Machine Said Menace

Mechanical Pickers May Force Little Farmer Out

BY FRANK I. WELLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. — Fear a newly-invented mechanical cotton picker might put thousands of small cotton growers out of business was expressed today by Oscar Johnson, administration cotton expert.

Coincidentally, the agricultural department named S. H. McCrory, chief of the bureau of agricultural engineering to observe a public demonstration of the machine August 24 at Stoneville, Miss., and report to Secretary Wallace.

Johnston, who expected to accompany McCrory, already has attended unofficial demonstrations of the device which was invented by two brothers, Jon and Mack Rust, Memphis mechanics. The Rust brothers have made attempts to forestall the displacement of labor by their machine. Despite these efforts, Johnston said in an interview:

"Should the machine result in low cost production on the great plantations the small producer and the hand picker would pass out of the picture."

If successful to the point of revolutionizing the industry as did Eli Whitney's cotton gin, Johnston added, the mechanical picker would constitute a threat to plans to make the small cotton farmer a home owner.

He called the machine's potentialities for southern agriculture "as dangerous as attractive."

"I feel fine, why that's nothing."

When was he going to eat again? (That was shortly after noon.)

"Oh, about 2 o'clock I'm going out and have a good dinner."

The man with the big appetite is Tony de Laurentis, bachelor, 36.

Kansas Governor Calls For Election Of Republicans To Congress That "Will Not Abdicate" Constitution

Scores New Deal

"Legislation Hastily Prepared And Slapped Together" Is Criticized; Hearst Writer On Train With Candidate

BY WILLIAM L. BEALE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ABOARD LANDON SPECIAL, train enroute east, Aug. 20. — A demand for a congress that "will not abdicate" its constitutional functions of "consideration and debate" was voiced by Gov. Alf M. Landon today as the Republican presidential nominee sped eastward on his first campaign tour.

From the rear platform of his train, the governor told a Sterling, Colo., audience that "good government is one of the issues of this campaign.", and called for the election of a Republican congress to "remedy the situation" created by "legislation hastily prepared and slapped together."

Train Enters Nebraska

The nominee's nine-car train entered Nebraska late this afternoon after crossing the northeast corner of Colorado.

In his first rear platform appearances of the campaign, Landon talked extemporaneously.

Discussing what he termed the "good government" issue, Landon said "entirely aside from the administrative features is the question of electing a congress that will not abdicate one of its most important functions under the constitution, that is, of consideration and debate."

Without Consideration

"We have seen more major pieces of legislation passed in the last three years without any consideration and without any debate than we have ever seen in any other three-year period in the history of our country.

"And the way to remedy that situation is to elect a Republican congress."

Among those boarding the train with Landon was James T. Williams, editorial writer for the Murder Probe Has New Turn

Officers Leave For Unrevealed Destination To Gather New Threads Of Clarification Of 4-Year-Old Case

Investigation into the fatal shooting four years ago of A. E. Russ took a new trend late Thursday, when Lamb County Sheriff P. A. Loyd and Deputy Sheriff Bedford P. Carpenter of Lubbock left here for unannounced places in hope of gathering threads which might clarify the case.

A telephone call to the Olton sheriff's residence late in the night disclosed he had not returned. An authoritative source said Carpenter and Loyd were expected to return to Lubbock at midnight or early this morning.

To Delay Questioning

An official, indicated questioning of A. M. Johnston of Sudan, neighbor of Russ and who had been held in the county jail here since late Wednesday on a charge of murdering the 60-year-old man, might begin upon arrival of the officeers.

Johnston Thursday morning told

'Cotton Boll' Dance Is Suggested By Temple Man For Centennial Dancer In Protest Of Grapefruit Campaign

(By The Associated Press)

TEMPLE, Aug. 20.—The move of Rio Grande valley citizens to induce Mlle. Corinne, Texas Centennial exposition apple dancer, to switch to grapefruit drew the indignation of residents of this cotton-producing area today.

Will Brown, Temple attorney and president of the Temple Chamber of Commerce, wants a "cotton boll" dance.

"If any change is made in the costume of Corinne, the people of the nation's leading cotton growing state should, out of patriotism, demand that she use a cotton boll," he said.

"Cotton, not grapefruit, is Texas' greatest crop. King Cotton should be recognized. Besides, what is more beautiful than a snowy white Texas cotton boll?

"After all, Eve used a fig leaf for her wearing apparel. Why not make the world cotton conscious by having Corinne in a dainty dancing costume of a sprig of cotton? Let this be a warning the cotton farmer will never stand this insult to his product if the strictly commercial plea of a bunch of grapefruit growers is allowed to prevail."

Far-Reaching Rural Aid Is Plan Of FDR

Post-Election Conference Of Farm Organizations To Look Into Crop Insurance, Rural Credit Is Suggested

Drouth Trip Proposed By Chief Executive To Dakotas Will Be Undertaken After He Has Started Own Campaign

(By The Associated Press)

HYDE PARK, Aug. 20.—A post-election conference of farm organizations to study an effective approach to the problems of crop insurance and rural credit was suggested by President Roosevelt today as he continued to survey drouth relief needs.

Crop insurance and rural credit are two of the key items of the legislative program of the National Grange, and Louis J. Taber, master of the Grange, said they had been emphasized, along with drouth problems, in an hour's conference with the president and Secretary Wallace.

Federal-State Proposal

The Grange, Taber said, is advocating a crop insurance program carried out through federal-state cooperation at a cost of around $25,000,000 a year. The cost would be much lower than for the present method of drouth relief, he said.

Mr. Roosevelt planned to enter personally into the campaign for his reelection before starting for the Dakotas. James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, was expected tomorrow or Saturday. The chief executive has described the drouth trip, however, as entirely non-political.

Davis succeeded R. E. Patterson of Lockney, who had been president several years.

Directors named, all of whom served last year, were: George A. Simmons, of Lubbock, J. W. McDonald of Lamesa, R. D. Holmes of Lubbock, Patterson, Davis, J. S. Edwards of Slaton, and Ray Grisham.

Usual Election Party To Be Held By Avalanche-Journal Saturday Night

In spite of the fact that little interest has thus far been displayed in county, district and state races in the "run-off primary", Avalanche-Journal papers will be "at home" Saturday night with the usual "election party", boards, loud-speaker and all.

Announcing and board-marking will begin at 8 p. m. and will close at 11 p. m., sharp, with results given out on county, district and state races. Because of the "short ballot", returns should be quickly assembled providing, of course, that precinct officials function efficiently and turn in their counts as soon as possible to County Chairman L. C. Ellis, who will have his office in the Avalanche-Journal building, 1911-13 Texas avenue.

The Sunday Avalanche-Journal, with hours later news than "down state" papers, will give conclusive results in all races.

Two High Offices Not On State Ballot For First Time In Eighteen Years

Only Two State Posts At Stake; Congress Races Are Warm

BY HOWARD C. MARSHALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Aug. 20.—For the first time in 18 years, Texas will have a run-off primary election Saturday with no race for governor or United States senator to be decided.

Contests for those offices and all others except two for which a statewide vote is cast were settled in the first Democratic primary July 25 when 1,071,372 ballots tumbled into boxes for a record.

Absentee Balloting Light

Interest which blazed in campaigns of other years was absent, and predictions were heard freely that the vote would not exceed 800,000. Absentee balloting was light, and several counties planned no elections.

In one state contest, Frank Morris of Dallas, speaking from a hospital bed, denounced official acts of Ernest O. Thompson, former army colonel running for re-election to the railroad commission. Mrs. Morris was on the stump.

Failed To Get Majority

Thompson led Morris by more than 280,000 votes in the first primary, but failed by a few thousand to obtain a majority over all his four opponents.

In the other state race, George B. Terrell, former congressman, was seeking to unseat J. E. McDonald, running for another term as commissioner of agriculture. Terrell also led in the initial primary.

Three Congress Races Hot

Three nominees from congressional districts, 63 for the state house of representatives, four for the senate and large numbers for county and district offices remained to be determined. Interest in some local contests gave promise of swelling the vote in spots.

In the 17th congressional district, Rep. Thomas L. Blanton, the in-

What About The Bar's Part In "Hippodroming" Of U. S. Criminal Justice? We Ask

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 20. (AP) — Proposals for curbing what it termed newspaper and radio "hippodroming" of American criminal justice as in the Hauptmann and Mooney trials are contained in the report of the American Bar association's committee on criminal procedure to be presented at the association's convention starting Monday in Boston.

The report proposes enactment of legislation that would strengthen existing contempt of court statutes.

The report said "the most serious criticism of American criminal procedure today is that the judges of the courts permit newspapers to usurp the court's own duties and functions."

"Newspaper interference with criminal justice always appears most flagrantly in celebrated criminal cases," the report said. "Those judicial proceedings, therefore, in which American criminal justice most needs to be a calm investigation of the truth are, on the contrary, most violently 'hippodromed' and 'panicked' by the press."

Allred Plugs For Thompson

Governor Says Re-Election Of Railroad Commissioner Is To Best Interests Of Good Government In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 20. — Governor Allred said today the cause of good government could best be served by re-electing Ernest O. Thompson to the railroad commission. He said he already had voted for the commission chairman by absentee ballot.

"It has come to my attention that enthusiastic supporters of Col. Ernest O. Thompson's opponent are through some misunderstanding or otherwise widely and publicly circulating the report over Texas that I am supporting their candidate for a place on the railroad commission of Texas," a statement by the governor said.

To Keep Record Straight

"In order that the record may be kept straight, I wish to publicly state that up to this time I have not been actively or publicly supporting either candidate for railroad commissioner since I did not feel that it was appropriate for the governor to inject himself into other state races.

"However, since the report has been circulated I feel that it is my duty to my state, and to myself, to correct it. In this connection I also wish to state that I resent the campaign that has been heaped upon Ernest Thompson without foundation in fact.

"In my opinion, Ernest Thompson has made a fine record on the railroad commission of Texas, and the cause of good government in Texas can best be served by his re-election for a second term, therefore I do not mind stating that I have already voted for him by absentee ballot."

Remains Of Texas Hero Are Buried In State's Cemetery

AUSTIN, Aug. 20. (AP)—The remains of Bailey Hardeman, signer of Texas' Declaration of Independence, were interred in the state cemetery here today.

Hardeman, a delegate to the constitutional convention from Matagorda county, died in 1836 and was buried in a cemetery at Caney Creek which has since been abandoned.

A Tennessee lawyer, Hardeman had been in the state scarcely more than a year when he was elected secretary of the treasury of the Republic of Texas. He and Vice President De Zavala were named to negotiate a final peace treaty between the Republic and Mexico but prior to the settlement Santa Anna was thrown into prison.

This challenge of Nazi Germany hurled at the Spanish loyalist foes of Fascism last night cooled hopes of other European powers for neutrality in the bloody struggle in Spain.

Neutrality Hopes Dimmed

France's avowed hopes for a neutrality pact were dimmed.

Deemed "unjustifiable" by Nazi Germany was the reported halting and search of the German steamer Kamerun by armed forces of the Spanish loyalists.

The Nazi government instructed its charge d'affaires at Madrid to warn the loyalists that if any similar incident should occur the loyalists would have to answer from the guns of German warships.

Last night seven Nazi battleships steamed toward Spain to keep a rendezvous with nine other armed Nazi vessels in or near Spanish waters.

FOLK out here who think they are suffering from the heat and who think the crops are burning up don't know how lucky they really are. She also says that local crops cannot be compared with the scant ones of Central Texas.

COLLEGE GIRL'S WARDROBE

A CHICAGO store, having learned from experience the futility of offering girls anything but what they really want, has made a country-wide survey of college girls' tastes. Questionnaires were sent to dozens of leading colleges and outstanding college women were interviewed. The matter of what to wear for rushing parties and dates was gone into with twenty national sororities in six different universities.

According to the information gleaned from this survey, the average college wardrobe should contain:

A three-piece suit, with or without fur, consisting of tailored jacket and skirt with topcoat.

One-piece dark wool dress or dresses; as many sweaters and skirts as possible.

One to three afternoon dresses, depending on the college, for tea dancing and "dates." At least two formals, frocks, perferably with jackets of crepe, moire or satin. One flannel robe, one or more lounging pajamas of silk of wool.

An extra sports coat beside the one belonging to three-piece suit is very desirable. One fur coat, one rain coat with matching umbrella, one velvet evening wrap. Culottes of bright-colored flannel to be worn with plaid or plain shorts of cotton or wool, or plain jersey blouses with zipper up the front. Added to these, of course, must be underclothes and accessories such as hats, shoes, etc.

This wardrobe will vary with the individual girl and her college. Some will add to and some with subtract from it, but the general structure will remain the same. Whether culottes would be allowed on Tech campus is a matter for conjecture.

A KEEN DESSERT

THIS dessert will give the most humdrum meal a decided lift. First, because it's a sleek looking affair and second, the taste is delicious. Melt one bar of chocolate (dark or light) in double boiler. Add one and one third cups of condensed milk and stir over boiling water until mixture thickens. Slowly add one cup of strong black coffee and two cups of whipped cream, stirring constantly. Pour into freezing tray and freeze to mush. Scrape sides and bottom of tray, beat mixture smooth, and replace in tray to freeze another hour or longer.

GIFT FOR HOSTESS

ABSENT-MINDEDLY you may start off for the week-end to visit a friend with luggage, books and even your dog, with no thought of the hostess other than thinking she's a charming person to issue the invitation. As lightning strikes, come the thought: what on earth shall I take as a gift? Then begins a frantic scurrying that is quite unnecessary. Select a handsome box of candy, and eliminate the catch-as-catch-can method of finding a hostess gift.

Many is the bric-a-brac that is relegated to the attic or basement after its thoughtless donor has returned home. Why do we select such frightful gifts on occasions? If your hostess won't enjoy candies, her family and guests will. Play safe, though, and see that your gift box contains an assortment of cool looking jelly candies, as well as caramels and hard chocolates.

Explanation Given On Precinct Races

Persons who reside in the seven voting boxes in Lubbock and in the Canyon school box, are elegible to vote in the precinct election Saturday for constable and justice of the peace.

There will be two run-offs, one for justice of the peace and one for constable.

Last July at the first primary, it was said there were more than 1,000 fewer votes in the justice precinct than in the other races. Apparently voters were confused as to whether they were eligible to participate in these races and took the stand that they could afford to pass it up rather than run the risk of possible ballot mutilation.

The justice precinct does not follow the liner of commissioner precinct No. 1, or the city limits of Lubbock, but does include territory outside the city limits. Voters of the eight precincts, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 27, 28 and 33, all city boxes, and the one rural box, ma vote in these two contests.

Erosion Work Being Studied

Series Of Surveys Made By Soil Service Officials To Be Shown Vocational Group In Session Today

Vocational agriculture teachers of this area will continue today their study of soil conservation work, with a series of surveys conducted by Claude H. Fly and Dave Cawifield, of the Amarillo regional office.

In the afternoon a field trip for mapping purposes will be held. The trip will start at 1 p. m.

Yesterday afternoon the group, after listening to H. H. Finnell and Fred C. Newport, discuss papers, went to the state experiment station where they inspected the work on the station and the state forestry department's project. They went over the station and were given explanations of the work there. Don L. Jones superintendent presided over the inspection.

Shows Program Connection

Mr. Finnell in his talk dicussed the national basis of the agricultural and managemental problems on the plains. He explained how the erosion program would fit in with the farmer's program.

Mr. Newport talked on vegetation and the part it plays in the stopping of wind erosion.

J. J. Jackson, Amarillo, former Tech student, is handling the SCS program.

Both sessions were held at Texas Tech. The morning session opened in room 109 of the agricultural administration building and after a visit to the nursery, was continued in room 210, administration building. The afternoon session was in room 202 of the same building.

One part of the program included a visit to the SCS nursery located on the Tech college farm where 1,200,000 trees are growing for use on projects of the service next spring. Many questions were asked of Hugh Porterfield and F. R. Stansbury, who represent that department in the service.

Methods Discussed

Mr. Porterfield discussed planting methods for trees, how to plant, best types for this area, preparation of ground for planting and kindred matters. Chinese elms and honey locusts are probably the best types, he said. However, the service has desert willow or flowering willow, Russian mulberry, seedling apricot, Osage orange, green ash and other types.

W. E. Connell talked on range matters. He discussed types of grasses best suited for the high plains area, restoration and maintenance of pastures, how to return eroded areas to pasture lands, contouring and furrowing of pastures for reseeding with native grasses and other matters.

Furrowing of pastures over a period of several years would enable grasses to come back. Sudan should be used as a cover in turning cultivated land that is seriously eroded, back to pasture.

Bob Hinde Speaks

Bob Hinde discussed crop management and tillage operations in a talk just before noon.

Dallas Gives Only 35 Per Cent Of Centennial's Attendance

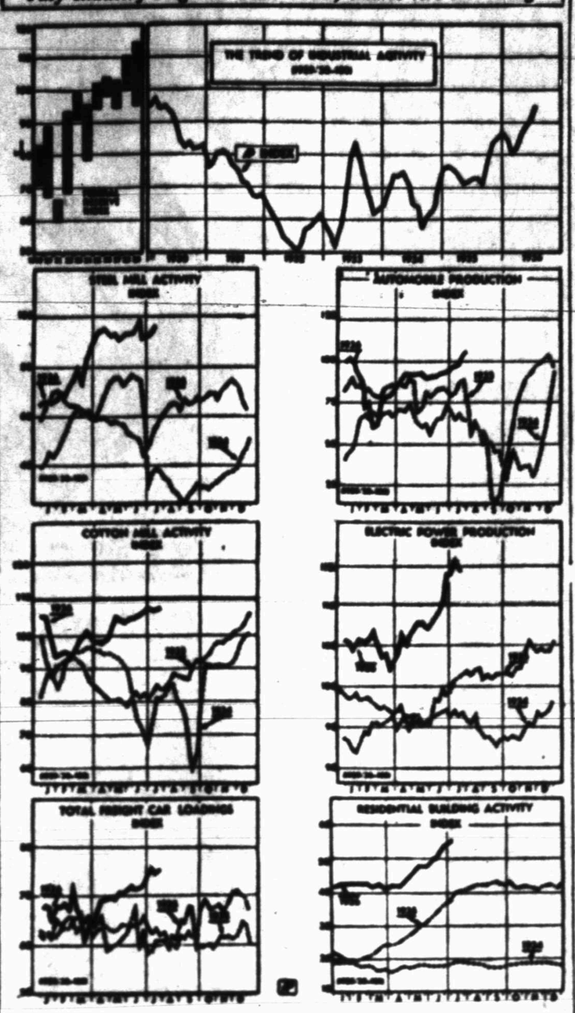
DALLAS, Aug. 20. (AP) — Frank Watson, promotion director of the Texas Centennial Central exposition, said up to Aug. 7, only 35 per cent of the fair's attendance had been drawn from Dallas.

He said 11 per cent had come from Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and western Louisiana, 7 per cent from other states and foreign countries, and the balance from Texas.

Watson said 83 per cent of the Chicago Worlds fair visitors came from within a 100-mile radius of the exposition.

Business Activity Trend

July Industry Brightest Since 1929, Charts Are Revealing



(By The Associated Press)

Industrial activity in July was the best for that month since 1929.

The Associated Press seasonally adjusted index averaged 93.8, compared with 90.4 in June and 73.0 in the same period a year ago.

All groups in the index shared the advancing trend. Although the summer months ordinarily see a slowing up of activity, the tempo as the year passed into its final half increased rather than slackened.

Automobile production, residential building, cotton manufacturing, and freight carloadings made new tops for the year or longer.

The only major index that did not surge through old levels in the month was steel mill operations. This is due to the fact that operations in June were sharply expanded to meet the demands occasioned by the price increase of finished products. In each of the past three weeks, however, this index has rallied.

Corn Fighting For Its Life

All Botanical Rules Broken By Crop In Effort To Survive Drouth, Iowa Meteorologist Declares

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 20. — Charles D. Reed, government meteorologist, said today "corn is breaking all botanical rules in its fight to produce at least seed in spite of the drouth.

"New tassels," he explained, "are coming on in many fields to furnish an abundance of pollen capable of fertilizing any silks that are receptive in the cooler hours.

"New ears are continuing to shoot on stalks that are not dead."

"Of course, it's too late in the year now for such desperate efforts to produce results, but they show the terrific fight many fields of corn have made to adapt themselves to the heat and drouth.

To Produce Seed Crop

"The peculiar part of it is" he said "Iowa's corn is going to produce at least a seed crop in nearly every township, while in part of the state it will make a fair crop

"Yet, judging by all weather standards, this drouth, the worst by any measurement the Midwest has ever experienced, should have killed virtually all the corn by now

"I'm also convinced that the drouth of 1934 enhanced drouth resisting qualities in many strains of corn while weeding out strains that couldn't stand the heat and lack of moisture that year."

INDEPENDENT ELECTED

LAREDO, Aug. 20 (AP)—Advices from Mexico City said today Federico Idar, who, as an independent candidate opposed Francisco Gonzales y Gonzales, national revolutionary party nominee for Neuvo Leon's federal senatorship, had been elected.

Idar was a leader in the recent strike of Mexican railway employes. He was raised and educated here.

The first negro to hold public office in the United States was Ebenezer Don Carlos Basset of Philadelphia, who was made consul-general to Haiti by President Grant in 1869.

It's Only A Matter Of Which Yen Wins When Japanese Tars Are On Shore Leave On Gulf

HOUSTON, Aug. 20. (AP)—It a matter of which yen wins when a Japanese ship ties up at Gulf port docks.

However, the failure of the yens paid the sailors to support any yen for traditional shore leave celebrations has brought the idea of thrift to the Japanese workman of the seas.

"An able bodied seaman on Japanese craft is paid from one and a half to three yens daily and a yen is worth only 29 cents in the United States," explained Nodujo Kawai, commercial agent for the Japanese government.

"The rate of exchange has made Japanese money so cheap the seamen have become thrifty. That and government efforts to curb gambling have produced a higher type of sailor. Japanese sailors no longer throw their money away in foreign ports," he says. Koichi Kitamura, chief mate of the Belfast Maru, which visits gulf ports, says the Japanese sailors' chief diversion is motion pictures.

"But if a sailor decides to go to a movie he spends at least a day's wages before he can get back to the ship," the mate says. "There is a restless atmosphere when the ship docks. We smoke a lot, sleep a lot and work on the ship, but that's all over when we start back to Japan. Everybody is happy again.

"In Japanese ports, the sailors can attend the cinemas for less than a half a yen, and they see American-made movies, which are their favorites. In Japanese ports the sailors make up for the entertainment their yens couldn't pay for in American ports."

Four pieces of a statue of King George III, erected in New York City's Bowling Green in 1770, are on exhibition at the N. Y. Historical society.

Reunion Will Be Held Soon

Fifth Annual Affair Of Seth Ward Ex-Students To Be Held At Plainview, August 25; Program Is Arranged

(Special To The Avalanche)

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 20.—Ex-students of Seth Ward college will hold a fifth annual reunion here Tuesday, August 25. The college was among the first institutions of higher learning in the South Plains.

Registration is to begin at 4 o'clock at the Hilton hotel. Ex-students and their friends are to engage in renewing old acquaintances and in reminiscing until 7 o'clock when the banquet is scheduled to start in the Hilton ballroom.

To Be Honored Guests

Mrs. Stella Butterfield Tilson of White Flat, president of the ex-students' organization, has announced that ex-students of the Central Plains college, the institution that later became Seth Ward, will be honored guests at this year's reunion.

In 1918 fire destroyed the administration building and dormitories of Seth Ward college which had been in operation for six years. The Central Plains college was known as the Central Plains college and conservatory, an institution of the Holiness church, before being taken over by the Methodist church and renamed Seth Ward college in honor of Seth Ward, a bishop in the Methodist church.

Invited To Attend

Ex-students of Clarendon college are invited to attend the reunion. Reservations are in charge of Franklin B. Blocksom, Mrs. Nina Farris Ragland, and Mrs. Irene Whiteley Ayres, all of Plainview.

Probably the persons planning to attend the reunion from the greatest distance from Plainview are Mrs. Mollie Rook and her daughter, Miss Lizzie Mae Rook of San Pedro, California. Mrs. Rook had charge of the dormitory kitchen and dining room of Seth Ward while she provided means of educating two daughters.

Rev. Brady Hicks of Matador is to act as toastmaster at the program which is scheduled as follows:

Program Announced

Prohibition Party Claiming To Have Most Traveled Presidential Candidate

(By The Associated Press)

Edward E. Blake, national campaign manager for Dr. D. Leigh Colvin of New York, the presidential nominee, said the candidate would travel at least 25,000 miles and make about 400 speeches in 38 states before the election.

Dr. Colvin, now on a 10-day tour of California, began his campaign June 7. He has been hitting the trail alone ever since.

The schedule of major appearances for Dr. Colvin, beginning Sept. 1, includes:

'Divert His Mind'

Vice President Has Bantam Chickens

DALLAS, Aug. 20. (AP) — Mrs. John Nance Garner, wife and secretary of the vice president, wrote Texas Centennial poultry department officials today the nation's second executive keeps bantam chickens to "divert his mind."

Recently Walter Burton, poultry director, heard the vice president personally cared for a setting bantam hen and urged Mr. Garner to exhibit his chickens in the Centennial's hall of poultry.

Mrs. Garner wrote:

"Mr. Garner has no bantams for exhibit. They are playthings to divert his mind."

Much Gas To Be Needed Daily In September, Estimates Say

AUSTIN, Aug. 20. (AP)—Purchasing companies have informed the railroad commission they would require 1,306,683,000 cubic feet of Texas natural gas daily, or a total of 40,-968,012,000 cubic feet, during September.

The nominations constitute the estimate of market demand, which is prorated under regulations of the commission.

Sweet gas nominations for the East Panhandle totalled 128,434,000 cubic feet daily; for the West Panhandle, 406,740,000 cubic feet, and for the rest of the state 289,800,000 cubic feet.

Sour gas nominations for the Panhandle were 511,464,000 cubic feet daily, and for the rest of the state, 20,106,000 cubic feet.

The demand for the whole state was estimated at four per cent of the potential production of 33,071,-007,000 cubic feet daily from 2,629 wells, compared with 4.5 per cent for the previous month.

BANK CLEARINGS LOWER

In the preceding week clearings showed a gain of 5.3 per cent over the 1935 comparative.

Farmers Of Quemado Valley Are Experiencing Good Crops

EAGLE PASS, Aug. 20. (AP)—Farmers of Quemado Valley in Maverick county, loaded the seventh car of pop corn the week ending Aug. 15. They say it is one of the best crops ever raised in the irrigated area, although planted late, F. D. Anderson is buying all the ear corn in the Valley, paying 80 cents per bushel delivered in the cars.

The tomato crop of the valley this year is about a month ahead of last and the acreage ten times greater. At least five hundred acres of cabbage are expected this year, with farmers now planting seed.

Recent heat apparently affected Quemado Valley farmers little as they had plenty of water from the county's gravity canal.

Grandmother Gets Custody Of Child

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 20. (AP) The grandmother who reared Edith Fellows from babyhood retained guardianship of the 13-year-old film actress by court order.

Edith's $2,700-bank account and $300 a week salary, earned as the "problem child" in numerous screen dramas, were consigned to the care of a trust company.

Thus ended the suit brought by the girl's mother, Mrs. Harriet Fellows, to gain the custody which she relinquished to Mrs. Elizabeth Fellows, paternal grandmother, 11 years ago.

Mrs. Harriet Fellows declared she had spent years searching for her daughter and when she found her, the child acted as if her mind were poisoned against her.

"My grandmother is the only mother I have ever known," testified Edith. "I'm not used to loving strangers."

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. — The bureau of mines recommended today a 2,864,000 daily average crude oil production for September to meet estimated demands and provide usual changes in stocks.

This figure will be 72,900 barrels below August but 251,000 barrels above the September, 1935, total.

The bureau estimated the domestic demand for motor fuel at 42,910,000 barrels for September, compared with 46,850,000 barrels this month and exports at 2,600,000 barrels, the same as for August.

Requirements Estimated

Crude oil requirements for September were estimated as follows: refinery crude 85,120,000 barrels; imports 2,900,000; exports 4,300,000; fuel and losses, 2,100,000; total demand for domestic crude, 86,620,000; recommended decrease in stocks 2,700,000; required production 85,920,000, daily average 2,864,000.

The bureau's August and September production estimates, by states:

REVIVAL DRAWING CROWDS

On Their Way To Learn Lessons Of War

These Illinois national guardsmen were on their way "over, over there"—from Chicago to South Haven, Mich. —but no real fighting was in prospect. The men who embarked for the trip were among the 9000 soldiers of the 33rd division assigned parts in the war games for the defense of Chicago, with scene of operations in the vicinity of Camp Custer, across Lake Michigan. High army officers attended to watch the largest concentration of troops in the midwest since the World War.

Legion Program Is Outlined By Chief

LONGVIEW, Wash., Aug. 20 (AP)—Ray Murphy, national commander of the American Legion, in a speech prepared for delivery here today, told the state legion convention that "the way to true Americanism is not to be found by groping through the fog of blind passion."

"The fact that some of us may disagree with the views of others does no give us any legal or moral right to interfere with their right to state those views," he added. "Our country has grown to greatness upon the free exchange of views among our people.

"The American Legion is committed to a program of combatting communism. The same mandate committed us equally to combat fascism, Hitlerism or any other alien 'ism' which becomes subversive of our form of government. . . .

"While it is ever true that we be vigilant in protecting our country against subversion, by whatever name it comes into our midst, it is equally important that in moments of over-zealousness, however well-intentioned they may be, that we do not permit ourselves to resort to un-Americanism."

POSTPONE ACTION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP)—The procurement division of the treasury today postponed until September the opening of bids for remodeling and extensions of the Port Arthur, Tex., postoffice. Officials said the delay was caused by necessary technical revisions of proposed wage scales suggested by the labor department.

Duncan Pleads Not Guilty To Charge

ABILENE, Aug. 20. (AP)—Clarence Duncan, 38-year-old Trent farmer, pleaded not guilty in justice court here this morning on charge of murdering his first wife more than a year ago, and examining trial was set this afternoon.

Duncan is under another charge of murder in Nolan county for the slaying of G. N. Jones, Trent filling station operator, whose battered and slashed body was found last Saturday morning in Lake Sweetwater.

Hearing On Rates Reduction Begins Thursday In Capital

AUSTIN, Aug. 20. (AP)—A hearing in which three Texas railroads and subsidiaries sought a reduction in shipping rates for cottonseed products to meet truck competition began here today.

Application was for .33 and 1-3 per cent reduction on shipments of cottonseed, cottonseed cake and cottonseed hulls for distances 400 to 550 miles and grading into standard rates for hauls longer than that.

It was made by the Texas and Pacific, Missouri-Kansas-Texas and Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas lines and subsidiary companies.

Twenty representatives of the railroads and numerous cottonseed oil companies were sworn in by C. R. McNamee, examiner for the railroad commission.

END THE FEEL-PUNK, DRAG-FOOT DAYS

Dull headaches, poor appetite, sleepiness are warning signs. You feel low—hate to work. These symptoms may point to constipation due to "low-bulk" meals.

Why throw these days out of your life—particularly when regular habits make you feel so good. Get "bulk" by eating a delicious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

There's nothing experimental about ALL-BRAN. Millions of people have used it successfully. Scientific tests prove it is safe and effective. Within the body, it absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the system. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. Stubborn cases may require ALL-BRAN oftener. Serve as a cereal, or cook into delicious recipes.

What an improvement over pills and drugs. ALL-BRAN is a food—you buy it at the grocery store. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Thomas Cites "Real Issue"

"Socialism Versus Capitalsim" Is Issue This Year In U. S., Socialist Candidate Says In Address Thursday

(By The Associated Press)

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, declared in an address at Chautauqua institute here today that "The issue this year, more than ever is socialism versus capitalism."

"Whatever the shades of differences between the old parties," he said, "they will not avail to keep up out of fresh economic catastrophe or new war . . . any more than the shades of difference between Wilson and Hughes availed to keep us out of the World war in 1917."

Criticizes Politicians

Thomas criticized American politicians for being specific only in "criticism of the other party" which he said, "tends to give us campaigns full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

He said the "outstanding illustration of the evil of which I speak" was furnished by the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin at the Townsend plan convention in Cleveland.

"The priest whipped his great audience into frenzied enthusiasm by the unrestrained vehemence of his denunciation of President Roosevelt and others whom he does not like and by such further appeals to the intelligence as tearing off his coat and collar."

"Never once," Thomas continued, "did he refer specifically to the Townsend plan or retract his earlier criticism of it as 'economic insanity'."

Thomas criticized President Roosevelt's address at Chautauqua last week as leaving "much to be desired as a statement of a program for peace."

Joe Bowen Heads W. T. Druggists

ABILENE, Aug. 20. (AP)—In closing session of the 18th annual convention of the West Texas Pharmaceutical association this morning, Joe Bowen of Sweetwater was elected president for the coming year.

Other officers named were Gerald C. Allen, Robert Lee, vice-president; J. W. Bryant, Lamesa, secretary-treasurer; and the executive committee composed of Roy Pool, retiring president, of Amarillo; Frank Myers, Abilene; L. L. Clark, San Angelo; Pete McCluskey, Mineral Wells; Lee Stinson, Snyder; John A. Weeks, Ballinger.

More than 350 druggists attended the three-day convention held on the anniversary of the association's founding here. During the morning session Rep. J. Bryan Bradbury, Abilene, spoke on "Legislation As It Applies to Texas Druggists."

Gly-Cas Built Him Back To Health

Mr. Mahoney's System Had Filled With Poisons; Weak, Run Down, Rheumatism, Bladder Trouble Made Life More Miserable; Then Gly-Cas Amazes

"I know Gly-Cas will give satisfactory results wherever it is given a fair trial," said Mr. W. M. Mahoney, 826 Grand Ave., Monroe, La. "For many years I had suffered continually with what medical authorities diagnosed as "asthma" and I was in a terribly weakened and run-down condition. My stomach and kidneys became affected and caused me no end of distress, and finally I resorted to the use of strong medicines to get relief—but met only with repeated failure. As I continued to suffer rheumatism settled over my body and I grew worse continually. It was so discouraging and I had about given up hope of ever getting well again when I began to hear so much praise for this new Gly-Cas I decided to put it to a REAL TEST in my own case—and found it remarkable."

MR. W. M. MAHONEY

"I was actually amazed at the quick thorough action of this new Gly-Cas," he continued. "My kidneys, liver and bowels are now properly regulated and they have eliminated those poisons which have gone entirely and that intense suffering of years has disappeared. I sleep well at night, my appetite has returned and I now really enjoy my food, feel fine and have renewed energy. Gly-Cas does all it claims to do and even more."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Haley Drug Store, 1519 Broadway, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

Gly-Cas $1.00 per box—6 boxes $5.00. Add 2c postage for each box ordered. Send money orders made payable Mark Haley Drug Store. Don't send cash. Checks not accepted—No C. O. D. Mail Orders.—Adv.

Bail Is Denied To Cermak Bodyguard

DALLAS, Aug. 20. (AP) — Judge Noland Williams today ordered George W. Redston, former Chicago undercover crime investigator, held without bond pending trial for murder in the Aug. 6 killing of A. B. Farrow, liquor tavern operator.

Eddie Roark and R. L. Wade, the accused man's attorneys, gave notice of appeal to the court of criminal appeals at Austin.

Judge Williams ruled after a habeas corpus hearing in which two eye-witnesses told of the early morning shooting.

Lucille Dialassi, cashier of the "Nite Spot," Farrow's tavern, said Redston slapped a patron three times, apparently without provocation.

She said Holland Farrow, brother of the slain man, escorted Redston from the tavern. In a few minutes, she said, Redston reappeared, called to A. B. Farrow, and as the victim walked slowly toward the door, backed to the sidewalk and fired a shot.

Deputies guarded the courtroom closely, remembering an attempt by Champ Farrow, brother of the dead man, to reach Redston in the city jail shortly after his arrest.

Farrow was formerly a policeman. Redston told officers he once aided Chicagos "Secret Six" in investigating crime conditions.

Harry Balogh, New York fight announcer, won the plaudits of a London newspaper for his phrase "May the better man emerge victorious," instead of the usual "May the best man win."

Europe Peace Is Threatened

Hopes For Neutrality Treaty Fade As Germany Sends Her Warships To Spain; Italy Stands Prepared

ish socialist-communists loyalists, found herself trying to push a neutrality pact on two neighbor nations each preparing to back up affronts with something stronger than diplomatic words.

France's only hope, well-informed sources said, lay in getting great Britain to help her persuade the loyalists at Madrid to make speedy amends to the "affront" to Germany.

France Is Accused

Germany already has accepted the French plan—but with reservations. Italy has said she would do nothing in Spain if France wouldn't. Both Italy and Germany, through the official press, have accused France of talking neutrality and acting for the socialist loyalists at the same time.

Striving to maintain a middle-of-the road course was Great Britain which was trying to find out whether there really was a blockade of certain coastal areas held by rebels.

Faced With Situation

With the rebels fascists and monarchists fighting side by side, British public opinion was faced with endorsing Fascism if it sided with the cause of the monarchists. Under a constitutional monarchy, Great Britain has not expressed devotion to the cause of Fascism.

Yet if the other side were endorsed, Britain would find herself favoring socialists and communists.

Soviet Russia throughout has espoused the loyalists, as the Madrid forces contain a large contingent of communists and anarchists.

U. S. Not To Intervene

The United States' policy has been one of strict non-intervention.

The reverberations throughout the capitals of Europe drowned out the actual sounds of battles.

Loyalist forces fought desperately to break through the rebel forces encircling Madrid.

Government Claims Victories

The government claimed two decisive victories had strengthened the positions of its forces in the mountainous battle front about 40 miles from Madrid.

At Irun, a rebel tri-motored plane scored three direct hits within the city of Irun with 100-pound bombs. There were no known casualties.

Rebel and loyalist forces faced each other across a front about 100 miles from Madrid each digging in for an expected rebel onslaught on the capital from the south.

Rebel radios broadcast the alleged capture by their forces of Fort Guadaulupe, the Spanish loyalists garrison defending the Irun-San Sebastian sector.

Ginners Session

dustry gathered at Lubbock hotel for the meeting, which was one of the largest ever conducted by the group.

Luncheon was served to ginners and guests in the ballroom.

Speakers included: A. L. Lockett of Vernon, president of the state association; John C. Thompson of Dallas, executive secretary; A. H. Lichte of College Station, member of the state cotton board, and Patterson and Grisham.

Crops Said Damaged

Cotton crops of the area, which includes the South Plains, the high plains and the east plains, have been seriously damaged by hot, dry weather, ginners said. While few were willing to place any percentage, estimate of the damage, all agreed the total would be large and that conditions that prevailed a month ago have been reduced greatly.

However it was pointed out, the crop probably will be as good as that of last year. With rain coming before the eend of the month, the yield would be increased.

Most ginners have completed repairs to their properties. Only a few gins are being replaced. The number of gins will not be greatly increased.

Some ginners have installed new machinery in their plants.

Johnston said he never had trouble with Russ.

He apparently was nervous. He explained he had never been in jail before Tuesday night.

Race Attracts Oil Attention

Change In State's Policy For Prorating Oil Production Is Promised By Frank Morris If He's Elected To Post

By HARRELL E. LEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Aug. 20.—The campaign for membership on the Texas Railroad commission, involving the future of proration in the nation's largest oil-producing state, drew the attention this week of mid-continent oil leaders.

Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the commission, was up for renomination, equivalent to election, in the Democratic run-off primary next Saturday. His opponent, Frank Morris of Dallas, promised to change the state's proration policy if elected and would be in position to carry out that promise because the commission had geen divided two to one.

Approved Efforts

Oil men in other states generally had approved the commissions efforts to hold production close to market demand estimates of the United States bureau of mines. Morris contended, however, that the huge East Texas field should be permitted greater production.

He argued that the commissions program benefitted the major oil companies and was ruining the independents. He also claimed it would hurt the public by bringing about higher gasoline prices.

Thompson replied that he was supported by an overwhelming majority of independent operators and said the commissions policies had not resulted in higher gasoline.

Others Take Stump

Commissioner Lon A. Smith stumped for Morris, and commissioner C. V. Terrell for Thompson. Thompson led by a wide margin in the first primary, in which five candidates were entered.

The commission completed its monthly proration hearing Monday in less than an hour. Thompson commented on the harmony among oil men attending. A few years ago, the hearings frequently lasted two days or longer.

Number Of Wells Gain

The commission might have a harder time keeping the operators satisfied in the future. The number of new wells in Texas each week usually has exceeded that for the rest of the nation combined. The commission faced the prospect of having less production to prorate among the wells because of declining gasoline consumption after this month.

Some in Texas contended the answer would be allotment to this state of a larger slice of the nation's allowable. Texas has been supplying about 39 per cent of national production.

The industry was keenly interested in developments in the federal government's attempted criminal prosecution of officials of a large number of oil companies on charges of fixing gasoline prices. The federal grand jury at Madison, Wisconsin, where the indictments were returned, was scheduled to reconvene today.

Condition Of Youth Injured In Car Accident Remains Serious

Condition of John Perry, 16, son of T. J. Perry of 407 North Avenue H, late Thursday remained serious from a mild concussion and abrasions suffered in a highway mishap early that morning, it was said at West Texas hospital.

An automobile and young Perry's bicycle were in collision five miles north on highway 8.

In a statement to police, F. L. Davis of Lubbock route 2, driver of the automobile, said he had slowed his vehicle and honked to pass the youth, who pulled to the right and then darted in front of his machine apparently attempting to cross the road. The accident occurred about 9 o'clock.

The injured youth was rushed to West Texas hospital by D. L. Brown, shop manager for the Lubbock Auto company, passing by at the time and who with Mr. Davis stopped immediately. City Patrolman Bill Mabray investigated.

Azucar Impounding Irrigation Dam Project Is Started

REYNOSA, Aug. 6. (AP)—Government officials revealed here recently that work had started on the long-proposed Azucar impounding and irrigation dam on the San Juan river near the town of Aldamas, state of Tamaulipas, 75 miles southwest of here.

The dam, one of the largest in northeastern Mexico, will cost an estimated 15,000,000 pesos, or about $3,950,000 United States currency. The water impounded will be used to irrigate about 50,000 acres opposite the Rio Grande valley of Texas.

The Azucar structure is planned to provide flood control for sections of northern Tamaulipas and Texas. Locks will regulate the flow of the San Juan, principal tributary of the Rio Grande. High water in the San Juan, which enters the Rio Grande near Rio Grande City about 100 miles from its mouth, in past years has damaged heavily cotton plantations in Tamaulipas and endangered property on the Texas side.

Specifications indicate the Azucar dam will be 135 feet high, forming a reservoir three and one-half miles long. Engineers say the spillways will be the largest in the world, being designed to discharge 60,000 second feet of water from a height of 106 feet into the bed of the river when necessary. It is expected not less than two years will be required to complete the project.

The reason for this consumption of much more higher priced foods is simple. After all, when a person eats they ordinarily eat only until their body automatically responds that enough food value is stored up.

Cheap Bread does not have the FOOD VALUE of regularly priced Bread, therefor it takes more of other higher priced Foods. So, after all, it is cheaper to buy regularly priced BREAD.

Hubbers Point To Wilson Tilt

Doc Cook's Strong Blues To Invade Local Park Sunday For Feature Game; Contest Starts At 3 O'Clock

The baseball stage is being set at Parris Field for what promises to be one of the most colorful post-tournament games of the season Sunday.

Manager Doc Cook will bring his hustling and powerful Wilson crew here to oppose Sled Allen's Hubbers.

Several of the Hubbers, otherwise known as Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers, are playing in the Amherst tournament, but will be on hand for the Sunday game. Bill Holloway, center fielder, and Charley Pressley, left fielder, are playing with Enochs in the Amherst joust. They play against the Lubbock Tip-Top club in today's game there.

Graham May Join Team

Skipper Allen hopes to increase the effectiveness of his infield by the addition of Blue Graham, flashy second baseman for Wilson in the Lubbock tournament and one of the most popular players on the Plains. Graham, native of Brownfield probably will be shifted to shortstop, with R. D. Prather moving to third base where he performed so capably after an infield shift last Sunday. Jack Thompson probably will go to the outfield.

Lefty Blanchard, the blond southpaw "bought" from Estelline of the Red River Valley league, is due to toss again, possibly opposing Lefty Beans Pair or young Jack Burke, the Wilson stars, or A. Marcey, recruited from the Ropesville team.

Both teams should be at top strength and ready go to. They were the "hard luck" clubs of the Lubbock tournament—pre-tournament favorites but unable to get into the money.

Grant Beats Van Ryn; Budge And Mako Advance In Casino Net Go; McDiarmid Is Beaten

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 20. (AP)—After being carried off the court with a wrenched ankle, Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, Atlanta's mighty tennis mite, over-ruled two physicians today and returned to complete a 6-1, 6-3, 6-2 triumph, over Johnny Van Ryn, the Philadelphia veteran and qualify for the Newport Casino's semi-finals.

Grant almost swept Van Ryn off the courts during the first two sets and was leading two games to love in the third when he twisted his right ankle.

Don Budge and Gene Mako, got off to a slow start against John McDiarmid of Fort Worth, and Hal Surface of Kansas City, but they settled down to gain a 3-6, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1 victory and a place in the semi-finals in the other doubles matches. Frank Parker and Gregory Mangin of Newark, N. J., defeated Van Ryn and J. Gilbert Hall of Orange, N. J., 3-6, 10-3, 6-3, 6-0.

Texas grows more onions than any other state in the union.

Hogsett Fails To Help Cause As Relief Man

Browns Lose To Detroit When Elon Throws Wildly; Score Is 8-4; Other Junior Loop Teams Rest Thursday

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 20. (AP) — Elon Hogsett, who failed twice as a starting pitcher for the Browns in the present series with Detroit, tried a relief role with no better luck today, his wild throw in the seventh paving the way for a Tiger victory, 8 to 4.

Bleacher Fans Know All About DiMaggio

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (AP)—The bleacher brigade at Yankee Stadium will tell you it's Joe DiMaggio's top-flight fielding, as well as his booming bat, that has made him one of the rookie sensations of the season.

While he's been grabbing the headlines by his ability to slug along with the rest of the Yankee crew, his defensive work has been shadowed by his stick work.

Watch Him Field

But the bleacherites don't let things like that get by them. Since they have been watching the Pacific Coast youngster covering ground and sending those rifle-like pegs in from the outfield, they've been recalling the days of Earl Combs and Bob Meusel, two of the greater ballhawks of other Yankee days.

It would be hard to estimate how many runs Joe cut off at the plate, or how many runners he has picked off the sacks, or even how many games he has saved by his bullet throws.

But figures don't lie, and here Der Mag's for the approximately 110 straight games in which he has performed: 242 put outs; 21 assists, and four errors.

His fielding average is between .985 and .990. He started in the outfield May 3. It wasn't until June 4 that he made his first error, and not until July 18 that his second fumble occurred.

Manager Joe McCarthy has used him in all three sections of the outfield, but the location hasn't made any difference to DiMaggio.

Class C. Football Schools To Hold Meeting Today At Tech Gym; Make Schedules

Joe Potter, Anton School superintendent and executive athletic chairman of the district, will preside at a meeting of Class C football school superintendents and coaches this afternoon at Texas Tech.

The meeting has been called for the purpose of making plans for the forthcoming gridiron season, the arranging of schedules, etc.

It is planned to ask for a vote regarding the dividing of the district. At present, sixteen schools comprise District 13, which is the Lubbock or South Plains circuit. It is probable that officials meeting today will vote to divide the district into circuits of eight teams each.

The meeting is to be held at the Tech gymnasium, starting a 2:30 o'clock.

Amherst Reds Score Late To Nose Out Sudan Squad In Hot Tournament Game

Tip-Top Team Plays Enochs Today For Chance At Cash

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

AMHERST, Aug. 20. — Manager Harry Phelps Amherst Reds pulled a "Masked Marvel" stunt in today's game of the Amherst invitation baseball tournament, pulling out of trouble in the very last minutes of the closing round to score three runs and defeat a nervous but happy and considerably improved Sudan club, 5 to 4.

As in the case of some of the hooded wrestler's eleventh hour victories, it was a mistake on the part of the opposition that allowed the Reds to take the final fall.

An Unhappy Man

They were beaten, the Reds were. Lefty Gaut Hambright included up to the time when two were out in the last half of the ninth inning, up to the time when Shortstop Johnson lofted a long fly to center field that should have been a can of corn for C. McWilliams.

But C. McWilliams was a most unhappy man last night. No doubt he had dreams, bad dreams, of a jittery outfielder who had a baseball game in his hands, only to drop the ball and lose the game. He caught it, after stepping back a few yards. He used perfect judgment as the ball soared into a strong southwest wind, and the ball dropped lightly into his glove—then twisted out and fell to the ground allowing two runners to cross the platter and tie the score.

Sportsmen can feel for McWilliams. They can sympathize and weep with him, have nightmares with him. But they can't recover that muffed fly.

And when those two runs came in, they broke the heart and the morale of the whole Sudan team, which had been playing good ball, maybe above its head, but good ball, winning ball, anyway and notwithstanding. It deserved to win, because it subdued the Amherst team which still claims that it's the best on the Plains.

Gee Slips One Over

With the score tied at 4-all, "Daddy" Gee, Amherst second baseman who had been experiencing only a fair day at fielding and at bat, rapped one to short, and Johnson, who had reached third on the muffed fly in center, scampered home with the winning tally. The game was over, and great was the joy in Amherst, and the black-clothed Sudan crew.

The tournament continues Friday, one game being scheduled instead of two. Manager Berl Huffman will attempt to skipper the Lubbock Tip-Top Cafe entry, sponsored by Jimmy William, against a reinforced Enochs club. The game starts at 3 o'clock at Welch Field here. A double header will be played Saturday, moved up from tomorrow, so the Tip-Toppers, winners of the Lubbock tournament by virtue of a final victory over the Amherst Reds, will have the house to themselves, with Enochs, in today's feature.

A capacity crowd saw today's game. The grandstand and all the bleachers were jammed, and people were standing three deep along the fences.

They turn out for baseball in this town. Amherst fans were here in full force, and Sudan supporters were almost as audible. They cheered for the black-shirts, who also played in the Lubbock tournament but who are not the same bunch of boys now. Sudan stays in the joust, and no doubt will give somebody plenty of trouble before it's all over.

After today's game, five of the original six teams stay in. Anton having eliminated Dodd City Thursday in a 5 to 4 game. One team will drop out today, Lubbock Tip-Top or Enochs. Sponsor Jimmy William was a spectator today, and promised the fans that Enochs would surely drop from the tournament picture Friday.

But getting back to today's fine ball game.

A. Lumpkin pitched for Sudan. He is a hurler of long standing on the Plains, and his right hand curves and fast balls had the Amherst club baffled for seven innings.

Sudan drew first blood, scoring in the second inning when L. McWilliams, first baseman, blasted one over the right field fence for a round trip.

Amherst tallied in the same frame, twice, John Bradley reaching first on an error, scoring ahead of "Preacher" Dickson who duplicated McWilliams' right field blow over the wall.

Sudan Takes Lead

Sudan came back in the third inning for two runs and the lead that seemed good enough to win. Simmons singled, M. Lumpkin struck out, and Stone singled, reaching second when Bradley booted the blow to right field. Catcher Rundell followed with a single, and Simmons came home, closely followed by Stone. L. McWilliams struck out, and C. McWilliams was safe when L. was nabbed at second on an attempted double killing.

There was no more tally-marking until the eighth. Lefty Hambright, ace of the Amherst staff, relieved Ollie Walker, who had pitched fair ball for Amherst up to that time, and was greeted with a lusty barrage of hits. Rundell started it, went to second on an error, advanced to third on a put-out and swiped home plate right under the noses of Pitcher Hambright and Catcher Bennett. It was the fourth for Sudan, and the score was 4 to 2. Hambright otherwise was impassable. He was there long enough to receive credit for the victory.

Lumpkin stayed in there, pitched good ball; with the last half of the ninth coming up and his side two runs ahead, he allowed a hit to John Bradley, and walked Dickson. He struck out Weaver and threw Pinch-Hitter Steffy out at first. Bradley and Dickson going to third and second. Then came Johnson's high fly, which looked like an easy out. It fell from McWilliam's hands, and Bradley and Dickson came home. Then Gee's blast through short, and Johnson came home with the winning run.

Lamesa, Pumpkin Center Win Tilts At Lamesa Joust

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, Aug. 20.—The Pumpkin Center team remained undefeated and the tournament favorite through today's sessions of the annual Dawson county baseball tournament, winning from the Sparenberg entry, 7 to 5.

The Lamesa team, which has lost one game, eliminated the Civilian Conservation corps entry, 11 to 3, in the other game of today's double header.

One game is scheduled tomorrow, New Moore to meet Wilson, and the loser to be eliminated.

Double headers are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

Today's games were in sharp contrast to the "runaway" games of Wednesday when the COC team defeated Five Mile, 17 to 5, while Wilson ran up 27 runs to 3 for Sparenburg. Today's defeat at the hands of Pumpkin Center eliminated Sparenburg.

Eleanor Wants Amateur Right

Famous Swimmer Still Likes Champagne And Is At Odds With Avery Brundage, But Wants To Remain Amateur

BY SCOTTY RESTON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (AP)—Eleanor Holm Jarrett still likes champagne, still thinks she's an amateur, and still thinks her opinion of Avery Brundage, president of the Amateur Athletic union, should not be printed, she said today upon arriving home.

"I called him up on the telephone before I left Berlin and he hung up," she said.

Dismissed from the American Olympic team for drinking, Mrs. Jarrett insisted she was "heartbroken," but looked as if she would survive. She thinks she was "the goat of the whole thing," but has no intention of bringing legal action.

Admits Drinking

"I was not on an all-night party with Charlie MacArthur," she said. "I was with a party of newspapermen and I admit I was drinking. I had five or six glasses of champagne.

"Charlie MacArthur (husband of the actress, Helen Hayes) merely came over to the table, and I met him. That was the last I saw of him."

Mrs. Jarrett said she was not warned by the Olympic committee after this party.

"I knew nothing of my dismissal until after it was announced in Hamburg," she said.

Others Drank, Too

Mrs. Jarrett charged that most of the team was out of the Olympic committee's control on the ship going over. She thought that "about half of them were drinking," but she would mention no names and asserted she was dismissed merely as an example to the rest of the team.

He finished a stroke ahead of Ted Turner of Pine Valley, N. J. Clarence Doser of Rochester carried off third prize money with a 72-hole total of 287.

Schmeling Not Anxious To Go Against Louis

Der Mexie Wants Braddock, And Nobody Else, But Braddock Not Likely To Fight Until Next Summer

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (AP)—Negotiations went on apace tday to have Max Schmeling change his mind and agree to meet Joe Louis in a return match next month.

The German went into a huddle with Promoter Mike Jacobs, representatives of Mrs. W. R. Hearst's milk fund and parties interested in buying the picture rights, but no progress was made.

Passes Up Offers

Schmeling would not yield even to the lure of extravagant guarantees and promises of big percentage cuts. Champion James J. Braddock is the man he wants.

The German is so keen to get into the ring with the champion he may insist on a winter fight if Braddock is unable to don the gloves in September.

This latter is regarded as a forgone conclusion and the state athletic commission is expected to grant a postponement at tomorrow's meeting.

Dr. Fred Albee, a bone specialist, who examined Braddock at the commission's request, found the champ suffering from sub-acute arthritis.

Would Fight In February

Schmeling is willing to return here in February if Braddock is ready to fight in Miami. This also is agreeable to Jacobs, but Madison Square Garden, joint promoter with Jacobs, turned thumbs down on the proposition.

The Garden insists on an outdoor show in New York and if a postponement is authorized tomorrow, will ask the commission to order the fight held next summer.

Softball Tourney Schedule Will Be Arranged Tonight

First round schedule for the South Plains district tournament of the Amateur Softball Association of America will be announced after tonight's meeting of managers and commissioners here.

Fourteen teams are registered for the first annual district tournament, which is to be held at the lighted Littlefield park, starting next Wednesday. Managers or representatives of all clubs are expected to meet with the district commissioners at the Avalanche-Journal editorial offices this evening at 8 o'clock.

Team representatives will draw numbers, these numbers to determine first round opponents and the order of games in the district tournament.

Most of the games will be played at night, but it will be necessary for four of them to be played in the afternoon. Players of the afternoon games will be determined at the drawing tonight.

The fourteen clubs entered are: Texas Utilities company of Abernathy, Post Centennials of Post, Grasshoppers of Grassland, Southern Grill of Tulia, Wildcats of Littlefield, All-Stars of Littlefield, Avalanche-Journal of Lubbock, Texas Spur of Spur, Rinney of Spur, City Bakery of Levelland, Netxi of Plainview, and teams from Olton, Sudan and Dickens.

All-County Program Presented At City Park Thursday After Inspection Made Of Home Of Mr. And Mrs. E. F. Alford

Five hundred persons, representing 17 home demonstration clubs and their families, attended a picnic Thursday night at City park a few hours after 200 had inspected the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Alford and family on the Levelland highway.

The home and farm had won first prize in district 2 of a state Centennial farm and home contest.

All home makers of the county were invited.

Home Is Complete

Assisting Mrs. Alford in showing visitors through the house and in serving refreshments were Mesdames J. S. Hamilton, E. B. Shipp, C. C. Lane, R. O. Short, W. A. Wilson, and J. W. Ross, all of whom are members of the Home Makers club.

The women viewed the clothes storage, pantry and an outdoor living room.

A balanced orchard, dairy, poultry house, and garden were considered in the contest decision.

Program At Park

At the county-wide all-family Home Demonstration club picnic, a brief program was presented by Mrs. Vaughn E. Wilson, recreational chairman.

Miss Lida Cooper, O. G. Tumlinson and A. H. Lichte, all of the extension department of Texas A. and M. college, were visitors.

General plans were under direction of Miss Norfleet Grimes, county home demonstration agent.

Babe Ritchie Of Lubbock To Box In Dallas Joust

DALLAS, Aug. 20. (AP)—Seventy-one boxers comprising one of the greatest arrays of amateur ring talent ever assembled in the Southwest were at the Texas Centennial exposition tonight, ready for weighing-in ceremonies tomorrow for the exposition's gold medal tournament.

Preliminary matches are scheduled for tomorrow night. Finals are scheduled to start Saturday night. The boxers are champions of district eliminations held during the summer from the Panhandle to the gulf.

Largest of the medal-seekers is Babe Ritchie, 215-pound, six-foot-four inch football tackle at Lubbock High school, who is one of the favorites in the heavyweight division. The athletes range downward to 107 pound Eddie Erickson, also a gridder. He plays center for Galveston High.

Fifty four bouts are scheduled for tomorrow night.

MASK IS DE-MASKED

AMARILLO, Aug. 20. (AP) — The Masked Marvel, sensational middleweight wrestler who conceals his identity by a cloth hood about his head and face, was de-masked here tonight when the other five grapplers in a six-man "wrestle royal" overpowered him, but—

Beneath the regular mask were strips of adhesive tape, and when the mask was removed it disclosed nothing but "mummy wrapping" about The Mask's head and face.

So Many Republicans Want Seats On Platform There May Not Be Room For Landon When He Speaks At Birthplace

(By The Associated Press)

WEST MIDDLESEX, Pa., Aug. 20. Edgar Green, reception committee chairman for Saturday's homecoming of Gov. Alf M. Landon declared so many important Republican leaders are seeking seats on the speakers' platform that acceptance of any more would leave no room for the presidential nominee.

Green reported virtually all preliminary details for the rally were complete, including plans for handling the traffic and a crowd he said may exceed 100,000 persons.

Representatives of the Republican national committee and Green have headquarters at New Castle, 15 miles south of this village birthplace of the Kansas governor, who will spend Saturday night there.

Importation Of Corn From Argentine Is To Be Necessary

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (AP) — Formal announcement was made by the agriculture department today that importation of corn from the Argentine would be necessary to meet domestic needs.

No estimate was made of the amount to be imported. The corn imports from the Argentine during the year ended June 30 amounted to 27,000,000 bushels.

The James Gleasons have been married 30 years.

Let's Back Up A West Texan

WHEN Lubbock and South Plains voters go to the polls tomorrow they will find but two state races listed on the short ballot. One is the contest between J. E. McDonald and George Terrell for commissioner of agriculture; the other the one-sided race between Ernest O. Thompson and Frank Morris for railroad commissioner, Since Colonel Thompson, running for a second term, is and always has been a West Texan, it is that race in which people of this section should be particularly interested.

Politically wise Texans have been wondering ever since the July 25th primary why Frank Morris remained in the race.

Lacking but 1 per cent of a clean sweep over four opponents in the first vote, Colonel Thompson literally "walloped the socks" off Morris in 245 of Texas' 254 counties, piling up 447,229 votes to Morris' 168,585. But in spite of that fact Morris' backers elected to keep him running, doubtless with no hopes of victory but with the desire to "muddy the waters" and cause Thompson as much trouble as possible.

There is no doubt that Colonel Thompson will sweep this section of Texas, just as he did in the first primary. A resident of Amarillo, a former director of Texas Technological college and with many long time friends in this area, Thompson naturally has a big advantage here. But the important thing is to "get out the vote" so there will be no chance for the East Texas "hot oil gang"—opposing Thompson because of his sensible proration policy—to even have a look-in.

The West Texan, with a record of achievement behind him, is seeking a second term on the basis of accomplishment. His opponent, who resides in Dallas county, has nothing to offer but promises—and wild promises at that.

The Morning Avalanche, reviewing Thompson's record which shows his fair treatment to the small oil operators as well as to the majors; his successful campaign which reduced utility rates in scores of Texas towns; his aid in reduction of cotton freight rates and in elimination of 'bootleg' trucking, is certain Texas will return him to office. What we are particularly interested in is that the South Plains area, by piling up a large vote for the Colonel, will have a big hand in his re-election.

SARTORIALLY SPEAKING

People are naturally interested in what their relatives are doing, so the people of the United States are wondering how their English cousins are weathering the heat wave. The answer is, "Poorly, old chappie."

The mercury has been running up into the eighties more or less habitually on King George's tight little island this summer, and when the thermometer passes the 80 mark in England it is deucedly hot, don't cha know. It's the humidity, not the heat, as it were.

This summer with its abnormally hot weather may break down the British morale as to formal attire regardless of the temperature. When the Englishman goes to town he must wear a long black coat and silk topper no matter what the season. Out at his country place he may don a sports coat of heavy tweed or homespun. but such concessions to comfort are verboten in town.

Give the American man credit for breaking down this one silly custom. He has repealed the law of custom which made it criminal to be comfortable when Old Sol beams his beamingest. Tropical attire and sartorial practices have been introduced to the most dignified surroundings.

WITH OUR CONTEMPORARIES

"Those good Republican editors who are now bewailing the fact that President Roosevelt has put all postmasters under civil service, are rather late as well as rather inconsistent, Jack Stricklin points out in the Terry County Herald. "For twelve long years while the Democratic party was in the minority, this was tried but to no avail.

"The controversy now being waged between John L. Lewis of the United States Mine Workers and President Green of the American Federation of Labor calls our minds back to the old days when Big Bill Haywood was striving to organize labor along industrial lines," H. G. Richards says in the Anton News.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

For wickedness burneth as the fire: it shall devour the briers and thorns, and shall kindle in the thickets of the forest, and they shall mount up like the lifting up of smoke;

Through the wrath of the Lord of hosts is the land darkened, and the people shall be as the fuel of the fire: no man shall spare his brother.—Isaiah IX: 18-20

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

THE LUCK OF EDEN HALL

This cup, one of the finest specimens of early glass, has long been in the possession of the Musgrave family of Eden Hall, Cumberland, England. It is reputed to have been seized from the "little people" by a retainer of the family at St. Cuthbert's Well, a pure water source on the estate. The Queen of the "little people" is reputed to have exclaimed, "Should the cup e'er break or fall, Farewell the Luck of Eden Hall."

The goblet is of an enamel-and-gold pattern, colored green, white, red and blue, and has long been kept in the vaults of the Bank of England to insure the continuance of the family fortunes. It is the subject of many ballads and legends.

RAT-TAIL MONEY

Rats escaping from a shipwreck to Lord Howe's Island about 360 miles east of Australia, presently multiplied so that they overran the island. The British government offered a bounty of 8 cents for each rat killed to be paid upon the surrender of the rat's tail. The tails soon became so closely identified with the bounty, that metallic money could be dispensed with, while the tail itself acquired an intrinsic value equal to 8 cents.

RESORT HOTEL

by Dick Morgan © 1936 NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER XII

Ann dressed quickly, and rejoined Bill on the boathouse docks. In those few moments since Bill had come to her with the tale of the stolen bonds her thoughts had raced swiftly, but her course was perfectly clear. Though it would take courage for her to go before the people in the lobby of the hotel and say that she had spent last night on the mountain with Bill Ware, she had steeled herself to do it. Of course Bill couldn't have taken the bonds, and it was her duty to shield him.

As they walked up the lake shore toward the hotel her heart went out to Bill Ware.

She didn't tell him what she was going to do. But she looked the hotel manager in the eye, and said, "I spent the entire night in a lean-to with Bill Ware. We were trapped by a storm on the mountain. We didn't return to the hotel until this morning."

Bill stood there, clenching his fists, but feeling fiercely proud of her. She was a game one all right. There was nothing he could do about her frank admission before all those people, except—

His eyes glittered with a new light, as he faced her. They were together now against the world.

Outside, on the terrace, he said, "But why—why did you do it?"

"Because it was the only thing to do," she said. "And because—"

His eyes grew wide. "Do you mean it? Oh, you must."

A bellboy came out on the porch to call Ann to the telephone. She left Bill, standing there with all his hopes of winning the sun and the moon and the earth and the stars.

The voice on the telephone was Jaime's. He said, "I want to see you, Ann. Please."

The sound of that voice still had a hold on her. His plea evoked her sympathy.

"I'm sorry I behaved as I did on the docks," Jaime went on. "I didn't even stop to say goodby. That's why I want to see you. I want to apologize. I think you're a swell girl." He added, "I'm leaving for Canada within the hour. I'll drive by to see you in the car."

Ann knew she distrusted Jaime now, but she gave her assent. When she came back on the terrace Bill watched her closely.

"That was Jaime," she said. "He's on his way to Canada."

"That's funny," Bill said curtly. "He borrowed $50 from me day before yesterday. I should think he might have let me know if he was leaving."

Ann stared at him, wide-eyed. "Did Jaime need money? Do you suppose he lost so much gambling on the races that he—"

"I didn't know what he wanted with it. It seems that he lives on an allowance—so much a month. He was in a jam and promised to pay me back today."

Ann's eyes were dark. "Could those missing bonds be disposed of in Canada?" she said.

"Yes."

Ann whirled about, and faced the water. Her throat hurt her. Tears dimmed her eyes.

Jaime did not show up at the Glenwood Inn. By the time he had his bags packed the detectives had come to his room in the big hotel across the lake, and arrested him. One of the guests had seen him prowling around the inn around 1 o'clock the night before. He had come, ostensibly, to find Ann.

They found the bonds in one of Jaime's bags. He broke down then and admitted that he had lost heavily on the races. He needed some money quickly to cover margins on a stock deal. A weakling to the core, he had planted the wrapper in Bill's room to throw suspicion on him.

Ann heard this news from Bill. After that she had gone to her room, thrown herself face down on the bed, and lain there for almost an hour.

When she arose she bathed her eyes and went down to meet Bill again. They walked along the lake shore, and took an old road leading into the woods. Ann didn't want to see anybody. She didn't even want to think.

They talked of trival, meaningless things such as the color of autumn leaves and the new movies. But when they reached Echo Pond, Bill reached out and took her hand. They walked along, saying little.

"Go on," Bill said finally. "Tell me why you were willing to take my side? It took a lot of the right stuff in you to tell those people that you and I were marooned in the mountains."

Ann turned to him, and her eyes were shining again. "Oh, that!" she said carelessly. "But I do love you, Bill. Why shouldn't I take your side against the whole world."

He gathered her in his arms. "You angel," he murmured. "You darling."

When she had recovered her breath after this crushing embrace she said, smiling, "Please, Mr. Ware! Why, I hardly know you. Aren't you just the young man who sold me this vacation."

"You bet I am! And now I'd like to sell you myself. I've a good job, and I like it. I've just had a raise. There comes a time when every young man wants to be married. I don't see any reason why we shouldn't be."

"Then ask me," she said, smiling. "Will you marry me?"

"Of course I will!"

"Now? Today?" His eyes were bright.

"Why, Bill—"

He shrugged his shoulders, and ran a hand boyishly through his hair. "Gee, why didn't we make up our minds down in the city? Then we might have had two weeks' honeymoon up here in this glorious spot."

Ann was practical. "We still have three days, twelve hours and"—she glanced at her wrist watch—"twenty-four minutes."

His look was wistful. "Yes. We have to be back at work Monday at 9. But I don't care."

"I don't care, either," she said. "We're together now. All the world"—her hands made a sweeping gesture over the mountains and hills—"is ours."

"Ours," he repeated after her. "Ours!"

They walked slowly back to the hotel, planning their life together. Ann had to pinch herself to be sure it was all true. Bill Ware! The boy who had been working close to her in the canyons of the city all these years, the working lad whom she had overlooked in her perennial quest. Vacation romance, to them, had been sweet.

New Stripe Is Being Tested

Center Marking On Highway In State May Be Replaced By Two Stripes On Each Side Of Highway; Plan Studied

(By The Associated Press)

BROWNWOOD, Aug. 20.—A new safety stripe may by painted on Texas highways within a year as a result of an experiment by the State Highway Department on Highway 7 near here.

The new stripe would supplement the center stripe now used and be painted on the side of the road. Drivers would be asked to straddle it with their automobiels.

Experiments with the new-type stripe also are being made on a road near Tyler and on highway 2 near San Antonio, and are being regularly checked by highway department employes. If new marking is found to be a safety measure it probably will be adopted throughout the state, highway officials say, but the center stripe will not be abandoned.

Although the new marking is said to be liked by many motorists, highway engineers are not convinced it should be adopted. The experiments will be continued for six months before a decision is made say highway department engineers, explaining the new side stripe is a psychological trick. If ar automobile driver keeps his car directly over the new line there is less danger of collision, particularly on a hill, they say. If the tests prove the new stripe is a good safety measure, it will be one of the most important improvements in highway safety in Texas for some time, the engineers say.

The Trans-Siberian railroad, which connects Leningrad with Vladivostok, is more than 6000 miles long.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE administration's political trouble squad are giving their eyes on a certain nationally known Democratic leader in a western state. Though nominally a New Deal sympathizer and erstwhile adviser, he has shown signs of "taking a walk" without any public announcement.

He was a key figure in FDR's campaign for the nomination and performed a deft job on the floor at Chicago. He was offered a high post early in 1933, but he declined it to remain in a law practice that grew more lucrative under the Roosevelt administration. Subsequently a certain coolness developed, though he is still a frequent dinner guest at the White House.

He thinks that he has been badly treated. He has informed friends that the ingratitude of beneficiaries of his political jobbing hurts. If he decides to seek revenge, he won't publicize it. He'll simply slip the word to his powerful personal machine that the fish might be biting well on Election Day. If they are, it will mean the loss of his state.

BENEFITS: Navy admirals may suffer some sort of shell shock when they ask for bids on battleships, cruisers, etc. at the expiration of the so-called disarmament treaty on December 31.

Manufacturers of essential equipment for the fleet—engines, guns, control systems—are grumbling. They are bitter over the new Vinson law prohibiting more than 10 per cent profit on navy contracts. Though highly technical, the government's restricting regulations on figuring costs—and profits—pain them even more sharply than the law itself. In some instances their profits may drop to an infinitesimal percentage or vanish entirely.

So some makers of guns, engines and control gadgets may not even bid on new vessels. There is no law which can force them to be profitlessly patriotic. Navy yards may benefit from the situation, and already the leading citizens and officials of cities having federal naval factories are putting in their bids.

RESOURCEFUL: No President ever left the White House with as large and complete a file on federal problems as FDR did when he set out on his flood-and-drouth trip. The statisticians were busy for weeks in digging up facts and figures for him.

likely to differ widely on budget matters.

FDR wanted to be able to discuss flood-and-drouth matters with local politicians and officials. He expects to convince them that he knows their local problems as well as they do and has a solution on tap. If they spread the news of his acquaintance with the flood's height at a certain hour on a certain street, or if the acres of corn withered by the sun, so much the better.

Mr. Roosevelt is an extremely resourceful person. He has reached the conclusion that he faces a real fight. He is confident, but not overconfident. He is missing no bets. Therefore the files and statistics and answers.

PUZZLE: Odd results flow from the 20th amendment, abolishing lame duck Congresses. If Landon should come in next January he would find annual budget estimates already in shaped by his predecessor on plans that Landon might not agree with at all. He would have to accept the program or exert influence on Congress to wait until he could send in his own budget.

Under the new arrangement a lame duck President loses the advantages formerly possessed. Formerly he had a short session of Congress in which to put through his budget. Now he sends in a budget only 15 days before he leaves the White House. Congress necessarily holds his recommendations in abeyance until it can know what the new President wants.

The new President can't tell what he wants until he has dug into the situation. If he belongs to a party different from that of his predecessor he is likely to differ widely on budget matters.

NEW YORK
By Lee Schneider

DEMOCRATIC quarters admit that the greatest campaign problem of the year is what farmer to help. The dairy states of the North have always kept the oleomargarine industry gasping for breath by means of lobbied taxes and restrictive legislation. But now the Southern states have organized a consumer's league in behalf of oleomargarine. It is a by-product of cottonseed oil which in turn is a by-product of cotton.

In the grain and corn areas the farmers are normally Republican. But they have been treated so nicely by the New Deal administration that they feel it wouldn't be loyal to go against FDR. Farmers are tight-lipped. They don't talk. They await campaign promises—which they are certain won't be kept.

And so both of the leading political parties frankly admit—in confidence—that they have no idea how the elections will go. But it is financial-district belief that the farmers' vote will decide the issue.

POLITICS: Talk of a possible reduction in the corn tariff is given little credence in trading circles. It is said that politically it would be unwise to do so at this time. If the reduction were announced it would flood domestic markets. That would hurt the price structure which in turn would reduce the value of what little crop had been gathered by farmers. "That isn't the way to get votes," said a political contact.

ACTIVE: Record sales are being established in all mercantile fields. Trade insiders report gains of as much as 30 per cent ahead of last year. Buyers are filling anticipated fall and winter requirements. The reason for the rush is that higher prices are anticipated.

Manufacturers have increased operations to the best levels since 1929. It is one of the main reasons why unemployment figures are currently smaller in many cities throughout the country.

WEATHER: The public has no liking for hot weather. Yet according to insurance company statistics the month of August is the healthiest. Death per thousand amount to only fractionally above nine. The annual climb starts with September and runs to a high of 14 or more per thousand in January and February. The charts are alike from year to year.

And it isn't the Weather Bureau that "dopes out" forecasts. The men sitting high in office buildings merely accept reports of volunteers scattered in various sections of the country. Some 4,500 such volunteers are located at stations operated by colleges, lumbermen, railroads, power companies, business firms and individuals who just like to help. Reports are also received by cable and wireless from some 100 foreign stations and 1,900 ships.

(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Thought for the week, offered by a Western editor: A country can't exist half scientific and half political.

A naturalist says fish do not drink water, which is only what we suspected. So many who drink like a fish don't either.

They won't beat their swords into plowshares while they are trying to beat competitors into foreign markets.

The President urges youth to hold fast to its dream. In leap year, she had no intention of letting him go, anyway.

If the Old World is seriously considering a revival of the Great War, we can think of one change in the original cast.

The legislation to deport all undesirable aliens could be made very amusing, if an amendment allowed the Indians to pick them.

Nobody ever gets interested in the small end of the horn of plenty.

In repeating itself history never uses the formula, "Stop me if you have heard this."

Many Women On WPA Project Rolls

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (AP)—The Works Progress administration reports that 28.5 per cent of persons employed on WPA projects in Texas are women.

The survey was based on a typical half-month, ending May 15, when 86,765 Texans were employed on WPA projects, including 63,762 men and 23,003 women.

The national average of women on relief projects compared with the number of men was 16 per cent.

Most of the Texas women workers were employed on sewing and other clothing projects when the survey was made, although approximately 20 percent of them were engaged in educational, professional and clerical projects.

The average monthly earnings for Texas women relief workers then was nearly $20 while earnings of men workers averaged about $25.

The WPA said there is a greater concentration of women than men in the semi-skilled and professional and technical wage classes.

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN, No. 23

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The new clue only increased Tarzan's bafflement. The tuft of leopard's hair clutched tightly in the hand of the dead warrior, added to the claw marks on the throat, indicated that Nyamwegi had fought against one of the fierce spotted cats of the jungle.

Tarzan knew that such a battle was impossible within the confines of the strongly palisaded village. But, at that moment, the ape-man sniffed the air through dilated nostrils and caught the vague scent of a leopard! This thing could not be—yet it was!

Now Orando, who had been strangely missing from the throng, burst through the crowd and beheld the horrible scene. "Nyamwegi!" he cried. "Nyamwegi, who was my best friend, is dead!" Then he saw Tarzan, nose near the ground, crawling slowly on hands and knees.

"What do you do, O Muzimo?" he gasped. "I go to seek the thing that killed Nyamwegi!" the ape-man answered grimly. Panic seized the warrior Orando, whose valor was a by-word of the tribe. "No, no!" he pleaded; "the Thing that killed him will kill you too!"

14 REASONS WHY DILLARD (Old J. J.) Merits Your Consideration IN HIS RACE FOR COUNTY JUDGE

1. He gave 40 years of the best days of his life to the development of Lubbock County.
2. He had a part in Lubbock County's development many years before the first railroad was built into Lubbock.
3. He has been a taxpayer in Lubbock County for 39 years.
4. He has had wide legal experience in all the State Courts, also Federal Courts, which fully qualifies him to handle the Court and the juveniles.
5. His reputation for honesty and fair dealing is beyond question.
6. He has never held a County office that paid a salary.
7. He taught school in Lubbock County in the pioneer days.
8. He is a married man. Reared a family of four boys, all educated in Lubbock schools and are respected citizens.
9. He has contributed to every enterprise that has been suggested for the public benefit of Lubbock County.
10. Dillard has taken no vacations since he was elected Justice of the Peace. He is on the job from 7:00 A. M. to 7:00 P. M. each day, not closing his office at the noon hour. His health is good. He has not consulted a physician in 40 years. His physical condition is A-1. Thus he can stand punishment. He does not drink intoxicants or take any other kind of stimulants. Doesn't even drink coffee or Coca Colas.
11. He walked five miles to the log school house when a lad, later working his way through college, earning his board and tuition. He learned to read Latin and a few lines of Caesar. By hard work he learned the Greek alphabet and could translate a few sentences from Homer, and prove an occasional theorem in Geometry, do a few calculations in Calculus and recite a few metaphors in logic and rhetoric.
12. He is a church member and lives his religion which is admitted by all who know him.
13. A vote for Dillard, who gave the best days of his life to the upbuilding of Lubbock's churches, schools and her other public and private institutions, will be appreciated by a broke man.
14. Do the voters believe in fair play? Do they believe in justice? Do you believe in the Golden rule? "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." ALL THINGS EQUAL, WHY NOT VOTE FOR THE MAN WHO HAS GIVEN HIS LIFE IN MAKING LUBBOCK A BETTER PLACE IN WHICH TO LIVE.

Varied Program Is Presented At Kiwanis Luncheon Thursday

Music by two Spur amateurs, who won first place in the Lindsey Theater's amateur hour the night before, featured yesterday's program of the Kiwanis club at the Hotel Lubbock with A. C. Jackson and William Boyd as co-chairmen. Raymond and Buster Brown, were the musicians, playing a violin and a guitar. Four numbers were given.

Russell T. Smith, Kiwanian and athletic coach at Texas Tech, invited the club members to visit the new stadium at the college and see the type of construction going on. He asked members to "come out any time."

A short sing-song was held with Walter Ruffner leading and Miss Margaret Turner presiding at the piano. E. L. Klett was in charge of the sing song.

Mr. Boyd gave what he called a short sketch of "the life of Paul Bunyon, the pioneer lumberman of the United States." The "tall stories" of the pioneer brought forth considerable laughter.

Lubbock Man Is At Rangers Reunion

DALLAS, Aug. 20. (AP)—The Texas of Indian and border days lived again at the Texas Centennial today when more than 50 members of the Texas Ex-Rangers association gathered in convention.

The two oldest in attendance were George W. Talley of Falfurrias, 86, one of three remaining members of Capt. H. L. M'Nelley's hard-riding border troop, and G. W. Ellington of Lubbock, also 86.

Principal In "Disappearing Body" Case Is Found Again

BEEVILLE, Aug. 20. (AP)—Bryan Black, missing from his Skidmore home since Tuesday night, was found today five miles away by C. B. Arnold, brother of the Bee county sheriff, and a party of searchers.

Black was the principal in the Round Rock "disappearing body mystery," six weeks ago.

Between 100 and 125 searchers combed the county for him yesterday. He had on pajamas, and socks but no shoes when found.

Goose Creek Man Is Named In Embezzlement Of Bank Funds

HOUSTON, Aug. 20. (AP)—S. W. Nash, Goose Creek bank employe, was charged in federal court today with embezzlement of money from the First National Bank of Goose Creek.

Federal agents, who arrested Nash, said some $6,380 was taken from the bank but that $5,266 of the amount was returned.

Horses, Mules Show Increase

Comeback Being Staged In Texas By Animals, Chief Clerk Of State Department Of Agriculture Reports

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 20. — Horses and mules are coming back in Texas. So, at least, believes Charles E. Baughman, chief clerk in the state department of agriculture.

Baughman said there were approximately 12,000 well-bred colts worth $1,250,000, ranging Texas pasturelands today where two and a half years ago there were scarcely 1,000. They were bred from 296 stallions and jacks of the finest blood strains in the country.

Racing Taxes Pay

The registered and high grade studs, including Belgian, Percheron, Morgan and saddle stallions, were purchased with funds accruing from horse racing taxes. To date, the department has received $204,258 from this tax.

"In a few years, Texas farmers and ranchers will be selling horses and mules to out-of-state buyers instead of purchasing from them as they used to," Baughman said.

"We now have 235 caretakers who keep 296 stallions and jacks for us over the state. Few counties are without these high grade breeding horses. There are more than 2,000 applications for these animals in our files."

Man Plunges 18 Stories To Death

FORT WORTH, Aug. 20 (AP)—An eighteen-story leap from the Fort Worth National bank building killed Daniel Rubio, 22-year-old tubercular sanitarium patient, today.

Justice of the Peace Beatty ruled the man had committed suicide.

Rubio had talked to Frank Graves, lawyer, whose office is on the twentieth floor of the building, a few minutes before he plunged to the roof of a two-story building.

The young man, a patient at the Elmwood sanitarium, conferred with the attorney regarding steps Rubio might take to see his child. Rubio was estranged from his wife.

Shortly after Graves advised his client to try to see his wife before taking any legal steps, Rubio leaped from a corridor window. His coat and hat were found on a ledge.

Letters and clippings found in a pocket indicated he intended to commit suicide. In one he bade a brother-in-law, Louis Salario, goodbye.

Senator Morris Sheppard To Talk To WOW. Unveil Statue

DALLAS, Aug. 20. (AP)—Centennial officials said Sen. Morris Sheppard would address the Woodmen of the World and inspect Camp Stephen F. Austin tomorrow.

They said they had invited Texas' senior senator to unveil the memorial statue, "The Texas Ranger," in the early evening.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (AP)—Selling dribbled into the stock market today and while it was not particularly forceful many of yesterday's rallying leaders backed up fractions to a point or more.

The session was hardly a one-way affair, however, with aviation and a number of other specialties running counter to the general trend, a few bolding sizable advances.

The ardor of recovery proponents was a bit chilled by the inability of the steels and rails to keep going on their forward push of yesterday.

Business and industrial developments were still on the optimistic side of the market ledger but some analysts noticed a little more nervousness in the boardrooms over the foreign situation.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .3 of a point at 67.4. The volume was a bit under that of the previous day, transfers totaling 961,800 shares compared with 1,006,130.

The three most active stocks of the day finished with small fractional advances. These were Studebaker at 12¼, South American Gold and Platinum at 5⅛ and Goodrich at 23⅞.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 20. (AP)—Buying in sufficient volume to offset light hedge selling appeared in the cotton market today and options gained 7 points in quiet dealings.

After a steady opening the market sold off when brokers who ordinarily operate for foreign account offered cotton in sizeable blocks. The market lost around 50 cents a bale on the dip, but in late trading recovered this and added a few points.

The reversal in trading trend was attributed to the unbroken drouth in Oklahoma and to private crop estimates well under the latest government figure on this year's expected yield.

A large commission house issued a midAugust crop estimate of 11,812,000 bales. This induced considerable short covering and when combined with the price fixing orders in the market, lifted prices.

Oct. closed at New Orleans at 11.59, Dec. at 11.63, Jan. at 11.54 bid and March at 11.72. Middling spots was unchanged at 11.93 cents a pound.

Reports of heavy crop deterioration in Oklahoma, northern Texas and parts of Arkansas has resulted in crop commentators revising their figures lower.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (AP)—A further decline today in cotton during early trading was followed by rallies on trade buying and covering. The decline, attributed to unfavorable weather and crop advices, carried Dec. up from 11.54@11.70. The position closed at 11.68 with the general market steady at net advances of .6 to 11 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 point to an advance of 2 points. A fair overnight demand was supplied at about the initial prices and the market later eased under renewed liquidation. The decline into new ground for the movement uncovered some stop orders and sent the price of Oct. off to 11.49 and March to 11.61 or about 8 to 9 points net lower.

Offerings then tapered off and prices rallied on the reports of continued dry hot weather in the Southwest and talk of reduced crop estimates. Active months sold 7 to 11 points net higher and closing quotations were within a point or two of the best.

Strange Religious Creed Is Cited In Johnson's Hearing

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20. (AP)—A strange religious creed that may have bound Raymond E. Johnson and Midi Takaoka in a romance of East and West was disclosed in Johnson's preliminary hearing today on charges of murdering the petite Japanese dancer and assaulting his asserted rival, William Bachand.

The 25-year-old stage beauty, her throat slashed with a butcher knife, died on the lawn of her Los Angeles home Aug. 11.

A sister of Johnson, Mrs. Marion Taylor, told the court:

"They were both very religious, although I never saw them go to church.

"I guess you'd say they had their own creed. I think that was what bound them so close together for three years.

Light Voting Is Seen Here

Only About 5,000 Persons Are Expected To Cast Ballots In Second Primary Here Saturday; Ticket Given

Despite the pleas of candidates and County Democratic Chairman L. C. Ellis for a heavy vote in Saturday's run-off Democratic primary, balloting in tomorrow's election is expected to be light.

Of Lubbock's more than 11,000 qualified voters only about 5,000 are expected by some observers to go to the polls. Other estimates ran even below that figure. A total of 8,610 persons voted in the July 25 election.

Only 201 Vote Absentee

Lack of interest in the forthcoming voting was manifest when only 201 persons cast absentee votes. That figure is about one-fourth of the absentee balloting of the first primary.

There is no hotly-contested gubernatorial race to stimulate the voting public to march to the polls. There are only two state races, one district race, and two county-wide campaigns.

Election preparations were underway yesterday, with precinct chairmen calling for boxes and supplies at the office of County Clerk Ed D. Allen.

Expect Early Tabulation

An early tabulation of the vote is anticipated Saturday night. Precinct chairmen have been urged to telephone Chairman Ellis at the Avalanche-Journal as soon as tabulation in their precincts have been completed.

Each candidate should know his fate in Lubbock county in less than three hours after the closing of the polls.

Ballot Is Reproduced

The following names will appear on the official ticket:

Railroad commissioner—Ernest O. Thompson, Potter county; Frank S. Morris, Dallas county.

Commissioner of agriculture — George B. Terrell, Cherokee county; J. E. McDonald, Ellis county.

Sheriff—Chas. S. Middleton, Tom Abel.

County judge — J. J. Dillard, Vaughn E. Wilson.

Commissioner, precinct 2 — J. T. Pinkston, Ben Mansker.

Commissioner, precinct 3—Edgar E. Gray, T. L. Holt.

Commissioner, precinct 4—B. O. McWhorter, D. E. Meridith.

Justice of the peace, precinct 1, place 1—Walter Davies, J. T. Trigg.

Workers Said To Be Arming

Vigorous Denials Fail To Quiet Assertions Of Brewing Labor Trouble In Republic To South Of U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 20.—Vigorous denials fail to down entirely assertions Mexico's radical workers are arming for battle against Fascism.

A newspaper report that "labor militia" had been formed and placed on "war footing" in several radical unions affiliated with the Confederation of Workers of Mexico (CTM) drew disclaimers from Vincente Lombardo Toledano, CTM secretary-general.

Declaring the country's "social condition" neither justified increasingly powerful labor leader said:

"It is denied, absolutely, that workers militia have been organized in our country."

Found No Evidence

Visitors to the syndicate of graphic arts, the young communists' league, the confederation of highway workers and other organizations were reported on guard, found no evidence of arms or armies.

Miguel A. Velasco, CTM official, in an address before an Anti-Fascist demonstration early this month said labor militia would be organized in all factories and the confederation controlled to "drown in blood all Fascist organizations" in Mexico.

"Nothing But 'Oratory'"

Gen. Luis Bobadilla, army chief of staff, voiced the opinion Velasco's statement was nothing but "oratory," an expression with which organized veterans of Mexican revolution, in paid newspaper advertisements, said they had first agreed.

Later, however, officials of the veterans union said they learned "this project was really being carried out" and entered "energetic protest against the maneuver of communists to displace and nullify the national army."

Other quarters were wondering what might be the army's reaction to the organization of armed workers' forces.

See No Connection

They professed to see possible connection between the published reports and President Cardenas' swift, unexplained shift in several high army mandates—Chief among them the transfer of Brig. Gen. Rafael Navarro Cortina, supposedly one of Cardenas' staunchest adherents, from the command of the Federal District to the military governorship of the northern district of Lower California.

The changes, affecting nine officials with the rank of brigadier general or general, were announced in the absence from Mexico City of Gen. Andres Figueroa, secretary of war.

See Partial Explanation

In the reports of the formation of workers militia some observers said they saw partial explanation of the dramatic exiling, Aug. 11, of Gen. Nicolas Rodriguez, organizer of "supreme leader" of the Fascistic, anti-communist "gold shirts."

With Rodriguez out of the country and his followers officially dissolved, it was argued, Cardenas would be in sounder techinical position should he deem it advisable to call on workers to surrender arms they might have.

In any case the CTM, if it did intend to arm its members, was doing no more than taking a leaf out of the government's book.

A year ago the secretariat of war set up a special department charged with the formation of agrarian militia with the officially announced task of defending rural school teachers against attack of enemies of the government's socialistic education program.

Texas Citrus Crop Is Expected Heavy

HARLINGEN, Aug. 20. (AP)—Growers and shippers agree in estimating the citrus crop of the Rio Grande Valley at more than 18,000 carloads this year if the weather remains normal.

This is more than twice last year's production, and there is discussion among producers to open the shipping season before Oct. 1, the date prescribed by Federal quarantine regulations.

H. H. Banker of Brownsville, president of the Rio Grande Valley Citrus exchange, says he believes the date will not be advanced.

L. E. Pratt, state official in charge of maturity regulations, is expected here soon to examine the fruit and determine wheather there is justification for an earlier opening date.

Hart L. Longino, in charge of the federal-state inspection service, who revised provisions for grading and certification of fruit, added a grade, U. S. No. 2 bronze, for fruit having considerable discoloration but otherwise of good quality.

Representatives of exchanges and independent shippers are in the middle west, east and Europe seeking contracts. Water transportation will permit valley producers to actively contest the markets of New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Boston and Washington for the first time, and agents for the co-operatives in Europe are expected to open a substantial market for Texas citrus there.

Col. Ephriam G. Peyton Is To Head 99th Organized Reserves

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Aug. 20. (AP)—Col. Ephriam G. Peyton, after two years as chief of staff of the eighth corps area, with headquarters here, will become chief of staff of the 99th division, organized reserves, with headquarters at Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 1.

During 37 years in the United States army, Col. Peyton participated in every phase of its field activities, from jungle combat with Filipino insurrectos to the battlefields in France during the world war.

He removed the tag and, although unable to see, retained command by having an orderly guide him to his forward command post.

UVALDE, Aug. 20. (AP)—Grain sorghum yield in portions of Uvalde county is expected to be considerably curtailed by infestation of tiny worms that destroy the grain in the heads. Many farmers in the Knippa region report maize and hegira this year will harvest only two to five bushels an acre.
