Crazy? Maybe— But This Black Wasn't A Piker

KIRBYVILLE, Nov. 15. (AP)—He may have been crazy, but he was no piker.

Using a few dabs of green paint, a Newton county negro touched up a $1 bill to read $1,000,000, and sent it by registered mail to the Newton bank.

He advised the bank he wanted to deposit all of the sum except $200, which he needed at the moment.

As is customary in such matters, Sheriff P. S. Hughes jailed the negro and notified federal authorities at Beaumont. The negro will be given a hearing tomorrow.

When advised of the impending hearing, the negro announced he would rather go to the penitentiary, since he "could probably use the million dollars to buy" his freedom.

First Reports Are Made As Housing Drive Opens

Nickel Parking Newest Novelty

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 15. (AP)—It may cost a nickel to park in Oklahoma City.

The traffic commission today recommended that the city council order 200 of the newly invented "parking meters" installed on downtown streets.

The meters were invented by Carl Magee, former southwestern editor and now an Oklahoma City lawyer. The meters would stand on the curb and when a car is driven into the parking space the owner would have to drop a nickel in the meter. When his time was up either a bell would ring or a flag would raise. The meters may be obtained either with flags or bells.

More Than 300 Take Part In Campaign In This City

FIRST reports from a local federal housing campaign were made last night, but no check of the entire group was possible.

The drive got underway Thursday morning following a conference in Hilton hotel. More than 300 chairmen, managers, and committee members attended.

Cursory examination of reports from one worker showed that about 25 per cent of property owners interviewed intended to make some improvements.

Sayers Attends Meeting

Sam R. Sayers, director of the West Texas district in the better-housing campaign, attended the meeting. His district has 10 key cities and Lubbock was the fifth he had visited.

"Your chamber of commerce officers and those to whom this work has been entrusted are in closer unison than (those) in any of the other cities I have visited," Mr. Sayers commented after the meeting.

"Their extreme interest is evidenced by the intelligent way in which they have carried this out . . . it is one of the most complete setups I have seen," he said, adding that he would take several of the forms originated here to other cities in the district.

Women's Interest Cited

The district chief thought it especially significant that "30 per cent more ladies—housewives and business women—are interested in this project here than in any other place I have visited."

Key cities of the district are Fort Worth, Cleburne, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Lubbock, San Angelo, Abilene, Big Spring, Brownwood, and El Paso.

Coastal Areas Are Damaged By High Wind

Frame Houses And Trees Are Battered Down; Water Rises Into Homes As Deluge Hits Section Thursday

(By The Associated Press)

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 15.—High winds battered down frame houses and trees and rising waters from a swollen creek lapped on the ground floors of houses as rains of cloudburst proportions swept over this South Texas section late today.

The El Chilitipin creek roared out of its banks and reached the ground floors of houses nearby at Sinton, where eight and a half inches of rain pelted the vicinity. No damage was reported, however.

Houses Blown Over

At Robstown a high, twisting wind blew over small houses, trees and signboards as the rainfall totaled five inches.

Hail stood a half inch deep on the streets at Fremont after a six-inch downpour. Unofficial reports from the Orange Grove community had a two-day rainfall totaling ten inches.

The roadway between Gregory and Beeville was under water after a two and a half inch rain at Beeville was reported. Corpus Christi was soaked by a four-inch fall.

Farmers, Enthusiastic

However, farmers were enthusiastic over the possibilities for a good fall vegetable crop after a four month drouth had made planting impossible. While the grain crop was damaged to some extent, excellent seasoning in the ground overshadowed any losses, experts said. The top soil throughout the coastal area was said not to have been damaged.

Skies were clearing tonight but the weather bureau forecast scattered showers before morning.

Texas Banker Death Victim

Tom M. Dees Succumbs Thursday At Abilene; Pioneer Of State; Spectacular Rise Is Story Of Life

(By The Associated Press)

ABILENE, Nov. 15. — Tom M. Dees, 61, banker oil man, cattle man, philanthropist, and "father" of the Dallas Athletic club, of Midlothian and Dallas, died here this morning.

Coming here six weeks ago to visit his sisters, Mrs. Dell King and Miss Daisy Dees, Mr. Dees was placed under medical care and confined to his bed. Death resulted from heart failure.

Rise Is Spectacular

Tom Dees was born in 1873 at Moss Points, Miss. Coming to this state to enter the University of Texas at the age of 14. Two years later, he started work as bookkeeper for the Oriental hotel in Dallas, and from then on his rise was spectacular in the world of finance.

Mr. Dees organized the Thelma Oil and Gas and Little Tom companies, and then the Hog Creek Oil companies, an enterprise which reputedly paid stockholders six million dollars on a $60,000 investment. In 1920, he organized the Guaranty Bank and Trust company of Dallas, which later became the Republic National Bank and Trust company of Dallas, second in size of banks in the state.

At the time of his death, Mr. Dees was chairman of the board of

Open Season On Deer Opens Today At Sunrise; Political Nabobs Oil Guns

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 15.—Texas deer had better look out! At sunrise tomorrow, they will be legal prey to huntsmen.

All over South Texas—and probably in other sections—shooting irons were unlimbered today preparatory to moving into the deer country and taking up the pursuit.

It was sport for the hunters. It promised business for the Hill country where an estimated $250,000 to $400,000 is spent by hunters in a good year.

Governor-Elect James V. Allred was one of the first out of town. He left for northern Mexico, stopping at Cuero enroute for the "turkey tret."

Ernest O. Thompson, of the railroad commission, Myron G. Blalock, chairman of the Democratic executive committee, and former Attorney General Robert Lee Bobbitt planned a hunt near Laredo.

The same old "don'ts" were passed around. "Don't carry a loaded gun in your automobile; don't mix liquor and gasoline; don't lean your gun on the fence when you crawl through; don't shoot at everything moving in the brush."

The season closes on Dec. 31 at sundown.

Broad Market Sends Stocks Toward Peaks

Signs Of Revival In Speculation Impresses Brokers But Gains On Whole Reported As Only Modest

Volume Expands

Number Of Issues Make Gains Of $1 To $3; Wheat, Corn Futures Spurt Ahead; Cotton 15 Cents Bale Higher

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. — The broadest market for stocks since last July cheered Wall street today.

Gains on the whole were modest but signs of a revival in speculation impressed brokers, who had been forced to a program of retrenchment during the recent prolonged dullness.

Volume Expands

Volume expanded to 1,554,230 shares, the largest since July 27. For weeks before election day trading had averaged only 500,000 or 600,000 shares daily.

The market was spotty. A number of issues made gains of $1 to $3 a share. A brisk forenoon advance, however, was not fully maintained and gains were pared before the close.

Buying went mainly into steel, motor accessory, tobacco and various specialties enjoying speculative favor, evidently in the belief business was headed for some improvement.

Capital continued to flow toward the dollar in foreign exchange dealings and the position of the French franc indicated the likelihood of further shipments of gold to New York from Paris.

Bonds Go Forward

United States government bonds moved forward for moderate gains. The performance of treasury issues encouraged demand for high-grade corporate issues. The bond market generally held to a narrow course.

Commodities were overshadowed by the activity in securities but wheat and corn futures spurted ahead, closing with gains of around 1 3-8 to 1 5-8 cents a bushel in Chicago. Cotton closed 15 cents a bale higher to 5 cents lower.

A decline in American Telephone and Telegraph shares restrained buying during the afternoon.

The Standard Statistics Co. price index for 90 stocks rose three-tenths of a point to 73.4, which is equivalent to 73.4 per cent of the average level for 1926.

Report Big Jim Will Resign Is Heard Thursday

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (AP) — The New York American says that according to reliable information James A. Farley will resign as postmaster general within six months. It says he will remain Democratic national chairman.

W. W. Howes, Huron, S. D. Lawyer, who is Farley's first assistant, will become postmaster general, the paper says.

Farley's resignation, the American adds, has been looked for since President Roosevelt held that members of his administration should not hold both official and political positions.

Another factor, the paper says, is a report that Farley will seek the governorship in 1936.

Notorious Former Gangster Held In $2,000,000 Robbery

HOUSTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—Within ten hours after Shilo Scrivnor, notorious former gangster, stepped from state prison today on a furlough, the way was cleared for his removal to Dallas to face federal charges in the $2,000,000 robbery of the Jackson street post office there nearly 14 years ago.

C. V. Kern of Houston, deputy United States marshal, was waiting at the Harlem state prison farm for Scrivnor's release on a 30-day furlough. Kern immediately arrested the outlaw on a charge of being a fugitive from justice and brought him to Houston.

Heated Arguments Being Launched At Northwest Texas Methodist Session

(By The Associated Press)

ABILENE, Nov. 15.—Following a heavy day of business during which the new four-year college rule for Methodist ministers invoked heated arguments on the floor of the Northwest Texas conference here, a crowd of more than 1,000 joined tonight in a special service devoted to the Texas centennial of Methodism, the sesquicentennial of Methodism in America this year and the world celebration of Methodism, approaching in 1936.

The principal speaker was Dr. C. C. Selecman, president of Southern Methodist university. His theme was "The Heritage and Mission of American Methodism".

Sam Braswell Presides

Sam Braswell, Clarendon newspaperman and active conference chairman of the Texas centennial committee, presided.

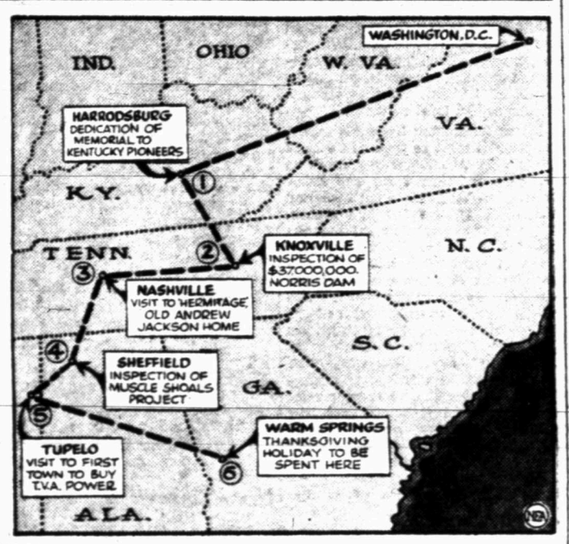

Aftermath of the educational regulation discussion was the election of three young ministers on trial with less than the four year of college work required under a new statute enacted at the Southern Methodist conference in Jackson, Miss., this year. Admission, for special cause, of preachers not meeting the requirement, is allowed by a special two-thirds vote, but it was this conference's first time to admit ministers on trial by the two-thirds route.

Texas Cattle Ranges Are At Lowest Point; Western Portion Is Hard Hit

Crop Production To Be Light Over The Entire Section

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 15. — Condition of Texas cattle ranges declined four points to 50 per cent of normal during October, F. E. Finley, livestock statistician for the United States Department of Agriculture announced today.

"Last year at this time condition was rated at 73 per cent of normal and the ten year average Nov. 1 conditon is 82.4 per cent," Finley said in the regular monthly rahge and livestock report. "The 50 per cent reported this year is the lowest Nov. 1 condition of record since information has been gathered by this office.

Conditions Are Poor

"In the entire western portion of the state conditions are very poor. There is practically no range feed available, feed crop production is light and heavy feeding will be necessary to carry stock through the winter. Much of the feed will have to be purchased.

"Present prospects for grain pastures are not good. The Edwards plateau and West Texas are in the

Wage Scale Of State Remains

Hopes For Restoration Of 25 Per Cent Cut Are Dimmed As Condition Of Revenue Fund Shows A Slump

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 15.—Hopes of state employes that the 25 per cent salary cut instituted by the forty-third legislature will be restored soon are growing dim.

Persons close to the board of control say that body will not ask the next legislature to restore the pay slash because of the bad condition of the general revenue fund. These same persons do not expect the board to recommend any new building at state institutions, especially educational, for the same reason. However, lettings for buildings at several institutions, as authorized by the third special session of the forty-third legislature, are about to be made. On Nov. 20, bids for a $50,000 addition to the Wichita Falls state hospital will be received on Dec. 3 for a $65,000 dormitory for the Austin state school, and on Dec. 11 for a $110,000 dormitory at the Terrell state hospital.

The board of control expects to have the budget for the next biennium ready about the time the new legislature convenes on Jan. 8. Dec. 15 is the date set by law for completing the budget, but the board says its work has been delayed by a tardy auditor's estimate of the state finances.

Former Students Of Texas Tech Are In City For Homecoming Celebration

HUNDREDS of alumni and former students are in Lubbbock today for annual homecoming celebration at Texas Technological college.

Last night old graduates and former students were in the jostling crowd of almost 3,000 at Matador Field for a pep rally and parade of floats. Also among the spectators were the Blue Demons of De Paul university, Chicago, led by their coaches, Big Jim Kelly. This afternoon the Demons from the Mid-west meet the Matadors in an intersectional game.

The parade, made up of floats sponsored by social clubs, campus organizations and the Alumni and Ex-students' association, began shortly after 7 o'clock swinging about the campus and entering Tech field. Then the floats rolled sporadically before the grandstand. Winning float is to be announced between halves of the game tomorrow afternoon. An engraved trophy, given by the Tech student council, will be presented sponsors of the winning float.

Tennessee Valley Development Projects Will Be Visited; Reports On New Deal Are To Come In For Attention

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL TRAIN EN ROUTE TO HARRODSBURG, Ky., Nov. 15. — President Roosevelt, carrying roughly outlined plans that will influence the course of the nation, rolled toward the deep South tonight to inspect a great social experiment.

As he headed in the direction of the Tennessee valley, one of the scenes of his projects for a "more abundant life," the chief executive divided his time between a brief period of relaxation, conferences with his aides and a last-minute polishing of an address to be delivered tomorrow at Harrodsburg, Ky.

To Dedicate Monument

Stopping first tomorrow at Harrodsburg to dedicate a monument to the early Kentucky pioneers, the president will hurry on then to see for himself during the next two days the results of pioneering for improving human welfare and natural resources through development of the southeastern rivers and hills.

Many of those in a position to judge the president's attitude believed that recent happenings have indicated an inclination to proceed ahead on the existing basis of the national recovery effort without any drastic immediate change.

To Study Reports

Nevertheless, he carried with him a trunk-full of reports on every phase of the New Deal program. These will come in for intensive study during his two weeks stay at his Warm Springs, Ga., retreat.

Mrs. Roosevelt will join her husband tomorrow at Harrodsburg. Secretary Ickes will board the special train early tomorrow morning as it goes through Cincinnati.

Two years ago, after his election, Mr. Roosevelt went down through the Tennessee Valley, on his way to Warm Springs, and visioned the vast experimental development which he hopes to use as a yard stick for similar effort in the future in the other three corners of the nation.

THE GREAT EXCHANGE

WITH Thanksgiving almost a week off, stores are already arranging counters for Christmas gifts. This year promises to offer some very unusual collections. Hope the merchants ordered enough toys. Last year they ran out of dolls and toys in some of the stores.

WE'RE FOR IT

WE think that the alumni and ex-student banquet at Tech college tonight is a grand idea but hope we do not experience as much difficulty in recalling names as is our usual custom. It's rather embarrassing to say "I never could forget your face but your name has slipped my memory." Perhaps some persons do not take pride in having a face that no one could ever forget.

AN INTERESTING NAME

MRS. WARD H. NGREGG, since moving here recently, has had difficulty getting us to put an N before her last name—sans period. We finally caught on but failed to explain to the printers or something. Anyway she told us one day that we could leave the N off, she guessed, and that in Lubbock she would be Mrs. Gregg.

Curious, we quizzed her about the N. She said that her husband's grandfather was psychic. Three months before his death, he not only predicted his impending death but he related the fate of his family for many years.

Among his predictions was that the Nations (his family name) would have no more male offspring and that the name would die with him. So the family decided to honor him by using an N, symbolic of the name that was to die, before their last names.

It happened, Mrs. Gregg said, that all his predictions came true and that, to date, the men surviving him have borne no men children.

Standard Requirement Almost Reached By Local P-TA

Dupre Meeting Held Thursday

Only Twenty-Eight Members Needed For Quota; Talk Is Made By Doctor Gordon On Children's Tasks

The Dupre Parent-Teacher association lacks only 28 members having the number required by the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers to become a standard unit, it was announced at a meeting of the group Thursday afternoon at the Asbury Methodist church. The total membership, at present, is 172. The standard requirement is that the unit should have, as members, about 50 per cent of the number of families represented at the school.

Rooms of Mrs. C. H. Willingham and Miss Susie Shipp tied for the two dollar prize which the association gave in a recent membership drive. It was announced that awards in a recent coat hanger drive went to Miss Mary A. Gulledge's room for first place and to Mrs. Willingham's for second. The school children furnished more than eight thousand hangers for the association to sell to local cleaners.

Prizes for having the most mothers present went to pupils of Misses Dimple Ford for the upper floor, and Mary Traylor, for the lower floor. Miss Traylor's room also had the most visitors for the month. There were 82 parents attending the meeting.

Dr. J. M. Gordon talkd on "Future Tasks For Today's Children," stressing particularly means by which public schools and colleges train children for these tasks. He said the child's three main tasks were: Learning to live with one's fellows, making a living, and making a life, the most important. He quoted figures showing that the value of each day of school for 12 years was worth nine dollars per day to the average boy.

A room program was presented by the high fourth grade pupils of Miss Ford and the low sixth pupils of Mrs. Maurine Brown.

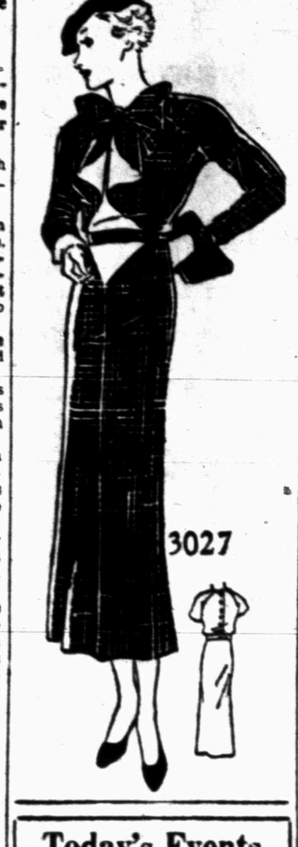

The association decided to purchase a radio for the school to be used in teaching music. A committee was appointed to select one or several for the unit to consider.

Little Margie's Lucky Mistake

SHOWS HER MOTHER THE WAY TO COFFEE PERFECTION

WHY THIS RARE MOUNTAIN COFFEE GIVES YOU RICHER TANG AND FLAVOR

—Really DIFFERENT from Any Other Coffee Known!—

THERE'S no mystery about coffee. There are many grades of coffee just as there are many grades of silverware. The cheaper coffee comes from the lowlands. And the richer-flavored coffees come from high up in the mountains.

Because Folger's is real mountain coffee—it is deliciously different from the lowland coffees used in ordinary brands. Folger's is grown on tiny plantations high up in the mountains—where clear, bright sunshine, steaming tropical rains, and an odd type of volcanic soil combine to give coffee a rare winy tang and extra rich flavor that makes ordinary coffee taste thin and flat by comparison.

Experts know this. And they'll tell you there's no way of roasting or packaging coffee that can bring out flavor that nature didn't put there in the first place! Delicious tang and flavor has to be grown in—as it is in Folger's!

It may be news to you—but you can easily afford to serve this finer coffee in your home. For even though you may pay a few pennies more per pound for Folger's—it's so much richer in flavor that you can use ¼*th less!* That means you get more cups—and after all, that's the way to figure a coffee's cost—by its price per cup.

Folger's fresh mountain flavor is especially appealing to men! This coffee is served in the dining cars of 10 great railroads; in many of the finest hotels and clubs where men's tastes are catered to! Order Folger's for your home today!

TO GET BETTER DRIP COFFEE—Use FOLGER'S DRIP GRIND—Vacuum-Packed! You can't get best results by using cheap coffee or the wrong granulation. Folger's Drip Grind is the same mountain coffee—scientifically granulated for use in dripmakers or vacuum coffee makers. It's more economical, and gives a richer, fuller flavor.

Effort To Teach Boys That Machines Are Dangerous Monster Being Spiked

Booklet Declares That Man Is Slave And Machine Is Master

Robert Fechner, Director Of New Deal's Forest Camps, Bans Book; Financed By A Rockefeller Foundation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—An effort to teach boys of the CCC that machines are a dangerous monster not to be conquered by "conservative old men" was spiked today by Robert Fechner, director of the New Deal's forest camps.

He banned a booklet prepared at the request of the office of education and financed by a Rockefeller foundation for distribution in CCC camps scattered throughout the country.

Lift Huge Burdens

"You And Machines" was the title of the rejected pamphlet written by Dr. William F. Ogburn of the University of Chicago. It declared machines had lifted huge burdens from mankind but threatened also to enslave the government, the family and the church.

"The machine seems to be their master," the booklet asserted. "It cracks the whip; they are its slaves. The machine is forcing our institutions to change; but always they lag behind."

It said conservatives want to bring back "the good old days," and added:

"But we know that sort of thing is foolish. We can't bring back the good old days, no mater how much the old men want them. For the machine is forever changing things. Some of the conservative old men try to pass laws to stop change. One might as well brush back the tides with a broom. Passing laws will never do it. If they want to stop change they will have to break up the machines or, better still, poison all inventors."

Fechner, vice-president of the International Association of Machinists, told reporters he thought the publication was "unsuited" for study by the young men. In official circles it was said he thought the pamphlet too gloomy.

Dr. Percy W. Bidwell, professor of economics at the University of Buffalo, and editor of "You And Machines" and other booklets being prepared for the CCC, rallied to the defense of the 55-page book.

Pillar Of Society

He said the author, Dr. Ogburn, a former member of the consumers' advisory board at the NRA, was a "pillar of society" and a man of "tremendous reputation."

"There are no flies on Dr. Ogburn," the genial editor grinned. "This is the best thing he ever has done."

In Chicago, Dr. Ogburn said he did not think there was anything pessimistic about his book, adding it was rather optimistic because "my view is very optimistic regarding the future of our country.

Drill Practiced At Grove Meeting

A drill to be given at the West Texas Woodmen circle loyalty rally, Saturday evening at the Hilton hotel, was practiced when members of the local grove met at the K. P. hall Wednesday evening. The Saturday evening program will be open to the public.

Because of a death in her family, Mrs. Etta Davidson of Houston, state president and a national director of the circle, who had planned to attend the meeting was unable to attend. She will be here Saturday, it was announced.

Thirty members attended the meeting.

Magician Is To Appear In City

Appearing here tonight with Birch the Magician will be Mabel Sperry, young musical star, dancer, and xylophonist.

The program, in High school auditorium at 8 o'clock, will be sponsored by Allen Bros. post, No. 148, of the American Legion.

Miss Sperry has a specially-built marimba-xylophone.

Pony Disappears

One of Birch's premier stunts is making a Shetland pony, Princess, disappear, or so it seems, in mid-air. The pony, however, is only a small part of Birch's array of illusions and demonstrations of magic.

"I like to play to adults, of course, for they can really appreciate to the fullest the beauty and wonder of my illusions, but it is really much more fun to work with the kiddies," said Birch. "Their naive enthusiasm and pure enjoyment which they get from the show is something infinitely precious to me."

Birch will do an escape stunt from a strong packing box.

Interstate Compact As A Means Of Solving Oil Difficulties Is Advocated

Ickes Favors Federal Plan

Fifteenth Annual Meeting Is Closed Thursday; Tulsa Is Selected For 1935 Mid-Year Session; Officers Named

DALLAS, Nov. 15. (AP) — The American Petroleum Institute went on record today as favoring an interstate compact as a means of solving difficulties in the oil industry, a procedure which oil Administrator Ickes said in an address here yesterday had failed on previous occasions.

The Institute's statement of policy was regarded as directly against federal regulation or control. It called not only for the interstate agreement but also for federal cooperation with the states in determination of consumptive demand for current petroleum production and in recommending proper allocation of the control between the oil-producing states.

Proposes Regulation

Ickes proposed actual regulation of the crude oil supply by the government working in cooperation with the states.

The directors also recommended that the government should so regulate importation of crude oil, or refined products, as to balance production with consumer demand.

The board announced its stand after adopting a majority report of a sub-committee named yesterday immediately after Secretary Ickes, in the principal address of the API's fifteenth annual meeting, told the industry to rectify abuses or face the possibility of the government declaring it a public utility.

C. B. Ames, chairman, Oscar Buttro, W. S. Parish, George A. Hill, jr., H. F. Sinclair, F. A. Leovy and J. Howard signed the report.

Report Rejected

A minority report, submitted by Wirt Franklin and Amos L. Beaty, was rejected. Beaty, in his general session address, suggested an interstate compact plan backed by presidential authority to set production quotas for states, pools and properties within states which exceeded compact quotas or which did not enter a compact.

The Institute's fifteenth annual meeting came to a close late today, the executive committe selecting Tulsa for the 1935 mid-year convention. It also created the position of assistant secretary, to work under W. B. Boyd, jr., executive vice-president. "Dr." J. S. Cooke, Boyd's aide, was named to the post.

Officers Are Elected

The organization previously had reelected its principal officers and selected Los Angeles for the fall meeting next year. Dates for both meeting will be determined later.

Officials announced that registrations for this convention totaled 3,125, as compared with the previous record of 2,500 at the 1930 institute in Chicago.

As the separate divisions of the industry completed their work, they elected 20 members of their respective general committees to serve during 1935.

Many of the visiting oil men participated in golf tournaments and went to the Arlington Downs race course this afternoon but returned to downtown hotels tonight for the annual API banquet. Tomorrow they will go to the lodge of Boyd near Fairfield, Tex., for a barbecue.

Freddy Bergin To Bring Floor Show And Band To City; Dance Is Feature

In addition to three hours of dance music, Freddy Bergin's orchestra will present a 30-minute floor-show at the Auditorium Saturday night.

Among the headline performers are Skeeter Palmer, accordionist, pianist, and vocalist; Morey Baker, a funny man; Louis Zearott, tenor; Kenny Baldwin, drummer, and Mary Tudor, singer and pianist.

Band Well Recommended

Although only 29 years old, Bergin has reputedly one of the middle and southwest's leading dance bands. His organization recently filled an engagement at the Shadowland night club in San Antonio.

"Eadie Was a Lady," is Miss Tudor's most popular number. She is a native of Indiana and formerly was a member of the Charlotte Meyers-Mary Tudor radio group in Detroit. She is 5 feet 1 inch tall.

Miss Tudor and Palmer will appear together in several numbers, he accompanying her torch singing on an accordion.

She and Zearott will sing "Lonesome Road" together.

Baker will give his version of "Waiting at the Gate for Katie."

Prices of admittance will be $1.55 plus tax for couples and stags and 55 cents plus tax for single women.

All motor gasoline sold in Hungary must contain 20 per cent of alcohol, under a regulation.

Land Policies Are Outlined

Advisability Of Making The Present Emergency Program Of Land Purchase Permanent Is Suggested

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 15. (AP) —The advisability of making the present emergency program of submarginal land purchase by the federal government a permanent policy was suggested today to the National Grange convention by M. L. Wilson, assistant secretary of agriculture.

The speaker, outlining a broad program for land utilization and lauding the Grange for the part it has played in promoting the welfare of the farmer, said:

"Our present society, is much more complicated than our society of 75 years ago. We must now have a program which classifies land and puts each class of land to the use under which it will return the largest benefits to the people as a whole. Agricultural and farming land needs one set of policies, forest lands another; grazing lands out on what was the public domain, another, and so on.

"This set up a new need for land planning. It has to be dynamic planning which lives and grows with change."

Six-Figure Salaries Of Insulls Are Defended As Junior Member Is Heard

CHICAGO, Nov. 15. (AP)—The six figure salaries which he and his father received from the Insull public utility system were defended by Samuel Insull, jr., today as extremely moderate.

As for himself, young Insull told the jury in the Insull mail fraud case, he was paid with the understanding that a large proportion of his income would go to the charitable and civic enterprises.

Blocked Testimony

Looking younger than his age—34—the younger Insull resumed the witness stand today after the prosecution had blocked testimony by Byron Gifford, public utility engineer. Judge James H. Wilkerson sustained government objections that Gifford was being asked for improper opinions on the value of Insull utility properties.

Insull, called "Junior" in Insull business circles, was led at once into a discussion of his own salaries, and then those of his father.

Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Protestant Episcopal church preceded Insull on the witness stand.

He was the second churchman of high rank to appear in the case. George Cardinal Mundelein, archbishop of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Chicago, appeared earlier as a character witness for Harold L. Stuart, investment banker and a codefendant with Insull.

Bishop Stewart was formerly rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, which young Insull attends.

WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS

Wash Out Your 79,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes

Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestines, yet the kidneys contain nearly 16 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 79,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are Nature's chief way of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood.

Healthy persons pass 3 pints a day thru the bladder which contains nearly 4 pounds of waste matter. If you pass less than this amount, your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with poisonous waste. This is the danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Kidneys should be watched closely and need cleaning out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs and so-called "kidney cures" which claim to fix you up in 15 minutes. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. Treatments of this nature may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS, the old reliable relief that contains no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Shipment Of Hearst Cattle Being Started To Brownfield

A shipment of cattle owned by the Babicora Development company, a W. R. Hearst concern, was to have been started for the feeding pens at Brownfield Thursday.

E. Kancher, Santa Fe division freight agent, said he was unable to confirm the report other than to say that it was probable cattle would be loaded at El Paso within a few days.

Heavy purchases of roughage and some grain at Brownfield has forced the concern to begin feeding operations ahead of those in previous years. A change in the ration has been made this year, blackstrap molasses being substituted for grain.

Estimates as to the number of head to be fed this year vary. Some reports indicate as many as were fed last year, approximately 8,200 head. Others say up to 12,000 head. T. I. Brown, Brownfield buyer of feed, indicated the number would be governed by the amount of feed available.

More than 52 per cent of Japan's merchandise is composed of raw silk textiles.

Oil Rules Are To Be Formed

Railroad Commission Offers Notice Of Hearing Slated In Austin Nov. 26; Regulations To Be Talked

AUSTIN, Nov. 15. (AP)—The railroad commission today gave notice of hearing in Autsin November 26 to consider regulations for refined products of crude oil.

The notice was issued to conform to a decision fo the third court of civil appeals that the commission has authority to require tenders, as well as certain data, from refiners in order to trace the source of the crude oil.

Hearing Postponed

The commission also announced that a general proration hearing covering all oil and gas fields in Texas had been postponed from November 23 to November 26.

The new notice of hearing was hurriedly prepared immediately after the court of civil appeals decision. An attache of the commission drove all night in order to get the necessary papers to Dallas for signature by members of the commission who are attending the convention of the American Petroleum Institute.

The notice specifies that evidence would be "heard and a decision made as to what rules, regulations and orders should be adopted concerning the transportation, sale, puchase and handling of refined products of crude petroleum in order to prevent waste and conserve the oil and gas resources of the state."

Decision Is Given

The court of civil appeals decision was embodied in the case of the Blue Diamond Oil corporation which has been granted an injuction in Travis county district court restraining the commission from requiring tenders for transportation of refined oil products in the East Texas field.

The court affirmed the lower court's action in granting the injuction on grounds that proper notice and a hearing had not been had, but it held the commission had the power to require tenders by conforming to the law with reference to notice and hearing.

Three Men Are Arrested In Slaying Of Woman Sunday

PUEBLA, Mexico, Nov. 15. (AP)—Three men were arrested today charged with the murder of Senora Michaela Ortega Castillo in Acajeme last Sunday.

Reports from Acajeme said Senora Ortega was shot seven times, cut with machetes, beaten with clubs and her body dragged to the center of the town and burned, allegedly because she was supporting the government's plan for socialistic education.

Her daughter, Eloisa Sastillo, and two servants were seriously injured by the assailants.

LEADER IS HELD

BONN, Germany, Nov. 15. (AP)—The Rev. Father J. Stuesser, former Catholic youth leader, was taken into protective custody today for "insulting" De Fiehrer (apparently Reichsfuehrer Hitler.) No particulars were given out.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything.

What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and ¾ of our food decays in our 28 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whipped tomcat, don't use a mouthwash or take a cathartic. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for—25c. ©1934, C.M.Co.

Alabama Sheriff Is Jailed On Court Contempt Charges

FORT PAYNE, Ala., Nov. 15. (AP)—Sheriff S. W. Pope, of Dekalb county, was sentenced to jail for an indefinite term and fined $50 Tuesday by Judge A. E. Hawkins for contempt of court on a charge he ignored a court order against interfering with ballots cast in the Nov. 6 election.

Judge Hawkins ordered Pope kept in jail until he complies with a court order to count absentee ballots.

Democrats claimed 239 of 241 absentee ballots were thrown out.

National guardsmen lined the walls of the ecurtroom to prevent possible trouble as Judge Hawkins heard testimony on his citation against the sheriff for contempt.

Texas Baptist Unification Suffers Temporary Setback

DALLAS, Nov. 15. (AP) — Messengers of the Baptist Missionary association today voted down, 30 to 1, a proposal to unite Texas Baptists, temporarily snuffing out unification efforts which have been extended over a period of 37 years.

The Rev. A. C. Hinkle of Lockhart, chairman of the Unification committee, declared that opponents to the plan were "railroading the vote through," but smilingly apologized when requested to do so by Dr. J. W. Harper of Waxahachie, newly elected president.

King Carol And Crown Prince Given Moment Of Horror; Attack Is Feared

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 15. (AP)—King Carol and Crown Prince Mihai experienced a moment of horror today when they were returning in an open carriage from the opening session of parliamet.

A Rumanian officer in uniform stepped out of the big crowd lining the streets and, with hand outstretched, approached the king.

Because of the existing atmosphere of fear and terror in the Balkans, everyone who saw the affair thought the officer intended to attack the monarch. The entire royal procession halted.

But, even as the kings guardsmen seized the officer, the man who had interrupted the procession handed little Mihai a letter.

Mihai took the letter but the man who gave it to him was taken to a police station. There he gave his name as Capt. Alexander Sumar. He said that he was retired recently from active service in the army because of tuberculosis and said his letter was a plea for reinstatement.

This information was communicated to King Carol who ordered that Captain Sumar be assisted in every way possible.

Demand For Quick Action Scheduled

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 15. (AP)—Demand for an immediate "showdown" before a special jury, or else the promise of a renewed legal fight to force a sanity hearing for Mark H. Shank, condemned Akron, Ohio, attorney, was the course decided upon today by counsel for the accused slayer of four persons by poison.

W. T. Pate, attorney, said he "and other interested parties" were willing to let a jury finally decide whether Shank is sane or insane. Otherwise, he said he would continue the fight and make it last "as long as Shank can possibly survive an incurable mental disease with which he is afflicted."

To Ask For Jury

Pate will ask Superintendent S. L. Todhunter of the prison system to empanel a jury to try Shank for his sanity, and "let the jury' word be final."

If he refuses, Pate said he would then present a formal petition to Todhunter asking him to hear evidence of alienists with a view to convincing the prison superintendent Shank has become insane since his conviction of the poison slaying in August, 1933, of Alvin Colley. Colley's wife and two children died also of the same poison that killed him at a picnic.

From the petition—if refused—Pate has an appeal which will take the matter into the state supreme court for a third time.

Much Texas Wool Remaining Unsold

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 15. (AP) — More than 8,000,000 pounds of Texas wools remain unsold, according to figures compiled by Press Nichols, agent for the Clyde-Mallory steamship lines, after he had telegraphed or telephoned to nearly every wool concentration point in the state. This count, which revealed hitherto unknown reserves, shows there is nearly twice as much wool on hand as had been estimated by buyers and dealers.

The count revealed also that 32 firms had bought in Texas 32,274,000 pounds of wool and had taken on consignment 21,350,000 pounds this fall. This with the amount on hand gives a state production of 61,897,502 pounds for 1934. Of the wool unsold 5,664,000 pounds is 12 months, 936,000 is 8 months and 1,642,000 is fall wool, a total of 8,263,000 pounds.

The price this fall has ranged from 15 to 24 cents with the higher figure being paid a few days ago by Jim Hill, buyer for Robert M. Pitt and company, for 160,000 pounds of 12 months wool bought from the Val Verde Wool and Mohair company of Del Rio.

Apprehension Felt In China As Communists Raid Mission

CANTON, China, Nov. 15. (AP) — Apprehension was felt here tonight for the safety of 11 American missionaries at Linchow, 140 miles northwest of Canton, which was reported to be attacked by Chinese communists.

The American consulate telegraphed a warning to the American Presbyterian mission at Linchow, but it was uncertain whether the message reached them in time.

The missionaries are Dr. W. H. Dobson, Miss E. J. Patterson, Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Bradshaw, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Edwards and two children, all of the Presbyterian mission, and an independent missionary, R. R. Montgomery, with his Chinese wife and two children.

Douglas MacArthur To Keep Post As Chief Of Army Staff

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (AP) — President Roosevelt today directed Secretary Dern to continue General Douglas MacArthur as chief of staff until December 15. His four-year term expires on November 21.

This is the first time a chief of staff has served the army beyond the regular four-year period.

Because of the precedent there is reason to believe that MacArthur in all probability will not be given a full second term.

Under-Secretary Of Agriculture Sets Rumors At Rest Thursday When He Arrives After European Trip

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (AP)—Rexford G. Tugwell, set at rest today rumors that he might not continue as under-secretary of agriculture.

"I'll be right back at my desk tomorrow morning," he informed questioners upon his arrival in New York after a two months stay in Europe.

"Nothing is changed so far as I know."

He went to Rome originally as head of the American delegation to the conference of the international institute of agriculture, and after participation in the proceedings at Rome traveled through England, Ireland, France, Italy and Belgium studing agricultural methods.

In his cabin aborad the liner Washington, Tugwell reversed the customary ship news interviewing technique by posing questions.

"I haven't heard much election news," he said.

"What about it? How about Holt of West Virginia?"

He chuckled when informed the 29-year-old Democratic candidate for United States senator had defeated Senator Hatfield, Republican incumbent.

"I certainly am gratified with the election results," he concluded, after obtaining detailed information.

European nations, he said, were developing strongly a policy of economic nationalism and self-sufficiency in regard to agriculture. In the matter of wheat, above all, European nations were concentrating, he said, with the result that there was little immediate place for American grain exports.

Defense Puts On More Testimony

BELTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—Additional defense testimony tending to substantiate his claim of temporary insanity was offered today in the murder trial of Hugh McCann, accused slayer of Mrs. Lillian Davis.

Mrs. T. J. Smith, mother of McCann, told of many queer actions of the defendant around her home during recent months which led her to believe he was of unsound mind.

T. J. Smith, step-father of McCann, gave similar testimony.

In rebuttal, the state called ten witnesses who said they had not seen any indication of insanity in the conduct of the defendant.

Canda's fetilize industy has expanded rapidly in recent years as a result of growing foreign and domestic demand.

Terraces can save 20 per cent of low, wet areas and nine-tenths of erosion losses on rolling highlands, says the department of agriculture.

Built Up Strength By Taking Cardui

Here's her own account of how Mrs. T. W. Hardin, of Greer, S. C., was benefited by taking Cardui: "I suffered a great deal from weakness in my back and pains in my side and felt so miserable," she writes. "I read of Cardui and decided to try it. I felt better after I took my first bottle, so kept on taking it as I felt such a need of strength, and it helped me so much."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Educator Finds Married Teacher May Prove To Be Better Than Single One

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 15. (AP) — The long-standing debate on whether women teachers should be dropped from faculties as soon as they accept wedding rings is entirely beside the point, says Dr. David Weber Peters, director of instruction for the Virginia department of education.

The welfare of the pupil should receive primary consideration, he holds.

Dr. Peters, who has just completed a nation-wide statistical study of the question, concludes that if any relationship exists between marital status and teaching effectiveness of women, it favors the married teacher.

A study of the policies of school boards on employment of married women teachers, conducted by the research division of the national education board in 1931, showed that approximately 77 per cent of cities did not then employ married women as teachers new in the system, and approximately 37 per cent of cities permit single women teachers who marry in the system to continue teaching.

"Must Conserve Talent"

"Employment policies are unworthy of the children for whom they are made if they do not eliminate incompetent, neglectful and inefficient teachers," said Dr. Peters. "By the same standard such policies must conserve for the classroom the best existing talent and training. A blanket rule which arbitrarily eliminates individuals as a class levies a high tariff on training and talent and such a rule should find reason for existence in sustaining evidence.

"This study produced no evidence that justifies a policy of discrimination against married women teachers as a class," he said.

The study was run over 4,000 teachers, equally divided as to married and single women teachers, and representing a cross section of the profession, he said.

Married Teachers Excel

The survey showed married women excelled in average number of years in the same system; in the average number of different teaching positions held; the average number of semester hours credit earned through college extension classes and correspondence courses; time spent each week in professional and general reading; time spent in preparation specifically for classroom teaching and directing out-of-class activities; time spent in actual teaching duties; the average number of out-of-class activities; participation in organized community activities and lack of resentment for extramural time exacted by the profession.

Single women teachers were found to have better records in the number of days present; in semester hours' credit in summer school; teaching loads and average number of visits to homes of pupils per month.

Entirely apart from the study by Dr. Peters, which has been published by the Columbia university teachers college bureau of publications, the Virginia Education association will take a stand on the question in its annual convention here November 27. The resolutions committee will send to the convention floor a resolution providing "that efficiency rather than marital status be the determining factor in the employment of teachers."

Marion Estes Dies In Crash

Brother Of Carl Estes Claimed In Mishap When His Car Fails To Negotiate Curve On Dallas Highway

TYLER, Nov. 15. (AP)—Marion R. Estes was killed before dawn today when his car failed to negotiate a curve and crashed against a bridge on the Dallas-Tyler highway. It was raining and apparently his visibility was obscured.

The body was removed from the wreckage by a passer-by after sunup and taken to Tyler, where an undertaker said he had been dead for several hours.

Brother Of Carl Estes

The 23-year-old victim, employed in the engineering department of the state railroad commission, was a brother of Carl Estes, Longview newspaper publisher who formerly operated papers in Tyler.

Marion Estes had been in Dallas last night, visiting his wife in a hospital there. A baby daughter was born to Mrs. Estes about two weeks ago.

While in Dallas, Marion Estes also visited Carl Estes, who was attending the American Petroleum Institute convention, and Dillard Estes, another brother, who is a Fort Worth attorney. They were together just a few hours before the accident.

Others Survivors

Other survivors included two brothers, Jesse Estes of Tyler and Neal Estes of Carthage, a sister, Mrs. Lou Estes of Tyler, and his mother-in-law, who lives in Commerce.

Funeral services will be held at Commerce, Texas, at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the home of Estes' mother, Mrs. J. G. Estes. The Rev. Floyd Eaton of Tyler will officiate, with the assistance of the Rev. T. M. Huffstutler, Commerce Methodist pastor.

Negro Arraigned In Man's Slaying

ALTUS, Okla., Nov. 15. (AP)—Heavily guarded, Alfred Rowan, 29-year-old negro, was arraigned here today upon a charge of murdering Roy D. Gentry, white farmer slain in his home the night of Nov. 5.

Rowan pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Dec. 12 by District Judge Frank Mathews.

A large crowd which attended the hearing was orderly. Rowan was returned to the Granite reformatory where he has been held for safekeeping since his arrest in Wichita Falls, Tex.

County officers said that Rowan had confessed shooting Gentry because "he threw a brick at me."

Brownwood Will Ship Many Birds

BROWNWOOD, Nov. 15. (AP) — About fifty carloads of Central Texas turkeys are expected to be shipped from Brownwood this season and their sale will bring the growers between $200,000 and $250,000. Eight plants will dress turkeys here and birds will be brought to Brownwood from several surrounding counties.

Opening of the market gives employment to between 400 and 500 people. Pickers will be paid five cents per turkey. At this rate they will receive between $4,000 and $5,000 for their labor.

The crop in this section is estimated at 50 per cent of normal. The Thanksgiving market will continue until Nov. 19 or 20, and the Christmas market will open about Dec. 1. Dealers are expecting an increased demand and a good January market.

Although this year's turkey crop is shorter than last the total money received by growers will be about the same since the market last season was around 9 and 10 cents while opening prices this year are about one-third higher. Seventy-five carloads of dressed turkeys were shipped to eastern markets from here last season, placing this city first in the list of Texas turkey marketing centers.

If 50 carloads are shipped this season it will mean that approximately 95,000 turkeys will be sold and dressed here. It takes about 1,880 turkeys to make a 20,000-pound car.

made at the board meeting next January. The convention will end tomorrow.

Much of the convention's afternoon program was devoted to education, with Miss Annie Webb Blanton, former state superintendent of public instruction, as chairman. B. F. Pittenger, dean of the school of education at the University of Texas, was the speaker.

Dean Pittinger asserted the progress of Democracy depended on the public school system.

"The public school system is the mainstay by which Democracy is endeavoring to lift itself up," he said. "The only way to overcome our difficulties is through an enlightened citizenry."

Reports on activities in the federation's division of education were given by Miss Pearl E. Neas, of Georgetown; Mrs. Robert Molley of Corsicana; Miss Ethel Foster of Sterling City; Mrs. George Abell of Midland; Mrs. Doak Roberts of Dallas, and Mrs. L. B. Randall of San Antonio.

Mrs. T. S. Reed of Beaumont, chairman of the art division, presided over a program at which reports were given by Miss Jeanette Moore of Wichita Falls and Mrs. J. D. Kelly of Groesbeck.

most serious condition. Pear sotol are practically the only feeds available in these areas. Should good rains fall over the plateau area soon, there would be an abundance of feeds available in most counties, but it is too late to expect much grass for grazing this winter.

"In East Texas feed crops are light, but possibly there may be sufficient feed for local winter needs. Only in south and southeast Texas are conditions favorable, and prospects are for a large crop of late forage.

"Livestock have just about held their own despite the very poor range conditions. Cattle condition declined only one point during the month, while sheep condition did not change."

WALL STREET REPORT

BY FREDERICK GARDNER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Stocks were traded today in the heaviest volume in nearly four months as the market made a gesture at resuming last week's broad advance.

An outbreak of selling in American Telephone and Telegraph, following announcement the communications commission had ordered an investigation of the company and its relations with affiliates, dampened enthusiasm in the afternoon.

Gains outnumbered losses at the close but were small on the average.

Swelled by brisk trading during an early upturn, the day's volume increased to 1,-894,230 shares, the largest since July 27, compared with 958,460 yesterday.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15. (AP)—There was moderate trading in the cotton market today and prices developed a moderate upward trend due to some trade buying and to firmness in outside markets. After easing off a few points at the start due to some little hedge selling prices gradually improved, making highs late in the afternoon 6 to 9 points above the lows of the morning. The market closed steady at or near the tops, with prices showing net advances for the day of 5 to 7 points.

The market ruled steady all afternoon with moderate trading and prices gradually improved until all active months made new highs for the day with Dec. at 12.31, March at 12.44, May at 12.44, and July at 12.42 or 6 to 9 points above the lows of the morning. The close was at or near the top. Dec. closed 6 points net higher, March, May and Oct. 5 points net up and July 7 points net.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 2 to 3 penny points up. Port receipts 10,738, for week 4,151, for season 2,568,391, last season 4,130,987. Exports 29,849, for week 98,573, for season 1,607,344, last season 2,844,190. Port stock 3,152,026, last year 4,008,176. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 66,703, last year 165,109. Spot sales at southern markets 16,743, last year 42,133.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (AP)—A slight opening decline was followed by rallies in cotton today but after selling up from 12.31@12.41 for March deliveries, the market eased off under southern selling and realizing. March closed at 12.39 with the general market steady, net 3 points higher to 1 point lower.

Overnight selling from the south was absorbed by local buying on the relatively firm showing of Liverpool, and the market soon turned steadier on covering combined with a moderate trade demand. The firmness reported in the wheat and stock market contributed to the advances during the middle of the day which carried December contracts up from 12.20@12.29 and May from 12.33@12.42 or about 9 to 10 points from the low levels of the morning and 3 to 5 points net higher. Buyers showed little disposition to follow up the advance aggressively, however, and the market eased off again under realizing.

A considerable part of the business again seemed to be connected with the evening up of December and switching of near months. Trade interests continued to buy the near positions. Trading was quiet during the middle of the day but was fairly active early.

Nothing more definite was heard as to acreage prospects for next year and no change was reported in the general spot situation. Exports today 34,923 making 1,-651,741 so far this season. Port receipts 32,470. U. S. port stocks 3,153,095.

THIRD PARTY THREAT

ST. PAUL, Nov. 15. (AP)—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, predicted in an interview here today that conservatism on the part of the Democratic party would bring out a strong third party in 1936.

KANSAS CITY REPORT

Slaughter steers and yearlings ruled steady to extremes 25 above Wednesday's levels. Better grades, in comparatively light supply, showed the most advance at all points. Heifers and mixed yearlings did not follow the trend in steers, sagging at weaker rates with inbetween kinds sharply off at several principal markets. Cows suffered a further loss as compared with the decline to date this week, clearing weak to 15 under yesterday's quotations. The trade in thin cattle was nominal with load lots practically absent. Country demand continued narrow with prices unchanged. At Chicago, best strong weight beeves made 9.60 with a range of 5.00@7.00 taking most short-feds.

Hog receipts totaled 51,000, a decrease of 20,000 as compared with figures for the same day a year ago. All markets reported an active trade at prices mostly 10 to 15 above Wednesdays sales. Averages below 170 lbs. which have predominated in receipts for some time continued to sell unevenly, several points closing with the advance lost on this class. The circuit's high market was 6.10 scored at St. Louis and Chicago.

Slaughter lambs and yearlings were taken slowly at generally 10 to 25 lower rates, although a break of 35 to 50 was reported in some instances. Sheep and feeders were scarce and unchanged. Best native lambs sold up to 6.65 at St. Louis and Chicago.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 15. (AP)—Wheat bounded upward in spirited fashion late today, converting early losses into maximum overnight gains of 3 1-4 cents a bushel.

Undoing of spreads between wheat and corn, with wheat being bought in the process, appeared to be largely responsible for a sudden change of the trend. Some observers said unfavorable wheat crop news from the southern hemisphere and war rumors in the Balkans had a bullish effect.

Wheat closed nervous at some setback from the day's top but 1 1-4 to 1 5-8 above yesterday's finish, May 1.00 3-8@1.00 1-2, corn 1-8 to 1 5-8 advanced, May 83 7-8@84, oats 3-8 to 3-4 up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 3 cents.

PALESTINE, Nov. 15. (AP)—Mrs. Thomas H. Campbell who, when her husband was serving as chief executive of Texas gained a reputation for her graciousness as a hostess in the governor's mansion, is dead.

She had been in ill health for several weeks and passed away at her home here today. Funeral services were arranged for tomorrow afternoon.

Later, she moved with her family to Shreveport where, on Dec. 24, 1878, she married Thomas M. Campbell of Longview. Campbell became receiver and general manager of the International-Great Northern railroad and the couple came to Palestine.

Former-Governor Campbell died April 1, 1923, and is buried here. His widow will be laid to rest beside his grave.

Tech-De Paul Intersectional Game Is Feature Of Homecoming Here Today

Chicago Team Is Impressive In Drill Here

Coach Kelly And Gridders Of Mid-West May Surprise Tech Followers; Aerial Barrage Expected Of Demons

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

The Demon from De Paul appeared from out of the Mid-West yesterday cackled an impish challenge to Texas Tech's Matadors and dared rather than tempted, a dozen or so railbirds to lay their dough on the line for Tech.

This afternoon at 3:15 o'clock the Demon in the form of a football player will appear again at Matador Field this time to make the Red Raiders of Tech battle for every inch of ground they gain and to keep their own goal line unsullied in the presence of hundreds of ex-students and alumni gathered here to join the local thousands at Tech's Homecoming Day feature.

By train and bus the Demons came yesterday to Lubbock from Chicago, winding up the 40-hour ride with a bus trip from Amarillo. Coach Jim Kelly, Assistants Ben Connors and John Pionke and Father Bleachle, faculty representative from the Catholic school, led 24 husky young athletes into the Hub City. They started with 25 gridders, but the 25th is not expected until today.

Tackle Lost Enroute

John Scanlon, a big tackle boarded the wrong railroad car at Harrington, Kansas, Wednesday, and was missed when he failed to answer the call to lunch several hours later. He was later contacted by Coach Kelly, who left transportation money and orders.

Otherwise the Demon team is intact. Coach Kelly will be able to start his best lineup, and the game promises to be anything but a workout for Texas Tech.

Anxious to make an impression upon their visitors from one of the country's football hotbeds, to uphold the reputation made by Texas teams in intersectional conflicts this season, and to look good before their predecessors and former Tech fans, the Matadors have bent honest efforts in practice this week to show improvement over last Friday's poor exhibition.

Tech Reserves Weakened

But things could look better in the tech camp from a personnel point of view.

Three strong reserve backs still are indisposed, and may not get into the lineup today. There may be few substitutions, as Coach Cawthon plans to start his best team and keep it in there. His best, however, will not approach the mid-season standard, since two first stringers will be on the bench when the game starts.

Adrian Clark, quarterback, has not recovered sufficiently from a conk on the noggin suffered in the Hardin-Simmons game, and Charley Duval will start at the position. More disappointing than this, however, is the condition of Captain Moon Martin. The star left end has been ill with "flu" all week, and has not worked out regularly. He will be replaced by Wilson Gilmore today. Brax Gilmore will play the other wing position.

Shock troopers unable to put out their best today, thereby putting a strain on the starting team, are Bear Curfman, fullback, and Jim Neill and D. M. McElroy, halfbacks. Neill's broken thumb has not mended, nor has McElroy's broken collar bone healed completely. Curfman still suffers from a twisted ankle.

Holcomb For Katrola

Only other change in the starting lineup sees big Bill Holcomb at left tackle in place of Alvin Katrola. Holcomb, by his efforts during the past few weeks, has earned a starting berth.

De Paul boasts a record as clean as that of Tech this season. The Demons have lost two games, and the first loss this season was the first taken by De Paul in three years. The team was undefeated last year. In fact, the only athletic match at all lost by the Demons last year was a single golf game.

A follower of the Notre Dame "system" and all its intricacies, Coach Kelly and his assistants have taught the Demons how to pass and run. They are known in their section as a passing aggregation, but they do not depend solely on this phase of offense, mixing in the usual runs and plunges.

Meet The Captain

An individual of exceptional ability on the Demon team is Captain Phil Krause, brother of Notre Dame's all-American "Moose" Krause. Phil plays left end, catches a lot of passes and is a true Demon on defense. The other end is Fred Brainard, a 192-pound blocker and pass snatcher. Joe Sullivan, a junior, is also a steady right end player.

De Paul boasts a pair of big tackles in Harold Carlson, a large Swede, and Maurice Washburne, and rather hefty guards in John Reid, 194-pound Irishman, and Norman Mertes, a senior.

Eugene Cowhey has succeeded Marvin Casey as regular center, and they say either of them can go to town.

After losing a couple of games in the mud, Coach Kelly shifted his backfield, and now has a quartet that can run, punt and pass with the best of 'em. Ray Durkin, a junior, occupied the quarterback slot, and is a capable blocker. Walter Loess, formerly a halfback, has been switched to fullback, and does a lot of the passing and running. Bill Oldani and Willie Phillips are the halfbacks, and with this combination the Demons hope to spoil a large part of Tech's Homecoming Day program.

Mustangs, Frogs And Owls In Favored Spots This Weekend

Scribe Says Arkansas To Lose To Ponies, Frogs Will Take Texas Longhorns; Bears To Lose To Centenary

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 15.—Now that an Associated Press poll established Minnesota as the country's first ranking football team, the next task for Southwest conference critics is to pick Saturday's probable winners, and this is the way they look to me:

Arkansas vs Southern Methodist: Save your money if you happen to like Arkansas. It promises to be the Mustangs all the way. A versatile attack, a powerful defense and ample reserves gives Southern Methodist a two touchdown edge against a team with an extremely weak pass defense.

Take Texas Christian

Texas vs Texas Christian: Take a straight ticket on Texas Christian and put Texas in the also-ran selections. Texas Christian's slashing backfield of versatile Sam Baugh, George Kline, Jimmie Lawrence and Taldon Manton appears a bit too much for the Longhorns. Texas Christian's front wall is plenty capable of matching strides with anything Texas can offer. The Frogs will have to stop Bohn Hilliard, the elusive Texas back, and they will have to keep an eye on Jack Gray, a fine pass catching wing, but at the final whistle it should be the Frogs by a touchdown or perhaps three points less, a field goal.

Aggies Are Sore

Rice vs Texas A. and M.—It is just a matter of how wide awake Rice happens to be for this game. The Aggies are in an ugly mood and just about right, physically and mentally, to give the Owls a real tussle. Rice promises to emerge victorious but only after a stiff fight. A. and M. fight probably will prevent a big score.

Baylor vs Centenary—Looks like Baylor's sixth defeat this season. Centenary not only has one of the best teams in the south but takes delight in dusting off Southwest conference aggregations.

St. Paul Baseball Club Is Sold To Business Men There

ST. PAUL, Nov. 15. (AP)—Sale of the St. Paul American Association baseball club to several local business organizations and individuals was announced today by R. J. Connery, president, and associates who have operated the club for the past ten years.

Negotiations were completed today and the actual transfer of the franchise is expected to be made at the annual meeting of the American Association directors in Louisville, Monday.

Participating in the purchase are the retail subdivision of the St. Paul association; Lee S. Warner, Shreve M. Archer, A. H. Cathcart, John W. Norton, from whom Connery purchased the frachise in 1924; Walter G. Seever, and the St. Paul Dispatch-Pioneer Press and St. Paul Daily News.

Cowboys Defeat Floydada, 41-6 Here Yesterday

The Lubbock Junior High school Cowboys, coached by Mule Davis and Lovic Liston, gained sweet revenge yesterday for a former defeat when they pounded the Floydada juniors, 41 to 6, at Tech field.

On a recent visit to Floydada, the Cowboys were defeated, 19 to 13, but they made up for the loss by charging and running to victory yesterday, scoring in very quarter and never letting down. Floydada's lone touchdown came in the third period, with most of the Lubbock reserves in the lineup.

After driving against the reserves to the Lubbock 18-yard line, the Cowboys were penalized 15 yards because a substitute talked. From the 3-yard line, Floydada's fullback went over for the touchdown.

Firman Williamson scored twice for Lubbock in the first quarter after consistent drives down the field. Melvin Billings went over for another score in the second period. Jack Parsons tallied 12 points in the third, and Williamson again in the fourth.

The Cowboys scored three extra points after touchdowns, one on a place-kick by Walter Lamb, another on a pass, Cawthon to Winters and another on a running play, Cawthon to Lamb, after Cawthon had the snap-back.

Melvin Billings recovered for a safety for the additional two points.

Clark Griffith Would Pay $100,000 For Bill Werber; But Bill's Not For Sale

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—Clark Griffith, perhaps the shrewdest manipulator of purse strings in the American League, almost had to call the respiratory squad for his listeners—having told them he was ready to spend $100,000 for a single ball player.

He saved himself the cost of an ambulance by quickly adding that the man he wanted enough to part with a hundred grand—Bill Werber, Boston Red Sox infielder—apparently wasn't for sale.

"If $100,000 would get Werber he would be playing for Washington next season," the Old Fox said.

Hubbell And Mancuso Pitch Hunting Camp In South Texas

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 15. (AP)—Carl Hubbell and Gus Mancuso, star batterymen of the New York Giants, and three other baseball players started out today to establish a hunting camp in the northern part of Willacy county.

They planned to hunt turkeys deer, wild hogs and probably some geese and ducks before leaving the lower Rio Grande valley. They will be in the valley about two or three weeks.

ZWILLING TO K. C.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 15. (AP)—Edward H. (Dutch) Zwilling, who managed the Kansas City Blues from 1927 until 1933, piloting the club to the American Association pennant in 1929, will return to the helm of the local team next season.

John M. Kling, club president, in announcing Zwilling's selection as successor to Roger Peckinpaugh, expressed pleasure at obtaining Zwilling's signature to a one-year contract.

Picadors Play N. M. Military Team Saturday

Coach Ballard Takes 27 Men To Roswell Tonight; Meet Cadets Tomorrow Afternoon In Annual Skirmish

The burly, green-shirted Picadors of Texas Tech leave at 4 o'clock this afternoon for their game at Roswell Saturday with the New Mexico Military Institute Broncos.

Twenty-seven gridmen, Coaches Vergil Ballard and Elva Baker, and a student manager will make the trip.

The Freshmen are now in the finest physical condition since the start of the season and they will be out to throttle the Cadets who have shown themselves to be pretty weak-kneed this fall in competition with senior colleges.

It was New Mexico last year that handed the Tech freshmen their only defeat of the season. The present Picador edition will have that 1933 thumping in mind when they collide with the Cadets tomorrow.

Although they have fared ill this year, the Broncos have several brilliant performers in their ranks. Julio "Wop" Chairmonte, one of the greatest collegiate box-fighters in the Southwest who holds a list of knock-outs that you couldn't list in a small note book, is one of the guards. Captain Maxwell, center, throws his 185 pounds into a game with considerable effect. These are the best of the Cadet line. There are also two excellent backs. St. John and Duffy are swift and dangerous 170-pound ball-bearers who have been handicapped this season by a startling lack of cooperation from most of the cogs in their team.

John Bray of Ranger has been designated as captain of the Picadors. He will start at pivot. Other probable starters will be Pete Owen and Dempsey Parley, guards; James Brown and Edgar Doherty, tackles; "Baby Ugg" Curfman and Wild Bill Tolliver, ends; Ed Smith, quarterback; Fred Byrd and Frank Guzick, halfbacks; and Brode Puckett, fullback.

Other men to make the jaunt follow, William Green, center; Alton Owens and Dick Keen, guards; Glenn Thornton, tackle; Robert Raeder, Raymond Loflin and Chapman, ends; Gene Barnett, Maurice Chernosky, Rayburn Hale, Ray Dickerson, and Cecil Merrill, backs, and Bailey, manager.

Gene Sarazen Paces Field In Australian Golf Joust

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 15. (AP)—Paced by stocky Gene Sarazen, visiting American professionals monopolized the first round today in the 72-hole Melbourne centenary open golf championship.

Sarazen clipped five strokes off par over the 6,504-yard Metropolitan course for a 69 and a one-stroke lead over his closest pursuers in the chase for the first prize of $5,000.

A six foot putt on the 17th green, that hit the back of the cup and hung there stubbornly, deprived Sarazen of a tie for the course record of 68.

BARNEY REILLY DIES

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 15. (AP)—Barney E. Reilly, 50, former Yale athletic star who came here as a baseball player twenty-four years ago and remained to practice law, died this morning after an illness of two years.

Reilly had an outstanding athletic career at Yale. He played baseball with the Chicago White Sox in 1909 and 1910, coming to St. Joseph during the latter part of 1910 as a Western League player. He played here in 1911 and 1912, then went to Brooklyn in 1913. He retired from baseball in 1914 and returned here to manage a theater, later launching on his legal career.

Tech Depends Upon These Linemen This Afternoon

Included in today's starting lineup for Texas Tech in its Homecoming Day game against the De Paul university Demons of Chicago are these linemen, upon whose shoulders will depend much of the offensive and defensive brunt. Upper left is Bert Williams, former Lubbock High ace, who starts at tackle; at right is Gaines Davis, stellar guard, from Abilene, and below is the veteran Larry Priddy, Gainesville, one of the best centers in Tech's football history.

Wentz Returns Without Cards

Breadon Says Negotiations Are Called Off; But May Be Resumed Soon; Wentz Declines To Talk About It

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 15. (AP)—Negotiations for the sale of the world championship Cardinals to Lew H. Wentz, Oklahoma oil multi-millionaire, tonight were called off "indefinitely."

Sam Breadon, president of the National League baseball club, who made the announcement, said he had no idea when negotiations might be resumed.

"Are negotiations off beyond possibility of renewal?" Breadon was asked.

"By no means," he replied.

Going To Florida

Asked when they might be reopened, he answered:

"That I can't say; I have no idea. I expect to go to Florida in a week or ten days. I do not expect the discussion will be reopened during that time."

Wentz, who has described himself as such an ardent baseball fan that he "wouldn't miss a World Series for all the oil in Oklahoma," declined to comment.

The Oklahoman said he probably would remain in St. Louis overnight and return to his home in Ponca City, Okla., tomorrow.

Japan Urging Full Equality

Britain's Decision To Recognize Only The Principle Of Equality Is No Stumbling Block To Nippon

(Copyright, 1934, By Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Japan decided tonight again to request full equality with Great Britain and the United States in naval armaments despite Britain's decision to recognize only the principle of equality.

The Japanese decision was taken as Tokyo delegates to tri-power naval conversations here, Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudaira and Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, awaited instructions sent from Japan which, it was learned, will dictate rejection of the compromise proposals suggested by the British.

Those proposals involved recognition of Japan's right to equality on the high seas, while refusing to let her build enough ships to attain that equality.

Proposals Offered

The British compromise proposals provided for continuance of the existing 5-5-3 ratio, stipulated in the Washington treaty, to which Nippon strenuously objects.

The Japanese have indicated their willingness to make a declaration that they would not build up to tonnage equality in a certain specified number of years, but asserted the question of national prestige makes anything less than recognition of full equality unacceptable.

Greenville Calls Off Plans To Meet Chicago Gridders

GREENVILLE, Nov. 15. (AP)—Tentative plans for an inter-sectional high scool football game between the Greenville High school and Harrison Technical High school of Chicago have been abandoned, school officials here said today.

The officials decided such a game might result in injuries which would impair Greenville's chances in the state championship race beginning the week after Thanksgiving. The Harrison High game had been considered for late this month in Greenville.

TIGERS WON'T PLAY

PRICETON, N. J., Nov. 15. (AP)—The Princeton football team will not play a post-season game in this or any subsequent season, Professor Burnham N. Dell, chairman of the university council of athletics, stated today. The announcement was made in his formal reply to a petition signed by 837 undergraduates requesting that game be scheduled with Minnesota or Pittsburgh.

But Still He Is Not Conceited

Max Baer Stops Movie, Hires Prince Of Wales Valet, Says He Is Getting Down To Business, And He's Serious

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 15. (AP)—Max Baer announced today he had stopped production on his second movie, revealed he had hired the Prince of Wales' former valet, denied he was conceited and said he was going to Mexico, D. F., tomorrow.

"Sure, I stopped production on it myself," Max admitted. "I'll admit that I can't act and would rather fight. I need a strong story to get me over. And I can't get over in a picture that buries me. So I've given the studio 60 days in which to make the changes."

Executives of the studio (Paramount) gave a somewhat different reason for the delay. "Baer intends to defend his championship next June. We plan to release his picture about that time."

The acquisition of Kettles, former valet to the Prince of Wales, as a personal attendant for himself, is, Baer says, "my own business."

Just Being Himself

"And as for being insolent to the public," continued the champion, "I'm not being insolent, but just myself."

"What I mean is that if I laugh it's just because that laugh bubbles up in me and I can't help. I'm not clowning around any more. I'm a business man now.

"And I know that if people don't like me, I'm a flop. Besides, I like the public.

"Well, anyway, I'm like Mary Pickford and Joan Crawford and June Knight—the ones who are really tops and don't have to be conceited."

Rosenbloom Is Warned To Lay Off Open Hand

So He Asks Commission If He Can Put Zippers On Gloves For Tonight; Trains By Going For Auto Ride

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The fight game's spasmodic opera bouffe Maxie Rosenbloom, in defense of his light heavyweight championship, will attempt to beguile the patrons again in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night with a newcomer Robert Olin, of New York, the supporting cast.

This 15-round engagement has the added attractiveness of vile reports that the principals are practically fraternity brothers, that their managers are partners, that the warriors were members of the same fighting stable in a recent visit to California.

The New York state athletic commission has warned Maxie, the slapstick ruler of the light heavyweights for four years, that he can't smack Robert around with open gloves tomorrow night on penalty of losing his crown by foul. Maxie went right down to the commission and asked if he could put a zipper attachment on his gloves that would force his hands closed, and thus guarantee that he is abiding by all regulations. The commission spluttered him right out of the hall.

Interest Is Light

Customers have failed to display any interest, and the probability is that the principals will perform in comparative obscurity. Rosenbloom is a 2 to 1 favorite.

The roguish Rosenbloom, who ran all out of title opponents by whipping Mickey Walker, Joe Knight and Bob Godwin, in the last winter season, has done most of his preparation for the match with Olin, former golden gloves champion, by losing overnight decisions and fighting draws around the country.

Blacklist Of Speaker Rainey Is Given But Bare Attention

Anti-Administration Attitude Of Some Members Is Rapped; Some Results Are Said To Be Found In House

BY CLARENCE M. WRIGHT
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Speaker Raineys "blacklist" of Democrats who voted against the administration may have brought results in the house, but a survey today showed that voters by and large apparently paid little attention to it.

Out of the 279 the late speaker listed as anti-administration one or more times, 61 are missing in the new house. But two were elected to the senate out of nine who sought to move up. Two others became governors and 16 did not choose to run.

21 Are Tabulated

In all, 21 house roll calls were tabulated at the speaker's orders. There were some protests, and even speeches, but the list was up-to-date when the session ended.

Voters did hear some of the results, but only 24 of the 279 blacklisted were actually defeated for re-election. Nine of these fell before Republicans; 25 were beaten in the primaries by other Democrats.

Rep. Hoeppel (D-Calif), "antiest" anti-administration man, had a close call, but he is coming back.

The final tabulation listed him as voting against 10 of the 21 measures classified by leaders as administration.

There were five others who voted "wrong" ten times—Carpenter of Kansas, reelected; Carpenter of Nebraska, who made an unsuccessful race for the gubernatorial nomination; Connery of Massachusetts, reelected; Rogers of Oklahoma, elected, and Weideman of Michigan, who went down before a Democrat in the primary.

Percentage Higher

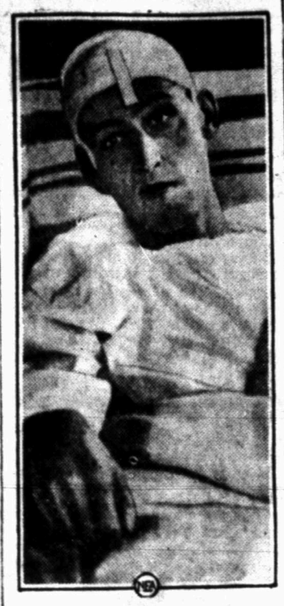

The returned percentage was a little higher for those whose anti-administration total was zero. Twenty-four were re-elected; three are missing. But the three missing are Hughes of Wisconsin, who didn't run; West of Ohio who made an unsuccessful race for the Democratic senatorial nomination; Brown of Kentucky who was beaten in the primary after re-districting.

Drown, incidentally, lost to Rep. Chapman, who anti-administration vote total was calculated as 5.

Burke of Nebraska, elected to the senate, was on the list only twice; Maloney, who beat Senator Walcott (R) in Connecticut, voted "wrong" 9 times.

Two who became governors were Marland of Oklahoma, with 5 anti-votes, and Martin of Oregon with one.

Takes Chance

Given one chance in a million to live, after he was shot between the eyes with a .32 caliber bullet which lodged in his brain, Homer Tomblin, above, Logan, W. V., miner, took that chance and won. He declared U. S. Senator H. D. Hatfield, noted surgeon, could save him and Hatfield did, removing the bullet. Tomblin is recovering rapidly.

Road Designation Work Is Closed

AUSTIN, Nov. 15. (AP)—The highway department announced today that no more designations of highways would be made this year.

"This statement is issued in order that those seeking designations may know what to expect before spending their time and money coming to Austin," John Wood, chairman said.

"The people of Texas are demanding and the department feels it is duly bound to spend all available funds in the filling in or completing the present highway system, rather than to enlarge it at this time."

The next open hearing before the commission will be on November 26.

The settled frontier of the United States in 1830 was only halfway across the continent, at Independence, Mo.

Field Operations Halted Thursday

PAMPA, Nov. 15. (AP)—Field operations of the Texas company were inactive today as a result of a strike but there was no disorder and some negotiations were pending.

Oil workers here said employes of another West Texas company were holding an election to decide what agency will represent them in collective bargaining with their company.

Some workers of the Texas company left their jobs a few days ago because of failure to obtain a contract with the company and to have their union recognized as the collective bargaining agency.

Fourth Arrest In Slaying Of King Alexander Is Made

TURIN, Italy, Nov. 15. (AP)—The fourth arrest in Italy in connection with the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia has been made.

The man's identity has not yet been revealed. He was taken into custody while traveling between Milan and San Remo and was brought to Turin where Dr. Anton Pavelic, alleged leader of the assassination gang, and another Croat, Egon Kyaternik, are in jail awaiting extradition proceedings.

The third arrest was that of Mile Budap, a Croat taken into custody at Genoa last week at the request of French authorities.

Texas Editorial Association Is In Session In The Valley

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 15. (AP) — More than 60 members of the Texas Editorial association gathered in the lower Rio Grande valley today to attend their annual convention and about 30 more were due to arrive by night fall.

The editors were entertained at Harlingen during the day and tomorrow are to visit Brownsville and Matamoros, the Mexican city across the Rio Grande. Saturday they will visit the site of Brownsville and Port Isabel port projects.

YOUR GROCER HAS THIS SUNNY WAY TO BETTER HEALTH

Check Common Constipation with a Delicious Cereal

Food has a lot to do with how you feel and how you look. For instance, you need plenty of "bulk" with your meals to avoid the risk of common constipation.

This ailment frequently causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy. Yet, in most cases, it can be overcome pleasantly and safely by eating a delicious cereal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" in convenient and concentrated form. Laboratory tests show the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is safe and effective. In fact, it is much like that found in leafy vegetables.

Within the body, the fiber of ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

In addition, ALL-BRAN provides vitamin B and iron.

Isn't this sunny way better than taking patent medicines — so often harmful? Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases with each meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN makes no claim to be a "cure-all."

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or cook into appetizing recipes. Be sure you get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It contains much more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

New Deal's First Post-Election Concern May Be Permanent Work Relief

Unemployment Going Upward

Election Results To Be Polled By Political Chiefs For Weighted Public Opinion On Measures Of Reform

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—Permanent relief projects may be President Roosevelt's first public concern under the popular mandate of November 6.

Although political chiefs will want to search election results for a weighted public opinion on measures of economic reform, the "new deal" tide that swept the nation runs sufficiently high to indicate that launching of unemployment policies of permanent character will be considered seriously.

Figures announced for October by the American Federation of Labor indicate that for the first time in 1934 unemployment was higher than in the corresponding month of the year before. It estimates nearly 11,000,000 persons are jobless, of which more than 2,000,000 are on government emergency payrolls.

If the President waited to consult the new congress more than half the winter would be gone before he could act. He announced his CWA program on November 8 last year and he still has the broad emergency powers under which he operated then.

Socially-Useful Projects

To some degree the old civil works projects necessarily were hurried and makeshift. Some were criticized. Instead of reviving such a program it is believed the administration, with the impetus of off-year election gains in both the house and senate, will strike out on a scheme of permanent socially-useful projects.

Te Federal emergency relief administration has surveyed the country for useful projects which can be undertaken immediately in every community, and its officials believe almost 3,500,000 persons could be put to work in two weeks time.

Billions May Be Used

Emergency work projects selected for perpetuation after CWA was disbanded now employ about 1,400,000 persons and may be continued. There are said to be approximately 540,000 employed on public works projects, and the civilian conservation camps, which Mr. Roosevelt definitely has decided to continue, employ more than 300,000 young men.

It has been unofficially estimated that from $5,000,000,000 to $7,000,000,000 may be earmarked for concentration on a permanent program which may replace FERA. Unless extended by congress, FERA expires next May.

A temporary extension may be necessary if recovery in private industry lags, but the President has emphasized his desire to substitute a "work relief" basis for the socalled "dole" in meeting the unemployment problem.

Upturn Looked For

For that reason "new deal" economists watch the elections with one eye and the condition of industry with the other, calculating meanwhile the probability of new recovery prescription. The fall upturn in business did not materialize.

Now that the "new deal" has met the test of public approval, its marshals hope the long delayed fall business pick-up will get underway and that they may move toward a permanent plan for taking up the slack in employment.

OFF FOR HUUNT

AUSTIN, Nov. 15. (AP)—Attorney General James V. Allred, governor-elect, left today for a hunting trip to northern Mexico. En route he will stop at Cuero for the "turkey trot" celebration. Allred did not make public the exact location for the hunt, or where he would cross the border. He will be accompanied by a small party of friends.

Mines President Is To Be Chosen

CORSICANA, Nov. 15. (AP)—Regents of the University of Texas will inspect the Texas College of Mines at El Paso Monday and will consider election of a president of this institution, Beauford H. Jester, local attorney, chairman of the regents, said Thursday.

After the El Paso trip, the regents will go to Fort Davis to inspect the work being done on the construction of the McDonald observatory, University of Texas.

Those to make the trips include H. H. Weinert, Seguin, chairman of the mines and metallurgy committee; and Dr. K. H. Ainsworth, Waco and H. J. Lutcher Stark, Orange, members; Chairman Jester and Charles I. Francis, Fort Worth.

Rhodes Scholarship Men Of Texas University Selected

AUSTIN, Nov. 15. (AP)—Wickliffe Fisher, of Austin, William Malcolm Logan of Brownwood, Charles Richards West of Cisco and Gordon Worley, of Austin have been chosen as Rhodes scholarship candidates from the University of Texas.

Applications of these and candidates from other Texas schools will be considered by a state committee on Rhodes scholarships at some Texas city on January 3 or 5, Dr. D. A. Penick announced. The committee will select two candidates to represent Texas before a district committee.

There are eight districts in the United States and each may appoint four men for study at the University of Oxford, England.

Discussions On Dreaded Diseases On Program As Southern Physicians Meet

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 15. (AP)—Discussions on cancer, tuberculosis, rabies, food and even of doctors themselves featured the morning session of the various clinics of the Southern Medical association in 28th annual convention here today.

Dr. John William Amesse, assistant professor of pediatrics at the University of Colorado school of medicine at Denver, declared there are 1,000,000 active, diagnosed cases of tuberculosis among children of school age in the United States and 2,000,000 unsuspected cases resulting in 150,000 deaths annually.

"One man's meat is another mans poison," Albert H. Rowe of San Francisco stated in a discussion on "food allergy; a common problem in practice."

"Most people at some time of life and especially in childhood probably have mild or marked food allergy," he said.

Addressing the clinic on cancer, Dr. Ernest H. Gaither of Johns Hopkins university of Baltimore, declared the average physician in the United States is unqualified to diagnose cancer of the stomach in its early stages and frequently even in its final development.

Failure of cities to enforce their regulations for the control of stray dogs was blamed today for continued outbreaks of rabies in the United States by Dr. W. B. Grayson of Little Rock, state health officer of Arkansas, and a leading authority on rabies.

Japan Willing To Act As Intermediary Between America And Manchoukuo

Mysterious Cracks And Cavings Are Worrying State Highway Engineers

CLAUDE, Nov. 15. (AP) — The earth is giving trouble again and highway engineers are shaking troubled heads at the antics.

At the point where state highway 5 drops off the Cap Rock shelf of the Plains midway between Claude and Goodnight, mysterious cracks and cavings big enough to cause highway hazards have occurred. The biggest chasm, which was caused by the apparent sinking of the earth, is from two to four feet wide, about 10 feet deep and 30 yards long.

The big crack opened up overnight. It angled toward the highway but played out at the edge of the roadbed.

Numerous other cracks, cavings and holes have developed in the area and highway engineers expressed fear that a big break might open up overnight across Highway 5. For this reason, the site is being patroled.

Similar cracks appeared in the same area 10 years ago. At that time a chasm four feet wide suddenly opened up across the highway and continued through farms and pastures for more than a mile. The big crack into which fence posts could be dropped without making sound when they hit bottom gradually closed after heavy rains but its "tracks" still are visible.

Not "Drouth Cracks"

Engineers explained that the broken earth did not appear to be "drouth cracks" but more like a cave-in. It was pointed out that the earth frequently cracked during extreme drouth but the freak disturbances here do not appear to have developed from that cause.

Geologists have been called upon to find the probable cause so that action can be taken to remove highway dangers. Engineers said that if the trouble continues, it may be necessary to change the location of the highway.

Highway 5 is the main road between Texarkana and Amarillo.

France Will Default When Dec. 15 Payment Comes Due

PARIS, Nov. 15. (AP)—France will default to the United States on its war debt for the fifth straight time December 15 when it receives an American notification that payment is due, it was learned today.

Pierre Flandin, new premier, opposed payment in 1932 when he was minister of finance and his cabinet is now taking the same position as the previous government— awaiting an Anglo-American settlement, which would serve as a basis for Franco-American negotiations.

Settlement Is To Be Sought

Japanese Ambassador Offers Services In An Announcement Thursday; Recognition Not Given By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—Japan is willing to act as an intermediary between the United States and Manchoukuo in an effort to reach an amicable settlement of the diplomatic controversy brought about by Manchoukuo's proposed oil monopoly.

Hirosi Saito, the Japanese ambassador, made this known today after an extended conference with Secretary Hull.

He told newspapermen that while Japan was not responsible for Manchoukuo's foreign affairs, and could not meddle in a sovereign nation's affairs, it would, since the United States does not recognize the new state, accept the responsibility of forwarding communications between the two nations.

Saito emphasized that he had not offered the Japanese government's services as a mediator in his conference with Hull, and that his discussion with the secretary had been on far eastern questions in general.

Saito also told newspapermen that the Japanese naval policy was clear cut and well defined and that he seriously doubted that Japanese public opinion would accept any compromise solution of naval problems, now under discussion in London, which did not provide for equality for the Japanese navy.

There has been a great deal said concerning Japan's demands for equality, Saito said, and very little concerning the Japanese suggestion that all navies be reduced to a point where they would be ineffective as aggressive weapons.

If the world is to accept the principles of the Kellogg pact, Saito asserted, he saw no reason why there should be any hesitancy in the world powers reducing their navies until they were actually merely naval police forces.

Saito indicated that any compromise arrived at in the preliminary naval talks in London should be toward naval reduction instead of on the question of equality.

Saito said that since the United States does not recognize the Japanese-sponsored state of Manchoukuo there appeared no other way in which the United States could discuss the question of the oil monopoly with Manchoukuo unless Japan acted as "postmaster" in delivering communications.

The Japanese government acted in a similar capacity in arranging the sale of the Chinese Eastern railway by Soviet Russia to the new state.

The Japanese government is satisfied, Saito said, that the proposed oil monopoly in Manchoukuo does not discriminate against Americans of the nine-power treaty violations of the nine-power treaty, or the open door policy.

TO RECEIVE BIDS

GALVESTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—The United States district engineers office here announced today that bids would be received until Dec. 14 for the bringing of about 819,000 cubic yards of material from Port Isabel channel and basin. The work is classed as maintenance.

Gloria Vanderbilt To Remain In Custody Of Paternal Aunt

Details Of Attorney's Conference Kept Secret; Order Of Supreme Court Justice Will Be Given Monday

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (AP)—Little Gloria Vanderbilt, it was reported authoritatively tonight, will remain in the custody of her paternal aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, until such a time as her mother, the beautiful Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, demonstrates she is capable of caring for the child's welfare.

Details of an attorney's conference late today were kept secret but indications by persons close to the sensational case were that the order of Supreme Court Justice John F. Carew will be made public Monday, embodying such provisions.

The guardians of Gloria's $2,800,000 estate, George W. Wickersham and Thomas B. Gilchrist, met with the counsel in the drafting of Justice Carew's custody order in compliance with the court's instructions.

Details Not Given

After the conference Mrs. Whitney declared:

"I cannot say anything now. We have all promised not to make any statement. On Monday, I will have a great deal to say."

Mrs. Whitney passed by all inquiries as to whether she would continue to have the child, whose return the mother sought in the drawn-out habeas corpus proceedings that were closed to the public after sensational disclosures.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, the widow of Reginald Vanderbilt, was not at the courtroom while the attorneys were conferring.

Whole Section Of City Found

ALGIERS, Nov. 15. (AP)—A whole section of the ancient city of Carthage, buried for centuries beneath the sands of North Africa, has been brought to light, archeological workers announced today.

The excavations have revealed villas, paved streets, houses and buildings almost intact from the second and third centuries, and the discoveries are regarded as of great archeological importance.

A part of the ancient city, hitherto unknown, which overlooked the Gulf of Tunis, has been uncovered, giving a vivid picture of daily life as it was long centuries ago.

The excavations are being continued, and a careful guard is being kept to prevent looting and vandalism.

Defense Motion For Slash In Man's Bond Is Denied

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 15. (AP)—Federal Judge F. C. Jacobs today denied a defense motion to reduce the $100,000 bond of Oscar H. Robson, former Tucson dance hall operator, held in connection with the June Robles kidnaping last April.

Judge Jacobs said the amount of bond would remain unchanged pending the preliminary hearing which has been set for Nov. 22. At that time "if there is no strong indication of guilt" the bond might be reduced, he said.

Entrance Exams For Texans At West Point To Be Given

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—The war department announced today the following candidates have been designated to take entrance examinations on March 5, 1935, for admission to the United States Military academy at West Point on July 1 next year:

Texas: Frank C. Eppner, jr., Palestine; James W. Milner, Waco; Lawson Magruder, jr., Waco; both principals first alternate; Burrell Helton, Clifton, second alternate.

Additional Police Ordered To San Francisco Waterfront

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15. (AP)—Additional police were ordered to the waterfront today to prevent violence in a renewal of the strife between longshoremen and employers.

Employers and workers alike petitioned Secretary of Labor Perkins to attempt settlement of the disputes in which each faction accuses the other of failure to abide by a recent decision of the national longshoremen's board.

Automobile Ownership Isn't Bar To Relief, Ruling Says

AUSTIN, Nov. 15. (AP)—Adam R. Johnson, state relief director, announced today that destitute persons would not be denied relief merely because they owned automobiles.

However, county administrators will not grant relief if it is determined that an appreciable amount of the money is used for operation of automobiles for purposes of pleasure.

Mercury Falls On Wednesday

Delay In Arrival Of First Frost Enables Many Farmers To Gather Grain And Forage Crops Without Danger

Lowest point of the mercury at the state experiment sub-station, east of town, on Wednesday night was 50 degrees, or about 15 degrees higher than the low for the fall, Don L. Jones, superintendent, said yesterday.

With average date of killing frost for Lubbock November 2, the first killing frost was 13 days behind schedule up to yesterday. Lowest this fall has been 35 degrees, or five above killing point.

Crops Are Gathered

Delay in the arrival of first frost has enabled many farmers to gather their grain and forage crops without danger of losing the feed because of frost.

The Associated Press reported that Austin had .4 of an inch of rain and the weather was cool. Crops benefited by the moisture. Denton reported .43 of an inch of rain. It helped grain crops and some around Denton, but much of the crops already had been lost due to dry weather.

The temperature at Beaumont fell from 80 degrees to a minimum of 54 during the 24-hour period ending at 7 a. m. Thursday.

Olney had one half inch of rain today and farmers were jubilant.

Electrical Storm

The wildest electrical storm in many years, accompanied by a virtual cloudburst, struck the Falfurrias section last night, breaking a drouth that had burned pastures and stopped all farm work. Hail stones, some described "as large as baseballs," fell a few miles southwest of town, killing poultry and damaging roofs and windows. Trees were stripped of leaves.

The old ranch home of Ed C. Lasater, a landmark, had its roof and windows demolished, along with those of barns and stables.

Famous "Turkey Trot" Being Staged

More Than 35,000 Persons Crowd Streets Of Cuero As Big Affair Is Held; Governor-Elect Allred Main Speaker

CUERO, Nov. 15. (AP)—Eight thousand strutting turkeys, destined to regale Thanksgiving diners, were paraded through the streets today in Cuero's famous "turkey trot."

The noisy, sleek birds gobbled their way to the packing houses to the strains of martial music, starting the celebration which annually marks the opening of the turkey market here.

35,000 On Hand

More than 35,000 persons poured into Cuero to watch the show, which has played a part in causing Cuero to be called the "turkey capital of the world." Close to 165,000 turkeys will be marketed from farms in this section this fall.

Decorated floats, bands, cowboys, cowgirls, and an array of state officials joined in the parade.

Governor-Elect James V. Allred headed the procession, followed by Congressmen J. J. Mansfield and Richard Kleberg, and other officials.

A banquet in Allred's honor was given at noon and, this afternoon, he took part in a civic program at the city park.

Before dawn today, herders drove the birds to the edge of town and formed them in line for the parade, then when the procession started, the stately birds were marched through town in droves of 500 to 800.

Occasionally an excited bird would take wing and soar through the air for a block to join a flock farther up the line.

Fifty fancy-dressed birds were arrayed in frock coats, with gaily colored trousers and cocky straw hats. They preceded the float bearing a party composed of Dr. Dan C. Peavy "Sultan Yekrut VI," his "Sultana," Miss Frances Hamilton of Cuero, and three other "Sultanas," Miss Margaret Peavy, Miss Dorothy Breeden and Miss Agatha Weber.

"Sultan Yekrut VI will be crowned at a ceremony tonight and will be honored at a coronation ball in the city auditorium afterward.

The celebration continues for three days, with rodeos, a junior street parade, dances, races, and other attractions on the program.

The average yearly crop loss to farmers caused by insects, it is estimated, is $1,500,000,000.

Knowing Our Lawmakers

WE of the South Plains who feel that we live so far from the seat of the national government oftimes consider that we have little or no interest in the affairs of Congress, aside from the activities of Texas' two Senators and our own Representative.

We don't keep up with other members of Congress and most of us couldn't name a score of them to save our souls.

We do have a further interest in Congress, however, and we realize the fact if we stop to think.

For we, with the balance of the citizenship of the United States, are paying the bills for Congress as well as the salaries and other expenses of the men who serve us there.

Therefore, we have a direct and personal interest in our national lawmakers, how they function and why.

ALTHOUGH few of us have ever seen Nebraska's Senator George Norris, he represents us as he represents his own people. The same is true of Idaho's Borah, Arizona's Ashurst and New York's Wagner. They all have a "finger in the pie"—even in legislation which affects us more than it does their own states.

WE will do well, therefore, to read more and to find out more about the men who are in Congress—those in the House as well as those in the Senate.

Every day they are thinking and planning things that are of direct interest to us and to our welfare.

The Morning Avalanche often thinks that the American people pay entirely too little attention to their national lawmakers and too much to other officials who really have little power save that which is included in a high title.

If we know our Senators and Representatives—all of them—we know more what to expect of them and then following national affairs is a lot more fun.

A JUST SENTENCE

Most persons are dog lovers. Some may not manifest this actively and even may think that they "have no use for dogs." But in the hearts even of these something is stirred if they witness an act of cruelty against man's best four-footed friend.

There is little doubt, therefore, that public sentiment will give full and warm approval to the sentence of four months in jail meted out the other day to a veterinarian in North Carolina.

The animal doctor met on the street a man whose dog he recently had treated but the bill for which had not been paid. In an outburst of passion, he knocked down the dog's owner, then grabbed the dog and killed it by slashing its throat with a pocket knife.

For his assault upon the man, the doctor was fined $25. Four months in prison was given him for cruelty to the animal.

The only criticism of the latter sentence that is justified is that it reflected too much leniency if a stiffer one could have been imposed under the law.

OPINIONS

The opinionated encounter many false opinions in the world, but always among their fellowmen. To entertain an opinion demands disbelief in the opinions of those who think otherwise. Perhaps the only reason there are two people who think alike in the world is because the production of different opinions has not kept pace with the growth in population.

This conflict of opinions is ever present. The more common demonstrations are afforded by politics, religion and prohibition. Other examples are the picking of championship baseball and football teams, designation of screen actor and actress preferences, and deciding which car is the "best buy for the money."

The hobby is a prolific source of differences of opinion. The physical culture crank ridicules the golf fiend, and the golfer scorns the hobby of the physical culture crank. Tennis is child's play, in the opinion of the football player, and the tennis player penalizes all football for "unnecessary roughness." Everybody generously concedes his own opinion to be right.

And may we suggest?—a boycott on all goods sold by clerks who aren't courteous?

Today's One-Minute Sermon

The Lord is righteous in all His ways, and holy in all His works.

The Lord is nigh unto all them that calleth on Him, to all that call upon Him in truth.

He will fulfill the desire of them that fear Him: He also will hear their cry, and will save them.

The Lord preserveth all them that love Him: but all the wicked will He destroy.—Psalms 145: 17-20.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

DEMOCRATIC propagandists are just now stressing the dangers of radicalism in the coming Congress. The idea is to convince business men and conservatives that only President Roosevelt stands between them and the wolves.

There is no doubt that a healthy group of wild-eyes will take over some of those $10,000 seats in the House and raise just as much Cain as the leadership will permit. They are quite apt to even vote out some measures calculated to raise goose-flesh on solid necks. But the Democratic story-planters are whispering about possibilities in the next Senate as well.

"Look at Schwellenbach of Washington, who embraced part of Upton Sinclair's EPIC plan. How about Long and Bilbo? Thomas of Oklahoma will demand inflation clear to the skies. Even an old wheelhorse like Pittman promises to introduce a bonus bill. This boy Holt from West Virginia has wild ideas. Bone of Washington is a well-known radical. LaFollette is trying to start a new party that will go further than the New Deal."

So the warnings hit you but let's take a look at the record.

In the days of Republican administration, Senate Republican Progressives used to glory in baiting and opposing Herbert Hoover in particular and Calvin Coolidge to a lesser degree. This was because they were able to say truthfully they had been elected on their own two feet and owed nothing to the administration.

Democrats who may feel an insurgent urge can not say the same. With the exception of Huey Long, elected in 1930, all others now being mentioned as potential trouble-makers either rode in on the Roosevelt landslide of 1932 or proclaimed last week they were in whole-hearted sympathy with the New Deal. Even Bone and Long voted largely as the New Deal pointed. Their most serious defections came on veterans' legislation.

It is a safe prediction that none of the Democratic Senators labeled as potention radicals will stray too far off the reservation. How easy it would be for FDR to blast any one of them, or all of them, out of the water in one of his well-timed "fireside" radio talks!

Measured opinion, now that the votes have been counted, is that the House is apt to boil on occasion but the Senate will always be on hand to cool it off—exactly as the Fathers ordered.

SATURATION: It may not reach its destination but the sales tax is headed for a ride next January.

In the past Congressional members from the South and West killed every proposal of this form of revenue-raising. Proponents from the East and North always sneeringly inferred it was because too many members of Congress from opposite directions represented people who had never paid a tax before in their lives and might be touched for the first time by a general sales tax.

The answer that always shut this argument off cold was that a millionaire could eat only one plate of ham and eggs at a time. Why should the poor man be forced to pay identic tribute with the big-money boys on necessities, and even luxuries, of life?

Next January there will be a much more determined drive for the sales tax than ever before. Supporting forces already are unlimbering their big guns and this time they figure to get support from important quarters.

Members of such organizations as the American Liberty League by their very nature might be expected to line up behind a general excise tax. Secretary Morgenthau and the Treasury experts may come to it as a partial solution of their revenue needs—provided food and clothing are exempted. Finally, there is a restlessness among the so-called white-collar workers who fear that, as usual, the bulk of any direct tax increase will be blanketed over their stationary salaries.

Treasury surveys conducted since early last summer indicate many existing forms of taxation have either reached the saturation point so far as the public's ability to pay is concerned, or have been dried up by reverses of the depression.

ALLIES: Word has been passed that the legislative committee of the American Federation of Labor is getting set to propose a tax on chain stores as a means of producing national revenue. For a while the chain-store operators were worried. Now they think the A. F. of L. mostly is trying to scare the A & P in connection with the recent Cleveland labor dispute that might spread to national proportions.

Chain-store men wouldn't object overmuch to a federal levy if it were at the rate of $10 per store or thereabouts. What they claim they couldn't survive is the idea of charging $10 for the first store in a given area, $20 for the second, and so on up into the high multiples.

Now the drugstore, grocery store, 5-and-10 and other chain men are sure the quietus is on. They have persuaded the big oil companies that all of their filling stations would be counted as chain stores because they sell tires, accessories, etc. The oil barons will be powerful support in batting down any chain-store tax proposal.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

NEW YORK insiders say that Secretary of Commerce David Roper will be mighty important backstage in reshaping the New Deal. He is slated to be chief liaison man between the administration and industry. Part of his job will be to calm conservative quivers when the political weathervane points left. Another chore will be the translation of business demands into terms which are practically acceptable to FDR.

Wise observers recognize that the President can't get too cordial with capital on pain of a collision with Congress. Yet business yearns like a lost child to be patted on the back and told that everything is O. K. Roper must do that without getting his chief in wrong with the leftist lions.

He's rated a good man for the job. He has the confidence of industrialists who have had contact with him. They feel that he sincerely sympathizes with their problems. At the same time he knows his politics too well to talk out of turn.

Mr. Roper's remarks about the need for profits and his prediction that federal emergency activities would gradually be abandoned—made just two days after election—marked the beginning of his campaign of reassurance.

ACCEPTANCE: The Stock market's buoyancy following the election gave further evidence that Wall Street fully accepts the President's strengthened leadership. Investment buying from very strong sources contributed largely to the rise.

The significant increase in electrical output also goes to show that industry has decided it might as well step on the gas. The attitude of conservative leaders is typified by the remark that there's no sense in holding back any longer for a turn to the right when that road has been washed away in a sea of votes.

INFLATION: The informed believe the one specific phase of the New Deal emphatically endorsed by the election was the policy of free-handed federal spending. Consequently they regard a program of broad inflation as a certainty. They don't expect anything spectacular and doubt that the currency will be touched directly—except perhaps by devaluation to 50 cents. But they do look for a gradual expansion of federal credit which would make past records for government borrowing look like a plugged nickel.

This method won't cause such a furor as doing things to the dollar but its ultimate inflationary effects will be just as great. In fact it leads to a subtle form of currency expansion which most people overlook.

THE X BRIDGE

The X shaped bridge over the Sarthe, at Mans, France, was constructed in 1897 by M. de La Noe, chief engineer. Its upusual shape was found convenient for the purpose of separating the electrical from the steam driven street cars. But the chief reason for the strange shape of the bridge was an intended tribute to a lady of the engineer's family, bearing a name (Xenia) whose initial was an X.

BEACH CLUB GIRL

by Mabel McElliott

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BOOTS BAEBURN, 18 and pretty, is snubbed by wealthy SYLVIA RIVERS. Due to Sylvia's gossip, Boots is forced to resign from the Juniors. Both girls live in Larchneck, fashionable New York suburb.

Hurt and humiliated, Boots accepts the attentions of RUSS LUND, swimming instructor. MRS. RAEBURN returns from a trip out of town and Boots dreads her mother's hearing what has happened. On impulse she marries Russ who takes her to live with his brother and his wife. Russ has no job and apparently no amoition. Soon Boots begins to see him as he is.

Russ goes to Miami, promising Boots he will send for her later. She gets a job in a big dapartment store and goes to live in Greenwich Village. One day a customer's $10 bill is lost and Boots is blamed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIV

Mary had said to Boots, "The worst they can do is to take it out of your pay," quite as if $10 weren't a small fortune when you worked at Lacy's and were paid $18 a week. Ah, but was that the worst of it really? Might not the management suspect her of dishonesty, suspect her of having done away with that particular $10 bill? Boots, walking to the soda fountain on leaden feet, had visions of an ignominious search. Of course they would not find the money, simply because she hadn't stolen it. But she felt that she would never, be quite the same after such an ordeal. No, she would feel definitely smiched. . . . .

There was no use trying to eat. Somebody she swallowed the scalding, bitter tea with the horrid little muslin bag floating around in the tick cup. Somewhere she thought drearily, at this very moment girls her own age were sitting in softly lighted and scented restaurants, sipping a beverage totally unlike this. There would be faint music playing behind a screen of greenery and waiters would be slipping back and forth deferentially with sliver dishes.

Meantime the revolving door of the soda-fountain swung inward with monotouos regularity and a maddening whoosh-whoosh. Everyone who came in, borne on the wings of the raw November wind, looked cold, looked shabby. A fast mounting puddle of water formed under the ledge of the counter where umbrellas dripped and a discouraging, appetite-destroying odor of stale dishwater hovered over all. Oh, it was no use, it was simply no use trying to buck this game, the girl thought in utter despair. In the mirror beyond the pyramids of oranges, beyond the bowl of cold storage eggs used in the concoction of "chocolate milks" she could see her own pale countenance. The tip of her small nose was ever so slightly reddened. Her hat which had been last season a dashing enough "sports model" of brown felt was wilted by rain. The brim drooped.

She swallowed the last of the bitter liquid in the cup and pushed back her stool, giving place to a pale, thin, spectacled girl who had been impatiently waiting for her to do just that thing. The counter boy called "Another ham with the special. . . . ." Boots drifted out into the rain again.

That afternoon was torture. Mr. Bliss questioned her again. She was sure she had put the bill in the container? Well, they would check up on the day's receipts. Of Course she quite understood that if the money did not turn up she would be held responsible? Boots nodded mutely. She was at the stage now where a single kind word would have brought upon a spell of bitter weeping. Fortunately she was so busy she did not have time for this luxury. Ten dollars—why, that would wipe out all her small margin of savings and take two other precious dollars out of her week's pay besides!

At long last the terrible day drew to a close. In the washroom Miss Apfel came close and murmured sympathetically, "Heard about it, dear. It's a shame. It happened to me once. . . ."

"Honestly?" Boots' eyes lighted with the first hope she had felt all day. Perhaps her disgrace was not so deep after all.

"No kidding. I was only here a week. I like to died," Miss Apfel assured her, reddening her lips. "It was only five. But it sure looked like a fortune to me." she sighed heavily at the memory.

"I don't understand it." Boots said, on the edge of tears. "I put it right in and slammed it shut. Then we waited and waited. . . ."

"This darn change system is years behind the times, that's what," Miss Apfel stated firmly, adjusting a nose viel. "Just don't you worry. Maybe it'll turn up yet." But her tone was kind rather than encouraging. You could see she believed that precious bill was swallowed up forever in the enormous maw of Lacy's change system.

In sipte of a heavy heart and a sense of impending disaster Boots discovered she was hungry. There was a bakery shop on lower Sixth avenue not far from Mrs. Mooney's where she could have a hot, filling meal for 40 cents. A slab of pot roast with red cabbage cooked German style. A crisp poppy-seed roll. A cup of steaming coffee with cream.

The tables were bare white slabs. The scarred linoleum floor was chipped by the passage of many feet. The air was steamy with the odor of cooking and wet woolen clothing. Boots was too utterly weary to care tonight. Her natural fastidiousness was submerged in a deep sense of fatigue and discouragement.

When she had finished the warm, satisfying meal she found she was so tired she could scarcely drag herself forth into the rain again. Ah, it would be heaven, she told herself dimly, to fall asleep then and there. . . .not to wake again

Scathing Attack On Jesuitism Made At Session; Deviation From Course

GOSLAR, Germany, Nov. 15. (AP)—A scathing attack on "political Jesuitism" and lavish praise of Japan's religion of "blood and race" featured the first public session today of the national nutritive guild convention.

Mathias Haidn, in charge of the department of ideological upbringing of the farmer, observed amid the applause of 800 peasant delegates: "The Jesuitical conception of life is that of a shepherd and his flock. We reject this as contrary to the Germanic spirit of racial conception.

"Jesuitism means the totalitarian claim not only in religion but in every phase of human life. It means a deviation from the straight course to achieve the end, such as burning people at the stake if preaching proved ineffective or whipping people if the offered sweets prove unconvincing."

Marriage Approved

Haidn said political Jesuitism approves marriage between black and whites "provided their confession is the same."

Against this conception, he said, "we pose ours: That blood is the nation's highest boon. The Japanese, with their religion of blood and race, have fared better than Christian Europe."

Haidn extolled the farmers as the best conservators of blood saying: "The farmer learned to understand eternal laws, not from the mouths of theologicans, but from God's greatst creation—nature."

The speaker was applauded when he denounced the German nobility for intermarriages with Jews.

Africa's population is estimated at 140,000,000.

TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE, No. 53

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Slaves came and dragged away the bodies of the slain, cleared off the discarded weapons and scattered new sand and raked it, while Tarzan stood with folded arms, grimly waiting for he knew not what. The rumor ran quickly through the crowd that the Emperor was going to confer upon him some special honor.

Then there were groans and cries of horror and anger. They grew in volume and Tarzan caught words that sounded like, "Tyrant!" "Coward!" "Traitor!" and "Down with Sublatus!" Tarzan looked around and saw the crowd pointing to the opposite end of the arena and there was the thing that had aroused their wrath.

Instead of a laurel wreath and freedom, Tarzan was facing a great lion, ferocious with hunger. Sublatus was about to have his revenge, but, lest he get caught in the rising anger of the crowd, he sent hundreds of legionaries among the audience to overawe such agitators as would have led the mob against him.

Now the lion was advancing, and the cruel and selfish audience forgot its anger against the injustice in the expected thrill of another desperate encounter. Tarzan was armed now only with a dagger, his other weapons having been taken away. The crowd gave him their admiration, while they placed their denarii upon the lion.

Good Crop On Farm Obtained

Woman Fails To Find Suitable Tenants And Produces Own Crops; Plows Crosswise To The Wind

CHANNING, Tex., Nov. 15. (AP) — A woman, managing her own 1,500-acre farm when she "couldn't find suitable tenants," has produced good crops on the high, dry plains by watching the depth and direction her plowshares go.

Mrs. Ella Barnett, reared on a farm but a city dweller for 25 years until she moved back to her land, said frequent deep cultivation with furrows crosswise to the path of prevailing winds proved effective in fighting drouth.

As proof, Mrs. Barnett's records show she raised five to 10 bushels of wheat per acre this year. She also raised enough feed for her 17 hogs and 10 head of cattle.

Little Rainfall

The crops were produced in a region that had little rain in three years. The wheat did not get enough moisture to register in a gauge from sowing time until a month before harvest, and very little then.

More recent proof of her method's effectiveness is a good stand of growing wheat on a 750-acre tract that has had little rainfall.

"I found the deep subsoil always had moisture," Mrs. Barnett said, "so I have my land chiseled six to eight inches deep. My break plows start early, and the land is plowed as deeply as possible from two to four times.

Observed Wind Action

"My drills placed wheat at least two inches deep, and 200-pound pack wheels follow the drills, preventing wind from drying the soil."

Mrs. Barnett explained how she came to attribute importance to the direction of furrows in the field.

"I noticed that wheat in furrows running north and south began to look sickly as soon as the wind started," she said, "while grain in east-west furrows continued to grow. The reason was the destructive winds from the north and south, drying out and blowing the soil in the north-south rows.

No Crop Failure

"Ridges of east-west furrows prevent the wind from sapping the moisture and covering up and killing crops.

"It's mainly a matter of the way the plow goes—in deepth, direction and frequency. Deep plowing makes use of deep soil moisture, east-west furrows guard against wind, and frequent plowing keeps the soil in good shape and prevents weeds from sapping it."

Mrs. Barnett admits that "better crops can be raised when there is rain, but good crops can be grown when its dry."

Since taking over her farm from tenants who couldn't make it pay, she hasn't had a crop failure, she say..

for hours. But of course that was madness. She must get home, strip off these wet draggled clothes, dry her soaking shoes.

Mrs. Mooney's flat was reached by means of two long flights of stairs. The carpets smelled of dust; the old, darkly painted balustrade must once have been part of a house with some pretensions to elegance.

Boots had her key all ready to fit into the lock but as she bent to find it, in the half-light cast by the dim bulb, the door swung open and a dark young man brushed past her with a muttered "beg pardon." She did not even glace up at him, so sunk was she in her apathy. All in the world she wanted at that moment was to seek the solace of her tiny room, shut the door on the world outside.

The apartment was part of a made-over brownstone front. In the front of the house, looking over the street, Mrs. Mooney had her own quarters—a bed-sitting room and a kitchenette. A narrow corridor bisected the length of the remainder of the flat and two narrow doors opened off either side. Boots' room was one of those on the left. It was tiny, not more than eight feet square. There was a forlorn brass bed and a bureau which had once been painted ivory but whose former coats of paint some green, some faintly lemon colored—now showed through in patches. A knob was missing.

Upon this bed Boots now collapsed, kicking off her sodden shoes with the rubbers still clinging to them. She had splashed through so many puddles that the rubbers had been sorry protectors. Later, she told herself, when she was rested she would get up, stuff paper into those forlorn little oxfords and make certain of their being dry by tomorrow. Her only other pair, patent opera pumps, were at the shoemaker's and he closed shop at 6.

She wriggled out of her coat and lay there for a moment, savoring the blessed solitude.

"Oh, I'm so tired," she whimpered faintly, burrowing her face deep into the pillow. It was not a friendly pillow. It was hard and unyielding and it smelled ever so slightly of some acrid disinfectant. Boots shrank from it. After a moment she staggered to her feet. Better hang this coat up. Better get off her working frock—it was the only one she had suitable for work at Lacy's, the prescribed black with white collar. It was damp and wrinkled now. She would have to get up early and press it. Her coat on a hanger, her hat on an improvised form of tissue paper, she wrapped herself in her warm dressing gown and flung herself between the blankets. She was chilled through. It seemed to her she would never be warm again. . . .

She must have slept for hours. When she awoke the hands of the alarm clock on the bureau pointed to 10 minutes past 10. Stupid, befogged with sleep, she struggled to her feet in response to a loud knocking at the door.

"Oh, yes, Mrs. Mooney," she said. "Coming."

"It's a telegram, Miss Reaburn, dear." The landlady, broad, comfortably untidy, stood in the aperture. "I didn't hear you come in so I didn't know you were home or not I just thought I'd see. Ain't you feelin' so well? You look feverish."

"I do feel a little—little hot," she agreed, swallowing hard. Her throat hurt. . . . Oh, well, that was because she'd slept so hard without any air in the room. Naturally she felt groggy. She felt Mrs. Mooney's bright, curious but not unfriendly stare upon her.

"I guess I'll take an aspirin," she said, her hand on the knob. "And thank you so much, Mrs. Mooney."

Perhaps this was the end of the nightmare for her. Russ wiring to say, "Here's a check, darling. Come by the next train." She could go to Lacy's in the morning, straighten out the affair of the lost money, leave for Florida and her husband on the morrow. . .

But the sheet fluttered from her lax fingers as she read. She sank to her knees beside the bed.

"Oh, my God, my God," she muttered. "What am I going to do now?"

Lindbergh To Be Defense Witness

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Nov. 15. (AP) Lloyd Fisher, associate defense counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Lindbergh kidnap-slaying suspect, announced this afternoon he will subpoena Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, father of the slain infant, and Betty Gow, the child's nurse, as defense witnesses.

Lindbergh will be called, Fisher said, because he expressed the opinion at the hoax trial of John Hughes Curtis, Norfolk, Va. shipbuilder, that the kidnaping was the work of a gang and not of one man as the state now claims.

Mysterious Illness Strikes Camp; Cause Is Investigated

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15. (AP)—The cause of a mysterious illness which struck the Malibu mountain camp of the federal emergency relief administration was sought today by Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, county health officer.

Fifty-two men, one fourth of the camp's force, were seriously ill. Dr. Pomeroy, who said it was likely all the victims would recover, said the men all became ill about the same time after eating their evening meal Monday.

Samples of food served the men were taken by the health authorities for examination but it will be several days before the tests are completed.

Man Is Arrested In Girl's Death

CHICAGO, Nov. 15. (AP) — Frank "Broadway" Jones was arrested for questioning this afternoon shortly after a night club owner had told a coroner's jury he had rented for Jones the Medinah athletic club room from which Lucille Rolan, 21, fell 17 stories to death yesterday.

Ralph Pass, the witness, testified at the inquest that he reserved the room in Jones' behalf but denied that he knew identity of the blond girl reported to have been a third person in the room at the time of the tragedy.

He said, however, the girl might have been a Dorothy Lane or Lane of whom he had heard Jones talk. The blonde was being sought by the police for questioning.

Detective Victor Carlson said that Jones had admitted to him having been in the room when Miss Nolan leaped from the window. The detective said that Jones denied, however, that he had pushed her.

JURY COMPLETED

BAIRD, Nov. 15. (AP)—A jury was completed today to try Clifford Doggett on a charge of robbery with firearms. He was accused of robbing L. F. Threet, Callahan county cattleman last Aug. 15. Examining of witnesses began after the noon recess. J. R. Black, district attorney, said the death penalty would be sought.

The collar bone is the weakest bone in the body.
