BROWNSVILLE IS LEFT IN RUINS

TWINKLES
NRA pledge for today: As an American citizen I promise to regard the blue eagle as a blue eagle and not as a chisel-beaked woodpecker.

Those Gulf coast folk who become excited when the winds blow 35 miles an hour never lived in the Panhandle in the spring.

There's one way, however, in which a hurricane exacts a sandstorm—you can predict the coming of the former.

Roswell sportsmen, we read, are organizing to protect the wild life in that section. But not to protect, we infer, the wild men in that section who go about robbing banks and killing officers.

On the basis of reports reaching us, we conclude that Dick Hughes is now a full-fledged toreador, if you get the idea.

A frog, says the Friona Star, was stuck fast in the mud and bemoaning his fate. Then along came a snake, the traditional enemy of Mr. Frog. And Mr. Frog just up and kicked himself free of the mud and left Mr. Snake behind. Moral: Business still has a lot of kicking in its system and can get out of the depression when it is properly aroused.

The way to repeal a law is not to ignore it, but to enforce it so strictly that the people will know unmistakably whether they wish to retain it.

Will Rogers' daughter may appear with him in a picture soon. Maybe Will really was acting naturally in those hen-pecked scenes—we'll know as soon as his women folks appear in scenes with him.

FATHER OF TEXAS
Pampa Daily News: The legislature also created Father of Texas Day, which will be observed Nov. 3 with appropriate exercises in honor of Stephen F. Austin.

It will be a legal holiday. State Press in Dallas News: Nov. 3 is the birthday of Stephen F. Austin, whose memory is thus belatedly recognized. The little man from Missouri became a big man in Texas when the mammoth proportions of the results of his accomplishments are considered. Yet he visioned himself as no forerunner of empire.

Life had dealt hardly with Stephen Austin when at 27, with considerable freckling, he undertook to make real the colonization scheme of his father, Moses Austin. At that time Austin himself might have considered that he had gotten nowhere. Actually fate in buffeting him about had tempered him for the task that lay ahead. Austin himself was to derive no worldly advantage from his leadership and to suffer much in the service to which he had dedicated himself. But what he did survive as a measure of fame accorded to few. "Father of Texas Day" has been long in coming. It may not bring him as much latter-day recognition as he deserves, because under the observatory law you can cash a check in the new banking hours on Nov. 3, assuming you and the bank are still both doing business. The reason we remember the Declaration of Independence is on account of the double-header on the afternoon of July 4.

SYNTHETIC TEXANS

Established Death List In Valley Is 11

MANY DEATHS

RURAL REGIONS DUE TO RAISE CASUALTY LISTS

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 6 (AP)—The established death list today from the tropical hurricane which swept the lower Rio Grande valley Monday night and Tuesday: Brownsville—None. Matamoros, Mexico (across the Rio Grande from Brownsville), 6. Harlingen, 3. Rio Hondo, 2. Injured requiring hospitalization or emergency treatment: Harlingen, 48. Brownsville, 20. Matamoros, 25.

A picture of desolation was complete from McAllen to Brownsville, 60 miles. The country is dotted by numerous pretty, little towns sitting astride the paved highway with that section from Mercedes to Brownsville, 40 miles, obviously having borne the brunt of the storm. In that whole stretch of two score miles, no residence or business property escaped damage in some degree, with virtually all but the strongest frame residences and brick business buildings blown flat.

The main highway to Brownsville through Harlingen and San Benito remained obstructed by fallen utility poles and wires and water today and the old military highway branching off at La Feria to Brownsville, through citrus and truck farming regions and throughout its length no house was left standing.

Literally hundreds of flimsy structures, occupied principally by Mexican fruit and truck farm workers, were blown to pieces and pieces were scattered far and wide over the drenched countryside.

Entirely ignorant of the disaster which had befallen the entire region, each little Mexican family was busy today dragging pieces of walls, roofs and pitiful furnishings out of the water and putting them back together.

Parents Warned
To Obey Traffic
Law at Schools

A second chapter in his warnings calculated to make traffic safer for school children was addressed to parents today by John V. Andrews, chief of police.

Chief Andrews has reports that parents who are taking their children to school in cars are among the offenders who are breaking traffic regulations. Speeding and failing to observe stop signs are the two more frequent infractions.

A man will be assigned to watch traffic around the schools and arrests will be made of those who fail to heed warning. The safety of the children is at stake. Stop signs removed during the summer have been replaced and must be observed. And stop means stop—not merely changing to second gear.

Scout Roll Is Well Over 1932

Scout registration in the Adobe Walls council today included 46 troops and 881 boys, according to Executive C. A. Clark.

One year ago there were 39 troops and 727 Boy Scouts. The major problem now is to enlist boys reaching the age of 12. The ten-year goal is to enlist one in each four boys and to keep them in Scouting four years.

TWO ARRESTS
IN BAILEY'S
ESCAPE LOOM

Trusted Jail Employee And Outside Person Involved
In Spectacular Break.

DALLAS, Sept. 6 (AP)—The Dallas Times Herald says federal authorities investigating how Harvey J. Bailey, alleged "brains" in the kidnapping of Charles F. Urschel, wealthy Oklahoman, obtained a pistol and saw blades to effect his escape Monday from the Dallas county jail expect to make two arrests here today.

The investigators have reached the conclusion, the paper says, that two men assisted Bailey and that he did not escape but was "delivered" from the jail by virtue of an "inside deal" in which one or more jail employees participated.

"The three central figures involved in the network of incriminating evidence," the paper continues, "are Bailey, a trusted employee of the jail and a third, outside person, who has talked to Bailey since his incarceration here."

"Certain assertedly suspicious acts of one or more persons working in the jail are being checked where there is the least semblance of circumstances pointing to complicity."

"None of the three can be counted on to talk, investigators realize; therefore, they are relying mainly on incriminating evidence that may result from a complete check on the serial number of the pistol that was smuggled in to Bailey."

State's Health
Officers Leave
For Storm Area

AUSTIN, Sept. 6 (AP)—Dr. John W. Brown, Texas state health officer, accompanied by all the available personnel of the department, left today for the Rio Grande valley storm area.

The state health authorities will direct a campaign to forestall the development of an epidemic. They will supervise sanitary work.

Although blanks for making applications through the county judge have not been received, they are supposed to have been shipped. Applicants have until September 8 to make application in time for the hearings to be held September 14.

Should the official forms not be received in time, blanks will be typewritten, Judge C. E. Cary said today.

Brownsville Airport
Still Under Two Feet of Water

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 6 (AP)—"Brownsville in general is a wreck."

Today's mail brought this description of storm-torn Brownsville to C. W. S. Lennett from his wife who went through the hurricane.

The Lennetts are residents of Brownsville. He was in San Antonio on business when the storm struck.

The letter was written at 2 p. m. Tuesday and reached here this morning over the Missouri Pacific.

"The storm of a month ago was only a blow compared to this," Mrs. Lennett wrote her husband.

"I was alone and you can imagine how I felt when I heard things crashing over my head."

"I went to the post office at 2:15 this morning (Tuesday) during the lull. Stayed until noon."

Mrs. Lennett said that she returned to her home safely after spending hours in the post office.

"I went in my night gown with my coat over it. I almost wish I had stayed with the ship."

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 6 (AP)—San Benito and Harlingen apparently suffered more from the devastating gulf hurricane which swept the lower Rio Grande valley for more than 12 hours than did Brownsville, according to reports from McAllen today.

Rumors in Harlingen had it that 100 lives had been lost in San Benito, according to J. C. Baxton and J. J. Rado, officials of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company at McAllen, who made an inspection trip as far as Harlingen.

DALLAS, Sept. 6 (AP)—Andy Burke, pilot for the American Airways, today established radio communication from Brownsville with his headquarters in Fort Worth. Burke, who was caught at the Brownsville airport when the gulf hurricane swept in Monday, advised his headquarters that the airport was still under two feet of water.

Applications For Beer Licenses Are To Be "On Time"

Those citizens who wish licenses to sell 3.2 beer and can qualify will be able to get their sales permits by September 15.

Although blanks for making applications through the county judge have not been received, they are supposed to have been shipped. Applicants have until September 8 to make application in time for the hearings to be held September 14.

Should the official forms not be received in time, blanks will be typewritten, Judge C. E. Cary said today.

Careless Handling
Of Gasoline Here
Causes Blazes

Careless handling of gasoline in the presence of fire or flame caused three of four fires in Pampa last month, according to the report of Fire Chief Clyde Gold.

High test gasoline, in particular, must never be handled where the fumes can reach a cigarette or a flame, Chief Gold pointed out. He said that fully vaporized, a gallon of gasoline has been shown by tests to be as powerful at 82 pounds of dynamite. Partly vaporized gasoline is proportionately dangerous.

Fire damage in August was about $600.

The report of the water department showed a pumping of 25,410,000 gallons of water, or 842,258 gallons per day.

INTERVENTION WILL BE
LAST STEP TAKEN
BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt today directed his secretary of the navy, Claude Swanson, to proceed directly to Havana, Cuba, aboard the cruiser Indianapolis.

Swanson will sail from Annapolis at 4 o'clock today and will arrive in Havana Friday morning.

Leaving a White House conference on the Cuban situation, Swanson said he would go directly to Havana.

He added he had no specific orders.

At the same time, Admiral H. Standley, chief of naval operations, flashed orders for a concentration of most of the warships in Atlantic waters around Cuba.

It was emphasized at the White House that the president is withholding on intervention as the last step to be taken to restore order.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt is concentrating the Atlantic fleet in the vicinity of Cuba for the protection of American lives in event of violence there; but he was said today to contemplate no intervention and his latest information told of no new disturbances.

Secretary Swanson boards the cruiser Indianapolis at Annapolis at 4 o'clock today on a scheduled trip to the west coast, which will take him within a day or two to nearby Cuba.

The battleship Mississippi, now cruising in southern waters, was ordered today to join the four other American vessels already in the Cuban neighborhood.

Reports of continued unrest in the outlying districts such as Guantanamo and Santiago led the administration to order a half dozen smaller craft, destroyers and submarines, to lie off within steaming distance.

Meanwhile, more than a thousand marines were being concentrated at the Quantico, Va., base, in readiness in case of danger for foreign life and property that would warrant their presence in Cuba.

It was said at the White House the president did not know of this move, but that he supposed it was being done by the navy merely as a precautionary measure to save time in event marines are needed.

TULSA, Sept. 6 (AP)—A step nearer the dollar oil they desire, mid-continent crude oil producers today awaited announcements of additional increases by purchasing companies.

Leading price makers, the buying units of the Standard Oil companies of New Jersey and Indiana, announced 10-cent advances yesterday to 82 cents peak for best Oklahoma and Kansas grades.

HOUSTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—The Humble Oil & Refining company, Standard of New Jersey subsidiary, today announced a 10 to 15 cent advance in crude oil prices. The advance is statewide. North and north-central Texas crudes were advanced 10 to 12 cents. East Texas was posted at 75 cents flat, up 15 cents. Gulf coast crudes were posted up 12 cents and Conroe up 15 cents to a 94-cent top. The new postings became effective at 7 a. m.

STORM KILLS NONE, INJURES LESS THAN 20

MOST OF RIO GRANDE
VALLEY IS LAID WASTE

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 6 (AP)—None dead, fewer than 20 persons injured seriously enough to require medical attention, but 800 persons made homeless and millions of dollars of property damage with no building escaping unscathed was Brownsville's hurricane toll.

George Mansur, home service chairman of the Red Cross, thought that the marvelous escape with their lives of all Brownsville residents was due to the several days of warning ahead of the storm and the congregation in strong places of all persons who resided in flimsy or otherwise dangerous structures.

Brownsville residents also had training in avoiding hurricane dangers, Mansur pointed out, there having been hurricanes, but of lesser intensity, July 4 and Aug. 4 before that of Sept. 4.

Death List Reduced
EDINBURG, Sept. 6 (AP)—Rehabilitation of the devastated lower Rio Grande valley near Harlingen and Brownsville began today as relief trains from the north arrived with doctors, nurses and foodstuffs.

The death list was reduced to 18 when a newspaperman reached Brownsville and reported that no one was killed there although six persons lost their lives in Matamoros, across the international border in Mexico. Ten others were reported killed at Harlingen and two at Rio Hondo. Hundreds of persons were injured, however.

Injured Cases For
All those who escaped injury when the tropical hurricane struck late Monday night and early yesterday already had started the work, however, and the attention of the new arrivals was turned to administering to the needs of the less fortunate.

Improved hospitals in public buildings and larger homes soon became the scene of greater activity and the food and water supplies hurriedly assembled at San Antonio.

Rail Commission
Establishes New
Pipe Line Rates

AUSTIN, Sept. 6 (AP)—Shippers of petroleum are expected to save approximately $30,000,000 annually in transportation charges under a new schedule of rates promulgated by the Texas railroad commission. The new tariff will be placed into effect on December 1.

The existing charge of moving oil from the East Texas field was reduced from 30 cents to 22 1/2 cents. The charge of 52 cents now collected for transporting oil from West Texas was cut to 37 1/2 cents.

The present allowance of two per cent for strapping was cut to one per cent, and the one per cent reduction permitted for evaporation and losses while in transit was left undisturbed.

Reduction of 33 1-3 per cent in the Dungeness allowance was ordered.

Relief Official
Will Visit Here
Next Saturday

J. A. Humphries, representative of the Texas rehabilitation and relief commission, was unable to be in Pampa yesterday because of illness. However, Mr. Humphries will be here Saturday morning to meet with the Gray County Board of relief and shipment.

County commissioners have been invited to attend the meeting which will start at 10 o'clock in the city hall.

Word was received this morning that no work would be available during the month of September and that only direct relief in the way of food and clothing would be available. Able-bodied men, the commission said, are urged to get out and find work of some kind but not to go out of their home county.

The delay in giving work will allow the state organization to be perfected along the lines set out by the federal government.

LONE SAILOR FINDS NO ADVENTURE

A little 36-foot sailing sloop slipped into New York harbor the other day after more than a month at sea. It came from France, and its sole occupant was a young painter, one Marin-Marie Duran-Couppel.

When this venturesome youth was asked to tell of the thrills of his single-handed crossing of the Atlantic, he replied flatly that there hadn't been any.

"There were some difficult head winds and I was happy to arrive in the bay," he said. "What happened? A storm. Wind. Waves. I lost a jib. But I cannot excite you with words. When one has been to sea so many times, one either has had weather or good weather and the excitement comes only when one has never seen either good weather or bad weather before."

Now in all of the fine frenzy of words with which we landsmen like to talk about "the sea", as if it were a mystic and forbidden realm on which romance eternally rides the horizon, this matter-of-fact little statement seems to come about as close to giving the real essence of things as anyone could.

For a great deal of expensive language has been used to tell about the wonder and mystery of the sea, but very little of it has actually been used by sailors. The "romance" of sea-faring is generally something that sailors know very little about; and even when they know about it they don't talk about it much.

This lad makes a trip which, to most of us stay-at-homes, seems like the very essence of pure adventure—and he dismisses it in a paragraph. What did he see? Wind and waves, sometimes turbulent, and a storm that destroyed his jib. Nothing more; or, at any rate, nothing that he can talk about.

And that is the way it usually is with all of the 'callings that we look on as glamorous. The men who actually follow them can find in them nothing worth telling about afterward. The fine writing comes from people who stay at home and get their thrills out of their own imaginations.

Markets

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (P)—A series of rallies and declines gave the stock market a decidedly spotty appearance today and the close was rather irregular. While a number of the more depressed issues reduced or eliminated early losses in the last half hour, the late recovery was not particularly buoyant. Owing to a sharp morning sell-off, the trading volume expanded to approximately 1,950,000 shares.

Perryton Gas Rates Slashed

AUSTIN, Sept. 6 (P)—The Texas Railroad commission today sustained a reduction in domestic gas rates fixed by the municipality of Perryton for users in that town.
The city council reduced the rates charged by the Public Service corporation of Texas from sixty cents per 1,000 feet to 45 cents, 40 cents and 35 cents, according to amount used. The gas company appealed to the railroad commission, which is empowered by law to arbitrate such disputes. Testimony was taken and the commission sustained the city.

Two Texans Given Diplomatic Posts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (P)—President Roosevelt today formally appointed Hal H. Sevier, of Texas, to be ambassador to Chile. Sevier's appointment previously was assured. The president also announced the following appointments to the diplomatic corps:
James Marion Baker of South Carolina, minister to Siam.
Fay A. des Portes of South Carolina, minister to Bolivia.
Frederick A. Sterling of Texas, minister to Bulgaria.
Post Wheeler of Washington, minister to Albania.
John Van A. MacMurray, of Maryland, minister to Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania.
Mr. Roosevelt also reappointed Leslie A. MacLeod, of Massachusetts as auditor of Puerto Rico.

Sewer Stoppage Is Major Problem

Stoppage of the sewer serving South Pampa was removed yesterday after all available members of the street departments had worked long hours on the trouble for a week.
The sewer line had been stopped by mud following the heavy rains. Mowing of grass in the city parkways will begin soon as the street department can be released from work on the sewer.
Equalization of city taxes began yesterday with B. E. Rose, J. N. Duncan and C. P. Buckler comprising the board.
The city commission will meet Thursday.

Communications from the center of the hurricane area remained handicapped by leveled poles and lines and reports of the progress.

of the rehabilitation work came slowly. Several of the relief agencies planned to communicate directly with their home bases as soon as they made their surveys.

In addition to the damage done by the storm itself, all wires were jammed with frantic inquiries from relatives and friends of citizens in the three hard-hit cities of Harlingen, San Benito and Brownsville. Very few had been able to send out messages telling of their safety and civic leaders and the relief details were unable to compile a complete list of the casualties.

Houses Smashed
Conditions which greeted the relief details as they reached the valley rendered them almost speechless. Twisted, torn and mangled buildings lay on every side, parts of barns were scattered far and wide and houses had been torn from their foundations, were spun around, smashed and battered and deposited in shambles.
A cotton compress at the edge of Harlingen was blown to bits and galvanized iron covering was everywhere. Sides, fronts and backs of some homes had been blasted out, exposing the furnishings to the elements. A railroad operator had reported just before the vortex of the storm struck there that he could hear "things flying by" as he sat at his desk. It was so dark and stormy that he could not see outside.

VERMONT VOTES TWO TO ONE FOR 18TH AMENDMENT REPEAL

The HIDDEN DOOR

BY FRANK L. PACKARD

Synopsis: After weeks of trailing through the New York underworld disguised as Clarke Lunn, a crook, Colin Hewitt finds himself, by a lucky chance, a member of the gang whose master is the Mask. And it was the Mask Colin was searching for, because it was the Mask who had threatened the author's life. With Buck O'Mara, head of the gang, and Benny Malone, Colin just has boarded the schooner of one Dolaire, run by a man who is to be put in the spot. Not a nice situation for a respectable writer, Colin nuses as Buck begins to speak.

Chapter 39
DOLAIRE'S TRICK
Buck O'Mara was shaking hands with someone and then Colin heard him speak:

"I'm Buck O'Mara. Heime sent e, You're Dolaire, of course. Glad to know you."

"Me? Sure, I'm Dolaire!" There was a tinge of boastfulness in the other's voice. "So Heime, he's not eh? He said maybe he'd come it."

"Heime—out here!" Buck O'Mara uttered derisively. "He must have earned the toes if he said it. He doesn't take any chances getting his feet wet, or getting speered by the revenue men any ore. He don't have to. Heime's big business now and nothing else."

"Well, me," said Dolaire. "I don't e a damn about that. But maybe e sent something else besides you, ? That was the bargain. What you all it?—spot cash before a case es go over the side, yes?"

"I've got it here," Buck O'Mara atted his pocket. "I suppose you'll ant to count it. If you do, we'd ster go down to your cabin, hadn't e? You can't count it in the dark."

"You bet you want to count it," ollaire asserted bluntly. "Do you ink, me, I am foolish? Heime, aybe he is all right, but the oney, she is talk."

"Got your fingers crossed, eh?" aks O'Mara inquired jestingly. Well, lead on. We're wasting time, he boys'll probably have to make ore than one trip tonight to land verything that Heime said you told m was aboard. And, say, Dolaire, at goes the other way too—we're lunting the cases as we get them. enough, eh?"

"That part, she's all right," ranted Dolaire. "Come on!"

Dolair, followed by Buck O'Mara ith Benny Malone and Colin trailg behind, led the way aft.

Benny Malone's elbow prodded ollin's side.

"Keep your rod handy," whispered enny Malone. "You're going to see anything, Clarke, take it from me—you're going to see that big stiff own on his knees and the sweat ouring out of him like he was a ydrant. And when they hear a shot rom the cabin the boys'll pile board and mop up the rest."

"But the sweat at the moment was n Colin's brow—not on Dolaire's. n the darkness he wiped it away ith a sweep of his sleeve. His feet eemed unsteady—perhaps it was he rise and fall of the deck as the esel rode the swells."

"The chattering voices around him eame the screams and yells and hrieks of doctored men—the forms a saw lining the rail and the figes that flitted here and there bout the deck were but wraiths rturned to gibber and haunt the choomer, which once, in their arthly existence, had been their abitat."

"And there was no single thing at he could do, no warning he ould give that would have any etect other than to precipitate the ppendng holocaust—and bring bout his own destruction as well."

"That goes by me!" Unbelievably as his own voice speaking—calusly—with even a fear in it. "It's mning to him, isn't it?"

"Clarke," said Benny Malone pen-heartedly, "you're the real ods. I wish you and me had met e before. Now watch your step, or ou'll bust your neck."

The advice was not ill-timed. The escent to the cabin was by way of short, steep, ladder-like companionway. Colin, bringing up the rear, egotiated it—and stood in the ibin itself."

He flung a swift, comprehensive lance around him.

The cabin was not elaborate, nor as it large. Running fore and aft, bunk was on one side, a settee of irts, with two long cushions, on her. A swinging oil lamp, lighted, lung low over a table in the center. Small safe stood against the after ulthead.

There were two chairs, one on ach side of the table—and, flankg the "companionway, a locker, hose top appeared to be catchg for everything from nautical inment and charts to bottle and asses.

Dolair waved his hand toward he locker.

"Help yourselves," he invited with grin; "and then you let Heime ou many bottles he can make out f one, with the kick she's still here! By gar! Me, sometimes I ink I will do that like you fellows efore I leave St. Pierre."

"Thanks!" said Buck O'Mara—nd, pouring out a stiff portion, downed it at a gulp.

Benny Malone did likewise.
The bottle was steady in Colin's hand as he poured for himself. Quer! They were going to kill Dolaire in here. And his! Colin's hand was steady. The fiery three-fingers was like so much water.

Dolair took one of the chairs. Buck O'Mara took the other, facing Dolaire, across the table. Colin, obedient to a nudge, slumped down beside Benny Malone on the settee behind Buck O'Mara. Benny Malone's hand was thrust negligently into the side pocket of his coat. Dolaire was in full view from the settee.

Buck O'Mara tossed a rubber-banded pile of crisp new bills down on the table in front of Dolaire.

"Here's the dough," he said. "Go ahead and count it."

Dolair reached for the money greedily, ripped off the rubber band, and began to count. He counted laboriously, steadily, wetting his forefingers on his tongue. At the end he snapped the rubber band back into place around the bills.

"She's right!" he announced. "And Heime, he's all right, too. I put this in the safe. Yes? Then we all have another little drink, eh?"

"I'm glad you're satisfied"—there was a purr in Buck O'Mara's voice. "We wouldn't like you to feel when you're sitting in with our outfit that we'd hold anything out on you, or that you're not getting all that's coming to you."

"Sure, I'm satisfied," grinned Dolaire as he stood up, moved over to the safe and swung its door open.

"Sfrrr, I'm Basy! I'm satisfy!" he swung suddenly around, a revolver in his hand, his face working with fury, his voice a snarl—"I'm satisfy, by God, it is a trick. You move—one of you three—and I shoot. This money—I got lots like this. I know where she come from. She's counterfeit."

No one moved. The metamorphosis had been dynamic, almost instantaneous. In the fraction of a second, Dolaire, the condemned, had become Dolaire, the executioner. Dolaire, behind that ugly, unwavering muzzle, held the whip hand—and Dolaire would not have the slightest qualm about using it.

And then Buck O'Mara spoke. "Aw, snap out of it!" he retorted coolly, contemptuously. "You sound like you'd got a leak in your dome cover. If you think there's anything phony about that dough, slip it back to me quick, boy, for, say, I can use it, believe me. Counterfeit hell! It's so good it's worth a rake-off where you come from anyhow. What's the matter with you? Have you gone crazy—or what?"

It was an about face—and Colin, listening, as he stared at the revolver muzzle in Dolaire's hand, did not need to be told that Buck O'Mara had no other chance—no other play to make. Counterfeit money! So that was it. It seemed as though he could see again Dolaire's attack upon the club. It seemed as though he could hear, from out of nowhere, the Mask's burst of laughter as he had conceived this ironic bit of play-by-play.

But now? Buck O'Mara perhaps had not expected that the spurious money would be recognized at once, and possibly not at all, in which latter case he had obviously intended to taunt Dolaire with it in the end.

On the other hand, should Dolaire recognize it of his own accord, O'Mara had undoubtedly expected some sign of the fact, and had intended to act accordingly the moment the sign came. Buck could not have guessed Dolaire's cunning, or have anticipated the lightning change that came as he turned back to the room from the safe.

That was Buck O'Mara's gun, and there sat his three visitors.

Warren Moore

Is Supervisor

Of NRA Printing

Warren Moore, for the last three years a teacher in the Pampa high school and also Gorilla football coach last season, has received an appointment as supervisor in the printing and publication section of the NRA headquarters in Washington, according to a letter received by Sup. R. B. Fisher.

E. N. Dennard of Palmer arrived in Pampa yesterday to replace Mr. Moore on the high school teaching staff. Mr. Moore, in his letter, recommended his successor highly. He stated that Mr. Dennard has an M. A. degree, has been principal of a school for a number of years, played football for Trinity university, and coached various sports.

While in Washington, Mr. Moore plans to attend school in his spare time, working on an additional degree.

Mr. Moore sent kindest regards to all his friends in Pampa.

STATE ONE OF FIRST TO BAN STRONG DRINK

HAS BEEN DRY SINCE 1852—2 COUNTIES VOTE DRY

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 6 (AP)—Vermont was on record today as the twenty-fifth successive state to vote for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

A light vote was cast yesterday by citizens of the Green Mountain state, long a stronghold of prohibition forces, and by midnight the complete vote of the 248 towns and cities was:

For repeal, 41,279; against, 20,572.

A ticket of 14 delegates, representing each of the 14 counties, will meet at Montpelier to ratify the twenty-first amendment by which the eighteenth would be repealed.

Only two counties, both rural in character, were listed in the dry column.

The few prohibition majorities were recorded in the rural section upon which prohibition forces had relied. The repeals more than fulfilled their hopes of large majorities in the larger communities of western Vermont.

Rutland City voted 3,532 to 681 for repeal; Montpelier, the state capital, gave the wets a 1,358 to 535 majority; Burlington stepped in line by 3,866 to 1,099, and St. Albans, close to the Canadian border went wet more than 6 to 1 by a vote of 1,812 to 295.

Scarcely half the total vote cast in the last general election was recorded yesterday.

A state enforcement act prevents anything stronger than 3.2 per cent beer and wines and despite the action of the remainder of the country, Vermonters must be content with their 3.2 "until the next meeting of the legislature, which is not scheduled to convene in regular session until 1935.

Vermont was one of the earliest prohibition states. In 1852 a prohibition law was enacted after a statewide referendum. It remained in effect until 1902, when it was replaced by a local option act that lasted until the eighteenth amendment.

"Aw, snap out of it!" he retorted coolly, contemptuously. "You sound like you'd got a leak in your dome cover. If you think there's anything phony about that dough, slip it back to me quick, boy, for, say, I can use it, believe me. Counterfeit hell! Central Baptist Revival Started By Thomas Doss Marked by an unusually large attendance, opening services of a two-week revival at Central Baptist church were conducted by the Rev. Thomas J. Doss of Bowie.

Last evening's sermon subject was "Soul Prosperity." The evangelist speaks twice daily, in services at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m. to which the public is invited. All services are being conducted in the church auditorium.

THOMAS J. DOSS

Doss is known in Pampa since he preached here last winter and many who heard him then are attending the services. W. O. Cooley, Central Baptist pastor, says:

Song services for the revival are in charge of regular leaders in the church. Women of the congregation are holding a series of home prayer meetings each afternoon during the revival.

Mrs. Guy Paxton of LeFors was admitted to Pampa hospital Monday.

ORDINANCE NO. 155

An ordinance providing for the regulation and licensing of the sale and distribution of beer within the city of Pampa, Texas, providing a penalty and declaring an emergency.

Be it ordained by the City of Pampa, Texas:

SECTION I: As used in this ordinance:

(a). The word "beer" shall mean beer containing one-half of one per centum or more of alcohol by volume, and not more than 3.2 per centum of alcohol by weight.

(b). A "general distributor" is hereby defined to be any person licensed to distribute or sell beer to local distributors, retail dealers and others in the original package.

(c). A "local distributor" is hereby defined to be any person licensed to sell and distribute beer to dealers and ultimate consumers in unbroken packages not to be consumed on the premises where sold.

(d). A "retail dealer" is hereby defined to be any person licensed to sell beer in bottles and from kegs, barrels or other containers to the ultimate consumer.

(e). "Person" shall include any corporation, partnership, association, person or group of persons.

SECTION II: It shall be unlawful for any person to sell or distribute any beer within the City of Pampa without first having applied for and secured a license as herein required. An application for such license shall be made to the City Tax Collector of said city, and before any such license shall be issued the license fee required therefor shall be paid to said City Tax Collector for the use and benefit of the general fund of said city. Annual fees required for such license shall be as follows:

(a). For a general distributor $100.00.

(b). For a local distributor $25.00.

(c). For a license authorizing the sale of beer by retail dealer for consumption on or off the premises where sold $50.00.

(d). For license authorizing the sale of beer by retail dealer in the original container direct to the consumer but not for resale and not to be consumed on the premises where sold $25.00.

All licenses issued under the terms of this ordinance shall terminate at midnight on the 31st day of December each year, and no license shall be issued for a longer term than one year. On or before the 1st day of January, 1934, and annually thereafter, every person owning a license issued under the terms of this ordinance may by application to said City Tax Collector, not more than thirty days prior to the 1st day of January, renew such license as held by him upon the payment of the sums required by this ordinance for an annual license; provided, however, that no such applicant for a license shall be required to pay at any one time more than the annual fees required for license hereunder; but such applicant shall always be required to pay such fees in advance, and if such license is applied for as for a portion of a year only, then the fee required to be paid for the issuance of such license shall cover the period of time from the date of such license to midnight of the 31st day of December following, and only such proportionate part of a sum annual license fee as required under the terms of this ordinance as the period of time between the date of such license and the 31st day of December following bears to the calendar year shall be required to be paid by such applicant.

No general distributor, local distributor, or retail dealer shall carry on such business at more than one place under the same license, but a separate license must be obtained for each place of business. The licenses issued under the terms of this ordinance shall not be transferred, but should the licensee desire to change the place designated in said license, he may do so by applying to the City Tax Collector, who shall thereupon endorse upon the license of said licensee, such change in the place designated on said license.

Upon the payment to the City Tax Collector of the fee herein required, such City Tax Collector shall issue to the applicant the proper license which shall be by him signed, be under the seal of the City of Pampa, be dated, state on its face for what it is issued, date when it will expire, by whom and where the business licensed is to be conducted, and whether licensee is authorized to act as general distributor, local distributor, retail dealer or beer for consumption on or off the premises where sold, or retail dealer of beer in the original container direct to the consumer but not for resale, and not to be consumed on the premises where sold.

In the event any person licensed under the provisions of this ordinance shall hereafter be prevented from pursuing the business for which he is licensed for the full time to which he would be otherwise entitled by reason of the adoption of local option in the City of Pampa under the laws of the State of Texas, the proportionate amount of license fees paid by such person for the unexpired term shall be refunded to him upon order by the City Commission of said city. Such City Commission shall order payment of such refund to the licensee whose licenses have been delivered to the City Tax Collector for that purpose.

SECTION III: The license is issued under the provision of this ordinance shall be at all times displayed in some conspicuous place in the house or building where the business so licensed is conducted.

No person shall knowingly or willfully sell beer to any person under the age of twenty-one years.

No person under eighteen years of age shall be employed to work in or perform any labor in any establishment where beer is sold by retail to be consumed on the premises where sold, and where the sale of beer is the principal business conducted at such place of business.

It shall be unlawful for any person to sell beer whose principal business is the sale of beer where the place of business of any such person is within 300 feet of any church, school or other educational institution, the measurements to be along the property lines of the street fronts, and from front door to front door, and in a direct line across intersections where they occur.

The City Commission of said city may forfeit the license of any person, granted under the provisions of this ordinance, for violation of any of said provisions, after giving at least three days written notice to such licensee which notice shall state the time and place of a hearing on said revocation and after licensee has been given an opportunity to be heard at the time mentioned in said notice.

SECTION IV: If any person sells beer within the City of Pampa as distributor or retail dealer without then and there being licensed as such, or if any person as agent or representative of any distributor or retail dealer shall sell beer for any distributor or retail dealer without such distributor or retail dealer being licensed as required by this ordinance, or if any person shall violate any provision of this Act, whether specifically enumerated in this section or not, such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine in any sum not less than Twenty-Five Dollars and not more than Two Hundred Dollars, and each day such violation shall continue shall constitute a separate offense.

SECTION V: EMERGENCY. It appearing that the City of Pampa is now without a proper ordinance covering the provisions herein set forth, and it further appearing that the sale of beer as herein defined in said City of Pampa and the State of Texas has been recently approved by vote of the people to take effect as provided by the laws of the State of Texas on September 15, 1933, and it further appearing that in order for the City of Pampa to collect the license fees as herein provided upon such date it will be necessary that this ordinance be published immediately, and it further appearing that the public welfare demands that this ordinance be so effective, an emergency is hereby declared, and the rules prescribing three separate readings of an ordinance, are hereby suspended, and this ordinance shall be in full force and effect on and after September 15, 1933.

PASSED AND APPROVED, this 28th day of August, A. D. 1933.

W. A. BRATTON, Mayor.

C. L. STINE, Acting City Secretary. 8-30;9-6

Chief Captures Man After Chase

Chief of Police Jno. V. Andrews chased a man several blocks late Saturday night before capturing him. The man was wanted in connection with the theft of clothing from Doak's department store.

Chief Andrews returned the man to the store, where the goods were recovered and clerks identified him as the man seen leaving the store. He was turned over to the county yesterday morning.

Traffic violations were numerous over the week-end, and Traffic Officer Wayne Nicholson was kept busy. Three drivers paid fines for speeding, one for turning in the middle of the street, and several for passing stop signs and for wrong parking. Other arrests totaled three for vagrancy and intoxication.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Wood and family of Houston are spending a few days with friends in the city.

C. E. Griffith of LeFors was a visitor here last night.

CIVIC CULTURE CLUB INSTALLS OFFICERS TO START NEW YEAR

MUSIC BY TWO GUESTS MARKS FIRST PROGRAM

SHOWER OF GIFTS IS GIVEN RETIRING PRESIDENT

INSTALLATION of officers for the year featured the season's first meeting for the Civic Culture club at the city club rooms yesterday afternoon. Two guests entertained with a musical program.

Mrs. Katie Vincent, retiring president, installed Mrs. Ralph Thomas as president, Mrs. E. A. Shackleton as vice president, Mrs. B. C. Fahy as recording secretary, Mrs. Paul Jensen as corresponding secretary, Mrs. Joe Berry as treasurer, Mrs. Irving Cole as palamentarian, Mrs. Hugh Isbell as reporter, and Mrs. A. L. Patrick as librarian.

New President Speaks.
In a brief address Mrs. Vincent placed direction of club affairs in the hands of Mrs. Thomas, who responded.

Musical numbers were a violin solo by Miss Hermina Stover and a vocal solo by Miss Kathryn Vincent, both accompanied by Mrs. Cole, pianist.

A surprise shower of gifts was presented the retiring president, who has served the past two terms. A hostess committee comprising Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Workman, and Mrs. Dickinson served refreshments to 12 members and the guests. The club's study program is to begin at its second meeting this month.

Prayer Services to Replace Scheduled Meetings of WMU

Scheduled meetings of Central Baptist missionary circles will be replaced this week and next with a series of cottage prayer meetings. No circle sessions are being held today, and they will also be omitted next Wednesday.

The prayer meetings are to be conducted daily during the revival now in progress. Three homes, one each in the south, east, and west parts of town, are chosen daily as meeting places. All women of the church are invited to attend.

VISITS HER SISTER.
Mrs. Robert Lee Banks has returned to her home here after a visit in Wichita Falls with her sister, Mrs. Della Strother, ill with what physicians there believe is an attack of encephalitis or the type of sleeping sickness prevalent in St. Louis.

Mrs. Strother is now improving rapidly, Mrs. Banks reports.

AAUW MEMBER REQUIREMENTS ARE OUTLINED

Prospective Members Asked to First Program

With prospective members of the Pampa branch of American Association of University Women invited as guests for the organization's first meeting of the year tomorrow, inquiries have been made concerning eligibility for the membership chairmen reports.

Two types of members, national and associate, are received in the club. The first includes women with degrees from accredited colleges or universities.

Associate memberships are open to women who completed two years of academic work in accredited colleges or universities.

In addition, women who hold degrees from a second list of schools are eligible as associate members. These schools include Baylor College for Women, Colorado State Teachers college, Cotner college, Creighton university, Kansas State Teachers college, North Texas State Teachers college, West Texas State Teachers college, Sam Houston Teachers college, Stephen F. Austin Teachers college, Phillips university, Southwestern college of Winfield, Kan., and Trinity university.

Mrs. C. A. Clark, membership chairman, will answer questions of those who doubt their eligibility.

Members who paid dues last year are enrolled to Oct. 1, they are reminded, and are asked to be present at the September meetings even though they contemplate dropping membership for this year.

The meeting tomorrow evening at 8, at the city hall club rooms, will be one of extreme informality. Old members are asked to be present to greet newcomers. A contest will be started for the year, and attendance at this meeting will count in it.

Plaintiff May Take Stand In Windsor Trial

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6. (AP)—After leading off with the star witness of the defense, blonde Claire Windsor, the prosecution in the trial of Mrs. Marion Read's $100,000 love theft suit against the actress indicated the plaintiff may take the stand on resumption of the case today.

The trial, recessed last Friday for an extended period to permit lawyers to attend to other affairs, began a week ago and Mrs. Read's counsel provided a sensation at the start by calling Miss Windsor.

After she had testified to an alleged romance with Albert C. Read, Jr., former Oklahoma broker, the prosecution began introduction of a series of love letters exchanged between the actress and Read. Not all of these missives have been introduced, counsel for Mrs. Read said, and it was anticipated the remainder would be presented today before the plaintiff is summoned to testify.

RAIL DIRECTORS MEET
Santa Fe officials and stockholders of the Clinton, Oklahoma-Western railway, including J. N. Freeman, P. E. Edwards, Ray Wheatley, W. W. Kelly, and R. C. Martini, met in annual session here today. They made no statement concerning what they described as routine business.

Mrs. W. D. Benton and daughter, Miss Erdine, were in Amarillo attending the convention of Baptist churches of the Palo Duro association.

Cause of Suits

FLORA TODD MITCHELL.

above, New York playwright, is single again and her two former husbands have withdrawn suits aggregating $1,250,000 that they filed against each other in one of the most unusual cases on record.

Mrs. Mitchell, a widow, divorced Leon Leonidoff, Russian ballet master and wed Seymour Wolner, wealthy resident of Peoria, Ill., next day. Leonidoff sued Wolner for $500,000 and Wolner countered with a suit against Leonidoff for $750,000. Now she has divorced Wolner at Reno.

CLASS GREET FACULTY WITH NOVEL DINNER

McLEAN TEACHERS ARE WELCOMED AS NEW TERM OPENS

McLEAN, Sept. 5.—An affair of unusual enjoyment and full of originality was the six o'clock dinner served to the teachers Monday evening at the home of Mrs. R. L. Appling. Members of the Amigas Sunday school class of the Baptist church were the hostesses.

When the guests were seated at a long table on the lawn, they found black-eyed peas, onions, cornbread, and buttermilk before them. Miss Mannie Abbott, acting as toastmistress, explained that the teachers were being asked to eat only what class members had every day. Referring to "How the Depression Began," and Supt. Cryer responded by explaining how it could be ended. When the guests had complied with Mr. Cryer's request and had eaten all the onions, the depression really ended for all were served with a delicious chicken dinner with all the trimmings which was followed by dessert of both pie and watermelon.

Miss Zonelle Brooks gave a reading; Miss Oletha Holloway sang, playing her own accompaniment on the ukelele, and Mrs. Goff sang a negro spiritual.

Mrs. Appling is teacher of this class which so graciously welcomed the teachers back to McLean. Below is a list of the members: Misses Eunice Stratton, Bonnie Bell, Martine Riddle, Oletha Holloway, Lillian, Naomi Hunt, Margaret Glass, Clarice Smith, Jewel Smith, Odessa Kunkel, Adda Bee Mantooth, Lillian Carpenter, Fern Landers, Dorothy Jean St. Clair, Nadine Tedder, Mannie Abbott, Elizabeth Wilkerson, Lucille Scott, Marjorie Woods, Bobbe Appling, Aline McCarty, Joelyne Vannoy, and Miss McPherson.

Teachers attending were Supt. A. R. Cryer, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Back, Rev. and Mrs. Cecil G. Goff, Mrs. Mary Slinger, Misses Jewel Collins, Elizabeth Kennedy, Lillian Abbott, Joelyne Vannoy, Aline McCarty, Francis Noel, Isabel Bailey, Pearl Simmons, Vera Cummings, Ida Belle Newman, Zonelle Brooks, and Mrs. Willie Boyett.

Messrs. Robert C. Davidson, John Harding, and A. A. Tampke.

Boy Has Birthday.
Honoring her little son, Jean, on his sixth birthday, Mrs. Merle Grigsby entertained Monday afternoon from 3 to 4 with a lovely birthday party. Many gifts were received by the honoree and games were enjoyed by all the children.

Children present were Harold Lee Meador, Bubsie Schockley, Brac Biggers, Junior Shoberge, Gerald Marshall, Dickey Grigsby, and the honoree. Adults present were Miss Madge Landers who assisted Mrs. Grigsby in entertaining, Mesdames R. L. Grigsby, Marvin Marshall, J. A. Meador, O. T. Lindsay, and Miss Fern Landers.

FIFTH AVENUE FASHIONS

By ELLEN WORTH

Prints Cut a Dash in Young Fashions

Now is the time when every small girl's wardrobe begins to show signs of wear and tear. No matter how many dresses she had to start the summer, she's sure to need another. But don't get her just another dress. She deserves the very nicest dress in the whole world and it needn't cost a bit more than usual—not if you make it yourself.

This delicious little creation, for instance, takes very little material, and is ever so easy to put together. Those tiny puffed sleeves and the broad, pointed yoke will make any youngster look simply angelic. The inverted box pleats are put there for comfort as well as chic.

Vegetable Needs May Be Provided In Economy Diet

On an economy diet, nutritionists say that a family needs, according to its size, a certain number of pounds of "other vegetables"—that is vegetables other than potatoes and tomatoes—to balance a weekly supply of bread, cereals, milk, meats and so on. To get the most for your money, how should you choose your vegetables?

The bureau of home economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggests a three-way guide: First, of course, look for the vegetables that are in season in your locality, because they will probably be the cheapest vegetables. Second, choose some green-leaved vegetables, some beans or peas, and some yellow-fleshed vegetables. Third, among these different types select the best food bargains, i. e., the vegetables that yield the most food values for the money. To do this you need to "know your onions" very well indeed.

Seasonable Treats.
Just now in many places lima beans may be bought within the limits of the small pocketbook. Snap beans may be cheaper, but to many people the limas are an especial treat and they are an excellent food bargain. Sweet corn is plentiful now in many markets, so are beets and summer squash. For greens, if you cannot find beet tops or kale, or if spinach is too high now, there is always cabbage, and in some places there is Swiss chard, which makes an interesting variation. Again, there are always carrots and onions; and in some places, peas.

How much of a variety can we have within a week's supply, keeping closely within the good food bargains? Here are some of the possibilities, says the bureau: Monday, creamed potatoes and kale, or any other greens that may be cheap. Tuesday, baked tomatoes stuffed with rice; Wednesday, beans (limas or snaps), and beets; Thursday, corn on the cob and sliced tomatoes; Friday, potatoes cooked in their jackets, Swiss chard or cabbage; Saturday, fried corn and yellow squash; Sunday, mashed potatoes and fried tomatoes. There are many tempting combinations for this summer season, which is, of course, your opportunity to "make hay while the sun shines"—mineral and vitamin values being the "hay." But one thing to remember as you make your purchases is this: Peas and corn lose their sugar rapidly, and if you would serve them while their flavor is still at its best, use them as they are gathered from the garden if possible. These vegetables gradually lose their sugar, even if they are kept on ice, and they lose it very rapidly in a warm room or if left in the sunshine. It is best, of course, for every reason, to buy these and other green or watery vegetables from day to day if you can manage it, and not in advance. If they must be kept overnight, put them in a refrigerator if you can.

PROGRAM TEA IS GIVEN BY FOUR HOSTESSES IN SERIES TO BENEFIT CHURCH GROUP

LOVELY FLORAL SETTING ARRANGED FOR EVENT

FOUR hostesses joined to entertain Monday afternoon at a prettily appointed program tea, one of a series sponsored by the Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary. Mesdames A. A. Hyde, Tom Clayton, E. W. Voss, and Charles Hoover were the hostesses.

They entertained in the church annex, where a profusion of late summer flowers made a lovely setting. Thirty-five guests were present.

The program included a piano solo, Valse Arabesque, by Miss Ann Siskman, who responded to an encore with The Chase, Rheinberger; a picture building contest; a vocal solo by Miss Dorothy Dodd, who sang Giana Mia, from "The Firefly," with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Forrest McKimming; a game, "September"; humorous readings, "Much Improved," and "Land of Beginning Again," by Mrs. R. F. Dirksen, and a sing-song.

Summer colors, yellow and white, were stressed in the refreshments of chicken salad sandwiches, yellow iced cakes, and iced tea. On each plate was a corsage of yellow gladioli and baby breath, and each hostess wore a corsage of gladioli and roses, all arranged and presented by Mrs. Clayton.

IN TWO WEEKS HARVESTERS WILL FACE B-CLASS CHAMPIONS FROM M'LEAN

TIGER ELEVEN EXPECTED TO BE DIFFICULT

CRIPPLES RETURN AS PRACTICE GROWS SERIOUS

There will be no letup in the Harvester training schedule between now and the opening game with McLean September 22, according to Coach Odus Mitchell, who is putting his charges through stiff practices every afternoon at 4 o'clock at Harvester park. McLean is not being taken lightly.

Most of the cripples were in uniform again yesterday afternoon. Jack Benton was the only missing prospect, his knee not having healed sufficiently to allow him the workout. Orville Heskell, J. R. Green, Miles Marbaugh, and Robert McAuley were in uniform again. They had had Charlie horses from early season scrimmages.

Coaches do not plan to divide the squads for another week at least. They don't want to send anyone to the Gorillas that would have a chance on the Harvester squad. Overlooking bets this year would be disastrous because of a new ruling which sets the games to be played at 10 for both first and second string teams. The rule also states: "If a player who has played a conference or exhibition game with the first string and then plays a game on the second string, it will count a game against the first string."

Coaches have made no step towards announcing a first string. They naturally have been working lettermen wherever possible but that does not mean that the lettermen will be regulars this season. If some of the former Gorillas or new men show up better than the lettermen, they will get the "job."

The Harvesters will scrimmage "excess" again Friday afternoon. The practice session will start about 4:30 o'clock.

CRIMSON TIDE FULLBACK TO REPLACE CAIN WORRIES COACH

Alabama Mentor Expects To Win Seven of Nine Games Of Tough Schedule.

(This is the third of a series dealing with prospects of major college football teams this season.)

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Sept. 6. (AP)—Everything considered, Coach Frank Thomas probably shouldn't worry as he does about his Alabama football team.

But he learned the old "we'll be beaten by three touchdowns" story from Rockne, who taught him football at South Bend, and probably it is part of his gridiron psychology to fret about something or other.

Thomas has a line that should equal in weight any forward wall the Crimson Tide faces. The backs are good and many. Add to this as big a squad as any Southeastern conference mentor possesses.

Yet Thomas frowns and ponders. The fullback job frankly has him puzzled. Johnny Cain, key man of the 1932 club is gone.

"My main job lies in replacing Cain, the chief cog in our attack for two years. His blocking, kicking and defensive play will be hard to duplicate." The stocky football captain says.

There are five candidates for Cain's post—each having ability of one type or other but none with his all-round versatility. Buck Hughes is the only letterman. Riley Smith is a 195-pound sophomore who may come through. Rohrdanz is fast and looked good in spring training. News and Demjanovich are the others.

"Although we lost seven men who started the big game with Tennessee last fall, our team outlook is fairly good. We have some likely looking players coming up whom we expect to develop but they lack experience," he says.

Thomas has two other minor problems, finding a center and a forward passer. "Howard Chappell likely will be our best passer and we'll locate a center somewhere."

Alabama has one of its hardest schedules in years and Thomas thinks "we shall be extremely fortunate to win seven of our nine games."

The schedule:
Sept. 30—Oglethorpe in Tuscaloosa.

Oct. 7—Mississippi in Birmingham.

Oct. 14—Mississippi State in Tuscaloosa.

Oct. 21—Tennessee in Knoxville.

Oct. 28—Fordham in New York.

Nov. 4—Kentucky in Birmingham.

Nov. 11—Virginia Tech in Tuscaloosa.

Nov. 18—Georgia Tech in Atlanta.

Nov. 30—Vanderbilt in Nashville.

Tomorrow: Notre Dame

HURLING STAFF OF GALVESTON IS CRIPPLED

TEXAS LEAGUE TEAMS START PLAYOFF TODAY

By The Associated Press.

The final lap of the race for the Texas league baseball pennant began Wednesday.

Two pairs of upper deck teams were matched in their first games under the Shaugnessy pennant play-off—the Galveston Buccaneers at Dallas, and the San Antonio Missions at Houston, both night encounters.

The Houston Buffaloes finished first in the latter half of the season, the Buccaneers second, the Steers, third, and the Missions fourth.

Dallas and Houston will be hosts for the first two games of each series, the third and fourth games will be played at Galveston and San Antonio; and if a fifth game is necessary in either series, it will be determined by the flip of a coin. Afterward, the winners will meet in the Dixie series, with the winner of the Southern Association pennant.

Boss Hank Severeld of the Missions planned to have this starting lineup for the first game at Houston: Crossley, rf; Engle, ss; Purdy, cf; Bettencourt, lf; Clift, 3b; Bejma, 2b; Stephens, 1b; Heath, c, and Fulton Kowalik, hurler.

George Payne, veteran cup flinger, was nominated by Manager Carey Selph to take the mound for the Buffaloes, in a lineup including Hock, 3b; Selph, 2b; Kalbitz, 1b; Moore, rf; Parker, cf; O'Dea, c; Keyes, lf, and Binder, ss.

The Buccaneers made the trip to Dallas badly crippled. Skipper Billy Webb having only four pitchers on the active list. Chief Moore, his ace right-hander, underwent an appendectomy operation two weeks ago, Frank Tubbs injured an arm in Tulsa on the last road trip. Webb expected to start Orville Jorgens, young right-hander, with support from Moleworth, star shortstop.

In the second game, Webb planned to start Hank Thormalen, veteran portlander, or Ira Hutchinson, another right-hander.

"I decided then and there that if I was going to make a career of tennis, I'd better get serious about it. I got serious, and that's all there is to it."

Since that crushing defeat by Hall, a player he ordinarily figured to beat without too great effort, and a subsequent loss to young Frankie Parker on clay, Shields has swept everything before him. He won five consecutive turf tournaments and score a straight-set victory over Vines at Newport.

For the first time in his life, Frank admitted, he has gone into training. He watched his diet, took up a regular course of exercises morning and night, and even did road work. He has a slight kink in his left leg now from too much running over the holidays, but his trainer assures him it will be all right long before the finals.

"I'm in great shape for the first time since I reached the first ten," Shields declared, "and you'd be surprised what a difference it makes. I feel now like I've got an even chance against any of them—Vines, Crawford or Perry—and all I can say is that if I don't win this tournament the fellow who beats me will know he's had a battle."

Fred Perry, England's Davis cup ace, padded into the little rubbing room, nursing a sore right shoulder. "It's nothing serious," Perry said, "but it keeps me from serving my best. It hurts a little with every stroke."

"Forget the pain," growled balls.

The entry fee is $1 and green fees for qualifying and tournament play will be 25 cents.

A few of the scores turned in are: Clyde Fatheree, 75, Art Swanson, 80, Lynn Boyd, 81; C. P. Buckler, 90; Grover Austin, 76; W. A. Tacker, 88; Ernie Voss, 89; Ivy Duncan, 82; C. T. Hunkapillar, 87.

Shields, "Get out there and hit the ball. A little pain can't hurt you."

That's the new Frank Shields, a far cry from the happy-go-lucky tennis wanderer of recent years. He has his mind set on playing in next year's Davis cup contest, after a lapse since 1931. He is just a little miffed at Ellsworth Vines, Jr., isn't he?

"Where does Elly get that stuff?" he demanded to know. "Saying after I beat him at Newport that he could have understood his losing to anybody except Frank Shields. How did he ever get the idea I was a soft touch for him? I hope I get another shot at him in this tournament."

There is a possibility he will. Vines, to reach the final, must survive a group that includes Wilmer Allison, Parker, Lester Stofen and Perry. Shields is bracketed in the other half with George Lott, Jr., Cliff Sutter, Sidney Wood, Jr., and Jack Crawford, among others.

Pairings Today
In today's third round, Shields faced a promising youngster in Don Turnbull of Australia. Vines, seeking his third straight championship, went against Ted Avory, of England. Crawford, champion of England, France and Australia, was paired against Jack Tiball of Hollywood, Intercollegiate champion. Perry was bracketed with the New York boy, Marco Hecht, who eliminated the veteran Dick Williams yesterday.

Other pairings pitted George Lott against R. Nuno of Japan; Gregory Mangin, National Indoor titleholder, against John McDiarmid of Fort Worth; Wood versus Gene Mako of Los Angeles; Keith Gledhill against Parker; John Van Ryn against his old Davis cup mate, Allison, and Stofen and the veteran Spanish star, Manuel Alonso.

FRANK SHIELDS FEELS HE HAS EVEN CHANCE TO TAKE TITLE

Former Play-Boy Is Hope of U. S. Team Against Britons and Australians.

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—Frank X. Shields, six feet, three inches of ex-playboy, stretched out on a rubbing table at Forest Hills after winning his second round match in the men's National Tennis championship, growled as the masseur dug into a sore muscle, then grinned:

"So you want to know what happened to me, eh? What do you want to know that for?"

It was explained that the tennis public would like to know just when, and why, he turned into a "ball of fire."

Two months ago his name wouldn't have created a single stir in the championships. Today he's the fair-haired hero, the one most likely to keep the title in this country if Ellsworth Vines, Jr., isn't lucky to the task.

"Well, I'll tell you," agreed Frank. "Do you remember the Jackson Heights tournament? The event was recalled, dimly. "That was where Gilbert Hall beat me in straight sets. That was where the 'cure' set in."

Takes Tennis Seriously
"I decided then and there that if I was going to make a career of tennis, I'd better get serious about it. I got serious, and that's all there is to it."

PIRATES ROUT GIANTS 6-1 IN OPENING GAME

DOUBLEHEADER TODAY LOOMS AS TURNING POINT

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.,
Associated Press Sports Writer

Landed up with fresh and glittering hopes after an opening triumph over the league leaders, the Pittsburgh Pirates today dug back a dozen years and found an exact parallel for their present position in the National league pennant race. And with it they found an extra incentive to spur them on in their hope of winning four more games from the New York Giants and getting back into the thick of the battle for the flag.

In 1921 the Pirates came marching into the Polo grounds late in August with a 7½ game lead over the Giants. They dragged out a few days later after five straight defeats and the Giants went on to win the pennant and beat the Yankees in the world series.

The situation was just the same, with a reverse twist, yesterday when the Giants opened their final western tour at Forbes field with a margin of 7 1-2 games over Pittsburgh and the Bucs continued the parallel by shellacking Carl Hubbell, the Giants' great southpaw, and winning 6 to 1.

Hubbell's "stuff" was missing yesterday while the Pirates, who have split even in six duels with the screwball star this year to outshine all other clubs in that respect, had everything they needed. Southpaw Larry French was invincible in the pinches and the Buccos gave him an adequate working margin by scoring three runs in the third inning.

In that one frame Hubbell yielded five hits and Homer Peel tossed in a costly error for good measure. He gave up an unearned run in the fourth and bore down hard enough to keep out of serious trouble the rest of the way. The Pirates drove Hubbell to cover with a brace of fourth inning hits, a double by the ex-Giant, Freddy Lindstrom, and a single by the pinch runner, coming as the finishing blow, and nicked his two successors, Bill Shores and Johnny Salveson for a run apiece.

A doubleheader today loomed as the turning point of the series with Steve Swetonic scheduled to make his first start in three weeks in the opener and the young left-hander, Ralph Birkhofer, who pitched a great game against the Giants at New York recently, due to follow on the Pittsburgh side against Fred Fitzsimmons and either Hal Schu-macher or Bud Parmelee for the Giants. Manager Bill Terry's decision of the second game hurler rested on the condition of Schumacher's sore arm.

The Pirates' victory, their tenth in eleven starts, gave them another half-game margin over the third-place Chicago Cubs who were idle along with all other National league clubs.

The American league program was limited to a pair of doubleheaders which saw the Washington Senators increase their lead over the second place New York Giants to 9½ games.

Washington took two games from the Boston Red Sox, winning the opener 5 to 4 in eleven innings when Bill Werber's fumble gave them the odd run, and the second 9 to 6 by bunching their hits in the late innings to better Boston's 18-hit attack.

The Yankees split a pair with the Philadelphia Athletics as home runs figured prominently. Jimmie Fox walloped his 40th in the opener as Roy Mahaffey pitched three-hit ball to give the A's a 6 to 1 triumph. Lou Gehrig's 23rd started the Yanks off in the second game and they battered out a 9 to 6 triumph as Ben Chapman, Frank Crosetti and Roger Cramer also hit for the circuit.

INVESTIGATION TO FIX BLAME WILL BE HELD

ENGINEER CLAIMS HE DIDN'T SEE SIGNAL LIGHT IN TIME

BY CHARLES E. LANG,
Associated Press Staff Writer.
BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP)—Fourteen persons were killed and 25 others injured, some of them so seriously they are expected to die, as a milk train plowed into a Chicago to New York flyer of the Erie railroad at the city's eastern outskirts last night. The flyer, en route to New York, had been stopped by a switch engine at work ahead.

All of the dead were taken from a wooden coach, that sandwiched between cars of steel and three cars from the end of the flyer, telescoped like an accordion in the hands of an enraged giant. One moment before the coach had been filled with homegoers, many of them returning from vacations. The next it was a mass of splinters and twisted steel.

Every hospital in Binghamton, Johnson City, and Endicott sent ambulances to the scene. Motorists, traveling on a state highway that skirts the tracks where they follow the Susquehanna river, converted their machines into ambulances, carrying injured to operating rooms.

M. H. King of Elmira, engineer of the milk train, running between Hornell and Hoboken, said "I didn't see the signal light in time to stop. It happened too quickly. We were coming around a curve."

The impact of the collision split the wooden car like kindling wood. State, county, city, and Erie officials immediately opened an investigation to determine.

Whether a signal light had been set against the milk train, and if so, why the engine crew of that train did not see it in time.

Whether the brakeman of the passenger train had proceeded down the track to the rear of the striding flyer.

Whether the milk train crew had received any previous notice of the halting of the passenger.

"We will push this investigation," said Sheriff Charles W. Kress.

William Derigo, a gardener, who witnessed the wreck, gave a vivid account of the collision.

"I had gone back to my garden beside the track for my coat when I saw the passenger standing on the track with a freight train switching cars ahead. I said to myself 'that's funny. That's the first time I ever saw No. 8 being held up by a freight.'"

"I saw the brakeman (A. C. Morris of Hornell) and I asked him about the stop. He muttered something and kept on going. Then I heard the milk train coming and saw its light shooting ahead down the track. The brakeman had a red lantern in his hand. He began running like mad in the direction of the milk train, waving his red lantern and I think a white one. I got off the track to watch.

"I didn't hear any squealing of brakes—you know they squeal like murder when a train is stopping and I said 'he doesn't see him.' I began to run as fast as I could away from the track. The next thing I knew there was an awful crash, like a mountain falling down. I ran back to the passenger train then. Part of the cars were piled up, like a heap of kindling wood. I could hear people screaming in agony, crying for help, and yelling other people's names.

"I began to pull people out of the wreckage. One little boy was screaming for his mother."

Asylum Inmate Shot To Death In Gun Battle

MATTAEWAN, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP)—One inmate of the state hospital for the criminally insane was shot to death by a state trooper and two others were overcome by tear gas when officers forced their way into a small room where four crazed men had barricaded themselves during an attempted escape early today.

Ray Fisher, 26, of Buffalo, leader of the attempted break, was killed by Trooper Robert Galvin. Fisher had leveled a .22 calibre revolver at Galvin when the latter crashed through the door.

The trooper, his gun already drawn, fired a bullet through the young desperado's heart. Two of the remaining three were sprawled on the floor where they had fallen, overcome by the enormous amount of tear gas fired into the room. They were James Ellis of Brooklyn and Skelly Marshall of New York city.

The oldest of the four, Reinhardt Volz of New York, an inmate for 12 years, was found unharmed in a wash room nearby.

The men had struck a guard down with a chair shortly after 1 a. m. and made a dash from the large ward where they were kept with 64 other patients. More than 60 guards, troopers, and other officers had surrounded the room where they were barricaded with their one revolver.

M'LEAN SCHOOLS OPEN WITH IMPRESSIVE PROGRAM—MANY BUSINESS MEN MAKE TALKS

SUPT. C. A. CRYER
M'LEAN, Sept. 6.—With the high school band, under the direction of Prof. R. C. Davidson, furnishing music and Supt. C. A. Cryer presiding, the M'Lean school year was formally ushered in at an assembly program Monday morning. The Rev. Cecil G. Goff pronounced the invocation.

President J. S. Howard of the school board made a short talk and each member of the board was introduced. These members are George Colebank, J. E. Lynch, Sammie Cubine, Dr. W. H. Finley, D. C. Carpenter, and A. L. Hibler.

Erma Dell Floyd and Billie Jean Biggers, pupils of Mrs. Willie Boyett, played a piano duet. Miss Zonelle Brooks, teacher of speech, gave an appreciated reading. Supt. Cryer read greetings from Dean Boswell of McMurray college, introduced Mrs. Cryer, and expressed his appreciation for the presence of so many parents.

The Rev. W. A. Erwin, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Rev. J. H. Crowe, Methodist pastor, Rev. Cecil G. Goff of Baptist church and Eld. W. B. Andrews of the Church of Christ brought greetings from these congregations.

W. E. Bogan, representing the city, Claud Williams of the chamber of commerce, T. A. Landers, president of the Lions club, and John Harding of the faculty spoke words of encouragement and promised the support of their organizations.

Mrs. J. W. Butler, president of the Parent-Teacher association, spoke in behalf of that body. At the high school building, the membership committee, headed by Mrs. J. E. Lynch, assisted by Mrs. O. E. Lochridge and A. C. St. Clair, greeted old members and welcomed new ones.

After the strains of "The Eyes of Texas" had died away, Rev. Crowe pronounced the benediction, and school really began.

Assembly was held at the grade school building at 9:15 a. m. with principal A. E. McHaney in charge. Rev. Erwin led in song and made a short talk. Supt. Cryer was introduced and he made an inspiring talk concerning the year's work.

Mrs. M. F. Jenkins underwent an operation at Pampa hospital Monday in annual session here Tuesday.

Vernon Harris of Miami entered Worthy hospital yesterday for a minor operation.

Charles Hankins of LeFors was in the city last night.

Red Cross Sends Out Plea For a Hurricane Fund

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—The American Red Cross today issued a state-wide appeal in Texas for a relief fund to aid sufferers in the hurricane area.

James L. Pieser, acting chairman of the organization, said the Red Cross had taken entire charge of relief work in the hurricane zone and would meet all emergency needs. Albert Evans, disaster relief director, left Houston last night to take charge of the work and will be assisted by ten relief workers.

Red Cross headquarters reported the first direct word from the Brownsville area was received last to the versions of Austin's exploits described in the sixth grade. No book was more avidly read, none more enjoyed than that history of Texas. We deem it unfortunate that so many adults move to Texas and live here without ever having a keen appreciation for Texas' founders. They are Texans in residence, but we doubt that they can ever be true Texans in spirit without knowing Texas history. Indeed, there ought to be some way of enlightening these Oklahomans, Kansas, West Virginians, and other "aliens" about the glory of Texas and Texans. It is good to be born in Missouri, Tennessee, or any of these United States, but to live in Texas is an especial privilege and one that obligates one to study the background of this great section of the American continent.

GOING TO MARKET

"This little pig went to market," but its brothers and sisters were not so lucky—or unlucky. Beginning yesterday morning, not even "properly qualified" pigs could go to market without "carrying" a permit authorizing shipment. Six principal markets were glutted with pigs August 25, hence the movement of pork had to be dammed up. Now shippers are required to obtain shipping permits from commission houses or authorized packers and no permits can be issued except to the original owner of the pigs, who in no case can ship more than 200 head.

The going of little pigs to market is no longer the simple thing of rhyme, but a governmental process as deep and serious as NRA, AAA, RFC, or any of the other numerous meaningful combination of letters used by Uncle Sam. Our primary books must be rewritten to give the young idea the proper instruction in "how to shoot."

BUSINESS LIBERTY

The right of an individual to do something which hurts his neighbor has long been restricted by law. Now comes NRA with the parallel principle that no firm has a right to do a thing that hurts business. In some cases, the very right of some firms to exist is denied. For instance, a sweat shop which cannot exist without child labor and low wage scales for long hours is held to have no right to do business. When the movement is analyzed, we find no new, radical principles, but rather extension of long used principles to our complex modern life.

IF the star, "Antares," were a hollow ball, the sun, the earth and Mars could move around their orbits inside the star, and still have plenty of room to spare!

Mrs. Jennie Casin of White Deer shopped in Pampa yesterday.

Floyd D. Ritchie of Miami spent the day in the city.
