Mass Meeting Called For Friday Night To Protest Gas Company's Proposal

CITY SYSTEM SUGGESTED AS ONE SOLUTION

People Will Not Submit To High Charges, Says Fischer

ASKS CONDEMNATION

Gas Users Invited to Meet Friday Night To Take Action

A mass meeting of the citizenship of Wichita Falls will be held at the Memorial auditorium Friday night to answer the Municipal Gas company's proposed new schedule of rates, it was announced Wednesday by F. W. Fischer, one of the leaders of the fight for lower rates.

Mr. Fischer returned to Wichita Falls Wednesday from a business trip to Cleburne, and said that arrangements for a program of speeches Friday night would be completed Thursday. Several conferences were held Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Fischer said, and the decision reached to call the meeting Friday to inform the gas company "of the temper of the people of Wichita Falls in regard to the insult which has been given us."

Answer Called "Insult"

The company's proposed new schedule was submitted to the city council Monday night, following a demand of the council early in May giving the company 30 days to provide for lower rates. The formal statement submitted to the council declared that "while no reduction in rates was justified under present conditions," the company desired to make "concessions to retain the good will of the people of Wichita Falls." A proposed sliding scale rate eliminated the 50-cent service charge but levied a small increase in rates on 92 per cent of the consumers here and granted reductions to the remaining 8 per cent.

"The answer of the gas company to the demand of the city council to reduce its rates is an insult to our citizenship," Mr. Fischer declared.

"Our council acted in good faith when it demanded of the gas company that it reduce its rates to 50 cents per thousand cubic feet, for it has been repeatedly shown that upon this price the gas company can make a gross profit of at least $1,300 per day and allow $300 per day for overhead expenses. This would allow $1,000 per day profit, or interest at 10 per cent on an investment of $3,650,000 or 20 per cent upon the amount that the company actually has invested in Wichita Falls."

Condemnation of the local distribution system and its operation by the city of Wichita Falls was advocated by Mr. Fischer.

Huge Panhandle Wheat Harvest To Be Two Weeks Later This Year

Late Spring Freezes Delay Gathering of Crop in Plains Counties North and West of Wichita Falls

AMARILLO, Texas, June 3. (AP)—Delayed somewhat by late spring freezes and recent heavy rains throughout most of the territory, the wheat harvest in the Texas Panhandle will not begin until about June 20.

A compartively small amount of the acreage in lower West Texas, on the South Plains and in the lower Panhandle, lying north of Wichita Falls, will be ready for harvest by June 10, but the bulk of the crop will be harvested during the last week of June and the first week of July.

Counties lying north of Lubbock are said to have 2,650,000 acres planted to wheat, and estimates of the yield range from 35 million to 45 million bushels. The yield per acre is estimated at from 15 to 20 bushels, or from four to six bushels above the average Panhandle crop.

Estimates of the yield still vary because of an undetermined amount of damage resulting from the late freezes and dry weather in scattered sections. Much of the grain is said to be blighted in spots, and some farmers are cutting it for hay.

Grain men say that early estimates of the Panhandle yield are unreliable because of the great amount of damage that may result from hot winds and hail before harvest time. Damage from hail so far has been negligible.

Every piece of harvest machinery available, including binders discarded in recent years, will be put into use to handle the big crop. Harvest costs will be the lowest on record.

SEVEN NAMED ON RILEY JURY

Second Venire Ordered in Slaying Trial

Seven jurors for the trial of Barney Riley on a murder charge had been selected before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court Wednesday afternoon when court recessed until Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

Following the examination of approximately 28 veniremen, Deputy Sheriff Pat Allen was sworn in by the court to summon 30 additional talesmen for appearance by 9 o'clock Thursday morning, when the selection of five more jurymen will begin.

Continuance Denied

Riley stands charged with murder in connection with the death of Tom Hardin, Oklahoma ex-service man, about Oct. 1 of last year. A motion of the defense Wednesday for continuance was overruled by the court. The trial had been postponed twice previously, once at the request of the state and once on motion of the defense. Wednesday's plea for a third continuance was based on alleged absence of certain material defense witnesses.

Examination of veniremen immediately revealed the state's purpose to seek a conviction on circumstantial evidence. Of the 40 men present Wednesday afternoon of a special venire of 100 originally summoned, several were excused for legal reasons, but a large number were disqualified because of

Great Plains Road Association Names Heads in Childress Meet

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Texas, June 3.—The seventh annual convention of the Great Plains Highway association adjourned Wednesday afternoon after election of officers for the coming year. J. V. Romigh, North Platte, Neb., was elected president; R. T. Shindler, Perryton, Texas, vice president; A. P. Whitney, Murdo, South Dakota, vice president; E. C. Kelso, North Platte, Neb., secretary and treasurer. Garden City, Kan., was selected as the meeting place of the association in 1932.

Among the resolutions passed was one insisting the highway south of Abilene, Texas, should pass through Coleman, Brady, San Antonio to Laredo, and under no circumstances should this routing be changed. A portion of this route has not been designated as a federal highway, but this action is expected within a short time.

Reports given by delegates from South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas were to the effect a large amount of work had been done on the highway during the past year, and that finances were assured for additional work this year.

The convention closed with a chicken barbecue given by Childress citizens and held at Fair park.

HARVEST FETE AT GRANDFIELD

Community Frolic Draws Great Crowd

Special to The Record News

GRANDFIELD, Okla., June 3.—Grandfield threw itself wholeheartedly into an old-time community frolic Wednesday, rejoicing in a harvest festival that celebrated the biggest grain crop in the history of the section. Four thousand men, women and children swamped the city and Reed park, joining uproariously in quaint contests and diverting races.

The big feature of the day was the picturesque parade from the Ford plant to the park. In it Bill Yearnell won his laurels as the "tackiest" man, sharing the distinction with Mrs. J. P. Watkins as the "tackiest" woman. Preston Hudman was proclaimed the ugliest man and, by careful measurement, Mrs. Lonie Dodson was held to possess the longest hair. A. J. Palmer took the prize in the laughing contest.

Judges said J. A. Merritt presented the most comic horse-powered rig and Troy Huffington the most laughable motor vehicle. With approximately 30 passengers jammed in his car, J. B. Crossland took the cake for the best filled car. The oldest automobile, a decrepit 1911 model Ford, was driven by Miss Clara Belle Fox occupied by three other pretty girls.

Prize-winning race horses, artistically garbed in modish trousers, were ridden by Garland Crain, who placed first, and Ira Miller, second.

In the races at the park, Moore Clark and Loyd Crabtree were winners in the boys' sack race and Lorine Crow and Lois Polk outran all the other entries. Carl Moore was first and Ernest McCullough second in the one-legged race. J. C. Crossland was winner and Woodrow Jones runnerup in the potato event.

The registry at the free motion picture show revealed 1,500 guests during the day. Barton Dunning, Wichita Falls, director of the band, kept his boys busy all afternoon. All business houses closed their doors between 1 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon and afterwards offered an array of bargains. Free ice cream cones were served at the park.

WIDELY KNOWN BANKER KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Wichitan Describes Jurist As Chief Figure in Western Texas

FRONTIER SETTLER

Judge Kinder Prominent in Highway Improvement Projects of Area

Former District Judge L. S. Kinder, Plainview, instantly killed in an automobile crash near Melrose, N. M., Tuesday night, for many years had been one of the most significant figures in the development of the Panhandle-Plains area and was widely known to the bar and to civic improvement organizations in Wichita Falls.

Judge Kinder was killed when the automobile in which he was riding with Fred Lowe, Plainview, crashed into the trailer of a truck on the highway near Melrose. Judge Kinder's neck was broken. Lowe was unhurt, Lowe told investigators that neither the truck nor the trailer bore lights. Two men were asleep in the truck at the time of the collision.

Bank President

John Boswell, manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce and an intimate friend of Judge Kinder, Wednesday styled the judge as one of the most important men in the history of the Plainview section. He was president of the Plainview National bank at the time of his death, had been president of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce during several terms, and originated and supported numerous civic development projects throughout the territory. Already well known in Wichita Falls through his position as one of the leading attorneys of North Texas, Judge Kinder added to his friends in this section through his work as president of the United States Highway 70 association, running east and west through this city.

His last visit to Wichita Falls came two months ago, Mr. Boswell said. At that time the judge, always a friend to ambitious youth,

Child Killed When Loaded Bus Hits Gate

HOUSTON, June 3. (UP)—A young member of the Girl Builders was killed today and two girls were injured when a bus in which 320 girls were being taken on a tour, brushed by a gate of the Standard rice mills here.

The girl, Lydia Bell Moulds, 12, stuck her head out of the window as the bus passed through the gate on an inspection tour of the city's industrial plants. Her head was crushed by a gate post, and two other girls who were looking out the window, Velma Morrison, and Mary Gilley, were injured.

Aimee's Protagonist Asks Divorce Decree

RENO, Nev., June 3. (US)—Dr. John Goben, former pastor for Aimee Semple McPherson at her Angelus temple in Los Angeles and later her accuser in a financial row which reached the grand jury, today filed suit for divorce here.

The former temple executive, ousted by Mrs. McPherson in 1929, accused his wife, Sophronia, of extreme cruelty. She is now in Luces, Iowa, where he left her eight months ago. They were married in Charlton, Iowa, in 1903.

Reserve Stockholders Assemble at Dallas

DALLAS, June 3. (AP)—Lynn P. Talley of Dallas, governor of the 11th district of the Federal Reserve bank, in addressing nearly 200 Texas and New Mexico bankers today asserted that conditions in the district were good compared with those in other sections of the United States.

The bankers were here for the annual stockholders' meeting of the 11th district Federal Reserve bank.

Chicago Jobless Balk At 'Snooping' Offer

CHICAGO, June 3. (US)—A local Scotland yard is reported as finding little favor among detectives. Capt. William Schoemaker, named to head the new secret service division, is said to have invited 60 men to complete his staff and all but nine refused the post. The men are quoted as preferring to pound the pavements rather than become "pipers" or official stool pigeons.

JOPLIN, Mo., June 3. (AP)—Release by Joplin of the Western association of Neal Baker, a pitcher formerly with the Texas league, was announced today.

'Average Price' Will Guide Humble Co. In East Texas Purchases

HOUSTON, June 3. (AP)—Still dissatisfied with the production situation in East Texas, which it again termed "chaotic," the Humble Oil and Refining company took new steps of protest today.

Humble followed cuts in Texas oil prices, made yesterday by the Texas company in response to the Midcontinent reduction set in motion by the Stanolind Crude Oil Purchasing company; withdrew its posted prices from East Texas and sent to sellers of crude and royalty owners there a letter saying the company hereafter would pay "what we interpret to be the average current selling price." Where contracts have been made, however, the contract prices will obtain.

Set, Price Impossible

The letter said the "lack of any general observed or enforced program for orderly production has created such chaotic conditions that it is impossible to determine in advance what the fair price for crude in this field is or should be."

It ended with the statement that any one in the area not wishing to continue selling oil to Humble on the new basis should "advise us promptly."

It was the Humble which touched off the series of price reductions. Last week the corporation cut East Texas crude prices down to a high of 37 cents a barrel and a low of 25 cents—the figures adopted by Stanolind and other purchasers for Midcontinent. When the original downward revision was ordered, President W. S. Farish of Humble issued a statement saying proration had failed in East Texas and estimating even then, that there might be further steps if the situation, as he saw it, did not improve.

Continue Buying

The belief that Humble would continue to buy in the field was of-

ATLAS WITHDRAWS

LONGVIEW, Texas, June 3. (AP)—J. G. Gombert, manager here of the Atlas Pipeline company, an extensive purchaser and carrier of East Texas oil, announced that effective immediately the company had withdrawn its posted price for East Texas crude.

Gombert said the step was in line with the action taken by other crude purchasers in the East Texas territory.

The Magnolia Petroleum company today also met the new reduction in East Texas prices but will continue to post prices in the area.

Curtis Holds Tongue During Chicago Visit

CHICAGO, June 3. (US)—Vice President Charles Curtis had plenty of smiles but no conversation while here today en route to Topeka, Kan.

"I can make no statement on public matters," he said. "You should know the vice president leaves the talking to the president."

Mr. Curtis said that he did not know at this time whether or not he would be a candidate for re-election but promised to "decide between now and the first of the year."

Seas Too Rough for Salvaging of Steamer

LOS ANGELES, June 3. (US)—With seas too rough for salvage work and conditions "very serious," Capt. Louis B. Hillsinger of the wrecked passenger steamer Harvard left the stranded vessel today for the first time since she went aground off Point Arluello early Saturday morning.

It was explained, however, that the Harvard is not considered abandoned under salvage rules, since Captain Hillsinger, his first mate, radio operator and engineer are aboard a cutter standing by the wreck.

U. S. Musician Regains Passport From Italy

MILAN, Italy, June 3. (US)—Arturo Toscanini, conductor of the New York Philharmonic Symphony orchestra, was today given possession of his passport, confiscated two weeks ago by the government.

It is understood that there is now nothing to prevent the conductor from leaving Italy whenever he desires. He is scheduled to open this year's Wagnerian festival at Bayreuth, Saturday.

DECISION NEAR

Sterling to Make Up His Mind on Extra Session Soon

AUSTIN, June 3. (AP)—Gov. R. S. Sterling said today he still was undecided about calling a special session of the legislature to consider a bill to strengthen the right of the railroad commission to prevent oil and gas wastage.

The governor indicated he would make a decision about a special session this week.

The governor conferred with an informal committee of the legislature returned recently from a trip through the East Texas oil field. He said members of the group informed him that sentiment to accept proration and abide by the orders of the railroad commission was growing in the East Texas field.

STOCKS STAGE SHARP RALLIES

Grain Prices Drop When U. S. Quits Buying

CHICAGO, June 3. (US)—All deliveries of wheat sold at new low prices today on the crop, and to the lowest levels in 30 years, under general selling and liquidation which found little buying support.

The decline was caused by an announcement credited to Chairman James C. Stone, of the farm board, that the stabilization corporation had withdrawn its support of cash wheat because the new crop had started to move in the Southwest.

STOCK MARKET RALLIES STRONGLY

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—The stock market treated itself today to the strongest rally in almost a year.

In a turnover of 3,300,000 shares, equity securities of the country's leading corporations, battered by a three-months' decline, bounced up $3 to $8 net as shorts scrambled to cover during the afternoon hour.

Sentiment Cheered

Although brokerage houses felt the recovery might not be more than a technical rebound after a period of heavy selling, sentiment was cheered by the change in trend. The advance averaged $7.20 for 90 stocks, the largest net gain since June 19, 1930, when the market temporarily revived from a spring drive on prices. The improvement that day average $7.40 a share.

Two constructive developments influenced the rally. First, there was the news that the government would not oppose further, by carrying an appeal, the merger of Standard Oil of New York and Vacuum Oil company into the Billion Dollar General Petroleum corporation.

Lenient Attitude Seen

Wall street placed a constructive interpretation on this decision, holding that it indicated a more lenient attitude not only toward possible consolidations of the old Standard Oil units, which have been forced to paddle their own canoes while independent companies were merging, but toward unions in other lines. Any steps that would strengthen the oil industry by eliminating duplications, effecting more orderly production permitting fair profits, would be welcomed.

The other event was the announcement that the big New York banks had decided to cut margin requirements on collateral loans to brokers to 20 per cent from 25 per cent. This meant that the loan value on acceptable stock exchange securities had been lifted to 80 per cent from 75, and was viewed as reflecting a belief in banking circles that such stocks were conservatively priced.

MINOR QUARREL CLIMAXED BY FARM TRAGEDY

Aged Father Injures Son, Kills Daughter-in-Law And Himself

DISPUTE OVER WATER

Young Mother Tells Of Tragedy at Family's Dinner Hour

Two persons were killed and another was seriously wounded in a triple shooting at Bridgetown, 10 miles west of Burkburnett about 10 o'clock Wednesday night.

Mrs. William Warren, 20, was shot through the heart and instantly killed by her father-in-law, Henry Warren, 55, after he had shot her husband through the thigh. The elder Warren a short time later sent a bullet into his own brain, dying instantly, according to George Anderson, assistant district attorney, who accompanied a party of officers to the farm home after the tragedy.

Son to Recover

William Warren, the son, was in a Burkburnett hospital and his condition was believed to be not critical.

Mr. Anderson questioned Mrs. Eula Lowe, sister of the slain woman and an eyewitness to the shooting. Mrs. Lowe said the elder Warren fired all of the shots with a .38 caliber Colt's revolver. Other than a brief quarrel earlier in the day between the father and the young couple, Mrs. Lowe was unable to assign any reason for the act.

Early in the afternoon the Warrens had had a dispute over the hauling of water to the house, Mrs. Lowe said. The quarrel was of short duration and apparently had been forgotten a short time afterward, she said.

Refuses to Eat

When the occupants of the house gathered for the evening meal, Mr. Anderson was told, some one asked the father if he cared to eat.

"No, I won't eat," he replied.

He then drew the pistol and began shooting, according to Mrs. Lowe.

William Lowe was the first struck. With the wound in his leg, he ran from the house. Then his wife was shot. Mrs. Lowe said she took her baby in her arms and fled, fearing for their lives.

Neighbors rushed to the house and found Warren walking rapidly from room to room, waving the pistol. Bill Garland, Burkburnett chief of police, and N. T. Sanders, constable, arrived just as Warren fired the final shot. He was dead when the officers reached his body.

Mrs. Lowe told Mr. Anderson that the other occupants of the house did not know the elder Warren was carrying a gun and could not explain where he had gotten it.

Besides Mr. Anderson, officers from Wichita Falls who went to the farm were Sheriff Perry Browning and Deputies Pat Allen and E. L. Kincaid.

'Poison House' Charges Reach Grand Jury Today

CHICAGO, June 3. (US)—State's attorneys tomorrow will go before the grand jury seeking indictments against Mrs. Margaret Summers charged with the death of her husband and three others. It is charged she killed them to collect on insurance policies. Special investigators are also working to determine the cause of death of 15 other relatives of the woman during the last 30 years.

Bishop Cannon Sues Congressman for Libel

WASHINGTON, June 3. (US)—Asking $500,000 damages, Bishop James Cannon Jr., today filed a libel suit against Representative George Holden Tinkham, Republican, of Massachusetts.

The suit grows out of a speech Tinkham made on the floor of the house last June, in which he accused the bishop of having violated the corrupt practices act in waging his anti-Smith campaign in 1928.

Wichita to Post Cash Prizes for Best Grain Displays at Festival

A three-day harvest festival and grain exhibtion will be held here late in June under the auspices of the retail trade division of the chamber of commerce, it was announced Wednesday by Jack Barnard, chairman, following a meeting of directors of the division.

Cash prizes will be awarded for the best displays of bundled wheat and oats and for pecks of threshed grain. Cash prizes will also be awarded for displays of rye and barley. Entries may be made from any county in Texas or Oklahoma whose residents are served by retail merchants of Wichita Falls.

Local merchants will display merchandise of a nature in keeping with the harvest season. In addition to grain exhibits special decorations of store windows will be had. Bundled grain will form a great part of the window showings.

The festival will be held in the old J. C. Penney location on Eighth street between Scott and Indiana avenues. Preparation for the event and the selection of a definite date has been placed in the hands of a special committee appointed Wednesday by Mr. Barnard. The committee is composed of R. S. Fidler, J. L. Eggleston and John W. Thomas.

During the festival special entertainment attractions will be presented by local theaters and amusement parks, it was said.

PLAINS MOURNS JUDGE KINDER

Pioneer Jurist Killed in Car Crash

came here to arrange for the production of an advertising device invented by a young Plainview man.

Early Settler

The Kinder family was among the first permanent white settlers of the Panhandle plains territory, Mr. Boswell said, and Judge Kinder has been a leader for more than 40 years. In the old days his jurisdiction as district judge covered a wide territory and his horse-and-buggy tours, often guided at night by the stars alone, are tradition through the area.

Active in political affairs, both locally and in the state and nation, a delegate to the national Democratic conventions on several occasions, Judge Kinder nevertheless declined to run for public office after his retirement from the bench in 1912.

Mr. Boswell said his name was repeatedly mentioned for high political posts, but the judge confined himself to his wide business and civic interests.

Kell Associate

He was associated at one time with Frank Kell in the extension of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad into the Plains country and was an intimate of young J. H. Barwise, Fort Worth attorney for the road.

Among his hobbies was the collection of historical data about the country where he spent his life and he gave many rare books and relics to the Canyon museum established by the Panhandle-Plains Historical society. He moved to the section before the incorporation of Plainview and became a resident of the community when its population was limited to about 25 families, Mr. Boswell said.

Judge Kinder organized the first bank at Plainview and was a backer of every enterprise for civic improvement throughout the state for almost half a century. He was an active Rotarian and Shriner and connected with other civic and fraternal organizations.

It is expected that several Wichita Falls friends will attend the funeral services.

ACCIDENT VERDICT

PLAINVIEW, Texas, June 3. (AP)—A cornoer's jury summoned by Assistant District Attorney Everett Grantham late today returned a verdict that the death of former District Judge L. S. Kinder of Plainview in an automobile crash last night near Melrose, N. M., was accidental.

The coroner's jury reported that the truck struck by Judge Kinder's car had been moved as closely to the side of the road as possible and that the driver was not responsible for the accident.

Estelle Taylor May Fight Jack's Divorce

LOS ANGELES, June 3. (US)—Possibility of a contested divorce action between Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, and his wife, Estelle Taylor, appeared likely today.

Josh Scott, attorney for Miss Taylor, was en route home from Reno where he had held a conference with Dempsey and his attorney.

According to Reno advices the conference failed to bring about any agreement as to which of the two principals will start the divorce action.

DOCTORS APPROVE TASTY FOODS

Often Recommend the Use of Sugar to Flavor Essential Foods

Doctors realize that essential foods composing the balanced diet are more eagerly eaten when they are made tasty by thoughtful cooking and seasoning.

As a matter of fact, doctors often suggest the use of sugar in seasoning vegetables such as spinach, peas and tomatoes. They are also in favor of sprinkling sugar on cereals or adding it to fruits that are too tart or lacking in flavor.

In vegetable cookery, a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is a popular rule. Some cooks mix equal parts of salt and sugar together and keep it within reach. This combination can also be used to season meat stews or pot-roasts—also vegetable soups.

These suggestions regarding sugar apply to children's diet as well as adults'. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Former Wichitan Named District Attorney of New Judicial Section

Eugene F. Mathis, former Wichita Falls attorney now of San Angelo, has been appointed district attorney for the newly created 119th judicial district in West Texas, it was learned here Wednesday. The appointment was announced by Governor Sterling.

The new district comprises the counties of Coleman, Concho, Runnels and Tom Green. The district becomes operative in August, when Mr. Mathis will take office.

Mr. Mathis is the son of Mrs. Dixie Mathis and a brother of Ralph P. Mathis of Wichita Falls. Ralph Mathis is president of the Wichita Bar association. Eugene Mathis attended the University of Texas and practiced law in Wichita Falls several years before moving to San Angelo about four years ago.

Impeachment Case Argued

Tennessee House Debates Horton Charges

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 3. (AP)—Demands for impeachment of Gov. Henry H. Horton and charges efforts to oust him from office were inspired by political motives were heard in the Tennessee house of representatives today as debate opened on the first impeachment articles against him.

Conspiracy with Col. Luke Lea, publisher, and Rogers Caldwell, financier, to let them control certain governmental departments in exchange for their political support and the influence of their newspapers was charged to the governor in the first article. Fifty of the 99 house votes are required to indict him.

"This article prints the picture of the rotten condition of state affairs for the last four years," said Representative John Tipton, starting off the debate with a plea the governor be indicted and arraigned before the senate for trial.

"Strike down this damnable monster of prejudice and kill the thing dead," countered Representative W. Y. Boswell, heading the forces seeking to prevent impeachment.

Boswell said he agreed with Tipton about "a conspiracy" but added:

"That conspiracy is nothing more and nothing less than an attempt to overthrow the state government in Tennessee and seize the reins of that government by a few political and ambitious men of this state."

Bandit Commands Girl Victim to Say Prayer

LOS ANGELES, June 3. (US)—"Open the cash register and say the Lord's Prayer," ordered the bandit with the wicked looking gat as he entered a hosiery shop and confronted Ellen Sitko, clerk.

The girl complied with the order.

"And now," the bandit later directed, "go in the back room and say the Lord's Prayer for five minutes."

The girl obeyed to the last amen.

RIOT EVIDENCE CLOSES TODAY

Ranger to Testify in Trial Of Sherman Case

AUSTIN, June 3. (AP)—Witnesses came to the stand in rapid sucession in district court here today as the state and defense presented their cases in the arson trial of J. B. McCasland, 19, charged with participation in the burning of the courthouse at Sherman May 9, 1930.

Both sides had concluded direct testimony when the day's session ended and the senate had offered one of its rebuttal witnesses. Completion of testimony was expected tomorrow.

Three state witnesses testified they saw McCasland and another boy carrying a can a few minutes before the fire started. H. L. Doggett said he was certain the can contained gasoline. Bart Shipp, then deputy sheriff, stated he saw McCasland with the can about four feet from the courthouse. A few seconds later he saw the same or a similar can shoved through a courthouse window and saw liquid come from it, he said.

Two defense witnesses, Jake and Joe McDonald, brothers, testified McCasland was with them and a youth named Gross across the street from the courthouse for some time before they noticed the fire. Jake McDonald said McCasland had been there 15 or 20 minutes and Joe McDonald testified the defendants had been with them about an hour.

The question of how many cans of gasoline were poured into the old courthouse before it went up in flames was an important one for the jury to decide. Each of 22 defense witnesses said he saw a can being carried across the lawn and McCasland was not helping to carry it.

Elbert and Miss Dexter Purdom, brother and sister of Webb Purdom one of the other 13 defendants, and Mrs. Leslie Cole, wife of another, were among the 24 witnesses. Two other women testified for the defense.

Ranger to Testify

The state offered direct testimony from only three witnesses. Jim McCoy, one of the state rangers at Sherman at the time of the mob violence, was expected to testify first tomorrow.

Circumstances leading to or following the burning of the courthouse were not mentioned today. J. A. Carlisle, defense attorney, twice tried to bring them in but J. D. Moore, district judge held they were irrelevant.

A mob burned the Grayson county courthouse after it had been impeded in its effort to lynch the negro attacker of a white woman. This and subsequent acts of violence attracted national attention. The negro died in the courthouse fire. This was the first trial on any of the charges arising from the disturbance.

DUCE TO FIGHT ANTI-FASCISTS

Catholic Group Named in Ultimatum

ROME, June 3. (AP)—Premier Mussolini today declared war on anti-Fascism in Italy, "under whatever banner," and, according to news from the vatican at least one of the Catholic action society leaders was under arrest.

The one Catholic action leader who was named by the vatican as having been arrested was an attorney named Corsanego. It was said he probably soon would be on his way to political exile on the island of Lipari.

Other reports said a dozen of the Catholic action leaders had been arrested in various cities. It was said they were men who had opposed Fascism previously.

Order Issued

Premier Mussolini's "declaration of war," against anti-Fascists was made at a special meeting of a small body of Fascist leaders which formed the directorate of the party. The premier presided at the meeting and it was said he definitely mentioned the Catholic action society.

Orders were issued to the 9,000 Fascist groups in Italy, with more than one million active members, to be guided by the thought that Fascism "is firmly determined not to permit whatever remained of anti-Fascism, and which thus far lar settlement period during which has been spared, to find refuge and protection."

The groups were told that those who gave their lives for Fascism "demanded that it be defended at any cost."

Catholic Group Charged

The directorate charged some sections of the Catholic Action society had ben "openly and surrepitiously hostile" to Fascism.

With this blunt statement of policy the duce and his groun of leaders began to formulate plans to take into Fascism's fold the young Catholics from the dissolved groups.

Catholic youths who may wish to join the Fascist clubs, however, would have to hurry, it was said, because a time limit has been placed on recruiting in some sections.

In a speech to the college of chaplains of immigrants, reported today in the newspaper Osservatore Romano, Pope Pius XI was quoted as having said last night that the dissolution of the catholic youth clubs violated the right of the church to form and guide young people and that it also violated the natural law, "made for the good of souls."

Pope Protests

He denounced the government's official communique, which asserted Catholic societies "not directly connected with the national Fascist party" had been dissolved, "without the slightest incident."

Referring to the phrase "without the slightest incident," the pontiff declared:

"That expression is worth a treasure. It is enough to think of all the incidents, the irrevereances, indecencies and vandalism in Rome and in smaller cities; in the edifices which enjoy extra-territoriality. It is enough to consider the offenses of the person of the supreme pontiff.

"This procedure of disolution was not taken by legal means because the Catholic Action society is under the protection of the concordat, which has become the law of the state and is supported by a bi-lateral pact. This was taken under orders from the police."

New Suspension Bridge Collapses, Killing 15

BORDEAUX, France, June 3. (AP) The collapse of a new suspension bridge during an official test of its strength today caused the death of 15 persons and the injury of 37 others near Libourne.

Witnesses of the tragedy said two sand-laden trucks, sent to test the structure, collided and their weight caused the bridge to sag and snap, participants in the inauguration ceremonies were hurled headlong into the rapid waters below.

Humble Meets East Texas Cut

ficially confirmed this afternoon. The Humble sent the following letter, under signature of Vice President R. L. Blaffer, to sellers of crude and royalty owners in East Texas:

"The lack of any general observed or enforced program for orderly production in East Texas has created such chaotic conditions that it is impossible to determine in advance what the fair price for crude in this field is or should be."

"In consequence, we have today withdrawn our posted price for crude in this area.

Average Figure Rules

"For all the oil run and purchased from you subsequent to 7 a. m., this date until further notice, we will pay what we interpret to be the average current selling price for oil sold from this field during the regu- the oil is run, exclusive of oil sold under contracts made prior to 7 a. m., this date.

"If for any reason you do not desire us to continue purchasing your oil on this basis, please advise us promptly."

GULF PIPE LINE JOINS REDUCTION

HOUSTON, June 3. (AP)—The Gulf Pipe Line company late today met the crude oil price reductions posted by the Texas company and the Humble in response to mid-continent cuts begun by the Stanolind Crude Oil Purchasing company Monday and adopted by other purchasers. The Gulf, however, did not discontinue East Texas postings, as Texas and Humble had done. Gulf, like Humble, made 35 the top gravity, at 55 cents for the gulf coast. Otherwise it followed the Texas schedule.

PENN CRUDE OIL PRICES LOWERED

PITTSBURGH, June 3 (AP)—Pennsylvania grade crude oil was reduced to the lowest price since Aug. 13, 1915, today. Cuts of 25 and 15 cents a barrel were announced by leading purchasing agencies here.

The new prices:

Bradford and Allegany $1.75; Pennsylvania grade in national transit lines $1.50; Pennsylvania grade in Southwest Pennsylvania lines $1.35; Eureka $1.25; and Buckeye $1.00 all down 25 cents and Corning 65 cents, down 15 cents.

HOOVER ASKED TO PLACE EMBARGO

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., June 3. (AP)—Harrold McGugin, congressman from the third Kansas district, petitioned President Hoover today for an executive order placing an embargo against the importation of foreign oil.

"The present chaotic condition of the oil industry," McGugin telephoned the president, "Is laying to waste hundreds of millions of barrels of this natural resource which will one day be vital to the national denfense.

"It is my understanding that a presidential embargo is proper when made for the national defense. If you believe that you are without constitutional authority to create an embargo in times of peace by executive order, then I beg of you that a special session of congress be called for the principal purpose of protecting the American oil and any other industries facing ruin."

The Kansas congressman declared in his appeal to the president that by proration and self-sacrifice the oil industry is keeping American production within American consumption.

STATES ADVISORS ASK $1 TARIFF

LOS ANGELES, June 3. (AP)—A resolution asking the United States congress to impose a $1 a barrel tariff on crude oil imports and urging oil producing states to pass applicable legislation for the proposed tariff was adopted today by the oil states advisory committee in an effort to correct what it termed a "desperate" situation.

Although the conference is composed of 10 members, but five were present at the Los Angeles meeting. They are Van Welch, New Mexico; Dr. M. A. Marzell, state geologist of Wyoming; Scott Heywood, Louisiana; W. H. Cooley, California, and Cicero Murray, chairman, Oklahoma.

Murray, who said another conference would be necessary to complete the committee's program for meeting the situation, asserted the proposed tariff would offset the introduction by major oil companies of Venezuelan oil in competition with American petroleum. He said the importation of Venezuelan oil was responsible for the "demoralized condition of the oil industry in the Midcontinent and Pacific coast fields."

The same resolution attacked trade journals and other publications which Murray said purported to give an accurate idea and impression the committee failed to make its position clear upon the tariff. Murray said the charges were untrue and trade journal accounts were based "upon a malicious attempt to damage the prestige of the Independent Petroleum association."

Murray said he would call another conference on his return to Oklahoma City. He will leave tonight.

Resumption of Gambling On Border to Be Halted

MEXICO CITY, June 3. (AP)—Reports of a resumption of gambling along the northern Mexican border, contained in newspaper stories from Matamoros and Nuevo Laredo, brought a denial from the department of the interior today that there was any official knowledge of the gambling.

The denial was published in the government newspaper El Nacional. The newspaper said, however, that if the unofficial reports should be found to be true the department will proceed to close the gambling establishments.

MASS MEETING ON GAS RATES

Answer to City Council Is Termed 'Insult'

duction in rates," he declared, "and the gas company answers with an increase in charges to 92 per cent or more of our people.

"I do not believe the people of this city can be browbeaten in any such manner. The people should demand that the city council condemn and take over the distributing system and operate it. The price that we will have to pay for the system will not exceed $1,000,000. We can sell 4,000,000 feet per day at 50 cent per thousand cubic feet until the plant is paid for. This would yield $2,000 per day. We can buy the gas at 11 cents per thousand cubic feet or less, which would cost $440 per day, leaving $1,560 per day gross profit. Deduct from this $360 per day operating and upkeep charges and we would have $1,200 profit which will pay for the cost of the system in three years and thereafter the profits of a municipally owned system would pay half our taxes.

"I urge that all citizens attend the meeting at the auditorium Friday night, June 5, to determine whether we shall permit the present outrageous charges to continue."

ELKS WELCOME LODGE ENVOY

O'Donnell Brings Greetings On Official Tour

Greetings by a special emissary of the grand lodge were brought to Wichita Falls Elks here Wednesday with the arrival of Edward C. O'Donnell, who is making a transcontinental automobile tour of the nation in the interest of the Elks magazine.

Mr. O'Donnell is driving one of three cars of the Elks-Studebaker good will fleet and will terminate his tour at Seattle with the opening of the Elks annual grand lodge convention, July 6-9.

The grand lodge representative arrived late Wednesday afternoon from Fort Worth. He was greeted at the city gates by an official reception committee of the order here, and was led into the city with a motorcycle escort.

Car in Official Colors

Early Wednesday evening many members of the Elks club and other citizens viewed the automobile in which the tour is being made. In the official purple and white of the B. P. O. E., the Steudebaker drew considerable interest, a part of which was due to a unique double speedometer registering actual mileage of the car and also motor mileage, which is considerably reduced due to Studebaker's free wheeling.

A dinner honoring the grand lodge representative was given at the Elks home by the lodge, and was attended by about 20 officers and committeemen. Later, following a broadcast over KGKO in which Mr. O'Connell brought greetings of the grand lodge of Elks to members in this section, a reception was tendered in the lodge rooms.

Among those welcoming the good will emissary were Dr. F. F. Brown, who presided at the meeting, W. E. Fitzgerald, Sam Spence, C. J. Johnson and H. B. Buckalew, exalted ruler of Burkburnett lodge.

Impressed by Texas

In acknowledging the welcome here, Mr. O'Donnell expressed surprise at what he termed the "wonders" of Texas and of the South. Particularly was he surprised, he declared, to find Texas a well-developed state, with many advantages over the East.

He also was impressed with the excellent highways of the South and the speed with which motorists drive from one city to another.

The driver of the good will Studebaker departed from Hyde park, New York, May 11, and has driven through the South and Southwest. He will leave Wichita Falls for Amarillo Thursday and will continue to Seattle, where the tour will terminate.

In Fort Worth his speedometer of actual mileage registered 3,319 miles. However, he said, the speedometer attached to the motor of the car registered only 2,062 miles, a saving of 1,257 miles of wear on the motor through free-wheeling

Mr. O'Donnell also bears greetings from Franklin D. Roosevelt, New York governor, to the governor and people of Washington and to the officials of the Elks grand lodge convention.

Tom Connally Protests Abandonment of Fort

MARLIN, Texas, June 3. (AP)—United States Senator Tom Connally said late today he had telegraphed a "vigorous protest" to Secretary of War Hurley against the proposed abandonment of Fort Brown, at Brownsville.

He explained that Brownsville was a strategic point in relation to customs and immigration enforcement and other federal activities and protested against the "increased expenditure entailed in moving troops and having to build new barracks at the post to which they might be moved." He previously had protested against the proposed abandonment of Fort D. A. Russell at Marfa.

Guard Units to Stage Sham Battle As Part of July 4 Celebration Here

A sham battle by units of the Texas national guard here, showing methods of warfare in France in 1918, will be presented as a part of the July 4 celebration to be staged here by the American legion it was announced Wednesday night following the regular meeting of the organization.

The battle will be staged the night of the Fourth on the ball park grounds, and will represent as nearly as possible the actions American doughboys performed during the United States' participation in the world war.

A second feature of the celebration, it was announced, will be a ball game at Spudder park during the afternoon between I. O. Boosters team and the Star Transfer nine.

Mrs. C. M. Simpson addressed an attendance of more than 150 Legionaires on the subject of universal peace. It was her declaration that more than 200 organizations of various kinds in America were waging an active campaign in an attempt to outlaw war.

She said that the women of a warring nation are among the greatest sufferers as the result of national conflict.

A Forty and Eight initiation for members of the American Legion drum and bugle corps was announced for Saturday night. To precede the initiation members of the local voiture will stage a night parade through downtown streets. The initiation is held in order to cause the drum and bugle corps to have a 100 per cent Forty and Eight representation.

Plans are materializing to bring the 1932 state meeting of the Legion to Wichita Falls, it was announced. Pat Carrigan post has the largest membership of any in Texas, and will bid for the 1932 meet with a special train delegation to the annual convention this year at San Antonio Aug. 24-26.

Musical entertainment was furnished the meeting by members of Leo Underwood's Junior American Legion band.

THEATER GUILD GIVES COMEDY

And Star Appears in Old Time Night Shirt

By W. L. UNDERWOOD
The Record News Staff

Thrills, suspense and laughter in pleasant proportions furnished above-par entertainment at the Little Theater Wednesday night when the Theater Guild presented Felicia Metcalf's comedy "All Night Long."

As the not-too brilliant Mr. Smith William E. Benner contributed a consistent characterization carrying off the scene in which he wore an old fashioned night shirt with more than amazing grace. Avolon Rines as the tired and nervous housekeeper was a good foil for Mr. Smith inanities. Olive M. Humphrey, new to local audiences, promises much in her excellent portrayal of the girl sweetheart of the agile and oft-hidden boy, played by Jack Chedester. J. W. Thorne, veteran actor, was well cast as the ubiquitous Mr. Monroe, with Louis Bond easily upholding the dignity of the law as the officer.

Harold White added a fine touch of verbose villiany which was given its female counterpart in the shrill shrewishness attained by Hester Allyn Bebb as Mrs. Monroe.

Sydney J. Waghorne was superlative in the few minutes allowed him before the final curtain, the fact that Mr. Waghorne directed the play putting him rather in the position of the pitcher who hits for the circuit with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Unfailing suspense, satisfactory tempo, setting, and stage business combined to make the play a successful comedy. Other elements failing, one waits the final curtain with breathless interest to learn the identity of the mysterious Lizzie. Music was under the direction of Durward Park.

The play will run three more nights.

avowed prejudice on circumstantial evidence. Questioning of prospective jurors by defense lawyers involved declaration of the subject's attitude toward a man who may have been indicted for liquor law violation. Riley was serving a federal term in the Wichita county jail for alleged violation of the liquor laws when indicted in the Hardin case.

Arm Bandaged

The seven jurors chosen Wednesday were G. A. Kays, James H. Sullivan, W. E. Stevens, J. W. Hutchins, T. E. Lewis, B. O. Gilstrap and Roy Brackett.

Attorneys for the defense are Robert Crain, John Davenport, and Robert Ragsdale. Riley appeared in court Wednesday with one arm heavily bandaged as a result of an automobile accident in which he figured recently. Injuries received in that crash were said to have necessitated continuance of the case from May 25 to June 3.

A skeleton found on the bank of Red river in Cotton county, Okla., early in December was identified as that of Tom Hardin, who had disappeared at Burkburnett about Oct. 1. A bullet hole through the skull, it was said, indicated that his death was due to a shot from a 38-caliber gun.

CLARK SLOW TO PERFECT BOND

Accused Slayer Remains In Jail Cell

LOS ANGELES, June 3. (AP)—David H. Clark, former deputy district attorney awaiting trial on charges of murder, today found bail bonds as slow coming as votes in the municipal election of yesterday, when he was defeated as candidate for municipal judge.

He remained in the county jail, having been bound over to the superior court yesterday in connection with the recent killing of Charles H. Crawford, political boss, and Herbert F. Spencer, former newspapar man.

The bail bond brokers who were all set to get him out quickly on the $100,000 bail yesterday, when his friends thought he would carry the election, did not appear to be in such a mad scramble since his defeat.

His friends announced $36,000 still was needed to complete the bail, $64,000 having been supplied by two bail brokerage concerns.

Hardeman Tax Collector Dies

David Lewis Wardlaw, 74, Succumbs

Special to The Record News

QUANAH, Texas, June 3.—Funeral services for David Lewis Wardlaw, 74, veteran Hardeman county official, will be held from the home at 410 West Third street at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Rev. Jan McMurray, pastor of the Presbyterian church and Rev. C. W. Foote of the First Methodist church, will officiate. Burial will be in the Quanah cemetery.

Mr. Wardlaw, widely known through Northwest Texas for 20 years, Tuesday night succumbed to pneumonia which followed a third stroke of paralysis last Saturday. He was county tax assessor and collector at the time of his death and previously had served as city marshal.

Children Survive

Born in Arkansas, Mr. Wardlaw came to Quanah in 1910. In 1879 he married Miss Tisua Rogers of Reagan county, Texas. To this union one child, Dr. Herbert R. Wardlaw, San Angelo, was born. After the death of his first wife, Mr. Wardlaw married Mrs. Josephine Floyd, Anderson, Texas and five children, four of which survive were born.

Mr. Wardlaw was a member of the Presbyterian church, the Masonic lodge, and the City Marshal's and Sheriff's Associations of Texas, and was widely known in law enforcement circles.

Pallbearers Listed

Survivors are the widow, two sons, Dr. Herbert of San Angelo, Lewis Wardlaw, Little Rock, Ark.; Mrs. Mary White, Dallas, Miss Sallie, Sonora, Texas, and Mrs. O. D. McCurdy, Vernon; one grandson Jake Wardlaw, San Angelo, one granddaughter, Jodie Lu Jones, Anderson, Texas.

Active pallbearers are present city Council, J. A. Stephenson, J. E. Woolbright Sr., R. A. Kelley, Frank Hendrix and Claude Triplett. Honorary pallbearers include members of the Masonic body, oldtimers, officials and business men numbering more than a hundred. All business houses city and county offices will be closed during the funeral.

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. Food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention, it has remanied standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate with no harmful after-effects.

Once you learn this perfect way you'll never deal in any other manner with the headaches, gas, bloating, nausea, dizziness, indigestion, billiousness, etc., due to an overacid stomach and bowels.

Be sure to get genuine Phillips'. Look for the name Phillips on the bottle. All drug stores—25c and 50c.—Adv.

Men danced with her just once

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

The great Lord Tennyson in a beautiful poem refers to a woman's Adam's Apple as "The warm white apple of her throat." Consider your Adam's Apple. Touch it—your Adam's Apple—That is your larynx—your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple you are considering your throat—your vocal chords. Protect the delicate tissues within your throat. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants! Reach for a LUCKY instead. Here in America LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette which brings you the added benefit of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process, which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays. It is this exclusive process that expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. These expelled irritants are sold to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple."

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas contributes largely to furnishing the United States with its wool supply and almost completely supplies its mohair. Of the 336,007,000 pounds of wool produced in the United States Texas produced 41,600,000 or almost one-eighth. Of the 16,006,000 pounds of mohair in the nation, Texas produced 13,800,000 or almost seven-eighths.

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

Miscellaneous improvement items totaling far into the thousands are under way or projected in many sections of the state. Most of them small or relatively so, it is only when they are considered in the aggregate that they reach proportions of ponderable consequence economically to the state. . . .

Spearman is investing $80,000 in street paving. . . . Work is ready to begin on the new $100,000 postoffice at Coleman. . . . A Tyler bank has paid $100,000 for a lot and will erect thereon a 10-story bank and office building. . . . Purchase of 17,000 tons of pipe by the Sun company is announced for construction of a pipe line from the Kilgore oil field to Beaumont.

Brownsville has completed its water plant improvements at a cost of $152,000 and now has a supply adequate for a city of 50,000. . . . Houston plans to spend $2,500,000 on sewer extensions and improvements. . . . The courthouse at Haskell is being improved and enlarged. . . . Big Sandy joins Texas towns with airports and Palestine voted $250,000 bonds for purchase and improvement of a 285-acre tract near town for its airplane travelers, while Gainesville formally and duly celebrates the opening of its modern landing field.

O. E. S. at Quanah Installs Officers

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, June 3.—The Order of Eastern Star held public installation of officers at the Masonic hall June 1, with Mrs. Bessie Mercer of Wichita Falls, deputy grand matron of district 2, acting as grand installing officer, and Mrs. Hermonlone Conley, Quanah, as grand installing marshal.

The officers, who were recently elected, are as follows: Lois Galoway, worthy matron; W. M. Barbee, worthy patron; Dollie Caddell, associate matron; J. C. Ferguson, associate patron; Willie King, secretary; Geneva Hutcheson, treasurer; Jeanette Wey, conductress; Mary Agnes Wey, associate conductress; Katye Hopkins, marshal; Laura B. Smith, chaplain; Marjorie Whitehurst, organist; Josephine Wardlaw, Ada; Mary Abernathy, Ruth; Mary Newby, Esther; Laura Jolley, Martha; Maud Barzil, Electra; Susie Ward, warder; Frank Hook, sentinel.

About 50 guests and members witnessed this impressive ceremony, after which Mrs. Mercer was presented with a lovely gift, and Mrs. Otho D. Martin, retiring matron, received a white gold past matron's pin from the local order.

Out of town guests present were Mrs. Mercer, Mrs. W. B. Baldwin, Wichita Falls; Mesdames Goss, Knight, Davis and Britain of Seymour.

Danger of Being Bored

THE GREATEST DANGER that confronts civilized man these days is the danger of being bored. So says Dr. Louis J. Karnosh, psychiatrist at Western Reserve university, who finds that the mechanized life of the modern world has made nervousness almost a universal complaint.

Because of the machines that man has built to do his work for him, says Dr. Karnosh, he finds himself too often with no adequate outlet for his emotions and his energies. He is too safe, his wants are too easily satisfied. As the psychiatrist remarks:

"To have a rich vitality and have nothing to apply to it; to have no dire need, never to miss or never to have the opportunity to yearn, is the worst form of emotional anemia and starvation. There is no luster to life, no uncertainty, no adventure around the corner."

Made too secure by the perfection of our mechanical contrivances, we try to find, in poor substitutes, the excitement that our ancestors found in direct action. We turn to novels for the thrill that the savage gets out of the hunt, we go to the movies for the excitement that our early ancestors found in war, and we make the baseball game, the prize fight or the automobile ride take the place of the healthy fears and desires of promitive man; and, all in all, it is not in the least good for us.

Thus, says Dr. Karnosh, we live under a nervous strain. The sameness of the daily routine, the monotony of the mechanized job, are driving us almost to distraction. We are rapidly losing our mental health because—in the strictly material sense—we have become too civilized.

No man who has lived in the modern world will question this psychiatrist's conclusions. Thinkers have been crying the dangers of the mechanical era for a decade. The great question today is, What are we going to do about it?

The chief thing, probably, is to reduce the amount of work that each man has to do. The shorter working day, seen from this angle, is not merely a pleasant dream of the labor organizers; it is a pressing necessity, both for the manual worker and for the office employee. If we are to retain the old zest in life, the old feeling of satisfaction and happiness, we must radically cut down the time that each man has to give to his job. There is no other way out.

A mechanized era can do great things for the race. It can set men free, can enable them to rove widely and devote long hours to lazy enjoyment of the pleasures of the moment. But it will not do those things unless we listen to men like Dr. Karnosh, and realize that our present method of approach is all wrong.

A Challenge to Business

MONEY RATES in America today are extremely low. This fact constitutes a great opportunity for business and industrial concerns, but not many will be able to take advantage of it, according to Dr. Stephen I. Miller, executive manager of the National Association of Credit Men.

Following the 1921 depression, Dr. Miller points out, there was an abundance of cheap money. Big organizations, with high credit rankings, could and did take advantage of it. Most of the little fellows could not. Thus the extraordinarily high profits of the following prosperous years were largely reaped by the big fellows, who had borrowed at low rates of interest and had invested their funds in projects that later became lucrative.

Hence, as Dr. Miller points out, cheap money today indicates a more keen competition when prosperity returns; and the small business firm is more than ever under the necessity of gaining increased efficiency. If it fails to do so it will be unable to compete with the big firms that have been able to take advantage of cheap interest rates.

Hitting the Speed Traps

COLORADO'S new motor vehicle law ought to be of interest to other states, if only because it succeeds in wiping out the small-town speed trap.

This is done by a stipulation that motorists can go on about their business, after an arrest for a traffic violation, without furnishing appearance security. Furthermore, the summons must specifically describe the offense of which they are accused. They need not appear for trial for five days after the arrest.

Here is a law well worth copying. The speed trap is an unholy nuisance; a bit of law enforcement that is not concerned with safety on the highways, but that is simply a "racket," for the enrichment of cow-town treasuries. Colorado seems to have found a fine way of dealing with it.

You would have been thrilled at the piano set consisting of Kern, Berlin, Gershwin et al, particularly when Berlin sang "Alexander's Ragtime Band" . . . I'm sorry you ran that line about New York being the only place where you cannot get a real, thick malted milk. Every soda water dispenser and candy store owner in town, it seems, keep calling up, to say you're crazy, and that they sell them . . . The "Round Table" manners at the Algonquin have gone phooey . . . The other day I saw a lady stop at the table and talk to a chap, and not one of the men stood up . . . Maybe she wasn't a lady . . . Jack Benny wants to know if he can use that "vice" gag about you at the Palace next week that he used at the Broadhurst Broun benefit . . . I told him your motto was Anything for a Laugh.

I was in Moore's last night for dinner and most o fthe crowd appeared more interested in one man than anything else . . . At first I thought the fellow every one was buzzing about was a celebrity from the stage, the screen, the ring or something, but what do you think? . . . He wasn't! . . . He was merely one of the Big Bears of Wall street, who, they said, was greatly responsible for the Big Mess now going on, and there he was laughing boisterously and looking more prosperous than the rest of the patrons . . . I ran into Irving Caesar here . . . He said to tell you that he went broke listening to tips from presidents of corporations, and that he wishes he could meet some office boys so he could pull himself out of the hole . . . He also said that the only way to make a successful turn in the market was to walk into the stock exchange, turn around, and walk right out again!

The publishers tell me "The Columnist Murder" book will be released in June instead of July . . . Never call a person a "blithering idiot." because you'll find some trouble finding the word "blither" in the dicksh . . . No dictionary (up to 1923) recognizes the word; yet Shakespeare used it in "Pericles," viz: "Crickets sound at the oven's mouth e'er they blither for their drought." or am I over your head? . . . It is not found in the Oxford dicksh, nor in the old or new Century, although it crept into Funk & Wagnall's Standard of 1923 as follows: "Blither—same as blather," and is given in dialect . . . Just why dialect, I would like to know . . . Maybe Dr. Vizetelly could explain . . . Texas felt funny because you didn't see her off . . . by ROB EDEN

THE STORY SO FAR

Sally Blair, eager to attain success in business as the first step toward all that she wants in life, goes out with he boss, John Warner. She repulses his advances and is fired. Because she is not afraid of Warner she demands an apology and that he replace the dress she ruined the night she walked home from a date with him. He apologizes and rehires her as his temporary secretary at a higher salary. Although confident that she would not be satisfied to marry a poor man as her roommate, Ann Seymour, intends to do, Sally finds it hard to forget the young attractive salesman, Peter Douglas. She had been forced to give him up because his mother wanted Peter to make a wealthy marriage.

CHAPTER XIII

Two days, three days, four days slipped up. Busy days for Sally. The busiest she had ever spent. All her skill, her diplomacy went to placating John Warner. And she succeeded admirably, far better than she had hoped. When he asked her to go out in the evenings she always had something else to do. Another date. At first he was impatient about her refusals, then he laughed about them. They went through the same ritual every evening when he left.

"How about dinner tonight?"

"I've a date, Mr. Warner."

"Maybe Christmas night?"

"Perhaps."

She was efficient about her work, much more so than Joyce had ever been. Warner appreciated it, and praised her.

"Why not stay with me when Joyce comes back?" he said one day. "I can send her to some other department."

Sally didn't promise. She didn't want to stay. Soon Warner would have served her purpose in her plan of things, and then she would go, and she would be glad to go. Nerve racking being around him all the time, knowing that the only way she could keep the upper hand was by browbeating him, showing him she wasn't afraid of him. And because he had never been handled that way before, because it was a novelty to him, he liked her. How long his interest would last she did not know. She hoped for a few more weeks—that would give her time enough.

Sally Is Clever

If once she let him see she was afraid—then everything was over. And she was afraid sometimes. She dreaded being alone in his office with him, taking his dictation, listening to his chatter, yet she sat there as calmly as she could, raising her eyes now and then to meet his small green ones coldly.

Once he had snatched her hand to draw her over to him, and she had become panicky all over. But she had handled the situation nicely, she thought afterward. She had laughed at him.

Yes, she would be thankful when she got away from him, from the sight of his bald head, his pink face, those soft fat hands.

She had no qualms of conscience when she had gone down to Sackman's to buy a dress and charge it to his account. A navy blue heavy dull crepe frock. Simple, because Sally liked simple things, and very becoming. The first dress she had had in her life costing more than $16. She had tried on six before she had decided on this. Forty-nine-fifty. Almost $50. The dress Warner had torn had cost but $12.

Ann had been shocked when she brought it home.

"Plain gold-digging, Sally. You ought to be ashamed of yourself!"

"You mean Mr. Warner ought to be ashamed of himself. The price of the dress isn't going to hurt him at all. I told him he ruined my dress, and I wanted another, and he said to go down and charge one. What's wrong with that?"

Like a Game of Chess

"It isn't right. He'll think—"

"He'll think I've been wise, and I have been. He's gotten away with too much in his life, and this is just part payment for some of it. He can't buffalo me, Ann, and he's going to know it."

"You don't know—"

Warner had remarked on Sally's appearance when she had come into the office the next morning wearing the new dress.

"Good looking dress, Sally. Never saw you look better."

"You bought it for me, Mr. Warner," she said smoothly, looking up at him for a moment, then opening her typewriter.

Warner thought it a huge joke. "Darned good taste I showed!" he exclaimed. He was in a jovial mood all day.

"I'm sending the other to your club as a souvenir." And she did, all tied up neatly with a card in the package. "Score—Love, All." There was no name on the card, but Warner understood, and kidded her about her offering the following morning.

Like a game, this job she had. A game of chess. She had to watch every move carefully, consider every move before she made it. She had seen, as a child, her Aunt Martha and a friend play chess. The hours of deliberation, the cautious advance. Now she was doing the same thing—only it was her work, her livelihood. What Warner's next move would be, she did not know. Couldn't guess, but when it came she had to be ready for it.

Peter Is Cool

The dress she was desperately proud of. It was a joy to her. Every night when she got home, she took it off before she started dinner, and brushing it carefully put it away on a hanger. Ann who hung her clothes anyway so long as they were hung laughed at her.

"You treat the dress as if it were a child!"

"Well, it's the start of my good wardrobe, and I have to take care of it. I don't know when I can get another."

Then there was Peter. The quick beat of her heart when she saw him. The ache that was with her all the time. Passing him with a nod, when she wanted to speak to him, to talk to him, wanted him to put his arms around her. Peter a stranger to her, when he had kissed her, told her he loved her.

He nodding, too, when they met, and going on as quickly as he could. He wasn't in the office much these days. Any excuse, she knew, took him out. When she had to give him a message from Warner, it took several minutes to steel herself to go to his desk. And she came away shaken, and tired from the ordeal.

It wouldn't be so bad if she didn't see him every day. But she did.

"Sally! That's Peter, isn't it?" Then Ann was sorry, of course.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The answers to questions printed here each day are specimens, picked from the mass of inquiries handled by our great information bureau maintained in Washington, D. C. This valuable service is for the free use of the public. Ask any question of fact you may want to know and you will get an immediate reply. Write plainly, enclose two cents in coin or stamps for return postage, and address The Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—What is the derivation of the word, cat?—J. J.

A.—As applied to the animal, it is derived from the Latin catus which was used to refer to the domestic cat as opposed to felis, the wild cat.

Q.—Where is the highest lake in the United States?—P. McG.

A.—The highest lake having an area greater than 0.1 square miles, is Tulainyo, one and one-half miles northeast of Mt. Whitney, Calif. The elevation is 12,865 feet, and the area about 0.2 square miles.

Q.—Why do moth balls disappear if left among clothes for some time? —S. H.

A.—They evaporate. The chemicals from which they are made evaporate directly from the solid state without passing through a liquid state.

Q.—Where was "Prometheus Unbound" written?—F. M.

A.—Shelley himself said: "This poem, begun in the autumn of 1818, was chiefly written in the mountainous ruins of the Baths of Caracalla."

Q.—Why is water carried in the Indian army, in leather bags made of goatskin?—E. K.

A.—This variety of leather is used to accommodate the Mohammedans who could not drink from a bag made of pigskin, and the Hindus who would be unable to drink from one of a calfskin.

Q.—When was the first tariff law passed in this country, and what was its nature?—H. T. Y.

A.—The first congress, meeting in 1789, passed the first tariff law. Specific duties were laid on some commodities, such as hemp, cordage and manufactures of iron and glass, and a general ad valorem duty of five per cent was placed on all goods not otherwise listed, with higher duties ranging to 15 per cent ad valorem on some luxuries.

Q.—What is a sabbatical year?—B. T.

A.—It was the one year in seven when all land of the ancient Jews was supposed to lie fallow for 12 months. It is now used for a missionary's furlough, or a year of vacation from a profession.

Q.—Who first made ginger ale?—J. E. G.

A.—Cantrell & Cochrane first manufactured it. It was originated by chemists to use as a substitute for ginger beer for the British troops in India.

Q.—How much did Lord Byron weigh before he dieted for reduction of weight?—P. K.

A.—At one time, Byron is said to have weighed 200 pounds and by reducing to have attained the weight of 110 pounds.

Q.—What is fuller's earth?—P. M. S.

A.—It is clay whose composition is not thoroughly determined but which seems to consist principally of amorphous hydrous aluminum silicates.

Q.—Why do Fascists chose a shirt as the distinctive part of their dress?—D. B.

A.—At the time that Italy was freed from Austrian domination and affiliated into United Italy, Garibaldi with his following of patriot soldiers were noticeable features. They adopted as a uniform the red shirt, and somewhat after the same manner, Mussolini fighting to overthrow socialism by Fascism, inaugurated the costume of the black shirted troops or Fascisti.

Q.—Who now administers the affairs of the Holland tunnel?—M. L.

A.—The New Jersey Holland Tunnel commission and the New York State Tunnel commission, which were in charge of the construction and operated the Holland tunnel for a few years, were abolished by the two states of New York and New Jersey in April, 1930, and control was transferred to the port of New York authority. Under more recent legislation, the port authority sold an issue of $50,000,000 port authority bonds and reimbursed the two states for their investments in the facility. The port authority is a public agency and was created by the states of New York and New Jersey 10 years ago with the concurrence of congress.

Q.—How many people are on sleeping cars in the United States each night?—A. E. M.

A.—Nearly 60,000 people, on an average night, sleep in Pullman berths. In a year, Pullman's overnight guests number about one-fifth of the country's population.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on Religions of the World

Who was the first woman missionary from the United States? Is Buddhism older than Christianity? What are the minarets on Mohammedan mosques for? What people worshipped the Juggernaut? What was the balm of Gilead? Has France ever had a Protestant president? Who printed the first Bible? Where was the Wailing Wall? Is the Liberal Catholic church an American institution? What is the smallest church edifice in the world? What proportion of the army and navy chaplians are Catholic? How old was Jesus when he began to teach?

These are but a few of the hundreds of interesting questions that are answered in the booklet, Religions of the World, now offered readers of The Record News at a cost, handling and postage charge of 10 cents. In ordering, use this coupon.

U.D.C. Names New Officers At Last Meeting Of Year

Mrs. C. L. Apple was elected president of the W. R. Scurry chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and Mrs. Emma Goff was named first vice president at the last meeting of the organization until September, at the home of Mrs. C. D. Shamburger Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Other officers elected were Mesdames W. L. Ponder, second vice president; C. C. Hagmann, third vice president; Paul Pond, recording secretary; Dave Shepherd, corresponding secretary; R. J. Irvine, treasurer; Frank Cripliver, registrar; C. H. Clark, historian; J. L. Jackson, custodian.

The house was attractively decorated with summer flowers with snapdragons predominating. The program which was combined with the memorial of Jefferson Davis, included a vocal solo, "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," by Mrs. W. E. Young and two readings, "Spring" and "The After Awhile," by Mrs. John B. Rhea. Jack Staley also gave several piano numbers.

In the business session plans were made to sell a needle point footstool and put the proceeds into the memorial fund. Plans were also made to take $75 from the general fund and place it in the memorial fund on interest, which will make a total of more than $100 in the fund.

Following a social session refreshments were served to Mesdames W. L. Ponder, Paul Pond, A. K. Jarrell, R. C. Spake, W. M. Moore, J. B. Rhea, Bert Bean, H. Willis, W. E. Young, C. H. Clark, W. E. Huff, E. M. Friend, P. A. Martin, J. C. Kay, E. T. Duff, Frank Cripliver, C. C. Hagmann, Mollie McElroy, J. L. Jackson, R. E. Hilburn, J. P. Burris, Francis E. Nixon of Santa Fe, N. M., J. P. Tarry, C. E. Deaton, Misses Johnnie Morgan, Maurine Nesbitt of Amarillo, Bernice Hindman and Jack Staley.

Ruby Faye Myrick And E. Glenn Ross Wed Wednesday

One of the most beautiful events of the week was the wedding of Miss Ruby Faye Myrick and E. Glenn Ross which was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning with Rev. S. F. Martin, pastor of the Lamar Avenue Baptist church and a long time friend of the family, reading the ceremony.

The impressive ceremony was held before a beautifully improvised altar of ferns, sweet peas, roses and larkspur with a large wedding bell hanging above. Sweet peas were also used on the mantel and members of the wedding party wore corsages of sweet peas.

The bride was attractive in a tea rose organdy gown with ruffles of tulle in the same shade and trimmed in French blue hand-made flowers. Gold slippers completed the costume and she carried a shower bouquet of sunburst roses and forget-me-nots tied with blue tulle.

Miss Myrick was attended by Miss Lucile Rountree who wore a Jean Carol model of green printed tulle and carried pink roses while Miss Katherine Melat, who presided at the punch bowl, was attractively gowned in a peach organdy. Mrs. F. R. Collard, who played the wedding march for the entrance of the bridal party and "Tramuerei" throughout the ceremony, was attired in green organdy with coral trimmings while Miss Margaret Coleman, who had charge of the bride's book, was beautiful in peach organdy. Mrs. W. E. Young wore a gown of coral organdy and Mrs. Rufus Myrick, mother of the bride, was attired in black georgette.

Mr. Ross was attended by Joe Burton of Fort Worth, a former classmate in Simmons university.

Pre-nuptial music included Cadman's "At Dawning" by Miss Eleen Wilson. The wedding was followed with an informal reception in which the bride cut and served her three tiered wedding cake.

Mrs. Ross was a teacher in the Carrigan school while Mr. Ross is of a prominent West Texas family. He received his B. A. degree from Simmons university in 1930.

The young couple left immediately following the ceremony for a trip to points in New Mexico after which they will be at home in Goodlett where Mr. Ross is a ranchman.

Demonstration Club Shown New Processes

Members of the Westmoreland Home Demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. W. E. Parshall Tuesday afternoon when a demonstration of the process of making two different kinds of cheese was given. One of the types was a rich cream cheese while the other was American cheese. The demonstration proved that the cheese can be made in any kitchen with the ordinary cooking utensils as well as in a factory. All that is needed in addition to the ordinary equipment is a thermometer.

Bank Clerks Shackled As Bandit Loots Vault

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 3. (UP)—A bandit carrying a shotgun sung down through the skylight of a branch bank here today, handcuffed the institution's employes one by one as they appeared for work and escaped with $6,617.10 which he had forced the bank's assistant manager to give him from the vault.

The robbery occurred at the Highland Park branch of the Hamilton National bank. The vault was completely looted. All money taken was in cash with the exception of one $50 liberty bond.

DEATHS

AFTER WEAKENING SICKNESS

If you are run-down, or suffer from a weakened condition,—take Cardui, a medicine used by women for over fifty years. As your health improves, you will share the enthusiasm of thousands of others who have praised Cardui for the benefits they have felt after taking it.

"I had a spell of sickness which left me very run-down and weak," writes Mrs. D. L. Beckner, of Ellisten, Va. "I was not able to do my housework. I ached all over my body. My back and sides gave me a lot of trouble. A friend of mine told me to try Cardui. I took it for several months and I got strong and well." Sold at all good drug stores. m-st

CERF KIDNAPER GETS 12 YEARS

First Conviction on New Law Returned at Corsicana

CORSICANA, Texas, June 3. (AP)—The first conviction in cases growing out of the kidnaping here last December of Robert Cerf, son of a prominent Corsicana banker, was obtained today when Currie Caldwell was found guilty of assault on a person while masked. He was assessed 12 years imprisonment, one hour and 35 minutes after the jury received the case.

Caldwell was one of five men charged in connection with the case.

Young Cerf was ransomed from his captors several days after his abduction, $15,000 being paid to obtain his release.

Defense attorneys indicated a motion for a new trial would be filed, and, if overruled, appeal would be taken to the court of criminal apepals. R. W. Smith of Corsicana, was foreman of the jury.

The four remaining to be tried were Charles R. Hassell, Jimmie Nash, Doyle Nash and Oliver Clapp. The latter still was a fugitive.

Hassell was the state's principal witness against Caldwell, and related his story of the escapade from the time of the kidnaping in Corsicana, through Cerf's captivity in Dallas to the payment of the ransom.

Cerf was abducted on a Corsicana street Dec. 10 when he accepted the offer of a motorist to take him to his home. He was taken to Dallas and held prisoner there in an apartment house until a representative of his father paid $15,000 for his release.

Jury Gets Young County Damage Suit

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, June 3.—Arguments in the $20,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. O. P. Ainesworth and others, Cisco, against the Southern Bus company, were completed in the 30th district court and the case given to the jury shortly after 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Ainesworth asked damages for alleged injuries to the back said to have been incurred by the sudden stopping of the bus at Olney May 3, 1930. The plaintiff said she was thrown from her seat when the bus lurched and struck a curb as the driver stopped suddenly because of fire originated in over-heated gears.

Mrs. Ainesworth is represented by Frank Sparks and Tom Cunningham, Eastland attorneys. The firms of Walsh & Smith, Wichita Falls and Marshall & King, Graham, represent the bus company.

Breck Host To Belt Lions

Special to The Record News.

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, June 3.—The Breckenridge Lions club will be host to the Oil Belt district Lions club Friday night, June 12. John Z. Martin and Dr. Roger W. Gray will have charge of the arrangements.

Lions from Cisco, Eastland, Ranger, Rising Star, Strawn and any other Oil Belt city having a Lions club will have representatives here.

The last district session was held at Strawn. More than 20 people attended the meeting from Breckenridge, and it was the fine showing made at the Strawn gathering by the local delegates that enabled Breckenridge to get the next meeting.

Nancy Carroll Sues Kirkland for Divorce

NEW YORK, June 3. (UP)—Nancy Carroll, screen star, has brought suit for divorce in Nogales, Mexico, against her husband, Jack Kirkland, the latter admitted today.

"It's just another one of those things—incompatibility," Kirkland said when reached at his apartment here. "We tried our best to get along but we just couldn't any longer.

"We're still very fond of each other and we shall remain friends but we decided it was best to sever the matrimonial bonds."

Kirkland, a former newspaper man, met Miss Carroll in 1928 when she was in the chorus of "The Passing Show" at the winter garden. They were married the following year and have one daughter, Patricia.

THE words "just like Kotex" should be a danger signal to every purchaser of sanitary protection! They cannot be true.

A pad, to be like Kotex, would have to be made in the Kotex factory. Unique, patented machinery makes Kotex from start to finish. Hands never touch it. Rigid cleanliness prevails. Materials used are superior, made especially for Kotex. The only way to make a pad like Kotex is to make Kotex.

Take no chances. Specify genuine Kotex. Accept no substitute of whose makers you know nothing. You know Kotex is safe. Hospitals used more than 10,000,000 pads last year. Their choice should be yours.

Kotex is adjustable. May be worn on either side. Stays soft.

W. M. S. HOLDS DISTRICT MEET

Stamford Entertains Church Gathering

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, June 3.—"Work" was the theme of the Stamford district Methodist W. M. S. held at St. John's Methodist church here Tuesday when women from Haskell, Aspermont, Knox City, Munday, Weinert, Sagerton, Seymour, joined with the Stamford church in meeting. Mrs. Morris Randel, of Seymour, district secretary, presided for the day, and others prominent in the Northwest Texas conference were present.

One of the features of the day's program came in the afternoon when Mrs. Nat G. Rollins, president of the Northwest Texas conference spoke on what this conference expects of the Stamford district. Miss Vada Gilleland, a missionary to Mexico, spoke on the work in the Methodist school in El Paso during the morning. Mrs. L. O. Wharton of Seymour discussed the children's work of the W. M. S., and Mrs. George Self of Crowell discussed the council credits.

During the afternoon Mrs. J. H. Rutherford of Stamford discussed the young women's circles. Mrs. W. G. Fletcher also of Stamford discussed Christian social relations and Mrs. Fred Sanders of Haskell and Mrs. George Self discussed missionary and Bible study.

The morning devotional was brought by Mrs. W. G. Fletcher and the afternoon devotional by Mrs. C. Shawver of Seymour. Mrs. R. R. Baird of Stamford entertained with an organ number in the morning and vocal numbers were presented during the afternoon by Miss Margaret Jones of Seymour and Mrs. S. P. Smith of Stamford. At noon a cafeteria dinner was served to about 75 visitors by the ladies of the Stamford W. M. S.

LINCOLN SAID

"You can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but you cannot fool all of the people all of the time." Lincoln was right. The public wants facts, not fallacies. The fact that more than nine million boxes of St.Joseph's Genuine Pure Aspirin have been sold in one single year is conclusive proof that thousands of people now realize that it is neither sensible nor necessary to pay more than 10c for one dozen tablets of genuine pure aspirin. Because doctors, druggists and the public know that "St.Joseph's" Aspirin is as genuine and as pure as money can buy, it is now the largest selling pure aspirin in the world for 10c. Why pay more? Never say, "gim'me some aspirin." Be safe, be sensible and ask your druggist for St.Joseph's Genuine Pure Aspirin. It meets every government standard—it's genuine pure aspirin if it bears the name "St.Joseph's."

Rail-Motor Reports Waited

I. C. C. Examiners Prepare Voluminous Brief

WASHINGTON, June 3. (INS)—With the filing of briefs on behalf of all the parties at interest, the next step in the Interstate Commerce commission's investigation into the coordination of rail and motor transportation will be the submission of a proposed report by commission examiners who conducted the extensive hearings held on the subject in many sections of the country, it was learned today.

The examiners are expected to have a voluminous report on the subject, to which many exceptions undoubtedly will be taken by those who will be affected by their recommendations. The last stage in the proceedings will be oral argument before the entire commission after which the commission will publish its findings. It probably will be late in the fall before a decision is reached.

Many diverse interests were presented in the briefs that have been filed in the case. One side was presented by the Interstate Motor Carriers association, which told the commission that "the secret of highway transportation has been initiative to give service which the public desired.

The Railway Labor Executives association, composed of 21 national employe organizations, said they had a substantial interest in the coordination or regulation of motor transportation, which may supplement or compete with rail transportation.

Health and Diet Advice

A Good Breakfast

For those who are trying to build their way to better health I would suggest a good wholesome breakfast. Many Americans eat the wrong kind of breakfast. Either they eat too much, which makes them logy all morning, or else they eat too little, which makes them weak and upset before the day has passed.

It is said that most people do their best work about 11 o'clock in the morning. This is only true when a person has had a good, well balanced breakfast. Watch yourself. You will find that on the mornings when you grab a bite of breakfast in a rush your whole day will most likely go wrong, and by midmorning you will be played out. But on the other hand, eat a wholesome, healthful breakfast, and when you face the world with this type of breakfast under your belt you will be eager to get at your work. You will feel peppy and energetic and at 11 o'clock you are doing the best work of the day.

There are many disciples of the no-breakfast plan as advocated by Dr. Dewey about 25 years ago, and this undoubtedly proves a good plan for many people, especially those whose evening meal has not been selected with the proper care. Any one who has eaten indiscreetly the evening before will naturally be bilious and not hungry in the morning and it would not be a good plan to eat a heavy breakfast. On the other hand, the body is possessed of a good deal of energy after a refreshing sleep, more so than at other times, and it is possible to digest even a meal of inharmonious conglomerations with greater ease than it would be at the end of an exhausting day of hard mental or physical work.

The breakfast meal can be made one of the most valuable of the day if one uses care in the selection of proper food values and combinations. Those who are overweight can afford to neglect breakfast until their weight is normal, but other people should eat a good breakfast. It is said that 70 per cent of the work of the world is done in those morning hours which come after breakfast. A good breakfast gives you staying power to work and enjoy working. Children need a good breakfast to start them to school. A wife who gives her husband a well balanced breakfast before he goes to work has given him the best beginning for the day that he could possibly have.

It is natural to wake up hungry and eager for food, but you can stimulate your appetite more, and make the food more valuable for you if you will take a few calisthenic exercises upon arising and do these before an open window where you can obtain plenty of fresh air. These exercises are valuable for loosening up the muscles and ligaments and stimulating the circulation. About 10 minutes should be devoted to stretching and bending exercises and a good shower bath taken afterwards to send the blood bounding from the internal organs to make the skin glow with new life.

If you are not hungry in the morning, but suffer from a lack of appetie, with coated tongue and headache and a tired feeling, your system is in a toxic condition. You should take a short fruit fast, after which you will find that your appetite returns and it is a treat to have an appetizing breakfast placed before you.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Boiling Water

Question: Mrs. B. asks: "What effect does the boiling of hard water have upon its drinking and cooking qualities? Up to the present we have had to buy spring water."

Answer—Boiling the water does not have any particular effect upon its mineral content, only insofar as this content becomes greater in proportion to the amount of water, due to the evaporation of pure steam. However, the boiling does serve to protect the user against any organic contamination which may be present. The best water for drinking purposes is distilled water; that is, water which has been condensed from steam, as it does not contain any minerals. I have not found spring water superior to ordinary hydrant water for this purpose."

Roquefort Cheese

Question: Mrs. P. H. K.—"Is Roquefort cheese a wholesome food?"

Answer—Roquefort cheese is a very good protein food when used in proper combination with other foods. It is named for the French village of Roquefort, where special herds of sheep that supply the milk are pastured. Much care is given to the diet of these sheep; even the water that is supplied them is whitened with barley flour. Roquefort cheese, itself, goes through a very long process of preparation before it reaches the market.

Pet Dog and the Baby.

Question: Worried Father writes—"A pet dog continually licks the baby's head, hands and feet, with an occasional lick on the cheek and face. Would appreciate your verdict. Your word will clear the atmosphere."

Answer—Many animals wash their young by licking them, but this cannot be considered a good way to keep your baby clean. I consider it a very dangerous practice and one which may lead to the development of some serious infection.

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

The Morning Mail

"Dear Rambler:

"Some time back I saw in The Record News that some guy at Quanah was razzing you about the Spudders.

"He said that your prediction of the Spudders finishing in the first division was like a fly on the spare tire of a flivver.

"Well, he must have been the fly, because I think there is one time he got left for that tread must have been worn off and he didn't get a good hold. For the Spudders are headed for the top.

"If the Spudders get much better this will be a one-sided affair before the close of the season.

"I sure wish and hope that we can have the arc lights soon. I know that there would be wonderful crowd to see the ball games. As it is they cannot.

"Well, we have still got our percentage in the Triangle league. We have won eight straight.

"Frank Reid and J. F. Miller.

"Olney, Texas."

Yes, sir, you're right about the Spudders. They're getting so darned good I'm trying to figure out whether we're going to win the first half or the second half, or both.

Tough Problem

"Dear Sir:

"Am asking you for some info on the Dundee-Turbeville gave played here recently.

"We had a man on first and a man on second. The batter hit the ball and they played first to get him out and all runners were safe. The second base runner ran to third and the third base runner did not try to go home until the first baseman threw the ball to third and overthrew.

"Now the second base runner had touched third but had returned onethird of the way to second when third was overthrown. How many man could score on the overthrow?

"I hope I have made this clear so that you can answer it for us. Ground rules provided one base advance on overthrow.

"Yours for fair baseball.

"W. G. Drummond.

"Dundee, Texas."

Under the conditions as outlined, I believe the safest decision would be to adhere to the ground rules and allow only the man on third to score.

Wheat Belt News

"Dear Rambler:

"I will give you some dope on the Wheat Belt league game between Medicine Mound and Seymour at Medicine Mound last Sunday. Seymour was leading the league and was doped to win by a large score. The result was that they got whipped 15 to 3. Bailey pitched a wonderful game for Medicine Mound. Wetzel and Freeman pitched for Seymour, with Smith receiving.

"We invite you to cover one of the Wheat Belt league games at Medicine Mound.

"Our next games will be with Rochester June 7, at Medicine Mound, and Thalia, June 14.

"Fred, those Chillicothe Cubs are not so hot. Medicine Mound has played them once this year and defeated them. Hoping to see this in the Rambler's corner.

"A Spudder fan, win or lose,

"Elmar MacDonald,

"Chillicothe, Texas."

Favor Night Baseball

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Dickson of Burkburnett write as follows:

"Dear Rambler:

"I have just been waiting to see if someone wouldn't second your motion of a few days past to have lights installed down at Spudderville but as no one has I will, if I am not out of order. If you are ready for the question my wife will give you the question. I would like to hear the fan vote on having the lights installed.

"As we all know, it will give the working men and women a chance to see the games, in as much as those who are working and trying to hold their jobs cannot afford to be asking off to go to a ball game.

"And there is Mr. and Mrs. and the Miss business man and woman that are having to stick to their business through the long hot days in order to keep their business going, but if they had opportunity would go out to the ball games at night. Who would appreciate an hour or two of such good sport as baseball, while they waited for the air to cool off and the Sandman to come along and sprinkle their eyes?

"We would like very much to hear from you again through the Rambler's corner on this.

"We have always been Spudder fans.

"Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Dickson."

Disappearing of Girl Student Brings Search

SAN MARCOS, Texas, June 3. (AP)—The mysterious disappearance of Victoria Keller, 17-year-old girl student of San Marcos Teachers college, started an intensive search in this vicinity today. She was last seen when she retired Monday night.

Both the San Marcos and Blanco rivers have been dragged unsuccessfully, and late today searching parties confined their activities to the wooded areas near this community.

The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Keller, arrived from Falls City, Texas, and were directing the search. Miss Keller came here Sunday night to register at the summer school session.

Quanah Golfer Loses Both Ball and Club On Tee Shot

Special to The Record News

QUANAH, Texas, June 3.—Earl Stine lost everything but his caddy when he teed off from the No. 8 hole on the Quanah Country club course. With a great heave he swung at the ball, and hit it. But the mid-iron slipped from his hands. Neither the club nor the ball has been located.

TUERO GIVEN POOR SUPPORT

Home Boys Win Second At Shreveport

Special to The Record News

SHREVEPORT, La., June 3—Ash Hillin kept six hits well scattered and the Spudders carried off the second game of the series with the Sports, 5 to 2. Tuero, veteran spitball hurler, was in trouble as early as the first inning and was given poor support, the Shreveporters making six errors to offset the six hits they made.

During the first four innings the Spudders were out front as the result of two runs in the opening inning aided by errors, and then the score was tied.

In the first stanza Garms walked and Allday beat out a roller down the first base line. Whelan fielded the ball and made a bad peg to first and Garms went to third. On Mueller's error off Stanton's roller, Garms scored. Gullic beat out a bunt to Tuero and Allday scored. Euller grounded to Mueller and a double play followed. Fuss was thrown out by Laveque.

After two were out in the fifth Whelan walked and moved to second on Geygan's single. He stole third and Geygan reached second on Bryant's bad peg to third. Solters walked, filling the bases. Radcliff grounded to Allday and Stanton missed his throw and Whelan and Geygan scored.

Allday's sklier fell safe back of second in the sixth and it opened the way for a Wichita Falls score. Stanton reached base by forcing Allday at second and Gullic doubled and Stanton scored. Euller singled to center and Gullic stopped at third. On an attempted double steal Gullic was caught out between third and home.

The Sports staged some mental blunders along with some ragged fielding in the ninth and the Spudders proceeded to increase their score. Euller reached base on Mueller's bad throw and Fuss rolled out in front of the plate. Scharein rolled to Tuero who chased Euller back to second but made a high throw and Scharein was safe. Bryant grounded to Winegarner who proceeded to run Euller down instead of tagging the bases. Hillin was safe on Tuero's bad peg to first and Garms singled to right and Scharein and Bryant scored. Garms stole second but Allday was thrown out by Winegarner. In the eighth Winegarner hit for three bases after two were out and in the ninth Mueller opened the ninth inning with a two bagger.

ANOTHER FIST FIGHT

BEAUMONT, June 3. (AP)—The Indians won a 6 to 5 game today which was enlivened by a one-round go between Shortstop Bernie De Viveiros of San Antonio and Manager Del Baker. The fisticuffs occurred in the last half of the ninth after De Viveiros had accused the home club of deliberately lowering the shades on top of the grand stand, allowing the sun to shine in his eyes. From his coaching position on third Baker replied that the shades were always lowered once the sun had passed the pitcher' box. One word led to two and presently De Viveiros, in position to play, threw down his glove and walked over to Baker, who met him with dukes up. In the sparring bout which followed Baker landed the only blow of the day's right to the jaw. Neither was ejected from the park.

As for the game itself it was a victory for Hobo Carson, who was knocked out yesterday. The speed of Tom Nash, who stole four bases, put what proved to be the winning run across in the eighth when he singled, stole second and third and scored on Carson's bad bounce over Schuble. Score:

Funeral Halted for Murder Investigation

NEW YORK, June 3. (US)—Relatives and friends of Dr. Ralcy Husted Bell, alienist and author, who was killed by a shotgun last week, stopped his funeral today to investigate evidence that he was murdered and not a suicide, as the death certificate asserted.

Dr. Bell was found dead last Sunday in the mansion where he lived alone at Doylestown, Pa. Coroner J. J. Sweeney asserted he had been killed by opening a closet door in which he had set a shot gun, with the trigger wired to the door, to repel burglars.

Discovery of the alienist's will leaving an estate estimated at millions to Dr. C. O. Mailloux of 314 West 81st street, where he made his home when in this city, stimulated interest in the mystery.

ST. LOUIS, June 3. (AP)—The New York Giants evened their important series with the Cardinals and reduced the league champions' first place margin to a game and a half by taking the second contest today, 9 to 5.

McGraw's men gained an early lead by pounding Jess Haines for eight hits and five runs and knocking him from the box in the fourth inning. Clarence Mitchell went the distance for the Giants. Score:

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—Cotton became very active and strong during the last hour on an active covering movement today and prices rebounded about $1.50 per bale from the low of the morning.

October advanced from 8.62-8.95 and closed at 8.91, a net gain of 26 points, while the general market closed firm with net advnces of 25-27 points. Liverpool market came in steady. The action of the stock market during the day with successive declines left traders in an uncertain frame of mind, but when the stocks developed a stronger upper trend during the afternoon, the volume of buying increased and became very active toward the close. The December price closed at 9.13.

Liverpool cabled that the market there had declined early under liquidation and weakness in Alexandria but rallied on covering. Exports today 15,131, making 6,422,696 so far this season. Port receipts 1,266. U. S. port stocks 3,182,925.

Margin Requirement Reduction Brings Long Overdue Rally

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 3. (US)—The stock market staged a rebound today which, gaining momentum from the long delay in its creation, extended into the most substantial single day's advance experienced since last October. On the average, the day's net improvement exceeded the sharp sudden rally of April 30 and even exceeded the initial turnabout of Dec. 17, which latter comeback inaugurated the sustained recovery maintained until February.

Early dealings today had reflected continuation of selling and new low levels were attained in the industrial and public utility sections of the market, but the railroad shares failed to break through to new lows. Whether this technical sign from the market itself was most influential in instigating the subsequent recovery remains open to question, but certainly the greatest contribution to the revival of confidence was the announcement by the largest banks that they have lowered margin requirements on collateral loans.

Volume of trading continued heavy and approximated the previous day's total of well over 3,000,000 shares.

Although bankers disclaimed any general program was entailed in the decision to lower excess margin requirements on loans from 25 to 20 per cent, the action was interpreted by the market as a gesture of confidence in existing quotations. Most of the big banks joined the movement.

The market was in technical position to respond to any cheering news and the bank announcement, coupled with the surprisingly cheerful carloadings figures, furnished the spark which touched off the long overdue rally. In any event the recovery, once under way, developed with spectacular rapidity and the close found most issues at or near the top prices. The very rapidity of the advance, however, emphasized its technical character.

Action of the railroad shares was particularly gratifying, although it was quite obvious that some letup in their long and sustained decline was inevitable even if only for a few days. The railroad problem is still present but great strides could be accomplished through cooperative action on the part of the railroads and the government officials. Some steps of paramount importance are being considered and if the hopes of their sponsors are justified an amazing chance would occur.

In the meantime, however, the market refuses to recognize other than prevailing conditions. One factor to be given proper weight in judging railroad securities is the tremendous reduction effected by the management in operating costs.

The government decision not to appeal the Vacuum-Standard Oil of New York merger ruling had some psychological influence, but the point made here today, that some revision of the terms will be necessary, was confirmed in official quarters.

In any event, the cheer derived from the merger prospects was offset by continued evidence of the demoralization of the oil industry, with Pennsylvania crude oil reduced to the lowest price since August, 1915. Copper sold down to 8 cents and steel operations were two per cent lower for the week, but there was some cheer in the steel reviews' contention that surplus stocks of the metal are now at "rock-bottom." Wheat prices broke to new low levels on announcement of the removal of government support.

Reduction in electric rates in New York City was ignored by stocks of companies affected and the copper shares paid no attention to the further lowering of the price of the metal. The entire market participated in the rally.

The action of the big bankers in lowering their margin requirements on loans may be significant as evidencing their greater satisfaction with conditions now prevailing, especially in view of the persistent recent rumors of overhanging troubles, of which the banks certainly would be aware.

Nevertheless, there is little reason for believing that a lasting improvement will be inaugurated until general business shows signs of stabilization. The big business leaders and bankers have a grand opportunity for achieving this desired end by terminating their personal bickerings, forgetting their vanities, and entering into a give-and-take mood which would bring order out of chaos in various industries. If these leaders insist upon survival of the fittest, a continued lengthy period of deflation may have to be faced.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, June 3. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Ignoring the failure of the dressed beef markets to show any appreciable recovery, prices for killing cattle at the principal mid-western trade centers continued on their merry upward course. Today's steady to 25c higher rate put values 50@75c above last week's close and there were spots on lighter grades where gains measured as much as $1.00. The extremely light receipts continues as the ruling bullish factor. Arrivals so far this week falling 62,000 short of the supply during the corresponding period of last year. Combined offerings were 28,150 as compared with 35,465 a week ago.

Activity ruled in the markets for hogs also, prices ranging steady to 10c higher. Heavyweights continued to attract excellent buying due mainly to the scarcity of offerings. Receipts totaled 67,400 compared with 86,535 a week ago.

Instances of a 25c gain were recorded in the market for lambs but trade was largely steady as compared with Tuesday. Mature sheep were mostly steady. Aggregate arrivals were 55,600 against 77,238 last Wednesday.

CHICAGO, June 3. (INS)—Hogs—Receipts 19,000; steady. Top $6.20; bulk $4.50@6.15; heavy $5.50@6.00; medium $6@6.30; light $6@6.20; light lights $5.90@6.15; packing sows $4.75@5.25; pigs $5.75@6.15. Holdovers 4,000.

Cattle—Receipts 8,000; steady. Calves—Receipts 2,000; steady. Best steers: Good and choice $7@8.00; common and medium $5.50@6.50; yearlings $6@8.25. Butcher cattle: Heifers $4.50@7.75; cows $3.50@5.00; bulls $3@5.50; calves $7@9.50; feeder steers $5@7.00; stocker steers $4.75@6.50; stocker cows and heifers $3.50@5.50.

Sheep—Receipts 15,000; steady. Lambs $9.50@10.50; common $6@9.00; feeder $6@7.00; yearlings $6@8.00; ewes $1.50@2.75.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 3. (AP)—Hogs—Receipts, 800; market steady; outsiders paid $5.90; top to packers, $5.80; bulk, $5.60 up; sows and stags, $4.25.

Cattle—Receipts, 500; calves, 300; market generally steady; trucked-in yearlings, $6.00@7.00; bulk steers, $2.50; heifers $2.50@4.00; good weighty beef cows, $4.00@4.25; butcher kinds, $3.25; bulls, $2.00@3.00; fancy vealers, $7.50@8.00; practical packer top, $7.00; calves, light to medium weight, $2.00@3.50.

Sheep—Receipts, 700; market steady; top, $8.00 on native spring lambs; Texas springers up to $7.50; Texas clipped $6.00@6.50; throwouts, $4.00@5.50.

KANSAS CITY, June 3. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Hogs—Receipts, 4,500; market steady to 10c higher; top, $5.95 on 200 to 220 pounds; packing sows, 275 to 500 pounds, $4.15@4.75; stock pigs, 70 to 130 pounds, $5.50@6.00.

Cattle—Receipts, 3,200; calves, 600; killing classes strong to 25c higher; stockers and feeders firm; top yearling steers, $8.25; steers, 600 to 900 pounds, $5.75@8.25; heifers, 550 to 850 pounds, $8.25@8.00; cows, $4.00@5.25; vealers, milkfed, $5.00@5.50; stocker and feeder steers, all weights, $5.50@7.50.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—Cotton goods were being sold more freely in retail channels this week. Primary markets were only moderately active with prices easy. Burlaps continued easy in local markets. Raw silk was barely steady at the opening. Mill deliveries for May were larger than anticipated. Silk goods continued to sell at highly competitive prices. Rayon producers were receiving a wide demand for acetate cellulose yarns. Wool goods were in modrate request with women's wear goods for fall showing a little more activity.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, June 3. (US)—Deferred deliveries of wheat showed surprising resistance to the weakness in the nearby months. As a result, the trade was inclined to the view that the next few days would see a gradual decline of the July to a regular discount under the September without greatly disturbing prices of the September and December.

While there were some rains in Alberta, the sections of Canada most in need of moisture were still dry. The forecast indicated clear, cool weather. Frost in the Edmonton districts also caused some apprehension.

While corn prices dipped in sympathy with the break in cash wheat months, strength in the July contract of that cereal continued. Shorts are nervous over small receipts, which show no disposition to increase greatly, despite the fact that seeding is virtually completed over much of the belt.

Strength in the securities markets did much to offset the bearish effect of the return of cash wheat prices to a basis on speculative months. Most of the recent weakness in wheat has been due directly to the declines in stocks.

$20 A WEEK

by ROB EDEN

Sometimes several times a day. Nights when she couldn't sleep, when she lay awake thinking of him, longing for him, wondering if he were dreaming of her. Ann slumbering soundly beside her. The fight to forget him, the fight that grew harder and harder instead of easier.

Lucky she was so busy with Warner. Terrible if she hadn't so much to do. All the time thinking of him. She knew that was one reason why she dived into Joyce's job so furiously.

Mrs. Douglas hadn't been able to recognize her victory without comment. Sally rather expected to hear from her and she did. The note she received had been torn up into small bits, and the small bits made even more minute, until they were tiny shavings of paper lying in the bottom of the basket near her desk. The fact that she had destroyed the note could not erase the contents from her mind, however. She had only to look at the basket, which was now filled with other things, the accumulation of the day's work, to remember what the fine spencerian writing had said.

"My dear Miss Blair," it began formally. "In view of our conversation the other morning, I see you have been wise enough to send Peter away. I assure you it is better this way, and want to thank you very much. Hoping the little incident is closed and forgotten, I remain, Emily Douglas."

The cold words staring at her from the heavy parchment-like paper. Each word eating into her heart.

Demanding the ring Peter had given her was quite bad enough, but this—this note was worse. Meant, Sally supposed, to be a stilted apology in the only way Mrs. Douglas knew how to apologize.

"Hoping the little incident is closed and forgotten—"

The "little" incident! Her love for Peter. The only love she had ever felt.

Sally could see Mrs. Douglas writing the note, seated at the prim desk inlaid with mother of pearl. Dipping her pen into the crystal inkwell—just so. Reading it over afterward for mistakes, a smile on her face. Mrs. Douglas would do that, and after it was mailed she would sit down and work on her piece of tapestry, still smiling.

Peter's New Girl

Although Sally had seen Mrs. Douglas only twice, she felt she knew her well enough to know her mannerisms, the way her mind worked. She had expected to hear from Peter's mother after Peter had gone, and she had. And when she saw the letter lying on her desk, she recognized instinctively who had sent it.

Friday night as she and Ann were waiting at Fifth avenue for the traffic signal, Ann grasped her arm.

"Sally! That's Peter isn't it?" Then Ann was sorry, of course. She would have given anything if she had left the words unsaid, for Sally was looking the other way and needn't have seen.

It was Peter, and he was in a car, a shining black roadster, which a girl was driving.

The girl, Sally thought, as she saw them whizz by. The girl in green with whom he had been at the Beach inn. The girl wasn't wearing green now, but Sally recognized her face, her auburn hair, hatless, glowing in the sun. The car passed close to her—she could have touched Peter if she had held out her hand—and she saw that the girl was very pretty, and young. As young as she. A pert nose, freckled through its evident sunburn. A golden scarf was whipping behind the slim figure.

The car was long and powerful, the top down.

Was this the "Linda" who called the evening she had had dinner at the Douglases? The Linda Peter said he didn't like as well as he liked her? At any rate he was with her now, in her car, because Peter didn't have an automobile.

Ann talked of something else as quickly as she could, tried to turn Sally's attention from the car that was almost hidden now in the maze of traffic ahead, but the girl stood on her tip toes to catch a last glimpse of the bright head and the waving yellow scarf.

Had Peter forgotten so soon?

Will Peter come back to Sally or will he marry this Linda who is favored by his mother? And what will happen to Sally tomorrow and all the other tomorrows?

LAWTON, Okla., June 3.—Funeral services for Judge R. J. Ray, pioneer attorney who died at his home in this city Tuesday following a stroke of apoplexy, will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 from the Centenary Methodist church.

Judge Ray was born in Tennessee but at 17 migrated to the plains of Texas where he spent some years on the ranges, after locating at Dallas. From Texas he moved to Woodward, Okla., where he was one of the first commissioners, resigning that position to become a law partner of Temple Houston, son of Gen. Sam Houston of Texas fame.

He had a most interesting public career. Many telegrams of condolence were received today from all parts of the state.

Burial will be made in Highland cemetery here.

Fourth Murder Charge Filed in Negro's Death

A fourth negro was charged with murder Wednesday in connection with the death of Eddie Nash, negro, about two weeks ago in a complaint filed before Justice of the Peace O. L. Gibbs.

The fourth defendant and another negro named in the case last Sunday are still at large. The two negro women who are defendants in the case are still in the Wichita county jail.

Body of Mrs. Mary Chatham Returned To Greenville for Services Today

The body of Mrs. Mary Chatham, 70, mother of J. W. Chatham, who died at the home of her son here Tuesday night, was forwarded to her home at Greenville, Texas, late Wednesday night by the Merkle Undertaking company.

Funeral services will be held in Greenville from the First Baptist church at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church here, will assist in conducting services at Greenville.

Mrs. Chatham was a pioneer citizen of Texas, and had resided for 42 years in Greenville. She had been in failing health for an extended period of time, and came here two months ago to reside with her son at 1717 Grant. She had visited here on a number of occasions and had many friends here.

Surviving in addition to the son, J. W. Chatham, are a brother, E. Lee Carter of Los Angeles, Calif., and four grandchildren.

Oklahoma Road Board Has Power To License Trucks, Opinion Holds

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 3. (UP)—Licensing of trucks and buses weighing over 14 tons and of a greater width than 90 inches were declared within the province of the state highway commission in an opinion handed down today by Atty. Gen. J. Berry King.

The opinion pointed out that since thousands of dollars had been invested in the businesses which have been built up due to practice of the commission licensing trucks and buses, greater than this size, it would be unfair and a handicap to change the method.

King's opinion authorized the commission to issue permits for vehicles greater than this size if the commission is of the opinion that the same will not inflict undue injury to the highway or the traveling public.

A. R. Losh, state highway engineer, planned that fees collected will be paid into state highway construction and maintenance funds.

The commission, however, may not charge a fee and permit trucks to travel on the state highways at a greater speed than the law permits.

License fees of trucks will no longer be computed on the manufacturer's declared carrying capacity but will be based on the maximum carrying capacity of the vehicle, according to the opinion.

Another point declared that a trailer cannot be classified as a motor vehicle or licensed as such.

The state highway commission may not prevent motor trucks having a recognized carrying capacity on which its license fee is computed from carrying a load thereon greater than 150 per cent of the said recognized carrying capacity, the opinion said.

Sept. 24 Set for Meet Of Southwest Shippers

A tentative date for the fall meeting of the Southwest Shippers advisory board here has been set for Sept. 24, according to information received from the executive committee of the board by chamber of commerce officials here Wednesday.

Approximately 1,500 persons are expected to attend the meeting to discuss matters relative to the moving of cotton over the Southwest. Wichita Falls secured the meet at the last session of the shippers' board board in Amarillo in May.

The world's oldest republic is Andorra, a tiny territory with an area of 175 square miles and 6,000 population. It is situated in the Pyrenees, between France and Spain.

WICHITA AREA CROPS FINE

Thornberry, Charlie, Petrolia Sections Toured

By FRED L. HASKETT

A trip through the Thornberry, Charlie and Petrolia sections of Wichita and Clay counties Wednesday afternoon revealed that much of the oat crop is now cut and shocked and if fair weather remains through Saturday the entire oat crop will be out of the way, except for threshing.

In the trip, some 40 miles through the best small grain section in Texas this season, only six fields of wheat were seen in which the binders were in operation. A number of new combines were seen but none was in operation.

Most farmers interviewed said that wheat cutting would start Monday and if the weather remains favorable that they expected to see all small grain cut by the middle of June. Threshers were being trimmed and oat threshing will start within a few days. At one farm home a thresher was set up and power and belting in place. Indications pointed that the thresher would be started Thursday morning.

Cotton is up to a good stand. Men, women and children are in the fields chopping out the crop. Some go-devils were also seen cultivating cotton.

The corn crop is above knee-high and making good growth. The fields have been well cultivated and chopped.

The farmers are disappointed over the price of wheat and oats. It was reported at Charlie that offers have come from buyers at Temple, Okla., offering 18 cents a bushel for oats and 50 cents per bushel for wheat. The opinion was expressed that most grain would be marketed in Temple and Ryan, Okla. markets.

W. A. Winfrey, United States employment service, investigated the labor situation and found that farmers are doing their own work and no extra labor is required at this time. When threshing starts there will be a greater demand for labor but none will have to be brought into this section.

Farmers are assisting each other in harvesting the grain crop. Through community work the fields are being rapidly cut and the expense of labor held to naught.

The farmers are friendly to Wichita Falls but feel that the proper effort has not been made in the past to draw them into this city, claiming that when oil was bringing so much wealth into Wichita Falls that prices here were too high as compared to other towns, especially Oklahoma towns that depended upon agriculture, and that there was practically no market in Wichita Falls for farm products, especially cotton and grain.

Water Heater Blast Starts Fire in Home

Damage of $1,000 to the home of W. K. Blakemore, 2401 Lawrence, was caused by fire early Wednesday morning, according to fire officials.

An explosion of a water heater was believed to have caused the blaze, according to J. L. McClure, fire chief.

Young Wife Quits Mate For Privilege of Discarding Hose

EL PASO, Texas, June 3. (UP)—Lester Aaron of El Paso today was seeking his 17-year-old wife, who left home because she preferred going barelegged to having an "old fashioned husband."

Mrs. Aaron went away Friday after her husband ordered her not to appear on the streets without stockings and said she was going to her mother at Tulsa, Okla. She has not reached there, Aaron said.

"I'll be glad to take her back," he said, "but she'll have to wear something on her legs."

Rites Thursday For Mrs. Jines

Funeral services for Mrs. R. A. Jines, 42, well-known business woman who died at a hospital here Tuesday night after a brief illness, will be held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from the chapel of the Hines mortuary.

Services will be conducted by Dr. S. S. McKenney, pastor of the First Methodist church. Burial will be in Riverside.

Pallbearers will be W. E. Ryan, J. W. Bussey, P. L. Myers, C. W. Gorin, W. W. Shuller and J. H. Simmons. Honorary pallbearers will include the stereotypers union No. 180 of Fort Worth; and Harvey Harris, Thelbert Martin, Don McCauley and A. E. Brown of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Jines had been a resident of Wichita Falls for 12 years. She had been secretary for nine years to Harvey Harris, local attorney and former county judge.

Surviving are the husband; two daughters, Mrs. Ted Allen of Wichita Falls and Mrs. M. H. Wray of Fort Worth; two brothers, A. F. Bloomingdale of Wichita Falls, and S. R. Bloomingdale of San Antonio; and a sister, Mrs. C. H. Carter of San Antonio.

Federal Employment Bureau Opened Here

A federal employment bureau was opened in Wichita Falls Wednesday to assist in the placing of farm labor in this district during the harvesting season, it was announced by the chamber of commerce.

W. A. Winfrey arrived Wednesday and will be in charge of the district office, at 611 Scott avenue. The emergency employment bureau maintained there for the past several months will be continued, it was said.

Farmers of this section who will need labor during the harvest are requested by Mr. Winfrey to communicate with the office here. Preference will be given to local applicants for work.

Miscellaneous entertainment furnished by local performers comprised the program given before members of the Optimist club in its weekly meeting at the Kemp hotel Wednesday noon.

Vocal selections given by Miss Joan Fox, soprano, were "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling," and "I Passed by Your Window." Miss Laurette Erwin played accompaniments. An acrobatic dance was given by Miss Virginia Carpenter and Miss Ardaneele Shaw read two numbers. A group dance was presented by eight little girls, Misses Beverly Squires, Iva Lou Squires, Janice Franklin, Dorothy Fowler, Florence Mooring, Virginia Carpenter, Oneida Wright and Betty Mae Backus.

Miss Lois Campbell, representing the club in the bathing beauty contest next Saturday night, was introduced by Dr. George T. Singleton, president. According to Ralph Pond, an Optimist golf tournament will be held in the near future.

Breckenridge and Archer City Name Entries in Revue

Announcement that Miss Audine Pruitt would represent Breckenridge in the West Texas beauty pageant at Lakeside park here Sunday was made according to David Dallas, pageant manager.

Miss Eddie Goodwin of Archer City will represent Archer county in the beauty contest, it was also announced.

These two young women will compete with approximately 25 other beauties of this section in the competition to select Miss Greater West Texas, who will be entered in the international event at Galveston.

Miss Wichita Falls will be selected from an entry of more than 40 girls in the contest to be staged at Lakeside park Saturday night. The winner will be entered in the contest Sunday night.

Both Miss Wichita Falls and Miss Greater West Texas will participate in the Galveston beauty pageant. Expenses of the trip will be paid.

Scouts Give Program At Lions Luncheon

Members of the Lions club were entertained Wednesday noon by Boy Scouts from the troop of Kenneth Erwin, who gave the scout oath and law, presented a demonstration of signalling, and put on a first-aid stunt. Those participating were Karl ten Brink, Orville Pierce, Clark Moody, and Roy Crocker.

Musical entertainment consisted of solos by J. L. Pope, trumpeter with the Lions club boys band, and selections by L. P. Thurman, J. S. Minton, W. P. Lacy and Lee M. Underwood, comprising a vocal quartet. George Kerner played piano accompaniments.

Jim Robinson, L. V. Abernathy and G. T. Buchanan were named as a committee to assist Milton Gaines, a member of the club, in directing a Fourth of July celebration to be staged here by the Pat Carrigan post of the American legion.

YOUNG JURY INDICTS 28

Hunter Russell Billed for Burglary

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, June 3.—Twenty-eight indictments were returned by the grand jury for Young county at Graham shortly before noon Wednesday before Judge Allan D. Montgomery, according to District Attorney Sam B. Spence.

One of the bills returned by the Young county grand jurors was against Hunter Russell, charging him with burglary in connection with the robbery of the bank at Jean and specifying that it constituted a second offense.

Erwin Spicer, convicted several weeks ago and given a six-year penitentiary term set aside when the court upheld a motion for a new trial, was billed Wednesday for perjury. Spicer's earlier trial charged burglary in connection with the Jean bank robbery on March 11 of this year. About $1,600 was taken from the bank, it was said. Spicer and Russell were the only two men indicted for that offense.

The complete list of indictments returned Wednesday was announced as follows:

J. H. Denzer, burglary, two cases; A. F. Jarvis, burglary; J. B. Colly, burglary; Hunter Russell, burglary; W. B. Davis, removing mortgaged property from county; Ruth Lindsey, possession of liquor for purpose of sale; Gus Anderson, possession and transportation of liquor; E. L. Patton, forgery, four cases; Jack Compton, burglary, second offense, and theft over $50; Erwin Spicer, perjury.

Another indictment charging theft over $50 was returned, but the defendant has not yet been arrested, it was said.

Mr. Spence stated that all cases listed above have been set for trial on Monday, June 15. The grand jury will reconvene on June 26.

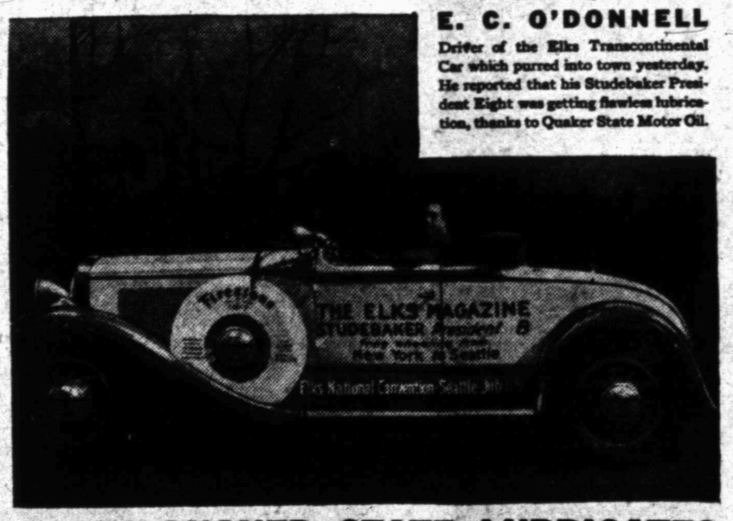
ARRIVED YESTERDAY!



E. C. O'DONNELL
Driver of the Elks Transcontinental Car which purred into town yesterday. He reported that his Studebaker President Eight was getting flawless lubrication, thanks to Quaker State Motor Oil.

AGAIN QUAKER STATE LUBRICATES ELKS TRANSCONTINENTAL CARS!

FOR THE third successive year Quaker State has been chosen as the only oil to lubricate the cars of the Elks Transcontinental Run. Quaker State was selected because this run from New York to Seattle in time for the Elks convention is on a schedule that must be kept. There can be no delays, no breakdowns. The oil must not fail.

And why was Quaker State chosen as the most dependable of all oils? Here's the answer. There's an extra quart of lubrication in every gallon of Quaker State!

For Quaker State refining removes from every gallon of oil one quart or more of thin, waste material that ordinary refining can't remove. And Quaker State replaces this useless stuff with rich, full-bodied lubricant—gives you four full quarts of good oil to the gallon, not three quarts and one of waste. So you really get an extra quart of lubricant!

And every gallon of Quaker State is made from 100% pure Pennsylvania grade crude oil—the world's finest crude.

Get Quaker State at the familiar green and white service station sign—and you'll get the smoothest lubrication made. What's more, you'll save real money every mile you drive!
