ATTORNEY TO 'TELL ALL' IN BOMB SLAYING

Hawks Lands At Los Angeles To Break Transcontinental Air Speed Record

AIRMAN CLIPS HOURS FROM FLYING TIME

'Mystery' Ship Averages 180 Miles Across Nation

SIX STOPS FOR FUEL

Pilot Dodges Showers To Bring Plane Over Arizona

LOS ANGELES MUNICIPAL Airport, Aug. 6. (US)—Captain Hawks in his Pony Express Travelair plane landed here at 4:50 o'clock tonight from Roosevelt field, New York, covering the distance in 14 hours and 50 minutes.

The airman broke the East-to-West record of 18 hours and 40 minutes, set by Col. Roscoe Turner. This was a non-stop flight, however, while Hawks landed six times for refueling and servicing.

Dodges Showers

Hawks' last stop was Kingman, Ariz., where he put down at 3:10 p. m. (mountain time) to refuel. In the vicinity of Needles, scattered thundershowers were reported, and he was kept busy dodging them. These southwestern storms are usually "spotty" and a skilled pilot can find his way between them without much difficulty.

Hawks stayed only 15 minutes at Kingman, just long enough to take on gasoline enough for the 280 airline miles to Los Angeles. He had made the dash from Albuquerque, N. M., in a few minutes over an hour, and flew from Wichita, Kan., to Albuquerque in a trifle over three hours.

Flew 'Mystery' Ship

At none of his stops, did he spend more time than was necessary to refuel.

Hawks flew a Travelair "Mystery" monoplane with a 300-horsepower Wright motor. His ship has a maximum speed of about 270 miles an hour, but he said before starting that he did not expect to fly faster than 200 miles an hour.

He took off from Curtis field, New York, at 5 o'clock (eastern standard time), cheered by a small crowd of spectators.

Hawks started with 107 gallons of gasoline in the tanks, and was prepared to refuel at intervals on the way. Fuel supplies were held in readiness at Columbus, Ohio; Indianapolis, St. Louis, Wichita, Albuquerque, N. M., and Kingman, Ariz.

Average 180 Miles

His first stop was at Columbus, where he landed after a flight of two hours and 49 minutes from New York. Five hours and 29 minutes after he left Curtiss field, he reached St. Louis, but taking out the time for refueling and servicing at Columbus, his flying time from New York to St. Louis was four hours and 56 minutes. He estimated his average speed at 180 miles an hour.

New York and Los Angeles are 2,446 miles apart in an air line, and, to cover the distance in 15 hours as Hawks planned, he would have had to maintain an average of 163 miles an hour, not including the time lost in refueling or getting off a direct course.

Before starting, Hawks said that he was not trying for a record but planning to demonstrate the feasibility of establishing a fast transcontinental service on the "Pony Express" method, stopping at principal cities. This service, he said, would be of value for the fast carriage of small and valuable items, such as securities or special merchandise.

Holds Many Records

Hawks already holds a variety of records of transcontinental flights.

In April, 1930, Hawks made a record which nobody else has since even tried to equal when he traveled across the continent in a glider, towed by Pilot J. D. Jernigan. He took several days for the trip, making 20 stops, and his total towed time was 36 hours and 42 minutes.

Hawks flew a Lockheed on his earlier trips. The Travelair Mystery ship he used on his latest flight has a supercharged motor which permits greater speed.

Farm Board Considers Aid For Drouth Stricken Area; Wheat, Corn Prices Soar

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—The possibility of "production credit" for cotton and livestock through emergency interpretation of the agricultural marketing act drew the attention of investigators today as President Hoover and his cabinet surveyed relief measures for drouth stricken areas.

Feed and Water Short

Fresh reports of depleted feed and water, and even human food supplies, indicated that drouth damage, continuing unabated in almost all sections, was high.

A report on avenues open to the farm board for getting production credit into the hands of the farmer was to be made public tomorrow by Carl Williams, member representing cotton. Whether the board would be able to follow any of the suggestions, Mr. Williams said, could not be determined until the return of Alexander Legge, chairman, from the Pacific northwest late this month.

Williams was expected to discuss in particular the possibility of providing funds to feed livestock through the National Feeder and Finance corporation, a subsidiary of the National Livestock Marketing association.

As the livestock set up was interpreted, the board would lend money to the marketing association which in return would lend it to the Feeder and Finance corporation for distribution to regional credit organizations operating in federal intermediate credit bank districts.

50 Millions Credit

The federal money would be used to acquire the capital stock of the regional credit groups, which would be authorized to discount livestock paper at federal intermediate credit banks. The process would permit the pyramiding of $5,000,000 of farm board funds into $50,000,000 of credit. Most of the cash loaned to farmers would come from local financial institutions affiliated with the intermediate banks.

The effect of the whole plan, if the board found authority for it, would be to enable the farmer to put up his livestock as collateral and borrow money to buy feed. He would be obligated to market his stock through the National Livestock Marketing association.

HEAT RETAINS GRIP ON NATION

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (UP)—Sizzling heat retained its cruel grasp on most of the nation tonight.

It crumpled more crops, depleted more water supplies, brought more deaths, started more forest fires and caused the stupendous half billion dollar damage recorded so far to mount still higher.

Scattered thunder storms brought a measure of relief to isolated regions, but for the most part the severe drouth of the past month continued unabated.

So tremendous was the crop loss that the price of corn on the Chicago board of trade, the nation's biggest grain mart, shot up seven cents per bushel to more than a dollar for September and May deliveries.

Wheat, also burned and shriveled over most of the northwest, leaped

HEAT CLAIMS VICTIM HERE

Temperature Drop Too Late To Save Wichitan

A break in Wichita Falls' heat wave, the first in more than three weeks, came a few hours too late Wednesday morning to save the life of James C. Martin, 56, painting and paper hanging contractor, who died at his home, 409 Bridge street, shortly after midnight.

Attending physicians said a heart attack, which struck Mr. Martin as he sought fresh air on the porch of his home, had probably been brought on by the severe heat of the last three weeks. Funeral services for Mr. Martin will be held from the Assembly of God church Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Rev. Charles Robinson, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in Rosemont cemetery under the direction of the Hines mortuary.

Mr. Martin was the second victim of the heat wave, the first being S. W. Walker, nightwatchman, who collapsed while on duty Sunday evening. Mr. Walker was reported improving at the Wichita General hospital Wednesday, and probably will be taken to his home Thursday.

Mr. Martin had been a resident of Wichita Falls for 14 years. He is survived by his widow; two daughters, Mrs. P. L. Jones of Wichita Falls and Mrs. F. R. Pope of Oklahoma City, and three sons, John H., F. G., and Robert H. Martin, all of Wichita Falls.

Temperature Below 100

Some relief from the intense heat of the last three weeks was afforded Wichitans Wednesday when the temperature failed to pass the 100-degree mark for the first time during the last 21 days. Light showers of Tuesday and cool breezes Tuesday night and Wednesday morning held the maximum for the day Wednesday down to 98 degrees. While the 98-degree mark Wednesday was much too hot for comfort, it seemed comparatively mild in contrast with the 107-degree marks set earlier in the week.

AUSTIN, Aug. U. S. MARINES MOBILIZED FOR CHINESE CLASH

American Refugees Flee Communist Hordes At Hankow

NATIONS CONFER

United States to Hold To Non-Interference Policy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (US)—The United States today prepared to land marines and sailors at Hankow for the protection of American refugees from an imminent clash between Chinese Nationalist and Communist troops.

American, British and Japanese warships have also been massed in the Yangtse river at Hankow to prevent the crossing of the river by a tremendous horde of Communist troops now at Wuchang, great arsenal oppsite Hankow.

With 11 warships of the three nations in the river and marines and sailors ashore, the state department today expressed confidence that the American refugees fleeing into the river port from various inland cities could be given more adequate protection.

Situation Grave

The situation is so grave that Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador to the United States and Acting Secretary of State Castle held a long conference today to determine a joint policy to meet the emergency should one develop.

It was decided that the United States, at least, would regard the so-called "Communist" troops as ordinary bandit bands and take any steps necessary for the protection of American nationals. This means, it was stated, that troops will be landed and if necessary the refugees will be brought out under the covering protection of shell fire from ships as well as from the troops ashore.

Will Avoid Conference

It was specifically emphasized by Secretary Castle, however, that the United States will do everything possible to avoid being drawn into the civil war which is now raging throughout China, or to do anything which may place them in the position of interfering in the internal strife.

The position of this country, it was stated, is only to guard the rights guaranteed the United States under the treaty with China to protect American lives and property. This nation can not intervene on either side to suppress the revolution.

As was the case three years ago when Americans in China were forced out of the interior and compelled to seek safety in Shanghai under the protection of foreign warships and an armed camp within the city, Secretary Castle assured the British ambassador that this country would again cooperate in the fullest in the protection of all foreigners.

City Reoccupied

The city of Changsha, which was sacked and burned by the "Communist" troops last week, has been evacuated by them and reoccupied by the government forces. The "Communists" have reformed their army into a force of at least 60,000, it was stated, and have already reached Wuchang, making plans to cross the river to Hankow.

American forces will attempt to prevent it if there is a possibility of the warships or foreign refugees being caught in the fire.

Texas Negro Awaits Execution Tonight

AUSTIN, Aug. 6. (UP)—Raney Williams, negro, convicted of criminal assault on a negro woman, faced his last night of life in the state prison at Huntsville tonight.

Williams was saved from angry mobs at Port Arthur and Beaumont after his arrest a month ago. Two white girls identified him as the man who had attacked them.

New Capital Backs Metal Plant Opening Here Today

$300,000 Order One of Several Given Company

Beginning Thursday morning the factory of the former Ray Sheet Metal company, located on the Henrietta road one mile east of the city limits, will be operated by the Equipment Manufacturing company in the production of a full line of sheet steel equipment for retail gasoline and oil stations.

This announcement was made to the Record News Wednesday night after officials of the recently formed purchasing corporation had completed their inspection of the plant and had placed orders for several carloads of new materials to be shipped at once to the factory here. The announcement was made just one year from the date on which manufacturing processes were discontinued by the former owners of the plant on Aug. 6, 1929.

Officials Here

Purchase of the factory building, ground and equipment was announced on Tuesday of this week following the arrival in this city of A. E. Tabor of Fort Worth, president of the new concern, John K. Omo, assistant-secretary and treasurer, had been here since last Friday supervising the cleaning up of the plant, and inspection of machinery. T. G. Dabney of Dallas, vice president, and F. J. Omo of Fort Worth, secretary-treasurer, arrived in Wichita Falls Wednesday morning, and the decision to begin manufacturing operations at once was reached Wednesday evening.

One of the important factors in effecting an immediate resumption of activities in the Ray plant here, one of the largest and best equipped in the country, is a contract for $300,000 worth of filling station equipment to be delivered during the ensuing 12 months to a major oil company, officials of the Equipment Manufacturing company stated. Other orders of lesser amounts already have been placed for merchandise to be made in the local plant, it was said. A large amount of material already was on hand in

AMARILLO MAN BREAKS DOWN UNDER GRILLING

A. D. Payne Waits Arrival Of Brother to Tell Of Wife's Death

STENO TELLS STORY

'I Let Him Kiss Me to Hold My Job,' Secretary Tells Reporter

STINNETT, Texas, Aug. 6. (AP)—A. D. Payne, Amarillo attorney, tonight told Chief of Police W. N. McDowell he would make a clean breast of the death of his wife, Mrs. Exa Payne, in a bomb explosion in Amarillo last June 27.

In disjointed remarks, Payne described himself to McDowell as the "meanest man in the world" and upheld the reputation of Mrs. Verona Thompson whom he described was "as clean as driven snow."

Payne was arrested last night and brought here for safe keeping after Mrs. Thompson, formerly his secretary, had signed a statement.

Potter and Hutchinson county officials tonight awaited the arrival of Sidney Payne, brother of A. D. Payne, who said he would make a confession after he had talked with Sidney. It was reported the brother had been making a trip through South Texas and would not arrive here until tomorrow.

AMARILLO, Texas, Aug. 6. (UP)—Crowds gathered on the streets here tonight discussing the filing of murder charges against A. D. Payne, prominent local attorney, accused of killing his wife by placing a bomb in the car which she was driving.

PRISONER BROUGHT HERE

Taken from the Gray county jail because of the excitement caused by the arrival there of A. D. Payne, Amarillo attorney charged with slaying his wife, Johnny Bowman, under a life sentence for murder, was lodged in the Wichita county jail Wednesday night. He will be taken on to Huntsville Thursday. Gray county officials explained that they sent the life-termer on his way as a precaution in the event mob feeling ran high in Gray county.

Feeling was tense against the attorney and officials were making preparations to cope with possible violent outbreaks.

Telegraphic orders were placed for tear gas bombs, hand grenades and riot guns by Sheriff W. N. Thompson and the police department. Officials said they anticipated trouble when the former superintendent of schools at Canyon, Texas, is brought back to this county for arraignment on the murder charge.

A report received here tonight said that Payne had planned to commit suicide in case officers arrested him.

Mayor Ernest O. Thompson announced he would personally aid in the prosecution of Payne.

Although La Dell, 14, and A. D. Jr., 12, children of Payne had been told of the father's arrest, Bobby Jean, 9, had not been told of his plight. She believes her father is away on business.

AMARILLO, Texas, Aug. 6. (UP)—Mrs. Verona Thompson, youthful secretary of A. D. Payne, attorney here who is charged with slaying his wife, today told the United Press she allowed Payne "to make love to me so I could hold my job."

Will "Face It Out"

The attorney today was charged with murder in connection with the death of his wife when her motor car was demolished by an explosion of nitroglycerin. A son of the man was injured by the blast which, authorities charge, Payne arranged so that he might be free to marry his secretary.

The little widow, Mrs. Thompson, whose married name was Lane, but who assumed her maiden name when her husband died, was outwardly unperturbed over the affair and declared she was going to stay right in Amarillo and face it out.

"I know what every old woman in town is saying about me but it is not true. I only allowed him to kiss me because I wanted to hold my job.

"Every time I went out with him it would be the last time, but I needed work and had to put up with his attentions."

When asked by a United Press correspondent if she still loved Payne, she said "No." She also replied in the negative when asked if she would marry him now if he should somehow escape the charges against him.

Denies Police Story

"I would have jumped at the chance to marry him when he was unattached," she said. "He had everything to offer a girl and seemed to be passionately in love with me."

Mrs. Thompson denied telling police last night that Payne had kissed her when she went to his office to see him after the explosion.

"I don't want anything to do with him now. I would neither help

Mann Leads Southern G. O. P. Revolt On Eve of Huston's Resignation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (US)—An open revolt by southern Republicans against the renomination of President Hoover broke out today on the eve of Claudius H. Huston's retirement as national chairman.

At the head of the insurrectionists was Col. Horace Mann, of Tennessee, who played such a prominent role in the Hover campaign below the Mason and Dixon in 1928.

Break Expected

In a lengthy statement, Mann announced that his followers had banded together to take over the party reins and to send an "uninstructed" delegation to the 1932 national convention when, presumably, President Hoover will be a candidate for renomination.

Although Mann asserted Huston has no alliance with the new organization, few doubted the sympathy of the retiring national chairman with the insurrectionist movement. In every quarter, it was looked upon as the expected break between Huston and the White House.

Tomorrow the executive committee of the national committee will meet here to accept Huston's resignation and select Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, as his successor. The program also calls for the election of Robert H. Lucas, commissioner of internal revenue, as chair-

Filmdom and Stage Enter Bids For World's 'Most Beautiful' Girl

GALVESTON, Aug. 6. (UP)—"The most beautiful girl in the world" sat at a banquet table tonight with 36 other girls who competed with her for the title and discussed scores of offers that had been made her for stage and movie contracts.

Miss Universe, Miss Dorothy Dell Goff, of New Orleans, was queen of the banquet, given at the Buccaneer hotel, at which prizes were awarded winners in the 11th annual international beauty pageant.

Miss Goff, 17 years old, slender, blue-eyed and blonde, had not decided whether she would accept any of the offers to exhibit her beauty. One of the offers was made by Paul Robinowitz, head of an orchestra circuit, and provided for her appearance on the stage of a New York theater beginning next week.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Elbert L. Goff, says no decision will be made until they go home, when she will consult John Maxwell, chairman of the committee in charge of the Crescent City American Legion post beauty contest in which she was crowned Miss New Orleans.

First prize of $2,000 in gold and a silver plaque were formally presented to Miss Goff amid glamorous ceremonies at the banquet tonight. Second prize of $1,000 was five cents per bushel in price while oats jumped three cents.

DROUTH BOOMS GRAIN PRICES

Farm Board Plans Aid For Livestock Owners

"Corn has suffered further and marked deterioration with the damage extending into all states which grow any appreciable amount," said official government reports.

Heat deaths for the week mounted to 118 when the mercury in thermometers shimmered at 97 in St. Louis, 93 in Kansas City, 98 in Memphis, 91 in Atlanta, 87 in Detroit, and 85 in Baltimore and Minneapolis.

The drouth was so severe in Kentucky that thirsty snakes wriggled down from the hill country to infest the dried mud of the Mississippi bottoms near Hickman. Salvaging of two barges, aground because of the low water, was stopped when a veritable army of snakes surrounded workers.

The excursion steamer Idlewild, from which 500 passengers were removed when she became stranded on a sand-bar in the Illinois river near Peoria, defied all efforts to remove her.

In Central Illinois the water shortage was so acute that mine owners at Duquoin urged their employes not to take baths unless "absolutely necessary."

From the Atlantic and Pacific coasts came word of serious forest fires, aided and abetted by the prolonged dry siege.

HEAT CUTS MILLION BALES OFF COTTON CROP

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 3. (UP)—Cool winds refreshed most sections of Texas tonight following a break in the heat wave and drouth that has prevailed in the state for the past two months.

Practically all sections of the state have enjoyed rainfall during the past two days. The downpour continued today at Sweetwater and Waco and adjoining sections.

The extent of the damage to the cotton crop was revealed in a statement today from George H. Terrell, state agriculture commissioner. He estimated a maximum of 4,000,000 bales production as compared with the usual 5,000,000 bales, a damage of from 25 to 35 per cent. Rains of the past few days have brightened the prospects in many sections, however, he said.

TYPHUS OUTBREAK FEARED AT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (US)—An outbreak of typhus appeared today as a sinister complication in the drouth suffering of this section.

With public health service research scientists redoubling their work on the disease, Dr. R. E. Dyer in charge of the work told Universal Service that 50 cases have been reported within a 75-mile radius of the capital, and five deaths have already occurred. Heretofore the disease has averaged but two or three cases each summer.

These figures do not reflect the seriousness of the outbreak, since the malady is peculiar to rural communities only, no cases on record having been contracted in metropolitan areas.

DROUTH MAY SOLVE OVER-PRODUCTION PROBLEM

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (UP)—The hackneyed old law of supply and demand, manipulated entirely by nature, will solve America's critical over-production of grain, farm leaders interviewed by the United Press, agreed tonight.

After governmental effort for months had failed materially to reduce the grain surpluses the present prolonged drouth stepped in, cut down corn and wheat production and immediately sent prices soaring back to normal.

"The drouth really is a blessing," said Henry A. Wallace, famed Des Moines publisher.

"A year or two from now," he said, "when we look back we shall see that the drouth was the first definite thing which happened to stop the depression of 1930 and start prices the other way."

He estimated that in the seven corn belt states natural causes had reduced the corn crop an average of eight bushels per acre since the last government estimate on July 1.

Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, was stopped in Omaha, Neb., en route to Idaho and Montana, for his views on the present agricultural situation.

The wheat problem, he said, will solve itself because of the drouth, which has burned fields in all parts of the nation. He added that he still believed farmers should feed wheat instead of corn to their livestock until prices definitely return to normal.

"If they do feed wheat," he said, "the surplus will soon pass away and the livestock situation will be saved at the same time."

The farm board, Legge continued, now will stress aid for the grower of livestock rather than for the producer of grain.

"Farmers are being forced to throw their dairy cattle and steers on the market for what they will bring," he said. "There is absolutely no feed for them on the farms. This is the most regrettable part of the drouth and is why I believe our greatest problem now is to care for the livestock industry."

PAYNE READY TO CONFESS

Attorney's Secretary Tells Of Love Making

him nor harm him in any way unless I were sure of his guilt or innocence," the widow said.

FORMAL MURDER CHARGE FILED AGAINST PAYNE

AMARILLO, Texas, Aug. 6. (AP)—Incriminating evidence uncovered by two newspaper men today had caused a formal charge of murder to be filed against A. D. Payne, Amarillo attorney, for his alleged part in causing the tragic death of Mrs. Payne when the family automobile was blown to piece here June 27.

Known as "Model Husband"

Payne, arrested last night after Mrs. Verona Thompson, formerly his secretary, had signed a statement, was held in the Hutchinson county jail at Stinnett. He had been taken there as a precautionary measure, feeling against the man who had once been known by his neighbors as a "model husband" having prompted his removal.

E. W. Thomerson, district attorney, said Payne had made a statement but refused to divulge its nature. He indicated, however, that it was given little credence.

When arrested Payne had on his person two penciled letters, ready for mailing to the sheriff and chief of police, purported to be from safe-blowers who were confessing that they had placed the explosives that killed Mrs. Payne in the automobile by mistake the night before the explosion.

A. D. Payne Jr., 9, who was riding with his mother when she was killed, was permanently maimed by the blast. One of his arms was partly torn away and his body otherwise mutilated. For days it was believed he had been fatally injured. The second Payne child, a little girl, walked to town with her father that day.

Trips Together

Mrs. Thompson told officers Payne had made love to her and when she protested she could not encourage his attentions because of his family he told her he could "fix that." She said they had gone on trips together.

Evidence that jailed Payne was gathered by A. B. MacDonald, staff correspondent of the Kansas City Star, and Gene Howe, editor of the Amarillo Globe-News. Howe sent for MacDonald after Payne visited him and complained a thorough effort had not been made to solve the mystery of the explosion.

Shortly after MacDonald visited Payne he got the statement from Mrs. Thompson, he said.

Officers who investigated the blast expressed an opinion that a bomb or infernal machine had been planted beneath the driver's seat of the automobile. They said they found evidences of nitroglycerin or T.N.T. in the wreckage.

MOB THREAT LEADS TO REMOVAL OF PRISONER

STINNETT, Texas, Aug. 6. (AP)—Officers tonight were trying to break through the steadfast silence of A. D. Payne, charged with the murder of his wife in Amarillo June 27. Payne was brought to the Hutchinson county jail here last night when mob violence was feared at Amarillo.

In custody 24 hours, Payne talked freely of his business, friends and private life but refused to say anything about the death of his wife or the murder charge filed against him.

"We'll get a confession from him, maybe by midnight," District Attorney Thomerson of Amarillo told a newspaper reporter. Thomerson said that Payne in a statement last night admitted he wrote himself two printed letters. When arrested Payne had on his person two penciled letters ready for mailing to the sheriff and chief of police. Purported to be from safe-blowers confessing they had placed the explosives that kill Mrs. Payne in her automobile by mistake.

EDITOR'S ACTIVITY LED TO ARREST

AMARILLO, Texas, Aug. 6. (UP)—A prominent West Texas attorney was charged today with the murder of his wife, by means of a bomb attached to her automobile, so that he could elope with his pretty young ex-secretary.

Gene Howe, militant Amarillo editor brought about the arrest of the attorney, A. D. Payne, after conducting an investigation of Mrs. Payne's death at her husband's request.

Payne was spirited away to a secret jail to escape threatened mob action, while Howe, who gained fame for his criticisms of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Mary Garden a few months ago, explained what had happened.

Offered $5,000 Reward

Mrs. Payne drove the family automobile downtown last June 26. Riding with her was a young son, A. D. Jr.

When she had traveled a few blocks, the car became filled with smoke.

"Daddy told me to drive faster if I smelled smoke," the son quoted her as saying. Just then the car

Daughter of Attorney Bitterly Denies Charges Against Father

La Dell Payne Scores Secretary in Statement, and Tells Of Love Between Her Parents

AMARILLO, Texas, Aug. 6. (UP)—Unshaken even by an anonymous telephone call from a woman who declared her father was guilty of placing a bomb in the family car that snuffed out the life of her mother, La Dell Payne said in an interview with the United Press tonight that "my father never could have done that to mother. He loved her more than anything on earth."

was blown from the ground when an explosion of nitroglycerin shattered the machine on one of Amarillo's main streets. Mrs. Payne was catapulted to her death through the roof. Her son was injured critically, but recovered later.

It was believed at first that the bomb, apparently attached to explode after the engine became hot, had been meant for Payne.

He professed his grief, offered a $5,000 reward for capture of the bomber and finally asked Howe, editor of the Amarillo Globe, to conduct an independent investigation of the slaying.

Howe called in A. B. McDonald, sleuth for the Kansas City Star, and together they conducted an inquiry which brought a signed confession from pretty Mrs. Verona Thompson, Payne's former secretary, and arrest of Payne.

She charged that Payne had promised to marry her after he had "taken care" of his wife.

"The good Lord must have had me by the hand," police quoted Mrs. Thompson as saying. "He might have killed me as he did his poor wife."

Payne Denies Charges

Authorities said Payne denied all her charges vigorously before they smuggled him from the city after a mob had searched the jails for him here and at Pampa, 60 miles away.

Murder charges were filed against him today, however, by District Attorney E. W. Thomerson, after further investigation revealed that Payne recently had taken out $30,000 life insurance for his wife, $10,000 for his son, and $2,500 for another child, Bobbie Jean.

His son said Payne usually drove the family automobile to his work, but that on the morning of the bombing, said he would walk for the exercise and suggested that Mrs. Payne drive the children to the city later.

Bobbie Jean begged to walk with her father and he finally consented. Had she driven with her mother and brother she probably would have been killed.

With flashing eyes, the 14-year-old girl declared the whole business was a frameup and that "that Mrs. Verona Thompson, secretary to her father, A. D. Payne, is in with the gang that is trying to put my father in jail."

Payne was formally charged with the murder today. The anonymous phone call was made late today and the voice was the same as that of the woman who has been calling her since the tragedy in an attempt either to persecute or convince her that her father is guilty, La Dell declared sobbingly.

That the call had cut cruelly was apparent as tears streamed down the girl's face. "It is hard enough to have mother killed and daddy in jail without someone trying to make the load of grief heavier," the girl said.

She is a stately, lady-like girl, and is soft spoken and well mannered until she talks of the case which she honestly believes is a frameup. When she mentions her father her black eyes flash and she clenches her teeth in an effort to control her emotions.

She remembers Mrs. Thompson well as her father's secretary and declares that her father once made the remark that "I think she is bum looking." The incident came up when her brother, A. D. Jr., who was injured in the fatal blast, mentioned Mrs. Thompson as saying he thought Mrs. Thompson was a peach, La Dell explained.

When questioned concerning her love for her father, La Dell said she thought everything in the world of him and that he had always been kind to her. "But if I thought for a minute that he had killed mother I would turn on him in an instant and do everything I could to see him punished," she said.

HOT WEATHER WARNING!

Keep Bowels Open

Don't take any chances with biliousness during this hot weather. For now is the time when it may lead to fever and chills. Folks who try to rely on candy, chewing gum, or syrup laxatives are just wasting time and running grave risks. These half-way laxatives are too weak to expel the poisons which cause headache, dysentery, indigestion, sour stomach. What you need is Calotabs, the remedy that you know will remove the cause and stop the trouble before serious complications arise.

Calotabs never fail to purify the stomach and intestines. They are your best insurance against chills, fevers and other serious illness. Don't give the poisons a chance to accumulate in your system, but always keep Calotabs on hand and take one as soon as your bowels show the first sign of clogging up. You will be surprised how much more easily you can endure hot weather when your system is freed from weakening poisons. Calotabs are sold at drug stores in 35c and 10 sizes.—Adv.

London Tele-Talkie
Crude but Prophetic
Muscle Shoals Again
The Bronx Market
A Criminal Waste

By EMILE GAUVREAU

London witnesses and hears its first tele-talkie at the Coliseum. The representation is fairly successful, though still in the experimental stage. The audience hears and sees the participants in an entertainment staged half a mile away in the Baird Studio and Laboratories. At the telephonic request of the audience, Mr. Sidney Moseley, director of programs, who appears in the talkie, moves his head and sticks out his tongue to give more verisimilitude to his actuality. He also answers a number of questions.

Ten years from now experiment will be considered crude, indeed, for then, in addition to the likeness and voice of the screen actor, his actual physical presence will be tele-radioed to an audience thousands of miles away. To imaginative man nothing is impossible. Not even the impossible.

President Hoover, described before election as a "planetary minded" citizen, decided to intervene in Tennessee local politics, declaring himself in favor of one of the candidates in the Republican primary contest because that candidate, Mr. Reece, framed the measure to turn Muscle Shoals over to private interests. Reece calls the proposed program of government control of Muscle Shoals "a Bolshevik scheme framed in Moscow."

That statement evidently is enough to win Mr. Hoover's approval. America has not yet learned that to call a proposition "bolshevik" or "red" or "anarchistic" usually is the defense of grasping political bosses or business czars. If everyone who cried "red" were immediately investigated, the yelping would cease in a miraculous hurry.

New York taxpayers, not surprised at anything, now read that the $17,000,000 Bronx market, which costs the city $117,000 a year to maintain, brings in a revenue only of $15,000 a year. The city is keeping a white elephant and paying $162,000 annually for the privilege.

Think of this as a bit of political efficiency. The great market is used by one fruit dealer and wholesale grocery concern. To look after these two tenants the city employs 51 men, drawing salaries from $1,800 to $7,000 a year, or a total of $129,844.

The Hylan administration is blamed for building the market. The present administration is blamed for maintaining it. And that's where the matter will rest for a long time. Meanwhile thousands of men in New York are starving for want of a job that would bring them a living wage. This kind of criminal waste is the best explanation for the existence of rackets. A racket emanates from official incompetency and corruption, and is impossible without it.

The R-100, world's largest airplane, ploughs through the sky on its first transatlantic flight. The 44 persons aboard, including eight passengers, are even less anxious about their safety than those on land reading about it. Those who go by air today are the aristocrats of travel.

Science, ever busy, will investigate the upper atmosphere to determine whether it contains evidences of vegetable organisms, living spores and other matter. Special type glass plates, treated with a chemical film, will be exposed outside the control car of the big dirigible. One great discovery will lead to another.

When we consider how easily anything as big as a circus kin be gathered up an' moved before daylight it hadn't ought'a' we miss a husband, or daughter or auto now an' then. Constitutional rights ought to have been designed exclusive for automobiles.

Cal Coolidge writes that the reigning party was ousted in Canada because of a business depression. Of course he doesn't go so far as to name what effect the same cause might have on the present administration here.

The candidate for the West Virginia senatorial nomination, who spent 14 cents in his campaign must be credited with having a fine sense of values.

The Road Back to Youth

THERE is one institution that does not change. Each year when the green boughs burst into pink and white riot of flowering blossoms, and the roads grow dusty under the warming sun, the circus starts across the country, with a caravan of dreams wrapped up in the folds of the white tent.

True, the gypsies have forsaken the wind-blown, rain-faded wagons that followed the Romany trails once upon a time, and adopted modern motor cars. As the years go by, fewer and fewer railroad trains are puffing into the open station or giving us the lonely ecstatic joy of watching them as they swing around the silver-blue rails, bound for adventure. Trains slide into great terminal stations as systematically and unromantically as an elevator goes up and down an office building.

But every year when the wandering breezes blow, the circus comes back again. The wanderlust creeps into the hearts of old men and little boys. The urge to follow a singing road, eyes on star of adventure that swings above the white top, takes possession.

There is a magic in the odor of roasting peanuts and saw dust rings; in the wet, sweet smell of summer grass when the dew falls thick at night; in the calls of the animals; in the crimson sheen of a dress at the top of the tent where a trapeze performer flirts with death and the thrill of youth.

Somehow, there is something very young about a circus. It has never learned the boredom of a stationary world.

Little boys love it because it is a living page from the adventure book that lies opened in every normal, healthy youngster's heart. They love it, because it makes them remember the little boys who were going to Africa to shoot lions some day; to Alaska to search for vanished gold; at least, to the western plains to be a cowboy. And who probably punch time clocks every morning.

It is to be hoped that the circus will never vanish down the trail where so many other lovely, colorful intaitutions have joined a wistful waiting ground.

After all, the dreams of what we are going to do, the gold-touched vision that swings down from the sky when we are very young, and the memory of what we might have done, are among the most beautiful things in life. Without them probably the cupboard would be just as full. But our hearts would be strangely bare.

We have a right to heritage of such dreams. The circus, with its breath of strange adventure, tinged with the odor of fresh saw dust and buttered popcorn, is needed to make the heart of children and men and women beat along in the same joyous symphony for a little while.

A Danger to Football

A SPORTS writer reports that football is slowly beginning to lose its hold on college and university students. In one eastern university famous for its great teams, he says, nearly a score of students who had been fine football players in preparatory school refused even to go out for the college team. In another university, five men who had starred on the freshman team refused to go out for the varsity on the following year.

If this attitude ever gets widespread, the end of football as a great spectacle is in sight. The trouble very likely is that football in too many cases has ceased entirely to be a game played for the recreation of the players. It has become a spectacle played for the gate receipts, with the players too often given an iron discipline that robs the game of all its appeal for them.

The general public likes football better than ever. But if the students themselves are beginning to get sour on it—goodbye, football!

Childish Diversions

THESE juvenile tree-sitters who have been making minor nuisances of themselves throughout the country lately have at least performed one service for us; they have brought the endurance contest down to its proper level.

An airplane endurance contest is not so bad; but the other forms indulged in by adults who ought to know better have been very foolish. Flag-pole sitters, non-stop dancers, egg-eaters and the rest—they could only come to blossom in a country that was extremely tolerant of silliness.

Now the kids have shown us what there contests really are. They are diversions for children. The boys who are sitting in trees are acting naturally, for small boys—and are proving, at the same time, that the grownups who do the same sort of thing are really of about the same mental age.

Paris Dictators Lose Out

THE business organizations of leading American makers of women's clothing has announced that hereafter they will not follow the dictates of Parisian style designers unless they have reason to believe that Paris styles will suit American women.

Last fall Paris arbitrarily decreed that skirts would be long. American women refused to accept the decree, and a lot of American dress manufacturers, who had thought that they would, lost money. So now the dress makers are going to ignore any further decrees about long skirts from Paris.

This is somehow gratifying, quite aside from the general question of the aesthetic, hygenic and practical advantages of the short skirt. The switch to long skirts came simply because the style designers wanted to make women buy clothes they didn't need. It failed, and it's failure speaks volumes for the common sense of the American woman.

Don't they know?...Maybe it doesn't matter what they look like...Man trouble, of course ...But why do they destroy chances of connecting again—with someone "worth while"?...Why do they advertise their faded charms?...Poor things.

You can't figure them...She is just a child...17, she says...I get it—jail-bait...Drinks like the Harper gal used to drink...But never gets fried...Been drinking since she was 12...Nice people...And so gorgeous!...What a face!...Oh, well...Two more years and she will bring out her photos and tell him: "That's how I looked when I first came to New York. I was a kid then"...Couldn't stand a gal like that...Drive me nuts...Worrying all the time...Too pretty...Too dangerous...Earl Carroll is so self-conscious...Maybe I spoiled his evening...His magdalens are loyal to him, at any rate...The one that clipped that Park avenue playboy for two grand, frinstance..."You write such horrid things about my boss!" she said, "I'll slap your face!"...They finally poured her back into Nucky's flask...There's a spender for you...No show-off stuff about him...Simply spends...Terrifically popular guy...Cusses a lot, but a big-time guy...Full of laughs...He picks up the sappiest dolls, though.

Gotta get some new slanguage... Instead of "telling it to the judge"—they ankled up the alter-ation aisle...Wonder how that movie turned out...Aw'fly gray in the closeups...Lights, probably...Well, I don't lisp, which is something Gotta write it for a mag...Some scene...Every type represented...Chorus dolls, doctors, press agents, night club impresarios, show-men, prima donnas, song writers, racketeers, newspaper men, chorus boys, heroin tasters, dice-hurlers, caviar sandwiches, champagne, ale cream cheese and jelly on rye, java, fun, tunes, gags, laughter...Dawn, the Queensboro bridge, the hospital across the way...Whoopee!...Whatthehell?...Then one of boys goes into a smoking car routine... Plenty Earl Carrollish material... "Where's the hostesss? Everybody's here, but Mayme!"...She's the frau of the host who knew Rothstein—a nice looking woman and pleasant, who uses hundred dollar bills for book markers!..."Where is she? Get her!"...Someone whispers, and explains why she is out of the room: "He doesn't like her to hear dirty jokes"..."He's funny that way... Play crap or stud on 'Broadway' for any amount you say, but no shady stuff in front of the wife, see?"...Married men make the best husbands.

Never heard of such a thing in my years on the Artery...Not a soul in the most prosperous night club in New York until 3 a. m.!... That's when all other spots have to close!...Not a party!...Not one!... And I have to stay around for fear I'll miss something...Just a great big wise-guy!...Mrs. Winchell's gweat big mans, Walter..:Big shot, fraid to leave town...And everybody's in Atlantic City, Long Beach, Asbury or some place...Am I a dope or am I a dope?...It's cool at Lincoln, anyhow...Nice breezes and the phone operators are darlings...let some mugg try to wake me up and Miss Koch, or Supervisor G. or any of the others grunt at 'em...Gotta write a letter to Baylitta and thank him...Bellboys swell kids, too...Gonna miss the place when Junie comes home... Come on, baby, its been too long and Hollywood's too far away.

What a melody to that "Overnight" ditty!...It fills you so!... His name means nothing today—Lou Alter...After the first performance of that Fanny Brice revue he will be famous!...What a melody!...And that Charlotte Kent lyric!...Wish I could write such pretty words..."Overnight I found you, and overnight, I lost you. It was sublime. Now it's time—to sigh, Goodbye"...Love is dead, long live love!...The spark has fled—Let's give love. A tender tear... Quite sincere—and sigh, Goodbye ...You are a dream, a sensuous dream beyond compare...Then I awoke—and suddenly found—a stranger there...Overnight, I found love...Overnight, I lost love ...So let's agree...Gracefully...To sigh—goodbye...Can't get the tune out of my head...It'll make them rich...Almost every melody in the past six months is contagious, though...The old "torch" stuff gets 'em...They're all trying to figure it out...Why we do what we do...Why we don't what we don't ...Why we love when we love, why we can't respond to those who want us most...Why we go for those who can't be bothered, why we can't get up the courage to tell the ones who should be told what we want to say without hurting them ...We can't hurt them because we still care...In spite of all the endeavors of poets, philosophers and psychologists love still stands forth as a riddle"...The city of Happiness is a state of mind...the first 28 years are the oddest.

"STEP-CHILD"

By ROB EDEN

"Why hadn't she thought of Julie before? No, it was so impossible.

"You suspect someone?" came Madame Marcia's voice.

"I'm wrong, I think."

"We'll forget the letters for awhile then."

Kay couldn't forget even when she went to the piano at Madame Marcia's request and started to play. She knew them by heart, but now they were taking new significance in her life.

Julie wouldn't stoop to write them.

"Child!" She stopped playing and returned to the desk where Madame Marcia was still sitting. "Have you ever been terribly afraid of anyone?"

Kay nodded. She had been afraid of Jim Whalen. And she still was afraid of him.

"I don't mean the person you are thinking of. I mean someone else—in the past. It's a man, I believe. There, you shivered."

"I'm cold," the girl explained.

"You're not cold. It's quite warm in here." There was a gleam of triumph in Madame Marcia's eyes. "I think if you could remember someone who frightened you—in this past of yours you can't remember—we would solve the puzzle. Your eyes contracted when I asked you if you feared someone."

"It was probably because I thought of a man I know and remember. Someone I met recently."

"I don't think so. I think it is someone else. I caught recognition in your eyes for a moment, but there was something else. Something I don't quite understand. Yes, there was someone in your past you feared. A brother, a father, someone close to you. A man. I know it was a man. Does it worry you to have me say this?"

"No, I want to know."

"I wish I could tell you more, but I can't. I feel that this person was close to you. How, I don't know. Here, take this paper." Again she opened the drawer, this time drawing out a fresh sheet of white paper. "And write what I dictate to you." She handed a pencil to Kay, and put the sheet of paper in front of her.

A deep silence settled over the room, which seemed suddenly very warm to Kay. Warm where it had been cold before. Her heart was beating wildly, and her fingers trembled as she gripped the pencil.

Madame Marcia was looking at her, her great dark eyes somber. She appeared not to be breathing. Her expressive, slender hands lay quietly on her desk, palms down. There was not even a flicker of her lashes, but Kay was not afraid. She sat waiting impatiently, the pencil ready.

It was a long time before Madame Marcia spoke, and when the words came they were sonorous, deep, reverberating through the quiet deadly still room.

"I am afraid," she dictated, of—"

Kay was writing quickly, not thinking of anything but Madame Marcia's eyes, how fine they were, how quiet the woman was. She was not looking at the paper which her left hand held, and her right hand scribbled on.

The girl wondered why she didn't go on. She had said she was going to dictate. This was only one sentence, for Kay hadn't noticed the pause.

Then the brown eyes left her face, and fell to the paper, which Madame Marcia pulled toward her. "Let's see what you've written here," she said simply. Her hand fell over the writing so Kay could not see.

"I wrote what you said to write."

"Did you? What did I dictate? Do you remember?"

Kay was a little impatient. Of course she remembered. "You told me to write, 'I am afraid of—' why, I've forgotten now, whom you said I was afraid of. I know, when I wrote, but I've forgotten." Tears started to her eyes. Tears of disappointment.

"Kay, listen to me. I want you to listen carefully. I dictated 'I am afraid of,' then I paused. I had no idea that you would complete the sentence. Of course I wanted you to. I hoped you would. I forced you to look at me when you wrote, because I didn't want you to be conscious of what you were writing. Automatic writing, the psychologists call it."

"Did I complete the sentence?"

"You did." The hand still covered the writing.

Kay was puzzled. When Madame Marcia had taken the paper she knew in her mind she had completed the sentence, but now she could not think what she had written. What she was afraid of.

"What did I write?"

Madame Marcia took her hand off the writing, and Kay saw shakily in her own hand the words, "I'm afraid of Larry." The sentence was quite complete. There was a period after Larry.

"Now child, who is Larry?"

"I don't know," she whispered the words. She could remember no one by that name. She knew no one by that name.

"That will be all tonight. You're tired, I can see that. Now don't puzzle too much about this Larry. I'd rather you'd forget if you can, until you come again. I'll try another experiment next time. Definitely, we know one other thing about you now. In your past you knew someone by the name of Larry. Who he is we don't know, of course. At any rate, he isn't the man you told me a while ago you were afraid of, is he?"

"That man's name in Jim Whalen."

"Good, we've cleared that up successfully."

"I don't understand how I finished that sentence. I knew I finished it, but when you mentioned it I couldn't remember what I had written."

"I'm satisfied, Kay. I may call you that? I have something to work on. Something I need. A name. We can't hurry things too fast, though."

"Then I'm nearer remembering everything?"

"Nearer, I think than you've ever been before. But don't expect too much. I'm only human. About these letters," she handed back the two notes. "if I were you, I'd get a little sample of handwriting from the person you suspect, and take that sample and these two notes to a handwriting expert. That is, if you want to know who played that nice little joke on you," her mouth was grim.

"I'd like to know—for my own peace of mind."

"I'll want the other paper," and she carefully placed the slip of paper with its one shaky sentence in the drawer, and turned the key. "I need it to work on."

Larry. Larry. Regardless of Madame Marcia's advice, Kay kept milling the name over in her mind on the way home with Edith. Who was he? Why was she afraid of him?

Larry.

As she undressed for bed, she resolved that as soon as she could she would try to find out what Julie Drew's handwriting was like.

The last thing she saw as she fell asleep was the sentence she had written. Black sprawling letters dancing on the clean white sheet of paper.

"I am afraid of Larry."

Banana Balm

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—A slip on a banana peel is sometimes worth a suit, but to be hit by a banana peel is unusual. Nevertheless, Elizabeth Uryisky was alleged to have been hit by one thrown by Anthony di Blasi, and that gentleman is now faced by a $20,000 suit. The parents of the girl charged that the blow had made their daughter partly deaf.

Twenty-One New Fires Sweep Montana Forests

MISSOULA, Mont., Aug. 6. (INS)—Twenty-one new forest fires are raging here today following a severe electrical storm that swept the Lolo and Missoula forests yesterday. Sporadic rains gave the districts temporary relief, but the blazes broke forth with a vengeance when rainfall ceased. Nineteen new fires are reported from the Lolo district.

Government officials today dispatched a number of relief crews to both districts in an effort to gain control of the fire epidemics that have been playing havoc with Montana's forests for weeks.

Relief crews succeeded in digging a trench across the path of the fire before it reached the Canadian boundary.

Q.—Why do some brick walls exude a white substance which stain the brick?—L. B.

A.—It is probably a white alkaline solution which exudes from the pores of bricks which have been imperfectly mixed or burnt. When the mixture of clay which is to be put into a brick mold is uneven or unbalanced, especially if an alkaline clay is used, the inside of the brick is not properly baked to the same consistency as the outside and consequently the moisture which is contained in the solution in the inside of the brick works out and streams down the side of the wall of which the brick is a part.

Dutiful Ground Keeper Threatens To 'Help' Wales Off Course

LE TOUQUET, France, Aug. 6. (UP)—Allen Gault, wore a rather frightened air most of today, for he began it by threatening to manhandle the Prince of Wales.

Gault, groundkeeper for a new golf course which has not been opened to the public, failed to recognize the heir to the British throne when he appeared with his party for a round of golf. He promptly ordered the prince off the grounds.

The prince stubbornly refused, and said he had received permission to play the new course. Gault grew more determined, and threatened to assist the prince from the grounds if he did not leave at once.

In the midst of his demands, Gault recognized the prince and almost collapsed from the shock. He began a lengthy series of excited apologies, but the prince stopped him with a laugh and a word of praise for his sense of duty.

LUCKY 7-11 HERE

FORT WAYNE, Ind., (UP)—Seven and 11, traditional lucky numbers, are predominant in the so-far brief career of Carl LeRoy Bradley, Fort Wayne, infant. The boy was born at the 11th minute of the seventh hour during the 11th day of the seventh month. The child weighed seven pounds and 11 ounces. To trace even farther the combination of seven and 11, Carl was born just 18 days, the sum of seven and 11 after the fifth wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Bradley.

Powder Won't Hide Disgusting Pores

There's no use trying to hide large pores, blackheads and oily skin behind makeup. You only fool yourself.

Out in Hollywood they have the recipe for a lotion that quickly removes flaws and makes the skin beautiful and soft. Get 3 ounces of Orchard White from the druggist and mix it with the juice of 2 lemons. You have a full quarter-pint of the finest lotion.

The very minute you pat this cooling, reviving lotion on the face it gets down deep into the skin and cleans out the dirt that settles in large pores. It removes blackheads, closes the pores and quickly makes the skin smooth, good-looking and youthfully fresh.

You'll notice, too, that the skin is no longer oily and perspiration doesn't bother you any more.

Now if you want a smooth, soft, beautiful skin—just get 3 ounces of Orchard White from any druggist, mix it with the juice of 2 lemons and you have the new Hollywood beauty lotion.

Note: In the summer this lotion keeps the skin free from freckles and guards against that leathery look caused by wind and sun.—Adv.

INFANT DEATH RATE LOWERED

Survey Shows Decrease by Southern States

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (US)—An encouraging decrease in the infant death rate in southern states where rates in the past have been high, was reported for 1929 by the children's bureau of the labor department.

A solid bloc of nine southern states had decreases ranging from 2 to 7 points per 1,000 births as compared with 1928. These states were: Arkansas 60 and North Carolina 79, a decrease of 7 points each; South Carolina 91, a drop of 6; Georgia 77, a drop of 5; Tennessee 77 and Louisiana 74, a 4-point drop; Florida 65, Mississippi 72 and Alabama 73, a drop of 2 points each.

Despite the declines, however, these rates were described as "rather high" since all but Arkansas and Florida still have rates higher than the 68 for the birth registration area as a whole.

"Oregon and Washington occupied honor places with rates of 48 and 49 respectively, although these rates represented a one-point increase over the 1928 record.

Approximately 50 Wichita county taxpayers appeared Wednesday before the county commissioners court, sitting as a board of equalization, to protest against the raising of property valuations. Although some adjustments were made, the board held in general to its rule for keeping the 1930 values up to the 1929 assessments, according to John P. Marrs, county judge. The board will continue to hear protests Thursday and Friday.

THRIFTY WOMEN SEE VALUE OF CANNING FRUIT THIS SUMMER

Never Before Has Sugar Been so Low in Price and Fruit is Plentiful

A glance at the overflowing fruit markets and then at the low price of sugar proves conclusively that 1930 is the year to put up fruit. Of course the more that is canned the bigger the financial gain, but even a few jars of preserves and glasses of jelly stored away will help cut food bills next winter.

Pickles and relishes made of cucumbers, tomatoes, cabbage and watermelon rind are also economical to put up. Their spicy tart-sweet goodness is most welcome when meats and fish are served.

Canned fruit has a place in the balanced diet. Most of them are rich in vitamins. For children, canned fruit is an ideal breakfast dish or a fitting dessert.

Beyond a doubt, the housewife who puts up plenty of fruit this summer will find that its consumption next winter will help keep her family well and save her money. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

You Need Mineral Elements In Food

Many people write to me saying that they have anemia and want to know how to get more iron from their foods. Others wish to obtain food containing iodine. Others ask for lists to grow strong teeth, or to make children grow tall. From the great number of such letters coming to me from readers all over the United States and Canada, I am able to keep my finger on the pulse of public interest, and I know that the subject of the minerals in foods has an ever increasing appeal.

A certain amount of different elements in your food is essential. The amount needed is usually small but the trouble is that many people live on a diet that is deficient in one or more of the mineral elements. For example, many children do not obtain enough calcium in their food to bring about a good development of bone and they grow up so that they are short of stature or susceptible to some of the diseases which occur when not enough calcium is used.

Whenever too many of the refined foods are used and not enough of the fresh fruits and vegetables, there is a great likelihood of deficiency in some of the important elements.

In other people, even when the elements are eaten, there seems to be an inability to assimilate certain of the minerals in sufficient quantity to maintain health. This is essentially true of the individuals who are suffering from acidosis, as it seems that some of the alkaline elements are destroyed by the blood before they do any real good in the body.

Patients who are unable to assimilate the mineral elements in food can nearly always overcome this tendency by using a fasting regime to eliminate the excess toxins and acids, after which they may be able to assimilate the necessary elements.

Many people make the mistake of trying to find the needful mineral elements in the refined form in medicines, drugs or diluted pure chemicals. The body is rarely if ever able to use them in such a crude form. It is a much better plan to use foods which naturally carry these elements. In plants or animal foods the elements are so combined and concentrated that they are most easily assimilated.

Sometime ago I published two articles which gave a list of different elements needed by the human body and told some thing of their purpose, and also a list of the foods containing each element. I have had these articles reprinted and will be glad to send them to any of my readers who will write to me in care of this newspaper and send a large self-addressed stamped envelope.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Running Ears

Question—Mrs. E. N. M. asks: "Will you please give me a cure for my daughter's running ears? She has had the flu and ever since her ears have been running."

Answer—The discharge from your daughter's ears will stop more quickly if you give her a diet which will cure her catarrhal tendency. The treatment necessary cannot be described in the limited space of this column. If you will write me again, giving your full name and address I will send instructions.

Bread and Milk

Question—K. L. writes: "Please give your opinion of a lunch of bread and milk (hot or cold.) Are puddings, such as cornstarch, tapioca or rices well balanced luncheon foods?"

Answer—Try using Melba toast with milk in place of plain bread. You will find it more palatable and wholesome. Puddings must be made with sugar, and as sugar and starch are never a good combination, it is far better when starches are used to use them in some other way without the addition of sugar.

Uric Acid

Question—Mrs. B. writes: "I am not supposed to eat beef because of the uric acid. Could I eat the soup made from the beef?"

Answer—Almost any protein food forms uric acid, and you would probably get more of it from the soup made of the beef than from the beef itself. The trouble is not because the uric acid is formed by the food, but from the inability to eliminate it from the body because of a general condition of acidosis, or some organic disease. This can sometimes be cured by the correct fasting and dieting regime. If you will send me more information about your trouble, together with postage to cover mailing costs, I will be glad to give you more detailed advice.

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

You know, a funny thing happened yesterday. I was talking to a very, very beautiful girl and knowing of course that she wouldn't have anything to do with me and knowing she was going with another bloke, I asked her how said bloke and herself were making along in this sad, sad world.

"Not very good," she said, and then she added, with a look of defiance in her orbs: "I'm getting tired of having my own way!"

Well, but that's neither here nor there. What's interesting the old Rambler right now is the vast number of entrants in his contest to pick the Spudder runner who, from the opposition's viewpoint, is the most dangerous man in the chase from plate to first. Remember, the contest closes this evening at 6 o'clock. No answers will be accepted after that time.

And from the looks of things we won't need any more. Gosh, everybody in Northwest Texas has entered this contest. Below are listed the answers that came in yesterday:

W. E. Doyle, of Route 1, Iowa Park, says he is "interested in the Spudder pitchers, and I think that some of them are as fast as the regulars. At least I favor Mr. Dick Florrid to be the winner of your contest for the fastest man from the plate to first."

Bobby Moran, of 2514 Ninth street, wrote that "Bo Euller, third baseman, is the fastest man from home to first."

Durley B. Davis, county clerk of Clay county, wrote in from Henrietta, Tex Rickard's old home, as follows: "In my judgment, after seeing most of the games on the home lot this season, and watching each player from the plate to first base, the fastest man is no other than the greatest center fielder in the Texas league, Howard Fitzgerald."

Ralph Vaughn of Henrietta says he is "sure Larry Bettencourt will win the race from home plate to first base," and Bill Powers, also of Henrietta, claims that "Hal Wiltse is sure to win" said race.

Strictly against orders, L. T. Hammond Jr., of this city, telephoned his answer. But even if we did request that no one phone their answer, we have a big heart, and so we accepted his guess. He picked Jim Levey, the shortstopper par excellence.

R. M. Guinn, Box 1640, Vernon, also picked Levey to win the race, while I. R. Davis of Electra, swore and be derned that Lin Storti could outrun anybody in these parts.

The Family Circle

And here are some guesses from the Kimbell, Hanks and Westfall families of this city. Edna Fay Kimbell of 1812 Eighth street picked Jack Kloza. Ollie Lou Kimbell of 1101 Tenth street picked Jack Crouch. J. C. Hanks, also of 1101 Tenth street, picked Lin Storti. James Hanks of 1821 Lucile chose Hal Wiltse. H. R. Hanks of 1101 Tenth picked Ike Burns. W. J. Westfall of the same address opined also that Ike Burns will win. And Dorothy Westfall of 1319 Sibley street picked Jim Levey to win the contest.

Doc Larkin, of 1915 Polk street, picked Jack Burns to win, and Bill Larkin, of the same address, thinks Jack Kloza is the man.

A fan residing at 1512 Polk street who innocently forgot to sign his or her name to the letter said "I think Howard Fitzgerald, the eagle of the outfield, is the fastest man. I went to Tuesday's double header and it seemed to me 'Fitz' ran a great deal faster than any other Spudder. I believe he would have run a dead heat with a bullet from a .45 Colt."

Jimmie Chafin, of 527 Indiana avenue, says: "I pick Howard Fitzgerald as the fastest Spudder from home plate to first. I will be regusted if I don't win. Come on Howard!"

And now there's one more answer, which deserves publication in full because the author brings up another subject that will interest fans. The writer is G. C. Fitzgerald of Paducah and his letter follows:

"Dear Rambler:

"Personally am not much interested in who is the fastest man from plate to first, but of course will name the man who I think will cover the distance in record time and he is none other than Mr. Howard Fitzgerald.

"Now there is another thing would like to say in regard to the team. Of course I don't want to butt into the management of the team but this is just a little friendly suggestion. Why not try out Bettencourt and his wonderful strong arm in the pitching role, especially in night games. I believe he would zip those balls through so fast the batter would be absolutely helpless, so Mr. Carl W. let us see what he can do just for the fun of it.

"Here's for the Spudders, first, last and all the time,

"G. C. Fitzgerald."

Thanks for entering our contest even if you aren't so excited about it, Mr. Fitzgerald, and by the way, are you any kin to Howard? And the last subject you brought up was very timely. The subject of what pitchers the Spudders will use in future night games has been much talked of the last few days, in view of the almost total failure of the club to win night bouts on the late road forage.

And your suggestion that Bettencourt be used in the box has been put forward by several other intelligent fans who realize that what it takes to win night games is zip and punch from a fast-baller. The other kind of pitching doesn't seem to get over.

Bettencourt, of course has the zip and punch. He can throw a ball harder than any man in the league. The point is, will he have sufficient control if he's placed in the box? That would remain to be seen, in the event Carl wants to try out a very interesting experiment by assigning Larry the role of a pitcher.

To see Larry perform in the box would be doubly interesting in view of the fact that he can already do most anything on the diamond. There are few utility infielders who can go to the garden and perform as brilliantly as Bettencourt. Now it would be interesting to see if he's not an all-round player capable of going into the box in a pinch and striking out a hundred or so.

Whether Bettencourt is given a chance in the box or not the truth remains that fast-ballers are the only pitchers who are winning night games. And the truth is, we do not need Bettencourt in the box. We have one of the best fast-ballers in the league in the person of Fred Vincent. Vincent was not used enough in night games on the last road trip, some fans have said. That is probably true. It is also a virtual certainty that Vincent will be given more starting roles in night games of the future in view of what he did on the last road trip. Dick Florrid is another good little fast-baller.

These two pitchers should be given preference in the coming night games. Then, if something desperate should happen and one of them should need relief, it would be interesting to see what Bettencourt can do.

'STRIKE!' SAYS HE. 'SAYS YOU!'

But the Umps Are Always Right, Says the Book

By FRED D. THOMPSON

The alleged impeccability of Prexy Gardner's umpires was questioned in stentorian tones at Spudder park Wednesday afternoon, and if "Ziggy" Sears had wanted to he could have thrown a dozen men out of the park. On the other hand, there were several dozen who appeared equally anxious to throw him out. But if they had started throwing each other out there wouldn't have been a game, so there you are.

And so, between arguments with Ziggy, a game of a sort was completed, and the Cats whipped the Spudders, 13 to 9.

And Ziggy kept his umpiratical dignity through it all, showing no favors. The Cats, with whom he used to play in the old days, were just as anxious to throw him out as the Spudders and the fans, and apparently Ziggy was just as anxious to heave out a few Cats.

Strike One! Strike Two!

It was a game of rookie pitchers against veterans. Vincent started the argument with Ziggy in the second when he objected to having only two strikes called on two batters. Ziggy didn't agree with him and Vincent got sore, walked in two runs, hit Whitworth, forcing in a third run, and then half killed Mallon, second sacker for the Cats, by hitting him in the small of the back. Seeing Freddie was out for too much blood, Carl Williams sent in Hillin who allowed two runs in the third, one in the fifth, and then was jerked in the seventh after he had alowed three hits and one run. Dick Florrid came in and allowed the two men on base to score, and Cox's triple down the first base line with the bases full cleared the paths for a total of six runs that frame and made the Spudder cause look sad indeed. Meyers doubled in the eighth and Thormahlen drove him in with his fourth single in as many times up to score the final tally.

> Jack Kloza, Spudder left fielder, was out of the game for the first time this season Wednesday afternoon, when he was called to the bedside of his wife at the Hargrave-Walker hospital shortly before time for the Fort Worth contest to start. Kloza had not missed an inning this season.

The Spudders found Whitworth easy the two innings he lasted. Levey doubled and scored on Storti's single, and Geygan, playing left field for Kloza, hit a home run in the first. After Bettencourt had singled and Bradbury had doubled in the second, Euller drove a high one over the left field fence, scoring the runners and himself. But after that blow Hank Thormahlen came to the rescue, and did so until the ninth inning. He allowed only two hits in six innings, one of them being Bradbury's home run over the center field wall in the sixth with Bettencourt aboard.

Bettencourt Hits No. 36

In the ninth, however, Bettencourt, first up, smashed his 36th home run of the season, and singles by Bradbury and Euller disposed of the former Waco ace, who was relieved by Lil Stoner. Bradbury scored on a single by Lester White, who batted for Florrid, and Levey's sacrifice fly, and Stoner then held his foes dead in their tracks.

The teams meet today in the concluding game of the short series.

Grover Alexander Released by Toledo

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (UP)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, once one of baseball's greatest pitchers, is out of a job tonight for the third time this season.

Alexander was signed by the Toledo American association team after being released by the Dallas Texas league club, but failed to report. After several days search, Oscar Smith, president of the Toledo club, located the veteran pitcher in a local hotel, but was refused admittance to Alexander's room. He then sent Alex a telegram cancelling the pitcher's contract.

The nurse guarding Alexander's room refused to let anyone communicate with her patient. She declined to say what the nature of his illness was, merely stating:

"Mr. Alexander is a very sick man—and the sickness isn't what you probably think it is."

BLUE PITCHES NO-HIT GAME

Macks Beat Kilowatts, 15 to 1

Big Everett Blue, ace of the Texas Electric Service company mound staff covered himself in glory Wednesday afternoon on Harrison field when he held the McClurkan's nine hitless while his mates slugged out a 15 to 1 victory over the Macks. Every man in the Kilowatt lineup scored a run and every man got at least one hit except Jim Cissell, who made up for this with dazzling fielding.

Whatley led the attack with two doubles and a single in three trials. Glenn Coolidge, the Kilowatt Terror, hit a home run in the first inning with one man on and Slim Wooten drove one out for four sacks with two mates on the paths. Score:

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (AP)—Cotton today reflected conflicting influences but, after an early decline, there were rallies on doubt as to the adequacy of western belt rains and the firmness in grain.

Rallies met considerable selling and, after advancing from 12.50 to 12.80, the new October contract declined to 12.65, but stiffened again on renewed covering in the late trading and sold to 12.83. The close was at 12.77 compared with 12.64 at the close of the previous day with the general market closing steady at net advances of 1 to 17 points.

Three more private crop reports were published with condition figures ranging from 62 to 66.4 and figures on the indicated yield from 13,668,000 to 14,376,000 bales. According to a canvass today, New York cotton exchange members on the average are looking for a crop indication of 14,035,000 bales, the highest of 85 guesses being 15,000,000 and the lowest 13,500,000.

Liverpool reported hedging and general liquidation in that market on southwestern rain reports. Exports today 3,425, making 21,724 so far this season. Port receipts 10,388; U. S. port stocks 1,559,136.

Futures closed steady, 11 to 17 points higher. Spot steady; middling 12.95.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 6. (AP)—After opening 4 points down and dropping to levels 10 to 11 points under the previous close owing to poor cables and rains in the West, cotton today rallied 27 to 29 points from the lows on a bullish weekly weather and crop summary and a forecast for fair weather in the western belt. As the detailed weather report showed considerable rain in Texas the market eased off 9 to 12 points from the highs. The market ruled steady during the late trading, fluctuating within the earlier range but gradually strengthening. The close was steady, showing net gains for the day of 10 to 11 points.

Stock Market Fails to React To Spectacular Grain Advances

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (US)—Further sensational strength in the grain markets failed today to stimulate stocks. The latter were subjected to a steady pressure which found support appearing only on reactions. Most leading stocks ended the day with losses ranging from fractions to several points. The stock market's disinclination to follow the spectacular advance in grain prices was rather disheartening to the bull forces, but the latter apparently were inclined to allow the market to handle itself without undue stimulus. In certain issues the heavy selling had all of the earmarks of bear raids. The market having broken out of its previous extreme dullness the speculative fraternity were quick to follow the downside in an effort to scalp profits. Short selling accounted for a good part of the pressure. Although trading expanded somewhat on the decline, the volume totalled only about 1,300,000 shares. Early firmness in the general list gave way to softness upon appearance of a rather disappointing Iron Age summary on the steel industry. Call money remained at 2½ per cent, but no significance was attached to the firmness compared with the recent 2 per cent level.

A five-cent additional advance in wheat, eight cents in corn, three cents in oats and six cents in rye, provided startling proof of the declaration here that the grain markets had been tremendously oversold and were likely to stage a spectacular recovery. Wheat has recovered over 12 cents a bushel, corn, which today crossed $1 a bushel, is up from about 70 cents, and rye sold under 50 cents a bushel, compared with 67½ cents today for the September option. The stock market, while anxious to interpret the sudden turnabout in grains as a highly bullish factor, remains somewhat skeptical that the price improvement may not be as cheering as it seems on the surface. This, because of the recognized fact that the advance had been precipitated by the alarming weather news. Should prices hold around present levels it would convince even the skeptics that the farm situation may have been considerably overrated as a bear factor. It may even mark the turning point in the general economic situation the country over.

In an effort to capitalize the spectacular rise in corn, the bears raided Corn Products Refining and Penick & Ford, both of whom use huge supplies of this commodity. Corn products met support, however, as its friends declared that the management, admittedly extremely efficient, had foreseen the turn in conditions and had acquired tremendous quantities of corn by cash purchases near the lowest prices of the year. The supplies then acquired, it is reported, were even greater than the requirements of the company. On the theory that the weather had had serious adverse affect on fruit and vegetable crops, particularly those products which are canned, there were bear raids against American Can and Continental Can. American Can broke almost four points and Continental three points. Undoubtedly, if the "canning" groups are seriously injured the earnings of the canning companies will be substantially affected. Specialties were under particular pressure, Diamond Match yielding eight points, Case Threshing five and Vanadium almost three points.

It was evident that the bull sponsors for the market were generally inclined to remain more or less on the sidelines, awaiting a more appropriate time to resume aggressive activities. The Steel Trade Review had an unsettling effect on sentiment inasmuch as reopening of the automobile plants had been expected to stimulate steel mill operations. In bullish circles, however, some cheer was derived by the failure of the bear raids to bring out large volume, although prices yielded on the average over four points among leading industrials. The short interest in the market has been increased and this forms a base for resumption of bullish activities. The Utilities as a group were under pressure on a report that a leading statistical service was preparing a bearish blast against these stocks.

Grand-Silver yielded fractionally, but strong buying was reported in the stock in anticipation of an important expansion plan to be announced shortly. The Dairy Products stocks, which some observers believed would react favorably to the drought reports, failed to advance, Borden selling off over two points and National Dairy Products more than a point. The railroad stocks were freely offered, on fears the destruction of grains may seriously reduce the traffic loads. Union Pacific sold down 7½ points, Atchison almost four, Rock Island four, and the other grain-bearing rails were down proportionately.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Aug. 6. (AP)—Unsettled conditions continued in the Fort Worth cash grain market Wednesday following the further sharp advance in contract values. Exporters reported foreign demand disinclined to follow the advance while mills hesitated to pay the higher prices of contract markets until a better idea of crop conditions can be had. Practically all quoted values were nominal with no actual sales on which to base quotations. Exporters were nominally bidding 99½c@$1.00 for ordinary export wheat delivered Texas gulf ports while mill bids were around $1.00@1.00½ for ordinary No. 1 hard delivered Texas common points, $1.01@1.01½ for 14 per cent protein; and $1.02@1.02½ for 15 per cent protein.

Estimated receipts: Wheat 57 cars; oats 4; sorghums 1.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed $1.14½@1.15½; No. 2 white $1.18½@1.19½; No. 2 yellow $1.17½@1.18½.

Oats—No. 2 nominally 50@52c.

Barley No. 3 nominally 66@68c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally $1.75@1.80; No. 2 kaffir $1.65@1.70.

Dealers also quoted as follows, basis delivery Texas group one points: No. 2 mixed corn $1.13@1.14; No. 2 white corn $1.17@1.18; No. 2 yellow corn $1.16@1.17. No. 3 white oats 52@53c, to which add 1c for delivery Texas group three points.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (AP)—In excited trading seldom equalled for volume outside of war times, corn today whirled upward almost 8 cents a bushel and wheat more than 6 cents. Corn, and wheat as well, soared above $1 an old standard that during recent weeks had virtually disappeared as a measure of grain values.

Official confirmation today that nation-wide damage to corn is at an "alarming rate" was chiefly responsible for a frantic buying rush that lasted until the end of trading and that had a further goad from news of black rust severely curtailing wheat in Canada.

Closing quotations on corn were strong at the topmost level reached, 6⅜@7⅜c above yesterday's finish and outdoing the season's previous highest record. Wheat and oats likewise surpassed the summits heretofore reached this season. Wheat closed nervous, 5⅛@6¼c advanced, oats 3c@3¼c up and provisions showing 10@37c gain.

It was announcement from Washington the government weekly crop report confirmed assertions that much of the country's 1930 corn yield was beyond hope which set the corn market on fire. The government report left no room for doubt that the damage has spread to all grain-growing states.

Throughout the remainder of the day, dealings in every kind of grain were of enormous proportions, with corn traders made more anxious by sharp falling-off in the movement of corn from rural sources.

Heavy selling to realize profits turned wheat downward a little at the last but failed to make any other impression against the tremendous advance shown by all cereals at the finish.

Provisions went upgrade with cereals despite downturns in the value of hogs.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, Sept. 92⅜c, $1.01½; Dec. 98⅛@⅜c, $1.07⅝@¾c; March $1.04, $1.13; Corn, Sept. 96⅛c, $1.08⅝; Dec. 92⅛c, $1.03⅞@1.04; March 95c, $1.07.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (US)—Berlin cables today asserted that Russia will have between 3,500,000 and 5,000,000 tons of cereals for export this year, equivalent to from 128 to 183 million bushels.

Logan & Bryam advices from Regina tell of wheat cutting at Kamsack, with mowers, rusted too badly to pay for twine. Sample wheat from Benson, Sask., is said to be rusted so much it is not worth cutting, with thousands of acres in the Stoughton, Lampman and Benson districts reported in the same condition.

Broomhall's preliminary estimate of the European rye crop is placed at 824,500,000 bushels, compared with 893,945,000 bushels last year.

Southern Iowa corn is very bad except for a few miles along the Des Moines river, Harvey S. Williams advises Thomson & McKinnon. There are a few good fields but all have fired spots, he says, and north central Missouri is even worse.

WHEAT PRICE HITS 70 CENTS

Local Market Takes Another Two-Cent Hike

Following an improvement in wheat quotations which evidenced itself in the Chicago market late Tuesday, local prices took another two-cent hike Wednesday on quotations by the Wichita Mill & Elevator company, bringing the current offer to 70 cents per bushel on hard wheat.

Wednesday's boost brings the present price to a figure seven cents higher than that prevalent at the beginning of the week. It was generally agreed that withholding of large portions of the 1930 crop by farmers as well as President Hoover's declarations of more federal aid to growers had exerted an influence on the market.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Aug. 6. (AP)—Cattle and calve offerings today were not excessive but packer buyers were inclined to reduce values. Order buyers added some help. Calves were very uneven. Hogs mostly 10c higher with not enough sheep on hand to test values.

About 20 loads of slaughter steers offered. California buyers took six loads of the best cattle at $7.00, fully steady. Packer buyers bought some light weight plain steers from $4.50 to $5.60, or about steady. Bidding lower on steers that show much weight.

Not many bulls arrived. Common light ones sold from $3.25 to $3.75 with a few in the $4.00 notch.

Cows rather plentiful with buyers placing bids 15 to 25c lower with fat cows showing the most decline. Canners sold from $2.75 down with cutters around $3.00. Some good cows around $5.00 with some sales at $4.00.

Yearlings were the exception and sold steady. Two loads cleared at $9.75 with some half fat kind at $6.75. Common packages from $3.50 to $4.50.

Calves very uneven with order buyers paying strong prices. The bulk of the better calves sold from $5.50 to $6.25. Order buyers paid $7.00 for some loads with one load of medium weight calves at $8.00. Culls ruled around $3.50.

Some stocker calves sold at $6.75 with two loads of good young cows clearing at $5.00.

Rail hogs sold up to $9.35 or about 10c higher. Truck hogs stopped at $9.10 or about steady. The bulk of the 175-250-pound butchers sold from $8.75 to $9.10.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 6. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—More liberal supplies resulted in steady to 15 cents lower prices on hogs but trade was very active at the decline around the 11-market circuit today. The day's practical top of $9.95 was paid in Chicago. Total offering were around 74,200, as compared with 59,855 last Wednesday and 72,690 a year ago.

The supply of sheep, approximated 54,700 was 15,000 heavier than a week ago and about the same as a year ago. Fat lambs were unevenly steady to 25 cents lower while aged stock held around steady. Choice Idaho lambs in Chicago cleared at $9.60 and at several of the river markets fat range lambs sold up to $9.00.

Cattle trade continued slow with light-weight fed steers, yearlings and low priced grassers on a steady to 25 cents lower basis but a decline of 25 to 50 cents in values on medium weight and heavy fed steers. Some points reported a very dull close on matured native steers and the better kinds of Western grassers. Packers encountered only a limited amount of competition from feeder buyers. Chicago scored $11.00 on choice 931-pound yearling steers and secured $10.50 for strictly choice 1500-pound beeves. Medium quality 1048-pound Texas cake fed in Kansas City brought $7.15 and on Tuesday's late market four loads of good 1383 to 1419-pound Texas cake fed landed at $7.75. Test Shows Potential Production at Newcastle

According to a three-hour gauge on Aug. 1 the potential production in the "wonder" shallow pool north of Newcastle in Young county will reach a total of 17,688 barrels daily. This figure would be greatly increased if many wells now on the sand were completed, but until pipe line connections are assured none of these will be drilled in. Below is the various leases and their outputs of which the Prairie Pipe Line company will probably transport about eight per cent of the crude.

Refiners Hopeful Of Market Improvement

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 6.—The wholesale gasoline situation does not improve fast, but refiners are still hopeful that they may soon eliminate from the market the flood of cheap motor fuel that upsets every move to stabilize the market.

Gasoline stocks continue to show a material reduction and consumption keeps brisk, which tends to slowly reduce the accumulations of under-price motor fuel. Prices for delivery over the balance of August, while varying somewhat are considered low. In some areas the quotations are up, but generally they are low.

Kerosene has been inactive with prices low. Jobbers are stocking up with distillate for the winter months. The demand for furnace oils is picking up. Heavy industrial fuel oils are moving slowly.

METAL PLANT OPENS TODAY

New Capital to Operate Industry Here

the factory, but orders for several carloads of sheet iron and other materials were placed Wednesday night for rush delivery, it was said.

The Equipment Manufacturing company is the outgrowth of a partnership formed about one year ago between Mr. Dabney and Mr. Tabor, the latter of whom had been in the filling station supply business for several years as the representative of several large manufacturing concerns in the North. During the past year they have handled large amounts of manufactured products from the factories of the Merit Equipment corporation of Cleveland, Ohio, it was said. Acquisition of the Ray factory here is purposed to provide a point of manufacture and distribution for the Southwest, which has provided the greatest demand in the country for this class of equipment, it was said. Incorporation of the Equipment Manufacturing company, with A. E. Tabor, F. J. Omo, T. G. Dabney and J. K. Omo as incorporators, was completed recently.

Ray Heads Production

It was stated Wednesday night that A. L. Wertz, president of the Merit Equipment corporation of Cleveland, is a director in the Equipment Manufacturing company, and that the local concern will maintain close working relations with the older company, which has been in business for more than seven years.

J. K. Omo, assistant-secretary and treasurer, is moving his family from Houston to Wichita Falls, and will be in charge of the factory here, it was said. Mr. and Mrs. Flake Robinson also are moving here from Fort Worth, it was said, and Mrs. Robinson will be office secretary at the plant. F. A. Ray, who built the factory here in 1926 and operated it for almost three years, will be production superintendent.

About 10 men, selected from the former employed personnel of the plant, will comprise the working force for the present, it was said. As the number of employed men is increased later, it was said, preference will be shown to those who were connected with the plant under the former management.

Officials of the new company declared Wednesday night that the factory here is one of the most completely equipped and best arranged for the production of sheet metal equipment to be found west or south of Cleveland. All machinery has been serviced during the past two weeks, and is ready for the start of operations Thursday morning. Output of the plant will include drums, tanks, air compressor tanks, pumps, etc., for gasoline filling station use, and will soon be extended to include various equipment made of sheet iron for general uses. Culverts and water tanks will be a considerable item of manufacture, it was indicated.

Lights in the kitchen and the rear of the dining room were put out temporarily, but within an hour and a half the cafe was again in operation.

SOUTHERN GOP OPEN REVOLT

Tennessee Leader to Fight Hoover Renomination

man of the executive committee to aid Fess in waging the congressional campaigns this fall.

Harmony Hope Expires

The Mann announcement completely dashed the hopes of party leaders for a "harmony" meeting tomorrow and a united front in the elections this fall.

The challenge was looked upon as a declaration by Mann and his followers to establish a "lily white" party in the South, similar to the organization with which he supported the Hoover candidacy against Al Smith.

The insurrection has been threatening ever since President Hoover decided to leave Mann out in the distribution of federal patronage and established a special committee for that job with Postmaster General Brown in charge.

Recently battle lines were formed by the insurgents at a secret meeting at Savannah, Ga.

Denying that he and his followers sought to control the patronage situation, Mann asserted that it was their desire to prevent federal offices being passed out to "an interloping element of carpet baggers."

Another of their purposes was said to be the stopping of "political hi-jackers who invade the southland to capture the delegates to the national convention every four years."

ROME, Aug. 6. (US)—Further slight shocks in Italy's earthquake zone today terrified the survivors of last month's catastrophe, but did little damage.

The board must approve this plan if it decides to build up the navy to the limits of the London naval treaty, it was said at the aeronautics bureau.

BUSINESS HAS BETTER TONE

Talbert Tells of Reports At B. & L. Meeting

Conviction that the worst part of the current business depression has been passed and that conditions are now improving rapidly throughout the country was expressed by leaders of business who addressed the United States Building and Loan league at Grand Rapids, Mich., during the last three days of July, according to J. Wilke Talbert, who returned from Grand Rapids Tuesday night.

Mr. Talbert, president of the Texas Building and Loan league, and vice president of the Wichita Falls Building and Loan association, headed a delegation of about 20 Texans who attended the three-day annual convention of the national league at Grand Rapids.

Pointing to the financial condition of individual citizens of the country as indicated by savings in building and loan organizatons, the annual report of the national league's secretary and treasurer showed that in the year 1929, a gain of 115,304 members was recorded by associations in this country, with a total gain in assets of $679,119,893. Despite the stock market crash which caused thousands of withdrawals, Mr. Talbert said, assets of building and loan associations increased by 8½ per cent, and each member, on the average, increased his holdings by $49.71 during the year, to bring the total average amount held by each member to $717.94. There are now 12,111,209 building and loan association members in the United States, according to the report given, with associations having a combined total of $8,695,154,220 in assets.

According to the national organization's report, the state of Texas has 176 associations, with a total of 187,880 members. The gain recorded in Texas in 1929 was 22,100 members, and $23,981,515 in assets. Texas reflected one of the best improvements in the entire country for the year, it was said.

Woman of 85, Armed With .45 Pistol, Routs Officers in Liquor Raid Here

An 85-year-old woman, armed with righteous indignation and a .45 caliber pistol, routed two members of the constable's force who attempted to raid her home Wednesday afternoon. The officers fled through the back door when the weapon was brandished, taking a part of the screen with them. Before the precipitate retreat and while the militant grandmother was speaking her mind, emphasizing her remarks with eloquent gestures with the gun, the officers listened to the sound of breaking bottles and sniffed the aroma of liquor in the air.

A second visit to the house brought the arrest of the elderly head of the house, invisible during the first raid. The triumphant woman had taken to her bed and sent for the doctor to administer restoratives after the excitement of the afternoon.

Club to Discuss Needs Of City System

Open discussion of the water problem in Wichita Falls and decision to devote next week's meeting to a serious study of that matter featured the weekly meeting of the Optimist club at the Kemp hotel Wednesday noon.

Consideration of the possibilities of aiding in the provision of more and better water in all parts of this city was proposed by Jess McLarry, and furthered by L. E. Stone.

Julian Montgomery, city plan expert and engineer, is to discuss the water situation before members of the Rotary club Thursday noon. It was indicated that a similar program will be prepared for the Optimist club meeting for next Wednesday.

Mrs. J. M. Baber, and her daughter, Nettie Maxine Baber, pianists; Miss Betty Ann Morrison, reader; O. D. Taylor Jr., and Byman Geyer, guitarists, presented a mixed program of entertainment before members of the club.

Debunks Astrology

BOSTON.—To test the powers of astrology, Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, research officer of the Boston Society for Psychic Research, sent a letter requesting information to six different astrologers. To the questions answered in the letters, the astrologers all readily replied—but with such a wide difference of opinion that the answers were useless.

Beaver Creek Pupils To Attend Electra School

By an agreement between the Electra Independent School district and the Beaver Creek school trustees, students from the Beaver Creek community will receive instruction in the Electra schools during the coming year, according to an announcement Wednesday from Burl Bryant, county superintendent.

The Beaver Creek students, numbering approximately 18, will be transported to school in Electra by a regular school truck. H. M. Biggers, who has taught in Beaver Creek during the past three years will become a member of the Electra faculty.

The agreement leaves Wichita county with a single one-teacher school, Mr. Bryant announced. Eight years ago 19 such institutions were being attended in the county, but consolidations and expansions have left only the one at Prairie Cottage.
