Spudders Open Season With Shreveport as Their Guest

ONE BIG JAM DUE

6,000 Is Aim of Club Moguls In Effort to Win Cup

When J. Alvin Gardner's merry men went forth Monday to battle Fort Worth's pennant-drunk tossers there was blood on the moon and baseball mayhem in the collective Spudder heart. And, when they rattled the outer ramparts of Fort Worth's far flung domain and disrupted an ambitious Panther pennant program, they also sounded a clarion call to loyal hosts back home who Monday night eyed with eager anticipation the 1926 inaugural of Texas league baseball in Wichita Falls.

Shreveport the Guest.

With Shreveport as a guest, the Spudder entry today makes its first formal bow in the domestic parlor. The Gods of rain and wind permitting, they will take the field at 4 o'clock while a considerable portion of Wichita Falls looks on. The game will serve a double purpose this year, for it will be remembered that last April these same eminent gentlemen from Shreveport rode ruthless and rough shod over the Spudders, much to the discomfort of the ball players themselves and the packed throngs in the grand stand.

It is, therefore, meet, fitting and proper that this year's baseball aggregation not only exact tribute with interest from its traducers of yesteryear, but that those legions who witnessed the 1925 debacle be on hand to share in the spoils of today's eruptive siesta. And such, it appears will be the case.

The City to Close.

The city will be ciased with complete unanimity from 3 o'clock on this afternoon. That will give all and sundry opportunity to reach the ball park—or get pretty close to it, in time to hear the umps first blatant announcement of the "batrees." Whether or not all and sundry get inside the park is another question that will require personal solution.

Reports from baseball headquarters last night were to the effect Spudder park Tuesday afternoon would emulate the well known sardine can in packing density. Emergency measures have already been provided to handle the overflow crowd which will probably reach 6,000. This number was wanted as Wichita Falls' bid for the J. Doak Roberts attendance cup, a annual trophy given by the Texas league president to the city reporting the largest number of fans at the opening game. A change has been made this year, in that Wichita Falls will compete only with Shreveport, Beaumont and Waco, leaving the four larger cities, Dallas, San Antonio and Fort Worth, to fight it out on a different basis.

Parade to Start It.

The usual preliminaries will be staged prior to the game. Lloyd weaver's annual parade will wend its way through the business district at 3 o'clock with both teams, the fire and police department and most of the city and county dignitaries in line. Band music will be supplied during the parade and also at the ball park.

Mayor R. E. Shepherd will hurl the first ball and Fire Chief J. L. McClure will act as his battery mate. After that—the deluge.

Practically all the retail stores of the city will close at 3 o'clock this afternoon while most of the public offices will also shut up shop and let their crews off for the game.

DOCTORS PLAN CONTRACT FIGHT

Group Treatment And Fees Assailed at Dallas Convention

DALLAS, April 19.—(AP)—The The ground work for reform of court rules governing expert medical testimony was laid at the American Medical association annual convention which opened in Dallas today.

This and contract medical practices were the two principal issues before the house of delegates, the legislative body of the association. Under a resolution introduced by Dr. G. E. Follansbee of Cleveland, Ohio, the fees for expert medical opinion would be taxed and collected by the court and the opinion would be based on examination relative to the testimony and not on hypothetical questions.

The resolution declared the present procedure robbed litigants of even handed justice, favoring the "rich against the poor. The resolution offered the services of the organization in co-operation with bar association and other agencies to eradicate what is described as an abuse. It was referred to a committee for action tomorrow or Thursday.

A resolution by Dr. A. D. Dunn of Nebraska asked for an investigation of contract practice by which physicians contract with corporations to treat a group of employees or other persons for a stipulated yearly fee. This resolution also was referred to a committee.

Consideration of the liquor question, which was expected today, did not come to the floor of the house, but was discussed among the delegates.

ROB POSTOFFICES

Three Texas Stations Are Looted By Thieves.

AUSTIN, April 19.—(AP)—Burglaries of three Texas postoffices Saturday night were reported today at headquarters of the postoffice inspector of Austin division.

Thieves took a small amount of money from the Pioneer, Eastland county, office; about $50 in stamps and funds from the Texas City, Galveston county, office, and an unknown amount from the Lehman, Cochran county, office.

The United States received a total of $878,450 in royalty and retained $457,345 additional on lands to which it was decided no applicant had equitable claims.

Survivor of Texas Independence Fight Visits In Houston

HOUSTON, April 19.—(AP)—Although Hampton Steele of Limestone county, oldest son of the last survivor of the battle of San Jacinto, will be 87 years old on August 2, he expects to be in Houston the year of the Texas Independence centennial and supervise the building of a log cabin on the San Jacinto battle grounds which will be the exact duplicate of the one he was born in.

He is here this year as he has been every year for a decade or more for the celebration of San Jacinto Day Wednesday. He and his brother, A. F. Steele, 84, of Lovington, N. M., are visiting their sister, Mrs. Alice Eubanks of Houston.

VETERAN DIES

Captain John O'Neill, Civil War Prisoner, Surrenders at Last

SAN ANGELO, April 19.—(AP)—Captain John O'Neil Frink, 82, confederate veteran and justice of the peace here for several years, died Monday at the home of his sons after a brief illness. Frink was one of the few survivors of the six hundred confederate prisoners of the war who were confined for 42 days on Morris Island, near Charleston, S. C., much of the time under the shell fire of the opposing armies. His regiment, the Eighteenth North Carolina infantry, through mistake fired the shots that killed "Stonewall" Jackson.

SCOUTS SAVE MATE

AUSTIN, Arpil 19.—(AP)—Prompt action by Boy Scout companions saved the life of Jack Otting when he was bitten by a rattle snake. The boys were hiking in the hills several miles from town.

Otting's companions opened the wound with a pocket knife and sucked out the poison.

Shrine of Texas Liberty Is Mecca For Thousand

SAN ANTONIO, April 19.—(AP)—The old order and the new in the realm of melody contested for the attention of the crowds tonight as San Antonios' annual fiesta De San Jacinto was formally opened.

In the plaza before the old Alamo, "shrine of Texas liberty," several bands participated in a concert that started a week of festivity commemorating the victory of Sam Houston's Texans over Santa Ana's Mexicans at San Jacinto on April 21, 1836. Before the strains of popular and jazz airs had died away, an orchestra on the great stage of the new municipal auditorium was playing tunes of fifty years ago for members of the state association of Texas pioneers and their descendants. Here the pioneers held their annual ball with the quadrille schottische, polka and lancers predominant as non-members filled the balcony to look on.

With a thousand of the pioneers here for their annual meeting, hotels were crowded as other thousands came to join in the festivity that will be San Antonio's until late Saturday night. This year's fiesta gave promise of eclipsing those of the past in attendance and splendor.

Soldiers of the second division repeated in their stadium at Fort Sam Houston their military opera, "the spirit of the Argonne" which had its premiere last night. Actual war conditions were re-enacted, the crash of artillery intermingling with the crackle of rifle and machine gun fire.

Marine Officer Found Guilty

COCKTAIL CUP SWALLOWED TO BITTER DREGS

Silence of Courtmartial Is Indication Of Verdict

PARTY CONVICTS HIM

Findings Must be Reviewed By Superiors Before Being Published

MARINE BASE, SAN DIEGO, April 19.—(AP)—Colonel Alexander S. Williams today drank the dregs of the cocktail he offered to Brigadier General Smedley D. Butler last month when the military court trying him on a charge of intoxication preferred by the general adjourned under circumstances leaving no doubt as to his conviction.

While the court made no comment or announcement, other than it had adjourned, the circumstances of its adjournment were a tacit admission that it believed the colonel guilty of appearing drunk in the public rooms of the hotel Del Coronado the night he gave a dinner party in honor of General Butler.

Officers familiar with court martial procedure explained as the court departed that adjournment without definite announcement of acquittal is a military court's courteous way of informing a defendant he has been convicted.

Findings and recommendations of the court will be sent direct to the judge advocate general of the navy at Washington and communicated by him, with his recommendation for sentence to the secretary of the navy. The verdict is expected to be officially announced in the national capital within a week or two.

Verdict Indicated

Dismissal from the service is the maximum penalty possible under naval regulations but in cases not involving drunkenness on duty, the sentence usually does not exceed reduction in rank or numbers. Colonel Williams was not on duty when, as testified by General Butler during the trial, was "full at his home and staggeringly, gigglingly drunk at the hotel."

Arguments of counsel at the concluding session of the trial today were brief. And so was the deliberation of the court after it retired at 11:32 a. m., to ponder on a verdict. Shortly after 12 o'clock departure of the court from the building without notifying the defendant was interpreted in the light of court martial precedent as indicating a verdict of adjournment "to await action of the convening authority," meaning the secretary of the navy, was issued less than two hours later.

Hawaiian Village Lies Under Lava Fifty Feet Thick

HILO, T. H., April 19.—(AP)—The native village of Hoopulon lies under 50 feet of cooling lava today despite the sacrifices of Hawaiians to Pele, goddess of the volcano. The villagers offered pigs, herbs and distilled liquor to Pele.

Some of the residents fled in canoes, others, warned by the clouds of smoke and steam had time to drive flocks of sheep to other villages. A few saved some of their small belongings.

As the red hot lava poured through the village, it set afire 15 buildings and covered the ruins. The beach, where the natives had launched their fishing boats, was covered by smoking rock. From the sea arose clouds of steam and a roar like the exhaust of a thousand locomotives as the lava formed a new promontory on the ocean bed.

LAW ENFORCABLE

Woman Prosecutor Declares Volstead Act Can Be Active.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP) The Volstead act can be enforced relatively as well as other laws, Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in charge of liquor prosecutions, declared today before the senate prohibition committee. Before Mrs. Willebrandt was called to the stand at the beginning of the third week of the hearing, the drys sounded a trumpet call to the federal government to convince opponents of the prohibition laws that these statutes can and will be made effective.

JEWS NAME OFFICERS

DALLAS, April 19.—(AP)— The Jewish consumptives' relief society elected Harry Sigel of Dallas as a new director, at the organization's closing business session here Monday. This is the first time any persons residing outside of Denver, where the society's hospital is located, has been so honored. Other trustees, all of whom were re-elected are: D. H. Krohn, S. G. Rosenthal, I. Rude, H. J. Schwartz, Meyer Neusteter, Ben Grimes and Hyman Robinson, all of Denver.

White Fined $1 For Second Fly Of Irate Fists

Pleads Guilty Again To Making Attack On Reporter

A fine of $1 has been paid by Dennis Whjte, deputy sheriff under Fred K. Smith, for his second attack Saturday morning on a Record News reporter whose accounts of the sheriff department's activities in behalf of a convicted murderer aroused the ire of the officers.

White's first attack was made Friday afternoon on A. D. Hallman, court house reporter for the Record News; and after an account of this was published in Saturday morning's Record News, White repeated the attack with more severity Saturday morning. He entered a plea of guilty before Justice of the Peace Gwinn following the Friday fight; and after the Saturday fracas plead guilty before Justice of the Peace O. L. Gibbs and was fined $1 for an assortment of six or eight blows with his fist, several kicks and some verbal insults.

HOUSTON HOST TO LABOR MEN

State Convention Gets Under Way In South Texas City

HOUSTON, April 19.—(AP)—An era of peace and prosperity, with a sounder understanding between employe and employer, has been the good fortune of organized labor in Texas during the past year and is to be labor's further good fortune in the future.

Such was the composite picture drawn here today by labor leaders at the first session of the twenty-ninth annual convention of the Texas State Federation of Labor.

Harman Kachel, president of the state federation, drew the clearest picture of labor's position in his address opening the convention.

"We convene under the most auspicious and encouraging conditions," he told more than 300 delegates gathered here from every section of the state. "We are enjoying an era of peace and prosperity such as we have never enjoyed. There is not a note of discord anywhere in this great state. We enter this convention certain it will be the greatest in attendance, in enthusiasm and harmony ever held by the hosts of labor."

It was more of a day of pleasure than a session of business that greeted the labor delegates. The convention adjourned at noon to permit them to leave for a fish dinner on the historic San Jacinto battle ground. Only a few committee meetings were held. The evening was given over to a few group caucuses.

Proponents of Farm Relief Are Divided

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP) Administration forces supporting the Tincher farm relief bill and middle western delegations backing the corn belt plan today came to the parting of the ways.

Secretary Jardine urged the Tincher bill before the house agriculture committee while the delegations issued a statement affirming their "emphatic disapproval" of he measure and terming it "pink pills for pale people."

Secretary Jardine told the committee that the Tincher bill "does not propose any artificial disposition of the surplus such as would lead to an aggravated situation later.

SINISTER CRIME SHADOW TEXAS' GREAT MENACE

JAS. V. ALLRED

Candidate for Attorney General at Opening Rally

SAYS IT'S ORGANIZED

Lawyers And Business Men Pledge Support In Coming Campaign

The sinister shadow of organized crime is spreading over Texas today, and it is high time the county attorneys and district attorneys of Texas allign themselves with the attorney general of Texas to perfect an organized opposition to this menace of the criminal.

Such was the assertion Monday night of James V. Allred, Wichita Falls lawyer who has announced his candidacy for attorney general of the state and who opened his campaign with a rousing ralley at the Majestic theatre. Five hundred or more persons turned out for the meeting, which was addressed, in addition to Mr. Allred, by several other attorneys, judges and business men of this and nearby cities. All of the preliminary addresses paid glowing tribute to the youthful Allred's ability, energy and sincerity of purpose.

Use Care In Selections.

"Today as never before," Mr. Allred said, "it is essential that the people of Texas give attention to the officers who serve them and use careful judgement in the selection of these officers. The welfare of the government de-

Landslide Blocks Rescue of Workers

SAN FRANCISCO, April 19.—(AP)—The San Francisco Bulletin was notified by Sheriff L. A. Braden of Plumas county over long distance telephone from Quincy today that a new landslide in the tunnel of the Feather river power company at Buck's river had wiped out all the rescue work in behalf of the six men who were entombed by a landslide in the tunnel Saturday night.

The rescuers have not gained a foot, the sheriff said. "All of their work has been in vain so far. It may be at least another day before the bodies are taken out."

The men are in a small chamber blocked at one end by the facing of the tunnel and at the other by the landslide.

SCHOOL PROBLEMS

Marrs Declares More Finances And System Are Needed.

WACO, April 19.—(AP)—That there are two great outstanding problems before the public schools of Texas today, one of these being larger financial support, and the other being that of a better administration system, were statements made Monday by State Superintendent of Public Instruction S. M. N. Marrs, who is here attending a regional education conference of the superintendents of public high schools in the central Texas district.

HOFFMAN HEARING

AUSTIN, April 19.—(AP)—F. G. Hoffman, vice president of the Hoffman Construction company, Eastland, will not go to trial on charges of swindling and false swearing before the May term of the district court passing of his case here today.

It is charged that Hoffman swore his company had used 230,000 gallons of asphalt for "patching" highways in west Texas, where less than 20,000 gallons was used.

APPROVE SCHOOL BONDS

AUSTIN, April 19.—(AP)—Two independent school district series bond issues, both voted for construction of school houses, were approved by the attorney general's department.

They are: Odonnell, $65,000, bearing 6 per cent and Coleman, $25,000, bearing 5 per cent.

Press Freedom Guaranteed By Constitution

Representative Berger Asks Congress to Provide Punishment

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP) A bill prescribing punishment for persons interfering with the first amendment to the constitution which provides for freedom of speech, freedom of the press and the right of peaceable assemblage, was introduced today by Representative Berger, socialist, Wisconsin, "putting teeth into the 18th amendment," he said, "has become a favorite phrase with the Anti-Saloon league. I believe the first amendment can be believed, while the 18th amendment can not be enforced as experience has shown."

Mr. Berger said at the present time men are held under $30,000 bond at Passiac, N. J., because of exercising freedom of speech.

ROAD BOOSTERS IN FREDERICK

City Fills up For Annual Meet of Lee Highway Association

FREDERICK, April 19.—Frederick Monday evening was taking on the aspect of a convention city, with guests already arriving for the opening of the Lee highway association convention Tuesday. The meetings will continue Wednesday and Thursday.

Special displays in stores in the city depicted the ardor with which business men are entering into the welcoming spirit. Many novel and unique effects were created along this line.

Tuesday is to bring flags into their usual places in front of downtown business houses. During the opening day registration and distribution of guests to homes in the city will be carried on by the reception committee.

Plans are being made for delegates and Frederick's citizenry to move almost en masse to the Frederick-Vernon bridge between Davidson and Oklahoma Wednesday, where a dedication ceremony has been prepared. The celebration there is to be culminated by the extension of congratulations on the first Texas and Oklahoma interstate free bridge ever completed.

Thursday is to be for the business session of the association, the designation of the meeting place of next year and other matters of importance.

DALLAS DON'T CARE

Chamber of Commerce Will Not Oppose Fort Worth on Road

DALLAS, April 19.—(AP)—Plans of the Fort Worth chamber of commerce to secure a new state highway between Fort Worth and McKinney in Collins county in order to afford another route from east Texas to the Panther city without passing through Dallas will meet with no opposition on the part of the Dallas interests. The Dallas chamber of commerce announced Monday that it will offer every assistance to the cities affected by the proposed new route in securing designation and construction of the road.

ROBERT GRAVES, AGED 7, IS HIT ON N. BROADWAY

Compound Fracture of Skull Suffered by Small Boy

CONDITION CRITICAL

C. J. Milliron Aids Boy After His Car Strikes Lad

Robert Graves, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Graves, 1309 N. Ninth Street, is in a critical condition in the clinic hospital as a result of a fractured skull sustained late Monday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile on N. Broadway midway between N. Eighth and N. Ninth. A compound fracture of the skull was found when examination was made, and hospital attendants last night stated the lad's chances for recovery were slender.

The accident happened when the boy ran into the street in front of a car piloted by C. J. Milliron, 1905 Sixth Street. When the lad appeared, Mr. Milliron swerved his machine in a frantic effort to avoid striking the youngster. The bumper of the car, however, hit the baby and threw him to the pavement. The car did not pass over the body at all.

Mr. Milliron was the first man to reach the stricken youngster. He picked him up in his arms, carried him first to a nearby store and then took him to the hospital. Later he assisted in locating the boy's mother.

So far as could be learned last night, the accident was unavoidable.

Galveston Awaits Some Charming Wichita Miss

One round-trip to Galveston—maybe further; all expenses paid; suitable clothing, a gay, good time; official recognition as queen of the city's pulchritudinous feminine element; the tribute of a multitude—these and others are the inducements now being offered girls of Wichita Falls who may want to enter competition in the bathing beauty contest to be staged as a prelude to Galveston's annual revue.

Interest in the forthcoming contest which is being staged by the Olympic theatre and Record News has increased perceptibly since first announcement was made concerning it. Several entrants have already filed their pictures with the Olympic contest director. Others are to follow and all must be in by Wednesday, April 28.

The elimination contest here will be held at the Olympic theatre in a short time, with the winner selected by the judges to receive the title of Miss Wichita Falls. She will be sent to Galveston as this community's official representative at the annual Galveston bathing revue and international pageant of pulchritude. There, of course, she will compete with others, selected similarly from all parts of Texas, with the ultimate victor to go to the Atlantic City, N. J., pageant.

"HER MAN"

--By Beatrice Burton--

READ THIS THIS FIRST:

SYLVIA STARR has been engaged to RANDALL PHELPS for a year when he asks her to free him, because he's fallen in love with her chum, FAY SHIRLEY.

Heartbroken Sylvs gives him up, to the great satisfaction of her AUNT AGONY, the shrewd old maid, who who brought he rup. Aunt Agony calls Ranny a good-for-nothing, and says he'll never be faithful to any woman. Her opnon of him seems right. For presently he drops Fay and marries Sylvia, after all.

After they're married he and fay have a second love affair. And he gambles and drinks, and Sylvia has to give piano lessons to help keep a roof over their heads.

But when she breaks the news that she's going to have a baby, Ranny turns over a new leaf and behaves himself for a while. And Fay quickly marries an old beau of hers, EDDIE CARTER.

Soon after the birth of JUNIOR, the baby, Ranny goes back to his old habits, however. He gives Sylvia almost no money, and buys an expensive new car to take his latest "crush," MRS. JANE BRACKETT, a grass-widow, out riding. Sylvia goes on with her singing lessons from her former teacher.

One afternoon she signs at a tea given by MOTHER PHELPS, but Ranny forbids her ever to do it again.

IT WAS THE GIRL WHO HAD BEEN IN THE CAR WITH RANNY

He says he's not going to be known as the husband of "Sylvia Phelps, the singer." But Sylvia writes a song, "When Everything's Said," that becomes popular, and she wonders what Ranny will say when he comes back from a vacation in the north woods, and finds that his wife has become celebrated almost overnight; He is jealous of Sylvia and hates anyone to pay attention to her, especially PETER WILK, the bachelor brother of Aunt Agony's good friend, MISS SARAH WILK. Peter drives up to an inn where Sylvia is having a rest with Aunt Agony and the baby, to tell her that Ranny has returned home, ill, and wants her. On the way, they stop in at Peter's house for some sick-room supplies. Ranny has nothing but three-day measles. While he is recovering from them, Mrs. Brackett announces her sudden marrage to a rich old widower, and Sylvia thanks heaven that the Brackett affair is over. She and Ranny get along beautifully, until one night when she sings at Sarah Wilk's house, against Ranny's wishes. Afterward, when Peter drives her home, they see Ranny's car parked outside the house. In it are Ranny and a girl with a scarlet hat. Peter speeds by the house to keep Sylvia from seeing the car.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER XXXIX

"You don't need to bother about driving me to Buchanan park, Peter," Sylvia said gently, as they rounded the corner of Wing street. "I know you are trying to keep me from knowing who was in that car. But I do know—I saw Ranny and the red hat, as we passed—"

Her shaking voice wouldn't let her go on. She stopped, and made a gallant effort to pull herself together.

But it was of no use. She broke down suddenly and began to cry.

There are times when nothing takes the place of a good cry in a woman's life. Times when she has to cry, or go all to pieces. And Peter knew that this was one of those times, for Sylvia.

He drove quietly, not saying a word, and not moving. For Sylvia's head was on his shoulder, and she was sobbing out her misery and wretchedness on the sleeve of his new fall overcoat.

He smiled rather bitterly into the lamplit spaces of Buchanan park. This was surely the irony of fate—that the woman he loved should be crying on his shoulder, because of her jealous love for another man!

Presently Sylvia raised her head. She mustn't do this, she told herself. Peter was in love with her! And so it wasn't fair to put her head on his shoulder—to tempt him with her nearness. He was trembling now, a little, as it was. She drew herself sharply, almost angrily, away from him.

"Take me home!" she commanded, briefly and to the point. And like the good soldier that he was, Peter turned his car.

Sylvia had made up her mind to get out of the car and walk straight into the house, without so much as glancing to the right or to the left as she went in. But she was spared the trouble.

For when they turned back into Wing street, Ranny's car had vanished. Vanished into thin air and autumn darkness!

"I don't believe it ever was here!" Sylvia managed to say cheerfully, as she got out of the car, and gave Peter her hand. "I think we were dreaming, when we thought we saw it, dont' you?"

Her voice was gay, and she even laughed a little as Peter shook her hand. He leaned from the car, his rugged homely face almost good-looking with the kindness that was written on it.

"Sylvia, you're a game little sport!" he said, and dropped her hand.

"Sure, I'm a game little sport! Has it taken you all this time to find it out?" she jerred at him good naturedly, and ran up the steps of the apartment. "Good night, Peter! You're not xactly a totem-pole, yourself!"

A half hour later, when she was undressing, she opened her little silver evening bag to take out her handkerchief. There, tucked in the bottom of it between a powder puff and a lipstick, was a $20 bill.

"Now where did that come from?" she wondered, and she stood turning it over and over in her hands. Then she remembered—Sarah had held her bag for her while she sang. Sarah had probably taken this way of paying her!

"But I can't take money from her—from my friends!" Sylvia thought, in an agony of shame. As if Ranny only did what was right, people would't offer her money, when she sang for them. They would't pity her as they do now, because she had to earn her living. And not only her own living, but the baby's living, too. Ranny hadn't contributed a penny toward the upkeep of the house, since August.

The door opened toward twelve o'clock, and he came in.

She was waiting for him wrapped in her kimona of old-blue silk, and lying in a long chair under the living loom lamp. A book lay on her knees, but she had'nt read a word of it. Her big eyes under their satin lids and clouded lashes, gleaned at him. The red mouth, with its passionate underlip, moved, and she spoke—almost lazily.

"Who was the girl in the red hat?" she drawled.

Ranny's voice matched her with its slow carelessness. "Oh, just a girl I picked up, walking on her way from work, so she said," he answered. 'My new car has a wonderful pick-up, you know."

His gray blue eyes were hard, and he shrugged his shoulders, as he walked into the bedroom, and closed the door of it behind him.

Sylvia longed to follow him. She wanted to shake him, as a mother might shake her wicked young son, because he had picked up a girl on the street! And at the same time, she wanted to go to him, and beg him not to desecrate their love as he was doing—not to bring it in the gutters! If he couldn't be true to her, wouldn't he at least behave himself, because of the baby?

The door of the bedroom opened and he came marching out into the living room. He looked more handsome than usual in a suit of dark blue pajamas that Sylvia had bought him when he had the measles.

How fine and tall and up-standing he was! He looked like a person who spoke the truth with the regularity of a George Washington. No one would ever pick him for the type of a man who drives his car up beside a strange girl and says "Who's who are you? Let's all go my way!" And yet that was the very thing he had just been doing, by his own confession!

"Ranny, how could you pick up a strange girl in the street" Sylvia asked him shaking her glossy head. "How could you do such a thing?"

He raised his eyebrows and went on looking for a book in the cases that lined the wall. "Why shouldn't I?" he asked lightly, "you were doing something I didn't want you to do, weren't you? I told you I didn't want you to sing in pubic, and you did it, anyhow! You went out and left me here alone. Is it any of your business how I amused myself while you were gone? 'When the cat's away,' you know!"

His voice imitated Aunt Agony's, as he quoted the proverb. And in spite of herself, Sylvia laughed.

But there was no laughter in Ranny. "The only reason you went over to Wilks' to sing was to show off before Peter!" he said darkly, "you had it all planned to suit yourself——even the ride home with him!"

Sylvia's eyes widened with amazement. "Well, my goodness! There wasn't anything wrong in his bringing me home was there? There wasn't anybody else to do it?" she said. "You wouldn't want me to walk home, at half past nine—"

Ranny shook his head and broke in with a short laugh. "You couldn't have asked me to call for you and drive you home, I suppose?" he asked.

She didn't answer him. She told herself, though, that she would rather have crawled home on her hands and knees than to have asked Ranny to drive her here! He had never asked her to go for a drive in his new car, and she would never ask him to take her for a drive in it! Never, never, never!

"You'd like me to think you're Little Miss Innocence, wouldnt' you?" Ranny was saying now, as he watched her narrow eyes. "You'd like me to think that there's nothing between you and Peter! But let me ask you something? What were you doing in Peter Wilk's house, alone with him, one night last summer? Answer me that!"

She could only stare at him speechless, while two spots of color came in her white face and her body shook with excitement.

"Why—I never was in Peter's house alone with him, was I? she asked, her mind going rapidly back over her past life. "Let me think—" Her eyes darkened with remembrance of many things. But she could not recall a time when she had been alone with Peter in his house.

She shook her head. "No," she said. "No—" But just then she remembered! She remembered the night last August when she and Peter had stopped in at the Tower Street house to get a bottle of brandy and a heating pad for Ranny when he had the measles.

She laughed, with sudden relief.

"Oh, yes, of course, I remember now! Peter brought me here from the inn, that day you were taken sick. And on the way we stopped in at his house to get you some old brandy he had," she explained carefully. "But we weren't in the house more than a minute. How in the world did you ever hear about it, anyway?"

Without answering her, he nodded his head wisely. "Never you mind how I heard about it! Only you'd better go over to my mother, tomorrow, and tell her your side of the story. That's all."

It flashed upon Sylvia, then, that she hadn't heard from Mother Phelps for two or three weeks.

She had been too busy to notice it before, but now as she looked back she realized that Lolly, too, had been rather cool toward her for the last month or so . . . And this must be the cause of it! Some horrid piece of gossip about herself and Peter Wilk!

Suddenly she remembered how she had seen a woman walk past Peter's house that night last August, just as she had stepped out of the door, holding the brandy bottle under her arm. But who could the woman have been?

She found out the next morning, from Mother Phelps' own firm lips. "Miss Gould, my dressmaker, lives just back a block or two from the Wilks' house on Tower street," she explained. "And she almost jumped out of her skin when she saw you and Peter go into his house that night . . . She never dreamed that you were taking that bottle of brandy to poor Ranny! She come straight here the next morning and told me that you and Peter had been out drinking together?"

She rushed to her feet. "I'll call her right up and tell her to come over here to get the rights of the story!" she said importantly. "I'm only sorry I didn't come straight to you with the tale when I first heard it, Sylvia. I might have known there wasn't any truth in it! By now, goodness knows who hasn't heard it!"

"Oh, horse-collar!" Lolly said in her slangy way, when her mother had gone. "She knows that nobody has heard the story except Ranny. She told Miss Gould at the time that if she ever mentioned it to a living soul, she'd jump down her throat! She knows that Miss Gould has never opened her mouth about it! She just wants to stir up some fresh excitement, that's all!"

Lolly saw through all her mother's harmless little shams, with the clear eyes of the unsentimental flapper.

"Speaking of operations, I want to ask you and Ranny to a party," Lolly went on, dropping her toy dog on the floor, and taking a rouge box from her handbag. "It starts at my house with cocktails, and winds up at Sally King's, with a dance."

The idea was this: Two could give a party much more cheaply than one, so Lolly and Sally King, who had been Sally March, decided to give one together. Lolly was to pay for the sandwiches and the cocktails, and Sally was to provide the jazz orchestra.

For both Thomas Boyle and "Woody" King were paying for their little bungalows in Evergreen Court, and their wives had received orders to "count the pennies."

When Sylvia told Ranny about the party, he said grudgingly that he would go. "Unless Peter Wilk's been invited," he added, scowling.

He no longer believed Miss Gould's highly colored story of Sylvia and Peter and the brandy bottle, but nevertheless, it had served to make him dislike Peter more than ever! . . . To mention Peter's name to him was like waiving a red flag at a mad bull, these days!

After long thought and much counting of her own pennies, Sylvia made up her mind to buy a new dress for the party. Long afterward, she decided that it must have been her guardian angel that told her to buy the dress!

For she was very beautiful in its cloth of silver, splendor—and she needed all her beauty and her lure that night, as she seldom had needed them before.

Ten minutes after she had walked into Lolly's adorable little house, with its chintz covers and hook rugs, and crisp muslin curtains, a girl came in, with a nondescript young man whom "Woody" King hailed as "Bellows, old sport!" They slapped each other on the shoulders—Woody and Bellows—with the air of old friends, while the girl stood smiling from them to Sylvia.

But Sylvia did not smile back at her. She was looking at the girl's hat—a tiny red thing, as bright as a scarlet tanager. On one side of it flashed a huge rhinestone buckle.

She had seen that hat before, and the girl, too! She was the girl who who had been in the car with Ranny that October night, when Peter had tried to keep Sylvia from seeing them!

MELKSHAM, Eng.—L. J. Philip has divided among the employes of his factory his entire salary for 1925.

OFFICERS HIDE BEHIND SHIELD

Huge Metallic Barrier Covers Marshals During Searches

HOUSTON, April 19.—(AP)—A curious story was brought here today by a motorist from Brownsville, illustrating a new wrinkle in the government's war on rum running.

At an unnamed point between Brownsville and Houston, he saw in the distance along the road a number of twinkling lights, he said. The motorist was speeding along at a fast clip in the night.

As he appeared the spot he saw a shining steel shield as tall as a man with the words "United States Marshal" outlined on its surface. The motorist stopped, a man who said he was in the service of the government stepped out with a flash light and two other men appeared from out of the darkness. Badges were exhibited, and the car hurriedly searched. In the interval the motorist said he examined the shield. It apparently was made of a piece of curved steel, wide and high enough to shield the body of a man.

"What's the idea of that?" the motorist asked.

"To keep from getting shot," one of the agents said. We stand behind that and hold our flashlights out, blinking them on and off. Sometimes motorists get scared and shoot at us and at other times a bootlegger's car is sighted. Sometimes the occupants give us a regular volley. We've stopped a few by puncturing their tires when they fired on us that way."

A moment later the agents waved the motorist on his way and he arrived in Houston a somewhat mystified man as regards the methods employed by Uncle Sam's forces in fighting whiskey hauling.

POOR OLD SOUSA

Radio Cuts His Royalties to Mere $20,500.

WASHINGTON, Aprll 19.—(AP) Radio and talking machines have changed the American people into a "listening public" which no longer buys or plays sheet music, John Philip Sousa, told a joint congressional committee today in opposing the Dill bill to regulate the radio broadcasting of copyright music.

He said that last year his royalties totaled $20,500, "a mere pittance in comparison with his income prior to the invention of phonograph and radio."

Gary Will Resign Steel Chairmanship

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP)—Elbert H. Gary's retirement as chairman of the United States Steel corporation was foreshadowed, in the opinion of many stockholders, by his remarks at the annual meeting in Hoboken, N. J., today, although he did not definitely state his intentions.

"While we are all strong and vigorous today," he said, "yet we know that in the natural course of events it will soon be time for some of us to say 'good bye.' But whatever happens, be assured we have carefully built up an organization and established plants which will assure protection and advancement to the interests of the stockholders of the corporation and this without detriment to the public welfare."

APPOINT STECK.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP)—Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, has requested that he be relieved of duty as a member of the senate military committee and Senator Steck, democrat, Iowa, was named to succeed him.

Bankers of Ranger Lose Note Appeal

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP)—The supreme court today declined to review a case involving the liability of J. W. Bohning, J. F. Driesbofer and T. J. Deffenbach on a note which they executed as directors of the First National Bank of Ranger, Texas, now in the hands of receiver.

The contended without success in the lower court that the note having been payable to the First National Bank of Fort Worth was merely to bridge over what were thought to be temporary discrepancies in accounts of the Ranger bank, and that makers of the note, which had been reduced to $9,975 should not be held liable.

The receiver of the Ranger bank sued on the notes, recovered judgment and from that decision, the makers of the note appealed.

NO JURISDICTION

State Courts Without Authority In Cattle Damage Suits.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP) State courts have no jurisdiction to damages to cattle in interstate shipments.

The supreme court so declared today in a case brought by the Great Northern against the Galbreath Cattle company and others involving shipments from Cody, Wyo., to Seville, Montana.

The Montana state courts had awarded damages, but the verdict was set aside today by the supreme court.

COLD IN NEW YORK.

MALONE, N. Y., April 19.—(AP)—The temperature here was two degrees below zero at daybreak today. Ice thirty inches in thickness was cut on Mountain View lake, 16 miles south of Malone.

Musical Tea Given As One of Season's Elaborate Functions

A week-end affair which proved one of the most elaborate of the spring season was on Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Joe Art and her sister, Mrs. I. A. Fine, were hostesses at a musical tea given at the Country club.

The reception suite at the club was artistically decorated for the occasion in myriads of spring flowers entwined with southern smilax, while the stage setting where a charming program was given, was also a bower of beauty with a background of ferns, palms and blossoms.

Met By Mrs. Joline

The guests were met at the door by Mrs. aCrrie Joline and introduced to the house party including Mrs. Art, Mesdames S. S. Reisenberg, Maurice Letterman of Oklahoma City, E. B. Reisenberg, J. C. Straus, C. C. McDonald, M. A. Marcus, A. Marks, Claude Woods, Richard Delaney, Dan Boone, M. J. Bashara, C. E. McCutcheon, J. W. Duval, Ben Kaufman, O. T. Bacon, L. Horwitz, Fred Weeks, P. P. Langford, Frank Carter, T. W. Roberts, R. E. Huff, Joseph Mayfield, Dan Rubsam and Miss Johnnie Morgan.

In the diningroom were Mesdames Lee Haney, Dudley Golding, Misses Nancy Jane Harlin, Sibyl Kell and Edna Moran assisted by a group of lovely sub-debs, including Misses Rose Marion Art, Joline Woods, Mary Delaney, Mary Collier, Margaret Norwood, Camille Avis, Catherine Weeks, Corine Tucker, Emogene Willis, Peggy Durkin, Nathaline Lebenson, Elizabeth Langford and Wilma Brown. The girls also acted as ushers. Little Miss Pauline Jane Art presided over the card tray.

Introducing the program, little Miss Dorothy Fine read an original poem written by Mrs. Ben Kaufman as folows.

"A welcome, a greeting
Comes right from the heart,

To all you dear friends
Of Mrs. Fine and Mrs. Art.
And now that you're seated
And all you're at ease
We'll go on with our program
Which we hope will please

It's a privilege, a pleasure
To have you all here
And now, on with the program
May it bring you good cheer."

The program was given as follows:

Vocal duos, "Love Came Calling," (Zamenik.) "Love's Paradise," (Royce) Alva Willgus and Hermione Stewart Vaughn, Mrs. Willgus, accompanist.

Piano solo, "Concert Waltz," (Moskowski) Mrs. Harwood Stacy.

Violin, "The Rosary," (Keislers.)

"Lullaby," (Max Reger) Mrs. T. B. Greenwood, accompanied by Mrs. L. B. Huff.

Readings: "When Angry, Count 100."

"Maggie and Jiggs at the Golden Gate," Ella Merle Mathis.

"Toe Dance," "Naila Ballet" and "Indian Dance," Anna Mae Cato.

Vocal solos, "Bright is the Apple," (Edward Elgar.)

"On An April Apple Bough," Margaret Lang, Mrs. Jerry Shafer, accompanied by Mrs. Ben Bell.

Piano, "Lengende" (Liszt) Floyd Ard.

Violin, "The Swan."

"La Capricrense," (Elgar) Mrs. Jouette Bonner, accompanied by Mrs. Bell.

Group of dialect poems, Mrs. E. L. Fulton.

Vocal numbers, duet, (a) "See the Pale Moon," (F. Campana.)

Duet, (b) "A Spring Pastoral," (Wilson.)

Duet, (c) "The Gypsies," (Brahms) Adele and Juel Ray, accompanied by Mrs. F. R. Collard.

More than 300 guests were present, and it was regretted that Mrs. Fine was ill and unable to take her place with the other hostess.

An ice course carrying out the spring shades of pink and orange was served, with favors of hand-made wax lilies.

Mrs. Parfet Hostess To Circle One

Mrs. C. C. Parfet, assisted by Mesdames John Tincred, J. M. Bland and L. L. Bivings was hostess to Circle One of the Floral Heights Missionary society at her home Monday afternoon when the program was opened with the "Lord's Prayer," repeated in unity. Mrs. E. U. McArthur gave the devotionals and short talks were made by each member on the benefits received from the Hogg revival.

Roll call was responded to with items of social service work done, and plans were made for a rummage sale to be held soon. The program included a song by Mrs. Colvert; reading by Miss Mildred Mays, song by Miss Hazel Champion, accompanied at the piano by Miss Mary Beth Martin, and piano number by Miss Beaty.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Billy Burt, C. H. Bingham, W. H. Costley, Jewel Childers, Lulu Bristol, J. W. Donehoo, R. L. Eads, Milton Gaines, Charles Kilpatrick, John Kay, Harold Murph, H. COULD NOT PUT ON HER SHOES

Mrs. Daugherty Was so Weak

In a little town of the Middle West, was a discouraged woman. For four months she had been in such poor health that she could not stoop to put on her own shoes. Unable to do her work, unable to go out of doors or enjoy a friendly chat with her neighbors, life seemed dark indeed to Mrs. Daugherty.

Then one day, a booklet was left at her front door. Idly she turned the pages. Soon she was reading with quickened interest. The little booklet was filled with letters from women in conditions similar to hers who had found better health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I began taking the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Daugherty writes, "and after I took the third bottle, I found relief. I am on my eleventh bottle and I don't have that trouble any more, and feel like a different woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to everyone I see who has trouble like mine. I am willing to answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Ed. Daugherty, 1308 Orchard Ave., Muscatine, Iowa.

Police Round Up San Antonio Vags For Festival Week

SAN ANTONIO, April 19.—(AP) Working a double shift of police and detectives and assigning a squad of plain clothes men to duty, Chief of Police T. O. Miller today launched a war against criminals in San Antonio which will be vigorously prosecuted throughout fiesta week. Although the police chief pronounced conditions as "satisfactory" he declared his move is a precautionary one to prevent any unusual activity of criminals among fiesta visitors.

Cooperating with Chief Miller, Sheriff Jim Stevens and Duke Carver, constable, gave orders to their deputies Monday to round up all suspicious characters and assist in patroling the city. Pick pockets were active yesterday.

do you get up feeling rocky?

ARE you full of "pep" and vim when you get up—hungry as a bear, spreading joy throughout your home and fairly eager to get at your work?

Or, do you feel all tired-out and aching in every bone and muscle—bad taste prevailing—not wanting any breakfast—grouchy and miserable and just driving yourself to work by main force?

When you feel this way you are hopelessly beaten before you start. And it's all because your red-blood-cells are below normal. That's why you need S. S. S.

And when you build up your blood with S. S. S. that sluggish, let-down feeling, as well as rheumatism, pimples, boils and other skin troubles disappear.

PERPETUAL MOTION OUT-CLASSED

THE industrial world is to be stood upside down, turned inside out and generally so revolutionized and remodeled that it won't know itself if what Garabed Giragossian, the Armenian, who says he has perfected an invention that can produce unlimited energy from practically nothing at all, can make good his claims, as he has proposed to do before a committee of scientists appointed by congress.

For a good many years Giragossian has been bobbing up in Washington, telling of the wonders of his device, which, indeed, must be "wonderful, and yet again wonderful, and after that out of all hooping," as they say in "As You Like It." Previous congresses have fought shy of Giragossian, some rude, unsympathetic members urging him to betake himself and his invention to some institution whose staff of scientists make a specialty of studying such things as wheels and whirls. But the American was never turned down so hard that he couldn't turn up again. And the present congress has granted the prayer of his petition.

Giragossian says that his invention is so simple that if he should even disclose the basis of it, which he says comes from high school physics, he would soon be lost in the scramble of others to lay claim to it. For this reason he has steadfastly refused to let drop the remotest hint of the principle of its operation until he has been assured by congress that he will get the patent rights. "With my invention," Giragossian declares, "unlimited energy can be produced without toil or expense except for the usual wear and tear on the machinery. One of my inventions placed on a railroad truck car would drive the heaviest train that ever moved by the most powerful locomotive. It can propel the most gigantic ship that ever floated, faster than it can be driven by a series of engines, and it will operate without any fuel or other expenses for motive power." The scientists of the University of Missouri will now convene in special session.

A SHIP OF SCIENCE

A SHIPLOAD of science has come to this country with the irrival of the foreign delegates of the International Electrotechnical commission. With them is the founder of the body, Colonel R. E. Crompton, of England, whose creed is 'that politicians are on thing, electricians another." The personnel includes Sir Richard Glazebrook of Cambridge, one of the foremost physicists; Sir Archibald Denny, and specialists of 12 continental lands. They are lovers of peace, and with a diversity of national orgins they speak the one tongue of science as they communicate their technical knowledge in a 10-day session at the Engineers' club in New York and re-affirm their American colleagues the value of universal standards of measurement in electrical industry. As they will visit our centers of education they will both observe and communicate. Their coming must be to the advantage alike of eager guest and cordial host, and no visitors whom the year will bring have an errand more important to the advancement of technical practice on a basis of sound theory.

OPPOSITE POINTS

CONSISTENCY and teamwork are not soviet strong points. Not so long ago Leon Trotzky was sure Russia and the United States were both losing money because they were not trading as fully with each other as they might. A little later Trotzky was visioning the United States as a commercial monster sucking the lifeblood out of Europe. In his opinion, America was an imperalistic beast fattening on the worn bodies of war-shattered European powers. Now Adolf Joffe, chief of the soviet concessions commission, is announcing that Russia is looking to America for capital, help and advice since only in America can the needed money, skill and energy be found. He wants to get into the granting of concessions on a wholesale basis. The Russian mind still needs quite a lot of making up. It is not only a question of future safeguards that must be considered. When the Russians are ready to meet past and unpaid obligations, both financial and political, it will be time to talk about the future. Meanwhile, their spokesmen will do well to make their opinions and announcements agree.

57 VARIETIES OF LIBERTY

HAVE you ever noticed how many definationsof liberty there are abroad in the land?

The only freedom which deserves the name, is that of pursuing our own good in our own way, as long as we do not attempt to deprive others of theirs, or impede their efforts to obtain it. Each is the proper guardian of his own health, whether bodily, or mental or spiritual. Mankind are greater gainers by suffering each other to live as seems good to themselves, than compelling each to live as seems good to the rest.

Through this doctorine is anything but new, there is no doctrine which stands more directly opposed to the general tendency of existing opinion and practice. Everywhere it is being observed that society has expanded fully as much in the attempt according to lights) to compel people to conform to its notions of personal, as of social excellence.

John Stuart Mill observed that the disposition of mankind whether as rulers or as fellow-citizens, to impose their own opinions and inclinations as a rule of conduct on others, is energetically supported by some of the best and some of the worst feelings incident to human nature, that it is hardly ever kept under restraint by anything but want of power.

And as the power is not declining, but growing, unless a strong barrier of moral conviction can be raised against it, we must expect, in the present circumstances of the world, to see it increase.

There's a reverse side to all this.

"The cry for liberty is an honest cry," declares an easterner (I regret I cannot give you his name.)

"From the beginning of history men have struggled for liberty, and having achieved it have at once set about the business of enslaving other men.

"Let a slave be made free and his first desire is for a man Friday to polish his boots.

"The cry for liberty is a cry for the right to snub those who snub us. The first business of a revolution is to overthrow those who now have authority; the second business is to affix chains to them.

"There have been many revolutions. The outstanding achievement of all has been the setting up of a new set of bosses."

Here's something worth thinking about.

THE REAL DIFFERENCE

THIRD liberty loan 4 1-2 percent bonds mature on September 15, 1928. On that date the treasury will have to put through a refunding operation. The amount outstanding today is about $2,570,000,000. Treasury officials would like to reduce it below the two-billion mark before refunding.

The fly in their ointment is that these "liberties" are now selling at about $101.10 per $100 bond on the open market, and it is provided in the law that the treasury may not buy them in at above par. The clause, however, has been properly construed to mean that the average buying price shall not be above par, and the United States has obtained considerable amounts below that figure.

On this basis the government has a margin of about $4,000,000—sufficient to cover purchases of slightly less than $400,000,000 of the bonds. This and the additional fact that the bonds will dip toward par with approaching maturity will probably remove the difficulty confronting the treasury officials.

It will be interesting to see what interest rate the government will have to pay in refunding this two-billion block of "liberties." The difference between this rate and 4 1-2 percent will symbolize the difference between peace and war in dollars and cents.

TIME FOR ACTION

THE failure of the government to win its first "air-piracy" case should speed up federal legislation for the regulation of the radio industry. The government was proceeding under the wireless laws passed in 1912 against a Chicago broadcasting station for operating on a wave length which had been assigned to another station. The court found the provisions of the wireless act of 1912 ambiguous and not applicable in the case. Secretary Hoover has said that failure to convict in the Chicago suit would mean chaos in the broadcasting field, with many stations rushing in and appropriating the wave lengths wanted. Meanwhile congress has before it radio legislation which, if passed, will restore order in the American radio world. This is one of the tasks that should be completed before Capitol Hill is deserted this summer.

Questions From the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

Dear Miss Dix—A young man of character and good morals has suggested to his fiancee that they live together, lack of funds having prevented their marriage. Is happiness to be found by following the dictates of love and does that happiness last? If his love is sincere, would he have made that suggestion? Do people who live together unconventionally eventually marry? Just what does the girl sacrifice? The girl is decent in every respect. Does love make a difference? If it is her only chance of happiness, should she take it? What are your ideas and your advice?

ANXIOUS.

Answer—To begin with, no young man of character and good morals would make such a degrading proposition to his fiancee. He would not be willing to sacrifice her to his passion, nor to make of her that pitiful and bedraggled thing, a woman with a past, who lives in terror and dread of her neighbors and her children ever finding out what she has been.

The man's excuse for making this suggestion to his sweetheart is as contemptible as his proposition, for the price of virtue is no higher than that of vice.

A wife is no more expensive than a mistress, and it costs no more for two persons to live together when they are decently married than if they are doing so without benefit of clergy. Moreover, so many women continue to work after marriage now that the woman's earning power would be no less one way than the other.

Of course, men and women who live together unconventionally do sometimes exentually marry, but not often. Generally, the man gets tired of the woman, and after he has taken the best years of her life and her youth and good looks are gone, he wearies of her and throws her aside as a child does a broken toy of which it has wearied.

The conditions under which those live who defy the conventions do not foster love. Instead they put an almost intolerable strain upon it, and there are few liasons that survive longer than a year or two.

To begin with, the loose relationship between the couple promotes jealousy. Each is eternally suspicious of the other. Each, knowing the other recognizes no law higher than his or her desires, is eternally fearful that some guest of fancy will blow the other in a new direction.

This is particularly true of the woman, who nearly always gets to the place where she is the man's jailer and who alienates his affection from her and hastens his desertion of her by her nagging of him about other women.

Then, no matter how much two persons may think they love each other and that they can give all for love and the world forget, they soon find that this is not true. They yearn for old friends, old associations, respectability. And when they realise that they are ostracised the begin to count the cost and find it too much, and to hate each other for their mutual folly.

You ask what the woman sacrifices in such a case. Everything that makes life worth living. Her self-respect, her virtue, her right to look the world in the face. The right to have her children respect her and honor her. The right even to a husband's respect.

No man is worth that. No love is worth buying at that price, for sinful love is dead sea fruit that turns to ashes on your lips. There is no happiness to be found anywhere except in right doing and clean living.

DOROTHY DIX.

WHO'S WHO

PRINCE WILLIAM OF SWEDEN

When Prince William of Sweden comes to America this summer he will not come as a representative of his country, but as the paid lecturer of a lyceum bureau.

The price, second son of Sweden's king, will talk on his experiences covering more than two years of exploration in the least known of regions of Africa.

While on this trip he discovered more than eight unknown volcanoes in the mountains of Mumbrio.

He brought back a shipload of specimens to the Royal Natural History Museum of Sweden containing more than a thousand mammals, two thousand birds and about ten thousand insects, many of them new to naturalists. Among the collection were two dozen gorillas and a considerable number of rare fauns.

The prince is also an author and his play "Kinangosi" will probably be produced in this country this summer.

He was at one time wedded to the Grandduchess Marie Pavlovna of Russia, only daughter of the murdered Grand Duke Paul and of his first wife, who was a sister of the late King Constantine of Greece.

Because of incompatibility the marriage was later annuled by the Swedish Council of State in 1914.

The Swedish house is far from rich and the prince may be embarking on this tour principally to better his financial status.

When Field Marshal Berndotte ascended to the throne he concealed a vast amount of treasure which he had garnered while commanding armies in Germany and France. Although it is certain that it is hidden in the maze of vaults which underlie the palace no one has succeeded in unearthing it. So while untold wealth may be had for the discovery, Sweden's royal family is comparatively poor.

DINNER STORIES

It was a dark night, and after the breakdown the motorist emerged from beneath the car, struggling for breath. His helpful friend, holding an oil can, beamed on him.

"I've just given the cylinder a thorough oiling, Dick."

"Cylinder!" howled the motorist. "That wasn't the cylinder; it was my ear!"

A cyclist, passing through a sleepy village, stopped to ask a young man if he knew where a certain road led to. The youth did not know, and seemed ill at ease at not being able to give the information.

After riding for about three miles the cyclist stopped at an inn for refreshment, and presently was surprised to see the youth from the village come panting up.

"Are you the gent what axed where this road led to?" he gasped.

"Yes," said the cyclist.

"Well," was the reply, "I asked my brother, too, and he don't know either"

The dentist had just been to call on one of his clients to try and collect for a full set of false teeth he had made for him about a year before.

"Did he pay you?" asked his wife.

"Pay me!" echoed the dentist scornfully. "Not only did he refuse to pay me, but he actually had the effrontery to gnash at me—with my own teeth!"

DOCTORS NOT GUILTY

Hold Physicians Prescribing Dope Do Not Violate Law.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP) Physicians who "in good faith" prescribe to patients more morphine than required for one does are not guilty of violating the Harrison anti-narcotic act."

The supreme court laid down this principal today in the case of Dr. A. W. Boyd of Chattanooga, Tenn., who contended that his method of treatment had proved effective in curing the morphine habit. His conviction in the lower court was upheld, however, on the ground that he had not prescribed the morphine "in good faith."

CAN'T RECOVER.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP)—William Leather and Leon K. Leigh lost in the supreme court today in an effort to recover from the United States compensation which they claimed was due them from the taking over by the government for veterans' hospital purposes of property of the Speedway Park association of Chicago.

The court refused to entertain their appeal from lower court decisions.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

Today's planetary aspects are not favorable, although not distinctly adverse, and remain so until late in the afternoon when they assume a very encouraging nature. The signs denote that although efforts of a strenuous or radical character may not be crowned with success, routine work may be carried out to more advantage than is customary. In the evening, there will be present many stimulating vibrations and these will necessarily contribute to happiness in the home. There will also be sensed great responsiveness and such conditions always augur well for lovers, as the "old, old story" can be told effectively and heeded receptively.

Children born today are, according to the signs, destined to suffer considerably from the ailments that are usually associated with infancy. This, however, need cause no alarm as with well-regulated alimentation and plenty of fresh air, they will outgrow all their early disabilities and attain normal physical condition long before they reach their 'teens. In character, they will be determined, but not stubborn. They will possess very affectionate natures but will be rather slow in giving their emotions any outward display. They will be fairly studious, and have the happy knack of making friends quickly, and will both give and inspire loyalty.

If today is your birthday, you lack all sense of humor and take yourself as well as others, altogether too seriously. This makes you, at times, a rather lugubrious sort of a person. Life is, of course, a stern reality but if you are obessed with this idea, you cannot derive much happiness from living, nor will your companionship be sought, except by those who are miserable and love company.

You are gifted in an artistic way and your tastes are cultured and you strive all the time for refined surroundings. You possess great resourcefulness and never seem at a loss to know what to say or to do—except when it is time to laugh. You are thoroughly dependable and your friends of whom you have only a limited number, realize that they can always rely upon you.

Your home life is serene but very conventional and your disposition is altogether too much lacking in cheerfulness to radiate that degree of mirthful happiness which is one of the essentials of "home, sweet home."

Successful people born this date are:

John F. Hylan, ex-mayor of New York City.

Henry T. Tuckerman, critic—essayist and poet.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

ON GOOD CONCRETE

"I always try to make some time
On good concrete," Seth Porter said.
"I reckon there'll be hills to climb
And rougher roads not far ahead.
The fellow who just loafs along
When things go right, content to coast,
Will wish that he had made the most
Of better days when things go wrong.

"A farmer's life is up and down,
And, when I have a fairish year,
Then I don't blow it all in town
For useless things and foolish cheer.
Don't be a tightwad, no, not than,
But lay a little bit away,
A little for a rainy day
When crops are poor or prices flat.

"The road of life's like any road.
And, when you hit the good concrete,
Then make some progress with your load
Against the time when mud you'll meet.
In easy days work just as hard,
And save a bit against the time
When there'll be hills ahead to climb
And bumps instead of boulevard."

What Do You Know About It?

DAILY SCIENCE SIX

1. What is the freezing point of water on the Centigrade scale?
2. What happens to water at zero degrees farenheit?
3. Is ice heavier than water?
4. Is rain water pure (free from dirt, foreign gases, etc.)?
5. What makes water "hard" or "soft"?
6. Why does distilled water taste "flat"?

Answers to these questions in tomorrow's Record News.

WILL-O-THE-WISP

Nothing has excited more wonder or terror than the will-o-the-wisp that sometimes flits over water. In the desolate bogs of Scotland and Ireland it is especially common, and is believed to be an evil water spirit, luring people on to their destruction. Will-o-the-wisp is not however something mythological but actually exists. Nor is it the phosphorescent flash that is sometimes seen on the surface of tropical oceans at night, but occurs on fresh-water marshes. It is really due to nothing in the least supernatural but to the bursting of bubbles of methane or marsh gas generated in muck where vegetable mold is decaying, and spontaneously igniting in a tiny flame as it meets the free air.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions:

1. The poppy, Papaver somniferum, yields opium.
2. Quinine is obtained from the bark of the Chinchona tree.
3. Caffeine is a drug found in coffee.
4. Cocaine comes from the coca shrub.
5. The root of May apple is a cathartic.
6. Iodine is obtained, partly, from sea weed.

POEMS THAT LIVE

"Recollection," by Anne Reeve Aldrich.

This New York poet, who died in 1892, is far too little known. I am not saying that the greater portion of what she gave us is invaluable; but certain brief lyrics have a quality that places them above the run of the verse published so promiscuously by ardent publishers and versifiers.

The lines I quote have long remained in my memory, and they refuse to leave me. They are marked by a great gift for contrast; and anyone who has known love, and the sorrow that usually accompanies it, will be affected by Miss Aldrich's deep feeling—a remembrance so keen that it brings almost a physical pain.

How can it be that I forget
The way he phrased my doom,
When I recall the arabesques
That carpeted the room?

How can it be that I forget
His look and mien that hour,
When I recall I wore a rose,
And still can smell the flower?

How can it be that I forget
Those words that were the last,
When I recall the tune a man
Was whistling as he passed?

These things are what we keep from life's
Supremest joy or pain;
For memory locks her chaff in bins
And throws away the grain.

BASEBALL WILLIES.
By George S. Chappell

Doing His Bit

Willie, on his high school nine,
Squinted down the first base line,
Then he lined one in the bleachers,
Wounding several of his teachers!

* * *

An Interruption.

"It strikes me," said Deacon Brown,
"It strikes me . . ." he paused to frown
As he heard our Willie shout;
"One more strike, Doc and you're out!"

* * *

The Truth.

Willie, speaking of his team,
Said, "They're full of pep and steam.
In the field they're perfect terrors,
Just like champs . . . except for errors!"

* * *

Tactics.

Willie, caught 'twixt first and second,
To his Captain wildly beckoned.
"HEY there Cap, you great big Bub!
Take me out . . . put in a sub!!

* * *

Willie Casey

Little Willie, game of ball,
Bases full, score, twelve all,
Willie up, two strikes, three balls . . .
This is where the curtain falls!!

* * *

First Aid!

Willie gave the ball a ride,
Ran for third and had to slide,
Then yelled with an anxious glance,
"BRING ME A NEW PAIR OF PANTS!!"

At Last.

Jones: "I want something for my wife. She told me what it was, but all I can remember is that it's named after one of the presidents."
Saleslady: "That's queer. I can't think of it."
Jones: "I have it. It's teddies!"

A Plant Manager!

During the recent Easter holiday season, a florist shop received an order for one large flowering plant to be delivered immediately. The plant was given to a colored messenger.

Arriving at his destination, the messenger was confronted by a group of young people who not only received the plant but urged him to step inside. From their insitance he gathered that there was some surprise awaiting him. He entered cautiously.

The surprise took the form of an egg-nog, which was presented to him with great ceremony. All looked on, waiting anxiously for some comment from the overjoyed darkey. None was forthcoming, however, until after the liquid had disappeared with one mighty gulp.

"Lady," said he, smacking his lips, "kindly 'phone for one more plant to be delivered." —E. B. Graves.

He Had Heard of It

A Swedish visitor to this country and his friend visited the Zoological Gardens of a neighboring city.

When they reached the pen of a Yak, the friend turned to the visitor and asked:

"Did you ever hear of a Yak before?"

"Oh, yes, Ay bane hear. My leetle fallow he read ferry tale 'bout Yak the Yiant Killer an' Yak an' the Bean Stalk." —Mrs. Victor Bandell.

Teacher: "Try your teeth on waffle,' Penfield."

Pen Wiper:

"My ant cooked a chicken dinnir,
Wat we did to it was a crime!
She fixed it like down in Virginny
We sure had a waffle good time."

—Howard Glumbert.

For Other Reasons.

Louise: "Helen has gone to some city in North or South Carolina, I don't know which."

Margaret: "To Charleston?"

Louise: "No, to visit some of her folks." —Mrs. J. G. Keller.

Farmer the Goat Baughman Asserts

AUSTIN, April 19.—Charge that the farmer "has been made the goat" by the interstate commerce commission through high rates on cotton and farm products to permit lower commodity rates, and a challenge for concerted action to remedy the alleged injustice of the situation, were made here Saturday by Charles E. Baughman, former markets and warehouse commission. candidate for railroad commissioner.

Mr. Baughman asserted cotton rates have been increased 57 per cent, while general commodity rates have averaged only a 25 per cent rise.

"I propose to undertake the promotion of a program in Texas, aided by the producer and shipper to bring pressure to bear on congress to the end that we shall receive relief," he said.

The situation is "a slap in the face of commercial justice," Mr. Baughman declared.

Commissioner Baughman was for several years president of the West Texas ginners and the Texas ginners' association, and served as commissioner of the markets and warehouse department until the beginning of the present administration.

LOREE HEADS KATY

New Controller Named Chairman Of Directors.

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP)—L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson railroad and chairman of the board of directors of the Kansas City Southern railroad, today was appointed chairman of the board of directors of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad to succeed Henry Buhlender, who retired.

BARRY MILLER URGES SESSION

Lieutenant Governor Sees Need of Validating Road Bonds

HOUSTON, April 19.—(AP)—Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller of Dallas in a statement here today emphatically reiterated his former declaration that a session of the state legislature should be called to "save the credit of Texas."

"The situation that confronts this state now is far above politics," the lieutenant governor said "The credit of the state is imperiled throughout the nation, because $80,000,000 of the outstanding bonds of its road districts have been declared invalid and it is affecting every security of the state.

"There is only one thing standing in the way of a called session of the legislature and that is politics. But aren't we big enough here in Texas in an emergency, as now confronts the state, to lay aside politics and save the state from disgrace? The credit is not only being ruined but the state sands to lose untold millions unless the legislature meets and does all within its power to remedy the situation.

"I believe the legislature can cure the defect the supreme court points out in our road bond issues, but regardless whether it can legally do it, I assert the honor of the state demands that the legislature meet and do all within its power to remedy the situation. If the legislature will only meet and go as far as it can, it will do a lot to redeem the state in the eyes of the investors of the nation."

CLUBS TAKE UP BOND QUESTION

Fort Worth Civic Organizations to Aid Validation

FORT WORTH, April 19.—(AP) As part of a concerted program on the part of most of the leading cities of Texas, Fort Worth civic clubs will be acquainted with the road bond situation through Mayor H. C. Meacham, after which each will be asked to call on the governor to call a special session of the legislature for validation of the bonds.

William T. Wheeler, secretary of the Texas highway association, which sponsored the bond meeting here Friday, said today that he had assurances from the mayors of Houston and Waco that similar action would be taken in those cities, and that he had an understanding that cities all over the state would take the same steps.

"The sooner the people of Texas fully realize the far-reaching effects of the Archer county decision, the better it will be for every tax payer in the state," Meacham said today. An examination of recent bond sales indicates practically all of the large bond dealers in the country have withdrawn from the Texas market, because their customers won't buy Texas securities."

The mayor also pointed to the recent statement of Sovereign Framere of the Woodmen of the World that they would have $2,000,000 to invest in May but would not consider Texas securities under the present situation

12 BUILDING PERMITS

Twelve building permits were issued Monday by City Clerk W. E. McBroom, these having a combined valuation of $19,048. All of the permits taken out were for comparatively small amounts, the largest being a $3,000 item for construction of a new residence here.

BRIDGE BID ACCEPTED

The bid of the Austin Brothers company of Dallas for construction of a new steel bridge over Buffalo Creek near Electra was accepted Monday by the county commissioners court. It was for $3,428 and was the lowest of four bids submitted.

Work on the bridge is to be started at once.

Big Crowds Out For Singing Meet

BURKBURNETT, April 19.— The district singing convention, which met at Cashion Sunday afternoon, was attended by a large crowd, part of which was forced to remain standing outside the building. Lee Copeland, president of the Cashion district, presided throughout the program. Choruses, a male quartet, mixed quartets and a few special solos comprised the musical numbers.

Delegates from the Cooper School secured the next district singing convention which will be held May 16 and the one following on June 20, was voted to the Floral Heights Baptist church of Wichita Falls.

Mr. Copeland announced that the Wichita county convention will meet at Barwise on June 13 for an all-day singing and the annual meeting was planned to meet at the Valley View school house in Oklahoma, a definite date to be set later. The convention was closed with a benediction by Rev. O. H. Garner.

DECLAIMERS TO COMPETE AGAIN

Abilene Trip Results Not To be Counted Bedichek Says

Junior declaimers of Wichita Falls will have the opportunity of trying out again in a contest and their recent participation in the tri-city contest held last week in Abilene will not be counted, according to information received from Roy Bedichek of Austin, head of the Interscholastic League, by Miss Juanita Kinsey, head of the public speaking department of Junior college. The ruling has been fixed that all contestants from the town or city should take part in the same contest.

Margaret Bone of Austin school who won second place at Abilene when that city, Amarillo and Wichita Falls took part will be one of the representatives, in the contest of district four to be held in Iowa Park Friday and James Thornton of Alamo school is the second of the two junior declaimers of this city.

Cain Puts In a Word of Thanks For the Police

Commendation of the work of the Kiwanis club working through the traffic department of the city was made to the club by Ira L. Cain Monday at the luncheon meeting, when he reminded Kiwanians of the stop signals that have been placed at the residence sections of the city.

"It has in effect brought about the boulevarding of the city that has been recommended for lessening traffic accidents," he said.

"It has been brought about largely through the efforts of Frank Queisser," Mr. Cain stated.

In reply, Mr Queiser answered, "Thanks, gentlemen, this is the first commendation the department has had for three months."

Announces Fight.

Hank Wolff announced the Hull-White fight to be held Tuesday night at the Majestic theatre, a benefit for the Day Nursery building. "I believe we will have $1,000 for the building," he said in speaking of the fight. Ticket sales are going good, and much interest is being shown in the fight, he said. J. L. Jackson Jr. announced that $34.40 had been turned over to the club for the Day nursery fund by the American Legion.

A ticket committee composed of Jouett Bonner, J. B. Fletcher, Ed Riley, Jack Carver, Mike Ellis, Dave Paul and Roy Grimes was appointed to assist Mr. Wolff and be at the theatre at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Leslie Turner, local man, who is illustrator for the Saturday Evening Post, was introduced to the club by Walter Nelson Jr., program chairman.

Toll In Chicago's Rum Wars Totals 87

CHICAGO, April 19.—(AP)—Eighty-seven men, including six policemen, have been killed by liquor gangsters in Chicago in the last two and one-half years, it was revealed today by John Stege, deputy chief of detectives.

Captain Stege said that murders prompted by the traffic in illicit liquor had increased three fold in recent months. His figures showed 10 slayings in two and one-half months in 1923; 11 in 1924; 43 in 1925 and 23 in the first three and one-half months of this year.

"The six policemen were killed by booze outlaws to prevent capture," he said, "A few were innocent by-standers who got in the way of flying bootleggers' or hi-jackers' bullets, and one or two were victims of mistaken identity and got the same brand of lead."

WARNS CATHOLICS

Pope Admonishes People in Mexico About Societies.

ROME, April 19—(AP)—Pope Pius XI protesting against the treatment of Catholics in Mexico in an apostolic letter to the Mexican bishops made public today forbade Catholics in that country "to establish any political party under the name of Catholic."

He counselled the clergy that they can not "refrain altogether from an interest in civic affairs or put aside completely all care and solicitude for the things of public life."

Declaring that the regulations and laws invoked against the Catholics of Mexico "do not seem to merit even the name of laws," Pope Pius asserted that "contrary to all equitte and custom" the Mexican rulers had forbidden his apostolic delegate Serapfim Cimino to return to that country.

Novel Program Is to Be Given Wednesday Night

Native sons and daughters of Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, West Virginia and Missouri will furnish the program at the First Christian church Wednesday night in the "Feast of States" at the 6:30 dinner preceding the mid-week service. Tables will be arranged for those who were born in the same state, it was announced by Rev. Floyd Allan Bash, pastor.

Food, fun and faith will characterize the meetings for the next eight weeks, it was announced.

Following the program the departmental meetings will be held as follows: Juniors, Miss Janice Mashburn; intermediates, Mrs. King Davis; teacher training group, with program on "Christianity," William J. Spreen; Bible study group with a lesson on the book of Hebrews, Rev. Bash.

SUICIDE PACT

Man and Woman, Drug Crazed, Seek To End Lives

AUSTIN, April 19.—(AP)—Frenzied by their desire to obtain drugs, a man and a woman in the county jail entered into a suicide pact, the woman attempting to strangle herself with a strip torn from a blanket, and the man slashing his throat with a razor. Both are in a local hospital. The woman's condition is said to be serious.

Sheriff W. D. Miller said that the alertness of a trusty probably prevented the death of the two.

SAN ANTONIAN HEADS PIONEERS

Frank H. Bushick Elected President of Texas Veterans

SAN ANTONIO, April 19.—(AP)—Frank H. Bushick of San Antonio was unanimously elected president of the State Association of Texas Pioneers at its annual convention here today. He had been acting president since the death last December of Dr. Frank Paschal.

In addressing the pioneers, Bushick declared that "the objects of our association are to keep alive Texas history, to perpetuate Texas traditions, to bring about closer friendly and social relations between Texas pioneers and their descendents to preserve historical landmarks and for educational and charitable purposes."

He asserted that the homestead exemption law was one of the greatest social welfare measures ever written.

Other officers elected were Colonel Beaumont, B. Buck, first vice president; J. M. Vance, second vice president; Mrs. G. C. Wursbach, third vice president; Frederick Terrell, treasurer; Captain C. A. Denny and William Krempkauf, sergeants at arms; General W. S. Scott, Captain John E. Elgin and Mrs. Winchester Kelso, directors.

S. J. Brooks was the principal speaker at the meeting.

A grand ball, led off by a grand march in the new municipal auditorium was the big feature of the evening program.

ELECTRA

COMMUNITY PARTY

One of the largest parties of the season was enjoyed Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kuckelhan, who have recently moved near Harrold, from the Barwise community. Misses India, Hunter and Margaret Kuckelhan were the delightful hostess at this party, and the evening was spent in playing games and reviving the old fashioned dances of our grandmothers' days. The guests included representatives from Harrold, Electra, Enterprise, Barwise and the entire county line group, also a few friends from Vernon. About 150 were present. After a delightful evening the charming hostess served a lovely refreshment plate.

LOCAL GIRL WEDS

Miss Sallye Kate Weddle, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weddle of the Red river community became the bride of W. F. Wiggins in Wichita Falls Tuesday with Justice of the Peace O. A. Gibbs performing the ceremony. The young couple will make their home in Electra, where Mr. Wiggins is employed in the local oil fields. The bride is well known in this community, having attended the local high school and spent some time in C. L. A. college at Denton. They have a host of friends to wish them a happy married life.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

A most delightful dinner and afternoon entertainment was enjoyed Sunday, celebrating the fiftieth birthday of Ed Moreland, a business man of this city, at their home on North Wichita street. A three-course luncheon was served at high noon in the dining room attractively decorated with carnations and other cut flowers with the centerpiece being a red and white angel food birthday cake, with 74 candles on it, as a joke being played on the honoree. Places were laid for Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Belden and Miss Noma Belden, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Mouser and daughter Lucy Jane, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jewell and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Moreland. After the repast the party motored to the Diversion dam and spent a delightful afternoon and upon returning enjoyed a theatre party.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Melton gave a delightful birthday dinner Sunday honoring their daughter, Miss Nettie Mae's thirteenth birthday. The dinner was served in the attractive dining room and those present included little Miss Melton's best friends, Misses Louise Stroud, Grace and Dorothy Freeman, Virginia Sims Mosley and Marjorie Melton. The honoree received many delightful gifts and they spent a very pleasant afternoon playing games and popping corn.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

The cafeteria of the Electra high school assumed an air of gaiety Saturday evening when the members of the junior class gave a lovely banquet honoring the advance class in the school, the seniors who will graduate next month. Orange and white with white carnations on the tables which were assembled in the form of an "E" furnished colorful decorations with the girls of the sophomore class in white aprons were attractive waitresses. About sixty members of the junior class were present, while the entire 57 members of the senior class responded. Professor J. A. Tibbitts opened the meeting with a prayer after which the cocktail was served. Johnnie Lebus, the vice president of the junior class, also toastmaster of the occasion, made a short talk, expressing his appreciation for being present, due to a little scheme by the seniors to kidnap him, which did not materialize. Mr. Lebus introduced Morgan Hall, the junior president, who welcomed the seniors. Joe Hardy Miller, senior president, responded with a talk on behalf of the junior and senior classes and thanked the juniors for the lovely banquet. At the time the main course, consisting of a regular chicken dinner was served. Robert Moore, senior vice president, made a short talk, followed by a talk from Del Cooledge, the "largest senior." Miss Minnie Maude Cox, the senior sponsor, made a delightful talk which was followed by an address by Professor Taylor Cash the sponsor of the junior class who urged cooperation between the classes. The last course was served, consisting of ice cream and coconut maroons, during which time Professor J. A. Tibbitts made the principal address of the evening, on the subject of "Opportunity, An Open Door."

The meeting dismissed with a class song by the seniors.

B. Y. P. U. NOTES

The members of the Intermediate, first and second B. Y. P. U.s met in a general assembly at the Baptist church Sunday evening for the purpose of making plans for a study course to run for one week to be started Monday evening. This course will begin at 6 o'clock each evening and dinner will be served at that time. Mrs. E. M. Francis and Miss Eula Speed will have charge of the study course which will be the B. Y. P. U. Manuel.

In the Senior B. Y. P. U. number one, Rev. Leo N. Herrin had charge of the program, which was a missionary lesson and those on the program were Messrs. Guy Ragland, Roland Sellers and Misses Ruth Holmes, Clara Mae Sellers, Miss Lottie Davis gave a piano number and Master George Ragland Jr., gave a reading.

MASTER TOOMEY HONORED

Mrs. B. J. Toomey invited a number of small guests to her home from 3 o'clock to 5:30 o'clock Saturday ing her small son James, third birthafternoon for a birthday party honorday.

The children spent the delightful hours playing games, in the living room and on the lawn. During the afternoon Misses Ira Lick, Jane Wood Helen Irene Dunham and Lottie Louise Mulkey gave reading. Beatrice Delashaw and Bruce Williams sang songs and Viola Millhollon and Marie Rogers danced the Charleston. The little tots marched into the dining room which was decorated with spring flowers and ferns where the big birthday cake with three glowing candles was cut, and served with ice cream and candies to the following little tots: Francis Parnell, Pat and Bruce Smith, Wetha Cooper, R. A. Braesicke, Viola and Violet Millhollon, Franchine Ford, J. R. Hamilton, Billie Joe Rogers, Marie Rogers, Jane Wood, Bettie Ann Vanhoove, Junior Vanhoove, Billie Joe Millhollon, Beatrice and Margurije Delashaw, J. M. Spikes, Lottie Louise Mulkey, Clara Mae Goodman, Clara Lou Porter, John Frank Houser, Helen Irene Dunham, Mickey Delashaw, Billie Joe Stalcup, Billie James Hall, Floyd Mulkey, Ira Lick and Ludie Marie O'Neal. Mesdames J. W. Wood, Buck Stalcup, Walter Goodman, E. D. Braesicke, J. H. Cooper, W. R. Rogers, Homer Porter and Misses Toby Baird, Lillian Millhollon and Loma Porter who assisted with the entertainment.

AGED CITIZEN HONORED

Mrs. A. M. Blackman was delightfully honored with a birthday party, Saturday evening, celebrating her 74th birthday, of which time, Mrs. Blackman has spent 20 years in Electra. The evening was spent in talking over old times and the development of Electra, with some reference being made to the "olden times." A few old fashioned numbers were played during the evening, when about 11 o'clock the delightful birthday cake of the angel food variety, within 74 candles was presented to the honoree. At the conclusion of the evening fruit salad, ice cream and cake was served to Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Story, Mr. and Mrs. Guy McNeely, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brotherton, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Crowder, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Blackman, O. R. Blackman, A. M. Blackman and eight grandchildren, Dolly, Cleta, Mary Ola, Clara, Eula Mae, Brotherton and Mr. Frank Brotherton, Miss Wanda Merle Blackman and Arthur Lee Blackman. Many splendid gifts were presented to Mrs. Blackman.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Among the several children parties of the past week none was more enjoyable than the birthday party given Monday by Mrs. D. L. Cunningham in honor of her little daughter, Verna Lee's fourth birthday.

The little folks spent several hours of the afternoon in indoor games gay music and the telling of funny stories.

After the fun and frolic period all gathered around the beautiful big birthday cake, bearing the four candles and with the little honoree leading helped themselves to nice big slices of this angel food to go with the pretty pink and white ice cream served by the kind mother hostess and Mrs. Ray who assisted throughout the children's entertainment.

A large collection of dainty gifts too came to Verna Lee with the happy wishes of her many little friends, who were the following girls and boys: Tex William Allen, Junior Ray, Payton Ray, Oleta Dever Robert Brooks, James Brooks, Maribelle Hanning, Jack Foster, Emogene Smith, Virginia Ruth Ayers, Francis Quarles, Joy Belle Quarles, Lellyn Lindewood, Dorothy and Carolyn Barwise, Edgar Johnson and Eleanor Johnson.

Texan Army In Forced Marches To Meet Enemy

Battle With Santa Ana And His Men Looming Nearer Each Hour

ARMY FIELD HEADQUARTERS, SOUTH OF HARRISBURG, April 19.—The Texian army is on the march toward Santa Ana; battle seems near at hand, and General Sam Houston, by forced march, is preparing for a decisive encounter with the Mexicans in the defense of the republic of Texas, now 51 days old.

Santa Ana, dictator-president of Mexico, leader of more than 1,500 Mexicans against the Texans, burned the settlement of New Washington today—burned the building in which the Texas declaration of independence was signed, just as he burned the capitol of the republic at Harrisburg last week. Santa Ana today turned back toward Lynch's ferry, Houston, when he learned of this, decided to hasten across to intercept him; and the prospects now for a definite engagement between the little force of 800 men—nearly 150 of them sick—who make up the army of the republic, and the Mexican force of probably double this number, under command of the usurper-dictator of Mexico.

Houston's orders for the march were given suddenly at noon today. The army had encamped at Harrisburg, capital of the republic, from which President Burnet and his cabinet fled before Santa Ana last week.

Begin Move At Noon

The army began moving at 1 o'clock. The men had to cross the Buffalo Bayou, and spent nearly all the afternoon in the interminable crossings to move the equipment, the meagre commissary supplies and the many sick across. The entire body of men were finally across just before sunset, and as twilight settled over the moss-hung forests, the tired, hungry men struck away from the stream toward the juncture of Buffalo bayou and the San Jacinto river.

They marched until nearly midnight before the order was given to stop and bivouac here. The forced march was one of the most unusual ever undertaken by the Texas forces. Scouts kept two miles ahead watching signs of the enemy. "Deaf" Smith, the picturesque warrior-scout, whose capture yesterday of a Mexican courier, resulted in the new plans of campaign, was at the head of the scouts.

No News From Troops

No further news of American troops coming to the aid of the Texans has been received.

Colonel Sydney Sherman of the cavalry, Colonel J. C. Neill, artillery, and Colonel George W. Hockley, who is in charge of the two cannon, which compose the artillery, rode with Houston for two hours tonight several hundred yards ahead of the troops, and discussed with him plans for protecting the army against a surprise attack by the enemy. The Mexicans may now at any moment be found hidden in the dense woods, Colonel Neill pointed out.

A peculiar trait of the Mexican soldier, though, General Houston relies on as protection against a sudden attack. He said the Mexicans invariably held estentatious demonstrations before entering a battle, parades with colors flying and drums rolled. The Latin soldier seems to require this, he said, as a method of getting his spirits up to the point of going into battle.

The men are terribly exhausted and worn from the long march. They threw themselves on the ground, most of them without eating, when the halt was made tonight, and except for the pickets and the scouts, were quickly asleep.

Houston has able officers with him. Col. Edward Burleson is at the head of the first regiment of Texas volunteers. Lieut. Col. Henry Millard is in charge of four companies of infantry. Col. Mirabeau B. Lamar commands a troop of cavalry, numbering 61 men. General Houston's staff officers are: John A. Wharton, adjutant general; George W. Hockley, inspector general; John Forbes, commissary general; William G. Cooke, assistant inspector general; Alexander Horton, William H. Patton, James Collingsworth, aides-de-camp; Robert M. Coleman, Robert Eden Handy, James H. Perry, aides; Dr. Alexander Ewing, acting chief surgeon; Dr. Davidson, surgeon; J. P. T. Fitzhugh, surgeon of the first regiment; Anson Jones, surgeon of the second regiment; Shields Booker and N. D. Labadie, assistant surgeons.

Stephen F. Austin, founder of the Texas colony, untiring worker in behalf of the success of the republic, is in New York with William H. Wharton, desperately striving to raise funds with which to carry on the defensive campaign. They are enlisting volunteer subscriptions as well.

A Peculiar Foe.

The brown-skinned warrior-ruler whom Houston expects to meet in battl esoon, is a peculiar combination of the political opportunist, the crafty general, and the cold-blooded, ruthless tyrant. His orders that the defenseless women and children of Texas shall be slain without mercy, is part of his campaign to exterminate the Americans from Texas soil, and these orders are being carried out as brutally as was the shooting of the 300 unarmed men who surrendered with Fannin.

Pedrazza, president of Mexico, was exiled by Guerrero, who in turn was shot by Bustamenta. Santa Ana, a minor army commander, engaged in a violent controversy with Bustamenta, backed by an army cabal. Mexican garrisons at Velasco, at Anahuac and Nacogdoches were attacked by the Americans and driven out Santa Ana sent Mejia to punish the Americans. The Texans persuaded Mejia the attacks had been demonstrations in favor of Santa Ana. By what was called an election, Santa Ana became president of Mexico, and promptly set up a military regime, backed by the army and the clergy. He considered a successful Texas campaign would bolster his position, which was none too secure, and he crossed the Rio Grande at Laredo early in February. On February 29 he reached San Antonio, and immediately led the attack on the garrison under William B. Travis, James Bowie and David Crockett which became the massacre of the Alamo.

Thoroughly incensed because the Americans attempted to declare their independence in the convention at Washington 51 days ago, Santa Ana decided to lead an army through to the coast, to drive out the settlers, and to annihilate the pitiable forces of volunteers left after he had forced Urrea to slaughter nearly 400 unarmed prisoners of war who had surrendered with Fannin at Goliad.

(The battle of San Jacinto is just in the offing. Houston's army and the forces of Santa Ana are nearing each other. Read tomorrow the courier dispatches from the battle front.)

Mrs. Anna Chase, Lee Chase and Mrs. Alice Brown of Fort Worth and T. F. Brown of Ranger are spending a few days in Wichita Falls.

Why a Woman's Building? Why Schools, Books

Mrs. Sam Kruger Declares Need For Such a Thing Is Insistent Here

"We might as well ask why we need schools and libraries as to ask why we need a woman's building in Wichita Falls."

Such was the comment yesterday of Mrs. Sam Kruger when asked for her opinions on the proposed new $50,000 building the Woman's Forum proposes to erect here. She pointed out that, insistent as has been the need for such a structure in the past, it is far more necessary now with the community growing as rapidly as it is.

Her comments follow:

"Why Wichita Falls needs a woman's building? We might as well ask why does she need schools and libraries. Wichita Falls women dreamed their dream of a woman's building for many, many years. Now it must come to a realization. The stars twinkle: "Woman's building:" the birds chirp: "Woman's building;" the trees whisper: "Woman's building," and the whole air of Wichita Falls is permeated with the need of it and seems to entreat us to hasten on with the structure.

"Very rapidly Wichita Falls is growing. As a living monument to the city's intellectual prosperity will stand the woman's building, where peace must flow and light must shine. Where all thirsty lips may drink from the cup of knowledge; where desires of self-expression and spiritual uplift must emanate; where women of various creeds and denominations may meet in the quest of wisdom, understanding and find them readily in the hearts and minds of one another, as well as in the realms of art, music and literature. The gleaming height of such an ideal will make for a better life and a greater future not only for this generation, but also for generations come.

"Why does Wichita Falls need a woman's building? Because the above, if aided by each individual, will be fulfilled in it."

COMMISSION SUIT ON TRIAL

The trial of L. C. Wilcox, et al. vs. the Wichita cotton company was under way before Judge P. A. Martin in the eighty-ninth district court Monday. The suit is one for commission involving about $1,300 with the plaintiff contending this amount is due himself and associates from the defendant company as a result of cotton sales made.

SLAYS HER RIVAL

Wife Shoots Young Woman in Fit of Jealousy.

HENRYETTA, Okla., April 19.—(AP)—Mrs. E. M. Cargill of Dewar, arrested at Hachita in connection with the killing Saturday night of Miss Eula Hedrick, 20, waived preliminary hearing here today, and was bound over for trial.

Jealousy, officers said, was the motive for the shooting.

Mrs. Cargill was not placed in jail pending arrangements for bond. She is the mother of two children.

Estanged Hubby Shot In Houston

HOUSTON, April 19.—(AP)—E. V. Ley, 55, real estate operator, was shot twice in the back and seriously injured at the home of his wife, Mrs. Cora Ley, in Woodland Heights today. The couple separated about a year ago, relatives said.

Little information could be secured by investigators for the district attorney's office regarding the shooting.

Mr. Ley has lived in Houston for 20 years and was widely known. Small hope was held out by attendants at the hospital for his recovery.

SPORTING NEWS — THE RECORD NEWS — FIRST ACCURATE COMPLETE

TOP O' MORN STUFF
By Blondy Cross.

Tuesday, that's a great sporting day for Wichita Falls. The Spudders trooping like a well known conquering here, staging their opening day encounter with Shreveport, starting at 4 bells.

* * *

Tommy White and Clyde Hull, the two cleverest welterweight mittsters to ever appear in the southwest over the past four or five years, tangle Tuesday night in 12-round mill at the Majestic theatre as the feature of the Kiwanis club day nursery benefit program. Wildcat Monte and Mercy Montes meet in a ten-round semi-final.

* * *

The office boys, also some of the higher-ups, won't be forced to make excuses about expiring grandmothers, indisposed uncles and the like in order to get away for that game. Everything is closing jam-up in Wichita Falls, so ordain the retail merchants association, the mayor and the rest of the city moguls, full hour before game time.

* * *

As it's Kelly day, the straws and panamas will be in vogue. Incidentally every Spudder will have a new summer bonnett, not to play in of course, Brainard promised every player an alfalfa head-piece if they walloped the Cats here today and Brother, they did.

* * *

Fort Worth fans are just about satisfied there is one club in the Texas league this year that has it on them. It isn't necessary to announce where that franchise is located.

* * *

Bunch of the cowtown boys born down on the writer shortly after the game this afternoon in apparent belligerent mood. Before we could make an exit they spilled their feelings thusly: "Take these blankety-blank Spudders of yours back up to Wichita Falls, and keep them there." "Don't bring 'em down here any more."

* * *

Cowtowners found the Dallas team fairly tough pickings in the opening series, but declared that as far as pitching, hitting and general all-around playing ability are concerned the Steers can't be compared to Boss Brainard's boisterous bunch.

* * *

Turgeon did Eddie Palmer and Ed Konetchy a dirty trick in the second inning. Big Ed opened the round with a double down the third base line. Vache grounded to third. Brainard held Koney at second and tossed Ernie out. Then the deacon punched a liner back toward short right center. It appeared to be a clean cut safety, so Koney legged for third, but the Spudder mite raced over, jumped up and pulled the drive in, then tossed to Distel at second for a double erasure.

* * *

Brainard came in fast during the first stanza to scoop up a bobble down the base line by Sears, taking the play with his meat hand and snapping the ball to first without a change of pace to cut Ziggy down by a hair. The throw was low and Washburn took it off the dirt.

Blue Blood of Texas League Asserts Itself And Spuds Humble Cats

Atzmen Make Heroic Effort to Come From Behind but Brainard's Men Outstrip Jake's Crew

BY BLONDY CROSS

FORT WORTH, April 19.—Blood will tell. That sage (?) expression was broadcast by trainers of thoroughbreds even as far back in history of sports as the season during which the dashing Hippomense ran and won the memorable race in the old Grecian circuit, charging around the final turn a full length in arrears, but by sturdy sprinting down the home stretch, crossed under the wire a pug-nose in front of the stepping filly, Atalanta of golden apple fame.

And even so, blue corpuscles in veins of the Texas league aristocracy stirred to a boiling point and asserted itself this afternoon. The Wichita Falls Spudders, led by the slim figured, mild-countenanced, but astonishingly vicious Howard Fitzgerald, brutally bludgeoned their way to a 7-5 victory over Cowtown Jake Atz's forlorn kitten-kets, hapless defenders of the stockyards stockade.

While our noble Spudders are speeding toward Wichita Falls with all intent, barring a snow storm, earthquake or cyclone of officially opening the 1926 home Tuesday afternoon with a landslide victory over Robert Tarlet's Shreveporters at Spud park, tonight Fort Worth fandom moans in deep throated chorus that doleful yet quite popular horse hymn "The Old Gray Mare."

And Like It Was.

But there is no equine in the cowtown version of the ancient number. A well-plastered, much mistreated tabby of equal vintage has been substituted.

She ain't what she used to be, used to be. Willard Carl Williams, that sterling right handed member of the Wichita Falls flinging corps that seven other Texas League cities have been misled into believing is exceptionally erratic, direfully weak and very undependable, somehow or other managed to struggle to the hill top this afternoon. The poor old boso could hardly raise an arm above his belt. Nevertheless, the aged king had the Cats beat the second he limped into view. Carl's just like the rest of that wormout, decrepit Spudder chunking staff the "critics" have informed us all along this spring, stand about as much chance of weathering an attack by the Texas league's brawny batters as a pint of prewar stuff would in front of gents in this arid land were it unguarded on any downtown street corner.

As usual, the dopesters are all wet. The veteran Williams dilly-dallied with the stockyards boys through eight counts, held the scoring lumber late, allowed two base hits, walked a man and then behind a seven run barricade manufactured by his mates, let up in the ninth.

Shifts To Knife-Handers

Mr. Atz, discovering the day before that southpaw pitching is out of order when the Spudders take willow in hand, shifted to the starboard today, in fact very much so. Three right-handers were sacrificed on the cowtown baseball altar. The rotund Lou North, formerly with Dallas but who joined the Cats late in the 1925 season worried along, harrassed in every round but one, for almost six innings and then sank under a volley of base blows. Buck Betts inherited the heaving chores. Huckleberry was lambasted, too. Chick Howard performed on the dome in the ninth and gave up a run.

The domestics slipped away for a counter in the opening frame. Distel tagged a slow one at third, beating it out. Fitz put George on second with a single to center. Brainard biffed a bounder at third and Ezzell bobbed. Distell tabulated. A sacrifice aviation to center by Washburn, put Fitzgerald on third. A second later Brainard was cut down at second according to the arbiter, but it looked like the boss had swiped the bag cleanly. The side was retired when Fing flied out to right.

Carl was working at fast clips.

The Spudders want to catch an early train back to their own bailiwick. And as all well-informed fans know none of those boys are in any too good shape yet, Carlos naturally became a little wary. He slowed down in the final round and lobbed 'em over. Unable to find him through eight stanzas, the erst-while champion Cats found the school boy tosses more in their class.

Rally Begins

Sears pecked a single to second. Koney doubled. What did that matter, no need to bear down this early in the race, when the least tired, not in condish and a long season before you. So Carl kept on lobbing 'em. Vache bounded to Brainard, who made a sweet stop and threw Sears out at the plate. Then doggone if Deacon Eddie Palmer didn't connect for a triple to right center, scoring Koney and Vache. There were two out and the Spudders five runs to the good. Carl lobbed another and Foss doubled to left. Then Doc Smith caught one on the inside (he's a dead pull-away hitter) and smashed her into the right field stand. That was all, Phelan hitting for Howard, hoisted to Fitz in center. The Cats had scored five in the final frame.

The gang punched away at Lou intermittantly through the second, third and fourth innings, but didn't bear down until the sixth. Then Fitzgerald led off with his third clout of the game a rippling skidder past the mid-bag. Brainard pushed a two-baser to port, far over Ziggy Sears' head, sending Fitz to third. Washburn followed with a bombastic shot right center, scoring Fitz and the skipper. Bodie hoisted to Moore and then Turgeon rifled a liner to left center, chasing Mule to third. Turge went to second on the throw-in.

Derricks North

The Fort Worth pilot grabbed the hooks and replaced North with Betts. Lamb straightaway plugged the newcomer with a boisterous bust past third. Washburn and Turgeon evacuated the run-ways for repose on the dugout bench, checking in at the pay station first, of course. Quarry forced Lamb at second and Williams fired out to right.

Turgeon drew a walk in the eighth, stole second and scored when Moore failed to corral a vociferous drive to right center by Lamb. Williams was safe at first on Short's error in the ninth, stole second, went to third on a sacrifice by Distel and counted on a volcanic cushion shot to center by Fitzgerald. That was safety number four by the southpaw slugger.

Work Faultlessly

With exception of a bobble in the third by George, the Spudders worked faultlessly afield. Washburn performed sensationally at first on several near jungle-beaters. Bodie took the sixth inning all alone. Betts lined one to right. It looked like a safe blow but the square rigged gentleman made the catch. Moore hoisted one almost against the right center boards and the heavy person chased back for all he worked like a three-year-old derby winner, if you can imagine such, and took the wallop over his left shoulder. The chances were getting tough and tougher. Ezell followed with a riotous clout to starboard that almost caused a sudden cataclysm of the heart for this young fellow sitting in the enemy press box. But Pingus arose to the occasion miraculously by charging back and leaping on high to snare the fleeting missel with one fist. Fort Worth fans gave Ping a loud hand when he came in from his pasture.

Eddie Moore enacted a sensational piece of robbery in the seventh, diving into spear a shoestring drive by Distel. The Cat gardner mingled with the turf but came up with the ball still in his clutches.

Yeh, Yacob!

Cards Lose Long Game to Cub Crew

ST. LOUIS, April 19.—(AP)—In a fourteen inning game which furnished fans with their greatest thrill of the recently inaugurated season here, the St. Louis Cardinals lost to the Chicago Cubs by a 5-4 score today. For the victors, Root and Jones did mound duty with Gonzales in catcher's position. Huntsinger and O'Farrell formed the battery for the Cardinals. The end of the ninth saw both teams tied 3-3. Chicago scored in the eleventh with St. Louis following with one to tie the count at 4-4.

Exporters Even Games With Waco

BEAUMONT, April 19.—(AP)—Beaumont's hitters produced timely hits, two of them homers by Devireros and Davis, to beat Waco, 5 to 3, today, making room for the Cats in the league gutter. Drake had one hectic inning the second, when he gave four bases on balls for a run, but braced and issued no more transportation. Dunning's terrific hitting in to left field aided materially in the run getting. Drake held the Cubs to one hit through the first five innings, that a Double by Pratt in the third and the Waco Loss was an easy out at third trying to stretch his hit. The score:

Eagles And Longhorns To Clash In Second Contest

The American Refinery Eagles and the Panhandle Longhorns will play Wednesday in the second game of the Twilight league schedule. These teams are favorites and their first clash will be watched with great interest.

This is expected to be a pitcher's battle and a great game as well as a great crowd is expected.

Ronnie Glidewell lost a heartbreaking game to the Newcastle All-Stars Sunday 1 to 0 and allowed them but three hits, of which two were off the scratch kind.

On the same day the Panhandle Refinery swamped the fast little Munden Cyclers under a 34 to 3 score. With the two clubs on this sort of a rampage it will be hard to pick a winner.

The Panhandle team has not announced the pitcher, but a glance over their club would lead one to pick either Hatton or McDuffy.

Hatton was one of the best in the league last year while with the Monroe Travelers. McDuffy was with the Texhoma club and the First Methodist team, both pennant winners in the two leagues. McDuffy had two great feats to his credit last year winning the mid-year play off the American Refinery with a well pitched game, and a no-hit, no-run game in the Sunday School loop.

Snipe Connelly, hero of the play-off while with Texhoma, is the starter for the Eagles, Skipper Medford announced

Tex Rickard Back In Home State To Discuss Tunney Bout With Champion Jack

Country's Leading Promoter Arrives in Fort Worth With Conference Tuesday With Dempsey

FORT WORTH, April 19.—(AP) Tex Rickard arrived here this afternoon to meet Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champion, here tomorrow morning to sign articles of agreement for a championship match next August or September in which Gene Tunney probably will be the contender for Dempsey's crown.

The heavyweight champion will arrive here from El Paso either late tonight or early tomorrow. All arrangements for the signing of the articles were conducted by wire and were completed before Rickard left New York. Dempsey endeavored to have Rickard meet him in El Paso Saturday but the promoter asked Dempsey to meet him further east and Fort Worth was chosen because Rickard's old home was at Henrietta, no far west of here.

Rickard said that in all probability he will give Gene Tunney the opportunity of unseating the champion.

"Tunney, in my opinion," said Rickard, "is the logical man to meet Dempsey. Tunney is a better fighter than Wills and for that reason I expect to send him in. Rickard explained that he had Tunney already under contract and that as soon as Dempsey signs everything will be in readiness. The fight will take place August 12 or September 3 or 16 in Yankee stadium, New York. The gate receipts for Dempsey's fight were over $1,200,000, of which the champion's share was more than $475,000.

Rickard was met here by Guy L. Waggoner, a life long friend.

CHAMPIONSHIP FIGHT ARTICLES TO BE SIGNED

EL PASO, April 19.—(AP)—Articles for the next heavyweight championship fight will in all probabilities be signed within the next 36 hours, Jack Dempsey, who left El Paso at 8 o'clock tonight for Fort Worth where he will meet Tex Rickard, said before entraining. The champion is confident that the conference will result in a meeting with Gene Tunney in New York next September.

"I am ready and anxious to meet Tunney and it looks as if the making of the match is only a question of a few hours," Dempsey said. "I understand that Rickard is preparing to talk business, and I intend to meet him more than half way. I understand that Rickard does not want the Wills match, but should he change his mind and pick Harry instead of Gene, I'll be ready to sign. I have been traveling around the country for six months trying to talk business with promoters who made overtures regarding a match with Wills, but when it comes to posting a guarantee none of them seem to want it.

"I intend to fight in a title bout next September even if I have to promote the match myself.

"I expect to stay in Fort Worth only long enough to meet Rickard and sign if he is ready with a definite proposition. From there I will go to Asheville, N. C., for a 30-day period of intensive training.

Although the champion characterized the arrival of Gene Nermile as "of no significance," reports here from San Diego stated that the San Diego sportsman had accepted a position as Dempsey's manager.

Nermile, who arrived in El Paso from San Diego this afternoon. Also announced that he was taking over Jack Kearns' old job, although he admitted that he would accompany Dempsey to the Fort Worth conference.

"Nermile is just a good friend of mine; put it that way," said the champion. "He has nothing to do with my business affairs and joined the party in order to accompany us to Asheville. He will probably attend the Fort Worth conference but it will not be as my manager."

Floyd Fitzsimmons is also a member of the Dempsey party and will be with him when he meets Rickard.

Rabbitt's Single With Bases Loaded Brings Victory

HOUSTON, April 19.—(AP)—Rabbitt's single in the fifth with the bases filled, gave the San Antonio Bears two runs and the victory in a row over the Buffs, 2 to 1. Littlejohn outpitched Lefty Ward, permitting six hits to the southpaws 12, but the Buffs were unable to bunch their blows.

Frank Goff, Buff catcher, suffered an injured hand when a pitched ball struck him on the end of the thumb in the fourth.

MARATHONER SETS RECORD

Youth of 18 Creates New Mark for Long Race At Boston

BOSTON, April 19.—(AP)—A youth of 18, running his first marathon race, set a new world record today. John C. Miles of Sydney Mines, N. S., was first home in the 26th Boston A. A. marathon in a field of 84 runners which included Albin Stenroos of Finland, Olympic champion and Clarence Demar of Melrose, four times winner of the event. The winner's time of two hours, 25 minutes, 40 1-5 seconds, was nearly four minutes under the world record set by Demar over the same course in 1924. Demar's record was 2:29:40 1-5.

It was a two man contest almost from the start at Hopkinton, Miles drew away from the field at Natick, five miles from the starting line, pounded along on the heels of the Olympic champion to Lake Street, five miles from home and in the final stretch sprinted away to finish 400 yards in the lead.

The Nova Scotia youth set a pace that forced Stenroos himself to clip one-fifth of a second off the old world record. The veteran Demar was a poor third at the finish line. His time was 2:32:16.

Champion Dempsey Names new Manager

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 19.—(AP) Gene Normile, well known San Diego sportsman, said today he has been named by Jack Dempsey as the heavyweight champion's manager. The offer to become his manager was made by Dempsey two weeks ago and was accepted by Normile yesterday. Normile will have charge of all Dempsey's business affairs and will take over duties formerly handled by Jack Kearns, when the contract expires between Dempsey and Kearns next September.

Normile started to Fort Worth where he will join the champion and from there will go to Hendersonville, N. C., where Dempsey is to engage in preliminary training.

Stage All Set For Big Nursery Benefit Card At Majestic Tuesday

Tommy White and Clyde Hull In Best Of Condition for a Fast Mill Tonight; Other Scrappers are Ready

The Occasion: Day Nursery Fund Benefit.
The Place: Majestic Theatre, 8:15 p. m.
The Contestants: Tommy White and Clyde Hull—12 rounds. Mercy Monter and Wildcat Monte, 10 rounds.

With every man on location, everything is ready for the Day Nursery benefit boxing card being staged under the auspices of the Kiwanis club at the Majestic theatre tonight.

Although the American legion loving cup will not be at stake, due to the fact that the legion considers this their own pet award, the winner of the main event will have a clear-cut claim to the welterweight championship of the southwest.

Tommy White, at present the recognized holder of this title, announces himself to be in the best possible condition. In his previous fights here he had been nursing a bad right hand, virtually winning his bouts with one-hand and confining the use of the injured member to body punching. This condition has been entirely eliminated and the old lunch-hook is again ready to slam anything it can reach.

Clyde Hull has been training diligently since his arrival from St. Paul more than a week ago. He looked to be in the best condition possible, stating that he would have no excuse to offer should he lose to White. Although he does not possess the experience that his opponent has, Hull looked like a veteran against his sparring partners and in his previous fights here. Both he and White have won all their contests locally, the one exception being a draw verdict between Duke Trammel and Hull.

Clyde is attempting the herculean task of winning a decision under the guidance of Barney Morgan, as the veteran pipe-line walker has "also ran" in most of his recent attempts to pilot a winner. The boxers will weigh in at 2 o'clock this afternoon, then rest a little before the gong starts activities tonight.

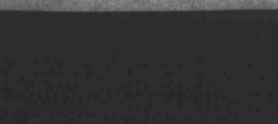

Don Curley, manager of Mercy Montes, the Mexican lightweight champion, arrived in town early this morning in order to be on hand and give what assistance he could to bring his charge out on the winner's end of the bout with Wildcat Monte. Curly, like Tommy White, is fully aware of the Wildkitten's ability, having seen him in several of his recent fights in Wichita, Kan.

Montes will weigh around 132-135 pounds in the best of condition, has continually met and defeated welterweights and in a pinch, middleweights. In Mexico City some time ago he scored a knock out over Vincente Aguilar in the seventeenth round of a finish fight. On his only appearance in Wichita Falls he stood toe to toe with the hard hitting Duke Trammel, never once being knocked off his feet. Should Monte win over the Mexican he will be in line for a main event in Galveston in the near future.

The supporting card will be a return match between Johnny Sherrod and Pug Humphries. These two boys put up a sensational fight for the American legion last week getting a draw decision. Both are out to win tonight so watch for the fireworks.

Battling Kosse, a real fighter with a knockout in either hand, meets Bobby Jones of Lawton in the opener. Jones is a protege of Speedy Sparks, with an enviable record.

Those having made reservations for seats are notified to call for them before noon, as they will be put on sale at the box office of the Majestic theatre at that time. Orders for tickets have been coming from Lawton, Electra, Vernon and other surrounding towns, indicating a packed house and a big profit for the nursery fund.

Texhoma Gets New Hurling Prospect

Rabbit Gordon dashed into the Record News office Monday afternoon all excited over the chances of the Texhoma baseball club in the Twilight league this year which opens its season on the Twilight diamond Thursday afternoon with Hugh Cotner's Security Bank athletes.

Gordon stated that he had a new pitcher, "Big Boy" Luther in line for the Texhoma club this year Luther has not signed.

Luther was with the Semi-pro club in Amarillo last year where he had a great season. He is a right hander and is reported to have a fast ball as well as some good hooks.

CINCY MAKES IT TWO FROM WORLD CHAMPS

Brilliant Mound Work Of Carl Mays Puts Team Over

CINCINNATI, April 19.—(AP)—Through the brilliant pitching of Carl Mays the Reds made it two out of three in the present series with the world's champions today, winning, 3 to 1. Cuyler scored Pittsburgh's only tally in the ninth when he walked, stole second and scored on sacrifices. Wright was spiked on the hand when Roush slid into second base in the eighth and had to leave the game. The score:

Dean Loses Duel To Uncle Robbie

PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—(AP)—Yielding only five hits, Bob McGraw outpointed Wayland Dean in a slab duel today, the Brooklyn Robins scoring out the Phillies by 4 to 2. Errors aided the Dodgers in scoring all their runs. After tallying once in the ninth, the Phillies loaded the sacks, but Hamilton batting for Buckey, drove into a force play at second. The score:

ATHLETICS AND RED SOX SPLIT TWIN OFFERING

Lefty Grove Holds Bean Esters In Morning, Boston Wins Afternoon

BOSTON, April 19.—(AP)—The Red Sox and Athletics divided the patriots' day twin bill here today. While Lefty Grove held the Sox to three scattered hits, his mates thumped Wingfield for seven safeties and took the morning encounter, 2 to 1. In the afternoon after the annual B. A. A. marathon, 15,000 fans gathered to see the home team upset the Mackmen, 7 to 1. Ira Flagstead turned in several circus catches in the outfield, cut off two Philadelphia runs at the plate and headed a four man double play that nipped a threatening Philly rally. The scores:

ELECTRA TURNS OUT FOR OPENER

Electra Leaguers Parade Through Town, Led By Band

ELECTRA, April 19.—A parade through the streets of the city by teams led by the Electra band, opened the season of the Electra Twilight leagues. G. E. Orland, mayor of Electra, pitched the ball over the plate with C. W. Coffee at bat and Emery catching and Ben Myers, editor of the Electra News, called balls and strikes.

The U. S. Machine Shop lost the initial to the Texas Hardware, 2 to 0. Both teams showed lack of training in both the field and at bat. Cook, hurler for the machinists, pitched good ball in the first frame, but lost control in the second inning and permitted the hardware men to cross home for their first tally. Beasley relieved him in the third inning, but was unable to hurl at full blast because of the weakness of the catcher, who could not hold his fast ones.

The southpaw offerings of Mullen, moundsamn for the Texas Hardware, proved too wild, but good work on the part of his team mates saved the shoppers from scoring.

Texas Hardware scored in the first inning when McCracken was hit by a pitched ball to score when Conyers singled to right field. They scored their second run in the third inning when Beasley walked J. Scheurer and Brown knocked one against right field fence for three bases.

SHOOT FOR IT

WESLACO, Texas, April 19.—(AP)—"Red" Partain of the San Benito club in the lower Rio Grande Valley league of Texas has given ball players all over the United States another mark to shoot at.

In a game played here Sunday he made five home runs, walked once and went out once, breaking Ty Cobb's record of four homers made last year. Partain was the leading hitter of the league last season. The score was 26 to 11 in favor of San Benito.

A cigarette as is a cigarette!

BOY, howdy! You'll say so the first one you roll with Prince Albert, the better tobacco for cigarettes. P. A. rolls slick as a whistle. Doesn't flutter away on the first breeze or spill all around. That's because P. A. is crimp-cut. It burns better for the same reason.

And that taste! There's the real test after all. A cigarette made with P. A. tastes so good you'll be making one right after the other. From morning right up to closing-time. Cool as a breeze from the North. Sweet as butter-taffy. Fragrant as wind-blown blossoms. That's Prince Albert! Good old Prince Albert, the better cigarette tobacco.

For good measure, the Prince Albert process cuts out bite and parch. Millions of grateful tongues have spoken about this important feature of P. A. You just never tasted a home-rolled cigarette that gave you so much downright pleasure. Get a tidy red tin or a toppy red bag of P. A. today and see.

It's the quality tobacco in Prince Albert that makes such a cigarette. This same wonderful tobacco goes great in a jimmy-pipe also. Try it. Tuck a neat wad of P. A. into the business end of your favorite pipe and light up. Your face will light up at the same time . . . and for a good reason!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins and toppy red bags. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

More Truth Than Poetry

IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE

There is this to be said for the young:
If they kick up their heels now and then,
They can always repent, now and then,
That they live to be women and men.
If they sip, in their youth, from the illicit flask
Whose content is dreadfully heady,
They'll have plenty of time for the subsequent task
Of getting their curve centres steady.

We do not agree with the gents
Who cry with forboding acclaim
That the kids of today are embarked on their way
To a region we'd rather not name.
Though they're tripping just now 'round Terpsichore's throne,
And are somewhat too lightsome and sporty—
They'll be rocking the cradles of Kids of their own
By the time they are thirty or forty.

But the gentleman well past his prime
Who forever is dancing around,
Will be wiser to pause as more swiftly he draws
Toward the region to which he is bound
The moralists ought to consider his case
And now and then loudly remind him
That he has no tomorrow his steps to retrace
For his future is wholly behind him.

If bright youth will insist on its fling,
As it seems quite determined to do,
If it must have its thrill, let it step as it will
While its years are around twenty-two.
But the people who have but a few years on earth
(And in night clubs they're found in profusion)
If they still have a taste for convivial mirth
Should indulge in the same in seclusion.

SINISTER CRIME

pends on the integrity of its officers; the welfare of the government depends, also, on the integrity of its people; and further, the welfare of the government depends on the confidence the people have in the integrity of its officers.

"It is alarming to me and it is an alarming thing for us to think that crime in Texas today is on the increase; that an average of three men are murdered every day in this state; that our penitentiaries and prison farms are growing in number and size; and that the criminal element is being organized more firmly than ever."

The speaker then went on to point out that, while it was not the duty of the attorney general to prosecute criminal cases, it was his duty, as he conceived it, to take an interest in the laws of the state and see that the constitution was upheld in all particulars.

Commenting on his "platform," Mr. Allred stated "the constitution defines the duties of the attorney general; the statutes amplify the duties of the attorney general and that is the platform I shall take to the people of Texas. It is as limitless as the Plains of Texas, it is as high as the blue of Texas skies, and it is as deep as the waters of the gulf of Mexico. It is all the platform that is needed."

Humphrey Is Chairman.

Leslie Humphrey acted as chairman of the meeting and his introductory remarks gave warm testimony to the character, life and talents of Mr. Allred. Judge P. A. Martin, Judge H. R. Wilson, J. H. Allison and E. McDavid, the latter of Electra, spoke briefly in behalf of the candidate. All pledged there unremitting support to him and predicted a successful campaign that would be crowned with the attorney general's toga in the end.

"A mule eared jack rabbit will move like a snake compared to Jimmy Allred when he gets started in this campaign," Judge Wilson remarked during the course of his talk.

"We're going to put Jimmy in the attorney general's chair and then support him when he gets there," Mr. Allison said.

"I believe I express the sentiment of my city when I say that Electra is behind Jimmy Allred 100 percent strong," Mr. McDavid asserted.

"This young man had a vision of service to his state and he is now preparing to render that service," Judge Martin stated.

"Jimmy Allred is going to be 'a running son-of-a-gun when he gets started," Mr Humphrey concluded.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 19.—(AP)—The cotton market was only moderately active today and although there was no pronounced trend to prices values gradually eased off although they were at no time more than eight points under Saturday's close and at one time showed slight net gains over that level. The start showed losses of five to eight points due mainly to lower Liverpool cables than due. Prices gradually improved during the morning until they showed gains of 10 to 11 points over the early lows, but practically all of this improvement was lost during the afternoon on realizing and the close showed net losses for the day of three to seven points, old crop months showing the greatest declines.

At the time the local market opened Liverpool cables were one to ten points lower than due and as a result first trades here showed losses of five to eight points. May traded at 17.80, July at 17.37 and October at 16.38. These proved to be the low points of the day except in the case of July which traded one point lower at 17.36 right at the end. The market soon started to improve owing to map indications of unsettled weather for the western belt which started shorts to covering. The advance carried May up to 17.90, July to 17.48 and October to 16.49, or 10 to 11 points up from the lows and two to six points above Saturday's close. These figures were the highs for the day.

The market eased off gradually during the afternoon on realizing and noon reports of clear weather and no rain in the belt and practically all of the morning rally was lost. The market finally closed near the lows, showing net losses for the day.

Exports for the day totalled 15,385 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP)—The cotton market recovered from an opening decline today but eased off again later, July selling up from 17.98 to 18.11 and closing at 18.00 compared with 18.08 at the close Saturday. The general market closed steady at net declines of three to eight points.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of three to eight points, active positions showing net losses of about six to seven points in the first few minutes. Selling was encouraged by relatively easy Liverpool cables, talk of probable southern mill curtailment and reports of generally clear weather in the south over the week end. Temperatures, however, were considered unseasonably low while the forecast was for colder weather tonight. After selling off to 18.52 for May and 17.04 for October the market turned steadier. There seemed to be considerable trade buying at about the 18 cent level for July and in the neighborhood of 17 cents for October. This helped to absorb early offerings but it did not appear to follow the market upon the rallies and the bulge during mid-day was attributed chiefly to covering by recent sellers which were disappointed that clearing conditions in the south had not been accompanied by higher temperatures.

The detailed weather reports for the day proved rather more favorable than expected in view of the earlier reports and the forecasts. After selling up to 18.62 for May and 17.17 for October, the market reacted. New Orleans Wall street and local traders were sellers on the late decline which carried prices back to about the low points of the morning. The market closed within a point or two of the opening figures.

COLBECK LOSES.

Supreme Court Refuses to Review Mail Robber's Conviction.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP)—The big mail robbery at Staunton, Ill., in May, 1923, will not be inquired into by the supreme court.

The court today denied an appeal by William P. Colbeck and others convicted with him on the charge of holding up the postmaster at Staunton.

Colbeck and his associates, now serving at Leavenworth, contended they were convicted upon incompetent testimony.

REJECT BIDS.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP)—The senate today adopted a resolution calling for the rejection by the shipping board of the bid of R. Stanley Dollar for the purchase of the Admiral-Oriental mail steamship line.

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP)—Uncertain price movements characterized today's stock market which failed to break out of the narrow trading area within which it has been fluctuating for the last three weeks. The average of twenty leading industrial shares showed a slight gain on the day, the average of twenty leading rails a slight loss, while total sales again barely exceeded the million mark.

Prices opened strong, sold off from the highs when bear traders launched a fresh selling attack on Hudson, following publication of a report that the company had sharply curtailed production, rallied sharply when this selling failed to bring about any general liquidation of the motors, receded again in the afternoon on speculative disappointment over the positive stand taken by Chairman Gary against any increase in the United States Steel common dividend at this time, and closed with more or less irregularity.

The most illuminating information on the present business session was given by Chairman Gary at the annual stockholders meeting of the steel corporation when he said that the present bookings of about 28,500 tons a day compared with 35,361 on the corresponding date last month and 17,179 tons a year ago while present shipments were 48,141 tons a day against 51,142 last month and 45,956 a year ago. Considering the backwardness of the season, the results, he said, were satisfactory. U. S. Steel common opened at 119¼, advanced to 120⅝ and then dropped back to 118¾, closing at the bottom. Other steels showed mixed fractional changes on the day.

Hudson, the most active issue, opened at 64, advanced to 64⅛, dropped back to 63½ and then rallied to 64 for a net gain of ⅛ on the day. The early selling was associated with the report that the company's output would be decreased from 1,500 to 900 cars daily because unseasonable weather had interfered with spring sales. Pierce Arrow preferred closed touched 85, but most of the other active touched 85, but most of the other active motors showed little changes.

Acute weakness of the Armour issues which collapsed to new low levels for the year aroused fears in some quarters that the dividend rate on the "A" stock was in danger. The selling also was accompanied by rumors of dissension in the pool which recently had been operating in those issues.

Heaviness of U. S. Rubber common, which broke below 60 to a new low level for the year, was associated with the recent decline in crude rubber prices. Other rubbers showed slight recessions. Sulphur stocks were in good demand, rails were rather sluggish.

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent and then dropped to 4, closing at that figure. It is estimated that about $8,000,000 in loans was called early in the day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Renewed weakness of French francs which established another new low level for all time at 3.31 cents featured the irregular foreign exchange market. Demand sterling held steady at 4.85⅝. Spanish and Norwegian currency advanced slightly but most of the other European rates showed small declines. The continued quotation of the Canadian dollar at the premium of 5-32 of one per cent was followed today by the announcement of a shipment of $1000,000 in gold coin to Canada. Other shipments probably will follow if the present rate is maintained.

Welfare Board to Meet Wednesday

An important meeting of the welfare board will be held Wednesday morning, it was announced Monday by Mrs. Kathleen Gorsline, secretary. Several matters requiring action will be brought up, among them being appointment of a negro welfare worker.

STOCK-A-DAY

The British American Tobacco company was organized to handle the export business of the Imperial Tobacco Company, Ltd. The American Tobacco company, the American Cigar company, Ogden's Ltd., the Continental Tobacco company and the Consolidated Tobacco company. The concern owns and controls companies in most of the world capitals. The concern is closely allied with the Parland Steamship company operating between American ports, Europe and the Orient.

In addition to factories in England and the United States the company operates factories and depots in other parts of the world and owns tobacco plantations.

Capital stock consists of 4,500,000 pounds in 5 per cent stock of five pounds par and 16,071,445 pounds in common shares of 1 pound par. There is no funded debt.

Earnings and cash position have shown little change in the last 10 years. In 1919, 7,500,000 pounds additional common stock was issued and this resulted in smaller additions to surplus which on Sept. 30, 1925, amounted to 6,155,739 pounds. The regular dividend rate on the common shares is 16 2-3 per cent with final dividends of varying amounts. Since 1907 the smallest aggregate amount paid in any year has been 18 1-2 per cent and the largest 32 1-2 per cent. Feb. 23 the company declared an interim dividend of 10 pence a share on the ordinary shares to holders of coupon No. 110.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, April 19.—(AP)—Wheat values underwent a sudden setback today toward the last, owing largely to increased selling to realize profits. The fact that the market had climbed to ten cents above prices which were current at one time last week was chiefly responsible for the reaction. Wheat closed irregular at one cent net decline to ⅛c advance. May (new) 1.67⅝ to 1.67⅛ and July 1.43⅞ to 1.44, with corn ⅜ to ⅝c off, oats a shade to ¼c down, and provisions virtually unchanged.

Improved weather made corn traders lean to the selling side of the market almost from the start. Oats sympathized with corn. Better eastern and foreign demand for lard steadied the provision market.

Texas Solons Keep Eye On Dry Law

AUSTIN, April 19.—Despite the bone dryness of the Texas brand of prohibition and the overwhelming sentiment behind its enactment, the question of possible modification of the Dean law, along with any modification or compromise over the Volstead act, is said to be worrying candidates for both legislative and administrative offices. This threatens to become an issue in some of the elections for the house, and possibly the senate, it is said. But the issue is yet to be made for Texas by congress.

CALL FOR BIDS

Bids have been called for and will be opened on May 24, by the county commissioners court, which will probably award a contract at that time for construction of a new bridge over Holliday creek at the end of Harrison Street.

At the court meeting Monday morning County Auditor Walsh was authorized to call for bids on that date.

Dies from Fright Following Crash

SANGER, Texas, April 19.—(AP) Heart disease, believed to have resulted from fright, caused the death of Mr. G. D. Lain, 64, when his automobile swerved from the highway near here late yesterday and crashed through two fences. Mrs. Lain was not injured and the car was not damaged.

Dr. Lain was formerly president of the North Texas Medical association. Dr. G. S. Lain of Oklahoma City, en route to the American Medical association convention, in Dallas, stopped off at Sanger when notified of his brother's death.

Delegates Coming In For Southwestern Claims Conference Today

BUSY SESSION AHEAD TUESDAY

Meetings to Be Held Today At Kemp With Dinner At Night

Everything is in readiness for the meeting today at the Kemp hotel of the Southwestern Claims conference which begins at 9 o'clock with a welcome to the visitors by Mayor R. E. Shepherd. Delegates began arriving Monday afternoon for the meeting.

Business sessions will begin soon after and the work pertaining to the conference will start. It will be resumed in the afternoon meeting. S. A. Covington, general superintendent of the Fort Worth & Denver will be one of the speakers; Joe Marshall, special representative of the American railroad association, W. B. Hamilton, and others will also be included on the program.

The conference will close tonight with a banquet at the Kemp with Judge B. D. Sartin acting as toastmaster. A number of speakers will be in cluded for the evening's entertainment.

This meeting of the Southwestern Claims conference was invited by the chamber of commerce to come to Wichita Falls, and plans have been made by that organization for the visitors who spend Tuesday here, it is said.

The Old Home Town

Mrs. Roy E. Carter has as her guest, her mother, Mrs. Rhodes of Dallas.

John D. Robertson who is ill in a local hospital is reported to be improving rapidly.

Mrs. Leslie Stayton of Nashville, Tenn., is here at the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Floyd Friberg, who is seriously ill in a local hospital.

The second quarterly conference of the First Methodist church will be held Tuesday evening at the church with Rev. Frank M. Richardson, presiding elder, in charge.

Mrs. V. W. Cain is in the Clinic hospital where she is undergoing surgical treatment for a broken arm. The bone was broken in December and the injury had not healed properly.

Dr. Fred Goss leaves this afternoon for Childress where he goes as a delegate from the First Presbyterian church to the Amarillo Presbytery there Wednesday and Thursday.

Rev. E. F. McGaughey, pastor of Floral Heights Presbyterian church, will leave Wednesday for Childress to attend the Amarillo Presbytery in session Wednesday and Thursday.

J. W. Thorne has returned from Dallas where he went in reference to planning thae program for the assembly of the Epworth League to be held at Sherman in June at Kidd Key college.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Weaver of 1501 Garfield announce the birth of a daughter April 18 at the Clinic-Hospital. Mrs. Weaver and her little daughter are both reported doing nicely.

William J. Spreen, assistant pastor of the First Christian church, is expected home Wednesday from Birmingham, Ala., where he has been attending an international Sunday school conference.

The board of review for merit badges of the Boy Scouts will be held Tuesday evening at 5:30 o'clock at the First Christian church. A court of honor will be held Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at the church, and the picture, "Knights of the Square Table," will be shown.

Word has been received from Rev. Nat F. Grafton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who is in Corpus Christi for his health, that he is improving there. He and Mrs. Grafton are enjoying the lower climate, the message stated. Judge E. W. Napier will drive the Grafton automobile to Corpus Christi next week.

Dr. Fred Woolsey has returned from Fort Worth where he attended a meeting of optometrists. He said the meeting was probably the best he had ever attended. An eye survey was made including color tests and examination of the eyes of the taxi drivers who were accustomed to driving by traffic lights. Dr. Woolsey brought back with him a $150 opthalmoscope which he was awarded at the convention.

Snyder Girl, Well Known Here, Hurt In Auto Wreck

Miss Frances Harris of Snyder, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Mayfield, was seriously injured as a result of an automobile accident Saturday night between Post and Lubbock when the car in which she was riding slipped on muddy roads and overturned into a ditch. Miss Harris is said to have suffered a fractured skull, crushed nose and a broken collar bone. It was believed Monday by attending physicians that the sight of her eyes might be lost.

She is well known in this city and has been a frequent visitor here. At the Texas-Oklahoma fair, she was Snyder's representative at the queen's ball.

William J. Edwards, Waco geologist, died as a result of injuries received in the accident. His funeral will be held in Waco Tuesday afternoon, according to a dispatch from that city.

E. E. Folgerson, geologist of Lincoln, Neb., was also seriously injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayfield left Sunday for Lubbock to be at the bedside of their niece.

HERRIN VERDICT.

Grand Jury Probes Killings and Announces "Homicide."

HERRIN, Ill., April 19.—(AP)—The coroner's jury which has been investigating Herrin's latest factional clash which last Tuesday resulted in the death of six men, returned a verdict of "homicide" tonight after an all day session.

Woman's Forum Building to Be Constructed Here One of The City's Most Vital Necessities

Mrs. G. D. Anderson Gives Her Endorsement to Campaign for $50,000 With Which to Erect Handsome New Home

Plans are rapidly being completed for the campaign of the Woman's Forum, which starts next Monday to raise a fund of $50,000 with which to erect a magnificent club building in the Country Club Estates. The structure to be modern in every respect and probably to be of Spanish architecture, will be the first of two wings proposed to be erected by the women of the city clubs. Much interest is being manifested in the campaign, which is to run four days, April 26 to 29, inclusive. The proposed building will be the home of the Federated clubs of the city, which is likewise known as the Woman's Forum.

Regarding the work of these clubs and the interest the members have shown in the growth and progress of Wichita Falls, Mrs. G. D. Anderson, prominent in club work has the following to say:

A Great Help

"The people who think know that the Woman's club movement has been a great factor in the advance of all educational lines.

"They have done incalculable good in the schools by demanding and introducing more healthful surroundings and methods in the school room, and caused canvasses to be made for detection of disease, and established clinics in city schools.

"They have been the means of introducing the study and appreciation of music and art in the schools.

"They have bettered the condition of their communities by interesting themselves and the men in matters pertaining to beautifying and making more healthful their towns and cities and there are splendid movements too numerous to mention that have been of inestimable value to mankind which women's club have fostered. Women's clubs, wherever they come in contact with individuals and communities, create a desire and a demand for the better and more wholesome things of life.

Wichita Falls may well be proud of its women's clubs.

"A great majority of the earnest, capable women of the city are identified with some fine arts or civic club.

Another Step Ahead

"By uniting in this Federation of clubs known as Woman's Forum, they show another sign of progress. The Forum shows there is a concerted effort among the women of the city and it is the hope of the forum that it may be to the women of the city what the chamber of commerce is the men—of vital importance to community life.

"The Civic League which is now a department of the forum has for a long time worked with the chamber of commerce for the good of the city in many ways.

"The literary, music, art, drama and health departments have during the past year brought more good lecturers, and exhibits and put on more good programs than has been here for any preceding five years of the history of the city.

"The chamber of commerce works to build up the commercial interests of the city and the Woman's Forum seeks to create a desire for and satisfy a demand for good music, beautiful pictures, good lectures, civic beauty, clean drama and good literature.

"The forum has almost three hundred members and such an active worthwhile organization deserves a home for its activities."

H. S. ORCHESTRA GOES TO BELTON

Will Compete Thursday In State Music Contest

Twenty members of the Wichita Falls high school orchestra under the direction of Miss Winnifred Alvis, will leave Thursday night for Belton where they will take part in the State music contest Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Baylor-Belton college.

This is the first time the local high school orchestra has planned to participate in the state contest. The winner last year was the Waco high school orchestra, and for the three years preceding, the first place went to the Beaumont high school.

"This is the best orchestra Wichita Falls high has had since I have been here," Miss Alvis said.

The personnel of the orchestra follows: violins, Rebecca Meadors, Joseph Rabinowitz, Ernest Johnson, Thelma Gwinn, Loneta Smith, Claudine McCarty, Dorothy Coleman, Herbert Clayton, T. H. Blanton, Jean Fisk, Melba Alderson; cello, Isabel Marsh; clarinet, James Giddings, Bill Rogers; horns, Edwin Sutton, Wilton Gray; trumpets, Vernon Bullard, Ira Lee Utts; trombone, Byron Johnson; piano, Lorene Tucker; drums, Reagan Dublin.

The orchestra will return Sunday.

Varied Program At Kiwanis Meet

Members of the Kiwanis club enjoyed in connection with the program Monday at the Kemp hotel a number of whistling solos by J. K. Westbrook, of Dallas, district representative of the Dyo Shoe Polish corporation. Among his numbers were "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Listen to the Mocking Bird," and "When You and I Were Young, Maggie."

He explained how he whistled and demonstrated the different positions of his fingers which helped produce the flute-like tones.

Floyd Ard, Jr., youthful pianist of the city, announced his recital to be given at the Junior college auditorium Friday evening. Young Ard is leaving after the close of the spring session of school for Vienna, Austria, to continue his study of piano.

A. E. Myles spoke in behalf of the recital, and urged Kiwanians to attend and help the ambitious young artist to go into deeper study of the art. Paul Calvert also spoke in behalf of the recital and the artist.

Mrs. W. W. Silk talked in interest of the proposed building for the Woman's Forum, telling why it is needed ,and "for the first time in the history of Wichita Falls, the women of the city are asking the help of the men for something for themselves," she said in her talk as she told how the building would provide a meeting place for the three hundred or five hundred members of the organization.

TEXHOMA MAN HURT

W. T. Scott of Holliday, employee of the Texhoma company, is in a local hospital suffering from a fractured limb injured when a hook from the derrick on which he was working struck his left leg. He was brought by a Hines ambulance to Wichita Falls for treatment.

Ascot, Roller

Ascot company has picked up a good looking sand at about 1,600 feet in its No. 1, Roller, located about three miles northwest of Bacon, W. A. Grady survey, about half a mile south of production, Wichita county, and is setting casing to test.

COUNCIL HAS PAVING SCRAP

Long Argument Comes Up Over Awarding York Street Bid

Paving matters, which included a lively scrap over awarding of a contract for paving York avenue between Wenonah and Ollquitt streets, took up most of the time at the city council meeting Monday night. Public hearings on four projects were held and the paving ordered in after a few protests developed. The streets to be improved are Harrison, Seventh to Tenth; Eighteenth, Brond to Chester; Clark, Twelfth to the N. property line of the Austin survey; Avenue F, Monroe to Polk.

The York street project involves about 4,400 lineal feet of work. The petition for the paving was worked up by the Plains Paving company, which submitted to bids, one for $2.80 and one for $2.70, the prices being governed by the type of paving. The job finally went to the West Texas Construction company on a bid of $2.76. The council was divided on the proposition, Commissioners Patton and Hunt voting for the Plains bid and Commissioners Jones, Curd and Quelsser for the West Texas bid.

Alldridge Parents Here for Body

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Alldridge, father and mother of Lewis J. Alldridge, who took his own life Sunday night in a Tenth street rooming house, arrived Monday night from Cooper, Texas, to take the body back with them for burial. They were accompanied by Max Alldridge, another son, of Cooper, and Miss Gertrude Alldridge, daughter, of Fort Worth.

The body will be sent to Cooper Tuesday by train and the family will return via automobile.

WAS DIZZY, HEAD ACHED, AND COLOR WAS BAD

"Until something over two years ago I suffered with severe bilious attacks which came on me two or three times every month," says Mr. Ollie Miller, of Murray, Ky.

"I would become dizzy. My head would ache terribly, feeling as if it would almost burst. It felt exactly like a tight band was being drawn closer and closer around my temples. This was accompanied by violent spells of nausea.

"My stomach would be so upset I could not retain any kind of nourishment for hours. I would have to quit work and go to bed.

"My color was awful. I was yellow and my skin was drawn and dry. But worse than that was my lack of 'pep.' I did not have any energy—no ambition to work. I dragged at my work—got through it, somehow, but always feeling that it was an awful job. I was just about half sick most of the time because of these spells.

"One day one of my neighbors, who has used Thedford's Black Draught for years, asked me why I did not try it. He said he had noticed how bad my color was, and he thought it would help me.

"I got some Black-Draught immediately and began to take it regularly at first until I got my system clear of the poison I had been absorbing. I soon began to feel better and developed a fine appetite. I had no more bad headaches or bilious spells.

"I feel that Thedford's Black-Draught has relieved me of a trouble that has been with me for years. Now I take a dose of Black-Draught ever so often to prevent biliousness. I am feeling fine. My color is healthy now. I can do twice the work that I could do last year and I feel that I owe all this improvement to Black-Draught."

JUNIOR SAFETY COUNCIL MEETS

Glass Outlines Its Duties In Austin School Session

Duties of the members of the Junior Safety council were outlined to 70 boys of Austin school in the meeting of the council held Monday afternoon at the school when H. A. Glass, principal of junior high, was the principal speaker.

The following boys were elected monitors: Cecil McNeill, Coy Jackson, Paul Coulter, Jack Montgomery, Bennett Withrow, Billy Henderson.

Eight stop signs and whistles have arrived and are in possession of the following boys who serve as traffic officers at crossings from 8:15-9 o'clock in the mornings and at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoons: Bailey Andrus, James Crow, Robert Fouther, Vernon Howell, Leon Deaton, Grady Fletcher, Eugene Pope, George Rall.

The work of the council at the previous meeting was read by Leo Tyres; a recital of the American creed and the flag salute were included in the program. The council orchestra played three songs.

Essay Contests Closed As Winners Are Announced

Emmaline Lewis, representative of the Austin school, in the city essay writing contest of the Interscholastic league, won first place among the ward school contestants, according to the report received Monday morning from the judging committee to Miss Ruth Stayton, director of the contst. This is the second time that Austin school has made first place. Fannin school represented by Kathleen Meeks, won second place, and third was won by Crockett school by Nancy Faver.

Jessie Smith was the only representative from the senior high school and was awarded first place from the high school. Of four contestants from junior high, Paul Cain was awarded first place; Martha Johnson, second and Dee Blythe, third.

Judged in Burk.

The papers were judged in Burkburnett by Miss Gray, head of the English department of the Burkburnett high school and her committee.

The papers receiving first place will be entered in the district meet which is to be held probably next week, Miss Stayton announced.

A complete list of the contestants follows: Senior high, Jessie Smith; junior high, Paul Cain, Martha Johnson, Dee Blythe, Beulah Ray; Austin, Emmaline Lewis; Carrigan, Edna Richerson; Barwise, Guinelda Stewart; Fannin, Kathleen Meeks; Crockett, Nancy Faver; Alamo, Mary C. Boone; San Jacinto, Charles Ware.

The papers were chosen from a list of five subjects assigned as suitable

DEMAND RANSOM.

Abductors of New York Child Want $6,000 for Return.

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP)—One hour after the disappearance of his ten-year-old daughter today, Joseph Martucci, Brooklyn tile dealer, received a written demand for $6,000 ransom, delivered by a telegraph company messenger.

The Martucci child disappeared while on her way home from school for lunch. The letter threatened her death and that of other members of the family unless the money was delivered to a messenger who would call for it on Wednesday and warned against following the messenger.

"Seventeen" On the Stage Tonight As Senior Class Play

"Seventeen", probably the most popular novel among Booth Tarkington's works, will be the annual production of the senior class of the high school tonight at the Junior college under the direction of Miss Juanita Kinsey, instructor in dramatics and public speaking at the Junior college.

A story for a boy's first love for the "only" girl and the complications involved under such circumstances, written in a realistic and intensely entertaining manner such as only Tarkington is capable of, has proved favorite of age and youth in past years. Recently it has become an outstanding success in dramatic form, especially among the students of high schools and colleges. Leading parts were played by Steve Ford as Willie Baxter, and Frances Boyd as Miss Lola Pratt.

The play will start promptly at 8 o'clock. A good sale of tickets has been reported but a few good seats are still available at the college. Proceeds for the performance are to go to the Coyote, high school annual, and to the purchase of an art gift for the Junior college to be left as a memorial of the seniors of 1926.

C. of C. Offices To Close Tuesday

Offices of the chamber of commerce will close Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when the Wichita Falls baseball team clashes with the Shreveport Sports in the first home game of the 1926 season. Efforts are being made for Wichita Falls to receive the silver loving cup for the largest first day attendance and the chamber of commerce is closing in its effort to assist in the success of the program and thereby bring the city much favorable publicity throughout the baseball world.

CHAUNCEY HEADS SCHOOL BOARD

Is Re-Elected Monday To Serve as President Again

J. N. Prothe and W. L. Robertson were installed as the new members of the board of education in the regular meeting held last night at the superintendent's office. In the reorganization of the board, Judge W. B. Chauncey was re-elected president, and is now serving his third term; C. H. Clark was reelected vice-president.

Routine matters of paying bills were included in the business of the evening.

The board authorized the school to shorten the recess periods and push up the school work Tuesday in order to be through work by three o'clock that that school children might be able to attend the opening baseball game of the season.

Silver Tea Plans Are Completed

Final plans for the silver tea to be given Wednesday afternoon from 2:30 to 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. O. Marley, 2208 Princeton, by the Ladies Aid of the Yale Avenue Evangelical church, were made by that organization in the meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. I. Fellows, 2303 Holliday.

The devotional was led by Mrs. E. L. Mantle who read from the sixth chapter of Matthew. A free will offering of $1.10 was taken. The next meeting of the society will be held with Mrs. Mantle at her home, 2213 Yale, with Mrs. J. L. Arnold in charge of the devotions.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames M. B. Sherman, J. L. Arnold, C. Hosford, O. Marley, F. J. Angel, J. L. Gilbreath, Charles Brown, R. L. Mansell, E. L. Mantle, C. K. Higginbotham, H. Dewar, W. I. Fellows, E. J. Fellows, Hones, Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Cook and 10 visitors.

ACQUIT CHAPLAIN.

Army Officer Not Guilty of Improper Relations With Girl.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 19.—(AP)—Captain Orville Clampitt, army chaplain tonight was found not guilty on all counts of improper relations with Lucille Swallow, Fort Leavenworth girl, by a court martial at the Presidio here.

The acquittal came after Captain Clampitt took the stand in his own behalf and gave his version of his relationship with Miss Swallow while he was stationed at Fort Leavenworth. The accused officer was freed on the first ballot.
