league pennant.

The Broncs capitalized on five hits and three Midland errors last night to win, 6-1 in the opening game of the final play-off series.

NATIONAL LEAGUE HOME RUN KING—Ralph Kiner, above, Pittsburgh outfielder, shows the batting stance and batting grip which has made him the National league's home run king. In blasting his 50th homer against the New York Giants, Kiner became the first player in the National league to hit 50 or more homers in one season for the second consecutive time. (AP Wirephoto).

Dummy Scrimmage Session Is Expected

Raiders Hold Final Workout Today For Texas Aggie Tilt

The Red Raiders go through their last practice in Lubbock today before the Saturday game with the Aggies from Texas A&M at Alamo Stadium in San Antonio.

Another dummy scrimmage is expected, with emphasizis on stopping the Aggie attack and improving Tech's offensive power, which did not work for touchdowns last week against the University of Texas.

In practice yesterday the reserves and freshmen alternated runing Aggie plays against the varsity, and the Raiders showed up well.

On offense the Raiders looked good against the A & M defense thrown up by the freshmen and reserve teams, with different offensive combinations used by the varsity.

As a whole the team showed good timing on offensive play patterns, with the squad showing a fine mental attitude toward the coming game. The players know that a tough game is in prospect and are looking forward to winning.

Other time was spent in brushing up on plays, and passing and pass defense was stressed, with kicking coming in for its share of the drill.

Injuries again will slow the Tech attack, with several players listed as "probables." Tackle John Andrews, Halfback Herman Bailey and End Jack Davis are still limping, and Fullback J. W. Thompson is out of the coming game.

The meeting with the Aggies will be the eighth in the series which started in 1942, and only in the last three years has Tech been able to win, defeating the Aggies 6-0 in 1946 and 20-14 yast year.

The Red Raider squad will leave Lubbock early Friday morning, arriving in San Antonio Friday afternoon in time for a light practice session at Alamo Stadium.

Sandies, Lubbock Are Favored

Wichita Falls Picked To Win

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

Amarillo and Wichita Falls, the third and fifth ranking Class AA teams in the state who meet other members of the top 10 in feature games of the weekend schedule, should come through with victories.

The Golden Sandies will be playing on their home field against Abilene and appear to be better manned than Coach Pete Shotwell's Eagles.

The same holds true for the Coyotes over the Buckaroos.

Otherwise, the members of the top 10 appear in the role of favorites against their opponents on the 59-game card.

Maroons Are Favored

Austin's No. 1 ranked Maroons rate a distinct edge over San Antonio Brackenridge, Port Arthur's No. 2 Yellow Jackets the same over Houston Milby.

Fourth-ranked Lubbock may be pushed by Fort Worth North Side, while Baytown's seventh-ranked Ganders should manhandle Lufkin. The same should hold true for ninth-ranked Marshall over Beaumont, while Houston Davis' 10th ranking Panthers may encounter a spot of trouble with Freeport.

Our picking improved a bit last week as we hit 40 correctly and had two ties out of 58 games played for a .707 average. That gave us a .635 mark for the two weeks old season.

Games Are Listed

Here's how the other games look from here:

Class AA

1—Pampa over El Paso High.

2—Borger over Childress, Fort Worth Carter-Riverside over uanah, Graham over Mineral WellsQ.

Michigan And Notre Dame Are Picked To Win Opening Tilts

By DR. E. E. LITKENHOUS

The big show really gets under way this week end with such annual toughies as Notre Dame and Michigan getting into the collegiate football swim. Joining the Irish and Wolverines are such powers of other days as Army and Yale.

Michigan, who skimmed off the cream of the Litkenhous ratings last season, will start its 1949 campaign auspiciously. Benny Oosterbaan's Maize and Gold warriors will lead off with a 10.5 point conquest of Michigan State.

Notre Dame tries out its wings on Big Ten competition—and the Irish should soar high. The System predicts a 31.1 romp over Indiana.

Two top-flight battles will engage the attention of Southeastern Conference followers. Vanderbilt skirmishes with Georgia Tech and it should be Vandy's day—by 5.9 points. Tulane is a 6.9 point choice over Alabama in the other headliner. Georgia is billed as a 20.1 winner over Chattanooga.

California By 4 Touchdowns

California, the leader in the System's first issue of ratings, is regarded as more than four touchdowns better than St. Mary. Kentucky rates a 25.4 walkover at the expense of Louisiana State.

In the East it will be Yale by 23.7 over Connecticut and Army by 51 over Davidson. Ohio State will get past Missouri by five; Southern Methodist should flatten Wake Forest by 18.7.

Following is the week-end schedule of college football games with Litkenhous Difference by Score predictions. The figure after the name of each team is its power-point rating. The figure in the last column is the difference between the ratings and therefore the approximate probable difference between the scores they will make in the games. The names of the probable winners are set in boldface type.

Injuries Hit SWC Elevens

(By The Associated Press)

Four Southwest conference football squads checked in with first stringers on the shelf today in the face of the biggest weekend of the young season.

Arkansas definitely lost Ross Pritchard, veteran halfback, who fractured his leg during a rough scrimmage session yesterday. End Billy Hix is out with an ankle injury but is expected to be back for the game at Little Rock Saturday night with North Texas State.

Boal Is Lost

Texas Christian, prepping for its clash at Fort Worth Saturday night with Oklahoma A. and M., lost George Boal, senior end, because of a chest injury. Coach Dutch Meyer said there was little chance of Boal being able to play. The Frogs went through a night drill.

A Texas squad of 38 leaves Austin today by plane for New York on the way to Philadelphia where the Longhorns play Temple Saturday afternoon. They will see the New York Bulldogs-Philadelphia Eagles professional game before flying to Philadelphia tonight.

Coach Blair Cherry said sophomore Byron Townsend would start at left halfback against Temple replacing veteran Billy Pyle, who is favoring a sprained ankle. Pyle will be used on defense. Fullback Ray Borneman probably won't play. He is nursing a knee hurt.

Vann Is Hurt

Bobby Vann, starting Southern Methodist tackle, reinjured a knee in scrimmage yesterday and may not be able to play against Wake Forest at Dallas Saturday night. He previously was out a week with the knee hurt.

Coach Harry Stiteler of Texas A. and M. was cheered with prospects that Guard Max Greiner and Halfback Bobby Goff will be in top shape when the Aggies meet Texas Tech at San Antonio Saturday night. The two were held out of scrimmage yesterday.

Rice will be at full strength when it plays Clemson at Houston Saturday night. Quarterback Vernon Glass rejoined the team yesterday after being out for the removal of a wisdom tooth.

Coach Bob Woodruff of Baylor was displeased with his pass defense as he tapered off the Bears for their Saturday night struggle at Waco with South Carolina.

Amarillo Will Meet Dunbar Team Tonight

Amarillo's Black Sandies invade Chapman field tonight for a football encounter at 8 o'clock with the Panthers of Dunbar High school, and an exciting tilt is in prospect.

Coach Damon Hill's Panthers opened the season last week with a 40-12 victory over Hobbs, N. M., and the team hopes to inaugurate the home season with another decision.

Last year Amarillo was whitewashed by Dunbar in a good game, 19-0, and the Black Sandies will be out to redeem that showing. Dunbar went on to finish second in the district.

The Panthers operate from the T-formation, and a speedy team will take to the field. The line will average 160 pounds per man, with the backfield at 155.

NO CHANGE SLATED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—A split season for Texas duck hunters will not be changed this year, the Fish and Wildlife commission says. It reiterated its decision not to change its present rules in a letter to Sen. Tom Connally of Texas yesterday.

Pioneers Test Meadow Team

Two undefeated football teams meet tonight when the Pioneers of Lubbock High school travel to Meadow for a game at 8 o'clock with Meadow at Bronco field.

Last week both teams came through with lopsided victories over their opponents. Meadow won a District 4-B tilt from Cooper by a 32-7 score, and the Pioneers trampled Frenship school of Wolfforth, 32-0. The teams appear to be evenly matched and should provide lots of action.

Lloyd Hunt will send a single wing attack against the Pioneers, with Wendel Mason quarterbacking for the home team. One of the top offensive threats of the Broncos will be left Halfback Robert White, who last week scored three touchdowns and passed to End Norman Lockett for another.

Quarterbacking Lubbock's T-formation will be Sammy Sayers who also enjoyed a good night against the Wolfforth team. Sayers passed for one touchdown and scored one on the ground. End Roy Burrows was on the end of two scoring aerials, one from Sayers and the other from Jeff Jones.

No Charge Planned For Cowhand Clash

LAMESA, Sept. 22. (Special)—The athletic office of Lamesa High school announced today that there would be no charge for the forthcoming tilt between the Lamesa "B" team and the Cowhands of Lubbock at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Officials expressed the belief that this would help increase interest and attendance at the games, and if so the policy may be continued.

Vic Weber And O'Dowdy Draw

Pat O'Dowdy again added his own special color to the wrestling matches last night at Sled Allen's arena in the main event against Vic Weber, the bout following an Australian tag team match.

The two won one fall each and then went the remaining five minutes to a draw before a good crowd of satisfied customers.

In one of the longest falls on record in recent months, Weber and O'Dowdy went 50 minutes, exchanging every hold in their bag of tricks, before the Big Spring terror caught Weber with his favorite armlock and stomp to win the decision.

The second fall lasted but five minutes, and Weber caught O'Dowdy in a rocking chair split and was awarded pat on the shoulder by referee Billy Sandow.

O'Dowdy came back in the final set-to to dispute the decision in the second fall, and the match ended before any real action could be accomplished. It was a good match between too real competitors.

Appearing in the team match were Bill Brooks and Dory Detton against Rod Fenton and Gorilla Pogi, and the match came near to being a regular four-party brawl.

Fenton and Pogi won two of the three falls to take the match, but it could easily have gone the other way. At the same time that Fenton was applying a cat toehold on Brooks in five minutes of the third go, Detton had a face lock and smother on Pogi.

The first canto went 15 minutes before Fenton could pin Brooks with an armlock and stomp.

Kiner Near Record

Kiner is two games ahead of the National's record pace of 56 set by Chicagos Hack Wilson in 1930 but he's five games behind the gait of Babe Ruth, who established the major league record of 60 homers for the 1927 New York Yankees.

In other National league games, the Chicago Cubs and the Philadelphia Phils divided a double header as did the New York Giants and the Cincinnati Reds.

The Phils beat the Cubs, 3-1, in the opener but lost the nightcap, 9-6. The Reds shaded the Giants, 5-4, in ten innings but the Giants won the windup, 5-2, in seven frames.

Art Houtteman pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 4-1 victory over Philadelphia and Dick Weik hurled Washington to a 7-0, three-hit triumph over St. Louis in the remaining American league activity.

Winners Are Named In Club Golf Meet

Golfing honors in the 18-hole flight Wednesday at Lubbock Country club went to Mrs. Culver Hill and Mrs. Cliff Weidner at the weekly meeting of the Ladies Golf association.

Mrs. Hill was low on the blind bogey, and Mrs. Weidner had low putts for the circuit. In the nine-hole flight Mrs. Guy Brown won blind bogey, with Mrs. Bill Honey taking putting honors.

A total of 21 ladies turned out for the meeting ,the largest number in recent weeks.

Club golfing will turn to the President Cup tourney this week, with qualifying round set for Saturday and Sunday. It is an annual handicap tournament.

A few golfers are sharpening up their game for the West Texas tournament at Amarillo's Ross Rogers course September 29-October 2.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

Coach Damon Hill's Dunbar Panthers play Amarillo here tonight at Chapman Field and there ought to be a good crowd for the game. Kick off is 8 p. m. Damon has a five-game home schedule and he apparently intends to win consistently this year. He opened his season with a 40-12 victory over Hobbs, N. M., last week and appears to have a powerful aggregation. Speaking of the game at the Quarterback club meeting Monday night, Damon related that during the half at Hobbs, he looked over and saw the Amarillo superintendent, the principal, the coach and most of the Amarillo football team in the stands. He went over and asked them how come they were there. "Oh," they replied, "we just happened to be out this way!" Damon told the Quarterback club: "Doggone they sure happened to be a long way from Amarillo. Dogged if now I don't have to try and dream up some more scoring plays."

It is interesting to note that University of Houston has announced jointly with Baylor a home and home football contract calling for games in 1950 and 1951. Houston will play the first game in Baylor's new stadium and the Bears probably will play the first game in Houston's new stadium. What makes the announcement interesting is Houston's increasing effort to get into the Southwest Conference. This may be the opening wedge, although Texas Tech has labored long and hard without success, even though the Raiders have been playing SWC teams for a long time. But the Houston school is ambitious and the scheduling of Baylor certainly is a step toward the big time.

Houston made no bones about the fact that this year they were going after better schedules and the support of Houston sports folk, many of whom have soured on Rice. The Cougars may gain that support by continued good showings, especially if Rice stumbles again. The game against William and Mary, one of the better teams on the East Coast, proved that the Houstonians are about ready to step out. The Indians barely squeaked through to a 14-13 victory. If the Houston eleven can play Baylor a good game, and there are indications that they will, they might conceivably begin to replace Tech on some of the SWC schedules. But no matter what Houston or Tech does in the realm of sports, don't try to use it as a yardstick to measure possibilities for admission to the SWC. It doesn't follow.

Harold V. Ratliff (the author— and also Associated Press sports editor) discussed the problem of Texas A & M recently. He pondered the matter of the Aggies losing 15 football games in succession and why they weren't attracting better material. He points out that there are few name high school players on the roster. Why? his answer rests on two things: 1, trouble over hazing at A & M a few years back; and 2, desire of ex-student to fire the coach because he wasn't winning football championships. Harold admits that things may change because everything apparently is going smoothly now, but he thinks it will take a long time. In the meantime, we hope Aggie fortunes remain low when playing Tech, but good luck the rest of the time.

After weeks and weeks of polling sports writers, Christy Walsh's Sportswriters, Inc., has come up with a dream team of football players covering the past 25 years. Sports writers and a board consisting of 50 college head coaches named the following team: Ends —Don Hutson, Alabama '34 and Bennie Oosterbaan, Michigan '27; Tackles—Frank Kinard, Mississippi '36 andEd Wideseth, Minnesota '36; Guards—Bob Suffridge, Tennessee '40 and Clarence Munn, Minnesota '31; Center—Charles Bednarik, Pennsylvania 48; Quarterback—John Lujack, Notre Dame '47; Four other backs—Harold "Red" Grange, Illinois '24, Felix "Doc" Blanchard, Army '46, Ernie Nevers, Stanford '25, and Jay Berwanger, Chicago '35.

Walsh anticipated considerable criticism over the non-appearance of some stars. He explained that pro records were not considered and players were selected only from the period of 1924 through 1948. We have no argument with the ends, the tackles, the guards and the center, although there was a lot of sympathy for Alex Wojciechowicz of Fordham at center. We still would take Frank Carideo of Notre Dame over Lujack for our quarterback. Carideo allegedly made but one mistake in three full years at quarterback and has been recognized as probably the greatest quarterback in history. Grange and Nevers would go on any of our all-star elevens, but Blanchard and Berwanger are questionable. We'd take Glenn Davis of Army over Blanchard because of his speed and all-around ability. In fact, we'd take Berwanger over Blanchard, for with Nevers on the team, you have Blanchard's power, plus. And we'd put Doak Walker on any all-time all-anything eleven.

The complete team, along with the complete list from which these players were selected, appears in Sport magazine, currently on the newsstands around the nation. It's worth buying and reading, not only for this article, but for the many other good ones. Moreover, this 1942-1948 eleven, in later years, will be compared to later players who come along. You'd better have it on file, if you're a real fan.

Blast Wrecks Night Club Near Tulsa; Gambling "War" Feared

SAPULPA, Okla., Sept. 22 (U.P.)—A terrific explosion blew up a Creek county night club early today—for the second time—and a second blast went off near another club half a mile away.

Police at nearby Tulsa, who estimated damage as high as $30,000, feared the blasts may have touched off a full-fledged gambling war in the Creek-Tulsa county area.

Blown literally to bits was a one-story supper club and gambling casino on the Creek county side known unofficially as "The Oaks" because it is on a road leading to the Oaks Country club. The night club had been operated as a dine-and-dance spot until about two months ago, when it was padlocked by court order after officials found gambling devices on the premises.

Second Blast Reported

Creek county Sheriff Lee Johnson said within three or four minutes of the blast another explosion ripped out a tree near the Blue Dahlia club, about half a mile to the north. The place was open for business, but no one was hurt.

Tulsa police said a man and his wife, not identified but believed to be the caretakers of "The Oaks," were unaccounted for, but it was thought the couple had left the area before the explosions.

Police said the larger blast blew out windows in about 15 homes in the vicinity, and some neighbors reported furniture broken. The "jar" wa sfelt as far away as the Tulsa police station, eight miles away.

Building Is Destroyed

Johnson said he believes both the clubs are operated by the same owners—Harvey Pugh, Tulsa, and some associates.

It was less than a year ago that the "Oaks Club" was ripped apart by a nitro-glycerine blast. The club was wrecked down to the floor, but the owners rebuilt it—only to be closed when Pugh was charged in superior court at Bristow, Okla., with possessing gambling equipment.

This time whoever set the charge apparently did an even better job.

"Not a log was left big enough to use," Johnson reported.

ton, and was moving west northwestward. Its winds were clocked at 60 miles per hour, 15 miles less than hurricane strength. Its rate of movement was given as about four or five miles per hour.

"The storm is small and apparently not well formed," the weather bureau said.

Precautions Taken

But precautions were being taken along the Texas coast. Hurricane warnings were displayed from Corpus Christi to Freeport, Tex., and storm warnings were hoisted elsewhere from Brownsville, Tex., to Lake Charles, La.

Three hundred air force personnel were evacuated from Matagorda island and some island residents and tourists moved inland.

It was the first storm of the season to menace the Texas coast.

The weather bureau said unless there are unforseen developments another advisory would not be issued until 9 a. m. (CST).

A radar equipped plane which got within 100 miles of the center "indicated the storm was not well formed," the New Orleans weather bureau stated.

Winds Are Reported

One ship early this morning, about 100 miles east of the center, reported winds of 30 miles per hour.

Scattered squalls extended over a large section of the western portion of the Gulf. One ship off the coast south of Lake Charles reported encountering winds of 35 miles an hour. Winds up to 40 miles an hour hit Galveston.

Hurricane winds are 75 miles per hour and gale winds from 38 to 75.

The state disaster council, which would coordinate all evacuation and relief services, was alerted. Governnor Allan Shivers' office at Austin went on a 24-hour schedule. Red Cross personnel moved to strategic points.

May Strike Today

The weather bureau estimated that the storm, if it does not change path, will strike the coast between Corpus Christi and Freeport some time today.

Eight C-47 transport planes from Houston's Ellington field were used to evacuate the air force personnel from Matagorda island. They had been there for gunnery range practice. Twenty-seven air national guard planes at Ellington field were ordered to Goodfellow air base at San Angelo.

Up the coast from Corpus Christi several hundred residents of Port Aransas went inland. So did many tourists.

At the Corpus Christi naval air station personnel were restricted to the base. Most of the navy's planes were in hangars.

Two Navy helicopters are being used to evacuate persons from islands in the storm's path.

Fisher, agronomist with the state experiment station at Spur, who reported a fungus growth on cotton had developed with recent rains.

He said the fungus growth had been reported at many points between Idalou and Spur, a condition which could be serious if damp weather should continue.

"Sunshine will check it," Fisher said. He explained that the growth turns top leaves red and the top bolls wilt.

RAIL ISSUES LEAD

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Railway issues took a long lead on a generally higher stock market today.

The carrier group closed with gains running to an extreme of around 3 points. Improvement generally ranged from fractions to a point or so.

Trading was active with turnover at the rate of around 1,300,000 shares for the full session.

Santa Fe jumped more than 3 points at one time.

Also ahead were Southern Pacific, Frisco, Consolidated Edison, Standard Gas & Electric 44 preferred, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, American Smelting, Dow Chemical, General Electric, International Paper, and U. S. Gypsum.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Cotton futures weer steady today in dull trading. Most traders were hesitant, pending action on farm legislation and ECA appropriations. Mill buying against textile sales was somewhat lighter than in recent sessions and hedge selling was limited. Evening-up operations in October and switching operations in the other deliveries accounted for a good deal of the activity.

Cotton futures turned reactionary in late dealings on increased hedge selling and profit taking which met only scale down trade support. The market closed around the low for the day.

Futures closed 25 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher than the previous close.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (AP)—Wheat futures prices strengthened in late trading today, largely reflecting firm prices in the Kansas City and Minneapolis futures markets.

September contracts of grains and lard moved erratically, since today was the last day for trading in September futures. Any September contracts remaining outstanding after the close of trading today must be settled by delivery of the actual grain.

The September corn contract dipped sharply at the finish and was 2 ⅞ to 3 ¾ below the previous close at $1.23-1.23. Other corn contracts were ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower.

Wheat closed ¾ to 1 ¾ cent higher, September $2.10 ½-2.11, oats were ⅛ to 1 ⅜ up, September 67 ¼-68.

Houston Painter Is Victim Of Shooting

HOUSTON, Sept. 22. (AP)—A 49-year-old painter who was to have been married in a few days was shot to death early today in the driveway of the home of his bride-to-be.

He was Roy Alger, who was pronounced dead upon arrival at a hospital.

A charge of murder was filed before Justice of the Peace Tom Maes against John W. Woodward, 63.

The shooting occurred at the home of Woodward's former wife, Mrs. Ima Woodward, 49, who told police she and Alger had planned to be married in Conroe Saturday.

Heads Bulletin

Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Krueger today left for New Orleans to be at the bedside of their son, J. T. Krueger, jr., who underwent an emergency appendectomy Wednesday. Young Krueger, a medical student at Tulane, was reported "doing fine" today by attendants of Turo hospital there.

K. Carter scored an 18-13 triumph over McWhorter in an elementary school touch football game played before 200 fans Wednesday afternoon at the McWhorter field.

C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, ordered Blais Cunnyngham, 41, of Lubbock, placed under a $1,000 peace bond at conclusion of a hearing in his court this morning. The hearing was based upon an affidavit of Cunnyngham's wife Willie Mae that he had threatened to kill her. Cunnyngham was arrested in 1600-block Merritt Wednesday afternoon, by Deps. Sheriff Tom Cannon and Frank Mitchell. He was remanded to custody after the hearing and had not posted the bond several hours later, the sheriff's department said.

John H. A. Dahse, 41, of Lubbock, was fined $1 and county court costs this morning after pleading guilty of check law violation, court officials said.

Horace Williams, 41, a negro, was fined $25 and county court costs this morning after a plea of guilty of aggravated assault upon Plummer Sparks, described as "an aged and decrepit" person.

Road Association Official Speaker At Kiwanis Club

Col. Joel I. McGregor of Temple, vice president of the Texas Rural Road association, today told Kiwanians "the people of Lubbock need to spend just a little more time cultivating the people who live in the surrounding territory."

Speaking at a luncheon meeting in Hotel Lubbock he explained "a city is no greater than its surrounding territory."

He said the road association advocates severence taxes of two cents per thousand cubic feet of natural gas, 10 cents a barrel of oil and $1 a ton of sulphur.

Millions Could Be Raised

"Why shouldn't we do this," he asked, "when every thing we buy from other states costs us more because of severence taxes imposed at the origin."

Colonel McGregor said the income from such severence taxes would amount to between 300 and 500 million dollars a year to be used for road improvements, soil conservation, water conservation and improvement of state owned buildings and institutions.

"We must leave the coming generations a sound agricultural economy after our great natural resources are depleted," he concluded.

W. O. Fortenberry, a New Deal ginner, introduced the colonel. Judge Walter Davies and R. O. Short, president of the Lubbock chapter of the road association, were club guests. Louie Moore was program chairman.

Rev. Hubert Bratcher gave the invocation and Fred Sparks presided.

Steelworkers

wage policy committee approval of the extension. He said:

"The only thing I have to add is that we are contacting the various companies and we hope to meet with the (U. S. Steel) corporation tomorrow."

The action was taken in a resolution unanimously adopted by the committee. The resolution stated:

"The public interest requires and the American people have a right to expect an early settlement on the part of the steel companies on the basis of the board recommendation."

Murray Is Cheered

The two and half hour session of the wage policy committee broke up with the 170 members standing on their feet to cheer Murray.

The President stepped into the dispute for the third time yesterday. He not only asked that the strike deadline be set back to 12:01 a. m. Saturday, October 1, but also that industry and union officials resume bargaining immediately.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, lost little time in accepting the President's proposal. He said big steel would give the "greatest weight and earnest consideration" in bargaining sessions to recommendations of the President's fact-finding board.

Pension, Payments Issue

The President's appointment of the board staved off the strike 60 days. Then, after it reported, the industry and union agreed to a further 11-day extension of the strike deadline.

Mr. Truman's action yesterday followed efforts of Cyrus Ching, government mediation chief, to get company and union negotiators bargaining again.

The main stumbling block to resumption of negotiations has been Murray's insistence the industry accept the board's recommendation as a basis for settlement before the union would open bargaining sessions. This the industry has steadfastly refused to do.

The board turned down the union's request for a fourth wage boost since the end of World War II. But it proposed the industry finance an insurance-pension plan which would cost 10 cents per man per hour.

If the companies accept the board's recommendation, Murray contends this means acceptance of the principle that any insurance-pension scheme eventually worked out be paid for entirely by the employers.

The major steel companies have insisted they will go along on a contributory pension plan — but not one which called on them to foot the entire bill.

Rural Roads Officers Elected At Tahoka

TAHOKA, Sept. 22. (Special)—W. A. Reddell of Tahoka was elected president of the Lynn County Rural Roads association at an organization meeting attended by approximately 100 farmers and business men of the county Wednesday night in the district courtroom.

Other officers elected were: Vice president, D. B. Middleton of O'Donnell; secretary, Clarence Church of Wilson; treasurer, Mrs. Frances Chestnut of Tahoka; directors, John Heck, Maurice Small and Howton Haire in precinct 1, Graham Hensley, W. G. Gass and Leroy Davis in precinct 2, S. M. Minton, Dallas, Vaughan and O. B. Crutcher in precinct 3, and J. R. Strain, Jay Moore and Wilmer Smith in precinct 4.

Speakers were W. C. Foote, of Petersburg, state director of the Texas Rural Roads association and Col. J. I. McGregor of Temple Temple, Bell county county farm and civic leader and vice president of the state organization.

Directors received receipt books and were asked to start drives for members in their respective precints.

The organization will seek to promote better permanent rural roads, in keeping with the program of the state organization.

City Paving

pared with $13,305,707 a year previously, was contained in the independent audit of city records for the fiscal year ending last March 31 as reported by J. T. Talkington, certified public accountant.

The figures included estimates of the value of all the city's assets of every kind.

Figures Conservative

Many of the figures actually were exceedingly conservative. Real estate values shown in the audit remained at the figure for which the property was bought by the city—in some instances more than 30 years ago. Present conservative values of such property are higher in practically every instance than at the time of purchase—in most instances, many times higher.

Talkington said he found city records well kept and in good condition, as a whole. He recommended numerous changes of procedure, chiefly in record keeping, which he said should mean more efficiency and greater economy in operation.

He did not submit a bill for his services, but estimated it would be about $1,800.

Audit Is Accepted

The commission accepted the audit, but did not approve it until members had time to study it in detail. However, members commended Talkington for his services.

Truman Green, electric plant superintendent, announced that installation of the turbine electric generating unit ordered more than two years ago has been finished. He said, however, another three to four weeks will be required to connect with the electric distributing system.

He said the engine—the first of its kind to be bought for the light plant—will generate approximately 7,500 kilotwatt hours of electricity, increasing the total generating capacity of the municipal system more than 70 per cent, to a total of approximately 18,500 kwh. The present capacity is about 11,000 kwh.

Subject To Revisions

He said the estimated $792,132 cost of the unit, located in the northeastern edge of the city, still is subject to minor revisions.

Green reported further that the cost of generating electricity with the new unit will be about 3¼ cents per kwh., as compared with about 4.5 cents at present.

He cautioned, however, that the city should begin planning immediately the installation of another turbine of equal or larger size. If Lubbock continues to grow, he said, the additional electricity will be needed before it can be installed which, Green estimated, would be the summer of 1951 at the earliest.

He expressed the opinion that another unit of about equal size can be installed for about $100,000 less than the one just finished. Much of the equipment necessary for the first unit, he explained, will be adequate for another. Officials also expressed the belief that such machinery can be bought more cheaply now than two years ago.

Present at the meeting, additional to the mayor and Hufstedler, were Commissioners W. B. Price and Clarence Whiteside.

Wednesday by County Judge Walter Davies.

Fred Hughes, about 23, was fined $15 and court costs after a plea of guilty of check law violation, and Robert R. Fowler, about 28T, was fined $5 and costs in a similar charge, official said.

S. D. Lenox, 26, a negro, pleaded innocent of liquor law violation and bond of $500 was set for his trial appearance.

Forty-two per cent of American farms now have telephone service, highest percentage in history.

China Appeals To UN For Aid

NEW YORK, Sept. 22. (AP)—China called on the United Nations assembly today to act quickly to prevent communism from engulfing China and the entire Far East. For the first time, China also charged that Russia was directing the Chinese communists.

China's chief delegate, Dr. T. F. Tsiang, told the 59 national delegations that the North Atlantic pact had halted the flow of communism across Europe, but there was no such barrier in the east.

"The Chinese communist party," he said, "is an integral part of the international communist movement. It is as fanatical as communists elsewhere. Its propaganda is always in tune with Moscow propaganda. Its action is always in step with Moscow's action."

Tsiang spoke less than 24 hours after the Chinese communists proclaimed at Peiping the establishment of a Communist Peoples Republic of China.

Tsiang devoted almost his entire speech to an attack on communism. Then he made his appeal for help.

"I ask the general assembly," he said, "to ponder over the present situation in the Far East and the grave dangers to world peace and security.

"I appeal to the general assembly to be brave enough to embrace the vision of one indivisible world and not to retreat to the false illusory security of half a world."

Tsiang did not say whether his speech would be followed by formal charges against Russia, but this was the impression left by his declaration.

He asserted the Soviet Union already had obtained more in Manchuria than czarist Russia ever tried to seize. He added:

"In addition, the Soviet Union, through the Chinese communist party, has an instrument and a lever with which to undermine the independence and integrity of China and the peace of the Far East."

the 20-cent royalty was at the top of the agenda.

Three major southern operators withheld the payments since the contract expired June 20 and Lewis blamed them for causing him to suspend pensions and distress allotments from the welfare fund.

The miners' negotiators served notice they would not talk business with the southern group until the three companies got into line. A move to bring those companies up to date was under way and both sides appeared confident that the payments would be made.

The strike covered all operations, however, including the north, west, steel companies, anthracite, and many in the south who opposed the stand of their colleagues. All protested to Lewis, but to no avail.

Livestock Field Day Scheduled At Tech

Four hundred farmers representing all counties of District 2 are expected to be on hand Friday for a livestock field day being sponsored jointly by the Tech Animal Husbandry division and the Texas A&M extension service.

Dean of Agriculture W. L. Stangel said the program will begin at 9:30 a. m. at the Aggie Memorial auditorium. Joe L. Matthews, district 2 agent, will discuss "Livestock on the South Plains" and Dean Stangel will tell about "Livestock at Tech" before the actual tour gets underway at 10 a. m.

Sections to be visited include dairy cattle, horses, sheep, beef cattle, hogs and poultry. The tour is scheduled to end at 4:30 p. m.

Farmers Get Aid In Obtaining Workers

Ralph Reed of El Paso, law instructor and temporary acting immigration inspector of the U. S. Immigration service, today was busy assisting South Plains cotton farmers post bonds necessary for procuring labor from Mexico.

Using the Lubbock immigration service offices at 1306½ Broadway as his headquarters, Reed helped a half dozen area farmers post their bonds this morning.

He said a minimum of $500 must be posted or $15 per worker if more than 33 workers are procured.

Reed will remain in Lubbock through Friday to assist in the posting of bonds. But after he has gone, the office will continue to assist cotton farmers as long as workers are needed, according to O. T. O'Connell, Texas Employment commission manager of the nine-county Lubbock area.

Fast-Gaining Senate Economy Drive Menaces Arms Program

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—Senate leaders showed concern today at a fast-gaining economy drive which threatened to make a $500,000,000 cut in the foreign arms program.

Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois conceded the vote would be close on amendments by Senator George (D-Ga) to slice in half the $1,000,000,000 earmarked in the program for North Atlantic pact nations.

Will Vote Today

"But I think we have the votes to beat them," Lucas told reporters.

By agreement, the Senate was to begin voting at 5 p. m., E.S.T., on the $1,314,010,000 plan to re-arm friendly nations in the fight against Communism.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) cautiously avoided predicting defeat for the George amendments. He was obviously not as confident as he had been earlier in the week when he opened the debate on the bill.

Critics hammered hard at the spending program yesterday. George and Senator Byrd (D-Va) led the assault with other senators joining in during the day.

The George-Byrd attack centered on government spending which they said threatens to undermine the strength of the United States. If the United States is weakened, they argued, then all hope for peace will be lost.

Thinks Plan Too Big

George favors an arms program—but thinks the present plan is too big. Byrd is opposed to any arms program.

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) joined the opposition today by declaring the arms program will commit this country for years "to a policy of militarism and force." Gillette said in a statement:

"It is a down-payment on a policy limitless in the sums which it can consume and in the length of its duration. We are not voting the question of a billion or two billion—the dimensions of the military assistance program are infinity and eternity."

As the bill now stands, it would authorize $500,000,000 in cash and $500,000,000 in contract authority for the Atlantic pact nations. The remaining $314,010,000 would be divided among Greece, Turkey, Korea, Iran, the Philippines, and the China area.

New Year

nomic year in Palestine which began in autumn, the time of gathering the harvest and sowing of seeds. It was celebrated by resting from labor, as it is today, and by offering of special sacrifices at the Temple in Jerusalem. It was distinguished from other holidays by blowing of the shofar, ram's horn, a custom which still prevails in the synagogue.

As the agricultural background disappeared from Jewish life, rabbinic authorities invested the festival with new meaning. It became a holiday commemorating the beginning of creation. The highest spiritualist ideals of Israel were expressed in the prayers composed by Jewish sages for the occasion. It was regarded by Jews as a time when God passes judgment upon all the inhabitants of the earth.

Emphasis is placed upon the idea that the New Year marks a season of self-examination, repentance and reconciliation of man with man, and man with God.

Most, if not all, the Lubbock stores operated by Jewish merchants will be closed.

Farmer In England Has Lost Independence; Prices Fixed

(EDITOR'S NOTE: L. R. Blanchard is general executive editor of the 21 metropolitan papers—mostly in the East—in the Gannett chain. As one of the nation's most widely known and respected editors, Mr. Blanchard has often traveled the world for his papers, informing himself, first-hand, on what is going on. Recently he went to England to look at Socialism and the series of articles he wrote while on the trip are highly revealing. Because some politicians urge that the U. S. follow England in experimenting with Socialism, The Journal asked—and received—permission of the Gannett papers and Mr. Blanchard to present the series in Texas. We consider Mr. Blanchard's articles to be most significant, especially since Britain, largely supported by American tax dollars will seek from us next month more aid to be used in carrying on socialistic aims.)

By L. R. BLANCHARD
Executive Editor, Gannett Newspapers

FOR years the American farmer has stood as a symbol of independence. Whether that always will be true may depend upon how deeply the government pokes its fingers into his affairs.

The U. S. farmer's British cousin most assuredly has lost his independence. The loss came about gradually but the big push arrived with the advent of the Labor Government.

The British farmer cannot determine for himself what he shall plant or how he shall till his acres. He must sell his produce to the government at a fixed price.

If the farmer does not satisfy the government's agents that he is performing satisfactorily, he can be dispossessed. In that case, the government will purchase the property and install someone who will plow and plant by the book.

As in so many British activities of the moment, the government says it will relinquish its control over the farmer as soon as conditions are righted. Who knows when that will happen? Perhaps never.

Britain Can't Feed Itself

For Britain simply cannot produce the food needed to feed the population. From that standpoint the emergency is permanent.

What does real government control over agriculture mean? From the ministry's own handbook come such answers as these:

Food controls will be continued as long as shortages persist.

The government will take such responsibility in procurement, distribution and sale as is necessary.

Government subsidies for various foods will cost the country this year almost 2 billion dollars, according to official estimates.

Because policy has called for use of grains to feed human beings, the farmer is required to sell all such produce. He can retain nothing except sweepings not fit for human food. That means he can't raise many chickens or meat animals.

As the handbook says, "The individual farmer is precluded from the full exercise of his judgment as regards the best or the most profitable system of farm management to pursue on his particular holding. The powers of the Minister of Agriculture to direct production are being retained during the continuance of the emergency (up to 1950 at least).

THE Agricultural Act provides for guaranteed prices and assured markets. It provides controls to compel farmers to attain "a reasonable standard of good estate management."

The farmer who doesn't measure up is put under supervision and, if he doesn't improve, can lose his proverty. Tenant farmers can be kicked out, too.

The act provides that loans can be made to agricultural workers who show promise but who cannot afford to equip a farm. One important provision is for setting up an administration to keep a keen eye on the farmers, to collect statistics, to manage land taken away from careless farmers or falling to the state through other means, to grant funds to help drain, fertilize, irrigate and to control pests.

The British Ministry of Food buys most of the farmers' products. It resells these to the public at much lower prices. Its loss in that field is placed at 800 million dollars a year.

Bonus System Used

The United Kingdom—that is all the British Isles save Southern Ireland — has 60 million acres of land and 48 million of those are said to be farmed. To encourage the plowing of more acres the government will pay a bonus up to $16 an acre.

All the foregoing shows how far the government has gone in controlling agriculture. Nothing in these statements deals with the important matter of prices.

Scales of prices for 1949 are much higher than in previous years. It was found that with other costs so high the farmer could not be driven into extra production without some increases.

Here are some current figures compared with 1938—the prewar year.

Cattle	$ 9.40	$25.00	per hundredweight
Milk	.22	.56	per gallon
Barley	1.85	6.00	per hundredweight
Wheat	1.98	5.80	per hundredweight
Oats	1.48	4.20	per hundredweight
Sugar Beet	9.22	22.00	per ton
Potatoes	17.40	38.30	per ton

These are prices paid to the farmer. The government pays them. Then it sells to the consumer for far less. The government—the taxpayer—makes up the difference.

ENGLAND hopes to have more eggs this year. The poultryman will get 78 cents a dogen in the laying season. When production falls, the price will go to at least $1.

For a time after the war the British farmer could enjoy life, provided he was willing to ignore some regulations. As in any other hard-pressed economy he could sell his goods as any price he chose. Further than that his accounting might have been somewhat faulty and he could escape some of the income taxes.

Now the tax collector knows exactly what the farmer earns and takes the government's big bite of the earnings.

Taxes Are A Big Load

It dawns on the farmer that a government which knows how much he is planting also knows how much money he takes in. Te increase is not all because of a decrease in dishonesty. Much of it is for financing new machinery, to meet increased costs for seeds. Taxes, however, are a big load.

A government which seeks to level off all incomes is not going to pass over the farmer, much as it would like to get full production from his acres.

It would be most unfair to intimate that government control is all evil. Better farming is expected to be one result. The tenant farmer who qualifies will be aided in acquiring a farm of his own. Another promising feature of the program is the training of young men in practical agriculture. Many an ex-service man is learning the busines with the prospect that he eventually can have a place of his own.

(Tomorrow: Could it happen here?)

Plans For Programs Made By 20-30 Club

Seventeen members and two guests attended a regular business meeting of the 20-30 club at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Lubbock hotel.

The guests were Ira Parks and C[illegible]

Charles Nelson, one of the club's ch[illegible] members, received a special commendation at the meeting for his perfect attendance record at club meetings.

The organization made arrangements for a new system of entertainment. It was suggested that each member provide the program of entertainment in turn under the supervision of Jack Blankenship and Gene Blackburn, program chairmen.

Within the next two weeks, the club will hold a "bosses night." On that date each member will bring his employer to the meeting as his guest.

Naval Lieutenant And Family Come To Lubbock From Saipan

By BILL CLARK
Journal Staff Writer

From the little Pacific island of Saipan to Lubbock is the change of residence that Navy Lieut. John E. Ruzic and his family have made, and it's a considerable change.

Lieut. Ruzic, who has been helping mother Saipanese natives into democratic ways, has arrived here to ride herd on Lubbock's Naval Reservists at the Naval Reserve Training center, Eighth and College avenue. He has relieved Lieut. R. L. Gillis as officer-in-charge.

He and his wife and two-year-old son, John Edward, jr., are living at 1912 Ave. N.

Started Service In 1942

"We expected to come to a dry country and felt lucky that we were leaving Saipan just before the rainy season started," Lieut. Ruzic remarked. "We have seen plenty of rain lately here, though."

Ruzic's Saipan post was political affairs officer with the Navy's Civil administration. A detachment of 13 officers and some 30 men was concerned with helping get the Saipanese back on their feet.

A native of Demopolis, Ala., he entered the Navy in 1942, went to Reserve Midshipmen's school at Tower hall, Northwestern university in Chicago. He served in many commands afloat and ashore before going to the post in Saipan two years ago.

Island Faces Handicaps

Saipan, one of the famous Pacific battlegrounds, is an island 26 miles long and eight miles wide. Some 5,000 natives are struggling back to economic independence against severe handicaps. The Navy has been charged with administering it and other Pacific islands since the end of the war. Before the war the island was a Japanese mandate.

Now the Saipanese have their own democratic form of government, with a high council of 13 members, which acts as a governing body, passes laws and regulates taxes.

Although the Navy has more than 2,000 men on the island, the natives operate their own stores and carry on farming, fishing and other activities.

The Navy maintains certain welfare establishments, such as a tuberculosis hospital on Saipan.

"The Chommoros, or Saipanese, are very closely related to Guamanians and resemble the Filipinos, being an Indonesian type," Ruzic explains.

Happy Under U. S.

"They are very happy under Navy leadership. It is the first time most of them have known any real personal or political freedom."

The island is economically poor, with the natives engaging in subsistence farming and fishing. The Kanakas, a darker race than the Chommoros, are the best fishermen on the island, and they manage to bring about 12,000 pounds of tuna daily. Some of the fish they sell to the Army, Navy and Marine Corps installations on Saipan and Guam. Some of the natives are employed as workers by these installations.

The Navy has set up an agricultural station where the natives are taught better farming practices, Ruzic explained. The Navy brought in some Brahma cattle to breed with the native cattle and thus improve the strain.

Little Industry On Island

There is little industry. A sugar mill established on the island by the Japanese was demolished during the war, and sugar cane now grows wild in abundance.

As for the Navy personnel on the island, they are comfortable. Everybody lives in quonset huts. Furniture is largely home-made, Ruzic said.

The Navy had installed an excellent electrical system of 12,000-volt capacity which provided adequate power for the natives as well as the military personnel. The island is also equipped with adequate water and sewage disposal facilities.

The island is a pretty place, with good highways and mountain scenery.

The Ruzics returned to the United States by military airplane. The return trip was a series of brief "hops," requiring one hour from Saipan to Guam, 13 hours from Guam to Kwajalein, 13 hours from Kwajalein to Johnston island, six hours from Johnston to Honolulu, and 14 hours from Honolulu to California.

From Honolulu they rode in the Navy's huge double-deck airliner, the Mars.

The Ruzics had a lot of surprises coming when they arrived in Lubbock.

"When I found out we were coming to Lubbock, I asked Texans on the island about it. One of them said it was a good town, that Texas Tech was here. Another said that wasn't right, that Texas Tech was at Austin.

"So I got out the encyclopedia and found that Texas Tech was here indeed, and that Lubbock was supposed to be a town of 31,000 persons. We got here and found out it was more than twice that large."

Nominee Takes Oath To Give Up Drinking

ATLANTA, Sept. 22 (AP)—Councilman Joe Allen, who has pledged himself not to drink again in public, has the Democratic nomination for another four years.

Allen yesterday defeated W. C. Campbell by approximately 3,000 votes for the second ward council seat.

He had trailed Campbell by 2,000 votes in the regular Democratic primary after a short term in the city stockade for drunken driving. Neither, however, had a mojrity and both had to go into a second primary. Nomination is equivalent to election.

During the run-off campaign, Allen publicly pledged himself against drinking. He sent his signed resignation from the council to the city clerk, to be effective if he ever again was convicted of drunkenness or any other offense.

Area Masons Attend Meeting In Lubbock

More than 550 Masons and their families attended an area meeting held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Masonic temple. The highlight of the program presented was an all-color film shown by Dr. C. S. Woodward, grand High Priest of the Grand Royal Arch chapter of Texas and manager of the Home for Aged Masons at Arlington. The film depicted the activities of the old folks there and the personnel.

Musical numbers were played for the members and guests by a five-piece orchestra from the home. The members of the orchestra were all over 75 years of age. E. L. "Brother" Brewer, 85-year-old president of the Old Fiddlers association of Texas and featured musician of the orchestra, played several solos.

Master of ceremonies for the program was Early Daniel. M. P. Darden, high priest of the Lubbock Masonic lodge, presided over the ceremonies.

The Lubbock Chapter of the Eastern Star served refreshments under direction of Mrs. M. B. Cranford.

Cross Action Filed In Divorce Quarrel

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22 (AP)—Mrs. Bonita Feilder Davis, who recently succeeded in voiding her husband's California divorce, has filed a cross complaint of her own against actor David Brian.

Her divorce complaint didn't mention Brian's second marriage last June 19 to actress Adrian Booth after a Mexican divorce. Mrs. Davis asks $400 a month alimony, plus allowance for a child she expects next year. She charges cruelty.

Brian, whose real name is Brian James Davis, got a second divorce decree here but Mrs. Davis won her plea to have it set aside.

Brian recently gained screen prominence as Joan Crawford's leading man.

Communist Hits At Plan To Discredit Red Party In U. S.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—The idea of a negro 49th state in the deep south has been called anti-Communist propaganda by Henry Winston, national organizational secretary of the Communist party.

He said at the Communist conspiracy trial yesterday that the idea is a distortion used by enemies who want to "discredit the Communist party on the negro question."

To think that the Communists would push such a project was termed "fantastic" by Winston, the sixth of 11 defendants to take the witness stand in his own behalf in federal court.

Led Membership Drive

The 11 Communist leaders are accused of conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

Discussing his organizational work in the party, Winston testified there were "a few thousand" Communist clubs in existence in America last year. He said he could not remember the exact number.

His job from 1946 to 1948, Winston asserted, was to lead a drive to bring the party membership to 100,000. He did not say from what figure the drive began nor how successful it was.

Lubbock Firm Given Contract For School

WOLFFORTH, Sept. 22 (Special)—The Frenship school board awarded contracts for the construction of a new 12-room elementary school here at a meeting in the Frenship High school at 7:30 Wednesday night.

The total contracts awarded totaled $126,891.79, about $10,000 below the expected cost of construction.

The bid on the general contract was given to John T. Glover & Son contractors of Lubbock. The bid was for $113,024.79. There were about 11 bids received for the general contract.

Sub-contract bids were accepted from Lubbock Plumbing company, $3,493; F & S Electric company of Lubbock, $6,374; and Howard Sheet & Metal company of Lubbock, $4,000. There was an average of about six bids apiece on each of the sub-contracts. Most of the bids were very close, several of them varying only two per cent.

Butler and Brasher, Lubbock architects, will direct construction which will start immediately.

M. C. Butler opened and announced bids at the meeting for Fred Worsham, president of the school board, and J. T. Patterson, secretary.

Tech Baptist Group To Hold Open House

A circus theme will be emphasized at open house to be conducted for Baptist students in Texas Technological college at 7:30 o'clock Friday night in the young people's assembly room in the educational building of First Baptist church.

Mrs. Arnold Maeker is chairman of arrangements.

A member of the young people's department will serve as chairman of each committee, and an adult sponsor will work with each chairman. Committees are: Program, Miss Margene Fry, chairman, and Roy Bass; publicity, Miss Vicki Martin, chairman, and Leon Harris; decorations, Miss Betty Vaughn, chairman, and Mrs. Maeker; food, Miss Essie Lee Denney, chairman, and Miss Doris Stoneham.

Each Sunday school class in the young people's department will have charge of a side show held in connection with the circus theme. The department will be decorated to resemble a circus tent. Hot dogs, snow cones and peanuts will be served.

Miss Joyce Worrell, member of the young people's department, will speak in the concluding part of the program.

Dr. Leon Upshaw Is Speaker At Meeting

Approximately 59 First Presbyterian Men of the Church attended a fellowship meeting and dinner Wednesday night at the church.

Thord Dockray, president presided.

Dr. Leon Upshaw, who spent a number of months in Turkey, gave an illustrated lecture on Turkey. Shelby Reed of Big Spring, president of the Men of the El Paso Presbytery, spoke to the group on the convention for Presbyterian men which is scheduled for Nov. 4-6 in Atlanta, Ga.

Some 5,000 men of the church from over the United States are expected to attend the convention.

A special bus is to be run to Atlanta from Lubbock. Some eight or ten Presbyterian men from Lubbock are expected to go to Atlanta, as well as a number from the El Paso Presbytery.

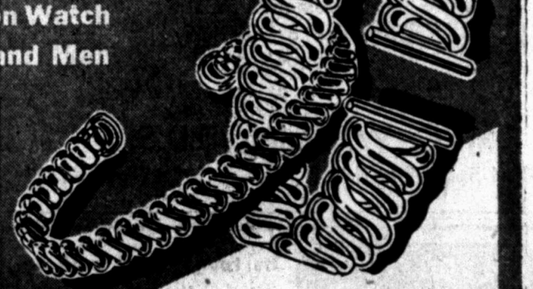

The dinner was prepared and served by the Women of the Church.

Terry Oil Extension Sought

Operations To Open At Once

A project to try to extend the Adair field in South Terry County has been staked by Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation as its No. 1 Carl Golden.

It will be 1,650 feet from east and 330 feet from south lines of section 7, block C-37, psl survey.

Rotary tools will be used to drill to 4,950 feet to test the San Andres pay section. Operations will begin at once.

This new exploration is about 13 miles south of Brownfield, and three-fourths of a mile northwest of the nearest production in the Adair field.

No Shows Developed

No shows of oil or gas were developed in a drillstem test of an oil-stained sand zone at 9,170,9,231 feet at Forest Oil Corporation and Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation No. 1-A Parmer County School Land fee, slated deep wildcat in Southeast Gaines County.

The tester was open for one hour. A 540-foot water blanket was used. There was a weak blow of air for a part of the period.

Recovery was the 540-foot water blanket and 300 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or water. The project is to drill. deeper. It is contracted to dig to at least 15,000 feet—if it is necessary to go that deep—to explore the Ellenburger.

Location is 860 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of labor 12, league 317, Parmer County School land.

Test Is Planned

A production test of a six-foot lime zone which was saturated with oil is to be undertaken shortly at Rogers Brothers and Stewart No. 1 Wahlenmaier. Central-South Crosby County wildcat.

The project is bottomed at 2,817 feet in Permian lime and has cemented a string of 7-inch casing at the top of the pay.

The rotary drilling rig is being moved out and a cable tool unit will be moved in to drill the plug and test the possible pay section.

Location is 330 feet from south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 3, block D-15, WTRR survey. It is about 20 miles north of Post.

To Start Drilling

Ted Weiner of Fort Worth and others are to start drilling soon on their No. 1 Moore Creek Missionary Baptist Church, 7,000-foot wildcat west of nearest production from the Canyon reef in the Kelly-Canyon field in Central-West Scurry County.

Projected depth will test the Canyon reef zone, with rotary tools.

The drillsite will be 208.335 feet from north and west lines of sec-

Tech's Board To Hold Meet

Bids are expected to be opened Saturday for the construction of two additional wings on the administration building of Texas Technological college, Frank Junell, assistant to the president, revealed Wednesday.

The bids will be opened at a meeting of the board of directors for the college in San Antonio. Contract for the construction of the new wings probably will be let the following morning, Junell said.

Thirty-one classrooms and 18 faculty offices plus offices for the staff of the president, comptroller, deans of men and women and the post office would be included in the proposed additions.

To Match Present Structure

Actual work on the two wings is expected to begin immediately after the contract is let. The additions will be of the same style and architecture as the main building and will be three stories high and of the same materials.

To cost approximately $750,000, the new wings will greatly relieve crowded office and classroom conditions on the campus, Junell said. The project was approved by the board of regents Aug. 13 at a meeting here.

Size of the annexes will be 60 feet wide and 130 feet long extending from the back of each side of the present building. That will place the rear of the two wings about where the hedge is now located south of the administration structure.

In connection with the director's meeting in San Antonio, President D. M. Wiggins is scheduled to address the Quarterback club there following the Tech-Texas A and M football game, Junell also revealed. He will also speak before a meeting of Permian basin school leaders in McCamey Monday night.

A meeting of the San Antonio Ex-Students association of Texas Tech will be held there Saturday, too, with Gov. Allan Shivers as the principal speaker.

Labor Unrest Faces Britain

LONDON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Restless railway workers spurned a call for a "go slow" strike on London's busy subways today. But the threat of labor unrest still harried the socialist government as an aftermath of currency devaluation.

Plans to throw London's subway system into chaos in protest against rejection of wage boost demands fizzled out. Only a handful of the capital's 50,000 railwaymen heeded a call by their local union for a slowdown beginning last midnight.

Faces Stern Test

Politicians of the left and right, however, agreed that the labor government still faced a stern test of making its devaluation policy work. Prime Minister Attlee and his key cabinet ministers met to discuss ways of curbing price boosts that will be sure to follow cheapening the pound sterling.

Meanwhile the list of nations slashing the value of the money rose to 25, Hashemite Jordan cut its pound in line with the British devaluation today. Luxembourg and Portugal did the same yesterday.

Activities For Tech Are Set

Noted lecturers and speakers, dances, and outstanding second-run movies are included on the recreation hall program for students of Texas Technological college this fall, Dean of Men James G. Allen has announced.

Polgar, the mental wizard, Margaret Bourke-White, Life photographer, Vincent Sheean, journalist, Clifton Fadiman of "Information Please" fame, and Millicent Fenwick, associate editor of Vogue magazine, are included among the notable speakers scheduled to appear at the college.

16 Dances Scheduled

Describing the program as an attempt toward a "well-rounded set of activities," Dean Allen said the 16 dances will be divided between social and square dance occasions. The movies were selected from among outstanding domestic films instead of foreign reels as last year, he said.

First, of the nationally-known personages to appear before a Tech audience this fall will be Polgar, who will perform for the second time here Oct. 27. The Hungarian-born mental wizard is noted for his feats of mass hypnosis.

Journalist To Speak

Polgar will be closely followed Nov. 2 by Vincent Sheean, famous journalist, who will address students on the subject "Beyond Bread." Margaret Bourke-White, Life magazine photographer-correspondent and supposed to be the last American to have seen the Indian leader, Ghandi, alive, will be at Tech Nov. 8. She will speak on "Halfway To Freedom," but the exact text of her speech is not yet known.

An address on the "Literary Climate: Meaningful Books and Authors of Our Day," will be given by Clifton Fadiman Nov. 11, while Millicent Fenwick will climax the program Jan. 12 with a speech entitled "Fashions In Manners."

Students only will be admitted to the affairs. Admittance will be by activity ticket.

The Curious Reporter

OPAL DIXON

THE QUESTION

Do you think Texas legislators should receive higher salaries and hold sessions every year?

THE ANSWERS

RAYMOND McWILLIAMS, 112 Ave. W, representative of the Texas Employment Commission: "They should hold sessions every year. After a two year period has elapsed, there's a lot of business that they are unable to attend to in such a short time. I believe their salaries should also be raised. It's almost impossible to get by on the present salary they receive."

J. B. MILLER, 3420 Ave. R, barber: "Yes, I think they should get higher pay. We would get more efficient service if they did. I think sessions should be held every year. Lots of things come up that need to be taken care of."

H. G. SEITZ, 1612 Texas avenue, retired: "I think they're given enough now. I don't think they should hold a session every year; they ought to be able to see two years ahead."

MELVIN BOOTHE, Lamesa, assistant manager of Ben Franklin's: "I certainly do. Any qualified man should naturally receive a high salary. At present unless a man is well off he isn't able to accept that position. I think they should have sessions any time there is business to take care of."

D. D. McINROE, Brownwood, retired railroad worker: "I absolutely do not. They're getting too much now for the little they do. They should, instead, appoint more qualified men. I don't think they should meet except every two years."

E. A. SHEPARD, route 5, farmer: "Yes, I think they should receive salaries in keeping with the responsibility they have. They should meet more often to keep in closer contact with the needs of their districts."

New Labor Act Chances Drop

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—House leaders appear to have written off chances for getting a new labor law through Congress—not only for this year, but for 1950 as well.

Chairman Lesinski (D-Mich) of the House labor committee said today his committee will take no further action on Taft-Hartley repeal—now, or at the next session starting in January.

With demands for some new legislation almost certain if the nation's strike picture worsens, Lesinski told reporters;

"Unless the attitude of the House changes, we don't intend to try to report out another labor bill."

Change Not Expected

And with the 1950 election campaign already warming up, Lesinski said he doesn't look for any immediate change in attitude.

Early in the session, the House rejected the administration's labor bill and sent a substitute measure back to committee, leaving it with no labor legislation pending.

The Senate passed a bill containing many of the features of the union-hated Taft-Hartley law. The House hasn't acted on the Senate bill and leaders have indicated no intention of doing so.

President Truman, who campaigned for Taft-Hartley repeal in the 1948 presidential election, said recently that the administration will fight to the bitter end to wipe that measure off the books.

MAYBE HE'LL BE A TUMBLER—Bruce Jacobson, three years old, takes it easy in a hospital crib but he might become a tumbler when he grows up. He made a start in Kansas City. He was only bruised slightly, but his parents took him to a hospital for observation. (AP Wirephoto).

College Program Is Being Expanded

Texas Tech Offers Extension Courses In Six Plains Towns

Benefits deriving from the new Gilmer-Aikin school law may be partially earned in extension courses now being conducted in six South Plains cities by the Texas Technological college extension service, it was announced Wednesday by Director J. H. Millikin.

Courses in education which will serve to keep teachers up-to-date in college work without having to return to the college campus as often as otherwise are included in the studies being offered in the towns.

Plainview, Tahoka, Seagraves, Seminole, Denver City, and Levelland are the cities in which the classes are now being taught. The number of persons necessary for enrollment before an extension course will be taught depends somewhat upon the distance from Lubbock, Millikin pointed out.

Ten is the least number for which a class will be offered and the number climbs as the distance from the college increases. Regular full-time instructors teach the classes and are paid 80 per cent of the enrollment fee, which is $21 per student. State regulations limit the amount to $500 which any teacher may earn in this manner during the year.

Millikin alsq announced that approximately 2,000 persons are now taking courses from Tech under the college's correspondence set-up. The number of hours which a student may take by either extension or correspondence is limited by the catalog.

Night Class Plan Studied

Average size of the extension classes is 20 persons, Millikin asserted. There are several other towns asking for similar courses, but the supply of teachers in the education field, which is now in greatest demand, has been exhausted, he said.

Besides the extension and correspondence courses, the extension chief also announced that every effort will be made to establish

Lubbock School Officials Plan Drastic Action To Enforce Discipline On Buses

Students who willfully disregard instructions as to discipline on school buses in Lubbock Independent School district will be deprived of riding school buses, so that safety of all children riding buses may be protected.

That announcement was made today by Supt. R. W. Matthews following action by the board of trustees of the school district.

"From time to time in the past we have had discipline problems on school buses," Matthews said, "so the board of trustees has passed a resolution which denies service to students who willfully disregard our instructions as to discipline on our school buses."

The superintendent explained that the board recommended that school authorities not be arbitrary about the first offense, but that bus drivers would report students to the principals, who in turn will notify parents.

However, students who persist in causing disturbances on school buses which would endanger the safety of other children riding the bus will be denied the privilege of riding the buses to school.

All students who ride Lubbock Independent School district buses were called into meetings by principals either Tuesday or today so that the policy of the board might be explained and students might be impressed with importance of their conduct in going to and from schools, the superintendent said.

Some of the problems that have arisen in the past and have resulted in setting the new policy have been pushing and shoving by older children, one fight, some damage to bus property and some improper language.

The new policy will apply to such cases as those and to others that might arise in which improper conduct causes disturbance on the buses.

In exceptional cases, as in event of a fight which might endanger other students on the bus, the bus driver will have authority to remove fighting students from buses.

In most cases, however, he would instruct students to behave and then make a report to the principal.

Approximately 550 students ride buses in the district.

Jet Bomber To Be Displayed

ELGIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla., Sept. 22 (AP)—The United States' only jet bomber now in regular service will make its first appearance in a joint exercise with ground troops here next month.

The 500 mile per hour plus B-45 Tornado, called a light bomber but packing a 10-ton bomb load, will take part in a demonstration of air-ground cooperation for 3,000 service school students.

In cautiously taking the wraps off the four-jet B-45, military leaders will give the service school groups a glimpse of a warplane designed for everything from low level attack to high speed bombing at 40,000 feet.

Pilots Cautious

Pilots of these hot new ships are cautious in talking about them. Much of the data about their equipment and performance are on the classified list.

It's not permitted to discuss their armament, or to allow unauthorized persons to inspect their interior.

But Capt. Troy Daffern of Sweetwater, Tex., said in his soft Texas drawl: "it's the easiest thing to fly I've ever had a hold of."

Daffern is in charge of five bombers which are based at Brookley Air Force base, Mobile, Ala., for the exercises.

Two Autos Ordered Forfeited To State

Two automobiles were ordered forfeited to the state in judgments filed Wednesday by 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue.

Hearings on applications of the state, as well as of pleas of intervention of the First National bank of Odessa, had been conducted earlier.

In Wednesday's judgment, the court ordered that a 1948 Cadillac and a 1949 Ford be sold to the highest bidder and that proceeds be applied, in order, to costs of court, costs of keeping the property, the bank as lien holder and the state Liquor Control board's "permit fees."

C. O. Randolph and B. J. Childress had filed a disclaimer of interest in connection with the Cadillac, Cecil E. Baker and Childress in connection with the Ford, before the hearing. The judgments pointed out that Randolph had been convicted of using the Cadillac in connection with illegal possession of illegal intoxicating liquors, and that Baker had been convicted of using the Ford in the same manner.

Thief Steals Large Clock Of Coal Firm

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22 (AP)—Somewhere there's a thief with a lot of time on his hands today.

William F. Kohler, president of a Philadelphia coal company, reported to police yesterday that an electric clock had disappeared from atop a 20-foot signboard advertising his firm's products.

Kohler said the clock's face was 30 inches in diameter.

Woman's Hearing Set In Husband's Death

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Sept. 22. (AP)—Mrs. Sophie Petrillo, 35, accused of shooting her husband to death in the bathroom of their Palm Springs apartment, will have preliminary hearing Oct. 5 on a charge of murder.

Although she signed a confession that she shot Peter Petrillo, 38, because of jealousy over the ex-wife of bandleader Louis Prima, a coroner's jury returned a verdict yesterday that Petrillo died of "gunshot wounds inflicted by person or persons unknown."

Mrs. Petrillo is in jail at Riverside, reportedly resting quietly for the the first time since the shooting last Monday. She was arraigned in Riverside township court.

The shooting, she told police, climaxed an argument over her husband's attentions to dancer Alma Ross Prima. Mrs. Prima, in a statement to police, said her relationships with Petrillo were of a business nature only.

Neither Mrs. Prima nor Mrs. Petrillo appeared at the inquest.

Body Of St. Peter Believed Found In Rome Church Crypt

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Sept. 22. (AP)—The Roman Catholic archbishop of New Orleans said today the remains of St. Peter have "definitely" been found in a tomb in the St. Peter's basilica in Rome.

The most Rev. Joseph F. Rummell spoke to reporters just before he boarded the Queen Mary for New York after a pilgrimage to the Vatican.

Pope Pius has long entertained the theory that St. Peter's remains were buried in a crypt in St. Peter's church.

Crypt Is Studied

In preparation for Holy Year, 1950, he is reported to have ordered an effort to prove the theory.

"There are very significant circumstances about the crypt in St. Peter's church," Archbishop Rummell said.

"It is a fact that the entire crypt is undergoing a series of studies in the course of which there has been definitely authenticated the presence there of the remains of St. Peter, the chief apostle."

Cattle Rustlers Are Killed By Mexicans

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 22 (U.P.)—Federal troops killed five cattle rustlers in a battle near Villa Huadacarso, it was reported today.

Government sources said the victims were members of a band of 36 bandits who have been plaguing ranch owners of the Guanajuata state recently. The rest of the bandits were reported to have fled into the hills when the battle went against them yesterday.

Hope For Lost Miners Fading

PIKEVILLE, Ky., Sept. 22 (AP)—With waning hopes, rescue workers pushed forward their search today to find two youthful miners believed lost in the crumbling tunnels of an old coal mine.

Rescue workers said they would take bloodhounds into the pit today to try to track down Marvin Johnson, 20, and his cousin, 19-year-old George Johnson of Three Mile, Ky.

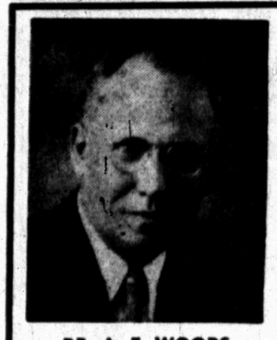

No trace of them has been reported since they went into the mine early Tuesday afternoon. They had been working with their fathers, Tom Johnson and George Johnson, sr. The mine recently was reopened after a 14-month shutdown.

Mine Called Unsafe

The cousins went into the mine after dynamiting to loosen the coal. Their fathers called to them later but received no response.

A. D. Sisk, chief state mine inspector, and Carson Hibbitts, United Mine Workers district representative, said the mine was reopened without inspection in violation of state mining law. Hibbitts declared the mine a "death trap."

Residents At Lamesa Contribute Gifts To Woman Found In City

LAMESA, Sept. 22 (Special) The attractive 35-year-old woman who was found wandering about Lamesa September 10 and lodged in the city jail by police was identified Wednesday definitely as Lorraine Patterson of Hitchcock, near Galveston.

The woman when picked up was wearing heavy work clothes and carrying few personel belongings. Two Lamesa women had her placed in a local hospital where treatments consisting of injections of a drug similar to truth serum were given to her by a local physician.

While under the influence of the drug she mentioned a sister, Mrs. Ann Lott, living in Hitchcock. City Judge Luther Standifer contacted her brother-in-law in Hitchcock and the telephone conversation definitely settled the question of her identity.

It was revealed that a telephone call from a Lubbock nurse confirmed the previous belief that the woman had served as a nurse in a Tulsa hospital under the name of Lorraine Patterson.

Local residents have sent many gifts and cash contributions to the woman since her plight has become known. A Sunday school class voted to help finance her necessary hospital expenses.

The woman is believed to have been married to a Claud Matthews, now dead, and to have a son in school in Alabama.

Tentative arrangements are now underway to transfer her near her home in Hitchcock. Attending physicians say that while the woman has shown much improvement she will need medical treatment for several months.

COTTON DESTROYED

GARRETT, Tex., Sept. 22 (AP)—A seed cotton house and 40 bales of ginned cotton were destroyed when fire swept through the Garrett co-operative cotton gin last night.

Damage was estimated at $20,000. Garrett is near Ennis.

Parisian Dressmaker Concedes Men Have Won Battle For Shorter Women's Skirts

By BARBARA BUNDSCHU
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 — Mme. Elsa Schiaparelli conceded today that American men had won the battle for the hemline.

She's cutting her skirts two inches shorter than the "going" American length and she hasn't a doubt in the world that the American women will buy them.

"We appeal to the men first," said the chic Parisian dressmaker, with a lift of her blue-shadowed eyebrows. "The women come after.

Mme. Schiaparelli is here to open the American wholesale firm which will copy for sale in American stores the suits and coats from her Paris custom collection. The first collection, selected from her fall showings in Paris, will be shown here next month and will go on sale in the spring.

Men Feel Strongly

The skirts, Mme. Schiaparelli said, will be 15 or 16 inches off the floor.

"I think the American men feel so strongly about this question," she said, "that is what they want. Then that is what the women will want."

Even the man who looked at her passport at LaGuardia field wanted to know about her skirt lengths, she said. She told him the good news. He told her:

"Well, thank God."

Elementary, implies Mme. Schiaparelli with a flip of her hand.

Collection Not Startling

Except for shortness, however, she said Americans wouldn't find her first U. S. collection very startling.

"My suits and coats are not extravagant this year," she said. "But I won't make any dresses here now."

Suit skirts, she said, are straight but slit enough to walk in without stumbling. Jackets are moderately short, rounded to the hip and dressed up with flaring pockets and moderately big collars.

Mme. Schiaprelli's own dress looked a bare 13 inches from the floor. Last spring's model, she explained—a tight-fitting black taffeta with huge revers which sometimes closed over, sometimes disclosed, a plunging neckline and a rope of pearls. A huge gold and diamond pin, shaped like the big dipper, was on one lapel, attached by a chain to the glasses in the pocket that went around her hip.

Someday, Mme. Schiaparelli said, she may make dresses for America, too.

CRIPPS' DECISION IS EXPLAINED

Britain Faced Foreign Trade Crisis When Pound Devalued

(EDITORS: This is the second of a two-part series on Britain's financial troubles and her eventual decision to devalue the pound.)

BY STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—The British pound became really unpopular in world trade Monday morning.

Anybody who got hold of dollars couldn't change them into pounds without losing some of his buying power. He naturally insisted on getting more pounds for his money.

On the "free markets," the pound began to depreciate. In Switzerland it got down close to the $2.80 rate Britain decided finally to adopt.

New questions arise: Why couldn't one buy free-market, or "cheap," pounds and spend them in England? Wouldn't that insure your getting your money's worth? Isn't a pound a pound, no matter what you paid for it?

Rules Set Up

The over-simplified answer is, a pound was not a pound. The British set up rules.

A traveler who entered England could bring with him only pocket money in pounds. If you, an American, got pounds by selling shares of English stock, you could spend them only for other shares of stock—not for goods. England wanted dollars for her goods.

And if you were, say, a South American who sold coffee to England, you really didn't get pounds in your hands. You got a credit entry in a bank in London. You could spend it in England, if England had anything you wanted to buy, but you couldn't get hold of a sheaf of pound notes and go trade them for dollars.

When—despite all the rules and all the Marshall plan help and all the dollar loans and all the crisis talks—it appeared that Britain faced a foreign trade collapse, something had to be done.

Britain must trade. She cannot survive without imports. It is a plain matter of food and clothing for Englishmen, without regard for recovering Britain's once-proud place in world commerce.

Britain Had Choice

So the decision was ready made. The pound had to be fixed at a real value. In recent weeks and months, the urgency has heightened. Foreigners felt devaluation coming. Instead of buying from Britain they would wait until it came. Then British goods would be cheaper. Foreign orders became smaller and scarcer.

Finally, last Sunday, Sir Stafford Cripps made his announcement of devaluation from the rate of $4.03 a pound to $2.80. Other over-valued currencies around the world fell like a row of dominoes.

Now, Britain still had some choice. Instead of saying "the pound is now worth $2.80," Cripps could have said "we'll let the pound seek its real value, the value in world markets."

Some English newspapers thought he should have done that. They feel the cut was needlessly deep.

To which Cripps' answer would be: When a money starts falling, you can't foresee the end. France is letting her money "float" to whatever rate the Paris free markets sets. But France knows that the franc already is close to the free market rate.

Risk Involved

Britain, on the other hand, is in trouble. People would tend to wait till the pound hit bottom. The longer they waited, the farther down would go to the pound.

The pound now seems low enough to insure that money-value won't be an obstacle to Britons selling goods abroad, whatever other obstacles may remain. If the rate does prove too low, sterling can be revalued upward.

Britain had another choice. She could have set a rate something nearer what people expected, like $3.20. Cripps evidently decided that would not be enough to get the desired results. In fixing his rate he asked his experts such questions as these:

Since Britain now must sell four pair of gloves to get the same number of dollars she used to get for three pairs, will she earn more dollars in the long run?

And, since the materials Britain buys will go up in price as much as her export goods go down in price, can she prevent further inflation?

Evidently Sir Stafford's experts answered yes to both questions. But it is a risk. Some experts say a country which tries a one-third devaluation must double its exports, else the gamble won't pay off.

With the help promised last week by the United States and Canada, England thinks she can put it over. At any rate she had to try.

Weakened King Is Aided From Coach

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 22 (AP)—Very weak from illness, Sweden's aging King Gustaf had to be carried from his railway coach when he arrived in Stockholm today.

Returning from his summer residence on the island of Oeland in the Baltic, the 91-year-old monarch was helped from his coach by his 66-year-old son, Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf.

A huge crowd at Stockholm's central station watched in silence while the once agile king, weak from illness and 14 hours' of travel, rested a few minutes in a special chair on the platform.

Sitting in the chair the king was carried to his motorcar. He raised his hat in a feeble salute and the crowd hesitantly responded with a few muffled cheers. A court attendant stopped photographers from taking pictures.

Disabled Vets Urged To Seek LAFB Posts

Disabled veterans who wish to work as civilian personnel at Lubbock Air Force base are urged to file applications for positions for which they are qualified as soon as possible, Capt. Earl E. Starkey, civilian personnel officer at the base, announced Wednesday.

The register of disabled veteran's job applications that has been established at LAFB is now exhausted and the office will be glad to receive more applications, Capt. Starkey explained.

The civilian personnel office at the base has moved into the north wing of Headquarters building, T-1.

Bid Is Accepted On Motley County Road

A bid of $46,232 for the construction of a farm highway in Motley county was accepted Wednesday by the State Highway department in Austin. It was among 15 projects over the state, low bids for which totaled $500,542.

Low bidder for the Motley farm highway 1045 was Cooper and Woodruff of Dallas. The bid was on 6.9 miles grading, drainage structures, flexible base and single asphalt surface treatment. The road will be constructed from state highway 70 six miles south of Matador 6.9 miles east and south.

Detroit City Tax Employe Suspended For Putting Slugs In Parking Meter

DETROIT, Sept. 22 (AP)—A city tax collector was suspended from his job today on a charge of putting slugs in a parking meter. A traffic patrolman arrested him yesterday.

Detective Lt. Harry Michaels said the collector, Edward Temple, 45, admitted using slugs in a meter near the city hall. The detective said Temple explained he makes 15 or 20 stops a day on city business and is not reimbursed for meter fees.

Temple is employed by the city treasurer's office which collects the money from parking meters. He is a personal property tax collector.

Draft Board Office Move Is Announced

Offices of Local Board No. 88 of Selective Service were moved this week to Room 202 in the Federal building. The offices have been located at 1108 Fourteenth for the past year.

Selective Service officials here have called attention to the fact that all men are required to register with Selective Service at the time they become 18 years of age. They have reminded young men of the Presidential proclamation of July 20, 1948, which sets forth a schedule for their registration.

Men must register within five days after they attain their 18th birthday. If 18-year-olds are unable to register at the proper time, that is, within five days after reaching their 18th birthday, they must register as soon as possible thereafter.

Local officials have emphasized that there apparently is a widespread belief that 18-year-olds no longer are required to register. Since this is erroneous, it has been suggested that any men who are within the age groups of 18 and 26 and who have not already registered contact the local board office as soon as possible.

Canadian Dam Plans Pushed

Employment of attorneys to aid in pushing the $85,000,000 Canadian river water conservation project was approved at the afternoon session of an all-day conference here Wednesday attended by representatives of interested Panhandle-South Plains cities and reclamation service and state officials.

The project has been approved by the U. S. House and now awaits action in the Senate. Senate action will be hastened, those participating in the conference were told, by retaining attorneys to assist in drafting a compact which will give legal assurance that interests of New Mexico, Oklahoma and New Mexico in waters of the river will be protected.

Ten of the 11 cities interested in the Canadian as a possible source of water supply were represented at the meeting.

Clarence Whiteside, Lubbock city commissioner and chairman of the Canadian River Project Organization committee, and his vice chairman, Mayor C. A. Huff of Pampa, and secretary, Joe Cooley of Borger, were authorized to draw up a budget, with assessments for each city based on present water meter connections of the participating cities and to make the recommendation for selection of attorney or attorneys at the next meeting of the group.

The meeting saw the passage of a resolution approving the official name of the committee and ratifying by resolution the application for a file to water rights on the Canadian river, already entered before the State Board of Water Engineers by Whiteside.

With Spencer L. Baird of Amarillo, regional attorney for the Reclamation service, explaining the legal steps necessary to push the project forward, at an afternoon session at the Hilton hotel, the cities' representatives attending were told that proper legal procedure will be taken as soon as possible for the formation of permanent water improvement districts and a master district if necessary.

Lawyer For Ingrid Bergman Arrives In U.S. "On Business"

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22. (AP)—Ingrid Bergman's Rome lawyer is in town today apparently for divorce talks with the actress' husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom.

Monroe E. McDonald, an American citizen who practices law in Rome, Italy, and calls himself an "international counselor," said this about his visit:

"I am here to handle a number of personal matters for Miss Bergman. You can draw your own conclusions."

Dr. Lindstrom, neuro-surgeon at General hospital, was unavailable for comment but John Vernon, his business representative, said:

"Dr. Lindstrom has no comment on the new development; he has made no statement throughout the entire affair, and will not make one now."

McDonald reportedly also represents Roberto Rossellini, Italian director who is linked romantically with the 34-year-old Swedish actress. The two have just finished making a picture on the island of Stromboli.

Rites Slated Friday For Brownfield Man

BROWNFIELD, Sept. 22 (Special) — Funeral services for Hoyt B. Willingham, Brownfield cotton duster who was killed instantly early Tuesday evening when his plane hit the smoke stacks of the Hoop Mill company in McGehee, Ark., and burst into flames, will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the First Baptist church here.

Rev. Curtis Jackson, Lubbock, will officiate, assisted by Rev. A. A. Brian, pastor.

Burial will be in Terry County Memorial cemetery under direction of the Brownfield Funeral home. Graveside services will be directed by the Brownfield Masonic lodge of which Willingham was a member, and the organization's members will serve as pallbearers.

Willingham has been a resident here for the last 15 years. In addition to the Masonic lodge, he was a member of the American Legion, Baptist church and Odd Fellows.

The body will arrive in Lubbock Thursday afternoon enroute to Brownfield.

New Test For Terry Staked

tion 246, block 97, H&TC survey. That makes it eight miles west of Snyder.

A 7,200-foot exploration to test the Clear Fork has been staked in the Flanagan field of South-Central Gaines County by Shell Oil Company, Inc.

It is to be Shell's No. 4 W. L. Hawkins and will be located 660 feet from north and east lines of section 8, block A-23, psl survey.

Rotary tools will be used to drill this venture.

Well Is Completed

Humble Oil & Refining Company has completed its No. 2 Walker Huddleston in the Sharon Ridge Canyon field in Southwest Scurry County, about 14 miles southwest of Snyder.

The producer flowed 24 hours through a ¼-inch choke and made an initial production of 300.26 barrels of 45.1 gravity oil, No water was present. Gas-oil ratio was 905-1.

Production came from the open hole between 6,687 feet and 6,700 feet which was total depth. Production was natural.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,747 feet from east lines of section 163, block 97, H&TC survey.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 2 L. N. Perriman, on the northwest side of the North Snyder field, in North-Central Scurry County topped the Canyon reef at 6,950 feet, on an elevation of 2,563 feet.

According to some geologist that make it 40 feet high to the same company's No. 1 Perriman, a small producer from the lower Canyon, one-quarter of a mile to the north.

No. 2 Perriman is now bottomed at 7,060 feet in lime, and is running an electric log survey, preparatory to cementing casing and making production tests.

This setpout is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 438, block 97, H&TC survey.

Humble No. 1 Perriman is the fartherest out northwest producer from the Canyon in the North Snyder field and the No. 2 Perriman is also outside the heretofore proven area for that pool.

Men Confirmed As U. S. Ambassadors

The chamber also confirmed Robert D. Murphy to be ambassador to Belgium and Joseph C. Satterthwaite to be ambassador to Ceylon.

Enough Troubles For A Lifetime Hit Youth, 18, And His Dog In Single Day

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 22 (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Junior Scott must think he's had enough troubles in one day to last a lifetime.

Junior's dog jumped in front of him yesterday and took the bite of a copperhead snake which was poised to strike.

While Junior was rushing the dog to a veterinarian in a horse and buggy, the horse bolted from harness and the buggy crashed into a parked car.

The dog was hurried to the vet and his life saved, but Junior was arrested for reckless driving.

However, the charge was dropped when it was found the city had no law covering such an offense with a horse and buggy.

But Junior wasn't through having trouble. During the arraignment, his horse disappeared from the post to which it had been tied.

Junior got astride, carrying his dog and rode off.

The buggy was left behind. It had been too badly damaged to move.

night classes at the college upon the request of a minimum of 10 persons.

Such courses include any in the catalog and would be counted towards residence credit. Fee is $10 for each three semester hours credit.

The extension courses in off-campus cities meet once a week in a three-hour session for 18 weeks. Regular class lectures and tests are given as though the class was being conducted on the campus.

Any person eligible to take a college course can take an extension study. Regular transcripts must be provided or a record of high school work. If the course is advanced, the pre-requisites must have been met by the applicant.

A regular extension library from which persons in correspondence or extension courses may rent books is available.

Millikin gave credit to the new Gilmer-Aikin school laws which require teachers to take "refresher" courses from time to time for the increased interest in extension work. He also noted some increase in the number of persons taking correspondence courses.

Exams for persons taking correspondence classes may be taken before an independent high school superintendent, county superintendent, or recognized college official, the extension head revealed. Arrangements can usually be made for almost any course in the catalog to be taken in such a manner, he said.

Four Die In Mishap; Texan Badly Injured

EDGEFIELD, S. C., Sept. 22. (AP)—Howard Dean Joyner of Texarkana, Tex., was in a critical condition in a Greenwood hospital today from injuries received when an asphalt tank truck and an automobile crashed, killing four persons.

Dead were Pfc. James R. Martin and Sgt. O. W. Brower of Cherry Point, N. C., Marine Corps air base, and Mrs. Judy Shore and her four-year-old child, also of Cherry Point.

move to meet British trade competition.

Appeal Sounded

The go-slow threat misfired after top officials of the National Union of Railwaymen appealed to the rank and file not to upset Britain's economic applecart by pressing for higher wages now.

The workers appeared willing to obey national-union instructions but most observers wondered how long it would last. Bread prices are scheduled to go up Sunday and other prise boosts resulting from devaluation are certain to come later—piling up pressure for higher wages.

Attlee was expected to announce after today's cabinet meeting that parliament, now in recess will be recalled for an emergency session next Tuesday to debate the government's devaluation program.

Stars Questioned On Issue By Forum

Careers, Publicity Blamed For Many Filmland Divorces

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22—Why is there so much divorce in Hollywood?

Many U. S. citizens have asked that question and received double-talk answers, or none at all. If anyone knows the answer, it should be the film famous themselves. So the AP Hollywood forum put the query to them, with these results:

Ronald Colmean—"Careers and marriage don't mix. One career in the family is enough."

Women Are Criticized

Robert Mitchum—"I don't think there are any more divorces in Hollywood than anywhere else. I've been all over the country and I have found just as much or more shady going on. It's just that here in Hollywood, everything that happens gets published."

Vincent Price—"American women don't make good wives. A home is a man's haven. The wife should know something about keeping a home. American women have the soap opera conception of marriage."

Dan Duryea—"I've been married 18 years. Look at Jean Hersholt, Irene Dunne, Harold Lloyd, and others. How can you say there is so much divorce with so many long-range marriages like that?"

Celeste Holm — "When a star and her husband have the slightest tiff, it is publicized. It's much harder for them to make up than it is for couples whose family troubles aren't printed in the papers."

Record Is Defended

Maureen O'Hara — "I contend there are no more divorces here than anywhere else. It is merely the prominence of the names involved that attracts attention. I know there is some pretty wonderful home life in Hollywood, but nobody is interested news-wise."

Barbara Britton—"My husband, who is a psychologist, says those film people who are constantly remarrying aren't emotionally mature. They get a star complex, and when everything doesn't go smoothly, they want a divorce."

Edmond O'Brien—"They go into marriage too lightly, knowing they can always get a divorce if it doesn't work out. And some couples don't really like each other. I know some who are madly in love—yet hate each other. How to have a happy marriage: Marry Olga San Juan." (He did).

WOMEN'S REPUTATIONS INVOLVED

Man Sought For Questioning About Extortion Ring Charge

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22 (AP)—aul R. Behrmann, former actor's gent who charged that a Holly-ood "prostitute extortionist ring" as victimized many persons, is ought today as a fugitive for rther questioning.

District Attorney William E. impson, who obtained a bench arrant for Behrmann's arrest, old the court he is presumed to e a fugitive and outside the juris-iction of the court. Neither the istrict attorney's nor the sher-f's deputies have been able to nd the ex-agent for three days, impson said.

Convicted Of Theft

Behrmann was convicted of rand theft last year but has an ppeal pending. He was charged vith taking $10,000 from a client.

He is also due in court next uesday on a contempt of court itation for his refusal to answer ome of Simpson's questions in the rand jury room.

The district attorney read to he grand jury excerpts from a nemorandum which Behrmann dentified as the result of his in-estigations of asserted vice and fficial corruption in Los Angeles. These investigations were made while he served for two months ecently as an agent of the gov-rnor's crime commission.

Charge Doubted

It charged that the extortion ring, under the direction of gambling boss Mickey Cohen, had extorted several hundred thousand dollars from "innocent victims." Simpson mentioned the names of several women and asked Behrmann about their reputation.

"Their reputation is that of prostitute extortionists," the ex-agent replied.

Simpson said he doubted that Cohen was the head of the ring, and Cohen himself denied emphatically that he had ever engaged in such activities.

One of the names mentioned by Simpson was Lila Leeds. Lila Leeds, a movie bit actress, sent the grand jury a letter through her attorney in which she demanded an opportunity to testify before it.

"I want you to know that the insinuations are definitely, positively and unequivocably fales and untrue," the letter said.

The actress served a jail term earlier this year after her conviction with actor Robert Mitchum on marijuana charges. Behrmann once was Mitchum's agent and formerly was business agent for Anne Nichols, author of the play, "Abie's Irish Rose."

Tech Students Will See A. & M. Game

Special buses loaded with students will leave at 5 a.m. Saturday from the Texas Tech campus bound for San Antonio and the gridiron game between Tech and Texas A and M, it was announced Wednesday.

Approval of the A. and M. game as the official "trip" for Tech students this year was made early this week by the student council. Approximately 10 hours will be required for the journey, placing the students in the Alamo city in time for the college parade at 4 p.m.

Whether the buses will return Saturday night or stay until Sunday will be decided by the majority of students making the trip. Two faculty sponsors will accompany the group in each bus.

Open to any student of the college, the round trip will cost $8.80 for each wishing to go and will be the only game this fall for which class absence excuses will be given, the deans of men and women said.

Arrangements for the journey were made under supervision of Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president of the college.

NEW 1950 NASH AIRFLYTE—Graceful aerodynamic styling and luxury are featured in the new 1950 Nash Ambassador and Statesman models to be shown by the Massey Motor Co., 102 Broadway, starting Friday morning. Features of the new cars include fully enclosed front and rear fender openings, massive "wrap around" bumper and bumper guards and an overall aerodynamic design that achieves reduced wind resistance and greater beauty.

New 1950 Nash Airflyte To Be Displayed All Day Friday At Massey Motor Company

New 1950 Nash Airflyte cars with many exclusive features will be on display at the Massey Motor company, 02 Broadway, tomorrow morning beginning at 8:30 o'clock and continuing through 7 o'clock.

Two lines of the 1950 Nash cars will be offered, the Nash Statesman in the low medium-priced field and the Nash Ambassador with fully automatic shifting in the medium priced field. Two models, a four-door Ambassador, and a two-door Statesman, will be on display by Massey.

The Statesman replaces the "600" series with two and four-door sedans as well as a club coupe, available in standard-priced "super" and higher-priced "custom" models.

Reviewing highlights of the new Nash Airflyte cars, Floyd Massey, owner of the company, said: "We believe the 1950 models represent a new conception of motoring comfort. They are not only beautiful cars, but with aerodynamic design and a choice of three transmissions—Hydra-Matic "clutchless" shifting; automatic overdrive; or standard transmission—built-in twin beds and adjustable reclining seats, the 1950 Nash Airflytes offer driving pleasure, comfort, economy and safety not available in any other car."

Hydra-Matic Drive

Foremost among the mechanical improvement of the 1950 Nash Airflyte Ambassador models is the famed Hydra-Matic Drive combined with the Nash developed Selecto-lift starting offered as optional equipment. Operation of the Hydra-Matic requires only positioning of a forward or reverse direction selector lever and completely eliminates the clutch pedal. The new starter control, a feature exclusive with Nash, operates by lifting the Hydra-Matic selector lever and eliminates separate floor or instrument panel starting.

Standard on both new cars is the conventional transmission. In addition to the Hydra-Matic on the Ambassador, Nash also offers in both cars as alternate optional equipment the fuel-saving automatic overdrive, which gives four forward speeds, long a Nash feature.

The front end views of the new 1950 Nash Airflytes also emphasize their scientifically conceived aerodynamic design, comfort-creating width, and road-hugging, low center of gravity. Front and rear bumpers, with new and more massive bumper guards, follow the general streamlined styling and accentuate the aerodynamic lines of the new cars with curved contours that blend into the fender shapes to become an integral part of the cars.

Oil-Control Rings

New standards of riding comfort and safety are claimed by Nash engineers in the body-building methods they pioneered in developing the Airflyte. It features a built-in structural frame welded into a single steel unit of exceptional strength with shock cushioning distribution of weight. The all-steel bodies have box section sills for greater strength and rigidity. The Airflyte-type body, it is claimed, makes possible an exterior design offering less air resistance, with larger interiors, gasoline economy, and an automobile body unusually quiet and free of common squaks and rattles. The 1950 models are 62 inches high and are 15½ inches wider than they are high.

Both cars feature frictionless soft coil springs on all four wheels, providing the finest suspension and roadability available.

The new Airflyte Ambassador is powered with an improved high compression 6-cylinder overhead valve engine developing 115 hp. It provides better performance and still better oil and fuel economy. It is designed to operate with a high degree of efficiency using "regular" gasoline. As an important new engine feature, the Ambassador and Statesman are equipped with "Seal-Flex" oil control piston rings (in the lowest of the 4-ring grooves).

Gasoline Economy

The Nash Airflyte "Statesman" is powered by an L-head type, 6-cylinder 85-horsepower engine retaining the traditional Nash ("500") economy of more than 25 miles per gallon at average highway speeds.

Both Ambassador and Statesman engines literally "float" on vibration-absorbing rubber mounts for better performance and smoother ride.

Nash offers two types of interiors, Super and Custom in the Airflyte Ambassador and Statesman.

Both cars have increased rear windows 10 inches wider than 1949 models. Rear window glass area is now 717 square inches, an increase of 33 per cent.

Another new feature of the 1950 four-door sedans is wider entry through front and rear doors. All doors are hinged at the front for safety.

That Girl on Broadway says the reason that the dog is such a lovable creature is because his tail wags, instead of his tongue.

The surest way to lose by a nose is to stick it into someone else's business.

NOT long ago, our dog, Gypsy Rose Lee, came back from the hospital after a 10-day stay. We hadn't seen her during the time of her hospitalization, therefore were astounded at the change 10 days bring about to a seven-months old Labrador Retriever.

Gyp always has been a husky, healthy dog—with the exception of a minor infection which sent her to the hospital. During the six months we've had her, she has grown astoundingly, now having reached the approximate proportions of a young calf.

But the very noticeable difference in her size and weight from the time she went to the hospital until she came uproariously home was so great that we scarcely could believe our eyes.

As we got to thinking about how she'd gotten taller and heavier over the 10 days of hospitalization (she stands about 18 inches at the shoulder and weighs about 60 pounds) we also got to thinking about the wonders of nature.

What makes an animal—human, or otherwise—grow, become more mature? What is the secret of it all?

Of course, we know, as does everyone else, that there are scientific explanations for all these things.

They have to do with vitamins, and organisms, with protoplasms and chemical reactions in living tissue and each has its own pat answer.

But what is behind it all? How did it all come about? In what colossal mind—in what Omnipotent Mind—was it all set up?

JUST as there are sermons in stone and brooks, there are sermons in everything around us.

That's why we've never been able to understand how any human being, endowed with normal brain power, can deny the presence of a Divine Being—or even argue that "perhaps" there can be no such force.

All we have to do is look around us—at dogs and other animals, at each other, at trees and fields and flowers, the sun and the moon and the stars—to believe, even if we don't exactly understand, that there is an over-all plan to life.

Far more awesome, if not so spectacular as the splitting of the atom is the every-day example of a child growing into adolescense, or a puppy becoming a full-grown dog through the simple expedient of breathing air and assimilating food, mixing exercise with the proper amount of rest.

Scientists may explain these wonders to each other and, to some extent, to the rest of us. But neither they, nor we, nor a combination of us, can duplicate the wonders of Nature as wrought by the hand of Omnipotence.

The wise man doesn't shout, "I must have proof!"

Advice to consumers is now available on all subjects—except where to get the money!

WHAT is the most mispronounced word in the English language? Is it "status," for instance, or is it "comparable," or is it "restaurant"?

These three words are frequently mispronounced—and so are many others. But it seems to us that "statistics" is more frequently "busted" than any other word—especially by those whose educational background should enable them to handle it with ease.

It is not unusual for a fairly erudite person to come up with "sta-stits-ics," or with "sa-tis-tics," or with "stas-stitics," but it is unusual even when a doctor of philosophy smoothly and correctly rolls it off his tongue.

Quite a word. Remind us, please, to stay away from it!

Conditions will never reach the ultimate in dissatisfaction until the tax collector thinks of putting up a toll-gate at the entrance to the poor farm.

That Man on Avenue Q says the poor man of today isn't nearly so poor as his predecessor was two decades ago, because the money he hasn't got now isn't worth so much!

There are times when even the most optimistic person wonders if maybe the only way to solve the world's troubles is to outlaw human nature—permanently!

FLASHING, flashy, moving and ultra-bright signs of all descriptions are mighty fine, and they add a lot to the looks of a community. They put life into it, and give light—and they attract attention. We think the're swell.

But every once-in-a-while, in some quiet eddy in a great city, there are found some old signs which carry with them a wave of nostalgia to those over 40. We refer to the old "trademark signs"—markers of certain businesses.

Remember the mortar and pestle—the "shaving cup with a stick in it"—that once was the trademark of the drugstore? Remember the small windows of the apothecary shop which never featured goods for sale, but, instead, a great, clear jar filled with some colored liquid?

Do you remember when the striped pole was as much a part of a barber shop as the mugs and razors inside, and when a massive Indian, holding a cup filled with cigars, marked the entrance to the store where tobacco was sold?

Aye, "them was the days!"

The butcher shop had a bull's head hanging in front, or, at the least, painted on the window. The saloon — they were honest about 'em then, and didn't call 'em "cocktail lounges"—presented a frothy stein to the passersby.

The jewelry store always had a watch sign — hands pointing at 8:22 out in front, and the blacksmith shop presented a horseshoe.

Banks didn't go in for signs, but nearly all of them had barred windows — with the bars arched prettily. The dentist had a sign in the shape of a molar and the shoeshop hawked its wares by displaying a sign in the form of a shoe.

Readers could think awhile and remember many other old signs—and so could we—that were part and parcel of the businesses they represented. But in this day and time, they're nearly all gone.

MAYBE it's just as well that the old signs went with the old businesses—or, better stated, with the old ways of running businesses.

Today's barber shops are much more sanitary; today's dental parlors are ditto and their ministrations are less painful; filling prescriptions is a minor department of the modern drug store and even the saloons—whatever they may be called—are cleaner, swankier and, to some, more inviting.

Yet somehow or other, the old signs got under the patron's hide. They meant something to him as he walked down the street and when they went away something wholesome, something earthy, went out of living.

Too bad—at least in some respects.

Somebody sent this in:

The Indians chant and dance about
To break a crop-destroying drouth.
But I've a simplier means, by far—
I only have to wash my car!

AN oldtimer remembers when the baby-sitting was done by the next oldest child—and that in many a case, the sittee was almost as large as the sitter!

BY DREW PEARSON: FOREIGN MINISTER BEVIN DISLIKES CRIPPS' "AWFUL" TOBACCO

How Sen. Thomas' Speculating Partner Operates

WASHINGTON—British economic czar Sir Stafford Cripps and Foreign Minister Bevin attended a National Press club luncheon while in Washington where Cripps, who controls Britain's economy with a vice-like grip, told in detail of British sacrifices because of the dollar shortage.

PEARSON

"Just to give you an example of the sacrifices we are making," said Cripps "both Mr. Bevin and I have given up tobacco as our part of the program to save dollars."

Whereupon Bevin, turning to his luncheon companion, whispered:

"That's not the case at all. The fact is I gave up smoking because I couldn't stand the bloody awful tobacco Cripps has been buying."

NOTE—In order to save dollars the British have been partly shunning North Carolina tobacco and turning to their African colonies.

GOP blocks civil rights—It wasn't a Southern Democrat but a Midwest Republican who stopped the Senate labor committee from approving the fair employment practices bill behind closed doors. This is the most controversial measure in President Truman's civil rights program. But the vote was blocked on a technicality by GOP Senator Donnell from the President's home state—Missouri.

Atlantic defense—The State department has called a highly secret meeting of the joint chiefs of state of the twelve countries in the North Atlantic pact. They will meet in Washington the last week in September.

Food for democratic countries—The food and agricultural branch of the United Nations is setting up an important organization to sell surplus American farm products to the undernourished countries of western Europe and India. The plan should benefit both American farmers and democratic countries, and the experts claim they have worked out a plan to lick the toughest problem in international trade—the dollar shortage.

IT looks as if Senator Thomas's speculating partner, Dyke Cullum, has diverse and widespread interests.

Last week it was revealed that Cullum, who frequently claims to represent Thomas, had bought ten carloads of eggs futures at the same time that the senator from Oklahoma had introduced legislation taking the support price off of eggs. Senator Thomas and Cullum have used a joint trading account on the commodity exchange in the past.

Now, in addition to eggs, it develops that Cullum has been pulling wires with the Agriculture department regarding lard.

Cullum's influence in agriculture matters results from the fact that Thomas, as chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee, can block or pass most farm legislation.

Therefore, when Cullum, who helps the senator write legislation, demands inside information from the Agriculture department, agriculture officials can't tell whether they are giving it for legislative purposes or for speculative purposes. Naturally, inside knowledge of government purchases and price supports could be used to make big profits on the commodity market.

Is Senator In Lard?

Last month, Cullum began pestering the Agriculture department to support lard prices. Naturally, such support would cause a spectacular jump in lard prices.

The Agriculture department, however, has adopted a policy of supporting only agricultural products, not by-products. A support price for a by-product such as lard, it feels, would not help farmers, but the meat packers.

Nevertheless, Cullum phoned George Parks in the fats and oils branch in the name of Senator Thomas and demanded a price support for lard. Parks promised a written reply, and when it didn't come fast enough, Cullum made two phone calls to David Pettus in the livestock branch for information on price supports. Again he suggested that the government buy lard. Each time he represented himself as speaking for Senator Thomas and the Senate agriculture committee.

As a result of Cullum's activity, the Agriculture department finally sent an official letter to Senator Thomas, dated Aug. 24, in which it made pointed reference to Cullum's queries. The letter began:

"This is in reply to a recent telephone request from Mr. Dyke Cullum to the fats and oils branch for information regarding the calculation of a parity price for lard. As you know, the parity price concept heretofore has applied only to direct agricultural commodities sold by farmers. It has not applied to products such as fats and oils which are processed from agricultural products and sold by processors . . ."

Last year the Senate expenditures subcommittee under Ferguson of Michigan started to probe the flagrant speculating of Senator Thomas and his weird link with Cullum. Investigators actually raided Cullum's office, whereupon Thomas threatened to expose some of Senator Ferguson's connections in Michigan and the probe was suddenly dropped.

What she doesn't mention, however, is that she is the senator's daughter-in-law.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

WANT to know what makes parents rate with a baby-sitter? Well, according to information sent me by the Childcraft Advisory Service in Chicago "families with loaded ice-boxes, automobiles, and television sets are on the preferred list of America's baby-sitters."

MILLETT

Speaking for parents, I'd like to point out to the baby-sitters of America that we, too, have our preferred list.

And it goes something like this.

The baby-sitter who starts right in to get acquainted with the children before the parents leave, instead of falling exhausted into the easy chair by the radio and picking up a magazine, meanwhile completely ignoring Junior AND his parents.

The baby-sitter who tides up the kitchen after helping herself to anything in that "loaded ice box."

The baby-sitter who knows how to answer a telephone and take down a name and number correctly, and who doesn't forget to mention the call. Too many baby-sitters say nonchalantly "Yeah, somebody called . . . I don't remember the name."

MUST HAVE A STORY

THE baby-sitter who exerts herself enough to read or tell Junior a bed-time story.

The baby-sitter who is awake when the parents get home. After all, a sleeping babysitter especially one that has to be shaken to get her awake, isn't much better than none.

The baby-sitter who stirs herself to look in on Junior occasionally and see whether or not he has kicked the covers off.

The baby-sitter who sends the parents off with a cheerful "Have a good time and don't worry about anything. We'll get along fine. Won't we Butch?"

The baby-sitter who doesn't play the radio or record player while the kids are trying to go to sleep.

That's OUR preferred list.

KEEP THE AIR LIFT READY!

The report from Washington a few days ago that the air lift is being kept ready to spring back into action on short notice was reassuring, but not surprising.

It is inconceivable to any thinking American that this instrument which inflicted upon the Russians the most decisive defeat either side has suffered in the "cold war" should be allowed to deteriorate to the point of becoming ineffectual.

Everyone hopes, naturally, that it never will be necessary to employ the air lift again to break blockades like the one the Russians attempted to impose upon Berlin.

But if necessity does arise, the air lift should be ready. Preparedness in this respect is worth what it costs—and costs have not been excessive thus far—as insurance. The chances seem good that the simple fact of being ready will minimize greatly the probability that the air lift may be called upon to fly again.

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Famed Bobby Jones Probably Will Never Play Golf Again

ATLANTA, Sept. 22. — Unaccustomed as I am to undue sentiment where athletes are concerned, I do believe there are a select few who have earned an immortality in the land, to the point of outweighing politicians and prepaid statesmen and military chieftains with shrewd press agents. Of these I would list Dempsey and Ruth, of course, and certainly Robert Tyre Jones of this time because it is not generally known that the greatest golfer of our age very likely will never play another round of golf. More than a year ago Bob Jones acquired a spinal ailment that affected the motor nerve, and but for a highly successful—and hazardous — operation, probably would have lost all use of his legs. He walks today, with a cane, cane, but he walks slowly and awkwardly and his golfing days are gone.

"I just thank God there isn't any pain," he was saying the other day in his law offices here. "Also it's a good excuse to get out of playing in the Masters tournament every year. You know, when you've spent your life playing a game, it's surprising how many other interesting things you miss. I'm just catching up on a lot of them now."

Pulled "Grand Slam"

It is hard to realize that the fresh-faced, quiet boy from Atlanta, who wore the floppy linen knickerbockers, is now a weathered man of 47. Jones was one of the few who are never supposed to grow old. For those who are old enough or young enough to remember his feats, time stopped for Bobby Jones in 1930, when he pulled his grand slam of American and English amateurs and opens to climax a golfing career that hasn't been matched before or since.

Bobby Jones—who, by the way, always hated to be called Bobby, but put up with it as graciously as he endured the other trespasses on the life of a public figure—was a golfing approximation of Joe DiMaggio. His color was in his self-containment, the perfection of his skill, and the quiet class that marked him. Nothing of Walter Hagen's boisterous color intruded on Jones' game, just as DiMaggio shares none of the gaudy imperfectious of Ruth.

JONES merely went out and played golf more brilliantly than anybody else around. His vast concentrative powers were mistaken for coldness. His politeness to the mobs and the bores and the swarms of pests who clawed and pulled and hauled at him was sincere, if not heatry. He didn't have to rassle strangers or to bid them to his home.

To his old friends and cronies, Jones was another man entirely. He liked to drink red licker—and still does—and he liked to cuss and sing and cut up. He regarded the 19th hole as the best part of a game of golf, and was remarking to me that, thank God again, he could still play as good a game in the 19th as ever before.

Jones' honest fondness for a spot of bourbon actually was the tip-off to the odd disease that struck him suddenly and mysteriously.

"I would take a couple of snorts and sit down to the table," he says. "Then I would find I couldn't get up. My head would be clear and I'd be cold sober, but I couldn't work by legs."

It developed that, at some time or other, he had twisted his spine out of shape, and the resultant pressure on the motor nerve was affecting his legs. The doctors told him then that unless something was done to ease the pressure, he would certainly get no better and likely lose all motive power in a very short time, the operation was risky but at least there was a chance.

Operation Is Success

"That was the easiest decision I ever made in my life," Jones said. "I told them to start cutting."

They lifted a series of discs off the top of his spine. The operation was successful, and now Jones can tilt his usual allotment of painkiller without losing the use of his stems. There is a chance the condition will improve; almost a certainty, that it will not worsen. For all this Bob Jones is a very grateful man.

Jones now accepts his semi-invalidism as calmly as he put up with the importunings of the mobs that dogged him even on his private course when he was playing a friendly round with his father and friends. If he is bitter at the abrupt finish of participation in the game that made him semi-immortal there is no indication of it. Down through the years Bob Jones has mislead none of his class, even if his mashie rusts forevermore.

Author Will Speak To Lubbock Group

Members of the Lubbock Knife and Fork club will hear an address by Robert Magidoff, author of "In Anger and Pity," and correspondent in the Soviet Union for 12 years, at their first dinner meeting of the fall season at 7 p.m. today in Hilton hotel.

Magidoff, a native of Kiev, Russia, was expelled from Russia in April, 1948. He came to the United States as a boy and later became a citizen of the United States.

Mother Seeks Custody Of Son After Beating Neglect Charge

PENSACOLA, Fla., Sept. 22 (AP)—A pretty 32-year-old mother today sought to regain custody of her baby after being acquitted of charges of neglecting the child to go nightclubbing.

A jury of fathers yesterday released Mrs. Hugh L. Flinn after deliberating more than three hours.

She was accused of depriving her 9-month-old son, Shaughin, of necessary care and attention. The charge, a misdemeanor, carries a maximum penalty on conviction of six months in jail or a $500 fine.

Mrs. Flinn was arrested Sept. 4 at a Pensacola night spot about four blocks from her one-room cottage.

Wanted For Adoption

The child was placed in temporary custody of Deputy Sheriff William O. Amos. The deputy said he and his wife wanted to adopt the red-haired blue-eyed baby.

Mrs. Flinn said after being released that she would go before juvenile court authorities in an effort to regain custody of the child.

Sheriff's deputies said they found the child in a closed room cluttered with whisky and beer bottles when they went to the cottage after Mrs. Flinn's arrest.

Mrs. Flinn and her husband came to Pensacola from Baton Rouge, La., several months ago. Officers said they were unable to locate Flinn, a $60 a week sign painter.

Tech Club Secures Student Discounts

Special discounts for Texas Tech students on purchases from local merchants has been secured by a National Campus club recently organized on the campus.

Discounts have already been secured for those students joining the organization on prices of laundry and dry cleaning, flowers and gifts, oil, gasoline, tires and tubes and theater tickets, Andrew Behrends, campus manager, announced.

Open to all students upon payment of a $3 membership fee, the club is a national organization which started at Stanford university. Refund of the $3 is guaranteed if the student has not saved twice that much in six months on purchases at the concerns co-operating in the program. Membership is bought for one year at a time.

Behrends said the club is organized to act as a "co-operative link" between Tech students and Lubbock merchants who cater to college trade and join the organization.

They Keep The Nation Going, He Says

Housewives' Strike For More Recognition Urged By Writer

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 22. (AP)—Government's most forgotten waif is the American housewife.

The hand that rocks the cradle may rule the world—but it isn't getting any handouts from Washington. And it appears to be the only one that isn't.

There is a Department of Commerce to help the tired businessman solve his commercial woes. There is a Department of Labor for the poor working man. And there are so many agencies set up to assist nature's nobleman, the farmer, that he can plant his seeds upside down in a hurricane and still make money.

Control The Wealth

But there is no Marshall plan for the matrons, no subsidies for housewives. This is certainly undemocratic, as there are more housewives than businessmen, more housewives than working men, more housewives than dirt farmers.

And it is the housewives who keep the nation going. They control most of the wealth, buy most of the goods, pay most of the bills. If it weren't for the financial genius of the woman of the house, half the homes in America would be bankrupt in a year.

What recognition do housewives get for keeping the country on an even keel? A few kind words on Mother's day, a half dozen battered red roses—and maybe a dinner outat the local beanery. Even then the waiter usually hands her the check, since she is the only solvent member of the family.

Asks Strike Threat

The answer, girls, is to organize. A political league of housewives would bring the politicians running to reward you for your votes.

What do you want, ladies? Free seeds for your flowerbeds? A sabbatical leave every four years? Government-paid maid service on Sundays?

Dearies, don't think you can't get all this—and more. And you wouldn't have to fork over any cash to the five-percenters.

All you'd have to do to win any demand would be to threaten a country-wide strike. No nation can live by the can opener alone. And if you quit wiping junior's nose, washing the dishes, doing the laundry or cooking the groceries—why, millions of hungry husbands would march on the capital to get you anything you asked.

India may unify its many languages.

Sundown Sets Rodeo Opening On Saturday

SUNDOWN, Sept. 22 (Special) The first performance of the Sundown rodeo will get underway at 2:30 p.m. Saturday. Other performances are planned for 8 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday.

The rodeo is under sponsorship of the Sundown Rodeo association, which was organized a few months ago.

A booster caravan will publicize the forthcoming rodeo with a trip over the area Thursday. The itinerary includes Brownfield, Seagraves, Seminole, Lamesa, O'Donnell, Tahoka, Post, Slaton, Lubbock and Levelland.

City manager Woody Sullivan is in charge of the booster trip.

Events to be featured in the rodeo performances include calf roping, ribbon roping, a cowgirl sponsors' contest, and bare back bronc riding.

J. A. Wise of Earth is furnishing stock for the rodeo.

Officers of the rodeo association are: Jimmy Meek, president; Guy Swain, vice president; and Ed Foster, secretary. Directors are Lester Dudley, Woody Sullivan, and Buck Pruitt.

Do You Really Want to Take Off That Ugly Fat?

Recently there has been a number of new reducing preparations on the market, some of them based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It is obvious that vitamins will not reduce the body weight, so one must depend on diet to reduce. But it is also obvious that one cannot go on a strenuous diet over a protracted period, and any weight lost will be restored if the former eating habits are gone back to.

So what to do? Well, here is a tip to you "overweight gals" who want to fight "the Battle of the Bulges" in a different way. Ask any well stocked Texas druggist for four ounces of Barcentrate. Mix with 12 ounces of grapefruit juice and take two tablespoonsful twice a day.

This preparation contains nothing harmful and the makers agree to refund your money on the very first bottle if it does not show you the way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves.

Barcentrate is low in cost and is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Barcentrate.

It Pays To Peruse Ads, Tulsans Find

TULSA, Sept. 22 (INS) — It pays to read the ads and 12 lucky Tulsa women found today it paid them about $45 each.

A department store planned to advertise a two-skirt suit for $49.98. But the price came out in the newspaper as $4.98.

NO EXTRA BUOYANCY

The buoyancy of water does not increase with its depth, and it is just as easy to swim in water ten feet deep as in water 100 feet in depth.

Levelland Company's Workers Entertained

LEVELLAND, Sept. 22 (Special) — Approximately 116 employes and guests of the Haliburton Co., attended a barbecue Wednesday night at the Haliburton area headquarters in west Levelland.

Employes attended from Levelland, Hobbs, Post, Seagraves, Anton and Midland.

Among those who attended were O. L. Stalcup of Midland, assistant superintendent of the firm there; C. A. Pace, field man of Hobbs, N. M.; and Ed Stewart, assistant field man of Hobbs.

George K. Burt of Levelland, was presented a pin for five years' continuous service with the company. The award was made by J. W. Hall, field man in the Levelland office.

W. S. "Fibber" McGee, employe who resides at Post, was presented a billfold for four years' safe driving of company trucks.

Hollywood Sweater Girl Is Miffed At French Newspapers

LONDON, Sept. 22 (U.P.) — Jane Russell of Hollywood sweater fame complained today the British and French press had done her an injustice by reporting she was tossed out of a Paris hotel for making too much noise.

"It wasn't me," she said. "It was a couple of others."

The shapely actress, here to attend a ball at Albert Hall sponsored b ythe London Daily Express, was miffed at French newspapers for printing a picture of her holding a bottle of champagne.

She said the picture was taken in the states "over a year ago" and that "I never touched champagne in my life." She added that she had not touched a cigaret or a bottle of beer for more than a year.

Miss Russell said she planned to shop in London, "mostly for tweeds."

"I adore tweeds," the sweater girl said.

INJURIES ARE FATAL

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 22. (AP)—Levin B. Wheeler, 75, of Corsicana, Tex., died in a hospital here yesterday from injuries received in a truck-car collision near Blackfish Lake, Ark., Saturday.

He had been under treatment for a fractured leg.

CURLEE

When you're buying a Fall suit, look for these three things: Smart, authentic styling—skilled workmanship throughout—quality in fabric and inner materials. You will find these things in every suit which carries the CURLEE label—the result of nearly a half-century of experience in making clothes for discriminating men. We're featuring CURLEE Fall suits in a complete range of models, styles and sizes—priced to make them the top value of the autumn season. Cobb's have CURLEE suits in your favorite all wool fabric . . . tweeds, coverts, worsteds, gabardines and sharkskins.
