HURRICANE AIMS AT CORPUS CHRISTI AREA

Texans Brace For Celia

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) —The Weather Bureau suddenly ordered more towns evacuated as Hurricane Celia bore down on the Texas coast today and increased substantially the estimate of tides and winds.

The Weather Bureau here said tides of 10 feet could be expected and winds would reach 115 miles per hour.

Highest earlier estimate was 7-foot tides—still high enough to cause widespread damage—and winds of 90 miles an hour.

"Celia deepened and dropped in pressure," said Russell Mozeney, Corpus Christi meteorologist.

The Corpus Christi Police Department asked the sheriff's department to notify citizens of Rockport and Aransas Pass: "Emergency evacuation should start immediately."

Meteorologist Mozeney said, "We're calling for evacuation of Mustang Island, Padre Island, Rockport and Aransas Pass—and all other low-lying areas."

MAGIC WORD

The islands are finger-like sand spits running much of the length of the middle and lower coast and are favorite vacation spots. Aransas Pass and Rockport are about 30 to 40 miles north of Corpus Christi.

Many residents of the area fled inland earlier but some remained, but the warning of a much more severe hurricane than earlier expected was certain to send more people away from danger areas.

The mood of those who fled was sounded by Bill Boman, 65, of Palacios, who declared from a refuge at Bay City:

"When they holler hurricane, I'm gone."

Well in advance, gusty winds, squalls, high tides and heavy surf made the finger-like islands just off the Texas shore impossible to travel.

The Coast Guard sent planes up and down the finger islands warning vacationers to get out.

The wind and rain threatened one of the best Texas rice crops in several years. The crop is only 10 per cent harvested. "Lots of wind and rain will just wipe it out," said H. D. Madeson of Wharton County.

George Hastings, top government disaster officer in this region, said preparations for Celia "are the best I've ever seen." He said 800 persons are directly engaged in establishing relief measures. He is with the Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Some persons were refusing to leave.

At Baffin Bay, about 35 miles south of Corpus Christi, C.C.Wilkins, a restaurant employe, said he does not intend to leave. "I've been through two of them here. The ones that left got in more trouble than the ones who stayed."

"We're going to stick it out here," said Lloyd Weisenhous who operates a grocery and fish market on Baffin Bay. He said many persons had told him they planned to leave and he had sold a lot of gasoline to people planning to flee. "But I haven't sold any fish bait today," he said wryly.

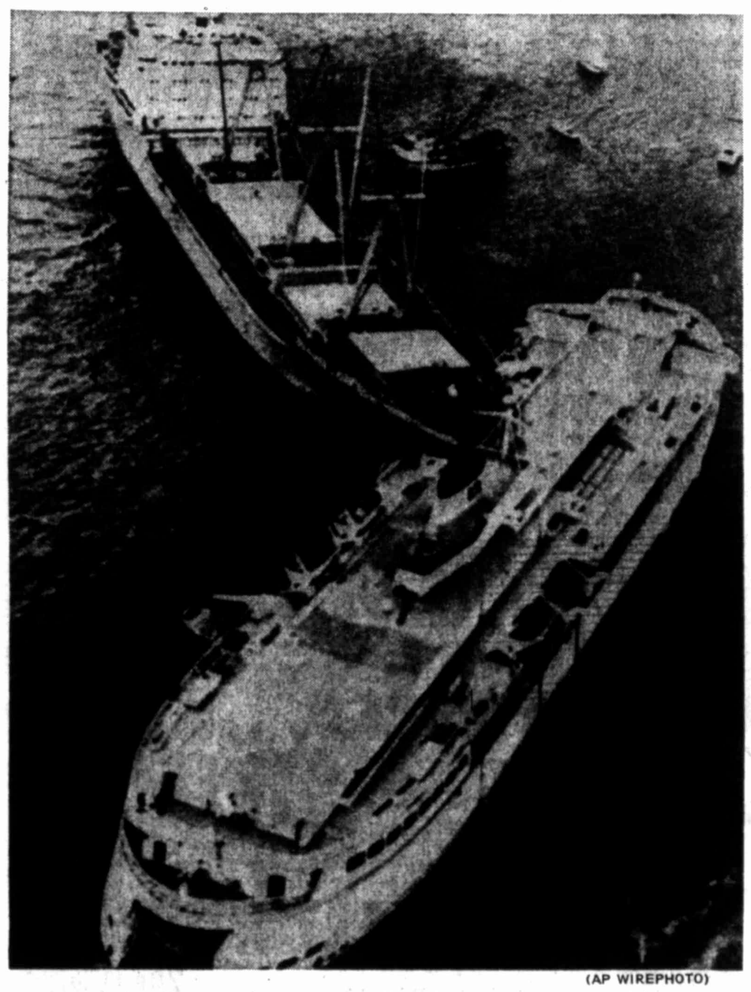

Windows on many Baffin Bay homes and stores had been boarded up.

At Corpus Christi, the main bayfront area appeared calm. A few persons stood on the beach watching the water, which at 8 a.m. was normal. Streets carried normal morning traffic.

Police Cmdr. Hagan at Corpus Christi said, speaking of experience in previous hurricanes, "Our problem over there (on North Corpus Christi Beach) is the mobile homes. The people in mobile homes don't want to leave at first and then at the last minute they want to go and they can't get anybody to move them."

Swells 6 to 8 feet high — to the delight of some young surfers — pounded the coast in advance of the storm Sunday night while thousands of persons seeking to escape the fury of Celia clogged highways leading out of Galveston.

Aircraft owners as far from the coast as Houston—50 miles — flew their planes to safer areas in North Texas and Oklahoma. Pilots at Ellington Air Force Base near Houston began ferrying large R130 cargo planes to safety at Lockbourne Air Force Base, Ohio.

FERRY RAMMED — The British Columbia ferry, Queen of Victoria, lies stuck to the Soviet freighter Sergey Yesinen after collision in Active Pass, about 30 miles west of Vancouver, British Columbia. The bow of the freighter caught the Canadian ferry amidships, killing two passengers and injuring six others.

Iraq Feeling Soviet Union, Libya Squeeze

By The Associated Press

Libya and the Soviet Union put pressure on Iraq today to get behind President Gamal Abdel Nasser in his coming indirect negotiations with Israel.

As defense and foreign ministers of some Arab states gathered in Libya to discuss strategy in the wake of Israel's acceptance of the U.S. cease-fire proposal, Libyan strongman Muammar Kadafi conferred in Cairo with the Egyptian president prior to visiting Baghdad.

Meanwhile, the Soviet government issued an "urgent invitation" for an Iraqi delegation to visit Moscow Tuesday. The Soviets were expected to threaten to reduce military and other aid to Iraq unless the Iraqis eased their opposition to the American proposal and the Egyptian and Jordanian acceptance of it.

Iraq and Algeria both announced they would boycott the meeting of Arab ministers opening in Tripoli today, and Syria was expected to follow their lead.

Evacuation Orders Spark Memories, Thousands Flee

By The Associated Press

Police evacuation orders made thousands flee the Texas Gulf Coast today. For others heading inland, the compulsion was living memory of hurricanes Carla, Beulah, and the Great Galveston Storm of 1900.

Galveston Island was completely flooded in September, 1900, and 6,000 to 8,000 lives — a more precise number has never been ascertained—were taken in in the worst natural disaster in United States history.

BIG KILLERS

All but the north portion of the city of Galveston were swept clean, not a house left standing, and not a single structure on the island escaped damage. Damage was estimated at $30 million to $40 million.

The next big killer hurricane hit the Texas Gulf in 1915 between Galveston and Freeport, with winds clocked at 120 miles per hour Aug. 17.

The death toll in that storm was fixed at 275, including 69 lost in the wrecking and sinking of ships and dredges. Another 100 coastal residents are recorded as missing still, and the damage estimate is $56 million.

Again water swirled through the streets of Galveston, to a depth this time of two feet seven inches. The loss of life in the city was held to eleven, and on the island to 42, due to improvements in the warning and evacuation systems.

The Corpus Christi area was target for the 1916 and 1919 hurricanes which wracked the lower Gulf Coast with an estimated $22 million in damage.

In 1932 the target was closer to Galveston again, when a relatively weaker hurricane took 40 lives and injured 200 persons after coming aground near Freeport. Property and crop damage came to $7.5 million.

The next year, in a storm that swept inland north of Brownsville, 24 persons were killed in Cameron County. That storm all but erased the Lower Rio Grande Valley citrus crop as part of the $17 million damage it did.

The forties saw damaging hurricanes at Matagorda Bay ($26.5 million in 1942), Aransas Bay ($20 million in 1945) and Freeport ($6.5 million in 1949).

Welfare Reform Bill Faces Major Revision

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's welfare reform proposal faces major revision in the Senate Finance Committee, but at least one member has assured the White House the proposal will go before the full Senate.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., senior Republican on the panel, said he had relayed such an assurance to Nixon through a top White House official.

IN TROUBLE

"In all my years on this committee, it has never killed a major piece of legislation by bottling it up, even when the chairman and ranking members were opposed to it," he said.

"If President Nixon wants a Senate vote on this bill in this session, I am certain the committee will see that he gets it."

At the same time, Williams, a strong critic of the measure in its original and revised form, said bluntly, "This bill is in trouble in the committee as it now stands.

"I believe a big majority of the members will insist on changes before they will vote to report it out."

However, administration strategists in the Senate are not greatly concerned about any amendments the committee might adopt to cut back on the new Family Assistance Plan which the legislation would set up.

'FUZZY' FATE

They believe there will be enough votes on the Senate floor to knock out any such changes.

A more important uncertainty surrounding the fate of the legislation appears now to involve the timing of Senate action. Some backers fear it will be impossible to get it passed by the Senate and through a Senate-House conference before Congress quits for the Nov. 3 elections.

Senate leaders have agreed to resume the session if legislative business is not finished.

The Finance Committee must hear Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson before it can begin on public witnesses. Hodgson will start his testimony Tuesday.

The committee staff said it had 400 requests from outside witnesses to testify on FAP and a related measure increasing Social Security benefits and tightening the medicaid and medicare health programs.

The staff estimates it will be well into September before testimony is completed. That would not leave much time for the panel to act on the bills in executive session and get them through the Senate and conference before Congress quits for the elections.

WORK INCENTIVES

The House passed the bill April 16. The Senate committee began hearings later that month but members quickly made clear their dissatisfaction with the provisions and sent it back to the administration for a rewrite job.

The hearings were not resumed until July 21.

Fulbright Might Block Agreement With Spain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright challenged today a pending executive military agreement with Spain, charging that the pact involves commitments which should be subject to Senate confirmation.

The Arkansas Democrat said the White House plan, ostensibly extending U.S. use of three bases in Slain for five years, contains provisions which would lead to mushroomed costs and perhaps even Vietnam-type entanglements.

In remarks prepared for floor delivery, Fulbright called for legislation that would force President Nixon to submit the measure as a treaty.

Fulbright's move carried the same overtones as the Cooper-Church amendment, recently passed by the Senate, which would limit Nixon's powers for military involvement in Cambodia.

He said the executive agreement, scheduled for signing in two weeks, could produce "direct and indirect costs of . . . $400 million over five years."

"The Portuguese, the Greeks, the Turks, the Ethiopians, the Thais, the Filipinos, the South Koreans, the Taiwanese, even the Japanese, are watching to see what kind of settlement the Spaniards receive," he said.

"We have bases in each one of those countries and thus the costly price paid Spain could and probably would be repeated many times over."

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, noted the administration had presented details of the proposed agreement in closed sessions a week ago—but under provisions of secrecy.

While he did not disclose specifics, Fulbright emphasized it amounted to a military "commitment" to Spain, rather than merely the use of her facilities for stationing of U.S. troops.

He termed the new agreement "the boldest . . . attempt by the executive branch since World War II to have a security treaty by executive agreement and thus avoid the need for Senate advice and consent."

Amnesty For Political Prisoners Speculation

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — There was speculation today that President Jorge Pacheco Areco would declare a general amnesty for political prisoners to satisfy the ransom demand of the kidnapers of an American aid official and a Brazilian consul.

The government refused comment after the Tupamaro guerrillas Sunday demanded the release of all political prisoners. Pacheco Areco said earlier he would never "negotiate with criminals," but anticipations of an amnesty were aroused by a statement from Vice President Alberto Abdala that "this is the hour of peace, of conciliation, of understanding and even of amnesty."

The number of political prisoners is estimated to be between 100 and 150. The demand for their release was the largest in Latin America's 11-month-old wave of political kidnaping of foreign diplomats, but so far there was no threat to harm the two hostages. Nor was any deadline set.

The government announced that more than 100 persons have been arrested since the abduction Friday of Dan A. Mitrione, 50, of Richmond, Ind., and Aloysio Mares Diaz Gomide, 41.

Acting on an anonymous telephone tip, police found handwritten letters from the two missing men to their wives Sunday behind a mirror in the women's lavatory of a bar.

Mitrione asked his wife to tell American Ambassador Charles W. Adair Jr., to "do all he can to free me as soon as possible."

He said he was recovering from a wound received in the kidnaping and that the guerrillas were questioning him extensively about the American aid program for the Uruguayan police.

Georgian Dies In Colorado City

One youth died and two were injured as result of a one car accident at 6 a.m. today five miles west of Westbrook in Mitchell County.

Fredrick A. Yates, age unknown, from Savannah, Ga. was admitted to Root Memorial Hospital, Colorado City, 7:30 a.m. and died at 9:20 a.m. His address was listed as 1210 E. 38th St., Savannah, Ga.

Two other youths, Lee Feinstone, 19, and Michael Shapiro, 19, both of Atlantic City, N.J. are in the hospital but are not believed seriously injured.

It was not known which of the youths was driving the car which reportedly swerved into a ditch on IS 20.

Funeral services for Yates are pending at Kiker and Son Funeral Home. Officers are still trying to locate and notify relatives.

18-Year-Old Vote Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The states of Oregon and Texas filed petitions with the Supreme Court today asking that the new federal law giving the vote to 18-year-olds be declared unconstitutional.

The petitions were the first challenges to the national 18-year-old vote, approved earlier this summer, to reach the high court.

Both states said their constitutions set the voting age at 21 and declared that Congress has no authority to impose a lower standards.

Another suit seeking a constitutional test of the law has been filed by provate citizens in New York and is still in the federal courts there.

FORTY-THREE BODIES RECOVERED

Ferry Sinking Toll Spirals

NEVIS, West Indies (AP) — A 75-foot motor launch designed to carry about 180 people on its ferry shuttle between the islands of Nevis and St. Kitts had aboard "probably 270 to 300" persons when it capsized and sank in five minutes Saturday, a government official said Sunday night.

Between 175 and 200 were feared dead. Forty-three bodies had been recovered by late Sunday, and there were 88 survivors. All were believed residents of the two islands except three Roman Catholic nuns—two from Canada and one from England—who were drowned.

MANY ENTOMBED

The U.S. Coast Guard said some of the others might have been washed out to sea. But most were believed entombed with the boat's captain, James Ponteen, inside the steel hull in 130 feet of water about a mile off the southeast tip of St. Kitts.

Coast Guard divers were to inspect the hull later this week.

Harbormaster Edrade Walwyn estimated the number of passengers aboard the ferry Christena when she went down Saturday, but he said ticket records were aboard the boat.

Lee Moore, information officer for the local government acknowledged that the government ferry "had on slightly too many passengers" and added, "We understand the capsize was caused by uneven distribution of passengers."

The Coast Guard quoted an unidentified government official that the ferry "started leaning, and the people flocked to one side, with the result that it capsized."

The boat apparently was in trouble soon after it left Basseterre, St. Kitts, on the 11-mile, one-hour trip to Charlestown, Nevis.

"It started leaning," said Diana Williams, 19, a bank clerk returning home to Nevis. "Everybody started jumping off. It went down suddenly. People were yelling; some with words, some just screeching. We started holding onto the boat. Then it went under, and everybody seemed to be hanging onto each other.

She said she stripped off her clothes and swam through the shark-infested water to shore.

Seventy-nine of the 88 survivors owed their lives to Phillip Miller, 37, who came to Nevis from Pompano Beach, Fla., four years ago and is a commercial fisherman.

RESCUE TRIPS

His 37-foot cruiser, Sea Hunter No. 1, brought in 65 persons on its first rescue attempt, 62 of whom lived. The next trip he and his crew pulled 17 survivors and 27 bodies from the Caribbean.

A friend of Ponteen said the captain told him eight hours before the final voyage that the boat was unsafe. Poteen said he had decided to retire because "I've had this controversy with the government over the ferry," the friend said.

ORDER INQUIRY

Ballast had been removed from the Christena to make her ride higher in the water, and the skipper reportedly said this made the boat unstable. Officials said the ferry usually carried automobiles, but on the final trip it had only passengers and didn't have the weight cars provided.

Moore said the government will order an inquiry, after which a replacement for the ferry will be considered. Meanwhile, its loss leaves hundreds of persons from Nevis who work on St. Kitts without surface transportation.

The ferry fare was a minimum of 50 cents one way. The only other transportation available is by air, but the one-way toll is $3. The government has borrowed three planes from the secessionist state of Anguilla to provide temprorary service.

Wiretapping On Upswing, Help Break Racket Rings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department reports it has used wiretaps or electronic surveillance in 133 cases in the past 18 months—and 419 persons have been arrested as a result.

Sen. John L. McClellan, Ark., said the accounting vindicated the judgment of the Senate in approving wiretapping with court permission.

"Fortunately, the present administration is making forceful and effective use of it," McClellan said in placing the wiretapping report in the Congressional Record.

McClellan said opponents of the bill that legalized wiretaps contended it would permit "promiscuous snooping and the invasion of privacy of American citizens without any corresponding gain to law enforcement.

"These fears and predictions have in no way materialized," he said. McClellan said there have been no reports of abuse or misuse of wiretapping powers.

Henry E. Petersen, deputy assistant attorney general, said the Justice Department has applied to the courts for 137 wiretapping orders, obtained all but one, and used all but three.

In each case, he said, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has personally approved the application before authorizing its filing.

Eighty-two of the cases involved gambling violations, 28 involved narcotics, Petersen said.

He said 121 of the wiretaps were productive, producing 419 arrests and 325 indictments. Only five people have been convicted, he said, but that is because none of the cases involved has yet come to trial. The five convictions were produced by guilty pleas.

McClellan said the results of "just a few of these court approved wiretaps" include:

—Seizure of 124 pounds of heroin worth $8 million.

—Breakup of two numbers racket rings operating in 60 locations in the Midwest.

—Recovery of $500,000 in stolen bonds.

—Prevention of a murder and recovery of the loot in a bank robbery, both of which agents overhead being planned.

McClellan said members of Cosa Nostra or other organized crime groups were involved in each of the cases he cited.

Nuclear Submarine Launch, Soviet Spy Ship Looking On

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With a Soviet spy ship standing by to observe, the nuclear submarine James Madison today attempts the first submerged launching of the Navy's new multiple-warhead Poseidon missile.

The Madison was to unleash the two-stage missile while cruising beneath the surface of the Atlantic 30 miles east of Cape Kennedy.

The rocket's multiple independently targeted reentry vehicle—MIRV—is aimed at a target more than 1,000 miles down the Atlantic test range. Each MIRV is capable of carrying up to 10 warheads. Nuclear devices are not carried on test rockets.

The milestone launch had been scheduled last Monday, but it was postponed after a Russian fishing trawler laden with electronic gear probed to within 200 yards of the James Madison during a practice firing run July 24.

Later, the Navy said it would go ahead with the launch despite the trawler. Soviet spy ships often monitor Cape Kennedy launches and warhead re-entries down range, but none ever came so close to a missile submarine before.

A U.S. Destroyer stood by today to prevent the trawler from getting too close. The move is more for the trawler's protection than to prevent it from spying. If the rocket blew up, debris could harm the Soviet ship.

Since the July 24 incident, the Russian vessel has been circling and fishing about 15 miles off shore.

Newsmen were invited to ride a support ship to witness the launch when originally scheduled. But after the trawler affair, the Defense Department said reporters were not welcome. Under pressure from newsmen, defense officials reversed themselves Sunday and said reporters could come along.

There have been 20 earlier Poseidon test firings here, 17 from a land pad on the cape and three from a surface ship. Early next year the Poseidon will begin replacing the Polaris aboard 31 of 41 missile-packing submarines.

The James Madison is the first sub converted to handle the larger Poseidon.

LONDON (AP) — Arthritis and rheumatism cost British industry 190 million pounds ($456 million) a year in lost production, the Arthritis and Rheumatism Council reported. It said absences resulting from the diseases have increased 27 per cent in the past six years with men losing an average of nearly three workdays a year in some parts of the country.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q10 ♡K7 ◇AQ1043 ♣7643
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1♠	Pass	2◇	Dble.
Rdble.	2♡	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. In this type of situation it is proper to give partner the courtesy of the road. You are not in position at this time to determine what will be the best course of action. Partner's redouble announces not only that he has a good holding but that the situation is well in hand.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K10962 ♡K2 ◇9 ♣K8762
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1♡	2◇	2♡	?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. While it is tempting to enter the bidding, no appropriate call is available. Had partner been interested in hearing about your suits he very likely would have chosen to double originally. If his hand is composed essentially of diamonds, any action on your part might lead to serious trouble.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠6 ♡AKQ10 ◇A864 ♣AJ108
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1♡	Pass	1♠	Pass
2♣	Pass	4♠	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Five diamonds. You have not yet begun to describe the strength of your hand. In view of partner's vigorous action over what may prove to be a near minimum in your hand, the conclusion is inescapable that the hand will produce a slam.

Q. 4—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠1097 ♡AJ ◇AQ3 ♣A8752
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1♠	Pass	Pass	Dble.
Pass	1NT	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two no trump. Partner might readily have 10 or 11 points, and yet have chosen to exercise restraint in responding to allow you leeway for having made a shaded double in the "reopening" position. Since your double was quite sound, you should extend one more chance to partner.

Q. 5—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQ104 ♡32 ◇65 ♣QJ865
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1♡	2◇	?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. There is no action which you can take with safety. If you mention either of your suits, partner will probably be cornered into bidding three hearts, which will place you in a highly awkward position. When a free bid tends to project the bidding to the three level, the player contemplating such action should be backed up by a holding which is equal to an opening bid.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AKQJ93 ♡104 ◇A1065 ♣3
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	2NT	Pass
3◇	Pass	3NT	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four spades. Your hand is not strong enough to justify contracting for slam, but hope for slam is not abandoned by the four spade bid. The very fact that you took pains to bid three diamonds, intending all the time to take partner out of his aggressively bid game contract, indicates your willingness to entertain the idea of a slam. If his points are first rate [aces and kings], he may proceed.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AQJ64 ♡7 ◇A865 ♣1072
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	2◇	Pass
2♠	Pass	3♣	Pass
3◇	Pass	3♡	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four diamonds. You possess a good fit for the diamonds and should so indicate by returning to that suit. Do not make the mistake of bidding three no trump. Partner was in position to make that call himself, but bid hearts instead.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠10963 ♡J832 ◇K6 ♣A93
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1♠	Dble.	?

What do you bid?

A.—This holding falls just short of the requirements for a redouble. An immediate raise should be offered only on a hand with less high card strength and more distributional values. You are forced to compromise by passing for the time being with every intention of offering competition on the next round.

DEAR ABBY: A wife wrote that her husband got his kicks from asking her to don black sheer lingerie, high heels, and tying her up with ropes. She said he was a good husband except for this, and she asked you if you thought he could be dangerous. You advised her not to stick around to find out.

Abby, when this couple took their marriage vows, they promised it would be for better or for worse, in sickness and in health. And YOU tell her to call it quits. A fine counselor you are!

I had to make an adjustment in my sex life when I got married because I wasn't even sure my husband was normal. I went to my doctor and he told me that anything that was agreeable to both parties sexually was all right, and did not constitute a "far out fetish" — which is how you described that husband's behavior.

It takes different things to excite different people. That man just happened to like his woman in black sheer lingerie, high heels and tied up with ropes. KNOWS THE ROPES

DEAR KNOWS: I, too, believe that anything that is agreeable to both parties sexually is acceptable behavior. But this woman said she was terrified and repulsed by this kind of "play," but her husband, knowing how frightened she was, kept after her to go along with it because it excited HIM. This, in my opinion, is cruel, selfish and brutal.

"Do you think he could be dangerous?" she asked. "If you stick around to find out and discover later that he was, don't say I didn't warn you," I replied. And what I said still goes.

DEAR ABBY: My oldest sister, Marion, has been like a mother to my brother and me since we were orphaned at an early age.

My brother's wife, Donna, had a misunderstanding with Marion six years ago, and they haven't spoken to each other since. (Naturally, my brother took his wife's side.)

Marion did call Donna to apologize a few years ago, but Donna wouldn't even speak to her.

Now, Donna's daughter is being married, and it appears that Marion will not be invited to the wedding or any parties for the bride. I have remained "friendly" with both Marion and Donna.

Should I tell my brother that I will decline all invitations unless Marion is invited?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Do your best to get your brother and Donna to bury the hatchet (but not in Donna). I think for you to pressure them into inviting Marion in the manner you suggest would be wrong.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a secretary with a favor to ask of you. Will you please publish this prayer for secretaries? It has sustained me in many moments of despair, and I know it will do the same for other secretaries:

Dear Lord,

Please give me the memory of an elephant, the ability to do nine things at once, answer three telephones without becoming rattled while constantly checking the waste basket to be sure the boss hasn't thrown a lighted match in it.

Help me to keep my cool when the boss tells me a letter MUST go out tomorrow morning, then leaves town that afternoon without having signed it.

Give me the patience to control myself after having turned the office upside down to find a letter the boss is sure I "misfiled" — then he finds it in the inside pocket of his jacket.

And help me to act like I'm deaf when he swears at his partner. And to keep a straight face when he lies to his wife.

In these things, Dear Lord, I need your help.

A DEVOTED SECRETARY

DEAR SECRETARY: Mission accomplished. And I shall withhold your name in case you also need your job.

Adm. Kidd Will Command Fleet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice Adm. Issac C. Kidd Jr. has been named commander of the 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean area, succeeding Vice Adm. David C. Richardson.

Kidd is the first surface ship officer in several years to assume command of the fleet, which, with its main thrust in aircraft carriers, has been commanded by Navy air officers.

Firemen On Call

ROME (AP) — When a fire engine races through the streets of Rome it's 2-1 the destination is not a fire. The firemen are on call for almost every emergency, from rescuing treed cats to opening apartments for people who have lost a key. Rome had nearly 6,000 calls last year; about 2,000 were for fires in the city where Nero fiddled to the flames in the year 64.

"Big fires are rare," says Col. Michele Stella, a fire chief. "I only remember a few in the 20 years I have been here. And I don't remember anyone dying in the big fires in the Rome area." Most buildings are of brick, stone and marble.

Bridal Tea Held For Miss Folk

Miss Elizabeth Folk of Tallulah, La., fiancee of Steve Stinson, was honored at a bridal tea Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. L. Barham, 1711 Harvard, grandmother of the bridegroom.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Mel Stinson, Miss Pat Stinson and Mrs. L. A. Stinson. Assisting in the house party were Mrs. James Weaver of Ballinger, Mrs. J. R. McLaughlin, Midland. Mrs. Charles Aiken, Rankin; and Mrs. Tommy Hubbard.

Receiving guests with her fiance's mother, Mrs. Mel Stinson, the honoree was attired in a sheer yellow and white floral dress. Miss Folk was presented with a cymbidium orchid corsage.

The chosen colors of the bride were lavender and white which were used throughout the home in decorations. Refreshments were served from a table with a lavender cloth overlayed with white lace with floor-length net skirting and centered with a lavender and white floral arrangement. Silver and crystal appointments completed the setting.

The couple will be married August 15 at the Trinity Episcopal Church in Tallulah, and the Rev. Joseph Harrison will officiate.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I make all our own bread and with four children it takes a lot. I have taken my favorite bread recipes and tripled the ingredients and this will usually mean six loaves (most recipes make two loaves, and three at the most.)

I've marked this in my cookbook by the listed ingredients of the original recipe. This is in itself a timesaver. I am able to glance at the page instead of refiguring each bake day.

Now here is the best part! I had a rectangular plastic dishpan which I had never used. Well, with a six-loaf recipe I needed a big bowl so I used this. I can get all around inside it with my electric mixer to whip the batter, then add the rest of the flour by spoon and then by hand.

After I turn the dough out to be kneaded, I put the dishpan in the sink, fill it with sudsy water, wash and dry. Then I grease it and plop the kneaded dough in. Cover it with a clean cotton dishtowel (never use terry cloth as the dough gums up all over it). I put the dishpan with the dough in it on the bottom rack of my unlit oven (taking advantage of the pilot light) and let it rise away. It has plenty of room to expand.

My dishpan is also a dandy storage bin for all my baking tools.

After I'm through baking, I stack all my pans in my dishpan, including my sifter, rolling pin, measuring pitcher, wooden spoon, extra measuring spoons and a small bowl for dissolving yeast.

You can't imagine the steps this saves on baking day when I have everything I need at my fingertips. I keep the dishpan under the sink with two clean cotton dishtowels and the bread board over the top.

After the bread has finished banking, all you have to do is cool the loaves, put in plastic bags, twist shut and store in the freezer.

Just thought this might help some of the new-comers to the "bread-making bunch." . . . Diane Coddington

Dear Heloise:

I had the task of painting the interior of a big old house and some of the things I learned to make it easier seemed as important as Columbus discovering America.

I definitely discovered that the sturdy "old kitchen table" (make sure it's sturdy) worked much better for me than a step ladder.

I used it not only to paint the ceilings, but also the walls. It takes a little more moving around but I felt so much more secure. I did have to use the step ladder in some areas, and used it at all times as a step to get up on the table. . . . Susan T. Prickett

Gift Party Held Friday

Miss Sara Whittington, bride-elect of Kevin Michael Smith, was honored Friday with a linen shower in the home of Mrs. Richard Patterson, 407 Edwards.

The party theme was carried out in carsages made of miniature laundry appliances which were presented to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. V. A. Whittington, and members of the house party, Miss Pattie Goodman, Miss Joanna Patterson and Mrs. J. E. Terry.

Guests were served on the patio where the refreshment table was covered with blue lace and accented with silver cherub candleholders. Other appointments were crystal and silver. Gifts were displayed on a table centered with a large laundry basket arranged with massive blue daisies.

The wedding is scheduled Aug. 22 in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church.

Newlyweds Planning Home In Georgetown

Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas Parker are residing in Georgetown after their July 18 wedding in the First Baptist Church in Edcouch. Parker is a teacher and basketball coach at Georgetown High School.

The bride is the former Miss Donna Ann DeBerry.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Don R. DeBerry of Edinburg and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Weldon Parker of Garden City.

Organ music was by Miss Melodie Henderson of Alamo who accompanied her mother, Mrs. Russell Henderson, as she sang "All My Love."

The bride wore a peau de soie gown with Empire waist and portrait neckline outlined with lace applique. The long sleeves formed petal points at the hands. A bow at the back of the Empire waist topped a chapel train. Her headpiece was a waist-length lace mantilla, and she carried a cascade of white carnations surrounding orchids.

Miss Cathy DeBerry, Austin, was the maid of honor, and Miss Elaine Anderson, Edinburg, was the bridesmaid. They wore Princess gowns of pink dotted Swiss embroidered with circlets of pink, white and green. The bodice featured a standup collar of ruffles and puff sleeves. Their headdresses were pink ribbons topped with daisies. Each carried a bouquet of pale green, pink and yellow pompon chrysanthemums.

Serving as best man was Milton Denham, Georgetown, and groomsman was Jim Akin, Harlingen. Ushers were Mark DeBerry, Austin, and Tom Anderson, Edinburg.

The reception followed in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with a white cloth and skirted with yellow organdy, and the tiered cake was trimmed in yellow flowers and topped with wedding bells.

Miss Linda DeBerry, sister of the bride, registered guests. Members of the house party were Miss Laura Dufore, Miss Karen Dillon, Mrs. Madene McCafferty, Mrs. Sam Rohr, Mrs. Walter Lindsey and Mrs. Mary Gautreaux.

The bride is a graduate of Pharr-San Juan-Alamo High School and attended Pan American College. She was employed by Hastings Answering Service in Austin. The bridegroom is a graduate of Garden City High School and Texas University.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde DeBerry, Edcouch, grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Parker, Garden City, grandparents of the bridegroom; J. G. DeBerry and children and Rhonda Williams, all of League City; Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Lovelace, Corpus Christi; Mrs. Ailen DeBerry, Lee DeBerry and Miss Ora V. Aycock, all of Alice; Miss Wanda Holstagee and Miss Windy Farris, both of Austin; and Mrs. Milton Denham and children, Georgetown.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the parents of the bridegroom at the Remuda Steakhouse.

Bacon-Leon Wedding In California Church

WESTBROOK (AC) — Miss Linda Jo Leon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Leon, Lynwood, Calif., and W. Newton Bacon Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Bacon Sr., Westbrook, were married June 13 in Wayfarer's Chapel, Portugese Bend, Calif. The Rev. Robert Loring Young conducted the ceremony.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Jo Ann Bonquentura, Placentia, Calif., matron of honor; and bridesmaids were Miss Alice Leon, Downey, Calif., sister of the bride; and Mrs. Norma Leon, Lynnwood, sister-in-law of the bride. Darlene Ledesma was the flower girl.

The bride was attired in a Princess-style silk organza gown with petal point sleeves. The cathedral train featured a Chantilly lace border accented with clusters of pink and white pearls. She carried a cascade of carnations, white roses and a pink orchid.

The bridesmaids wore Empire gowns with strawberry pink satin brocade bodices, short sleeves and light pink crepe skirts with strawberry pink trains. They wore strawberry headdresses with veils and carried cascades of pink carnations.

Michael Bonquentura, Placentia, was the best man. Groomsmen were Albert Leon, brother of the bride, and Arthur Dooms, both of Lynwood. Ushers were George Ledesma, Downey, and Henry Ledesma, Anaheim. Michael Bonquentura was the ring bearer.

The wedding reception was held in the Elks Lodge Hall Long Beach. Following a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe, they will make their home in Bellflower, Calif.

The bride is a graduate of Compton High School and Falquios Beauty College in Lynwood. She is employed by Smart Set Beauty Salon. The bridegroom is a graduate of Westbrook High School and served four years with the Navy in Australia and Japan. He is now studying TV electronics and is employed at Occidental Center, Los Angeles, Calif.

A Devotion For Today . .

"Will not God vindicate his elect, who cry to him day and night? Will he delay long over them?" (Luke 18:7, RSV)

PRAYER: O God, bring us into harmony with Thy holy will so that we may pray in the right spirit. Through Jesus Christ our Lord, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

(From the 'Upper Room')

Israel As A Nuclear Power?

The U.S. government has believed for the past two years that Israel either has the atomic bomb or could quickly assemble one, according to a recent New York Times report.

Throughout the 1960s it was widely believed that the Israelis were close to birth as a nuclear power. If that period of gestation is, in fact, now over, the Middle East crisis has taken on another profoundly dangerous aspect.

Israel has not specifically denied the Times report, though the Israeli state radio has said any assumption that Israel has produced an atomic bomb or can assemble one is speculative, unauthoritative and inaccurate. The broadcast went on to quote unidentified Israeli officials as saying their nation "will not be the first nation to bring nuclear weapons into the area."

Our government's policy of attempting to maintain a "balance of power" in the Mideast is at best an uncertain and dangerous exercise in tightrope walking. But if Israel has the atomic bomb, we have been doing our walking without any semblance of a safety net. For is we should fail to maintain the balance of power until a negoitated peace can be reached, Israel might resort to her rumored nuclear might.

Such action undoubtedly would come only as a last resort. And though it seems probable that Israel would use atomic weapons if she has them and if she faced capitulation to the Arabs otherwise, our government surely will see that such action never becomes necessary.

The probability that Isreal has the atomic bomb or imminent nuclear capability is, though, an extremely dangerous prospect in itself, considering the tense and volatile state of affairs in the Mideast. It is another urgent reason for pressing for immediate and substantive negotiations between the Arabs and the Israelis before we are pulled into a major world power confrontation with the Soviet Union.

More Congresswomen!

This just might be the election year when more women become members of the United States Congress than at any time in the past 10 years. Eleven serve now, and at least 11 more are running. Five of the challengers are given a fair to good chance of defeating their male opponents, according to a Congressional Quarterly survey.

This larger number isn't due particularly to recent womens rights militancy. Only one of the five chief prospects, Bella Abzug, a New York lawyer, has close ties to the militants. She is a founder of the Women Strike for Peace group. The others hew to more traditional politics.

What is interesting is that none of the challengers is following the almost traditional route for women to Congress: as a widow running for the seat of the late husband. This year's prospects are mostly active individuals in their own right, however we may view their politics.

Perhaps the Congress balance can stand some redressing. In 1968 women made up 53.3 percent of the voting-age population. But the 10 women elected to the House that year constituted just 2.3 percent of the membership, and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine was the only women senator.

Trip To Australia, New Zealand

WASHINGTON — Only a very few times in the years of writing this column has the first person "I" ever been used. This one is an exception. It is necessary to explain a trip Ruth and I are taking this week.

American Airlines is inaugurating a new flight to New Zealand and Australia and we are invited, along with my colleague from Fort. Worth, Jim Wright. The ambassadors of New Zealand and Australia are also guests on the trip. Mayors of several cities and other officials will be along.

THE FLIGHT left from New York City made a stop in San Francisco and then to Hawaii. From Hawaii the next stop scheduled is Pago Pago and from there to Aukland, New Zealand. After two days in New Zealand the flight to Sydney, Australia, will be the end of the line.

On the return to Hawaii, another stop will be made in American Samoa. After a layover of a day or so in Hawaii, the trip will end back in New York.

IT IS POSSIBLE that important matters in the Congress may prevent our making the trip but as of this writing we plan to go. On crucial votes an attempt will be made to have what is known as a "live pair." This simply means that a member who is going to vote opposite of the way I vote, would announce his vote, withdraw his vote and vote "present." This cancels each against the other. A "general pair" is a record only and does not count in a tally of the total of "for" or "against."

NEITHER RUTH NOR I are enthusiastic travelers. We have been invited a number of times to make foreign "junkets" of one kind or another but have been too busy to take advantage of the invitation. Just recently friends invited us on a fishing trip to Norway where salmon fishing in lakes below Bergen is supposed to be the best in the world. No strings attached, but we simply felt we could not be away at the time and besides, it was to be a pretty fast pace. So is the schedule to New Zealand and Australia but there are opportunities on this trip as well as pleasure.

OUR COUNTRY has a great deal in common with these English speaking nations. We have some competition in trade matters, mainly in meats. Imports of beef from both these countries are an issue of importance to our cattle raisers. Voluntary agreements are now in effect but imports are a question involved in the Reciprocal Trade Bill now pending the Ways and Means Committee of which I am a member. It would be highly preferable to have agreement on the amount of beef and lamb imports without legislation but it may not be possible and protect our own producers. Something might be accomplished by some direct contact with the people who produce, rather than through the formal negotiations of diplomacy.

New Zealand and Australia have been on our side since World War I. They fought with the Allies in World War II and have contributed more than any other nation to our side in Vietnam.

THERE ARE MANY American Investments in these two countries. As a matter of fact, we have a considerable American interest in ranching in both countries which complicates the meat import proposition. Of course, this is true in hundreds of cases in manufacturing and producers in many foreign countries and makes foreign trade exceedingly complicated.

We are essentially a "free trade" country but there must be reciprocity and equal treatment on tariffs and quotas. Our balance of payments has got to be improved. We continue to run deficits in trade exchange which has reached a point of serious concern. We cannot continue forever in this unfavorable position.

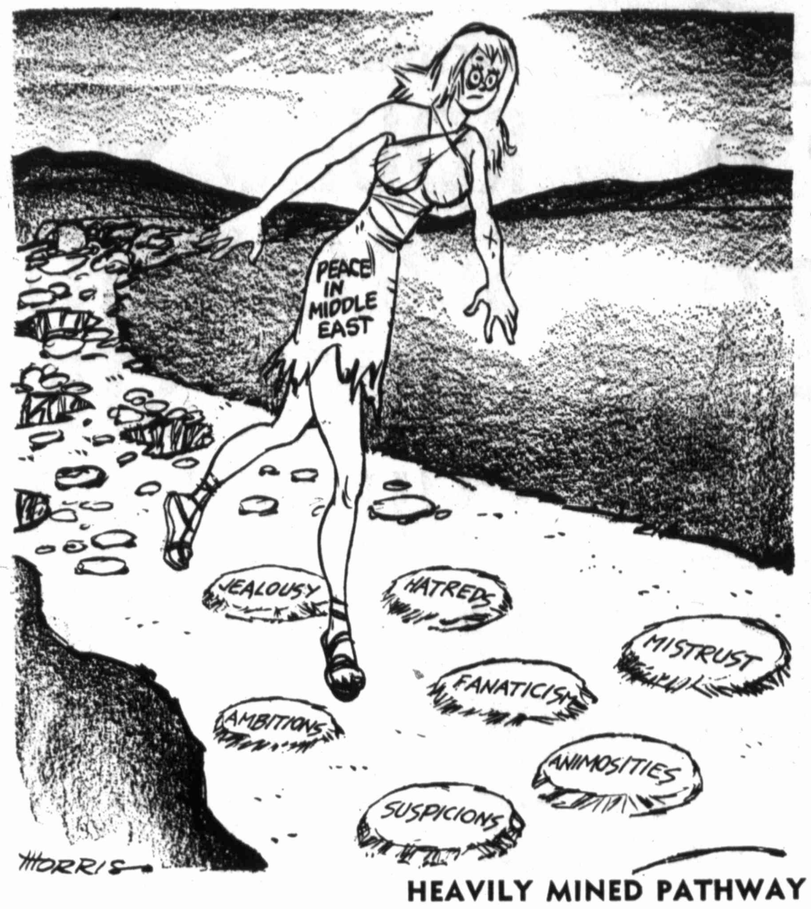

Billy Graham

Why do you think our young people have turned to drugs? Is the older generation to blame?

E.A.

There are many reasons. But the older generation must bear a responsibility. I believe the older and younger generations are in this "drug" thing together. The word "drug" has two meanings: (for there are two kinds of drugs) medical and addictive, and sometimes they are one and the same. Let's face it: we have become a drug-dependent society. We are the pill-taking champs of the world. Somehow, through the high-powered programs of advertising, or through stupidity, or both, we have come to believe that there is a drug or pill for every ache, pain, distress, and anxiety. This is one of the modern fallacies that is destroying us. For years our youngsters have seen mom and dad take a sleeping pill to relax, and a wake-up pill to alert them in the morning. In between they have seen them ingest alcohol, aspirin, tranquilizers, and all kinds of chemical supports and cures for the stresses and strains of living.

Children, though they often rebel against their parents, tend to emulate them. Alcoholic fathers produce more alcoholic sons than nondrinkers, etc. Though the children see the harm, they, like the helpless lemmings which drown themselves in the sea, follow in their parent's footsteps. So, I believe that the present crop of young drug addicts is the result of a natural course of events. The Bible says: "The fathers have eaten sour grapes and the children's teeth are set on edge." (Ezekiel 18:2.) It is the Biblical law of sowing and reaping. We have sown to the wind and we are reaping the whirlwind.

HEAVILY MINED PATHWAY

Business Now Turns To Government

NEW YORK (AP) — In the mid-1960s one of the most earnestly examined if not most popular topics of executive speeches was the alleged interference of government in the affairs of business.

Some businessmen considered government their greatest threat. Business would see to prosperity, they felt, but it could not do so if it continued to be encumbered by Washington.

It wasn't only testy archconservatives who complained. Liberal businessmen joined the chorus, convinced that the existing prosperity—it was at a level not dreamed about 30 years earlier—was threatened by bureaucrats.

There were reasons for government involvement, of course. The chimneys of production were polluting the air. The abundance of products had abundant safety problems attached. The cities were decaying in the midst of wealth.

Business hadn't handled these problems satisfactorily and, it was suspected, probably couldn't handle them alone. The issues appeared even to the most reluctant to be the mutual concern of business and government. But a partnership of any sort with government was feared by some businessmen.

Government activity, they averred, meant stiff regulations and maybe even competition from government agencies. It meant involvement in their affairs by government officials who did not understand the profit system.

That was in the 1960s. Now, judging from recent events, that fear appears to have diminished, at least among those segments of business which need government assistance.

The feeling for protection against foreign imports is growing. The textile industry has won administration backing for quotas. And the shoe industry could very well convince lawmakers that it too needs help.

The New York Stock Exchange has suggested to the federal government that it help assure the public of payment in the event of brokerage house collapses by extending a $1-billion line of credit to a trust fund.

The Pennsylvania Transportation Co. attempted to obtain a huge federal loan to give it time to work out pressing financial problems. And the Association of American Railroads suggested the lines might need subsidies of $1 billion.

A bill is now in Congress, perhaps with strong support, that provides for the U.S. Treasury to make loans of government money to sound companies which cannot obtain credit because of tight credit conditions.

The housing industry is attempting to solve its financing problems by the establishment of federal programs to rechannel funds.

Has the tide of opinion really changed? Is this the spirit of cooperation that enlightened businessmen had hoped for? Or are circumstances dictating these recent actions of business? The most likely answers are "no," to the first two questions, and "yes" to the third.

Male And Female—

By LOUISE COOK
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — If you can't fight 'em, tease 'em to death.

That seems to be the attitude of most men toward women at work.

For example:

When John Doe hangs a moth-eaten deer's head on his office wall, it's individuality. When Jane Doe hangs curtains, it's frivolity.

The pictures of the kids on John's desk show he's a fine, upstanding family man. The pictures on Jane's desk mean she's really more concerned with her home than her job.

John's trip to the barber shop on office time for a haircut and a shave is a natural male prerogative. Jane's beauty parlor appointment draws cries of, "What can you expect from a woman?"

John's three-hour lunch with the boys is for business. Jane's jaunt with the girls is for gossip.

John's attache case—even if it holds nothing more than his lunch—is the sign of a good businessman. Jane's oversized purse—full of memoes and files—is the office joke.

The clutter on John's desk is the sign of a busy mind. The clutter on Jane's is typical of a disorganized female who sticks things away in closets and can't remember where she put them.

When John talks about his fellow workers it's constructive criticism or office politics. When Jane ventures an opinion it's being catty.

Bachelor John leaves work early for a big date and he's behaving like a normal American male. Jane ducks out to meet her beau and hears sneers, "All she s interested in is getting married."

That fitted suit and wide tie of John's simply mean he's "with it." Jane's midi and pantsuit are faddism.

John appears for weekend overtime work without a tie and he's being casual. Jane neglects her hair and makeup on a Saturday and she's sloppy.

The examples are almost endless.

Men, like women, have their quirks, of course. But decades of male business supremacy have turned those quirks into standard office procedure.

The tide is changing. Liberation is here. And just remember: Those pink curtains you laugh at may belong to your next boss.

The Meaning Of A 'Nervous Breakdown'

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Exactly what does it mean "to have a nervous breakdown"? The term is used so often, but precisely what is it? Are there specific, clear-cut symptoms? — T.Y.

It doesn't mean anything—or rather, it means whatever somebody thinks it means.

There are no specific, clear-cut symptoms, except that a person is unable to function normally in society because of emotional rather than physical reasons.

Of course, that would be true, literally, if a person had a case of hysterics. But that would be a temporary interlude, and I certainly wouldn't call it a "nervous breakdown."

Taking an instance from real life, a man was doing excellent work as a foreman so he was promoted to superintendent. His company believed in psychology and psychiatry, and had the man studied. The psychologists said that the man had a worrying type of personality; that if promoted, he would be unable to cope with the pressures and decisions required in his new job.

Well, the man was such a good foreman that the company decided to promote him anyway. In about six months he went all to pieces, and just couldn't go to work at all. I'd call that a "nervous breakdown."

The happier side of the story is that he was put back in his old job, where he felt that he fitted, that he could master the job instead of vice versa, and from then on he became normal and contented.

He wasn't psychotic, not "mentally ill," but just swamped by tensions with which he couldn't cope.

"Nervous breakdown," however, also is applied to people who have become mentally ill. This can take different forms — delusions of grandeur, or imagining that they are being persecuted, or being so completely depressed that they do nothing but mope, or they may simply become withdrawn and pay no attention to people or events around them.

And, of course, in some instances some physical illness may also have a bearing on their emotional instability.

However, the best definition I can offer is that a "nervous breakdown" is a person's inability to function in society because of emotional rather than purely physical reasons.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald requesting the booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Policing The Countryside

One thing and another:

We all complain about the extent of the pollution that is blighting our area, the debris that piles up along road sides, down alleys and in street gutters.

I wonder, however, how many would react to a community call to fall out and police the countryside. How many would plead they couldn't participate in such an undertaking?

UP IN Mount Vernon, Wash., recently, thousands of people queued up to turn in more than a half a million cans and bottles. Cars, trucks and even a hearse formed a line, miles long, to carry away the trash.

A savings and loan organization which organized the drive estimated that 546,000 used containers had been collected in the drive.

Entire families spent the whole day scouring roadsides for cans and bottles.

THEY HAD an incentive. The savings and loans people planned to offer $1,000 as rewards to the workers. Instead they paid out $10,920. (Mt. Vernon is a town of 8,000). Judging from the response, some of the trash must have come from as far away as Peoria, Ill.

There should not have to be a cash incentive to get the people to try and save their environment. The prospect of a cleaner, more wholesome community should be enough to inspire them. Regrettably, it isn't.

* * *

INCIDENTALLY, the Small Business Administration in Washington is in step with the times.

The organization has removed the smoke from the smokestack on its emblem, in dedicating its efforts toward a cleaner environment. The emblem depicts a factory against a background of the map of the United States, overlooked by an eagle with spreading wings.

PROCEED WITH caution, if you plan on visiting San Francisco and stopping in at one of those celebrated topless joints.

The sight isn't free. The management at some of the so-called better places is charging $2.25 a drink (even if it's a cola) and each customer has to buy at least two.

THE ONLY surefire way I know for finding something you've misplaced around the domicile is to buy a replacement for it. It'll turn up as you're putting away the guarantee for the new one.

Peace Wouldn't Solve Fiscal Problems

WASHINGTON — One of the erroneous impressions spread around the country in the last two years has been that, if the Vietnam war were ended, billions of dollars would be available to be spent for "domestic priorities" — namely, the welfare of the people at home. Again and again, this has been the argument raised in mass meetings and in the predictions about how a virtual millenium in the United States could be attained if American Troops were pulled out of Southeast Asia.

BUT THE latest figures just made public on how the money in the federal budget for the fiscal year which ended June 30 was disbursed show that, out of $196.8 billion spent, more than $52 billion went for health, education and welfare. This includes old-age insurance and medicare as well as education and other outlays.

The total cost of the military was $77.8 billion. The official estimate for the Vietnam war was $29.5 billion a year at its peak. It now is running at an annual rate of somewhere between $15 and $20 billion.

THE PROBABILITY is that the national defense items will not be diminished very much even after the Vietnam war is concluded because of the necessity for spending money to provide military equipment for the future and also to take care of certain expenses for the Army, Navy and Air Force in other parts of the world. Thus, when an aircraft carrier is operating in waters around Vietnam, the cost of maintenance is charged to the Vietnam war, but when the same vessel later goes to other areas — the Mediterranean, for instance — the expenses are allocated to "national defense."

THE FEDERAL BUDGET, however, is devoted in large part to social welfare, and has been for many years. In the expenditure of $196.8 billion in fiscal year 1970, the third biggest item was $19.5 billion to the Treasury Department, but this was mostly for interest on the national debt. Many of the other items were actually related to public welfare, such as $8.5 billion for agriculture, $2.6 billion for housing and urban development, $4.4 billion for labor, and $6.4 billion for transportation.

THE DISCOURAGING aspect of the analysis of the 1970 budget is the fact that receipts from individual income taxes as well as corporation income taxes fell off from the estimates. This, of course, is due to economic conditions. It may well be that, even with the greatest effort toward holding down expenses in government, the 1971 budget will have a 9-billion-dollar deficit.

Congress, on the other hand, has been inclined to appropriate more money than the President has requested for domestic programs, and this in turn has produced considerable worry as to whether the purchashing power of the dollar will remain stable in the eyes of the world.

THE BIGGEST single obstacle toward the restoration of the economy is the wage and price problem. Although union-labor leaders are seeking more and more wages, many companies are operating on lower and lower profit margins — and some of them at loss. Sooner or later, both sides will have to recognize that the economy cannot be returned to a normal condition if wage scales and prices are moved higher and higher.

It would not be surprising, therefore, if the Administration made an appeal for the maintenance of wage and price levels at least for the remainder of 1970 and the year 1971, in the hope that a more favorable trend in the economic situation will begin to appear soon. For unless it does, tax receipts will continue to diminish, the government deficit will increase and the dollar will be regarded as worth less and less in comparison with the other currencies of the world.

His Dream Of A Simple Car

WASHINGTON — They say that folks are not storming Detroit to buy new cars this year.

The explanation, which is whispered furtively in back alleys, you understand, is that affluent America is finding itself a touch short of $5,000 bills on account of Mr. Nixon's mixture of inflation and recession.

BUT I DO NOT swallow this explanation. The average American has always hankered for something zippy on four wheels and in point of fact the new models do look rather nice. They boast all the latest thises and thats and I would not be surprised to discover that you can drive some of the latest vehicles without even bothering to mount same. In the old days of 1969 the citizen would have spent the milk money and borrowed on his Sunday suit to buy such a car.

THEREFORE, I dare to suggest that today's car buyer just might be wondering whether the Detroit product is really what he wants. TV sets, a saloon in the back seat and built-in dancing girls are nice, but perhaps we have reached the point where we desire, simply, a car.

On this assumption, I have launched a chivvying campaign to persuade Aristotle Onassis to finance production of the Tully Model. The Tully Model is simple and cheap and indisputably a car, which explains the jittery disinterest of Detroit.

FOR EXAMPLE, my car will be equipped with bumpers — for bumping purposes. They will not be pretty, but when they bump something it will be the something that will give, not the bumpers.

Likewise, the fenders on my car will be just that — fenders. They are not going to run the length of the car, so that when you dent one of them you have to buy half a car. The hood will be set down low and the front seat high so you can see something besides the sky.

The roof of my car will be a roof, not a hatch. It will be high enough so a man can step into his car without getting down on all fours and suffering brain concussion. I figure to save enough on hats to run away from home and live it up for a year in Dubuque.

MY CAR will have a trunk, or luggage compartment, but it will be slightly smaller than Yankee Stadium. The few inches saved here will be lavished on leg room inside the car. I am tired of horseless carriages in which the suitcases are more comfortable than the people. There is no big hump in the middle of the floor in the Tully Special. I got gears and stuff underneath my car, too, but it's built high enough off the ground so you don't have to be a midget to sit in the middle of the front seat.

MY STATION WAGON is fastened together with nuts and bolts. It is guaranteed not to rattle for at least a month. All my cars will have clocks that work, but no radios or swimming pools. Under the hood, which will be only one block long, will be working innards that can be repaired without taking the car apart, piece by piece, at $50 an hour. All garages will be located within 75 miles of the car owner's residence. Now tell me your dreams.

The first weekend of August brought somewhat fewer deaths than usual in Texas with 24 persons killed in miscellaneous incidents. Traffic injuries took the lives of 14 persons while six others were shot to death and two died in train mishaps.

The Associated Press began its tabulation of violent deaths at 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday.

Joe Willie Dixon, 45, of Dallas was killed Sunday when he was struck by car on Texas 16 about 9 miles south of Kerrville. Officers said they had no idea why Dixon was on the highway.

STRUCK BY TRAIN

Jimmy Lee Williams, 59, of Corsicana was killed Sunday when he was struck by a Rock Island freight train south of the Navarro County city. The engineer told officers he blew his whistle but Williams did not hear them. Later, investigators learned Williams was deaf.

Williams V. Davenport, 47, was shot to death outside his apartment door Saturday night in Houston. Police said the shooting was an apparent robbery attempt.

Alphonse T. Allen, 33, was shot to death at his Houston home Saturday night. Officers said a woman told them she shot Allen with a .22 caliber pistol. But policemen said the woman's shot missed and Allen was struck by a bullet from outside his home.

Two Houston youths were killed Saturday when their car overturned. Officers identified them as Sam Lague, 14, and Matthew Martinez, 15.

NO CHARGES

Joseph L. Lewis, 47, was shot to death at Houston Saturday night during a scuffle at a tavern. Police said no charges are expected to be filed in the case.

Three persons were killed and three others gravely injured early Saturday in a car-truck collision near Robstown in South Texas. Police said the dead were Manuel Soliz, 30; Roel Ramos, 26; and Gustavo Ramos, 19.

Nathaniel Nelms, 21, was shot to death late Friday in Houston and police said a man was being questioned in connection with the death.

A Houston man, Nathaniel Clemons, was killed Saturday in a shooting during what police said was a dice game.

Joseph Pannell, 62, died early Saturday near Sherman when his car struck a bridge railing and fell into a creek.

Sylvester McCullough, 60, died in a Giddings hospital late Saturday after being struck down by a car near Carmine in Fayette County. The accident occurred on State Highway 290.

FOUR-VEHICLE CRASH

Rory R. Turner, 43, of Houston was struck and killed by a car in the Bayou City Saturday.

Houston police said Ronald B. Williams, 26, was killed Saturday when his car spun off a street and crashed.

An unidentified man's body was discovered on railroad tracks at Dallas Saturday afternoon. Police said the body had no identification papers and there was no clue to his identity.

Willie Lee Nelloms, 17, of Green's Bayou drowned Saturday while crabbing in the San Jacinto River in northeastern Houston. Officers said the youth stepped from a ledge into 20 feet of water.

Mrs. Lillian G. Alfton of a Cleveland rural route died in a Conroe hospital soon after a four-vehicle crash on Texas 105 early Sunday. An army reserve truck and three other vehicles were involved.

BLAZING WRECK

Mrs. Mary Dove Homan, 32, of Amarillo was killed and eight children in her car injured Sunday in a car-truck accident. Amarillo police said Mrs. Homan's car struck the rear of a truck backing from a junkyard.

Marvin Anderson, 45, of Fort Worth died Sunday in a Dallas hospital of burns suffered Saturday. Anderson was one of two men injured when a fire caused about $100,000 damage at the North Texas terminal of Humble Oil & Refining Co.

Charles F. Lovwell, 32, was killed Sunday evening when his car ran off Texas 2432 near hear, police said.

A Dallas man, Anthony Baradziej, 51, died Sunday night in a blazing wreck when his auto crashed into a canal in East Dallas. Several others, including firemen who battled the blaze, were seriously injured.

Donations Asked For Garage Sale

The Big Spring Civitan Club is asking donations for a garage sale Saturday. Proceeds will be used for the various club projects including providing shoes for needy children, sponsoring a little league ball team and sending two high school students to citizenship seminars.

The sale will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. between 206 and 208 Gregg. Donations can be brought to Movers Inc., 1101 E. 2nd between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Mike Hull, 3-4861, will also arrange to have donations picked up Thursday.

Murder Mark

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago police department homicide unit reports the city is heading for an all-time record of more than 900 murders this year.

"We're not 92 murders ahead of this time last year," said Cmdr. John T. Cartan Jr., in predicting the highest yearly murder toll in the city's history in 1970. There were 716 murders in Chicago in 1969.

Cartan, 58, blamed "changing times" and a national trend to more violence for the sharp increase.

WINCHESTER, Ky. (AP) — Clark County originally was one of the 10 Bluegrass counties in Kentucky which produced more than 20 per cent of America's hemp in the late 1880's.

Hemp, the same plant which produces marijuana, prized for its hallucinogenic effects by many of today's younger generation, was the state's largest cash crop until 1915, when the market was lost to imported, tariff-free jute.

Large amounts of the plant still grow wild in the Bluegrass.

All-Around Performers Chosen At Junior Rodeo

With the closing of the Howard County 4-H Junior Rodeo Saturday night, tabulations showed Richard Thompson, Pearsall, and Renee Poarch, Hereford, to be the All-Around Cowboy and Cowgirl.

In addition to the hand tooled saddles, 12-year-old Renee will have two silver belt buckles for winning the barrel race and pole bending for her age group, and Richard will get two buckles for calf roping and ribbon roping firsts.

Ann Miller, Lamesa, and Glenn Pointer, Abilene, were runners-up for All-Around honors.

The first place winners in each event won belt buckles, and the first six in each event divided the entry fee money. Some winners may not accept their belt buckles or the money to preserve their amateur status.

In the bull riding, 13-15, Terry Davis, Big Spring, won the buckle with 48 points. Money winners were Bradley Rasberry, (Sweetwater) and Doug Smith (Odessa) tied for second with 47 and Bernard Robertson (Stanton) fourth with 40.

Anniversary Tea Attracts Crowd

The 35th anniversary of the founding of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association drew a large turnout Sunday.

Traffic through the association's home continued brisk all afternoon, said Elmo Wasson, president. Favors were given and refreshments served. Among the most popular features were a collection of old photographs provided by Bradshaw Studio and a hometown movie filmed in 1938 and narrated by Bill Johnson. Just about every seat in the First Federal Community Room was filled for each of the showings every half hour.

Area Counties Begin Issuing Food Stamps

Borden County is one of four due to open food stamp programs this week. The opening at Gail is due to be Thursday. Other counties are Garza, opening today, Dickens on Tuesday and Lynn on Wednesday. Borden County applicants are asked to contact the County Judge to arrange for an interview.

In general, eligible families for the Food Stamp Program include those who work for low wages, or receive public assistance or a small pension check, and who cook food at home. The coupons cannot be used to pay for meals at restaurants and are not good for imported foods or non-food items such as soap, paper goods or liquor.

Food stamps are considered to give low-income families more food-buying power. For example, a family of four with an income of less than $155 a month will pay $42 each month and receive food coupons worth $106. The difference is made by the "bonus" coupons paid for by federal funds.

Food stamp coupons are used like money at local groceries authorized by USDA's Food and Nutrition Service to accept them, and are redeemed at cooperating banks through the Federal Reserve System.

Plan Repairs On Courthouse

County Commissioners this morning discussed needed repairs on the County Courthouse.

Commissioners approved the purchase of a new water softening unit. The new unit will cost $1,510, it is estimated to cost $1,100 to repair the old unit, installed in 1953.

Ceiling plaster in three offices will have to be replaced because of the damage done by a pipe leak originating above District Judge Ralph Caton's office. Water seeped through his office flooring to County Attorney Bill Eyssen's office below. Commissioners decided to have Bill Redding, maintainance department, arrange to have the plaster repaired. Redding will make most of the repairs himself.

Attorney Dick Milstead, representing Cook's Discount Department Store, was to have appeared before Commissioners at 3 p.m. today when they reconvened as the county board of equalization. Because Milstead did not have all the necessary information to appear before the board today, the board will not reconvene until next Monday. The board had adjourned at the end of last month's equalization hearings and had set today as a date to consider Cook's tax problem.

VANDALISM

C. J. Sullivan, Gage's Service Station No. 3: rock thrown through window.

Sgt. McGee, Webb AFB: reported a rock thrown through car window while auto was parked at Dewey Ray Chrysler Pontiac on East Third.

Attendance Record High For Recreation Program

The Citywide Summer Recreation Program closed out during the weekend with what appeared to be a record cumulative attendance.

Eddie Trice, who supervises the program, said it appears the cumulative total will top the 10,000 mark.

The Comanche Trail park program, with about 125 enrolled, closed out with 2,634 participation for the eight weeks of the program. It's activities were cut short one day because the Old Settlers pavillion, where the youngsters gather and have their arts and craft, was needed for the Old Settlers reunion.

Reports from the Lakeview-Bauer program, where 158 were enrolled, showed a cumulative total of 5,973, making a total of 8,607 for the daily programs. To this was added the 491 total for the learn-to-swim effort, held down because of extremely cool weather although the enrollment of 183 was up by nearly 100 over the previous year.

The basketball program for teen-age boys showed an estimated 1,125 (which may be higher on final reports), making a grand total attendance of 10,223.

Trice said that the Comanche Park program got its best participation to date, as did the Lakeview-Bauer Program.

The program is provided annually through the joint support of the City of Big Spring, the United Fund, the Big Spring schools, and the YMCA, which serves as the administrative agency in recruiting the supervising staff.

Medina Choir Concert Here

The famed Medina Home Chorus will present a concert at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ. The public is invited to attend, said Perry Cotham, minister.

The choir, made up of students from the Medina Children's Home near Kerrville, was organized in March, 1968, and they cut their first record entitled "Open My Eyes" in August, 1969, after their first tour through Texas appearing before 54 churches and a number of civic clubs.

The choir has visited NASA and the Astrodome in Houston, the men's and women's prisons at Huntsville, colleges, manufacturing plants, state parks and refuges.

Director Eugene N. Helm, a graduate of Del Mar College and native of San Patricio County, organized the group to give religious concerts. Their special emphasis this summer has been "When I survey the wondrous cross." Their itinery included 50 churches this summer.

Lamesa Considers Park Annexation

LAMESA (SC) — Lamesa City Councilmen face a lengthy 12-item agenda here tonight for their first regular session since July 6.

Topping the business items is a proposal to annex Terrace Park Inc., a private residential swimming pool and playground area, to the city parks.

Teen Volunteers Have Own Paper

In addition to their work in the wards and various departments at the Veterans Administration Hospital, four youth volunteers are kept busy keeping up with the doings of their fellow volunteers and publishing an account of it in the "Volunteer Times."

Kaye Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Holland, 1217 Ridgeroad, serves as the paper's editor. Kaye is a sophomore and hopes to become a writer.

Art work for the paper is done by Alma Willetts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moody Farris, 1200 Wright. Alma is also a sophomore and enjoys all kinds of art and plans to become an oceanographer.

Besides serving the patients in Ward 4 West, Evelyn Smith assists with the art work. Evelyn is the daughter of J. D. Smith, 1902 N. Monticello. Evelyn, a freshman, lists art, swimming and office work as enjoyable ways to spend her time. Evelyn hopes to become a secretary.

Verna Goswick is the past editor of the "Volunteer Times" and assists the other members of the staff with any problems they may have in producing the paper. Verna graduated from Big Spring High School last spring and she is working on Ward 3 West this summer. This is Verna's fourth year as a youth volunteer. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Goswick, 1804 Runnels, and plans to enroll in Howard County Junior College this fall to study nursing.

PLANNED VIETNAM PULLOUT IN 1964?

LBJ 'Tucked Away' By JFK

NEW YORK (AP) — Former presidential aide Kenneth O'Donnell says John F. Kennedy chose Lyndon B. Johnson as his running mate in 1960 because he felt that if elected he would be unable to "live with" Johnson as Senate majority leader.

O'Donnell, who served in both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, said that four years later Johnson wanted Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana as his vice president for the same reason—to remove him from the key Senate leadership post.

NEW BACKGROUND

O'Donnell's observations in the Aug. 7 issue of Life magazine are from a book he is writing. In addition to domestic politics, the account offers new background on early decisions on America's involvement in Vietnam.

KENNETH O'DONNELL

O'Donnell said Kennedy, after consulting with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Mansfield in 1961 and 1962, agreed with both on "the need for a complete military withdrawal from Vietnam" but planned to withhold announcement until after the 1964 election.

Mansfield confirmed Sunday that Kennedy had "definitely and unequivocally" made the withdrawal decision in the spring of 1963, the Washington Post reported in today's editions.

On the selection of Johnson for the vice presidency, O'Donnell quoted Kennedy as offering this explanation at the 1960 Democratic convention:

"I'm 43 years old, and I'm the healthiest candidate for president in the United States. You've traveled with me enough to know that. I'm not going to die in office. So the vice presidency doesn't mean anything.

"I'm thinking of something else, the leadership of the Senate. If we win, it will be by a small margin and I won't be able to live with Lyndon Johnson as the leader of a small Senate majority. Did it occur to you that if Lyndon becomes the vice president, I'll have Mike Mansfield as the Senate leader, somebody I can trust and depend on?"

On the Vietnam involvement, O'Donnell wrote:

"President Kennedy first began to have doubts about our military effort in Vietnam in 1961, when both Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Gen. Charles de Gaulle warned him that the Asian mainland was no place to be fighting a nonnuclear land war."

STUNNED

"MacArthur was extremely critical of the military advice the President had been getting from the Pentagon," he wrote. "MacArthur went on to point out that there were domestic problems — the urban crisis, the ghettos, the economy — that should have far more priority than Vietnam.

"Kennedy came out of the meeting somewhat stunned. That a man like MacArthur should give him such unmilitary advice impressed him enormously."

CIVIL WAR

The following year, O'Donnell says, Mansfield returned from a visit to Southeast Asia and "emphatically advised, first, a curb on sending more military reinforcements to South Vietnam and, then, a withdrawal of U.S. forces from that country's civil war."

After criticism from Mansfield in 1963 for his support of the Diem regime in Saigon, O'Donnell says, Kennedy told him he agreed the United States should withdraw but told him that "if he announced a total withdrawal . . . before the 1964 election, there would be a wild conservative outcry against returning him to the presidency for a second term."

OPPOSED HHH

O'Donnell was White House appointments secretary under Kennedy and after Kennedy's assassination Nov. 22, 1963, remained under President Johnson as a special aide until after the 1964 campaign.

He also says that Johnson was clearly opposed to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey as a running mate and "frequently ridiculed the garrulous Minnesota senator in private."

As president, Johnson was "obsessed" with the idea that Robert Kennedy would try to force himself into the vice presidency in 1964, says O'Donnell, although Kennedy had privately rejected that possibility and laid plans to run for the Senate in New York.

Mail Service

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jack Koch, business manager for a radio station, ordered a Post Office Department pamphlet on "How to Improve Your Mail Service" in January. It arrived late in May.

Close Call

SYDNEY (AP) — Shopkeeper George Wall's automobile just managed to pass under a power line sagging towards a main road.

To warn other motorists of the hazard at Newcastle, New South Wales, Wall tied a white shirt rag to the line and then reported the danger to police.

He didn't realize just how dangerous it was — the live line carried 11,000 volts. Electricity linesmen are under orders never to work within three feet of such a line.

"I didn't know whether the line was live so I flicked a white shirt rag over it," said Wall, 63. "Nothing happened so I tied the shirt to the line."

'Hot' Time In Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Police dispersed a crowd of about 200 youths Sunday night after bottles were hurled through windows of a hippie-district precinct station and several businesses.

No injuries were reported and several youths were arrested and charged with setting off firecrackers.

The precinct station, was established earlier in the summer in anticipation of an influx of hippies into the area. Police permitted the hippies to paint "pig Pen" on the windows of the station, but later ordered it removed.

Police were ordered to extra patrol duty in the area after numerous reports of widespread crime in the district, called the "Tight Squeeze."

Police said they were unsure what precipitated the Sunday night incident but one youth said there was growing friction between the officers and the residents of the hippie community.

Play War

SYDNEY (AP) — The boy and girl, about 6 and a little bored, were sitting on the steps of their house.

"What will we play now"? asked the girl.

"Let's play war," said the boy.

"OK, let's play war," said the girl. "You go off and be a soldier and I'll stay home and worry."

SALT Talks Perk Up Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviets are showing serious interest in the United States' proposal to limit strategic missiles but have yet to commit themselves on its key features.

This initial Soviet reaction has emerged from accounts of the two formal meetings and other discussions at the U.S.-Soviet strategic arms limitation talks (SALT) at Vienna last week following the American offer.

The Russians were said to be seeking more information about the U.S. plan while neither committing themselves to it nor making polemic statements against it.

ARMS RACE

Washington officials therefore continue to be encouraged about the prospects for reaching an historic agreement on curbing the superpower nuclear arms race, though a formal pact would still seem to be many months away.

The Vienna talks are expected to recess this summer, then resume in the fall in Helsinki where the SALT talks began last year.

U.S. negotiator Gerard C. Smith set forth the U.S. proposal last January.

It would limit the number of long range offensive missiles to current stockpiles, or less, and would also place a ceiling on defense antiballistic missiles (ABM).

The most important feature of the plan, in the United States' view, would be its restraint on the Soviet SS-9 missiles which would be kept at their current number of about 300.

CAPABLE OF KO

The huge SS-9 is rated by U.S. strategists as capable of knocking out the war-deterrent Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) in its silo. The Pentagon says the Soviets are pressing ahead with a build-up of their SS-9 force.

The U.S. proposal also is understood to offer the Soviets an option on the ABM—either ABMs on both sides, or limiting ABMs to national command centers such as the 64-launcher system now in place around Moscow.

This would give the Soviets a choice of dismantling their Moscow ABM system or allowing the Americans, who are just starting to build an ABM system, to construct one around Washington or some other command point.

SAFEGUARD SITES

Neither option appears to fit the controversial Safeguard ABM proposal now being debated in the Senate.

Supporters of the administration program said if the Soviets agree to a zero ABM pact, the U.S. Safeguard program could be abandoned without jeopardizing United States security.

If the Soviets opt for a national command authority ABM, administration backers said, the U.S. Safeguard program could be inexpensively relocated because the only installation work done on the Safeguard so far is two holes in the ground.

First 747 Skyjacking Takes Bandit To Castro

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — A bearded young hijacker gave Fidel Castro his first look at a Boeing 747 jumbo jetliner Sunday. The hijacker got off in Havana, the pilot showed the Cuban prime minister around the outside of the plane and answered his questions, then the plane and the other 378 persons aboard flew to Miami and Puerto Rico.

It was the first 747 hijacking. The big plane went into service six months ago.

A young man who spoke with an accent and "resembled Che Guevara" pulled a gun on a stewardess and ordered her to take him to the cockpit 90 minutes after the Pan American flight left New York for San Juan with 360 passengers and a crew of 19 aboard.

AW, NOW FIDEL

The gunman carried a bag which he said contained explosives. He ordered the pilot, Capt. Augustus Watkins, to take him to Cuba. Castro was waiting at Jose Marti airport when the giant jet landed at 5:31 a.m.

Only Watkins and the hijacker got off during the plane's 52-minute stay.

Castro looked over the plane for more than half an hour, as he and the pilot talked through an interpreter. Watkins said he invited Castro aboard, but the prime minister declined, saying, "I would probably scare the passengers."

MANY QUESTIONS

The 53-year-old flier said Castro asked many questions: about the passengers and cargo the 747 could carry, the crew needed to operate it, its speed and other performance details.

"He was particularly interested in whether the plane would be able to take off from the Cuban airfield," Watkins said. "I told him that was not a problem."

Watkins said the hijacker wanted to get his luggage off the plane, but the pilot explained that the necessary special equipment wasn't available.

"After I promised to see that the luggage was shipped to Havana on another flight, Castro gave orders to clear us for takeoff," Watkins said.

The plane flew to Miami for refueling, and FBI agents boarded it to question those who had talked with the hijacker. He was traveling in the first class compartment, and the stewardess he pulled the gun on said he was about 25 and told her he was Puerto Rican.

The plane arrived in San Juan at 10:45 a.m., nearly seven hours behind schedule.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Little wonder management has been contesting the right of the NFL Players Association to raid the treasury and take it all.

The lords of professional football are concerned about future costs of operation, and well they might be. Commissioner Pete Rozelle likes to talk about the day when sponsors will be paying $200,000 a minute for television commercials but sponsors already are taking a new look at their investment, wondering if $60,000 to $70,000 a minute for such an investment isn't a bit much.

The players have been using Rozelle's own words in their negotiations with the owners to haunt him, all the while trying to undermine Rozelle's power and high station.

The magnates are faced with the inevitability of an increase by as much as 50 per cent in telephone line charges for TV and radio next year, and football is a huge telephone customer.

As of Jan. 2, 1971 (the day after the college bowl games), cigarette advertising will be banned from TV and radio. Cigarette advertising represented ten per cent of the income for TV networks and close to 20 per cent of football. Other sponsors (i. e., Chrysler) are cutting back.

It stands to reason that if network bids for football are lowered, the admission prices to game must rise. The question is: Just how far will a gullible public go to maintain a status symbol?

* * *

There's no question but that the professional game has become the poorer because of the labor discord. The flacks employed by the game can depict the players as super-humans and brave knights all they like but there are those who have long suspected that the players are merely greedy and the club owners miserly, ready to take advantage of every tax break not extended other industries.

* * *

The brutal truth is that the professional athlete of today — be he in baseball, football or golf — has more in common with the aristocrat than the peon.

How can one extend sympathy to those who are already grossly overpaid? They strut before us, rubbing elbows with the velvet push, playing in their celebrity golf tournaments, talking of million-dollar, open-end contracts and lucrative franchise deals wherein they lend only their names.

Invariably, they are richly-paid performers in a worshipful society that rewards its athletes at the expense of its artists.

One thing the pro athlete hasn't been able to do is to communicate with the average man when he appeals to us that he lusts to improve his pension plan. The players are not merely asking for insurance against poverty in their old age. They are demanding that they be able to continue to live in the style to which they have become accustomed. When one considers the fact that they will be doing rather well in other jobs after they have been stabled, the average buff finds little with which he can relate.

Compare the athlete's lot with that of the average citizen, who must wonder if he's going to have enough income to put bread on the table after he has been put out to pasture by his employer.

* * *

It has come to the point now where we read the year around of salary debates, of threats of mutiny and the intervention of lawyers in matters athletic.

Is there no respite for the spectator from the trials of the counting house? Why do newspapers let their lackeys, who invariably are starry-eyed young men entranced by their assignment and association and who are incapable of thinking out an issue, dignify these squabbles by discussing them in print?

Can't they simply play ball?

David Price Surges To Win Golf Title

David Price, rallying for a 33 on the final nine holes, won the 39th annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament championship here Sunday with a 36-hole medal score of 135.

For the two days of play, the young Odessan was seven strokes below regulation figures and he needed every stroke to fend off the first day co-leader, Duncan Boyer of Abilene, who wound up with a 136.

The Ector County star posted a final round 68 to go with the 67 he achieved Saturday. Boyer started with a 66 but had to settle for a 70 Sunday.

In Sunday's round, Boyer was out in 38 but came home in 32.

Price, who won $150 in merchandise with his championship had bridies on the second, tenth, 11th, 14th and 18th holes and a bogie on 17.

Charles Wysong, McKinney, who shared the first day lead with Boyer, had to settle for a tie for third with Scott Stegner, Odessa. Each had a 137.

Marvin Williams, Big Spirng, had the lead through 11 holes but his game went into decline after that.

All the awards in the championship flight were claimed by out-of-town players, in fact the first five linksters registered from places other than Big Spring.

In addition, Jimmy Wilson of Fort Worth won the first flight, Eldon Hopkins of Stanton the third flight and Bill Tindol of Coahoma and Alpine the fourth flight.

There were no playoffs for any of the positions.

Hopkins cut 12 strokes off his game to win the third flight. He started with an 80 but matched Price's fine round Sunday.

Price succeeded Don Gauldin of Weatherford as the titlist. Gauldin failed to rate the championship flight and could do no better than tie for second in the first flight.

Second place in each flight was worth $100 in awards, third place $60 and fourth place $25. There were no playoffs in cases where ties occurred.

Aussie Claims $50,000 Prize

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — "We're not machines out there, we're human beings," Bruce Crampton said after pocketing the $50,000 first prize in the Westchester Golf Classic.

"We have nerves. We have stomach aches. We have a basic sense of insecurity. And we have ears."

The handsome Australian had his ears tuned to the gallery behind him as he played down the stretch of the $250,000 Classic Sunday with the awesome Jack Nicklaus and young Larry Hinson breathing down his neck.

"It's uncomfortable to have any of these fellows behind you because they're all so good," Crampton said. "But with Nicklaus it is really unnerving. He is the best golfer in the world. There is no telling what he will do."

SINKS LONG ONE

Crampton rolled in dramatic birdie shots from off the green on the 16th and 17th holes—chipping in from 15 feet on one and sinking a 20-foot putt on the other—and then played the final hole in a safe part five for a 67 and a winning score of 273.

"While I was on the 17th, I listened for the reaction of the Nicklaus and Hinson gallery on the 16th," the curly-haired Australian tour regular said. "I didn't hear any cheers. I heard an ah-h-h. I knew then that there hadn't been a birdie and one or both of them had got a bogey.

Nicklaus bogeyed the 206-yard par 3 hole after bunkering his tee shot and momentarily fell three shots back of the leader with two holes to play.

Then it was Nicklaus' turn to hear a gallery roar as Crampton, playing with Dave Hill, knocked in his second birdie in a row.

"I knew then I had to finish 3-3," Jack said. Both he and Hinson, a 25-year-old member of golf's new mod squad, hit two mighty shots to the 538-yard closing hole and sank eagle putts of 20 and 10 feet, respectively, to tie for second place at 274.

They missed by just one stroke. Each collected $23,125.

Owners, Players, Smoke Peace Pipe In Dispute

NEW YORK (AP) — Owners of the National Football League reached agreement with the Players Association today, ending a players' strike which had threatened the 1970 season.

Veteran members of the 26 squads agreed to report to training camps immediately.

The owners had met in the office of Commissioner Pete Rozelle for close to 24 hours, not breaking for sleep.

The players demanded increased pension benefits.

It was the most serious labor dispute in the history of professional sports in the nation.

Millions of dollars in television contracts also were involved.

Tex Schramm, chairman of the owners negotiating committee, announced the settlement called for the owners to guarantee $4,535,000 annually for four years into the player pension plan. An additional $250,000 annually will be used to improve and implement a disability program, widow's benefits, maternity and dental benefits.

Under the agreement, preseason pay increases and per diem increases were guaranteed to the players.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle will appoint an arbiter in cases involving injury grievances, but all other facets of the authority of office of the commissioner will remain the same.

The committees of owners and players also agreed on certain other points that have been under negotiation with specific language to be worked out by lawyers.

Pittsburgh Returns To National Lead

By The Associated Press

Hospitality is a Southern custom but Atlanta certainly went overboard for Bob Robertson.

Robertson, Pittsburgh's rookie slugger, ran the Braves ragged over the weekend, climaxing the show with two home runs and a double Sunday which drove in six runs in the Pirates' 10-7 victory.

The triumph moved Pittsburgh back into first place in the National League East, one game in front of the New York Mets, who dropped a doubleheader to San Diego 3-0 and 4-2.

In three games against the Braves, Robertson collected 10 hits—four homers, two doubles and four singles—in 13 official at bats. The splurge boosted his batting average 28 points to .306.

Elsewhere in the NL Sunday, Los Angeles whipped Montreal 6-3, Philadelphia edged San Francisco 7-6, Cincinnati tripped Chicago 4-3 in 11 innings and St. Louis dropped Houston 3-2.

The two homers—a solo shot in the second and a three-run blast in the sixth—gave Robertson 15 home runs for the season, six of them in Atlanta.

Arista Blow Is Clincher

STERLING CITY — Tommy Arista hit an eighth-inning solo home run that enabled Baroid Chemicals of Big Spring to defeat Havilik Roofing of San Angelo, 3-2, in the finals of the double-elimination Sterling City Softball tournament here Saturday night.

Havilik had forced the Baroid team into an extra game by copping a 4-1 decision earlier in the day. Baroid finished tournament play with a 4-1 won-lost record.

Cotton Mize hurled the Big Springers to victory, limiting the opposition to four hits and fanning seven. Both the runs he yielded came on home runs — by Ogden and Morgan.

Bengals Win Over Pecos

The Big Spirng Cardinals hit the 20-victory mark here Sunday, starting late but finishing strong to beat the Pecos Wildcats, 7-3. This gave the Cards a 20-4 season's record, one of the most respectable in West Texas.

Jody Flores started for the Cards, but two walks and two hits rocked him for three runs in the third. Junior Mendoza took over and with the exception of a single to Chavarria and a pair of walks, he put Pecos down in order the rest of the way.

The Cards managed only a single by Felix Martinez going into the fifth, but Benny Marquez Jr. opened with a triple, Tony Martinez stroked him home, Junior Mendoza was save on a bobble at second, and scored on another error.

The game remained knotted until the bottom of the eight when the cards batted around and blasted across four runs. Abel Ramirez started it with a double, followed by a walk to Felix Martinez, a hit by Pat Martinez Jr., back in the lineup after being sidelined by an injury, and a hit by Andy Gamboa.

The Big Spring American All Stars, a team which seems to specialize in nothing but winning, gets its biggest test at 5:30 p.m. today in the sectional Little League tournament in Lubbock.

Big Spring, winner of the District 3 title by reason of victories over Midand, Big Spring National and Andrews American in the Andrews tournament, takes on the Ozona (District 4) champions. The game will be played on the Buster Long field, 70th and Slide Road.

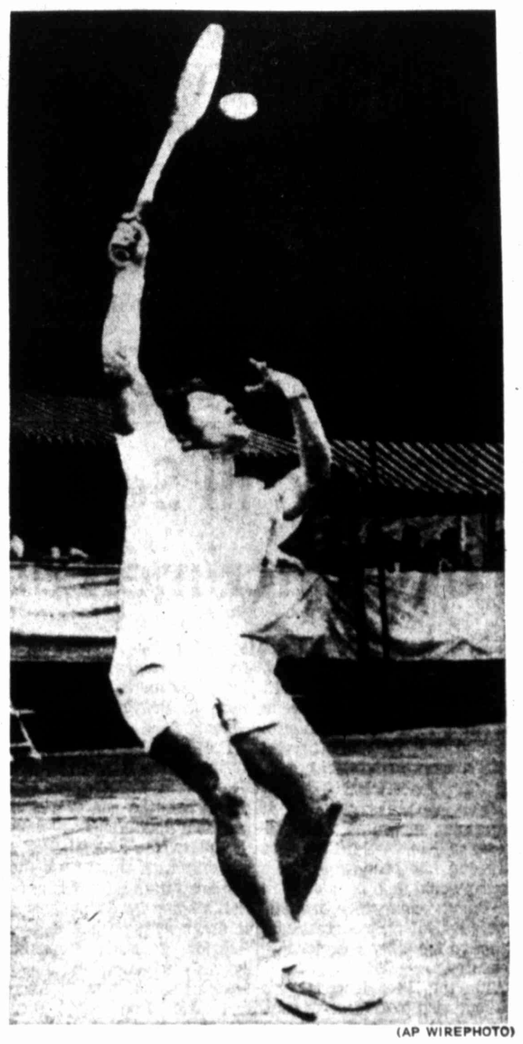

If the locals win, they will meet the winner of the El Paso-Borger district clash at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

In the bottom bracket are Breckenridge and Plainview, the only first round contestants who were to meet at 1:30 p.m. today, the winner to tangle with Lubbock Tuesday at 5:30 p.m.; plus Abilene and Iowa Park at 7:30 p.m. today. The winner of this game will meet the victor of the Lubbock-Breckenridge or Plainview contest, at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Finals are scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday, and the sectional winner goes to the state tournament in Austin Aug. 12-15. The Southern regional is in St. Petersburg, Fla., Aug. 19-22.

Squad members are Shawn Anderson, Chris Burrow, Pat Carroll, Tommy Churchwell, Steve Evans, Vince Hatfield, Noel Hull, Jerry Marquez, Kenneth McMurtrey, Charles McKinney, Ronnie Mullins, Jimmy Shanks, David Wheeler and Kim Wrinkle.

The pitching staff includes Carroll, Shanks and Hull. David Wheeler's bat, with two homers, was a big factor in the district play.

Angelo's Cliff Richey

Angelo Star Is $8,000 Richer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Cliff Richey says he' s playing tennis better than ever before and not many people will dispute that statement after his strong victory Sunday over Stan Smith in the finals of the $50,000 National Clay Court Tennis Championships.

The 23-year-old San Angelo, Tex., native stopped Uncle Sam's No. 1-ranked net star, Smith, 6-2, 10-8, 3-6, 6-1, in the three-sets-of-five match at the Woodstock Club here.

In women's singles, the victor was surprising youngster Linda Tuero, 19, of Metaire, La., who downed defending champion Gail Chanfreau.

His victory over the U.S. Davis Cupper from Pasadena, Calif., was Richey's seventh of the year and his second in three weeks. It was also the second time he has won the Clay Court, taking the singles title in 1966.

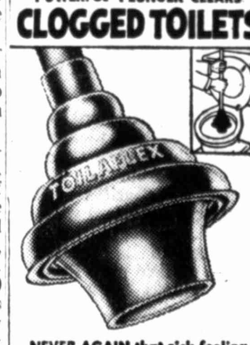

Richey accepted the $8,000 first place check and said, "It's a big title and I'm just happy to win it. I want to come back next year and try to retire the trophy. That's a big ambition of mine."

Miss Tuero, a Tulane University sophomore, had to pass up the top prize money of $2,500 because she's an amateur. But, the pig-tailed miss was extremely poised in taking the victory 7-5, 6-1.

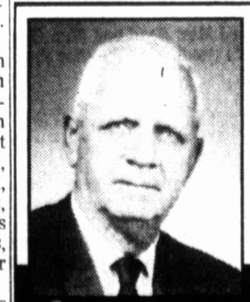

In the men's doubles, Arthur Ashe of Gum Springs, Va., and Clark Graebner of New York, two of Uncle Sam's top four, defeated two members of the Romanian Davis Cup Team, Ilie Nastase and Ion Tiriac, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

Mrs. Chanfreau and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, the Wimbledon doubles queen, won the women's doubles, topping Pat Walkden of Rhodesia and Helen Gourlay of Australia, 6-2, 6-2.

Nixon Will Seek Support For Anticrime Legislation

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon meets in Denver today with state officials responsible for overseeing the use of federal law enforcement grants. He plans to seek their support for anticrime legislation.

Nixon, who has proposed 13 anticrime measures to Congress, said last week that since only one has been signed into law he would take advantage of the Denver conference to make a new appeal for congressional action on the other long-pending measures.

With the President for his 4½-hour visit to Colorado's capital en route back to Washington after a working holiday at the Western White House were to be Mrs. Nixon and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Some 200 state, territorial and District of Columbia officials responsible for spending grants from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration were in Denver to meet with Nixon.

The federal grants are aimed at improving the criminal justice system, including police departments, the courts and correctional institutions.

While Nixon and Mitchell are meeting with the LEAA funds administrators, Mrs. Nixon is to visit a home for delinquents and an antipoverty project center.

Major Colorado Republican figures—including Gov. John A. Love and Sen. Gordon Allott—and one Democrat, Denver Mayor William McNichols, were scheduled to welcome the presidential party to Colorado's mile-high capital.

Nixon, who flew to California with his wife on July 24, spent a relaxed if somewhat peripatetic weekend with two friends who flew in from the East.

Accompanied by C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo of Key Biscayne, Fla., and industrialist Robert Abplanalp of Bronxville, N.Y., Nixon drove Saturday to his birthplace at Yorba Linda, then to his old college at Whittier. He wound up eating a dish called "hobo steak" at Chasen's Restaurant in Los Angeles. The only aide who make the jaunt was foreign policy adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

The party returned to San Clemente by helicopter near midnight—after purposely eluding a group of newsmen and photographers who had been assembled by the White House to follow along.

The President spent Sunday working and relaxing at his seaside villa.

Charges Filed In Pipe Theft

Jim Bob Weatherford, 36, 3150 Columbia, Abilene, was arrested Saturday in Stephen County on a warrant from the Howard County Sheriff's Office, charging Weatherford with theft over $50.

Weatherford is accused of theft of oil field pipe. Bond was set at $10,000 by a Callahan County Justice of the Peace. Weatherford posted bond and was released Sunday.

400 Delta Tots Due Medical Care

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 400 tots from the Mississippi Delta have begun arriving in Washington for medical care under a program sponsored by Howard University.

The youngsters, most from black, low-income families, are particularly in need of dental treatment, officials say. Many have 10 to 12 serious cavities.

They are being brought to Washington because Mississippi doesn't allow out-of-state dentists to practice inside its borders.

Pasture Burns

A grass fire was reported to the Sheriff's Office at 9:30 p.m. Saturday. The fire was 16 miles south of Big Spring on US 87. The Forsan Fire Department was called to the scene and the Coahoma Fire Department was called to back them up. Deputy Ed Cherry investigated.

Holdup-Slaying Suspects Jailed

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Two fugitives from a Texas prison were in custody today on charges of murdering a Columbus, Ga., restaurant manager in a holdup that was followed by the holding of four persons as hostages.

Charged were John Francis Benzie, 46 of Granite City, Ill., and John E. Watson, 27, of Pasadena, Tex., authorities said

It was not immediately determined which Texas prison the two escaped from, officials said.

Slain in the robbery was Marshall Miner, 23, shot when a lone gunman robbed the Pizza Hut restaurant shortly after midnight Saturday.

After taking the money, police said, the gunman left with a waitress, Judy Head, 24, as a hostage. Authorities said Willemina Carter, 60, Selma, Ala., had already been taken hostage and was apparently outside in the getaway car.

A short time later, two men and the women appeared at the home of Mr.and Mrs. Frank Gruber in Columbus. Police said the men forced their way inside and remained there with their hostages until late afternoon.

Gruber told police they took his car shortly before 5 p.m.

Columbus police radioed a description of the men to Atlanta and they were arrested at the airport. They arrived on a flight bound for Greenville, S.C., but were taken off a shuttle bus for downtown by security police. Authorities said the hostages were left unharmed and the Medical Center in Columbus reported Miss Head and Mrs. Carter in good condition after sedation.

Visitors Arrested

Three Dallas residents were arrested Saturday and charged with theft under $50 by the Big Spring City Police. Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter set their bond at $1,000 each. The three posted bond and were released. Charged were Faye Lyn Nash, 21, 4950 Wadsworth, Dallas; Ronald Nash, 25, 211 Ann, Dallas; and Freddie Lee Clark, 40, 948 Foxboro, Dallas.

District To Release Water

The Colorado River Municipal Water District will release 500 acre-feet of water Tuesday from Lake E. V. Spence to downstream users above Ballinger.

O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD, said he had been advised by the Texas Water Rights commission, that studies by the commission had indicated that those who have prior rights to the river water would have received this much had it not been for the Robert Lee dam.

Because of the short supply of water, the district had been hopeful that the release would not be necessary, said Ivie, but conferences with water right holders and with commission representatives indicated otherwise.

"Under the law, these holders of prior rights to the water are entitled to the water, and we certainly intend to comply with the law," said Ivie.

Release from the lake will likely be done through the 60-in. outlet so as to provide maximum flow and thus hopefully increase its beneficial effect on the downstream users by diminishing channel loss.

Under the permit granted to CRMWD for impounding Lake Spence, the district is required to release the normal flow of the river. This summer, there has been practically no flow into the lake, which now contains somewhere between 15,000 and 20,000 acre-feet of water. For several months the district has been taking around 17,000,000 gallons per day from Lake Spence, and the city of San Angelo began pumping from the lake during the past weekend.

DAV To Meet

The Disabled American Veterans and the Ladies' Auxiliary will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Big Spring Savings and Loan. All Disabled Veterans and their wives are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Fire Bomb Factory?

DALLAS (AP)—Police today are questioning four men in connection with a Sunday house fire started in what police said was a fire bomb factory.

The four men were jailed after arson investigators and police said they found a number of Molotov cocktails and marijuana seeds. Officers said they also found a supply of illegal methadrine.

Arson investigator Capt. C. G. Walden said the fire was confined to the kitchen of the one-story frame house where glasses were being filled with gasoline and stuffed with cloth wicks.

Firemen quickly extinguished the fire which was termed minor.

The four men, ranging in age from 19 to 23, gave no account for the fire bombs or the illegal narcotics, police added.

Formal charges were expected to be filed later, police said.

Use Used Gum

BANCHORY, Scotland (AP) — Twenty-five Brownies (junior Girl Scouts) from here thought they wouldn't make it to the Kincardine Girl Guides (Girl Scouts) diamond jubilee celebrations when their bus radiator began to leak.

But they found a solution. The chatter stopped and they started chewing gum which the driver used to plug the radiator hole. The girls reached their destination gumless, but on time.

IN SUPPORT OF CAMBODIAN TROOPS

U. S. Planes Drop Napalm

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes were reported flying combat missions in support of Cambodian troops southwest of Phnom Penh today, while to the north of the capital Cambodian and Communist troops battled in the streets of Kompong Thom.

Little ground fighting was reported in South Vietnam, but the U.S. Command reported 33 enemy rocket and mortar attacks in the past 24 hours, the largest number in a day since June 28. The command said all the casualties were Vietnamese, including 10 killed and 24 wounded in the town of Giong Trom in the Mekong Delta.

NEW PEACE TRY

In Laos, Indochina's third war front, a new peace initiative got under way, but there was no prospec. of speedy and decisive developments.

U.S. Air Force Phantoms were reported in action in Cambodia in support of five government battalions massed on the slopes of the Kiri Rom plateau for an attempt to retake the 2,000-foot-high area from Viet Cong and North Vietnamese who captured it last week.

Col. Sar Hor, the government and deputy military commander of the province southwest of Phnom Penh, told Associated Press correspondent T. Jeff Williams that the U.S. Phantoms were dropping bombs and napalm on Kiri Rom and on enemy forces between his headquarters at Kompong Speu and Kiri Rom.

CUT OIL FLOWS

These forces have cut Highway 4 through the province, cutting off Phnom Penh's oil supplies from the country's only refinery on the coast and blocking reinforcements and supplies for the government force at Kiri Rom. The provincial governor told Williams his immediate goal is to reopen the highway and meanwhile the government force at Kiri Rom is marking time.

There was no confirmation in Saigon of the reported American air action in Cambodia. Nixon administration spokesmen in Washington, in an attempt to head off congressional criticism, have said U.S. air activity in Cambodia would be directed against North Vietnamese and Viet Cong supply and troop traffic moving through Eastern Cambodia toward South Vietnam. But Williams said Cambodian officers in the Siem Reap-Angkor area, in northwest Cambodia, recently told visiting newsmen that U.S. F105 jets from bases in Thailand were providing close air support for Cambodian forces around Siem Reap.

13 KILLED

A military spokesman in Phnom Penh said 32 Cambodian troops and 111 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong had been killed in fighting Saturday and Sunday at Kompong Thom, central Cambodia's biggest city 80 miles north of the capital.

The spokesman said Cambodian forces were still in control of the city, but he reported house-to-house fighting and both sides using mortars and light artillery. He also indicated air support played a part in pushing back waves of Viet Cong "suicide squads."

Halfway between Kompong Thom and Phnom Penh, Cambodian forces were reported to have recaptured the highway junction town of Skoun, where a road branches off to the regional military headquarters at Kompong Cham, 25 miles to the east. The spokesman said 13 Cambodians were killed and 63 wounded in retaking Skoun Sunday, while enemy losses were not known.

HEAVY RAIDS

Harassing attacks were reported at Prey Pring, seven miles southwest of Phnom Penh, and at Anchang, 12 miles north of the capital. The spokesman claimed 20 Viet Cong were killed at Anchang.

North of Cambodia's border with Laos, scores of U.S. B52 bombers kept up heavy raids on North Vietnamese supply routes and infiltration corridors running through the Laotian panhandle. These blows were aimed at stemming the flow of troops and war materials into both Cambodia and South Vietnam.

While the giant bombers were unloading explosives on southeastern Laos, an envoy from the Communist Pathet Lao met in Vientiane with Prince Souvanna Phouma, the Laotian premier.

Prince Souk Vongsak, a member of the Pathet Lao's central committee, delivered a message from Prince Souphanouvong, the titular leader of the Pathet Lao and Souvanna Phouma's half-brother.

LETTER 'SECRET'

The contents of the letter were not disclosed, but diplomatic sources said it could open the way to negotiations for a new cease-fire in Laos.

Souk Vongsak is expected to meet again soon with Souvanna Phouma. Sources in Vientiane said Vongsak's mission was to deliver the letter and to carry on discussions leading to a meeting between plenipotentiary representatives of the Pathet Lao and the Laotian government.

A meeting between a Pathet Lao emissary and Souvanna Phouma last March failed to produce any apparent results, and neither did two letters from Souphanouvong last March 6 and June 12.

The letters demanded an unconditional halt in U.S. air attacks on Laos as a condition for talks. Souvanna Phouma rejected this.

House Panel Starts Nerve Gas Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee launched today a probe into Army plans to dump more than 3,000 tons of obsolete nerve gas rockets into the Atlantic Ocean about 280 miles off Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Reps. Alton Lennon, D-N.C., and Paul Rogers, D-Fla., called the meetings by the House merchant marine and fisheries subcommittee following the Army's disclosure of its plans.

Rogers said he wants to learn why the Army cannot dispose of the nerve gas in laboratories. He also questioned whether there has been sufficient study on what might happen if the gas leaked out on the ocean floor.

Representatives of the Army and departments of State, Interior, and Health, Education and Welfare have beencalled to testify.

IT'S IRONIC

Several congressmen have complained about the proposed plan to move the gas from Army depots at Anniston, Ala., and Lexington, Ky., to Sunny Point Arsenal near Southport, N.C.

The gas will be carried from there by barge and scuttled in 16,000 feet of water in the Atlantic on Aug. 10. The gas rockets will be encased in steel and concrete coffins.

"I think it ironic that in a time when the federal government is trying to halt the dumping of pollutant matters in waterways we have a branch of the government dumping nerve gas in the Atlantic Ocean," Rogers said.

Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., said he has been given "absolute assurance" by Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor that no action will be taken on the transportation and dumping plan until after the hearings and consultations with the Florida congressional delegation.

Some congressmen contended the Army violated international law in plans to dump the gas into the Atlantic. Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., said the United States is obligated by the 1958 Geneva Convention on the law of the sea to consult with international committees before disposing of potentially hazardous pollutants in international waters.

Army officials said notification had been given the State Department. The Army also said that clearance on elaborate safety precautions had been obtained from he Interior Department and the surgeon general.

New Chief Of Supply Takes Over At Webb

Maj. Clarence W. Rowley has recently arrived from Sheppard AFB to take the post as chief of supply, the job held in recent months by Capt. Donald C. Paladino. The captain will return to his former job as management and procedures officer in base supply.

Following his graduation from the University of Montana with a bachelor of science degree in geology in 1954, Maj. Rowley entered the Air Force with a reserve officer's training corps commission. After undergoing pilot training at Bainbridge, Ga., the major went to air rescue service and then into the Strategic Air Command (SAC).

While in SAC, the major served with a combat crew on Boeing B-52 Stratofortresses. Following that tour, Maj. Rowley was assigned to the Pacific Air Forces, and was stationed in Okinawa.

From Okinawa, he logged 1,400 combat hours in Southeast Asia including 27 missions over North Vietnam in a Lockheed C-130 Hercules.

After returning from Okinawa, Major Rowley enrolled in the Air Force Institute of Technology in residence at George Washington University, Washington, D.C. There he earned his master's degree in business and was assigned to Sheppard as management and procedures officer in base supply.

A native of Ekalaka, Mont., Major Rowley has the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with 12 oak leaf clusters, a combat readiness medal and the Presidential Unit Citation to his credit.

The major and his wife, the former Gerry A. Key, Mertzon, Tex., have two children, Carol, 11 and Robert, 9.

Safety Award Goes To Pilot

2nd Lt. Wayne C. LeCours, 3561st Student Squadron and a member of undergraduate pilot training class 71-02, was recently awarded the Air Training Command To Promote Safety (TOPS) award.

The award was presented by Col. Anderson W. Atkinson, wing commander, in a ceremony in the office of the deputy commander for operations.

Lt. LeCours experienced a compressor stall and rollback at 155 knots on initial takeoff on a solo contact mission in a Northrop T-38 Talon May 28. He followed the appropriate emergency procedure, lowered the nose to obtain the desired airspeed, and took off at 173 nautical miles per hour.

After becoming airborne, he increased his airspeed to 190 knots and cycled the throttle back and forth, but the bad engine did not respond. He then raised the gear and flaps and proceeded to climb to the pattern altitude.

The lieutenant notified the runway supervisory unit of the emergency and continued his efforts to activate the stalled engine. Engine roughness was felt, and he returned the throttle to the idle position and left it there for the remainder of the flight. He made an uneventful straight-in approach and landing.

BSHS Grad Gets Wings

2nd Lt. Charles W. Head III, son of the former base commander at Webb AFB, Col. (USAF retired) and Mrs. Charles W. Head Jr., completed undergraudate pilot training with class 71-01, Saturday.

Lt. Head and his family lived here from 1960 till 1964 and he is a 1964 graduate of Big Spring High School.

After their tour at Webb, Col. and Mrs. Head went to the San Antonio area, and Lt. Head entered the Air Force Academy in Colorado.

After receiving his commission, Lt. Head entered pilot training. He has been assigned to Webb as an instructor pilot when he completes instructor pilot school training.
