Whites Bayoneted In Cicero March

By The Associated Press

National Guardsmen and police used bayonet-tipped rifles and billy clubs to maintain order Sunday as marchers for open housing invaded the all-white community of Cicero on Chicago's West Side.

SIX BAYONETED
Six whites were bayoneted, none seriously, and others were beaten with police nightsticks as the officers battled to keep the 192 marchers, mostly Negroes, and the heckling whites apart.

In contrast to previous marches on various Chicago neighborhoods, this demonstration — organized by the Congress of Racial Equality — saw the Negroes firing back at the whites the rocks and bottles thrown at them.

CORE called for the march after Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, postponed a planned demonstration in Cicero after Chicago officials agreed to a far-reaching program to promote open housing.

TROOPERS HELP

Some 2,300 National Guardsmen, with orders to shoot to kill if fired upon, joined approximately 700 city, county and state police in escorting the marchers into Cicero. In addition to keeping the whites away from the demonstrators, the officers and guardsmen kept the Negro marchers from breaking out of line to reach the hecklers.

Greta Builds Up Strength

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Greta, the season's seventh tropical storm, was expected to grow to hurricane intensity today as scientists considered whether to try to seed her angry winds into submission.

Although she was still small and no immediate danger to land, forecasters predicted Greta would increase in size and power as she ranged over the warm waters of the South Atlantic.

Early today, Greta was centered about 385 miles northeast of San Juan, P.R., and a little over 1,200 miles east southeast of Miami.

She was thrashing north-westward at 10 miles per hour with top 55-mile-an-hour winds in squalls near the center. Gales extended 150 miles from center. Greta developed Sunday northeast of the Leeward Islands, the eastern boundary of the Caribbean Sea.

Boat Explosion Kills 2 Persons

SEABROOK, Tex. (AP) — A cabin cruiser explosion that took two lives and left three persons injured early in the Labor Day weekend remained under investigation today.

The 42-foot pleasure craft, the "Dina-Mo," exploded and burst into flames minutes after it docked some 175 feet from a busy restaurant at this Galveston Bay resort.

ESCAPED INJURY

Some customers in the restaurant narrowly escaped injury.

Mrs. June Laird, 46, wife of a Houston yacht broker, died at a hospital two hours afterward. The body of another Houston woman, Mrs. Billie D. Hogan, 56, was found Sunday about a mile from the scene in Clear Lake, which empties into the bay.

John A. Laird, 58, and the Lairds' daughter, Courtney, 8, were injured and in fair condition late Sunday.

Mrs. Hogan's husband, Newell A. Hogan, 54, owner of the expensive boat and head of a Houston equipment firm, was slightly injured but refused to be hospitalized. He remained here for seven hours, searching for his wife. He later was taken to the home of a relative.

ALL BUT ONE

Of the five victims, all were aboard the craft when it exploded except young Courtney, who had jumped ashore to moor the boat.

The force of the blast shattered a large plate glass window at the restaurant, the Regatta Inn, where about 25 persons were dining.
"Some people who were sitting closest to the window were

BIBLE FUND GETS NO HELP

The holiday's played hob with the Bible Class Fund appeal. It was off to a perfect start—in reverse. Not one contribution was received at The Herald.

This year's appeal will be held open only for about two weeks, so if you plan to continue your good support of this activity, please mail or send your contribution promptly. About 100 Big Spring High School students who have signed for the credit course in Bible are dependent upon your help because tax funds may not be used for this purpose.

ONE RESCUED

Only one of the five pilots was rescued, a spokesman said. The aircraft losses brought the number of U.S. planes reported shot down over North Viet Nam to 361.

While American jets pounded oil depots, missile sites and other targets in the North Vietnamese heartland, government troops in South Viet Nam reported wiping out nearly half of a 400-man elite Communist force in a three-day operation in

Holiday Traffic Toll Headed For A Record

GROWING DISCONTENT

Labor's Role Lauded As Nation Observes Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Flags wave, workers parade, bands blare and speakers laud labor's role in American life as the nation observes Labor Day today. The holiday dates back to 1882, when workers staged the first Labor Day parade in New York City. It has been a legal holiday since 1894.

DISCONTENT

This year's observance comes amid record employment and a growing discontent over inflationary pressures.

The government announced last week that 76.4 million Americans were at work in August, a carryover of July's record-breaking figure. A week earlier, it had announced the cost of living had reached a record high.

Labor's top spokesman, George Meany, president of the 13-million-member AFL-CIO, defended the right to strike as vital to democracy and said in a holiday-statement labor is not to blame for rising prices.

President Johnson said Labor Day is a time to focus on new ways to assure every citizen an equal share in the greatness of America.

SPECIAL STAKE

"Every segment of American life — labor, government, business, the public at large — has a special stake in extending our prosperity to those it has eluded for too long," Johnson said in his Labor Day message.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz steered clear of controversial economic issues in their Labor Day messages, confining themselves to praising labor's role in seeking a better life for all Americans.

In the background of the Labor Day celebration hung the "strong" possibility of a major strike in the telephone industry, following hard on the heels of the recent crippling airlines walkout that spurred new talk of antitrust legislation.

"In recent weeks and months, some of the basic precepts of free trade unionism have been challenged," Meany said in an oblique reference to the airlines furor.

WILL OCCUR

"Anyone who says he believes in the right to strike must accept the fact that strikes will sometimes occur," he said.

Congress was considering legislation to end the airlines strike when the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists settled with five airlines. There are signs that new legislation to deal with strikes may come up in the next session of Congress.

Turning to economics, Meany said it was a difficult subject for most Americans to understand except when it comes to "the family budget."

He said labor was unfairly catching the blame for rising prices.

PROFITS UP

Government figures show that unit labor costs have long remained stable while profits have been climbing at record rates, he said.

PRICES ARE NOT BEING PUSHED

"Prices are not being pushed up by wages," Meany said. "It is a profit inflation, pure and simple."

He urged President Johnson and Congress to roll back interest rates and eliminate the 7 percent business investment tax credit.

President I. W. Abel of the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers Union said the nation must take urgent action to help Americans on the bottom rung of society to share in the nation's prosperity.

Texas Fatality List Growing, Stands At 32

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents have claimed at least 32 lives in Texas during the long Labor Day weekend.

Five persons died as result of holiday boating accidents and four others drowned.

An automobile accident near Brownsville killed four members of one family but most of the traffic mishaps were one-fatality accidents.

Four members of one family died Friday night when a station wagon skidded off US 281 and hit a palm tree 11 miles north of Brownsville. Killed were Sergio Castaneda, 27, of Brownsville; his wife Linda, 31; their daughter, Mariella, 2, and a daughter of Mrs. Castaneda by a previous marriage, Linda Rodriguez, 13.

James G. Wharton, 40, of Euless was killed Friday night when he was thrown from his car on a Dallas freeway.

An automobile struck and killed Raymond Laine, 64, as he crossed a Fort Worth street Friday night.

E. P. Wilcox, 55, was killed when he fell overboard and the propeller of a boat struck his head Friday night in Austin.

Multiple Death Wrecks Pile Up

By The Associated Press

A succession of traffic crashes involving cars crowded with holiday celebrants sent the 78-hour Labor Day weekend traffic toll toward what the National Safety Council said looked like a "pretty definite" record.

MULTIPLE DEATHS

One collision in Michigan today killed eight. Another in Florida killed seven. Four were killed Sunday night in a Colorado collision. The grimdest accident occurred Saturday when three cars collided west of Norwalk on the rain-slickened Ohio Turnpike, killing nine.

The Michigan accident was an almost head-on crash of two cars on US 12 near Coldwater. Both cars carried five persons and the two survivors were injured.

The crash on US 19 a few miles north of Clearwater, Fla., killed three boys and four girls, all in their teens, and injured three others.

"Unless there's some radical improvement," said a safety council spokesman, "it will be near the top of our estimate — 630 deaths. This, of course, would far surpass the record of

DEATH LOG

Traffic	560

563.
For comparison, 505 persons died on a recent non-holiday weekend.

11 LIVES
Two multiple fatality accidents Saturday took 11 lives. A collision in Jacksonville, Ill., killed four members of one family and two other persons and injured two others critically. A head-on crash near Wagner, S.D., resulted in five deaths and four injuries.

The 78-hour holiday began at 6 p.m. local time Friday. It ends tonight at midnight local time.

The three three-day holiday weekends this year have all set traffic death records. Over the New Year, 564 died; 542 more perished during the Memorial Day weekend and 576 on the July 4 weekend.

But the all time three-day holiday weekend death toll was set over Christmas 1965, when 720 persons died in traffic.

JOHNSON TALKS BLUNTLY

Labor Can't Make All Gains, All At Once

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — President Johnson campaigned in Michigan today by bluntly telling organized labor on its own holiday that "it can't make all the gains it wants — all at once."

After volunteering this anti-inflation warning in Detroit, Johnson flew to Battle Creek to help mark the 100th birthday of a sanitarium founded by the late cereal king, Will Keith Kellogg.

RISE IN PRICE

In remarks prepared for his Battle Creek audience, Johnson touched on another aspect of inflation — the rising price of health care.

He said: "Government does share a lively concern for the progress of medical care and the cost of medical care. And so long as I am in office, we will make every effort to ensure the greatest possible progress at the lowest cost to the individual."

Returns are not yet in from a federal study of medical costs which Johnson recently ordered.

The President's talk about "responsibility" in medical science did not match for directness, however, his words to the organized workman.

POLITICAL TRIP

Johnson, starting his first ad-mited political trip of the campaign season, coupled a blunt call for labor union restraint in wage demands with these promises:

—He pledged he would not forget the goal of a guaranteed annual wage.

—He promised to fight in 1967 for repeal of Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, which authorizes states to outlaw the union shop contracts that require all eligible employees to join the union.

In a Labor Day address prepared for a union-sponsored memorial service at Cobo Hall for Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, D-Mich., Johnson said he did not want to "vandalize" facts about inflation — "a pickpocket."

KEY MESSAGE

He asserted in a key passage: "Labor wants — and labor deserves — a growth of real wages, not just money wages. It wants wage gains that will offset some of the recent rise in the cost of living. But it can't make all the gains it wants — all at once — no matter how big wage increases become. For in the long run, even the strongest union, with the power to negotiate massive wage increases, cannot hold its own if it contributes to an inflation that wrecks prosperity."

As for businessmen, Johnson said the manufacturer knows "that the abundant profits he earns from keeping his plant fully used can be destroyed by shortsighted attempts to get a little higher profit through higher prices."

DEMO PARTY

The President, his travel paid for by the Democratic party, was visiting Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., Dayton and Lancaster, Ohio. Freshman Democrats in the House face Republican opposition in the November election in all these communities.

While in effect lecturing his Detroit audience, assembled under sponsorship of the AFL-CIO, Johnson sought to blunt labor's unhappiness over the administration's defeats in efforts to repeal Section 14B.

"One piece of unfinished business," he said, "is to repeal a law that gives no one the right to work, that weakens union responsibility without strengthening individual liberty, that causes endless and useless dispute in our country."

"ON MY LIST"

As in 1964 and 1965 and 1966, he said, repeal action will be "on my list of major recommendations to the next Congress."

Regarding a guaranteed annual wage, Johnson said: "We know that the America we dream of must be an America where every citizen can earn a guaranteed annual income sufficient to meet his basic needs. I pledge you that we will not forget this goal."

Four More Planes Lost, Only One Pilot Rescued

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — North Vietnamese ground fire shot down three U.S. fighter-bombers during raids near Hanoi Sunday and another American plane was knocked down farther south today, the U.S. command announced.

Only one of the five pilots was rescued, a spokesman said. The aircraft losses brought the number of U.S. planes reported shot down over North Viet Nam to 361.

While American jets pounded oil depots, missile sites and other targets in the North Vietnamese heartland, government troops in South Viet Nam reported wiping out nearly half of a 400-man elite Communist force in a three-day operation in the sweltering swamplands of the Mekong Delta 120 miles southwest of Saigon. The fighting broke a 10-day lull in ground action in the south.

As the allies braced for increased Communist terrorism in advance of the national election next Sunday, 5,500 South Korean troops arrived aboard three U.S. transports at the central coast port of Nha Trang. They bolstered the six-nation allied force, exclusive of the more than 700,000 Vietnamese troops, to 341,000 men.

Mishaps plagued air operations in the South. A U.S. twin-engine Army C-47 transport plane crashed into a Vietnamese village Sunday shortly after taking off from Dong Tra airfield about 250 miles northeast of Saigon.

Four villagers were killed and 20 to 25 other persons were injured, including three U.S. crewmen.

PRISONER HURT

A few hours later, a Zuni rocket accidentally discharged as it was being loaded onto a U.S. Marine jet at Da Nang, and hurtled into a nearby Vietnamese military building at the airfield. A Viet Cong prisoner was seriously injured. Four South Vietnamese soldiers, an 8-year-old boy and a U.S. Marine were less seriously hurt.

Only two weeks ago amid a rash of accidental bombings Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, issued a directive urging extreme care to avoid civilian casualties.

Ex-Con Charged In Four Murders

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Murder charges were filed against an ex-convict Sunday after four persons were killed and an apartment house set on fire.

Police said that sirens of fire trucks rushing to the burning apartment house scared off the assailant before he could reach a fifth victim locked in a bathroom.

Charged with murder was Leopoldo Morales Jr., 26, of El Paso, who police said has served 18 months in a federal prison for violation of the Mann Act. He was ordered held without bond.

The victims were Albert H. Mearse, 72; his wife, Alby Rae Mearse, 74; Michael Artz, 23, and his wife, Pamela Artz, 18.

Police gave this account: The killer attacked Mr. and Mrs. Mearse in their apartment, nearly decapitating them with a butcher knife and setting fires in the apartment.

The killer then used the stock of a rifle to break into the Artz apartment. After shooting the young couple, he also started fires in their apartment.

GUEST

A house guest of the Artz's locked himself in the bathroom. He said the killer battered on the bathroom door, yelling "Come out of there, boy. I know you're in there."

Officers said the Mearses owned the apartments and that Morales lived in an adjoining apartment.

LEOPOLDO MORALES

died of gunshot wounds in Texas since The Associated Press count of violent deaths in the state began at 6 p.m. Friday.

Carl M. Lewis, 19, of Houston was shot to death in Houston Saturday.

Farrar B. Porter, 27, of Houston was fatally shot in Houston Saturday night.

William Mealer, 30, of Haltom City, a Fort Worth suburb, was shot to death at his home Sunday.

Johnny Datson, 64, died in Houston Saturday night after fire broke out in a small frame house.

Contestants Register For Miss America Show

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — She's 19 years old, stacks 55-24-35 measurements on a 123-pound, 5-foot-6 frame and has brown hair and blue eyes. And she can draw a whistle of appreciation from any man. That is the composite picture of the 50 contestants who register today for the opening of the 39th Miss America Pageant. The girls will spend a hectic week displaying their prettiest smiles, posing for scores of pictures and answering questions. It is also a week when the girls are celebrities with swarms of spectators asking for their autographs. "Imagine, somebody asking me for my autograph," said Miss Tennessee, Vicki Hurd of Kingsport, after she signed slips of paper for three visitors. Miss Mississippi, Robbie Robertson of Hattiesburg, had another surprise in store for her. "I'm just amazed at how friendly the people up here are," she said. "Everyone is so kindly. To tell the truth, I heard different stories about Northerners." While posing for photographers at a hotel pool, movie actor James Darren — vacationing here — strolled over to the contestants.

Said Miss Texas, Susan Logan of San Angelo, an aspiring actress: "It is a funny feeling for me to be in the spotlight and to see James Darren on the sidelines."

Susan, incidentally, is the biggest girl in the pageant. Although she and four other contestants are listed on the program at 5 feet 9, Susan confided "I'm really a half an inch taller than that."

Alaska, the largest state in the nation, has the smallest girl entered. She is Nancy Wellman, 21, of Fairbanks, who is 5 feet 2 and weighs 101 pounds. She has a 34-22-34 figure. At midnight Saturday one of the 50 girls will walk down the runway of Convention Hall and be introduced to the nation as Miss America of 1967.

They've Licked Tardiness With Trading Stamp Bonus

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Officials of an Atlanta manufacturing company were trying to solve the problem of tardy employees when they finally licked it — with trading stamps.

Now, they give away about 100,000 stamps a week as bonuses—to the wives of workmen who put in a full 40 hours.

"It's cut our absentee-rate about 8 per cent," said B. W.

Roberts, production manager of Southern Iron and Equipment Co., a maker of railroad cars.

"We think it's an incentive for a wife to see that her husband gets to work on time. I guess we're soliciting a little help at home."

Roberts said the stamps amount to about $1.50 a week in extra pay, but the workmen are careful to pick them up on Fridays.

"Several employees, when they failed to get their stamps, have come by the office," said Roberts. "They say, 'Let me have my stamps. I can't go home without them.'"

Although the men take some kidding, their wives think the stamps are great. "I like the idea," said Mrs. George Fretwell, whose husband is a machinist at the company.

"I don't have any trouble getting George to work," she said, "but I guess it helps keep some of the men at work who'd like to lay out for a while."

"They'll catch the devil at home if they do."

Soviet Plea For Freedom

MOSCOW (AP) — The liberal Soviet magazine New World celebrated its 500th issue this weekend with a plea for artistic freedom.

The monthly magazine published a 40-page article by critic V. Lakshin, attacking critics who insisted while Nikita S. Khrushchev was premier that writers play up only the good side of life under communism.

Condemning such criticism, Lakshin wrote: "The critic tells the author strictly where to look and what to see."

"But doesn't an artist have the right to look everywhere and see everything that affects him and troubles him on the wide path of life?"

"The position of a writer is humiliating if he puts on blinders before starting out (on this path)."

Lakshin described as an example of wrongful criticism an unfavorable review of the story "Matryona's Yard."

The story, written by the liberal writer Alexander Solzhenitsyn, told of a kindhearted country woman who suffered at the hands of her neighbors. It exposed some bad sides of Soviet village life.

A critic named V. Poltoratsky came out against the story in a review published in March 1963 in the official government paper Izvestia. He said the author should have written about a prosperous collective farm.

Opposing this criticism, Lakshin defended the author and accused Poltoratsky of being unwilling to face reality.

Lakshin charged Poltoratsky was under the influence of "subjectivism" — the catchword used here to mean government policy under Khrushchev.

"The original estimation of the story," Lakshin said, "was really formed not without the influence of those events which we now call subjectivism," when the tendency was to neglect the facts, to prove that everything in our agriculture was going in the best way, that we were almost catching up with America in production of butter, meat and milk."

Poltoratsky's Izvestia article in 1963 came at a time when Khrushchev was cracking down hard on artistic freedom.

Since then there has been some relaxation of control. But conservative hardliners continue to be influential, as shown in last February's trial and stiff sentencing of writers Andrei D. Sinyavsky and Yuli M. Daniel for smuggling abroad works critical of the Soviet Union.

The two commented Sunday in television radio interviews broadcast in their respective states. Javits also predicted Dirksen would ease his opposition and support at least a compromise housing section.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said it would be very damaging to the Republican party if its senators block passage of the section. Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., said the party is in a bad position if it accepts Dirksen's opposition as the official Republican stand.

The two commented Sunday in television radio interviews broadcast in their respective states. Javits also predicted Dirksen would ease his opposition and support at least a compromise housing section.

The victims were Anthony Scruggs, 2 years old, and Debra Scruggs, 5 months old, and Debra Scruggs, 5 months old, the children by a previous marriage of Mrs. Eta Mae Chaney, 24.

Mrs. Chaney was taken to a Sherman hospital where her burns were listed as serious. Two other children escaped injury in the fire which destroyed a five-room house.

Officers said Mrs. Chaney and her children apparently were sleeping when the fire broke out.

DEAR ABBY

A Vote For Honesty

DEAR ABBY: When you advised her aunt (whose attractive young niece was coming to visit her) not to withhold the fact that the girl was a recent divorcee, I think you overlooked an important factor.

To label a young woman "divorcee" is like hanging out a sign, "Wolves, Welcome." All males immediately assume that a divorcee is starved for affection, and they rush to her aid. Not until a nice young man wants to make a lifetime arrangement need he know all the facts. And in the meantime, the girl doesn't have to fight him off.

When he asks, "How come a nice girl like you isn't married," she should not say, per your advice, "I was." She should say instead, "I am waiting for some nice man to ask me." If he is interested, he will prove it. Then there is plenty of time for integrity and confessions. MRS. M.

DEAR MRS. M.: Some people would not knowingly pursue an interest in one who has been divorced. (I am not necessarily condoning this view, I am merely stating a fact.) So, the word from here is still unqualified honesty from the word, "Hello."

DEAR ABBY: Now what do we tell brides? I refer to an obvious error in the official White House wedding invitation for Pat and Luci. You know, every bride in the country wants to emulate someone as important as the President's daughter. But I was shocked — after 40 years in the printing trade to note the invitation read:

"on Saturday the sixth of August."

Our most authoritative sources, which we follow, indicate that it should have read:

"on Saturday, the sixth of August."

separating the day from the date with a comma.

Who is correct? Amy Vanderbilt? Emily Post? We? Or the White House printers and engravers?

Yours for fostering social tradition!

C. J. UNDERHILL
SAN DIEGO, CALIF.

DEAR MR. UNDERHILL: Technically, you are correct. I, too, am for fostering tradition, but in such a tremendous undertaking as the Johnson wedding, if the most serious omission was a comma, I would credit them with a monumental job.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

No Secret About Forces In Thailand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asst. Secretary of State William P. Bundy says about 25,000 American military men — most of them in the Air Force — are stationed in Thailand and "there is really no secret" about the American commitment to the Southeast Asian nation.

The basic strength of American forces in Thailand "is certainly a matter that has been widely reported and is understood, I think, in the Congress and has been fully discussed with the congressional leaders," Bundy said Sunday.

The Pentagon has been refusing to release the troop strength.

Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., says he wants to know if America is getting into "another Viet Nam" in Thailand. He has promised to hold committee hearings to find out.

Sources say closed hearings are planned for about Sept. 19, and that the committee hopes to persuade the administration to agree to open hearings on the topic later.

Bundy said on the NBC radio-television program "Meet The Press" that the Thais are facing a "real threat of insurgency" but that they are dealing with it themselves.

"And our role is to supply them equipment and to assist them in training as they may desire," Bundy said.

But other government sources say U.S. airmen based in Thailand are engaged mainly in the war in nearby Viet Nam.

Wage, Price Freeze Will Be Given Grudging Okay

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson today was expected to get grudging approval from Britain's organized labor for his government's wage and price freeze policy.

He goes to Blackpool to deliver a personal appeal to the annual meeting of the 1,000 delegates of the Trade Union Congress who represent 8.5 million members of 170 unions.

Endorsement appeared assured after a weekend of pre-convention lobbying but a crucial vote Wednesday is expected to be close.

Wilson's July 20 announcement of the pay-price freeze in a forceful bid to save the pound sterling and bolster Britain's ailing economy has split the trade union movement.

The Labor government's action two weeks later in obtaining power to enforce the freeze infuriated many union leaders. They saw it as an infringement on their traditional right of collective bargaining.

Frank Cousins, one of Wilson's Cabinet ministers, resigned and took his big Transport and General Workers Union into opposition to Wilson's economic doctrines. Cousins is leading the fight against the freeze in Blackpool.

As the convention got underway reliable estimates gave 4,227,000 votes in favor of the government with 3,784,000 against. The Electrical Trade Union with 283,000 votes has not yet announced its position formally but was expected to back the government.

An element of uncertainty was injected over the weekend when Leonard McNamara, a member of the council of Wilson's own General and Municipal Workers Union, had a High Court writ served on the union's general secretary, Lord Cooper, in an effort to bar him from casting the union's 795,000 votes in favor of the government. McNamara was one of two opponents and is seeking the injunction on the ground the council decision runs counter to a previous vote by the entire union membership.

The High Court is to hear arguments Wednesday on the injunction but Lord Cooper told newsmen he will east the union's votes in favor of the government regardless of the court's decision.

An adverse TUC vote could seriously undermine confidence abroad in the government's ability to put Britain's economic house in order.

Such a vote also could have a decisive influence on the annual convention early next month of Wilson's own Labor party. The prime minister is facing strong opposition from Laborite leftists in Parliament and in the party over what they consider to be the use of Conservative methods to overcome the economic crisis. They say Wilson has turned his back on socialism and re-neged on election pledges.

Reds Won't Risk War

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Austrian journalist who recently visited Red China said in an interview published today he found the Chinese unwilling to risk involvement in a war with the United States.

Hugo Portisch, editor of the Vienna Kurier, asked if he thought the Chinese would start anything that might involve them in a war with the United States, said:

"I don't think they can even dream of starting such a war. They want to go on supporting what they call 'wars of liberation,' but they are terribly afraid of getting involved themselves, at least today."

In a copyright interview in the magazine U.S. News & World Report, Portisch also said he found the Chinese "much more outspoken against the Russians than against the Americans."

Squeezes Two Pitches Into One Commercial Sales Spot

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's entertainment programs have two seasons. There is the "new" season that starts Tuesday. And there is that three-to-four-month period, just past that is devoted to reruns.

But television commercials do not follow any predictable pattern. Some commercials are used year after year on a seasonal basis. Others are run year-round until it occurs to some agency man that perhaps the audience has grown very tired of them.

During the warm-weather months it is possible to conclude from most of the cigarette and soft-drink commercials that both are consumed almost entirely on the nation's beaches.

With the change of seasons, the cigarette smokers move into glamorous ski lodges and the soft-drink crowd takes its rock 'n' roll music into somebody's living room.

If one is an inveterate television watcher, there are interesting little games to be played during commercials.

Voice identification is one game. Surely any television devotee can recognize the stately cadences of Alexander Scourby's voice whether he is urging us to take a certain airline, describing the fragrance of a perfume or suggesting the purchase of adhesive bandages.

Who can miss the elegant enunciation of Martin Gabel when, unseen and unidentified, he praises a brand of cigarettes? Isn't the girl who sings of the beauty of support stockings the same young woman who used to describe gourmet dishes available in instant form? And doesn't it sound exactly like Barbara Baxley?

If you see enough commercials you get to recognize the faces of actors most often used.

The big new vogue in commercials involves messages known as "piggy-backs." That means that the sponsor is able to squeeze two sales talks into one time spot. Currently we are seeing double in close to half of our prime-time network sales messages.

Such commercials are permissible, thank goodness, only when the same sponsor turns out both products.

Small Chinese Vessel Sunk

TOKYO (AP) — U.S. Aircraft attacked and sank a small Chinese Communist vessel, damaged and killed nine Chinese crewmen in the Gulf of Tonkin Aug. 29, Peking Radio said today.

The broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, said the action was a "provocative and grave incident" against Red China.

There was no immediate comment from U.S. officials in Saigon. The U.S. 7th Fleet patrols the Gulf of Tonkin off North Viet Nam.

On Aug. 29, the U.S. command in South Viet Nam reported that U.S. Navy planes caught four North Vietnamese torpedo boats in the gulf that day and sank two and damaged the other two.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman declined comment on the broadcast.

The Peking broadcast added that the Chinese Defense Ministry spokesman issued a strong protest.

The attack also injured seven other crewmen, the radio said. It claimed the Chinese vessels were sailing through their "normal course" in the Gulf of Tonkin when attacked.

The Chinese protest said the attack was definitely not an isolated case. It said "this is one of a repeated series of war provocative steps committed by the American imperialists."

Mrs. Hughes' Rites Tuesday

Services for Mrs. Sallie Mae Hughes, 76, will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Lancaster, with interment in the Edgewood Cemetery. Local arrangements were under the direction of River-Welch Funeral Home.

Mrs. Hughes died Sunday night in a local rest home. She was born Nov. 10, 1889 in Canton, and she had made her home here for the past six months with Mrs. A. C. Redman, a daughter.

Prior to coming here she had lived for 38 years in Lancaster. Her husband, Lee H. Hughes, died in 1961.

She was a member of the Presbyterian faith and a member of the Rebekah Lodge.

Survivors in addition to Mrs. Redman, include another daughter, Mrs. W. H. Denham, Abilene; two sons, Herbert H. Hughes, Dallas, and Lee H. Hughes, Lancaster. There are three grandchildren, three brothers and three sisters.

Kiwanians Will Meet Wednesday

Big Spring Kiwanis Club will not meet Thursday at the Hotel Settles as is its custom. Instead, members are asked to be at the Cosden Country Club at noon on Wednesday to hear an address by Jack Justice. Justice is president of the National Association of Realtors.

For the benefit of Kiwanians who are unable to attend the Wednesday luncheon, a round-table session at noon Thursday will be held in the Settles Coffee Shop.

This permits members to maintain their perfect attendance record.

Archduke Sits With Economists

TOKYO (AP) — Archduke Otto of Hapsburg sat today among an international gathering of economists meeting in Tokyo to discuss economic growth in a free society.

The archduke, son of the last Austrian emperor and an exile from his country since 1919, arrived in Tokyo Sunday night with his wife, Regina.

Some 60 scholars from West Germany, Britain, Italy, the United States, France and India are attending the session.

Jaycees Aid Weary Travelers

Mrs. Ron English, wife of the Jaycee publicity chairman, helps Frank Konvicka of Snyder refresh with a soft drink at the Jaycee-sponsored "rest stop" on the San Angelo Highway (US 87 south) to help holiday drivers to relax. HCJC Frosh To Report

Freshman orientation will be held in the Howard County Junior College from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Tuesday, marking the beginning of the 21st year for the college.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president urged all who plan to begin studies at the college this fall to be on hand for the orientation session.

"This has nothing to do with college entrance," he said. "It is for the purpose of helping the faculty to know how best to help young people who enroll here. Some are hesitant to attend the orientation because they fear it might somehow keep them out of college. Under Texas law, any graduate of an accredited Texas high school is eligible to enter any college."

During Tuesday afternoon, from 1 to 4 o'clock, there will be a special period of registration for sophomore students at the Dora Roberts SUB.

Freshman registration at HCJC is set for 8 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday. General registration will be from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

General registration continues Thursday for sophomores, freshmen who did not make the first day sign-up, and for all others taking work for the fall semester. The time schedule will be the same as for Wednesday. Classes begin Friday at 8 a.m.

There is no way of telling how enrollment will stack up, but Dr. Hunt is hopeful that it will exceed 1,000 as it did last autumn. B. M. Keese, registrar, said there were more transcripts of credits on hand than before, but whether this means more enrollees or better response to appeals for clearing transcripts remains to be seen. At 2 p.m. Tuesday bids will be opened on furniture for the new library and science buildings.

Shots Fired Into Pool Entrance

Someone fired 13 hollow-point .22-caliber slugs into the door and window of the building which houses the city swimming pool entrance in the City Park, police said Monday.

The incident was reported shortly before noon Sunday by J. B. Wetzel, Apartment 216, 1905 E. 25th, golf professional at the park.

He told investigating officers he had no idea who did the shooting nor why it was done.

Stormy Weather Skips Over State

By The Associated Press

Downpours of up to five inches drenched scattered points from the Red River to the Rio Grande Sunday while a tornado funnel and a waterspout were sighted along the Texas coast.

Between four and five inches of rain sent water swirling over U.S. Highway 54 about two miles south of Newman in far West Texas as Las Cruces, N.M., 35 miles to the northwest, was hit by a torrential downpour that washed cars off the streets, sent four feet of water through a motel, and knocked out power.

Heavy showers, which continued early today, hit El Paso but no damage was reported. The thunderstorm activity preceded a cool front that today pushed deep into the state. Arthur City reported 2.68 inches; Paris 2.67, Hagansport 2.32, Deport 2.10, Texarkana Dam 1.90, Maud 1.87, Sulphur Springs 1.77, Pine Springs 1.69, Naples 1.62, Kaufman 1.55, Downing 1.53.

Winnboro 1.43, Telephone and Gilmer 1.35, DeKalb 1.34, Quitman 1.27, Trenton 1.20, Emory 1.15, and Boxelder 1.01.

Rocksprings in Southwest Texas had a three-inch downpour while Brackettville, near the Rio Grande had 1.85.

A water spout was sighted in the Gulf of Mexico near Port Lavaca and a tornado funnel was seen near Indianola in Calhoun County but no damage was reported. Port Lavaca received .91 of an inch of rain within an hour.

The forecasts called for clear to partly cloudy skies over the state with widely scattered thundershowers in Central and West Texas today.

Maximum temperatures today were expected to be about the same as Sunday when they ranged from 79 degrees at San Angelo and Alpine to 102 at Laredo.

Highways were fairly well loaded with motorists, but the big rush on the roads was expected to develop later today as weekend vacationists begin their treks home.

Traffic was light, parking spaces abundant.

Some stores were operating but apparently most retail outlets were closed.

No community observance of the holiday was contemplated. There was a Permian Basin labor picnic scheduled in Odessa.

Many Big Springers were out of town—taking advantage of the last weekend before the school sessions open to get in some visiting, fishing or sight-seeing.

Farm Survey Is Slated

Rural route carriers operating out of Howard County post offices are beginning Sept. 14 with the annual distribution of acreage survey cards.

This is a project of the Department of Agriculture, and the post office department assists each year in carrying it out.

The rural mail carriers in the several post offices leaves the cards in certain mail boxes on their routes. Farmers are asked to provide the information needed and return the cards.

From these cards, the USDA collects information on which state acreage estimates are made.

Announcement has been made by Travis Russell, postmaster of Ackery, that J. L. Rudeseal, Rt. 1 carrier will assist with the survey on his route. Sussie Mae Harrell, Knott postmaster, has reported that Mrs. L. M. Thornton, Rt. 1, and Clyde Payne, Star Rt., will cooperate in that area. Other offices are making similar arrangements.

The course is presented by the University of Texas, division of extension, distributive education department, in cooperation with the Texas Education Agency. Sponsoring the course is the Texas Oil Jobbers Association. The fee is $4.

Instructor will be C. E. "Slick" Reeves, supervisory and management training specialist on the staff of the distributive education department at UT.

The sessions are designed as a refresher course for service station managers and their key people. Covered in the four divisions of the course are management of men, premises, finances and sales.

For further information, contact K. H. McGibbon, George Oldham or Tommy Gage.

Interstate System Is Changing Patterns Of Towns

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Five years ago, the country north of Abilene, Kan., was all farmland. Today it has a new crop — motels, gas stations and drive-ins. Once US Highway 40 ran through Abilene, a town of 8,000 in central Kansas and the town where former President Dwight D. Eisenhower grew up. Then along came Interstate 70, part of the nation's 41,000-mile interstate highway system, on which the federal government is lavishing more than $50 billion. About 21,500 miles of the nationwide system are open now, including Interstate 70, between Topeka, Kan., and Denver, Colo., and passes one mile north of Abilene. The rest of the interstate system is to be open by 1972. Many motels, restaurants and gas stations along the old road through Abilene have closed. Some have new locations along the interstate route. And new ones have sprung up in the farmlands. An Associated Press survey indicated the nation's new highway system is doing for some communities just what the railroads did 100 years ago. Cities along the main highways are growing; small ones further back are having trouble. "Nearly everybody agrees that a new highway in his area provides an economic shot in the arm," says Robert Conway, an assistant director of the Massachusetts Department of Commerce and Development. California studied the effects of an Interstate 5 bypass on Dunsmuir, a small forest town in northern Siskiyou County, and concluded: "Generally, bypass studies reveal that business in a community will drop in the first six months after the bypass opening. Then it will slowly recover, and in most cases surpass its former level. The process may take about two years — sometimes longer. Sometimes recovery is immediate, and sometimes there is no drop at all." Many small towns have found that the new highway is that big industry they've been awaiting.

"The interstate is the biggest industry in Wakeeney," says Roy Hollingshead, a cafe owner in the Kansas town. "The highway is why we're here. Wakeeney nearly died until it came out to the highway," says Bill Gaschler, who has a gas station there. New industries have been attracted by the highways. Motels, restaurants, plants and housing developments have sprung up along Interstate 83, from Harrisburg, Pa., to the Maryland line, where a spokesman refers to the economic growth as "little short of phenomenal."

Along the John F. Kennedy Memorial Highway in Delaware, new businesses and industries employing about 1,100 persons, have opened, and a plant, to employ 200, is being built. In Tifton, Ga., bank president John Parkerson says: "I think you could count at least 1,000 jobs here that we can attribute directly to Interstate 75."

All types of development — commercial, industrial and residential — have picked up in Redlands, Calif., with completion of a freeway. Population has jumped from 26,000 to 34,000. "We've had a building boom," says the Redlands city manager, Ralph Merritt. "Completion of the freeway has had a very strong impact on the community."

The Pocono resort area in eastern Pennsylvania has experienced a marked upsurge in tourist travel, particularly from New York and vicinity. But in Pueblo, Colo., a motel owner complains: "The freeway lands a great many tourists in Colorado Springs who would have stopped in Pueblo." Downtown areas are regaining business. In Zanesville, Ohio, City Manager Samuel Gray says the interstate bypass was a salvation. "On old US 40, motorists had no alternative but to go through the main section of town," he says. "If this had continued, the downtown section wouldn't have survived."

Brownwood Will Honor Top Sergeant

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — The man the enlisted soldier can turn to easiest will get all the honors Brownwood can bestow later this month when this Central Texas city honors William O. Woodruff.

Woodruff is the new sergeant major of the Army, a newly created post with many purposes — the main ones to listen to soldiers' gripes and to use enlisted brainpower in military matters. The honors Sept. 28 will be an enlisted men's show. For instance, he will be accompanied to his home town by Edward G. Baldwin, sergeant major of the 4th Army. But they will be flying in the plane of Lt. Gen. Thomas W. Dunn, 4th Army commander.

Woodruff was born in Shawnee, Okla., but his family moved to Brownwood when he was 3 years old and he attended school here. During World War II, he was with the 1st Infantry Division, landing at Normandy on D-Day. He held various assignments after that, and was in Viet Nam when he was selected for the new position from among 4,700 senior noncommissioned officers of the Army.

Now he has an office in the Pentagon directly across the hall from Gen. Harold Johnson, the Army Chief of Staff.

In addition to masses of mail he receives from enlisted men, he has called conferences with groups of them, hoping for better ideas for running the Army from the men who know it closest.

The honors will include a luncheon at which his sister, Mrs. Opal Reynolds of Brownwood, will be a guest. His father, William R. Woodruff, also resides here but is ill.

A downtown parade will be held at 3 p.m. with a 4:30 p.m. formal retreat parade for the ceremony of lowering the flag at the end of the day.

Among those in the parade will be the Jeep Mounted Band from the 1st Armored division at Ft. Hood, a platoon from the 1st Armored, a Women's Army Corps drill team from Ft. Sill, Okla., and Texas National Guardsmen.

Claims Troop Reduction Plans Are Embarrassing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thruston B. Morton assailed the Senate Democratic leadership today for "embarrassing" President Johnson by proposing a reduction in the U.S. troop commitment to Europe.

Morton, who heads the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, took the lead in an attempt to force hearings on a resolution offered by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Democratic Policy Committee members to put the Senate on record favoring a cutback in North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces.

"The proposal at this time is untimely and embarrassing to the commander in chief," Morton said in an interview. "I am upset and concerned that the Democratic leadership is so little disciplined that it would come out with a proposal like this.

"If we do this — and we won't — Europe would consider NATO as going down the drain and the rest of the world would think we were concerned only with Vietnam," the Kentucky Republican said.

An Associated Press canvass disclosed that of 65 senators willing to take a public position at this time, 48 favor early withdrawal of some American troops from Europe while 17 oppose the action as likely to have far-reaching adverse consequences.

Morton and 11 other Republicans, along with five Democrats, sided with President Johnson, who has made it clear that he does not want Senate action on the issue while delicate efforts are under way to revamp NATO after France's troop withdrawal.

Thirty-two Democrats and six Republicans say they think the time has come for Western Europe to bear a large share of the burden of its defense.

Among them Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.; Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa.; John J. Sparkman, D-Ala.; and Vance Hartke, D-Ind., said they believe any withdrawal ought to be geared to a reduction in Soviet troop strength in Eastern Europe.

Mansfield says he intends to call the resolution before the Senate without resorting to committee hearings. But he ran into unexpected opposition from Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Dirksen said too much was involved for any "shot in the dark" action. He called for hearings to explore the implications of the action.

His stand was supported by Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Hickenlooper, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the Mansfield resolution should go to the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Crude Bomb Wrecks Office Of Red Paper

NEW YORK (AP) — A crude bomb exploded Sunday at the offices of the Communist newspaper, the Worker, wrecking a basement room and shattering windows, including a number of stained-glass ones in a church across the street.

There were no injuries. Police said the pipe bomb, 10 to 12 inches long and probably filled with gunpowder, was detonated in the basement area of the three-story brownstone building. The church damaged was the Serbian Orthodox Cathedral of St. Sava.

A party spokesman blamed the blast on the "fanatical, fascist ultra-right" now inflamed by the Johnson war policy.

Henry Winston, national chairman of the Communist party, said the FBI should have known who planted the bomb because it "has long had the building under every known form of surveillance for 24 hours a day."

Newspaper Pacts Settled, Publication Begins Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — The strong competitive struggle with the Post.

The World Journal Tribune, which originally had scheduled publication to start April 25, reached settlements with the last of the nine craft unions Saturday — the 132nd day of the publication holdup.

Agreements were reached one by one Saturday with six unions — drivers, mailers, electricians, machinists, paperhandlers and photoengravers. The printers, stereotypers and pressmen had settled earlier.

The agreement with the stereotypers is tentative and subject to ratification at a membership meeting next Sunday.

Officers of the Newspaper Guild of New York, which has not reached a new settlement with the corporation, has said its members are ready to go to work without a contract, if necessary, and settle any remaining differences later.

John E. Green, vice president of the World Journal Tribune Inc., said Saturday there were "no substantial issues" involving the Guild, and negotiations with the union would be held this week.

John J. Gaherin, president of the Publishers Association of New York City, of which the new corporation is a member, said after the last craft union settlement: "I see no reason why we can't make the 12th" — the target date for publication.

The World Journal Tribune had reached agreements with all of the 10 newspaper unions except the pressmen by July 13.

Then on Aug. 15 the corporation announced it had dropped plans to publish the Herald Tribune — the third paper in the merger — as a morning newspaper.

Agreement between the new corporation and the pressmen came Aug. 26.

It then became necessary for the corporation to renegotiate some contract issues with the nine unions that had settled before the death of the Tribune.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Basket Liner Helps You Tend To Knitting

Dear Heloise:

I made a denim lining with seven pockets for a wicker wastebasket.

Two long pockets hold the knitting needles, one holds two toothbrush containers for crochet hooks, and one a ruler.

The others are wide pockets to hold all the accessories that a knitter uses, such as pins, markers, tape measure, etc.

Two pairs of scissors hang from a metal hook tied through the wicker with a piece of yarn.

This basket is always near at hand when I'm knitting, keeps everything in one place, and the basket is not out of tune with my living room. . . . Mrs. Christine Stutz

I didn't know it, so I'm glad you told me!

After reading about wetting fingertips before putting nylons on, I thought you might be interested in my way.

I put my nylons on in the bathroom where my hand lotion is handy. I spray a small amount of lotion into my hand, massage it over one foot, working it in particularly around heels and toes. I rub surplus lotion into my hands, put one nylon on and then proceed with the other foot.

New Loan Program To Help Students

(Editor's Note: Texas college students have access this year to two revolutionary "go now, pay later" programs that may bring higher education within the grasp of virtually every qualified youngster, regardless of his financial status. One educator says that the programs are more significant than the GI Bill. Here is a report.)

By TOM JOHNSON
By The Associated Press

Two revolutionary loan programs are expected to put some $15 million in the hands of Texas college students this year as a new era of "go now, pay later" educational financing begins.

"If it works out like it should, it will far exceed the GI Bill in significance," said Dr. Carroll V. Galbreath, officer in charge of the Dallas regional office, federal bureau of higher education.

LONG-TERM

He was speaking of the Guaranteed Loan Program, a federal plan whereby students can secure long-term loans from banks and other lending institutions.

Also in effect for the first time this fall is the Texas Opportunity Plan, a state-operated loan program that makes state monney available for needy students. Both plans allow undergraduates to borrow up to $1,000 a year, not to exceed 5,000. For graduate students, the figures are $1,500 a year, with a $7,500 ceiling. Interest is 6 per cent in both cases.

Perhaps the main difference, aside from the origin of the money, is that the federal plan is not based on "need" criteria. It has therefore been a bit more popular with students who have so far made application, education officials said.

TIGHT MONEY

But there is a rub: some banks around the state have been reluctant to make such 6 per cent loans because of the tight money market generally.

Most banks have raised their so-called "prime rate" to 6 per cent, which means that most loans would be at an interest rate of more than 6 per cent.

"Before the increase, bankers were in a position to just about break even on these (student) loans," said Ray Fowler, assistant commissioner for the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

"Raising the interest rate has probably erased any profit they might have made," he said.

TO COOPERATE

However, a spokesman for the Texas Bankers Association said the group was "committed to cooperate fully with the program." He explained that banks stand to gain long-range customers and to provide a needed public service, even if they won't make any profits.

Another bottleneck experienced with the federal program at some colleges has been a shortage of forms, which are essential to putting in motion the paperwork associated with governmental projects.

Both state and federal forms arrived late at the University of Houston.

"That is our whole trouble—late arrival," said Mrs. Georgia Robinson, director of student loans at Houston.

She added that bank cooperation with a federal plan is becoming "more and more difficult" except when handled through hometown banks.

OPTIMISM

Regardless of initial problems, though, federal and state education officials express optimism over the new programs.

"We feel confident that most Texas banks will make the loans, once they fully understand the program," said Mack C. Adams, financial aid officer at Southern Methodist University.

Edward Carpenter, in a similar position at the University of Texas, had this to say of the banks' cooperation:

"Some will, some won't. It's up to the student wanting to get the loan to 'contact the bank.'"

Although preliminary figures were not available, indications are that the Republic National Bank of Dallas is the pace-setter in this field among the state's banks.

A Republic spokesman said it was the bank's policy to be "anxious and willing" to grant the student loans.

The coordinating board, which supervises both programs in Texas, has designated United Student Aid Funds, Inc. (USAF), as the guaranteeing agency for the bank loans in the federal plan.

171 BANKS

USAF spokesman in New York said that late in August, 171 Texas banks had agreed to participate in the program.

Fowler said it was expected that the state program would loan $10 million this year, and the federal plan almost $5 million.

4-B Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Monday, Sept. 5, 1966

He estimates that 60,000 students will seek $15 million in the federal program alone this year, although only about one-third of that figure will be available.

Both of the new programs are independent of the National Defense Student Loan program, which has been in effect since 1958. It remains unchanged.

Under the state plan, repayment of the loan begins four months after the student leaves school. Monthly payments may extend over five years, at 6 per cent interest.

Repayment under the federal program begins nine months after the student finishes or quits school, and the installments may span 10 years. If the family income of the student is under $15,000 a year, the federal government pays a substantial portion of the interest.

These "college on credit" plans supplement a vast array of existing programs that offer scholarships, grants, employment opportunities and other forms of aid.

But the new programs are designed to help all college students, not just the highly gifted or the obviously impoverished. George D. Hann, director of the Dallas regional office of the U. S. Office of Education, had this to say about the new loan opportunities:

"Any kid can now walk into a college with his hat and coat, plus a desire and average ability, and make it."

Lubbock Man's Body Found

NEW BUFFALO, Mich. (AP)—The body of Howard McInroe, one of three Texas men missing on a flight from Lubbock to Detroit, Mich., was found on the shore of Lake Michigan Sunday.

The body, washed ashore near Lakeside, was positively identified by the Central Air Rescue Command from papers found in the pockets.

Officials said the body was badly mutilated and appeared to have been in the water for some time.

No trace has been found of the other two occupants of a light plane that disappeared Aug. 24 after it left Springfield, Ill., for Detroit.

They were Jack Goodman, the pilot and president of the G&G Construction Co., and Cody Corbell. The three were enroute to Detroit to attend a church meeting.

Between 150 and 200 planes have been involved in the 10-day search that covered portions of five states, making it one of the most extensive air rescue searches ever held in the Midwest.

About 20 pilots from Texas, business associates and friends of the three men, have taken part in the search.

Wet Holiday In New England

Labor Day opened on a wet note in New England today and scattered showers sprinkled the Southern tier of states from Arizona to the Atlantic. Skies were clear elsewhere.

South Weymouth, Mass., reported 2.59 inches of rain in six hours Sunday. Similar rainfall amounts were recorded in several other spots in New England and New York State.

Thundershowers fell in isolated locations along the southernmost row of states. North winds kept Great Lakes states temperatures low.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 47 at Arcata, Calif., to 89 at Blythe, Calif.

Solar Flare Hits Radios

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—The most potent sun flare in nearly six years has wrought havoc with long-range radio transmission throughout the world.

The flare, an explosion on the sun which sends a stream of electromagnetic particles through the earth's atmosphere, began Friday. Physicists at the Institute for Telecommunication Sciences and Aeronomy at Boulder say it should be about over.

The flare was rated Class Two on a zero to four-point scale. Although a Class Four is the biggest flare, the rating is based on a visible measure of its area. The recent flare is not the biggest, but the strongest since about 1960.

Dale B. Bucknam, a physicist for the Space Disturbance Laboratory at the institute, reported such sun activity is on the increase in an 11-year cycle of solar disturbances. He said 1964 was "the year of the quiet sun" and that activity will increase until 1967-68, slowing down after that to complete the cycle in 1975.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

AKJ94 AKJ862 43

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North

1 2 Pass 2

Pass

What action do you take?

A—Three diamonds, intending to bid and rebid hearts if circumstances permit. It is not necessary to take any more drastic action at this particular time inasmuch as a game forcing signal has already been flashed.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

AK2 QK103 QK5 4Q72

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South

1 4 Pass ?

What do you bid?

A—One heart, with two hearts as a very close second choice. A three no trump bid is tempting, however, the top limit of that call is 18 points. On this hand, however, we have an additional ten and the added factor that the queen of clubs, in view of partner's bid, is apt to be worth more than the two points normally assigned to it. While our preference has been for an approach bid, we would not look down our noses at anyone who chose a three no trump bid.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

AK874 Q92 73 QK62

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North

1 4 Dble. Pass 1 4

What do you bid now?

A—Your double is of minimum proportions, and it is not appropriate for you to make a free raise. If partner has any constructive values, he will act again and a delayed raise by you will indicate that you had no distinct excess values.

Q. 4—Your partner has opened with one spade, and you hold:

KJ842 Q765 92 AK53

What is your response?

A—Two spades. This is an evenly balanced hand and is worth only eight points in support of spades. It is, therefore, just a raise.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

AJ92 Q64 Q83 A7642

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass 1 7 Dble. Pass

2 7 Pass 2 4 Pass

What do you bid now?

A—A raise to three spades is clearly indicated. Up to this point you have promised no values whatsoever, and yet you have distinct support for partner who has shown a very fine hand by doubling first and then bidding at the level of two later.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

A1052 Q1097 QAJ92 4AJ

The bidding has proceeded:

East South

1 NT ?

What do you bid?

A—Pass. This hand does not measure up to the requirements for a double of one no trump. The take-out double should have a hand presumably as strong as the one he has doubled. To double one no trump, therefore, he should hold at least 16 points.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:

AJ72 QAJ94 QK93 46

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South

Pass 1 4 ?

What do you bid?

A—We recommend a trap pass, as calculated to produce the best results in the long run. A take-out double might result in an awkward situation if partner responds two clubs.

Q. 8—As South you hold:

A Devotional For The Day

Follow my example as I follow Christ's. (1 Corinthians 11:1, NEB)
PRAYER: O God, our Creator, we offer ourselves afresh to Thee, thanking Thee for Christ, the author and perfecter of our faith. Inspire us, guide us, and work through us that we may glorify Thy holy name. For His sake. Amen.

Idle Talk

Political columnists who run out of anything else to write about and others with vested interest in the political fortunes of Sen. Robert Kennedy have been grinding out thousands of words of speculation over the relative showings of President Johnson and Sen. Kennedy in the popularity polls.

When Sen. Kennedy's index rose above that of the President, they began to conjecture over the possibility of Democrats dumping the President in favor of Sen. Kennedy in the 1968 elections. This is a lot of fantasy divorced from reality. First of all, any President is pinned to the rise and fall of issues of the day, to the joys and the frustrations of the moment. Anyone not in that spot is hardly on the record, at least not in the public mind.

Not in this century has a President

Dignity Of Work

The nation pauses today to pay proper respects to labor.

There may be a tendency to equate labor with organized or unorganized work forces. Actually, labor involves all area of endeavor, but particularly that outside of the generally recognized professions. Once upon a time, labor was associated with muscular work, but in today's complex and sophisticated society, this is no longer true. Labor generally is that element which has to do with the making of something or the performing of a service.

None can deny the importance of this factor. It is purely academic to say that without labor nothing could be produced, just as it would to say the same about management or other elements of our economic system.

The important thing is that in observing Labor Day, we recognize the dignity and the necessity of work. We must maintain this attitude toward human effort, for this is the key to material and most other progress.

David Lawrence Too Many Foreign Policy Experts

WASHINGTON — There seem to be dozens of secretaries of state nowadays inside Congress who are trying to run the foreign policy of the United States. As delicate a subject as the number of American troops to be kept on duty in Europe is pushed into the open by proposing a Senate resolution calling on the administration to reassess the military situation there and bring several divisions home.

IT IS INCONCEIVABLE — that, in these days of large payments to countries outside the United States involving a steady outflow of gold, there should be any lack of consideration of the entire problem by the administration here. But the senators, who have every means of learning instantly from the Department of State and the Defense Department why their idea is inexpedient and unwise, did not do this. Instead, they gave the whole matter a worldwide publicity and stirred up new worries in the field of diplomacy. It is extremely difficult for foreign policy to be conducted in such a confused way.

THE ADMINISTRATION was quick to let it be known that it doesn't favor the reduction of American troops in Europe at this time but that some day it might give further attention to this question when the problem of reorganizing the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is solved and there is a clear idea of what the European members plan to do to increase their own forces.

WHILE IT IS true that other NATO countries have not met their troop commitments, the problem isn't going to be simplified — but rather intensified — if the United States starts to pull out. What effect would this have on Soviet policy? What would be the impact on the Communist bloc nations, some of whose people have

Billy Graham

Would it be wrong for me to go out with a boy with a bad reputation — in things other than sex — and did my best to change him? Would not do anything wrong?
J. S.

It's better to buy a horse that is already broken than to catch a wild horse and train him.

Experience has shown that good little girls very seldom "change" bad little boys. I do not doubt that you would do your best, but usually the best of efforts fail in this department.

Admitted, there is something about a boy with a bad reputation which appeals to the mother instinct in girls. They have a sincere desire to change them. But it takes a stronger than average girl to manage a reform school. The "change," as a rule, is in the girl — not the boy.

Are good boys so scarce that this boy with the bad reputation is your only hope? Surely not! Girls can afford to take a little time in choosing a life mate, for marriage is an indissoluble contract. Don't gamble away your future on a poor risk.

Be kind to the boy; use your influence to help him; but don't take him to raise!

The Bible warns about being "unequally" yoked!

Off-Sunk Sailor

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — An ex-seaman is going back to sea in his own sailboat.

Conrad Gustafson, 68, has embarked on traveling through the inland waterway system to Miami on a 14-foot boat that he built.

He named the boat "Alice" after his wife.

Shipwrecked four times during his career as a seaman, Gustafson was born in Gefle, Sweden. He took to the sea at age 14 and sailed on various vessels until the 1920s when he came to the United States.

In 1919, after a ship bound from South America to Copenhagen sank, he was among five crew members of 19 who were able to get off the sinking craft. The five sailed 500 miles before they were rescued.

Editorials and Opinion The Big Spring Herald

Around The Rim

A Downtown Oasis

This and that:
Fresno, Calif., a thriving city of 160,000, went Big Spring one better in dressing up its downtown.

In the heart of the city has been built an oasis of shade trees, flowers, fountains and impressive art works—a place where commerce is carried on in the atmosphere of a park.

SIX BLOCKS of one of the principal arteries has been sealed off from automobile traffic. Honking horns, roaring engines and squealing brakes have been replaced by splashing water. The scent of flowers has supplanted the odor of exhaust fumes and statuary, benches and leafy vistas have gone down where sidewalks, curbs and traffic lanes used to be.

Many of the shops located on the mall actually reported increases in business, even while construction was going on. No business failures have since been reported in the area. The mall cost $1.8 million.

WHEN THE NEWS gets dull, you can always count on some enterprising news agency to try and liven it up. The Loch Ness monster has kept that part of Scotland in the newspapers for years.

Now rumors are being circulated about a 25-foot-tall ape living deep in the Malaysian jungle. The stories are being printed in newspapers in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

The stories tell of biped footprints 18 inches long and four inches deep near a place called Segamat.

THE MALAY MAIL said there is talk of a shy, harmless giant called the "Mawas Jarang Gigi" (jagged-toothed gorilla) living in the jungle.

A militia sergeant, who probably was dreaming on leave in Kuala Lumpur, claims to have seen the animal. He insists it is black and hairy, with red eyes.

Probably a sportsman who got into a marathon poker game and was kept awake trying to think up a story to tell his wife on why he lost.

I LIKE THE direct approach of that candidate for Democratic nomination for governor of Arizona, who told a group recently:

"I'm not going to talk about the other candidates because you know what scoundrels they are."

The Johnson Treatment—Soft Variety

WASHINGTON — This country now has two hot war sets of enemies, and President Johnson speaks softly to them both.

One enemy, the Black one, attacks us in the streets. The other enemy, the Red one, fights us in Asia and schemes everywhere to be our undoing.

WE OUGHT, I think, to take note of the themes which Mr. President has been striking in his weekend appearances around the country. When he goes among the people, he often puts into words the ideas which, in Washington, are called his policies.

On Saturday, Aug. 20, LBJ went into New England where, said the New York Times account, he gave "a stern yet compassionate warning to demonstrators across the country." It was compassionate all right. The President told Negroes and other rioters that they "have the right to protest the condition of their lives . . . a vicious circle of poverty." But the sternness of the rebuke was a wrist-slap remark. The President declared that the demonstrators ought not "injure the person or property of others in making that protest."

IT WAS A PRETTY low-keyed Commander-in-Chief's reaction to the embattled state of our cities, where the beaten-back police have now been re-enforced by the National Guard, and where a good many municipal authorities have more than hinted at Communist infiltration.

A WEEK afterwards, Saturday, Aug. 27, the President addressed himself to the overseas enemy, but in a manner so devious that it nearly passed unnoticed. Let us hear near Idaho Falls, Idaho, in a plea to the Soviet Union with a postscript to Red China, "abandon the dogmas and vocabularies of the cold war" and work out "a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons and make it possible for all countries to refrain . . . I believe we can find acceptable compromise language on which we can all agree."

PRESIDENT JOHNSON, we may suspect, is about where President Kennedy was when the latter launched his push for the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty in the summer of 1963. Sad to recall, Mr. Kennedy moved to that treaty on the wobbly legs of mortification and defeat.

WHAT NOW with President Johnson? He knows he can win in Viet Nam, but the country is getting impatient as the casualties mount, and another election is approaching. He paused in Idaho at the National Reactor Testing Station and ran up a signal. It proclaimed he was willing to consider negotiation on a subject where the Communists might agree—but only, as we should know by now, if the time, the terms, the technology are to their advantage and against our own.

One enemy goes Black, another flaunts itself Red, but perhaps they are one and the same. Anyhow, they received on successive weekends the same Johnson Treatment of a very soft kind.

Texas Business

Sharp Break Noted During July

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas business activity dipped 4 per cent in July, the sharpest break since last fall and the second sharpest since 1963, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research says.

Fifteen of 20 cities studied showed a decline from June to July. All but two cities were ahead of their scores for the first seven months of 1965.

The drop represented a clearly defined but not surprising retreat from this spring's record highs in Texas business. After two months of unparalleled pressure on Texas' productive capacities, the let-up was seen in all the state's largest metropolitan areas," the bureau said.

BY MOST standards, the bureau said, Texas business remains well ahead of last year's record performance. Residential building has begun to dip because of tight money, but July nonresidential construction permits totaled higher than any previous month's.

The Texas oil production index reached its highest point since the Suez Canal crisis of June 1967.

Unemployment was below last July's level, "well below," the rate for the most of the nation "and may be close to irreducible in many cities," the report said.

"THE ONLY perennially high unemployment rates among Texas larger cities are recorded in areas along the middle and lower Rio Grande Valley, where many would-be workers register for employment without benefit of salable skills and in towns that are lacking in large-scale industrial development. Some of these persons could probably find work in other parts of Texas, though some may be hopelessly handicapped by lack of skills," the report said.

DESPITE inflation, the bureau said, workers in Texas manufacturing industries were making slight headway in the wage-price race, with average earnings this year up to 4 per cent from the same period of 1965 while living expenses were up about 8 per cent.

Food prices rose 3 per cent nationally from June to July, the report said. They climbed 4.6 per cent in Dallas and 4.9 per cent in Houston.

"The stronger upturn in the Texas cities was apparently due in large part to price increases for dairy products, which had risen 15.2 per cent from a year earlier in Houston, 12.4 per cent in Dallas, far more than any other food category. The gain, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, was mainly attributable to higher milk prices," the bureau said.

THE JUNE to July variation in business activity in cities with a decline was: Abilene and Amarillo 1 per cent, Austin 4, Beaumont 6, Corpus Christi 4, Dallas 2, El Paso 4, Fort Worth 2, Houston 7, Lubbock 2, Port Arthur 4, Texarkana 1 and Wichita Falls 3 per cent.

The change, in cities with an increase, was Galveston, 1 per cent, San Angelo 5, Tyler 3, and Waco 4 per cent. Corsicana and San Antonio had a change of less than 1 per cent.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

An eloquent plea by President Johnson for an end to civil violence seems to have been written on the wind. Principals may have heard, but they have not heeded, the message.

"The poor suffer twice at the rioter's hands," Johnson said, "first, when his destructive fury scars their neighborhoods; second, when the atmosphere of accommodation and consent is changed to one of hostility and resentment."

The disciples of civil disobedience, of peaceable demonstration in the tradition of Henry David Thoreau and Mohandas Gandhi have been far outnumbered, particularly among Negro leaders. Even the moderates are being overwhelmed or silenced by the militants.

Perhaps it will do no good to remind the rioters that violence is self-defeating. Lost in their emotional involvement, they have not considered the ultimate consequences of their action, one which pits whites and Negroes in physical combat with the end inevitable and foredoomed as surely as in a Greek tragedy.

Army Lays Plans

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N. M. (AP) — The Army will bury its missile graveyard here.

Army officials said the 10 acres in which spent missiles are dumped will be cleared. The bent missile fins, crushed nose cones and jagged pieces of missile bodies will be pushed into an excavation and covered with desert sand.

The Army said that in the future recovered missile parts will be stripped of classified or hazardous components and sold for salvage.

'WELL, HERE WE ARE IN THE SAME SHELL HOLE'

Forecast Of Fatalities National Safety Council Plays It Safe

CHICAGO (AP) — One of the safer places to work is an office that occupies the fourth and fifth floors of a red brick, warehouse-type building at 425 N. Michigan Ave. in Chicago.

It's the GHQ of the National Safety Council. Its 375 employees once went 3½ years without a disabling injury — from March 17, 1958, to Sept. 23, 1963. The organization gave itself its own Award of Honor, a plaque signifying more than three million manhours without an accident that sent anybody home.

SHE SLIPPED
The marathon ended when somebody spilled coffee on the floor, a girl slipped on the wet spot and fell. The council, typically, arranged that thereafter coffee would be carried on a tray in a cup capped by a plastic cover.

This safety-conscious team usually is out of the mind of the general public except on holidays — such as the current Labor Day weekend — for which it issues estimates on the number of Americans who will die in traffic accidents.

A few days in advance of such occasions H. Gene Miller, director of statistics, and his aides study trends in fatalities and travel, check recent holiday driver performance and come up with a probable range.

For the three-day July 4 holiday the estimate was 510 to 610. The Associated Press tally was 576, a record for any summer holiday period.

CLEARING HOUSE
The council is a huge clearing house for information. It applies this accumulated knowledge to current and continuing problems. Much of it is day-in-day-out work. There also are special efforts, such as a recent campaign for seat belts and a forthcoming drive against drinking drivers.

It wasn't drinking drivers but the high loss of life in mills and factories that brought the council into being. The National Council for Industrial Safety, as it was known then, opened headquarters Oct. 13, 1913, in two small rooms in Chicago. It had a staff of two — William H. Cameron, managing director, and a $14-a-week secretary. It had in hand five checks for a total of $1,400. Cameron had a wife and four children.

NO SALARY
"I went without salary for three months," he once said. "We lived on nickels and dimes."

The small change must have generated a high energy. The wiry Cameron rode the circuit, preaching the gospel of safety, signing members, raising cash.

Once, when the organization had attained size and solvency, he pinned this notice on the bulletin board:

"Worked all day yesterday. Six o'clock flew to St. Louis. Eight o'clock addressed a banquet. Eleven o'clock flew back to Chicago. In office again at eight. What a wonderful world we live in."

Cameron retired in 1942 after 29 years of lively life saving.

DIRECTORS
Council policy is set by a 200-member board of directors. Thirteen are employed directly by automobile manufacturers. But the big majority are in safety work, industry, insurance, the government, universities and the professions. Brooks McCormick, executive vice president of International Harvester Co., is chairman.

Howard Pyle, onetime assistant to President Dwight D. Eisenhower and two-term governor of Arizona, now is in his eighth year as president.

The council theorizes that 2.6 million lives have been saved by safety efforts in three of the four fields under the council's scrutiny — work, public and home accidents (the fourth field is motor vehicles accidents) — since its founding. The figure represents the difference between the actual death total and the toll that would have been recorded if accident rates had stayed as high as they were in 1912.

Statistics-keeping was rather lax during the teens and early 20s, but solid comparisons are available for later years.

In 1928 deaths stacked up this way in totals and deaths per 100,000 population: work, 19,000 or 15.8; home, 30,000 or 24.9; public, 21,000 or 17.4.

In 1965 they totaled 14,100 or 7.3 in the work category, 26,000 or 14.4 in homes; and 19,000 or 9.8 in public — a classification that includes recreation but excludes work and motor vehicle fatalities.

Traffic fatalities in 1965 added up to 23,000 or 23.4 deaths per 100,000 population. In 1965 they totaled 49,000 or 25.3.

But the council contends the number of motor vehicles and the miles they traveled should be taken into consideration. In the period 1928 through 1963 traffic deaths averaged 31,050. There were 38 million drivers and 25.7 million vehicles. They covered 199 billion miles per year. The death rate was 15.6 deaths per 100 million miles of travel.

1965 A RECORD
In 1965 there were a record 49,000 traffic fatalities, 90 million vehicles and 100 million drivers. They traveled a total of 890 billion miles — four times as much mileage as in the earlier period — and the death rate was 5.6 per 100 million miles of travel.

Local and state safety councils number 300. The national council has 9,000 members — companies, organizations, individuals, civic and labor groups, schools and insurance firms. They pay dues on a sliding scale, depending on size. The spread is $5.50 to $2,200 — for a company employing more than 200,000 persons.

push upward through it. This is a hiatal hernia. A "sliding" type is one in which there is considerable tendency for the lower gullet or part of the top of the stomach to slip back and forth.

Yes, stooping over can make this sliding easier to occur.

All that can be done for hiatal hernia makes a rather long story, so I suggest that you send for my booklet, "Hiatal Hernia." (To receive a copy, enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

To learn the five major categories of prostate trouble—symptoms; treatment; how to speed recovery — write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for his booklet, "The Pesky Prostate," enclosing 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has a sliding hiatal hernia in the chest. Please explain this, and what can be done for it. Does stooping ever hurt it? Do you have a booklet on the subject? — MRS. A. P.

True, a hiatal hernia is "in the chest," but just where is important. The esophagus has to pass through the diaphragm to reach the stomach. If this opening is a little too large, the upper part of the stomach can

Blood Donors Sought Here Thursday

Some "don'ts" connected with giving blood have been listed by the Carter Blood Center of Fort Worth, which will send its bloodmobile here Thursday on a mission of mercy for Robert Harrison.

Robert, son of Dr. and Mrs. Preston Harrison, has hemophilia and needs blood to help him over this period of his life. Friends responded generously a year ago.

The bloodmobile will be at the First Presbyterian Church Fellowship hall Thursday starting at 4:30 p.m. and will continue as long as donors come.

Those who can and will be donors should take no alcoholic beverages 24 hours before giving blood; no food four hours before or drugs of any kind 12 hours before giving blood.

Minors under 18 offering blood must have the written consent of their parents or guardian.

Trained crews will be on hand to register donors and to process them as rapidly as possible.

Bond Sales Going Well

Howard County continues to make a good showing on its sale of United States Savings Bonds.

TRAVELER'S OBSERVATIONS

A South Sea Isle Becomes Center Of The Space Age

By HOUSTON HARTE
PAPEETE, Tahiti — This is the headquarters of French Polynesia, a territory of thousands of islands in the South Pacific which the British had in the palm of their hand and let slip away, perhaps because they thought they had too much of the colonial world.

Today Papeete is the capital of French Polynesia. There are 400,000 to 450,000 people on these islands and in this atomic and hydrogen age they are becoming important.

ATOMIC CLUB
This city has become of real importance since De Gaulle has forced himself into the atomic club. He is scheduled to be here soon. What a gala day that will be. Le Grande Charlie is to watch his second explosion in the Pacific. But he will be a piece de resistance for Papeete. He will attract more Polynesians than ever since it became a part of the colonial empire of France.

The French have 5,000 French soldiers and scientists in Papeete. The explosion island has been variously estimated as 600 to 1,000 miles from Tahiti.

The Grand Hotel here has been leased by the French as an officers club. Barracks have been erected overlooking the bay. A hospital is being finished nearby. Schools for the children of French nationals are being completed.

CHINESE RUN IT
The city has been expanded and refurbished. The Chinese are the chief traders here, as throughout the Far East. They own the banks, the large merchandise establishments, the better hotels and much of the downtown business property.

You must be able to trace Tahitian blood in your veins in order to own real estate in Tahiti. The Chinese have been solving this problem for the last several generations. Today there are 12,000 Chinese on the island. They make up the most important segment of the non-native inhabitants.

Tahiti, and much of the South Sea, relatively is of recent discovery as the world goes. Most authorities credit the English navigator Capt. Wallis, in command of the British man of war, Dolphin, as having landed here in June, 1767. He landed, raised the British flag and named the island and its neighbors King George III.

EXPEDITION
In 1769 the British Royal Society sent a scientific expedition to observe the transit of Venus across the disc of the sun, and as Tahiti was in the right position for the observations, it was fixed on as the headquarters of the expedition.

The H.M.S. Endeavour, with Lt. James Cook as commander, was in charge of expedition. He was later known as the celebrated Capt. Cook for whom a whole galaxy of islands was named.

In the space age, 200 years later, these same islands and this area are coming into prominence as contact points for the Gemini flights and for our own and now the French atomic tests. The Society Islands got their name from the Royal Society which sent scientists out to get a good look at the flying Venus.

CHURCHES
Today was Sunday. I visited two Protestant churches this morning. With Mr. and Mrs. Roger S. Swanson we went to a church Swanson had attended on a former visit to Papeete. He is a member of the staff of the Kansas City Star, going to New Zealand on a special assignment. We found the congregation just coming out of the church as we arrived.

Later we attended the Bethel Church. It was a good-looking building, well ventilated by sliding windows which allowed the breeze from the sea to keep the sanctuary cool. There were two rows of 36 benches, a loud speaker system and two ministers. The main speaker was a Tahitian and the apparent assistant pastor a Frenchman. The only thing I recognized in the service was the Lord's Prayer. I interpreted it by the cadence but had to wait until the rest of the congregation caught up as they apparently said "trespass" instead of "debtors."

YOUNG PEOPLE
There were possibly 200 in the congregation. Making a guess it seemed that two-thirds to three-quarters of those present were under 30 years of age. This was an impressive number of young people—much more than we have in Texas. Driving around the city after church it would appear that the Mormon Church was the largest and best ap-

Dies Of Wound

GALVESTON (AP) — Mrs. Sadie Dietrich, 50, of Alvin died Friday of bullet wounds received in her home earlier in the day. Her son, Ernest Cleo Hickman, 23, was charged with murder.

Mysteries About Encephalitis Viruses

NEW YORK (AP) — By the dozens and hundreds, people are falling ill in Texas and the Far East from sudden explosions of so-called "sleeping sickness," and for many the sleep is forever.

This "sleeping sickness" is more precisely known as encephalitis. The cause is a virus which can produce inflammation and destructive changes in the brain and spinal cord — or no real symptoms at all.

Epidemics, such as occurring now, are unusual in the United States.

The virus striking in Texas is a form known as St. Louis encephalitis, where it was first observed some years ago. The virus responsible in Korea and Japan is, presumably, a close relative known as Japanese B encephalitis. Two other related forms that sometimes also strike individuals or in epidemic proportions are Eastern equine and Western equine encephalitis.

There are mysteries still about these viruses.

Birds are apparently the main reservoir of St. Louis encephalitis virus. Mosquitoes of the Culex family are the carriers, transferring the virus from infected birds to humans, and to other animals. Some species of birds die from the virus, while others are not sickened at all, medical texts explain.

Most humans infected by mosquito bites never show any signs of illness, or have generalized symptoms, including fever.

But once in a while, encephalitis bursts forth in epidemic form. Health officials in Texas blame the current outbreak partly upon heavy recent rains that favored the breeding of mosquitoes, and in a counterattack have been spraying an insecticide from airplanes and trucks.

Past epidemics of encephalitis in this country have taken up to a score of lives at a time.

Despite the name "equine" for two forms of the virus, humans do not contract the disease from infected horses, says

Today's Health Guide, published by the American Medical Association. Vaccines are available to protect horses and mules, but similar vaccines are not generally recommended for humans, it adds.

Mild infections, or those that go unnoticed, presumably give people immunity against the virus. Epidemics may occur because people have not been exposed much in the past, and the virus may hit harder at times, says one physician familiar with the disease.

The virus infection can bring on high fever, convulsions and generalized rigidity, headaches, muscle pains and stomach up-sets, and coma and delirium in more severe stages. The Eastern equine form of disease is usually more severe and fulminating or rapid than other varieties, says the Merck Manual, an authoritative medical book for physicians.

And as yet, it adds, there is no specific drug to help victims.

Hit By Lightning

HOUSTON (AP)—Mrs. Vera Alice Prather, 54, was killed by lightning while gathering antique bottles in a dump on the banks of a bayou here Friday.

Great Dane One Of Breeds To Be Shown By Kennel Club

By DAL HERRING
Is he fierce? How much does he eat? Why don't you put a saddle on him and ride him?

These are common questions asked of a Great Dane owner, according to Capt. and Mrs. Donald Lefebvre, 1702 Laurie. The answer to all these questions is NO, she says. "A Dane's appetite is not much more than that of any of the working breeds and certainly not in proportion to their size."

The Lefebvres are among many families preparing their animals for the Big Spring Kennel Club dog show slated Sept. 11, pending approval by the American Kennel Club. The show is set for 1 p.m. in Birdwell Park. Susan, who is two years old, recently had her first litter.

"Anyone in Big Spring wanting to learn more about 'doggin' may find the Kennel Club an answer to his problems," explained Mrs. Lefebvre. "Obedience schools are offered by the club. After 7 1/2 months, I was able to put a 'companion dog' title on our Dane."

Mrs. Lefebvre became interested in Great Danes over the bridge table. "We were playing a farewell foursome in New Jersey before coming to Texas. Our hosts had a beautiful black Dane, and I knew it was the breed for me."

"It was a 'Dane-sized' task to convince my husband that the dog wasn't much larger than his desk, wouldn't eat more than our five children, and could travel in the car with room to spare," she jests.

"The highlight of our trip to Texas was when we registered in a motel and asked if they accepted dogs. The manager's answer was in the affirmative un-

WTCC Wants To Alter Water Plan

LUBBOCK—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which has already made a strong fight for more water in West Texas in previous hearings, will go all out Friday in Lubbock as the Texas Water Development Board holds its final public hearing on the proposed new Texas Water Plan at 9:30 a.m. in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

In five previous hearings, WTCC officers and Water Committee representatives from the chamber have insisted that the Texas Water Development study methods of transferring in-state surplus water to West Texas and have requested the water board's assistance in implementing studies and projects which would bring out of state water to the area.

Jimmy Durante At Carr Dinner

AUSTIN (AP)—Comedian Jimmy Durante will appear at the Waggoner Carr victory kick-off dinner Sept. 19, the eve of the state Democratic convention, program officials said Saturday. Proceeds from the $25 dinner will be used in Carr's Senate race.

Suspects Too Big For Patrol Car

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Officers had to call for a bigger vehicle when they arrested twins Bill and Benny McCrary for burglary. The brothers—who weigh about 450 pounds apiece—wouldn't fit in the squad car. Once in jail, there were more problems. The 19-year-old brothers didn't fit in the narrow cell bunks and had to sleep on the floor.

Stormy Hearings Due To Help Pool

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The stormy sessions of the House Committee on Un-American Activities may help the re-election bid this year of the acting chairman, Rep. Joe Pool, D-Tex.

At least that's the way it looks to one of Pool's Texas colleagues, Rep. Earle Cabell, also a Dallas Democrat.

"How lucky can a guy be," Cabell mused. "Joe couldn't have bought all this good publicity."

Pool presided at the committee's hearing into activities of pro-North Viet Nam groups that brand the United States an aggressor. The sessions were punctuated with heckling, shouting and the physical ejection of spectators and one lawyer for a witness.

The lawyer, one Arthur Kinoy of New York, was ordered by Pool to discontinue a colloquy with the committee and sit down.

When Kinoy did not do so he was forcibly ousted by police who charged him with disorderly conduct.

Kinoy subsequently asserted he intends to sue Pool "for all I can."

As a result of the hearings, Pool has been receiving a large volume of mail. He said 90 per cent approved the way in which he gavelled down the witnesses and their lawyers from using the hearing as a forum to make statements.

The mail from Texas is even more favorable—"about 99 per cent," Pool said.

One of the letters from Texas said: "If you go to jail, I'll go your bail."

The reference was to Pool's having said he would resist until hell froze over the order which a federal judge issued to block the committee from conducting the hearings.

Another letter said: "May God be with you in your gallant stand to preserve America for Americans. Texas heroes include Crockett, Austin, Houston, Bowie and now Joe Pool."

Oddly, the letter came from California. Pool now is congressman-at-large. In November, he will be a candidate for one of the Dallas districts after the state was reapportioned.

Resigns Post
