Cheerful News—
Store Leases—
Bank Deposits—
Reverse It, Mr. Patton

All Wichita Falls news for the last few days has not been of accidents, and some of it has had a decidedly cheerful tone. The P. B. M. company leases its building to a chain store organization for a period of 30 years for a consideration of $800,000. Decidedly, the business men of the nation must see much in the future of Wichita Falls to pay such a price for such a long lease.

Another chain store organization some time ago took a similar lease in Wichita Falls at a price almost equal to that paid the P. B. M. company. These organizations do not put their money in towns which give little promise of growth or future prosperity.

Jack Barnard, manager of the P. B. M. company who is capably carrying out the merchandising traditions started 35 years ago by C. J. Barnard, also seems to take quite some stock in prospects here. At the same time he announced the lease of the present building, Mr. Barnard announced plans of his company to move into larger and more commodious quarters, with at least $50,000 to be expended in fitting the new building for occupancy. That's progress AND confidence.

Complete reorganization of the American Refining company, with the announcement of an aggressive policy of business by the company, will be cheerful news all over Northwest Texas, as well as in Wichita Falls. J. C. Mytinger and E. H. Eddleman have charge of the active management of the concern, an even more hopeful and promising piece of information to those who knew the abilities of these two Wichita Falls business men.

Bankers of the city were also feeling right good Tuesday, with bank deposits showing a gain of more than $497,000 over the same period in 1927. And the "summer slump" period records more than $100,000 gain over February of this year. Total bank deposits of the four Wichita Falls institutions as of June 30, 1928, shows $24,208,916, or something like $400 for each of the 60,000 residents of this city.

It is fortunate for the continued progress and efficiency of Wichita Falls city government that council members have determined to keep hands off the active management of city affairs, and to strictly adhere to the charter provisions defining the powers of the council and the duties of the city manager. Each member of the present council, with the exception of Mayor J. W. Akin, has at one time had active charge of a city department, an unusual condition in city manager government which makes even more commendable the determination of commissioners to restrain their natural impulses to again take a hand in their old affairs.

Alderman J. H. Patton's effort to raise salaries of departmental workers Monday was correctly and wisely voted down by the council as decidedly not in accord with the present system of government. "If we can't run it, the city is in awful shape," said Mr. Patton. Really, a majority of the voters at the last election seemed to think that the city would be in "an awful shape" if they could run it.

CONSTABLE AND FORMER CHIEF ARE ACCUSED

Electrans Charged With Shumate for Robbery of Warehouse

OTHER CHARGES

Pair Held as Helpers of Escaped Jail Prisoner

Ed Pryor and Tom Shook were indicted for burglary on three counts by the grand jury Tuesday. Pryor is constable and Shook is a former chief of police at Electra. The two Electrans were indicted jointly with Henry Shumate for burglary of the H. E. King newsstand warehouse at Electra on the night of May 29.

Ten other indictments were returned by the grand jury, its report to Judge E. G. Thornton of 30th district court shows. The body, after filing its report about 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, adjourned until Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. The jury has been in session for the past two days and the 11 indictments returned Tuesday is a full report on true bills for Monday and Tuesday.

Dollar No Billed

Ollie Dollar, charged with burglary in connection with robbery of the Williams store on Ohio avenue and Seventh street, was no-billed by the body Monday and ordered released.

Practically all indictments returned Tuesday were on charges of burglary, robbery and theft, according to Gage McDermott, assistant district attorney.

The indictment against Pryor, Shook and Shumate grew out of investigations of the jurors into a statement given by Shumate to Sheriff W. G. Bralley and Mr. McDermott.

Shumate in Statement

Shumate made the statement implicating the two law enforcement officers following his arrest in Electra, June 27, by Sheriff W. G. Bralley. At the time of the arrest Shumate was in bed with Pryor. He had escaped from the county jail here on June 24, together with Robert Moore and J. D. Whitt, two other prisoners.

When first confronted by Sheriff Bralley, Pryor had claimed that Shumate, asleep at his side, with face partly hid, was his "younger brother." Mr. Bralley said. In order to complete identification of the

Bad Weather May Halt Flight of Dirigible

WASHINGTON, July 3. (UP)—Unsuitable weather conditions probably will delay the scheduled fourth of July flight of the dirigible Los Angeles to the Maine coast, Commander C. E. Rosendahl reported to the navy department today.

A thunderstorm accompanying a Canadian low pressure area now moving eastward makes it unwise to jeopardize the giant aircraft among the New Hampshire hills, he said.

CANDIDATES IN TWO MEETINGS

Clara and Valley View Hear Democrats

The Clara and Valley View communities heard candidates for the Democratic nominations at the primaries to be held July 28 in Wichita county Tuesday night.

Candidates for only a part of the offices are speaking each night at the speaking places so that the speaking will not drag and so the audience may return to their homes at a reasonable hour.

200 at Valley View

Three hundred persons heard the candidates at the Valley View schoolhouse in the K. M. A. district. The meeting moved rapidly and there was no mud slinging. P. C. Jones, secretary of the school board at Valley View, presided at the meeting.

Offices, candidates and the highlights of each speech follow:

District Attorney

W. L. Scott: "My home is in Olney. I formerly lived in Wichita Falls. If elected, I will do my best."

Sam B. Spence: "As assistant district attorney I have worked hard in the prosecution of all cases on which I have worked. My record speaks for itself. If elected, I will work even harder for the best interests of the district and will prosecute impartially."

MAYFIELD IN "SHAKE DOWN," SAYS CONNALLY

Oil Contributions to Campaign Solicited, Says Candidate

1000 HEAR ADDRESS

Earle Followed Fiery Cross With Double Cross, Charge

The charge that Senator Earle B. Mayfield was responsible during his successful campaign in 1922 for the United States senate for attempts to "shake down" oil companies in the Wichita Falls territory for campaign contributions was made here Tuesday night by Tom Connally, candidate for the senate, while addressing an audience of approximately 1000 people at Bellevue park.

Mayfield, at the time, was a member of the Texas railroad commission, a body having official control over the oil industry, Connally continued. Connally charged that Mayfield instructed one of the subordinate employes of the commission who was stationed in Northwest Texas to attempt the raising of $30,000 in campaign contributions from the oil companies.

Connally charged that the funds were solicited from companies whose officials realized that if they did not contribute it probably would mean the continuance on the railroad commission of a member, in the person of Mayfield, who might be unfairly prejudiced against their interests.

Record Quoted, He Says

The record of the entire proceedings, the speaker continued, is contained in the published minutes of a U. S. senate committee's investigation into the senate election of 1922 in Texas, when Mayfield was elected.

"I make this charge in Wichita Falls," Connally declared, "because here is the center of the oil industry in Texas. And let me say to you oil men, I don't want your money. I won't shake you down. All I want is for you to conduct your business like other people conduct theirs. I want the oil industry to prosper."

Connally devoted considerably more than half of an address re-

LAREDO, Texas, July 3. (AP)—Carlos Nava, alleged silk smuggler, was killed and Cipriano Perales, Mexican customs official, probably fatally wounded in a pistol fight between smugglers and customs officials today in a canyon south of Nuevo Laredo. A companion of Nava escaped.

Ascencion Gutierrez, customs inspector of Nuevo Laredo, and Perales came upon the two men in the canyon and both sides opened fire. Nava fell with a bullet through his head. Perales was shot in his left side.

Gutierrez brought contraband silks valued at $7455 back to Nuevo Laredo.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 3. (AP) Senator Charles Curtis, Republican nominee for vice president, in a statement today said he would not resign his seat in the senate to make the race.

ARCTIC PARTY MAY BE SAFE

Message Indicates Ship Carries Amundsen

LONDON, July 3. (US)—Roald Amundsen and his five companions are safe aboard a Norwegian cutter, according to an unconfirmed report tonight from Tromsoe, Norway, via Copenhagen. An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen said the English yacht Albion, arriving today at Tromsoe, reported intercepting a wireless from the cutter which reported the safety of Amundsen, Lief Dietrichsen, Captain Guilbaud and three other Frenchmen who formed the crew of the French naval plane Latham.

The wireless operator of the Albion, said the Copenhagen dispatch, had difficulty in interpreting the message, which was faint. However, he said he was certain that one phrase was "Amundsen safe." From other parts of the message he received the impression that the entire crew had been picked up by the cutter.

The message was sent in Norwegian, and the Albion's English operator found it almost unintelligible.

At first the report received little credence, but later it was announced that a plane had been sent to search for the cutter, which the Albion was unable to identify.

Amundsen and the five other members of the Latham's crew have been missing 15 days—since leaving Tromsoe to go to the aid of the lost members of the crew of the dirigible Italia off the east coast of Northeast Land.

Premature Publication Causes Court Action

BOSTON, July 3. (INS)—Judge James M. Morton in federal court today gave the Atlantic Monthly 30 days in which to take its action against the Boston Post from the equity to the law side of the court. Otherwise, he said the bill against the Post will be dismissed.

The action of the Atlantic Monthly grew out of the alleged premature publication by the Post of a copyright article written by Governor Al Smith, of New York, entitled "Catholic and Patriot," in which the governor replied to those who questioned his patriotism because of his religion.

Trenches Aid Farmers to Combat Crickets

DENVER, July 3. (INS)—Trench warfare on a six-mile front was being waged today by hundreds of farmers in northwestern Colorado against the invasion of a cricket army on fertile farms in Routt and Moffat counties. A wall of galvanized iron has been raised along the entire battle front. Pits have been constructed at intervals and when the hordes of insects, unable to leap over the barrier or climb its smooth surface, fall into the pits they are annihilated by poison spray.

ITALIANS SOAR OVER OCEAN

Longest Nonstop Flight Is Undertaken

ROME, July 3. (US)—The Italian aviators, Capt. Arturo Ferrain and Major Carlo del Preto, hopped off at 7:51 tonight on a non-stop flight to Brazil. It is the most ambitious long distance flight ever undertaken—more than 6000 miles—surpassing the distance covered by the Southern Cross on its flight from the Hawaiian islands to the Fiji Islands. The Italian fliers are holders of the world's endurance record recently established.

They broke the record established in Florida by George Haldemann and Eddie Stinson by staying aloft 58 hours and 34 minutes, nearly five hours longer than the Americans.

Major Noted Flier

Major Del Prete is a transcontinental flier of wide experience, having accompanied Major de Pinedo on his round-the-world flight. Captain Ferrain is one of Italy's most capable aviators, having twice been a member of the Schneider cup team in competion with the naval fliers of the United States and England.

Captain Ferrain was at the controls at the start of the flight. Major Del Prete will alternate with him.

They flew in the same plane used in establishing the new world's endurance record, a single-motored Savoia-Marchetti-64. The motor is the 12-cylinder type and capable of developing 550 horsepower.

Radio Carried

The plane is a sister ship of De Pinedo's Santa Maria, with the exception that it is not fitted with floats or pontoons. They were removed to save weight of which every ounce was needed for fuel on so long a flight.

The take-off was made with the assistance of a special device perfected in Italy which holds the plane stationary until the motor is running at full power. Then when the ship is released it shoots forward and upward at maximum speed.

The ship carries a small radio which is not expected to be used except in the event of a forced landing.

BOURLAND GETS ENDORSEMENT ON REVISIONS

New President Given Support in Plea for Changes

CONVENTIONS CITED

Annual Gatherings Too Costly, Resolution Declares

Sweeping plans for an internal reorganization of the activities of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce were approved and endorsed in a resolution adopted by the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday afternoon.

The resolution is in direct reply to a statement to the press by Andy M. Bourland July 1 after taking his office as president of the West Texas body. Mr. Bourland's statement suggested broad changes.

Conventions Costly

The conventions now held by the regional chamber wehe held by the Wichitans to be burdensome financially. A change was suggested whereby local chambers of commerce and local units of the regional chamber elect delegates, and whereby the whole organization be put on a more businesslike basis.

The resolution, a copy of which is being sent to Mr. Bourland, follows:

"Whereas, President A. M. Bourland of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has issued a statement to the press, in which he advocates new and more constructive policies for the organization to meet new conditions and new problems, and

"Whereas President Bourland has invited constructive suggestions and criticisms for the good of the organization, and

"Whereas we believe the annual conventions of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce have grown so large and so miscellaneous in personnel that they constitute a great burden of expense upon the West Texas communities and produce serious problems of discipline without real and lasting benefits commensurate with the cost,

Bourland Commended

"Therefore, be it resolved by the board of directors of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, that we heartily commend President Bourland for his businesslike announcement of policies and that we endorse the suggested changes in methods, and pledge ourselves to support the new program.

"In this connection we suggest for consideration:

1. That the West Texas Chamber of Commerce be made an association of local chambers of commerce or local units of the West Texas organization, represented at annual

P. B. M. Company Plans New Location After Leasing Building for $600,000

The P. B. M. Company of Wichita Falls plans, probably within two years to establish its new location in a building in the downtown business district, to which the company will add another story and make other improvements which will cost about $50,000, Jack C. Barnard, store manager, said Tuesday after he had announced that the building now occupied by the firm had been leased to a chain store concern.

The P. B. M. store building, at 813-14 Indiana avenue, was leased Tuesday to Schulte-United Inc., of New York City, for a 30-year period which will begin early in 1931. Cash consideration in the deal, Mr. Barnard said, will come close to $600,000.

The company expects to complete work on its new building, location of which has not been officially announced, in good time to be in their new quarters by the time the lease becomes effective, Mr. Barnard added.

The Schulte-United, Inc., is a building chain store concern which is seeking locations in a number of cities in the United States, Mr. Barnard said. Prices in its various departments will range from five cents to $1.

The P. B. M. company has been located on Indiana avenue since 1914, and recently the store observed the 35th anniversary of J. C. Barnard's entry into the retail merchandising field. The anniversary was celebrated with a sale.

16 Men and Women Jailed For Rukus at J. P. Morgan Office

NEW YORK, July 3. (AP)—An attempted demonstration in front of the Wall street offices of J. P. Morgan today landed 16 men and women in jail.

Several hundred members of the "All-American Anti-Imperialist league" gathered with unfurled banners in the financial district at the noon hour when thousands of stenographers and clerks filled the street. A detail of 44 detectives and patrolmen were waiting.

John Dos Passos, novelist and picket at Boston in the Sacco-Vanzetti demonstrations, slipped across the street and mounted the top of a parked sedan. "Ladies and gentlemen," he shouted, but he got no further for strong police hands grabbed his feet.

Robert Minor, editor of "The Daily Worker," a Socialist organ, leaped to the top of the car, but he suffered the same fate after crying out, "Fellow workers, we—"

Harry Gannes, secretary of the league that sponsored the demonstration, was telling a group of friends what he had intended to say when the police arrested him.

Several young women demonstrators who ignored police orders to move along were taken into custody with their leaders.

DAN EXPLAINS PROHI FIGHT

Governor Clears Up Some Clouded Points

AUSTIN, July 3 (AP)—The majority of Democratic national platform committee showed by adopting Senator Glass' dry plank that it was unwilling to go to the national convention floor with a fight between Governor Moody's minority plank endorsing prohibition, and New York State Senator Wagner's plank "inviting the repeal of prohibition laws," the Governor said Monday.

He issued a statement clearing up some points beclouded by executive sessions and reticence of the committeemen, of which he was one, at the Houston convention.

Wagner Plank Submitted

He said the Wagner plank which referred to the right of the people to repeal prohibition was presented by the sub-committee to the full committee, after his and Senator Glass' planks, offered as substitutes, had been voted down in order. The full committee, however, finally reported the Glass plank to the convention, which adopted it.

"The Wagner plank was characterized by me and other friends of prohibition," the governor said, "as a veiled invitation to start a movement for the repeal of the 18th amendment and laws passed for its enforcement and it was urged that the plank, if adopted by the Democratic party, would be accepted as a statement from the party that it was willing to become the instrumentality through which the movement might be considered.

Prohibition Victory

"In the abandonment of the Wagner plank, and the adoption of Senator Glass' Virginia plank, the committee declined to commit the party to a program advocating destruction of prohibition by inferences of the Wagner plank and committed the party to the honest enforcement of the 18th amendment and all other provisions of the federal constitution and all laws passed pursuant thereto.

"Prohibition had at least won a partial victory in the fact that the committee on platform had been driven from the Wagner plank to the Glass plank from fear of a contest on the floor of the convention between the Wagner plank and mine, endorsing prohibition.

"When the reluctant majority accepted the enforcement plank of Senator Glass, the temperance leaders received it as a victory which could only be imperiled by a further prosecution of my struggle to secure an endorsement of the amendment, which, if defeated, might have impaired the prohibition victory. It was accepted by the supporters of prohibition as an admission from the opponents of prohibition that they could not carry a plank committing the party to prohibition repeal or change, against a plank endorsing prohibition."

Post Office Windows Open for Hour Today

The Wichita Falls postoffice will close in observance of July 4, it was announced by Postmaster O. P. Mariele Tuesday. No mail will be delivered Wednesday, but the windows of the postoffice, with the exception of the money order window, will be open Wednesday morning from 8 until 9 o'clock.

The new free mail routes which opened Monday are being rapidly organized, it was announced by the postmaster. The addition of the new routes has required quite a number of changes in the distribution of mail and has thus slowed up the city delivery during the last two days.

Letter carriers have secured about 75 per cent of the names on the new routes and the delivery should be well in hand by the latter part of the week, Kelly Ross, head of the city letter carriers, said Tuesday.

Payment of Refinery Tax Sets New Record

The largest delinquent tax paid within the memory of W. R. Hyer, city tax assessor and collector, was received by the city of Wichita Falls Tuesday, according to Mr. Hyer. It was $21,321.

It was from the American Refining company, and included taxes on the M. J. Bashara and Bob Waggoner properties involved in the refinery receivership and litigation.

While technically delinquent, this tax money was not actually delinquent as its payment has been held up only because of court action, Mr. Hyer said.

City Collections for June Total $51,186

Total collections in June by the city of Wichita Falls were $51,186.10, according to figures released by the office of W. E. McBroom, city clerk, Tuesday. Of this amount, $7,272.47 was for the city clerk's department and $119.86 was fines from the Kemp public library.

Sewer rentals collected totaled $12,461.17. City taxes were $8,078.06, and water payments totaled $21,-294.54.

City Manager Takes First Airplane Ride Here

George D. Fairtrace, city manager, did two things in an airplane Tuesday. He enjoyed his first ride in an airplane, and he inspected Wichita Falls from above.

Realtors to Hold Picnic at Cedar Park

A. L. Huey resigned as chairman of the program committee of the real estate board at the regular meeting of the board Tuesday. A resolution to adjourn for the summer was voted down by the club.

Announcement was made of a picnic to be held in the near future at Cedar Park swimming pool.

Numbers on the program were a talk by A. M. McPherson who advocated the utilization of waste from gas; a talk on explaining the Weeks' colonization plan by Hubert M. Harrison; a paper on a proposed plan of organizing a syndicate to develop pecans and fruit orchards in the irrigated valley, by Mora C. Clark.

Christ as Advertiser Discussed by Pastor

The Rev. Alvin F. White, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, addressed the Ad club on "The Greatest Advertiser of All" at the regular luncheon meeting, Tuesday.

Christ had something that the world needed and possessed the type of personality to bring it forth, according to the theme of the talk. Business should be conducted along those lines, the speaker said, informing the world of its needs and filling those needs.

P. B. Roberts read the by-laws which had been arranged by the committee on by-laws, which were adopted by the club.

C.-C. APPROVES WEEKS' PLAN

Colonization Work to Go Forward Here

The Charles Weeks plan for development of the Wichita irrigated valley by colonization on the small farm plan was approved in general Tuesday by the directors of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce.

The agricultural committee of the chamber was asked by the directors to work out more detailed plans with Mr. Weeks and take them up with the directors at another meeting as soon as possible.

Plans for the organization of the land syndicate and for Mr. Weeks' contract will be considered by this committee with Mr. Weeks.

Those attending the meeting included President Charles I. Francis who presided, Orville Bullington, J. J. Perkins, Jack Barnard, A. C. Rayzor, Burton Stayton, Harry Hines, Lamar Fain, C. E. STERLEY PLANS CONSIDERED

Further discussion of the plans for the coming trip to Sterley for the celebration of the opening of the Denver and South Plains railway occupied the time of the manufacturers and jobbers' meeting in the chamber of commerce Tuesday. No action will be taken here on the date for the trip as that matter has been left up to a committee from West Texas towns headed by Jerry W. Candidates Complete Filing of Expense; Howard Leads With $443

Practically all candidates for major county offices had filed campaign expense accounts with Miss Elizabeth Hall, county clerk, prior to midnight Monday, it was revealed Tuesday. Additional candidates had mailed their reports prior to midnight Monday.

Among late additions to reports was that of Arthur C. Howard, candidate for tax collector, who is high among those seeking county offices with expenditures totaling $443.88.

A number of candidates reported that they had spent no money in campaigning.

Miss Hall continued to accept reports of expenditures Tuesday but dated their receipt July 3.

Candidates for public weigher and precinct chairman were only about one-half reported Tuesday night. None of these reporting have spent any money in campaigning, the reports show.

conventions by delegates chosen by the local groups on a definite quota basis.

Quota Assignments

"2. That financial quotas be assigned to each county on some fair and equitable basis, the money to be raised by the local chambers of commerce to eliminate the enormous overhead expense of collecting small checks from the large area under the present system, believing that this plan would save a substantial percentage of the money now being expended.

"3. That activities of the organization be confined to regional matters and with a broad outlook for the good of the whole region and the definite assistance of local chambers of commerce.

"4. That more definite efforts be made to advertise West Texas outside of the region instead of spending so much time advertising to each other, as we believe that capital and new settlers could now be attracted by a broader campaign under a competent publicity director of training and experience.

"5. That an annual audit of receipts and disbursements be furnished to all members of the executive board and to local organizations participating in order that a more intelligent analysis of costs, expense of collecting the money and overhead may be arrived at.

"6. That local chamber of commerce managers, or other representatives of such bodies be invited to meet with the executive board at its next session.

"Be it further resolved that we regard the foregoing suggested changes in management and methods as vital to the continued welfare and progress of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce."

COURT HALTS CHURCH WORK

Construction of Tabernacle Stopped for Hearing

DALLAS, July 3. (AP) — Judge Towne Young today granted a temporary injunction commanding those in charge of construction of a Fundamentalist Baptist tabernacle here to cease work pending a hearing before the city board of appeals to determine if the building permit is valid.

Defendants named in the petition were Mayor R. E. Burt and the city commissioners; Sol Gillespie, city building inspector; the Rev. Earl Anderson, pastor of the church, and the Churchill-Huphrey Construction company.

A similar injunction last week was dismissed by Judge Young on the grounds that it was premature and should first have been taken up with the city board of appeals.

Plaintiffs allege the building permit is void because it proposes to erect the tabernacle beyond the building line and that it will be only semi-fireproof.

Dr. J. Frank Norris, Fort Worth evangelist, has declared that if necessary he will remain here a year to have the tabernacle constructed.

INDEPENDENCE

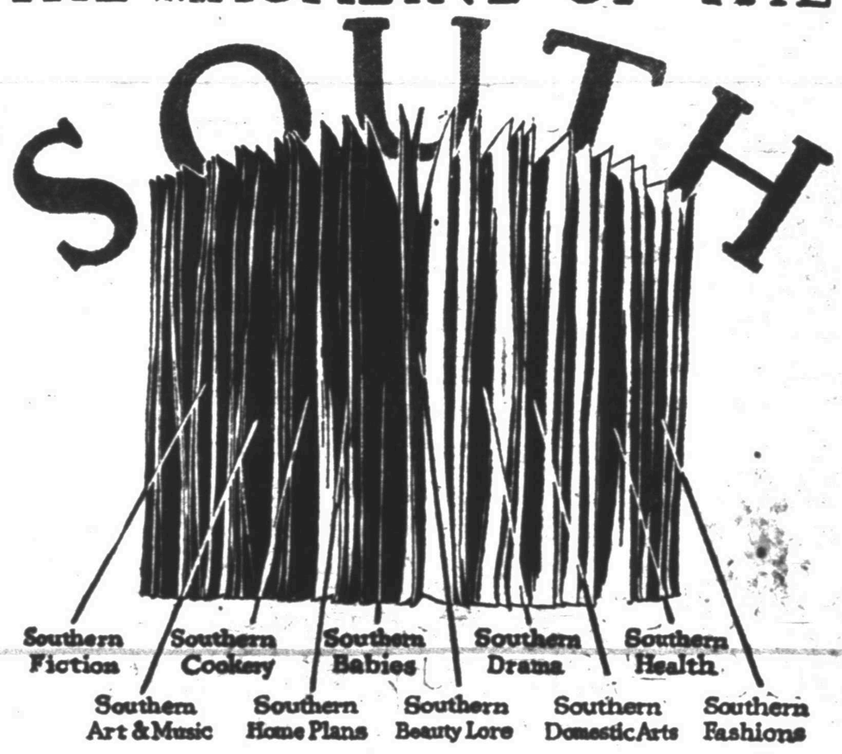

A Declaration by Our Forefathers Which Has Become the Key to Modern Development

1776-1928, one hundred and fifty-two years since that venerable group of patriots signed the scroll which proclaimed the independence of our country, yet for one day of each year we pause in appreciation of all that that brief declaration of rights has meant in the nation's progress. The spirit which prompted that declaration is the essence of the spirit which today governs our daily contact with both the business and political forces of the world.

We, as an institution which serves the public need, wish to stand independent as a public utility that constantly looks to the future with a background of American integrity.

SPUDDERS MAUL STEERS IN NINTH TO TIE PACE SETTING BUFFS

LAPAN SPINS BASES TO WIN

Dallas Victory Evens Stand With Houston

DALLAS, July 3.—The Wichita Falls Spudders continued to hit the ball when hits counted today, and swept the one-game series with the Steers, scoring a 7 to 6 victory over Ellison's men, thanks to a circuit smash by Pete Lapan in the ninth inning.

As a result of the victory, Manager (Bad News) Jim Galloway and his cohorts found themselves in a clinch with Houston for the top ring in the percentage column. It was the Spudders' fourth straight victory.

Tomorrow the Wichita Falls team engages Atz' Cats in an Independence day double-header at Fort Worth while the first half champions will engage the Beaumont Exporters at Houston.

Herb Cobb, who has been Galloway's outstanding mound performer during recent weeks, started today's game, and did right well until the seventh when the Steers put over four runs and tied the score. Two errors* by Spudder fielders were factors in the Steer rally but Kiefer was rushed to the hill to stop the fireworks.

Shared With Roetz

Pete Lapan, the hero of the game, shared hitting honors with Roetz who hit safely twice in five times. Lapan's two hits were made in three accredited times at bat. O'Brien, Morse and Rosenthal of the Steers also collected a brace of safe knocks each while the Dallas club as a whole garnered nine safeties, one more than the Spudders.

The first Spudder runs came five in a row in the fifth inning on four hits and error. Stanton, the first man up in the fifth, got on base on Mann's wild throw from short to first. Lapan drove him to second with a single past second. Cobb advanced them both on a sacrifice hit to the pitcher and Roetz brought them home with a double to deep center on the next play. Roetz took third on Turgeon's long fly and scored on Fitzgerald's single to center. Lamb clouted a home run over the right field bleachers and drove Fitzgerald in before him. Jenkins walked, Swenson lined to left and the Champs took the field.

Rosenthal accounted for the first two Dallas runs when he doubled to right behind O'Brien and Morse who had hit and Gingiardi who had walked.

The Spuds rung up another run in the fifth and the Steers tied the score in the eighth on four hits and a Wichita Falls error. Lapan's homer over the center field fence in the ninth gave the Spuds their fourth straight victory.

World's Record In 400-Meter Hurdles Smashed Twice in Tryouts

PHILADELPHIA, July 3. (UP)—The world's record for the 400-meter hurdles was broken twice today within a few minutes in the Olympic trials of four of the 22 track and field events.

F. Morgan Taylor, Illinois A. C., won his heat of the 400-meter hurdles in the record-equaling time of 53 4-5 seconds only to come back and better the mark by a fifth of a second in the semi-finals.

The dramatic climax, however, was reserved for the second semi-final when Frank Cuhel of the University of Iowa again broke the record by winning the event in 53 2-5 seconds.

Dick Pomeroy of Los Angeles, who broke the record in the Pacific coast try-outs, hit the last hurdle and did not finish in his heat.

Fait (Chief) Elkins, national decathlon champion, pulled a tendon and had to withdraw from from the try-outs. The injury undoubtedly means that the United States will lose one of her best all-around athletes for the Olympics.

With five of the final Olympic decathlon events completed, Jim Stewart, University of Southern California, held the lead over Barney Berliner, University of Pennsylvania freshman. Kenneth Doherty, C. C. of Detroit, was third.

Summaries

Qualifiers for semi-finals in 400-meters flat were: Ray Barbuti, N. Y. A. C.; Herman Phillips, Illinois A. C.; Russell Walter, Northwestern; Emerson Spencer, Stanford (by special consent of meet referee); Emil Snider, Alabama Poly; R. F. Bowen, Pittsburgh A. A.; Ken Kennedy, Illinois A. C.; Gerald Swope, N. Y. A. C.; Joe Tierney N. Y. A. C.; George Baird, Iowa; Fred Alderman, Illinois A. C.; Norman St. Clair, Rochester A. C.

Qualifiers for final 400-meter hurdles try-outs were: F. Morgan Taylor, Illinois A. C.; John Gibson, Bloomfield, Calif.; Palmer Wright, N. Y. A. C.; Ken Grumbles, Los Angeles A. C.; Frank Cuhel, U. of Iowa; Bod Maxwell, Los Angeles A. C.; Gordon Allott, U. of Colorado.

NO, Sir, we certainly have NOT "sold out"!

THERE HAVE been rumors..there has been talk—something in the air about P. B. M. Co. selling to an outside firm and all kinds of guesses.

WELL, NOW THE TRUTH CAN BE TOLD:

We have not sold out, nor have we any inclination.

But there is something going to happen! P. B. M. is going to build a new store, a modern home for this modern fashion institution..to give better service than ever to the people of North Texas.

Now, all this is in the future, a few years from now. But, having completed 35 years of service, we look forward and plan for the second 35 . . . and want you to look forward with us.

We have leased the building we now occupy to a large retail concern—at a figure, we may say, that shows how much faith outsiders have in the future of Wichita Falls. This does not take effect for more than two years, however, and P. B. M. Co. will be right here that long.

We can't tell you much about the greater store now, for it is more a splendid dream that will be realized than a formulated plan. But it will be a store, modern and beautiful, entirely worthy of Wichita Falls, with a service improved along with physical surroundings. We get pretty excited even thinking about it. And we wanted you to know about it.

We Want to Say "Thank You," Too
...for the gratifying way you took part in the 35th Anniversary. It was our best in years, a real success. We can't agree that this is a "bad" year!

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Evening slippers, costing $500 and more a pair, are being worn at some of the dansants this season. Some of these expensive shoes are of hand-embroidered tapestry, with every figure in the design perfect, some are hand-painted by noted artists, and others are of humming bird feathers. All of them are manufactured in Italy and France.

It costs money not to be bored by after dinner speakers in New York. Humorists, explorers or other interesting talkers are hired as guests by sponsors who want to make sure that banquets attract a crowd and serve their purpose.

Will Rogers is in big demand as a speaker, and is paid as much as $1000 an evening. In order to obtain him for a dinner, a Boston organization paid him more than that price and also supplied round trip airplane fare from Los Angeles, where he lives.

Banquet sponsors get back some of the outlay for speakers by selling the radio rights. Because of this, performers who used to donate their services for testimonial dinners, etc., now demand payment.

Allaying reports that he was preparing to quit his job, George Horace Lorimer, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, wrote a New York friend that he "doesn't need a rest, doesn't want a rest, and isn't going to take a rest."

Which, it is remarked, makes Lorimer unique among editors of the world.

THAT FIRST KISS

I've been sitting here, just thinking,
Of the kisses I have had,
And the one I hold the dearest
Is my first one, as a lad.

She was quite a sought-for maiden;
Her red lips were tempting lure.
She had guarded them with wisdom;
They were unkssed, I was sure.

Long I plied my ardent courtship
Ere I mustered courage grand;
Not to seek her lips, untarnished.
Merely nerve to hold her hand!

Time transpired, as time does always.
We knew love the children way.
Still her lips remained unsampled;
Her iron will refused to sway.

Came a golden night of June-time,
Dancingly, the moonbeams lay.
Oh, how well do I remember—
For one instant did she sway.

That was time enough, I grant you
Time enough to answer "yes!"
To my constant months of pleading;
Her red lips she let me press.

It was gone, long hours too early,
That one lovely kiss she gave,
But when it was gone, and done for
I declared myself a knave.

That was in the far-gone springtime,
In the careless hours of youth,
But my pleadings and my lovesongs,
In my heart, were honest truth!

Gone—that kiss—a passing moment,
But reflectively I see
It's indelible in mem'ry,
That one kiss she gave to me.

JIMMY REACHES HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 3. (INS)—Debonair and epigrammatic Mayor "Jimmy" Walker of New York City, was in the film colony today to renew acquaintances with friends.

Mayor Walker declined to discuss politics.

One-Minute Sermon

Then a spirit passed before my face; the hair of my flesh stood up;

It stood still, but I could not discern the form thereof: an image was before mine eyes, there was silence, and I heard a voice, saying:

Shall mortal man be more just than God? Shall a man be more pure than his maker?—Job, iv, 15-17.

One French Jury

THERE are wider differences between various present-day cultures than we often imagine. Consider, for instance, the following little story from France.

A Paris butcher had a young wife who was ambitious to go on the stage. He protested that her place was in the home; she replied by getting a job with some musical show. When all his arguments failed and she prepared to go on tour with her musical company, he shot and killed her. And a jury agreed with his plea that she should have stayed at home, and acquitted him.

Nothing could better illustrate the difference between the French and American viewpoints. Try to imagine a man in the United States getting such consideration from a jury! The most he could hope for would be life imprisonment instead of electrocution.

A Drug Czar?

OLD MOTHER NATURE is a pretty good doctor, if allowed to have her own way; and, as a result, a lot of quack and near-quack physicians are getting rich in this broad land of ours.

Robert P. Fischelis, secretary of the New Jersey Board of Pharmacy, tells about it in the June issue of the American Druggist. He says that Americans are spending millions of dollars yearly on worthless remedies, which "get by" because sooner or later they get the credit for cures which mother nature herself effects.

He urges the creation of an Institute of Pharmacy, headed by a "drug czar," which would unmask useless preparations that mask as remedies.

It sounds like a good idea. The American people have a strong tendency to spend their money on highly advertised cures. Perhaps somebody ought to help them outgrow it.

Living Up to the Old Tradition

"ON THE SIDELINES" at the Houston convention in the Christian Science Monitor has this fine compliment to southern gentlemen:

"'I'm mighty sorry, Ma'am' is a frequent sentence heard in the convention crowds. The southern man is very polite. The southerner may be easily rasped and short of temper with men, it has happened in the case of more than one southern senator here when feeling ran high, but he changes his tone quickly in dealing with women whether he is a senator or a taxicab driver, a committeeman or a waiter."

When politeness and courtesy can endure in an overcrowded hotel or restaurant or convention hall, it must be genuine. We are glad it has been observed at Houston by visitors from other sections. We do believe there is still genuine politeness and courtesy toward women on the part of southern men, even if it is lacking somewhat of the grand manner of the old days.

For a Shorter Ballot

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-SEVEN names will appear on the ballot to be voted in the first democratic primary, according to E. C. De Montel, county chairman. This number includes precinct, district, county, and state candidates. All the candidates for all the precinct offices including party precinct committeemen will appear on all the ballots in the county. This helps make up the great length of the ballot and will add somewhat to the confusion of the voters when they go to make out their ballot. But even if a hundred names and a proportionate number of offices were cut off the ballot, it would still be too long to vote with intelligence all the way through.

If we increase the number of elective offices we will get to the point where nobody can vote with intelligence and where it will take a week to count the ballots.

What we need is the consolidation of some of our offices and to make some of them appointive instead of elective. A shorter ballot would certainly promote more intelligent voting.

A Lesson on Force

THE SOONER the world learns the great lesson, that force is one of the most useless things in existence, the better off everyone will be.

In the long run you cannot force anyone to do anything for you. You may seem to, for a time, but in the end you are apt to find out you have been fooled.

These thoughts are aroused by an article in the current issue of the magazine, Plain Talk, discussing the activities of the Germans in China.

When the world war ended Germany was in no shape, either in a military or financial sense, to follow the customary European policy of force in dealing with the Chinese. So there were no German concessions in China. The Germans did not share in the extra-territoriality scheme; Germans in China who broke the laws were tried in Chinese courts. Because of circumstances they could not control, the Germans had to treat China as an equal.

Meanwhile the other European nations followed the old policy. They maintained fleets and garrisons in China. They maintained their own courts there, set aside certain quarters of Chinese cities for their own use, and maintained a high and mighty attitude in every respect. That, they agreed, was the way to deal with the Chinese.

Then came the turmoil of revolution. And now read these sentences from the magazine article:

"The British concession in Hankow was seized and kept; British, American and French women and children evacuated the town. Property of these nationalities, as well as of the Japanese, was destroyed in Nanking. So far as these nationalities were concerned business virtually ceased al the way up the Yangtze from Nanking to Ichang and trade was seriously curtailed.

"At the same time, however, the Germans carried on. In all the centers where revolution raged German property was not molested and German residents were not harmed . . . . German firms in Hankow continued to operate after all other foreign firms had suspended."

The writer goes on to remark that while British and Japanese merchant ships were being fired on daily in the Yangtze river, German ships invariably were allowed to go by unmolested.

There is a lot of food for thought in that article. The nations that used force on China have seen their trade shrink and will see it shrink more as time goes on. The Germans, who did not use force, have reaped the benefit. Force, obviously, has failed.

Nations—and people—who cannot be dissuaded from force by the argument that it is morally wrong may eventually give it up when they learn that it is worse than useless.

When A Girl Loves

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Nathaniel Dean is engaged to Virgina Brewster, whose father dies suddenly after losing his fortune. Niel begs her to marry him at once, but Frederick Dean and his daughter Clarissa persuade her to make her temporary home with them.

Virginia becomes unhappy in her new home and resolves to tell Niel her fears. But when she phones his studio late at night his model, Chiri, answers. This causes doubt and a lovers' quarrel which is later explained away happily.

Meanwhile, Dean is forced to pay blackmail to a Mrs. Farley or face a scandal which he realized would spoil his chance of winning Virginia. Hoping to get Niel out of the way, Dean has the president of a company he controls offer him a high-salaried position, providing he will go to San Francisco at once. Niel is overjoyed at the offer and begs Virginia to marry and go west him. But she refuses to let him sacrifice his art study.

Virginia is involved in trouble with Clarissa when the latter's fiance, Russell Waingould, catches her unexpectedly in a half-drunken embrace.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER XII

Without a word Clarissa turned and disappeared from Virginia's agonized sight. And by that silent gesture Virginia realized her worst fear. Clarissa had misunderstood. The expression of utter scorn and contempt that had distorted her features as she watched the scene before her had flashed her interpretation of it to Virginia with blighting comprehension.

"Let me go," Virginia cried fiercely at Russell. "Are you mad? Let me go."

He laughed as she wrenched and tore to free her frail body. Finally she worked her hands to a position that enabled her to give him a strong shove and managed to break away.

"Oh, what a fool you've been," she choked. "Clarissa saw you!"

"So that's what throttled you! I was afraid you didn't like me."

"Like you? I think you're a beast!"

"Just because I kissed you? Say, that makes me dizzy. I thought I knew how to kiss a girl and make her like it." He spoke in the voice of a complaining child.

Virginia was white and trembling now. The dread of facing Clarissa was replacing her wrath. How could she convince her friend that it was all nothing but a stupid, meaningless episode? In her heart Virginia feared she could not.

"I'm going up to try to explain to Clarissa," she told Russell in a shaken voice, "and I certainly shall make it plain as to who is the guilty person."

"You'd better give her time to cool off; Claret knows some pretty strong words," Russell advised.

Virginia did not answer.

"Well, wish you luck," he called after her as she left the room.

She went directly to Clarissa's boudoir. At the door she paused a moment to catch her breath before rapping.

Clarissa threw the door open, banging it back violently.

Virginia walked into the room without an invitation to do so, quaking inwardly before Clarissa's patent fury.

"I don't care to hear any lies, if you intend to defend yourself that way," the latter said in a harsh, raised voice.

Virginia looked at her steadily, fearlessly. The words had served to strengthen her, to free her of an unmerited sense of guilt.

"There is no occasion to lie," she replied quietly.

"Then if you haven't anything to say for yourself your presence here is an insult to me," Clarissa declared.

"But I have something to say for myself—simply the truth. I could not help what you saw, Clarissa. You must know that Russell has had too many cocktails. He lost his head."

"Oh, did he?" Clarissa sneered. "Well, it wasn't because of cocktails, let me tell you. I know how much he can drink and I know how much he had. It wasn't enough to make him do a thing like that unless he was encouraged."

"Clarissa! You know better than that. I don't blame you for being angry, but after all it was just a foolish thing that Russell did."

"Very foolish indeed, to do it right under my eyes. I wonder how you thought you could get away with it, Virginia."

"Do you really believe I wanted it to happen?"

"Well, why not? If you didn't you could have managed to avoid it. Surely you haven't forgotten that I warned you I wouldn't permit any trespassing where Russell was concerned. I thought you might find him more interesting than a poverty-stricken artist. Or were you simply adding another bow to your string because you feared Mrs. Farley?"

Virginia's eyes wavered over the stormy creature before her in absolute bewilderment.

"I haven't the faintest idea what you are talking about," she said when she could speak.

"For heaven's sake, can't you stop pretending to be dumb?" Clarissa cried angrily. "Don't you suppose that I know you aren't going to marry your precious Niel? You wouldn't have turned him down to come here if you were. There's only one answer to that—you aren't such a simpleton as you let on. You know dad's a catch. Well, that was all right with me. I didn't want Mrs. Farley to get him."

The words poured out like a torrent and they seemed to Virginia like debris being heaped upon her, the debris of a broken friendship. She wanted to turn and run, but the sight of Clarissa, flaming and raging, fascinated her. She ceased to hear what more was being said. Her mind was echoing the accusations already made against her. She understood now why Clarissa had been so eager to have her in the house. Her face burned with shame. It was too dreadful that Clarissa should have thought she wanted to marry her father. And Clarissa had been willing to have the marriage take place if only because she did not like Mrs. Farley. And now Clarissa thought Virginia had sought to lure Russell away from her because of fear that Mrs. Farley would prove a successful rival for Mr. Dean's fortune.

The whole thing passed baldly through Virginia's mind as she stood there, overcome with humiliation and wounded pride. Tears that she was too proud to shed smarted at the back of her eyes and her hands clenched until the nails bit into the palms.

"You don't seem to have anything to say now that you know you can't pull the wool over my eyes," Clarissa flung out, taunting her with her stricken silence.

Virginia's lips parted in an attempt to speak but she succeeded only in uttering a queer, unintelligible sound of protest.

Clarissa laughed harshly. It was such a thoroughly contemptuous laugh that it stung Virginia to a retort. "If you believe what you've just said you don't deserve to be answered," she declared in a voice that held as much contempt as Clarissa's own. She was as angry now as the other girl, but still the thought of a quarrel was as repugnant to her as it ever was. With her head held high and a disdainful light flashing from her expressive eyes, she turned to leave the room.

Clarissa stopped her. Virginia could not ignore what she said.

"You'd better go down and complete your work with Russell, for I'm sure when father hears of this your chances with him won't be anything to celebrate."

Virginia came back and stood face to face with her.

"I'm ashamed—for you," she said, so simply and coldly and sincerely that Clarissa had to give ground. The sneer left her lips and a dull flush spread over her cheeks.

"It does not matter to me now whether you believe me or not," Virginia went on, speaking slowly and with perfect control. She had recovered from the attack Clarissa had launched upon her; she had brought herself to a state of cold calm for a few minutes at least, and it was now Clarissa's turn to flinch.

"I don't think I should care to have you believe me—to want to be friends again," the stern young voice carried on. "You have changed so horribly since you spent so much time abroad. I've heard you were rushed by fortune hunters over there, Clarissa; perhaps that is why you are so suspicious and worldly. You seem to think that everyone is ready to sacrifice decency for money. And you would have preferred me to ruin my life rather than have your father marry Mrs. Farley. But you've made a big mistake if you've thought that I feel as you do. You can go down and tell Russell Waingould that I don't consider him worthy to speak to the man I'm going to marry—that's how much I want to take him away from you. And as for wanting to marry your father—I'd hate myself if the idea had been mine."

The speech was almost too long for her composure. The last words came with more of natural feeling than the first had been. It proved a relief to Clarissa, who preferred a touch of temper to the quiet thrusts of truth.

But she was too spoiled to accept all of Virginia's statements as truth. Her innermost conviction was that she had acted a fool but she was affronted at the portrayal of herself as a materialist, a worldly-minded, jealous, scheming person. She lifted her chin with a great show of spirit and turned her back, accompanying the gesture with a shrug of disbelief that caused Virginia to turn and leave the room in full knowledge that the break was final.

She knew she must leave the house as well. It would be intolerable to spend another night under a roof that harbored anyone who had insulted her so grossly as Clarissa had. She would pack a few of her things and leave immediately. The thought of seeing Mr. Dean bothered her. She would have to do it, though. He couldn't be held to answer for Clarissa and she owed him an explanation as to why she was leaving his house.

In her room she rang for a maid and asked if Mr. Dean had left. A few minutes later she was on her way to the library, where her host was waiting to see her.

But as she approached the door a thought as staggering as anything Clarissa had said crossed her mind and she halted abruptly, as though a physical barrier had been thrown up before her.

Women Play Love Game Like Rank Amateurs—Dix

Most Women Play the Love Game Like Rank Amateurs, Bungling Everything by Loving Too Much, Regarding Love as a Duty, Attempting to Keep Love by Imprisonment, and Seeking to Regain Lost Love by Reproaches.

When, long ago, a poet wrote: "Love is of man's life a thing apart, 'tis woman's whole existence," he said, in the slang of the day, a mouthful.

Love is the meringue on the lemon pie of life to a man. It is the entire menu, from soup to nuts, to a woman. Being in love is a pleasant interlude, switched between work and play, to a man. It is a career, an occupation, a lifework to a woman.

If a man loves and is loved, well and good. If he misses love, he still gets along very comfortably, thank you kindly. He has his business, his clubs, his friends, his amusements, and his fills in his time so agreeably that he doesn't feel that he has missed anything. But for a woman not to love and be loved is total bankruptcy to her. She has lost everything of value to her in the world. For a man to be an old bachelor is never the tragedy to him that being an old maid is to a woman.

Such being the case, and love being the pre-occupation of a woman from the cradle to the grave, it is amazing how little they ever find out about it, and how stupidly they play the love game. It is only the occasional woman who ever acquires the technique of the professional.

The great majority of women are always blundering amateurs who trump their partner's aces, and lead from the wrong suits to the end. Which is why so many women lose out. Now the four most glaring mistakes that women make about love are these:

First. They love not wisely, but too well. They love too much. They overdo it. They surfeit the object of their devotion with affection until he is ready to cry out with Solomon, who had a thousand loving wives:

"Stay me with flagons. Feed me on apples, for I am sick of love!"

When a girl is in love with a boy she cannot let him alone and give him a chance to crave her society. She cannot act indifferently toward him, though that is the one sure way to pique his interest. She cannot keep him guessing. She is bound to assure him over and over again that her heart beats only for him. She can't keep away from the telephone. She can't withhold herself from writing a dozen letters to his one.

She hounds him into making dates, with the inevitable result that he gets so fed up with her that he passes her up for a less affectionate maiden. For no man can stand a steady diet of chocolate creams. It nauseates him after a bit and he loses his appetite for it.

And it is the same way with a too-loving wife. She pours sticky sentiment over her husband until he feels as if he were drowning in a barrel of molasses.

She wants to be forever billing and cooing, and to make life a perpetual petting party, and she weeps when he doesn't tell her a dozen times a day how much he adores her, and that he still considers her a lady love and more beautiful than any debutante. And in time it gets on the man's nerves, and it makes him feel like screaming when he has to pull off his daily dozen Romeo stunts instead of acting like a rational human being who is tired and, hungry and doesn't want to talk, or be talked to, to say nothing of being required to make love.

Even children hate to be loved too much. Watch a baby squirm away from a mother who smothers it with kisses. Observe how quickly young people hark to the call of the wild, and get away from the mother who is always hanging on their necks. Love is like everything else, the rarer it is, the more valuable it is.

If diamonds were as common as turnpike rocks, they would be selling at so much a ton, instead of by the carat. The harder a woman is to win, the more a man wants her. The more difficult she is to kiss, the more determined he is to do it. The less love she gives, the more she receives. The cold woman is always better loved than the demonstrative one.

The next mistake that women make about love is in regarding it in the light of a duty. If they love, they consider it the duty of others to love them in return. They think that they have a right to get value returned for their affection, which may be all right as a theory, but unfortunately doesn't work out in actual practice. And also, unfortunately, this is a theory with which women take liberties.

A woman, for instance, considers it the duty of her husband and children to love her simply because they sustain that relationship to her, and without reference to the way she treats them. She may be lazy and slovenly in her housekeeping, she may be peevish and fretful and complaining. She may have a temper like a virago and nag them to death. But still she harps upon it being their duty to love her.

Perhaps it is, but love cannot be coerced nor compelled. It is not the bond slave of obligation. It is a wild, free thing that has to be coaxed and cajoled and lured by every art and wile into eating out of a woman's hand.

No man loves his wife because it is his duty to. He loves her because she is sweet and dear and makes herself so attractive and agreeable he has no choice but to love her. Nor do children love their mother because it is their duty. They love her just because she is loveable.

The third mistake that women make about love is in thinking that they can keep it by imprisoning it. Nine wives out of ten believe that the way to keep their husbands faithful to them is by constituting themselves their husbands' jailers.

They raise ructions if their husbands do not punch the time clock on the dot. They deny their husbands a latchkey and never give them even a servant's privilege of a night off. They are so pea-green with jealousy that their husbands would not dare to praise another woman to them, or to take an old woman friend out to lunch.

These misguided women forget that no man ever yet loved his jailer, and that the one great passion in every man's soul is the love of liberty that is greater than man's love for woman. And they also forget that the surest way in the world to make a man jump the bars is to fence him in.

The only woman who keeps her husband is the one who lets him forge his own chains out of his own inclinations. She doesn't try to domesticate him by force. She makes home so much pleasanter than any other place that he doesn't want to leave it, and because he knows he is free to go or stay, he stays.

Finally, women make the fatal mistake when they have lost love by trying to win it back by reproaches.

The wife who suspects her husband of philandering drives him the quicker to the other woman by making his home a place of hysterical scenes, by reciting to him the saga of his weaknesses and faults, by reminding him of all she has done for him. The mother whose children are not fond and affectionate to her bewails their ingratitude every time they come near her, so they come as rarely as possible.

Apparently it does not occur to the woman who has lost love that she has lost it through her own carelessness, and that the only way to win it back is by changing her tactics, and making herself more attractive instead of less so.

Ramblin' with Marie Theresa

MISS me?

That's the only way I have of letting you know that I have been out of town for two whole days. Just think of it, two days of real ramblin', physical, not mental. No, I'm not going to give a detailed account of my travels.

THE members of the Woman's Forum are planning on making a real picnic of the Fourth of July picnic party planned for Wednesday at the club house, according to Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, president. Each member is going to bring a frill to add to the attractiveness. A picnic frill being somewhat different from the ordinary type of frill, it might be explained that the frills brought by the'orumites will take the form of cakes, homemade pies, potato salad, etc. These frills brought from the members will be united to the picnic planned by the chef of the club house and served on the lawn at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

THE latest style adopted by girl bandits in the state is evening dress. A woman held in a Dallas holdup was found wearing a flesh pink evening dress, such a harmless color. If she had been wearing a gorgeous purple gown or a sanguine red, we might forgive her, but a Dolly Dimple flesh pink, never.

HOW are you going to celebrate the Fourth? Are you among the fortunate ones who will peek up and spend the entire day in the cool shady places about the city?

Marie Theresa can't imagine such a Fourth in this section of the country. How any sane person can spend the few cool hours of the morning packing a car with every conceivable thing to make the day uncomfortable, hunt around for hours for a shady place, spend the day sitting among mesquite bushes, cactus, giant mosquitoes and chiggers, eat dried handwiches well seasoned with the dust of the road, drink anything that is in solution believing it is water, (or believing it isn't water) return to the city to spend the remainder of the Fourth and all of the next day repenting and scratching, and still remain patriotic, is more than I can figure out.

But you can't tell 'em anything, anyway, and I do so hope that you have a good time, no matter what you do and where you spend the holiday. But why pick out the glorious national holiday to waste that way?

I shall probably be working, therefore the above remarks.

Panhandle Band To Give Program At Forum Picnic

Attractions have been added to the program planned for the old-fashioned picnic to be held at the Woman's Forum club house, Wednesday in celebration of the Fourth of July.

The Panhandle band will give an open air concert on the lawn from 7 to 8 o'clock, evening, including both popular and patriotic numbers. C. C. Frazee will stage a play on the lawn.

Members of the Woman's Forum will bring special picnic dishes from home to add to the picnic luncheon as planned by the club house hostess. Picnic luncheon price has been set at 60 cents the plate. Swimming parties have made reservations for the club house breakfast, while a noon time luncheon may also be had by making reservations with Mrs. Ruth Bain, hostess at the club house, who will have charge of the picnic.

Judging from the number of reservations already made by families who will thus celebrate the holiday, the picnic will add to the list of well attended events for the forum year. Families will bring fireworks to celebrate the occasion.

Candidate Berates Record of Mayfield

during longer than an hour for delivery to an attack upon Senator Mayfield's record. Not once during the speaker's entire address did he mention directly or by inference the name of any others of the remaining four candidates in the present senatorial race.

Connally, continuing the attack, charged that Mayfield waged "a campaign of duplicity" in 1922 to win a seat in the senate, and that he is again seeking election with the same kind of campaign.

"He sought, and is seeking," the speaker said, "the votes of persons who are not members of the Ku Klux Klan by telling them that he is himself not a member. And then he tells members of the klan that they are obligated to vote for him because of his affiliation with the organization.

"His was a curious campaign in 1922. While the sun was shining, he was not a member of the klan. But when the shades of night fell, he put on his robe and joined the boys in the nature. He followed the fiery cross to a seat in the United States senate, and then handed the fiery double cross to the old associates who had elected him."

Connally charged in that connection that Mayfield testified before the senate committee which investigated the 1922 election that he had once been a member of the klan, but had withdrawn before he announced for the senate. Connally then read from what purported to be transcripts of copies of letters from high klan officials in 1922 to Texas members of the order calling upon them to support Mayfield. Those "mandates," Connally said, described Mayfield as being a member of the klan several months later than the senator had testified.

Challenge on Klan

Connally made his initial reference to the klan with the declaration that it was "an issue that had no place and should never have been injected into Texas politics." It was made an issue by Mayfield in 1922, the speaker charged, as an "insidious and secret" manner of causing the defeat of the late Senator Charles A. Culberson, whom Mayfield succeeded.

"I have never been a member of the klan," Connally declared. "I have no quarrel with you who were members.

"I was told when I came here to avoid reference to the klan when I came to Wichita Falls because, they told me, lots of Klansmen were here. But things have come to a pretty pass when a candidate does not dare to mention those things which are real issues in a campaign. I want to tell you I do not believe in secret government or in secret politics, or in the control of political affairs of our government by secret organizations.

"Here and now I want to challenge Senator Mayfield to tell his position on the Ku-Klux klan. If the press fails to carry this challenge, I hope that some of you in the audience will see to it that it is transmitted to Senator Mayfield."

Connally had preceded his references to the klan with criticism of Mayfield's vote several years ago to confirm the proposed appointment of Cyrus Woods of Pittsburgh to a place on the interstate commerce commission. The appointment was opposed by senators who charged that Woods was prejudiced at a time when the Pennsylvania railroad was involved in an important coal rate contest, it being shown that Woods held $50,000 worth of stock in the railroad, Connally said.

"The senate declined to confirm the appointment," Connally continued. "But of the two Democrats who voted with the Republicans wishing to seat Woods, one was Senator Mayfield."

Connally also charged that Mayfield later joined with Republicans in supporting a resolution designed to "bury alive" Senator Thomas J. Walsh's demands for an investigation of excessive campaign expenditures in senatorial races.

Supports Party Nominee

Connally repeated his declaration that he is a Democrat, and intends to carry out the announcement made at the beginning of his campaign to support the platform and nominee of the party. He cited his record of more than 11 years' service in the house of representatives as proof that he has declared himself on every issue of moment that has arisen during that time.

The speaker was introduced by A. H. Britain, local attorney and immediate past president of the State Bar association.

"It has never been my privilege to introduce a speaker whom I more sincerely commend to you as being worthy and deserving of the office he seeks than is Tom Connally," Judge Britain declared.

A concert played by a band directed by Leo Underwood preceded the address.

Mr. Connally, with R. T. Crawford, Edgar Scurry, R. O. Kenley and Joe Holbrook, left Wichita Falls Tuesday morning for Burkburnett, where he spoke about 10:30 o'clock. The party then drove to Electra, where Mr. Connally spoke again after lunch. He spoke later in the afternoon at Iowa Park, and at Bellevue park, Wichita Falls, in the evening.

Mayor Glen Kincaid introduced the speaker at Burkburnett, Judge Kenley at Electra, and Judge Scurry at Iowa Park.

The declaration that Earle B. Mayfield, junior senator from Texas, has never told the people of Texas where he stands on important issues was the basis of Mr. Connally's attack on the incumbent senator.

"I am a Democrat. I believe in the principles of the Democratic party. I believe in the platform of that party," was Mr. Connally's introductory statement. "Being a Democrat, I have cooperated with my party in congress and out of it. I stand squarely upon the Democratic platform and for the nominee, Governor Al Smith."

"I am highly gratified to know that the Democratic platform endorses the outstanding planks which I endorsed in my platform as I started my campaign for the senate."

Planks Endorsed

Outstanding among those planks Mr. Connally named those for law enforcement and for farm relief and regarding the question of Nicaragua and the tariff. He further denounced corruption in office and the corrupt use of money in election campaigns and declared that the scandal in the Texas senatorial election in 1922 had attracted nationwide attention.

Replying to Mayfield's statement that he lost two years of his term through the senatorial investigation, Mr. Connally said that Mr. Mayfield had not lost a day or a dollar in that contest.

"In 1922 Mr. Mayfield refused to tell the people where he stood. He still refuses to tell where he stands. He will not do it because he is afraid. I believe that anyone who is a candidate for the United States senate ought to have the courage to tell the people where he stands on every issue and every question."

In closing, Mr. Connally pledged himself, if elected, to give to the state the best service of which he is capable. He has served for the past 12 years as congressman from the Waco district.

"HOW DRY I AM"

L. Kuntz, commissioner at Iowa Park and a member of the same regiment as Tom Connally in the Spanish-American war, was among those who gave Mr. Connally an enthusiastic hearing Tuesday afternoon at Iowa Park.

While the party which accompanied Mr. Connally over the county was at Electra, a woman passed by and asked if the speaker was going to support Al Smith for president. "Of course. He is a Democrat. Aren't you a democrat?" one of the other men replied. "Yes, but I'm dry as the devil," the woman replied.

everyone to exercise special care to avoid accidents and fires. Chief of Police Frank Burns has asked the public to have a good time, and in so doing to observe the laws in cooperation with policemen.

One of the unusual features of the afternoon's celebration at the field will be the dropping of a bottle of Lake Kemp water on the field from an airplane to formally dedicate the field. J. W. Chatham, traffic and industrial manager of the chamber of commerce, made this parachute and obtained the water Tuesday.

Visitors Coming

Hubert Harrison, manager of the chamber of commerce said that he had received telephonic assurance Tuesday that delegations from Archer City, Iowa Park, Burkburnett and Vernon would attend the ceremonies. These are in addition to the many others which already have been received.

The noon luncheon will be presided over at the Wichita club by Charles I. Francis, president of the chamber of commerce. General John A. Hulen, commander of the 36th division, will deliver the principal address. M. J. Norrell, manager of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, also is scheduled to address the luncheon. Dr. S. S. McKenney, pastor of the First Methodist church will deliver the invocation.

The celebration at the field proper will start at 2:30 o'clock and will be featured by a concert of the Panhandle band which also will play at the Wichita club luncheon. Formation flying, the inspection of the field, the dedication and the parachute leap are among the features on the program.

sleeping man as Shumate, Sheriff Bralley related, he left the room for a minute to return with W. W. Belcher, deputy, who positively identified the man.

Claims Arrest Made

Pryor himself later declared that he had arrested Shumate the night before and was planning to return him to the county jail Monday morning.

Pryor was arrested by Sheriff Bralley, however. About an hour later Shook also was arrested. The three men were returned to Wichita Falls and lodged in the county jail. Charges of "concealing a criminal" were filed against Shook and Pryor and bond was set at $1000 before O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace. Pryor later made bond.

Three Counts

The indictment against Shook, Pryor and Shumate, according to Ben Allred, district attorney, charges the two officers with burglary on counts of participating in the burglary, of aiding Shumate in burglarizing the newsstand and of aiding Shumate after the burglary had been committed.

Shumate, in addition to being indicted jointly with Pryor and Shook for burglary of the newsstand, also was indicted for robbery of a hotel clerk in Electra and for burglary of a theater there.

Other true bills of indictment returned by the grand jury Tuesday against persons under arrest include:

T. C. Smith, theft over $50, growing out of Smith's apprehension in Abilene in connection with an effort to dispose of an automobile stolen in Wichita Falls; Beulah Howe, burglary, and Mary Pearson, robbery.

collector. He has had his two terms and still seeks reelection."

Guy C. Raley: "I have put the tax collector's office on a higher plane than at any time in the past, and will be able to continue bettering it. The editorial in The Times explains the two-term proposition."

State Representative

E. Vandeventer: "I favor a move to create a state park at Lake Kemp."

Cecil Storey: "I favor an equal distribution of school taxes."

Sheriff

W. G. Bralley: "I will not break the law to enforce it. I have increased the efficiency of the sheriff's office, and have obtained more convictions for major crime than any previous administration."

W. T. Waller: "As a member of the Smith administration, I helped the department turn to the people the greatest sum in fees yet recorded."

Sam Sprusill: "I favor cooperation with the public and among officers. I am opposed to the kangaroo court among prisoners."

District Clerk

Jesse E. Smith: "I played the fiddle for the old square dance in this community 25 years ago. I worked for the telephone company, the Wichita Falls city engineer's office, and also have been in the mercantile business."

Eunice Jackson: "I have served as district clerk since the death in 1926 of A. F. Kerr, and I seek to continue in office. I have worked hard to do what is right, and my office is in good shape."

Constable, Precinct Three

Grady Wigley: "If I am elected I won't allow any bunch to dictate."

CANDIDATES OUTNUMBER VOTERS AT CLARA

Twenty-three candidates and an even larger number of wives and supporters traveled 20 miles through the July heat Tuesday evening to address a crowd of not more than 20 voters at the Clara schoolhouse.

As the crowd was slow in gathering and the speaking did not start until nearly 9 o'clock, the candidates agreed to cut the time limit of their speeches from the customary 15 minutes to three minutes.

Many of the politicians did not utilize their full three minutes but merely introduced themselves to the crowd and requested the support of the people.

N. M. Matthews, of Clara, was chairman of the speaking. Short excerpts from the three-minute speeches follow:

For county commissioner, precinct 3.

L. L. Kuntz: "I am here to represent the working man all the time."

For county treasurer.

Mrs. W. W. Gardner: "I feel that I am competent to fill the place and I earnestly solicit your votes."

T. W. McHam: Asked for reelection.

For county school superintendent.

The candidates merely introduced themselves. They are Burl Bryant, Clyde R. Wofford and J. A. Hood.

For tax assessor.

R. S. Dunaway: "The office of tax assessor is one of the most important in the county. It is a job that requires care, accuracy and experience."

Against Taxation

B. L. Trevathan: "I believe I am qualified for the job."

Everett Hughes: "I have worked in other counties and I have discovered that Wichita county has the biggest tax assessment rate of any county in the state. I am opposed to this high taxation and I do not believe it is just to the farmers."

N. A. Moore: "I have had 10 years experience as a real estate man and seven years experience as a railroad statistician."

Max Shumake: "I have worked your city taxes, your school taxes, your irrigation taxes and your county taxes so I do not consider myself a novice in the game."

Mart Banta: "I have lived and grown up among you as a citizen of Wichita county for the past 51 years."

For judge of the 30th district court.

Harry Bunnemberg: "Judge Martin has served you for eight years, in fact ever since the court was organized. He has served in public office for 24 years. Age is not a just indication of ability or merit. You have already had district judges in this county who were younger than I am. If I am elected I promise to put some hum into that court and to try cases."

P. A. Martin: "As my opponent has already stated, I have 24 years experience in the administration of the law—as county attorney, district attorney and district judge. It is a question of age and experience on one side and youth and inexperience on the other."

Liquor Enforcement

For county attorney.

Bill Davenport: "I am the only man in the county attorney's race who has opened his face about the liquor question. If elected I will enforce the 18th amendment in Wichita county to the best of my ability. Liquor cases will not be filed in justice court as misdemeanors."

Robert K. Crain: "I stand for enforcement of every statute in our statute books. I was born and reared in Montague county. I came here four and one-half years ago and served as assistant district attorney for 18 months. You might get by with one of these other candidates in a pinch but I am the best qualified man in the race."

W. E. Wilson: "I want you to study the lives of we who are offering our services to you. When the people elect an officer they are merely 'hiring a hand.' I stand for uniform enforcement of the law with favoritism to none and justice to all."

Wayne Sommerville: "Delinquent taxes in this county had been neglected since 1893. During my term of office I attempted to remedy this by filing tax suits where necessary. During my term the county attorney's office paid into the county more than $14,000 in excess fees."

For county judge.

John P. Marvs: "I have lived here for the past 12 years. I have been a student of law for 25 years and have been engaged in the active practice of law for 22 years."

P. B. Curd: "Before announcing for this office I conferred with many attorneys in Wichita Falls and only two of them said that the county judge should be a lawyer—and those two were my opponents. I promise you the same diligent service which I gave Wichita Falls while I was a member of the city council."

E. W. Nicholson: "I have stayed on the job every day since I went into office. I have tried and endeavored to make you a good and efficient officer. When I went into office I quit my private practice so that I might devote my entire time to my duties as county judge."

For representative, 111th district, place No. 1.

R. A. Long: "I am not qualified for the office which I seek. Neither are either of my opponents. I promised my friends, when they said they would support me, that I would withdraw if a qualified man entered the race. I favor economy in government. Also I believe in letting the people rule."

F. G. Swanson: "I have been considerably amused this evening to hear one of our opponents presume ideas for other candidates evidently to hide his own lack of ideas. I believe taxation can and should be simplified. I claim that farmers will be relieved of tax burdens when their personal property is exempt from taxation."

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 3. (AP)—Reports of more favorable weather in the South combined with the report on boll weevil emergence issued after the close yesterday, were among the factors mentioned on declines of nearly $2.50 a bale in the cotton market today. October contracts sold off to 21.95 in late trading, or 50 points net lower and 92 points below the high level late last week, closing at 22.00. The general market closed barely steady, at net declines of 43 to 50 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 14 to 26 points under more or less general selling, inspired by the weakness in Liverpool, a favorable weather map and the boll weevil report showing a comparatively small percentage of emergence up to June 15. After showing net losses of 35 to 39 points under these early offerings, the market steadied up a few points on trade buying and covering.

The opinion was expressed in some quarters that weevil damage was more dependent upon the sperad of the insects and weather conditions, than upon such initial infestation as might be indicated by emergence reports, and there was probably some buying on the continued bullish character of private crop advices. Bulges, however, met further realizing or liquidation of old long accounts, and after some irregularity during the day, prices eased again in later trading.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 3. (AP)—Trading in today's cotton market was held in check by the impending Independence day holiday, but prices fluctuated widely. Following an early decline of $2 a bale the market rallied on bullish private crop reports and recovered about 17 points, but realizing developed in final trading and prices made new lows for the day, closing steady at a net decline of 36 to 39 points.

October contracts traded off to 21.50, or 36 points under the previous close in early trading. The subsequent rally carried it back to 21.67, but in the late decline sold off to 21.45 and closed at 21.47, or 39 points net lower for the day.

Liverpool cables were lower than due, private advices attributing the easiness there to a bearish construction of the boll weevil report issued yesterday. The market here opened easier in sympathy with th English market and local prices continued to decline during the early trading on selling induced by the boll weevil report and before the offerings were absorbed October traded off to 21.67 and December 21.43, or 36 points below the previous close.

Near mid-session the demand was stimulated by two bullish private crop reports, but it was supplied on a recovery of 17 points. Traders expressed the opinion that the market would have recovered more of the loss had not the impending holiday held trading in check.

In the final trading prices sagged again under pre-holiday liquidation and realizing, making new lows for the season at 21.45 for October and 21.40 for December, or 39 to 41 points below the previous close. The close was at, or near the lowest with October at 21.47, December 21.41 and January 21.28, or 36 to 39 points net down.

Call Money Rate Dips Sharply and Stocks Rally With Favorites Ahead

By BROADAN WALL
Universal Service Financial Expert

NEW YORK, July 3.—Stocks rallied quite vigorously as money eased today. From the highest renewal rate since February 1921—8 per cent call money dropped as more and more funds poured in, and closed at 5 per cent. At the close there was a big amount offered outside of regular channels at as low as 4½ per cent.

General Motors and others harboring a short interest moved steadily forward on rather small transactions. Motors gained 6, Radio over 8, American International 7⅝ while Texas & Pacific and Missouri Pacific led the rails, the former skyrocketing over 13 points. There was no other factor of influence except money and while a little outside following was attracted in the afternoon, trading remained highly professional during most of the session.

Sterling dipped in a general irregular foreign market. Cotton, wheat and other commodities were affected by pre-holiday realizing and more bearish weather advices.

Call Rate "Halved"

Drop in the call rate to 5 per cent from the 10 per cent of the previous day caused more criticism of the reserve banks. Those who really understood what was going on in the money world, however, were not surprised. Monday the banks had to prepare for the adjustment with the reserve bank, keep in shape for national bank call, and at the same time take care of checks coming through as a result of the July 1 dividend and interest. Comptroller of the currency announced in the morning that the condition should be reported as of June 30 so the money strings were loosened a little and then rates dropped again as the banks received redeposits of the mid-year money. There was no easing in time money, however, and none appears likely while the most powerful bankers in the midwest have given definite threat of higher rediscount rates should the stock market start taking an increasing amount of money.

Nickel Discussed

There was considerable comment as to the action of International Nickel during the reaction and its comparatively firm tone was attributed to many influences. The one and only reason for the strength of the stock was that the Durant group was not ready to have it break; or, in other words, that the pool has not liquidated. The pool in Nickel tried several ways to get out before the Durant group was taken in the picture. This last pool operation was just about started when the federal reserve measures commenced having an effect on the market. Whether it will be successful in marking up the price in a 6 per cent money period depends entirely upon how the balance of the market acts.

Grain

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE
Universal Service

CHICAGO, July 3.—Grains were dull and sluggish for the most part in the pre-holiday session today, but the nearby futures in corn displayed great strength.

Wheat was ⅜c higher to ⅝c lower at the close; corn was up ⅛c to 2⅝c; oats were off ⅛c to ⅜c higher; rye was unchanged to ⅝c lower.

Bulls in corn appear to have all the best of the situation at present. The advance in the July and the September futures was achieved easily. Offerings in the pit were light.

The price of hogs makes corn at the December price look cheap to those who have confidence in this relationship as a barometer. Furthermore, the corn crop is a long way from being made. There may be setbacks in its progress this month. Usually there are.

The group supposed to own the July futures seem to have shorts in a pocket. It appears necessary only for them to sit still and watch cash sales of corn drain away supplies until shorts in the July futures come to the conclusion that they must buy in what they cannot deliver.

Wheat was very dull today. It opened lower and dragged up and down within a small range, closing about midway between the top and bottom prices for all the futures except the July, which closed higher than on the day previous.

In general the outlook for wheat in this country appears to be bullish. The trade, however, cannot see that prospect yet, or those who can prefer to await for a time developments.

Rye acted today as if shorts in that market were beginning to try to get in by offering prices down and then trying themselves to buy. This grain seems to be in a more bullish position than any other, but it is a slow started and may not be ready for some time yet.

In the cash market wheat was steady; corn was 1½c to 2c up; oats were steady; No. 1 rye sold at $1.30; barley was steady.

New Program in Little River

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., July 3.—The Little River pool of Seminole field where the operators have been objecting to the present plans of development will be given a new program Friday. It calls for the removal of all restrictions of drilling, allowing operators to drill wherever they please, but halting production to 125,000 barrels a day from that pool after Sept. 10 The plan to be recommended is the Winkler-Pecos potential proration plan, successfully used in West Texas fields, and recognized as the most practical program for a field of high potentialities.

Crude Oil Market Continues Unchanged

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., July 3.—The oil market continues unchanged. Both crude and refined oils are held stationary by producers and refiners.

West Texas continues to dominate the crude situation, and eastern oil field advances are accepted as local conditions. In the Mid-Continent sweet oils are in increased demand, but prices remain unchanged.

Mid-Continent refiners report gasoline prices steady, and movement to jobbing centers continues to increase with the approach of the Fourth of July holidays and vacation season. Some Group 3 refiners expect spot prices to increase soon. U. S. motor gasoline firm at 7⅞ to 8 cents. Natural gasolines are stronger.

German Socialist Endorses Peace Plan

BERLIN, July 3. (UP)—Unreserved endorsement of the United States' proposal for a treaty to outlaw war was given by Hermann Mueller, new socialist chancellor, in outlining the policy of his coalition cabinet in the reichstag today. Mueller emphasized the government's intention to continue foreign policy unaltered. He urged a swift and final solution of the reparations policy, with fixation of the total sum Germany must pay her foes.

Lowe Transferred

L. W. (Buddy) Lowe, head of the Panhandle division land office of the Empire Oil and Refining company, has been transferred to Fort Worth, to take charge of the Texas land office for the same concern. John Maddox of the land office at Bartlesville, has been sent to Amarillo as Lowe's successor in the Plains district.

CHAMPAGNOLLE MAY GO WEST

Production Decline in Ark. Field Stops

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., July 3.—The trend of recent developments in the Champagnolle pool, of Union county, southeastern Arkansas, indicates that the new area may develop intensively to the west, either northwest or to the southwest.

The production decline, due to wells on the east edge falling off, appears to have been halted after the daily output fell to 17,500 barrels a day on June 29. The next day it made 17,855 barrels, and it is doing around 18,000 barrels now.

Estes and others No. 2 Rowland, in the southwest of the northwest of the southwest of the northwest of 14-17-14, which had a sand from 3059 to 3063 feet, drilled out cement and bailed in and at a total depth of 3065 feet, was a hole full of salt water. It is south of the Magna Producing company's Nos. 3 and 5, in the east half of the southwest of the northwest of 11-17-14, now showing water.

Rovenger Oil company's No. 1 W. H. Perdue, in the southeast corner of the northeast of the northwest of 10-17-14, is flowing 2860 barrels a day through two-inch chokes, and through four-inch flow lines.

Lion Refining company No. 1 Jerry, in the northeast of the southwest of the southwest of 21-17-14, is flowing and swabbing 400 barrels a day. It is the southwest extensioner of the pool.

Roxana Petroleum corporation has placed on record at El Dorado its purchase of 40 acres, in the northeast of the northwest of 16-17-14, a mile to the west of the nearest production. It paid $40,000 in cash and agreed to pay as much in oil to George W. James and Dan S. Brooks of El Dorado for the least.

Of the 114 tests reported drilling in the pool on June 25, around 100 are still to be completed, and the future of the area lies in what the results will be from these operations.

Gliding Marathon Puts Seminole at New Low

The greatest loss is shown in Earlsboro total of 81,893 barrels, which compared with Sunday's gauge is a loss of 3075 barrels

The comparative report follows:

Standard-Shell Oil War at End

NEW YORK, July 3. (AP)—The New York Times today said that the Standard Oil company of New York and the Royal Dutch Shell company of Europe have ended a quarrel which arose from the purchase of Russian oil products by the Standard.

Both companies have called off the price-cutting war in India, where the trouble first flared up, and the dispute, which for a time threatened to develop into a world-wide struggle, has ended in a draw.

The basis of the new agreement, the Times will say, reserves to the Standard company the right to buy Russian oil and to carry out its present contracts with the soviet government. The Royal Shell is sustained in its contention that the right of former owners of oil properties in Russia to compensation should be recognized.

TEST HITS OIL IN COOK SAND

Shackelford Wildcat May Start New Play

Special to The Record News.

ABILENE, Texas, July 3.—From six feet of extra tight sand encountered at 1677 feet, Phillips and DeWitt No. 2 W. Y. and R. A. Davis, center of the north half of the south section 19, T and P. block 13, western Shackelford county and three miles east of the Jones county line, is making two bailers of pure oil per hour. Considerable gas is coming from the top of the pay, although the full thickness of the sand has not been penetrated. The well will be given a shot immediately.

This test, one mile due west of the same owner's No. 1 Davis in section 20, which had a 2,000,000-foot flow of gas but no oil at 1550 feet has oil operators in this area considerably excited. Most of the geologists who have seen samples of the pay strata declare it resembles very closely the Cook sand found in central Sheckelford county from which many heavy shallow producers have been completed.

Almost a full day was required to drill through the six feet of pay and production men say that a shot will likely loosen the formation and increase the production greatly.

In the territory surrounding the Phillips and DeWitt well several dry holes have been drilled during the past six months. However, none of them have been within a mile.

The major interest attached to this well is its apparent finding of the Cook pay. Already many are predicting that an extensive drilling campaign will immediately be instituted in the area adjacent to it Several major companies and a large number of independents hold protection in that district.

DEMOS' FARM PLANK PRAISED

Agricultural Leader Calls it "Real Plank"

CHICAGO, July 3. (UP)—Criticizing the Republican party for its treatment of the farm problem at the Kansas City convention, George N. Peek, chairman of the executive committee of 22 of the North Central states agricultural conference, tonight described the Democratic plank for agricultural relief "a new declaration of independence."

Peek had just returned to Chicago from Houston where he attended the Democratic national convention last week. He also attended the Republican gathering at Kansas City.

"In Houston," Peek said, "farmers were given the greatest consideration in every way. Their reception was most cordial, their views on a platform were solicited and a real plank was adopted which is the most favorable for agriculture ever written in the platform of any political party in our history.

"Briefly it recognizes the right of farmers to lead in the adoption of farm policies, points out the needs of agriculture, pledges the party to enact the necessary legislation to give agriculture complete economic equality with industry, assures equality of treatment as to tariff rates between agriculture and industry, and reaffirms its 1924 platform to enact legislation to prevent the price for the surplus determining the prices of the whole crop."

RALEIGH, N. C., July 3. (AP)—Fire today burned the Yarborough house, Raleigh's oldest hotel noted for its political gatherings of years past.

GUNS CAUSE FEWER DEATHS

Accidental Shootings Lessen, Report Says

NEW YORK, July 3. (INS)—The boys who "pack a rod," as they say these days, do plenty of shooting but they're not careless in the use of their firearms. At least, figures compiled by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, and issued today, show that the reckless use of fire arms was the least dangerous cause of personal accidents in 1927.

Of $670,000 paid on 10,000 personal accident claims by the company in 1927, only 15, for a total of $3685 resulted from gunshot wounds.

In 1927, as in other recent years, injuries resulting from automobile accidents were the most frequent claims presented to the Metropolitan. There were 1656 claims paid as a result of automobile accidents for a total of approximately $140,000 or 21 per cent of the total accident claim disbursements.

And then slipping in the bath tub still is a bad habit, as far as the insurance companies are concerned. Thirty-one persons were injured in this way. Eight were hurt while getting in or out of bed, which is another daily thought for everyone. Lots of people fell down stairs, and some even fell upstairs. Six hundred and three claims were paid for accidents of this nature.

There were even 134 claims paid as a result of persons bumping into each other, and to show just how dangerous it is to walk into someone, these claims exceeded all those resulting from railway car, motorcycle, street railway, elevated, subway and boat collisions.

Gravity being what it is, 748 persons were injured by falling objects. And 13 persons even hurt themselves while dancing.

At present, the boys are meeting in the chamber of commerce rooms, but a permanent place will be selected at an early date. Tuesday night of each week was designated as rehearsal nights. Much interest is manifested in the venture.

Work Believes Demos Will Defeat Own Leaders

CHICAGO, July 3. (UP)—Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee, believes the Democratic party will defeat its own candidate in the November election.

"The Republican party has done the campaigning for the last 25 years, and it's about time the Democrats did a little."

RITES FOR RANCHER AT AMARILLO TODAY

Funeral services for Robert Hamilton, 65, pioneer rancher of Knox county, who died of heart failure here Monday evening, will be held in Amarillo Wednesday afternoon, where the body was forwarded Tuesday night by the Burris-Shepherd Undertaking company.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton came to Wichita Falls about three weeks ago from the ranch after he had suffered a stroke of paralysis. They were living at 1500 Tilden street.

The couple had gone for a drive Monday evening and had parked in front of a drug store on Tenth street when Mr. Hamilton suddenly slumped in his seat after complaining of a pain in his chest to Mrs. Hamilton. Mrs. Hamilton drove the car home and summoned a physician, but Mr. Hamilton was dead.

He is survived by his widow and one son, Charles Hamilton, who lives on the family ranch, six miles from Benjamin in Knox county.

Skin eruptions successfully treated from within

SKILLED physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system.

This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

You owe it to yourself and friends to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build rich, red blood—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

In building rich, red blood cells, S.S.S. improves the processes by which the body is nourished.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight, I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S.S.S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy."—Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, you don't have that tired, languid feeling when you awake in the morning. Instead, you feel, refreshed, ready to meet the world.

Your appetite is keen—you enjoy work or play—your skin is clear, cheeks naturally rosy.

All this because rich, red blood builds and sustains the body.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.
