Bandits Loot Two Banks at Venus; Little Cash Taken

WATCHMAN HELD IN VAULT, MEN MAKE GET-AWAY

DOORS FROM TWO VAULTS BURNED BY THE HIGHWAYMEN

VENUS, Texas, Feb. 4.—Two banks were looted here today by a gang of six men who locked the night watchman of one of the banks in a vault, slugged his friend and escaped with $800 in silver, after they had burned the doors from two vaults.

The bandits failed to penetrate the time safes and abandoned their job, leaving large sums of money in the time safes.

News of the robbery did not spread until several hours after the bandits had fled. J. E. Chambers, night watchman of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank extricated himself from the vault and telephoned C. L. Barker, cashier, notifying him of the robbery.

Chambers said there were six men in the band but that only four entered the bank, the other two remaining in a car outside.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Feb. 4.—A nude man here today caused a near panic among a group of school girls when he suddenly darted from a garage and pursued them.

By United News.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Feb. 4.—A foundry roof weighted with snow collapsed Thursday and added to the death toll of the eastern blizzard by perhaps as many as eleven lives.

Five men are dead, another is thought to be dying and five are missing following the collapse which trapped them in the North and Judd Foundry.

PITTSBURGH MINE FIRE STILL RAGING

By United News.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 4.—Flames are still sweeping the mine of the Terminal Coal Company, in which 19 men lost their lives Wednesday after a gas explosion. It may be a matter of weeks before the 16 bodies still in the mine are recovered, because of the danger of an outbreak of flame even after the fire apparently has been extinguished.

Waits to seal the fire-swept area are being erected. Eight men working on the walls were overcome by gas Thursday afternoon. They will recover.

Ed Travis, one of the two survivors, said Thursday they did not know of the explosion which snuffed out their comrades lives until the odor of the "after damp" gas that follows mine explosions reached them.

Travis was the first to leave the mine after working vainly for four and one-half hours in an effort to reach the entombed men.

NEGRO MESSIAH IS TO PAY DEATH PENALTY

By United News.

BROKEN HILL, NORTHERN RHODESIA, South Africa, Feb. 4.—A negro Messiah and one of his disciples have been sentenced to death and 25 others to life imprisonment for the baptismal drowning of 22 converts to their watch tower sect.

Trial of the so-called "Black Christ," Nivanales, his principal assistant, Chief Shatwila, and the others ended Thursday. The negroes were charged with baptizing hundreds of converts by a ceremony of total immersion which sometimes continued for more than a minute. The 22 natives named in the complaint were drowned, and probably many more.

The trial judge warned the native sectarians before passing sentence that disorder would be dealt with vigorously. The occasion passed off without trouble. Any strong native chief would have killed Nivanales had the latter opened up his salvation shop in the territory, the judge said in announcing the sentences.

ENFORCING THE LAW HELP YOUTH SAYS MINISTER

LIGHT WINES AND BEER NOT NEEDED, IS CLAIM MADE

By United News.

DALLAS, Texas, Feb. 4.—"The way to help the youth of the country is not by giving them wine and beer, but to make prohibition prohibit," declared Rev. Harry T. Moore, bishop of the diocese of Dallas today. His statement came as the result of a declaration of the Church Temperance Society today that it favored the sale of light wines and beer.

Rev. Moore denied that the society was a true representative of the Episcopal church of the nation and said that "no one man or society can speak for the Episcopal church as a whole." He declared that the Episcopal denomination as a whole would instantly repudiate the Church Temperance Society's pronouncement for light wines and beer, if its position could be ascertained.

Bishop Moore declared that he knew nothing of the society and that he never had heard of the nation wide prohibition census it was said to have taken.

National Advertisers Recognize Lubbock Importance

As will be noted from reading this issue of your newspaper National Advertisers are recognizing the growing importance of Lubbock and her trade territory.

Two, in particular, are paying a tribute not only to the intelligent readers of Lubbock and the South Plains, but to the merchants of this territory—and, incidentally, to the growing force of this newspaper. They are: Hill Bros. Coffee Importers, and Waples-Platter Grocer Co., Wholesalers of White Swan products.

Securing accounts of such people not only aid the newspaper but in fact help every one. They bring forth while messages to intelligent, responsive readers; they assist merchants in the selling of worth-while products.

Of course there are other national advertisers who use Avalanche space regularly, but these two in particular are worth special attention in to-day's issue.

SPADE RANCH WILL BE SUB-DIVIDED INTO HUNDRED FARMS; MILLION DOLLAR DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM BE CARRIED OUT

A million dollar farm development program that perhaps outranks anything attempted by a single organization for a single season on the plains is already under way on the Spade Ranch west of Lubbock where actual construction of the first of one hundred farm home improvements has been started.

Is Mammoth Proposition
G. L. Moody, head of the Texas Farm Improvement Company, an organization that was created for the purpose of colonizing the great Spade ranch of which the W. L. Ellwood estate is owner, has established temporary offices in the Russell building with Cosby & Posey, and has announced that Lubbock will be made the permanent headquarters of the company which will engage the energies of a number of experienced land men.

The Texas Farm Improvement Company has entered into contract with the Ellwood estate to sell four leagues of the Wichita county school land, which is situated near Leveland in Hockley county. The west line of this body of land runs to within three and a half miles east of Leveland, while the east line is within one mile of the South Camp headquarters of the Spade ranch which is 25 miles west of Lubbock.

Construction work on the first home on this body of land will be completed within another week, and the company will establish agents' offices there.

To Improve Farms
A modern five room home, large barn, poultry houses, livestock pens, well and windmill, four wire fences about farm, and in fact every farm improvement will be placed on each of these farms—100 in number, and these farms will be sold at from $60 to $85 per acre, a price that far below the average price for improved farms in Lubbock county. $4,500 cash payments will be made by purchasers upon signing contracts for these places, Mr. Moody said yesterday.

Mr. Moody, head of the Texas Farm Improvement Company, is perhaps one of the most successful

Her baby will be placed in a home here.

SCHOOLS CLOSE AS RESULT OF COLD AND SNOW

SHIPPING TIED UP AND WIRE COMMUNICATION SWEEP AWAY

By United News.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Raging up the Atlantic seaboard from Georgia to Maine, winter's worst blizzard has laid a record path of snow over the eastern part of the United States, taken 30 lives in its icy toll, tied up traffic and shipping and swept away telegraph and telephone communications throughout New England, where the full fury of the storm was being felt Thursday night.

For 26 hours, since 3 p. m. Wednesday, snow fell steadily in New Jersey, New York and Connecticut and intermittently in other parts of the east, crushing out five lives beneath its weight in New Britain Conn., and causing nine deaths from street accidents and exposure in New York City.

Towards night fall, Thursday a gale had carried the snow storms northward and eastward to the New England coast, and a cold wave was predicted in the wake of the storm.

Schools were closed throughout the east, vehicle traffic was impossible in most cities and towns which lay beneath snow from six inches to three feet deep, rivers were filled with ice cakes and coastwise vessels for the most part dropped anchor and rode out the gale.

Six seamen perished when they were swept to sea on derelict barges and three others from exposure after the coast guard had battled through blinding snow and tumultuous seas to save them.

The S. S. Kronland, nosing through the storm, reported sighting two large coal barges being carried away beyond Ambrose channel lightship and while it is believed this may be the same barges as those lost off the New Jersey coast there is a possibility that they represent a still greater loss of life.

HOFFMAN HEARING BE COMPLETED THIS WEEK

By United News.

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 4.—Indications today were that the Hoffman Construction Co. plea of privilege hearing would end this week. But two witnesses remain in rebuttal and arguments of defense and state attorneys remain to be heard before the case is given to the jury.

The important event in today's proceedings was the admittance as evidence of the testimony of W. T. Montgomery, San Antonio contractor.

A few days ago he testified during the absence of the jury that Frank V. Lanham, resigned highway commissioner had said that James E. Ferguson was responsible for letting the American Road Company contracts.

Since Montgomery testified both Ferguson and Lanham denied the allegation.

HYDROPLANE MAKES 1,264 MILES IN TWELVE HOURS

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 4.—

Commander Ramon Franco, aboard the Spanish hydroplane Ne-Plus-Ultra arrived here at 5:29 p. m. Thursday after a hurrying flight down the Brazilian coast from Pernambuco. Franco covered the 1,264 miles in 12 hours and 14 minutes, just 14 minutes off the 12 hour schedule which the flyer had set for himself and his craft. He flew at a speed of more than 100 miles an hour.

At 5:05 the Ne-Plus-Ultra was sighted flying toward the city. Twenty four minutes later the plane came to rest on harbor water.

One more stage separates Franco from his destination, Buenos Aires, although it is possible that he may stop on route at Montevideo, Uruguay. The final and sixth stage is 1,382 miles long.

Franco took off from Huelva, Spain, for Buenos Aires on the morning of January 22 and arrived at Las Palmas, Canary Islands that evening. After four days of waiting for favorable weather he flew to Porto Praya, Cape Verde Islands and thence to Fernando De Noronha, and then on to the South American mainland at Pernambuco. From Huelva to Pernambuco he made water jumps. The rest of his journey is along the coast. He has traveled 4,917 miles so far.

After a low circling flight over Pernambuco, Franco straightened the Ne-Plus-Ultra for her hop to Rio de Janeiro at 5:15 a. m. governmental officers and the Spanish club waited at the water's edge for a last farewell.

The Ne-Plus-Ultra skimmed across the harbor twice and finally lifted As he circled the city Franco loosed leaflets bidding Pernambuco farewell.

Clark Estate Will Be Settled In Due Time—Daughter

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 4.—Mrs. Addie Clark Miller, one of the three women who claim to be forgotten daughters of the late Senator W. A. Clark and have brought suit for a share of the millions he left, was located here Thursday, living in a modest little cottage in a Denver suburb.

A quiet, unassuming little woman, Mrs. Miller cannot understand the "fuss" that is being made over the claims of herself and sisters, Mrs. Alma E. Clark Hines, of Orrick, Mo., and Mrs. Effie Clark Williams of Clarkdale, Mo.

"When the proper time comes," Mrs. Miller said, "my sisters and I will prove our mother, whose maiden name was Kate Brooks, was Senator Clark's first wife, and that we, his daughters, are entitled to a part of his estate."

"The boys and I don't worry much about it, and I can't see why the papers make such a fuss about it." The "boys" referred to are Mrs. Miller's sons, Wilbur, 21, and Donald, 16. Her husband died several years ago, she said, and she lives quietly here with them.

Presbyterian Auxiliary Held Prayer Program Monday

Monday the members of the Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian Church met to spend the day in prayer and study. This being the week of prayer for all the agencies and activities of the church, it was very fitting that the burden of the book should have been prayer and its efficacy. The morning session was conducted by Mrs. Wagner, who brought out the truths taught in the first two chapters, that the Bible is the greatest book on prayer, teaching by example, and that prayer is necessary to all Christian progress. At noon a lunch was served in cafeteria style.

Mr. Lewis then presented the causes for which our church is praying and working, and conducted a brief prayer meeting for these causes.

The afternoon session was in charge of the different circles and the marvelous testimony of praying men and women of every denomination proved an inspiration to all who were present.

This day spent in prayer (and Christian fellowship was well worth while and every woman left with a new determination to make her prayer life more earnest and more of an asset to herself and her church.

Percy Grainger To Be In Lubbock Tonight

Percy Grainger, noted pianist, will be heard at the Baptist Church this evening at 8 o'clock, sponsored by the Lubbock music teachers.

This is the third time a music program has been given in Lubbock where a single artist has been presented, the others being Zimbalist and Mojica. While Mr. Grainger is not as widely known as Zimbalist, he is considered quite as good in his field. He is quite young, and is rated as one of the finest artists abroad, where he has spent most of his life. He is an Australian.

For those who love biography, he is told that Percy Grainger was born at Brighton, Melbourne, Australia, in 1892, and ever since he has drunk into his soul every sort of knowledge, every detail of every subject in which he has interested himself, aided by his mother, who was his first music teacher, and most faithful critic and companion throughout her life. With her by his side he wandered into far lands, in each country imbibing the spirit of the people at the fountain heads of their musical life, and he has entered into these different atmospheres as a man calls home where he hangs his hat.

As early as 1907 Grieg recognized that Grainger was more than an ordinary talent, and lavished the title of genius upon him with all that it implies to a man chary of indiscriminate praise. This was during a visit of the young artist to the home of the great Norwegian master, and it is interesting to note that Percy Grainger was Grieg's last guest. Grainger has often been called Grieg's most remarkable interpreter, not only of the beautiful concerto so widely known, but of the less well-known masterpieces, which all his works may be called.

In appreciation of the love borne to Grainger by Edward Grieg, his widow presented the young artist with the watch and chain which Grieg wore during the last years of his life, together with a number of signed manuscripts, letters and photos.

MUSIC INSPIRES WRITINGS OF ELINOR GLYN

Author's Stimulated by Soft Music When She Is at Work.

Elinor Glyn, famous author, who divides her time between writing novels and supervising her own productions for the screen for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, whose latest production, "The Only Thing," comes to the Palace Friday, says she is most inspired in the early morning and that her best ideas come when she is in the bath.

"I have often thought that I should have a dictaphone near my bath," says Madame Glyn. "If so, many of my thoughts which are lost by my not remembering them later on would be saved."

"Music, of the sweet, sentimental type, is another stimulant for my inspiration. While I am writing my maid keeps the victrola going in the next room, playing soft music of the modern trend, and though I am not really conscious of what is being played it blends in with my thoughts and makes me write more easily."

ON FIFTH AVENUE

By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for United Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Twice this week, once in a shop and once on the Avenue, have we seen a curious new bonnet made entirely of fringe, arranged so as to look like a coiffure. The fringe was held together in a seam which extended from the center of the forehead to the middle of the neck at the rear—acting as a hair parting.

The long fringe was then drawn toward the ears where it wrapped in bun-effect over the ears. The model worn on the street was of black silk fringe and the wearer looked as though she wore no hat but had black hair parted in the center with buns at the sides. The other model was of gray fringe and designed for evening wear. The eccentric dresser might find them becoming.

Flappers in New York have suddenly started to wear their felt hats well back off the forehead and tilted a bit to one side. One sees so many young Misses with bright little felts perched high on the head exposing the parting of the hair. Aside from its being a fad, we can not believe it is chic.

Beret fads are still so new that we rarely see them except on smart women but these small felts in slightly tam effect are really as smart as they are new. Most of them are built or folded high at the rear and extend downwards at one side where a rhinestone trim or feather fancy is used. One model made of soft yellow felt is draped high in the rear and low at one side where a brown burnt-out rich fancy extends shoulderward. Others in that becoming shade of pink—a pink which suggests pale ashes of roses—are adaptable for dress wear.

This same soft pink, combined with a soft shade of light blue or with green is used for many little frocks of afternoon type. The material is generally crepe de chine and the price of these pastel frocks is often around $15. Women do not care to pay higher prices for so-called garments. The blue or green shades on pinkish frocks are generally used as pipings, collars or facings.

FASHION NOTES

By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for the United Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Consider the poor little snail!

Who's got a shell tied to his tail? Regardless of fashions, He's tied to his lashings; He might as well be in jail.

Many of the youthful frocks are made so snugly at the hipline that it takes one with a snail's figure to wear them. Girls who wore size 16 in misses frocks last year find that they have to wear an 18 size this year due to the narrow hipline. Skirts may flare at the hem but hips must be as clean-cut as a bounds tooth. Even the jumper frocks are extremely scant as to hipline.

Shoes take tropical hue at Palm Beach this season. Doubtless we shall see them at Northern resorts this coming summer. Both kids and satins in shades often contrasting with the costume are being worn.

There's a string attached to everything these days. Particularly is this true in the dress world where strings begin in shoulder seams and knot midway down the back, tie in bow effect at the side of the high neck or fall in loose effect from turn-back collars.

Lavender-hued hose is the latest shade seen on the Avenue. One must look closely to see the lavender since the stocking is really gray with black satin plippers or with gray suede shoes piped in purple for street wear.

There is a new machine for mending runs in stocking which is soon to be established in towns throughout the United States. Mending is done so perfectly that the stocking is new to all intents and purposes. The mending charges are very reasonable and one should be on the lookout for shops which do this work.

Mrs. Rhoda Fox Graves is the only woman member of the New York legislature and is a committee chairman.

Plats Play Their Part

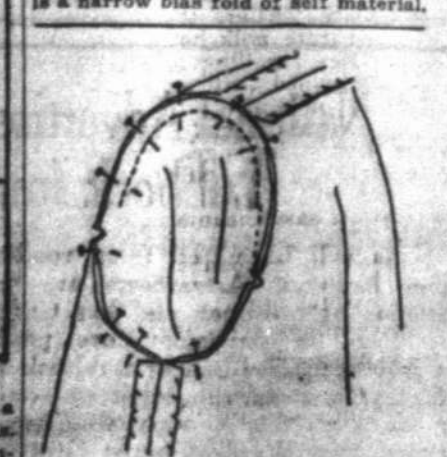

tive guises each season. This dress in white flat crepe has a long-waisted blouse of white silk, while the flounced skirt is deeply hemmed with black. The full cuffs of the long sleeves are stitched with fanciful bands of black to correspond with the skirt.

At the shoulders, in front the blouse is tucked, the stitches being done from the under side of the garment. The sleeves are put in without any fulness and because of the slim appearance of the dress, it is necessary that they be carefully fitted.

Mark the top of the sleeve, and then pin it to the armhole, even with the shoulder seam. Then take the seam of the sleeve and pin to the underarm seam of the blouse. If there is any fulness between the notches ease it in as gently as possible. Pin the entire sleeve into the armhole, then baste and sew in permanently. After sewing in the sleeve, finish with seam binding or a bias band of the crepe.

Finishing the neck is a dainty collar of self-material, cut in one with a trestling. Half of the ends of the tie are black. Covering the point of juncture between the skirt and blouse is a narrow bias fold of self material.

MATADORS TO MEET INDIANS TONIGHT

The Matadors will meet the McMurray College Indians tonight in the third clash of the week on the local court. The Indians have a strong squad and have been winning on their home court. They met defeat at the hands of the West Texas Buffaloes in both the games played on the Canyon court. A different line-up will be used against the Indians tonight, that has been used the past two games. The Matadors are determined to fight all the harder tonight and start a win column. Luck has been rather bad for them in the first games but they are determined to change the tables tonight. The game will be called at eight o'clock. Come out and see the Matadors take the Indians for a struggle.

BLOOD AND SAND FROM EL TORO

Folks, it was a good game. Lots more could be said, either way; but the fact remains that it was a dandy. In fact, being the first victory of the season, and of the year, and of the school, it had to be a good game. And it was.

The High School game was a good one, too. Lubbock, of course gets the big end of the credit, giving them also championship for the district. The visitors, from Lorenzo played well, but Lubbock played better.

The crowd there last night wasn't quite what it was the night before but for pure undiluted pep, with all attendant noise and other forms of celebration, it couldn't be beaten.

Right from the first, when Tech scores began their climb, for the world like a monkey making tracks up a coconut tree, everybody's spirits seemed to go up accordingly. There wasn't any rah-rah-boom-rah stuff. If you please, but honest-to-goodness yelling. And we just wonder, incidentally, how many dozens of throats feel this morning as if they're headed for the junk-pile. Please don't answer all at once.

Y. M. C. A. delegates are to start preparations immediately for their annual down to the capital city, to attend the big state convention there the thirteenth and fourteenth. Delegates were elected by ballot during the past few days, and following the Y week to commence Sunday things in general should be at white heat for the meeting.

In case the applicant's existing low grade is owing to a violation of an item of sanitation other than bacterial count, said application must be accompanied by a statement signed by the applicant to the effect that the violated item of sanitation has been conformed with. Within one week of the receipt of such an application, the Health Officer shall make a reinspection of the applicant's establishment and, in case the findings justify, shall award a re-grade.

pray thee, pass over before his servant an I will lead on softly." Gen. 33:14.NARROW THE ROAD AND LENGTHEN
THE SNAKE

Two friends, one a woodsman and the other a plainsman, were exchanging experiences. The woodsman was relating a thrilling story in which he came upon a rattlesnake that stretched clear across the road. "That's a good story, but rattlesnakes do not grow that long. I have lived on the plains in the rattlesnake country all my life and they do not grow more than three feet long," exclaimed the plainsman. The argument continued with considerable heat for some time until each discovered that both were right. The woodsman was thinking in terms of timber snakes which grow long and timber roads which were narrow. The plainsman was thinking of prairie roads which are wide and prairie snakes which are short. As they began to get one another's viewpoint one man lengthened out his snake and the other narrowed up his road and they were soon in agreement. The average town feud, church quarrel, family squabble and even the labor dispute could be amicably settled if one party was willing to lengthen his snake while the other narrowed his road. It is not always a sign of strength to stand determinedly by a position. Honest convictions and pure stubbornness are frequently confused. The resilient spirit that will bend under pressure and give under necessity is a very useful bit of equipment for the individual who must work in the busy world of today. Many a friendship could be saved if we took time to get the other person's viewpoint. The average man is honest if we can discover the principal upon which he is basing his contention. He is reasonable if we can get his viewpoint. It is seldom the case that a settlement of any serious difference can be hoped for if we require a lengthening of the snake with no corresponding narrowing of the road.

SECRET SHRINES

On a little island in the midst of a lake far up in the north woods of Minnesota lives an old Frenchman and his wife. Their little log cabin has stood back among the trees for more than 30 years during the last 15 of which the woman has never left the island. From that little island has gone a splendid daughter, now a college graduate and young professional woman. But the old mother lives her life in solitude, never seeing any face besides her husband's except that of occasional trappers or fishers who sometimes happen by. One such visitor by kindly word and gracious conversation won her confidence last summer and to him she extended an invitation seldom accorded to a stranger. He was invited to see the little grave "out on the point." Following a winding trail through the underbrush they came to a little clearing under the birches, scarcely 10 feet square. In the midst of the little grassy plot was a tink mound, surrounded with shells and at the head a crude wooden cross. A bottle filled with flowers stood at the foot of the little grave, very evidently having been placed there within an hour or less. "Whose grave is it?" quire the visitor. "Dunno," answered the woman. "Must be white child. Somebody's baby. Got none of mine now. Take good care of somebody's baby's grave. God bless her." and with that she devoutly made the sign of the cross. A lonely French woman, for more than 30 years she had tended the little grave of the unknown white child and kept flowers fresh upon the little mound every morning. In her solitude she had made of this little grave a shrine. The average man or woman is ashamed of his shrines. A little baby shoe, a lock of hair, a faded photograph or a little boy's school book. Many a mother climbs to the attic when all the children are in school and unlocks an old trunk or chest, there to worship at some little shrine. How vastly better the world would be if we could understand the meaning of each other's shrines. How much more respect we would have for one another.

IN THE LIGHT OF HIS TIMES

An American writer of some repute stirred up a considerable sensation by declaring that George Washington was a hard swearing card playing, whiskey distilling gentleman quite unlike the exemplary individual we have been accustomed to think he was. But every man has a right to be judged in the light and according to the moral standards of his time. It is doubtless true that Mr. Washington was a distiller of whiskey. Every other planter in Virginia was also a distiller just as he was a weaver, a miller, and a carriage maker. But it must be remembered that that was in a day before the American Medical Association had placed a stamp of disapproval on alcohol as a medicine or before industry had outlawed it as a wastrel. Mr. Washington was a man of exemplary habits according to the standard of the times in which he lived. He adopted the standards then current and was faithful to them. Had he lived in our day he would have accepted the highest standards current among us and been just as faithful to them. It was a part of his character to be true to the best he knew. That he indulged in those things which may have come under the ban since his day is an incident. To undertake to defend an evil from which the American people are trying to free themselves by saying that George Washington endorsed it would be like arguing for the return of slavery because Washington's plantation was farmed by slave labor. Mr. Washington was a strict Episcopalian and found it difficult to give assent to the forms of worship employed by those of other faiths, but his practical common sense in our day of greater religious liberality would undoubtedly lead him to endorse any movement that was working toward greater toleration and charity between those of differing religious beliefs. Every man must be judged by the standards of his time and George Washington judged by the standards of his times, was a God fearing straight living gentleman.

REVENGE IS SWEET

Revenge gratifies our pride, but it seldom satisfies our conscience. If revenge was sweet it would make us happy, yet who ever saw a happy avenger? Who ever saw an old man who had spent his days "getting even," who was closing his life with a smile on his face? There is more real satisfaction in forgiving one enemy than in avenging. It takes more moral courage to turn the other cheek than to double up both fists.

When one man hates another the hater is hurt most. The hated may be ignorant of the hatred and go on his way with a song, but no "hymn of hate" ever made any heart happy. Scan the faces of the feudists of the southern mountains—melancholy, hardness of eye, grimness of visage—these are the facial markings, yet these are the men who have made revenge a business. Very little sweetness have they found. He who cherishes resentment has started corrosion within his own soul. He has narrowed his vision. From that day on he keeps his attention on the fly and misses all of the ointment. The French Revolution saw the common people mutiny against their leaders. Wrongs that had been growing for centuries were avenged in rivers of blood, but no man can read the history of the French Revolution, noting its excesses and atrocities, without feeling that human nature reverted to the primitive jungle and passions worked their worst. Revenge is a skulking thing—a hissing cursing, snarling thing. Forgiveness is a thing of poise, self-mastery, uprightness and courage.

"STOLEN CHERRIES ARE ALWAYS THE SWEETEST"

This proverb would have us believe that life's sweetest joys and most enduring happiness is that which is taken by stealth at the expense of other men. Benedict Arnold, the idol of the American army, betrayed his country to the British for gold with which to pay his gambling debts back in Philadelphia. The price of his betrayal was a large one and might have enabled him to live in luxury for many years, but when the transaction was completed and the money paid, he found that even the British despised him and he ended his days in a London attic in misery and self-loathing. Judas Iscariot betrayed his Master for thirty pieces of silver and then found his seducers unwilling to even touch the money which he tried to give back to them, and he went and hanged himself. Tom O'Connor stole a considerable fund, was tried and convicted and then escaped jail. For three years he lived underground like a rat to escape detection and imprisonment. A certain American business man "made a clearing" on the market one day and pocketed thousands of dollars by crooked dealings. But he was unable to enjoy his money, thinking that every man he met might be one of those who had defrauded. He spent the rest of his life trying to escape the sight of friends he had once known. A country banker embezzled a little more than a hundred thousand dollars of his depositor's money and fled the country. For the next ten years he was a fugitive from justice, unable to return to visit his family, afraid to communicate with any of his former friends, a wanderer upon the face of the earth who looked suspiciously on every man who showed an interest in him lest he be an officer of the law seeking his arrest. The United States government has a large sum of money accumulated, which has been nicknamed "The Conscience Fund," because it has been made up of contributions from thousands of individuals who had taken that which did not belong to them and found themselves in wretchedness of soul as a consequence. Stolen cherries are never the sweetest—except at first. They always prove to be bitter.

"THE GOOD DIE YOUNG."

Of course! For it is only the good who stay young. This proverb indicates that the good cannot live in this evil old world, that only the wicked and selfish persist. On the contrary, nothing causes men to grow old permanently like evil living. He who keeps his soul clean and his mind pure is living very near to the fountain of youth. Crime is the poorest paid profession in the world. Men cannot go wrong and stay young. Watch the fugitive from justice, skulking from one hiding place to another, a price upon his head, every man's hand against him, afraid to trust even his best friend, starting in terror at every knock on the door, venturing out only at night when honest men are sitting beside their own hearthstones, fear, terror and suspicion in his soul. Can such a one be young? Age is not a matter of birthdays—it is a spirit. He who lives so that he has no fear when an old neighbor moves to town, who can read the morning papers without a fear that "something has been published," who can look deep into the eyes of his little child without shame, has something of the secret of perpetual youth in his soul.

Cynicism, pessimism and suspicion are the sins of old age. Enthusiasm, hope and trustfulness are the virtues of youth. He who has the former will be old at twenty. He who cultivates the latter will be young at ninety. The good die young because they are young.

Figures Do Not Lie!

SO THINK WE

We think there is one thing the fellows who used to drive a horse to town did not have much trouble finding a parking space.

We think there is quite a difference in twin beds and beds for twins.

We think that the fellow from England who came over and described the United States as a vast country surrounded by sin and sentiment, probably did not miss his guess much, but why should an Englishman be such a good judge of the conditions in the country.

We think the worst thing an optimist has to contend with is a pessimist.

We think if the weather man does not bring about a blizzard from this fine weather there will be nothing left for the pessimist to contend for.

We think the summer is possibly what knocks the husband cold when he gets the bill.

We think there are many logical thinkers in the country just now. So many of the men and women too are thinking that they are the logical men for the office to which they aspire.

We think that if every fellow would plant trees when he first comes to the city and purchases a building site that it would not be many years till Lubbock would be anything but a treeless town.

We think it certainly takes a lot of patriotism to worry over the possibility of some other nation seizing the north pole.

We think from the reports of accidents by airplane, there is still a great opportunity for some ingenious inventor to invent a parachute that will open when it should.

We think that garden products might be divided into three parts, vegetable, spinach and weeds.

We think the sad thing about balloon tires is that you can't tell when they are flat.

We think you very seldom ever hear people who have blisters on their hands or rough skin hollering about services. They know something about what it means to give service.

We think it is not too soon for the people of this city to take a strong stand against the evils of this city. The sale of Jake, and other extracts, whiskey etc. It is ruining many of the youths of the community and will ruin more.

We think the people of this city should give the officers every cooperation possible in the enforcement of the laws, of the city and back them up in all of their efforts to make Lubbock a more desirable place in which to live.

IT IS REPORTED

That only about one out of every seven people in Lubbock attend Sunday School.

That the new telephone directory just off the press of the Avalanche is the biggest and best the company has every put out in this city. There is a reason for that. Lubbock is getting bigger and better in every way.

That the people hardly ever tip an officer off in time to accomplish much in the way of apprehending law breakers. They usually wait till the offender gets next and has time to make his get away.

That there will be a greater effort this year to encourage the farmers in their program of intensive farming than there ever has been, and if the farmers and the business men of this city will line up together with a cooperative program, we are sure the South Plains will be in the midst of great prosperity from now on.

That a number of people visited the Justice of the Peace yesterday upon invitation regarding the operations of cars without a 1926 license plate.

That farm work is progressing nicely in Lubbock county, and the farmers are lining up for a bumper crop. We hope none of them will go to the extreme on any one crop this year. Plant a good acreage of cotton, feed, corn, and other field crops, and then add to this good line.

That there are almost as many motor vehicles in the United States as there are telephone poles.

That some one knocked over a perfectly good light post on Broadway last night. Its another case of a defective nut on the steering wheel.

That a number of Lubbock county folks will go into the poultry business on a large scale this year.

Poems That Live

PATIENT WITH THE LIVING
Sweet friend, when thou and I are gone
When small shall be our need of grace
Beyond earth's weary labor,
From comrade or from neighbor,
Past all the strife, the toll, the care,
And done with all the sighing;
What tender truth shall we have gained,
Alas, by simply dying!

Then lips too chary for their praise
Will tell our merits over,
And eyes too swift our faults to see
Shall no defect discover.
Then hands that would not lift a stone
Where stones were thick to cumber:
Our steep hill path, will scatter flowers
Above our pillowed slumber.

Sweet friend, perchance both thou and I,
Ere love is past forgiving,
Should take the earnest lesson home—
Be patient with the living.
Today's repressed rebuke may save
Then patient's e'en when keenest
Our blinding tears tomorrow;
edge
May when a nameless sorrow.

'Tis easy to be gentle when
Death's silence eases our clamour,
And easy to discern the best
Through memory's mystic glamour
But wise it were for thee and me,
Ere love is past forgiving,
To take the tender with the living.
Be patient with the living.

CHAMPION CROW KILLER

By United News.
ORCHARD, Neb., Feb. 4.—E. H. Pugh, local crow killing champion, is "three times" the crows this season.
Pugh, aware of the cleverness of crow, divides the attention of his shotgun among three and four at a time. His latest kill netted 336 crows with fewer than 100 shells. He collects a bounty of five cents each from the state.
Pugh has shot more than 1,000 crows this winter.

TIMELY WORLD TOPICS

"There is Nothing Ahead But Progress for This Country," Opines Baldwin Locomotive Head

"I can see nothing ahead but progress for this country," declared Samuel Vaucain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, in a recent interview. "Take everything, education, preaching, building, railroad—each and everyone is just a bit better today than a generation ago."

Discussing the future of railroads, Vaucain said, "railroad has not reached a saturation point. The locomotive can still be improved and will be made stronger. We used to get one horsepower out of every six pounds of coal, now we need only two pounds of coal for the same power unit. The day will come when speed and economy will surpass even present records."

He does not trouble himself about a pessimistic future. Predictions that the locomotive may be replaced by an electric motor engine, the truck, or the airship he considers vague.

"The locomotive is going to stay," he said. "If electricity must supersede steam, this generation will not see it. Airships do not trouble me. My job is on the ground. Nor do I lose any sleep over the highway freightage by trucks. Traffic in this country is so immense that without the steam locomotive, civilization must soon be crippled."

Asked whether he believed Ford's theory of lighter locomotives and lighter cars practicable, Vaucain registered skepticism.

"Without criticizing Ford," he replied, "I think he talks more than he can undertake. Just because a man builds an excellent flyover does not warrant that he must also be a successful builder of railroad engines or a genius in telephone improving. Our heavy locomotives and cars fit our needs and always will fit them."

JUST FOLKS

GETTING MARRIED

"I'm going to get married," said he.
"Have you any good counsel for me?"
"Well," I answered, "I've traveled the road you must tread.
It's been a long time since the day we were wed,
The day when life looked all so rosy ahead."

"Getting married, my boy,
Is a wonderful joy,
But it's not just for laughter you make her your wife,
It's for all sorts of weather, for all sorts of strife,
For winter, for summer, in fact it's for life!"

"It's for sunshine and rain,
It's for pleasure and pain,
It is not just a promise to love now

an then
But a pledge to stay faithful and fond of her when
Time has brought you the burdens it brings to all men.

"And no man can say
What awaits down the way;
What of anguish or sorrow or loss you must bear,
What tests of the spirit may come to you there,
But it's certain not always your skies will be fair."

"Now if you've made sure
That your love will endure,
That it's not a mere fancy, a storm may destroy
But you'll stay by her whether in sorrow or joy,
And face old age together—get married my boy!"

MATADORS DEFEAT SUL ROSS FOR FIRST VICTORY

TECH DEFEATS SUL ROSS LOBOES FOR FIRST VICTORY OF SEASON AT STOCK JUDGING PAVILION

At last the jinx has been broken and the Texas Tech Matadors have won a basketball game. The final count was 35-21 in favor of the fighting Bull Fighters. The Matadors won from an undefeated club—one that has defeated the Texas University team on two occasions.

The game was one of intense interest throughout—a game that was rough and consequently many personal fouls were registered to members of both clubs. Several of the players on both the Matador five and the Lobo five were sent to the bench for having four personal fouls each.

The game seemed that the roughness came due to the fact that both teams were ever anxious for the victory and were putting forth much more fight for the game.

"Kiss" used an entire new combination in the first half and was successful in getting a fair lead on the Lobos which aided greatly before the finish of the first half. In the second half the regular line up that has been accustomed to appearing on the floor at the start was run in and worked well for the remainder of the game.

The first combination used was Dean at center; and Walker and White at guards. Higginbotham's last combination was Alfond and Reeves at forwards; Mansell at center; Bucy and White at guards.

The work of White at running guard was spectacular many times he saved probable field goals which would have been made by the excellent forwards of the Sul Ross club. White covered every one that was in a reasonable distance of their feet.

Dean was accurate on his shoots, arching the ball high and with a good eye for the loop on every open shot he was successful in ringing up counters.

The Matadors will meet the McMurry Indians at the stock judging pavilion this evening at 8 o'clock.

The line up:

Graves Makes Reply On The Canyon Affair

In view of the fact that much excitement has arisen in the proposition that the Sul Ross basketball team will meet the West Texas Teachers College in a basketball game at Coach B. C. Graves, mentor of the Sul Ross Lobos, for an interview of the situation.

Graves stated last night that several reports have been sent into state papers from Alpine stating the fact that the Buffaloes of Canyon would not meet the Sul Ross club. These reports were sent out by the fans of the Lobos and started the little rivalry of the two schools, Sul Ross and W. T. S. T. C. he stated that was nothing more than propaganda developed through the interest of the fans of both institutions. "If both coaches, Graves and Burton, had been interested in a matched game there would have been an agreement long before this matter came up; there would have been some correspondence between myself and Burton relative to the game," he added.

The following wire was sent into the Amarillo Daily News last evening by Coach Graves in answer to the matter of the Buffalo and Sul Ross game:

"Received Burton's telegram last night which you published and wish to make statements that I have offered to cancel my game with the Wayland College and play Canyon on a fifty-fifty basis at Lubbock, Plainview, Tulsa, or even Canyon or would give them (Canyon) three hundred dollars to come to Alpine Canyon refuses to play other than at Canyon and won't give more than twenty-five dollars which amount will not defray extra expense in staying over. Wish to say I had nothing to do in regard to letter sent from Alpine. Also deny using Coach Burton's system of basketball. The Lobos are just as anxious for Buffalo meet as the Buffaloes are for Lobo meet."

Respectfully,
B. C. Graves

Becton Wins Rural School Basket Ball

The rural basketball tournament which has been going on for the past few days of the week was completed last evening, with Becton winners of the meet and will be among those that will play for the county championship which will be held at Slaton tonight and tomorrow night.

Becton, Shallowater, Canyon and Liberty entered the semi-finals. Becton eliminated Shallowater 25 to 5; Canyon defeated Liberty 19-11. Then in the final game last evening the Becton club won over Canyon with 15 to 9 count.

The rest of the tournament will be played at Slaton, starting this evening. Lubbock drew the winner of the Rural School Meet, which is Becton, in the first game.

Slaton drew Escobedo, and the winner of this game will meet Idaho. In the final game the winner of the Rural Championship and Lubbock game will meet the winner of the other two matches.

INDIANS DEFEATED AGAIN BY THE BUFFALOES

CANYON, Texas, Feb. 4.—McMurry Indians lost the second game of basketball to West Texas Buffaloes 42 to 19. Coach Burton again used several men during the game. Captain Hale being the only Buffalo to go the entire route. Crump was again high point man with 16 points. Lowes was next with 11 and Hale got 9. The game was slower than last night's, however, the Indians showed much better play than they displayed the first night. Nix was high point man for McMurry with 8 and Villarsana got 6.

McMurry is not an association game and has not bearing on the Buffs' standing, however, it is believed that since Denton and Sam Houston split a two game series that the Buffaloes are the only undefeated team of T. L. A. A. Texas Tech comes next week for games on Wednesday and Thursday. Woodward Fordham, referee.

ST. EDWARDS SAINTS TO MEET TECH TEAM

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 4.—Athletic Director J. M. McGehee of St. Edwards University announced today that definite arrangements have been completed for a football game with the Texas Technological school to be played at Lubbock, Oct. 9, 1926.

LANGFORD LEAVES FOR BOSTON CAMP

Sam Langford, who has been employed by Sled Allen at the Busy Bay Cafe left yesterday with his brother, H. Langford and wife, for Georgetown, where he will spend a few days with his parents before entering training camp with the Boston Red Sox.

Sam is well known to the base ball fans of the plains-panhandle and they all wish him all of the success in baseball for the coming season.

Before Langford left he spent two days in company with Vernon Brown, Gene Wofford and others in a hunting trip and expressed himself as being satisfied in aiding in the slaughter of a couple of prairie wolves.

University Has Arabian Wrestler

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 4.—Roy J. McLean, wrestling instructor of the University of Texas, declares that his squad has the only Arabian wrestler in the United States in Basil Basila of San Antonio.

Basila boasts of a full line of ancestors who are of the pure Arabian blood, and his parents are both full-blooded Arabs, according to the Texas coach. This race of people has long been noted because of the agility of its people and their athletic feats have always been marvelled at. There are very few wrestlers in the United States of pure Arabian stock, but Basila claims the distinction of being one of them. He wrestles in the 108-pound class.

WESTERNERS TAKE GAME WITH CROSBY COUNTY CHAMPIONS LAST EVENING AT TECH GYMNASIUM WITH 34-18 SCORE

Just before the Sul Ross-Matador clash last evening the Westerners defeated Lorenzo with the final count of 34-18. The game opened with the Lorenzo club getting the tip-off and ringing three field goals before the Westerners were at their best in defense. After they settled to their regular form of defensive basketball the Westerners were able to shut down the regularity of scoring that began by the Lorenzo quintet.

Addison and Hardberger of the local club were the outstanding men on the floor, both showing much ability in floor work and defense.

In the second quarter Addison began his usual run of scoring and he ran up 19 of the 34, being high point man for the game.

The Lorenzo team displayed flashy defense work and on the other hand were unable to take advantage of the open shoots that came to them several times during the game.

The line-up:

Lorenzo	Position	Lubbock
Reed	Center	Hale
Hayes	Forward	Bhockene
Addison	Forward	McReynolds
Ing	Forward	Williams
Hardberger	Guard	Watson
	Guard

Substitutes: Lubbock, Caviness for Reed; Allen for Hardberger. Lorenzo, Huckaby for Watson. Summary of the game: Points, Addison 19, Brackene 6, Hays 3, Reed 2, Hardberger 2, McReynolds 2. Referee, Von Tongue.

Challenge Is Sent To Graves, Coach Of Sul Ross Lobos Of Alpine For Game With West Texas Teachers

CANYON, Texas, Feb. 4.—Some few days ago there appeared an article in several State newspapers with an Alpine date line in which was stated that the Sul Ross Teachers College, who had just defeated the University of Texas two games had been making repeated efforts to schedule games with the West Texas Buffaloes. When Coach Burton was approached on this subject he seemed to think that it was just the wild idea of some enthusiastic sports writer at Alpine, but after other reports to this effect were seen and after practically the same article appeared in the College paper of the Sul Ross Institution Burton began to get his Irish up and here is what he had to say regarding the matter.

"When Graves visited in Canyon shortly after his game with the Texas University the question of playing here was not mentioned except when Graves mentioned it himself and then he only mentioned it by saying that a number of the fans here had asked him to bring his team to Canyon and play the Buffs, but that he had a proposition from his business men that if he went through the season undefeated that they would send him to the sectional A. A. U. tournament at Dallas and that he felt that if he brought his team here that he would stand a good chance to get defeated and that he sure did want a season of undefeated basketball."

I told him that if he came out in this way when we had an open date that I would probably be able to give him a game if he decided he wanted to play. I have never had any correspondence from any one relative to a game with them, but last night sent the following telegram to the team which is playing the Texas Tech Wednesday and Thursday.

R. C. Graves,
Care E. Y. Freeland,
Lubbock, Texas.

"Understand you are anxious to schedule basketball game with Buffaloes was not aware of this until press announced that your efforts to arrange a game with us were unsuccessful. Can offer you regular association guarantee for game here Saturday night, February 6th. Wire."

Iowa To Be Represented At Relay Games

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 4.—At least one state is sure of adequate representation at the Texas Relays to be held in Austin March 2. The entire Drake University and Buena Vista College in the second of the relay games held by the University of Texas have been made, and the state of Iowa will thus be presenting what are perhaps her greatest track and field athletes to the inspection of the Southwest.

Drake, sponsor of the Drake Relays, leader in field competition in the Middle West, will bring a full representation, according to O. M. Salem, athletic director. The victory at the University of Texas in the four mile relay at Drake in 1925 is believed to have made a very favorable impression for the Southwest in that section.

SUL ROSS CLUB TO MEET WAYLAND AT TULIA

The Sul Ross basketball club will leave this morning for Plainview where they will stop over for Friday. Coach Graves stated to the Avalanche that there had been no games arranged with the Buffaloes at Canyon and that he would more than likely play the Wayland College Jackrabbits at Tulia on Saturday night.

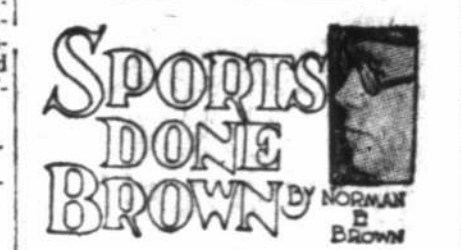

It is recommended by a special commission that Turkey adopt the Christian calendar instead of that of the Mohammedans now in use.

COLLECTOR KILLED BY PROHIBITION OFFICER

By United News
BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 4.—J. B. Walling, 37, collector for a local firm, was killed here this afternoon from a shot supposed to have been fired by Bee Cowan, prohibition officer, who was conducting a raid on a still at a point several miles north of Beaumont.

Walling was hunting squirrels with a friend in the vicinity of the still and a bullet that Cowan said he fired in the general direction of the still glanced off a tree and struck Walling in the shoulder.

He died from loss of blood before he reached a hospital.

"The Yanks are coming, the Yanks are coming," said the word, send the word anywhere.

To paraphrase George M. Cohan's immortal war song, the Yankees, New York City's representatives in the American League, certainly will be coming this year, in fact if dimensive Miller Huggins has his way, they'll be up and at 'em and over the top in every engagement.

Young pitchers, young infielders, a hard hitting catching acquisition and the return of the Big Bambino to his former throne as hit king, are all expected to re-establish Col. Ruppert's feelings in the hearts of the Manhattanites and in other American League cities as well.

The collapse of the Yanks last year after they had scored so impressively in 1921, 22 and 23 and were beaten only by a nod in 1924 was due to combination of circumstances so well known to all diamond devotees that they hardly need recounting here.

As far as Ruppert, Huggins & Company are concerned, that is all past history. New blood, new spirit, new everything is the slogan. Among a squad of a dozen pitching newcomers, those who look quite likely are Myles Thomas, Curtis Fullerton and Herb McQuaid, right-handers, and Garland Braxton, a portlander. Keep your paupers trimmed on this quartet.

Changes will be made in infield and outfield, as well as in the receiving department and better things may be expected of the Yanks this year.

Bowlers have been considerably in the sport spotlight recently and the most recent moral of gossip is that the American Bowling Congress which originally was carded to start at Toledo on March 6, and to include April 5, is likely to be extended. This lengthening of the tourney is caused by the unprecedented number of out of town entries which already have been received. Indications are that this tourney will eclipse all previous A. B. C.'s.

And while we are on the subject of pinmen and pin women, Mrs. Dorothy Meenecke of Detroit, sex warrior, a Chicago professional, has had his last round that he was almost a cinch to win but he blew up when a crowd swarmed on the course. They were said to have been a party of pinners who were wroth about the etiquette of golf and they crowded so close around the players that Smith lost his partner several times, had his ball tramped into the ground and his nervous system so upset that he lost the championship.

Just recently in the Texas open championship Smith had an opportunity to see a partner upset by crowd influences.

Smith and Bobby Cruickshank were on the last hole and Cruickshank was leading. Cruickshank had a 10-inch putt to make and was just about to shoot when Bill Melhorn, a Chicago professional, shouted from a tree where he was watching the play. Cruickshank doubled his shot and lost the championship. Several of the pros told Melhorn emphatically what they thought of him and some of the officials of the tournament were even more critical.

Melhorn explained later that he didn't know his voice would carry and that he was talking to some spectators under the tree who were not in a position to see the play.

With golf and tennis becoming more and more a game of the masses instead of the classes, the old tight code will be observed less and less perhaps. It will be increasingly difficult to handle a golf gallery even if the charging of admission might restrict the numbers and class of spectators.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—Many Chicago golfers are "gung up in the air" when the little oval rolled off the tee or bounded into the rough, but next summer some of them are going to have the opportunity of driving down a fairway that in reality will be a quarter of a mile in the air.

A bonifide nine hole course will be laid out forty seven stories above the loop, according to the plan of Harry C. Moir, president of the Morrison hotel. The course is to rest on top of the new hotel tower and will adjoin a twelve room bungalow on the tower. Moir will move into the bungalow April 15.

The course in this rarified altitude will be a square with the longest hole 350 feet. When soddied down it will equal the best in the city, according to Moir. This club will employ a staff of three caddies and a professional.

As no windbreaks are planned for the course driving into a headwind off the lake 600 feet above the loop is expected to afford golfers thrills

CHICAGO CUBS
By EDWARD C. DERR
CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Owners of the Chicago Cubs find themselves in the rather embarrassing position of having spent half a million dollars to build a ball club without securing consideration as possible pennant contenders.

Give the manager of almost any other team in the National League $500,000 to spend as he pleases and the chances are he would negotiate sufficient deals at sufficient advan-age to make his team dangerous. Even the Boston Braves might look ominous if they spent $500,000 in improvements.

But the Cubs, known as one of the most erratic clubs in either of the major leagues have spent that amount of money and still they don't have anything that looks dangerous enough to send chills down the backs of their opponents.

During the last year the Cubs have set a record in buying youngsters and shipping them to the minors, in dissarding veterans and enlisting recruits. Some of their deals which looked good at the time they were made turned out to be fizzes. The most outstanding of these was the trading of Aldridge, Grantham, and Niehaus to the Pirates in exchange for Wilbur Cooper and Charley Grimm, and Rabbit Maranville. When that deal was announced, Chicago fans thought the Cubs were destined for better days. Aldridge had been pitching indifferently for the Cubs and Grantham had lost as many as a dozen games by kicking the ball around the infield. Niehaus was a substitute.

But the Cubs and their supporters were destined for disappointment. Cooper, who had been one of the sensations of the league didn't do as well as the venerable Grover Alexander, Maranville got a fit of temper and was worse than use less and Charley Grimm didn't seem to fit into the club machine as well as he did at Pittsburgh.

Maranville has been discarded but Cooper and Grimm are expected to do better this year. Meanwhile, the Cubs, signed a new manager, Joe McCarthy from Louisville. They let most of their regulars go and will take to Catalina Island this spring 37 players, only 19 of whom wore Cub uniforms in 1925. The rest are youngsters who represent an expenditure of about $500,000.

FANNING WITH FARRELL
By HENRY L. FARRELL
NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Golf and tennis, until recently, have been bound by the tightest code of ethics and the strictest form of etiquette of any of the more popular sports.

Consideration of the players on the part of the gallery always has been held as the ranking rule of the code. The demands sometimes went to extremes. Tennis officials in England will not permit the use of telegraph instruments in the press box and newspapermen had to work under protest in this country.

During the Wightman Cup matches at Forest Hills last summer the crowd got away from the officials and gave a demonstration that was painful and shocking. The crowd openly razed the officials for several decisions on the court and turned on Helen Wills when the young champion was a little late in getting on the court.

It was pointed out at the time, however, that as long as the officials catered to the public, an undesirable element could not be refused admission and that the officials were some what to blame in assuming a patronizing attitude toward the guests.

The most conspicuous case of the year, however, was the experience of Macdonald Smith, the American golf professional, in the British open championship.

Smith was so far ahead finishing his last round that he was almost a cinch to win but he blew up when a crowd swarmed on the course. They were said to have been a party of pinners who were wroth about the etiquette of golf and they crowded so close around the players that Smith lost his partner several times, had his ball tramped into the ground and his nervous system so upset that he lost the championship.

Just recently in the Texas open championship Smith had an opportunity to see a partner upset by crowd influences.

Local Wallpaper And Paint Firm Closes Big Deal

One of Lubbock's biggest business deals was closed this week, when the Lubbock Paint and Wallpaper Company sold a $11,000.00 order of paints and wallpaper to the Texas Farm Investment Company, a Dallas firm, who now have offices in the Russell building of this city, this being one of the largest orders of this kind ever sold in the western part of the state. The management of the Lubbock Paint and Wallpaper Company are to be congratulated on such a deal, as well as the purchasers for considering only such products as the Sherwin-Williams paints and the K-mack lines of products, which are sold by the Lubbock Paint and Wallpaper Company. Jack Rausin, the originator and organizer of the Lubbock Paint and Wallpaper Company is to be commended for the wonderful progress the firm has made during its existence, which is only one and one-half years.

Littlefield School Head Has Resigned

LITTLEFIELD, Tex., Feb. 4.—R. L. Speight, who has been superintendent of the school here for the past three years, has tendered his resignation, to take effect on June 1st, next. During Mr. Speight's incumbency the school has grown from about 400 to 1300 pupils this year. For many years this district has transported the children from the rural precincts, and now has the distinction of transporting more children to school, at a lower cost per capita than any school in the United States.

Farmers Short Course Interested Hereford People

HEREFORD, Feb. 4.—A lecture Tuesday evening on rural school problems and parent-teacher work by Mrs. Gordon Randlett of the extension service department of the International Harvester Company, before a crowd of Deaf Smith county farm people and Hereford business folks that packed the big auditorium to capacity, marked the close of one of the most successful agricultural courses that has yet been held in this section. Mrs. Randlett held her audience through the sixty minute lecture, almost spellbound, as she told of the great work that can be done in the rural districts through cooperation. The evening meeting was opened with some very appropriate numbers by the Girls Glee Club of the Hereford High School. Miss Nell Farmer gave a couple of readings. Mrs. Paul Foster with Miss Desso Mac Steele, as accompanist, gave two beautiful violin solos; then Miss Steele gave a piano solo just after Mrs. Randlett's talk, and before a couple of moving picture reels were run.

The morning session of the educational course opened at 10 o'clock at the Star Theater with a large number of rural people in attendance. Mrs. Randlett talked on Home Conveniences, and L. A. Hawkins gave an interesting lecture on Home Gardens and plants, important part they play in the live at-home program which is being fostered in Deaf Smith county. At the afternoon meeting Mr. Jensen talked on the Dairy Cow as the Mother of Prosperity. Mrs. Randlett gave a lecture on Home Canning by the Cold Pack Method, and L. A. Hawkins lectured on the Trench Silo and its adaptation to this section of the country. Moving picture reels on various farm subjects were run at all three of the sessions Tuesday. Movie reels on the Pit Silo, Poultry, Farm Inconveniences, Importance of Hog Raising, etc., furnished information for the people.

The total attendance for the two day session was estimated at around 5,000 people and fully seventy per cent of these people were from the rural communities. A number of people from Dimmitt and Castro county attended the educational meetings. All the schools of Deaf Smith county were suspended for Monday and Tuesday and most of the students attended in groups. A number of the communities had almost 100 per cent attendance. A contest for the best attendance according to number enrolled was put on by County Agent R. O. Dunkle and S. P. Reason, general chairman of the L. H. C. Short Course created a great deal of enthusiasm. As Deaf Smith county is fostering the live at home program and diversified farming, this work that was put on here by the local Chamber of Commerce and the International Harvester Company, is considered one of the best educational features that has yet been held.

THE WOMAN DOES NOT ALWAYS PAY

DALLAS, Texas, Feb. 4.—"The woman doesn't always pay," declared Jim Shipperly, Dallas city jailer today.

According to Shipperly's story, a man and a woman were brought before him recently charged with vagrancy.

While the two were being questioned the man smoked a cigarette and was obviously unconcerned at the fine of twenty-five dollars each that Shipperly imposed on the two. The couple had been before Shipperly before on similar charges and the woman had always paid the fines.

This time, however, the woman plunked down a twenty and five for her fine and started out.

The man looked as though he had just fallen overboard.

"But what about me?" he whimpered.

"You are going to jail," she snapped back.

And he did just that while his companion went on her way.

The couple are notorious characters in Dallas' underworld.

ISAAC WALTON CLUB ORGANIZED AT BONHAM

MULESHOE FIRM OPEN IN NEW BUILDINGS

MULESHOE, Feb. 4.—C. D. Gunton and Son, A. V. McCarty, Jr., M. P. Smith and the Elite Cafe and the Elite Hotel all moved into the four new brick business houses just completed here. These firms held their opening day here Saturday and were given a hearty welcome by many citizens. The new buildings are second to none and give Muleshoe the appearance of a real city. A. P. Stone is letting a contract for a modern brick, 80x25 feet, by the side of the four just completed. The Gardner Dry Goods Company will occupy this house when completed. E. R. Hart Lumber Company will replace the office building recently destroyed by fire with an up-to-date brick and still other houses are being talked.

The Nay & Beth Furniture Company is moving into the house vacated by A. V. McCarty, Jr., and are opening up their stock of furniture.

SNYDER METHODISTS GIVE THE MCMURRY COLLEGE $2,800

SNYDER, Feb. 4.—Last Sunday President Hunt of McMurry College asked the Snyder Methodists to pledge $580, Snyder's quota of the maintenance fund for McMurry College, and they promptly pledged $835 and paid $655 of it on the spot.

Some days ago, a prominent layman of this church (who asks that his name shall not be published) gave President Hunt a check for $2,000. Snyder Methodists believe in Christian education and also in McMurry College.

SNOWS BENEFIT FARMERS OF BAILEY COUNTY

MULESHOE, Feb. 4.—Recent snows have left the ground in good shape for plowing and farmers are beginning preparations for early spring work. Merchants at this place except in very few instances have done from fifty to seventy-five per cent more business than last year, and bank deposits show a considerable gain. Little cotton was planted here last year hence the early freeze did comparatively little damage.

COMMISSIONER URGES PEOPLE TO PAY THEIR COUNTY TAX

Commissioner B. N. Wheeler, of Dalhart, was in Lubbock yesterday looking after business and visiting other officials of the county at the courthouse.

Mr. Wheeler has taken special interest in the rate at which state and county taxes are being paid, and declared yesterday that the people of Lubbock county must not expect more service from the county departments than they give with regard to tax payments.

All county departments require a great deal of money to keep operating, and tax payers must bear this in mind and make prompt payments on all property assessments, Mr. Wheeler said.

OLD FEUD BREAKS OUT ANEW BETWEEN LOCAL TRIBE OF INDIANS AND ROTARY CLUB MEMBERS OVER CAGER CHALLENGE

Resenting the manner in which their challenge for a basketball contest on Washington's birthday was accepted by the Rotarians on Wednesday, members of the Lubbock Kiwanis club yesterday occupied a great deal of time of the weekly luncheon hour discussing the day and means of winning the game, reaching the conclusion that the outcome of the contest will depend largely on the score keepers.

Every possible precaution will be taken to have the score kept true to Indian tradition and not according to the dictates of outside elements, President Garland Woodward declared.

Rotarians J. A. Raley and Walter Myrick, Jr., represented their club at the meeting, and a near riot occurred when Raley attempted a filibuster about Rotary sportsmanship. But for the interference of Rotarian Myrick the speaker would have doubtless been thrown from the luncheon hall, and succeeded finally in completing his speech by climbing atop a banquet chair. Why didn't they send a man over his head instead of that kid? a gruff Indian voice was heard to say as Raley mounted the chair. This interruption was met with serious protest by Rotarian Myrick.

The game in question will be played—or rather fought—at the Tech College court on the evening of the 22nd, and attendance of members of both clubs will be compulsory.

The Rotary Club committee for getting up a team for that club is composed of Walter Myrick, Jr., Prof. Jackson and J. A. Raley, while the Kiwanis committee is composed of Kenneth K. Clapp, James H. Hall and Edgar I. (Baby) Hall.

The Kiwanis committee yesterday gathered names of several would-be players who they will give opportunities to make the team.

Rotarian Myrick is under the impression that the Kiwanians have been discriminated against in not having more time in which to get up a team for the battle, but was assured that this handicap may be overcome.

After the coming basketball game was discussed pro and con for a few minutes, the program was given over to Chairman Jack Lewis who introduced the Happy Jack Jenks players who entertained the club men with several musical selections and readings. These players are engaged at the Lindsey theater and have proven popular with Lubbock audiences.

Two newly elected members of the club, Jim Burrus of the Hogan-Burrus Undertaking Company, and H. C. Richardson of the Tech College, were instructed in Kiwanis membership by Kiwanian J. W. Gamel of the Minter-Gamel Company.

HEART-HOME PROBLEMS BY MISS ELIZABETH THOMPSON

LOVE FOR MAN 12 YEARS HER
SENIOR WATERS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am engaged to a man twelve years older than I am. He loves me, I know, but the last few months I have found I don't love him so much as I used to. We have never quarrelled nor have we even spoken cross words. I think I could live with him peacefully, because neither of us is of a quarrelsome disposition, but I am afraid I wouldn't be entirely happy. At the time of our engagement I did love him with all my heart, but now my love for him is dying. Shall I tell him just how I feel or shall I keep it a secret a while longer and try to love him? It seems so almost impossible and cruel to tell him when he is so true and attentive to me. If someone was standing between us I would know what to do, but there is no one else who claims my affections.

M. N.
It is wise of you to stop and consider. Do not consider marrying a man so much older than you are if you have any doubts about your ability to love and respect him. The disparity in your ages is not great, but is likely to be a cause of misunderstanding, and you will need to love each other very greatly in order to be sure of continued happiness.

Bledsoe Making Rapid Growth Murray Says

Bledsoe, the terminus town of the new Santa Fe line west from Lubbock, is among the towns of the plains that are making rapid forward strides even this early in the year, R. J. Murray, Santa Fe land commissioner, declared yesterday after making a trip of inspection over Santa Fe properties in that section.

There are no less than 20 mercantile establishments at Bledsoe at this time, and three large lumber companies have opened offices there and are doing good business, Mr. Murray said.

Bledsoe townsite was opened to the public in June, 1925, and the developments that have been made there since that time are nothing short of remarkable. Highway Building Is Boost to Town, According to Mr. Murray the highway construction program in Cochran county is a boon to the new town, and an effort to divert Fort Worth to Roswell traffic via Lubbock and Bledsoe is being made, with the connection of a highway from Bledsoe to Bronco, intersecting the Brownfield to Roswell highway there.

The highway between Lubbock and Bledsoe is being put into good condition, Mr. Murray said.

What Our Neighbors Are Doing

A man called at our office—it's been sometime ago, and said he'd write us up some lines that we'd be proud to show. He said that every business, good slogans ought to have. More certain sums of ready cash he'd write us up some ads. We told him that our business for fifty years or more, had got along without him—but that didn't make him sore, and just to show what he could do he sat right down and wrote a lot of rhymes, one at a time—and some of them we'll quote. "All doubt is gone with Long-Bell on" this roving bard did brew. "If Long-Bell branded its safely demanded" that one we thought quite true. "A mark that identifies lumber that satisfies"—he meant the Long-Bell brand that's found on every board we make if you'll look on the end.

DRIVE FOR TECH ATHLETIC FUND WILL BE CONTINUED AT 9 TODAY

The drive for $3,700 that was launched here yesterday by the Matador Club to raise the deficit of the Tech College athletic fund has not been accompanied by the success in charge believe the campaign deserves, and the amount of money that was collected yesterday was far below the goal that was set for the day.

Committees will continue in the campaign throughout today and it is hoped that an amount of money that will far exceed that which was collected or pledged yesterday will be gathered in.

There were more than forty men working in the campaign which was started from the offices of the chamber of commerce in the city hall yesterday, and the fact that the response to their appeal was not as large as was expected is not chargeable to any lack of enthusiasm on the part of the workers.

There are a large number of men in Lubbock who it is believed will contribute liberally to the fund today, and Walter Myrick, Jr., colonel of the organization that has been perfected to raise the needed amount and who is also president of the Matador Club, is hopeful that these will swell the campaign fund so materially that Lubbock will not experience a failure in raising the $3,750 deficit.

The campaign organization will meet at the chamber of commerce offices again this morning at 9 o'clock to start the days work.

LUBBOCK FIREMEN ARE WORKING IN EFFORT TO PREVENT KEY RATE ON INSURANCE BEING INCREASED HERE

Members of the Lubbock Volunteer Fire Department are perhaps the most interested group of citizens in Lubbock insofar as the key rate on insurance is concerned, and at a regular semi-monthly meeting of the department last night, over which President Oscar Phillips presided, plans for warding off an increase of 15 per cent in the city's key rate was given the entire time of the session, with its many angles discussed pro and con. The increase in the key rate is threatened by the state fire marshal, according to reports of Chief W. E. Twitty.

The firemen believe that the threatened increase in the key rate can be warded off, and they point to improvements that must be made in order to save the situation.

First, they believe that the installation of punch clocks for night watchmen is the first necessary step. Second, the building, equipping and maintenance of a fire station in the densely settled section of the city adjacent to the Tech College will materially lessen the possibilities of any increase in the key rate on insurance. Cost of building and maintaining this station would not be as great as would be the loss on increased insurance costs that will result if it is not built, they argue.

There are various other means of keeping the insurance key rate to the minimum, regular fire drills at all of the schools of the city, adherence to city ordinances regarding fire hazards, especially with reference to keeping the alleys clean, and numerous other things which demand the hearty co-operation of all of the people of Lubbock.

Bob Kust, secretary of the department, was careful in recording the events of last night's meeting, and city authorities will be conferred with about the improvements which the firemen believe are not only necessary to keep the key rate down, but will prove sound investments for the city.

Lubbock's key rate is now 29 cents, perhaps lower than any other city in the state of equal size.

CITY COMMISSION HAS VERY BUSY SESSION

A very important business session of the Lubbock City Council was held at the council room in the city hall yesterday afternoon.

It was planned for the commissioners to accept bids and award contracts for the erection of a building adjacent to the city power plant and for a concrete foundation for a new mammoth engine to be installed, but after these bids were received they were all thrown out unopened as plans will be materially changed, and instead of building the separate room of building, an addition to the plant will be made. Plans and specifications for the new addition will be prepared soon, when bids will be advertised for again and the business of awarding contracts will be handled in the usual channels.

The plant is operating in good shape at this time, parts for making repairs having been borrowed from the plants at Lamesa and Thalia.

PIRATES AND SAINTS HAVE FOUR GAMES

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 4.—The Southwestern University Pirates and the St. Edward's University Saints will complete their four-game basketball series Thursday and Saturday nights of this week. On Thursday the Saints will journey to Georgetown for the third game of the series, and on Saturday night they will seek to repel the Pirates on the floor of the Austin Athletic club. Each team has won one game of the series, and so the coming games will determine the supremacy between the two schools for the season. Coach "Moose" Woebber's team is in good condition following a lay-off of two weeks because of mid-year examinations.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Crousalin, an emulsified croscote that is pleasant to take. Crousalin is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, croscote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Crousalin contains, in addition to croscote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the croscote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Crousalin is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Crousalin Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Defendant Fails To Appear In Cobb Case

The case of the State of Texas vs. Fred Cobb, charged with violation of the prohibition law, was continued to Monday, February 15th when the case was called in the 72nd Judicial District Court here Thursday morning.

Continuance was given because of the inability of the defendant to appear in court because of illness. His failure to appear in court Thursday was ascribed to illness, and since he is in New Mexico it would have been difficult for the state to insist on going to trial, court attaches said.

The continuance of the Cobb case halted court activity through the remainder of this week as no other cases were set down for trial Thursday and the jury was excused, and no other jury will be called in until Monday.

A number of non-jury civil cases will be disposed of during the remainder of this week including several divorce petitions that are on file with the district clerk.

ABOUT TOWN IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (United Press).—Many millions of dollars are spent every week by New Yorkers and visitors to New York—the majority possibly by the latter—in search of diversion, but this golden torrent is sought by so many would-be diverters that a new idea for segregating some of it is valued as a gem of highest price.

An enterprising youth who has a really original idea may become rich almost overnight, but Broadway has been prospected so long and diligently that previously undisclosed nuggets are about as rare as the interesting ether.

However, every now and then which is original enough or new someone does pop up with a scheme enough or even old enough to be regarded as a small nugget. Most of these recent ideas have had to do with the post war mushroom growth of night clubs which have become even more numerous than theatres and which provide a much faster outlet for the diversion-seekers money.

Two of these most recent offshoots from Broadway will probably prove small gold mines because they are so old. The first is to sell advertising space on the backs of theater tickets. This though remunerative provoked some protest from producers, one of whom set up an outcry because the $11 tickets to his ambitious offering were being desecrated by the advertising for a 25 cent article.

The other is the plan of Anne Nichols, who has so far made a number of millions out of her play, Abie's Irish Rose, to send out a tent met with a number of members of the First Methodist Sunday School to discuss the training school that will be conducted here and to urge them to attend.

After short talks were made by Rev. Doak, Rev. White, L. S. Harkey, Mrs. Camp, and James L. Dow, who pointed to the advantages of the standard training school, nine teachers from Slaton enrolled for classes and promised to attend the evening sessions throughout the week.

There will be at least 15 Slaton teachers enrolled throughout the school, Chairman Harkey announced upon returning to Lubbock.

The committee from the local Sunday School will probably go to Abernathy, Idalou and other places during this month to boost attendance at the Standard Sunday School Training Classes.

Slaton Will Be Represented At Training Class

At least 100 Sunday School teachers will attend the Standard Sunday School Training School to be given at the First Methodist Church here for six days beginning March 7th, James L. Dow, superintendent said yesterday.

A committee from the local school, of which L. S. Harkey is chairman and composed of D. B. Doak, presiding elder of the Lubbock District; E. E. White, pastor of the local church; James L. Dow, superintendent of the Sunday School; Mrs. Dow, Mrs. Camp, class teacher, Garland Woodard, assistant superintendent, W. H. Richardson, business manager of the local church, and Dr. Evans, director of a teachers' training class, went to Slaton Wednesday evening.

A DRINK ON THE DESERT

Step-Lightly licked his chops. "That Locust was only a mouthful but sweet—just as sweet as sugar cane!" growled he. "My, but I wish I had a drink! Eating makes you thirsty, did you know it, Two-Legs? This very moment my mouth feels as dry as the desert in a sand storm, and there's no stream near by."

Step-Lightly moistened his lips, then slowly looked over the landscape.

"I was born not far away from here," growled he, "and I remember that as a youngster I used to quench my thirst with big, juicy melons. The melon vine can't be far away. I was looking for it when I stuck my nose on a cactus needle. Things do change, though."

after you've been away from a place for a while. My home cave is many a mile off, but I thought I knew every inch of this ground. Let me see—a lat rock, then a heap of stones then bare earth and the melon vine. There used to be some moist sand, too, unless it is all dried up. It ought to be right over there."

If Step-Lightly had been a Boy he would have pointed with his finger, but being a young Lion he only nodded his head. Then suddenly his tail began to move slowly at first then faster and faster, until it lashed his sides. This, in Lion language might mean that Step-Lightly had scented game and was working himself into a fighting fever. But there was something rather merrily jerky in this particular tail-lashing that told Peter that Step-Lightly was happy. What the Cub was so pleased about Peter soon found out.

"G-r-r-r!" growled Step-Lightly, and made for the side of the rock. Peter followed and came up just in time to catch his friend drinking from a green melon bowl, sucking in the juice with loud smacking of his lips.

Step-Lightly had never heard of company manners, but he certainly did know how to drink from a water-melon without spilling a single drop. Next: "Thunder!"

THE BEST ADVICE

BY CLARK KINNAID

The True Method of Self-Education

"Every person," says Gibson, "has two educations, one which he receives from others, and one more important, which he gives himself." There is no doubt that what we teach ourselves always is more useful than what we learn of others. Education is the harmonious development of all our faculties. It begins in the nursery, and goes on at school, but does not end there. It continues through life, whether we will or not. The means of learning always are at hand. No man can truthfully say, "I never had a chance to get an education."

Those youths who have not distinguished themselves at school need not at that account be discouraged. The quickest minds do not necessarily ripen the quickest.

Napoleon, Sir Isaac Newton, Swift, Scott, Burns, and to come down to our own time and country, Edison, were not good students and were even considered dullards in their youth.

And on the other hand, many brilliant and clever boys and girls, for want of health, industry, or character, have been failures in after life, as Goethe remarked, "like plants which bear double flowers, but no fruit."

The true method of self-education John Stuart Mill decided, is: "To question all things; never to turn away from any difficulty;

"To accept no doctrine either from ourselves or from other people without a rigid scrutiny by negative criticism;

"Letting no fallacy or incoherence or confusion of thought, step by step, escape;

"Above all, to insist upon having the meaning of a word clearly understood before using it, and the meaning of a proposition before assenting to it;

"These are the lessons we learn." No one has ever defined better than Solomon the object of a wise education:

To know wisdom and instruction;

To perceive the words of understanding;

To receive the instruction of wisdom,

Justice, and judgment, and equity;

To give the subtlety to the simple,

To the young man knowledge and discretion.

LUCKY BEGGAR!

There is an Oriental story of two men: one was a king, who every night dreamt he was a beggar; the other was a beggar, who every night dreamt he was a king and lived in a palace. Did not the beggar have the best of it?

Imagination oftentimes is more enjoyable than reality.

When we read good books, we may not only (if we wish it) be kings and live in palaces, but, better still, we may transport ourselves wherever we like, and visit the beautiful places of the earth, without fatigue, inconvenience or expense.

Books endow us with a whole enchanted kingdom of thoughts.

The person who reads good books doesn't feel the need of friends, for there are none better than books.

And among living companions, inexorable death carries off the best and brightest, while in books, on the contrary, time kills the bad and elevates the good.

"Books are to Mankind what Memory is to the Individual," John Lubbock observes.

They contain the history of our race, the discoveries we have made, the accumulated knowledge and experience of ages.

They picture for us the marvels and beauties of Nature;

Help us in our difficulties.

Comfort us in sorrow and suffering.

Change hours of ennui into moments of delight.

Store our minds with ideas and make us think.

And lift us out of and above ourselves.

"Give me," says Fletcher—

Leave to enjoy myself. That place that does

Contain my books, the best companions, is

To me a glorious court, where hourly I

Converse with the old sages and philosophers;

And sometimes for variety I confer

With kings and philosophers, and weigh their counsels;

Calling their victories, if unjustly so,

Into a strict account; and in my fancy

Deface their ill-placed statues. Can I then

Part with such constant pleasures, to embrace

Uncertain vanities? No, be it your care

To augment a heap of wealth; it shall be mine

To increase in knowledge.

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Around the political hearth of Washington there is much discussion of a book review William G. McAdoo, unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination recently published in the Literary Digest International Book Review.

Remembering McAdoo's objections to the stories concerning him that were printed in the New York newspapers during the Madison Square Garden Democratic national convention of 1924, and the charges of his adherents that his candidacy was killed by circulation of false allegations concerning his stand upon the Ku Klux Klan and other matters, politicians here saw reminiscence in his statement that any one who has had any experience with public life realizes how influential false stories can be in swaying the decision of the electorate.

"In no other way is it possible to get such an intimate idea of the cross-currents of opinion and the course of propaganda," wrote McAdoo, "than by considering contemporary newspapers page by page."

"In his preface Mr. Bowers says, the McAdoo review continues 'that he has quoted not only press stories that were true, but those that were false, where they had effect on the opinion of the moment. He makes the point that it is 'not only necessary to know what the truth was, but to know what the people who formed public opinion thought the truth to be.'"

"It is not necessary to argue this point with any one who has had experience with any one who has had experience of public life. 'When the story of the fight against the League of Nations in America is told by future historians it will be necessary to record that its opponents solemnly charged that the covenant legalized and recognized white slavery, and that it made it possible for a foreign power to drag American boys into battle without the consent of the American Congress.'

Congress is traditional for the Strother family. James French Strother, Welch, Pa., is now representing it there. His great grandfather George French Strother was a member of the fifteenth and sixteenth congresses. His grandfather, James French Strother, was a member of the thirty-second congress.

Suggestion has been made that

Mayor James M. Curley, Boston, run for the Democratic nomination for senator in the primaries this year. Previously it had been supposed here that former Senator David I. Walsh would obtain the nomination without a contest and that he had an excellent opportunity to defeat the present Senator William M. Butler in the November election.

LITTLEFIELD TO BE HOST TO ONE OF LARGEST C. OF C. MEETS

LITTLEFIELD, Tex., Feb. 4.—Arthur P. Duggan, local vice-president of the West Texas C. of C. has just received word that President R. Q. Lee, manager Porter A. Whaley, Assistant Manager Homer D. Wade, and publicity manager Mr. Whitehead, of the West Texas C. of C. will be present at the District meeting of that organization which will be held in Littlefield on the 22nd of February. That day being Monday, and a holiday, it is anticipated that it will be the largest District Convention held by the West Texas C. of C. this year. The tentative program shows a list of very prominent speakers, with a State-wide reputation, and the banquet at noon will be served by the ladies of the Civic League. The Convention will be widely advertised, and an attendance of 1500 to 2000 is anticipated.

It is easy to understand why Hills Bros tastes better

The potage made at home

Roasting a few pounds at a time brings out the delicacy of flavor

WHEN you cook food in small quantities, you can control the proportions, the seasoning, the temperature. The same thing applies to the roasting of coffee. Hills Bros. Coffee is roasted in small quantities by our exclusive process. No other coffee can have such a marvelous flavor.

A few pounds at a time . . . even roasting temperature . . . constant circulation of fresh air blowing around and through the roasting coffee. The true coffee flavor. That's what Hills Bros.' patented continuous-roasting process has done for this favorite drink of the coffee-loving West.

You'll notice the difference the instant you inhale that wonderful fragrance. And when you lift a cup to your lips, you'll know for sure that no finer coffee ever graced the table of a discriminating hostess. Mail the coupon for your free copy of "The Art of Entertaining," which tells how to make a better cup of coffee.

Ask for Hills Bros. by name and look for the Arab on the can. It's quite important.
