NATION PAYS TRIBUTE TO HEROES

MURPHY IS WINNER IN INDIANAPOLIS RACE

RUMBLINGS OF RAIL STRIKE STILL ECHO RESULT WAGE CUTS

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 30.—A virtual ultimatum to the railroads of America through the United States railroad labor board was presented by the federated shop crafts representing 400,000 railway employes, in a request today for a conference with the board on Thursday when the federal body will be asked to take immediate jurisdiction of all cases in which railroads are alleged to be disobeying the board's orders.

If the board declines a strike ballot will go out at once to shopmen all over the country.

With a further wage cut in a decision expected to be handed down by the board on Friday or Saturday, a third question will likely be placed on the ballot, according to B. M. Jewell, head of the shop crafts. Two questions, one on alleged violations of board decisions by contracting out shop work, and the other on elimination of time and a half for overtime, have already been authorized for submission to the men.

If another pay cut is authorized by the board, the pending ballot will undoubtedly be converted into-triple barreled strike threat, Mr. Jewell said.

While a strike undoubtedly is a strong possibility unless the shopmen's present grievances are alleviated, Mr. Jewell said, an actual walkout would hardly be possible before September 1. "A reasonable time" would be allowed for the board to take jurisdiction.

CHICAGO, May 30.—Rumblings of threatened strikes which marked the reception of Sunday's slash of $48,000,000 from the wages of maintenance of way employes of the nation's railways by the labor board continued today while rumors of reductions in the wages of other classes of labor expanded into predictions that the impending cuts will come before the end of the week.

Reductions said to be contemplated by the board affecting the wages of 400,000 shop crafts employes, combined with the Sunday slash, would reduce the railroads' payrolls $100,000,000, or half the amount necessary to bring the payroll back to where it was in May, 1920, when the board raised wages of labor on the roads.

Train service employes affected by reductions last year when the roads lopped off $400,000,000 of the $600,000,000 increase of 1920, alone will be unaffected by early orders from the board, it was said, which will place all other railroad labor men on the verge of a general strike, according to some of the union officials, who have expressed their sentiments against the board's action.

REFERENDUM VOTE ON A STRIKE IS EXPECTED

DETROIT, May 30.—An order for a strike among the 400,000 members of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes and Railway Shop Laborers was in prospect today as the executive committee of the union met here to study the decision of the railroad labor board, reducing wages of the union's members.

In the opinion of the grand officers the cost of living has not decreased to such an extent that would warrant reducing wages from one to five cents an hour. Members of the brotherhood, the officers pointed out, already receive a comparatively low wage and they added, could ill afford to accept the latest reduction which amounted to approximately 13 per cent.

The union executives, President E. F. Grable explained, have power only to recommend action by the membership and a strike decision would rest solely upon the result of a referendum.

MISS M'CORMICK DOES NOT SAIL AS HAD BEEN PLANNED

CHICAGO, May 30.—Smiling nervously, but steadily refusing to say "even a word" about her marriage plans, Miss Mathilde McCormick, daughter of Harold McCormick, millionaire International Harvester head, returned to Chicago today on the Twentieth Century.

At the station was her father who greeted her with a kiss and a "hello, darling, so glad to see you back," but he too refused to discuss Mathilde's affairs or the latest wrinkle in his own case, in which Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, his divorced wife, started court action Saturday to have his guardianship of Mathilde set aside.

"I can't say even a word," declared Miss McCormick, who was accompanied from New York only by her maid. "I have said too much now."

The young fiancee of Max Oser, the Swiss riding master, appeared rather weary, perhaps from the long trip and the heat of the day, perhaps from being bothered to death.

"And, after all," she said rather pensively, "it's nobody's business but my own. It's really my affair and I don't see why other people should be interested in it."

"But who can explain your return from New York?" she was asked.

"I don't know. I can't say a word."

Pressed for some intimation of her future plans, Miss Mathilde shrugged her shoulders and repeated her negative reply.

SAY OBREGON AND HIS CONSTITUTION MUST GO

Colonel Luis Maitos Is Aided By Generals Lucio Blanco and Alfredo Ricau.

EL PASO, May 30.—Colonel Luis Maitos, who in news dispatches from San Antonio, Texas, is reported to be under arms in a revolt against the Mexican government, is aided by General Lucio Blanco and General Alfredo Ricau, according to federal agents in El Paso, who are keeping in close touch with affairs in Mexico.

The two generals, according to reliable information received here, recently organized a small filibustering force. The force was to have crossed the line Sunday to meet the force of federals the commander of which was to have joined the rebels, it is said. Mexican officials, however, discovered the plot and blocked it.

Meanwhile, General Juan Flores, at the head of a small band, caused federal garrisons trouble in Coahuila, the reports say. The reports also add that General Flores is still active and that federals are hunting for him and his band.

The new revolutionary movement appears to be confined almost entirely to the country around the Big Bend of the Rio Grande on the Texas and Mexican sides, the reports indicate.

Nuevo Laredo's population is alarmed, the place being "almost plastered" with Felix Diaz manifestos declaring that Obregon and his constitution are to go, one report reads.

General Eugenio's Martinez's visit week to Juarez, when several parades through the streets were held, is said to have strengthened the morale of the federal troops in this section. General Martinez commands Mexican troops in Chihuahua and General J. J. Mendez commands the Juarez garrison.

FORT WORTH, May 30.—Dr. Walter E. Bryson, head of the English department at Texas Christian university, who died last night, will be buried tomorrow.

STATE HEARING ON FREIGHT REDUCTION

AUSTIN, May 30.—The state railroad commission announced today a hearing to be held on June 13 for considering a general horizontal freight rate reduction not to exceed 21.5 per cent increase over the rates effective August 26, 1920.

SPEEDWAY, INDIANAPOLIS, May 30.—Jimmy Murphy of Los Angeles, Cal., winner of the French grand prix in 1921, won the 500 mile automobile race at the Indianapolis speedway today before a record-breaking crowd of 135,000. Murphy won $35,000 in cash prizes. The time was 5:17:30.75, an average of 94.48 miles an hour, a world's record for the distance. It was the first time in the history of the event that a winner led from start to finish.

Harry Hartz, also of Los Angeles, finished second, four laps behind Murphy. Hartz won $10,000. Eddie Hearne was third.

Murphy drove a remarkable race, taking the lead at the start and holding it throughout. He made only three stops during the entire 500 miles, each time to change tires and replenish his fuel tanks. Murphy was fortunate in not having any motor trouble. It was announced that his total winnings, together with cash prizes and money from necessary companies would reach $35,000.

SPEEDWAY, May 30.—Jimmy Murphy of Los Angeles, Cal., was leading at the end of the 200 mile mark of the 500 mile automobile race for $35,000 in prizes at the Indianapolis speedway today. Murphy flashed into the lead at the start and retained it up to this point, although officials previously announced that he momentarily lost it when he stopped two minutes at 185 miles to change four tires and replenish fuel. The error was made in the checking system. Murphy won $5,100 in lap prize money.

The time for 300 miles was 3:10:24 an average of 94.54 miles per hour. Harry Hartz was second, Ore Haibe third and Eddie Hearne was fourth. The average for the same distance last year was 90.36 miles per hour. Ralph de Palma was in tenth position.

Murphy was nearly five miles ahead of Hartz at 350 miles, the time 3:42:51, an average of 94.23 miles per hour. This is a record for the track for the distance. Murphy made a stop of 28 seconds at the pits to change a tire and get fuel before starting the final 150 miles.

Murphy retained the lead at 400 miles, covering the distance in 4:14:13.20, an average of 94.42 miles an hour. At times he was averaging better than 100 miles an hour. Hartz was second, one lap behind the leader. Eddie Hearne was third. The car driven by Peter de Paolo, a nephew of Ralph De Palma, crashed into the wall at the south end of the track but its occupants escaped injury. The car was withdrawn.

At 450 miles Murphy was setting a terrific pace, Hartz was second and Eddie Hearne third. The time was 4:45:28.76, an average of 94.58 miles an hour as compared with 89.41 miles an hour for the same distance a year ago.

Murphy started the final 25 miles of the grind about two and a half miles in the lead with Hartz second and Hearne third. Murphy made a stop of 25 seconds at 451 miles to change a rear tire before beginning the dash to victory. The time for 475 miles was 5:01:42, an average of 94.46 miles an hour.

RECORD BREAKING CROWD OF 135,000 SPECTATORS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 30.—With a roar from perfectly tuned motors, 27 drivers, the pick of three nations, shot away at 10 a. m. today in the start of the 500 mile automobile race at the Indianapolis speedway for prizes totaling $35,000. There was a record breaking crowd of 135,000 spectators cheering from the stands and in field when the starting bomb was fired. The racers were paced the first lap by Barney Oldfield, a retired star of the racing world.

Jimmy Murphy, driving a special eight cylinder car, grabbed the lead at the start, piloting his car around the treacherous turn at a speed that brought the spectators to their feet. Leon Duray, driving his first speedway race, was second, and Ralph de Palma, a favorite with the crowd, was trailing in third place. The time for the first lap around the two and one-half mile course was 1:34:64, an average of 95 miles an hour.

Murphy continued his terrific pace and at the 50 mile mark was fully a half mile ahead of Leon Duray, who was second. The time was 31:29:23, an average of 95.27 miles an hour, as compared with 93.67 miles an hour last year for the same distance. Harry Hartz was third and Ralph de Palma fourth. Howard Wilcox of Indianapolis was the first driver forced out of the race, valve trouble causing his withdrawal after he had gone 17½ miles.

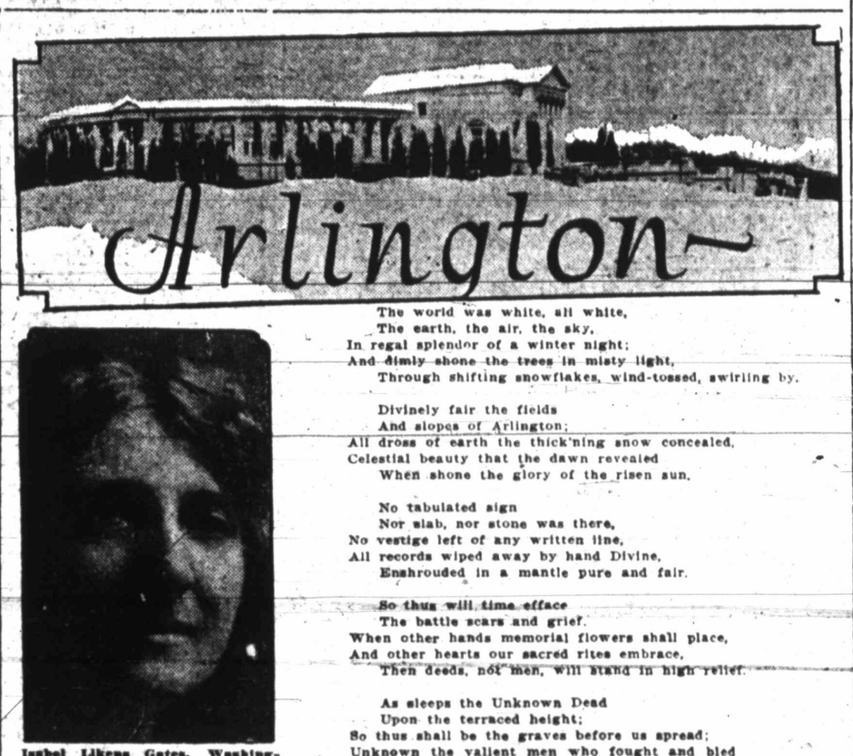

Murphy clung to the lead at the 100th mile with Hartz in second place. De Palma moved into third place while Duray dropped into fourth. The time was 1:03:14, an average of 94.07 miles an hour. Murphy at this point had won $2,000 in lap prizes, receiving $50 for each lap he led. Jules Ellingboe was the second driver to withdraw from the race. He threw a rear wheel while speeding around the north turn and his car spun completely around three times, crashing into a protecting wall. Neither Ellingboe nor his mechanician was injured. Jules Goux, driving a French car, was forced out by a broken axle after he had covered 60 miles.

The car driven by Wilbur D'Alene burst into flames as D'Alene started his 103rd mile. After a heroic fight the driver and his mechanician succeeded in extinguishing the blaze and the car was withdrawn, making the fourth to drop out of the race.

Murphy was nearly two miles in the lead at the 150 mark with Hartz second and Duray third. Ora Haibe was fourth and Eddie Hearne fifth. The time 1:34:37.62, an average of 95.11 miles an hour. Murphy, up to this time, had not made a stop. He led from the start and had won $2,000 in lap prizes.

Murphy lost the lead to Hartz at 185 miles when he was forced to make his stop to change four tires and replenish his fuel supply. Murphy, up to this time, had won $3,250 in lap prizes. At 200 miles Hartz

Isabel Likens Gates, Washington, D. C., poetess, whose poem "Arlington" was read for the first time at the Memorial Day exercises at Arlington Cemetery. The poem was inspired by a mid-winter visit to the nationally known cemetery near the capital, when the soldiers' graves and the last resting place of the "Unknown Soldier" in Arlington were blanketed under a snowy mantle.

The world was white, all white,
The earth, the air, the sky,
In regal splendor of a winter night;
And dimly shone the trees in misty light,
Through shifting snowflakes, wind-tossed, swirling by.

Divinely fair the fields
And slopes of Arlington;
All dross of earth the thick'ning snow concealed,
Celestial beauty that the dawn revealed
When shone the glory of the risen sun.

No tabulated sign
Nor slab, nor stone was there,
No vestige left of any written line,
All records wiped away by hand Divine,
Enshrouded in a mantle pure and fair.

So thus will time efface
The battle scars and grief,
When other hands memorial flowers shall place,
And other hearts our sacred rites embrace,
Then deeds, not men, will stand in high relief.

As sleeps the Unknown Dead
Upon the terraced height;
So thus shall be the graves before us spread;
Unknown the valient men who fought and bled
And glorified in a cause they knew was right.

But in white purity
As this fair temple stands,
So shall the memory of our soldiers be
Their monument: Eternal Liberty
Known to all people and unto all lands.

MOTION PROVIDES FOR CALLING STRIKE IF WAGES ARE CUT

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, May 30.—A motion to have the president and secretary of the organization prepare complete instructions for firemen to leave the service in event the United States rail labor board hands down a decision reducing the wages of firemen was made today from the floor of the convention of the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. The motion, which was referred to a special committee for consideration, anticipates a decision reducing firemen's wages.

The motion specifies that the instructions be complete and that they should be placed in the hands of general chairmen, leaving blank the date for quitting the service of the various railroads. The instructions, according to the motion, are to be mailed out in ample time to enable the men to walk out on the date the decision reducing wages becomes effective.

Locomotive firemen and other train service employes' wages were not raised in proportion to the wages of employes in other industries during the war, the motion states, and the firemen were the first to suffer a reduction when the war was over. The motion states the belief of the brotherhood that it is the intention of the board to cut the firemen's wages.

REDUCTION OF WAGES NOT CONTEMPLATED SOON

CHICAG, May 30.—No reductions of wages for firemen or any other classes of train or yard service employes is in prospect for several months as these employes are not involved in the present wage decisions now being formulated by the United States labor board, it was said at the board today.

One of the stipulations on which the big four brotherhoods agreed to call off the threatened strike last October was that no wage questions would be taken up before all rules and disputes had been settled. The rules controversy between the big four and the roads is yet to be heard before the board and consequently no wage changes can be considered at this time, it was explained.

Even if an early date were set for the rules hearings and wage hearings should follow immediately, it was estimated that no decision would be possible before September 1 at the earliest.

GERMANY ACCEPTS REPARATIONS PLAN BUT AID IS ASKED

By Associated Press.

PARIS, May 30.—The German reply to the reparations commission's demands says that the German government will undertake, on the hypothesis that it be given aid through a foreign loan within a suitable time, to maintain its paper circulation within the limits reached March 31, and in general comply with the conditions fixed by the commission for a partial moratorium.

The reply is generally regarded as satisfactory, with the exception of a few immaterial points.

The Fletcher boy told officers he was awakened at 5:00 o'clock by shots and a moment later saw his father fall to the floor, where he died a few minutes later. Five bullets penetrated Fletcher's head and chest.

WITNESSES TELL OF FAITH THEY HAD IN LITERATURE OF COX

HOUSTON, May 30.—Faith in S. E. J. Cox's literature led them to invest in his companies and acquire securities now worth next to nothing, witnesses testified today in the federal court. They came from distant points to testify against Cox on trial for alleged use of the mails to defraud in connection with financing three companies whose capital on paper aggregated $41,000,000.

Frequent tilts between opposing counsel marked the opening of the government's testimony.

D. A. Simmons, assistant district attorney, who is conducting the examination of witnesses, read literature of the Cox Realization company estimating the value of acreage leases in west Texas at $5,000 an acre.

"Would you sell your leases for $5,000?" he asked E. A. Trombley of Flint, Mich.

"I'd sell them for a good cigar," the witness replied sharply.

MANY WITNESSES AT HOUSTON IN COX CASE

HOUSTON, May 30.—Stockholders from Hollywood, Cal., to Cambridge, Mass., and from Grand Forks, N. D., to Galveston, who invested in the S. E. J. Cox companies and saw the prices of their stocks crumble, were waiting today to be called as witnesses when the government opened its testimony against the oil promoter.

All preliminaries had been concluded with the reading of the indictment yesterday.

It charges Cox with making false statements and using the mails to defraud in selling stock in three companies whose capital, on paper, amounted to $41,000,000.

DENISON YOUTH IS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT BY HIS COMPANION

MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVED WITH PATRIOTIC EXERCISES, INCLUDING DEDICATION LINCOLN MEMORIAL

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—A nation's tribute to its glorious dead reached its climax today at the dedication of the memorial erected beside the Potomac to Abraham Lincoln by his grateful countrymen. A former president headed the commission which has lavished endless thought on making this stone emblem of American gratitude worthy of the man whose memory it will perpetuate for Americans always.

The president in person accepted the work in the nation's name. Spread across the wide terraces, the lawns and the circling driveways that have been wrought to give the memorial building a setting, where thousands of Americans and the most distinguished men in this country from foreign lands also came to pay their homage at this new shrine of democratic liberty. Close about were gathered the men who today hold in their hands the destinies of that government "of the people, for the people and by the people," which Lincoln gave his life to maintain, but behind these over a mile wide sweep of the mall and clear-away to the base of Washington monument, a mile distant from the memorial, were the common folks from whom Lincoln came and for whom he toiled endlessly until he was cut down by an assassin's bullet.

Foremost among the men who gathered at this culminating ceremony of Decoration day were the aged veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, men who at Lincoln's call put aside their citizenship for a little while for the blue of the army uniform and fought out the question of American nationality as one people under one government.

The uniforms of the veterans and of the military attaches and the marines who guarded and patroled the pathways through the great throng were the only signs today of military life, except that the officers and men of the British flagship Raligh, now at Washington navy yard, were mingled with the thousands of Americans who stood to hear what former President Taft and President Harding had to say.

The speakers' rostrum was at the head of the wide stairway that leads to the granite bulk of the memorial. Inside the temple of Lincoln is the only occupant of the stately chamber that houses it. Below stretchd the great crowd and the amplifiers from the roof of the memorial carried the words of the speakers far across to the wooded sweeps of lawn on either hand that reach toward the monument to Washington and towards the looming bulk of the capitol in the far distance beyond.

The statue shows Lincoln in the pose and with the expression that have long been endeared to American hearts. It is cut from a solid block of Georgia marble, and from the base of the statue itself to the head of the seated figure is nearly 30 feet. Above the statue on the black wall of the memorial runs the simple legend that tells of the greatness of this man and of the love of his countrymen, north and south alike, have come to bear his memory. The sculptor has seen Lincoln, as Lincoln's son, come here today despite age and infirmities, to attend the impressive ceremonies, often must have seen him in life when he sank back in his heavy chair at his desk in the white house and brodded over the havoc that civil war would make. The figure is relaxed with arms outspread on the arms of the chair, the wide shoulders are pressed back for support, but the head is erect, and the quiet, gaunt, deeply lined face is but the setting of the brooding eyes looking thoughtfully, almost in sorrowing pity, over the memories of the scenes they witnessed, of the sorrows they knew.

FLOWERS ARE PLACED ON GRAVES OF AMERICANS

PARIS, May 30.—The 40,000 American war dead buried in France were visited by groups of their comrades today.

While the bodies of 24,000 have been taken home and most of those remaining have been gathered in the six permanent American war cemeteries, some remain in scattered spots where they were first buried, and where they were left in accordance with their families' wishes.

To each of these places—great cemeteries and lone graves alike—their comrades of the American legion and representatives of the French people, today took flowers.

READERS OF TIMES SUGGESTING NAMES FOR THE TWO LAKES

A large number of suggestions of names for the lake at the storage dam and that at the diversion dam are being received by The Times in response to a request from the irrigation district board that the people suggest names through the newspapers.

Practically all of those who favor the names of individuals for the lakes mention the name of J. A. Kemp in this connection.

Suggesting the names "Lake Joseph" and "Lake Flora," John W. Bradley of this city writes:

"These are Mr. and Mrs. Kemp's christian names and seem to me most appropriate; certainly no enterprise ever fostered by Mr. Kemp so well merits his name as this great irrigation project does and in view of the fact that it has been his great ambition from the beginning, certainly it should bear his name."

On the front page of this issue is a blank form which readers are invited to fill out with their suggestions and mail to the Times.

Among the names that have been suggested for the storage and diversion lakes are the following:

W. L. Lawler, 1602 Austin—Kemp lake, Faith lake.

Mrs. Reece S. Allen, city—Big Wichita lake, Little Wichita lake; suggests calling present Lake Wichita, "City lake."

W. L. Dillard, 412 Lamar—Lake Grand.

J. S. McKenzie, 1005 Bluff—Storage lake, Canal lake.

B. B. Mask, city—Lake Kemp, Lake Noble.

Mrs. R. L. Daugherty, 1407 Polk—Lake Kempita.

P. H. Sullivan, 1206 Burnett—Kemp lake, Kell lake.

G. A. Henderson of Childress—Lake Wichita, Lake Falls.

B. F. Rupe of Seymour—Lake Wichita-Seymour, Lake Wichita-Archer.

T. B. Greenwood, city—Lake Joekemp, Lake Noble.

John W. Bradley, city—Lake Joseph, Lake Flora.

TRACTION LINE TO HIGH SCHOOL SITE WILL BE ASKED FOR

KELL SAYS TWO EXTENSIONS INVOLVED IN COUNCIL CONTROVERSY.

PASSAGE OF ORDINANCE EXPECTED WEDNESDAY

Advocates Believed to Be In Majority—Both Sides Are Standing Pat.

Although Mayor Collier and Street Commissioner Clifford, on one side, and officials of the traction company on the other, were standing pat on their respective positions with reference to the North Wichita car line franchise, there was every reason to believe Tuesday morning that the franchise ordinance would be passed as drawn when the matter comes before the council in adjourned session Wednesday night.

Two extensions, instead of only one, are in the balance.

"I am going to apply later for a franchise, on the same terms, to build a line to the new high school," said Mr. Kell Tuesday morning. "It will be the council's fault if the two extensions are not built."

The traction company contends that it is asking for a franchise to the North Side under the provisions as they already exist, that no additional concessions are being sought. There were indications, Monday night, that a majority of the council was ready to pass the franchise ordinance without amendment, but action was delayed until Wednesday night in the hope that an agreement could be reached whereby the minor differences could be adjusted.

It was stated at traction company offices Tuesday morning that no changes in the existing terms could be accepted. The point at issue is the extent of the company's responsibility for the upkeep of the streets to be traversed. The company is willing to lay the tracks according to grade and to restore the streets to the condition in which it finds them, but it contends that to require it to "maintain" them in that condition puts a burden on it that it cannot afford to assume.

No other member of the council has yet indicated that he will vote to sustain Collier and Clifford in their attitude.

A delegation of barbers appeared before the council to ask for some changes in the sign and pole ordinance which, as written, threatens to eliminate the striped pole which is the mark of the barber everywhere. The council took no action on the matter but promised to look into it before June 27, when the ordinance goes into effect. Members of the council expressed doubts whether any change could be made that would favor barber shops without giving other places of business privileges that would defeat the purpose of the ordinance.

Good progress on signing up property owners on Burnett street was reported to the council by E. W. Miles of the bituithic company, who told the aldermen that it would be necessary to have but few, if any "bald spots" on that thoroughfare.

The need of a building code for the city was brought up again by Commissioner Reed. This matter has been before the council for several years without any action being taken. It was indicated Monday night that a special committee, to work with representatives of contractors, would be named at the adjourned session Wednesday night.

Fred B. Massey of the 400 block on Lee street reported that all the property owners in that block had signed up for graveling the street, and he asked the council to go ahead and improve that block, expressing the belief that property owners on the rest of the street would sign up after the work was started. Commissioner Clifford agreed to do this.

The council adopted a recommendation of Commissioner Reed, for permitting property owners to use park equipment in spraying their trees against insect pests.

Commissioner Fitts called attention to the fact that there is no public watering place for animals in the city. Commissioner Clifford said that steps would be taken to restore the concrete trough at the court house so as to make it available.

RESUME TRANSFER OF BELGIAN MONEY EASTBOUND ONLY

The Western Union Telegraph company announces the resumption of money transfer service with Belgium, limited however, to eastbound transfers only. Arrangements with the Belgian government have not been completed for the inauguration of westward service, that is, transfers from Belgium to the United States and Canada.

The service will correspond to the present eastbound service and will provide for the conversion of Belgian francs in dollars at the approximate prevailing rate of exchange in New York at the time of the transaction.

HALT CALIFORNIA'S DRIVE FOR MEMBERS FOR KU KLUX KLAN

LOS ANGELES, May 30.—The campaign in California for members for the Ku Klux Klan has been halted, it was made known here today by W. G. Price, former king kleagle of the klan in this state.

The annual "klansvention" of California kleagles closed here today. Accounts and reports of 19 attending kleagles were checked. The men who did not report, according to Price, was Homer R. Pitts, formerly of Atlanta, Ga., active in forming klans in Kern and Imperial counties.

A recent report of the Kern county grand jury charged the klan was implicated in night rider activities in the California oil fields, which included the beating of several persons.

One man was killed in a raid by masked men on an alleged illicit liquor manufactory near Los Angeles recently and at the inquest on his body it was testified that klansmen had participated in the raid.

Klansmen are said to be anxious as to the whereabouts of W. S. Coburn, former grand goblin of the klan's "Pacific domain" and now king kleagle for California. He recently left Atlanta for Los Angeles, after conferring in Georgia with the imperial officials of the organization as to the situation in California.

The 130 unions to be heard from are all small ones and will not change the result, John C. Daley, superintendent of the home, said.

ROAD DISTRICT ON HENRIETTA ROUTE AGAIN ADVOCATED

Circulation of petitions will start shortly, it is learned, for organizing a road district along the Henrietta road in Clay county. With work under way on the Wichita county portion of the road, the plan for a district bond issue is again receiving attention in Clay county.

Residents along the road as far east as Jolly are understood to be overwhelmingly in favor of a district bond issue. Whether the district takes in Henrietta will depend on sentiment in that community. Those active in the matter are hopeful that the district can include the county seat.

It is expected that the petition for the election will be presented at the July meeting of the Clay county commissioners' court.

MERCHANTS IN ELECTRA OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

ELECTRA, May 30.—Memorial day was observed in Electra by the closing of practically all of the stores in town. All business except work in the oil fields was practically suspended.

Memorial services were held at 2:00 o'clock under auspices of the Claude C. McDannald post of the American legion in the Grand theater. After singing the "Star Spangled Banner," Rev. E. M. Francis, pastor of the First Baptist church, said the invocation; Miss Gallagher sang a patriotic solo. C. P. Engelking read Grant's Memorial Address; Mrs. Bruce Frazier sang, and Rev. Byron Hester, pastor of the First Christian church, delivered the memorial address. Rev. R. B. Curry, pastor of the First Methodist church, pronounced the benediction.

Graves of the three American soldiers buried in the local cemetery were decorated by the local legion post.

The thief entered through a back window, worked a combination safe, and with a key which he had secured previously opened the money box, taking nearly $100. Being Saturday night sales had been unusually heavy and resulted in having more money on hand than is usually the case. Part of the loot has been recovered. The proprietors hope to make arrests within a short time.

PRESIDENT AND PARTY RETURN FROM CRUISE

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The President and Mrs. Harding returned to Washington early today on the yacht Mayflower in which they left Saturday with a party of friends for a week end trip down the Chesapeake bay. Perfect weather conditions were said to have prevailed on the last night of the cruise and the president, refreshed by the brief rest afforded, went directly to the white house from the navy dock yard.

S. A. L. MORGAN IS SPEAKER AT REVIVAL

"Be ye doers of the word and not hearers only," was the scripture used by Judge S. A. L. Morgan in bringing the message to the minds and hearts of the hearers at the North Side Methodist revival services on Monday night. The judge made an earnest plea for service along material and spiritual lines in church life and pointed out the fact that while the reward for service is certain the motive must not be a selfish one. He insisted that all service should be rendered primarily for love of Christ. The selfish spirit in religion mars and may utterly defeat the end in view. If one shall do right only in order to escape perdition or to win heaven he is doomed to disappointment. The discourse was replete with helpful truths, forcefully presented and well received. Mrs. Clyde Foster will give the message tonight.

S. M. N. MARRS IS PRINCIPAL SPEAKER UNIVERSITY LUNCH

EDUCATIONAL PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED BEFORE CLUB MEMBERS.

SAYS JUNIOR COLLEGES AN IMPORTANT QUESTION

Predicts They Will Be Supported By Both State and City Governments.

"The time is coming in Texas when we will have junior colleges supported by both state and city government," S. M. N. Marrs, assistant state superintendent of public instruction, told members of the University club at their weekly luncheon Tuesday noon. Mr. Marrs spoke on a variety of subjects dealing with educational problems of Texas but the most interesting feature of his talk was that relating to the junior college, its growth and its possibilities.

In commenting further on the statement quoted above Mr. Marrs declared it as his belief that the ideal junior college would be one wherein the physical equipment such as buildings and laboratories would be furnished by the city, while the teaching force would be selected and paid by the state department of education.

"Such problems as these," he said, "require time and attention for satisfactory solution, but it is my contention that they are eventually coming."

Mr. Marrs divided the paramount needs of the state educational systems of the future into two classes, financial and administrative. Both of these aspects, he declared, must be carefully considered by department directors if the high standard of education desired in Texas was to be attained.

Mr. Marrs is a candidate for the office of state superintendent of public instruction, to succeed Miss Annie Webb Blanton.

George Taylor furnished musical entertainment for the day with three vocal numbers, "Hiawatha's Melody of Love," "My Old 'Tucky Home," and "That Wonderful Mother of Mine." He played his own accompaniments on a mandolin.

SUMMER SCHOOL ENROLLMENT REACHES NEW HIGH FIGURE

With the largest enrollment in the history of the city, the first week of city summer schools closed with classes in long session proportions. Each day brought a number of new entries, so that the net total enrollment has passed 160. Last year at the end of school it was slightly over 100.

Monday was the last day for general registration, according to the principal of the summer session, H. A. Glass, except the low seventh, which is still open. It is urged that all who want to enter low seventh work do so at once as the full work will be given with the required number of recitations even if work has to be carried on longer than the present school schedule.

Tuition for the entire summer work is $15 per child.

Work offered covers the seventh grade and also the high school departments of English, mathematics and history, with the addition of one class in Latin. A number of students are taking senior English and other work to complete the course for graduation this summer.

Instruction is in charge of teachers selected from the faculties of the junior and senior high schools, including Principal H. A. Glass, teacher of junior high school subjects and history; Miss Johnnie Morgan, history; J. T. Rundell of the senior high school, mathematics; R. O. Jones of the sesior high school, English.

H. J. Ballew has returned from Jacksonville, where he has been attending the Southern Baptist convention.

TICKET SELLERS FOR COMMUNITY PLAYERS PLEASED

With only a few days to go, the Community Theater players are putting forth every effort to make their last understanding of the year one grand success, and they are already reaping the fruits of their labor, for the ticket sales for Monday exceeded their wildest expectations. Not a few, but all who had tickets to sell called for more before the day was over, and from their predictions the box office will be crowded Thursday and Friday reserving seats for the two performances.

There are several reasons for the unusual amount of interest displayed in this production. One is that it is the first time in Wichita Falls when the Community as a whole has attempted to do anything big along this line. It is the plan of the Community Theater to find talent from all sections of the city, and to use every person whose ability merits recognition. With this idea in mind the play was cast, and those who are fortunate enough to secure seats will find that the parts are excellently fitted and worked out. At Monday's rehearsals there was not a line missed, which is most unusual for an amateur performance, especially one with such a large and varied cast.

The Community Theater always has for its aim simplicity and excellency of detail, and it has been along these lines that they are working on this play. While several committees are giving their time and attention entirely to scenery and lighting effects, those taking part in the play are perfecting their parts assiduously and striving to the best of their ability to present a perfect performance on both evenings.

Those who have been fortunate enough to be present at some of the rehearsals have unanimously expressed the opinion that this production will be so attractive that they will even desire to be present both nights. With this encouragement, the players feel assured of success in every line.

FITTS DECLARES WAR ON MASHERS; WANTS ORDINANCE

Police Commissioner J. B. Fitts is on the warpath again, this time with the more or less well known "masher" as the object of his wrath. With professional vags and domino parlor habitues effectually routed, Mr. Fitts believes it is time to start operations with this latest undesirable element, and a report received at the police station Monday night hastened this decision.

Several young women were subjected to petty insults at one of the principal street intersections early in the evening by a group of men who took up their stand on the curbing and made remarks about every girl that passed. This, at least, was the gist of the story told the night force by an irate young lady who had suffered from the indignities. Other reports of a similar character have reached the police from time to time, Mr. Fitts says, until he now believes the situation is aggravated enough to warrant drastic action.

At present the city laws include no provisions covering the operations of "mashers," it appears, and the police commissioner proposes to draft an ordinance providing adequate punishment for such malefactors.

Mrs. Walter Robinson has returned from Weinert, where she has been spending a few days with her husband. She is accompanied by Mrs. B. Harry Young of Ardmore, who is here for a brief visit.

MAIL CARRIERS OF THE 13TH DISTRICT HAVE SESSION HERE

FIRST MEETING OF WHAT MAY BE MADE AN ANNUAL EVENT.

SMALL BUT ENTHUSIASTIC DELEGATION IS PRESENT

M. F. Clevenger, Vice President, Presides at Meeting—Problems Discussed.

A small but enthusiastic delegation of representatives of the thirteenth congressional district of rural mail carriers were in session Tuesday at the chamber of commerce rooms, the meeting constituting the first of what may be made an annual event of the newly organized letter carriers association. M. F. Clevenger of Krum, Texas, vice-president of the state organization, presided at the meeting.

A round table discussion of problems relative to their work was the feature of the morning hours, this discussion being led by Inspector Sparks of the Wichita Falls office. An address on association work by Mr. Clevenger and a talk on general postoffice work by Ed Howard, Wichita Falls postmaster, made up the balance of the initial meeting.

It was expected that a county organization composed of members of the district association in Wichita, Wilbarger and Clay counties would be effected in the afternoon. Sentiment in favor of such an organization was said to be strong and several delegates expressed confidence that such a step would be taken.

Those attending the meeting were: M. F. Clevenger, Krum; J. D. Ratliff, Montague; C. C. Shy, Wichita Falls; G. W. Cleveland, Post Oak; W. H. Finley, Alvord; H. B. Box, Bowie; J. E. Brashear, Saint Jo; J. A. Cunningham, Saint Jo; W. W. Stirman, Wichita Fals; J. W. Driver, Montague; Ed Shy, Wichita Falls; Ellery Lynn, Wichita Falls; Carl L. Tallenson, Wichita Falls; Marcus E. Banks, Iowa Park; O. A. Teague, Shannon; S. C. S. Tonder, Nocona.

The man spent Saturday evening at a local swimming pool, it is reported, and was taken violently ill after his return home. Medical aid was summoned, but he expired after undergoing several convulsions.

FRANK MARINA ON TRIAL ON CHARGE OF GROCERY THEFT

Frank Marina went on trial in the 89th district court Tuesday morning on the charge of theft of property over the value of $50, it being specifically alleged that on or about May 1, 1922, he stole a quantity of groceries from the grocery store of J. L. Huffines at 115 Indiana avenue. The value of the groceries was placed at $22.

This is a companion case to the one against Earle Patterson, who was tried last week and found guilty and sentenced to the penitentiary for two years.

The defense in the Patterson case was that Marina had delivered the groceries to Patterson's house and that the latter was not aware that the groceries were stolen property.

SUMMER SHOWERS SWELL RAINFALL HALF INCH AGAIN

The summer showers of Monday afternoon and night added another half inch to the annual rainfall in this section. The shower Monday afternoon produced practically all of the rain, a small portion falling during the night.

A heavy rain fell from Woodward to Forgan Tuesday morning and light showers were reported from various other points on local railroad lines.

The mercury was well on its way to sizzling heights again Monday afternoon but the shower caused it to recede. It had reached the 87 degree mark at 2:00 o'clock just before the rain. During the night a minimum point of 72 degrees was reached locally.

COUNTY OFFICES IN COURT HOUSE CLOSE AT NOON

All offices in the county court house closed at 1:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in observance of Memorial day. The various officials had not decided upon closing until shortly before the noon hour at which time the announcement was made.

The district clerk's office remained open due to the fact that a criminal case was on trial in the 89th district court.

THE WOMAN'S PAGE

June 6 Wichita Falls Near East Bundle Day

Dig Out the "Skeleton in Your Closet"—the Old Clothes You Do Not Need—to Cover the Naked Bodies of Women and Children in Armenia.

It hangs on a hook in your closet.

Or hidden away in the attic. Or in an old, unused trunk, somewhere about the house.

You call it, perhaps, your "spare suit"—a coat you have outworn, a dress that is no longer in style. You call it that—because you do not understand.

When you read in succeeding pages how, over in Armenia, little, helpless children, and tottering men and women are desperately covering their emaciated bodies with strips of rags and burlap bags, you cannot then help but feel that these extra clothes of yours—clothes you do not need and may never wear again—are skeletons in you rcloset."

Your conscience will help you find them.

Then—bundle them out.

On the early morning of next Tuesday, June 6, a freight car will be backed into the siding in the Wichita Falls railroad yards, and will stand there all day.

In the evening it will be started on its way to the Galveston docks, and its contents loaded into a big gray ship with other Texas carloads.

What will it be, and where will the contents go?

You already know. The contents will be those "skeletons in your closet" for which the Near East Relief has been begging for months. They will go to clothe the practically naked bodies of the pitiful remnant of 120,000 women and children in Armenia, reduced to a terrifying condition during five years of destitution.

Hundreds of the children are suffering from rheumatism and pneumonia as a result of their thin covering with strips of burlap rags. A new appeal has been sent for clothing—anything practical you can do without or do not need. And there will be a whirlwind campaign in Wichita Falls to get all of the bundles together to load the Wichita Falls Near East freight next Tuesday.

Meeting at Kemp.

With Mrs. G. C. Wood, chairman, there will be a meeting on the mezzanine floor at Kemp hotel Thursday afternoon at 4:30 to get the bundle workers together. Representatives are to be there from every local church, appointed by the ministers in charge, and plans for the campaign will be completed. The railroad company is putting the freight car here free—as the railroad companies all over the United States are doing—and the steamship lines are carrying the bundles free. If "big business" has recognized the dire need of the Armenian homeless to that extent, it is certainly as little as an individual can do to give that which he or she has no further use for.

Begin getting your old clothing together for the car. You will have plenty left to take care of yourself and the needs of the poor in Wichita Falls.

$365 IN PRIZES FOR BEST RHYMES

A new contest is just being started which will interest everyone who reads this paper. Anyone can enter this contest—anyone can win! All it is necessary to do is to write a 4-line rhyme on Dr. Price's Phosphate Baking Powder, using only the words which appear on the label of the Dr. Price can (front and back).

Isn't that easy? Everyone likes to make rhymes and here is a chance to spend a fascinating hour or two writing rhymes on this popular Baking Powder and perhaps winning a substantial prize for your efforts.

27 CASH PRIZES

For the rhyme selected as best a prize of $100 will be given; for the second, third and fourth best rhymes prizes of $75, $50 and $25, respectively will be given. And besides these prizes there will be 23 prizes of $5 each for the next 23 best rhymes. With such a long list of prizes as these, it would be a pity not to try your hand.

Here's a 4-line rhyme as example:

Biscuits, muffins, pie or cake,
With Dr. Price's Powder bake.
The Price's Co. guarantee
No alum in the cans to be.

As Dr. Price's Phosphate Baking Powder sells for only 25c cents a 12 oz. can, some rhymes could play up the great economy of this pure and wholesome baking powder.

All rhymes must be received by July 1, 1922. Only words appearing on the label of the Dr. Price can (front and back) may be used. These words may be used as often as desired, but no other words will be allowed. If you haven't a can of Dr. Price's, you can see one free at almost any grocer's. It is not a requirement that you purchase a can in order to be eligible in this Contest.

Anyone may enter the Contest, but only one rhyme from each person will be considered. In case of ties, the full amount of the prize will be given to each tying contestant. Write plainly on only one side of a sheet of paper and be sure to give your name and address. Send your rhyme before July 1st to Price Baking Powder Factory, 1005 Independence Blvd., Chicago, Ill.—adv.

FIRST CHRISTIAN AID DINNER IS FAREWELL TO MEMBERS LEAVING

The all-day meeting of the First Christian Aid society Monday featured a sumptuous noon banquet which specially complimented Misses Dora and Cora Coons, members of the church and Aid who leave soon for their old home in Lexington, Ky.

The dinner was an unusually attractive and enjoyable affair. Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin acted as toastmistress when the hundred or more ladies were seated, and opened the informal program with the reading of a poem, challenging the merits of any other state to come up to "Texas." She presented the two special honorees with pretty hand-painted palm leaf fans as remembrances of the society and the delightful Texas summers. On the toast program which followed Mrs. H. C. Young remembered the charter members of the church, Mrs. J. L. Dowling the Aid society, Mrs. C. F. Hall the Sunday school, and Mrs. A. D. Patillo the new members of the congregation. Other pleasing numbers were songs by Miss Martha Oster, readings by Miss Louise Scott, and a piano solo by Miss Georgia B. Leath. Then Miss Dora Coons responded to the toasts and the "Texas" poem with the reading of a sonnet dedicated to "Lexington," which was very much applauded.

The dinner, whose menu comprised creamed carrots, new potatoes, baked ham, combination salad, whole wheat bread and corn light bread, orange ice, cake, ice tea and coffee, was served under the direction of Mrs. C. O. Fritz's division. The hostesses in the division included Mesdames S. L. Coon, O. T. Bacon, W. M. Baldridge, E. R. Leath, L. A. Robinson, R. L. Stewart, J. M. Barkley, L. Y. Woodruff, W. E. BIRTHDAY PARTY HONORS MRS. LANGFORD MONDAY

Mrs. D. W. Woodward was hostess at her home, 1408 Fifteenth street, with a very pretty birthday party honoring her mother, Mrs. W. M. Langford.

The living and dining rooms were fragrant with a profusion of carnations, roses and cape jasmines, and the guests spent a thoroughly delightful afternoon in each other's company. An advertising contest which proved very interesting was won by Mrs. B. H. Williams. When the guests were invited into the dining room the honoree found the table laden with gifts, which she opened and inspected. Later progressive "42" was played, Mrs. Langford winning high score and Mrs. McMahon low. Fruit punch was served during the afternoon and after the games the birthday cake was cut, when the candles had been blown out with good wishes. It was served with angel food cake and sherbet, and mints in tiny baskets, to the following: Mesdames D. Dellis, Roy Hagin, G. C. Townsend, A. H. Stewart, Will Gregg, R. E. L. Smith, Irvin Burt, A. F. Appleby, McMahon, B. H. Williams, C. C. Andrews, W. E. Carter, J. L. Hutson, Tapp of Electra, W. M. Langford and the hostess.

OUR FIRST YEAR

CHAPTER I.—FLAPPER FOOLISHNESS

By a Bride

Jack had left for the office before I reached home, therefore I remained in doubt as to what effect my morning adventure had made upon him.

Jeanne called me up early, to tease me a little:

"Som hectic lover was your Viking, last night! What did Jack say?"

"Nothing! Not a word!"

"Why, the man isn't human! Peg, dear, I've got to get an awful worry off my mind. You were framed, rather Jack was. I told Bart to make Jack furious."

"All waste on your part! I don't think Jack knows what jealousy means."

After Jeanne had rung off I reminded myself:

"I guess if Jack cared so awfully much, he would at least insist upon knowing what you're up to, Peg Madison! How did he know you were not running away from him this morning?"

Doubtless, I would have worked myself into a nice rebellion had not Bonny dropped in about noon.

"I'm wild about that motor trip," she said, "now Bart has agreed to go. I've had so many motor tours with daddy and mother. They get to a spiffy hotel, mother is tired to death, father dead asleep, they never let me go near a ball room," she rattled on. "But with you people, it will be wonderful! But Peg, of all wonders—" Then she fell to laughing.

"What's so funny?"

"Oh, Peggy dear! I've just got to tell someone! A joke on G. B."

Whereupon she told me what I already knew, how she had failed to elope with G. B.

"Well, everybody has been talking. So why didn't you?" I asked.

"It rained so! At least that's what I told ol' George about an hour ago over the phone! I explained that I couldn't go to the train in one of our cars—the chauffeur would report to daddy. I could not have a taxi stop at the house. I couldn't get away to a street car. I didn't have any rubbers! George can't take a joke! Really, he seemed quite furious!" She grew suddenly serious. "I'm so relieved because I didn't marry him! Besides, you see—I say, Peg, aren't you simply thrilled when Bart makes love to you?"

"No! Not one bit!"

"Why—I'd wait centuries—to hear him—I mean to hear a man make love as he does!"

"While there's life, there's hope!" was my trite rejoinder. "George does look awfully old beside Bart, I admit!" I smiled wisely.

"That's just it, Peg! How did you know? George is too old. I had to play cutie for him all the time. You bet I was glad it rained this morning!"

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

THE MOON-MAN'S AIDS ARE MANY—AND HIS FOES, TOO

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Mr. Peerabout sat on the floor and crossed his legs.

"Now then," said the Man-in-the-Moon, when the Magical Mushroom had gone, "I'll have to tell you all about my fairies, my dears. Nancy, you sit on this crooked little stool, and Nick, you sit on this woobly little chair. There, that's all hunky-dory."

Mr. Peerabout himself sat on the floor and crossed his legs.

"I suppose," said he, "when earth people see the moon shining so peacefully in the sky high over the tree tops, they nod and say to each other, 'My, what a snap the Man-in-the-Moon has. Nothing to do but loaf around in his silver palace and admire the scenery.' They don't know in the first place that up here we have the utmost contempt both for silver palaces and laziness.

"They don't know, either, what a time my fairies and I have of it."

"Where do you keep them? Your fairies?" asked Nick.

"Well, in different places," said Mr. Peerabout. "My dream fairies live here in the moon in Snoozetum Town beyond the Silver Forest. They are called the Towslies."

"Oh," cried Nancy, clapping her hands. "How nice! I always said there were real dream fairies."

"M—h!" nodded the Moon-Man, "there are. Then there are the Chimney-Sitters. They live in Smokysoot Village, beyond the Golden Forest, with the Sweep. They sit in the chimneys on moonlight nights and if any bad fairies come along with unpleasant dreams for the children they throw 'em out."

"Are there any more?" asked the Twins eagerly.

"Yes, oh, yes, indeed," nodded Mr. Peerabout. "There are the Steeple-Sliders and the Tree-Rustlers, and the Cloud-Rollers. All fine helpers I couldn't do without. The moon's full of fairies."

"Then you won't need us," said Nancy sorrowfully.

"Oh, won't I?" exclaimed the Moon-Man. "Wait till I tell you about my enemies."

There's a Particular Wardrobe Niche You Know for Sturdy Tub Frocks

For that matter the sports vogue has rather singled out the sturdier frocks for special notice this Summer. They are certainly very attractive — the Linens, Linenes, Ratines, Ratinettes and other frocks whose fabrics are distinguished by a wool-like texture. Their dashing colors, jade, tangerine and tiger-lily make them additionally good looking for sports and country wear, especially when accompanied by a cape.

The Fashionable Summer Wrap Is a Silk Cape

Time and again in Summer you want a light wrap, not for its warmth but because you feel more suitably dressed for the street if you have something over your light frock. This is especially true if you are going any distance or if the weather looks threatening when you start out. Evening affairs also afford many opportunities to wear one of these Canton Crepe Capes that are seen everywhere in black with carracule trimmings. You must see these new arrivals.

Have You Seen These Perky New Porch Dresses!

They are being shown in solid color Ginghams, Japanese Crepes in attractive colors, with contrast trims and sashes. Clever tie-around Aprons, with bibs and shoulder straps in Crepe, unbleached Muslin, combined with high color Percale, some hand-embroidered.

"Because—really, you know, this is a ridiculous way to expect Nelly to carry on when she hears what she hears. She isn't in love with Richards, she isn't even in love with Dick; and surely"—Lucinda was now rapidly growing serious in her anxiety to justify herself.' Nolan's face of a thunderhead—"surely she oughtn't to go all to pieces just because she hears Richards confess, what she's known all along, that he's the sort of man he is."

"Listen here; who's directing this scene, you 'r me? Who wrote the continuity, you 'r me? Who knows best what this story's all about, heh, you 'r me?"

"But, Mr. Nolan, I'm sure if you'll just think a moment you'll see it isn't natural for a girl like Nelly to rant like a tragedy queen over this situation. She wouldn't tear around in this corner like a—like Lillian Gish in "Broken Blossoms" when she's trapped in the scullery and her father's breaking in to murder her. Don't you see?"

"Sure I see." Nolan spoke with an unwonted evenness of tone, for him; but the tone was ugly. "I see a lot of things. I see you've made up your mind to try to make a fool of me, arguing about my visualization of this scene like you have. Well, all right: you win. I resign. I'm out. You've got your wish. And this time I don't come back, not if you was down on your knees to beg me to finish this fool picture!"

In an abrupt break of fury, oddly out of keeping with the level tone he had used, Nolan raised the megaphone above his head and with all his might cast it upon the floor at Lucinda's feet.

"And that ends that," he announced quietly, and walked off, leaving Lucinda in a temper curiously divided between relief and regret.

XXVIII.

At a late hour that afternoon the war council of the incorporators of Linda Lee (Inc.) stalled on dead center.

Isadore Zinn, owner of the studios, opened the door far enough to permit the introduction of his head and nothing more of his person. For a moment or two he held this posture playfully, looking from one to another of the unhappy four with a leer at once inquisitive, knowing and hideous. Then he thrust the door wide open, came in and shut it behind him.

"Hello, people!" he saluted affably. "How you making out?"

"It's an impasse," Lontaine stated. "We're all in a blind alley, you know."

"Bet your life I know you are," Zinn agreed vigorously.

"I was thinking maybe I could get you a director—Wally Day, best little comer that ever breathed into a megaphone."

"But what's the use of tantalising us?" Lucinda demanded fretfully—"if Ma. Day is under another contract."

"Well, I just got an idea maybe we could come to some sort of an agreement. Now listen: you've spent a bale of green money, I don't know how much, but a lot, maybe a couple hundred thousand dollars, maybe more. That's all right. We won't have to worry about that till I come to look at your books—"

"Look at our books!" Lontaine expostulated.

Zinn pacified him with a gross hand that patted the air. "Sure I got to look at your books, ain't I, if I sit in on this production? You sell me the production as is, story, continuity, Miss Lee's contract, all your properties 'n' everything, and I'll pay you 50 per cent what it cost you to date, cash money. Then I and Wally and Miss Lee here'll go ahead and finish up, and it won't cost you anything more, Miss Lee, and I'll give you 10 per cent of the net profits. Meanwhile you"—he nodded to Lontaine—"can be fussing around and taking your time about finding a studio all your own and getting all set to use Miss Lee again when I and Wally are done with her. If that ain't a sporting offer, I don't know. What you say?"

Lucinda looked dubiously to Lontaine. His eyes had suddenly grown more stony and staring than she had ever seen them, and she fancied that he had lost a shade of color; but he met her glance with a quick nod and said in a husky voice: "I agree with Mr. Zinn, Linda."

Lucinda delayed another moment, then turned to Zinn with a smile.

"Very well, Mr. Zinn. If Mr. Lontaine's agreeable, I don't mind."

XXIX.

Harry Lontaine got home at a late hour for one who had it in mind to bathe, dress and put in an appearance for an 8 o'clock dinner several miles away.

Before the door which gave upon the private quarters of the house, however, he hung for some time in seeming reluctance to proceed.

Eventually he pushed the door open.

Immediately he saw Fanny. Bathed in a great glare, she sat in her dressing room facing a long mirror of three panels, decked out en grande toilette, wearing every jewel she possessed, groomed to the finest nuance of perfection; a brilliant and strangely immobile figurine of modern femininity, with bobbed hair like burnished brass, milk white bosom and arms rising out of a calyx of peachblow taffeta, jewels stung to iridescent life by that fierce wash of light.

As if hypnotized by so much bright loveliness, she continued steadfastly to gaze upon her reflected self; even when she heard Lontaine at the door and the mirror placed him behind her in the doorway, she did not move by so much as a trembling eyelash.

In a voice that strained without success to sound easy and natural, Lontaine said: "Ah, Fanny! dressed already, eh? Must be later than I thought."

"It's past half-past," Fanny replied without expression.

Lontaine glanced nervously at the back of his wrist. "Right you are. See here, old girl: you're all dressed * * *. I say! but you've laid it on a bit thick tonight, haven't you?"

"I wanted something to remember myself by," Fanny mysteriously informed the mirror to which her attention continued constant.

"What do you mean by that?" Lontaine paused for answer, but Fanny was dumb. He essayed another short, confused laugh. "You know, Fan, sometimes you think of the damnedest things to say."

"Yes; don't I?"

He recognized one of her mulishly enigmatic moods and withdrew. Lontaine reappeared in the doorway.

"Hello! Thought you were going on ahead."

"Presently," Fanny replied in brittle accents. "Something's the matter?"

"Can't find my razors."

"No." At last the woman broke her pose; her counterfeit in the glass nodded gravely to the man behind her. "No," she iterated—and he had the flying thought that her voice had never vibrated so sweetly—"and you won't find them, either, Harry. They're in a safe place, it's no good your hunting for them."

"What!" Lontaine advanced one single, sudden stride. "What's that for?"

"I thought it might save trouble. You see, Harry, I haven't forgotten that hideous scene we had in London, last time you decided it was all up with you, there wasn't anything to do but cut your throat. I didn't see any sense in going through all that again."

After a full minute of silence Lontaine uttered heavily: "I see you've guessed * * *"

"There have been so many of these crisis in our life, together, Harry, I ought to know the signs—don't you think?"

The man stumbled to a chair, and bent a louring countenance over hands savagely laced. "What else can I do?" he muttered. "I'm in a hole, there's no other way out of * * *"

"There are steamers every so often from San Francisco, for Honolulu, China, Japan, the South Seas * * *"

"No use. They'd get me by wireless if they ever allowed me to go aboard. Zinn * * * I'm sure that few devil suspects * * * insists on getting at the books first thing tomorrow."

"How much have you got into Cindy for?"

Lontaine said stupidly, "Eh? What's that?"

"How much have you * * * borrowed, Harry?"

"Fifty thou — perhaps a few more."

Following another little silence, Fanny gave a curt laugh, left her chair and, standing at the dressing table, began slowly to strip off her jewels, her sunburst brooch, her flexible bracelets, the pearls that had been her mother's, all her rings, even that slender hoop of platinum and diamonds which she had never removed since the day of her marriage.

"Stocks?" she inquired quietly. Lontaine replied with a dour nod and grunt.

She crossed to him and paused, looking down not unkindly at his bowed head and shoulders.

"I don't love you, Harry, and you don't love me. It's funny to think we ever did—isn't it? All the same, we've been through the rough together so often I don't want you to go away thinking I blame you * * *"

"Go away?" Lontaine groaned. "Where can I go, they wouldn't find me? I'd rather be dead than a convict."

"Don't worry; I'll soon talk Cindy round, persuade her not to be too hard on you. Here * * *" She bent over and poured that wealth of jewelry into the cup of Lontaine's hands. "These ought to see you a long way."

"What!" Lontaine jumped up, staring in daze at the treasure in the hands that instinctively reached out to Fanny, offering to give back her gift. But she stepped away and, stood with hands behind her, shaking her head so vigorously that the glistening short locks stood out like a brazen nimbus. "But you, Fanny—what will you—?"

"Never fear for me, Harry." She fixed his puzzled eyes with a smile of profoundly ironical significance. "I'll get along * * *"

"But these * * * every blessed trinket you own * * *"

"I'll get others."

to posture lightly before him, an exquisitely fragile and pretty shape of youth deathless and audacious, a dainty spirit of mockery temptingly incarnate, diabolically sage, diabolically sure of the potency of her time-old lures. * * *

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

How's Your Appetite? Headache? Weak?

Good Looks Follow Good Health

Saratoga, Texas—"A year ago I tried several different medicines, but kept getting worse, and felt that I never would have good health again. I became so poor and weak I could hardly do my housework. I suffered from loss of appetite, headache, constipation, shortness of breath, also functional disturbances. Sometimes I would have spells of indigestion and weak sick spells and thought I would die. I never expected to be well any more. At last I wrote to Dr. Pierce and he advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets (sold by druggists) and now I can truthfully say I am in better health than I have been for several years. I advise all women suffering as I did to take Dr. Pierce's medicines. If there are any medicines on earth that will help women who are broken-down in health, these will."—Mrs. Winnie Comer.

The Lurking Foe

SURROUNDING the life of every human being are found countless chances for illness a lurking foe at practically every turn from childhood to old age. It is that part of the human race which is heedless to this truth that suffers most when the foe strikes.

You hear of "tendencies" toward chronic diseases among apparently well people; also "susceptibility" toward epidemic diseases among the healthy. These seemingly well people are overwhelmingly in the majority among human kind when arrayed against the folks actually sick.

Yet every year an appalling number of these seemingly well people are recruited to the ranks of the chronically ill, or to the mortality list.

This comes through lack of knowledge of the lurking foe and the time-worn theory of treating disease after it has occurred.

A new science now exists which aids Nature in a positive manner to defeat these lurking foes. It is called CHIROPRACTIC.

Chiropractic holds that the physical nerve system controls human health, and lack of resistance on the part of the seemingly well is the result of just this:

On one or more of the major nerves passing out to the body through the spinal column between the joints or vertebrae have become caught or "impinged" because these vertebrae have slipped or rotated out of place. This can occur through minor or major accidents, or by reason of occupational positions, held day after day. This pressure on the nerves reduces the vitality of that part of the body which it serves, and it becomes easy for that portion to become ill.

A chiropractor, through spinal adjustment (restoring the vertebrae to their proper place) permits the nerve in question to function again, and Nature easily conquers the lurking foe—for every science grants that a body with a perfect nerve system cannot be ill.

Chiropractic analysis is positive, too. The X-Ray machine is used often, and adjustments are made only after a careful study of the body's condition.

If you are interested in Chiropractic, visit your local chiropractor, determine that he is a member of the State Association, and then go into the matter of whether you have lurking foes just around the next corner of your life.

(Second of a series of messages to the people of Texas to acquaint them with chiropractic and its practice and philosophy).

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The Lord Jehovah is my strength and song, and He is become my salvation.—Isaiah 12:2.

If those who died of joy had but been softened by thankfully gazing aloft, they would either not have died at all, or else would have died of a sweet rapture.—Jean Paul Richter.

THE PRESS AS AN AID TO OUR SCHOOLS.

The schools, the press and the pulpit are the three great mediums of education.

Of these the schools must be placed first but they could not reach their degree of effectiveness without the support of the press and the pulpit. And they are given this support in unstinted measure.

Dr. John J. Tigert, commissioner, United States bureau of education, advocates the extension of the educational influence of the press as a means of safeguarding the school system of the nation.

"There is no single factor," he said, "that can do so much for the promotion of public education in the United States as can the press of the country. I have just returned from an extensive trip through several of the far Western states and I have been telling the people of those states that what is most needed today is not larger salaries for teachers, or more consolidated schools, or longer school terms in the rural districts, or better school buildings and equipment, but an enlightened public consciousness of our educational system.

"There is evident in some places a reactionary tendency regarding our schools and the only way in which this can be successfully fought is through a general public awakening and understanding as to what our public schools really mean to our American democracy. The press can render inestimable service to the cause of public education if it will take an active interest in educational matters.

"There can be no 'liver' topic for newspaper or magazine than that which affects the future life of the 27 million boys and girls in America. When it is remembered that last year far more was spent on cigars and cigarettes than on public education, and nearly as much on paints and powders, it is evident that the public schools of this country are not quite so expensive a luxury as some of its critics would like to make out. Surely, the welfare of our children is not dear at this price.

"With the aid of the limelight of the press it will be much easier to overcome the difficulties that still exist in many parts of this country in the way of giving to every American boy and girl such opportunities for that kind and degree of education that will best fit him or her for a life of greatest usefulness in our great democracy."

THE FINANCIAL SACRIFICE OF PUBLIC SERVICE.

Uncle Joe Cannon is closing his forty-sixth year in the United States congress. Here is his advice to young men who are thinking of entering politics, especially those having congressional aspirations:

"Don't run for congress until you have made your pile; wait until you've got a sure income."

"Uncle Joe" was evidently looking at the matter from only one angle, and that angle the material welfare of the young man. From that angle his advice is certainly right. A congressman can hardly live upon his salary and at the same time spend the money necessary to conduct primary campaigns every two years as is necessary with many congressmen. And sooner or later defeat is likely to come to even the most able and worthy congressman who is then turned out to begin all over in professional or business life.

It is true that public service does give rewards that cannot be measured in dollars and cents and that the worthy public servant does accumulate riches of experience and affection that can scarcely be acquired elsewhere, but the young man entering public service without some saving or accumulation before is likely to be handicapped and embarrassed in later years. Reforms to reduce the cost of campaigns and a little better salary will be necessary before young men without means can be urged to aspire to congress and many other positions in public service.

And what is true of our national legislative body is also true of our state legislature. The man who goes to our state legislature does so at a considerable financial sacrifice and this is keeping a good many worthy young men out of that body.

ROADS YOU'D LIKE.

If you drive a car, you'll be interested in this: When the government finishes up the roads it is helping build, the country will have a network of 180,000 miles of surfaced main highways, connecting Atlantic and Pacific coasts and our northern and southern borders.

To travel over that much road, you'd have to drive your car 30 miles an hour, 24 hours a day, for 250 days.

Road projects under way in 1921 amounted to nearly 65,000 miles—about 11 times across the continent and back. During the year Uncle Sam and the states built 11,880 miles of federal-aid highways.

We are developing a great civilization here in America, for road building is in all centuries the measure of progress.

The speed with which, compared with former civilizations, we have flung a network of good roads through our wilderness and mountains and across our plains, is little short of amazing.

The first state road-building program was started only 101 years ago in Kentucky, when Abraham Lincoln was a boy of 12.

Traffic-on-wheels originated in China and Egypt, where carts were first invented.

Those first carts moved on wheels and axles carved out of one solid piece of stone. It took centuries for man to conceive of the axle being separate from the wheels.

The old Romans, master road builders, had 29 paved highways out of Rome. Over pavements of bricks and mineral cement they drove their lumbering chariots with iron-rimmed wheels.

Joy-riders of those days lounged in reed-work baskets mounted on solid wheels about a foot thick.

Think of that when riding in a flivver seems bumpy.

Man's battle for good roads has been going on for thousands of years, ever since prehistoric man cleared a path through the jungles.

It may be that the roads of the future will be in the air, with flying machines carrying passengers and freight.

That, however, is bound to be a long way off. It is good to dream about. But, meantime, let's keep our feet on the ground and get behind the good-roads movement stronger than ever. Prosperity and recreation come slowly over bad roads.

THE CONGRESS CALLED BY THE WEST TEXAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

In calling a congress to be held in some easily accessible city to be held before September 30 to consider problems of reclamation, irrigation and flood control the West Texas chamber of commerce has taken the lead in a movement that is certain to have a large part in the development of Texas.

The call for this congress was a timely one, coming as it does following great destruction along the river courses of Texas from the recent floods and when the people are so deeply impressed not only with the necessity of flood control but the desirability of irrigation and reclamation.

Flood control, reclamation and irrigation can go together in a program that can unite the interest of the whole state. North and West Texas need irrigation. Central Texas needs flood control. South Texas and the section need reclamation. Rarely has there been anything that so nearly touches every section of the vast area of Texas.

Everywhere these things are in the minds of Texans. The congress called by the West Texas chamber of commerce will give an opportunity for an expression of these thoughts and desires and an opportunity for formulating plans for a great program along these lines.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

"THE SPLENDID BROTHERS OF THE MIND."

We are never consistently consistent. Nor are we ever the same—even to our closest interests or friends.

We all carry about in our hearts some secret room or sanctuary where the world is forbidden to enter.

As out of mystery we have been born, so in mystery must we often live—silently meditating upon the meanings of our frame and destiny.

In these little rooms of our hearts the cherished beauties and happinesses of our experience bud and bloom.

About us here gather "the splendid brothers of the mind" for prayer and meditation, and for play.

At such times it is that we think of the choice and watered wishes of those whom we love, the interests of some boy, the affection showered so mutely on us by some dog, the singing voice of an artist, some exquisite sky coloring, a picture that gripped us, the surge of some mad sea, the still sweetness of some country spot.

Have you not often passed a person on the street and immediately been impressed by some attitude of head or some expression of face that made you go back to your work or to your home a better and happier human being?

Just someone entertaining one of his little brothers of the mind!

Many a man has gone from his luncheon, or his golf game, or his desk, with the nucleus of a world event in his mind.

There most certainly is a destiny that shapes our ends—and that destiny is fathered and fostered in the secret little chambers where gather "the splendid brothers of the mind."

JUST FOLKS —By— Edgar A. Guest

THE YOUNG OLD WORLD.

Seems the good old earth rejoices
At the sound of children's voices,
And it never seems to weary
Of the brave hearts and the cheery,
Men grow old and tired and fretful,
Worn and feeble and forgetful,
But the good old earth still sprightly
Wears her centuries but lightly.

Strife and stress throughout the ages
Are recorded in her pages,
But each year the birds come winging
To the orchards with their singing,
And the month of June discloses
All the beauty of her roses,
Fresh and fragrant, graceful, slender,
With the old-time youthful splendor.

She comes smiling to her duty,
Never tired of weaving beauty,
Never weary of repeating
Loveliness, however, fleeting;
In the far untrodden spaces
Still she paints a thousand graces,
Always youthful in endeavor,
Yielding fruit and bloom forever.

Seems the good old earth rejoices
At the sound of children's voices
And grows never tired of giving
To the charm and joy of living.
Ages old have come and vanished,
Men have flourished and been banished,
Buildings rise and fall and moulder,
But the earth seems never older.

Your Vacation

By DR. R. H. BISHOP

It is quite common for a man to return from a vacation completely worn out. Everyone knows that a vacation is taken for change and rest.

Rest does not mean merely lying still or sleeping all the time. Many people can get complete rest by a change of occupation.

While it is somewhat of an exaggeration to say that the ironworker should play tiddle-de-winks or ping-pong on his vacation, and the office clerk should break steers, still this conveys the idea of change, which is truly a great remedy for mental fatigue.

A few general rules apply to all vacations.

First, you should get away from home and business if possible. It isn't necessary to go a long distance, but it is essential to get into the open. And then forget business.

If you go camping, don't be careless concerning sanitary conditions. Inquire as to the safety of your water supply. Find out about sewage and the methods of disposal. Look into the source of your milk supply. Are there swamps, ponds or other mosquito-breeding spots near your camping place?

Having settled these questions satisfactorily, make sure that you spend the precious vacation time sensibly. Keep good hours. Don't waste precious time indoors at a card table, but improve your health and strength by exercise in the open air.

Try these directions this summer and you will find you can come back from your vacation ready to eat up work.

YOU AND I

By ALBERT APPLE

SPOILED

Magistrate Alexander Brough starts fining New York food dealers $1 for each pound of food, unfit to eat, found in their possession.

Expansion of their policy to national dimensions might be a good way to pay off the war debt speedily.

Maybe it's for the best that we don't know the history of everything we eat in civilization. If we did, voluntary starvation might become epidemic.

Civilization is the cleanest and the filthiest thing on this little planet of ours.

SPEED

When Andrew Jackson went to Washington as president, it took him 26 days to make the trip from Tennessee.

The other day, Bert Acosta flew 208 miles an hour in his "Wildcatt" airplane.

At Orly, France, the world's largest biplane is tested out. It travels 100 miles an hour, carrying cargo of seven tons, including 30 passengers.

We travel faster now, but you notice there are fewer Andy Jacksons.

SAVED

Uncle Sam is spending less of your money, which is good news, though under the sugar coating is the bitter pill that there's less money to spend.

In the 10 months ended May 1, the "ordinary expenses" of the national government were nearly a billion and a half dollars less than the corresponding period a year ago.

Spending totaled $2,320,000,000. Biggest item of this was $772,000,000 which went for interest on the public debt. It emphasizes the great war burden we must carry for years. A "billion-dollar congress" may be an impossibility in our lifetime, though there's still much room for economy.

ASHES

The war set civilization back half a century. It will take 50 years to recover to normal." This is the view of Dr. Robert Simpson Woodward, ex-president of Carnegie Institution.

Woodward also sees a silver lining to the cloud. He thinks pure science is rising from the ashes of the war, which unquestionably was an enormous stimulant to science. That is especially true among the people, one reason for the radio craze.

It is the old story. Progress is painful, its price terrific.

PROFITS

Profits of wheat exporters last year averaged a third of a cent a bushel, compared with eight cents the year before.

This is reported to the senate by federal trade commission.

At this rate, exporters' total profits on our huge shipments of wheat to other countries in 1921 were only $1,185,179. Yet wheat exports last year were nearly four and a half times as big as the five-year average, 1910-1914.

We are in a period of a big physical volume of business and small profits. That is the general business situation in a nutshell.

SODA-FOUNTAINS

How much do you spend at the soda-fountains, which are beginning to hiss loudly, getting in training for the rush season of hot weather?

The country's 100,000 soda-fountains this year will take a billion dollars of the people's money, according to trade estimates.

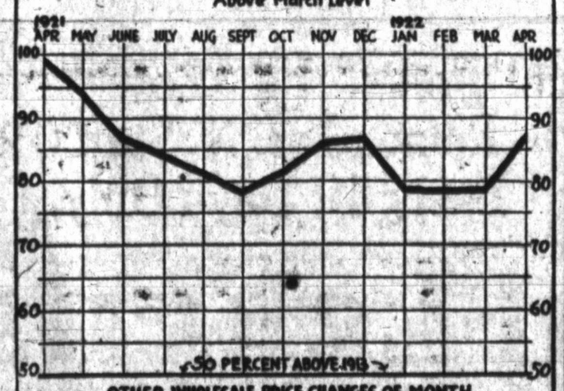

It seems an enormous sum. The nation's booze bill, however, was two and a quarter times as much in 1914.

Texas Viewpoints

Henrietta Review: "Clay county commissioners' precinct No. 1 has voted a bond issue of $150,000 for road improvements in that precinct, an example that may be followed by other commissioners' precincts in that county. Several county-wide bond issues in Clay county have failed in recent years and the voters in precinct No. 1 have determined to go ahead by themselves. It is hoped that in selecting the highways to be improved an eventual county system will be kept in mind and highways chosen that will connect with the main highways in other precincts." The above is from the Wichita Daily Times, and as to the first paragraph is wrong. A road district was organized in the north part of the county which takes in a part of each of the commissioners' precincts Nos. 1 and 2. This road district is in a part of the county which voted fiercely against the general system proposed last summer, a system that would have given them gravel surfaced roadways to the Jack county line and east and west through the county; that would have included first class grading and concrete culverts on all laterals connecting with the cardinal highways. For that general system they would have been taxed $1.15 on the $100 valuation; and for the limited system they have now subscribed to they are to be taxed $1 on the hundred assessed. The hope expressed in the Times' last paragraph should be generally entertained. But as to constructing with view to an eventual general system, a view to the gradual removal of Clay county's disgrace, there is very grave doubt once such plan is discovered.

Childress Index: Surely the people have lost in large measure the sense of their own power and place in the world's affairs. There is need of a new awakening. It is almost pitiable to hear men and women discuss business conditions as though the business of the nation was something apart, some strange, mysterious machine operating without any relation to the individual. Perhaps the people are so close to the picture they fail to see that the retailer is the lord and master of the great distributor, and that the people are the lords and masters of every retailer on earth. If business is stagnant, the people make business stagnant. They can bring about business revival whenever they decide to do so. Humanity's weakness lies in the desire to "let George do it." The people might have come to accept the belief that their particular attitude or personal action can have no bearing on anything, that it will be lost in the general result. Consequently everyone "lays down." It is this knowledge of public apathy that gives strength to the political leeches that suck the life blood of the nation and once fastened on to the body politic, are to hard to get rid of. Trade revives when the people buy. Then the retailer gets busy, the jobber get busy, the manufacturer gets busy, and men and women become employed. Prosperity will come back when every man and every woman acts as though the whole problem rests on his or her shoulders. There is no meeting place in which to arouse common action on behalf of the people, unless leadership be grasped by the home town newspaper. The economist who can devise a workable people's union will have performed a useful service.

Electra Star: A prominent Wichita Falls citizen, at a banquet here the past week, stated that Wichita Falls' growth was attributed to two things—Electra and Burkburnett. The growing of these two oil fields has indeed contributed greatly to the prosperity of Wichita Falls. The revival of drilling in the Electra pool is pulling Wichita Falls out of a slump that has been binding the city for months. The opening of the concrete roads has been a great factor to Wichita Falls. By having it, Wichita Falls is able to take care of the overflow crowds from this city. This is also of value to Electra. We hate to think what the condition would be here if our city was compelled to care for all the people who seek our doors—just now. However, we trust to see the day when Electra will be able to take care of her own. In the meantime we thank Wichita Falls for her assistance.

OUT OUR WAY

By WILLIAMS

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY.

Today's word is chagrin.

It's pronounced—sha-grin, or, especially by the English, sha-green, with accent, in either case, on the second syllable.

It means—that which worries, vexes or mortifies; melancholy.

Its origin—is uncertain.

It's used like this—"Old-line politicians are showing considerable chagrin over the defeat of New by Beveridge in Indiana, and of the republican machine by Pinchot in Pennsylvania."

OFFICERS BELIEVE "ROSS" IS THE KEY TO WARD MYSTERY

SEARCH EXTENDED TO BOSTON WHERE HE IS SAID TO BE LOCATED.

EXPECTED TO APPEAR AND TELL OF SHOOTING

Young Woman In Pittsburgh Has Furnished Another Angle to the Case.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 30.—Search for "Ross" thought to be the key to the solution of the Ward-Peters killing mystery extended today into Boston, where he was expected to appear and tell what he knows regarding the shooting of Peters by Ward on the Kensico reservoir road the morning of May 16.

Authorities here are awaiting word from William J. Fallon, attorney for the Peters family, as to the result of his visit to Boston. Fallon went there last night in an attempt to see the man, charged by Ward with being the brains of the alleged blackmail ring of which Peters was a member.

Another angle is that Pittsburgh police are investigating the conduct of young Ward in that city in 1915 when he was connected with the Federal baseball league. It was reported that Ward had been involved with a young woman in Pittsburgh and that he had paid $1,000 to settle a claim for $10,000 made by her. A former district attorney for Allegheny county, who handled the case for Ward was later disbarred.

Pittsburgh police are seeking to discover just what possible connection there may be between the case there and this latest attempt of blackmailers to obtain more Ward money, especially since they have discovered that the girl in the 1915 case recently vanished from her Pittsburgh haunts.

District Attorney Weeks is also investigating the story that Ward switched automobiles after the time he says he had his fatal fight with Peters and that the car he has now is not that used on the death ride.

MANCHURIAN MUTINY AGAINST GENERAL CHANG IS REPORTED SPREADING

By Associated Press.

PEKING, May 30.—The Manchurian mutiny against Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian leader, is spreading. The garrison at Harbin has joined the mutiny and declared in favor of General Wu Pei-Fu, victor in the recent Pekin campaign, and Harbin is in control of the mutineers who also have seized all the Chinese Eastern railway from Harbin to the maritime province of Siberia.

An official dispatch received by the foreign legations said the only foreign troops along the railroad were 1,000 Japanese which are permanently maintained as a guard for Japanese interests. The dispatches add that reinforcement of foreign troops were contemplated.

General Wu Pei Fu, anxious to avoid foreign interference, is sending forces to replace the mutineers.

The prestige of Chang in Manchuria in general is said to be diminishing. The Peking government regards the Manchurian mutinies as likely to lead to overthrow of Chang an dto closer unity of Manchuria with China proper.

General Wu announces that he intends to pursue Chang to Mukden and if possible drive him from China.

FIERCE FIGHTING ON DONEGAL-FERMANAGH BORDER OF IRELAND

By Associated Press.

BELFAST, May 30.—Fierce fighting was in progress along the Donegal-Fermanagh border last night, according to reports from Enniskillen. The dispatch said that both Belleek and Pettigoe were in the hands of the Irish republican army.

Further fighting is reported at Clady, County Tyrone.

The casualties in yesterday's disorders in this city were four dead and 22 wounded.

CABINET TO DISCUSS THE IRISH DIFFICULTY

LONDON, May 30.—A cabinet meeting was called today for discussion of the Irish difficulty, which continues to cause the keenest concern, with no solution apparently in sight.

According to accounts published today, the government's legal advisers have expressed definite opinions that the agreement reached last week in Dublin between the political factions headed by Michael Collins and Eamon de Valera is inconsistent with the terms of the treaty.

HEAVY FIRING ON THE TYRONE-DONEGAL BORDER

By Associated Press.

LONDON, May 30.—Heavy firing occurred on the Tyrone-Donegal border at Strabane and Litford, between midnight and 7 o'clock this morning, says a Central News dispatch from Strabane. Sniping from the roofs of houses was continued and armored cars and machine guns were in action.

The people of both towns were up all night in a state of terror.

GROWING UNREST IN PROVINCES OF ITALY

ROME, May 30.—The government is becoming concerned over the evidences of growing unrest in the provinces where the feud is raging fiercest between the communists and the fascisti, or extreme nationalists. As a measure for the restoration of order it has prohibited all parades and assemblies throughout the country.

Greatest attention is focused on the situation at Bologna, where the fascisti are sacking the houses of the socialists and communists.

JONESBORO, ARK., May 30.—Officers today are searching for Green Garner, a former convict, who is reported to have killed Edgar Henson, near Sedgwick, Ark., in a quarrel over whiskey.

FRESNO, CAL., May 30.—Condemnation of the Ku Klux Klan and endorsement of the state water and power act, a proposed statute providing for use of state credit in upbuilding California's water power and irrigation resources were voted by the state socialist convention.

Another resolution favored recognition of soviet Russia by the United States. In denouncing the Ku Klux Klan the convention went on record as "being opposed to any element that will tend to undermine law and order and countenance violence."

Upton Sinclair was endorsed as candidate for United States senator.

EMPLOYE OF STATE DROWNS IN EFFORT TO RESCUE FRIEND

AUSTIN, May 30.—In trying to save his companion from drowning this morning, M. C. Outlaw, about 30 years old, an employe of the state pure food and drug department, was drowned though his companion was rescued.

Outlaw and G. W. Parks were fishing near the Lake Austin dam, when Parks fell into the water. Outlaw jumped in after him, according to witnesses, and was caught by the undercurrent near the dam. Other men fishing nearby rescued Parks with a pole but the strong undercurrent swept Outlaw out into the lake.

His body had not been recovered at 10 o'clock this morning.

RAIN OCCASIONS DELAY IN PLANS FOR OBSERVANCE

SERVICES ON COURT HOUSE LAWN NOT TO BE HELD UNTIL 3:30 O'CLOCK.

FIRING SQUAD FROM FORT SILL ARRIVES

Judge Nelson Phillips and Capt. H. J. Healey Were to Be the Speakers.

The rain storm of Tuesday afternoon occasioned a delay in the carrying out of the plans of the American Legion in the observance of Memorial day. The services at the court house lawn which were scheduled for 2:30 o'clock were postponed an hour.

A firing squad of eight men arrived from Fort Sill Tuesday morning. An experienced bugler accompanied the squad and taps were to be sounded in Riverside cemetery where the main services were to be held at 5 o'clock.

Judge Nelson Phillips of Dallas and Captain H. J. Healey of the Australian army were to be the speakers of the day.

A detachment of men were to be sent to each of the cemeteries in the city where the bodies of 40 soldiers are buried.

It was originally planned to march to the cemetery, but due to the rain arrangements were made to convey the soldiers and ex-soldiers in automobiles.

MURPHY WINNER IN INDIANAPOLIS RACE

was in the lead with Peter de Paolo second, Haibe third and Murphy fourth. The time was 2:05:15.79, an average of 93.52 miles an hour.

THOUSANDS ON HAND TO WITNESS SPEEDWAY RACE

INDIANAPOLIS, May 30.—Twenty-seven drivers lined up today awaiting the starting bomb to send them away on the tenth annual 500 mile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway. Starting at 10 a. m. the racers will begin a grind of 200 laps around the two and one-half mile brick course. About five hours and one-half is required for a winner to complete the race. Cars from American, French and English factories give the race an international aspect while prizes totaling $55,000 are incentive to the drivers.

The race attracted thousands of automobile enthusiasts. A steady stream of automobiles carrying motor-wild crowds filed slowly to the track from sunrise until the start of the contest. Shuttle trains hurried thousands more to the course.

The line of cars that usually gathers around the outside walls of the speedway grounds began forming at noon yesterday and by dusk hundreds had parked their cars and prepared for a night's vigil. Many hung their storm curtains, partially disrobed and slept on the seat cushions. They breakfasted on coffee and sandwiches bought from busy venders.

Race fans who rose early grabbed the weather report and began their calculations as to the possibility of new records. A cool night had lowered the temperature of the brick course and moderate temperature during the day, as predicted by the weather bureau, was expected to provide favorable conditions for speed.

As the cars lined up for the start there were nine rows, with three machines in each row. Occupying the pole position in the front row was Jimmy Murphy, who gained that position by averaging 100.5 miles an hour during his 10 mile qualifying spin. Alongside Murphy's machine were those of Harry Harts and Ralph de Palma, the latter being a favorite on the speedway.

Back in the eighth row and holding an outside position was Tommy Milton, winner last year. Despite his position, he seemed a favorite.

CHARLIE

CHARLIE, TEXAS, May 30.—The heavy rains have ceased, the clouds have passed away, once more the sun is shining brightly on Charlie community; it is fine weather.

Crops are looking fine and farmers are rushing the farm work that was delayed by the recent rains.

On the evening of May 31 an ice cream supper will be given at the Baptist church. The money cleared from this affair will be added to the funds that are to be used in buying a nice fence for the cemetery. And we might mention here that any donations to help buy this fence will be appreciated.

Memorial day was fittingly observed by the people of Charlie. In the morning they assembled at the cemetery, taking with them a mid-day lunch and many beautiful flowers with which to decorate the graves of loved ones.

Citizenship day will also be observed by the people of this place. Just an old-fashioned picnic on the Fourth of July to remind folks that they should celebrate this truly great day.

On the afternoon of May 26 members of the Parent-Teacher association met at the schoolhouse and discussed many plans for a better school in Charlie. It was inspiring to note the enthusiasm displayed by that little assembly of mothers. And though we had no displays of oratorical gift, we had many good talks and there was everywhere manifest a spirit of genial cooperation. We had with us Mrs. Joe Wolfe of Wichita Falls, and we take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of the help she is giving us in this work. Her greater experience in this line of work makes her advice most valuable to us.

Chief among the subjects discussed by the members of the Parent-Teacher association at their last meeting was that of attempting to have a consolidated school at this place. It was decided that in the near future we should have by way of creating an interest in the work an able speaker come to Charlie and explain to the people just how to proceed to establish a consolidated school.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL ACCEPTED BY PRESIDENT IN AN ADDRESS FEATURING OBSERVANCE OF DAY

WASHINGTON, May 30.—"Maintained union and nationality," rather than "emancipation" was declared to be the supreme chapter in American history by President Harding in an address today accepting the Lincoln memorial in behalf of the American people. Lincoln would have compromised with slavery, Mr. Harding declared, while cleaving to his great purpose—the maintenance of the "inheritance handed down by the founding fathers."

Declaring that the new memorial was fittingly placed near the towering spire of the Washington monument, Mr. Harding said that Washington, the founder, and Lincoln, the saviour, "offered outstanding proof that a representative popular government, constitutionally founded, can find its own way to salvation and accomplishment."

The president spoke as follows:

"It is a supreme satisfaction officially to accept on behalf of the government this superb monument to the saviour of the republic. No official duty could be more welcome; no official function more pleasing. This memorial edifice is a noble tribute, gratefully bestowed, and in its offering is the reverent heart of America; in its dedication is the consciousness of reverence and gratitude beautifully expressed.

"Somehow my emotions incline me to speak simply as a reverent and grateful American rather than one in official responsibility. I am thus inclined because the true measure of Lincoln is in his place today in the heart of American citizenship, though nearly half a century has passed since his colossal service and his martyrdom. In every moment of peril, in every hour of discouragement, whenever the clouds gather, there is the image of Lincoln to rivet our hopes and renew our faith. Whenever there is a glow of triumph over national achievement there comes the reminder that but for Lincoln's heroic and unalterable faith in the union, these triumphs could not have been.

"No great character in all history has been more eulogised, no rugged figure more monumental, no likeness more portrayed. Painters and sculptors portray as they see, and no two see precisely alike. So, too, is there varied emphasis in the portraiture of words, but all are agreed about the rugged greatness and the surpassing tenderness and unfailing wisdom of this master martyr.

"History is concerned with the things accomplished. Biography deals with the methods and the individual attributes which led to accomplishment.

"The supreme chapter in history is not emancipation, though that achievement would have exalted Lincoln throughout all the ages. The simple truth is that Lincoln, recognizing an established order, would have compromised with the slavery that existed if he could have halted its extension. Hating human slavery as he did, he doubtless believed in its ultimate abolition through the developing consciousness of the American people, but he would have been the last man in the republic to resort to arms to effect its abolition. Emancipation was a means to one great end—maintained union and nationality. Here was the great purpose, here the towering hope, here the supreme faith. He treasured the inheritance handed down by the founding fathers, the ark of the covenant wrought through their heroic sacrifices and builded in their inspired genius. The Union must be preserved. It was the central thought, the unalterable purpose, the unyielding intent, the foundation of faith. 'It was worth every sacrifice, justified every cost, stoaled the heart to sanction every crimsoned tide of blood. Here was the great experiment—popular government and constitutional union—menaced by greed expressed in human chattels. With the greed restricted and unthreatening, he could temporize. When it challenged federal authority and threatened the union, it pronounced its own doom. In the first inaugural he quoted and reiterated his oft-repeated utterance:

"'I have no purpose, directly or indirectly, to interfere with the institution of slavery in the states where it exists. I believe I have no lawful right to do so and I have no inclination to do so.' He believed in maintaining inviolate the rights of the states, but he believed no less firmly in the perpetuity of the union of the states. The union, having been contracted, could not be dissolved except by consent of all parties to the contract. He recognized the conflicting viewpoints, differing policies and controverted questions. But there constitutional methods of settlement and these must be employed.

BELIEVE AMERICAN SCHOONER MARION AT BOTTOM OF SEA

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., May 30.—The American schooner Marion N. Cobb of Mobile, from Venesuela for Jacksonville with a cargo of guano, was believed here early today to be at the bottom of the Atlantic five miles off the mouth of the St. Johns river. The shipping board steamer Sun Dance, en route from Tampa to Jacksonville and lying to off St. Johns bar because of rough weather, took the crew of the Cobb aboard early last night and, in a wireless message to the Associated Press shortly before midnight, Captain Stanford of the steamer said that when last seen the decks of the schooner were awash.

The Sun Dance, which also has aboard 11 members of the crews of the St. Augustine shrimp fleet caught in a gale off that city Sunday, docked here this morning. Two shrimp boats, each with two men aboard, were reported missing today and nothing further had been heard from the steam yacht Florence, reported late yesterday by the British steamer Siamese Prince as being disabled and at anchor 20 miles off St. Johns bar. The Florence put in here several days ago for fuel and was en route to Miami.

Tugs continued their efforts to float the British schooner Perceler.

HERR AND KING TIE IN TWO DAYS' SHOOT

Oklahoma Champion Leads Field Tuesday With 196 Out of Possible 200.

Bill Herr, Oklahoma state champion, lost only four of his 200 birds in the final round of the second Wichita Falls registered shoot of the season Tuesday and by so doing tied R. A. King, national doubles champion, for high total score of the two days. Herr led King by one bird Tuesday while King finished one ahead of Herr Monday. The total scores of the two nimrods for 350 targets was 341 apiece. Herr also had the highest consecutive string of the forty-odd shooters who gathered for the event. His longest unbroken string was 137 as compared to 96 for King, who was second highest.

A heavy shower interrupted the shooters in the afternoon and only a few had finished shooting at their 200 targets by 3 o'clock. Up to that time the following scores were made:

Miller 193, Grisson 188, Herr 196, Clay 183, Pate 191, Adams 177, Dodd 178, King 195, Nabb 177.

Wafted in on the wings of the northeast wind the cloud gave up its moisture and by actual measurement practically six-tenths of an inch of rain was recorded.

ALL THE NEWS OF ALL THE SPORTS ALL THE TIME

Kraft Unable to Get Ball by "Buddy" and "Shorty" in Pinches

BEAUMONT, TEXAS, May 22.—Lou Kraft, Beaumont's pugilistic hurler who was so successful against the Fort Worth Panthers in his two recent stars against them, was groomed the past few days by Skipper Joe Mathis especially to keep the Spudders from crawling any closer to the Exporters, but Lou wasn't equal to the occasion here Monday in the third and final game of the series. True enough, he pitched good ball and forced the invaders into extra innings, but the Salmites kept plugging away at him and after knotting the count in the ninth chapter, scored a run in the eleventh which made the score 5 to 4 in their favor.

Babe Ruth, George Bischoff, Earl Adams and Archie Tanner were Kraft's chief stumbling blocks. Babe didn't start on the mound for the visitors, but took hold of the situation in the sixth chapter after the Exporters had sent Bill Fincher to the showers. Beaumont always has been "duck soup" for Bill, but he went to the well once too often. He was invincible for five cantos, but a pass, hit batsman and three doubles proved his undoing in the sixth. This all happened before the second man had been retired and the combination proved fruitful to the extent of four runs and a two run lead. Ruth was called in at this juncture and got the next two men out of the way before there was any more tallying. He also stopped them for the rest of the matinee. But it was not his pitching alone that assisted the Spudders in their victory.

When the Wichita bambino toed the platter in the ninth, the Spudders were one run to the bad and Kraft was going along in merry fashion. Aloph, however, decided that he would save a defeat for his brother Bill and add another victory to his record, so he socked one over the right field barrier which entitles the batsman to two sacks in Beaumont.

Adams Delivers.

It was then up to "Shorty" Adams, who had previously knocked in two Spudder runs. Adams, as usual, was not found wanting in the pinch and after fouling a couple slapped a safety to center which sent Ruth over with the tying run.

In the eleventh Ruth inveigled Kraft into handing him four wide ones after Bischoff had been sent back to the bench. Adams didn't come through this time, but turned the honors over to Tanner after he had put Ruth on second with an infield out. It has already been narrated that Adams' bat was responsible for three of the four runs scored by the Spudders thus far. Buddy's was responsible for the other one. It was also responsible for the winning tally as he delivered a slashing blow to left which enabled Ruth to chalk up the winning as well as tying run.

The visitors broke Kraft's long scoreless streak in the third when Bischoff beat out a slow roller, advanced on Fincher's sacrifice and counted on Adams' single. They increased their lead to two in the fifth when Bischoff again opened with a single, went to second on Adams' infield out after Fincher had fanned, and scored on Tanner's safe drive to left.

Exporters Chase Fincher.

The home crew hopped onto Fincher with a vengeance in the sixth, however, and went into a two run lead themselves. With one away Wetzel walked and Edington doubled over the right field fence. Strong couldn't get out of the way of one of Fincher's wild ones and ambled to first, populating the corners. The congestion was relieved to some extent when Anderson doubled to center and to further extent when Brennan dumped one over the right field fence which accounted for two more. Salm then sent in Ruth to stem the tide and he did it to a nicety.

The Spudders got one back in the seventh and should have had enough to win. White singled and went to second when Bischoff beat out another slow roller. Ruth moved both runners up with a pretty sacrifice and White counted when Adams shot one to Rader which could not be thrown to the plate in time to head him off. Tanner and Bescher walked immediately afterwards, filling the bases, but Summa grounded out.

After Adams had scored Ruth in the ninth, the Spuders still had an opportunity to score, but Bescher fanned and Summa grounded out again with the winning run on third.

"Stump" Edington was purposely passed in the ninth and eleventh by Ruth to avert imminent disaster and both moves proved to be wise as two men were out each time with base runners in position to score. Strong, who followed him, was a easy out both times.

AS HE ONCE LOOKED

Joe McGinnity in the Giants' Uniform

By BOB DORMAN

How many men of 49 could step out on the mound and pitch nine full innings of baseball in a professional league, even though only a minor one?

And how many could perform this stunt and win?

Not many, in answer to the first question.

An answer to the second—Joe McGinnity, at any rate.

Once Joe was known as the Iron Man of the New York Giants. Now he's manager and owner of the Danville club of the Three-Eye league.

Finding his pitching staff shot to pieces, he undertook the twirling himself, and for seven innings held his opponents scoreless. In the eighth he weakened, allowing three runs, two of which were earned. In the ninth he tightened up again and prevented further scoring. Danville won, 5 to 3.

Joe struck out three men during this performance, hit one and issued one pass, pretty fair control for a man of 49.

McGinnity started ball playing at Rock Island, Ill., his native town, at the age of 15, He has lived an athlete's life ever since. Famed though he was, in his days in the big league, for his ability to pitch and win double headers, the strain never told on Joe's arm, as his present ability proves. Irregular living, not work, he holds, sends men to the scrap heap. Nobody ever took better care of himself than Joe.

ONE COMER AND TWO TRIED VETS

DANNY CLARK BIDS FAIR TO TAKE HIS PLACE IN THE HEARTS OF DETROIT FANS

By BILLY EVANS

For years the Detroit club has boasted of its sluggers.

The Tigers' lineup always has included one or more players who have stood out prominently because of their ability to hit.

Back in the old days there was Sam Thompson. How that baby could swat them. Sam is alive and well still. Each year he takes a leading part in the opening-day ceremonies at Detroit.

When the American league came into existence Detroit was one of the cities of the Johnsonian circuit. That was more than a score of years ago.

In the Detroit lineup was Crawford, known to baseball fans the country over as "Wahoo Sam." That title was conferred upon him because he hailed from the hamlet of Wahoo, Neb.

Fine Form at Bat.

No player in the history of baseball had more form at bat than Crawford. His stance was perfect, his cut at the ball the poetry of motion. Crawford was one of those hitters who looked good even when he was striking out.

Crawford was a natural swinger. He took a healthy cut at the ball. When he connected the sphere certainly traveled. I venture to say that Crawford, had he played in these days of the lively ball, would be pushing Babe Ruth mighty hard for the home run honors.

As Crawford began to slow up as the premier swatter of the Detroit club Claude Rossman sprang into prominence.

Many of the veteran American league twirlers, who have now passed out of the picture, will tell you that Rossman was one of the greatest batters they ever pitched to. Rossman hit 'em on a line.

Inability to throw, however, caused his departure from the major leagues when he was at the top of his game as a batter.

Advent of Veach.

When Rossman went to the minors, following in the wake of Crawford, there came to the Tigers from the bushers another great natural batsman, Bobby Veach.

The Tiger outfielder is one of the few batsmen of the slugging type still in the game. Regardless whether the pitch is a fast one, a curve or a fadeaway, Veach takes the same healthy cut, the same follow through on every swing.

While Veach is at the top of his game right now, and probably has a number of good years ahead, he is a veteran and there must come a time when he will begin to fall off in his batting.

There is on the Detroit club a youngster who has yet to win his spurs as a regular, ready to take the place of Veach as the Tigers' premier slugger, when Bob is ready and willing to give up that honor.

I have reference to Danny Clark, late of Wichita Falls, Texas.

Clark is being groomed for second base. He is being used as an understudy to the veteran, George Cutshaw. He has demonstrated already that he can hit. He is well above the .300 mark. In a pinch already he has broken up a number of ball games.

Tied Up the Game.

The other day in a game at Philadelphia, with the score standing 5 to 2 in favor of the Athletics, Manager Cobb sent Clark to bat in a pinch, with two on. All Clark did was to hit the first ball pitched over the right field wall for a home run, tying up the game.

Clark is a natural batsman. He takes a free swing. The making of home runs is nothing new to him. He made 50 two-base hits, 10 three-baggers and 19 home runs.

Deatherage Finishes First Day's Shoot With High Run of 79

R. A. King of Delta, Colo., national doubles champion, and Bill Herr of Guthrie, Okla., Oklahoma state champion, had a merry battle at the local traps in Monday's shoot for first honors, the former taking first honors in the six singles events of the day by smashing 146 out of 150 and the latter winning the doubles event of 50 targets with 46. Herr was tied with Al Deatherage, president of the local club, and W. R. Miller of Austin for second place in the singles with 145 while King took second honors in the doubles with 43.

Many of the nimrods ran 25 straight in the six singles events, but the real honors of the day went to Al Deatherage who finished with an unbroken string of 79 which he is to resume today.

First money in event No. 1 was divided by C. L. Wyman of Quanah, W. H. Herr of Guthrie and J. P. Morrison of Guthrie, Okla. C. J. Pate of Wichita Falls, W. H. Herr and L. Grissom of Waxahachie split first money in the second event. Event No. 3 was tied up by Paul Adams of Wichita Falls, R. A. King of Delta and W. R. Miller of Austin. The fourth event found King, Deatherage and Miller dividing. Deatherage alone was high in the fifth event, being the only nimrod to run 25. Pate, King, Deatherage, Nabb, Herr, Elsy Morrison of Hastings and W. L. Terry of Fort Worth tied for first in the sixth event. In each event the high men ran strings of 25.

The feature squad of the day was No. 3 which included Joe Pate, Paul Adams and Jack Nabb of Wichita Falls, King of Delta and Dodds of Fort Worth. This squad dropped only three birds in the third event and the same number in the sixth.

The following scores were made by the Wichita Falls shooters in the first six events: Pate 143, Adams 136, Nabb 144, Deatherage 145, Dempsey 129, Bowen 120, Landon 123 Cooper 87, Randle 116, Adrian 138, Lyon 125, Gotcher 130, Gibbs 133.

In the doubles Nabb broke 36, Deatherage 37, Dempsey 30, Pate 31, Adams 28.

HOW TO PLAY BALL

As Told By Billy Evans and Stars of the Major Leagues

By BILLY EVANS

How to play baseball.

There you have a real problem.

No game requires more study or greater effort than the national pastime.

It is a difficult matter to jot down any set rules for playing baseball. Every player has certain characteristics peculiar to himself.

By employing his own style, he is often able to do some phase of the sport better than any one else. In that respect it is well to be original.

During 17 years connection with the majors I have seen a number of the really great ball players. It is a pleasure to watch the truly great players perform.

I have always made it a point to carefully study the style of the stars, to satisfy myself as to how they have achieved the highest niche in their respective positions.

All star players have certain things in common, because under certain conditions proper baseball requires that plays be made just so. However, all stars have their own ideas about how to best make certain plays.

In considering the various phases of baseball, I have taken up each position and discussed the proper playing of that position as gleaned from years of observation and interviews with the game's greatest stars. It is a composite opinion.

I have tried to put these viewpoints together, so that the ambitious player at each position can have the benefit of the big leaguer's experience and thought.

Then to further make clear the possibilities of the game, I have had a number of the leading stars tell how they believe it is best to play the position at which they have won fame.

No one can hope to succeed in baseball unless he starts to play the game as a kid. It is a sport that cannot be taken up later in life like golf, tennis, boxing or many others. You must grow up with it and learn as you progress.

MASKAT LOSES AGAIN TO ALZAFAR TEMPLE

Visitors Blank Local Shriners In Five-Inning Game, 2 to 0.

Alzafar temple of San Antonio won an abbreviated contest Monday afternoon from the local Maskats, making it two in a row over Al Booth's charges. The visitors not only won, but rubbed it in by blanking the home aggregation 2 to 0.

The teams waited until after the shower before starting hostilities, but gave it up as a bad job after the fifth inning. As in Sunday's game, wild heaves figured prominently in the scores, a bad peg by Booth giving Alzafar its first and another erratic toss by Hale accounting for the second.

Storrie was just as invincible as was Michael on the previous day, Shadie Hale garnering the only hit. Griggs allowed only five hits and were it not for the poor throwing by his mates would have given Storrie a battle. The box score:

KEN WILLIAMS AND BING MILLER ADD TO THEIR TOTALS

Yankees Have One Big Inning In Which They Subdue the Athletics.

NEW YORK, May 30.—One big inning, the "lucky seventh," in which the Yankees plastered Harris and Moore for eight hits and seven runs, was enough to down the peppery Athletics in the first game of the series here.

Babe Ruth recovered his batting eye for two slashing singles but the only home run offering of the afternoon was one by Bing Miller of the Mackmen, his 12th of the season.

Ken Williams of St. Louis walloped out his 13th circuit blow, keeping his lead over Miller in the American league race and tying Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Nationals for major honors. The Browns hit three Tiger hurlers hard and won 9 to 6.

Erickson turned in a two hit shut out for Washington against Boston in the first game of a double header, but the Senators were outslugged, 9-8, in the second, an 11-inning battle. Schupp's wildness and an error by Mulligan cost the White Sox an 8-5 game to Cleveland.

Parkinson's home run drive scored two runs in the eighth and checked the Giants' winning streak, 5-3, Douglas being driven from the mound while Cruise's circuit clout gave Boston a winning margin, 5-4, over Brooklyn. Pinch Hitter Mitchell hit one over the fence in the ninth for Brooklyn with one on.

The Pirates drove Donohue from the box and trimmed Cincinnati, 5-2, while Fournier's triple and Heathcote's sacrifice fly enabled St. Louis to beat the Chicago Cubs in the 10th, 5-4. Ainsmith cracked out his eighth home run for the Cardinals.

Timing the Phone

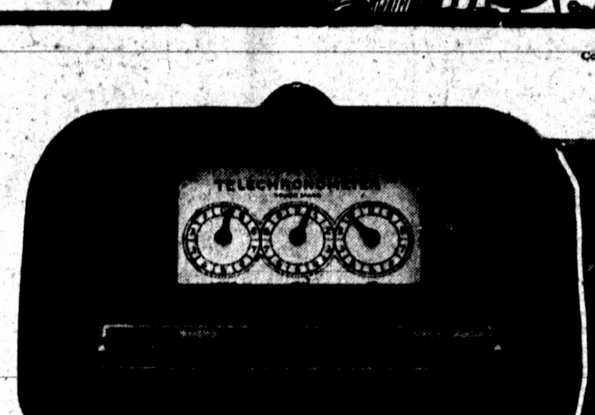

MR. JONES, at his office, calls up a number on the phone, says a few crisp words, and hangs up. It is an affair of half a minute. Mrs. Smith, at home, rings up a woman friend and engages her in gossip for fifteen minutes.

It seems somehow as if Mr. Jones should pay less for his brief use of the line than Mrs. Smith for her long conversation. But up to now it has not been found practicable to place the telephone business on the same sort of basis as gas, water and electricity—on a basis, that is, of quantity consumed.

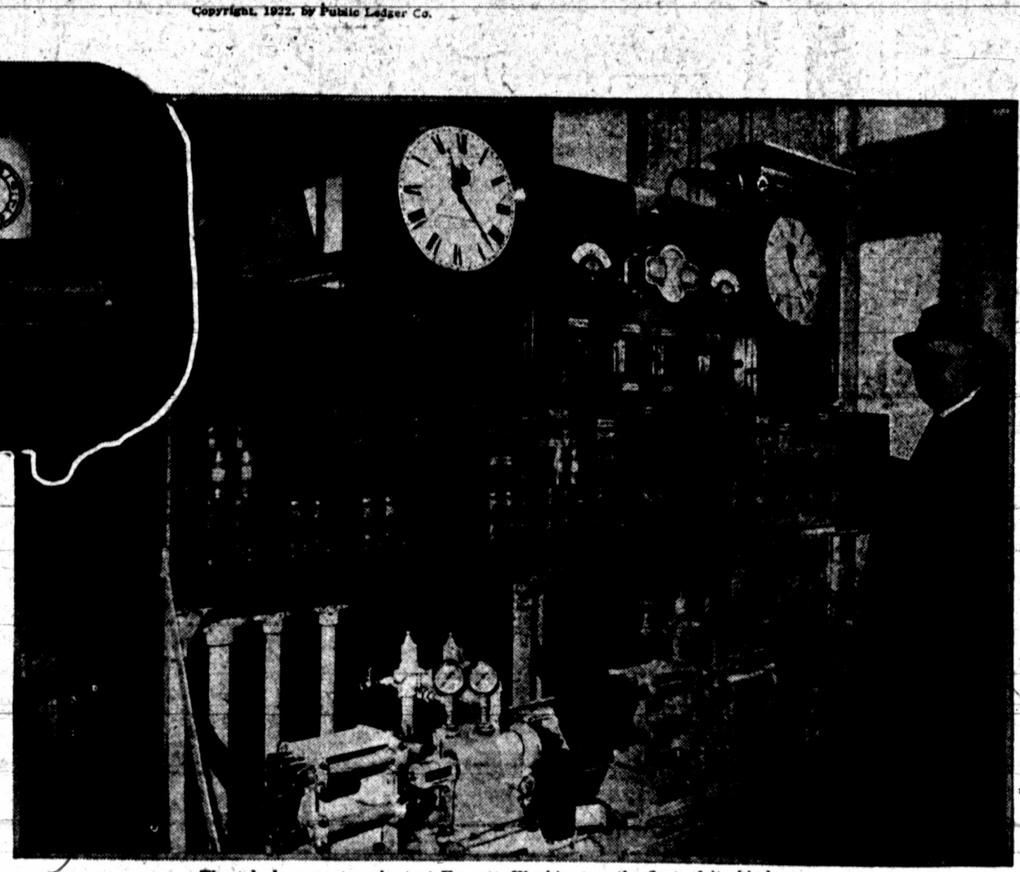

Major Garrison Babcock, of Seattle, claims to have solved this problem by his invention of the "telechronometer," a device which accurately registers the time consumed by phone conversations. It is a little meter which, registering only on the telephone of the person who makes the call, has the incidental advantage of recording a charge against listeners who eavesdrop on party lines.

This novel system has been introduced, and is now operated, in the city of Everett, Wash., which has a population of 27,000. It cuts the cost to the moderate user, and places the burden on the heavy user, where it belongs. Each subscriber pays in exact proportion to the amount of use he makes of the phone.

It is thought that in big and busy cities, where telephone congestion is becoming increasingly difficult to deal with, the system will be a great help. It will enable the telephone companies to handle more subscribers without increasing their investments in buildings and plants, with resulting increase in rates.

Desert Motoring

DEATH VALLEY is the hottest known region on the earth. The Weather Bureau makes that statement, as a result of the observations of ten years, during which it has maintained a small station there. Its thermometers have recorded a temperature of 134 degrees in the shade.

Nevertheless, that weird abode of dryness and desolation now invites the winter automobile tourist, on account of its wonderful scenic attractions. About 100 miles long, with a width of two to eight miles and walled by ranges of precipitous mountains, it offers color effects almost as brilliant as those of the Grand Canyon. For the safety of travelers the Automobile Club of Southern California has set up signs pointing out the springs and water holes.

The water holes and springs are separated by long distances, and are hidden by a surrounding growth of bushes, reedy vegetation and desert grass. In early days, before railroads spanned the continent, many adventurous pioneers, trying to cross Death Valley, perished of thirst because they did not know where to look for water.

The geography books of a generation ago had maps on which the "great American desert" covered all the territory between the Missouri River and the Sierra-Cascade mountain range. As a matter of fact, the only true extensive deserts in this country are in Southeast California, Southern Nevada and Western Arizona. The most conspicuous and hopeless wastes are the Colorado desert, the Mojave desert and Death Valley, all of which are in California.

The deserts of the United States are not mere level wastes of sand. Included within them are lofty mountain ranges, deep and gloomy canyons, pinnacles and "sinks"—i. e., depressions and considerably below sea level.

Death Valley is in Southeastern California, near the Nevada boundary. It is the deepest depression in the United States—286 feet below sea level in one place—though Mount Whitney (14,501 feet), the highest point in this country, is only 100 miles away. The center of the valley is 280 miles by road from Los Angeles.

Up to recent years the only permanent inhabitants of the valley were a few Indians. But in 1882 a white men's settlement was established there by a borax company and a tract of sixty-five acres at the eastern edge was irrigated with water brought from near by in the Funeral Mountains. The water comes from springs, at a temperature of 100 degrees, maintaining throughout the year the flow of a small stream called Furnace Creek.

The creek got its name from the fact that it flowed into a depression where the air was so hot as to suggest a blast from a furnace. A ranch is now maintained near there, chiefly to furnish food for the borax miners. The contrast between its green fields and the surrounding brown desert is very striking to the eye. Four crops of alfalfa are raised annually. The principal product of the ranch is dressed meat, but experiments are being made with poultry, vegetables, dates and citrus fruits.

Hardly any rain falls in the valley. Clouds rarely obscure the sun and the sands and rocks are so highly heated during the long summer days that they do not get a chance to cool in the night time. There is almost no moisture in the air and hence evaporation is so rapid that one feels thirsty all the time.

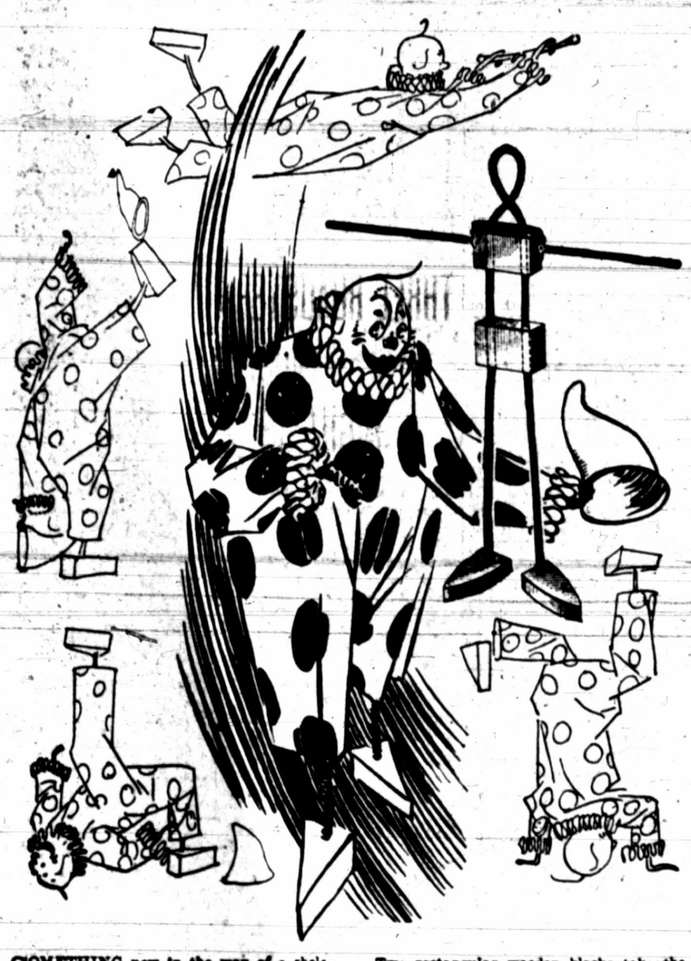

A large part of the irrigation water is lost by evaporation before reaching the alfalfa fields. The water for drinking is brought by a four-inch iron pipe a mile long from Texas Springs. In the daytime it becomes highly heated, but is reduced to 70 degrees in desert canteens covered with burlap. The burlap is kept wet and rapid evaporation of moisture from it cools the contents of the canteen.

Animal life in the valley is represented chiefly by jack rabbits, kangaroo rats, rattlesnakes, horned toads, desert turtles, lizards and scorpions. Insects are abundant. Flocks of migrating birds often stop at the ranch for drink and food.

The miners do their work in the hours of earliest day and after sunset; the blazing sun makes labor impossible in the middle of the day. White men do not stay there long. A foreman named Denton, who stayed longest, eight years, was a marvel of mechanical ingenuity. He rigged up an overshot water wheel that drove a revolving fan, in front of which he spread for his bed a wetted blanket. But even his ingenuity was not proof against the enervating heat.

Like the hospice of Saint Bernard in the high Alps the ranch is a travelers' relief station. It has saved the life of many a lost wayfarer or prospector who has staggered in with parched throat and speechless, swollen tongue. Four mounds of earth mark the last resting places of persons who perished of thirst or heat before they could reach the bourne of refuge.

Manikin Skeleton Perfected

SOMETHING new in the way of a skeleton is the invention of a Philadelphia man, Karl H. Rogers. It will serve as a framework for a doll or for a manikin used for show-window purposes.

It is made of insulated copper wire, very strong and pliable, and the insulation re-enforces it. Accordingly, the skeleton requires no joints, and the manikin produced by dressing it up, in any fashion to suit the taste, can easily be made to assume any desired attitude; sitting, standing, stooping or grotesquely postured.

Two rectangular wooden blocks take the places of shoulders and hips, the wire passing through them to form the skeleton arms and legs. For feet two smaller blocks suitably shaped are made to serve. A loop of the wire at the top provides a framework for the head.

To build the manikin upon this skeleton is simply a matter of wrappings, with a face painted on the cloth used to cover the head.

Science Follows Radio Messages

WHEN a broadcasting station sends out by wireless phone the voice of a famous operatic singer, only a tiny fraction of a second is needed for those golden notes to reach the ears of listeners 100 miles away. But what, thereafter, becomes of the ether waves that carry them?

They keep on going, traveling with the speed of light—86,000 miles a second. In eight minutes they reach the sun. In twenty-seven minutes they arrive at Jupiter, and, if there were people on that giant planet provided with the requisite receiving instruments, they would hear the singer's voice with a distinctness undiminished.

But the electro-magnetic waves do not stop at Jupiter, nor at the outermost confines of the solar system. Their journey has as yet only begun, and they will continue on until, perhaps one hundred million years hence, they reach the farthest star that is visible to our telescopes.

And thence on, forever, through the infinity of space. The voice of the singer has traced an ineradicable record on the invisible ether. It is immortal.

This Machine Strengthens Hand

HOW strong is your grip?

It all depends, of course, upon the development of the muscles of your thumb and fingers. Much in this direction may be accomplished by systematic exercise.

A device for this purpose has been newly invented by a Boston man, Charles E. Lincoln. It is a pair of hollow rubber balls covered with kid leather. A "collar" tightly wrapped with adhesive tape connects the two.

In use, the balls are placed in the palm of the hand and squeezed. One of them is squeezed between the index finger and the thumb; the other is pressed against the palm by the middle, fourth and little fingers. The inventor claims that by this little contrivance, which may be conveniently carried in the pocket for use at odd moments, all the muscles of the hand and wrist are exercised.

Coats Wood With Metal

A NEWLY invented process has made it practicable to plate wood with a coating of metal, a thing hitherto deemed impossible. By this means a plating of zinc or lead may be applied to the hull of a ship to protect her against shipworms, or to telegraph poles or wooden structures of any kind which need defense against weather or insects.

The metal, in powdered form, is applied at so low a temperature that it can be safely used for coating even so inflammable a substance as celluloid. It may be employed for plating the wooden parts and cloth fabric of airplanes. Packing boxes can be strengthened and made water-tight by a metal spray along the edges.

High structures that are exposed to weather, such as bridges, are with difficulty protected against rust, and to keep them well painted is troublesome and expensive. On this account many bridges nowadays are built of re-enforced concrete. If structural ironwork were plated with zinc by the spraying process it would need no painting for a long time.

Like many other inventions, this one was a lucky accident. A Swiss named Schoof, watching his children firing a Flobert rifle, noticed that the bullets crushed on the wall produced a strongly adhering lead coating. This observation led him to make some experiments with small shot, which, discharged at the wall at close range, formed thereupon a tenacious plating in spots.

The contrivance finally developed out of this idea is a valved receptacle for powdered metal (lead or zinc), which is forced out by heated gas passed through a pipe. The gas, under pressure, drives out the powder through a nozzle, in the form of a spray, with such violence that it fills the smallest pores of the surface struck and covers the latter with a dense adherent plating.

The surface to be plated is first cleaned with a sand-blast. So rapidly can the spraying be done that large surfaces are covered in a short time. The process, therefore, is readily and inexpensively available for use on structural ironwork of buildings or bridges. Parts of machinery that are hard to get at may by this means be protected against rust; and it is expected to prove serviceable for plating the interior of vessels utilized in the chemical industries.

With the help of stencils, the process can be used to produce metal patterns on surfaces. It may be employed to advantage in the making of castings and printing blocks. From one negative block can be produced by the spraying method in one hour thirty finished blocks equal to electrotypes.

Making India's Rivers Work

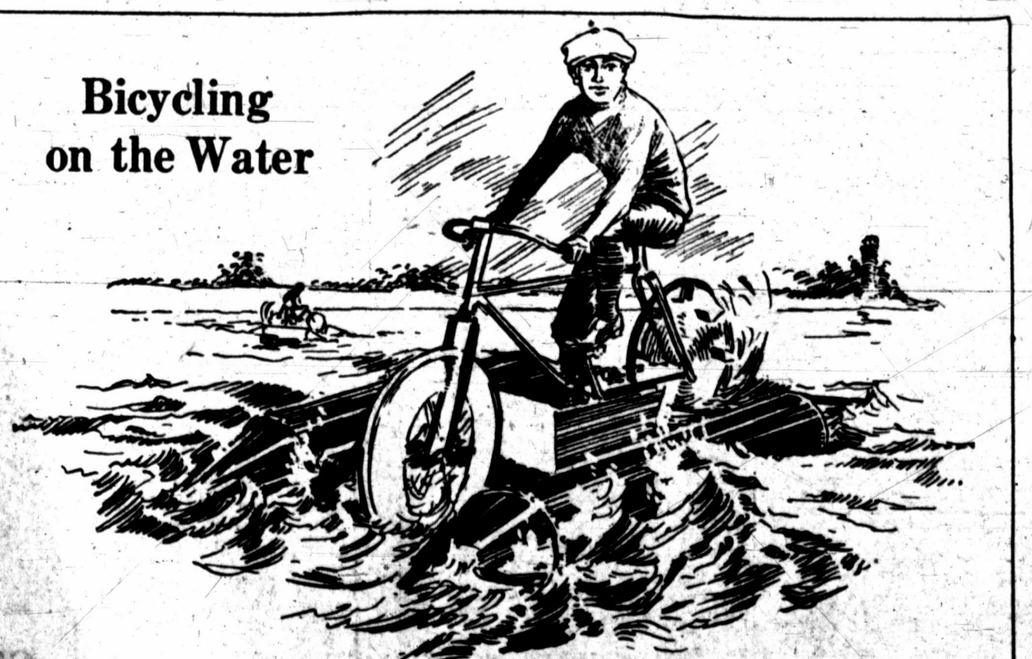

THE industrial development of Southern India is seriously retarded by lack of coal; for the "wealth of India" does not include any great deposits of that fossil fuel. On the other hand, the country has enormous available resources of energy in the shape of water-power.

Recent surveys made by the Government have shown that, leaving minor streams out of account, seven great rivers emit from the Indus are capable of yielding 3,000,000 horsepower for every 1000 feet of fall from their sources in the Himalayas. But the flow of rivers in Southern India is far from regular, and in the hot season the smaller ones dry up. Hence, to turn them to account for hydroelectric purposes, they must be dammed, thereby holding the heavy monsoon rains in storage.

The most important project of the kind in contemplation is the damming of the Sharavarti River above the Gersoppa Falls, one of the greatest cataracts in the world. There the river makes a sheer drop of 900 feet, presenting an impressive and wonderful spectacle. Its glory, however, is not to be tarnished or even diminished, the location chosen for the dam site being some distance higher up.

Once this dam of the Sharavarti River is completed, the first step in this gigantic project which will ultimately give India a wealth of water power will have been taken. Other developments will follow.

Bicycling on the Water

KAROL OWSIANIECKI, of Baltimore, is the inventor of a bicycle that swims. It is mounted between two cylindrical floats with conical ends; its rear wheel is equipped with paddles, and its front wheel is covered with a web of canvas so that it may serve for steering. A novel feature of this catamaran bicycle is a sort of box, fastened to the frame with brackets and secured to the floats by rivets, which forms a well to contain the revolving pedals. Thus the rider is not obliged to get his feet wet.

LEGAL NOTICE.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
The State of Texas. To the sheriff or any constable of Wichita county, greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon Robert Dyas, by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 30th district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, on the 3rd Monday in June A. D. 1922, the same being the 19th day of June A. D. 1922, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 22nd day of May A. D. 1922 in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. ...... wherein E. P. Harding is plaintiff and Robert Dyas is defendant and said petition alleging that on the 11th day of March A. D. 1920, J. H. Cline and wife, Anna Sue Cline, executed to F. L. Stringer, a vendors' lien note for $1,000 payable in monthly installments of $25 per month, bearing 8 per cent interest, with the usual 10 per cent attorneys fee clause; that on April 29, 1920, Cline and wife sold property mentioned in said vendors' lien note, being lot 10, block 92, in Floral Heights addition to the city of Wichita Falls to A. D. Machel and wife, Ceanie Sue Machel, who assumed above described note and on Feb. 16, 1921, Machel and wife sold above described property to Robert Dyas, defendant, to-wit: Said defendant expressly assumed vendor's lien note above described, deed stating balance due $725.00; that since said date $50 has been paid on said note, but no payments made since April 12, 1921, on April 20, 1922, F. L. Stringer transferred said note to E. P. Harding, plaintiff, whereby defendant became bound and liable to pay and promised to pay plaintiff sum of said money in said note specified. The note provides that failure to pay this note or any installment of interest thereon due shall at the election of the holder mature all of said note. After all offsets and credits are allowed, there is a balance due of $816.50. Said note has been placed in the hands of Harwood Stacy for collection and plaintiff has contracted to pay 10 per cent attorneys fees. Plaintiff prays that defendant be cited to appear and answer this petition, judgment for his debt of $816.50 and for foreclosure of his lien on the above described land, being lot 10, block 92, Floral Heights addition, and that property be sold and purchaser be placed in possession within 30 days after sale. THREE ROADSTERS STOLEN MONDAY NIGHT IN CITY

It was a bad night for Ford roadsters in Wichita Falls Monday, three having been stolen from various portions of the city. One was recovered Tuesday morning minus a rear wheel and several other appliances.

The first report came to police early in the evening to the effect that a machine owned by Bill Dunlap, 612 Wichita street, had been taken from the Dunlap home. A little later J. M. Pryor, 1306 Sixteenth street, appeared at the city hall with information that his Ford roadster had been stolen from a business district parking point.

A representative of Armour and company's local plant reported the theft of the third car, this being taken from the Armor garage. The car was found at 1500 Broad street early Tuesday morning and turned over to the owners. The left rear wheel had been taken off and a few small articles, easily detachable, removed.

No trace of the other two machines had been found up till noon Tuesday.

Paul W. Cotner, formerly with the Central Abstract company, assumed his new duties in the county assessor's office Tuesday morning. He was appointed by the commissioners' court Monday to check up on oil and gas leases for the county.

A man who bought an OVERLAND car
Thought at first it wouldn't run far
But the darn thing ran and ran and ran
Until it made a firm believer of this Mr. Man.

Since this first one had done so well,
He told all the other makes to go to ———;
And now that the old man is dead and done,
He had the third one bought for his son.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, May 30—Reports of rains in Texas and Oklahoma and the unfavorable weather conditions in the south central portion of the belt, put the price of cotton 10 to 13 points net higher in the early trading today. Better cables than due were also a supporting influence. Liquidation from the long side met the advance and after checking it caused minor recessions. At the end of the first hour of trading prices were three to five points over yesterday's close. July ran up to 20.79 and fell back to 20.69.

The forecast of wet weather for practically all of the western half of the belt arousing the fear that the weather map in the morning would be highly unfavorable, but July 16 points up in the trading up to 12:30 o'clock. At its highest, July touched 20.82. Other months did not make new high levels for the day.

Uncertainty over the movements of the storm central in the gulf off the Louisiana coast caused uneasiness and some covering by shorts and the market rose to about its highest levels again standing at 11:00 o'clock at 20.77 for July and at net advances of seven to 11 points on the list.

Cotton closed steady at a net advance of seven to 11 points.

ENFORCEMENT OF PROHIBITION LAWS URGED BY STRONG

DALLAS CANDIDATE FOR U. S. SENATE SPEAKS HERE MONDAY NIGHT.

DELIVERS CRITICISM OF FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS

Says System Should Be More Serviceable to People—Marrs Also Speaks.

Declaring himself wholly in favor of organized labor, but denouncing some of its leaders; advocating tariff for revenue only; favoring the rights of states to regulate freight and passenger rates, and expressing himself as believing in more strict enforcement of the national prohibition laws, Sterling P. Strong, candidate for United States senator, addressed a gathering of voters at Tenth and Lamar streets Monday night.

The speaker was introduced by Judge J. W. Akin. Mr. Strong declared that he was the only candidate for the position who was not a lawyer and that he was also the only one who was in the fight against saloons and advocating a more strict enforcement of the prohibition laws.

S. M. N. Marrs, candidate for state superintendent of schools, also spoke at the gathering.

"The taxation policy of the republican party is wrong," Strong said, "because they seek to place the bruden upon the poor while the rich are protected. I advocate the true democratic platform on the tariff question, believing in tarifi for revenue only."

He endorsed organized labor, but said that if he had any criticism to offer in this direction it was towards some of the leaders in the organizations.

"Some of the old fossils should be ditched," he said.

Mr. Strong also spoke on the federal reserve banking system and stated that this institution should be made more serviceable to the people.

"It is too far removed from those who should be benefited by it. I favor as a member of the reserve board, a member who actually owns a farm, a laborer who really labors and a business man who actually does banking. These three classes of individuals represent three-fourths of the population of our country and yet they are not represented on the reserve board.

The immigration question he regarded as a serious one. He declared himself absolutely opposed to permitting any immigrant to set foot on this United States unless he was able to read, write and speak the English language.

Continuing on this subject he said: "They should no tbe permitted to take up their abode in this free country of ours until they have learned the principles of our government and the duties that they owe to it. Those that land here and do not measure up to the qualifications as outlined should be taught. Each one so taught should be made to bear the expense of such teachings."

Mr. Strong said that federal judges should send bootleggers and prohibition law violators to the penitentiary instead of giving them a fine and sending them to county jails for small terms.

"I appeal to the voters of the state who want to see the home, the church, the school and all things righteous triumph over the illicit whiskey traffic. If I am elected, that is one amendment that I shall attempt to have a more severe punishment clause inserted."

RODEO PRODUCER LOSES MONEY IN 2 RECENT VENTURES

A $2,500 loss in this city and a $5,000 loss in Dallas have been sustained by Tom Burnett of Iowa Park, rodeo producer, during the past few weeks, according to information from reliable sources. The Dallas rodeo, staged in connection with the durbar, was very sparsely attended, the crowds being considerably less than those attending here. In both this city and Dallas, financial assistance was given by business men.

The unfavorable outcome, financially, of Burnett's two rodeo ventures this year is understood to have discouraged him from further efforts along this line. Some observers believe that general business conditions and the wearing off of the novelty are responsible for the slump in attendance; others believe that the absence of Lucile Mulhall Burnett, the impresario's former wife, from the performances and contests is a big factor, as she was a decided drawing card in the rodeos in this city.

LEG BROKEN IN ACCIDENT; MAN FINDS IT OUT LATER

Ed Love, a paper hanger, was taken to the Call Field hospital Monday suffering from a broken leg, sustained Sunday in an automobile accident near Iowa Park. He was brought to the city Sunday and taken to his home, it not being known at that time that a fracture had been sustained. An examination Monday disclosed that his leg was broken.

J. E. Philips, factory representative of the Seagrave Fire Engine company of Columbus, Ohio, was in the city Monday inspecting the central station pumping truck. Several minor repairs were made about the big machine.

LOCAL RAILROADS GETTING READY FOR GRAIN MOVEMENTS

OFFICIALS ANTICIPATE WHEAT WILL START MOVING BY JUNE 20.

ALL EQUIPMENT BEING OVERHAULED IN SHOPS

Northwestern Will Have 11 Engines and 1,000 Box Cars to Handle Grain.

Preparations are being made by all of the local railroads for the movement of grain which in their opinion will start moving not later than June 20. A survey of the situation at points north and west of the city indicates that harvesting will begin the first of next week.

All of the equipment needed for the hauling of grain is being repaired and overhauled in the shops. The Fort Worth and Denver, Northwestern and Southern lines have their shopmen engaged in going over this equipment.

Officials of the Northwestern stated Tuesday that 11 engines are in "white lead" in the shops ready for service and that thus far 600 box cars have been repaired. Four hundred more cars will be prepared for this duty, the officials estimating that it will require not less than 1,000 cars to care for the grain shipments.

The Fort Worth and Denver has also repaired a half dozen engines and over 250 box cars. They estimate that the grain traffic on their lines only will take not less than 600 cars.

A report was received in the local railroad offices Tuesday morning to the effect that several large wheat fields in the panhandle and northern Oklahoma would be ready to cut before the end of the week and that already a call has been sent out for harvest hands.

BRIDWELL AND HEYDRICK NO. 12 WAGGONER DRILLED IN

Bridwell Heydrick drilled out the plug in their No. 12 test on their tract in the Waggoner land south of Electra Monday. The top of the sand was picked up at 1,925 feet, which was drilled a few feet. The owners estimate the well good for 150 or 200 barrels. This well is an offset to the Texas company's big well to the south.

HENRIETTA GIVES BIG MAJORITY TO HIGHER SCHOOL TAX

HENRIETTA, TEXAS, May 30.—The Henrietta school district voted overwhelmingly Monday to authorize the school trustees to increase the school tax above the 50 cent mark. The vote was 441 to 96, or not quite five to one.

The vote assures Henrietta of a full term school year with adequate teaching force, and local friends of the schools are quite jubilant over the result.

Howard Ryan has accepted a position with the Republic Supply company at Electra and has left for that place.

BIG CROWD LEAVES FOR DAMSITE TO ATTEND LAUNCHING

DREDGE CEREMONY SCHEDULED FOR 1:30 TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

LARGE DELEGATION FROM SEYMOUR PRESENT

Boat Formally Christened by Miss Eleanor Thompson of This City.

A large number of Wichitans left Tuesday morning for the storage dam site, where the launching of the Dredge T. B. Noble was scheduled for 1:30 p. m.

Recent rains were reported to have improved, rather than impaired, the Seymour road.

Reports from Seymour indicated that a big crowd was coming from that community to attend the ceremony. A number of the visitors planned to visit the diversion dam and other scenes on the project before returning.

The ceremony at the damsite Tuesday afternoon was planned to be a brief one. The actual christening of the big launch was by Miss Eleanor Thompson, 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Thompson.

VISITOR COMMENTS UPON ABSENCE OF DECORATIONS

A man who said he was from Oklahoma City called up The Times office Tuesday morning.

"Isn't this decoration day?" he asked.

"Well, I don't see any decorations anywhere in town. Not even on the postoffice—"

And then he either hung up or was cut off.

Mrs. E. B. Gorsline, Welfare council secretary, has returned from a brief trip to Dallas.

Hotpoint

The most celebrated Iron in the world ~

MANY a woman can still remember the thrill that came over her when she first handled a Hotpoint Electric Iron.

Not that she had never seen or heard of electric irons before. There were already several irons on the market.

But here was an electric iron made for ironing.

Not a device or novelty to be bought and laid aside—but a housekeeping tool to use.

The first electric iron with a point even hotter than the rest of the iron.

Three More Notable Features of the Hotpoint Iron

The Hinged Plug Cord Protector
Does away with most of the fuss, bending and breaking of the cord.

The strength-saving Cantilever Handle
Lessens the strain, and makes ironing easier than you ever thought it could be.

The Attached Stand
One simply tilts the iron back on its heel, instead of lifting it to and from the old-fashioned iron stand—a saving of many hundreds of pounds of lifting in a day's ironing.
