Major steps in Collingsworth County's development have come within the past week. One of these, core drilling at the Dozier Creek Dam Site, is under the direction of these men. From left they are A. H. Woolverton, project engineer; Frank G. Bryant, president of Bryant-Curington, Inc. consulting engineers and Frank G. Bryant and Associates, Inc., who do the sub-surface exploration; Dan Henard, water board president; C. P. Stearns, drilling superintendent for Frank G. Bryant and Associates, and Les Vaserling, party chief for Bryant-Curington. Other project developments are described in an accompanying story.

Water Board Plans Holding Reservoir Near Wellington

Two major developments in plans for the proposed dam on Salt Fork have been announced by Dan Henard, water board president.

First, a balancing reservoir, a lake in itself that would cover from 500 to 640 acres, will be located a few miles northeast of Wellington and from it, irrigation lines will extend in several directions.

Second: Core drilling and survey work are under way on the proposed Dozier Creek dam site on Salt Fork, with the first of 12 test holes completed at the week end.

The contract for the work went to two Austin firms, both headed by Frank G. Bryant, and they will work in association with A. H. Woolverton, project engineer for the Collingsworth County Water District.

Bryant-Curington, Inc., consulting engineers, are in charge of engineering and survey work. Les Vesterling is party chief here.

Frank G. Bryants and Associates, Inc., will do the sub-surface exploration—core drilling. C. P. Stearns is drilling superintendent and he is assisted by Emmett Skelton.

These men and their crews are staying in Wellington.

"Core drilling goes much slower than water well drilling because we take intermittent samples of dirt, and in formations we will take cores," Bryant said.

"Our main concern would be permeability of the subsurface, which would allow any type of water losses that might occur out of the lake.

"We are also concerned for the foundation purposes of the dam and any seepage that might occur under the dam," he said.

Twelve test holes will be drilled at the Dozier Creek dam site, and as yet undetermined number of tests will be made along the irrigation canal route, and three at the balancing reservoir.

The first hole, on the north side of the Dozier Creek site, went to a depth of 132 feet. Drilling was in silty clays, sandy clays, and clay silts, predominantly reddish brown in color, down to approximately 120 feet, where it went into claystones and siltstones, Bryant explained.

The static water in that hole was hit at 96 feet, about 5 feet above the river level at that point.

Balancing Reservoir

Henard explained the balancing reservoir further. Water would be carried by an irrigation canal from the main reservoir on Salt Fork to the balancing reservoir, but a smaller canal will be required, as there will be a flow of water throughout the year. This will also mean less upkeep, since it will be in constant use.

Its location near Wellington is necessary because of altitude requirements.

This reservoir will be approximately 40 feet deep, and it will provide fishing and other water recreation at Wellington's doorstep, Henard declared.

A third development also came from the water board president:

Within a short time, all farmers whose property lies within the area for which irrigation is proposed, both north and south of Salt Fork, will be called together to begin discussion of formation of an irrigation district and what will be required for its organization.

Deskins Wells, who underwent surgery Friday, Jan. 22 in Houston, continues to improve, Mrs. Wells said Tuesday night.

He is still in the University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Clinic, located in the Medical Center of that city.

Several former Wellington men have visited him there during the week, including Richard Coker, Bill Leach, and Hugh Sherwood, who now live in Houston.

Norwood PTA Buys Air Conditioners

Two large air conditioning units which will cool both the high school and elementary buildings at Samnorwood school were approved by members of the Parent-Teacher Association in a recent meeting. Purchase of these was the year's project.

The unit for the high school will be installed on the top of the building and that at the elementary school on a large stand on the north side. Ducts will carry the cool air to each room.

The unit now in the grade school will be moved to the agriculture building, and with air conditioners already operating in the gymnasium, the entire Samnorwood plant will be air conditioned by the time hot weather arrives.

The report on the air conditioners was presented by J. M. Morgan, and the PTA meeting was directed by Mrs. A. F. Wischkaemper, Jr., president.

J. D. Wilson, county school supervisor, discussed the certification of teachers.

Members approved cooperation with the American Legion to send a girl to Girls State in the summer of 1965.

Students of the seventh and eighth grades served refreshments.

Respiratory Ailment

City School Closed By Student Illness

Wellington schools will resume classwork Thursday morning, Feb. 4, after being dismissed two days because of student illnesses, Supt. J. L. Harper announced.

The schools were closed on Monday, after lunch, when a tally showed approximately 100 students absent, due to respiratory ailment.

Dr. Carter Holcomb, county health officer, immediately requested that all public meetings be cancelled and said that the best preventative for each individual was to stay out of crowds.

He described the illness as a respiratory ailment lasting from three to five days. He did not term it flu. There is the possibility of its going into pneumonia if the patient doesn't take care of himself, Dr. Holcomb added. Some of those ill have had high fever and others have had no fever at all. Flu shots are not effective if administered after exposure.

It is not the same illness that closed the Childrens schools, Dr. Holcomb explained.

Steps Outlined for Attracting Industry

Getting industry is the most competitive business in the United States today, Larry Milner, representing the Texas Industrial Commission, Austin, told a group of Wellington business men Tuesday night, Feb. 2.

This closed a 10-day series of conferences with men experienced in developing industry in small towns. Milner's visit was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, with N. M. Higdon in charge of the arrangements.

Milner praised the Wellington group for the considerable amount of groundwork they have already laid, and re-emphasized what was said frequently in the last week, that any local prospects should be developed.

But it is the community leaders themselves who must do the selling job, Milner said.

He outlined five general steps to be followed by communities seeking industry. "You are already doing some of these," he added.

1. Community betterment. The schools, streets, businesses, churches and attitude of the people all are important in industrial development. They are things any outside industry will consider.

2. Research and analysis. "You have done an excellent job in your audit of community resources," he declared. Leaders were told to have facts and figures available to present any time. He discussed community economic surveys made upon request by Texas A&M University. "This is not a cure-all for your problems, but it is one tool," he added.

3. Community financing facilities. More than 200 Texas communities have these industrial foundations, under one name or another. They are used to provide buildings and buy land. Milner urged these not be given to an industry. "Anybody that needs to be given to won't be around long, but more and more, industries coming into a town do not want to build their own buildings, but rather to lease them," he said.

4. Industrial sites must be available, either by purchase, option or commitment. The Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce does have a location available.

5. Prospects. Milner explained in detail some of the sources of prospects for industries, urging the group not to overlook industries already in Texas, who may open additional plants. These, he pointed out, do not have to be sold on Texas. Utility companies and the corresponding banks of local banks, are other sources.

But common rumor is the best source of prospects, Milner declared. These come from salesmen, visiting kindfoks, and all other means by which information spreads by word-of-mouth.

Approximately 20 Wellington men were present for the meeting.

Rotary-Kiwanis Basket Ball Game Planned

The Wellington Rotary Club has challenged the Kiwanis Club to a basketball game Saturday, Feb. 13, to be played in Skyrocket gymnasium at 8:00 p.m.

This is a benefit event, according to Truett Thomas, Rotary president, and proceeds will be divided equally and will go in the scholarship fund of each club.

The Rotary Club earlier announced a $150 scholarship that will be presented a graduate of one of the county's four schools this spring. Kiwanis also has scholarship plans in the formation stage, it was reported.

Age, profession and previous experience will have no bearing on the selection of the players, Thomas announced.

Paul Guthrie will coach the Rotarians, and Dick Pendleton will guide the Kiwanians.

Tickets are available from members of both organizations.

Trinity Men Meet Feb. 9

Trinity Methodist Men's Fellowship will meet Tuesday evening, Feb. 9, C. A. Wilbur, president, has announced.

A pancake supper will be served at 7:30 p.m., followed by a program and fellowship.

The Rev. C. R. Hankins will be the speaker. A resident of the Aberdeen community, he is pastor of Glen Davis Memorial Methodist Church at Dozier.

All men interested are invited to attend.

Rev. Earnest To Preach in N-W

The Rev. A. B. Earnest, Jr., pastor of First Baptist Church, will leave Feb. 7 for Leavenworth, Washington, where he will conduct a two-weeks revival at the New Hope Baptist Church.

The Southern Baptists have begun work in the Northwest only within recent years and this is regarded as a pioneer mission work, Rev. Earnest explained.

Contract Let on FM 338 Improvement Work

A contract for 11.4 miles of construction on FM Road 338 in Collingsworth county has been awarded to a Fort Worth firm, it was announced in Austin this week by the State Highway Commission.

Ernest Loyd submitted the low bid of $70,512.70 on the project. Reconstruction of the structures, base and surfacing from Wellington to Dodson is expected to take 100 working days, according to V. J. McGee, District Highway Engineer at Childress.

L. Clyde Drake, Resident Engineer at Wellington, will be in active charge of the project while it is under construction.

Three Collingsworth county Farm to Market roads are included in the contracts to be let by the Highway Department in Austin Friday, Feb. 19, according to V. J. McGee of Childress, district engineer.

These include FM 338 from Highway 83 west through Wellington and southwest to Swearingen, approximately 14 miles; FM 1548, from one mile west of Samnorwood south two and a half miles to Plymouth; and from Dodson, south one mile to the Childress county line.

The bids will be opened and read at 9 a.m. on Feb. 19. The contract covers 151.651 miles of roads, all for seal coating, in Donley, Briscoe, Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Dickens, Hall, Knox, Motley and Wheeler counties.

Quail, Hedley Meet Friday in 11-B Showdown

Churches Plan Evaluation Work

Six Baptist churches in Collingsworth county will participate in the associational-wide Sunday School enlargement campaign Monday through Wednesday, February 22 to 24, the Rev. A. B. Earnest Jr. announced.

The churches, all members of the North Fork Association, are First Baptist and Faith Baptist in Wellington, South Baptist Church at Dodson, Lute Baptist and Quail Baptist and Samnorwood Baptist.

During each of the three days, the pastors will meet with Harold Hanson of Dallas, in charge of associational Sunday School work for the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Evening sessions will be conducted by the pastors in their own churches for Sunday School teachers and workers.

This is an evaluation and study of Sunday School work, Rev. Earnest said.

At Dinner Metting

Determination to Get Industry Brings Praise

"I have never seen a community anywhere in the country with the sheer determination to get a payroll that your community has," Raymond C. Morrison, field co-ordinator for Texas of the Area Redevelopment Administration told approximately 130 business and farm leaders of Collingsworth at an industrial round-up dinner Thursday night, Jan. 28.

But a few minutes later he warned:

"If you give up your determination, you've had it. Nobody on the outside is going to build Wellington."

Morrison was one of three men from ARA who broke into heavy work schedules to visit Wellington and confer with its leaders on how to develop industry. With him were his assistant, Neal Blanton, also of Fort Worth, and Gerald F. Albright of Washington.

With the exception of the dinner Thursday, the meetings with county leaders were work meetings.

"Wellington's determination," Morrison declared at one point, "spurs me on to get all I can find for you."

He explained the federal agencies to which a town may go for help.

"This community with its spirit of good will has much to offer an industry. Labor is more content in a smaller town," Morrison said.

"I appreciate your willingness to do for yourself. If you keep fighting as you are, you'll get an industry, then two and then more."

Albright told the group that all of them will be called on at some time to make a contribution to the program being set up in Wellington.

"We're not making a plan to study; we're already at work," he declared, then indicating the men with whom he had been meeting:

"But these men cannot do it alone. Each of you must consider it as a job for you to do. This is not a town that is going to die."

In the work meetings, a local industry committee was formed with Sandy Parsons as chairman and the members are Wayne Cudd, Jack Sanford, Sam Adams, Bill Hatch and Zook Thomas. Others are being added as the need arises.

This committee concerns itself only with industries that could be developed from within Wellington.

The industrial committee of the Builders Club, headed by Henry Sullivan, president, and N. M. Higdon, chamber of commerce manager, is already a going concern with a number of contacts from outside industry on which it is working. It remains unchanged in its scope and its activity.

The local industry committee, working with the three ARA men, reviewed several local businesses that might become potential industries.

During the next two weeks, the committee will study each of these, depending, of course, on whether the owner is interested in expanding.

The product will be studied; markets investigated, and in general the rules that came out of the industry meeting will be applied. This is aimed at getting any expansion proposed off on a sound footing. The product itself will be compared to others on the market, the customer appeal will be studied, etc.

"If we have people with know-how, and increased operation, and with the help of the community, we believe some of these can be expanded to employ from 8 to 50 or more people," Sandy Parsons declared as spokesman for the committee.

WHST Teams Win Three, Lose One During Week

The Wellington Rockettes won both games played during the week, against Clarendon and McLean, while the Rockets lost to Clarendon, Tuesday, then won over McLean Friday night by a narrow margin.

Rockettes vs. Broncoettes

Tuesday, Jan. 26, Wellington girls met Clarendon girls on Clarendon's home floor for the 3rd meeting of the season. "We've all heard that 3rd time was charm," Coach James Stavenhagen said, "and so it was for the Rockettes." The Rockettes won the game 52 to 43. It was the 2nd conference loss for Clarendon.

"I felt that the guards played a real fine defensive game," Stavenhagen commented. "Karen Childress, Jan Glenn Susan Sullivan, and Regina Ferguson are all improving with each game."

Skyrocketts vs. Broncos

Also Tuesday night, Rockets traveled to Clarendon and met a strong Bronco team. Both teams had identical records in district play up to this point, and were tied for district leadership.

"Early in the game it looked as if the Rockets would win walking away," Coach Stavenhagen said. "The Broncos got hot and came back fighting after the half to defeat Rocketts by a score of 56 to 49."

"It was the first conference loss for Wellington boys and it puts the pressure on the team now," Stavenhagen declared. "They will have to win the rest of their games to be able to win the district championship."

"The 3rd quarter was close with Clarendon scoring 1 more point than the Rockets. Clarendon put on a big spurge in the 4th quarter and was able to hold off a comeback bid by

Rocketts vs. McLean Girls

Wellington traveled to McLean Friday, Jan. 29 to begin the 2nd round of conference play. They met a fired up Tiger team, but their hustle and spirit was offset by the aggressive Rocketts, and the Rockettes won 53 to 35.

The first part of the ball game was close. In the 3rd quarter, however, the Rockettes built up a good lead because the guards held McLean to only 2 points.

"Beverly Singley played her best game of the season," Coach Stavenhagen said. "She has been improving all year and is now a real tough competitor. Joyce Holton is getting a lot of pressure now, because she is a real dangerous driver. The guards also played another good game."

High pointers for Wellington: Betty Courtney 26 and Beverly Singley 21.

Skyrocketts vs. Tigers

Wellington boys also began the 2nd half of conference play Friday, Jan. 29 meeting the McLean Tigers. Wellington was in 2nd position and McLean was tied for 4th at this stage of district games.

"Wellington beat McLean in an earlier conference game by 20 points, but the Tiger team failed to realize that Wellington was supposed to beat them again," Coach Stavenhagen said. "They played a determined ball game and almost upset the Skyrocketts. The final score was a little close for comfort."

Wellington won 63 to 61.

"We were hampered by numerous bad passes and sloppy ball handling in general," Stavenhagen declared. "We seemed to be lacking something that is characteristic of a fine ball club that night."

Grid Players in Off-Season Athletic Work

Coach Don Beck's off-season athletic program has enrolled 21 Wellington high school athletes who participate regularly in football, but who are not in the basketball program now anyway.

These include freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, who are already conditioning themselves for the 1965 football season, along with six seniors who are working on weights and running, in preparation for the coming track season. Beck said.

Each Monday, Wednesday and Friday, the boys lift weights, varying from 75 to 135 pounds and depending on the boy's size and weight.

Wrestling and tumbling are scheduled each Tuesday and Thursday.

And every day, the boys do distance running, run stands and low hurdles for conditioning and development, do reaction drills to develop quickness of movement, and run the 50 yard dash for speed.

These off-season athletics are a regular part of the WHS physical-fitness program for boys.

Coach Beck to Football Clinic

Don Beck, head coach of Wellington high school, attended the Coach of the Year Clinic held recently in Dallas.

Some of the nation's top coaches were speakers, including Bud Wilkerson, formerly of the University of Oklahoma, who discussed "Team Morale," Frank Broyles of Alabama, who told of his defense; Coach Vernon Glass of Lamar Tech, Beaumont, offense; and Notre Dame's Ara Parsigian, who discussed offense and his passing game.

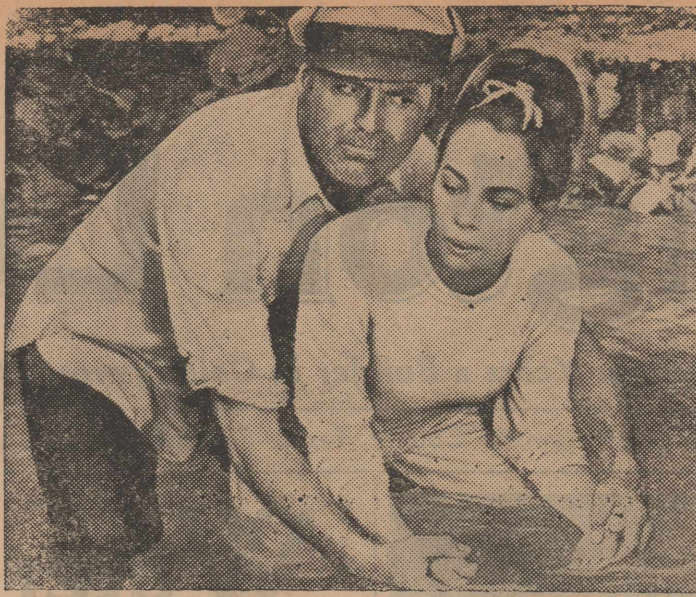

Films were shown of the championship game between Garland and Galena Park. A highlight was the selection of the "coach of the year," this time a dual honor that went to Broyles and Parsigian.

"The hustle of the ball club is the best of any team that I have coached at Wellington," Coach Stavenhagen said. "They won't give up and fight right down to the finish."

High pointers for Wellington: Freddy Peters 22, Ronny Hurst 10 and Bill Spillman 10.

High pointers for McLean: Gary Hester 18 and Eddie Finley 16.

McIlhany Seeks Hog Legislation

State Representative Granger McIlhany of Wheeler has proposed a measure designed to help wipe out contagious swine disease.

The bill would give the Texas Animal Health Commission authority to order the slaughter of hogs exposed to or infected with cholera or other diseases common with swine.

The proposed legislation would carry a penalty of $25 to $100 for failure to comply.

Representative McIlhany has been appointed to committees on agriculture, state affairs, criminal jurisprudence, highways and roads, and military and veterans affairs.

Area Center of February Crow Shoots

SHAMROCK—This city has found another novel way, besides the perennial St. Patrick's Day celebration, to maintain its conspicuous West Texas status.

Now, it is sponsoring three public hunts as a means of disposing of an unwanted concentration of crows.

Thus, during the weekends of February 6-7, February 13-14 and February 20-21 Shamrock hopes to become the crow hunting metropolis of Texas. And wing shots from far and wide are expected to enthusiastically respond.

Each winter an estimated 1,000,000 crows arrive from their summer haunts in Oklahoma and Kansas, and set up winter quarters in the eastern Panhandle around Shamrock, Wheeler and Wellington, Texas.

Since other efforts to frighten the heavy concentration of black bandits around Shamrock have been largely unsuccessful, city fathers conceived the off-season hunting plan.

Participating sportsmen will be charged a $1 registration fee for the services of a city employee guiding them to free hunting areas around Shamrock.

REMEMBER WHEN?

Wellington Industrial Museum

"I bet there are few people alive today who remember when this 1895 antique was actually used as a source of heat. Besides not giving out just an awful lot of heat to an awful lot of space, it didn't exactly smell like the breath of spring either. Times have certainly changed.

Now-a-days safe, flameless electric heating carries even, steady heat to all parts of a room or home. Hot spots, cold spots and drafts are things of the past. Since electric heating is totally flameless there are no pilot flames to go out or gaseous odors, no soot, film, smoke, or residue to rest on indoor walls and furniture. The house stays clean, comfortable, and fresh smelling.

If you aren't enjoying the comforts of flameless electric heat call a WTU representative or see your electrical heating contractor right away."

Not only does she serve meals to all Wellington's civic clubs holding luncheon or evening meetings, but she also serves most of the banquets held in Wellington.

Mrs. Byron Duncan, club president, welcomed the guests, and the B&PW Choraleers sang "Getting to Know You" and "Dear Hearts."

Mrs. Bura Handley led the pledge of allegiance and Mrs. Louise Templeton read the collect. Mrs. Gorman Owens gave the benediction.

Mrs. Bentley Hawley

Former Wellington Girl Weds in January Ceremony at Ruidoso, N. M.

Miss Raye Anne Pope, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Pope of Ruidoso, New Mexico, and formerly of Wellington, was married to Bentley F. Hawley in the Church of Christ at Ruidoso at eight o'clock Saturday evening, January 23. The Rev. Daniel L. Harguess performed the double ring ceremony.

The bridegroom, who also lives at Ruidoso, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hawley of Kermit. The bride's grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hunt of Wellington. Church decorations included two candelabras, each holding seven candles, entwined with green leaves and gardenias.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white organza over taffeta, with lace appliques over the bodice and upper skirt. The floor-length skirt swept to a chapel train. Her headdress was a silk net mantilla with a wide border of reemboirdered lace, and she wore a diamond pendant belonging to her mother. The bride's bouquet was a white orchid tied with satin streamers and rosebuds.

Mrs. Aubrey Reeves of Lubbock, sister of the bride was matron of honor. Her gown, fashioned in empire style, was of dark green satin with ivory bodice and front streamers.

Robin Reeves, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. The best man was Bob Blackburn of Lubbock.

A reception was held at the Chaparral Hotel, with approximately 50 guests attending.

The bride's table was laid with an ivory cloth covered with dark green net, caught up in scallops and held by dark green leaves. An arrangement of ivory roses and green leaves formed the center piece and appointments were of copper, gold and crystal.

In the house party were Miss Suzi Richards of Roswell, Mrs. Robert Gaston of Ruidoso and Mrs. Bobby Stevens of Las Cruces.

Since returning from their wedding trip to Colorado, the couple is at home at West Circle Drive, Ruidoso Downs, New Mexico.

McIlhany on 5 Committees

Representative Grainger McIlhany of Wheeler was named to five standing committees of the Texas Legislature this week by Speaker Ben Barnes. The veteran Wheeler Lawmaker was named to serve on the following:

Military and Veterans' Affairs—Vice Chairman, Agriculture, Criminal Jurisprudence, Highways and Roads and State Affairs.

The 26 year old Barnes, youngest Speaker to serve in this century, said: "Many long hours of hard work have gone into the make-up of these committees. Mr. McIlhany has many years of service in this House and I know he will make a great contribution in helping us to solve the many, many problems which now confront all of us."

New Reduction In Certain LD Phone Rates

SAN ANGELO—General Telephone customers will join others throughout the nation in enjoying reduced station to station interstate long distance rates effective February 1, 1965, according to Joe H. Collins, director of public relations.

The rate reduction, announced late last year by the Federal Communications Commission, extends the hours during which station to station late night rates and night rates are in effect.

For example, the late night rates which apply to station to station interstate calls (formerly referred to as the "after 9" rates) are now in effect all day Sunday and from 8 p. m. to 4:30 a. m. Monday through Saturday. Station to station interstate night rates, formerly in effect from 6 p. m. to 9 p. m. each day, will now be in effect all day Saturday (from 4:30 a. m. to 8 p. m.) and from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m. Monday through Friday.

Emphasis is placed on the fact that only station to station calls of over 431 miles between states are affected by the new rate reductions. Person to person rates and regular day time calling rates remain essentially the same.

E. H. Danner, president of General of the Southwest, has indicated that it is too early to determine precisely what effect the rate reductions will have on the long distance calling habits of General's customers. However, he pointed out that it is entirely possible that the effect will be to provide an additional stimulus to long distance traffic, thereby resulting in little or no change in General's toll revenues. "It is extremely important to bear in mind that long distance traffic has been increasing steadily from year to year and that this upward trend is expected to continue," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Lowrie and children of Irving were week end visitors in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Sweat.

INDUSTRIAL TALK
Industry took precedence over the weather and other topics in Wellington conservation the past 10 days. It was most concentrated at the public dinner Thursday, Jan. 28, where Area Redevelopment Administration representatives were speakers. At top, Gerald F. Albright, second from right, special assistant from Wash-

MORE INTERSTATE HIGHWAYS BUILT IN HALF THE TIME

AUSTIN.—One day in 1965 Texans will have another item for their celebrated grab-bag of brags.

On that day the Texas Highway Department will have built more miles of Interstate Highways than any other state even plans to build under the current Interstate program, excepting only California.

To put it another way, Texas in 1965 will have attained as many Interstate miles in about half the time as any other state, save one, will build in the Interstate program's 15-year construction-span.

Texas will arrive at this point when, some time in 1965, it will have opened 1,623 miles of Interstate Highways to traffic. That's the number of miles to be built by 1973 by the state of Illinois, which ranks behind Texas and California in extent of its Interstate Highway system.

"In other words," says State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer,

"it may be assumed that in 1965 Texas will have more miles of Interstate Highways open to traffic than any other state except California will build by 1973. And the Texas Highway Department will have achieved this mark eight years before the scheduled completion date of all the nation's Interstate highways."

Texas was pretty close to its new record at the end of 1964. On Dec. 1 the Interstate Highway system under rubber in Texas totaled 1,372 miles. Of the total, 1,036 miles were complete to full Interstate standards while 336 miles were complete to stages adequate for present traffic.

Moreover, 366 miles of Interstate Highways were under construction to full Interstate standards, while 108 miles of I.H. routes were under "stage" construction.

The total Interstate Highway system designated for Texas is a superhighway grid of 3,025 miles. California has a designated system of 2,173 miles, of which 854 were open to traffic on Oct. 1.

Texas has built more Interstate Highway miles than any other state. What's more, it has built them cheaper. Interstate construction cost in Texas averages about $610,000 a mile, vs. about $1 million a mile nationwide.

In all, during the first 11 months of 1964, Texas added about 110 miles of Interstate Highways (complete to full standards) to its highway system, generally acknowledged the nation's finest as well as its most extensive.

In Finland, where evergreen is a sign of mourning, straw is used for Christmas decorations.

Texas Ten Leading Death Causes Listed

Ten killers are at large in Texas.

These killers aren't bandits or criminals—they are the ten leading causes of Texan's deaths.

The ten leading killers account for a giant share of 82,692 Texans who died in 1963.

The latest statistics released by the State Health Department categorize, profile and dissect the leading killers.

This is how they stack up on paper:

Heart disease took the lion's share—one out of every three deaths in the state. National statistics also show the same leading cause of death.

Cancer ranks second, taking 15% of the state's total number in deaths.

Apoplexy—or stroke—is classified as the third most deadly, with 11% of the death total.

Accidents, as the fourth leading killer, claimed 5,999 lives, or 7% of the total. Death due to accidental cause takes the largest percentage of lives for the age groups between 1 and 45.

Disease or early infancy, fifth in sequence, takes its toll—of course—below the one year marker.

Pneumonia ranks sixth in the line-up of killers, claiming 5% of the deaths.

General arteriosclerosis, diabetes mellitus and congenital malformations are the seventh, eighth and ninth causes of death, respectively.

Suicide is the tenth leading cause of death. It first ranked tenth in 1953. Deaths from suicide increase in number each year.

HINN Soybeans Pass the Test

The first soybean for the High Plains of Texas has passed the rigorous growing season of 1964 with flying colors. The HINN soybean, developed by the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, was released to farmers from Lubbock to the top of the Panhandle.

The HINN was developed to give Texas a better soybean as well as another high yielding cash crop, and was released to Texas Certified Seed Growers early in 1964. Over 6,000 bushels were turned over to farmers to get this new soybean into production throughout the irrigated belt of the Plains.

Desirable qualities of the HINN soybean are: generally a higher yield over other varieties grown in West Texas; good standability, that is, the beans will not fall down or lodge; has a high degree of shatter resistance; fruits high off the ground, about 4 to 6 inches, for better harvesting. All of these qualities of the HINN make it a soybean much sought after by the area farmers.

Texas Vegetable Crop Valuable

Value of commercial vegetable produced in Texas last year totaled $99,808,000 says Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. An increase of $245,000 over 1963. Leading crops in value of production for fresh market were carrots, onions, Irish potatoes, cantaloupes, watermelons, lettuce and cabbage.

Courtney Plays With WT Buffs

Max Courtney, six foot-nine inch former Skyrocket basketball star, joined the West Texas State Buffaloes at mid-term and will finish the season with the team.

Coach Jimmy Viramontes Buffs lost several members on grades or because of problems not related to basketball. He has only an 8-man roster with the addition of Courtney. After graduating from high school here, Courtney played two years at Clarendon Junior College, but has not played since transferring to WT.

He is a fine arts major. Courtney is married and he and his wife have two small children, Cindy, two, and Lynn Max, who was born December 26. They visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Courtney, here for the between-semester vacation.

Business Leaders Apply Sound Basis in Industry Search

A week's study of Collingsworth's industrial potential from both the state and national viewpoint has left county leaders with new confidence in their work for added payrolls.

Certainly the Area Redevelopment Administration thinks there is potential, or three of its top men would not have worked here last week. The State Industrial Commission thinks so, too, or it wouldn't have sent a man up this week.

These contacts have helped Wellington men get a working knowledge of how to seek industry on the outside or develop it from within the community.

A realistic approach will be applied to any prospect considered. This will include, among other things, visits by local men to markets to learn how the considered product compares with others on the market, as to quality, price, sales appeal, etc.

If there have been dealers of this item previously, they, too, will be contacted to learn their opinions and customer reactions. Distribution outlets will be studied. All this is in addition to the financial reports and personal reports on the firm seeking location here.

It boils down to this: There isn't going to be a new industry this week or next month. It may be several months. But when it does come, the men who are pushing industry for Wellington intend for it to have a sound base.

Juniors Eligible for National Merit Tests

By J. D. Wilson, County School Supervisor

All 1966 graduates of high schools who wish to enter the 1965-66 National Merit Scholarship competition should register now with the high school principal of their respective schools.

The National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test will be given in the school at 8:45 a.m., Tuesday, March 9, 1965, in the Wellington high school building.

Students who will complete secondary school in 1966 and enter college in the same calendar year are eligible for scholarship consideration in the 1965-66 Merit Program. Merit Scholarships are four year awards. The extent of a winner's financial need determines the amount of his stipend. To receive consideration, the student must take the test when it is offered in Wellington, which is the center for the test.

A student's performance on the qualifying test also provides him with information that is useful in career planning or in selecting courses in high school and college.

After the test, each participating student receives a Handbook for Merit Program Participants, prepared by Science Research Associates, the testing agency. The Handbook is designed to help students understand their individual test results, to make comparisons with scores of high school students across the country, and to use this information in making educational and vocational plans. Thus students can learn more about their educational strengths and weaknesses, whether or not they plan to attend college.

In addition to the awards made by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, about 230 business corporations, colleges, foundations, professional associations, trusts, and individuals give scholarships through the Merit Program.

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation was established in 1955 through grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York. An additional Ford Foundation grant to extend the Merit Program through 1970 was announced in 1962.

In the period 1956-64, about 9,100 students have received Merit Scholarship awards and thousands of other high-scoring students have been assisted in obtaining financial aid from other sources to attend the college or university of their choice.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

Most people quoted in the papers seem real happy about the new National Budget, except maybe some deep-dyed forwardists who think the deficit had ought to be bigger.

And my fiscal flop neighbor is proud to see how mankind has apparently been emancipated from the old theory that ends need to meet.

Says maybe in the Great Society we can all use the planned deficit feature in our personal budgets, so we can also just keep on going after we get to the end of our money.

I see where Congress is expected to get into high gear right away and start passing freely all the propositions the President requires.

My high-hep neighbor says it sure looks like these $30,000-a-year congressmen are going to turn out a heap more work than the old $22,500-a-year type. And this kind of puzzles him, because he has noted that, as a general rule, people can be hired a lot cheaper than this just to do as they are told.

My social underling neighbor notes the drive to greatness up our society, but he feels like the name Great Society sounds a little bit too strenuous.

Says the way he figures it, in the new social order it is aimed for the anti-effort folks to get it without working, so why work? And the effortful will get their work-juice taken away from them, so why work?

Which he claims is ample reason to change the title of this humanitarian project from the Great Society to a more fitting and restful name, such as the Why Work Society.

Reports are that Russia shot off another nuclear bomb the other day which radioactivated the air considerable, in spite of the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty wherein they promised not to do this if we would quit it.

My trustless neighbor says Washington seemed surprised at this development, but he wasn't because he has already learned not to trust people who have got a high welching record.

Says to quit all this nuclear fear, we need to put our head button-pusher in Moscow, and theirs in Washington. Nobody is going to push no button while he is sitting on the target.

The papers say there is a U. S. Senator now pitching for a law that Supreme Court appointees hereafter will have to have some experience in the judge business.

But my talent-free neighbor says experience does not always make a superior worker. He once hired a fellow to paint his barn who had 40 years experience doing it the wrong way.

He says further that it might be helpful in some cases, but is impractical, to not let anybody work at any important job like being a judge, or a President, or a parent, until after he has had some experience.

I note that city people are bothered considerably by two-legged predators, like muggers, rapists, etc., but when these are caught they often get turned loose again by rights-rabid judges.

My ranch-type neighbor says he has long been similarly bugged by four-legged coyotes, but figures they forfeit their civil rights when they aggress his calves, so he reforms them with a .30-30.

Says, though, any day now he expects there will be a law that he has got to quit dealing so firmly with these culturally deprived creatures, and have them psychoanalyzed and build them a pool hall.

Quails Continue Lead, Beat Norwood, Dodson

The Quail Quails continued to lead the district 11-B basketball race with wins over the Samnorwood Eagles and the Dodson Mustangs this past week. The Bobwhites lost to the Norwood girls and beat Dodson.

Quail vs. Samnorwood

The Bobwhites started off slow against the strong Eagles and were trailing by 8 points after the first quarter and by 13 at the half. The Eagles' speed really began to show in the second half as they pulled away from the hustling Quail girls.

Sue Breedlove played a real fine game for Quail and led the Bobwhite scoring with 28 points, followed by Lonetta Neeley and Shirley Horton with 8 each. The three starting Quail guards, Dianne Moseley, Mary Conner and Mary Lindsey played well and tried real hard.

Samnorwood's three outstanding forwards, Suzy Bentley, Kay Purkey and Jo Nell Breedling each scored in double figures with 22, 21 and 17 points respectively. Brenda Coleman scored 3 points also.

The first quarter of the boys' game was close but the Quails managed to pull away by 8 points as the period ended. The second quarter was all Quail as they built up a 17 point advantage over the hustling Eagles. The Quails were really rolling in the second half and pulled away from the never-give-up Norwood boys.

In this game, Dale Morris tied his own scoring record for one game by scoring 46 points. Ten of the 11 Quails that played scored as follows: Bruce Ward 16, Joe Harris 12, Smoke Mitchell 8, Tommy Baker 5, Don Morris and Paul Gollighugh 4 each, Royce Mitchell and Coy Stephens 3 each, and Reed Souder 2. Luther Needham played well but failed to score.

For Samnorwood, all ten of the Eagles got in on the action with 8 of them hitting the scoring column, led by David Kendrick with 20 points. Augustine Zermano had 17, Lloyd Stice 6, Dean Tate 5, Danny Tate 11, Stanley Oldham 2, and Nelson Dwyer and Paul Black 1 each. Acie Boyd and Alvin Lisle played but failed to score.

The Quails were real hot in this game and shot a high 59% from the field. Samnorwood shot a good 42% which will win a lot of games.

Quail vs. Dodson

The Quail girls played one of their best games of the year and pulled away early from the young, small Dodson girls. The 70 points scored by the Bobwhites was the most they had scored in two years.

Social Security Includes Clergy

Recently enacted legislation has provided clergymen with a new opportunity to obtain social security coverage. Hal Gelson, social security district manager in Amarillo made this news public today as part of a nation-wide program to inform clergymen of the new law. Gelson said that the term "clergymen" referred to duly ordained, commissioned, or licensed ministers, priests, rabbis, Christian Science practitioners, and members of religious orders who have not taken a vow of poverty.

For those clergymen who wish to elect social security coverage, Gelson explained that they (1) obtain a social security number, (2) file Form 2031 (a waiver certificate to elect social security coverage) with their District Director of Internal Revenue Service, and (3) file tax returns and pay social security taxes for 1962 and all later years.

Gelson further explained that the new law provides that in most cases these steps must be taken no later than April 15, 1965.

Clergymen desiring additional information before making a decision to elect social security coverage were invited by Gelson to contact the Amarillo Social Security District Office located at 1006 Adams Street.

know-how, for contacts, and the various other ramifications of securing information and help on materials, manpower and marketing.

Among the long-range ideas pitched out for consideration was a Small Business Investment Corporation, SBIC, with money put up locally to furnish local financing, matched by loans from the Small Business Administration, or another lending agency.

A marketing corporation that would handle the marketing of any number of locally made products, under the management of someone experienced in this work, was another of the suggestions, along with a building to be used as a trade mart to exhibit manufactured supplies.

Throughout the three days of work-meetings, it was emphasized that industry will not it will not come without long and hard work; and to begin with, it will probably be small.

Albright was asked to give his frank impression of the town, as he drove into Wellington and while he was here. "You have put your worst foot forward," he said concerning the appearance of the approaches to town. "It is not up to the standard of the rest of your beautiful city that people traveling through will not see." He urged a concentrated clean-up campaign. Empty buildings downtown can be used as display buildings by local merchants, he suggested. (This has been done already by merchants on the west side of the square.)

He praised the wide downtown streets, but added that four lanes of parked cars are too many. He suggested that one line be eliminated and off-square parking be provided. This visit by the three ARA representatives is the outgrowth of a lengthy period of friendly contact between local men and Morrison and Blanton, who suggested that Albright had much to offer in the way of setting up industrial expansion plans.

Sponsoring the visit were the Chamber of Commerce, the Builders Club and the industrial section of the Overall Economic Development Planning Committee.

Clean All Windows, Drivers Warned

One of the most dangerous acts by drivers during winter months is failure to completely clear ALL windows and windshields before driving.

It is essential that drivers remain alert and able to see what is around them clearly. The only way this can be done is by cleaning all windows and windshields before starting to drive. And, while you are at it, only takes a few seconds to clean off the headlights, turn-signals and tail lights as well.

When temperatures drop below the freezing point, drivers must guard against curtailed visibility caused by frosted windows and windshields.

To prevent frosted windshields and windows, idle your car long enough for it to warm up and for the defroster to become effective before starting to drive. If you must begin driving immediately before the car warms up, open a window so that moist air escapes.

The pecan is the state tree of Texas.
