ONE'S SOUL IS INTENSIFIED AT $10 PER IN NEW EUROPEAN CULT

If You Would Be a Gurdjieffinian, Go to Fountainbleau, Near Paris

"MISTS" SCATTERED

Society, a Communal One, Dances in Abandon To Create Super-Men

NEW YORK, April 24.—A new religious cult, founded upon the idea that "intensification of the soul" makes super-men and super-women, is acquiring a growing number of converts in bizarre circles in the east.

The prophet of the cult is one Gurdjieff, a mysterious Eurasion, adept in Eastern magic. His headquarters are in France, where his followers are said to number thousands. The American leader is A. E. Orage, who has been increasing the number of Gurdjieffins rapidly since the "prophet" himself visited the country last year.

The Gurdjieff system aims at an all-around and harmonious development of man. It revolves about the Institute Gurdjieff at Fontainbleau, near Paris.

The institute is a place where every one can be an artist or an artisan, and the materials with which he works are his own mental, emotional and instinctive energies.

Work to Eradicate Habits.

As most of the energy in modern life flows into mental activity, much physical activity is needed and many acute emotional conflicts are required to divert this energy into instinctive and emotional channels, Gurdjieff teaches.

The claim made by the Gurdjieff Institute is that, by the reactionary effect of harmonious movements on the psyche, man may hope to progress to that balanced development which has been arrested by the cramping of an unnatural and mechanical civilization.

But the process toward a balanced development is not confined to gymnastics and dancing at the institute and its American branch, in New York. Every kind of manual labor, within doors and out-of-doors, is performed by the students, both men and women doing all kinds of work. Combined with the physical work are difficult mental exercises; and the emotions are kept active by the natural reactions in each person to an environment and conditions that are in many ways the reversal of most of their fixed ideas and habits.

Gurdjieff's followers work systematically toward breaking all their habits, both good and bad, thus freeing their whole lives from the ordinary man's usual slavery to habits, and performing every act with all their attention.

Our Three Selves.

They live the communal life, just as the earliest Christian churches did but they do not regard their rhythmic exercises as rites or ceremonies. They regard communa life as necessary for producing in highly concentrated form all the friction, all the reactions, pleasant and unpleasant, that are met with in ordinary life. Indifference to these reactions is one of their goals.

"We are enveloped, all of us, by various fine, invisible films," says Orage, speaking the words of Gurdjieff. "The films contain the essence of our three selves. But two of these films become ossified, dormant, starved. They cease to function, for the great majority, after childhood. They become as encrusted, though they are spiritual, as if they were actual, tangible substances affected by wind and weather.

"That," he explains, "is why Gurdjieff puts his pupils to dance. They dance with freedom and abandon—justa s their souls dictate. And as they dance the two starved personalities of each stir and awaken.

They "Step Forth."

"They seep forth—these mists which are part of our three souls—too fine to be seen by the eye," he continues. "They mingle with other mists, also cast forth as the invisible emanations of stifled personalities. These crushed souls float on the air and mingle. They exercise. And when the dance dies and the emotions ebb the same emanations return to their possessors changed and strengthened by their intermingling.

"Thus the too intensely thinking man becomes a feeling man. His soul has been stirred by contact with feeling souls. And the little mad-cap actress who has seldom reasoned in her life learns to think because her soul in the dance has been influenced by the soul of the business man and has been tempered by his cold intellect."

Orage has classes in which he intensifies the soul for $10 a month. That the cult's teachings are finding favor in the highest circles is indicated by the fact that there is a class in the home of a well known author, and the luncheon class led by an editor of repute, as well as classes frequented by society leaders.

Wichita Boy A Preacher At 17 Yrs. of Age

REV. J. C. COOK
of Houston.

Who recently visited his parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Cook of this city, preaching both Sunday sermons at the Yale Avenue Evangelical church of which his father is pastor.

CURTIS COOK, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Cook of this city, who attended high school last year with other young people of Wichita Falls, is now a full fledged pastor. Rev. J. C. Cook of Oak Lawn Evangelical church in Houston, Texas, the youngest ordained minister in Texas.

AT 17 HE EXCELLED IN EXAMINATIONS.

Barely 17 years of age, young Cook stood the best examination of any preacher in Texas of the Evangelical denomination, passing all theological and literary examinations on August 14, 1924, with an average well above 90. He has studied for the ministry since he was twelve years old, his father states, and has always known what his life work was to be.

Prior to taking his examinations, the young man had served four months in the Oak Lawn church as assistant pastor to Rev. J. C. Bunse, and in August, when Rev. Bunse became a superannuate, the young minister received his ordination.

HIS WORK CENTERS ON AIDING YOUNG PEOPLE.

Ambitious for a gymnasium and club rooms for the boys and girls of his congregation, and community, he has secured lots adjoining the church for the early erection of a suitable building. A boy's club which was organized with five members has grown to 23 members, and a club for girls is being organized. The Sunday school which had an average attendance of 85 when Rev. Cook took charge, now has 145 members in attendance. So successful has the young man's recreational program proven, that the board of stewards has appropriated a large fund for a building and athletic equipment.

Rev. Cook conducted Houston's sunrise prayer service Easter morning among the united Christian Endeavor societies of the city and was instrumental in influencing many young people to offer their lives for Christian service.

15-YR-OLD BOY GIVEN OVATION FOR PIANO ART

TECHNIC'S MASTER

Program Said to Surpass Anything Youthful Artist Has Yet Offered

A literal ovation greeted Floyd Ard Jr., pianiste, when he appeared in recital at the Junior college Friday evening, presented by Ernest Katz in a program of such quality and difficulty as to do credit to a finished adult performer of many years study.

Young Ard, who passed his 15th birthday only February 19, and who had never had piano or musical training prior to his first lesson under Professor Katz four years ago, proved himself nothing short of a musical marvel in the mastery of his interpretations. The personality of the boy shone through his performances, giving his listeners the message of the marvelous compositions of the old masters, instead of the mechanical musical sound of his fingers playing the difficult music correctly.

Technique Brilliant

Master of his brilliant technique, his decisive shading of tone into a faint lovely quaver or a thundred of clear melody, the young artist used his wonderful skill to bring out all the beauty, the reality, of the selections on his program. He played with perfect ease, and gave one the sense that he played his offerings with understanding, with authority, with genius. Brilliant beyond understanding were the effects the young artist achieved with his two hands, the ability that lay back of them, and the great grand piano before him.

Prolonged applause at the close of the program by the large number of friends and music lovers of the city proclaimed approval to one of Wichita Falls' youngest and most promising artists. The program presented Friday night far surpasses anything the young pianist played at his first public appearance in 1923, or at his 1924 recital. His work last night excelled even his performance recently in Fort Worth, where he was a guest artist of the first district convention of Federated Music clubs.

Ard's program of exceptional quality follows:

I

Thirty-two Variations in C Minor ..... Beethoven

II

Prelude No. 1 ..... Chopin
Value in A Minor ..... "
Berceuse ..... " Etude in G Flat ..... "
Ballade in A Flat ..... "

III

Sonata Opus 53 (Waldstein) .... Beethoven
Allegro Con Brio ..... "
Adagio Molto ..... " Rondo ..... " Prestissimo ..... "

IV

Motley (Eighteenth Century) ..... Bauer
Arabesque ..... Leschetitsky
Polichinelle ..... Rachmaninoff
Caprice Espagnol ..... Moszkowsky

V

Waldesrauschen ..... Liszt
Rhapsodie Hongroise No. 10 ..... Liszt

Finishing his fifth year of study under Professor Katz at the close of next season, young Ard will be sent to New York City by his parents to continue his musical career.

WEST TEXAS IS SOAKED AGAIN EARLY FRIDAY

0.98 Inches Fall Over Wichita Falls And Vicinity

For the second day in succession, Wichita Falls and northwest Texas yesterday were drenched to the skin with a "million dollar rain."

Starting before daylight and descending with varying intensity all morning, the shower poured .98 inch over this vicinity between 5 and 11 o'clock. On two different occasions, once about 7 and again at 8:30 the clouds opened and water fell in sheets. These severe outbursts, however, were of short duration.

As was the case Thursday when the first real rain in months appeared, this city was on the edge of the rain belt. To the north and west the downpour was general, but to the east little or no moisture fell. Wichita Falls still stands as the line of demarkation between drouth and verdure.

ALTUS WATER SHORTAGE IS AVOIDED BY RAINS

ALTUS, Okla., April 24.—Altus and Jackson county received 2.14 inches of rainfall Thursday night and Friday morning and sixty-four hundredths inch Wednesday night. City reservoirs were filled and the water shortage threatening the city avoided.

NINE MONTHS' DROUTH BROKEN AT PADUCAH

PADUCAH, Texas, April 24.—A rain varying from one-half to two and one-half inches in different localities apparently pretty well covered this county last night. This breaks the nine months' drouth and enables the farmers to begin preparing the land for another crop.

SOUTHERN OKLAHOMA IS IN PATH OF LATE RAIN

WAURIKA, Okla., pril 24.—Three days and nights of high wind and terrific dust storm, the worst of the season, was followed this morning by a heavy rain lasting from nine o'clock until noon. The cloud came from the west with no wind and very little electricity. The rain is of inestimable crop value.

25 DEGREE DROP ALONG WITH RAIN FOR QUANAH

QUANAH, April 24.—A light shower during last night, a drop of 25 degrees in temperature, and heavy clouds this morning indicating more rain, will prove of much value to this section for the farmer. No planting has been done here on account of the dry weather, but it is expected the shower of last night will put enough moisture in the ground that planting will start.

BRIDGES ARE OUT AT PADUCAH, IS REPORT

The following reports of rains were gathered over market wires in Wichita Falls Friday:

Paducah, estimated 2 to 5 inches over county. Many bridges out. Rule 1-4 inch in addition to good rains previous day. Abilene .60 inch, good rains previous day. Memphis good showers. Wheeler "Not Guilty" Is Verdict of Montana Jury

Bank Robbery Confession Given

Birth of Daughter to Mrs. Wheeler in Washington Announced, Also

GREAT FALLS, Mont., April 24.—(AP)—After only two hours deliberation, a federal jury tonight found Senator B. K. Wheeler of Montana not guilty of a charge of appearing before government departments in behalf of a client, after his election to the senate.

The accused senator received two pieces of good news simultaneously—his acquittal and the birth to Mrs. Wheeler of a daughter in Washington.

He Only Smiles.

Senator Wheeler only smiled when the verdict was announced. Judge Frank S. Dietrich, before the verdict was read, warned spectators against any demonstration.

Senator Wheeler said he would issue a statement to the press later. His chief counsel, Senator Thomas J. Walsh, declared, however, that he had regarded the case merely as an off shot of the Teapot Dome investigation which he started nearly two years ago and said he had felt it his duty to appear as counsel for his accused colleague.

Out Two Hours.

Exactly two hours and thirteen minutes elapsed between the time the jury retired to deliberate and the time the verdict was returned. Out of this time the jury took one hour to dine. The actual time for deliberation was but a few minutes, according to court attaches.

But one ballot was taken. In spite of Judge Dietrich's order against demonstrations there was a rush toward the bench when the verdict was read. Friends of Senator Wheeler crowed about him and offered double congratulations—on the birth of a daughter and acquittal.

Senator Wheeler, a storm center of national politics was indicted by a federal grand jury April 8, 1924, for illegally appearing before the department of the interior in behalf of his client, Gordon Campbell, Montana oil promoter. He was specifically charged with accepting a fee of $4,000 for prosecuting Campbell's government oil prospecting permit claims after being elected to the senate. This the indictment charged, was in violation of section 113 of the United States penal code.

Long Arm of Oklahoma's Law Encircling Members Of Addington Bank Theft

WAURIKA, Okla., April 24. — Slowly, but surely, with methodical precision, the long arm of Oklahoma law is reaching out to encircle the members of the gang of men and women who robbed the Addington bank last summer.

Here in Waurika now is Ernest Hansley who has made a detailed confession of the part he played in the job which netted the robbers almost $3,000.

One Denies the Charge.

Of all who are charged with complicity in the affair, there yet remains Walter O'Quinn, held in jail here in default of $20,000 bond and who the law says is the master mind in the affair, to be proven guilty. He has so far stoutly denied all charges.

In an interview Hensley states he is 22, was born in Osage county and had lived there practically all of his life. He worked in oil fields, coming to Duncan where he heard of the Delmont rooming house which was operated by O'Quinn and Lucy Callis. He went there to visit some friends he confesses, and while there was approached by O'Quinn as to "knocking off" the Addington job. He agreed to help. He drove the car with Happy Bonannon and Eddie Shoqueete, waiting for them out in front. Took them to Monument Hill two miles east where they were transferred to Lucy Callis' and Henry Cornett's car. He drove to Little Mud, ditched the car and was in hiding for two nights and one day and finally walked into Duncan.

Tanlac Versus Peruna Will Inspire Contest In Methodist League Race

EPWORTH League No. 1 of First Methodist church is entering into a unique work this week, in what is called "Spring Pep-O-Tone." A picnic supper was held Monday night in Scotland park at which time more than 100 young people were present and before the above topic is completed another entertainment is planned.

In order to create rivalry and arouse competition, the membership of the league has been divided with instructions that they each partake of those well known and effective spring tonics, Tanlac and Peruna. Two young men have been given the degree of doctor of medicine to lead the followers of each brand of medicine, Harold White (D. M.) prescribing Tanlac and W. R. (Bill) McClure (D. M.) advocating the use of Peruna. Results are to be judged by new members obtained, visitors brought to league and Epworth Era subscriptions sold, each of these having a certain weight.

It is stated that nurses and interns will assist the doctors of each division with counsel and diagnosis of the more difficult cases, and as this "Pep-O-Tone" is reported to be very effective, if properly administered, it is hoped by the workers that all patients will enter into the spirit of the work. Old members and friends are requested to rally and assist in securing new members and friends.

All young people are invited to the service next Sunday evening at 6:30 when a program dealing with the American Indian will be given.

Nervous Breakdown Puts Mrs. Babe Ruth In Same Hospital With Husband

NEW YORK, April 24. — Mrs. Herman "Babe" Ruth suffered a complete nervous breakdown in the entrance to St. Vincent's hospital this afternoon while on her way to pay her daily visit to her husband who is a patient there.

Mrs. Ruth was taken to a room in the same wing of the hospital in which her husband is confined, by order of Dr. John King, physician for the Yankees, who had been in constant attendance on her husband.

He Expresses Anxiety.

She was accompanied to the hospital by a Mrs. White. At the entrance to the hospital they met Dr. King who expressed anxiety as to Mrs. Ruth's state of health. While talking to Dr. King, Mrs. Ruth became faint. She was placed in a wheeled chair and carried to a room on the second floor.

An examination showed she had suffered a nervous breakdown and was in need of a week's complete rest.

A Constant Attendant.

Since the "Babe's" admission to St. Vincents hospital his wife had been almost constantly with him. Both Ruth and his wife probably will be discharged as patients about the same time, it was said.

Worry about her husband's condition caused Mrs. Ruth's breakdown, the doctors said.

Continued improvement in Ruth's condition was reported by Dr. King today.

LONG ARM

and then back to the Osage country where he was busy spending his $546 share. Arrested at Burbank and taken to Newirk jail the latter part of 1924 he dug out of jail, escaped and was free until his arrest two weeks ago.

The prisoner said he felt no uneasiness until A. K. Gossom of Addington, bank cashier visited the jail at Newkirk to see if he recognized him.

When Hensley was arrested at Burbank it was in connection with the Kildare bank robbery but he was able to establish an alibi through persons knowing that he was in Nevada at the time, a Nevada sheriff furnishing the proof.

Hensley said he confessed as soon as arrested this last time although he could have proven an alibi, had it not been for the fact that the rest of the gang had squealed. He accuses O'Quinn of turning Happy Bohannon in to officers at Oklahoma City and collecting a reward. He also says O'Quinn planned another robbery at which time the state men were to be planted there and both Happy and Ernest would be killed, as O'Quinn planned to tip the story off.

"My Own Fault."

Asked if he had ever been in trouble before meeting O'Quinn, Hensley said positively that he had not. However he did not blame O'Quinn "as I was past 21 years of age, knew I was doing wrong, and was responsible for my own actions."

In Hensley's eyes O'Quinn committed the unpardonable sin when he double-crossed the gang, as he is accused of doing, and turned Happy in to the officers.

ABILENE—Another big rain further relieving drouth conditions fell here and in this section this morning. Three quarters of an inch of rain fell within the space of a few minutes. The rain fall here for the past two days is now well over an inch. Other places reporting rains included Ballinger, Winters, Stamford and Anson.

STANTON—Another rain of more than two inches fell in Martin county early Friday morning, making the second big rain within 24 hours. Heavy trains have been suspended and slow orders are out on all trains on account of soft tracks in this county, caused by the heavy rains.

LAMESA—Dawson county was covered by a rain of from one to two and a half inches Thursday.

POST—Rain, which varied from two to four inches, fell over Garza county Thursday night, breaking a dry spell of six months and bringing relief to stockmen and farmers.

STAMFORD—Dry weather here has been broken by a two-inch rain. All surrounding territory received a good rain. Most farmers already have planted crops.

BROWNWOOD—Light showers totaling one-tenth of an inch fell here today.

GAINESVILLE—Rain amounting to one-fourth of an inch fell in this vicinity this afternoon. This is the first rain of any significance to fall here in some time.

Kennemere to Play Polo Versus Cowboys

There is a bug under a chip somewhere according to local members of the Kennemere polo club who are billed to meet a picked team of cowboy polo players on the battlefield of Tom L. Burnett's Triangle ranch rodeo.

The polo games will take place on May 1 and 2, the second and third days of the rodeo and will precede the rodeo performance, and members of the local club claim that the cowboys have gone out of their range in selecting players for their team, some one let out the story that the cowboys were making overtures to Jim Mimick of Oklahoma City one of the greatest polo players of this country to enter the contest on the side of the cowboys, but a wire from Mimick is to the effect that while he would in all probability witness the match it would be impossible for him to play with either side owing to a broken collarbone.

However the captain of the cowboys team Hugh Strickland, denies that it is necessary to import players for the cowboys to be able to beat the Kennemere club, the club boys think diffrently, there is a difference of opinions ,the same that makes horse races is the verdict of one of the local players.

HIT BY LIGHTNING; LIVES.

Bomarton Woman Will Recover From Severe Shock Sustained Friday.

BOMARTON, April 24.—Mrs. I. D. Deel of this city is recovering slowly from a severe shock she suffered Thursday morning when she was struck by lightning. Mrs. Deel was cooking breakfast when the bolt of lightning struck the house. Her dress was torn completely off and her left shoe ripped from her foot. While she is not entirely out of danger, the attending physicians believe she will recover.

A WISE OLD MAN.

Chauncey M. DePew celebrates his 91st birthday on April 26. He contributed a glowing article to an American weekly. He has worked practically every day of his life, eight hours a day and more. For the last 30 years he has made it a point to eat sparingly and to sleep at least 7 1-2 hours a day.

He said drinking was never really the curse of America. Eating was and is. He found that he ate too much when he was this side of 60. He cut out red meat and hasn't touched it for thirty years. The only meat the he has eaten has been poultry.

At 65 he had the habit of smoking 25 cigars a day. Off went the habit in that year and he has never smoked since. He is not an anti-drink advocate. He is not an anti-tobacco advocate. He believes that every human organism is capable of absorbing so much of a pleasurable poison and not more.

Hence he cut out red meats at 60. He cut out tobacco at 65. He had always enjoyed wine until he was 88, but never relished the real hard stuff. At 88 he discovered that wine interferred with health and efficiency. Reluctantly but decisively he cut out the wine and this at 88 mind you.

A very unique individual is this grand old man of New York, who has worked practically every day of his life eight hours a day and more. He hasn't become a total abstainer at 91. He cut out the wine at 88 and this is his conclusion, "now I take a glass when a cold threatens and I am extremely susceptial to colds, but apart from that I am a total abstainer."

The verdict of Chauncy M. DePew will not appeal to the ultra prohibitionist; "Drinking was never really the curse of America. Eating was and is."

Chauncy M. DePew has no use for gluttons. He eats to live. He drank to live until he was 88. He smoked to live until he was 65. Now he is hail and hearty and happy and hopes to pass his 100th mile post.

Flowers for the living. Here is hoping that he may pass it.

ELEVENTH COMMANDMENT FOR CHILDREN

The childrens bureau of the department of labor is circulating ten commandments to be observed in bringing up a child:

Don't be oversolicitious. "Children may become self-centered and develop imaginary complaints because illness is looked for."

Dont "baby" your children too much. "The child who is closely tied to his mother's apron strings is deprived of the chance of learning how to live with his neighbors."

Don't try to give your children everything they happen to demand.

Don't bribe. "So often is heard, 'Now, Johnny, be a good boy and mother will give you a penny.' Soon Johnny will be demanding two or three pennies."

Don't cheat. "Frequently parents lie to keep a child quiet or gain a desired end. Suddenly they waken to the fact their child has no regard for the truth and wonder why."

Don't make meaningless threats.

Don't talk about or laugh at children in their presence, as self-consciousness is harmful and quickly developed.

Don't be cold and repelling. "A parent too busy to bother with a little child's nonsense will never be bothered by his real problems."

Don't be discourteous. "Children have their own plans, which are frequently utterly disregarded by adults. If you must interfere show consideration.'

Don't disagree over discipline before the child. Settle differences in private.

Dr. D. A. Thom, director of the Boston Habit Clinics for Children, who is responsible for the commandments, is to be commended; but it seems to me that he has made an important omission.

There should be an eleventh commandment: Teach your children to respect their bodies. Help them understand from infancy how important it is to care for it properly. Inculcate in them the wonder of its performances.

Instruct them that the body is a machine of the nature of an army—of this army each cell is a soldier, an organ brigade, the central nervous system headquarters and field telegraph, the alimentary and circulatory system, the supply corps. Losses are made good by recruits born in camp, and the life of the individual is a campaign, conducted successfully for a number of years, but with certain defeat in the long run.

WHERE TEXAS SHOULD LEAD.

Intensive cultivation of irrigated areas in southwest Texas is rapidly putting this state abreast of California and Florida in the vegetable trade. New land is being brought under irrigation and methods of cultivation are steadily improving. Heretofore our farmers have been engaged chiefly in raising the great staples, such as cotton, corn and wheat. But there is no reason why they should not excel all others in vegetable cultivation.

The vegetable trade of the United States is shared by a score of countries, both near and far. At present, Cuba and Canada are our best customers, with Panama, Mexico and Central American countries also taking our products. Our competitors are scattered throughout the world. In Europe, France and the Netherlands send us a large proportion of our imports; in South America, Venezuela and Chile are large shippers to this country; nearer at our doors, Mexico and Bermuda are contesting for the American market. Cuba is becoming an exporter as well as an importer. Our home producers do not supply our home market, our imports exceeding exports in the proportion of 3 to 2. Texas' geographical position and fertile soil should make it the greatest vegetable producing state. California and Florida are great fruit states, but the vegetables which take the lead in world trade are not tropical or subtropical products. They are such as Texans have already shown considerable ability in raising. Potatoes headed the export list of 1924, amounting to 3,861,540 pounds valued at $4,192,361. Dried beans followed, 605,285 pounds valued at $2,406,327, and onions came next, 683,969 pounds estimated at $964,579.

THE THREE ORANGES.

When a juggler keeps three oranges going he has to watch his work or he will drop one of them to the ground.

The three oranges that all must keep in the air are wife, work and religion.

When we neglect what we are doing the tendency is to drop one or more of these.

When a man becomes too occupied with his work and neglects his wife his home is in danger.

When his entire attention is given to his wife and his work, and his religion is neglected, he is apt to lose his moral background. No substitute for morals other than religion has ever been discovered.

Our attention to any one of these oranges tends to imperil the others.

Democracy is hard and monarchy is easy simply because with all liberty comes increased peril. I think it was Elihu Root who said that democracy is always in danger.

Each of the three things mentioned, wife, work and religion, is necessary to a man and it is necessary that he give to each one his personal attention.

The experiment has been extensively tried, especially in the Orient, of having a wife selected for one by parents or relatives. Much criticism against this scheme has been based upon the fact that a certain amount of romance is needed in every man's life. If he does not find it in his wife he will seek for it elsewhere. Hence the experiment of marriage arranged by someone other than the individual tends to increase the irregularity of living. When romance is shut out of the door it comes in by the window.

In the same way a man's usable religion is that which he gains from his own experience. It seems much easier to have somebody else tell you what to do and to think, but all religion that is founded upon what somebody else tells you instead of what you discover yourself has a tendency to become hard and formal.

There are some people who are fortunately endowed and who do not have to work. That is one orange they do not have to keep in the air. The absence of work, however, is hardly beneficial to the favored classes.

It is good for a man to attend to these three things himself. The neglect of any one of them tends to imperil the safety of the others and of the individual himself.

HE IS A LAWYER NOW.

Governor William J. Fields of Kentucky has passed a bar examination and will hang out his shingle as a lawyer. He was born fifty years ago. He began his legal education years ago when driving a pair of mules over mountain roads in his duty as drummer he studied a law book during leisure moments.

He has been a farmer, real estate dealer, commercial traveler, during his thirteen years in congress he made law his hobby and when he was elected governor of Kentucky he devoted his spare moments to his favorite study. Now he is a full pledged barrister.

It must be true that a mind that craves higher education is willing to make many sacrifices to obtain it. Governor Fields began without money. He began without wealthy backing. He improved each shining hour. He read books while driving mules.

Go thou and do likewise.

HOW THE WORLD GROWS.

According to the National City bank of New York, world international trade in 1924 was about $58,000,000,000 in stated value, compared with $40,000,000,000 in 1913, the year preceding the world war, and $63,000,000,000 in 1918, the closing year of the war.

In 1918 an American dollar had a purchasing power of 48c. In 1913 it had a purchasing power of 100c. In 1924 it had a purchasing power of 85c. Peak prices and inflated values were the order of the day in 1918.

It is different now.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE.

The World That Was.

Perhaps, as the darkey moans in the song: "the old home ain't what it used to be."

But whatever it is or wherever it is, it is probably a good deal better than it used to be.

Read history if you want to understand the difference between the world that is and the world that was.

It was not so long ago that all men not born to high positions were absolutely dependent on the will or whim of those that were.

Europe was an armed camp, in which the men higher up did the scheming and planning, and the men lower down did the actual fighting.

There was not such a thing as individual liberty or independence.

Men were punished for what they believed, if their beliefs did not happen to be the same as those who happened to be in power—whether one faith or another.

Their goods were not their own, they could not put their children into any line of work that they thought was best for them—indeed until their grown sons had risked their lives for five or ten years fighting in quarrels in which they had no personal interest these children could not engage in any business at all, save between the numerous wars.

The world that was had none of the inventions which make for comfort and convenience and right living.

It had no proper knowledge of diet, and no adequate knowledge of medicine.

Its laws were made by one class for their own benefit, and it fell heavily on the other class.

Read the story of Jeffrey, the hanging judge, who waved aside the verdict of the juries and himself tried and convicted the unfortunates who were brought before him.

Read the stories of the Italian nobles who ravaged the country in the course of their quarrels with each other, sacrificing countless lives while fulfilling their own personal vengeance.

Then think about the world as you find it, with its modern laws, its modern science, its modern comforts, and you will no longer think fondly of the dear departed days of long ago.

It is not yet a perfect world, but it is a far better world than your grandfather found it, and it is a far more interesting world, with greater opportunities for success, and more comfort and ease by the way.

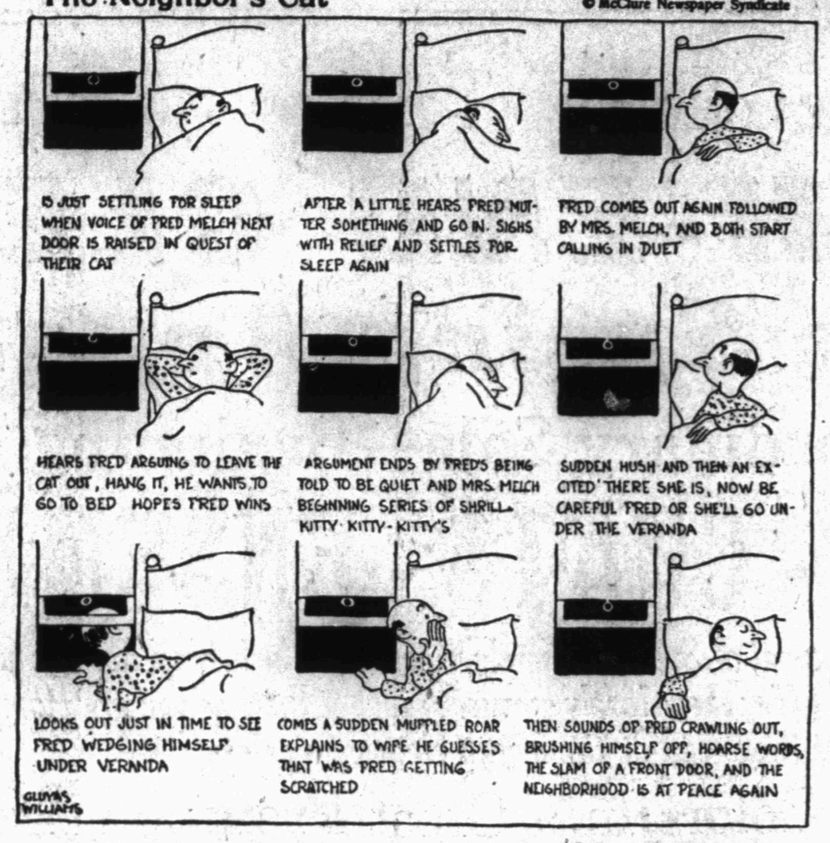

There is romance in history and there is an attractiveness in the old chivalry, but men rode forth more often to kill each other than they did to avenge wrongs or make the world better.

Children who have just come into the world will see a still greater improvement, but sufficient for us that we are in the world that is and well out of the world that was.

Deaf and Dumb Cowboy Artist Pleads In Vain To Ride Bucking Brahma

W. F. SCOTT cowboy artist engaged by Tom L. Burnett to paint bucking horse signs and pictures on the show windows of the various business buildings throughout this section of the country advertising the Triangle Ranch Rodeo which will be staged near Iowa Park, April 30, May 1-2-3, and who is called "Dummy" from the fact that he is practically deaf and dumb, aspires to be one of the four experts who will draw places for a chance at the riding of the four famous bucking Brahma known as the "Bovolupus" and for the riding of which Burnett has hung up a big special purse but to all Dummy's appeals, Burnett says "no."

Only the Four Best.

Scott whom it might be said is just emerging from the amateur ranks of steer riding will be permitted to enter the regular steer riding contest if he chooses, but according to Burnett only those who can show the best record of steer riding will be allowed in the group from which the four contests for Bovolupus will be selected. Mr. Burnett is of the opinion that owing to the great bucking prowess of the Bovolupus together with the fact that he is very vicious andusually turns upon his fallen victim in an effort to gore out his life this coupled with the fact that Scott cannot hear and therefore could not carry out yelled instructions in an emergency, that it would be next to an act of accessory to suicide to allow him to attempt to ride the famous bucking animal that has already thrown more than half a hundred of the best riders in the sport.

Used Scratch Pads.

Dummy consumed several scratch pads pleading his cause in writing to Mr. Burnett, finally becoming somewhat angered and making his pencil fly like wild fire, but Burnett remained firm in his decision that only those possessing all their faculties shall have a chance to court the great danger attending an attempted ride on the vicious Brahma.

Irrigation

FLOODING.

Flooding is the oldest system of irrigation and might be called the natural system. It was the attempts of men to imitate the natural action of such rivers as the Nile in Egypt which led to irrigation as we know it now.

While flood irrigation is the natural method it can hardly be called the best. There are many other systems which give better results, do not injure the plants or the soil, and are more economical in the amount of water they use.

There are certain crops which it is almost impossible to irrigate by any other means than flooding. Alfalfa, clover and other hay crops are examples.

Wherever it is possible to distribute water through rows, corrugations, or furrows it is always advisable to do so rather than to attempt to flood.

Flooding immediately closes up the pores of the soil, or rather the air spaces which exist between the grains which form the soil. It exposes a great area of water to the action of the wind and the direct rays of the sun with the consequent losses by evaporation.

There is also a danger to some crops from flooding on account of scalding. When the water gets up around the stems of the plant it may become heated to such a degree that the bark of the plant becomes cooked. This cooking of the bark kills or injures the plant.

In row irrigation only the ditches are wet with the water. The rows between ditches remain dry and retain the dust mulch which prevents evaporation. Where the whole surface is covered with water then as soon as the water is gone it all begins to evaporate the water it has absorbed.

For best results, flooding should never be resorted to when any other method is applicable.

What Today Means To You

By MARY BLAKE

Taurus

Today's planetary aspects are in no way unfavorable, nor are they unduly encouraging. They do not mean very much for business enterprise, but they signify a great deal for social intercourse and family relationship. In the evening, there are one or two adverse influences, which, in order to counteract them, demand a restraint and a determination not to act on the impulse of the moment. These are, however, of a fleeting character and are of not long enough duration to have much importance attached.

A child born today will be subject to the usual ailments of infancy, but its recuperative powers and its inherent strength of constitution, will not permit it to suffer any ill or lasting effects from such ailments. Its disposition will be light-hearted and somewhat callous. In character it will be rather proud, and impervious to criticism. It will have a special delight in getting its own way, even more so than the average person, and will not be too careful of other people's feelings or comfort in securing the end it may have in view. It will be quite fond of study, and will shine both in school and also on the playground. It will have many loyal friends and constant admirers, and is assured of a large degree of material success.

If today is your birthday, you are more mechanically than mentally inclined. You find your greatest delight in working with your hands, and have proved yourself both clever and skilfull. You have estranged many by your delight in calling a spade a spade, and your absolute regard for truth and dislike of hypocrisy. You have very strong convictions, and never hesitate in expressing them, and you evidently do not believe in "catching flies with molasses," but are a firm adherent of trying to get them with vinegar. Your nature is a very jealous one, and even though all those who love deeply as you do are naturally jealous, this sense in you is developed to an abnormal degree and for that reason you do not get the happiness out of your life that should be your share nor do you give the happiness to others who love you that they have the right to expect.

The GILDED ROSE

by May Christie

ROSILYN PAGE, twenty-year-old daughter of an avaricious inn keeper, becomes dissatisfied with her life of drudgery. Her restlessness is enhanced by a secret admiration and "hero worship" for

LANDIS RIDGEWAY, good looking, idle son of a once-wealthy family, who has been a frequent guest at the inn on the marshes of Long Island. Ridgeway's name had been coupled with that of LYDIA HOLBROOK, a beautiful but cold and calculating woman in Landis' fast set and it is of her that Rosilyn is thinking with secret envy when Ridgeway unexpectedly comes upon her out on the marshes where she has gone for a breath of air after another day of hard and unappreciated work. The cynical Ridgeway is amused at Rosilyn's serious outlook on life.

During their talk Landis tells Rosilyn of a deep and sincere love that he has had to put aside. Her ready sympathy stirs him and he spontaneously kisses her, thus arousing unintentionally all the latent emotion in the girl's heart. They return to the inn to find that Rosilyn's father has had a stroke which, the doctor declares, if he recovers will leave him both paralyzed and insane. Terrified Rosilyn, goes to her room where she overhears a telephone conversation between Landis Ridgeway and Lydia Harbrook.

Later that night Rosilyn is startled by imperious knocking at the door. She admits Lydia Harbrook who insists on seeing Ridgeway. He however tells her that the affair between them is over and done with.

CHAPTED VI
Lydia's Errand

He gave a cryptic, brilliant smile, his teeth a strong flash of white. "Like that!" he said, and pointed to the cigarette among the ashes. "Out for good—finished! D'you understand.

"I don't believe it. You are lying. You still care for me." She stamped her small, booted foot imperiously, her head held high and two spots of vivid rose ablaze on either cheek.

"Hush! This is a house of sickness, practically a house of mourning. Don you hold nothing sacred to your moods?" He lifted her gloves from the table. "Come, Lydia. Bring the stupid little melodrama to a close." He glanced at the grandfather clock ticking the moments away. "Good heavens! it's past eleven."

"I don not care," she cried, defiant. "I do not care if it were midnight, or dawn, or if the world could see me!" Her eyes met his, as Greek meets Greek. Indeed, to the aching-harted girl above there was something physically splendid about they pair of them, magnificently matched, like a man and a maid on a fresco she had seen somewhere.

He bowed mockingly.

"I quite believe you do not care. That, my dear, is your long suit—your specialty! But why risk your reputation, all for nothing?

She took a step towards him, and, in a breathless whisper, came the words:

"It isn't all for nothing. It's because—Landis—I care—I've always cared—I didn't know how much until—tonight over the telephone—and now!"

For a magic moment forget-me-not blue eyes looked into brown.

Brown eyes gazed deeply, yearningly, and praying that the dream were true.

"You cannot mean it, Lydia, after what you told me! It's all damned nonsense, this—this scene between us! You—you always loved the limelight. I'm the audience. God help me—and you the actress, always on the stage."

She put her two hands on his shoulders.

"Landis—for pity's sake—I love you—Landis!"

He tried to push her off.

"I could never believe in you again—after the decision. Money first, Love last, and Devil take the hindmost!"

"I didn't say it, Landis!" Her voice was piteous and imploring. "You make me seem so utterly contemptible! You're cruel!"

"Cruel? A mere infant in the art compared to you!" He gave a twisted smile. "Lydia, my dear, I know the whole gamut of your wiles. The swift change from grave to gay the light and shade of play mood on mood, the infinite' var fo you that makes you seem twenty women rolled in one, each of them enchanting, and a lies to bind me tighter. You were a new miracle to me each time' I met you, till I found—

"Yes? Go on! Don't mind me!" she breathed.

The man's eyes were full of bitter disillusionment.

"It was all play-acting . . . studied. There was nothing real, spontaneous, behind it, except the urge for conquest. Why, even now"—again the twisted smile—"when your mind is set on the Highest Bidder and you've no more use for men than for the boy who shot himself in Paris last year for love of you, poor devil!—you can't resist the temptation to come over here and see, if I'll react to the same old hokul—hokum, Lydia! Do you hear that?"

Before she could answer, he went on:

"My brain's so clear of cobwebs that I know almost to a minute what particular 'mood' you'll use to obtain the desired reaction. I can see the Delilah mood appearing now. You're an artist, Lydia. Go to it! But tell me, aren't you ever afraid that Samson might pull down about your ears that worldly little house of yours you've set so carefully in order?"

"You want to punish me?" she whispered, her hands before her eyes. Then, before he could stop her, she was in his arms, holding him as though she'd never let him go. "You can kill me—but I love you, Landis! I love you! I—there never could be anyone—but you! When we quarrelled, it was like tearing out my very heart. You believe that, don't you? I—you are part of me—mine—no one else's. She was raining kisses on his old shooting-jacket, on his collar, straining up to kiss his face.

Rosilyn, thunderstruck and watching from above, could see him tremble.

"Do you mean that, Lydia? Do you mean that there will be no one else for you—but men—and only me?" The dark eyes flamed into hope. "You said—about the money—someone with millions is crazy over you—and I am poor—"

She dragged her head down, pressing her red lips to his and whispering something. With a shudder he recoiled flinging her off.

"What's that you say? You intend to marry him? Loving me—"

"Sweetheart, it wont make any difference, except that you and I can see each other oftener—more freely—don't you understand?" Her voice was very low and crooning. "Everything can be arranged . . ."

He took a step back as though she had struck him, catching for support at a low oak beam beside the fire. Surely just such a look had Samson when he wrenched at the pillar to destroy the temptress, and himself.

Then, straightening his square jaw even squarer: "Lydia," he said, and though his eyes were all burned-out, he held his head high: "Lydia—understand—there's nothing in heaven or hell so dead as a dead love!"

At dawn the soul of Rosilyn's father went to its account.

The day brought curious neighbors, simple folk who had never cared for the hard-hearted innkeeper, but who were sorry for his daughter.

The sportsmen departed, all save Landis Ridgeway. For a reason that he could not fathom—unless, subconsciously, he realized a kinship in their mutual wretchedness — he stayed on, to render Rosilyn what help he might.

A farmer's wife stayed too.

On the third day was the funeral, and thereafter the village attorney, in company with Landis, who was in the same profession, went through the dead man's papers.

Writer Discusses Water Situation In Heavy Oil Pool

Wells Range From All Salt To Fraction of One Per Cent

62 WELLS SURVEYED

Salt Water Menace Turns Out a Blessing Elsewhere

By D. H. BANCROFT.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 25.—Water in an oil field is like water on a fire; it takes much of the enthusiasm out of it. There has been more or less talk in Shreveport and other oil centers of the salt water menace in the Smackover district, particularly with reference to the new deep sand, but the menace is more to the future of the field than to its production today, as figures to be shown will indicate. Again, while salt water is never welcome to the producer, the present is one case where, taking the field as a whole, it may prove more of an advantage than a detriment—to the pipelines at any rate.

The figures shown herein cover an average day's performance of 71 wells in the deep sand area whose production totals 196,015 barrels. All of these wells are making salt fater in various amounts, from 100 per cent salt to a fraction of one per cent. Nine of these 71 wells, including some of the recent big producers, have bridged over, stopped flowing altogether and their performance when cleaned out is problematical. They may make more water than would otherwise have been the case, and on the other hand they may come back stronger than before, as others have done.

21,561 Barrels Salt Water.

The 62 wells actually producing are averaging approximately 11 per cent, or 21,561 barrels of salt water and about three per cent sediment; so, the "salt water menace" is not so bad just now, though it will continue to grow as a menace, in the field the longer it exists unless some sort of remedial measures are taken, if such is possible.

These wells are scattered from the center of the deep sand to the fringe of the proven area and run from 2,400 to 2,480 feet in depth, with one at 2,503 feet; one of them, an 8,000-barrel producer, is 90 per cent salt; one 15,000-barrel well is making 45 per cent water; two of 1,000 barrels are running only 20 per cent oil; numerous others are making water in amounts ranging from one to 10, 12 and 15 per cent and others, still more numerous, are making less than one percent, on production ranging from 100 to 2,500 barrels.

Pipelines Won't Take Oil.

This 20,000-odd barrels of salt water, from the pipeline point of view might be considered as a small measure of relief. Though only one day's shipment for most of the lines serving Smackover and a small item in the face of daily production, runs, averaging 159,400 barrels at the time these figures were compiled, it relieves the carriers just that much, as all this contaminated oil must be held in storage or treated to remove the water leaving them free to handle that much more pipeline oil. The owners of the wells producing cut oil are the ones who suffer, for there is little storage available, even for wells pinched in to the maximum margin of safety, and pits and steel tankage adequate to cope with the more than 100 per cent increase in production developed in Smackover in three weeks' time cannot be built overnight.

38 Feet of Pay Sand.

While the average sand record of the deep producers shows they have been drilled 10 to 12 feet in, at least one well in the deep pay has gone considerably further, having 38 feet of pay and the size of the recent completions indicates a very thick strata of sand, therefore it is argued that this water is not coming from the bottom but is due to bad casing seats. Several wells in which a third string has been set or other remedial measures taken, have stopped making water. Another reason for the opinion that the water is not coming from having gone too far into the pay is that until three crater wells developed in 9-16-15 and another well known to have been lost due to having drilled too deep in the 2,200-2,300-foot pay, began flooding the upper sand, the salt water bogey did not appear in appreciable degree in the deeper producers.

Water and Oil in Same Sand.

The crater wells are beyond cure and about all that can be done with new work in the future is to be sure of casing seats and coring before drilling very far into the pay.

On theother hand there is more or less opinion that the deep pay is much like Cotton Valley, water and oil present in the same sand.

But whatever the reason may be, the showing made by the 62 wells studied shows the situation not so bad by far as it could be, though holding out a warning of the serious consequences to follow unless the utmost care is taken in casing and completing future wells and repairing those already completed where repairs are possible.

Navarro, Wilson

The Navarro Oil company bailed salt water in its sand at 1,490-92 feet, section 112, ATNCL, southeast of the first Waite Phillips pool, northwest Archer county, and is going deeper.

Tonkawa Silicious Lime Makes a Well

TULSA, Okla., April 24.—After so long trying a well has been completed in the silicious lime that underlies the Wilcox sand in the deep pay stratums at Tonkawa. While not a gusher, it is a good well and may be the forerunner of deeper development as the deep sand wells succumb to water and a low fluid-level.

Comar Oil company No. 14-W Gaume, in the southwest corner of the northeast of the southwest of the northeast of 2-24-1w, had the silicious lime at 4,300 to 4,320 feet, and it swabbed 186 barrels. It is to be deepened. This well missed the Wilcox sand entirely.

The Tonkawa field for the past week did 73,099 barrels a day from 760 wells, a net decrease of 772 barrels and the same number of wells the previous week. The 96 deep sand wells made 53,254 barrels a day.

Atlantic, Parrish

The Atlantic Oil Producing company has a good well in its No. 7-A, Parrish ,in the southwest forty acres of the southeast quarter of section 26, H&TCRRCO survey, abstract 1197, north Archer county. Sand topped at 1,561½ feet had been drilled seven feet late yesterday and the hole had filled up 700 feet while the sand was being drilled. Another core was being taken at the time. Casing had been set at 1,557 feet.

Starting a New Home.

When we cook there are certain principles which if strictly followed will insure perfect results, for in scientific cooking there is no guess work. In preparing foods there should be no waste.

Starches should be given a long slow cooking. Proteins kept below the boiling point and fats at a temperature below the decomposing point.

A new housekeeper starts her housekeeping with these points in mind, and even the simplest meal can be made most tempting and tasty. It is a simple thing for a person to serve one food hot, but it appears to be quite a problem for many housewives to serve everything hot at the same time. Very often one or two articles of food come to the table lukewarm; for example, coffee and soup. Just as hot foods should be hot, so should cold foods be properly chilled, while salad greens or salad should be crisp and cold.

The reason for cooking is twofold. We make the food more attractive and develop new flavors or change the original taste. For hygienic reasons, we sterilize foods so as to preserve them longer. Certain combinations of food ruin the flavor of all and again certain combinations are both attractive and create an appetite.

Too much cannot be said about proper combinations as regards food value.

It is not absolutely necessary that the home manager know how many calories there are in every article of food consumed by her family, but it is necessary, in this day and age, that the meals should be well balanced. They should contain the proper amounts of protein (the meat or meat substitute element of the meal), carbohydrates, (sugar and starches), fats (butter or cooking fats), mineral salts and water.

The majority of people have known very little about these food principles, until the past food conservation movement. This made it necessary to substitute, correctly, foods of equal value for the wheats, meats, sugars and fats.

This has taught her to buy more carefully and plan her meals more skillfully, in order that her family be pleased as well as properly fed.

Salads a Spring Tonic.

There are few dishes more refreshing to the sight and to the appetite than a tasty salad served, chilled until the greens are crisp, and daintily garnished. From the standpoint of health we should consider salads as an all-year dish.

Although served upon American tables for a comparatively few years their popularity has increased daily. Green plants such as lettuce, celery and cress, are the salad plants—cabbage, too, has become popular in this guise. And, although nto conspicuous for their nutriment, turnip tops, dandelions and even mustard may be considered. They contain valuable mineral substances, are slightly cooling, stimulating to the appetite and give food value.

Salads were first served by the Greeks and Romans at the beginning of a meal to create an appetite. At a later date salads appeared at the end of the heavier part of the meal to bring back or sharpen the appetite to greater enjoyment of the dessert.

Aside from the mineral and protective value of such greens, they have little value, as they contain very little of the solid substances found in seeds, and roots. The majority of salad plants are nine-tenths water and in order to make them a more complete, "all-around" food, we find that by combining them with foods containing other food principles, the greens fill an essential place in the dietary.

In various salad combinations, one can see how one material provides protein, another fat, and the salad plant itself yielding minerals and water—there being no carbohydrates or starch in this combination, we serve crackers or a sandwich to complete the dish.

The selection and care of materials for salad is important. Everyone should realize the necessity for washing and chilling these greens in advance of the time they are to be used. Because of their refreshing quality and because of the minerals and vitamines contained, salads should become a part of every day's menu. Eminent nutrition specialists advocate a salad at least twice a day.

Home Baking.

For the past few years there has been a noticeable tendency to buy ready baked and delicatessen foods instead of preparing them at home; and with many it has become a permanent habit, hard to drop.

Lately, however, it has been noticed, home baking is again finding itself of prime importance among other household duties and new as well as old favorite recipes are being exchanged. Card index recipe boxes are given to the bride-to-be; while housewives and students are taking as great pride in showing their ability in the culinary line as the chef and teacher.

Home baked foods have after all the best flavor and taste, and real appreciation is shown when a plate of fresh home baked doughnuts or crullers are served where bakery goods have been the usual thing, and when hot, light, crisp fritters are served for dessert, every one is bound to be pleased.

When a platter of piping hot corn fritters or salmon croquettes, seasoned just right, are brought to the table with suitable accompanying sauce or gravy, the appreciation shown is sure to repay the efforts of the one who prepared them.

The fat should be tested to see that it is at the right temperature for the best cooking. Not more than four or five doughnuts should be friend at one time when using a medium sized kettle such as is found in the average kitchen. A larger number will cool the fat and the result is the doughnuts are apt to crack. Neither will fried food be as crisp if cooked in too much of a hurry. Slow but not too slow cooking is preferable.

$700 IN CASH PRIZES FOR BAKINGS MADE WITH CALUMET
THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

Read what Mrs. Alexander says

"Baking Powder of course is one of the most important ingredients that goes into the baking of cakes and especially those intended for the rigid inspection of the judges of the Iowa State Fair.

"When I entered my first cake at the State Fair thirteen years ago I used Calumet Baking Powder and won a prize. I have been using it ever since and for the last eight years have won the greater share of first prizes for cakes at the State Fair, with my greatest success this year when I received 23 Blue Ribbons, 8 Seconds and 3 Thirds, or 34 winners out of my 37 different kinds of cakes entered.

"I have always found Calumet to be the dependable, reliable and consistent winner."

Mrs. Jesse Alexander

Thirteen years ago, Mrs. Alexander of Indianola, Iowa, decided to make a cake and try for a prize at the Iowa State Fair. She used Calumet Baking Powder and won a prize. Today she has 280 prize tags—159 first prizes, 102 second prizes and 19 third prizes, and she has won the tidy sum of $700.00.

She is not a domestic science expert—just a plain every day farmer's wife, who has the good judgment to select pure and dependable ingredients such as Calumet when she bakes.

Millions of housewives are baking prize cakes, pies, biscuits, muffins, etc., every day with Calumet, the time-tested leavener that never fails to raise the bakings to their highest nutritional value.

For economical and always satisfactory results, the leading restaurants, big hotels, railroads, domestic science teachers and good bakers use Calumet.

TANNERS STOP SPORTS IN FINAL

OSBORN PULLS THROUGH FOR HIS THIRD WIN

Double Plays by Spudder Inner Works Save Game

GOLVIN WALLOPS PILL

Homelings Make it Hard On Two Shreveport Hurlers

By BLONDY CROSS

Fred Luderus' Shreveporters touched up the veteran Robert Osborn for 11 bingles, but the tall El Pasoan was highly effective in the pinches. The Spudders bunched eight of ten safeties combed from the starboard deliveries of Peters and Brewer with a bevy of bases on balls and an error to grab the rubber fest Friday from the Sports, 8 to 6. Big Robert won his third start of the 1925 season. He turned the Louisianians back, 7-4, at Shreveport last week, and stopped Jacob Atz's Cats cold the past Sabbathday down in Cowtown, 3-1.

A miscue at second on what loomed as a sure double play led to the scoring of three runs in the fifth by the visitors. Four earned runs go into the records against Osborn, but had the twin killing been enacted only three would have been chalked against him.

With exception of that one miscue, the Spud inner works fielded in super brilliant manner. The concoction of three double plays, two of which came at crucial moments, probably is what saved the day for the Tannermen.

Great Fielding.

With one away in the opening frame, Ostergard on third and Luderus at first, Bonowitz biffed one at short. Gorgeous George Distel took the bounder with the grace of a cat mounting a crippled mouse, and tossed to the keystone, cutting Luderus away. White, at second, lined the pill to first, beating Bonowitz by a step.

Boone was on first and Rabbitt at second in the ninth round with nobody down when the Spudder infield rallied again and pulled the tilt from the fire with a rapid and high temperature double murder. McGaffigan slammed a hair-raiser at the box. Osborn snagged onto the drive, and slung to Dorman at third, forcing Boone. Little Freddy bulleted the sphere back across the diamond to Golvin at first, beating McGaffigan with goodly margin to spare.

Osborn, Distel, and Golvin jerked off another double play with one on first and one away that probably saved a great deal of trouble, for the heavy end of the Shreveport batting order was up.

Shreveport slipped off to a one-run start in the first stanza when Rabbitt tipped Robert for a two-cushion drive over the center fielder's head, went to third on a wild pitch, and tabulated on sacrifice hoist to the mid sector by McGaffigan.

Can't Stop Golvin.

The margin didn't last for long. Tanner's adonises evened the tabulation in the second and stole four tallies out front in the third. Two-base sock by Dorman nand sizzling single through the right side of the infield by Golvin tied her up.

Golvin broke up the game the day before, and Friday they still couldn't keep him from slugging the apple. He connected for three out of five.

Callaghan opened up that run-packing third frame with a sweet swat between first and second for a base. Distel wanted to lay one down, but Peters wouldn't let him. He passed the Spudder captain. Fitzgerald hit to the pitcher, forcing Cal at third. Distel went to second. Shortly after, Peters in effort to catch the gorgeous one off the pillow jungle heaved into center field. Captain rambled on to third, and Fitz scampered to the keystone. Peters got in trouble trying to clip the corners with Bodie at bat, so finally broke down and walked him intentionally. That loaded the runways with ont out. Dorman fouled to Luderus off first. Then the brutal Mr. Golvin pranced up and bruised one against the right center palisade for two cushions and the same number of golden scoring nuggets. Distel and Fitz tabulated. Bodie rested at third. White followed up with a delicious bingle down the third base line, scoring Pingus and Walt. That was all. Peters checked out. Brewer took up the burden, walked Jennard, and forced Osborn into a pop out to second.

Brewer took disaster by the right paw and invited him right in to stay awhile in the fourth when he presented Distel with a first base coupon. Fitzgerald squashed a nasty drive to port ,but Rabbitt got under for a sensational piece of daylight robbery. They had given George the initial station, but he waxed greedy, and so set out for more. He got it. Gorgeous absconded with the keystone, displaying that there are other ways to pull a baseball robbery. Brewer wouldn't follow Peters' lead and walk our Ping. There's where he erred again, for Pingus punched the sphere 90 miles a minute to left for a single, sending Distel to the paying counter.

Freddy Gets Insulted.

A single, an error at second, a double, an infield out, and a sacrifice hoist touched Robert up for three Shreveport counters in the fifth.

The Spudders got over for another in the sixth. Callaghan went to second on ground ball to short when Shay strong-armed the pellet to the club house. He was throwing at first base. Distel laid a sacrifice bunt down third base way, advancing Cal to the hot corner sack. Fitzgerald swished a bullet drive past McGaffigan, playing second, who turned an ashes gray at the narrowness of his escape. The blow was good for one cushion, and suffiecd, of course, to score Callaghan from third. Bodie nearly knocked Rabbitt down in left field with a cannon-ball swat, but the outfielder hung onto the spheroid. Dorman aviated to right.

The Sports menaced the Spudder lead in the eighth when a trio of flitting singles by Luderus, Bonowitz, and McDonald kbetted by an infield out sent a pair over the medallion.

Brewer walked Cal in the eighth. Distel laid down another sacrifice bunt sending Marty to second. Fitz flied out to center. Brewer, sadder but wiser, passed Bodie, much to the apparent disgust of the rotund one. He might as well have let Ping hit, for Dorman became highly insulted. He followed up with a rifle crack to right, scoring Cal. Golvin avsited to Ostergard.

Much Oratory.

Osborn threw a man-sized scare into the palpitating hearts of many a Spudder bug at the start of the ninth when Boone nicked him for a single between first and second, and the big pitcher then hit Rabbitt with nobody out. Skipper Tanner reared up on his hind legs and objected strenuously because Arbiter Weir gave Rabbitt a lift at first. The Skipper held that Rabbitt struck at the ball, Weir won the argument by calling in the police department. They trundled over Buddy from the playing field.

McGaffigan caught one of Bob's heaves on the bicep, or somewhere, but Weir made him hold his place. Wasn't trying to get out of the way of the ball, or something. Shreveporters ganged around the umps, and waxed eloquent. Police department was called in again to take Red Ostergard from view. McColl, sitting over on the dugout, uttered a few dizzy remarks, so he got the gate, too. Yeah, police did lots of walking back and forth.

McGaffigan bounced one to Bob, and, as we told you, Robert chunked to Freddy on third, killing Boone off, and Freddy doubled Mac at first with a sweet throw across the diamond. Morris hit for Ostergard, and expired at the plate.

Senators Start Well in Season

While the world's champion Washington Senators were being trampled upon inglieriously by the Giants and everybody else during the spring exhibition games Manager Harris made the sage remark that the results of those games didn't count in the pennant races. He pointed out that he was preparing his team for another grueling campaign and did not aim to point it for a March series of any kind.

The auspicious start of the Senators in the regular season indicates that Harris was not emitting idle words. Of course the Yanks were handicapped in their first tilts with the Senators by the absence of Babe Ruth. But this should not detract from the credit due the Senators for the manner in which they handled themselves.

The Senators have that same fighting spirit which carried them to the flag last season. They seemed to be right on edge. The veteran pitchers, on whom Harris and Griffith have frankly stated they will depend, have been coming through.

Records Go In Drake's Relay Carnival Trials

Butler's Medley Team Is Sensation of Big Meet

DES MOINES, Ia., April 24.—Record breaking inaugurated the preliminaries of the two-day Drake relay carnival today when trials were run off in the field events. The finals will be decided tomorrow with a record entry of more than 2,500 athletes from 191 universities, colleges and high schools in the competition.

As a result of the afternoon of sterling performances, a new American record and eight records for the Drake games were established. The crack Butler college Medley team of Indianapolis, competing in the college medley race smashed the record for the event by covering the distance in 7:32 2-10, beating the outdoor mark of 7:44 2-5 hung up by the Irish-American A. C. competing in Boston in July, 1900.

The Butler team, running 440 yards, 220, 880 and a mile, was composed of Kilgore, Gray, Caraway and Phillips, running in the order named. Wabash also beat the former record in pushing the Butler quartet for victory running the distance in 7:44 flat.

Richardson of Missouri smashed the Drake mark for the discus with a heave of 140 feet, 10 3-4 inches, while Schwarze, the giant weight thrower from Wisconsin, cracked the record for the shot put, tossing the shot 45 feet 6 1-2 inches. Other qualifiers in this event also bettered the Drake record.

The Iowa State Teachers college relay team lowered the Drake mark for the half mile event stepping it off in 1:33 4-10.

The University of Kansas relay team ran the quarter mile relay in 42 3-10, beating out Butler and Notre Dame.

Roland Locke of Nebraska ran the fastest heat in the 100-yard event today, stepping the distance in even time. Wittman of Michigan and Fisher of Kansas, who were first in the other two heats, each relled off 10 1-5.

James Brooker, star pole vaulter of the University of Michigan, was withdrawn from the carnival due to ineligibility. Seven qualified for the finals in the vault, all clearing the bar at 12 feet. Earl McKowan of the Kansas State Teachers college, holder of the American intercollegiate record of 13 feet 2 inches, evidently attempted to reserve his best effort for the finals tomorrow.

Today's events were run off beneath heavy skies that threatened rain but which held off until the final event had been decided.

Texans Enter Sooner Relays

NORMAN, Okla., April 24.—With the late entries bringing the total to nearly 600 and with a clearing sky and brisk wind sweeping the University field tonight, the second annual Oklahoma relays, to be run off here tomorrow, promises to be one of the biggest athletic events staged in Oklahoma.

Seventeen colleges are to be represented in the relays by 212 athletes while 49 high schools have entered and will be represented by 325 men.

Southwestern university athletes of Georgetown, Texas, and the north Texas Agricultural college of Arlington arrived today and took light workouts. George Hines of Houston was also limbering up with the javelin. Texas athletes arrived today and Kansas high school and college men were expected late tonight and early in the morning.

Coyotes Divide Twin Bill With Paducah Team

PADUCAH, Texas, April 24.—Captain Bill Andree of Wichita Falls high school nine came very near to pulling the ironman feat here today in the double header with Paducah high school. Andree won the opener with ease, 7 to 0, allowing but two bingles in the nine frames he toiled. He dropped the nightcap by a one-run margin, 3 to 2.

The steady fielding of the visiting club was the feature in the first game. The Wichita Falls nine seemed to be all over the field at once and many hard chances were made to look easy.

The catching of Horton and Bridwell were the outstanding features to the final game.

Paducah scored the winning run in the last half of the seventh on Boley's double with two men on the sacks.

Another double bill will be staged Saturday.

They Say Paavo Cost Too Much

NEW YORK, April 24.—Investigation by the central and mid-western associations of the Amateur Athletic Union into charges that excessive expense demands were made by the management of Paavo Nurmi and Willie Ritola for the Finnish running stars to compete in track meets at Chicago and Des Moines was ordered today by Frederick W. Rubien, chairman of the national registration committee of the A. A. U.

Telegrams authorizing the investigation to be started at once were sent by Rubien to Louis Reitmann of Chicago, chairman of the central association registration committee and G. P. Wendell of Omaha, Neb., cahirman of the mid-western association registration committee.

Reitmann was called upon to investigate the charges that "the University of Chicago had been requested to pay $1,000 for the expenses of Ritola and Nurmi to appear in the national interscholastic meet June 5. Wendell was instructed to look into the statements attributed to Kenneth L. Wilson, director of athletics at Drake university, that Nurmi and Ritola would not run at the Drake relays because "their demand for excessive expense money was refused."

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, April 24.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

Wool trading has been confined within very narrow limits and the tendency of prices has been steadily downward. Sales for the most part have been forced and prices have suffered in consequence. Quotations are difficult to make.

In the west some buying is reported in Idaho at 39½ to 42 cents, this including prices at Mountain Home for mixed clips. In Nevada 39 cents has been paid for fairly fine wool shrinking 65 per cent.

Mohair is easier. Bids of 55 cents for grown hair in Texas have been refused and 60 cents stated as the minimum at which growers will trade. Quotations:

Scoured basis, Texas fine 12 months (selected), $1.40; fine 8 months, $1.20@1.25. Mohair best combing, 80@85c; best carding, 70@75c.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 24.—The cotton market was mainly dominated by the weather today and although active enough at times it had considerable periods of quiet. After opening 4 points up with July trading at 24.58, that month, as well as the market generally eased off on many reports of rains in North and West Texas, trading as low as 24.41 or 13 points under the previous close. A sharp rally in the late afternoon carried the active old crop month back to the earlier high and the close showed net gains for the day of 2 to 9 points for the general list.

At the start the weather map showed but few rainy spots and this was responsible for the slight early rally. October agreancing to 23.95 or 5 points net up. Numerous private reports claimed good rains in sections of northern Texas as well as in western Texas where it was claimed that enough rain had fallen to thoroughly break the drouth and enable farmers to begin planting. Prices eased off 19 points to 23.76 for October. There were several rallies during the day but around noon the market again turned easy on more rain news. Late in the afternoon, however, shorts covered rather freely mainly over sold appearance of the market and in anticipation of the prompt stoppage of all May notices which may develop tomorrow, which will be the first notice day for that month.

All the active months but July made new highs for the day and July duplicated its early high and the market closed near the top with October 9 points net higher. Secretary Hester made mill takings for the week 231,000 bales against 193,000 last year. This and other week-end statistics made no impression on the market. Fall River reported sales of print cloths for the week at 35,000 pieces. Exports today 14,223 bales and for the week 78,801.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, April 24.—Contrasting price movement characterized today's relatively dull stock market, weakness of the northwestern rails and strength of the public utilities being the outstanding features.

Establishment of the highest quotation in 10 years by demand sterling in anticipation of an early announcement of Great Britain's return to the gold standard overshadowed all other financial developments of the day.

United States Steel common closed fractionally higher at 114⅛, after selling nearly a point above that figure. Independent steels showed little change with the exception of Ludlum, which fell back a point on profit taking after its extreme rise of 7 points earlier in the week. Baldwin dropped from 112⅞ to 110⅛ where it was off 1½ points on the day. American Can closed fractionally lower at 171⅝. Union Pacific was hammered down nearly 4 points to 133¼, the lowest price since last June. Northern Pacific touched a new low for the year at 58⅝, and Great Northern preferred at 69. Chicago and Alton common, Erie second preferred and Rutland preferred also broke through their previous 1925 minimum quotations. Losses of a point or more was recorded by Erie common, Delaware and Hudson, Rock Island, Norfolk and Western, Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic, Atlantic Coast Line, Canadian Pacific, Chicago and Northwestern preferred, Western Pacific, Frisco common and International Railways of Central America common and preferred advanced to new high prices for the year. Reading also was strong.

Commercial Solvents "A" and "B" each broke about 12 points to a new low record for the year at 101½ and 100, respectively, a partial recovery setting in later. Revival of selling pressure against Maxwell Motors "B" forced that stock down nearly 4 points to 75¼ but it rallied late to 76¼. Mack Trucks broke from 147 to 141⅝ and then rallied to 143½ off 3¼.

Call money ruled unchanged at 4 per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates held steady at 3¾ to 4 per cent. Demand sterling ruled about a cent higher around $4.81 or less than 10 cents from parity. French francs held fairly steady just thelow 5.20 cents, other European rates showed only nominal changes.

Wichitans Can Find Food for Thought By Comparing Themselves With Bulgars

By F. A. R.
Record News Staff.

THE Spudites, recovering from whatever it was, descend Sincerport Thursday; the condition of Mayor R. E. Shepherd who has the mumps is reported improved; and general calm throughout the northwest Texas country brings a smile to the Panhandle.

Oil is bringing top prices and there's no cut in sight.

Texas has a land area of 25,896 square miles and a population of 4,663,228. Bulgaria, double mating country of the Balkans, has a land area of only 40,856 square miles, but a population of 4,862,459.

All of which is an attempt to drive home to Wichitans who as a rule absolutely refuse to be interested in news dispatches with foreign datelines the truth of the statement that we haven't the slightest conception of how well off we are. Bearing the comparisons in mind, attempt to follow this summary on the Bulgarian situation, meager as it may be, and be convinced that whatever the next thousand years may bring us, this city, state and nation as of now is higher than the geese in October and whoever said the first 40 years is the hardest didn't know what he was talking about.

Sofia dispatches and indirect reports from Balkan centers indicate that not less than 1,500 people who think their government is one of suppression have been arrested. Only recently 200 persons were killed during "red" or communist riots. There appears no doubt but that King Boris is a virtual prisoner in his royal palace under General Lazreff, military dictator.

ROME, April 24.—The Corriere della Sera quotes the Bulgarian premier, Tzankoff, as declaring in an interview at Sofia, that conspirators planned to form a new government headed by Yankoff and Ninkoff, terrorists, who have been killed by the police since the recent trouble began.

The premier said he had evidence that Ninkoff went from Bulgaria to Moscow to study the manufacture and use of poison gas, explosive bombs and infernal machines.

It is such types of soldiers as these who hold the fate of Bulgaria in their hands. They are seen bringing in a Communist prisoner (X) a few days before agitators set off a bomb in a cathedral in Sofia while high government officials were present, killing 150 persons. The government is enrolling 3,000 extra soldiers by permission of the council of ambassadors, but deflections to the ranks of the communists are feared.

Imagine the U. S. army staff imprisoning Mr. Coolidge.

What would happen, for instance, if Adjutant General McGee of Texas would put "Ma" Ferguson and Jim Reed behind bars in the state capitol?

Greece and Jugo-Slavia are protesting to the powers the proposed acquiescence of the League of Nations to Bulgaria's prayer for an increased standing army to combat the "red" uprisings. There appears little doubt that the third communist international of Moscow is furnishing money and men for incipiencies of communistic uprisings in Bulgaria. Rumania is moving troops toward the Bulgar border; Jugo-Slavians may take the same action if Bulgars do not cease accusing them of aiding Russia in communistic propaganda. Ivan Manoeff, member of the secret committee of the Bulgarian communist party, was killed by police Thursday.

Who wants to leaves Wichita Falls, Texas, or the U. S. A?

Scarcely a country in Europe but is not seething with some form of unrest. Three youths were killed and eight wounded in a shooting affray in Paris upon leaving a meeting of the national republican league Thursday night. Votes of confidence are taken almost daily in the French chamber of deputies where the traitor Caillaux once more is enthroned in a coalition cabinet, only five years to the day when his country's high court condemned him for treating with the enemy. The British army is considering evacuating Cairo and concentrating on Brussels; has told King Albert it is impossible for him to form a cabinet. Even the president of the republic of Portugal has resigned.

Just one item of apparent encouragement cabled during the day: "Dispatches from Constantinople say an agreement has just been signed settling all the problems affecting Turkey and Greece, whatever that may mean.

Take a look at the accompanying picture. They are the types upon whom the fate of Bulgaria rests.

Texan Foresees Probability Of Huge Road Issue

Bonds Up to $75,000,000 Will be Sprung, Says Representative

Wichitans in touch with highway development in Texas are interested in the warning from Austin that a $75,000,000 state bond issue soon is to be proposed for Texas unless it is "nipped in the bud." Representative John T. Smith of Austin delivers the warning.

Note of Warning.

Sounding a "note of warning" in the current issue of his Texas Tax Journal, Representative Smith, who instigated an investigation of the highway department in the recent legislature, declares that bond buyers and road contractors "are beginning to evolve in their minds the matter of springing a $75,000,000 bond issue on the people within the next few years." The excuse for the bond issue, he believes, will be that the counties will have reached their limit in bonding.

"It is a well recognized fact," he said, "that the tick eradication law of the last few years, and the voting of county and district bonds have practically exhausted the credit of a great number of counties. In fact, these expenditures have gone to such an extent the question of selling bonds has been one that has kept the issuance of new bonds down, except in counties whose credit still is good.

"There are portions of Texas in which fairly good roads have been built, but they are in a disconnected form and scattered here and there. Now then, the bond buyer, the road contractor and the material men are beginning to evolve in their minds the matter of springing about a $75,000,000 bond issue on the people of Texas within the next few years.

Bonding the State.

"They know many counties can not issue new bonds for several years, hence they are coming with the proposition of bonding the state to an enormous amount, and then when that is used up, if no roads are built, the taxpayers can comfort themselves in the knowledge that they have made a lot of people rich, even if they never have the roads for their own use.

"The bond proposition is just in the formative stage at present, and if the people do not begin to frown on it, it is going to be a live issue. As long as we can raise about $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 a year to put on roads, we had better think about the economical expenditure of this amount rather than attempt to get more money."

Texas at present is one of the few states having no bonded indebtedness.

Junior High Gives Old Roman Wedding

A Roman wedding in full costume and with the appropriate symbolic setting was presented at the junior high school Thursday afternoon by the Latin club in their final program for the school year.

The stage in the auditorium was profusely decorated with the symbolic flower, the rose, and lighted candles gleamed on the sacrificial altar. The torchbearers heralded the entrance of the bridal procession as Miss Catherine Kay, the bride, (sponsa) with her party, accompanied by ten witnesses, according to custom, which represented ten tribes of the curio appeared before the priest and his assistant and was impressively wedded to Juston West in the role of the Roman bridegroom (sponsus).

Music for the ceremony was furnished by Wm. Thompson, local entertainer, who played his bass guitar and gave several numbers also, preceding the wedding scene.

The wedding illustrates the informal ceremony of the Romans, with the bloodless sacrifice, and was elaborately staged and presented by the students under the direction of Miss Josephine Belser, head of the Latin department. The cast included further:

Discuss Safety Work In Electric Council

At a regular meeting of the board of control of the Wichita Falls safety council a number of items regarding public safety were discussed and referred to the proper committees. Traffic and public safety matters predominated.

Particular attention was paid to the new gasoline ordinance. This ordinance with amendments was endorsed and a member of the safety council will appear before the city council Monday night to sponsor the movement.

Traffic matters, with particular attention paid to double parking, marking the center of paved highways and a means of immediate relief from bright lights on automobiles, were referred to Chas. Pogenpohl, chairman of the police and traffic committee.

Safety bulletins and posters as called for in the budget of the safety council were referred to J. W. Lyle, chairman of the publicity committee. Due to the fact that many people are still unfamiliar with the new traffic ordinance, it was voted to publish a section of this ordinance each day. Also a scheme of advertising on county roads to inform tourists of the traffic lights and ordinance in Wichita Falls was discussed.

A new house moving ordinance was referred to Jos. Huckins III, chairman of public safety committee.

T. E. Smock, president of the Wichita Falls safety council, presided. Others present were H. A. Gray, A. E. Kelly, J. D. Bright, E. P. Cushing, Orol Janes, J. W. Thorne, Alf Miller, J. W. Lyle, Chas. Pogenpahl, Leon Horn.

LATIN CLUB TO GIVE PAINTING TO SCHOOL

The 1924-25 Latin club of the Junior high school will present a large oil painting, "Aurora," by the Italian painted, Guido Reni, to the school on Friday, May 1, at the closing meeting of the club for the school year.

The picture, which was purchased from the Decorators Co., and represents the farewell gift of the club to the school, as the members go to the junior college building next year.

Enormous Increases In City Lots Shown

Speaking before the real estate board luncheon Saturday, Roscoe Staton of Staton and Staton, realtors, gave these comparisons to show increase in values of city property, buildings on land not include.

	Former Today's Price	Value
Snider-Harvey building site 100x110 feet	(1906) $3,000	$100,000
Strand theatre	(1917) 9,000	40,000
Abernathy corner Ninth and Lamar 1x18)	22,000	65,000
Ninth and Travis 150x50 feet	(1917) 10,000	50,000

Staton declared of the three best investments, bonds, land and city business property, the last was the best of all.

Ralph Schoolfield reported that city real estate sales recorded during the past week totaled $208,400; while county sales, not including oil sales, Iowa Park, Burkburnett or Electra, amounted to $24,575; that the best day's sale was last Monday of $62,450 and that the largest single sale came in the same day for $25,000.

Judge W. B. Chauncey, addressing the realtors, declared he had practiced law for 21 years and then took up real estates because he considered it more "useful and honorable than law."

"The lawyer can make a mistake and get away with it," Mr. Chauncey said, "but a realtor cannot."

He urged caution in sale of restricted properties.

Largest Oil Deal in Years Consummated Last Night

SWASTIKA SOLD

Local Men Reap Heavily From South Archer Venture

The Shamrock Oil company has closed a deal with the Prairie Oil and Gas company of Independence, Kan., for its South Archer and North Young county holdings, consisting of about 3,000 barrels daily production, several thousand acres of land, proven and unproven, and about 100 wells, for a consideration approximating $2,000,000, the largest figure that has closed an oil deal in North Texas in several years.

Consummation came early last night following checking and negotiations which had lasted over a period of several weeks, W. B. Sutton of Tulsa, signing the papers for the Prairie and C. H. Clark, J. E. Dunaway and J. M. Baldridge acting for the Shamrock Oil company.

The Shamrock Oil company for a long time was the foremost South Archer operator, obtaining a stranglehold on Swastika early in the game and getting the biggest part of the production there at a time when Swastika was the only producing area south of Archer City. It is more or less a local concern, Waxahachie, Texas, parties being also heavily interested.

The cigarette always has been king wherever Aristide Briand has held sway, and end is predicted to the pipe smoking craze that followed the introduction by Charles G. Dawes of his underlung pipe and Mr. Herriot's advent with his Alps briar.

Adherents of the pipe, however, are showing fight in its behalf. Several dozens of them gathered recently in the Belleville quarter for a smoking contest. Each man was given three-tenth of an ounce of tobacco and a pipe. The man who made his stock of tobacco last longest was awarded first prize. The winner kept his pipe going for 51 minutes.

NEGRO KILLER GETS ANOTHER DALLAS VICTIM

Larry Milstead Is Shot and Killed in Auto at Vickery Place

DALLAS, April 25.—Larry Milstead, 28, was shot and killed tonight by a negro highwaymen who held him up as he sat in an automobile with a woman companion in Vickery Place.

Milstead is the second Dallas man to meet death at the hands of negro highwaymen within two weeks. On the night of April 12, Ryan Adkins was held up by two negroes as he was driving with a woman companion near Southern Methodist university.

According to Mrs. Mabel Berry of Austin, Milstead's companion, the negro ordered Milstead out of the car and then shot him, killing him instantly. Leaving the body on the sidewalk, he returned to the car and drove away to another neighborhood in East Dallas. During the drive, the woman said, the negro cursed her and told her that "the white folks killed my father and mother and I am going to kill as many white folks as I can before my turn comes."

The negro beat her over the head with his fists and with the pistol until she was unconscious, she said, and left her lying in a road. When she recovered consciousness she made her way to a house and related her experience. No trace of the assailant had been found tonight.

Milstead was shot once. Mrs. Berry was here visiting her sister, Mrs. W. R. Bedell. It was in front of Mrs. Bedell's home that the killing occurred. Mr. Milstead came to Dallas from Washington, D. C., about a year ago to take charge of the district agency for a typewriter concern. He was well known in Dallas and Fort Worth, having trained as an aviator in the latter city during the war. He is survived by his parents and a sister who resides in Washington.

MAN IS STILL SUPERIOR

London Judge Holds He Therefore Must Support His Wife.

LONDON, April 25.—When women "really do become quite equal" to men it will then be the duty of a wife to support her husband just as much as it is for a husband to support his wife, in the opinion of Magistrate H. W. W. Wilberforce, of the Marlebone court.

"We have not got to that yet, but we are approaching it," he said in passing judgment in a case brought by a woman who said she had been supporting her husband for two years. Wilberforce said there is no duty upon the wife to do that at present.

"He must shift for himself," declared the magistrate.

Poison Death Probe Of Shepherd's Alleged Victims Is Transfered To Texas

HOUSTON, April 25.—Worn out after two days of travel from Chicago, John Sbarbaro, assistant state's attorney of Cook county, Illinois arrived here tonight and announced he would begin his investigation of the last illness of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock tomorrow.

Mrs. McClintock, mother of William N. McClintock the "millionaire orphan" whose death in Chicago a few months ago led to the indictment of William D. Shepherd, his foster father and Charles C. Faiman, head of a medical school on charges of murder, is said to have become ill at Bayview, Texas, in 1909 and to have died a few weeks later in Chicago.

Mr. Sbarbaro had little to say tonight on his arrival here. He announced that he would make his headquarters in Houston while investigating circumstances surrounding Mrs. McClincock's death and that he would question everyone who knew Mrs. McClintock or Shepherd at Bayview. He had nothing to say about reports that the grand jury here would be asked to investigate the case for the purpose of returning an indictment in Texas, where it is said Mrs. McClintock may have been "slow" poisoned. Mr. Sbarbaro was accompanied by newspaper men from the Chicago papers.

LETOT ALMOST WASHED AWAY BY BIG DELUGE

Weather Disturbance Breaks At Noon Over Elm Fork In North County

14 INCHES IN 2 HOURS

Stores Are Carried Off By Flood and Autos Swept From Highways

DALLAS, April 25.—(AP.) — An unestimated amount of damage was done today by a cloudburst which inundated the greater part of north Dallas county. Breaking first at noon over Elm fork, where huge clouds remained for hours, the cloudburst finally swept down on the little villege of Letot, several miles north of Dallas, wrecked two stores, paralyzed interurban track to Benton, Sherman and Denison, wrecking automobiles and trucks and endangering the lives of more than 25 persons. The precipitation varied from 1.15 inches at Dallas to 14 inches at Letot within two hours. Tonight the precipitation is general.

No Lives Lost.

No lives have been reported lost. Damage at Letot is estimated at $20,000. Livestock losses are expected to be large.

Sheriff Schuyler Marshall and his force of deputies are patrolling the effected area. Some deputies are in boats.

Various reservoirs are reported overflowing or filling rapidly. Billions of gallons of water are reported pouring into the three dams across Elm fork of the Trinity river. White Rock Lake and Bachman's Dam, the last being at the flood stage at 5 o'clock. Trinity river is expected to be at flood bank by Sunday morning.

The small bridges on the Denton interurban line were washed out, dispatches here report. Service on the Sherman-Denison line was interrupted when twelve power line poles keeled over, snapping the trolley line in several places.

When the cloudburst came at Letot, several persons rushed to the recently completed brick building owned by J. F. Fugitt, who was there with his family. Shortly after the roof collapsed and the foundation gave way, before the rush of the waters. All escaped serious injury.

Store Washed Away.

"Where buyer and seller meet"

Wichitans Can Find Food for Thought By Comparing Themselves With Bulgars

By F. A. B.
Record News Staff.

ROME, April 24.—The Corriere della Sera quotes the Bulgarian premier, Tzankoff, as declaring in an interview at Sofia, that conspirators planned to form a new government headed by Yankoff and Ninkoff, terrorists, who have been killed by the police since the recent trouble began.

The premier said he had evidence that Ninkoff went from Bulgaria to Moscow to study the manufacture and use of poison gas, explosive bombs and infernal machines.

It is such types of soldiers as these who hold the fate of Bulgaria in their hands. They are seen bringing in a Communist prisoner (X) a few days before agitators set off a bomb in a cathedral in Sofia while high government officials were present, killing 150 persons. The government is enrolling 3,000 extra soldiers by permission of the council of ambassadors, but deflections to the ranks of the communists are feared.

THE Spudders, recovering from whatever it was, defeated Shreveport Thursday; the condition of Mayor R. E. Shepherd who has the mumps is reported improved; and general rains throughout the northwest Texas country brings a smile to the Panhandle.

Texas has a land area of 25,896 square miles and a population of 4,663,228. Bulgaria, trouble making country of the Balkans, has a land area of only 40,456 square miles, but a population of 4,861,439.

All of which is an attempt to drive home to Wichitans who as a rule absolutely refuse to be interested in news dispatches with foreign date lines the truth of the statement that we haven't the slightest conception of how well off we are. Bearing the comparisons in mind, attempt to follow this summary on the Bulgarian situation, meager as it may be, and be convinced that whatever the next thousand years may bring us, this city, state and nation as of now is higher than the goose in October and whoever said the first 40 years is the hardest didn't know what he was talking about.

Sofia dispatches and indirect reports from Balkan centers indicate that not less than 1,500 people who think their government is one of subjugation have been arrested. Only recently 160 persons were killed during "red" or communist riots. There appears no doubt but that King Boris is a virtual prisoner in his royal palace under General Lazreff, military dictator.

What would happen, for instance, if Adjutant General McGee of Texas would put "Ma" Ferguson and Jim behind bars in the state capitol?

Greece and Jugo-Slavia are protesting to the powers the proposed acquiescence of the League of Nations to Bulgaria's prayer for an increased standing army to combat the "red" uprisings. There appears little doubt that the third communist internationale of Moscow is furnishing money and men for incipiencies of communistic uprisings in Bulgaria. Rumania is moving troops toward the Bulgar border; Jugo-Slavians may take the same action if Bulgars do not cease accusing them of aiding Russia in communistic propaganda. Ivan Manoeff, member of the secret committee of the Bulgarian communist party, was killed by police Thursday.

Scarcely a country in Europe but is not seething with some form of unrest. Three youths were killed and eight wounded in a shooting affray in Paris upon leaving a meeting of the national republican league Thursday night. Votes of confidence are taken almost daily in the French chamber of deputies where the traitor Caillaux once more is enthroned in a coalition cabinet, only five years to the day when his country's high court condemned him for treating with the enemy. The British army is considering evacuating Cairo and concentrating on Brussels; has told King Albert it is impossible for him to form a cabinet. Even the president of the republic of Portugal has resigned.

Just one item of apparent encouragement cabled during the day: "Dispatches from Constantinople say an agreement has just been signed settling all the problems affecting Turkey and Greece, whatever that may mean.

Take a look at the accompanying picture. They are the types upon whom the fate of Bulgaria rests.

Texan Foresees Probability Of Huge Road Issue

Bonds Up to $75,000,000 Will be Sprung, Says Representative

Wichitans in touch with highway development in Texas are interested in the warning from Austin that a $75,000,000 state bond issue soon is to be proposed for Texas unless it is "nipped in the bud." Representative John T. Smith of Austin delivers the warning.

Note of Warning.

Sounding a "note of warning" in the current issue of his Texas Tax Journal, Representative Smith, who instigated an investigation of the highway department in the recent legislature, declares that bond buyers and road contractors "are beginning to evolve in their minds the matter of springing a $75,000,000 bond issue on the people within the next few years." The excuse for the bond issue, he believes, will be that the counties will have reached their limit in bonding.

"It is a well recognized fact," he said, "that the tick eradication law of the last few years, and the voting of county and district bonds have practically exhausted the credit of a great number of counties. In fact, these expenditures have gone to such an extent the question of selling bonds has been one that has kept the issuance of new bonds down, except in counties whose credit still is good.

"There are portions of Texas in which fairly good roads have been built, but they are in a disconnected form and scattered here and there. Now then, the bond buyer, the road contractor and the material men are beginning to evolve in their minds the matter of springing about a $75,000,000 bond issue on the people of Texas within the next few years.

Bonding the State.

"They know many counties can not issue new bonds for several years, hence they are coming with the proposition of bonding the state to an enormous amount, and then when that is used up, if no roads are built, thte taxpayers can comfort themselves in the knowledge that they have made a lot of people rich, even if they never have the roads for their own use.

"The bond proposition is just in the formative stage at present, and if the people do not begin to frown on it, it is going to be a live issue. As long as we can raise about $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 a year to put on roads, we had better think about the economical expenditure of this amount rather than attempt to get more money."

Texas at present is one of the few states having no bonded indebtedness.

Junior High Gives Old Roman Wedding

A Roman wedding in full costume and with the appropriate symbolic setting was presented at the junior high school Thursday afternoon by the Latin club in their final program for the school year.

The stage in the auditorium was profusely decoraied with the symbolic flower, the rose, and lighted candles gleamed on the sacrificial altar. The torchbearers heralded the entrance of the bridal procession as Miss Catherine Kay, the bride, (sponsa) with her party, accompanied by ten witnesses, according to cusom, which represented ten tribes of the curio appeared before the priest and his assistant and was impressively wedded to Juston West in the role of the Roman bridegroom (sponsus).

Music for the ceremony was furnished by Wm. Thompson, local entertainer, who played his bass guitar and gave several numbers also, preceding the wedding scene.

The wedding illustrates the informal ceremony of the Romans, with the bloodless sacrifice, and was elaborately staged and presented by the students under the direction of Miss Josephine Beiser, head of the Latin department. The cast included further:

William Cohen, the priest; Donald Garlington, his assistant; Martha Ellen Hines, bride's mother; Jimmie Mytinger, groom's father; Virgie Mae Adams, a matron; Nathalene Lebenson, Mary Virginia Barron, Corrine Tucker, Camille Avis, Doris Tiner, Dorothy Parker, Pansy Cameron, Dorothy Smart, Lorraine Prohard and Jennie V. Shaw as witnesses; Genevieve Pritz, Roberta Kemp, Nelda Peterson, J. T. Morrow, James Prothro and Emmett Charles, as torch-bearers.

Discuss Safety Work In Electric Council

At a regular meeting of the board of control of the Wichita Falls safety council a number of items regarding public safety were discussed and referred to the proper committees. Traffic and public safety matters predominated.

Particular attention was paid to the new gasoline ordinance. This ordinance with amendments was endorsed and a member of the safety council will appear before the city council Monday night to sponsor the movement.

Traffic matters, with particular attention paid to double parking, marking the center of paved highways and a means of immediate relief from bright lights on automobiles, were referred to Chas. Pogenpohl, chairman of the police and traffic committee.

Safety bulletins and posters as called for in the budget of the safety council were referred to J. W. Lyle, chairman of the publicity committee. Due to the fact that many people are still unfamiliar with the new traffic ordinance, it was voted to publish a section of this ordinance each day. Also a scheme of advertising on county roads to inform tourists of the traffic lights and ordinance in Wichita Falls was discussed.

A new house moving ordinance was referred to Jos. Huckins III, hcairman of public safety committee.

T. B. Smock, president of the Wichita Falls safety council, presided. Others present were H. A. Gray, A. E. Kelly, J. D. Bright, E. P. Cushing, Orol Janes, J. W. Thorne, Alf Miller, J. W. Lyle, Chas. Pogenpahl, Leon Horn.
