133 Lives Feared Lost In Air Disaster

Craft Returns Shots Of Lunar Landscape

By JOHN WEYLAND

MOSCOW (AP)—Luna 9, the Soviet mechanical moon pioneer, has transmitted to earth pictures of the lunar landscape, Tass reported today.

An announcement distributed by the official Soviet news agency gave no indication when the picture would be made public. It would be the first ever transmitted directly from the moon's surface to earth. Earlier Soviet and American pictures were sent from spacecraft above the moon.

Luna 9 "has begun scanning the lunar landscape and transmitting it to the earth's surface," the announcement said.

The space vehicle landed Thursday in an area of the moon that will be in direct sunlight for almost two weeks. This would permit a number of pictures to be sent, if Luna 9 continues working properly and sunlight can power its batteries.

The announcement, made 20 hours after Luna 9's landing, said "transmission of the lunar landscape was carried out on command from earth."

Before this announcement, the Russians had been characteristically silent about information received from the mechanical pioneer sitting on the plain named the Ocean of Storms, though the British Radio Observatory at Jodrell Bank said Luna 9 had transmitted radio information and pictures.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said: "Radio contact with the station on the surface of the moon is reliable. Transmissions are on 183.538 megacycles. The instruments on board the station are functioning normally."

There was no official word on the size, shape, construction or weight of the spacecraft but it is thought to weigh more than 3,000 pounds.

Jodrell Bank said Luna 9 transmitted facsimile pictures from its landing at 9:45 p.m. Moscow time (1:45 p.m. EST) until 10:05, went off the air, and resumed signals shortly after midnight (9 p.m. EST). The British scientists had no means of unscrambling the signals.

Congratulations from heads of states around the world started to pour into Moscow as soon as the landing was announced.

"Your accomplishment is one that can benefit all mankind and all mankind applauds it," said President Johnson in a message to President Nikolai Podgorny.

Experts could not agree whether Luna 9's soft landing put the Soviet Union ahead of the United States in the space race generally or only in a particular phase. The United States expects to make its first try for a soft landing in May.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of the Jodrell Bank observatory, said the feat "puts the Russians ahead in the space race."

U.S. space officials at Cape Kennedy, Fla., praised the Soviet success and conceded it gave the Soviets a lead in this phase of the race to put a man on the moon.

US Hopes For Landing In May

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With the successful soft landing of Luna 9, the Russians apparently have proved that man can safely explore the moon. They also put added pressure on America's troubled Surveyor program, which hopes to make a similar landing in May.

Until Luna 9 settled gently onto the dry, relatively flat Ocean of Storms Thursday, scientists were divided on whether the moon's surface could support a landing.

Some felt the surface might be a thick layer of dust or a fragile honeycomb structure that would swallow a heavy spacecraft.

But Luna 9 touched down and established firm radio contact with Soviet ground stations, demonstrating that — no matter what the surface is made of — the Russians have designed a spaceship capable of surviving.

Any photographs and information which the spacecraft sends back will help in development of a manned lunar landing vehicle.

Space officials at Cape Kennedy praised the Soviet success and conceded it had given them a lead in this phase of the man-to-the-moon race.

But they said it did not necessarily mean the Russians had gained the over-all lead in the lunar sweepstakes. They noted the United States leads in many areas in its drive to land astronauts on the moon by 1970. Included are most manned space flight time, longest flights, medical data, space rendezvous and maneuverable spacecraft.

The Soviet Union holds a slight edge in rocket power, and the two nations are even in manned space walks.

Other goals must be achieved before men venture to the moon. A key one is the joining of two vehicles in space, which the United States hopes to do with the Gemini 8 flight in March.

Lass Sells Prize Steer

FORT WORTH (AP)—The Sid Richardson Foundation paid $6,300 today for the grand champion steer of the Southwestern Exposition.

A 1,090-pound Hereford named Tramp, shown by Dolores Lankford, 13, of Big Spring, brought that price.

The $6,300 was $300 above sale price of the 1965 grand champion, a 985 - pound shorthorn owned by Kansas State University. The stock show record is $7,000.

Dr. Pepper Bottling Co. paid $2,500 for the reserve grand champion, Mr. Woody II, a 1,035-pound Hereford owned by Kansas State.

Breed champion Charolais, Angus and Brahman brought identical $1,600 bids. The breed champion shorthorn sold for $2,500 to General Dynamics Corp.

More than 140 steers were being sold at the annual auction today.

Schools Plagued By Violence

CHICAGO (AP)—Plagued by student violence, Chicago public school authorities have cracked down with locker inspections, surprise searches and police patrols.

Most of the incidents involved Negroes.

There have been four student stabbings, three shootings and assaults on teachers at the schools in less than three weeks.

In two incidents Wednesday, a 9-year-old boy was stabbed at the Biedler elementary school on the West Side and a pupil, 17, at the Gage Park High School was slashed.

Police questioned four pupils after the knifing of Kenneth Krupowicz, 17, following a brawl at the school's entrance where 100 students gathered and began jeering.

A youth, 11, was being held by police in the stabbing of a 5th-grade classmate. The victim was treated for a knife wound in the abdomen.

Police called a meeting attended by 30 school principals and officials seeking measures to deal with those responsible for the attacks.

Some measures announced after the meeting included:

—Surprise searches of students and their lockers in schools. Such items as baseball bats, long nail files and needles will be forbidden.

Laredo Children Perish In Fire

LAREDO (AP) — Two children suffocated Thursday when their two-room house burned.

Their mother, Mrs. Samuel Romanos, had gone one block to purchase bread and returned to find the house afire.

A small boy told firemen that two children were in the house, and the rescuers found Rojelio Romanos, 2, and Maria Romanos, 6 months, on a bed. Efforts to revive them failed.

Two other children were at home at the time.

LIVES, MONEY

Solon Cites War's Cost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright told Foreign Aid Administrator David E. Bell today that the United States is paying "a very high cost per kill" in the Viet Nam war.

A dispute between Bell and the Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, enlivened the renewal of public hearings into President Johnson's Viet Nam policies.

Fulbright, spearheading an attack by Senate critics of policies underlying the Viet Nam fighting, said that we are beginning to know what the war means in lives and suffering for Americans and South Vietnamese alike.

"Do you know how many Viet Cong were killed last year?" Fulbright asked the witness.

Bell said he did not have exact figures, but he estimated it was nearer 30,000 than the 11,247 Fulbright said his committee staff estimated.

Fulbright stuck by his estimate, and said the administration contemplates spending $15.8 billion in military and economic assistance to South Viet Nam before this fiscal year ends.

With 11,247 Viet Cong killed, the chairman said, "it works out to a very high cost per kill."

Bell replied that Viet Cong deaths, in his recollection, were somewhere in the neighborhood of 37,306.

Fulbright said witnesses in the new hearings will appear by invitation only and the sessions will continue "as long as they are fruitful."

Slum Dwellers Moved To Astor

NEW YORK (AP) — Slum dwellers whose apartments are without heat in the subfreezing temperatures are being put up by the antipoverty program at the Astor, one of New York's best-known hotels, at reduced rates.

"I don't think this sort of thing has ever been done before," says Ann Roberts, executive director of the city's Economic Opportunity Committee.

And judging by the comments from the newest occupants of the Astor Hotel, a 62-year-old landmark in the heart of Broadway's theater district, Mrs. Roberts must be right.

"My room is so hot," says Nadine Bond, 27.

Less than a week ago, in the midst of a blizzard, she, her husband and their three small children were so cold in their Harlem flat that "we could see smoke coming out of our mouths."

With hundreds of others suffering the same fate because of landlords who fail to provide heat, the antipoverty people decided to act, and quickly.

"We just didn't send everyone who was cold to the Astor," points out Mrs. Roberts. "We do have limited funds."

Mobile units were dispatched to the city's most poverty-stricken areas to accept complaints. If the complaints were justified, teams of Civil Defense workers evacuated the families that were willing to leave. Some were afraid to go, fearful their apartments would be looted.

Most of the tenants were given temporary shelter in armories. But a lucky handful, about 50, ended up at the Astor, compliments of the Economic Opportunity Committee.

Sixteen of them were still there Thursday night, either looking for other apartments or waiting for heat in their old apartments.

"We've been glad to accommodate them. They've been no trouble at all," said Ed Styles, manager of the hotel that hosted theatrical greats in its more glamorous days.

The Astor, scheduled to close its doors at the end of the year, charged the committee only $3.75 per person in some rooms that normally go at $16 and up.

SWEETWATER, Tex. (AP)—The beaten body of a Texas and Pacific Railroad engineer was found early today in a motel room.

He was Russell Clarence Reed, 51, who resided in Sweetwater with his mother.

Officers said his wallet and car were missing but later found.

An autopsy at Abilene was ordered.

Justice of Peace C. F. Rose said he will hold an inquest.

Green Bay Blaze Claims Eight Lives

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Eight persons died today as an early morning fire destroyed the old three-story Astor Hotel in downtown Green Bay.

Thirty other guests escaped, several of them after being trapped for three hours in their rooms. Four of those escued were hospitalized for smoke inhalation.

Jet Down In Tokyo Bay

By EUGENE LEVIN

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese airliner with 133 persons crashed into Tokyo Bay Friday night in what could be the world's worst aviation disaster involving a single plane.

An airline spokesman, reporting the recovery of three bodies, said there was no sign of survivors.

All-Nippon Airways (ANA), operators of the three-engine Boeing 727, announced two rescue boats picked up the bodies and established that the plane had crashed into the bay.

Until then there had been hope the plane might have escaped disaster. It had been listed as missing for more than five hours.

All aboard the plane were Japanese.

Shortly after midnight, five hours after the big jet vanished, a Japanese lighthouse ship reported spotting an airplane seat, a body and a book of life-saving instructions. A Japanese defense forces patrol boat sent word it had recovered part of a jet airliner wing.

The debris was reported six to eight miles from Tokyo International Airport, which is on the edge of the bay just south of the main part of Tokyo.

Villagers on the shore and a pilot of another plane reported seeing "a pillar of fire" rising from the bay at about 7 p.m., just when the airport lost contact with the incoming plane.

The plane was on a 600-mile flight from Chitose, northern Japan, to Tokyo. Almost all the 126 passengers had attended the city's annual snow festival. Seven crew members also were aboard the plane.

Weather was good when the plane disappeared. An airline official said the pilot had reported a malfunction in his instruments and that he would make a visual landing. He was given clearance. Seconds later contact was broken with ground control.

The plane was 18 miles from the airport when it vanished from radar screens.

For 2½ hours, search planes and patrol boats criss-crossed the bay. Then, wind and rain swept over the bay, forcing the planes to land.

The worst previous crash involving a single plane brought death to 130 persons aboard an Air France Boeing 707 jetliner near Paris on June 3, 1962. In the second worst, 129 U.S. servicemen died in June 1953, in another crash near Tokyo.

Tokyo Bay is 50 miles long and about 24 miles at its widest. Tokyo, Yokohama, Kawasaki, Yokosuka and Chiba all are on the bay.

The Japanese jetliner was one of three purchased from the Boeing company in May 1964.

The Boeing 727 is a short to medium range jet transport with three turbofan engines — one one each side of the rear fuselage and a third above the fuselage at the base of the T-shaped tail. In commercial use since February 1964, the 727 has a maximum cruising speed of 596 miles an hour and a maximum range of 3,110 miles.

The Japanese airliner was the fourth Boeing 727 to crash in the past six months. The three other crashes occurred in the United States, taking 140 lives.

Reporting on a fiery crash of a 727 in Salt Lake City that killed 43 persons, the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board disclosed last month it recommended rerouting of fuel lines that extend through the fuselage of jet planes, particularly those that have engines mounted in the rear as does the 727.

The report said it was established with reasonable certainty that the fire at Salt Lake City resulted from the rupture of fuel lines when the right main landing gear collapsed on landing.

Downtown Plan Attracts Interest

Forty persons who attended a meeting Thursday night expressed interest in exploring the possibility of a downtown improvement project in Snyder.

The session, held in the Snyder Savings and Loan community room, was called by the downtown development subcommittee of the Chamber of Commerce Trade Promotion Committee.

Special guests were Leon Slaughter, executive vice president of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. Bill Orr, Littlefield dentist who was one of the leaders in promoting a similar project there which has been completed. They told the local group how the project there was carried out and appraised the results.

The apparent concensus of the local group was that Snyder needs some sort of project to improve the appearance and convenience of the downtown business area and that possibly a project here could be carried out more economically than that at Littlefield.

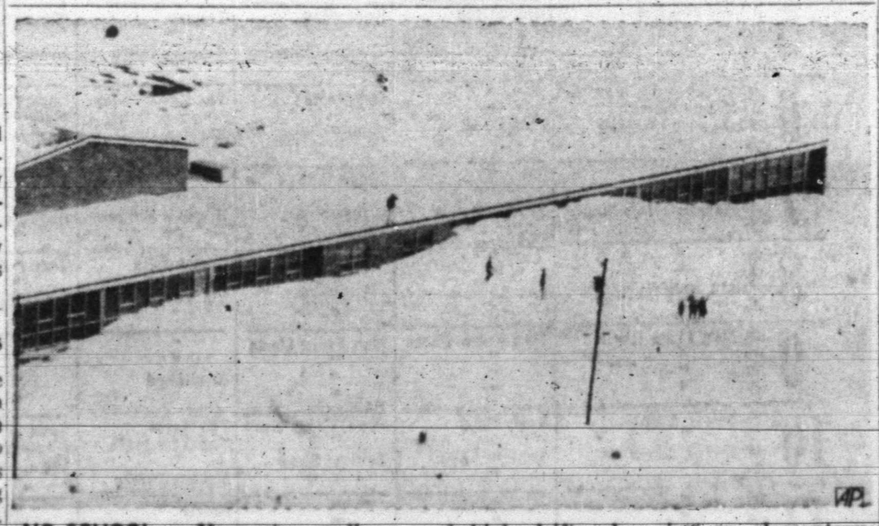

Jay Rogers, who presided at the meeting, distributed questionnaires at the conclusion of the session, and all who filled them out and returned them expressed interest in a formal survey of the situation here and in the event a project appears feasible widespread support was indicated.

All expressed a preference for a project financed by city, county, property owners and utiltiy firms on an assessment basis rather than by Federal aid through available community development funds.

Also, most of the group attending the session indicated a willingness to serve on committees to assist officials with the program.

The completed questionnaires, along with a formal report on the meeting, is due to be presented to the city council Monday night at its regular meeting.

Owners of property and merchants in the downtown area made up most of the group attending Thursday night's meeting.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: There are 365 days in the year, right? So will you please tell me why my sister had to pick the day of MY wedding anniversary for HER wedding date? Don't tell me she forgot, because she was my maid of honor and she knew perfectly well that that was my wedding date.

Now all of my future wedding anniversaries will have to be shared with her. That burns me up!

BURNED UP IN CLEVELAND

DEAR BURNED: Even though you are burned up, don't make an ash of yourself by voicing your disapproval.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: About four years ago my sister-in-law gave us an old beat-up baby bed that she'd had in her basement for ten years. My husband sanded it down, painted it and fixed it up like new, and we used it until our baby was four years old. Then we traded it along with a lot of other odds and ends on a new set of bedroom furniture for the child's room. My sister-in-law heard about it and demanded that we get the baby bed back for her. (She had no use for it, she just wanted to start trouble.) Of course, by then it was too late. Well, she has a very big mouth, so she spread it all over the family and different ones took sides, and now there are lots of hard feelings. I admit I should have asked her before getting rid of it, but honestly, Abby, I had no idea she wanted it back. How can I patch up this mess?

FAMILY ROW

DEAR FAMILY: Ask her how much she thinks the bed was worth, and insist that she take the cash. Even if it's expensive, it will shut her big mouth, and that's worth something.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: One of my best friends has a heart as big as this world. She knows what it is like to be forsaken, so she has been attempting to provide a home for forsaken animals. How can I tell her tactfully that she cannot keep a house full of cats? Abby, the odor is indescribable. She works, the house is closed all day, the smell comes through the walls. The odor clings to her clothing. Whew! I am afraid she will lose her job. These cats have not been "doctored" and they are producing more cats, which in turn produce still more cats; cats which have never seen the outdoors! Her kindness to these poor creatures is misplaced. Her nose must be numb. What can be done?

HER FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Both the Department of Public Health and the Humane Society should be called to investigate the living quarters of your friend. And a mental examination is very much in order for her. She has a "good" heart, but I fear the trouble is in her head, poor soul.

Mets Are A Novelty Team

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Donald Grant, chairman of the board of the New York Mets, testified Thursday that Milwaukee became a poor baseball town when the novelty wore off.

"Is your team a novelty in New York?" asked Willard Stafford, Wisconsin state counsel in cross-examination.

"It sure as hell is," replied Grant.

On that tone, the New York phase of the pretrial maneuvering in Wisconsin's antitrust suit against the Braves and the National League ended.

They were to resume taking of depositions in Chicago today, with Roy Hofheinz of the Houston Astros next in line.

Grant said he considered baseball dead in Milwaukee at present but later in the testimony said he would view future expansion in 1967, or later, with an open mind.

"They were only interested in the game when it was new and while it (the club) was on the top," Grant said under direct examination by Bowie Kuhn, special counsel for baseball.

"In 1964 they made a Herculean effort to sell baseball but the figure reached only $10,00,-0," Grant said. "It was the straw that broke the camel's back."

Grant said the pros and cons of Milwaukee's situation had been discussed unofficially in league circles as early as late 1963 but the projected move to Atlanta was not brought up officially until August 1964.

Wisconsin is trying to halt the move of the Braves to Atlanta unless the National League expands and puts another team in Milwaukee.

Grant said it was his personal opinion that 'the performance of the people (state of Wisconsin) including litigation can't help but hurt the chances of getting a franchise by forcing it down the throat of baseball."

The trial is supposed to open Feb. 28 at Milwaukee after more depositions are taken in Chicago and Milwaukee.

Wichita In Valley Lead

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

"As far as I'm concerned, I'll keep saying we're going to win it until we're mathematically eliminated."

That's what Gary Thompson, coach of the Wichita Wheatshockers, said before the college basketball season opened last Dec. 1.

Hardly anyone took him seriously, yet today Wichita is perched in first place in the tough Missouri Valley Conference. The Shockers gained the top rung by defeating Drake 96-91 before 11,010 at Wichita, Kan., Thursday night.

Wichita won the MVC title last season despite the loss of All-America Dave Stallworth by graduation at midyear. Bradley was the preseason favorite to win the MVC this season, but Thompson refused to concede.

Jamie Thompson, Melvin Reed and Kelly Pete, three returnees from last year's club, and sophomore Warren Armstrong sparked Wichita over Drake for the Shockers' 10th victory in 15 games including a 4-2 MVC mark.

Thompson scored 26 points, Reed 20, Pete 19 and Armstrong 15 as well as grabbing 13 rebounds. Their fast break and full-court press put the Shockers ahead to stay after the first five minutes. Harold Jeter's 24 points led the Bulldogs who played without 6-foot-8 Bob Netolicky recently declared ineligible.

The game was the feature of a slim Thursday program which saw none of the Top Ten teams in The Associated Press poll in action.

Home-court victories were registered by North Carolina over Wake Forest 115-87, Clemson over Furman 107-72, Virginia over Virginia Tech 79-65, Georgetown, D.C. over George Washington 103-74, San Jose over Santa Clara 74-69 and Morehead over Marshall 94-79.

Rift Looms Over Import Controls

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A recent loosening of the choke on imports of residual oil has stirred New England congressmen to renew their fight for complete removal of import controls on this heavy oil.

They promptly ran into opposition from Chairman Russell Long, D-La., of the Senate Finance Committee. In Senate debate he likened the import quotas to the tariffs that protect manufacturers from foreign-made goods produced with low-cost labor.

On the House side, Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., described the 35 million barrel increase in the residual import quota as mere temporary relief that does not meet New England's problem.

"My fight was not for a relaxation of these unsupportable restrictions," he said.

"I appreciate the view of those in New England who would like to buy cheap and sell high, protected by the tariffs which this nation has historically had," Long declared.

"The senator from Louisiana, as a member of the Committee on Finance, has helped those in New England to maintain the tariffs they have needed for their industries.

"Residual fuel oil is not the prime interest of those who produce oil; it is more the concern of those who produce coal.

"Nevertheless, this nation needs to be self sufficient for its own fuel requirements, particularly in times of emergency.

"I urge those who oppose a program to preserve the domestic fuel industry to look homeward and check with their own manufacturers, to determine the extent to which their products are protected by tariff."

Heart 'Plumbing' Newest Advance

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Surgeons are leaping ahead with bold and brilliant new "plumbing" inside the human heart.

It is plumbing in the sense of putting in new "pipes" to feed blood into disabled hearts, or in cleaning out rusted natural pipes.

And it has come along so well a California heart specialist said today, that now it could be possible to bring relief to perhaps half of the millions of people suffering from crippled hearts.

Further, said one pioneering surgeon from Canada, new techniques should soon make it possible to predict blood flow to any part of the faltering heart.

New or improved surgical techniques were described to the American College of Cardiologists, with initial results called encouraging.

The need for the plumbing is simple.

The heart is a muscular pump whose walls get nourishing blood through four coronary arteries and their many branches.

When these become clogged with fatty "rust," heart attacks or painful or crippling attacks of angina ensue. Tissues once fed through a natural pipeline may die.

The surgical solution is sometimes to clean out the rusted pipes or — more and more — to put in some new piping, in ingenious ways.

Now it is possible to pinpoint the locations of blocked arteries, and then to choose what kind of plumbing will help the individual patients so that half might benefit, said Dr. James A. McEachen and associates from Saint John's Hospital, Santa Monica, Calif.

Dr. Arthur Vineberg of Royal Victoria Hospital in Canada said a goal, now in sight, is capability to redirect the blood flow by combined methods so that any or all blocked arteries are in effect bypassed.

Sixteen years ago, he developed a technique of cutting an artery in the chest — the left internal mammary artery — and inserting its freed end into tunnels created inside the heart muscle. The muscle then quickly develops small blood channels to distribute this extra blood.

Results have been improved by also removing some of the heart's lining, and covering part of the heart with a remarkable tissue from the abdomen — the omentum — which acts to bring more blood to the heart tissue, said Dr. Vineberg.

Now he also is trying to use the right mammary artery to reach the right side of the heart for 100 per cent coverage.

YVONNE DONON OF PARIS cooks Veau aux Carottes — a delightful combination of braised veal, lean bacon, sliced carrots and whole onions plus seasonings.

'Tidbits From Abroad' —Veau aux Carrottes

PARIS (AP) — Frenchmen demand — and usually get — gold star cooking performances in the kitchen. This and high prices explain why the French lay out a record 45 per cent of their income for eating — compared to 19 percent for Americans. But the reward is in such palate soothers as Yvonne Donon's Veau aux Carottes (Veal with Carrots) passed down from her great - grandmother, who lived in the gastronomically wealthy province of Burgundy.

VEAU AUX CAROTTES
(Veal with Carrots)

4 to 6 tablespoons butter
1½ pounds boneless veal (shoulder or leg) in one piece
4 slices (8 ounces) lean bacon
1 pound carrots, sliced
4 medium - size onions, peeled and left whole
Salt and pepper to taste
1 teaspoon sugar
1 sprig thyme and pinches of basil
2-3 cup boiling water

Melt 4 tablespoons of the butter in a stew pot. Pop in the piece of veal and brown lightly; remove and lay aside. Brown the bacon lightly in the stew pot; remove and lay aside. Add the carrots and onions to the pot; turn to coat with the butter; remove and lay aside.

If the pot is nearly dry, add 2 tablespoons butter. Then place the veal in the middle of the pot with the bacon on top. Place the carrots and onions around the meat. Add salt, pepper, sugar, thyme, basil and boiling water. Cover tightly and simmer until veal is tender — about 1½ hours. If the cover is not tight, peek into the pot after 30 minutes and, if getting dry, add more boiling water. When done, there should be only a very small amount of sauce. (If bacon is not lean, skim off fat from sauce.) If the veal resists slicing, the only way out is to cook for another 15 or 30 minutes. The dish may be prepared a day in advance and refrigerated. Then it should be gently — very gently — reheated for 30 to 40 minutes, and its flavor will be even better than when first made. Serves four.

Perceptive Essays On Our Heroes

THE PROMISE OF AMERICA. By John Morton Blum.

Historian Blum has become, for the purpose of these half dozen essays, a perceptive interpreter of American hopes, aspirations and goals.

As he tells you plainly in his foreword, his observations are offered to everyone outside the professional historian's world, and constitute a special reading of American history.

He begins with the young nation's public heroes — mortal men, but the closest approximation to folk heroes that a young country can muster. From Washington and the other founding fathers to Lincoln, he measures them for their effect on the direction that America was to take.

Next he examines the stresses of industrialization and the rising predominance of what he calls the "consolidators" — predatory men who built trusts and pyramids- and the development of a business elite. That leads him to an inspection of the large, amorphous middle class, sprawling between "the alienated poor and the imperceptive rich.'

Finally he considers the policy makers, with particular emphasis on the first Roosevelt's Square Deal and the second Roosevelt's New Deal.

Blum counts himself proud to be a middle-class American, and pyrimids—and the developives, but he is impatient with some aspects of the national achievement.

Here is an interesting study for the lay reader, and a fruitful background source for a better understanding of present-day problems.

As a public service, the Schuylerville, N.Y., Lions Club assigned eight goats to keep down the weeds in the Revolutionary Cemetery in the village near Saratoga Springs. The club reported that the goats did a fine job all last summer as a substitute for unavailable man and machine power in improving the grounds.

Peach-Cheese Tarts

1 package (containing 1 envelope cheese cake filling and 1 envelope graham crackers) no-bake cheese cake
¾ cup unsifted flour
1-3 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
3 tablespoons cold water
1 egg yolk
1½ cups cold milk
1 cup commercial sour cream
⅛ teaspoon almond extract
1 cup diced cling peaches

Stir together graham cracker crumbs (from envelope), flour, sugar and salt. Cut in butter so it is in fine particles. Thoroughly mix in cold water and egg yolk. Refrigerate 1 hour. On well floured board, roll pastry ⅛-inch thick. Cut into twelve 4½ inch rounds. Fit into 3½ inch tart pans. Prick sides and bottom. Bake in hot (425 degrees) oven about 15 to 20 minutes; cool. In a small mixing bowl, combine cold milk, sour cream, and almond extract. Add cheese cake filling (from envelope); beat at low speed with electric mixer until blended. Beat at medium speed 3 minutes longer. Fold in diced peaches. Pour into tart shells. Chill at least 1 hour before serving.

To vary Eggs Benedict — that combination of toasted English muffins, ham, poached eggs and Hollandaise sauce — add broiled tomato halves.

Look at the figures on the millions of dollars worth of power sanders sold every year and you would be convinced that nobody sands by hand anymore. That is, until you look at the figures on the million dollars worth of ordinary hand sandpaper sold every year.

A flawless surface is the basis of a truly fine finish on wood. When using a clear finishing material — varnish, lacquer, shellac, synthetic or whatever — the finest product in the world and the most efficient techniques will not hide a surface that has been improperly prepared. In some cases, the tiniest of scratches will assume gigantic proportions after a clear finish has been applied.

Power sanders are indispensable for anyone who works a lot with wood, especially for the initial sanding. It saves time. It saves labor. And it accomplishes results that the novice could not have hoped for many years ago. But when it comes to that super-fine finish just before the first coat is put on, most master cabinetmakers — and apparently most amateurs —still rely on sanding by hand. A very fine grade of sandpaper also is preferred by the handsanders for the necessary smoothing between coats. (You can get Andy Lang's helpful booklet, "Wood Finishing in the Home," by sending 25 cents and a long, stamped, self - addressed envelop to Know-How, P. O. Box 954, Jamaica, N.Y. 11431.)

While there are many varieties of abrasive papers available, the principle is always the same: the finer the girt, the less of the wood surface is taken off. And this is what you want in that final sanding and for those between - coats. Only a very light pressure is used in the direction of the grain.

It is one of the curious things about sanding that most persons when they first begin this important step in wood finishing, find it difficult to sand in a straight line. This is especially true after the first few minutes of sanding, when it begins to get a little monotonous and the process becomes rather mechanical. Teachers in woodworking in high schools say they constantly have to remind their students to sand in a straight line, since the hand and arm have a fendency to wander off course.

QUESTION: Whenever I have any leftover paint, I pour it into one of those screwtop jars because it's always so difficult to get the cover back on the paint can properly.

No matter how tightly I turn the jar cover, the paint always has a skin on the top of it the next time I want to use it. What causes this and what can I do about IT?

ANSWER: It is air which causes paint to skim over; therefore, air is getting under the jar cover. Get a piece of wax paper large enought to cover the top of the jar and extend down two or three inches. Screw on the jar top directly over the paper. This should seal out the air.

QUESTION: I soon will be painting our dining room I'd like to use flat paint for the walls and also for the woodwork, but I have been told that I must use enamel on the woodwork. Is this so?

ANSWER: There is no reason why you can't use the flat paint for the woodwork as well as the walls. The same kind of paint often is used for both, especially if there is a desire to make the woodwork less conspicuous.

Enamel generally is recommended for woodwork because it can be washed repeatedly without losing its bright color. But in some decorative schemes, the gloss is not considered desirable, in which case either a contrasting flat paint or one the same color as that on the walls is applied.

Incidentally, if you use the same paint, the job will be easier, since you won't have to be so careful at the points where the woodwork and walls meet.

President Gingerly Submits Share The Wealth Proposal

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson gingerly plumped on the doorstep of Congress a monumental share the wealth plan that outshines even his own "Great Society" vision — and quitely tiptoed away.

So vast is the 210-page proposal to reshape the American economy that Johnson reportedly shied like a Texas stallion from linking himself with it at a time he seeks $13 billion to press the war in Viet Nam.

"I think the White House was quite alarmed," said Joseph A. Beirne, a member of a little-noted presidential commission that dropped the blockbuster report in Johnson's lap.

Just one of some 75 major proposals in the report — a guaranteed minimum annual income for every American family—would cost up to $20 billion a year alone.

Beirne, president of the AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America, is one of five members of the 14-member commission which says the nation should put the same urgent priority on a massive social and economic revolution that it does on fighting Communists in Viet Nam.

The United States can afford both, he said.

Beirne, miffed at the way the White House suddenly issued the report without a word of endorsement, said he believed Johnson — or his advisers — feared it would give further ammunition to Republican efforts to cut back "Great Society" programs because of the war.

Although the White House didn't send a single copy of the report to key members of Congress — a usual courtesy — early reaction confirmed this fear.

"I think the Congress will take a close look before they expand any 'Great Society' programs," said Rep. William H. Ayres of Ohio, top Republican on the House Labor Committee which will consider the huge economic proposal.

"Frankly, I think we should be spending more time worrying about our boys in Viet Nam," said Ayres.

But Rep. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., cautiously endorsed the guaranteed minimum income idea.

Not even Perkins, No. 2 Democrat on the Labor Committee, or Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., got a copy of the huge economic report.

Nor, in issuing the report of the National Commission on Technology, Automation and Economic Progress, was there any of the usual White House fanfare accompanying a major document — no picture posing of the President with the commission, no television cameras — and little explanation.

"They just handed us this massive report and then asked if we had any questions," blinked one bemused veteran White House reporter.

Beirne said he thought the White House was "alarmed" both by the vast scope of the report in charting a 10-year economic plan, and by the unanimous recommendations of the labor, big business, civil rights and university representatives on the blue-ribbon panel.

The commission's recommendations on how the nation can "invent the future" are too numerous to list in full, but a few are:

Two years of free college education for every youngster, a national council to "monitor" American economic and social goals, a federal computer system to match men and jobs in the nation's rapidly changing labor market, completely federalizing the present federal-state employment service, and massive federal aid to fight air and water pollution, improve transportation and housing.

"There is enough in this program for 10 years of work if the nation will tackle it," said Beirne, but "they're all tough political decisions."

Junior Editors Quiz on CATS

QUESTION: Why do animals of the cat family have padded feet?

• • •

ANSWER: All cats, big and little, are either hunters or had hunting ancestors. Cat family ancestors developed a special hunting technique of their own. Instead of running their prey down in the open, they preferred to sneak up on them, this being especially practical at night and in wooded places. In this way, the hunted animal would not realize he was under attack. When the time was right, the cat sprung and it was all over very quickly. The cat body developed to help cats practice this plan of campaign. The body became low to the ground, so the animal could creep without being seen; the hind legs became very powerful, to make the final leap possible. Padded feet were most important additions. With them, the cat could creep over the ground without making any sound. Also, because of the remarkable mechanism inside the cat's paws, the sharp claws could keep their razor-like edge, since they did not touch the ground but remained inside while the cat moved along. But a movable bone holding the claw allowed this weapon to be instantly extended (upper right). Our illustration shows another, unusual use for padded feet. The lynx has especially large padded feet, and these serve as snowshoes during the cold winter nights in the north when he hunts. His feet enable him to stay on the surface and pounce on some animal who may be floundering in deep snow.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Put on a pair of soft slippers and see if you can creep around your room without making a sound. That's much how a cat walks. 2-4

Boyle Leaps To Varied Conclusions

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

America, which leads the world in so many fields, has produced few native-born master pickpockets. As a people, we lack the patience and pride in grace to rise to the top in this profession. It takes more skill to be a successful pickpocket than a successful halfback.

Nine out of 10 persons, asked to name our most valuable farm crop, would name wheat. It's corn.

More men tell the truth about themselves to their lawyers than to their ministers. They feel that if they can just solve the problem of staying out of jail now they can worry later about how to get into heaven.

The surest way to fame on earth is to coin a new cliche.

Hangnails seem to be an affliction among young folks. I never met a man or woman over 60 who complained about them.

A boy today may know more for his age than his grandfather did, but he certainly doesn't play as good a game of marbles.

At a Manhattan cocktail party there are always more guests who can explain our foreign policy than can tell exactly how many faucets there are on an ordinary milk cow.

There must be some kind of hidden symbolism in the fact that in this age of conformity the poodle has become America's most popular purebred dog. The bulldog is pretty far down on the list, well below the tiny Chihuahua.

Almost all midgets dislike children — except their own. It's hard for them to put up with the pity of grownups, even harder to endure the unthinking laughter of someone their own size.

The biggest change in medicine is the emphasis on color rather than taste. A generation or so ago the worse a medicine tasted the better it was. Now a doctor who prescribes medicine that comes in a white capsule is likely to lose patronage. The customers feel capsules have to have two or three colors to do any real good. And the more dramatic the colors, the quicker the cure.

Tourists always get a romantic thrill out of buying a bag of roasted chestnuts from a street vendor here. Reality intervenes when they munch the first chestnut. Then they throw the bag away — and rarely buy another.

Half the woes of our civilization might be avoided if everybody would just get one hour more of sleep regularly, walk three miles outdoors daily — and stay at home on Saturday night.

Americanism

Liberty, as proclaimed by law and constitutions, can never have full meaning without the added ingredients of Fraternity and Brotherhood; without the spirit of friendliness and unselfishness ... love for one's fellows. Those powerful qualifying attributes help spell out what Americanism is.

When one sees a family unit, parents and children, with Bibles in hand, attending church to worship as they please ... then one is witnessing Liberty in its finest and most fullsome forms, for that, too, is American. Freedom of religious worship is equally important, along with economic freedom and freedom from oppression, in America. Then worship God as you please but be sure to worship ... that is Americanism.

To Seek Senate Seat

HOUSTON (AP) — State Rep. Henry C. Grover, who has been elected three times to the legislature as a Democrat, says he will file Friday as a candidate for the Republican nomination for state senator.

Grover formally resigned from the Democratic party Thursday and announced as a Republican candidate for the state senate from his home district, No. 15, in Southwest Harris County.

Republican Glenn Purcell withdrew his candidacy for the same position and said he would support Grover.

Grover said he had been considering switching to the Republican party since mid-way of the last legislative session.

He said "deals were made by which conservative Democrats were forced to go along with the leadership to placate some of the labor bosses even though the legislators neither liked nor believed in these things."

Coast Feels New Tremor

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—A third earth tremor within as many weeks shook this Southeast Texas area Thursday.

No major damage was reported—one house sustained a cracked ceiling—but the latest tremor caused a deluge of telephone calls to news media and police agencies and set off wide speculation.

Thursdays tremor came about 4:20 p.m. (CST) after a stronger earth-shaker was reported Wednesday from Lake Charles, La., to Galveston about 5 p.m.

Beaumont residents reported a tremor, frightening but undamaging, Jan. 15.

At Southern Methodist University in Dallas, James Taggart said the seismograph recorded a disturbance and that in all probability it was an earthquake.

Taggart said reports from other seismic stations were being compared and analyzed so that approximate location of the epicenter could be ascertained and a more certain conclusion drawn.

By Hit-Run Motorist Dallas Man Killed

HUGO, Okla. (AP) — John Marvin Bryant, 45, of Dallas, Tex., was struck and killed by a hit-and-run motorist on a Red River bridge south of Hugo Thursday night.

Bryant was struck and killed, the Oklahoma Highway Patrol reported, as he talked with two other drivers who had been involved in a minor three-car accident.

A Paris, Tex., man was later arrested and jailed; officers said. No charges have been filed.

The three-car-accident occurred when Bryant's automobile stalled on a bridge and a motorist stopped to assist him. A third car struck the two halted vehicles.

Lt. Howe To Remain In Stockade

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Lt. Henry Howe Jr., 22, must remain in the Fort Bliss stockade, U. S. Dist. Judge E. W. Suttle said Thursday as he denied a writ of habeas corpus.

Howe was convicted of conduct unbecoming an officer and of making contemptuous remarks about President Lyndon in an anti-Viet Nam demonstration.

In denying the application, Judge Suttle said there was no violation of Howe's civil liberties as alleged by Melvin T. Wulf, legal director of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Judge Suttle also said Maj. Gen. George T. Powers III, commanding general at Fort Bliss, acted within his "discriminatory authority" in holding Howe at the Fort Bliss stockade since his conviction. He also denied a request that Howe be kept at Fort Bliss pending the outcome of his appeal and not sent to Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

The court-martial set Howe's sentence at two years at hard labor, forfeiture of all pay and ordered him dismissed from the service. The sentence was recently reduced to one year by General Powers.

Travis 8th, Lamar 9th Win Cage Tilts

Two exciting, hotly - contested basketball games in the Tiger gym Thursday night went down to the wire before Travis 8th won, 34-25, over Lamar 8th, and Travis 9th took a 43-41 decision over Lamar 9th. The final outcome was in doubt until the fourth quarter in both tilts.

Wesley Bishop, displaying great outside shooting, led Travis 8th grade to victory. Whenever Lamar threatened to pull even, as it did several times, Bishop would shoot a quick one in from about 25 feet. He collected 21 points for high honors.

Lamar had to try to get the ball in the fourth quarter, and Travis was able to pull away. Lee McNair led Lamar shooters with 12 points.

Travis dominated the boards with better overall height.

Lamar's 9th took an early lead over Travis, and the two teams fought on even terms during the second and third quarters with Mitch Rambin and Steve Holder standing out for Lamar and Ken Schested and Benny Ward for Travis. Jerry January also turned in some timely points for Lamar as did Danny Brinner for Travis. Both squads had good team efforts.

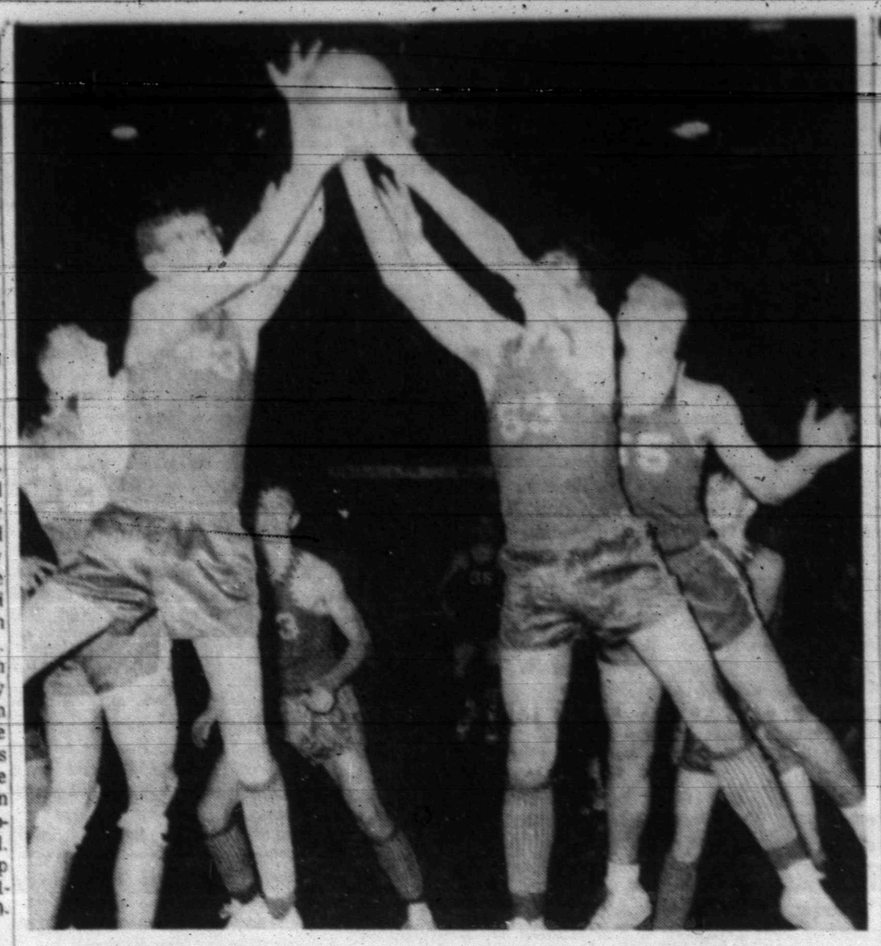

It was not until the fourth quarter that Travis finally caught Lamar, at 38-all. Ken Schested dropped in two free throws to tie it with 3 minutes remaining. But January drove in for a fast one and Rambin connected again as Lamar grabbed the slight edge it needed.

TRAVIS 8TH (34) — Bishop 8-5-21; Glasscock 1-0-2; Light 1-2-4; Patrick 2-3-7; totals 12-10-34.

LAMAR 8th (25) — McNair 3-6-12; Boydstun 1-1-3; Ator 1-0-2; R. Levens 1-6-8; totals 6-13-35.

TRAVIS 9th (44) — Schested 7-5-19; Lee 1-0-2; Ward 5-1-11; Brinner 5-0-10; Garcia 1-0-2; totals 19-6-44.

LAMAR 9th (48) — Rambin 6-0-12; January 4-1-9; Holder 8-2-18; Williamson 1-3-5; Herod 2-0-4; totals 21-6-48.

PURSUE BALL — These lads all jumped for the ball following a rebound during the fast and exciting 9th grade basketball game here Thursday night. Jumping for Lamar are Mitch Rambin (No. 53), Jerry January (No. 43) and Steve Holder (No. 23 in background). Contesting for Travis are Ken Schested (No. 55) and Randy Rushing (No. 25). Tigers, 'Cats On Even Terms

At long last, the Tigers of Snyder High School get what they've been waiting for: an opponent with whom they can compete on even terms.

Tipoff in the Snyder - Littlefield tussle will be at 8 p.m., following a clash between the "B" teams of both schools at 6:15 p.m.

Coach Ned Underwood's Bengals defeated the Wildcats in their first round meeting and normally would be favored to repeat. However, Littlefield has shown great improvement of late and may actually reverse the tables on the Bengals.

The 'Cats went four overtime periods before finally losing to Levelland by one point. And only last week Littlefield gave Lamesa a battle right down to the wire before losing by only about seven points.

Starters for the 'Cats are Steve Lewis, Kevin Hutson Phillip Pace, Wilmer William and Gary Bradley. Subs include Randy Hutson, Fred Koontz and Buster Smith. Speed is the main ingredient in the Littlefield attack. They're kind of a hot and cold Club, and they've been hot lately.

Snyder will counter with the usual alignment, including Tom Bullard and Bill Blum at guard, Eldon Woodward and Langston Powell at forward and Ronnie Laster at center. These are the regulars. However, M. C. Powell, a lithe 6-0 junior who outjumped Levelland's 6-9 Clay Krueger last Tuesday night, will be in for the tipoff.

Coach Bill Hartsfield received bad news this week when it was learned Benny Garrett suffered a fractured thumb during practice. Gus Tovar will fill in for him. Other starters for the "B" boys include O. L. Cooper, Craig Bell, Frankie Grimmett and Drake Snyder.

9th Grade Teams Clash At Travis

The 9th grade basketball tournament was scheduled to open today on the Travis court with both Snyder Junior High School teams slated to see action.

The host Travis quintet was to meet Goliad of Big Spring at 3:30 p.m. today in the first game. Lamar was to take on Aspermont at 6:30 p.m. Other first round contests pitted Runnels of Big Spring against Colorado City at 5 p.m. and Post against Lamesa at 8 p.m.

The tourney will conclude Saturday with a full round of games on tap. Consolation semifinals tilts are set for 8:30 a.m. and 10 a.m. with championship semifinals clashes at 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The Consolation finals will be held at 4:30 p.m. Saturday with a battle for third place set at 6 p.m. The two surviving quintets collide at 7:30 p.m. for the championship.

Trophies will be awarded to the top teams, and individual awards given to each of the 10 boys named to the All - Tournament team.

COUGAR CASH GRID PAYMENTS NOT MADE

HOUSTON (AP) — The president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association says no mention of cash payments to athletes was in testimony that led to the University of Houston's football probation.

The Houston Post quoted Everett Barnes, also athletic director at Colgate University, as saying.

"We have gone through the testimony of the Houston case and we found that there were payments and they were excessive but there were no references made to the word cash."

Barnes said Thursday night he had talked by telephone to Dr. Philip Hoffman, president of the University, and that "Dr. Hoffman was upset by the reference to cash. The testimony does refer to illegal payments and excessive payments."

Barnes was asked what other kind of payments were technically correct, if not cash.

"Payments of items of value," the Post quoted him as saying. "When we say illegal we mean as far as our (NCAA) rules and regulations are concerned. It isn't the same as the word illegal in court."

The Post earlier had quoted Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, as saying "affirmative" in answer to the question: "Did the violation (charged against Houston) involve illicit cash payments?"

The Post was unable to reach Byers Thursday night but did contact Wiles Hallock, publicity director for the NCAA.

Hallock was quoted by the Post as saying:

"We feel as far as the misunderstanding is concerned, it's a matter of semantics. The NCAA is definitely not harboring any charges against the University of Houston that they would not be aware of. I believe you can say that Walter is sorry if there has been a misunderstanding about the violations brought against Houston, as a result of any misinterpretation of his use of the phrase 'illegal payments.'"

"I can see," Hallock was quoted as saying, "where someone might conclude from this that cash payments were involved. But he was speaking in general terms."

The NCAA placed the University of Houston on three-years probation last month. The probation prohibits the football team from appearing in post season games or on television during that period.

Dr. Hoffman also issued a statement Thursday in which he said "absolutely no evidence that any such payments have been made was presented at the exhaustive NCAA Council hearing in which other University representatives and I participated on Jan. 8, 1966 in Washington, D.C."

Dr. Hoffman said he had talked with Barnes and that Barnes 'stated emphatically there were neither any such charges or any such evidence."

Golf Greats Still Lag

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Led by Harold Kneece, a personable young man with the nickname of Catfish, the unheralded professionals of golf continued to dominate the $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic as play resumed today.

But the 31-year-old Kneece, from Aiken, S.C., and his friends in the front ranks could remember one important point.

There are still 54 holes to be played in this five-day, 90-hole tournament. And such fellows as Arnold Palmer, Bill Casper Jr., and Ken Venturi could make up a lot of ground in the three remaining rounds.

Kneece, whose nickname stems from his boyhood, when he loved to fish, leads the field by four strokes with successive rounds of 68 for 136.

Tied up at 140 as the third round began were Jack McGowan, with 66-74; R. H. Sikes, 70-70 and Jack Rule, 72-68.

Palmer, with 71-70, was tied at 141 with six other players but his morale may suffer without a distinguished supporter.

That would be former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who took personal command of Arnie and his Army Thursday at the Eldorado Country Club.

The Eisenhowers are wintering at their home overlooking the golf course and Ike followed Palmer for nine holes.

The general, in one of his first appearances in public since his recent heart attack, looked thin but healthy. He wore brown slacks and matching sports jacket and a saucy straw hat, with a feather tacked in the ribbon.

Ike walked all but one of the nine holes — the long, par-5, No. 13 when he climbed into his golf cart — and frequently conversed with Palmer, apparently about Classic strategy.

The general and Palmer had the situation under control for the nine holes they toured together, leaving Palmer two under par. But when Ike left, Palmer was forced to make a truce with par on the other nine.

Casper, the 1965 Hope winner, slipped to a 75 and was tied at 142 with among others, Al Geiberger and Doug Sanders.

Lamar 7th Teams Win

Both Lamar 7th grade teams won handily over Travis Tuesday afternoon with the Red taking the measure of the White 37-23 and the Gray blasting the Blue, 70-36.

The Red held only a 4 point lead going into the final quarter, but then cut loose with a 12-point barrage while holding the White to only one free throw to win going away.

Jeff Stewart was high point man for the Red with 12 points, and Glenn Rambin connected for 10. None of the White boys finished in twin figures.

It was all Gray in the other tilt as they received double - column scoring performances from four boys: Gary Gallman (19), Bill Branson (12), Bill Wilson (10), and Bid Cooper (10).

Matta made a valiant effort for the Blue, dunking 8 field goals and 3 at the gratis line for 19 points.
