Report Bares Activities Of Spy Courier

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. —Congressional spy hunters said today that Whittaker Chambers in addition to obtaining many Washington secrets for Soviet Russia, once carried a money belt with $10,000 to San Francisco "for the purpose of financing west coast spy operations."

Chambers, an ex-Communist, has admitted he served as a courier for a Red network in Washington before the war.

In a formal report, summarizing its year-long espionage investigation, the House Committee on Un-American Activities said Chambers received stolen government documents at least 52 times—usually once a week—and most of them reached Soviet agents in this country.

Subject Matter Revealed

Among the secret data Chambers passed along to Red spies, the committee said, was "the metallurgical formula dealing with the Norden bomb sight" and information about "a new self-sealing aviation tank developed by the Navy."

Also, the report said, Chambers gave them "naval intelligence reports and lists of foreign intelligence agents."

The report did not say so, but a committee aide said the foreign intelligence agents were not Americans operating abroad but belonged to another, undisclosed government.

The committee said Chambers described in detail how a "source" would bring him documents out of the State department, how he would have them made into microfilms, and then "the documents would be returned to State Department files."

It said Chambers would carry the microfilms to New York in a tobacco pouch and deliver them to "a Colonel Bykov, of the Soviet espionage service."

The report went on to say that Soviet underground leaders presented expensive Russian bokhara rugs to "four high sources in the federal government who had been unusually productive . . . in appreciation for their unusual service to the Soviet Union."

The four were not named, but the committee said they will be later.

The report said Chambers testi-

Talks May Bring Resignation Of Chiang

Chinese Chiefs Hold Fateful Conference

By PETER LIU
INS Staff Correspondent

NANKING, Dec. 30—Military conferences that may result in a Jan. 1 announcement of Chiang Kai-Shek's resignation and suit for peace with the Communists, were being held in Nanking today.

Top-ranking military commanders, many who reportedly believe the cause lost, and important province governors debated whether the nation can continue the war in the face of shortages of ammunition and the shattered morale of its fighting forces.

Reports that Chiang would step down to pave the way for negotiations to end the devastating civil war were strengthened by an announcement from government spokesman Shen Chuang-Huan. He said that the president will make a New Year's Day statement.

Emissary Dispatched

It is generally believed that Chiang will then announce his resignation.

Premier Sun Fo has been reported to have already launched peace overtures by dispatching an emissary to Hong Kong to deal with exiled Kuomintang (government party) reformists known to be friendly with the Communists.

Semi-official sources said that Chiang Kai-Shek now faces a demand for peace as well from many of his high field commanders who realize the badly depleted state of the Nationalist forces.

Refuses Answer

Marshal Yen Tsi-Shan, governor of Shansi province and military commander in his area, and north China Commander-In-Chief Gen. Fu Tso-Yi are reportedly leaders in the move to press for peace. These men are two of the few outstanding commanders remaining who have the combat-worthy forces Chiang must have to continue the war.

Marshal Yen Tsi-Shan, in a conference with foreign correspondents in Nanking today, refused to answer a query as to what he thought the government should do.

This contrasted with the past attitude of most Nationalist commanders who would answer that they resolutely advocate continuance of the war.

Latest arrival in Nanking to join the fateful conferences was Gen. Fu Tso-Yi who arrived by plane this morning.

Already in Nanking were Marshal Yen Hsi-Shan, Cha Shao-Liang, commander of the Chungking pacification headquarters, La Han, governor of Yunan province, and Hu Tsung-Nan, governor of Shensi.

Texas Solons To Organize Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP) — The 21-man Texas House delegation will meet tomorrow to organize for the next Congress.

Rep. Mahon of Colorado City, chairman of the all-Democratic group, said the Texans will meet at 11 a. m. The House convenes at noon for the windup of the 80th Congress.

One of the matters to be taken up by the Texans is the selection of a delegation chairman for the next two years.

Coin Toss May Decide

In the past the choice has been made on a basis of seniority of those who have not previously served as chairman. The selection this time lies between Reps. W. R. Poage of Waco and Albert Thomas of Houston, both of whom entered Congress in 1937. The flip of a coin may decide it.

The delegation is expected to pick Rep. J. M. Combs of Beaumont for the House Ways and Means committee, succeeding the late Rep. Milton West of Brownsville.

Rep. Clark Fisher of San Angelo has expressed interest in being appointed to the House Armed Services committee, to take the place of Senator-elect Lyndon Johnson of Austin. This also is expected to be decided.

Lyle Undecided

Although there is no certainty that Texas will regain a position on the important House Rules committee, which it has not had since former Rep. Martin Dies of Jasper left Congress, one may be made available for Rep. John E. Lyle of Corpus Christi.

Lyle said he has not definitely decided whether he would accept the position if it is tendered him, since he would have to surren-

MacArthur Grants Japanese Complete Freedom To Fly Flag

TOKYO, Friday, Dec. 31 (AP)—General MacArthur granted the Japanese permission today to display their national flag without restriction as "a shining beacon" for the rebuilding of Japan.

MacArthur issued a new year's message to the Japanese praising them for their progress since the surrender but warning them they must do more.

The Japanese flag has been flown only on limited occasions and specified places and then only by MacArthur's permission.

Beautiful Spanish Duchess Sentenced

(By The International News Service)

MADRID, Dec. 30 — The beautiful and fiery Spanish duchess of Valencia, who already has paid $100,000 in fines for defying Generalissimo Franco, was sentenced to a year in prison today by a military tribunal for monarchist activities labeled sedition.

The defiant 32-year-old duchess, Dona Luisa Maria N vaez, already has spent eight months in jail awaiting trial for her efforts in behalf of Don Juan, pretender to the Spanish throne.

An alleged accomplice, Jose Pardo Balmonte, who also was sentenced to a year, already has spent 10 months in prison and his release is expected within two months.

The duchess was found guilty of printing and distributing monarchist literature in a public trial which immediately was denounced by monarchist sympathizers as "an absurd travesty on justice."

Vatican Ejects Hungarian Reds

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 30. (AP)—All Roman Catholics who had any connection with the arrest of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary were excommunicated today. The punishment is one of the most severe in church law.

The sacred Consistorial Congregation of the Vatican took the action in a decree dated Dec. 28 and published today. The condemnation was pronounced under provisions of canon law reserved to the Apostolic See. Thus the offense can be forgiven only by the Holy See itself.

Hungary's Communist-dominated government announced the arrest of the 56-year-old cardinal last Monday on suspicion of plotting against the government, spying, treason and black market money dealings. Thirteen others also are held.

Banned From Church

Excommunication cuts off members of the church from all sacraments. Such persons also are banned from public services and prayers of the church, from Catholic burial and from social contracts with the faithful.

Excommunication is surpassed in church penalties only by the pronouncement of "anathema" — an ecclesiastical curse.

The decree of excommunication said the persons who dared "to

All Jap War Criminals' Ashes Sown In Pacific, Army Insists

TOKYO, Dec. 30. (INS)—American authorities flatly asserted today that all the ashes of former Premier Hideki Tojo and six other executed Japanese warlords were scattered to the winds "over a wide area of the Pacific Ocean."

The statement denied a Japanese report that a large part of the ashes of the executed war criminals were buried in a common grave.

The report came from Ichiro Minegishi, official at the Yokohama crematorium where the bodies of the seven were cremated immediately after hanging last Thursday.

Minegishi said that American officers took away a small part of the ashes for secret disposal despite General MacArthur's orders that all be sown over the sea to prevent the erection of shrines over the remains.

BABSON'S OUTLOOK FOR 1949

"Levelling Off" Seen For The Year Ahead

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Copyright, 1948, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.

1. Total volume of business for 1949 will be less than that of 1948. There surely will be many soft spots.

GENERAL BUSINESS

2. Most industries will show smaller net profits. This means that in many cases dividends will be less in 1949.

3. Military preparedness will be a new and powerful industry which this country never heretofore experienced in peace times. It is destined to bolster employment for some years ahead, but not the standard-of-living.

4. Inventories quoted both at their dollar values and in volume will increase during 1949. Both raw material piles and manufactured goods will be in greater supply during 1949.

COMMODITY PRICES

5. Some rationing or priorities may be attempted in 1949. The public will make demands for price controls in the case of certain products. Beware of installment purchases in 1949.

BABSON

6. We expect the peak in wholesale commodity prices has been reached for this cycle. We therefore, advise going easy on inventories. 1949 is a time to get out of debt and stay out of debt.

7. The retail price of some goods, other than food products, may be higher during 1949, but we believe that the Cost-of-Living Index has turned downward.

8. Retail price changes lag after wholesale price changes. This explains why we expect many retail prices on good quality merchandise to hold up for awhile after wholesale prices decline.

FARM OUTLOOK

9. The total farm income for 1949 should be less due to lower prices for wheat, corn, pork, poultry, eggs and certain dairy products. Farmers should diversify more in 1949, get out of debt, putting surplus money into savings and prepare for real trouble some day

10. The supply of certain vegetables and fruits should increase during 1949. The price of these should fall off, barring some weather, insect or blight catastrophe.

11. Poultry and dairy products will also increase in volume during 1949, prices averaging less than 1948 prices.

1949 IN A NUTSHELL

General Business:	Off 5%	Automobiles:	Up 10%
National Income:	Off 5%	Building and Construct.:	Off 20%
Farm Income:	Off 15%	Lumber:	Off 5%
Bituminous Coal:	Off 5%	Foreign Trade:	Up 5%
Anthracite:	Off 10%	Airline Pass. Miles:	Up 10%
Crude Oil Production:	Up 3%	Military Activities
Steel Output:	Up 5%	Including Aircraft:	Up 50%
Retail Trade:	Off 5% to 10%

12. Farmers will continue to work for extensions of subsidies. The above four Farm Forecasts assume normal weather. A drought could upset these.

TAXES

13. The Federal Budget will not be decreased during 1949.

14. Federal taxes will not be decreased during 1949, but there may be some readjustments to encourage venture capital and to ease the tax burden on wages.

15. We forecast that an attempt will be made by some cities to put ceilings upon real estate taxes or enact local sales taxes.

16. The long-term capital gains tax of 25 per cent will remain unchanged.

RETAIL TRADE

17. Goods on counters will be of better grade in 1949.

18. There will be many "markdown sales" of inferior quality goods. Curbs on installment buying will continue.

19. The dollar value of all retail sales in 1949 should about equal that of 1948, perhaps off 5%.

20. The unit volume of retail sales will be less in 1949 than in 1948.

FOREIGN TRADE

21. Our foreign trade will remain about the same. We shall continue to help Europe; but it will be on a more efficient basis.

22. More foreign credits will be granted during 1949; but these mostly will be direct to business concerns.

23. There will be greater competition from other countries in legitimate foreign trade where the credit is good.

24. Throughout 1949 war talk will continue; but no real World War III will start in 1949. WAR PREPARATIONS WILL CONTINUE.

LABOR OUTLOOK

25. Good business depends upon two things: (1) reasonable wages and (2) reasonable prices. When both of these factors are in balance there is good business; but when they get out of balance, look for trouble. Low prices are of little help when people have insufficient wages with which to buy; but it is also true that good wages are of little use if prices are too high for people to buy. The Taft-Hartley Law will be repealed or amended to encourage free speech, union protection and increased production.

26. The income of wageworkers must increase before an advance in prices. Contrariwise, too high prices always precede a decline in employment and wages. This downward cycle leading to unemployment may begin in 1949. Much depends upon crops and weather.

27. Labor leaders who get increased wage rates usually get re-elected, while those who do not get wage increases are liable to be defeated. Hence, labor leaders have naturally kept urging higher wages, although they may feel in their hearts that wages are high enough for the time being. We forecast that 1949 will see some change of attitude in this regard and that wise leaders will be more interested in preventing the "bust."

28. If wages are too high, organized labor is the first to be laid off when business declines. Unorganized workers have the steadiest jobs and will go through 1949 without losing their positions.

29. Some labor leaders will, during 1949, work for pension systems and sick benefits. This would be a conservative program for employers who can afford to do it, but many employers cannot afford even these benefits at this time. Both employers and wageworkers will some day unite in urging a program which will give steady work throughout the year. This is the best hope for lower building costs. Bricklayers, painters and carpenters are criticized today for doing such a small amount of work, but we must remember the many days when they are unable to work due to weather and other conditions.

INFLATION

30. Inflation (high prices) comes when consumption exceeds production. This means that inflation can be checked only by increasing production or by reducing the money supply. The job of getting prices down today depends, therefore, upon what management and labor produce per hour. We believe that wage increases during 1949 will be accompanied by a corresponding increase in the per hour

HST Denies Barkley Sent On 'Mission'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—President Truman denied today that he sent Vice President-elect Barkley to Europe on a special mission to pave the way for an understanding with the Russians.

Barkley returned today from Europe. He spent Christmas with the American airmen manning the airlift to Berlin.

At a Truman news conference, a reporter remarked there was a rumor that Barkley carried special credentials for a conference with a Soviet representative, with a view to settling Russo-American differences.

Rumor Is Denied

Isn't it remarkable, the President quipped, to what extent speculation can go. No, he said, Barkley did not do that.

The President repeated with emphasis his recent assertion that certain Russian leaders are "exceedingly anxious" for an understanding with the United States. But he kept his earlier silence on their identity.

Correspondents bombarded Mr. Truman about this remark, made in a Kansas City speech. Asked if he had been in contact with any of these leaders, he said he had not.

To another question, he replied that he had intended in Missouri to emphasize two points equally:

First, the differences within the Soviet regime; and second, Russia's failure to keep her commitments.

Attacking Soviet foreign policy in his Kansas City speech, he said that "contracts are not sacred with the Soviet government."

Many Issues Touched

Today's news conference touched on several foreign policy issues. The President was asked what he thought of a Chinese Communist proclamation naming 45 Chinese Nationalist government leaders, including Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, as "war criminals."

Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett answered that question properly, Mr. Truman said, when he labeled the Communist charge as "unthinkable."

Chiang is the fully elected head of his government and is so re-

Dutch Push Fight To Beat Deadline

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 30. (AP)—The Dutch tightened their hold on oil and rubber rich Sumatra today after announcing capture of the only remaining economically important area.

"Resistance was negligible," the Dutch army communique said in announcing the capture of the Djambi oil fields in southern Sumatra Wednesday.

The "police action" against the Indonesian republic was geared to meet a time table. The Dutch have occupied all major Republican cities in Java and have linked many of them. They have informed the United Nations Security Council they will order a cease-fire in Java at midnight tomorrow.

May Claim All Java

On Sumatra—the most valuable natural resources area of the Indies—they are rushing to link Dutch-held territory in the north and south. Their time table calls for a cease-fire in Sumatra two or three days after Java.

The Dutch always have claimed occupation not only of places where their troops actually are but also of territory between their columns. Inasmuch as their columns now lace Java it appeared likely they would claim control of all the island by the deadline. The same may be true in Sumatra.

Soviet 'Atom Bomb' Was Meteor Fall, Astronomers Claim

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 30.—The "atom bomb" Russia was rumored to have tested in Siberia last year may have been one of the world's greatest meteors.

It was a shooting star that fell in the form of a rain of iron. It cut down thousands of trees in a forest and pitted the earth with hundreds of little craters over scores of square miles.

Scientist Reveals Meteor

The news of this meteor was given to the American Astronomical society tonight by Dr. Otto Struve, president. He said he had found the first news of it in a report printed in Russian. It fell on a February forenoon in 1947. Dr. Struve said the luminous

House Group Faces Curbs

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. — To clear the road for the Truman program, Democratic leaders of Congress were reported to have decided today to cut down the power of the House Rules committee to block legislation.

The decision, subject to a vote of the House, was made at a meeting of Democratic leaders in the office of Rep. Sam Rayburn, the shiny-bald Texan who is ticketed to become speaker when the House organizes Monday.

Purpose Is Clear

The leadership also decided to seek appointment of a committee which would recommend a "code of fair treatment" for witnesses testifying to House committees.

The purpose behind the proposed reduction in the rules committee's powers was obvious: to smooth the way for labor, social welfare and civil rights legislation expected to be asked by President Truman.

Some similar bills have come to a dead end in the rules committee.

In theory, that 12-member body performs a function similar to that of a train dispatcher. It looks over the legislative situation on the floor and decides what bills should get the right-of-way on a particular day or week of a session. The bills come to it only after being cleared by a regular legislative committee.

Often Blocked Bills

In practice, however, there have been frequent complaints that the rules committee overstepepd its authority, holding back legislation or pushing it ahead according to the personal preferences of the 12 members. In some instances, southern Democratic members teamed with Republicans on the committee to block a measure.

Rep. Sabath (D-Ill), veteran of

Warmer Weather Is Forecast For Area

Though Lubbock and the South Plains may not be able to usher in the New Year in shirt sleeves tonight, the weatherman said last night that mostly fair skies are in store for today and again Saturday, with warmer temperatures today.

No great temperature changes are due Saturday over the previous day, he said. He expects a low this morning of about 27 degrees, with a high this afternoon in the low or mid 50's. Saturday's temperatures should be about the same.

Meanwhile, Thursday morning temperatures skidded down to 18 degrees—the lowest here so far this winter, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau station north of Lubbock. Thursday's high was an even 50 degrees.

An Associated Press dispatch Thursday night reported that fair and warmer weather also was in store for New Year's revelers in other parts of the state.

Ohio Senator Confident Of Holding Post

By FREDERICK TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. — Twelve insurgent Republican senators decided tonight to fight re-election of Sen. Taft, Ohio, as GOP Senate policy chairman and to support Sen. Lodge, Mass., for the key post.

The action, an open declaration of war between the Senate GOP regulars and the so-called Republican "young turks," came on the heels of Taft's announcement he would seek re-election.

Taft said he was "confident" he would be re-named to the top policy spot in GOP Senate councils.

Sen. Ives (R-NY), leader of the oust-Taft movement, said there was nothing "personal" in the decision, but that the GOP needs "some jet propulsion" on Capitol Hill.

Ives, speaking for the insurgents, told reporters he probably would offer Lodge's candidacy when all 42 Senate Republicans meet in conference Monday to elect officers for the 81st Congress.

Taft struck back quickly at the move to unseat him, predicting his re-election by a "substantial majority." The Ohioan asked how his 12 opponents found his program unsatisfactory. Taft declared:

"The group of senators who have met failed to state any criticism of the Senate Republican program during the last two years as guided by the policy committee of which I have been chairman. In fact, they nearly all supported it whole-heartedly. Nor do they now indicate any respect in which they wish to change that policy."

Lodge described the action of the insurgent group as representing "an effort to provide a more modern-minded philosophy and a more up-to-date approach."

Ives, close friend of defeated GOP presidential candidate Dewey, said he had not discussed the move with the New York governor.

Taft was Dewey's closest opponent for the presidential nomination at the GOP national convention in Philadelphia last June.

Officers Expect 'Rush' Tonight

An unusually quiet day and night was observed yesterday in law enforcement circles, but officers were apprehensive lest the lack of law violations reported might signify the "calm before the storm."

In the meanwhile, officials were clearing up loose ends on investigation of previously reported offenses, and getting ready for the expected New Year's Eve rush.

W. Summerlin of Moore's Bonded patrol reported to police there had been a burglary of Plamor Bowling alley, at 1011 Fourteenth. Subsequent investigation disclosed that the following property had been removed from the place: Six cartons of candy, a bowling bag, $6 in "change" from a coke machine, four pairs of women's and two pairs of men's bowling shoes.

$500 Bond Set

A 35mm camera in a leather case was reported stolen from the automobile here of Charles G. Bragg of Tahoka route 5. It was valued at $70.

Bond of $500 was posted by Curtis E. Wilson, about 22, who waived examining trial before C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, on a charge of desertion of two minor children.

A federal hearing was given to Roy Eugene Cain, 25, of Shallowater route 1 on a government charge of sale of property mortgaged to the government. The man was arrested northwest of Lubbock by C. E. Luce, deputy U. S. marshal.

The charge, it was said, was filed in the Paris division of the Eastern Federal district of Texas. Property allegedly involved was cotton. An indictment subsequently was returned. Mrs. Olive Fluke,

Wedding Ceremony Read At First Methodist Church

In a double ring wedding ceremony performed at First Methodist church Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Miss Lillian Surovik, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Surovik of 3013 Twenty-ninth, became the bride of John F. Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Griffin of Slaton. Dr. H. I. Robinson performed the ceremony before an altar banked with gladioli and greenery. Candles burned in candelabra.

Mrs. Mamie I. Neal, organist, played traditional wedding marches and accompanied Mrs. Lillian Butler as she sang "Thou Art Like Unto a Flower" and "The Wedding Prayer." During the ceremony the organist offered "O Perfect Love."

Escorted By Father

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin designed with a nylon net yoke outlined with an off-shoulder satin drape, long sleeves ending in points over the hands and a long fitted bodice. Her full skirt extended into a cathedral length train. The The bride's two-tiered fingertip veil edged with Chantilly lace shaped coronet of pearlized orange blossoms. She wore a strand of pearls, gift from the bridegroom, and carried a white Bible topped with talisman roses showered with stephanotis and white satin streamers.

Mrs. E. J. Hewlett of Wilson, sister of the bride and matron of honor, wore a pale blue satin dress styled with a long bodice, sweetheart neckline and a full gathered skirt. Her bouquet was of yellow roses. The bridesmaids, Mrs. C. M. Gaddy, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. George Arthur, wore yellow taffeta dresses fashioned after Mrs. Hewlett's. Their bouquets were of light blue carnations.

Claudia Gaddy, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Her pink taffeta dress was made with a full skirt with deep ruffles at the hemline.

Brother Is Best Man

Clester Griffin of Slaton, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and Walter W. Surovik, brother of the bride, and George Arthur were ushers. Judson and Bruce Hewlett of Wilson, nephews of the bride, lighted candles.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Assisting with the hospitalities were parents members of the wedding party and Mrs. Walter W. Surovik, jr., Miss Rose Kahlich of Slaton and Miss Estell Simek. Baskets of gladioli decorated receiving rooms and the bride's table which was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by tapers.

Out-of-town guests were from Slaton, Wilson, Littlefield, Levelland, Anton, Fort Worth and Hereford.

For a wedding trip to Denver, Colo., the bride wore a pink gabardine suit with brown accessories. After Jan. 17, the couple will be at home at Slaton, Rt. 1, where Mr. Griffin is engaged in farming. He is a graduate of Cooper High school. Mrs. Griffin, a graduate of Anton High school, has been purchasing clerk in the supply division of the Regional Veterans administration.

Double Ring Vows Read

Miss Helen Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Duncan of Brownfield, and Lee Roy Joiner, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Joiner of Bronco, N. M., were married Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Duncan home. Rev. C. A. Duncan, uncle of the bride, performed a double ring ceremony before an altar arrangement of pink gladioli and palms.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an autumn brown dress designed with a high neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her accessories were in gold and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations on a white Bible. For something borrowed, she wore a strand of pearls belonging to Mrs. Ira Seaton; for good luck, she wore a penny in her shoe; and for something old, she wore a bracelet belonging to the matron of honor, Mrs. I. L. Smyth.

The attendant, sister of the bride, wore a black crepe dress with a white gladioli corsage. Wayn Moorehead, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Parents of the bride and bridegroom, members of the wedding party and Mrs. Seaton assisted with hospitalities at the reception held following the ceremony. A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, was served.

Mrs. Joiner is a graduate of Wellman High school and for the past two years has been employed at the telephone exchange in Brownfield. Mr. Joiner is a graduate of Plains High school and is employed in Sundown where the couple will be at home.

Court Fight Looms Over Adopted Child

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 30. (AP) — The foster parents of three-year-old Vicki Jeanne Snyder today awaited the child's return from California and promised court action, if necessary, to keep her.

Meanwhile, legal machinery was put in motion to extradite the little girl's mother and her second husband from California to face charges that they kidnaped Vicki.

The couple, Mr. and Mrs. John Braget, of Tacoma, Wash., surrendered the child to Los Angeles police last Tuesday, ending a 10-day search that began when Vicki was reported missing by Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Snyder, the tot's paternal grandparents.

Los Angeles police said Mrs. Braget indicated she would fight to regain custody of her daughter. She was quoted by police Capt. W. L. Browning as saying she was "coerced" into signing adoption papers.

Mr. and Mrs. Snyder, however, took issue with that statement, maintaining they had adopted Vicki when she was four months old.

"I don't see how she can say that," Mrs. Snyder said. "If she does anything, we'll go to court. If any pressure was brought to bear, it was by someone else and not by us."

Pan American Signs Contract Granting Union Ten Cent Raise

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (U.P.) —A new contract providing a 10-cent hourly wage increase for 4,000 Pan-American Airways ground crew workers throughout the country was signed today by the airline and the Transport Workers union, CIO.

The company estimated the contract would increase the payroll by $1,000,000 in 1949. It raises the average hourly wage from $1.49 to $1.59, a Pan American spokesman said.

SCIENCE TAKES BIG STEP

Isolation Of Common Cold Virus Spurs Efforts To Develop Cure

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.— The National Institute of Health announced tonight it has isolated a common cold virus and is now concentrating on a method of bringing to an end one of man's most common scourges.

The isolation of the virus, named MR-1, was accomplished by Dr. Leon T. Atlas and scientist George A. Hottle after two years of painstaking research at the institute's laboratories in nearby Bethesda, Md.

Dr. Atlas told newsmen that isolation of the virus opens the way to work on remedial research in the continuing effort to wipe out the common cold.

He pointed out that now that a common cold virus has been found, doctors and scientists can work on methods of killing the virus and the disease or diseases it may cause. He added:

Minor Views

"The virus we have found is named MR-1 to denote it as minor respiratory virus no. 1, because there may be other viruses which are also responsible for respiratory illnesses."

The doctor and scientist have been trying to track down the common cold virus since December, 1946. Atlas reported that it was not until early this year that they hit upon the present method of developing the virus, which is grown in chicken eggs.

At the same time, the research workers developed a positive test for identification of the common cold virus and are able to tell down to a minute fraction just how much of a given virus is needed to commute a common cold to a human being.

Explains Experiment

Dr. Atlas explaining that when the virus is placed in a certain acid (tryptophane-perchloride) a reddish brown color is produced. He said that the darker the color, the stronger the virus that is being tested.

The research worker was careful to emphasize that no chemical agents have yet been found which will stop or prevent the common cold virus from developing.

He said that in his experiments on volunteers from nearby prisons he found that no drugs had any effect in stopping the course of the common cold once it has started.

He declared that some drugs did offer mechanical relief in that they relieved for short periods nose congestion or sinus affliction. He pointed out, however, that this was purely mechanical relief and had no effect on stopping the cold.

Definite Pattern

He said that his experiments with volunteers also established the fact that common colds run a definite course through all human beings. He explained:

"We were surprised to find that the common cold followed a definite disease pattern. For instance, within a few hours after contracting the cold, various patients would have exactly the same symptons.

"The colds ran eight to ten days in all the humans tested."

Dr. Atlas said that he would continue to use volunteers in his studies now that the virus had been isolated in order to carry the work forward.

Investigate Phases

He declared the human volunteer studies remain necessary in order to see if it is possible to develop other viruses; to study the methods by which the common cold is transferred from one person to another; to study the course of the disease produced by the virus, and to study the recurrence factors of the disease.

The research worker said that results from these tests will show whether it is possible to develop a serum to combat or cure the cold, or whether some other method may be effective. He asserted:

"I can't make too emphatic, however, that we do not know if a vaccine can be perfected which would prevent colds through inoculation. This will be tried in the course of our experiments."

Editor Lists Berlin Airlift As Major News Event Among World's Top Stories Of 1948

General public awakening to the problems of water supply municipal and otherwise and to the needs for soil conservation, a rebirth of cordial relations and cooperation between the city and the college (Texas Tech), and an opportunity to assay prospective benefits of the traffic dispersal system, were pointed out as among the major news events locally in 1948 by Chas. A. Guy, editor of the Avalanche-Journal, in an address before the Kiwanis club Thursday at Hotel Lubbock.

Speaking on the march of news events during the year, Guy touched on what he called major news, international, national, and local, and relationship of these events to the South Plains and to the world.

Airlift Decision First

He listed four international events as outstanding and of particular importance. First of these was the U. S. government decision to operate the Berlin air lift, and its success which he believes means much to the prospect of world peace.

Another he said was the slow collapse of China, where freedom-loving people are losing their foothold, through which Russia would gain access to shorter supply lines than the U. S. in event of war.

The third and fourth events he linked together, naming them as the organization and activation of a military alliance in western Europe, and the decision to rearm western Europe with U. S. supplies and equipment.

National Events Cited

Nationally, Guy listed as of major importance the recapture of Congress by the Democrats, from whom "we can expect a continuation of high taxes and heavy spending;" the "amazing" election of President Truman; the spy investigation and its ramifications; and the collapse of the candidacy of Henry Wallace, which he believes will send the Communist organization in the U. S. back underground.

On the local scene Guy saw a number of events of major importance, in addition to the traffic dispersal system, "town and gown" relations, and water.

One was the return of the South Plains Army Air field to city ownership, which, he said, has already brought assurance of one major industry, and probability of three to five others.

Base To Be Reactivated

Linked also in this connection was the promised reactivation of the Lubbock Air Force base west of the city, which he believes will be on a permanent basis that will bring to the city a payroll and general expenditure of probably $9,000,000 annually.

Regarding water, Guy told the club that deep tests by the city have revealed a strata of abundant water at from 900 to 1,100 feet, but one bad phase of this is that the water has a yet-undetermined content of salt.

He believes the Canadian river project will serve as a major step toward solution of the water problem for municipalities in the area.

The speaker was introduced by Roy Bass, program chairman, substituting for Robt. J. Allen, who was out of the city. Invocation was by J. Tillman Carter.

Club President L. E. Davis, presiding at his final meeting before surrendering the gavel to Fred Sparks, incoming president, said the Girl Scout project fund now totals $5,389.38 toward a goal of $10,000.

The club is to hold its annual Ladies night next Thursday night at the hotel, and the regular noon luncheon will not be held next week.

Lost Wallet Leads To Arrest Of Youth On Theft Charge

CARTHAGE, Dec 30. (AP) — A young man reported to Sheriff Corbit Akins today that his wallet, containing $37, had been stolen.

The name he gave—Jack Gardner — clicked in the sheriff's memory. Going through his files, Akins found a pickup request for Clifton Scott Gardner, alias Jack Gardner, 19, wanted on an automobile theft charge at Vidalia, La.

Akins said the youth admitted under questioning that he was the man wanted. The sheriff's investigation also turned up an empty mony sack in Gerner's hotel room. He said Louisiana authorities told him it had contained $260 taken in a robbery from a Port Arthur, Texas, plumbing company.

Gardner waived extradition proceedings and was returned to Louisiana today.

Lawyer Expects Appeals Court To Correct Ybarbo Trial 'Error'

FRANKFURT, Dec. 30. (U.P.)— Counsel for Mrs. Wilma Ybarbo said today that the military government appelant court "must correct the gross error" committed by the military court which sentenced her to 20 years in prison for killing her sergeant-husband.

Defense counsel Stanley Gaines said that he believed any government investigation of the trial of the Malden, Mass., housewife would be premature at this stage.

He was commenting on the request of Defense Secretary James V. Forrestal that the case be "looked into."

"I think any investigation would be premature," he said. "I am sure that any injustice that has been done will be eliminated by the court of appeals."

Four Army Officers Receive Greek Military Decorations

ARGOS ORESTIKON, Western Macedonia, Dec. 30. (AP) — Four officers of the U. S. Army have been awarded Greek war crosses for their services with the First Mountain division.

Presentation of the awards was made by First Division commander Maj. Gen. Athanassios Pentzopoulos at a public ceremony witnessed by virtually the entire population of this little town situated only a few miles from guerrilla-controlled territory.

Those decorated include: Lt. Col. Robert G. Turner, 525 Jefferson Ave., Paris, Ill.; Maj. James F. Nagle, route 42, El Paso, Tex.; Maj. Julio Chiaramonte, 300 East Hill St., Gallup, New Mex.; and Maj. Clarence A. Hickey, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Truman Is Urged To 'Protect' Negroes Attending Inauguration

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (U.P.)— The National Negro council today asked President Truman to assure negroes coming here for his inauguration that they will not be deprived of their civil rights while in the capital.

"We believe such action by the President now," the council said, "may well be calculated to forestall any serious racial incidents."

In a telegram signed by director Edgar G. Brown, the council asked the President immediately to "order the Justice department, district commissioners, and police department to protect negroes in Washington as well as all other American citizens from denial of their constitutional rights."

The council told the President that "tens of thousands of negroes who were most active in support of the President in the November election throughout the country, especially in California, Illinois, and Ohio," expect to come here for his inauguration Jan. 20.

Smoke May Or May Not Mean Blaze, Firemen Discover

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 30. (AP) —Where there's smoke, sometimes there's a false alarm, but wait—several persons called the fire department this morning to report smoke coming from a woodworking plant.

Three companies of firemen answered the call and found it was not smoke, but steam rising from a lumber kiln in sub-freezing weather.

Two hours later the firemen were called back.

It was the same kiln and the smoke was real. Fire damage was estimated at $200.

Motorists Advised To Change Auto Oil Every 4,000 Miles

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (U.P.)— A government agency advised motorists today that it isn't necessary to change the oil in cars, trucks and buses at intervals of less than 4,000 miles.

The treasury's bureau of federal supply said everyone could save money and stretch out the country's oil reserves by less frequent oil changes.

Urges Longer Use

It recommended that all federal agencies switch to the 4,000-mile oil change in the operation of government vehicles.

Civilian government agencies operate 21,000 passenger cars and about 50,000 trucks and buses.

The bureau, central federal purchasing agency, said studies by a technical committee on lubricants show that in many cases "oil is wasted by changing frequently."

Generally speaking, the 4,000-mile interval is safe, if well-supervised maintenace is provided, the committee said.

The technical group, composed of representatives of federal agencies which use large amounts of oil, said the new procedure would save 1,500,000 gallons of strategic oil each year — worth about $500,000.

No standard policy is now in effect for oil changes at government garages, a buerau spokesman said, but the oil industry has recommended changes every 1,000 to 1,500 miles.

The committee warned that a shorter oil-change interval is desirable in cold weather, in sandy and dusty areas and where "stop and go driving is the rule."

Efficient oil filters are highly desirable the committee said, and engines should be maintained under a regular schedule of corrective and preventative maintenance.

The committee recommended that heavy construction equipment and diesel power machinery be lubricated according to manufacturer's instructions or a procedure developed for the particular type of equipment.

Operation Error In U. S. Hospital Probed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)— District of Columbia officials are investigating an operation performed Tuesday at the government-owned Glenn Dale sanitorium in which a surgeon removed ribs from the wrong side of a tubercular woman's chest.

The woman, whose name was withheld, was reported in a serious condition but Glenn Dale officials said her chances of recovery are good.

Doctor Admits Error

They said her left lung was tubercular but the operation, preliminary to collapsing of a lung, was performed on the right side, unaffected by the disease.

Dr. Frank Ashburn, local chest specialist, performed the operation following a schedule made out by Dr. James S. Conant, chief of surgery at the hospital. They said x-rays were in the operating room at the time.

Dr. Conant said "It was my fault. I scheduled it wrong."

"There is really nothing to hide,' Dr. Ashburn told a reporter, adding that the schedule had been on file for a week and no one noticed the error.

He said the right lung actually was not collapsed because such operations are performed in stages. He explained that he removed the top two and a half ribs to make the lung accessible for later operations.

Dr. Ashburn, 33, is a graduate of the University of Texas medical school and a native of Dallas. He served at Bethesda, Md., naval hospital for three and a half years during the war. Later, he studied at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., and then returned to private practice here.

Federal Allocation Of Steel Is Hinted; 1948 Output Hits Peak

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 30. (AP)—American steel mills broke all peace-time production records this year. But their inability to meet a howling demand may confront them with a dreaded spectre—compulsory allocations.

President Truman hasn't said he'll ask the 81st Congress for power to control the flow of steel from mills to customers but producers think 1949 will bring new attempts to earmark part of their output for uses the government deems essential.

The 1948 production is estimated by various sources at 885,000,000 tons. That's only 1,000,000 tons less than the all-time high set in the war year of 1944 when mills poured out steel regardless of needed repairs to furnaces and other equipment. Production rates hovered around 98 percent of theoretical capacity.

Should Reach Peak

Shipments of finished steel probably will reach 65,700,000 tons, 88 percent more than the 1939 output and an all-time peak.

Although steel profits climbed in 1948, steel executives complained of rising costs of materials and said fat earnings were necessary to offset mounting costs in the future. Size of the earnings stirred speculation over a possible demand for a "fourth round" of wage boosts next spring.

One of the year's highlights was steel's decision to abandon the traditional practice of absorbing part of freight charges. Known as the "basing point" system, that pricing policy was dropped last July in line with a U. S. Supreme court decision.

Steel prices during the year showed strong increases.

Gold-Trimmed Boats Readied For Sheik

LONG BEACH, Calif., Dec. 30 (AP)— A couple of gold-trimmed mystery boats—which an Arabian sheik may or may not receive as gifts—were given trial runs here this week, it was learned today.

The craft are plushy, mahogany planked 26-foot speedboats with ultra-expensive fittings and a gold leaf trim on the varnish work.

Capt. T. C. Conwell representing American oil interests, confirmed that they are part of a deal in negotiating for an oil lease with the sheik of Kuwait, ruler of a small Arabian country at the northwest corner of the Persian gulf.

Other sources said the speedboats, costing $26,000 for the two, are to be given to the sheik as a bonus if he signs an oil lease with a group of unidentified American companies.

The Gulf Oil corporation now has interests in Kuwait but it will be the first drilling for the group of American companies if they succeed in obtaining the lease they are now negotiating.

FUGITIVE GIVES UP

FORT WORTH, Dec. 30. (AP)—A shivering, six-foot, 18-year-old youth, Dowell Jackson Porter, surrendered at police headquarters here early today after running out of money on a hitchhiking trip and said he was a two-year fugitive from a federal reformatory at Kearney, Neb.

Pvt. John Ford Completes Radio Operation Course At Camp Hood

CAMP HOOD, Texas. — Pvt. Johnny G. Ford, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Ford of Lubbock, recently completed a nine-week course in radio operation and signal procedure at the Radio Operators School of the "Hell on Wheels" 2d Armored Division at Camp Hood, Texas.

The Division Radio Operators school was opened under the direction of Major Clyde B. Lenham, Division Signal Officer, to meet the increasing demand for highly skilled radio operators due to the rapid expansion of the U. S. Army and the 2d Armored Division.

The operators course covered cryptographic procedure, radio voice procedure, radio code procedure, international Morse code, air-ground communications, message center procedure and characteristics of armored force radio.

Pvt. Ford is assigned to Co. "C" of the 41st Armored Infantry Battalion and will serve as a radio operator there.

Aid For Transit Systems Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—A House committee today recommended continuing government aid to keep all forms of the nation's transport system in sound condition and proper co-ordination.

In another of two progress reports, the House Interstate Commerce committee reversed an earlier prediction that petroleum supplies would be adequate through 1948 and 1949.

The committee recommended further study by Congress of the problems of fuel conservation and co-ordination of the transport system—rail, highway, air, water and pipeline.

It emphasized national security aspects of fuel and transportation resources and the need for long-range government policies governing both.

As for its fuel investigations, the committee report said:

"Your committee has not yet been given that degree of assurance as to the future which would permit it now to view with any assurance our petroleum and general fuel situation."

The committee estimated that "a period of national emergency" would call for 2,000,000 barrels of petroleum per day more than present supplies could make available. It said it believes this country should draw more heavily on foreign fields, and conserve the supplies "in the ground in the United States."

Nation's Fire Loss Shows Slight Hike

BOSTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Fires branded a $725,000,000 record loss across North America in 1948 but took fewer lives than in other years, a survey showed today.

The year's total fire loss was 3 per cent over 1947 according to a report by Percy Bugbee, general manager of the National Fire Protection association, non-profit international fire control organization.

For the United States and Canada Bugbee listed 32 fires causing indlvidual loss of $1,000,000 or more and 243 others topping the $250,000. mark

He added, however:

"There were no loss of life fire disasters in 1948 to compare with the hotel fire epidemic of 1946 or the Texas City disaster of 1947."

Bugbee noted conflagrations abroad which took 1,500 lives after an earthquake at Fukui, Japan, and 240 lives in the I. G. Farben explosion in Ludwigshafen, Germany.

Air Force Orders 23 New Planes To Be Put On Berlin Airlift

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—The Air Force said today that it is ordering 23 Boeing C-97 strato-freighters to replace cargo planes wearing out in the Berlin airlift.

The planes will cost $39,422,000. Their purchase was authorized by President Truman.

Boeing has not completed delivery on all of 37 previously ordered strato-freighters. An Air Force spokesman estimated deliveries under the new contract would not start for "several months."

HISTORIAN'S REPORT DENIED

Wainwright Defends Actions Of General Who Surrendered Bataan

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 30. (AP) — General Jonathan M. Wainwright, retired defender of the Philippines, denied today a historian's report that surrender of Bataan violated his and General Douglas MacArthur's orders.

Wainwright said Lt. Gen. Edward P. King, in a hopeless position, had surrendered his forces to the Japanese in April, 1942, before he could receive the orders.

The historian, Dr. Louis Morton, was quoted in Seattle yesterday as saying that King surrendered in violation of specific orders from Wainwright. Morton, Army historian for the Pacific section, spoke to a historical association meeting.

Lanky General Wainwright, who retired from the Army last year, received the press today in the office of an insurance firm he now heads.

General Draws Map

He drew a map of Bataan and Manila bay on a piece of paper and illustrated how King's decimated troops defending Bataan in two corps abreast were smashed on the East, or second corps, front. He showed how Japanese Imperial troops advanced to the tip of the peninsula, cutting off supplies behind the first corps, making hopeless further defense on the China Sea side.

He gave this account of the surrender:

"Early in the morning of April 9, 1942, Col. Jesse Traywick was duty officer on the rock of Corregidor. He had been on duty all night. He came to me and said 'General King is going to surrender Bataan.'

"I said, 'Trawick, you tell him that I prohibit that.'

Position Hopeless

"Make this plain," Wainwright told a reporter today, "I knew that King's position was hopeless but I had positive orders from General Douglas MacArthur, then in Australia, in which General MacArthur had radioed, and these were his exact words: "There must be no thought of surrender. You will attack."

"I transmitted these orders to Gen. King, well knowing he could not attack. But Col. Traywick came back to me and said 'it is too late. Gen. King has already sent an officer forward with the white flag.'

"General King had sent the officer with the white flag before he got direct orders from me to hold Bataan. He absolutely did not disobey me. I want to see no aspersion cast upon General King. He is a gallant soldier, a brave and courageous man and a fine gentleman. It makes me very angry to hear any criticism of him.

Keep Record Straight

"My action has been approved by the Presidnt of the United States and the public and I was awarded the congressional medal of honor for it. I am not going to do anything about this matter aside from keeping the record straight. I don't intend to make any other statements unless Morton makes another statement."

At Sea Island, Ga., General King, also now retired, agreed with Wainwright's account.

"I also appreciate very much has remarks concerning me," King said.

"I also know Dr. Morton personally," King added. "I have every confidence in and admiration for him as a historian. My suspicion is that any misunderstanding is due to a condensation of what Dr. Morton has said. I am satisfied he never said anything to cast aspersion on me."

Young Objector Is Again Tripped Up By Draft Laws

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—The wheel of chance turned full today for Gregory Tabberer, a 25-year-old conscientious objector to military service.

He served three years in federal prison during World War II for refusal to accept military service.

Today, the peacetime draft caught up with him. Tabberer, whose home is Poteet, passed his physical examination. Time came for him to take the oath, and Tabberer refused.

He was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner P. A. Lockhart and held in $2,000 bond, awaiting grand jury action.

Tabberer said he was a member of the Jehovah Witness sect and that military duty would be contrary to the religious principles he holds sacred.

San Angelo Youth Gets Job After Saving Man's Life

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 30. (AP) —Marvin Mills of San Angelo—hitchhiking to visit his sick mother at Arkansas City—shivered outside a service station in northwest Oklahoma City early tolay.

The night attendant, Emil Holt, invited the 20-year-old Mills inside to warm up. Then the youth went outside.

After a half hour's wait and still no car he glanced inside. Holt was staggering. Then the 44-year old attendant fell. Mills ran inside. Fumes from a car on which Holt had been working in an adjoining garage filled the station.

Mills called police. Holt was taken to a hospital. Mills, who said he had worked in gasoline service stations, handled the station until the owner, R. C. Taylor, came. Then he caught a ride headed north.

But Taylor said:

"He's coming back. He's got a job with us. I just hired him."

Soviet General And 17 Others Reported Dead In Train Wreck

BERLIN, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—Allied authorities said today they had received reports that a Soviet general and 17 other persons were killed when the Berlin-Moscow express was derailed near Warsaw last Friday.

Other important Russian figures and personages from the Soviet satellite nations were believed to be among the dead. Ten persons also were injured, according to these reports.

Western authorities said they believed the train had been sabotaged by Polish partisans. The train was derailed seven miles west of Lowics, a station 50 miles west of Rwarsaw.

WAR DEAD ARRIVE

Duchess Defies Franco's Court

MADRID, Dec. 30. (U.P.) — A pretty duchess strode imperiously into a military court today and candidly admitted anti-Franco activity.

The prosecutor demanded that the Duchess of Valencia, 37-year-old Monarchist, and an alleged associate be sentenced to three years in prison for trying to undermine the Franco government.

She was charged specifically with writing Monarchist propaganda, which she admitted, organizing Monarchist meetings and having a pistol and Communist literature in her home.

Defends Activities

"I'll continue to invite guests to my home whenever I choose," she snapped with a toss of her head. The court reprimanded her.

She said gatherings in her home, denounced by the prosecution as anti-Franco in nature, were purely social.

As to the pistol, she said that was the gift of Col. Marcias Del Real, a prominent Monarchist officer.

"It never has been used," she said. "I don't know how to use it."

The duchess' dyed auburn hair showed traces of her confinement in the women's prison, but her spirit remained unbroken. She entered the court with a cigaret dangling from her lips. A corsage of yellow roses was pinned to the lapel of her Persian lamb fur coat. She looked pale.

The six judges, who wore military uniforms, retired to consider a verdict after the hour and a half hearing. Some 300 persons attended, chiefly army officers, observers from various embassies and fashionably-dressed Monarchist sympathizers.

Federal Tax Ruling May Hit Jack Benny

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—The Internal Revenue bureau, it was learned today, will issue a ruling that transactions such as the one involving radio comedian Jack Benny's switch from NBC to CBS are subject to personal income taxes rather than the lower capital gains tax.

The ruling will be announced Monday, it was learned. It will not mention Benny specifically because such procedure would be unlawful.

However, it was understood that the bureau will advise Benny in advance by letter.

A spokesman refused to comment on the ruling. But when asked if Benny would be unhappy about it, he said:

"I should think he would be."

The radio comedian recently sold his incorporated show to CBS for $4,000,000. He figured the proceeds would be subject to the 25 per cent capital gains tax. That would mean a net for him of $3,000,000.

But the internal revenue bureau takes the view that the corporation actually is Benny and that he cannot sell himself. So it is set to rule that Benny must pay 77 per cent, the normal tax on $4,000,000.

Benny can, of course, appeal to the U. S. tax court.

USDA Announces Development Of New Sweet Potato For South

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Ten years of experimenting has produced a new sweet potato that promises to boost production in southern states.

Announcing this today the Agriculture department said the new variety has been named the "Whitestar." It was developed from types grown in Hawaii.

The department said the new variety generally outyields triumph and pelican processor, two widely grown varieties of the industrial type.

Westerner Cagers Swamp Dublin 52 To 9 In Opener

Lubbock Combines Smooth Offense With Tight Zone Defense For Win

BROWNWOOD, Dec. 30. (Special)—Lubbock High's smooth-working Westerner cagers combined a dazzling offense with a near-perfect zone defense to swamp the outmanned Dublin quintet, 52-9, here tonight in the opening round of the annual invitational basketball tournament at Howard Payne college.

The tilt was one of the feature clashes of the six first-round meet games unreeled here this afternoon and tonight, as some of the top teams from all areas of the state battled for spots in the championship bracket.

Midland Beats Olney

In another top first-round encounter the Midland Bulldogs of District 3-AA upset defending champion Olney, 44-36, while Brownwood showed unexpected strength in downing Big Spring, 44-34. Other results included a Burkett victory over Cisco, 36-27; Temple rolled to a 30-24 win over Eula; and Odessa dropped Throckmorton from the championship bracket, 23-19.

The Westerners from District 1-AA provided the most impressive exhibition of the opening tussles, however. The Lubbock cagers connected on shots from all angles of the court, and all but swept the Class A Dublin five from the gym. Coach Roy Morris used his regulars only briefly, but the reserves picked up the point-making chores with the same ability and enthusiasm.

Lubbock jumped into a commanding lead early in the setto, on a series of short push shots by Guard Charles Galey and net-swishing set shots from the corner by Forward Jimmy Sexton, as the Westerner zone defense completely baffled the youthful Dublin cagers. Lubbock went ahead at halftime, 26-4.

Westerner Scorers

Forward Neil Sikes and Guards Morris Turner and Bob Rooker sparked the Westerners to a 38-6 margin in the third quarter, as the dazed Dublin five folded up under the fast-breaking attack of the Hub city boys. Final tallies by Guard Tom Cheatam, Center Alvis Bass and Jesse Fullerton boosted the count to 52-9 at the final whistle.

Galey copped high point honors for the tilt, with 16 points on seven field goals and two free shots, and tourney officials agreed that the Lubbock veteran could have set a new individual meet scoring record had he seen more action. Sexton connected for eight points on four field goals, while Blair Hankins notched seven points on three field goals and one charity toss.

Games Set Friday

No Dublin player made more than one field goal.

Four quarter-final games in the championship bracket are scheduled Friday, with Lubbock meeting Midland in a feature encounter at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. Temple's highly-regarded Wildcats tangle with Burkett at 1 o'clock, then the lower bracket play gets underway at 5 o'clock.

Two remaining first-round contests are slated Friday morning, when Pampa's favored Harvesters clash with Gatesville and Laredo battles Goldthwaite.

Quarter-final and semi-final tilts in the consolation bracket are also set Friday, with Cisco meeting Eula, Olney testing Dublin and Big Spring clashing with Throckmorton.

Deacon Eleven Outweighs Bears

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 30. (AP)—Wake Forest's Deacons will hold a slim weight advantage over the Baylor Bears on the basis of probable starting lineups announced today for their Dixie Bowl meeting Saturday.

Deacon Coach Peahead Walker nominated a starting forewall that will weigh in at a 205-pound average. That's four pounds better than the Bears'.

A similar edge will be held by the Wake Forest backfield, whose starters average out at 186. Baylor Coach Bob Woodruff's starting backfield has an 182-pound average.

Adrian Burk, who does most of the Bears' passing and punting, will open at quarterback. In the T-slot for the Deacons will be veteran Tom Feetzer.

Walker is holding his main battery of sophomore Quarterback Carroll Blackerby and End Ded O'Quinn in reserve. Blackerby completed 38 of 78 passes for 598 yards and six touchdowns during the past season.

O'Quinn was the nation's leading pass receiver with 39 catches for 605 yards and six touchdowns.

Woodruff bore down on the Bears today. He sent them through a two-hour drill that included considerable contact work. The Deacons took things considerably easier.

Both will wind up training in light sessions tomorrow at Legion Field, scene of the New Year's Day clash.

ARIZONA PICKED TO WIN

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 30. (INS)—The University of Arizona ruled a seven to ten-point favorite today to win over Drake in the second Annual Salad Bowl football game on New Year's Day.

Bears, Cats Hold Drills

By OWEN CALLIN
INS Sports Writer

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 30 — Northwestern's Wildcats and California's Golden Bears tiptoed through a light practice on the semi-sacred Rose Bowl turf today—their final action before tangling in the annual Pasadena football classic on Saturday.

Northwestern's stalwarts tried out the field first, pelted the pigskin around for a little more than an hour, and then went through 15 minutes of contact work.

Coach Bob Voigts pronounced his guys fit, adding:

"The boys have come up fast for this game since we landed in California. I was a little worried over our lack of practice, but they've come fast and now they're high for this game—perhaps too high."

Cats Go Sightseeing

After their practice the Wildcats went sight-seeing in Hollywood, visiting many of the movie studios and the major tourist attractions.

Coach Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf brought his undefeated Bears up to Pasadena from Riverside and sent them out onto the Rose Bowl field after the Northwestern stalwarts finished. The California club went through practically the same routine, getting the feel of the sod and clashing only cautiously in their final scrimmage.

Both teams will probably be sent through a light signal drill tomorrow, the coaches indicated, but neither Voigts nor Waldorf cared to court injury to valuable players on the eve of the big tussle.

Both the Bears and the Wildcats were at physical peak. Northwestern's flashy passing quarterback, Don Burson, was pronounced ready to go, recovered from a slight arm injury suffered earlier in the week.

Northwestern Favored

Tonight's schedule for the players included a movie—Bob Hope and Jane Russell in "Paleface"—and a radio show, "Command Performance," and then early to bed.

Tomorrow night the coaches will lock their cohorts up in some quiet hotel and bar the doors, Richard.

Oddsmakers are still quoting Northwestern a 7-point favorite. There was no indication that the odds would be changed by game time.

Wendt's Health Worries Miners

EL PASO, Dec. 30. (INS)—The condition of flu-weakened Fred Wendt was the puzzler tonight as Texas Mines prepares to go digging in the Sun Bowl New Year's Day against West Virginia.

Wendt, the blond bomber who topped the nation in ground-gaining while leading the Miners to an 8-1-1 record during the regular season, came down with the flu Tuesday. He was out for practice yesterday and today, but saw little action.

The invading Mountaineers, who enter the fray waving an 8-3 mark, today joined the Miners in the tapering off process. They have been concerned mainly with sharpening their aerial weapon.

Sharpshooters Gain 53-31 Win Over Roughnecks At Boys Club

Jack McLarty talied 14 points to pace the Sharpshooters to an easy 53-31 Senior basketball league triumph over the Roughnecks Thursday at Lubbock Boys club. Billy Bohner topped the losers with 17 points.

In the Junior circuit the Dirty Five, sparked by Mikie Brady's 16 points, chalked up a 45-39 victory over the Dirty Demons. Donnie Washington hit the loop for 16 points for the Demons.

Five Little Devils staged a torrid offensive to drub the Fighting Irish, 63-39, in a Midget loop encounter. Jerry Shipp swished the net for 29 points for the Little Devils, while Jimmie Washington connected for 16 for the Irish.

Donnie Adams tallied three points to lead the Wolverines to a narrow 9-7 win over the Hellcats in a Pee Wee loop tussle. George Jones hit four points for the losers.

Ford, McChesney Pace 49-12 Victory

H-SU Cowboys Win Camellia Bowl Game

LAFAYETTE, La., Dec. 30. (AP)—The Hardin-Simmons university Cowboys out-passed and out rushed the University of Wichita (Kans.) for a 49 to 12 victory in the first annual Camellia Bowl football game today.

Less than 5,000 persons turned out for the game held in Southwestern Louisiana Institute's McNasty stadium. It was a clear, cold day.

The passing combination of Quarterback John Ford to right End Bob McChesney was the backbone of the Texans' offense. Ford's chunking accounted for 223 of the 547 yards gained against the Kansans. McChesney scored four of the Cowboys' seven touchdowns, left Halfback Pat Bailey making two, and left End J. W. Steadman the other. Paul Bailey had a perfect day with seven placements.

Anton Houlik and Harold Reynolds made the Wichita touchdowns.

Hardin-Simmons made 18 first downs to Wichita's 15, and outgained the Kansans 547 to 361. Ford, who tossed all of the Texans' aerials, completed nine out of 14, while Wichita connected with eight out of 15.

Wichita struck first early in the first period, launching a 78-yard sustained drive the first time they got the ball. Eddie Kriwiel tossed 41 yards to Houlik on the first play. Fourteen plays later Houlik went over from the two.

The Cowboys took the Wichita kickoff on the 19 and marched 64 yards in 12 plays for their first score. Bailey going over from the five.

Shortly before the half ended Ford tossed a 33-yard pass to McChesney, who shook into the clear on the Wichita 38 and went on to score.

The first touchdown of the second half came within two minutes of the kickoff when Ford again flipped to McChesney, this time from the 22. A few minutes later Earl Rowan recovered a Wichita fumble and Bailey and Troutman worked the ball back to the Kansans' 20 where it was Ford to McChesney again.

Shrine Gridders Make Final Plans

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30. (INS)—Two coaching staffs applied the final polish today to the All-Stars who will shine in the annual Shrine East-West football sellout in San Francisco New Year's Day.

The grid stars from all sections of the country who play for the benefit of the crippled children Shrine hospitals were set for the clash. Only final warm-up work and more skull practice remained on the training schedule.

The game appeared to be shaping up primarily as a ground battle Columbia Coach Lou Little, who will watch the game, voiced the East's primary threat. He warned:

"They better not give that Lou Kusserow a chance to get loose. He can run."

Kusserow is expected to hold a key position in the T-formation that Co-Coaches Andy Kerr, Tuss McLauchery and Bernie Bierman will throw at the West.

The East squad, rated a 7-point pre-game favorite because of its star-studded backfield and stone wall line, is keyed high and in top physical shape for the classic which the East won last year 40-9.

That's just what head Coach Jeff Gravath was worrying about when he ordered bread removed from the West training table and began a nightly bedcheck.

Cravath knows the hopeful tradition—the East has never won two games in a row—but he's taking no chances with his new men. He thinks they are getting a little too fat and he told them so in a combination scolding and inspirational talk.

The West plans on giving the East a tough defensive problem with its reversion to the old single wing. This was made necessary by lack of an experienced quarterback for the more modern T-formation.

The Easterners—Cravath hopes—have forgotten how to stop this one—maybe.

Ponies Lose Fred Goodwin

DALLAS, Dec. 30 (AP)—Southern Methodist and Oregon come up to the Cotton Bowl game New Year's Day with their football teams in top physical condition except for one man.

SMU has lost its veteran offensive center, Fred Goodwin, because of a torn knee cartilege, but has a strong replacement in Sam Wood, 190 pounds.

To keep the teams at peak both Coaches Jim Aiken of Oregon and Matty Bell of Southern Methodist held only the lightest of drills today.

A bright sun shone out of a cloudless sky with daytime temperatures in the 50's and a continuation of this perfect football weather was forecast for Saturday.

Walker Recovered

Rarely do fast, dazzling teams such as these two go into a big game with all their ball carriers uninjured.

Tenderly Bell checked off the condition of his scampering backfield—Doak Walker, two-time All-America now completely recovered from leg injuries that hampered his play towards the end of the regular seasan; Gil Johnson, the passer; and Kyle Rote and Paul Page, scat backs.

Aiken was just as happy about his own. Norm Van Brocklin, the handsome, slender passer for Oregon rated one of the nation's best; George Bell, a driving back who has made 648 yards in 139 tries; and Johnny McKay, a breakaway runner, are all sound.

Coach Matty Bell admitted the SMU spirit was good, but bolstered his own pessimistic viewpoint by declaring SMU has never won a bowl game (lost to Stanford 7-0 Jan. 1, 1936, in the Rose Bowl, and was tied by Penn State 13-13 last year in the Cotton Bowl) and bemoaned the gamblers who have made SMU favorites by 6½ pins.

BULLDOGS' BOB HORNE TO PLAY

Childress, Plainview All-Star Teams Meet In Irrigation Bowl

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 30. (Special)—Stars of Texas colleges, as well as Texas players enrolled in other parts of the nation, will perform here New Year's Day in the First Annual Irrigation Bowl in Plainview High school stadium.

A group of all-stars from Plainview will collide with another group of all-stars from Childress in a game that promises plenty of action for the football fan. Both teams are organized and have played games this year, Plainview winning four and losing only to the strong Carswell Army Air base eleven, Childress winning both its games.

Large Crowd Forecast

The kickoff at 2:30 p. m. Saturday is expected to be witnessed by a capacity crowd of partisan fans, cheering for some 40 or more West Texas players.

Probably the biggest center of attraction will be Bob Horne of Plainview. Horne formerly performed on District 1-AA gridirons with Bulldog elevens and then went to Annapolis. There he has been sharing quarterbacking duties with Reaves Baysinger for the Navy team.

Henry Loter, Plainview coach, has gathered together several former college and high school players, which he has whipped into a capable machine. In addition, several of the players now are performing for colleges, such as Texas Tech, WTSTC, Hardin-Simmons, Hardin, TCU, Texas A&M, ACC and others.

Charles Ezell of Childress also has reached into the college and ex-college and ex-high school ranks for his eleven, banding together several prominent players. Some of the players in Saturday's game will be playing opposite each other for the first time this year. Others will have met on collegiate fields as opponents. And some of the players on opposite sides Saturday will have been teammates during the year.

Jim Graham, Jim Cartwright and Bob Bogle, all known to area football fans as former Plainview players, will be on the Plainview eleven. Bob Cartwright of Texas Tech fame and Bill Prather and Claude May will be others.

Charley Kitchens, the fine WTSTC end, Bill Cagle of Hardin-Simmons and Jay Barry of Hardin College are other players wearing Childress uniforms who need no introduction.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

We have received several inquiries from Lubbock fans recently concerning the Westerner basketball box scores. Many fans are confused by the tact that several of the Lubbock High cagers—especially Charles Galey—are listed in different positions from game to game. They want to know what the score is on the lineup and positions of the players.

The answer is simple — after you know it. Galey plays guard on offense and forward on defense, and is therefore often listed under both positions. Jimmy Sexton, sharp-shooting junior, plays at both center and forward positions, and when Morris Turner or Bob Rooker are in the lineup they change positions with Galey. When Galey is at guard, either Rooker or Turner holds a forward post. When Galey is at forward, Rooker or Turner hold a guard slot. Confusing, isn't it?

Amarillo officials are very busy these days trying to complete plans for a new football stadium for the 1949 season. The officials and fans decided that they needed a modern new stadium, despite the tradition attached to Butler field. (On second thought, Wichita Falls and Odessa have just about shattered the Butler field tradition during the last three or four years). The Amarilloans seem assured of enough money to build a stadium, through a bond issue, but a stadium site is apparently the big problem. Several sites are now under discussion. We just hope the Amarillo officials will build a stadium large enough to seat all of the fans who want to see the Amarillo-Lubbock clash next fall.

Lubbock Athletic Director Pat Pattison revealed Thursday night that plans have been completed for awarding letter sweaters to players on the six Lubbock junior high grid teams last fall, as well as to Pioneer and Cowhand gridders. The awards will be made on the same basis that letters are given on high school teams—number of games played, attitude and other factors. The awards should give the youngsters something nice to show for their efforts in competition this season, as well as added incentive for players in future years.

While on the subject of awards, we would just like to state that the Texas Interscholastic league restriction on the awards that schools can make to players is about as stupid and useless as any action ever taken by that august group. The rule, for the information of newcomers, states that a school cannot present a player with an award costing more than $15—and that only if he is a senior. Other players with additional eligibility are restricted to awards costing less, about $12.50 if our memory is accurate.

The restriction was placed into effect about 1944, reportedly as a result of the costly awards made to the San Angelo gridders following their state championship in the 1943 season. The league apparently felt that it was not right for boys to receive $50 watches just because they happened to win a state championship. So all players in every school are restricted to a mere "token of appreciation." Just as an example, the standard award to players has always been a letter jacket. Now, in these days of inflation and high prices, what quality can you get in a letter jacket for $12 or $15? Just try to buy a good jacket in any reliable store for that amount.

The regulation has failed in its purpose, since the big "stars" every season receive adequate compensation from outside sources. All the league rules in the world can't prevent Joe Fan from giving a halfback a fine watch on his birthday—or Christmas either. And, if some wealthy fan wishes to "pay" a gridder a large sum of money for doing some odd job, that would still be legal. All the rule does, in effect, is penalize the average player who receives nothing in the way of an award except a letter jacket from the school. He is forced to take a cheap jacket as a "reward" for one or more years of effort, determination and plain hard work.

Steers, Bulldogs Stress Airlift

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 30 (AP)—Around Miami's sporting spas the advice is this: "The Orange Bowl winner—Texas or Georgia—will have pass catchers with firemen net hands."

That advice may be sound. Both the Longhorns and Bulldogs come from conferences which mix basketball with football.

A third of the time Georgia had the ball this year it was in the air. Texas nearly matched that record and in Miami most of their training has been on pitching, protecting and receiving.

Passing statistics, the personnel who throw and catch and pregame practice sessions are discussed most two days before the Orange Bowl game.

Principal Passers

The two principal passers in Saturday's game likely will be Texas' Paul Campbell and Georgia's Johnny Rauch, both quarterbacks and "rallying points."

Texas relies on five men to catch Campbell's passes, which numbered 135 during the season. Ben Procter, Lewis Holder, and George McCall are Texas' main pass catching ends and for a bit of diversion backs Byron Gillory and Randy Clay catch a few.

Those five caught 50 passes worth 757 yards.

Four Georgians—Ends Bob Walston, Gene Lorendo and John Duke and Back Geri—caught 59 of Georgia's passes for 1,227 yards.

Cherry Encouraged

The Longhorns were out this afternoon in full uniform, including pads. Coach Blair Cherry confirmed suspicion by saying most of the work would be on passing and defense against air attacks.

Cherry got encouragement this morning from Dr. Charles Bintliff, team physician, who said the flu epidemic was about over. Only Reserve End Jimmy Watson still has a slight fever. The remainder of the sick list is cleared.

Coach Wally Butts, an unhappy man before any football game, big or small, had Georgia out in sweat clothes, and they too passed, caught and protected.

SMU, OREGON ARE AIR-MINDED

Attacks By Air, Ground Will Give Fans Choice Of Football

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP)—Fans who like a lot of aerial fireworks with their football games should find them Saturday at Miami and Dallas—in the Orange and Cotton bowls.

But if it's powerized, land-lugging style of play that's preferred, then the Rose and Sugar Bowls promise the most attractive dish.

These are conclusions drawn from a look at the season's records of teams involved in the New Year's Day extravaganzas.

Southern Methodist and Oregon, colliding at Dallas, have outstanding records for advancing the ball by air. SMU averaged 147.1 yards a game during the year in passing while Oregon hung up a 103.4 mark.

The Orange Bowl, featuring Georgia's Johnny Rauch against Texas' Paul Campbell, should rival the Dallas show for wide open or "cow cow" football, as the Texans put it. Georgia averaged 150.6 yards through the air and Texas moved the ball at a 107.8 clip in passing alone.

The Rose and Sugar Bowl principals, on the other hand, have been essentially teams that got there by power, their rushing statistics far outweighing their air arms.

California's Bears piled up an average of 372.6 yards a game on the ground during the past campaign while the Wildcats averaged 206.8. Both were below the 100-yard mark in sky advances.

In Jackie Jensen, the Bears have the second best ball-carrier—statistically—among all the Bowl competitors. His 1,010 yards are topped only by the Texas Mines' Fred Wendt, with 1,570.

Jackie's chief ball-toting rival will be Art Murakowski, Northwestern's 195-pound All-America fullback. A bone-rocking straight-away plunger.

North Carolina and Oklahoma, foes in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, also boast stout ground attacks built around the Tar Heels' Charlie Justice and the Sooners' George Thomas.

Oklahoma averaged 380.2 yards rushing per game, North Carolina drove for 303.9. Thomas personally rolled up 835 yards for the season compared with Justice's 766.

EWING URGES EDUCATION AID

Official Calls For Expansion Of Social Security Program

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. —(INS)— Federal security administrator Oscar R. Ewing today detailed a 10-year expanded social security program including national health insurance and increased federal aid to education.

In a signed article in the January issue of American magazine, Ewing declared that if Congress approves the program it will mean:

1. All 62,000,000 persons now employed will participate in social security protection, including new safeguards against lay-offs for illness and disability.

Education To Be Assured

2. All children will enjoy the benefits of education, including college through scholarships or government-insured loans.

3. Every employed person and his family "will be able to visit a doctor, or a dentist, or an oculist whenever they need care."

Ewing said he had studied the nation's health requirements at President Truman's request. He said the President was "appalled" at statistics showing only one of five Americans can afford needed medical care.

Money for national insurance, Ewing explained, would be raised by payroll deductions of 1½ per cent each from employe and employer.

Free Choice Assured

Ewing said the money would be returned to the state. A board of local doctors and community leaders would determine what doctors' fees should be in each locality. The FSA head said doctors would be free to accept patients or not, and patients could choose their own doctors.

The only part the federal government would have in the health insurance plan, Ewing said, would be the collection of payroll deductions.

Ewing said that a complement to health insurance Congress will be asked to appropriate $65,000,000 to aid in the expansion of medical schools. He said his program envisages that by 1960 medical manpower would be expanded by 40 to 50 per cent.

Opposition Scored

Ewing charged that much of the opposition to national health insurance "has been stirred up by the medical profession itself" but "most of the financing of the opposition is being done by the big pharhaceutical manufacturers."

He said those manufacturers "are afraid that doctors in the health program would give simple prescriptions for local pharmacists to put up themselves, instead of long-profit, patent prescriptions."

Ewing said that temporary disability benefits could be handled with a one per cent payroll deduction, divided evenly between employe and employer, and that a two per cent levy would handle permanent disability.

The federal scholarship program was not explained in Ewing's article, but he said the loan program should make it possible for students to borrow up to $1,250 a year, with long-term repayment provided.

Murder Of Woman In Chicago Probed

CHICAGO, Dec. 30. (INS)—An attractive red-haired woman was found apparently strangled to death today in a fifth floor room of the Clarendon hotel on Chicago's north side.

Her body was nude. Police said her hands and feet were bound with strips from a bedsheet and she had been gagged. Part of a sheet was tied around her neck. She was about 30 years old.

The body was discovered by Juanita Dockery, 27, a hotel maid. Raymond Witaska, hotel manager said no one reported hearing any outcry.

Man Is Described

He said the woman and a man about 45 years old registered at the hotel early last night as "Mr and Mrs. Tom Morris of Chicago."

Two hotel clerks, Jack Ross and Frank Schmitt, saw the man leave the hotel early this morning.

They described him as about five feet ten inches tall, of stocky build and medium coloring.

Schmitt said the man was wearing a black and red checked lumber jacket and a black hunter's cap.

He said the man made a telephone call from his room to a bus station at 1:30 a. m.

The woman's black crepe, sleeveless dress and tweed topcoat were hanging in a closet of the room. Her black shoes and tan hose were under the bed.

Texas U. Student Dies After Breathing Stops Second Time

FORT WORTH, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—Funeral arrangements were being made today for Robert Harris Johnson, 24-year-old University of Texas student who died when his breathing stopped for a second time yesterday.

The first time the university junior stopped breathing, doctors and nurses applied artificial respiration for an hour and a half until an iron lung could be brought to the hospital by firemen.

That was early yesterday morning. Then last night, Johnson's breathing stopped again. And this time it was permanent.

The student was critically injured Monday when thrown from his motorcycle near his Everman home while back from school for the Christmas holidays. He suffered a brain concussion, skull fracture, internal injuries, and a fractured shoulder.

Man Wanted For Murder In East Caught In California Stickup

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Dec. 30. (INS)—Thomas Caruso, 22, who was arrested for a $1 holdup in Santa Monica, tonight was jailed for New York authorities when it was discovered he was wanted for a 1947 murder.

Caruso was identified in the eastern slaying by the FBI from fingerprints taken at the scene of the crime. Caruso was identified as one of two men who strangled Kenneth Graw with a wire during the robbery of a New York hotel in February, 1947.

Caruso said that he expected to be arrested because "you couldn't fool fingerprints."

Mexican Shoemakers Plan Fight Against Foreign Competition

LEON, Mexico, Dec. 30. (U.P.) — The national council of the shoemakers union today agreed "to fight against the wild importation of shoes as a danger of the national industry."

Other resolutions included:

1. Lower retail shoe prices by means of improved manufacturing methods and reduction of the great profits of the retailer.

2. Improvement of the "antiquated shoe industry" to enable it to withstand foreign competition.

3. Improvement of working conditions and extension of union contracts to include all shoe workers.

Soviet Composer 'Thanks' Critics For Censure Of His Latest Work

MOSCOW, Dec. 30. (AP)—Composer Sergei Prokofieff recognizes as just "the criticism of his latest work," the Moscow press said today.

It quoted a letter from Prokofieff replying to a charge by the general secretary of the Soviet composers' union, Tikhon Khrennikov, that "formalism" persisted in his new opera, "The Tale of a Real Person."

The Communist party central committee censured Prokofieff and six other composers last February for "formalism" — which it called a trend against the people. Prokofieff expressed thanks for the committee's help. Khrennikov, in criticizing Prokofieff's new opera earlier this week, said the other six had made progress in various degrees.

Among Prokofieff's better known works is "Peter and the Wolf."

Sugar Refining Company Announces Price Increase

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)— One refining company raised sugar prices today following the recent establishment of the American sugar consumption quota by the Department of Agriculture.

National Sugar Refining Co. announced effective Monday its price on refined sugar will be 8 cents a pound as against the current price of 7¾ cents.

The government under the 1948 sugar act estimated American needs in 1949 would be 7,250,000 tons of raw sugar, an amount under that asked for by industrial users. Domestic sugar producers, however, favored the lower quota in order to maintain a firm sugar price level.

DANIEL TO TAKE OATH

Sheppard Field May Get Training School

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—The Air Force said today that Sheppard Air Force base at Wichita Falls, is being considered for training of navigators and radar observers during the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Tentative plans call for opening of the course not earlier than July 1. The base now is being used as an indoctrination center.

The Air Force said that use of Sheppard for navigation and radar training classes "is in line with studies being made for the most economic utilization of Air Force bases and personnel in the training program designed to most effectively use the funds available for training. All planning is being done with objective of full utilization of the facilities at Sheppard."

Congressman's Secretary Files Appeal From Income Tax Fine

ARLINGTON, Va., Dec. 30. (AP)—Mrs. Stella Merrill, secretary to Rep. Gossett (D-Tex), gave notice of appeal today from conviction in Arlington police court of failing to file a Virginia state income tax return.

Mrs. Merrill was fined the minimum penalty of $20 yesterday.

Gossett appeared in court with her. The Commonwealth's attorney said Mrs. Merrill contended she was not liable to the Virginia income tax, that she maintains her legal residence in Wichita Falls, Texas. She agreed to file a personal property tax return, however.

A state official explained that members of Congress are regarded as "transient sojourners" and are not taxed but this courtesy does not extend to their employes.

Dallas Man Files False Arrest Charge Against County Officers

DALLAS, Dec. 30. (AP)— A $10,000 suit was filed here yesterday by a Dallas man who claimed he was falsely arrested by a deputy sheriff and put in jail for 71 hours without being charged.

Sheriff Steve Guthrie, Deputy Vernon Wilkens and the Aetna Casualty & Surety co., which bonded Guthrie, were named in the suit filed by Leonard C. Teague in 116th district court.

Teague's petition said he stayed in jail 72 hours before a charge of driving while intoxicated was filed against him. He said that a trial in county criminal court later resulted in a verdict of innocence on the charge.

Governor Fills State Vacancies

AUSTIN, Dec. 30. (AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester today announced 12 appointments and 12 reappointments to state offices, boards and commissions.

Major General K. L. Berry was reappointed adjutant general, the new term to expire Jan. 21, 1951.

On the state board of education Gilbert M. Denman of San Antonio was reappointed and Wallace Houghston of McKinney and Arthur Temple of Diboll were appointed to six-year terms ending Jan 1, 1955. Jack Binion of Houston was named to the unexpired term of the late Herman Custard of Cleburne, the term ending Jan. 1, 1951. Retiring members on the board are Maco Stewart of Galveston and Clyde W. Hanks of Palestine.

Prison Officials Named

On the state prison board, new appointments went to H. H. Coffield of Rockdale, E. J. Kyle of College Station, and Warren Bellows of Houston, all for six-year terms expiring Feb. 2, 1955. Retiring members are Barney L. Harrison of Greenville, J. E. Wheat of Woodville and T. N. Whitehurst of Beaumont.

Hubert T. Johnson of Waco was reappointed to a six-year term ending Jan. 20, 1955, on the state board of public welfare.

On the board of regents of the state teachers colleges, H. L. Mills of Houston and Newton S. Harrell of Claude were reappointed to six-year terms ending Jan. 1 1955. Miss Emma Mae Brotze of Marshall was appointed to the board for a like six-year term. Retiring member is S. A. Kerr of Jacksonville.

To the board of regents of the Texas State College for Women, Maury Pollard of Beaumont was reappointed and Mrs. Arthur F Dietreich of Dorchester and Rupert Craig of Athens appointed to six-year terms ending Jan. 10, 1955. Retiring members are Mrs. Albert G. Walker of Austin and Isaac O. Newton of Seymour.

Roy H. Laird of Kilgore was reappointed to a five-year term expiring Dec. 31, 1953, as executive trustee of the municipal retirement system.

Fills Foundation Post

Miss Ima Hogg of Houston was named to fill the unexpired term of Carl Estes of Longview, resigned, on the Hogg Memorial commission. The term expires June 12, 1951.

J. C. Lewis of Bay City and Clay Kuykendall of San Saba were reappointed and Alex Hardin of Llano appointed to six-year terms ending Jan. 1, 1955, on the Lower Colorado River authority. Retiring member is Orville Buttery of Llano.

G. C. Allen of Robert Lee and C. S. Coleman were reappointed and Frank Cannon of San Angelo appointed to six-year terms ending Jan. 1, 1955, on the Upper Colorado River authority. Retiring member is H. G. Wendland of San Angelo.

R. W. Williford of Fairfield was reappointed judge of the 87th judicial district for a two-year term starting Jan. 1, 1949.

Burglar Gets $30,000 In Jewels At Resort

PALM SPRINGS, Cal., Dec. 30. (INS)— A burglar broke into the Racquet club bungalow of Mr. and Mrs. William Doheny, of the wealthy Doheny oil family, today and made off with $30,000 in jewels.

Chief of Palm Springs police August Kattmann said that reports also had been received that several winter homes of screen celebrities had been entered but nothing of value was missing.

Mrs. Doheny said among the missing jewels was a $6,000 diamond bracelet. She said that she kept her gems in a jewel box in her dresser drawer.

The robbery, Palm Springs' biggest, occurred while scores of Hollywood millionaires were partying at the Racquet club, owned by Palm Springs' Mayor Charles Farrell, former screen hero.

TOKYO, Dec. 30. (AP) — The Netherlands and occupied Japan today formally signed an $89,000,000 trade agreement.

Southern Pacific Reports New Freight Service High

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30. (AP) —Freight service hit a peacetime high on the Southern Pacific this year and passenger business ran far ahead of prewar traffic.

A. T. Mercier, president, made this report today in his year-end review of the railroad's activities. He gave these details:

Freight service reached a total of more than 37,000,000,000 revenue net ton miles.

Gross ton miles per train hour in main line freight service increased seven per cent over the previous high record set in 1947. It was 20 per cent above 1940.

Pointing to mounting wages and material costs, Mercier put in a plug for new freight rate increases.

RUSSIA DEMANDS EXPLANATION

Soviets Imply U. S. Seeking To Make Japan Bastion In Pacific

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Russia today strongly implied that the United States is attempting to rebuild Japan as a military threat to the Soviets in the Far East.

Soviet Ambassador Alexander Panyushkin demanded an explanation of American activities in Japan, as guided by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

He took cognizance of U. S. press reports that MacArthur was planning to re-establish the Japanese army and generally establish the ex-enemy islands as an outer defense bastion in the Pacific.

Implication Denied

A spokesman at the State department promptly denied Panyushkin's implication. The spokesman said that any reports MacArthur has suggested that Japan be rearmed or a Japanese army re-established are "without foundation."

Gen. Frank McCoy, American member of the Far Eastern commission, is expected to issue a reply at the organization's next meeting Jan. 6.

Panyushkin, as the Russian member of the 11-member Far Eastern commission, made his charge and demand in a carefully compressed 91-word statement. He said:

"In the United States press there have recently appeared reports to the effect that General MacArthur has sent to Washington a report in which it is suggested to re-establish the Japanese army and the question of rearming Japan is raised.

"Information" Demanded

"Press reports link this plan of rearming Japan with a recent directive by General MacArthur to the Japanese government ordering the development of a five-year plan for highway construction in Japan.

"The Soviet delegation considers it necessary that the United States representative inform the Far Eastern commission on this matter."

This latest blast from the Soviet embassy capped a running series of statements by Panyushkin during the past few months in connection with deliberations of the Far Eastern commission. Normally, the Russian diplomatic set-up in Washington leaves the talking to Moscow and its special international spokesman, but the ambassador has been building a steady fire under American policies in Japan.

Plans Offered

First, he offered a plan for "unlimited" expansion of Japanese peacetime industries—but under a control board on which a Russian representative would sit. This was voted down.

Then, Panyushkin complained that MacArthur had no right to decree that Japanese government workers could not strike.

Matters came to a head when the United States withdrew support from a 1947 Far Eastern commission directive to MacArthur laying down tax, banking, currency and industrial reforms.

This directive originally had been sponsored by the United States. In cancelling it out, State department officials explained that Gen. MacArthur already had started most of the reforms; that the passing of the time outmoded the approach, and that the supreme allied commander—being on the spot—was better able to guide them to completion.

By this policy statement, the United States made two things clear:

1. The United States fought the Pacific war virtually single-handed and is the sole occupying power in Japan;

2. The United States regards the Far Eastern commission as an advisory body, not as a hard-and-fast policy-making assemblage of countries having an interest in the Far East.

Red Bomb Debunked

trail left in the sky was still visible that night. This trail was dust and smoke of the meteor's blazing flight through the air. This light was so brilliant that the trees cast shadows in bright sunlight and in a different direction than the sun. The impact raised a column of dust thousands of feet high.

Dr. Struve said that the Russian scientists are ahead of Americans in one way, because Russia is going to make a national monument of the place where this meteor fell.

Monument Plan Fails

American astronomers, he said, have failed in efforts to make a national monument of Canyon Diablo, in Arizona, the crater, 4,000 feet from rim to rim, where the world's greatest meteor fell thousands of years ago. He said that an astronomical society committee, which had been trying for this monument, was terminated today because nothing could be done at present.

"Can we not, in our system of government," he asked, "preserve a far greater record than the Russian meteor?"

He explained that the thing that hit Arizona was a minor planet, a solid body. It was iron and nickel.

Earlier, the astronomers had heard of the discovery by radio of hot spots in space.

These hot spots sometimes appear to be in space that looks empty. They may be clouds of hydrogen gas. They give no light but they are apparently hot enough to melt sulphur. There are some indications that this space heat may go to a hundred thousand degrees, which would melt anything known on earth.

Faulty Serum Kills Jap School Children

TOKYO, Dec. 30. (INS)—Death of 64 Japanese school children from faulty serum led Gen. Douglas MacArthur today to indefinitely suspend an anti-diphtheria immunization program.

The deaths have occurred in Kyoto where 7,500 children were inoculated. In addition to the deaths, 900 other children suffered severe reactions.

Brig. Gen. Crawford F. Sams, chief of MacArthur's public health and welfare section, announced the suspension and said that all vaccines and biologies used in the program will be tested.

Cheap Serum Blamed

He said:

"The Japanese have been known throughout the world in the past years for producing cheap goods of poor quality.

"Such a policy cannot be carried out insofar as biologics are concerned."

The reactions to the inoculations were blamed on the use of an incompletely detoxified diphtheria toxoid manufactured by a private Japanese commercial laboratory.

The laboratory has been closed and Sams said that its director and some of its workers will be prosecuted. A Japanese welfare ministry inspector also faces charges.

Group Faces Curbs

42 years in Congress who is slated to head the committee, said he will offer an amendment to the House rules to trim the Rules committee's power.

Under his plan, a bill could be taken away from the Rules committee and brought to the House floor on a petition signed by 100 "or maybe 150" House members, provided the petition was filed by the chairman of the legislative committee which approved the bill.

Under the present rules, it requires a petition signed by 218 members—a majority of the House—to take a bill from the rules group or any other House committee. No change is contemplated in the 218-signature rule as it relates to legislative committees.

Would Protect Witnesses

Sabath said he had been assured that he is going to get some additional Democrats on his committee who "are going to be all right."

He said the idea behind the other proposed rule change—to work up a code of fair treatment for witnesses—was to protect the rights of citizens. He emphasized that such a code should apply to all House committees, not solely the Un-American Activities group, whose activities have been widely criticized.

Before the Democratic leaders huddled, there was some talk of another possible rule change which would prohibit the chairman of any committee serving as a member of any other committee. This it appeared, was designed to unbolt Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) from the Un-American Activities group, where some of his actions have displeased the Democratic leadership. Rankin is scheduled to become chairman of the Veterans committee.

Rankin Scores Plan

However, nobody but Rankin would talk about the Rankin question after the conference with Rayburn.

The white-haired Mississippian issued a statement attributing the plan to the Soviets.

"The word seems to have come down from Moscow to keep me off of the committee," he said.

"The same element that is pushing this proposition has attempted in every way to block the committee in exposing un-American activities."

Senate Republicans, meanwhile, were squabbling about organizational problems, with some self-described liberal members demanding a voice in the leadership of the minority group. Two separate meetings were called in an effort to iron out the difficulty.

The 80th Congress, with Republicans in the majority in both houses, holds its last session tomorrow, with little of importance scheduled for action.

U. S. commissioner, ordered the defendant removed to Paris after he failed to post $1,000 bond.

Complaint Is Filed

Bond of $500 was set for Robert Evans, 19, of 2400-block Thirteenth, returnable Jan. 29, after a fugitive complaint had been filed here.

An affidavit sworn to by LeRoy Boling, jr., city detective, charged that the man is under a charge of wife desertion, a felony, in Michigan. The case was filed by E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney.

Evans waived extradition, Pharr said, but asked for bond that would allow him liberty pending a decision on whether he would be allowed to return to Michigan alone or taken in custody.

STRONG QUAKE RECORDED

BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 30 (AP)—The University of California reported today a "moderately strong" earthquake, some 1,050 miles to the north or south, was recorded on its seismograph at 3:53.21 p.m., FST. (11:53 P.M. CST.) The quake probably centered in central Mexico or off the coast of British Columbia, the university said.

Two Men Hurt When Plane Lands Itself

FARIBAULT, Minn., Dec. 30. (INS)—Two men were reported in serious condition in Faribault hospital today after their rented plane miraculously landed itself on a frozen lake when the pilot collapsed.

They are James De Grood, 20, of Faribault, the pilot, and Louis Slinger, 35, of Pipestone, Minn.

De Grood became ill and fainted at the controls after the takeoff. He suffered a skull fracture.

Two Others Hurt

Two other passengers, George J. De Grood, 23, and Victor De Grood, 18, brothers of James, escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

James complained of feeling ill shortly after the takeoff in the four-passenger Stinson Voyager. He then lost consciousness.

One of the other men opened a window and the cold air revived him. He nosed the plane toward ice-covered Lake Roberts, three miles from Faribault, throttled it down, and again lapsed into unconsciousness.

The plane, about 200 feet in the air, drifted down on an even keel toward the lake.

None of the other men knew how to fly, but George De Grood said he "pushed the wheel forward" as the plane moved downward.

The aircraft landed in about a foot of snow and rolled 50 feet, crashing into a bank on the lakeshore with a sharp impact.

HST Denies Rumor

cognized by all other governments of the world, the President added.

He stated he knew only what he read in the papers about the desire of Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith to retire from his Moscow post. Smith returning to Washington today, said he hoped Mr. Truman would accept his resignation because he had been away from the United States too long.

Agrees With Lovett

The President said he agreed with Lovett in the latter's denunciation of the arrest in Hungary of Cardinal Mindszenty by the Communist-dominated Hungarian government. Lovett branded the detention as a rather sickening sham; the charges involved were spying, treason and black market dealings; Lovett said the charges merely culminated a long series of oppressions by the Hungarian government.

Having announced at the outset that he had nothing to say, the President invited and got questions covering a wide range of affairs. For instance:

He will not request abolition of the House Un-American Affairs committee, despite the low esteem in which he holds it; that's a legislative matter, he declared.

The traditional state of the union message, to be delivered in person to the new Congress on Wednesday, will cover the waterfront. The President said; meaning, it will touch on every phase of foreign and domestic affairs.

Conferences Slated

It's too early to discuss his tax views. The new budget, due to be handed to Congress within a fortnight will discuss them, as will the state of the union message.

Democratic leaders of the incoming Congress will consult with him at the White House tomorrow. That discussion also will range all over the waterfront. The participants will include Barkley, who will preside over the Senate; Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex), slated to be House speaker; Senator Scott Lucas (D-Ill) prospective Senate majority leader; and Representative McCormack, House majority leader.

When a reporter remarked that these legislators had not yet been elected to their high congressional positions, the President brought the conference to a close in a roar of laughter with this reply: I think you can make a better guess on that than you did on the election.

Chinese Chiefs Meet

Soong, governor of Kuantung province, and Ma Hung-Wei, commander of China's northwestern forces, are expected to participate in the discussions.

Premier Sun was said to have dispatched Hsu Shih-Ying, former chairman of China's commission for Mongolian and Tibetan affairs, to the British crown colony of Hong Kong to meet with Li Chih-Sen. Li is head of the group which advocates overthrow of Chiang and reform of the Kuomintang.

Go-Between Sought

Hsu left Nanking for Hong Kong Tuesday via Shanghai, reportedly to seek Li's services as intermediary in negotiations leading to opening of peace talks.

Observers believe that the shape of Nationalist China's future hinges on the top-level conferences in Nanking. If the decision is to continue the war, an alternative capital must be chosen for Communist-threatened Nanking.

If peace is the decision, then Chiang's resignation is almost mandatory.

Texas Solons Meet

der a second-place position on the House Civil Service and Post Office committee.

His decision may rest largely on what the House decides to do about the Rules committee. A strong move has been launched by some leaders to trim the power of the committee.

Rep. Sam Rayburn of Bonham is expected to be named speaker of the 81st Congress when it convenes Jan. 3.

Two new members of the Texas House delegation for the new Congress are on hand. They are Lloyd Bentsen of McAllen, succeeding West, and Homer Thornberry of Austin, who will take Johnson's House seat.

GOP 'Liberals' Challenge Taft

bolic of the more modern Republican philosophy." He pointed out that Lodge was chairman of the GOP platform committee at the Philadelphia convention.

The New Yorker said that "there is a general feeling that Sen. Taft is not able to put his case over effectively." He added:

"And he is inclined at times to make statements with which many people do not agree."

Need "Jet Propulsion"

Ives said that "we all have high respect for Bob Taft's intellectual capacity, his great honesty and his courage." Ives added:

"But the consensus of the group is that the party under Bob is not going forward.

"We are in suspended animation. We need some jet propulsion."

Ives explained that there was no formal action or voting at the insurgent meeting but "it was the concensus that the candidate we would like to see as chairman is Sen. Lodge. . . . I didn't hear any dissent."

The 12 who met included, besides Ives and Lodge, Sens. Knowland, Calif.; Flanders, Vt.; Smith, N. J.; Saltonstall, Mass.; Morse, Ore.; Gurney, S. D.; Baldwin, Conn.; Thye, Minn.; Aiken, Vt., and Young, N. D.

In addition, Ives said the group had the proxy of Sen. Tobey (R-NH).

Spy Probers Report

fied that between 1932 and 1938 he obtained documents not only from the State department, but also from the bureau of standards, the Aberdeen, Md., weapons proving ground and "certain information from the Navy."

Data Reached Russians

Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) said in giving out the committee's long-awaited report that the famous pumpkin papers found on Chambers' Maryland farm were only a small portion of the many highly confidential documents he received. Mundt said most of the pumpkin data had previously reached the Russians.

The committee said it has evidence indicating that "the Chambers apparatus (spy ring) continued to operate for at least one year" after Chambers quit the Communist party in 1938.

"And it has now been clearly established that at least four of the individuals who were acting in the Chambers apparatus were also acting as late as 1945," the report went on.

One Person Indicted

"We have no evidence to indicate that the operations of this second apparatus do not continue to the present time."

One person has been indicted in connection with the Chambers disclosures. He is Alger Hiss, former State department official, who has been charged with swearing falsely that he gave no government documents to Chambers.

Winding up its 1948 investigations, the committee recommended:

1. Continuation of the committee during the next Congress.

2. Legislation to curb Communist activities in this country.

3. An increase in penalties for contempt of Congress to at least five years in prison and a $5,000 fine. The penalties now are one year and $1,000.

Earlier in the day, acting Chairman Mundt told newsmen that secret new testimony by Chambers had turned up enough "new leads" to keep the committee and staff investigators busy for "six months or a year."

Release of the report followed a fresh blast against Republican members of the committee by Rep. Hebert (D-La) and an assertion by Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) that a Moscow-dictated move is afoot to ease him out of the spy-hunt picture.

Both Rankin and Hebert are members of the committee.

Texas Society For Preservation Of Historical Material Formed

AUSTIN, Dec. 30. (AP)—Formation of the Texas Hermitage Foundation, Inc., to preserve Texas historic documents, sites and shrines was announced here today.

Judge C. V. Terrell, former railroad commissioner, is chairman of the foundation; Major Horace Shelton, first vice president; Rep. Wayne W. Wagonseller of Fruitland, recording secretary; A. Garland Adair, executive vice president; and Mrs. Hugh Cameron of Mission, registrar.

Amarillo Girl Burns To Death While Playing With Gift Doll

AMARILLO, Dec. 30. (AP)—Five-year-old Loretta Veale died today of burns suffered last night.

Her dress caught fire from an open gas stove as she played with her Christmas doll.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Veale of Amarillo.

Baylor hospital, Dallas, reported Thursday night that seven-year-old Jerry Donelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Donelson of 1616 Merritt avenue, was doing "just fine," and that he would be returned home today. The child was taken there Dec. 20 for a diagnosis of whether he had a brain tumor, and it was decided that no surgery would be necessary, the Associated Press reported.

Fred W. Moore, Texas Tech geology graduate of 1930, visited here today while on his way to Dallas to assume his duties as assistant chief geologist for the Magnolia Petroleum company. Moore for the last three years has lived at Roswell, N. M., where he was the firm's West-Texas-New Mexico district geologist.

Jews Threaten To Trap Egyptian Base

TEL AVIV, Palestine, Dec. 30 (AP)—UN observers today reported Gaza, main Egyptian base in Palestine, virtually surrounded by Jewish forces.

The observer at Gaza reported to their headquarters at Haifa that it appeared likely the Arab port eventually would be in the same position as the Faluja pocket, 30 miles southeast of Tel Aviv, where an Egyptian force of about 3,000 has been surrounded since mid-October.

The UN account thus confirmed the surmises of reporters here that the Jews hold dominating positions overlooking the road southward from Gaza but are leaving open an escape hatch for the Egyptians if they wish to take it. Meanwhile Israel's air force and navy make reinforcement of the port by sea difficult if not impossible.

(The Egyptian war ministry in Cairo said Egyptian forces pursued retreating Jewish troops today after a vain attempt yesterday by the Jews to encircle the Egyptian right flank. Exact location of the fighting in southern Palestine was not given. The war ministry said Egyptian fighters downed two Jewish aircraft.)

lay hands sacrilegiously" upon the cardinal have fallen under "infamia juris"—the infamy of the law. This means that in the eyes of the church the offenders are involved in a crime on a level with rape, heresy and simony, the illicit traffic in sacred things.

Others Excommunicated

The Catholic church also excommunicated all who had anything to do with the conviction and imprisonment of the head of the church in Yugoslavia, Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac, in 1946. Yugoslavia's Communist government charged Stepinac with collaboration with the Germans and sent him to prison for 16 years.

A Vatican source said last September, before Mindszenty's arrest, that the cardinal had threatened the excommunication of Hungarian Catholics who spoke offensively of the Pope or church.

In a communique issued last night in Budapest, the Hungarian government said Mindszenty has been a "sponsor of Hungarian Fascism." The communique alleged that the cardinal hoped for American occupation of Hungary and "aimed to make a second Greece" out of the country.

Mindszenty was not available to answer. Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, has declared the arrest was "the first grim step in another totalitarian mock-trial."

Police Chief Leads Inspection Tour To Prove Uvalde 'Clean'

UVALDE, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—Morton Davis, chief of police, today vehemently denied charges that Uvalde is a "dirty town."

The chief took newsmen on a "shakedown tour" of beer taverns last night to back up his point. It was the aftermath of a sex criminal's attck on a baby girl last week.

In the public furore which followed the episode, charges had been made that the town was "dirty," that liquor regulations were being violated and drunkenness and lewdness were commonplace.

Agents of the State Liquor Control board joined Davis and reporters for their nocturnal swing to ten beer parlors. A batch of obscene literature, found in the coat pocket of one beer drinker, was the evening's "haul."

Davis said there had been no new developments in the search for the man, obviously a sex maniac, who kidnapped a 10-months-old girl from her parents automobile on Christmas eve and criminally attacked her. The child was found, two hours later, in a dark alley.

Man Confesses Using Gun To 'Borrow' $5,000 From Bank

DENVER, Dec. 30 (INS)—A 26-year-old man who has admitted he "borrowed" $5,000 from a Waynetown, Ind., bank at gunpoint, was arraigned today before U. S. commissioner Harold S Oakes in Denver.

Bond was set at $25,000 for Edward Dee Pearson, of Coatesville, Ind., arrested this morning as he, his wife and their 18-months-old son prepared to board a plane at Denver's Stapleton Air field.

Pearson readily admitted to the arresting FBI officers that he took the money.

He said he got the idea for the robbery plan from a moving picture. He added he was desperate for money because he was "so deeply in debt."

Pearson indicated that he will waive extradition.

Hugh H. Odom Rites Are Scheduled Today

Funeral services will be held at 4 p. m. today in Sanders Funeral home chapel for Hugh H. Odom, 51, of 2105 Broadway, who died unexpectedly at 6 a. m. Thursday in Lubbock Memorial hospital. Burial will be in the Masonic section of Lubbock Memorial cemetery.

Rev. Brown C. Welch, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, will officiate at services, assisted by Rev. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Autopsy Is Held

An autopsy Thursday revealed that death was due to coronary sclerosis, a process in which one of the vessels to the heart becomes occluded, resulting in its failure.

"No external or internal injuries were discovered during the autopsy, and it is almost impossible that death was due to the automobile accident in which Odom was involved last Friday," a doctor stated. The accident happened near Walters, Okla., as Odom was enroute to Oklahoma City for Christmas holidays, and some were of the impression Thursday that there was a connection between the accident and his sudden death, though he apparently was not injured at the time.

Odom, who for more than four years had been building engineer at the Lubbock National building, returned to his job Tuesday, working that day and Wednesday. Friends said he complained of an ache in his left side but remained on the job. He became ill early Thursday and was taken to the hospital where he died shortly afterward.

The survivors, a daughter, Billie, and a son, Homer, both of whom are of Oklahoma City, arrived by private plane Thursday afternoon.

Pallbearers will be J. M. Moreau, L. C. Ellis, H. J. McClellan, Early Daniel, Roy Sherrod and L. L. Felton. All members of Yellowhouse Masonic lodge 841 are honorary pallbearers along with Dave Lively, of Amarillo.

H. J. McClellan, secretary of the Masonic lodge here, has requested that all members meet at the Masonic hall at 3 p. m. today for funeral preparations.

Railroads Granted Freight Rate Hike

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—The railroads today won temporary freight rate increases amounting to about $425,000,000 a year.

They said they needed this money—and more too—to meet higher material and labor costs.

The carriers had asked for a temporary increase of 8 per cent pending action by the Interstate Commerce commission on their plea for a permanent 13 per cent hike. Today the commission granted them increases averaging something over 5 per cent.

The railroads were authorized to put the temporary increases in effect upon five days' notice to the public. This means five days after tariffs have been filed with the ICC.

The Railway Express agency's revenues also got a boost today. The ICC authorized the company to put into effect nationally its so-called western scale of rates. The western rates are about 10 cents a hundred higher than the eastern-southern scale.

Two Men Injured In Accident Here Are Reported Recovering

Two local men who Wednesday night were injured when their automobile smashed into the rear of a parked gasoline truck at Fourth and Ave. H were recovering from their injuries without complications, attendants at West Texas hospital reported Thursday night.

Travis E. (Monk) Massingill, 19, of 2814 North Third, who had earlier been reported in "serious but not critical" condition, was "resting well" at the hospital last night. He suffered fractures of the right leg above and below the knee, multiple lacerations of the face, and a compound fracture of the upper jaw, including loss of six upper front teeth.

Charles E. Rucker, 20, of 1513 Twenty-ninth, driver of the vehicle, suffered an eight-inch laceration of the scalp, a head concussion, and a contusion of the left elbow. His condition permitted him to be dismissed from the hospital Thursday afternoon, hospital attendants said.

Six-Year-Old Roswell Boy Dies Of Rifle Bullet Wound In Head

ROSWELL, N. M., Dec. 30. (AP) Six-year-old Rollin Dale Ritchie died late today about 24 hours after he was shot through the head with a .22-caliber rifle bullet.

The stepson of S/Sgt. and Mrs. Guthrie Marshall of Walker Air Force base here was hot by a nine-year-old boy who was playing with his brother's rifle a block away.

An Air Force plane flew here last night from Randolph Field, Texas, to take him to a San Antonio brain specialist. Physicians here, however, decided at the last minute the boy was too critically hurt to risk the flight, and the plane returned without him.

Tech Student's Wife Slightly Hurt In Wreck Near San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, Dec. 30. (Special)—Mrs. Billy Warren Squires, wife of a student at Texas Technological college, was admitted to a hospital here today with lacerations of the scalp, concussion and elbow injuries received when the car in which she was riding overturned near here.

Squires, who was also riding in the car, was uninjured. The couple was enroute to Lubbock from Austin where they had spent Christmas holidays with Mrs. Squires' relatives. Her condition was described as good.

Babson Predicts 'Levelling Off' Of Nation's Economy In 1949

production of the wageworkers.

31. Some object to the large profits that their employers are getting today compared with the 1930's. It, however, should be remembered that during these depression years most employers had no profits whatsoever. We forecast that profits will continue to be regulated automatically by the law of supply and demand, rather than by the government.

32. At some time during 1949 we forecast that the point will be reached where the nation's inflated money supply will have become fully employed. Hence, emphasis may shift from efforts to stop inflation to efforts to halt deflation.

STOCK MARKET

33. 1949 may not be a better year stock market wise than 1948. Investors will especially get out of stocks of companies which have most of their assets in big, "vulnerable in case of war" cities, reinvesting in companies whose assets are well distributed and safe from attack.

34. The Administration will not want the Dow-Jones Industrial Average to go too high on account of the consequent effect upon labor's demands. Commodity speculation will continue to be curbed.

35. The wisest will not try to pick any special "winners" in 1949; but will diversify broadly. Those who have too many stocks will gradually build up good reserves, in cash or Governments, for the big break which will come some day. Careful buyers of stocks will insist on making full payment and avoid borrowing during 1949.

36. Safe dividend paying stocks will be in greatest demand, especially if double taxation on dividends should be eliminated.

BONDS

37. We are definitely bearish on low-coupon-rate, long-term taxable bonds as money rates will gradually increase.

38. If Congress should exempt dividends from double federal taxation, 1949 will see a further falling off in the prices of certain tax-exempt bonds.

39. We forecast no change in the nation's monetary policy relating to credit control and interest rates during 1949.

40. Investors will give much more attention to diversification in 1949 and will try to have their bond maturities either fairly short or staggered.

REAL ESTATE

41. City real estate will continue to hold firm through 1949, due to less available rental space caused by pulling down structures to save taxes, provide parking spaces, etc. There also is a disinclination to build new city property in view of the present high costs.

42. Suburban real estate will continue in fair demand during 1949 although there will be some shading of prices.

43. Big commercial farm acreage will sell for less during 1949; but subsistence farms, located close to established communities, will hold up in price.

44. General building will decrease during 1949 although the cost of building may decline a little. The quality of workmanship will improve.

45. Both office and residential rents will be higher in 1949. Only as property owners are granted higher rentals, will there be enough houses to rent.

46. Mortgage interest rates during 1949 will continue about the same as in 1948. Any changes will be toward increases.

POLITICS

47. The Administration will encourage legitimate new enterprises and full employment, continuing its loyalty to labor and the farmers.

48. Vacancies in the various commissions and government corporations organized since 1932 and which have great powers will be filled by men acquainted with legitimate business but friendly to Mr. Truman.

49. Congress will take our foreign policy out of the hands of the State Department and the Brass Hats of the military.

50. The Administration will be fair both to labor and management or lose the Congressional elections of 1950 by bringing on depression.

Mesquite Political Setup Is Confused

MESQUITE, Dec. 30. —(U.P.)— Who's in and who's out? That's what Mesquite citizens wondered today about their city government.

Three councilmen who "resigned" Monday night in the face of threats from angered taxpayers said today they may not have given up their jobs after all.

Roy Moore, spokesman for the three, said they had made only oral statements of abdication and there was nothing formal about them. He said a lawyer would be consulted on their effect.

Moore and two other aldermen—a majority of the council—were hooted and howled out of office by a threatening group of 100 or more property owners Monday night. The deposed three had let it be known that they favored raising the property taxe rate 33½ per cent.

After they resigned Mayor Sam Rutherford and two minority councilmen—who sided with the upset citizenry—called a special election for Jan. 11. The purpose: Electing three new aldermen.

Three new aldermen would become excess aldermen—if Moore and his collegues choose to battle for their positions.

Secretary Quits

About the only thing certain in the wake of the riotous public meeting at the city hall Monday night was the resignation of Mrs. Bette Mikel, city secretary. She locked up city hall and left a terse note for the mayor. It said: "I hereby resign." She thought taxes should be raised.

Mrs. Mixel said several women in the crowd threatened her Monday night. Mrs. Mikel was plenty angry. She said she might have them put under peace bond. Councilman Moore and one taxpayer did trade punches. But neither of them was much the worse for the limited combat.

Man Wanted By Police Located By Chance Phone Connection

BROWNWOOD, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—A strange coincidence figured in the apprehension of Mark K. Ford, 33, of Gustine, who is wanted here on charges of car theft and forgery.

County Attorney David J. Morris was placing a long distance call to Ranger and overheard another operator putting through a call from Ford, who was in San Angelo, to Gustine.

Morris heard no more, but with this information, Ranger Ralph Rohatsch and Highway Patrolman C. E. Farrar at San Angelo arrested Ford early yesterday.

Ford had been registered since Dec. 24 at a San Angelo hotel under the name of "Guffie," Morris said.

A car stolen here Dec. 23 was recovered at San Angelo. Sheriff Otis Shaw and Brownwood Police Chief M. O. Eidson returned Ford here. Ford faces additional charges in Coryell county, Comanche, Fort Worth, Cleburne and Granbury, Sheriff Shaw said.

MAN SHOT TO DEATH

AMARILLO, Dec. 30 (AP)—James A. Cherry, 48, of Amarillo was found shot to death in his parked automobile on the outskirts of town today. A coroner's verdict of suicide was returned.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Busby of Lubbock general delivery on birth of a daughter weighing 6 pounds 11½ ounces at 3:50 p. m. Thursday in Lubbock Memorial hospital. The father is a deputy constable.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert I. Roth of 3107 Thirty-first street on birth of a son weighing 7 pounds 14 ounces at 7:50 p. m. Thursday in West Texas hospital. The father is owner of Roth's Rite-Way store.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Manor of Levelland route 1 on birth of a son weighing 8 pounds 1¾ ounces at 1:35 a. m. Thursday in West Texas hospital. The father is a farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Blair of 2506 College on birth of a son weighing 7 pounds 1 ounce at 8:35 a. m. Thursday in West Texas hospital. The father is a carpenter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hasler of 2119 Twenty-ninth on birth of a daughter weighing 7 pounds 9 ounces at 9:50 a. m. Thursday in West Texas hospital. The father is a post office clerk.

Increased Postage Rates To Go Into Effect Saturday

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP) — Postage rate changes which will add an estimated $125,000,000 to the nation's annual mailing bill go into effect Saturday, January 1.

Involved are increases in a long list of postal services, including parcel post and air mail letters.

The changes involve one decrease—the rate for handling air mail postal cards, now five cents. This rate will be dropped to four cents on New Year's day and on January 10 the department will issue a new government four-cent air mail postal.

The air mail letter rate moves up from five to six cents per ounce, reverting to the rate in effect between 1934 and 1944. A new six-cent air mail stamp is scheduled to appear January 18.

Present first class surface mail rates— the three-cent letter and the one-cent postal card—continue in effect after January 1 and no changes are being made in the second class rates covering newspapers and magazines of general circulation.

$400,000 Damage Suit Filed In Death Of Dallas Oil Man

DALLAS, Dec. 30. (AP)— A $400,000 damage suit was filed today in 98th district court in Austin by survivors of Lee C. Harrison, Dallas oil man killed in a traffic accident in Austin Nov. 30.

The suit was filed by Johnson, Bohannon and Prescott, Dallas law firm, on behalf of the heirs, Mrs. Loula Mae Harrison, widow; a son, Thomas Clifton Harrison, of Sacramento, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie Webb, of Dallas, and Mrs. Lou Hughes, of Lubbock, and Andrew Jackson Harrison of Kent county, Lee Harrison's father.

Defendants are Patton's Inc., operators of a taxicab business, Joseph L. Dennis, cab driver, and Orville Blevins, Texas university student. Harrison was a passenger in Dennis' cab which was in collision with a car driven by Blevins, the petition said.

Harrison, president of the Prairie Oil Co., producers, earned $50,000 a year for the past five years, the petition pointed out.

AIR LINE MAKES CHANGE

LAS CRUCES, N. M., Dec. 30 (INS)—Las Cruces will become the southwestern terminal for Pioneer Airlines, replacing El Paso, it was announced today when the Civil Aeronautics board finally approved the move. The transfer will place Las Cruces in direct contact with cities on the 2,200 mile route now served by Pioneer.

Excess Profits Get Attention As Treasury Frets About Budget

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP) — Uncle Sam is having money troubles as 1948 closes and 1949 dawns. Income isn't keeping up with spending. So treasury officials are looking around for ways to get more revenue.

Right now the picture shapes up this way:

Individual income taxes look safe to stay the same in 1949 that they have been since they were cut in 1948—at least for the great majority of the 40-odd million income tax payers.

Corporations may have to begin paying higher taxes in 1949 to compensate for the $5 billion-a-year break individuals got last spring.

Administration sources indicate that President Truman will ask the new Congress for a bigger bite from the corporate profits he talked about so much in his election campaign.

Congress May Balk

The President may have no easy task getting Congress to go along, despite the new Democratic majorities, especially if he asks for a peacetime excess profits tax.

Two Democrats who will have great power as chairmen of the tax handling committees, Senator George (D-Ga) and Rep. Doughton (D-NC), already are on record as strongly opposed to an excess profits tax in particular.

President Truman denounced the individual tax cut during his campaign as a "rich man's bill"—he had vetoed it twice in 1948 and plugged instead a $40-a-person tax cut. So he may ask stiffer rates on individuals in upper income brackets.

Pamphlet Aids

But taxpayers can take consolation in the fact that the government, for the first time, will stress instructions on how to hold their payments as low as the law allows.

The No. 2 tax development of 1948 for taxpayers in general was the preparation by the Internal Revenue bureau of a 16-page pamphlet, "How to Prepare Your U. S. Income Tax Returns," referring to returns due between Jan. 1 and Mar. 15.

The pamphlet breaks precedent by telling the taxpayers, in simple language, specified things he can claim for deductions as well as things he cannot claim. It will be made available to all, and will explain about the changes made by the 1948 tax cut bill.

The revenue bureau also arranged to do some closer checking to prevent cheating.

EINSTEIN FACES OPERATION

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 —(AP)— Prof. Albert Einstein, 69, will undergo an abdominal operation within "the next day or so." Dr. Morris Hinenburg, executive director of Brooklyn Jewish hospital, made the announcement today.

Rainmaking Law Is Urged By Forrestal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Forrestal thinks there ought to be a law about rainmaking—to protect rainmakers from lawsuits.

His annual report says the Navy has drafted a bill to "safeguard contractors engaged in cloud modification experiments for the government from claims of third persons arising out of such experiments."

Disputes already have come into the courts over the results of artificial rain-making with dry ice and other materials. Some people don't want rain on their property at a particular time; others think it unfair to "milk" a raincloud before it can reach their farms.

Forrestal didn't mention this specifically, but he said that "research and development in cloud modification and rainmaking activities is seriously impaired by the lack of authorization" to protect the experimenters from law suits.

Other sources said they understand the Commerce department is considering asking for a law requiring a license for cloud-seeding experiments. This would be designed to prevent casual and possibly damaging experiments by irresponsible persons or organizations.

Odum Sets Stage For Non-Stop Honolulu To New York Flight

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30. (INS) —Capt. William P. Odom, round-the-world flyer, and his crated light plane will leave San Francisco tonight for Honolulu for his long-distance flight attempt.

Odom will attempt to fly the 185-horsepower Beachcraft Bonanza non-stop from Honolulu to New York soon after New Year's day. The take off is tentatively set for Monday.

Odom and the plane will be flown to Honolulu on the Pan American freighter clipper "Pacific Trader." They are due to leave at approximately 11 p. m. PDT.

Searchers Comb Baytown Area For Trace Of Missing Hunter

BAYTOWN, Dec. 30. (U.P) — Highway patrolmen and volunteers searched the Baytown vicinity today for a hunter who disappeared from his home near Highlands Tuesday.

Missing was Fletcher J. White, 38, who was last seen carrying a .22 caliber rifle. Members of his family said he had planned a hunting trip.

HONEYMOON FINANCED BY JUDGE—Rose Weidman (center), 24, and her husband, Erwin (right), 33, thank Superior Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman (left) of Chicago before departing on a honeymoon arranged and paid for by the judge, to whom they came for a divorce. Judge Hoffman learned the couple, married in 1943, never had time for a honeymoon trip and made the arrangements when the husband's attorney suggested the marriage might be saved if the couple could leave their two children with someone and get away by themselves for a while. British Expect New 'Wonder Drug' To Open Fly Infested Africa To Ranching Program

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 30.—The British government hailed today the discovery of a "wonder drug" which experts said would open an area of Africa twice as big as the United States to vast production and reshape the economic map of the world.

Antrycide, a white crystalline powder, was described as the prospective conqueror of the dread tsetse fly, immunizing and curing cattle of the disease.

A Great Advance Claimed

The reported potential victory over the little brown fly whose bite has meant sleeping sickness and other virulent disease was announced by British officials as one of the great scientific advances of the era.

They said with antrycide and supplementary projects Britain expected within a few years to have millions of head of cattle and millions of acres of fertile soil in Africa where there now is only thin soil, scrub bushes and little meat production.

By coincidence or otherwise, the timing of the announcement carried a practical impact. Miguel Miranda, director of the economic council of Argentina, is due here soon to discuss a new Argentine-British meat contract.

May Challenge Argentina

For years Argentina has been a basic source of meat for Britain. The British press unanimously warned Argentina today that its leadership in world meat production was about to be challenged.

"Africa will break Argentine beef cartels with cattle ranches four times as big," said the bannerline of the News Chronicle.

Antrycide was reported already in mass production. Authorities said enough to inoculate 2,000,000 head of cattle would be available next year. A British team already was in Tanganyika, considering the development of cattle ranching.

It was a product of the five years of research by an imperial chemical industries team in Manchester. Dr. F. H. S. Curd, leader of the team, did not live to hear the discovery acclaimed. He was killed in a railway accident Nov. 30. Just before he lost consciousness he asked officials to make sure documents he was carrying fell in safe hands.

Underwent Hardships

The research began some years ago. The first results were noted in Manchester. But the workers, remembering the escape of the Colorado beetle, were afraid the tsetse flies might break loose and infect British cattle.

So the entire laboratory was moved into the wilds of Kenka. Warriors of the blood-drinking Masai tribe were hired to protect the guinea-pig cattle from attacks by lions. One British scientist was treed by a rhinoceros. Once hordes of soldier ants invaded the laboratory and ate the test mice.

Dr. Curd's chief colleague was Dr. David Garnet Davy, 36.

For years the tsetse, only a little larger than the common house fly, had been winning its campaign against civilization and extending its malevolent rule over an ever-mounting acreage.

Now, the experts said, the new drug is expected to clear an area of tropic and semi-tropic Africa 75 times as big as Britain and four times as large as Argentina.

The land to be reclaimed covers Sierra Leone, Nigeria, Kenya, the Belgian Congo, Angola, Rhodesia, Tanganyika, part of the Sudan and southwest Africa.

NO MORE MIRACLES?

Missionary Goes To German Post

The missionary work being sponsored in Germany by Broadway Church of Christ and sister churches throughout the nation will be supplemented by Weldon Bennett, widely known West Texas minister who is en route to Germany, it was announced today.

Bennett, his wife and three children will spend a few days at Lawton, Okla., where he will speak before going on to Jackson Ave. Church of Christ in Memphis, Tenn., which will sponsor his stay in Europe.

After speaking there, the Bennetts will proceed to New York to board the S. S. America for Southampton, England. They will go on to Switzerland where Bennett will attend a language school to improve his knowledge of German.

Preached In Area

Born at Ralls, Bennett has preached at many South Plains towns, including Acuff, Littlefield and Anton. Mrs. Bennett is a native of Lubbock and is a sister of Roy Fouts, former minister at Levelland.

Bennett attended Abilene Christian college and obtained his master's degree from George Pepperdine college, Los Angeles, Calif.

His decision to go to Germany for missionary work was made after he heard Otis Gatewood, Lubbock minister sponsored by Broadway Church of Christ, speak here last August during a visit Gatewood is director of a mission in Frankfurt.

U. S. Wool Support Program Announced

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP) — The Agriculture department announced today it will support grower prices of wool in 1949 at a national average of 42 cents a pound, grease basis.

This is approximately the same average as the 1948 support program.

Prices will be supported by government purchases.

As was the case this year, the purchase program will be operated under agreements with private trade handlers who will act as buying and selling agents of the government.

The department said, howver, that some changes will be made in buying prices of certain grades and types of shorn and pulled wool.

In general, lower prices will be set for the least desirable types and increases for the more desirable market types.

The government has been supporting wool prices since 1943. In that period it has bought 1,539,428,000 pounds of wool, and sold all but about 142,900,000 pounds.

Drug Charge Filed Against Two Texans In Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 30. (AP) — Two Texans halted on a south Arkansas highway for speeding were charged today with violation of the federal narcotics act.

Narcotics agent Harley Anderson, who announced filing of the charges against Paul Kaufman, 43, Texarkana, and Normal Eugene Wright, 31, Dallas, said about 1,750 hypodermic tablets of assorted opiates were found in their automobile.

Kaufman and Wright also are charged on a state felony count of possessing burglary tools. They are held on that charge at Hope in Hempstead county, where they were arrested.

Former Indian Commissioner Under Wilson Dies Of Old Age

FORT WORTH, Dec. 30. (AP)—Cato Sells, who was commissioner of Indian affairs in both administrations of President Wilson, died at 1:25 p. m. today at his Fort Worth home. He was 89.

Cause of his death was given as old age. He had been in ill health for several months.

Sells was a banker and lawyer in Cleburne for many years.

Happy New Year

It is a pleasure to the employees of West Texas Gas Company to provide a service which contributes daily so much to the comfort, convenience and health . . . and thus to the happiness . . . of so many people. It is a pleasure too to report that, during the year just closed, we have extended gas service to more than 6,000 new homes and businesses. West Texas Gas Company invested more than $2,250,000.00 in 1948 to provide dependable, efficient and economical gas service to both old and new customers.

Resolved This New Year

That during 1949 we shall strive to furnish you the very best Natural Gas Service that we can. We have completed our 1948 building and expansion program, and already the 1949 program is taking shape. This program will require the investment of an additional $2,500,000.00. The construction and improvement projects scheduled for 1949 are to enable us to continue furnishing good service to our present customers and to keep abreast of the rapid growth of this West Texas area.

Wildcat Test Will Be Drilled In Devonian Of Gaines County

A wildcat test into the Devonian of northwest Gaines county is to be drilled by Pacific Western Oil corporation at its No. 1 Oil Development company fee.

This venture is the former Texas Gulf Producing Company No. I Oil Development drilled earlier this year to 8,043 feet in the barren lower Permain lime. It was abandoned on that depth.

Pacific Western is to re-open the project and make hole to 12,000 feet for a Devonian investigation. Texas Gulf retains an interest in the exploration and the surrounding acreage.

The drilling is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 315 block G, CCSD&RGNG survey. That puts it about 10 miles northwest of the town of Seminole.

Wildcat Location Staked

Location was staked for an 8,500-foot rotary tool wildcat in Southwest Scurry county, 13 miles southwest of the town of Snyder, by Humble Oil & Refining Company.

It is to be that concern's No. 1 R. Bishop, et al, located 660 feet from the west and south lines of section 164, block 97, H&TC survey. Elevation is 2,270 feet.

This drillsite is about three miles south of Lion Oil Company a Pennsylvania lime above 6,617 feet.

Discovery Flows

Lion Oil Company No. 2 E. C. McLaughlin, Southwest Scurry County discovery from a Pennsylvania lime, 10 miles southwest of Snyder, and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 197, block 97, H&TC survey, flowed 189 barrels of oil in 12 hours, through various sized chokes, ranging downward from a one-half inch, and was still flowing to test and complete.

The petroleum was coming from perforated section at 6,592-6,614 feet. Total depth is at 6,617 feet. The 7-inch pipe had been cemented on bottom, and the plug had been drilled out to 6,615.5 feet.

After the perforation of six holes to the foot had been shot in the pipe the well was swabbed for a short time, and it kicked off and started flowing. No water has been developed.

This new discovery is four miles west of the Shattell field where the production so far developed is also from a Pennsylvanian lime formation.

Project Is Bottomed

Placid Oil Company No. 1 Davis North-Central Scurry County possible discovery, six and one-half miles north and a little east of Snyder, and 660 feet from north and 1,930 feet from east lines of section 387, block 97, H&TC survey, was bottomed at 7,905 feet in the Ellenburger lime, and was preparing to run and cement a string of 5½-inch casing.

A drillstem test was run at 7,830-7,905 feet. The tool was open two hours. Recovery was 270 feet of gas mud, and 1,440 feet of salty, sulphur water. There were no indications of oil.

The project entered the Ellenburger at 7,730 feet. That formation had developed slight signs of oil and gas before it entered the water zone.

It is expected that operator will test the Ellenburger to try to develop commercial production, and if that effort proves unsuccessful, the project will be plugged back to about 7,200 feet to investigate two line sections in the Pennsylvanian above that point, where free oil was developed in sufficient amounts to indicate that they can be completed for an oil well and a new discovery.

Drillstem Test Run

Sun Oil Company and The Ohio Oil Company No. 1 Helms, Northeast of Scurry County Ellenburger exploration, 20 miles northeast of Snyder, and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 636, block 97, H&TC survey, ran a one and one-half hour drillstem test in the Ellenburger at 2,210-35 feet.

There was a light blow of air at the surface for 45 minutes, and it then died. Recovery was 35 feet of gas cut drilling mud, with a sweet odor.

The venture drilled on down to 7,237 feet and is now taking a drillstem test at 7,210-37 feet.

Three Escaped Convicts Caught After Stealing Policeman's Car

HOLLISTER, Calif., Dec. 30. (AP)—A highway patrol sergeant and a deputy sheriff captured three escaped convicts near Salinas late this afternoon without firing a shot. The trio climbed meekly on command from the car they had stolen earlier from a Greenfield police officer.

Sheriff A. G. Fruits said the three were captured at Paicines, by Highway Patrol Sgt. C. L. Johnson and Deputy Sheriff George Bacon.

The three convicts were identified as Olen Graimes, 37, and his brother Robert, 34, Oklahomans sentenced for kidnapping; and Arthur Wilson, alias John Stutsman, 37, Californian serving a term for robbery.

They were being returned tonight to Soledad, whence they had escaped earlier today.

The three and a fourth escapee who was recaptured shortly after the break had gone first to Greenfield, near Soledad. There they broke into police chief Tom Wilder's home, bound his wife and escaped with his car, gun, and uniform.

The fourth escapee, not immediately identified, was recaptured peaceably at Greenfield, Sheriff McCoy said.

Stateless Foreigners Seek To Flee China

SHANGHAI, Dec. 30. (AP)—Thousands of White Russians and other stateless foreigners in Shanghai are all dressed up but have no place to go.

The International Refugee organizaticn is trying to find them havens somewhere in the world. But so far it has had little luck, except in the case of displaced Jews who are being sent to Palestine.

Some Go To Tokyo

About 150 White Russians are booked to be flown to Tokyo for temporary haven. Fifty of them have already made the trip and the other 100 are waiting for the weather to clear.

The situation is becoming serious for most stateless persons left behind — displaced persons from both world wars. They have sold their homes and apartments and are packed and ready, expecting the Communist pressure from the north to reach Shanghai at any time.

IRO officials here said possible havens for the DPs are being discussed at present on higher levels —"much higher levels than the local offices of the IRO."

The solution depends on the willingness of one or more countries to open their doors to the refugees.

TWO JAPS SENTENCED

TOKYO, Dec. 30. (AP)—Japanese army lieutenants Noboru Hashiyama and Teruo Akamine today were sentenced to life imprisonment for beheading captured B-29 pilots after Emperor Hirohito had announced Japan's decision to surrender.

Rites Slated Saturday For Levelland Accident Victim

LEVELLAND, Dec. 30. (Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. Altus M. Baker, 27, who died about 10:15 p. m. Wednesday in Phillips-Dupre hospital here from injuries received early Wednsday morning in an automobile collision on the Lubbock-Levelland highway east of here, will be conducted at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in First Methodist church of Levelland.

Rev. Jordan Grooms, pastor, is to officiate. Burial will be in Tech Memorial Park cemetery at Lubbock, with Plains Funeral home of Levelland directing.

Survivors include the husband; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Weaver of Levelland; three sisters, Mrs. J. B. Reese, Mrs. O. D. Speers, and Mrs. Clyde Creig, all of Levelland; and one brother, A. C. Weaver of Tahoka.

Jet Plane Pilots Developing Own Colorful Language That Jars High Brass At Pentagon

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. — "A wick willy got into his blow torch, sparked up to a steady boil, turned up the wick and leaped off."

That sentence would be enough to send a psychiatrist hiking in search of another psychiatrist. But to jet pilots, who live in a world all their own, it makes sense.

Simple After All

What the boys were telling one another was that a pilot got into his F-80 jet-propelled "shooting star," started the engine, waited for it to warm up and took wing into that wonderful yonder on a training flight.

Such talk even jars the top-drawer brass at the Pentagon, where double-talk is a thing of professional pride and even the janitors respect rank among themselves by reason of seniority.

The jumble in the first paragraph above came by mail from Williams Air Force base, near Phoenix, Ariz.

The commander there is Col. Robert Scott, who wrote the best selling "God Is My Co-Pilot."

Jargon Complicated

Col. Bob says that his crew of jet cadets about to graduate as second looeys pick up their new language almost as fast as they do the technics of jet flying —for the simple reason the "weather has been too darn nice and pilots don't get enough experience flying in soupy weather. It's always fair and sunny."

Getting back to the jargon of the boys who fly planes that travel 500 miles an hour—and up:

In addition to a "wick willy,' a pilot is called a "throttle jockey," a "firecan jockey," a "flame flier" or a "pipe pilot."

The plane itself is called a "blow torch," a "flame thrower," a "squirt," a "blast furnace" or a "stove pipe."

When you start an engine you don't just start it. You "build a fire" or "spark it up." A smooth running engine either "cooks" or is a "steady boil."

When a mechanic inspects an engine he wouldn't be so simple as to say so. He'd tell a pal he was "trimming the wick," "tending the burner" or "checking the pipe."

The mechanic in the jet hangar is no longer a "grease monkey." He's a "kerosene tender."

And the pilot, coming in, doesn't chop the throttle, like he used to. The jet pilot "turns down the wick." And when the engine gives a wheeze and starts to die, it "flames out."

In Arizona when a jet man over-shoots the runway he does really more than that. He "lands among the tules." "Tules" are trees which grow on the sands there. Or the unfortunate fellow "joins the desert club."

A fuel gauge is a "liquidmeter." And a snoopy private citizen looking over the plane is a "propeller inspector."

Say, a couple of pilots meet one another on the way to the flight line on a nice day and the greeting they exchange is "shore a thrusty day, ain't it?" That means the atmosphere is just right for a jet-propelled junket. Thrust replaced horsepower as the unit of power in jets.

We've been through the class. Thrusty day, sir!

Armed Forces Offer Commissions To Qualified Former Officers

Former male officers of any of the armed forces who meet certain age and college training requirements may receive appointments as second lieutenants in the regular Army, Major Harold Fulghum, who has charge of the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station in room 203 of the federal building, has been notified.

Department of the Army circular 382 listed the following requirements: That applicants have served a minimum of one year as a commissioned officer in any one of the armed forces and have a baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university, although a waiver will be considered if the applicant has 120 semester hours gained by attendance at an accredited college or university.

"The age limits are from 21 to 27, inclusive," said Major Fulghum. However, he said, applicants over 27 may add to their ages the total period they served as commissioned officers of the Army between Dec. 31, 1947, and the date of appointment; or may add to their ages the total period served as commissioned officers in the armed forces between Dec. 7, 1941, and Sept. 2, 1945. No applicant will be considered who is more than 31.

Applications will be directed to the Army commander concerned, except in cases of applications from those on active duty with the Army and those who hold commissions in the National Guard or the Organized Reserve, which will be made through other appropriate channels, according to the announcement. Other information is available at the recruiting station.

Woman Says Husband Snubs Less Wealthy Friends; Gets Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Dec. 30. (INS)—Mrs. Adah Wilson McCormick Tait, 44, widow of Chicago industrialist Harold F. McCormick, divorced George Tait, III, 38, of Richmond, Va., today.

She charged extreme cruelty and said that her husband, one-time aircraft worker, was courteous and gracious to her wealthy friends but snubbed others who worked for a living.

Lubbock To Greet Arrival Of New Year

Business Firms, Offices To Close

Most of Lubbock's private business firms and all federal, state, county and city offices will be closed all day Saturday as residents greet the New Year with all types of observances, from special church services to gay private parties.

Public entertainment places have made plans for special celebrations to give those so desiring an opportunity to bring in (or be brought in by) the new year with riotous merrymaking.

Though county offices in general will be closed, the county commissioners court will hold a special meeting to inaugurate incoming officers.

Lubbock banks plan to close Saturday only, and will be open as usual today, bank officials said Thursday morning.

Several motion picture theaters plan special New Year's Eve previews.

Many To Attend Games

Numerous Lubbock persons will begin leaving today to attend bowl football games, principally at the Cotton bowl in Dallas, where Southern Methodist and Oregon are playing, and at the Sun bowl in El Paso, where West Virginia and Texas School of Mines are playing.

Capt. E. L. Posey, commanding officer of the district Texas highway patrol office, had a word of caution for those planning New Year's highway trips.

"Heavier traffic than usual is indicated," Capt. Posey said. "We would like to ask the cooperation of the public for safe driving and careful observance of highway regulations in order that we will all be here next year."

Church Service Set

A traditional union communion service beginning at 11 o'clock tonight at First Presbyterian church will see participation of many Lubbock churches. The service is under direction of Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor of the church, and of First Methodist and First Christian churches.

The program includes "The Litany of Praise," led by Rev. Claude E. Canterbury, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church; "The Prayer of Confession and Pardon," followed by the Lord's Prayer, led by Rev. C. A. Bickley, pastor of Asbury Methodist church.

Rev. Hubert Bratcher will lead "The Beatitudes." "The Scripture and the Unison Petition," will be led by Rev. David L. Zacharias, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church. Elton Plowman will sing "The Twenty-third Psalm," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Plowman.

Dr. Lewis and Rev. William F. Rogan will preside at the distribution of elements, with a prayer of

Pan-Tex Opposition Abandoned

Lubbock interests will not protest the acquisition of the Pan-Tex Ordnance plant by Texas Technological college and have so notified the War Assets administration in Washington.

Decision not to protest the college's acquisition of the 16,000-acre tract, located 17 miles Northeast of Amarillo, carried with it the cancellation of a hearing, already set up by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce with WAA and scheduled for January 5, in Washington. The decision, unanimous on the part of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce directorate, was made on the unanimous recommendation of a 10-man special committee of the chamber, after members had conferred with the Tech directors, President D. M. Wiggins and studied the question over the past four weeks.

Lubbock business interests had been wary of the Pan-Tex project due to suggestions that its acquisition would result in large numbers of Tech students being moved there and, also, in a division of legislative appropriations, never sufficient to permit Tech to do the things it needs to do here. However, members of the college directorate, and Doctor Wiggins, unanimously assured the chamber of commerce group that acquisition of Pan-Tex "will in no way abridge, weaken, or interfere with operations at the mother plant in Lubbock."

President Wiggins said Thursday that he expects WAA to offer a contract to Texas Tech covering Pan-Tex transaction within the next few days. Broadly, the contract is expected to give Tech operational rights for the next 20 years, with the property to be used for agricultural and other experimental study. At the end of 20 years, the plant may then become the property of Texas Tech, in fee simple. The contract, however, will contain the agreement that the federal government may take the plant back at any time within the next two decades in case of a national emergency.

Value of the Pan-Tex property, which contains scores of buildings of various types, is carried on government books at $35,000,000. However, its worth to Texas Tech, in dollars, is unknown, since much of the equipment and many of the buildings cannot be used by the college. Actual worth to the college, if it ever gains ownership of the plant, is likely to be less than $10,000,000.

The Pan-Tex plant during World War II was used for the manufacture of ammunition.

RAILROAD MAN TO RETIRE

Prices Of Basic Foods Decline

(By The Associated Press)

Prices of basic foodstuffs have been drastically slashed during the last six months by grocers and butchers. A survey today revealed that the cuts were generally in line with a corresponding decline in wholesale food prices.

The statistical firm of Dun and Bradstreet reported yesterday that wholesale food prices dropped more than 14 per cent in 1948 as result of a 23 weeks decline from the all-time high reached July 13.

Ham Is Plentiful

Meanwhile, it was reported that plentiful supplies of ham are available this week to help out in planning dinner menus for New Year's day.

Shoppers will find the prices approximately unchanged from the past couple of weeks, with smoked, ready to eat ham averaging from about 59 to 69 cents a pound.

Fresh ham, usually a few cents cheaper, also is at an average minimum of around 59 cents a pound. Food spokesmen say this price is "about as close to the retailers' break-even point as any meat now being sold."

Poultry Prices Steady

Grocers in many cities also are featuring canned apple sauce this week to accompany that holiday ham. The food is abundant at around 27 cents for two 20-ounce cans.

Most meats and poultry are selling at approximately the same price levels as last week, including turkeys. Up a few cents a pound in some cities are cauliflower, brussels sprouts and snap beans.

However, food prices as a whole are down considerably from the peak levels of last July.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food index this week was back down to the year's low level of two weeks ago—$6.21—as compared with $6.23 the previous week and $7.24 a year ago.

The index represents the total wholesale cost of a pound each of 31 general use foods. Because of the high food prices last summer, the average for this year set a new high record of $6.82, a gain of four per cent over the 1947 average, and 37½ per cent higher

Odd Occupational Hazards Are Met By Lubbock Meter Readers

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

Variety is the spice of life, so the time-worn cliche goes, and in one occupation at least, it holds as true today as it ever did.

Take it from the boys who dash down your alley, take a quick glance at your meter, be it water, gas, or electricity, and then gallop on to the next. You never know, they say, what's coming next.

Like the man who hurried across a certain back yard to read the light meter on the rear wall of the house. Halfway he stopped in his tracks, frozen at the sight of the longest snake he had ever seen.

The lady of the house, somewhat of an artist, it developed, had painted her garden hose to resemble a diamond back rattler.

City Is Zoned

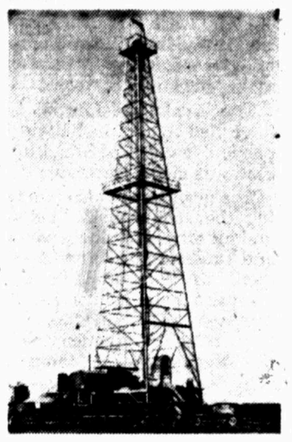

Or the water meter reader who gingerly lifted the lid of a water meter box, only to drop it again quickly. The meter inside was obscured by broken glass jars of spoiled and decaying food.

The city water and light department employs three readers, who must average reading 300 meters per day to get around to all meters in a month's time. There are about 22,000 such water and light meters in the city.

The city is divided into 20 zones, with four meter books to a zone. Readers are assigned different meter zones to read each month, and seldom do they draw exactly the same meter route they had the previous month.

Southwestern Public Service Co. has five meter readers for Lubbock and surrounding towns, with 10 zones in the city. A new set up is planned, however, whereby two readers will be assigned to surrounding towns such as Monroe, Idalou, Ropes, Wolfforth, Meadow and Shallowater, while the balance of the readers will work Lubbock. Under the new plan, about 20 days per month will be consumed in reading meters in Lubbock. With the previous system, it took about 10 days.

John H. Austin, who has read meters for Southwestern Public Service Co. for about 12 years, estimates that in his time he has read approximately 250,000 meters.

Dogs Are Hazard

Domestic pets, especially dogs, are an occupational hazard. Most meter readers feel that dogs, like yard fences (which cut down on readers' speed from house to house), should be abolished.

They say (and probably the mailman and milkman will agree) that dogs can be handled more easily if their owners are not at home. Not that they advocate cruelty to the canines, but they find they usually can enforce the idea of respect upon the dogs without hostility from the owners.

Other pets, too, create situations at times. There was the meter reader who knocked on the back door of a Lubbock residence to get permission to go in to read an inside meter. (These inside meters, incidentally, are few and

A GOOD PROGRAM

Worthy Recognition

RADIO give-away programs as a whole probably would have been in a much less perilous position as to permanence if more were on the order of the "Heart of Gold" broadcasts, heard over ABC and KFYO, which honored Mrs. Grace Hurd, of Lubbock, recently.

Mrs. Hurd received recognition and a very substantial reward for acts of humanitarian charity out of limited means and wholly without thought, or desire, for credit, or material compensation for her actions. It was due largely to chance and reportorial alertness that a story in The Avalanche-Journal told of her benevolence, resulting in her "nomination" by a reader for the "Heart of Gold" distinction.

Her selection was heart-warming for many reasons. Her example was an inspiration which cannot, conceivably, be lost upon all the thousands of listeners who were told of it. And the material rewards, although unsolicited and unexpected, went to someone who can make good use of them.

The Avalanche-Journal is proud to have had a part in having guided this particular cargo of bread upon the waters to its richly deserving destination.

The newspapers also join in commending the sponsors, the network, KFYO and all others for their parts in creating and presenting a type of air entertainment which symbolizes diligence and compassion in identifying and rewarding some of those who, in their quiet way, actually practice the precepts of the Brotherhood of Mankind.

Misfit McKellar

TWO RECENT incidents in which the belligerent, 80-year old Senator Kenneth D. McKellar, of Tennessee, figured in Washington were of trifling importance in themselves. He claims to have taken pokes at a couple of much younger newspapermen. Naturally they did not hit back.

The incidents become disturbing only when considered along with the fact that this old man of notoriously ungovernable temper and rages is scheduled to become the presiding officer of the U. S. Senate. Unless precedent is ignored—and the Senate is a stickler for precedent—Senator McKellar will attain this high and important position solely because he has been in the Senate longer than any other Democrat.

This man, who is subject to unpredictable extremes of bias and prejudice, and who is violently intolerant of criticism or opposition, will have great authority in that position in determining the personnels of important committees and groups, in deciding who will be heard in debate and in pigeon-holing proposed legislation with little regard for public and senatorial preferences.

The presiding officer of the senate necessarily must have far-reaching discretionary power in conducting the proceedings of that body. Otherwise, the upper house might never accomplish anything. But they are powers which can be justified only when exercised with reasonable degrees of impartiality, tolerance and patience.

They are not powers which safely may be entrusted to a man who flies into ungovernable rages at little or no provocation. They are not powers to be placed in the hands of such a man as Senator McKellar, whose recent outbursts were typical of others during recent years.

WITHIN the week, the cook and cleaning woman (one and the same) whom they'd had until then, was suddenly gone, and they were alone now in the house.

He asked her about this, after two successive days without her, only noting her departure, manlike, after it had already taken place. "What's become of Amelia?"

"I shipped her Tuesday," she said shortly.

"But I thought we owed her three or four weeks back wages. How were you able to pay her?"

"I didn't."

"And she agreed to go none the less?"

"She had no choice. I ordered her to. She will get her money when we have it ourselves. She knows that."

"Aren't you getting anyone else?"

"No," she said, "I can manage," and added something under her breath that he didn't hear quite clearly.

"What?" he asked in involuntary surprise. He thought she had said, "for the little time there is."

"I said, for a little time, that is," she repeated adroitly.

AND manage she did. For two full days she cooked, she washed the dishes, she swung a broom all up and down the stairs. Then on the second night of this apprenticeship—

He heard her scream out suddenly in the kitchen, and there was the crash of a dropped dish as it slipped from her hands.

He flung down the paper he had been browsing through and darted in there. She was standing before the steaming washtub. "What is it, did you scald yourself?"

She was pointing, horrified.

"A rat," she choked. "It ran straight between my feet as I stood here. Into there." And with a sickened grimace, "Oh, the size of it! The horrid look!"

He took up a poker and plunged it into the crevice at meeting-place of wall and floor that she had indicated, working it vigorously to and fro.

She watched a moment. "What are you trying to do?" she said coldly.

"Why, kill it," he panted.

"That is not the way to be rid of them!" Her foot gave a clout of impatience against the floor. "You kill one, and there are a dozen left."

She flung down her apron, strode from the room and out to the front of the house. Sensing some purpose he could not divine, but disquieted by it, he put down the poker after a moment, struggled to his feet, and went after her. He found her in the hall, bonneted and shawled, to his astonishment, in readiness to go out.

"Where are you going?"

"Since you don't know enough to, I am going to the pharmacist myself, to have him give me something that will exterminate them," she retorted ungraciously.

"Now? At this hour? Why, it's past 9; he'll be closed long ago."

"There is another, on the other side of town, that stays open until 10; you know that as well as I do." And she added with ill-humored decision, as though he were to blame for their presence in some way. "I will not go back into that kitchen and run the risk of being attacked. They will be running over our very bed, yet, while we sleep!"

"Very well, I'll go myself," he offered hastily. "No need for you to go, at this time of night."

She relented somewhat. She took off her shawl, though still frowning a trifle that he had not seen his duty sooner. She took him to the door.

"Don't go back in there," he cautioned, "until I come back."

"Nothing could prevail on me to," she agreed fearfully.

She closed the door after him.

WHEN he came back he found that she had returned to her task in the kitchen none the less in spite of his admonition and her own fear; a bit of conscientious courage which he could not help but secretly admire.

"Did you see any more since I was gone?"

"I thought I saw it come back to that hole, but I threw something at it, and it did not come out again."

He showed her what the druggist had given him. "This is to be spread around outside their holes and hiding places."

"Did he ask any questions?" she asked somewhat irrelevantly.

"No, only whether or not we had any children about the house."

"He did not ask which house it was?"

"No. He's rather elderly and doddering, you know; he seemed anxious to be rid of me and close for the night."

She half extended her hand.

"No, don't touch it. I'll do it for you."

He stripped off his coat, rolled up his shirt sleeves, and squatting on his haunches before the offending orifice, shook out a little powdery trail of the substance here and there.

She watched, with housewifely approval.

"That will do. Not too much, or our feet will track it about."

"It has to be renewed every two or three days," he told her.

He put it on the shelf, at last, where the spice canisters were, but well over to the side.

"Make sure you wash your hands, now," she cautioned him. He had been about to neglect doing so, until her reminder. She held the huck-towel for him to dry them on, when he was through.

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

ARE YOU an introvert? And, if you are, does that mean that you are an inferior individual?

BRANDEIS

We were discussing this question last night with some friends of ours.

The way it came about was that one of the friends, a decided extrovert, had been snooping around on my desk and found a newspaper clipping I had cut out.

It was a letter sent to the editor by a reader who is apparently a member of that great fraternity "the intelligentsia."

To deviate just a moment, I have never had much use for the intelligentsia, although that is no reflection upon Mr. Philpott of Hollywood.

I know too many members of the intelligentsia who claim to despise money. But I suspect that the principal reason why they claim to despise money is that they haven't any and don't know how to make enough to buy the things they really want.

These professional intellectuals always remind me of Communists who claim to despise capitalists.

Give the average Communist enough money—from five dollars up—and you can make a capitalist out of him overnight.

I have seen members of the intelligentsia come into some money, by inheritance, lottery, or otherwise, and become normal human beings in a jiffy.

As a matter of fact, I have seen many a highly developed intellectual make a big enough ass of himself after a few drinks to act as a model for a sculptor's statue to be called "The Moron!"

However, that isn't what I started to talk about.

Introversion is my theme.

The writer of the letter describes the fact that introversion is so often mistaken for inferiority.

"Introversion has led to our modern research laboratories and our widespread experimental activities," he says in his letter to the Citizen-News.

"Intelligent, successful extroverts often wish that their lives could have been broader."

PERSONALLY, I am an introvert, and I certainly envy those extroverts who can shake everybody's hand and make Tom, Dick or Harry believe that he is the one person they like better than anybody else—until the next Tom, Dick or Harry comes along.

This friend of mine who found that clipping on my desk had no business to go around my house, snooping.

As a matter of fact, whenever he comes to the house, I lock my desk and hide everything that is in the least private.

But I can't get mad at the guy. He exudes gaiety and happiness. He loves the world—and, it seems, the world loves him.

He is a very successful sales manager for a big insurance firm and he has sold me policies that I need about as much as a hole in the head.

Yes, I envy him. But would I want to be he? Not for a million dollars.

By being an introvert I have discovered my best friend—me; and my worst enemy—me. And thus the three of us can never be lonesome. That's all the crowd we need.

ON LABOR BUILDUP

Tobin Faces Fight

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Secretary Maurice J. Tobin banks on his tremendous popularity around the White House to aid him in rebuilding the now decrepit Labor department into one of the most powerful units of the government. But his expansive program will face heavy opposition on Capitol Hill.

TUCKER

The handsome and energetic Bostonian, who endeared himself to the President by accepting a Cabinet offer at a time when it appeared that he might be out of work next January 20, makes no bones about his plan to make his department an all-out, pro-labor headquarters instead of an impartial referee in disputes between the workers and management.

"I want a department," he said recently, "in which all federal laws are administered. I want a department that will be what Samuel Gompers wanted it to be—labor's voice in the President's councils."

MACHINE: Among the agencies which Secretary Tobin wants to bring under his wing are the U. S. Employment Service board, the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, and the Bureau of Mines insofar as its activities relate to workers' safety.

Most of these units are now independent or herded under other agencies such as Federal Security and Interior.

If Mr. Tobin can magnetize them into his organization, which is now only a shell as a result of pruning by recent Congresses, he will have the second most politically powerful machine at the Nation's Capital. Agriculture would still rank first, a title which it won in the November 2 election.

PARTISANSHIP: Union labor leaders will back Secretary Tobin in his demand for more power. It is probable that President Truman will go along with them because he is eternally grateful for the labor turnout on election day. He still figures that urban factory workers were responsible for his victory.

However, there will be stiff resistance on Capitol Hill to transforming this department into a labor annex, as Mr. Tobin plans. That unit is admittedly labor-minded now, with one Assistant Secretary drawn from the AF of L and one from the CIO. Never before was this agency a more avowed friend of organized labor than it is at the present moment.

Mr. Tobin boasts of his partisanship to the unions, as few of his predecessors have done. He regards himself, perhaps rightly, as their spokesman in the presidential family, just as the Secretary of Commerce and the Secretary of Agriculture are supposed to speak up for industry and the farmers, respectively.

CONCILIATION: Moving the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service and the National Labor Relations board into such an admittedly pro-labor department, however, might embitter relations between labor and management and produce industrial strife rather than peace.

NLRB now administers the Taft-Hartley Act, and will presumably supervise the operation of any substitute legislation. Both units are now independent bodies.

Both the NLRB and the Conciliation Service under the direction of Cyrus S. Ching, former vice-president and labor relations expert of the United States Rubber company, have won the confidence of management, whose co-operation is essential in ironing out industrial difficulties and in settling disputes.

CRITICS: Mr. Ching's only critics have been John L. Lewis, Henry A. Wallace and Governor Thomas E. Dewey, and the latter's attack on this agency caused amazement even among his own supporters.

But if the Conciliation and NLRB agencies are handed over to the kind of a lopsided Labor department which Mr. Tobin has in mind, employers might be less liable to cooperate in the disputes expected to accompany labor's 1949 demand for another round of wage increases.

SPAIN: President Truman has quietly asserted his new, post-election authority in the field of foreign affairs by blocking American recognition of Franco's Spain.

And he did so in the face of demands for a friendlier attitude toward Madrid by such eminents as national defense experts, James A Farley, Eric Johnston and Senator Chan Gurney, chairman — until January — of the Senate Armed Services committee.

The movement to end the boycott of the Spanish dictator was making great headway until Mr. Truman stopped it. The argument in favor had three strong points:

(1) The need of the Pyrenees as a possible defense line if Russia should overrun the European Continent in a future war; (2) Spanish manpower; (3) Spain's strategic position athwart the Straits of Gibraltar. Even Secretaries Marshall and Forrestal were influenced by these considerations.

But President Truman recognized that recognition would be an affront to liberals in this country and overseas. It would give Stalin another propaganda weapon against us, and he has enough already.

It is hoped that those who found a hermit in Alaska who had been out of touch with world news for 18 years will not be cruel enough to fill him in on what has happened in the interim.

"I am giving up counterfeiting because there isn't enough profit in it," says a New Yorker. In these days of inflation there is very little profit in any sort of money.

Add things we know but don't believe: There are as many points on the surface of a penny as on the surface of the earth.

A number of persons at various times, fool all of the people some of the time, and these periods overlap in varying multiples, and the result is that all of the people are kept pretty badly fooled all of the time.

Today's couplet: If you work and save your money for a coming rainy day, Uncle Sam will surely soak you and take most of it away.

Illiterate persons aren't necessarily dumb. Many of them can read the handwriting on the wall.

It seems that ever since man ate of the fruit of the Tree of Knowledge he has been out on a limb.

WORKERS, LEADERS HURT INDUSTRY

Government-Owned Rails Talked

By PETER EDSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) Government ownership of the railroads may be what ultimately lies ahead of the transportation industry continues its present cycle of wage and rate increases. This hard conclusion is the off-the-record opinion of Washington railroad authorities not conncected with either railroad management or railroad labor.

Probably no official would allow himself to be quoted on this trend at this time. But private observations to this effect were made freely following the announcement of the special Presidential Mediation Board's recommendation that on Sept. 1, 1949, nonoperating railroad employes should be granted a 40-hour week with seven cents an hour increase.

EDSON

Recommendations of this board are not binding on either management or labor. Either or both may turn down the findings as unacceptable. The recommendations were intended to head off threat of a strike next January, but the strike is still possible.

Another possibility is that if the board's recommendations should be accepted by both sides as the basis for negotiations, there will be nine months of arguing over how to put the 40-hour week into effect.

Controls Long Major Holdout

The railroad industry is practically the only big industry in the country which is not now on the five-day week. It will be recalled that when tihs schedule was being generally adopted during the 1930's, there was much argument that steel and other basic industries couldn't operate that way, and would be ruined. They weren't. Transition in the railroad industry may therefore be a lot smoother than is now anticipated.

Increased operating costs imposed by the recommended wage rate and rule changes would be something else again. Estimates vary, but the total increased costs to the railroads if all the board's recommendations are adopted will be $450,000,000 to $650,000,000 a year.

These increases cannot be absorbed by any freight or passenger boosts which the railroads have received or still have in sight from Interstate Commerce Commission. Petitions for a 13 per cent increase in freight rates now being considered by ICC would be the "sixth round." Four increases in freight rates have been received since the end of the war. In addition, passenger fares, mail pay and express rates have been raised.

Railway labor has received three full rounds of wage increases for both operating and nonoperating personnel, and is now starting on its fourth round. In addition, the carriers claim that coal and oil costs are up nearly 100 per cent above prewar, while all material and supply costs have gone up about 70 per cent.

This spiraling of wages and rates obviously can't go on forever. Sooner or later it must reach a vanishing point of increasing return. The railroads will simply price themselves out of business.

Would Hurt Business

Passenger fare increases granted this year have already the effect on cutting total passenger - miles traveled. In ICC freight rate hearing just concluded, many shippers of coal, lumber, fruits and vegetables, livestock and other commodities claimed freight rates were now as high as they could go. If passenger and freight rates were forced still higher, more traffic will simply have to be diverted to competing services.

This has happened in some degree in railway mail services.

If the railroads are headed toward government ownership, it will apparently have to be this kind of an operation. Rates will be kept low enough by law so that people can afford to travel and ship by rail. Government subsidies will take care of the losses.

Escapes from this eventual outcome are considered limited under present trends. The railroads might possibly change their operation so as to cut down overhead. Unprofitable services would be dropped. Railroad passenger service for all Class One railroads is now operating at a loss of $400,000,000 a year. Trains and even routes that do not pay expenses might have to be taken off if deficits rise.

The other alternative, of course, is to let the railroads go bankrupt. That might bring on another depression. But it would enable them to write off their indebtedness and start all over again at a lower capital valuation and lower carrying charges. It would of course mean the ruin of many investors. The government would probably be asked to step in and take over to prevent that.

STOCK RALLY FIZZLES

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. (AP)—The stock market's yearend rally fizzled out today.

In the morning prices moved up slowly with little opposition. During the balance of the session buying support faded away to a whisper.

Closing quotations showed an almost exact balance between small gains and losses.

On Wednesday the market chalked up one of the best average gains of the month and for a time this morning it seemed as though the rally might carry through.

Big blocks of stock appeared on the tape and helped swell the day's business to 1,380,000 shares. This was even with yesterday's total and second highest for the month.

Closing quotations showed an almost exact balance between small gains and losses.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained at 64.7. The industrial component was unchanged while the railroad group slipped and the utility section advanced.

Of the 1,092 issues which appeared on the tape, 409 advanced and 416 declined.

Bethlehem Steel took a comparatively bad spill, losing 1⅜ at 32⅝. The loss was associated with news and company plans to sell $50,000,000 worth of bonds and 627,900 shares of common stock which have been issued but held in the company's treasury.

Others on the downgrade included U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, Studebaker, Montgomery Ward, Schenley, General Electric, J. C. Penney, Radio Corp., Skelly Oil, Twentieth Century-Fox, and United Air lines.

Still ahead at the final bell were international business machines (at 150½, a new high for the year), Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line, General Motors, Chrysler, Firestone, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Consolidated Natural Gas (up 2¼ at 41¼), American Smelting, Dow Chemical, Allied Chemical, Gulf Oil and Pacific Western Oil.

Railway bonds tended higher.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular today in pre-holiday trading. The market was steady in initial dealings as a flurry of buying developed in the new crop months, influenced by the unchanged mid-December cotton parity. Traders had looked for a decline compared with the November parity. Prices later eased on scattered liquidation, associated partly with tax selling.

Futures closed 65 cents a bale lower to 30 cents higher than the previous close.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 30 (AP)—An early advance in grains ran into a good deal of profit-taking in late dealings on the board of trade today. Prices were knocked down to around the previous closing level. Trading expanded slightly on the sell-off but still did not become heavy.

The early buying was based largely on unchanged parity figures, which caused a mild surprise and a further stepping up in the government's corn buying program. Late selling came in part from those desiring to get out of the market over the long week-end.

The board of trade will close at noon, Central Standard time, tomorrow and will be closed all day Saturday, Jan. 1.

Wheat closed ⅝ lower to ⅜ higher, May $2.28-2.28 ⅛, corn was unchanged to ⅜ lower, May $1.49 ⅜-½, oats were ⅜-½ lower, May 78 ⅛-¼, rye was 2 ½ lower, May $1.70 ½, soybeans were 1 to 1 ¾ lower, March $2.59 ½-¾, and lard was 28 to 32 cents a hundred pounds lower, January $16.50.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Dec. 30 (AP)—Wheat No. 1 hard 2.44-49.
Oats No. 2 white 1.00 ¼-01 ¼.
Corn No. 2 white 1.74 ½-78 ½.
Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs 2.72-77.

White House To Be Closed Into 1950

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—The White House's condition is "much worse than expected" and will require that it be closed until into 1950. White House architect Lorenzo Windslow revealed that interior walls of the executive mansion which are 30 to 42 inches thick and two stories high are not supported by footings or foundations.

Winslow discovered that the thick brick walls have been sinking into the soft ground, cracking the walls and bending floors as they settled into the earth.

Must Tear Down Walls

To remedy this "tragic condition," Winslow said it will be necessary to tear down about 5,000 square feet of wall space, sink foundation to a depth of about 20 feet and then rebuild the walls.

Repair work also will take longer and cost more and will cause President Truman and his family to remain at Blair house the temporary executive mansion, until "well into" 1950, he said.

Winslow also said that all chimneys below the top floor will have to be torn out and rebuilt.

Original estimates placed the cost of repairing the White House at about $1,000,000.

consecration delivered by Rev. Travis White, pastor of First Christian church. The postlude will be played by Mrs. C. M. Trout.

Socials To Be Held

First Baptist church will observe the arrival of 1949 with departmental socials sponsored by the Baptist Training union from 8 to 10:30 o'clock tonight. In the main auditorium of the church, the traditional watch service begins at 10:30 p. m.

A religious motion picture will be seen, followed by a program of Scripture reading and testimonies. A prayer at midnight will mark the passing of the old year and beginning of the new.

For members of the St. Elizabeth's Catholic church, special masses celebrating the Feast of the Circumcision will be conducted Saturday at 8 and 10 a. m.

Congregation Shaareth Israel is planning its Chanukah service at 8 o'clock tonight, with the program in charge of college and university students home for the holidays, said Rabbi Julius Kerman.

Irwin Jarett, University of Texas student, will read the service. Robert Berger, also attending the University of Texas, will make a talk titled, "The Hillel Foundations."

In addition to numerous private parties, public entertainment places anticipate a busy night tonight.

Crowded Night Spots

A rush for New Year's Eve reservations at Lubbock Supper club was reported by Dave Cannon, manager. A special program has been planned, with a traveling band, Don Juan and his New Moods of Music, playing. Traditional favors and souvenirs will be distributed, Cannon said. Admission will be $2.50 per person.

At the Cotton club, the customary New Year's Eve dance will begin at 8 p. m. and last until 12:30 p. m., said Clyde Trusty, owner of the night club. C. A. Rodgers and his orchestra will play for the occasion. Favors and prizes will be given away.

Lubbock florists agreed that New Year's Eve in their business will be not only a day of work, but a much busier day than usual.

"The rush of orders ordinarily starts about noon on New Year's Eve and we are unusually busy until 7 p .m.," said O. W. Ribble, owner of Ribble's. "Orders are dominated by corsages, although decorative bouquets are in heavy demand for parties also. So New Year's Eve is one of the busiest times of the year for the florist."

Odd Hazards Faced

far between in Lubbock.)

Hearing someone call "come in," he did just that, only to find an irate and surprised housewife having a belated breakfast in her nightgown. She indignantly demanded to know why he barged into private homes without getting permission, and he, puzzled and more than a little chagrined, explained that "someone" had bid him in.

That "someone," it turned out, was a parrot on a back porch next door with a talent for saying the right thing at the wrong time.

Meter readers are sometimes heroes whose good deeds, unsung though they may be, are nevertheless genuinely valorous.

One local man whose meter route took him one day into a suburban section of Lubbock noticed smoke coming from a small frame house nearby. Since it appeared that the house was afire he knocked on the door, but got not response. Hearing someone coughing inside the dwelling, he opened the door, and beheld a man asleep on a blazing bed.

The meter reader carried the man outside, enlisted aid from the neighbors, and put out the blaze before the house itself was damaged.

WAA Offers Government-Owned Louisiana Pipeline For Sale

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—A 100-mile natural gas pipeline in Louisiana was offered for sale by the War Assets administration today.

The government-owned line, now operated by Union Sulphur Co., extends from Lake Charles to Woodlawn, north Tepetate Lakeside and Chalkley.

Bids will be received by the agency until 2 p. m., Feb. 10.

Republican National Committee Issues Call For Money

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—The Republican national committee today called on the party faithful to ante up—quick.

But a spokesman said that doesn't mean the party is broke.

In a plea for funds, the GOP disclosed that in the recent election it spent $333,000 more than it took in. And it is $508,000 short of its fund-raising goal. The committee asked for contributions of $5 and $10 or $100 or $500.

All Bills Paid

"But we are not broke," a top official explained. "We've paid all our bills. It's just that we are living on our fat—our reserve—and it's getting thin."

The spokesman declined to say how big a bankroll the party had at the start of the campaign year. He would not say, either, how much the GOP has in the bank now.

Those figures are not included in the reports political parties are required by law to make to Congress.

The law limits each national party to a $3,000,000 outlay in any year. And $3,000,000 was the GOP goal in its 1948 effort to elect Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Duck Thief Is A 'Dead Duck' If He Bites Into Stolen Pet

FORT WORTH, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—The person who took Bobbie, a pet duck of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Ivey, was a potential "dead duck" today—provided he liked roast duck.

Ivey said Bobbie was loaded—with poison. It is enough to make seriously ill anyone who may have any inclination to eat Bobbie.

Ivey said the family pet was being treated with worm poison. He said the quackless 12-pound bird was taken from the back yard at night.
