Commissioners debate insurance ... to offer policy to former employees or not

Two motions were on the table at the same time during commissioners' court Monday morning, as court members considered a county policy concerning the availability of county health insurance for employees who end employment with the county.

The topic was first discussed in an earlier meeting, and Monday's meeting ended with a final decision. The county will offer former county employees the opportunity to buy into county health insurance once they resign their position, if they've worked for the county for 10 years or longer.

But, it wasn't an easy decision to make, as arguments on each side had good points. Pct. 1 Commissioner Randy Anderson started the discussion by telling his fellow court members he was still in favor of the offer after 10 years of employment with the county, whether or not the person begins taking retirement benefits.

Pct. 2 Commissioner Jeremy Strain said he doesn't like that plan, because he thinks it puts the county's insurance premiums at risk for bigger increases. Pct. 4 Commissioner Geory Martin said he agrees with Anderson. He said he spoke with Cathy Davenport from the Texas Association of Counties and she said, while a few big claims can drive up premiums, the pool helps offset the costs.

Strain countered, saying he thinks the move "hurts more than it helps."

County Auditor Heidi Harris said she tried to find some counties that offered the option, and she could only find one and that county only offered the benefit to 20-year employees.

Pct. 3 Commissioner Jesse Muñoz said he thinks the offer will encourage employees to leave the county sooner, because they can still get health insurance benefits if they've worked only for

Early voting continues for general election

Early voting got underway Monday, and the number of ballots being cast early are up from recent years.

There have been 92 people vote in the county, state and national election at the Mitchell County Courthouse. Counting the mail-in ballots increases that number to 271.

There have also already been 25 people vote early at city hall in the election to fund the Economic Development Corporation.

The Pct. 4 commissioner race is the only contested race in the county. Democratic candidate DeLynn Hackfeld is vying for the position, as is Republican candidate Ricky Bailey.

Early voting ballots can be cast in the lobby of the Mitchell County Courthouse, 349 Oak, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Friday, November 2nd.

An important decision facing voters who live inside the city limits of Colorado City is a proposition made by the Economic Development Corporation. The EDC board is asking voters to fund future endeavors of the new development group.

The city council called for the election recently to ask voters to approve using 1/8th of 1% of the sales tax rebates cur-

Town hall meeting set to answer EDC questions from citizens

Join the board for a Town Hall Meeting Monday, October 29th at 5:30 p.m. in the Bob Rely Early Learning Center on 9th Street near Ruddick Park.

The board will be available for citizens' questions, especially concerning the funding up for vote in the November 6th election. Early voting is ongoing at city hall through November 2nd.

VISITING WITH CONSTITUENTS - U.S. House Representative Mike Conaway held a town hall meeting at the civic center last week with about 30 citizens attending to hear from the congressman. He talked about hot topics in Washington, as well as issues such as immigration, the upcoming election and dispelling myths being circulated on the internet.

Conaway visits Colorado City, answers questions from citizens

A group of about 30 Mitchell County citizens gathered to attend a town hall meeting with U.S. Representative Mike Conaway last week. He spent most of the meeting answering citizens' questions and talking about what's going on in Washington, D.C.

MCHD Administrator Robbie Dewberry asked about the southern Texas border and immigration. Conaway said there is work ongoing at the border now. Approximately $1.6 billion was earmarked for border work in 2018, and another $1.8 billion is set aside for 2019.

The legislator said President Trump wanted an entire $25 billion to be funded at one time, but neither of two bills were passed to make that a reality. Conaway said immigration and the border are topics that will be addressed at the "lame duck" session in December.

"It will be a ruckus d'jour," he said.

Conaway said he feels control over the country's borders is about knowing what and who are coming across.

A citizen in the crowd asked about the children of illegal immigrants and their whereabouts. Conaway said the kids are being housed in temporary shelters where there's heat, air conditioning, clean floors and other very livable conditions.

At one point during the gathering, Conaway addressed a myth that has been circulated on the internet for many years. There are various types of posts on Facebook alleging that members of congress have passed benefit laws affecting ate of Colorado High School, and he is the son of Carlos and Rosie Hernandez. After graduating from CHS, Hernandez moved to San Antonio and started training to become a professional wrestler.

Hernandez said he was attending classes at Western

BACK FOR A VISIT — State Representative Dustin Burrows visited Colorado City last Friday to speak to the Colorado City Lions Club. It was a return visit for the congressman, and he answered plenty of questions asked by local Lions. The lawmaker is pictured here with Lions Marianne Stevenson and Sylvia Clanton (right).

State representative visits Lions Club last Friday

District 83 State Representative Dustin Burrows visited Colorado City last Friday and talked to the Colorado City Lions Club. He talked about issues citizens are concerned about, as well as what may come up during the upcoming session that begins in January.

Burrows started with an issue that's dear to every parent's heart: school safety. He said it's something that must be done, and he thinks the state should provide grants to help school districts pay for it. He also said he thinks Gov. Greg Abbott will be leading the charge on the issue, which will require new spending.

The lawmaker talked about the redistricting battle he expects to begin in the next session. Burrows told Lions there are only 19 representatives for the whole area west of I-35, and six of those are from the El Paso area.

Healthcare and its rising costs were other top issues of the day. Burrows said he's learned the average health insurance policy costs families $22,000 to $30,000 per year. It's also costly to the state government, as the issue now eclipses education as the largest budget item.

Burrows said in 1960, 4% of the state's budget went to healthcare benefits, compared to today's 18%. Costs continue to rise, increasing two to five percent over the past few years.

"It's going to be a priority next session," Burrows said. "There's a committee studying best practices and other ways to decrease costs."

The Lubbock native talked about another issue to be addressed in the next session. "Texas Tech needs a vet school," Burrows said.

About 75% of all veterinarians get a degree from Texas A&M University, but more and more vet students are getting their education in another state. Burrows would like to see that end by offering another choice for their education. He said the cattle industry is not being served, and the state has seed money to begin moving forward on the new department.

Burrows urged Lions to get out and vote. He urged voters to do their homework and look at candidates' voting records. "We are different from other states," he said. "Think about what matters. Think about the future."

He said there's a lot of out-of-state money coming into Texas in hopes of changing the political landscape here. The congressman said many of the donors want to see bans on pesticide use, fracking and more.

"People want to change our basic economics, and I don't think that's what we want," he said, adding that Texas is a great place for small businesses.

Burrows supports local control by school districts. He said he thinks the best solutions are often what fits certain districts, and local officials know what is needed better than the state government.

Local art guild to hold annual Big Country Art Show November 17th

Members of the West Texas Art Guild are making preparations to hold the "Return to the Big Country Art Show" on Saturday, November 17th at the civic center. Now all they need are some entries by some of the talented citizens in the area.

The art show will encompass more than just paintings, as there are five categories in which to enter. Categories will include, watercolor, oil/acrylic, photography, 3-D, and dry media/mixed media. Those entering must be over 18 years of age.

"We encourage all photographers, jewelry-makers, painters, and others to enter this event," artist and guild founder Carolyn Walker said. Ribbons and prize money will be awarded, and Best of Show will win $200. Entry fees are $10 per piece for guild members and $15 per piece for non-members.

The art show will be judged by Dianalee Jones of Christoval. Registration begins at the civic center at 8 a.m. on November 17th and will continue until 10 a.m., at which time registration will close. The public is welcome to come view all the entries from 1 to 4 p.m. that afternoon at no charge.

On the day of the show, Tom Orsak, an artist from San Angelo, will come to the CC Thompson Room from 10 a.m. to noon to provide a demonstration. Everyone is welcome to attend this free event.

TUMBLEWEED SMITH Comic book and movie characters in Andrews

Dan Smart of Andrews got hooked on Star Wars at the age of eight when his father took him to the first Star Wars movie. He is still hooked. Big time.

"Probably about 10 years ago is when I decided to try to look like the Star Wars guys," says Dan. "The first costume I ever made myself was of Darth Vader. It went over as a hit and we've been doing it ever since."

Dan works as a computer specialist at the Andrews hospital. He and two of his sons don their costumes: Darth Vader and two storm troopers. They make appearances at movie premieres, sporting events, museums and Comic Cons all over Texas.

"We talk to people, we take photos with people, especially with the little kids. We do a lot of thumbs up, a lot of high fives. I sort of do the Darth Vader voice. It's a lot better with the helmet on but I do the best impersonation that I can of James Earl Jones who was the voice of Darth Vader. Of course, the favorite line is, 'I am your father.'"

Dan, his wife and four kids portray comic book characters.

"We actually have what we call the Batman family which is Batman, Robin, Cat Woman and Huntress. That's what we're most famous for in the Comic Con scene because we bring eight different characters."

Dan is serious about this and spends a lot of money on things to make their appearances more impressive.

"We actually have motorcycles to go along with the super heroes. I bought my sons, my daughter, my wife and myself motorcycles and re-painted them in the garage. So, Robin actually rides the Robin Cycle, Nightwing rides the Nightbird and Huntress rides the Huntress Cycle. We have super hero themed motorcycles that go along with it and then my wife, who plays Cat Woman, rides the Cat Bike. When we first contacted the Comic Con, it was like, 'I guess that would be ok for you to come.' Well when we showed up with the bikes, people went nuts over them. Everybody wants us to bring the motorcycles now. That's the new thing. You gotta bring them because there are lots of guys who dress up like Batman, lots of Cat Women, lots of Robins, but none of them bring motorcycles that match the costumes."

Dan has been asked to come to Comic Cons all over the United States, but he has turned them down because of his work, the kids' school and the time involved. But to him it's more than just a past time activity. He calls it a lucrative hobby.

"We make enough money to travel to the events and we get to do this as a family. How many times do you have your teenage kids look forward to the next time when they can hang out with their parents?"

The dew on the roses Enjoy quiet times

By Monte Wilke

One morning, while I was filling the bird feeder in the backyard, I noticed the roses heavy with sparkling gems of dew. I was reminded of the song, "In the Garden". As I recalled the words that speak about "while the dew is still on the roses", I realized that there are many times and ways that God can speak to us. It may be with a simple illustration such as this, it may be in majestic scenery, in the face of a loved one, through a need or as you rest in your recliner.

God made us to be family. He is not a stranger, far removed or remote. He wants to be with us, to have conversation, to hear our praises and gripes and to fill our needs. We don't need a theology degree to talk with/to God. We do not need to be some kind of psychic to hear back from Him. You can talk to Him exactly like you talk to any friend, in any language or dialect. He understands them all. In fact, you don't have to speak at all. He can hear thoughts, read minds and comprehend groanings.

When we need something from God, we do not have to shout or yell. We do not have to be in any special place or frame of mind. We just begin to talk, to ask, and then to expect an answer.

Nor is it wrong to question God.

Abraham did in Genesis 15. Jesus did as He hung on the cross. God wants His will made clear to us, His direction emphatic, and His love reciprocal. What is not so good is to doubt God. When we talk with Him, or He with us, it is for fellowship, assurance and direction. But when He makes things clear, when He instructs or warns, then we should obey. He does not like excuses or rebellion. He wants trust and commitment.

When you find that quiet spot, when God speaks through dewy roses or blaring trumpets, pay attention. It is for your good.

Ultimately, the vote passed 3-2, with Strain and Muñoz voting against. The policy has been set. Anyone working for Mitchell County for 10 or more years has the opportunity to buy county health insurance policies. The county will not pay the premiums, but the benefit is still offered to the employee.

In other business, several members of the local Rotary Club, including Robbie Dewberry, Dwayne Harris, Mary Alice Hernandez and Sterling Burleson attended the meeting, as County Judge Ray Mayo proclaimed October 24th as World Polio Day in Mitchell County. The civic group launched a fight against the dreadful disease in 1985, providing two billion polio vaccinations to children all over the world. Since then, cases of polio have dropped by 99.9%. There are still rare cases found in Pakistan and Afghanistan. The Bill Gates Foundation has promised to match donations three-to-one up to $450 million to exterminate the disease completely.

During the public comments portion of the meeting, librarians Maggie Bootman and Debbie Mace spoke to the court about the work ongoing at the library. Bootman said work continues on the roof, and the mildewing carpet has been sprayed to stop the growth of mildew and make it smell better.

New carpet has been ordered for the building and is expected to be installed in the next couple of weeks. Ceiling fans, lighting and possibly some computers will need to be replaced.

Bootman said staff members are being questioned by citizens about a timeframe for reopening the facility. She and Mace suggested maybe laying carpet around the shelves to cut down on time and cost, but Harris said it's not an option. The auditor added that it's been 10 years since the carpet has been replaced at the facility, and insurance is covering the cost of the repairs.

Mace said she's kept StoryTime on Wednesdays going in a different location. Parents and children have been meeting at the First Presbyterian Church in Colorado City for the much-anticipated event. StoryTime continues to provide books, a story, craft time and snacks for those attending.

Mace also continues to visit the schools around the county to read to students. She said she has access to approximately 50 students each week, instilling the love of reading and stories.

"The library is important to this community," she said, adding that students can only check out one Accelerated Reader book at a time from the school. However, each student can check out up to 12 at a time from the public library.

Payroll in the amount of $113,596.30 was approved as presented by County Treasurer Jennifer Rivera. Bills totaling $182,632.74 were approved as presented by Harris.

rently being sent to the city. Sales tax rebates have been increasing throughout 2018, and if the voters approve the measure, the State Comptroller Glenn Hegar would begin sending the amount directly to the EDC.

The measure would not affect taxpayers, as the money is already being sent to the city.

Instead, the funds would simply be redirected.

All early voting for the EDC takes place inside City Hall, located at 180 W. 3rd, in Colorado City.

Ballots can be cast early through Friday, November 2nd. Election Day is Tuesday, November 6th.

American citizens but not themselves.

The legislator said that he and every other congressman elected after 1983 have the exact same health insurance choices and retirement benefits as other Americans.

"I have the same retirement benefits from the federal government as the guy retiring from the post office," Conaway said. He went on to say he also flies commercial airlines, just like the majority of Americans.

Conaway also assured citizens that congressmen aren't allowed to "get rich off lobbyists." Not only is it illegal for lawmakers to involve themselves in that type of activity, it's also illegal for the lobbyists to make such offers.

Jim Bell Harris offered an answer to the border situation. He said since President Trump wants to send the military to the Mexican border, he should also send some recruiters to sign up the immigrants. Harris offered that it would be a good trade of a pathway to legal citizenship in return for three years' service in the military.

Woody Anderson asked Conaway to give his forecast of the upcoming mid-term election. The congressman said he thinks it will be a close election between Ted Cruz and Beto O'Rourke. He said he had the opportunity to serve for six years with O'Rourke, and he doesn't think he would be a good fit for Texas. However, Conaway doesn't deny O'Rourke has created a lot of enthusiasm.

Conaway is concerned about that enthusiasm will affect down-ballot races. He said there are four seats in Texas that flip back and forth. The lawmaker said he expects the numbers to look like 225 Republicans and 210 Democrats after the election, but it could possibly be the reverse.

Mark Merrell said he had just read about Canada making marijuana legal across the country and asked how Conaway stands on the issue.

He said he opposes legalization, because data shows more traffic accidents may be a result.

Ray Ritchey asked about the Farm Bill, as there is much more to it than just agriculture. Conaway told those attending that 77% of the Farm Bill is SNAP, the food stamp program. Just 23% of the bill deals with other topics including agriculture.

Conaway said cuts were made to the SNAP program in 2014, and new money has been added to the bill.

Anderson thanked

Conaway for his many town hall meetings. The legislator said he's held 237 town hall meetings this year. Serving as a congressman doesn't come without sacrifice.

He said, at some point during the year, his wife, Suzanne, who was in attendance last week, pointed out that they had spent only 51 nights together out of nearly 150. He showed some emotion as he talked about the great support he gets from his family and how seriously he takes his job as a congressman.

Before the meeting ended,

Conaway shared his personal feelings about this country and its future. He said that God has promised to bless his people who follow his ways. He said there have been 60 million babies aborted in the country.

"We've got to turn the tide," Conaway said. "That's a clear example of a nation headed in the wrong direction."

Urging citizens to pray for our nation and question what they can do to help, the lawmaker ended the meeting to a rousing applause.

Texas College in Snyder when he did a little research on how to get into wrestling. He started talking to Rudy Boy Gonzales in San Antonio who ran a wrestling school with Shawn Michaels back in the early 2000s.

It wasn't long before the young man from C-City made a move to San Antonio. He just wanted to see if he would like wrestling.

Today, Hernandez said he's been in the professional wrestling business for about five years. He said he's talked to several successful veterans of the sport, and wrestling independently is a big draw for him.

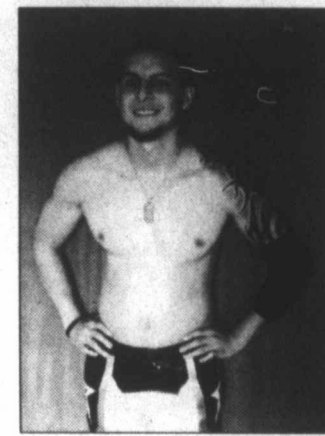

"I think I'd love to be on my own schedule wrestling in different towns and countries throughout my life," Hernandez said. But, there's more to what he wants for his future.

"Well, the ultimate goal for me is to be on national TV someday wrestling for WWE," he said.

Hernandez is excited to be part of the team coming to Colorado City for the event. "I always love coming back to C-City in general. It's home," he said. "Honestly, I've wrestled all around the country, but nothing is going to compare to competing here for this town; not just for family and friends, but just to give the town an event to look forward to. I can't wait!"

General admission is $10 per ticket, with front row seating going for $20 per seat. Visit www.eventbrite.com to get your tickets now.

COMING SOON TO C-CITY... Colorado City native Michael "Max Heights" Hernandez is coming back to wrestle to his hometown with New Texas Pro Wrestling.

The first singles match announcement for Bye Week Beardown is Terrale Tempo vs. Rob Barnes. This is the first time these two men have compete one-on-one, and the two collide in Colorado City for the first time, as Tempo, who is from West Texas, defends the pride of Texas against the Australian Barnes.

CONSERVATIVE MIKE CONAWAY

A FUTURE WE CAN COUNT ON

Our families are succeeding.

Mike Conaway and Republican leaders have been able to make real changes for us.

As a father and grandfather, Mike is concerned about the future we are leaving for our next generation. He is an advocate of simpler and fairer taxes.

Now, our economy and our wallets are looking great. The landmark tax reform plan that Mike Conaway fought for has resulted in more financial freedom for families in Texas.

It hasn't stopped there. 3.7 million new jobs have been created and unemployment is at the lowest level in decades. The economy is booming and shows no signs of slowing down.

Mike has kept his promises to us. Let's promise something to him - that we stay on this path and make an even brighter future.

Stoney and the Spice Girls of Mitchell County 4-H placed 3rd at the National Food Challenge Contest at the State Fair of Texas. Hadley Redwine and Kynzie and Kyler "Stoney" Hardegree have been preparing for the contest for a little over two years.

The team qualified for the competition after placing 1st at Texas 4-H Roundup in the Nutritious Snack Category. In 2017, the team placed 4th at Texas 4-H Roundup which made them more determined than ever to reach their goal of placing first in order to qualify for the National Food Challenge Contest, during their final year as 4-H members.

This year's contest was held at the State Fair of Texas Competition Kitchen so that fair attendees could observe the 4-H chefs that came from all over the United States. As the team took center stage and the timer began, each member was interviewed, making the contest even more challenging. During the Food Challenge Contest, teams are given a mystery set of ingredients and 40 minutes to prepare a recipe. The team is also responsible for a five-minute presentation about nutrition, food preparation, food safety and cost of the dish.

Stoney and the Spice girls will no longer participate in the contest, so they have been giving back by helping train the Mitchell County 4-H Food Challenge teams that will compete at district contest the end of this month.

Gruben speaks to local retired school personnel

Mitchell County Retired School Personnel met for a monthly meeting on October 2nd at La Fe Restaurant. Jason Gruben, director of the MCHD Emergency Medical Service, was the guest speaker for the meeting.

New president Sonja Hanks introduced Gruben, who presented an informative program titled, "Stop the Bleed." He stressed the importance of stopping a bleed quickly following an injury, especially when there is excessive bleeding.

Gruben said an injured person can bleed to death in just a few seconds if bleeding is not stopped. He listed the ABCs of stopping the bleed: A - Alert. Call 911. B - Bleeding. Find the source of the bleed. C - Compress. Hold a clean cloth on the bleed or pack the injury with gauze or cloth.

The EMS director said if the bleeding isn't stopped with packing, a tourniquet should be applied two to three inches above the wound.

Following the program, minutes of a previous meeting were read by secretary Martha Anderson. The treasurer's report was given by Joan Lemons, and committee reports were given by Janet Mayo, Frances Godwin and Karen Riley.

President Hanks gave a report on the fall district meeting held in Midland. She also gave information on the upcoming retirement seminar to be held at Abel Jr. High in Midland on February 9, 2019.

Members in attendance were: Martha Anderson, Sonja Hanks, Nell Gainey, Becky Hudgins, Bobbie Thompson, Marie Ethridge, Dana Partin, Janet Mayo, Bobby Lemons, Joan Lemons, Patty Pharis, Frances Godwin, Bob Dennis, Karen Riley and Mark Merrell.

MAKING TRAVEL MONEY - Hardegree twins, Kynzie and Kyler, set up a table and sold white chocolate popcorn at the Railhead Pumpkin Patch this year. The money they made is going to offset travel expenses to the 4-H Leadership Conference in Washington, D.C.

Ratliff gets paid for watching sports

According to his dad, Mike Ratliff, Colorado City native Cole Ratliff has always been good at math and exhibited impressive memory skills as a child. So, it seems he's found the perfect fit in his career with Sports Info Solutions (SIS) in Coplay, Pennsylvania.

Sports Info Solutions provides sports analytics to 25 of the 32 Major League Baseball teams and five teams in the National Football League. A story in the Lehigh Valley Business online says, "If you've watched a Major League Baseball game in the last 10 years or a National Football League game since 2015, you've likely seen teams that have made choices of plays and players based on Sports Info Solutions' work."

And what the company does goes further than that.

Owners of the data analytics business were pioneers in their field of sabermetrics, which is the application of statistical analysis to evaluate players and to help manage teams.

The public became more aware of sabermetrics when Michael Lewis authored a book titled Moneyball. The book was adapted into a movie that told the story of how Oakland Athletics general manager Billy Beane turned around one of the worst and most underfunded teams using statistics.

In 2015, MLB began producing its own play-by-play data, and SIS offers a product that reviews all plays and data and shows where adjustments and corrections need to be made. The company also has a new product in development to aid in the burgeoning gaming market.

Cole, a senior video scout, is one of 40 full-time employees, who can be found watching baseball and football games at his desk. According to the Lehigh Valley Business story, every professional baseball and football game is recorded on computers at more than 50 workstations and then archived.

SIS developed and now uses a software written by in-house programmers that breaks down each video to 30 frames per second. Ratliff and his colleagues use the software, instead of the old-school method of a stopwatch, to figure times on each part of each play.

Cole majored in Health Education in Sports Science in college. He attended his first winter baseball conference and got many job offers. He chose SIS and had to take a test to get the job. Mike said, ultimately, Cole hopes to be offered a job working for one team full-time.

When you watch ESPN and hear stats coming from the sportscasters, the network got almost all of the statistical information from Sports Info Solutions. The company is ESPN's exclusive stats provider for major college football through 2020.

Cole is employed by a growing business, as SIS continues to engineer software to track what every player does on the field, even down to how the quarterback or pitcher behaves.

He is the son of Mike and Janna Ratliff and lives in Whitehall, Pennsylvania. It's almost time for the winter sports meetings again, and you can bet Cole will be there.

WALK AROUND THE TOWN

By Ginny Harmon

Let's hope November will be better than the last three months. Our friends and family have had their share of illness.

Charleen Hays fell a few months ago and had a serious injury to her leg and ankle. When I see her I am very happy. She and Marion are so sweet together.

Rayanne Carlock had gall bladder surgery. She had a few complications but is back in Mitchell County.

Janet Free fell and had to go into the hospital. They found blood clots in her leg and she is suffering.

Charley Shifflett had shoulder surgery and lost blood. He got four units of blood.

JoAnn Long is sick in the hospital.

So many more... My granddaughter Kim has a serious illness.

Vickie Harmon had hip surgery July 26th. She has been suffering ever since. She is now in Shannon hospital in San Angelo. I hope she can come home by November.

Prayers to all and who I missed.

I've been staying in San Angelo at a motel. I had to bring my dogs and got no sleep of course. One dog would be kissing me, and Terror Dog Doree would growl and start kissing me. We would leave to go to the hospital, and all we heard was barking and growling in every room. But, overall, it was a very quiet room.

I saw Sammy Parham at New Life Bible Ministries. He joined the church. Bro. James Williams has baptized five or six new members in the last few weeks. So many have joined, I can't keep count. What a sermon he had this last Sunday. Each week is better than the week before.

Lily, our wonderful song leader, sang a special Sunday. It was beautiful. I first heard her sing 10 years ago with Charleen Hays. It was so good! I was so impressed!

A big, beautiful squirrel moved into a tree in front of my apartment. I named him/her Junior. That was the name of my first boyfriend. I called him/her that, because the real Junior was so squirrely! Love you all. See you next month.

CCPD adds new member, Mirko, to force

Citizens attending the city council meeting a couple of weeks ago got to meet Mirko. He's one of the latest additions to the Colorado City Police Department and will be assisting with narcotics detection.

Mirko's handler, Officer Dan Brown, brought Mirko to the meeting earlier this month to meet his bosses, members of the city council. The dog is an Austrian Shepherd who is about to receive four weeks of intense training.

Mirko came from K9 Officers, a place in Houston providing assistance to law enforcement departments in obtaining K9s. It is a non-profit organization designed to raise funds to donate police canines, handler training and the necessary equipment for a K9 to perform their job effectively and safely.

Officer Brown picked Mirko up in Houston on September 19th. The dog and his handler have had a few weeks to bond.

The pair are leaving Monday to return to K9 Officers for four weeks of intense training. When Mirko completes his training, he will get his own badge.

Mirko will learn to detect drugs, and Officer Brown will learn to recognize Mirko's signals. Both will be placed in real-life situations after a couple of weeks of training. They will assist with traffic stop searches around Houston.

The K9 Officers website says, "Our K9s are directly responsible for helping seize over $30 million in narcotics!"

Officer Brown said the last week of training will be all about veterinary care. He will learn how to perform CPR on Mirko and other emergency-related tasks, as well as how to recognize common illness-

"Actually, he should never need much emergency help. He'll be going into situations that are already controlled," Brown said, referring to Mirko.

The Mitchell County EMS has been in contact with Officer Brown to offer their help with the K9. The organization will be getting a few pieces of gear that will help care for Mirko if he's ever injured in the line of duty.

It was made clear at the city council meeting Mirko is not an aggressive dog, and none of his training will encourage aggressive behavior. "He's not an attack dog. He'll only be used to find drugs," Brown said.

The pair will return to duty around Thanksgiving, after a short vacation. They will return to K9 Officers yearly for re-certification.

Livestock Show Association buying new panels for annual stock show

The Mitchell County Livestock Show Association board of directors held a meeting September 11th. With almost unanimous support, board members are excited to announce the decision made to purchase a new show ring and new panels for the animals.

According to board members, some of the panels still in use are well over 50 years old and have lost a lot of stability. The new set-up should provide better safety for the kids and animals participating in the Mitchell County Livestock Show.

To off-set cost of the purchase, bids will be taken to sell the current panels after the new ones have arrived.

City National Bank has agreed to finance the purchase, and the board and members will host a series of fundraisers over the next few years to pay off the note as quickly as possible.

"We want to reassure our community, donors, families and supporters that MCLSA will be extra diligent about raising the funds to pay off the purchase money, so that the monetary amounts donated to our show kids are not negatively affected," said MCLSA treasurer Margo Connell. "We have confidence in our community to overwhelmingly support the bettering of our livestock show and the safety of our participants for decades to come."

A fundraising committee has been set up, consisting of Tom Connell, Jeremy Connell, Matt Castillo and Keagan Castillo. Anyone interested in contributing or making suggestions can contact board president Brodie Harris at 325-242-2619.

One suggestion for fundraising was to hold a gun drawing, or, possibly, several gun drawings over the next few months. Preparations are being made, and details of the drawings will be published soon. Another fundraiser being considered is the possibility of holding a shrimp boil next summer.

"We appreciate the support of each agriculture club and school in our county that has committed to this endeavor, and we appreciate each and everyone's support," Margo said.

The livestock show association members are excited about the future of the county's children and the future of the livestock show for generations to come. The show provides opportunities that further the education and teach responsibility to the lives of the young people in Mitchell County.

Hawthorn honored at retirement celebration

Kelli Hawthorn started working at Valley Fair Lodge in 1982, and she never dreamed she'd be celebrating her retirement 36 years later, still employed by the Mitchell County Hospital District. But that's just what she did, as her bosses and colleagues hosted a retirement party for her Friday.

Hawthorn said she's made lifetime friends of many of the residents and staff at Mitchell County Nursing & Rehabilitation Center. She's grateful for all the things she experienced during her three-plus decades of working in a long-term care facility.

When asked what she planned to do with all her free time following her retirement, Hawthorn had one answer: grandbabies. She said she's looking forward to having time to spend with them.

"I'd like to thank the district for all that's been done for me over the years. I'd also like to give a big thanks to Marsha Rickard. She taught me so much," Hawthorn said, as Rickard served for many years as administrator at Valley Fair Lodge.

Library remains closed for repairs

Story Time continues at area church

The Mitchell County Public Library is temporarily closed due to repairs in the building. The community will be informed of reopening as soon as the library staff is able to reopen.

Story Time will continue to be held at 10:00 a.m. on Wednesdays at a new location, the First Presbyterian Church, located at 444 Chestnut Street in Colorado City.

The library staff also plans to participate in the Trick-Or-Treat Around Town and will do so in front of the library building on October 30th.

Applications sought for 2018-19 Match the Promise Foundation

Comptroller Glenn Hegar recently reminded Texans that applications now are being accepted for 2018-19 Texas Match the Promise Foundation awards.

The foundation, in cooperation with the Comptroller's office, encourages Texas families to save for college by offering competitive matching scholarships and tuition grants to Texas students who are beneficiaries of a Texas Tuition Promise Fund* (TTPF) account, the state's prepaid college tuition plan.

Match the Promise scholarships are awarded in the form of TTPF tuition units. Approved recipients can receive matching scholarships of tuition units worth up to $1,000 at today's prices, while top-scoring recipients also can receive one-time grants of tuition units worth $2,000 at today's prices.

Fifth- through ninth-graders who have a TTPF account and whose families have annual incomes of $100,000 or less can apply for the matching scholarships and tuition grants through Dec. 31, 2018. To be considered for an award, students must write a career essay and meet other requirements. Complete details can be found at MatchThePromise.org or by calling 800-531-5441, ext. 3-7570.

Families also can enroll in TTPF during the scholarship application period if they haven't already done so. TTPF allows families to purchase prepaid tuition units at today's prices for tomorrow's tuition and school-wide required fees at Texas public colleges and universities. Get more information at TuitionPromise.org.

Match the Promise is funded by individuals who have donated the cash value of property held in the state's unclaimed property program, as well as by donations from individuals, businesses and organizations and by state employees through the State Employee Charitable Campaign. The foundation is a 501(c)(3) federal tax-exempt public charity and is eligible to receive tax-deductible contributions.

Wolves move to 7-0 with win over Idalou

Two weeks into the District 2-3A campaign, and the talk isn't whether the Colorado City Wolves can put their fingers on the district crown, but rather in what historic fashion the team will accomplish the feat.

Colorado City, thanks to a smash-mouth defensive effort that forced four turnovers and a bruising offensive line, moved a step closer to perfection on Friday night in front of a large crowd at Wolf Stadium by grinding out a 21-7 victory over Idalou. With the victory, the Wolves improved to 7-0 for the season and moved to within three wins of posting the team's first 10-0 season since 2010 — and only the third perfect regular season in the school's history.

More important than the quest for perfection, Colorado City moved into a tie with Abemathy for the top spot in the district standings. Both teams head into this Friday's showdown with identical 2-0 marks.

Idalou, which fell to 1-1 in district, managed to contain the Wolves' offensive arsenal in the first two quarters. The Wildcats eventually crumbled. After holding Colorado City scoreless on its first four possessions of the opening half, Idalou surrendered scores on the Wolves' first two possessions of the second.

The Wildcats' offense did plenty of damage in the first quarter. Idalou rolled up 112 of its 200 rushing yards in the first 12 minutes of play.

Their success on the ground didn't turn into much trouble for the CHS defense. Both of the Wildcats' first two possessions ended in punts.

Things didn't appear to go much better for Idalou in the second. The Wildcats managed to reach midfield on their second series of the frame before they hit the skids. After Jacob Munoz had sidelined IHS starting quarterback Pierce Clary with a hard hit, the Wildcats managed just three more yards before Landon Reeves was called on to punt for the third time.

Unfortunately for Colorado City, the Wildcats caught the game's first break. Idalou recovered a fumble punt at the CHS nine.

Idalou's threat disappeared faster than a David Copperfield quarter. One play after recovering the muffed punt, the Wildcats' gave the ball back. On first down, backup quarterback David Lopez dropped the snap from center. CHS standout David Ornelas recovered the fumble, squashing Idalou's threat before it even got started.

C-City looked as if was going to turn the Wildcats' blunder into points moments later. Sparked by a 27-yard run by Bubba Williams and a 10-yard reception by Tracy Smith, the Wolves marched to the Wildcat 20. Unfortunately for the Wolves, a penalty and a sack pushed the ball back to the IHS 37 and all but ended the drive.

Williams finished the contest as the team's top rusher, netting 77 yards on just 10 carries. Monroe, who also delivered a 19-yard run in the drive, chalked up 76 yards on 19 attempts.

Despite rolling up more than 100 yards of total offense in the first half, C-City was held scoreless in the first half for the first time this season.

The Wolves more than made up for the offensive silence in the third quarter. Colorado City punched its way into the end zone on their first offensive series of the second half.

Zach Thompson capped the Wolves' initial scoring drive in the third. He hauled in a short screen pass to the right flats and then scampered into the end zone, running over Idalou's Marcus Newton at the goal line for the first score of the contest.

Munoz tacked on the extra point kick and put Colorado City on top by a 7-0 clip with 6:51 left in the stanza.

The Wolves extended their lead on their ensuing possession. Marching 54 yards after an Idalou fumble for a 14-0 cushion just seven seconds into the fourth period.

C-City began its second scoring with 1:03 left in the third quarter — moments after Clary had fumbled a punt. Reid Harris scooped up the fumble, giving the Wolves the ball at their own 46.

Two plays later, Harris hauled in a long pass in traffic and pushed the CHS offense to the Wildcat 5. On the first play of the fourth quarter, Munoz finished off the drive with a stellar play. Taking a pitch on a reverse, Munoz sprinted around the right side before pulling up and lofting a pass to Smith on the corner of the end zone.

Munoz's completion was one of six by the Wolves against the Idalou defense. Monroe led all C-City passers by hitting on five of his 11 throws for 122 yards.

Colorado City all but sewed up the victory minutes later when Akimas Clarrett powered his way into the end zone, turning another Idalou turnover into the Wolves' third touchdown in a 15-minute span.

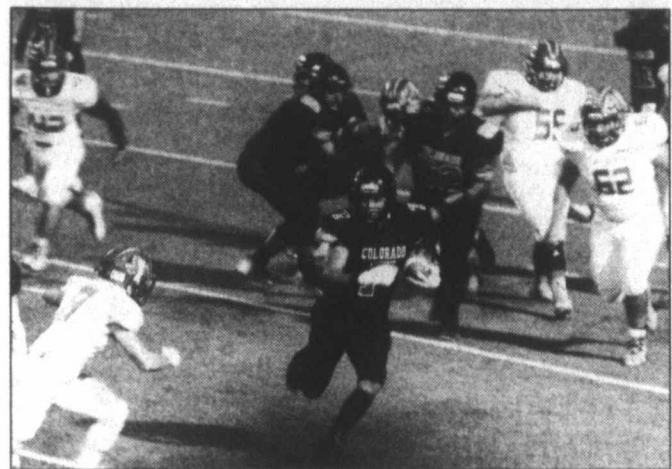

Clarrett received plenty of help up front on the scoring play. Lining up in the I-formation, Clarrett took a pitch from Monroe and then followed a devastating cut block by Anthony Silva on the Wildcat's defensive end that enable Clarrett to waltz in for the score.

Idalou, now 5-2 overall, managed to avoid the shutout later in the fourth. The Wildcats' lone score came via 1-yard keeper by Clary with 5:19 left in the matchup.

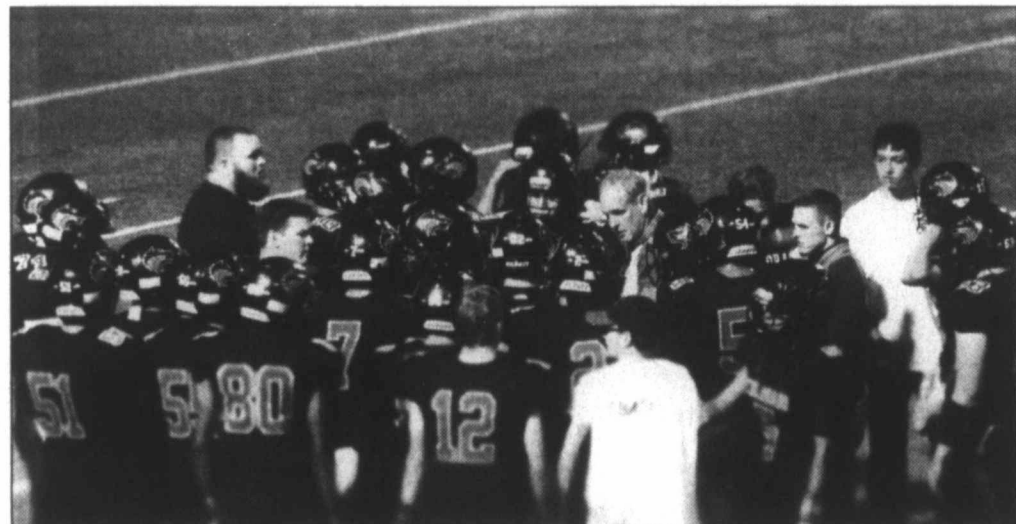

As a team, the Wolves' offense overpowered Idalou. C-City finished the contest with 291 yards, including 154 on the ground via 42 rushing attempts. Idalou had just 219 total yards.

Wolves, Abernathy set to battle for district lead

First place in the district standings will be on the line Friday night when Colorado City travels to Abernathy in a key District 2-3ADII football game.

Abernathy and Colorado City are the only undefeated teams in the district and with only three weeks left in the regular season. The winner of Friday's game will be in the driver's seat to claim the district title.

New to District 2-3ADII this year, Abernathy has been a Class 2A powerhouse for years. The Antelopes were 9-2 last season and return nine players who were All-District selections last year.

Included in the impressive list of returning players is two-time All-District MVP quarterback Bryson Daily. Daily is the son of Coach Darrell Daily and only a junior. He was selected the pre-season district offensive MVP. Injured earlier this year, he appears to be back 100% and could be a real challenge for the Wolves.

Abernathy comes into the game with a 6-1 (2-0) record and has been tapped a touchdown favorite by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. Their only loss was a 28-6 loss to Wellington early in September.

Victories over Coahoma (34-7), River Road (56-15), Sundown (48-28), Post (35-9) Littlefield (45-0) and Stanton (59-7) prove a challenge is certainly in order for the Wolves as they attempt to slow down a very potent offense.

Friday night's game is the midway point in the district schedule as the Wolves play Coahoma next week at home and closeout the district schedule the following week traveling to Stanton.

The winner of Friday's game in Abernathy certainly has a leg-up in the district race with only two remaining games. Friday's contest kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m. and a large contingent of Wolves' fans are expected to show up and support them in Abernathy.

LADY WRANGLER EPPERSON – Former Colorado High volleyball standout Taylor Epperson (center) cheers her team on during the Cisco College Lady Wranglers' game against cross-county rival Ranger on October 3rd. Epperson is the daughter of Jeremy and Valerie Epperson.

UNDEFEATED! The Westbrook Junior High football team improved their record to 6-0 last Thursday with a 14-6 win over Sterling City. The Wildcats will travel to Garden City this week, with B team game kicking off at 4 p.m., followed by the A team game. Here, Colton Walters (5), Hadley White (15), and John Michael Martinez (44) take down a Sterling City runner. Photo courtesy of Kaci Rainbolt

- Alina Hernandez – 1 dig, 4 kills
- Destiny Garza – 2 digs, 1 kill, 2 aces
- Harlee Haag – 3 digs, 1 kill, 2 aces
- Kristina Parker – 4 digs, 5 sets, 2 assists, 1 block, 8 kills, 3 aces
- Madison Sims – 10 digs, 1 set, 1 assist, 2 aces
- Mallory Kern – 1 dig, 19 sets, 6 assists, 1 ace
- Mia Monroe – 8 digs, 32 sets, 13 assists, 2 kills, 8 aces
- Morgan Muñoz – 3 sets, 3 blocks, 4 kills
- Taleya James – 1 block, 3 kills

The Lady Wolves finished up district play in Jim Ned on Tuesday, October 23rd.

SWATTING THE HORNETS – There's no doubt in the mind of Loraine's Malaki Williams (22) that blocking is key in football. Williams managed to gain ground for the Bulldogs, as Davion Walthall and Wrangler Little blocked Blackwell defenders in the game last week. The young Bulldogs beat the Hornets 48-13.
