Administration May Seek To Bolster Price Level

Hockley County Well

SHOWN above is the Richardson Slaughter well in Southwestern Hockley county about 14 miles southwest of Levelland making a natural head of oil at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The heads lasted from 7 to 10 minutes. Depth was 4,944 feet. The well is 200 yards west of Sundown and a two and a quarter miles extension north of the discovery well in the Slaughter pool. Oilmen here Tuesday night said they expected the well to be one of the best in the field.

FDR Indicates Prices Are Too Low At Present

They Should Go Up But Not Too Much, He Tells Reporters; Report Being Prepared

By IRVING PERLMETER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The administration may take steps to stop the decline of commodity prices, President Roosevelt indicated today.

He told reporters that the prices are too low, and should go up—but not too much.

Report Is Prepared

A report on the price situation by a group of federal statisticians, who began conferences oday at the treasury, is expected to be on Mr. Roosevelt's desk by Thursday.

Latest figures of the labor statistics bureau show that wholesale commodity prices are only about 80 per cent of the 1936 level, which Roosevelt has described as a normal level. A year ago the index was 85.4.

Retail Trade Doesn't Suffer

The immediate concern of federal economists recently has been the continued tendency of prices to fall although the decline in industrial production seems to have stopped, at least temporarily, and retail trade has not suffered, comparatively speaking.

While prices fall, retailers and wholesalers tend to withhold purchases of new stocks, waiting for more advantageous prices at the bottom of the decline. Officials say that as long as orders are curtailed, industry cuts its output, reducing employment and weakening the ability of the public to buy.

Action Is Inflationary

Some officials indicated yesterday's action of the treasury in partially abandoning its gold sterilization program was intended to bolster commodity prices. They said that, at least psychologically, the action was inflationary and might strengthen prices.

The conferees at today's treasury meeting declined to disclose the trend of their discussions, but it was learned they were concerned more about individual prices than averages.

Britain To Add To Defenses

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Great Britain tonight ended the first year of a $7,500,000,000 five-year "non-profiteering" rearmament program and planned a heavy increase in defense expenditures in the second year.

During the 1937-38 fiscal year, the nation has spent $1,348,695,000.

Sir Thomas Inskip, minister for coordination of defense, said the 1938-39 figure would be between $1,625,000,000 and $1,750,000,000.

To Construct Battleships

A large slice of the increase was expected to be for battleship construction following Japan's formal refusal last week to disclose her battleship and cruiser building plans.

Britain's concern over her far eastern defenses was reflected in maneuvers staged Feb. 2-5 at Signapore.

Twenty-seven warships, 10 planes and 10,000 troops joined in the maneuvers, which were followed yesterday by the opening of Singapore's great naval dock.

British anxiety over home security was evidenced by the move to obtain defense cooperation from Ireland through the talks started Jan. 17 by Prime Minister Eamon de Valera and Neville Chamberlain.

Miners Declare They Without Party Ties

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (AP)—The United Mine Workers declared their political independence today.

Although the union has been closely allied with the Democrats since 1933, its official journal said editorially:

"The United Mine Workers of America has so political ties. No one knows what, if any, political party this union may support in coming elections. It all depends on how the various parties perform."

Political observers regarded this declaration of policy as having special significance just now because of the Pennsylvania situation.

John L. Lewis, the miners' president, wants the Democratic leaders of that state to choose Thomas P. Kennedy, the union's secretary-treasurer, to be their candidate for governor this year.

Despite the number of votes the miners and their labor allies have in the keystone state, Democratic leaders are balking.

Provisions Will Be The Same

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Agriculture department authorities said today the wheat planting provisions under the new farm act would be the same as those set up for winter wheat last fall.

The act sets a national wheat acreage allotment for this year at 62,500,000 acres, including both winter and spring wheat. Officials said this would be the basis for determining total payments to wheat farmers under the soil conservation act but would not affect individual acreages.

Considered With Others

The act provides that "in determining compliance wheat shall be considered in the group with other crops for which special acreage allotments are not made."

This would leave wheat planters under the same provisions as set-up in the agricultural conservation program last fall. They would be entitled to receive benefit payments for complying with general soil conserving and soil depleting goals.

Although the bill provided for parity payments to wheat farmers, these will not be made this year unless congress provides necessary

Second Child Of Family Named For Father Is Taken By Death

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 15. (AP)—Five months ago Dr. Paul Haley unsuccessfully opposed his wife's wish to name their new-born son for him. Death had taken another son who bore his father's name.

Last night Mrs. Haley found little Paul suffocating in his crib. Dr. Haley rushed home from a hospital and summoned another doctor and a police inhalator squad.

For an hour they fought to keep the baby alive. But death won out.

KERMIT INCORPORATES

KERMIT, Feb. 15. (AP)—With purchase of fire equipment as one purpose, Kermit citizens today voted for incorporation by a wide majority and named Ray Clapp, oil operator, mayor. Clapp was elected over W. J. Parsons. Commissioners named were W. H. Walker and W. H. Wilson.

Cold Weather Is Predicted In Area

DESPITE predictions for a cold wave accompanied by rain turning to sleet or snow forecast by officials of the weather bureau, at Tuesday midnight no indication threatened the unseasonable spring weather on the South Plains which has prevailed most of February.

Even a dense fog which early in the night settled on this area, narrowing visibility to near zero at midnight, had lifted and only a mild breeze was blowing, according to the Lubbock Municipal airport.

56 Degrees At Midnight

The temperature, according to the main line station of the West Texas Gas company, had dropped to only 56 degrees at midnight from a maximum of 64 degrees at midafternoon.

In the face of such weather, however, the Associated Press forefast for West Texas: "Cloudy, rain in southeast, freezing rain changing to snow in north portion, colder in south, much colder with a cold wave in north portion today; Thursday partly cloudy, colder in extreme south portion; warmer in Panhandle."

Minimum Of 25 Seen

The main line station said its forecast was for a minimum reading of 25 degrees before morning. The Tuesday minimum there was 44 degrees.

On most of the South Plains skies remained cloudy Tuesday. Crosbyton received approximately fourth an inch of moisture. Lubbock measured its moisture for Tuesday at a trace.

The official forecast for the state included a livestock warning for Wednesday in northwestern portion of East Texas and northern portion of West Texas, the Associated Press said.

Rain Falls In Panhandle

Rain fell in the Panhandle and in other North Texas points Tuesday. Vernon reported heavy precipitation of 2.41 inches.

Dr. Jos. L. Cline of the Dallas Weather Bureau, said indications were good for a cold wave which originated in Canada, to spread to Texas. He said it had been thus far held off by a mass of warm air.

The Wichita river was on a seven-foot rise at Wichita Falls, where precipitation totalling 2.86 inches ended at noon. Workmen were hoisting driftwood from beneath bridges as a precaution against damage. The temperature late Tuesday afternoon was 58 degrees.

General Rains Reported

The rain gauge at Diversion Lake, 25 miles west of Wichita Falls, showed 5.25 inches between 7 p. m. Monday night and 6 p. m. Tuesday. Indications were the rain varied in amount but was general in the section.

General rains of one to two inches fell over Dawson county, and the government gauge at Lamesa re-

U. S. Clamps Lid Of Secrecy On Naval Plans

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. — The United States navy clamped a lid of secrecy upon its warship building progress tonight—reversing a publicity policy of 13 years standing.

Whether the purpose was to keep certain data from foreign powers was not stated. Officials explained merely that the new policy was "in the interest of the public welfare."

Delays In Construction

Periodically, in the past, the navy had made public percentage figures showing how much progress had been made with the hull and machinery of ships under construction. Delays in construction were shown.

The monthly report issued today, and dealing with three score men or war now being built, omitted these details.

May Join Powers

The possibility has been discussed that the United States may join other powers in building battleships larger than the present treaty limit of 35,000 tons.

(Japan has refused to comply with a request from the United States and Great Britain that she disclose whether she is building ships larger than 35,000 tons.)

The navy now has building, today's report showed, two 35,000-ton battleships, the North Carolina and Washington; two aircraft carriers, the heavy cruiser Wichita, seven light cruisers, 16 submarines, three 1,850-ton desroyers, thirty-two 1,500-ton destroyers, a seaplane tender and a destroyer tender.

Frank Fuller Sets New Speed Record

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15. (AP)—Frank W. Fuller, jr., flying a low wing Seversky monoplane, landed at the Union air terminal at Burbank at 5:49:07 p. m. (cst) today, setting a new record for the 332-mile flight from Mills field, San Francisco.

His time of one hour, seven minutes, seven seconds bested by four minutes, 49 seconds the previous record, set by Vance Breese in a Keith-Ryder monoplane May 17, 1935. Breese covered the distance in one hour, 11 minutes, 56 seconds.

Flying the single-seater fighting plane with which he won the Bendix air derby from Burbank to Cleveland last fall, Fuller followed the United Air line's route between the two airports at an elevation averaging 14,000 feet.

Larry Therkelsen, National Aeronautic association official timer, figured Fuller's average speed at 340 miles an hour.

Army Bombers To Leave Today On Flight From California

MARCH FIELD, Calif., Feb. 15 (AP)—Four army bombers of the B-18 type will leave here tomorrow morning on a navigation training flight to San Antonio, Texas, and Tampa, Fla.

From Texas, the planes will fly individually over the Gulf of Mexico to Florida in order that each pilot may receive the maximum of navigation training.

The flight will be in command of Lieut. Jack Murtha, pilot and navigator of the 19th bombardment group. There will be 19 others, including pilots, co-pilots, radio operators and mechanics, in the four planes.

Five To Two Favorable Vote Is Made On Jackson Appointment

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (AP) — A senate judiciary subcommittee voted five to two today in favor of the nomination of assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson for solicitor-general.

The favorable vote came after Senator King (D-Utah) suestioned Jackson closely on alleged "criticism of the fundamental doctrine" of the American form of government. King said he had observed this tendency to "complain" of the United States system in recent speeches given by Jackson. He questioned the propriety of a government official making use of "this kind of propaganda."

ROOSEVELT SIGNS ORDER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (AP) — President Roosevelt signed today a bill, authorizing the secretary of the interior to sell New Mexico Agricultural college 2,089 acres of land 11 miles northeast of the college, at $1.25 an acre.

Act To Maintain CCC Capital Is Approved

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (AP)—A bill designed to maintain an unimpared capital of $100,000,000 for the Commodity Credit corporation received house approval today and went to the senate.

It would direct the treasury to survey assets of the corporation annually and to make up any impairment of the capital.

Jesse Jones, Reconstruction corporation chairman, said at hearings on the bill, that losses on cotton loans might result in a $75,000,000 impairment.

Representative Boileau (P-Wis) sought to increase from $500,000,000 to $700,000,000 the amount of obligations the corporation might incur, but his amendment was defeated, 215 to 89, on a roll call vote.

He suggested there was not sufficient money available to carry out loan provisions of the new crop control bill and got Chairman Jones (D-Tex) of the agriculture committee to acknowledge he would like to see the limit on corporation loans raised to $700,000,000.

Jones said, however, he thought $500,000,000 would be enough during the present congressional session because the corporation had enough money and authority for immediate loan needs."

Gun-Packing Customer Of Food Stand Charged In Assault Case

LONGVIEW, Feb. 15. (AP)—Jack Ammons, proprietor of a food stand on the Longview-Gladewater highway, asked a curb service customer not to drive off with a service tray, and the customer fired four shots, one of which wounded Ammons in the arm.

District Attorney Oscar Jones said charges of intent to murder would be filed against the customer, who, he said, was beaten up after the shooting by an unidentified bystander.

Vengeful Mob In Mexico Fires Jail Building

Crowd Of 1,000 Persons Tries To Lynch Man Who Ravished And Killed 8-Year-Old Girl

(By The Associated Press)

TIJUANA, Mexico, Feb. 15. — A frenzied, vengeful mob of 800 men and women demolished a jail, fired a federal building, threatened jailers with hanging, and exchanged bullets with soldiers today in a futile attempt to lynch the man who ravished and killed an eight-year-old girl.

Nearly 1,000 shots were exchanged between the rioters and soldiers of a reinforced garrison. Six persons were wounded by bullets, and six others injured by trampling.

"Justice Will Be Meted Out"

General Manuel Contreras, commander of the military zone here, cried out repeatedly to the mob that "justice will be meted out to this prisoner!"

He referred to a young soldier, questioned with several other men after the body of Olga Comacho, 8, was found yesterday. His name was not disclosed, but General Contreras said the man confessed the crime.

All But Demolished

Police headquarters and the temporary jail were all but demolished by the mob, and the federal building was badly damaged.

Rioters used battering rams, then tossed flaming, oil-soaked fireballs into the buildings. Gasoline was poured onto floors and splashed on walls.

Martial law was declared last night but only 250 soldiers and 70 policemen were there to cope with the growing throng. Before dawn the rioters converged on the jail, assuming the prisoner was there. The jail door was battered down. Partitions were smashed. In another wing, across a quadrangle, 70 prisoners, including three Americans and a woman, crouched in terror. They were not molested, and were escorted to safety before the fire broke out.

Soldiers Start Firing

As the crowd advanced on the federal building, soldiers fired warning bullets over the throng, then turned guns on the leaders as the mob pressed on. The rioters broke first floor windows and poured gasoline on the floors. Soon flames leaped to the second floor.

Life Terms Are Assessed Girls

(By The Associated Press)

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 15. — Mrs. Ethel Strouse Sohl, policeman's daughter, and Genevieve Owens, her companion in a $2.10 holdup during which a bus driver was slain, were convicted of first degree murder tonight by an all-male jury which recommended mercy.

The verdict makes life terms mandatory for both the girls.

Mrs. Sohl, 20, based her defense on an insanity plea in that she was under the influence of marihuana during her brief crime career.

Remained In Automobile

Miss Owens, 18, testified during the eight-day trial that she remained in an automobile while "Bunny" Sohl shot and robbed William Marhost as he stopped his bus in suburban Belleville Dec. 21.

Tears came to "Bunny's" eyes and she pressed a green handkerchief to her face as Jury Foreman Zoltan Zilahy, 28, of Nutley, replied to common pleas Judge Daniel J. Brennan: "Yes. We find both defendants

Houston's Exports Of Cotton To Far East Show Increase

HOUSTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—Houston exports of cotton to Japan since January 1 have been double the amount moved to the islands in the first five months of the season, which opened last August 1.

The total of 57,102 bales was considered small compared to previous years but during the first five months of the season only 21,259 bales had been exported to Japan from this port.

Cotton men said they did not anticipate any sustained demand from Japan for American cotton. They pointed out mills in the Far East had depleted supplies but were expected to take only a small amount of previous shipments.

FIRST FLIGHT FAILS

MOSCOW, Feb. 15. (AP)—The first rescue flight attempting to locate the camp of four Russian scientists adrift on an ice floe off Greenland failed late today because of poor visibility.

U. S. Marines Participate In New 'Incident' In Shanghai; Japanese Seek Settlement

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Feb. 16. (Wednesday) Japanese sought to settle new difficulties with United States marines in Shanghai's International settlement today while their armies in northern Honan province continued their drive to bottle up 400,000 Chinese defending the important Lunghai railway.

The marine incident arose when Japanese patrols tried to enter the American defense sector or the settlement to "exercise supervision over Japanese, both civilian and military, who informally enter the American sector," a Japanese spokesman explained.

The marines turned the patrols back twice, marine officers indicating they felt capable of patrolling the area without Japanese assistance. They said the Japanese were informed of their attitude and they expected the issue to be settled by today.

The Japanese said their drive in north Honan was "jeopardizing the expected retreat westward," of the huge Chinese force defending Suchow, junction of the Lunghai and Tientsin-Pukow railways north of Nanking.

As a result of Japanese successes in this sector the newspaper Nippo, organ of the Japanese command in Shanghai, predicted Chinese troops soon would abandon both Suchow and Hankow, provisional Chinese capital, and retreat to southern provinces for a last stand.

Game Of 'Hide-And-Go-Seek' Is Fatal To Negro In Greenville

GREENVILLE, Feb. 15. (AP) — A game of "hide-and-go-seek" cost the life of a 13-year-old negro boy and interrupted electric service 15 minutes here tonight.

The boy, hiding from playmates, climbed a tree, slipped, and clutched a heavily charged electric wire.

Still grasping the wire, the body was impaled on branches of the tree.

Editor Hailed As Prophet After Prediction On Rain Fulfilled

SYLVIA, Kas., Feb. 15. (AP)—The church folk hailed Editor George Yust as a prophet today.

Last week in an editorial he urged Sylvia townspeople to go to church, saying if they did rain would fall this week. Sunday the churches were crowded.

Today rain fell—the first measurable amount in 62 days.

Report Made On Labor Troubles

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 15. — The Texas Industrial commission sent an unanimous report to Governor James V. Allred tonight that no evidence had been presented it to justify San Antonio police interference with picketing or the assembling of striking pecan workers.

The report was of a preliminary nature and did not make specific recommendations as to what the governor should do to make certain police do not infringe on the rights of pecan shellers who claim to be on strike.

Kilday Admits Action

Police Chief Owen W. Kilday admitted to the commission that his men dispersed groups claiming to be pickets, fired tear gas to break up gatherings and snatched strike placards from would be pickets. He took the position the disturbance here was not a strike.

Everett Looney, the commission's chairman, lives at Austin and doubtless will confer with Allred on the latter's return to the state.

"Wages paid Mexican pecan workers in San Antonio are abnormally low, and living conditions are insup-

South Texas Officer Is Found Shot; Woodul Posts Reward

CORPUS CHRISTI, Feb. 15. (AP)—R. T. Chisholm, San Patricio county constable and nightwatchman at Odem, was found shot to death on the main street at Odem early today.

Sheriff Frank Hunt said there were no clues, but he assumed Chisholm had made an arrest and was shot while taking his prisoner to jail. He said the constable's pistol and $15 in cash were missing.

At Austin acting Governor Walter Woodul offered a $250 reward for Chisholm's slayer.

Politics Feared In Distribution Of New Funds

All Activities Of Relief Except CCC, WPA To Be Taken Over By New Unit; Bailey Author

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Senator Bailey (D-NC) introduced a joint resolution today for a "non-partican administration" of relief funds by a new board of five members.

The board would take over all relief activities except those of the Civilian Conservation Corps and the Public Works administration. It would elect its own administrator, to be paid $12,000 a year.

The preamble to Bailey's resolution declared there is a "grave danger" that relief funds may be used for political purposes. The senator would make it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $500 or a year's imprisonment, or both, to solicit votes of persons receiving relief or to use any relief office for political purposes.

Calls For Investigation

The resolution also called for an investigation of past relief expenditures.

Care of "normally unemployable" persons would be left to the states and their subdivisions. Relief projects would be designed to avoid competition with private enterprise. Wages and hours would be fixed with a view to ending federal relief as rapidly as possible.

The resolution declared unemployment is primarily the concern of state and local governments. It would fix funds available to the new board up to January 15, 1939 at not more than one-third of the expense of administering the WPA for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938.

Request Is Made

A request that congress appropriate $250,000,000 immediately to meet increasing demands for relief came from the house appropriations committee.

The committee said there had been a "drastic" decrease in private employment since September. There is no indication, it added, of a business improvement sufficient to "justify a lesser amount."

President Roosevelt proposed the appropriation last week, saying

Valuable Crop Seen For West's Ranges

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15. (AP)—A crop which may prove to be the most valuable grown in the 11 far western states this year will neither be planted nor harvested except in negligible quantities.

It is grass—just plain, ordinary meadow grass.

No one knows just how much it is worth, but livestock pastured on it in these 11 states last year sold for $689,141,000, the federal bureau of agricultural economics reported.

There is little doubt that grass put more pounds on the sheep and lambs marketed than any other feed.

Whatever value may be placed on the uncultivated grasses of the west, it gives point to state and federal estimates of range conditions. They are better than average for the west as a whole, and better than average in 8 of the 11 states.

MONTH OF BENEFITS

IN addition to being a month of holidays, February is proving a month of benefits for Lubbock residents. The first of these affairs will be given Saturday night when the Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club entertains at the Hilton hotel with an annual dance with Ned Bradley and his boys furnishing the music.

The Lubbock Junior Welfare League is busy making arrangements for a charity ball to be held on the night of Washington's birthday at the Auditorium. A night club scene is to be the feature and music will be by Fletcher Henderson's musicians, one of the outstanding negro jazz orchestras of the country.

Members of the league Tuesday afternoon were elated over the consent of Mrs. Mary W. Doak to allow women students of Tech college to attend the dance. The dean of women is requesting, however, that each girl planning to attend sign a card in Mrs. Doak's office.

The dance committee expressed especial appreciation of Mrs. Doak's sidestepping a rule which obviously is a necessary one.

Henderson, nicknamed "Smack," was born in Georgia forty years ago. He studied science as a school boy, but before he got out of school decided music was his interest. He is a pianist and composer. His first orchestra, organized in 1923, was a Dixieland type of orchestra that played at the Club Albam and featuring such men in the brass section as Louis Armstrong.

Henderson is known in the music circles as the country's foremost swing arranger and many of the greatest name bands use his arrangements—numbered among them being Benny Goodman, Jimmy Dorsey, Isham Jones and Glen Gray and his Casa Loma orchestra. He prefers arranging to directing and says it come natural to him and that he can jot down notes riding in a subway, touring in his automobile or watching a ball game.

SPONSOR BOOK REVIEW

WOMEN of the Lubbock Country club association are to sponsor Gladys de Silva Bates of San Angelo in a review of "The Citadel" (A. J. Cronin) February 26 at 3 p. m. in the Hotel Lubbock ballroom. Mrs. T. B. Duggan, jr., is chairman of ticket sales. Admission will be fifty cents.

Gladys de Silva Bates who terms herself "Canadian by birth, American by choice," came to Texas in 1921 and taught speech for four years in Paris Junior college and high school. She has taught eight consecutive summers at Texas Christian university, Fort Worth, and organized and is director of the San Angelo Little Theater. She served one term as president of the Texas Speech Arts association and has held other offices over a period of four years. She has a private speech arts studio in San Angelo.

Books which Miss Bates has reviewed in several Texas cities include "Gone With The Wind," Romances of British Monarchs," "How to Win Friends and Influence People," "And So—Victoria" and "Northwest Passage." She is also a reader.

NOVEL PARTY IDEA

A NEW idea for informal entertaining was carried out by Mrs. Ben Eskridge and five other hostesses at a breakfast Tuesday. Termed a "galloping" breakfast, the idea was for the women to come as they were dressed when the hostesses called to invite them. Some came in pajamas, some wore housecoats, few had had time to apply their morning makeup and consequently wore their hair in Hollywood curlers and with their faces still shining with night cream. As one hostess aptly expressed it, "some of the guests looked ghastly."

This form of social would be fun for women who are able to "take it." We know several women who, lacking a sense of humor, would put a damper on the others' enjoyment by sulking. On the other hand, can't you just see Mrs. Hub Jones, Mrs. W. P. Clement, Miss Delia Wilkinson, Mrs. W. O. Stevens and Mrs. E. J. Parsons splitting their sides with laughter at a "galloping" party?

Miss Inez Rudy Is To Arrive Friday

Miss Inez Rudy of Bowie, president of the Texas Federation of Music clubs will visit in Lubbock this week-end, arriving Friday. She will be a guest in the home of Mrs. R. H. Hester, retiring president of the seventh district of the federation.

The Lubbock Music club will entertain twice Saturday in honor of the state president. At 3 p. m. a tea and program will be given in the home of Mrs. Gettys Tucker, 2902 Twentieth street, and a dinner at Hotel Lubbock is planned for 7 p. m.

To plan these events, a called meeting of the club will be conducted at 5 p. m. today at Seaman hall, Mrs. Hester said Tuesday.

Miss Hambright Is Shower Honoree

The social whirl is bubbling madly this week as one after another of Miss Janet Hambright's host of friends takes turn to wish her well in her forthcoming marriage to Harold Humphries. The wedding is to take place at 9 a. m. Monday at the First Presbyterian church.

A buffet supper and bathroom shower were given by Misses Ina Bacon and Virginia Knapp Tuesday night at the home of Miss Knapp on the Texas Technological college campus.

The supper table was centered with a bridal scene on a reflector. The scene included a miniature bride and bridegroom under an archway of sweetheart roses. The gifts were brought to the honoree in a small white cart drawn by little Virginia Dee Knapp.

Guests were Mesdames B. T. Hambright, W. E. Humphries, M. T. Hill, Kenneth Rollo, S. H. Weaver, jr., Misses Josephine Powell, Linda Treadwell, Dorothy Abernathy, Merle Haynes, Virginia Carlock, Romayne Dodson, Katherine Kersh, Betty Lee Lindsey, Pauline Stafford, Ernesteen Lockhart and Mary Katherine Rice.

Eskridge Home Is Scene Of Party

Six matrons entertained at breakfast Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. Ben Eskridge, 2413 Twenty-first street. They were Mesdames Eskridge, W. M. Ryan, R. V. Williams, Grady West, Homer L. Pharr and H. B. Frasier.

The meal was served on colorful pottery.

Guests were Mesdames Joseph Knight, R. L. Howell, Fred H. Rea, L. D. Thomas, W. A. Fix, George McCarty, A. A. Marchant, E. R. McCune, D. N. Leaverton, jr., S. J. McFarland, N. H. McFarland, J. N. Nislar, J. H. Brock, J. M. Davis, J. R. Minor, Roscoe Cowart, H. D. Phillips and H. G. Gantz.

The First Baptist Business and Professional Women's class was entertained by Misses Pearl and Marie Jackson Monday night at the home of the latter, 1702 Texas avenue.

A musical skit was given by little Misses Aleta Jane Elliott and Billie Faye Wages. Miss Elizabeth Brooks entertained with vocal numbers. After a Valentine entertainment in rhyme, the group divided up into pairs and played progressive hearts. Refreshments were served to about 30 guests.

BURRELL-CALDWELL

SLATON, Feb. 15. (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Andy Caldwell of this city are announcing the marriage of their daughter Miss Mary Dessie Caldwell, and Gordon Burrell which took place November 11 at Post. The couple is at home at 245 Sixteenth street, Slaton.

Miss Madge Mulkey from Ft. Worth has arrived for a ten-day visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Hargis of 1804 Avenue X of Lubbock. Miss Mulkey was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Hargis at Panama on her return from China last year.

Chamberlain's Lotion is a fixture in offices everywhere. One reason for its popularity among all business girls is that after using it, papers never stick to the fingers. Chamberlain's, a clear, golden liquid, dries quickly. Above all, it is never sticky, greasy, gummy nor "messy." Because it satinises, it helps keep dainty fingers lovely, skin smooth and attractive. At all toilet goods counters.

Musicians Present AAUW Program

An illustrated lecture on "Listening As An Active Fuction" was presented by Julien Paul Blitz, head of the Texas Technological college department of music, and Mrs. Blitz, pianist, at a meeting of the Lubbock branch of the American Association of University Women in the Tech home economics tea room Monday night.

Miss Vivian Johnson presided in the absence of Mrs. Mary W. Doak, president, and chairmen of committees presented reports.

Mr. Blitz defined music in three phases, as a language, as an art and as a science. He played 'cello numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Blitz. Their selections were movements of sonatas by Mendelssohn and Grieg.

Miss Mabel Erwin, program chairman, introduced the guest artists.

Miss Jonnie McCrery, chairman of the fellowship fund committee, announced that $35 made by the branch by selling tickets to "Toyarich" has been sent to the Helen Marr Kirby fund of Texas, a part of the national AAUW fellowship.

Mrs. George W. Dupree gave a detailed legislative report.

At the next meeting on March 5 Miss Johnson will discuss "Influences in Education Today."

Kappa Gamma Has Dinner Meeting

A dinner meeting of Kappa Gamma sorority was held Monday night in the home of Mrs. F. R. Friend, 2005 Broadway. The table was centered with roses and strewn with violets. Small china dolls were placed on the table at intervals. Places were found by matching "broken hearts."

Miss Bonnie K. Dysart of the Texas Technological college faculty was guest speaker. She reviewed "New Frontiers of the Mind" (J. B. Rhine). After the review the guests made mental and clairvoyant tests.

Those present were Mesdames Yancey Price, Lottie Hilton, Winnie Wheat, Dr. Pauline Miller, Misses Ruth Gosdin, Mary Cooper, Esther Cooper, Louise Chance, Gladys McSpadden, Eufaula Wise, Margaret Carroll Robertson, Ann Kelly, Ruth E. Ford, Opal Sloan, Helen Hart and Maurine Jons.

Methodist Juniors Meet For Valentine Meal At Church

Members of the junior department of Asbury Methodist church met at the church late Monday afternoon for a Valentine supper. Special guests were Rev. W. E. Peterson, Rev. D. C. Ross, Beverly Cumbie, Sammy Rhodes and Jeanette Click.

A program was presented by Jack Walters, Nell Rhodes, Charles Kelley, Billy Summers, Ruth Taylor, Arlene Wood, Erma Lea Jeffcoat and Mary Beth Dupree.

TO MEET THURSDAY

The Merry Wives Forty-Two club of Wolfforth community will meet at 2 p. m. Thursday in the home of Mrs. M. E. Casey.

To attend funeral services for her nephew, G. A. Lowry, who died in Amarillo Tuesday night, Mrs. J. W. Kennedy, 902 Avenue L, and son, Bill Kennedy, and daughter, Mrs. Cecil Schwalbe, are in Amarillo today. Mr. Lowry, son of Mrs. Georgie Perlet of that city, had been sick a week with pneumonia.

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the agricultural division at Texas Technological college will be the principal speaker at a banquet of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce Thursday night at Hereford.

O. T. Ryan, vocational agriculture supervisor of this area, was to attend a Future Farmers of America father-son banquet at Memphis Tuesday night and is to attend one at Samnorwood tonight. His office at Texas Technological college has received notification of a father-son banquet to be conducted at Farwell Friday night and one at Afton Feb. 25.

A 10-minute mass meeting of agricultural students of Texas Technological college will be conducted at conclusion of 1 o'clock classes this afternoon. The Aggie banquet to be conducted Friday night, will be discussed.

Mrs. Maude Bradley of 1810 Avenue W and Mrs. G. D. Holbrook of 1622 Sixteenth street returned Tuesday from a visit to Marlin where they spent the week-end. Mrs. Ella Erwin, mother of Mrs. Holbrook, accompanied them on their return, planning to visit Mrs. Holbrook for two weeks.

Earl M. McClure, executive of the South Plains council of Boy Scouts, was principal guest at a court of honor in Brownfield Tuesday night following a meeting of the southwest district executive committee there Tuesday afternoon.

Those present were Mesdames Yancey Price, Lottie Hilton, Winnie Wheat, Dr. Pauline Miller, Misses Ruth Gosdin, Mary Cooper, Esther Cooper, Louise Chance, Gladys McSpadden, Eufaula Wise, Margaret Carroll Robertson, Ann Kelly, Ruth E. Ford, Opal Sloan, Helen Hart and Maurine Jons.

K. N. Clapp of Lubbock attended a special meeting of the Plainview Commandery K. T. No. 3 Tuesday night at Plainview. Angus Wood of Kress is eminent commander; Clapp is grand sword bearer. A dinner was given at 6 o'clock Tuesday night preceding a lodge meeting.

Seventy-seven manufacturers and 128 wholesalers were included in a survey sent the bureau of business research at Austin by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce Tuesday. Today is deadline for copy to reach the bureau, which will compile the Texas Industrial directory from information gathered over the state, but since some firms were late in making returns the Lubbock report was a day late, officials of the chamber of commerce said.

It was reported to police early Tuesday that the garage of C. S. Weir, who lives one mile east of Lubbock, was burglarized and a generator taken. Late that night no report of its location had been made to police.

Cap Moore, deputy sheriff, Tuesday transferred a juvenile, about 16, to Gatesville and placed him in a state correction institution there. The boy had been sentenced to a year in the school on a charge of burglary here, according to attaches of the court.

A fraud case against Ned Baum which had been set for hearing in county court Tuesday, was continued and was set specifically for April 5, according to Judge J. J. Dillard. Judge Dillard said he was of the opinion that out-of-county witnesses could not be commanded to appear in a misdemeanor action, a point on which County Attorney Robert J. Allen and Defense Attorney Durwood H. Bradley were at variance. A jury will return at 9 o'clock this morning when four criminal cases are subject to call. They are: J. L. Jones, S. W. Clark, and Samuel Smith, charged separately with aggravated assault; and Robert Johnson, charged with theft.

A new problem was provided for Lubbock Chamber of Commerce when the inquiry was received Tuesday from J. C. Shirley of Chavez, N. M., as to what the retail price in Lubbock is for cotton tail rabbits. So far as the personnel of that organization was able to determine, attaches reported, there is no market here for cotton tails. Further inquiries will be made, however.

A dinner will feature tonight's meeting of Lubbock post No. 2466, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the K. P. hall, as a result of a recent membership campaign.

County agents of district 2 will hold two conferences this week-end, in Plainview Friday and Lubbock Saturday. The Lubbock meeting begins at 9:30 o'clock in the Lubbock hotel. K. J. Edwards, College Station is to preside as district agent leader at both meetings. The Plainview meeting is to be held in the Hilton hotel there.

I. A. Smoot, president of the National Association of Postmasters, will speak before a postal workers convention of this district in Wichita Falls, Feb. 22. Several Lubbock postal employees are expected to attend the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs Byrnes Temple of Lorenzo are parents of a son weighing 7 pounds and 8 ounces, born at 7 o'clock Tuesday night in Plains hospital.

Cotton Use Research Laboratory For Texas To Be Sought

New Legislation Provides Unit

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Representative Luther Johnson (D-Tex) said today he would urge concerted and immediate action by the Texas congressional delegation to obtain for their state a cotton use research laboratory provided for under the new farm bill.

"Texas is entitled to the laboratory," he said. "We have an excellent chance of getting it because Texas is not only the largest single cotton producing state, but produces between one-fourth and one-third of the entire American crop.

"In addition, the action of the Texas legislature last year in passing a bill appropriating money for the state's participation in such a project reflects favorably here the attitude of the people down there."

Parking Meters Continue To Produce Surprising Revenue

Parking meters continue to produce revenue in amounts surprising to city officials.

Collections for the past week-end period of Saturday and Monday totaled $192.45, which was the largest, city officials said, for any corresponding week-end period of the month they could recall since the holidays.

Ordinarily, officials explained, collections for a week-end usually reach their peak on the Saturday followed by a "dollar day" Monday. Collections for those two days of February totaled $232. But invariably the meter revenue for the second Saturday and Monday have shown a much sharper drop than has been the case this month, the report continued.

Meter revenues taken as a whole since the holidays continue at the average of approximately $87 per day, officials said.

Drum And Bugle Unit To Make Its First Appearance Tonight

Newly organized Sons of the American Legion will be host to parents and friends at their regular meeting at the Legion hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight when the squadron's drum and bugle corps will make its first public appearance, according to information given Tuesday by Walter F. Smith, director of the 48-piece musical unit.

Application for a charter for the squadron with its initial membership of 126 is pending, having been made formally to State Commander W. J. Danforth of the Legion several days ago.

Included on the program will be a series of dances by pupils of Miss Bernice Stevens. Numbers will include: military dance, Janette Bradford and Sammy Modrall; "But Definitely," Shirley Anne Watts and Ann Bentley; soft shoe dance, Betty Lou Williams, Jo Ellen Turpin and Paul Frank Smith; tap dance, Janette Bradford; ballet skating, Shirley Anne Watts; "D'Lovely," Ann Bentley; and tap dance, Betty Lou Williams and Paul Frank Smith.

Position Of Manager Of Temple C. Of C. Is Declared Vacant

TEMPLE, Feb. 15. (AP)—The position of manager of the Temple Chamber of Commerce and Board of Development has been declared vacant as of March 1 by the board of directors.

W. A. Spender, manager for 20 years, was voted a bonus equal to two months salary.

No successor has been selected, but the committee composed of officers will fill the vacancy, T. S. Wyche, newly-elected president, said.

MYSTERY IS CLEARED

LITTLEFIELD, Feb. 14. (Special) —Mystery of the way in which auto caps and gas tank covers disappeared, has been solved by Tom Matthews, local constable.

Matthews found a 12-year old boy had removed the caps and covers and was selling them to a local man for five or ten cents. The officer put a stop to the practice.

Credit Session Scheduled Here

Election of directors and outlining progress of Lubbock Production Credit association are scheduled Monday night at Hilton hotel in fourth annual meeting of the group, A. R. (Ray) Brownfield of Brownfield, a director, will preside.

Full reports on the association's progress will be made by Wade Cooper, manager, and directors, John H. Seale, jr., secretary of the Production Credit corporation of Houston, and Dwight P. Reordan, president of the Federal Intermediate Credit bank of Houston are expected to attend and address the meeting.

Tech Dairy Department Officials To Attend Milk Group Sessions

R. M. Renner, head of the dairy manufacturing department of Texas Technological college, will take part on several programs in San Antonio next week. He will be accompanied there by I. G. Harmon, instructor in that department.

They will attend annual meetings of the Texas Ice Cream Manufacturers and the Texas Milk Dealers associations Monday through Wednesday. Renner will speak on "Simplified Solids Test for Ice Cream Mix, Condensed Milk and Evaporated Milk," will report on research of the last year of interest to ice cream manufacturers and milk dealers, and will take part in a discussion. The simplified test was originated by Renner.

He has called a meeting for Wednesday in San Antonio of the agriculturaly livestock committee of the Texas State Manufacturers association.

Renner and Harmon will spend Sunday in Falfurrias studying the sweet cream butter industry at Falfurrias creamery.

City Officials Take Steps Tuesday To Improve Traffic Conditions In Lubbock

College Avenue To Get Lights

Agreement to maintain traffic lights on College avenue at Nineteenth street and at Broadway if the state highway department will supply and install them was approved at a special meeting of the city commission at the city hall Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting was called for the specific purpose of hearing recommendations regarding Lubbock traffic problems with a general safety committee and while no further final actions were taken, progress was made toward the disposition of several important matters.

Conferring with the commission regarding problems were Police Chief Don Reeder, Police Traffic Sergeant Lewis Kittrell, Capt. W. W. Legge of the state highway patrol, and O. B. Conley, president of Lubbock Safety council.

Boulevarding Is Suggested

Recommendations of the committee that several of the more heavily traveled streets be declared boulevard or "through" streets were referred by the commission to City Manager W. H. Rodgers, City Attorney Durwood Bradley, Reeder and Kittrell for their study and report at the semi-monthly meeting of the commission Feb. 24.

The city manager and city attorney likewise were authorized to order numerous illustrative sketches included in a booklet in which a city traffic ordinance is to be printed if they believe the additional cost of $72 is justified. Contract for printing the ordinance was let to Varsity Book Store litho shop several days ago on a bid of $240. Both Rodgers and Bradley expressed the opinion that the sketches would enhance the value of the booklets, 20,000 of which are to be printed for general distribution.

Plan To Curb Speed

Decision to maintain the traffic lights on College avenue was reached after officials agreed that something to curb speed on that thoroughfare is needed. The commission was informed that the highway department probably will install them.

Streets suggested for boulevarding were Broadway from the last traffic light to College avenue; Fifteenth and Nineteenth streets from Texas to College; Eighth, when paved, from Texas to College; College from Nineteenth to Eighth; and Avenue Q from Broadway to Nineteenth.

Other suggestions, to be subjects of later study, included one that traffic lights be erected on Avenue Q at Eighth, Main, Broadway, Fifteenth and Nineteenth; that all parking of automobiles be forbidden at the curbs nearest and completely surrounding school buildings; and that all trucks entering Lubbock from the west, northwest and southwest be routed on Eighth street when paving there is completed so that it will avoid traffic congestion in the business district.

Report On Trouble

portable," the commission said. It made its preliminary report shortly after concluding a hearing for the purpose of determining whether police were respecting the rights of the claimed strikers.

Members of the commission in addition to Looney are O. P. Norman of Kaufman and Nat Harris of Waco, representing the public, John H. Jamison of Houston, representative of industry, and Larry R. Taylor, representing employes.

Characterized As "Mild"

Looney characterized the preliminary report as "mild." He said the commission would make a full report after having opportunity to review the evidence.

Julius Seligmann, Texas' largest pecan shellery operator and one of the last witnesses before the commission, held out very little hope for higher pay for shellers.

Harris a few hours earlier had termed the wages "shockingly low." Seligmann admitted the average factory sheller here made only $2.50 to $3.00 per week but insisted the industry could not pay more.

Had Been Tear Gassed

Former shellers who quit 15 days ago in protest against a 16 per cent wage reduction testified they had been tear gassed, clubbed and jailed by police and were not allowed to picket.

Police Chief Kilday took the position that the existing trouble was a "disturbance agitated by communists' instead of a strike and it therefore was his duty to arrest claimed pickets who obstructed streets or sidewalks. Only about "five or six hundred" of San Antonio's "twelve thousand' pecan shellers left their jobs, he testified.

The police chief, openly hostile to Looney, directed his communistic allegations mainly at Donald Henderson, sent here from Washington by National C.I.O. leaders. He said he believed the troubles could be ironed out if Henderson would leave.

Dr. Edwin A. Elliott of Fort Worth, regional director of the National Labor Relations board, commented that it was "no business of the city administration who shall lead labor in San Antonio but that was the business of the workers themselves."

Elliott said Henderson and John Grossland, another strike leader, were not Communists but "if the reported police actions here and the reports of pecan shellers' wages are true, those practices will make communists."

BUYS POST BUSINESS

POST, (Special)—Mrs. Della Justice has bought the J. C. May jewelry store here. Lester Harrison watch repairers, is remaining with the store.

The bureau of public roads is cooperating with 44 states in conducting highway-planning surveys.

Huge Natural-Ice House Nearly Straddles Great Divide In Wyoming

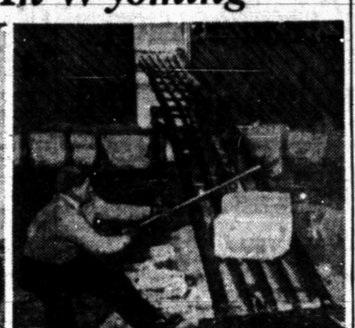

1—After top ice has been shaved off, a "go-devil" cuts the ice into 22-inch squares, joined temporarily by an uncut, 4-inch bottom section.

2—Then sheets of scored ice are pried from the main floe and, manned by crew members, go floating down the channel. The ice will run from 14 to 17 inches thick.

3—At the icehouse other workers break up the sheets, which are carried along moving ramps into the icehouse and then. . .

4—Shot down a long slide into the ice room where other workers, wielding long hooks, stow them away until summer.

ICE CITY, Wyo .— This suburb of Laramie, railroad center, is almost atop the continental divide. Its raw materials are pure water and freezing temperatures. Its only product is ice.

Next summer the ice harvested from a 43-acre lake this winter will be crushed and blown into thousands of refrigerator cars passing through on a transcontinental railroad—90,000 cars were iced in 1936.

The ice house is almost a fifth of a mile long—"the nation's biggest natural-ice warehouse," says Sven I. Lindquist, general manager of the plant. In it, 80,000 tons are stored. Breakage and melting reduce the total one-fifth.

University of Wyoming students usually gather the harvest. Here's how it's done.

Teacher Saugus, Mass., Fire Now Singing Welcome To Florida Winter Resort Guests

By NEA Service.

MIAMI BEACH, Feb. 15.—Isabelle Hallin, attractive young former schoolmarm who lost her job in Saugus, Mass., after town gossip had her serving cocktails to her adolescent pupils, is doing very nicely singing with the orchestra at the Fleetwood Hotel here — BUT, she's not letting the balmy Florida air lull her into forgetting the frosty New England air the Saugus school board gave her.

Still determined to achieve vindication in her home town, she is biding her time until a coming Town Hall meeting at Saugus.

Eager To Appear

"The Town Hall meeting ordered an investigation of the school system," she said, "and they may want to question me."

If they do, she is eager to appear to reiterate her denial of having mixed alcohol and algebra. And she also wants to be there because, she says, the Town Hall investigation may touch off some lurid fireworks concerning three anti-Hallin members of the school board.

In the meantime, she's enjoying her success as an entertainer. Shortly after the Saugus episode, she had a radio audition and some so far unproductive movie tests. Then she came down to this resort for a vacation. Liking it, she decided to get a job, and became a hostess, a "sort of official greeter" at the hotel.

"It's nice work," she declared, "but I've always wanted to be on the radio, and when the chance came to sing with the orchestra here, I was delighted. The results are as surprising to me as anyone else."

Former school mistress Hallin is undecided about her future career —except on one point. She's VERY decided about this vindication business.

Arkansas Woman Is Killed And Husband Injured In Accident

LINDEN, Feb. 15. (AP) — Mrs R. Salisbury Walker of Fort Smith, Ark., was killed and her husband, a Fort Smith real estate dealer, injured seriously today in an automobile collision near here.

The two were enroute home after a trip to Mexico.

A charge of negligent homicide was filed by County Attorney Parks McMichael against Rogers Lacy, Longview oil man, whose automobile, McMichael said, collided with the rear of the machine occupied by the couple.

Immigrant Colonies In U. S. Are Keeping Frontier Alive

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. (AP) — "Frontier" characteristics are usually found in immigrant colonies of unskilled laborers in America, according to a social study of Pittsburgh published by the Columbia University Press.

These are usually a saloon, dance hall and boarding house. Chief center of such a community's life is the hall, used for weddings and other festivities.

The halls are found in every community in Allegheny county where nationality groups live in sufficient numbers to finance such an enterprise, the study shows.

Museum Gets "Bigges' Toof" Found By Grinning Negro Boy

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 15. (AP) A grinning Negro boy made his way to the office of Prof. Reinhard A. Steinmayer and produced what he described as the "bigges' toof I ever saw."

It turned out to be a perfectly preserved seven-and-a-half-inch long tooth of a mastodon. The boy, Ernie Seluage, related that he had picked it up in a Wilkinson county, Mississippi, creek-bottom.

Professor Steinmayer acquired the giant tooth for the Tulane university museum, of which he is curator.

Former Gainesville Manager Is Arrested For Embezzlement

BRONSVILLE, Feb. 15. (AP)—E. J. Lacour, who resigned last week as city manager of Gainesville, was arrested here today on a charge of embezzlement of municipal funds.

Sheriff J. A. Goolsby made the arrest after Lacour had crossed the international bridge at Brownsville from Matamoros, Mexico. Officers said Lacour made no statement.

Chief of Police Harvey Olman of Gainesville arrived to take Lacour in custody.

At Gainesville County Attorney William C. Culp said that a complaint signed by Reese A. Hays mayor pro tem and alderman, alleged that Lacour "fraudently embiezzled, misapplied, and converted to his own use, $300 belonging to the City of Gainesville."

Two Nazi Sympathizers Added To Cabinet Of Schuschnigg

VIENNA, Feb. 15. (AP)—The cabinet of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg was revised tonight with the addition of two ministers sympathetic toward Nazi Germany.

Arthur Seysz-Inquart, who enjoys the confidence of Adolf Hitler, was named minister of interior, a post in which he will control Austria's police forces.

An exponent of Pan-German ideas—closer union of the two German-speaking peoples — Professor Ardamovitch, was made minister of justice.

A third German sympathizer, Dr. Edmund Glaise-Horstenau, was reappointed to the revised cabinet as minister without portfolio.

Prices Too Low

have argued composite prices averages are meaningless. Although the average may reach a selected "normal" point, some individual prices may be far too high and others too low, they say.

They contend, for instance, that early in 1937 metal and building material prices advanced more rapidly than other prices and got out of line.

Even now, the administration apparently regards steel and building material prices as too high, and any price-raising action which the president may undertake will be desined gto raise only those other prices which are regarded as too low.

Anniversary Of Club Observed

(By Staff Correspondent)

CROSBYTON, Feb. 15.—Crosbyton Lions tonight took stock of their first year as a civic group, recounted the work done by the club the past year and listened to helpful suggestions by Lion President W. H. Evans of the Lubbock club on things that make for better Lionism.

The 63 Lions and their ladies enjoyed a humorous talk by W. D. Holley, Technological college student on the foibles and fancies of relatives and went wild over an "Arkansaw Hill Billy" stunt by three Lubbock Lions, Drs. C. C. Craig, F. G. Harbaugh and Marshall Harvey.

Tillman Reeves Toastmaster

Tillman Reeves, vice president, was toastmaster and introduced the visitors. A heavy fog prevented an expected Floydada delegation from attending. President J. L. Adams gave way to the toastmaster in presiding.

Emzy Pieratt, first president, recounted the club's program. Membership has increased from about 22 a year ago, to 40 at this time. "Our club has accomplished several things the past year," he said, recounting purchase of playground equipment for the grade school, a trophy for the grade school for winning scholastic honors; sponsoring of an improvement program for the state park near town; a carnival to raise money for expansion work and a boy scout troop. The park improvement is just starting.

Invited To Convention

The club was invited to participate in the coming district 7-2 convention in Lubbock May 8-10.

President Evans of the parent club congratulated the local group on its achievements."

Olen Littlefield led the club in group singing. The session was held in the social rooms of the Methodist church, with ladies of the church serving the meal.

Lubbock Group Attends Program At Plainview

Three Lubbock Lions and their ladies attended a ladies night program at Plainview last night. T. C. Root, member of the faculty of Texas Technological college was the principal speaker, giving his famous humorous lecture on "Business Recession."

V. H. Moore, secretary, and Mrs. Moore; Mr. and Mrs. D. Noel Stalnaker and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fortune made the trip.

Lodge Official Here For Pythian Session

John Lee Smith of Throckmorton, deputy district supreme chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, initiated a class of pages at a meeting of the Lubbock lodge in the lodge hall Tuesday night. Approximately 50 members attended.

Smith also spoke briefly.

It was announced that in view of the lodge here winning first honors in net gain in membership in the district which includes Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi, and Louisiana, Hon. Fred Jones of Los Angeles, supreme chancellor of the United States and former governor of California, will meet with the Lubbock organization March 1. At that meeting a class of pages will be initiated. A banquet will be held in Jones' honor at the Lubbock hotel.

At that meeting every presiding officer will be either a supreme or grand lodge official.

Plans for the program will be announced soon, attaches of the organization here said.

available funds were insufficent. The $250,000,000 would be in addition to $1,500,000,000 appropriated last June for the present fiscal year.

Aubrey Williams, acting administrator of the Works Progress administration, told the committee 1,000,000 persons lost their jobs last month and 2,000,000 had been thrown out of work since September.

Passage Is Predicted

House leaders, arranging to begin consideration of the appropriation of the floor tomorrow, predicted it would be approved speedily. Then it would go to the senate where, some members said, it might encounter more formidable opposition.

Williams said the appropriation would be used to provide employment for 2,000,000 persons this month and 2,500,000 in March, compared with 1,458,000 in September. He predicted that by June the relief load would have decreased to about 2,200,000.

The American Federation of Labor sent telegrams to all house members proposing that any of the $250,000,000 assigned to building or construction projects be transferred to the Public Works administration.

Why—

Why — —do men with families and necessary money and income delay the purchase of a home?

Why — —did they not buy during the last five years when prices were lower?

Why — —in the face of increasing real estate prices, do they still delay?

Why — —with building material, equipment and labor steadily increasing do they wait?

Why — —do they postpone home ownership in the face of steadily increasing rents?

Why — —do they postpone home ownership when there is an abundant supply of fine homes to be had at favorable prices?

Why — —with money plentiful and at the lowest interest rates this generation has ever seen, do these family men remain inactive?

Why — —in this day of golden opportunity, do they wait?

Why — —when a home is the most desirable thing that money can buy, do they hesitate to buy?

Why — —for your own security, for your children's sake for the protection of your future, don't you definitely decide on home ownership today?

Land Commissioner McDonald Asks McCraw For Test Suit On Leases

Low Cash, High Royalty Doubted

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 15. — Asserting statements by Governor James V. Allred had clouded titles to many public land leases, W. H. McDonald, land commissioner, today advised Attorney General William McCraw a test suit to determine the legality of leases made on low cash and high royalty basis would be desirable.

"During the past few weeks," McDonald wrote McCraw, "Governor Allred has on many occasions in the press questioned my legal authority as commissioner of the general land office to accept higher royalty and lower cash bids on state oil and gas leases, and reject lower royalty and higher cash bids.

Seriously Affected Market

"These statements have not only cast a cloud upon the title of every state lease upon which high royalties were accepted, but have also, in my opinion, seriously affected the market on such leases as may be offered for sale in the future.

"In view of the fact I have strictly followed the law governing the issuance of such leases, and have followed the precedents set by the previous commissioner and the various leasing boards of the state, including the board of mineral development, of which Governor Allred is chairman, it is my opinion all such leases are valid.

"However, in view of the discussion and controversy that has arisen, I feel a judicial finding would have a clarifying effect. A suit testing the question under present circumstances would be advantageous."

Governor Allred has asked the attorney general to file suit to cancel a number of leases for which he asserts the state did not receive adequate consideration.

Building Permits Go Over $200,000 Here

Seven building permit, all of them small, were issued Tuesday authorizing construction and repairs estimated to cost $2,600, according to figures released from the office of Jim Reid, city building inspector.

The week's figure climbed to $11,671 and February's to $83,474.90. With addition of Tuesday's business the total for the new year exceeded the $200,000 mark, specifically, $201,529.25.

Among the larger permits were: Mrs. L. E. Williams, owner and contractor, to construct a three-car frame garage and apartment at 2310 Eighteenth street, $1,000; Loyd L. Clark, owner and contractor, to construct a one-story frame and stucco residence at 505 Avenue S, $900; Jas. H. Henderson, owner and contractor, to construct a one-story box house at 710 Avenue A, $300; and Mrs. Margaret Williams, owner and contractor, to build partition and inclose porch at 1918 Seventh street, $200.

GOOD YIELD ESTIMATED

AUSTIN, Feb. 15. (AP)—The U. S. bureau of agriculture economics today estimated the Texas grapefruit crop at 9,750,000 boxes compared with 9,630,000 last season, and orange production at 1,900,000 boxes slightly less than the record yield of last year.

Citrus trees were reported in excellent condition, apparently having escaped heavy frost in the lower Rio Grange valley on January 25.

Church Leaders To Meet Here

Presbyterian laymen from over the South Plains are to be in Lubbock Thursday afternoon and night for a "Stewardship" conference which is to precede the annual financial campaigns in this area. They are to attend sessions at the First Presbyterian church, starting at 5 o'clock, with a supper at 6:30 and a mass meeting at 7:30.

Dr. Charles H. Pritchard, Atlanta, Ga., will be the main speaker. He is on a tour of Texas, discussing stewardship and the denominational work. Monday night he spoke in Dallas, Tuesday night in Ft. Worth; Wednesday night he is to be in Abilene; Friday in Midland; Sunday in El Paso.

Other Sessions Scheduled

Other engagements include San Angelo, Brownwood, Austin and Waco. He also is to visit Presbyterian schools in Kerrville and Taft.

Laymen and pastors from Seminole, Levelland, Tahoka, Ralls, Crosbyton, Seagraves, Portales and Clovis, N. M., are expected to be here for the conferences, said Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor.

The men of the church have changed their regular monthly meeting to Thursday night so as to hear Dr. Pritchard, said C. A. Bruner, president. J. E. Maisen, vice president of the group, will be in charge of serving the supper.

Budget Is $10,090,000

The Presbyterian Church in the United States, with 493,000 members in the South, will seek a budget amounting to $10,090,000; of this, $7,670,000 is for current expenses; $2,420,000 for benevolences and $1,375,000 for general assembly causes. The Texas synod budget is announced as $115,000.

El Paso presbytery will have three meetings, Lubbock, Midland and El Paso. It is the largest of the denomination in area, with over 25 churches and 17 ministers and pastors. It is the largest mission presbytery of the church, half of the churches being mission stations.

COX REELECTED

MULESHOE. (Special) — W. C. Cox, superintendent of the Muleshoe schools, was re-elected for another year, beginning July 1. He completed his eighth year June 30.

The average salary of workers in American industries in the fiscal year 1937 was $1,277, an increase of $207 over 1932.

Changes Made In Market Event

First announcement that a dinner dance will be substituted for the fashion revue as the major entertainment feature of the 16th annual wholesale market here March 31 through April 3 was contained in folders prepared Tuesday for immediate distribution.

Announcement also was made that personal invitations to attend the market will be sent this year to approximately 300 more retailers than ever before within a vast area of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. The present mailing list, officials reported, carries 960 names of such dealers and probabilities are others will be added.

Name Of Market Changed

The event will be sponsored by the Western Wholesale Market association, the name having been changed recently from Wes Tex-New Mex Wholesale Clothing Market association.

Area in which the new folders will be distributed extends, roughly, to San Angelo south, Abilene southeast, Graham east, the Red river and Panhandle north and northeast, and to Albuquerque, Clovis, Santa Fe, Roswell, Hobbs, Carisbad and other New Mexico points.

Entertainment Promised

The folder, printed in red, black and a blend of the two colors, desribes the approaching event as "The West's most complete market," and promises a "top-notch orchestra, excellent food and delightful entertainment at the dinner-dance." It will be free to retail merchants, but only by reservation with a limit of three to the store. Immediate reservations are requested.

Of the market itself, according to the announcement, "more than 75 national exhibitors will display the latest styles and fashions from the leading style centers of the nation." Complete showings are promised in ready-to-wear, lingerie, hose, shoes, millinery, men's clothing, sportswear, woolen and leather goods and novelties. The event will be at Lubbock hotel.

PROJECT IS APPROVED

ROTAN, Feb. 15. (Special)—Approval of 30 blocks of paving in Rotan was received today, according to the Works Progress administration district office in Lubbock.

Asphalt over a caliche base in the business district of town, will require 50 men for three months. A grant of $23,729 from the federal government and appropriation to $15,658 by the city will provide necessary funds.

BAZE HEADS BAND

BROWNFIELD. (Special)—Martin L. H. Baze, jr., son of the superintendent of the Brownfield schools, has gone to Garden City where he will direct a school band and also teach. He is well known in music circles and formerly lived in Lubbock where he attended Texas Technological college.

Does your laxative make you SICK in the STOMACH?

The first thing you want when you're constipated is a good thorough cleaning out. That's why you buy a laxative. But who said you had to take a rough bitter dose that makes you sick in the stomach?

Taking a laxative can be just as pleasant as eating a piece of delicious chocolate—provided you take Ex-Lax. Ex-Lax gets thorough results—but smoothly, easily, without throwing your intestinal system out of whack, without nausea or weakness.

For over 30 years, Ex-Lax has been America's favorite family laxative. Now it has been Scientifically Improved. It's actually better than ever! It TASTES BETTER than ever, ACTS BETTER than ever—and is MORE GENTLE than ever.

Equally good for children and grown-ups. 10¢ and 25¢ boxes at your druggist.

TEXAS BUILT

A Chinese Wall

As an engineering feat and a monument to posterity, the Great wall of China is one of the first seven wonders of the world. But its practical value proved to be of little worth.

Similar to the Chinese Wall in its effect on Texas commerce is the Law placing a ridiculous 7,000 pound motor truck load limit. 44 States in the Union permit heavier loads. Neighboring Oklahoma allows a gross weight up to 50,000 pounds. Truck operators from Oklahoma, therefore, may haul one truck-load of cargo to the Texas border, where it must often be unloaded and transferred to from two to seven trucks for delivery in Texas. Thus transportation costs are higher and traffic congestion greater because of the greater number of trucks needed to carry the load.

Load limitation in Texas should be based on wheel or axle load, as it is in other states. The present restrictions of width and length are proper, but much heavier loads may be carried without danger to highway safety.

The figures prove that the hauling of such loads over Oklahoma highways is no threat to public safety. Oklahoma's safety program reduced the 1935 rate of 66 traffic deaths per month to only 29 deaths in 1936.

New Jersey permits gross weights up to 60,000 pounds, and the Governor of that State recently said, "During the past seven years fatalities among passenger car drivers have jumped 40 percent, while accidents among commercial vehicle drivers have been cut 26 percent, due to the greater degree of care exercised by the latter".

The public's safety is not impaired by the weight of trucks upon its roads. It is equally obvious that the ridiculous 7,000 pound load limit Law adds to congestion on the highways and, increasing traffic congestion, prevents the full flow of commerce through this State and eventually increases the cost of commodities to both producer and consumer. It should be repealed, lest it continue to have the same adverse effect on our economic development as did the Great Wall of China, on that land across the sea.

High Powered AAU Cage Teams Clash At Tech Gym; Clingman Faces Sampson

Slaton Oilers To Meet Dallas 5 Here Tonight

Something "different" in the way of basketball buzzing is carded for the Texas Tech gymnasium tonight when two "amateur" teams clash in a classic that serves as a sort of preview of the forthcoming Southwestern AAU cage tournament at Dallas.

The champions of that branch of the National Amateur athletic union, the Slaton Oilers, will clash with the Dr. Peppers, a Dallas team well up in AAU running.

The game starts at 8:15 o'clock.

Well Known Here

It will be the first of its kind staged here, amateur or "independent" basketball having had its troubles catching on in the Hub City.

But the Slaton Oilers, so-called because the club is sponsored by the Slaton Cotton Oil Mill, although only two of the team's members reside at Slaton, are well known around here. Take for instance, four former Texas Tech basketball captains—Alvin Crews, Wilson Gilmore, Hugh Snodgrass and Paul Morris. They're members of the squad, and three of them are regular players. Then there's Jim Neely, former captain at Hardin-Simmons university and a well respected college player. He coaches at Slaton High school now, and is one of the Oilers' most important men. Another ex-Cowboy star, Gene McCullom, is supposed to join the team tonight, and if he does he'll be with it through the coming AAU championship tournament at Dallas.

Otis Cannon, Slaton High school star and a rapid-fire cager, and Jack Miller, former North Texas State Teachers college ace, now coach at Wilson, round out the club. The lineup tonight for the Oilers, against the Dallas Dr. Peppers, probably will be Gilmore, Snoderass, Crews, Miller and Neely.

Stars On Pepper Team

The Dallas club also boasts a number of high-powered cagers, most of them with high school and college reputations of note.

There's Olin Cobb, former Athens High school star, an all-stater for two years and an all-America high school star, who has been going great in independent ball; J. D. Wright, former North Texas star; Breland DeWitt, from Centenary; Ray Petty, all-Southern A. A. U. cager from New Orleans; Bow, from East Texas Teachers, probably the five starters tonight. Jack Reynolds, former S. M. U. and Southwest conference star; Lynn Gamble, John DeWitt and Ralph Curry are reserves.

The Dr. Pepper team has won 18 of 21 games this season, losing to Sammy's Place team of Dallas twice, and to University of Texas once. The club later defeated both teams. Hardin-Simmons, North Texas Teachers, East Texas Teachers and the Liberty team of Kilgore have tumbled before the Peppers.

Oilers Go To El Paso

The Oilers, before going to Dallas March 1 to start defense of their title, are playing at Lamesa on Feb. 17, at Ralls on Feb. 23, at Snyder, against the Stephen F. Austin Teachers of Nacogdoches on Feb. 20, after which they go to El Paso to compete in an independent tournament there from Feb. 28 to March 2. From there to Dallas the Oilers go, to defend the title and fight for the right to appear in the national AAU tournament again.

MAX SCHEDULES WARM UP

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—Max Schmeling's third warm-up bout before meeting Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis for the title in the United States this summer will be with Steve Dudas at Hamburg April 19. Max Machon, Schmeling's trainer, told the Associated Press today.

New Mexico Aggies Here Thursday And Friday To Play Tech Cagers

Texas Tech's Red Raiders meet one of the "scorin'est" basketball teams of the nation when the New Mexico Aggies come to the Tech gymnasium for a brace of Border conference contests Thursday and Friday nights.

One of the few undefeated quintets in the nation, the Farmers have averaged 59.9 points per game in conference and extra-curricula activities this year. There is little difference in size of the towering visitors, the shortest measuring nearly as many feet as the tallest.

Olympic Cager On Team

Both games will start at 8 o'clock. Friday's melee will be sandwiched between district high school tournament games.

Feature of the New Mexico quintet is one of few Olympic performers to be seen in Lubbock. Kiko Martinez, member of the Mexico Olympic squad in 1936, was chosen on the second all-world cage team as a forward.

Martinez is one of the leading scorers of the team that includes several adept basket hitters.

Farmers Head Chase

Jackson, Finley and Wood are all crowded near the top in Border conference scoring. With that quartet, either Coffman or Simms probably will start games against the Red Raiders.

The Aggies are undisputed leaders of the conference.

Chief Tech hope to offset the fine scoring machine of the Farmers is Frank "Butch" Sachse, who will be playing his first home game of the varsity. The Quitaque ace set scoring records afire on the recent jaunt through New Mexico and Arizona.

Even In Loop Play

The "white hope" of the Raider five crammed in a total of 156 points during the road trip of nine games.

Texas Tech is all even in ten Border onference tilts, having split a pair here with New Mexico university before taking to the road. The team has shown bursts of class at times, and is capable of extending the better teams when things click as Coach Berl Huffman would have them.

High School Boys Guests

Starting the season poorly, the Raiders settled down to some good dribbling, but lost the services of Capt. Paul Morris, who completed his eligibility at the end of last semester. The team had been built around the little guard, only returning regular from the 1937 quintet, and his loss was a serious blow.

Members of contesting teams in the district tournament will be guests of the Raiders Friday night when presented at the door by their coaches.

New Mexico Military Colts Enjoying Successful Season

ROSWELL, N. M., Feb. 15. (Special)—Enjoying their best basketball season in several years, Coach Clark Storm's New Mexico Military institute Colts hope to finish with only one defeat.

With a record of 6 wins in 7 games to date, the Colts' five remaining opponents are all teams they have previously defeated this season with the exception of the Carlsbad High school Cavemen, whom they meet for the first time next Friday night at Carlsbad.

The Forrest High school Pirates, latest victims of the Colts, dropped their game to the cadet high school team, 34 to 17, after losing by only five points to Hobbs, top ranking team in district 5. The Colts are not entered in the district 5 tournament, March 3-4-5, at Roswell.

WEST TEXAS BUFFS WIN

CANYON, Feb. 15. (AP)—West Texas State Teachers trounced Sul Ross Teachers 54 to 47 here tonight in a closely-called cage encounter in which half the regulars of each team went out on fouls.

Spring Signs: Elm Trains, Giants Heading South

TWC Ram Title Hopes Hit Snag Tuesday

FORT WORTH, Feb. 15. (AP) — Troubles piled upon the T. W. C. basketball team today.

Morris Decker, star center of the team which has romped undefeated through eight Texas conference games, has been dropped from the college, and Coach Gus Miller faces the prospect of losing official credit for the championship which his Rams have apparently proved their claim.

President Law Sone of the college says Junior Decker has been dropped "because he failed to abide by the rules of the school."

Need For More Wins

Loss of the center was a blow to the Rams' cage hopes, but not so much of one are the refusal of some of the conference members to give them four more games needed to qualify for championship consideration.

Undefeated In Loop

T. W. C., newest member of the conference, has played eight games and won them all. Now it looks as if no other team will play them. Trinity is said to have agreed to, but neglected to set dates. McMurry will play the Rams only if they get two other games.

President of the conference, Prof. J. H. Shelton of Howard Payne has agreed to take the matter up at the spring meeting, but can do nothing about getting T. W. C. games now.

County Cage Champs To Contest

Fourteen county champions and Lubbock High school basketball teams are preparing his week to fight it out for the district 3 title in a two-day elimination beginning at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning in the Texas Tech gymnasium.

Eleven games will be unreeled Friday, with quarter-finals starting at 4:30 o'clock. Play of the high school quints will be interrupted at 8 o'clock by the Texas Tech-New Mexico Aggie fracas.

Ralls Is Favored

Ralls, titlist from Crosby county, probably tops the list of favorites, with Lamesa, winner in Dawson county, and Lubbock High school crowding the Jackrabbits for favoritism in many quarters.

Meadow copped the championship of the district in 1937. The Terry county school beat Floydada, 26-20, in the finals at Texas Tech gym. Abernathy won in 1936.

Bulldogs Draw Suspension

Plainview, boasting one of the strongest teams in the section, was disqualified by the Interscholastic league for dilatory entry in the state chase. The Bulldogs undoubtedly would have been favorites for the district gonfalon. By virtue of the Plainview withdrawal, Pettit, Hockley county champ, will draw a bye in the opening round.

Winners of all county flags in the district had not been learned last night by the Morning Avalanche sports staff.

Opening activities, Slaton, Lubbock county titlists, meet the Terry county entry, Yoakum and Garza county winners tangle in the second contest.

Westerners Play Spade

Lubbock High school Westerners face Spade, color bearer for Lamb county, and Abernathy, Hale county champs, meets Lynn county's entry to complete the morning round.

Friday afternoon Ralls plays winner of the Cochran county title, Lamesa faces Bailey county's champ, and Floydada, Floyd county winners, meet the Dickens county champion.

Quarter-finals begin at 4:30 o'clock.

British Vote To Hold Cup Joust Each 2 Years

By HERBERT BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. — Holder of the Davis Cup for the first time since 1927, the United States Lawn Tennis association found itself with a battle on its hands today to forestall a formidable attempt to make the international competition biennial instead of annual.

Announcement in London that the British Lawn Tennis association would support a German move designed to limit Davis Cup competition to alternate years took American leaders by surprise.

Although they had known for some time that Germany would make the proposal at the annual meeting of the Davis Cup nations in London June 30 they apparently had not expected Great Britain would ally itself with the cause.

Britains Change Minds

The British, as a matter of fact, voted with the United States against the plan when it first was submitted by South Africa in 1934. Nobody was rude enough to mention it, but the fact remaining that the British held the cup at that time and, with Fred Perry and Bunny Austin as a first line of defense, looked strong enough to hold it indefinitely.

Walter Merrill Hall, former president of the U. S. L. T. A., and chairman of the Davis Cup committee, explained that this country had opposed the suggestion from the outset and would continue to do so.

"We take the position," he said, "that when a competition has been eminently successful for 40 or 50 years, the burden of proof lies upon those who want to change the rules. We ought to be very sure of our ground before any radical revisions are made.

New Haven and Hartford were joint capitals of Connecticut from 1701 to 1874.

Mile Experts To Show Stuff In Garden Event

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. (AP) — A select four-man field consisting of Glenn Cunningham, Archie San Romani, Gene Venzke and Blaine Rideout will go to the post Saturday night at Madison Square Garden in the Baxter mile, "main event" of the New York A. C. track meet.

San Romani, kept on the sidelines last week by a spike wound received in the Millrose meet, informed the games committee today he would be ready for his first start in the Baxter mile.

Texans Fly East

Cunningham unbeaten at the mile this winter. If anyone can check his all-winning pace, the experts—and San Romani—feel it must be the chunky little Kansan, now, like Glenn, a post-graduate student at New York university.

Blaine Rideout, his twin brother Wayne, and Elmer and Delmer Brown, all of North Texas State Teachers, will return to New York from Denton, Tex., by plane on Friday or Saturday morning. Wayne is entered in the 880 against Olympic Champion John Woodruff. Delmer Brown in the Buermeyer 500 against Jim Herbert, and Elmer Brown in the 60-yard dash against Ben Johnson.

Texas' Gifts To Pro Wrestling Are Main Eventers At Lubbock Arena

TONIGHT'S CARD

Curtain raiser—Gorilla Pogi, Argentina, vs. Art Bulcher, Amarillo.

Semi-final — Don Williams, San Diego, Calif., vs. Sailor Moran, Bald Knob, Ark. One fall or 30 minutes.

Main event—Dick Sampson, Denton, vs. Otis Clingman, Amarillo. Two out of three falls or 2-hour time limit.

Place and time—The Auditorium, 8 o'clock.

It's another "sell out" night at the Auditorium, unless fandom suddenly turns fickle, because it's the kind of card, from start to finish, that generally pleases the customers.

After making his mark on supporting cards, to the more or less complete satisfaction of the paying patrons, Dick Sampson steps into the main event spotlight tonight, against one of the best in the country—Otis Clingman. The latter needs no introduction here, or anywhere that middleweight or light heavyweight wrestling is practiced.

Sampson, a professional football player with Boston, a former North Texas State Teachers college athletic star, came in suddenly a few weeks ago to play a substitute role when the scheduled grappler failed to show up. He made an immediate hit with his own peculiar style of grappling, his boring in and his calmness and fearlessness, his new tricks and his panther-like stalk of his enemy. He is powerfully built, and likes to wrestle clean. But he can handle the rough fellows, too.

Clingman also is a "wrestler," and lays off the rough stuff until provoked. They may provoke each other tonight, or it may be a straight match. No matter which, it should be worth the money.

There's variety on the card, the villains showing in the supporting events. Gorilla Pogi, who featured

THE 1938 CAPTAINS

Frank Guzick, towering center from Sherman, a center for two seasons on the Texas Tech grid team, will captain the 1938 Red Raiders.

A. B. "Red" Murphy, heavy-weight tackle from Beaumont, a regular for two seasons, will act as line captain this year!

These announcements were made last night by Head Coach Pete Cawthon during introduction of varsity lettermen.

Guzick succeeds Herschel "Red" Ramsey from Chillicothe as captain, and Murphy steps into the shoes worn for two years as line captain by Lou Jones, guard from Cleburne. Cawthon hinted that Guzick might be shifted from center to quarterback next fall.

he Chicago Bears of the National rofessional league in action, and ecial music by Hi Pockets Over- n's string band, preceded the arding of gridiron trophies.

Best Team, Coach Says

Eighty-six of the individual ards passed out last night went members of the 1937 Red Raider rsity squad which, in the opinion Head Coach Pete Cawthon, who roduced the players and present- the trophies, turned in the best ord ever made by a Tech team, nsidering the schedule and the ailable talent, the natural ability players and the scarcity of re- rves.

Trophies included regular letter eaters, jackets and blankets, gold otballs and gold wrist watches.

The lettermen of the 1937 squad e 26 in number. The list includes earning varsity letters for the rst time, three for the second year nd five for the third year. The st includes Student Manager Har- s Cheek and Head Yell Leader ames Forbis.

Thirty-One Watches Given

The gold wrist watches came as n Bowl trophies to the Border nference champions who played niversity of West Virginia on ew Year's Day at El Paso. Thirty- e watches were awarded, includ- four to W. L. Stangel, chairman the athletic council; Bo Wil- ams, graduate manager; Lewis pear, team trainer, and Cheek, tudent manager.

Gold footballs, gifts of the aches and close friends, went to e 27 letter men.

Thirty-one numeral sweaters were arded members of the Tech reshman football squad and six ayers who were not eligible last ason but who are expected to be ligible for varsity duty next fall. reshman Coach Berl Huffman resented the frosh trophies.

Lettermen Are Listed

And here are the Tech lettermen: First year letters (regulation ouble-T sweaters): G. L. Webb, lasca; Henry Moseley, Slaton; hurman Bostick, Brownwood; alph Balfanz, Abilene; Bill Davis, rapevine; Leonard Latch, Cisco; loyd Talliaferro, Plainview; G. B. imberley, Lubbock; Dixie White, ubbock; Holt Waldrep, Slaton; ilmer Greene, Gainesville; Rex illiams, Sherman; Bobby Holmes, iami, Okla.; Charles Barnard, ulsa; Charles Calhoun, Lubbock; ene Barnett, Lubbock; Elmer Tar- ox, Higgins; Miles Chapman, Dal- as, and Manager Cheek.

Second year letters (leather ackets): A. B. Murphy, Beaumont; rank Guzick, Sherman, and eorge Philbrick, Dallas.

Third year letters (scarlet and lack blankets): Raymond Curf- an, Electra; Ed Smith, Del Rio; ete Owens, Littlefield; Lou Jones, leburne, and Captain Herschel amsey, Chillicothe.

Freshmen Get Numerals

All of the above named players, lus Thomas "Cotton" Neely, quar- erback from Sayre, Okla., received un Bowl wrist watches and gold ootballs.

Freshman gridders receiving num- al sweaters:

Wayne Hildreth, Fairview, Okla.; afe Nabors, Lubbock, Tom Mc- uillan, San Antonio; Primo Mc- urry, Lubbock; Jack Shanks, onahans; Charles Mathis, Sayre, kla.; Durward Herring, Mineral ells; Gordon Miller, McAdoo; all Rowe, Littlefield; Prince Scott, rapevine; E. J. McKnight, Mexia; lenn Jones, Lubbock.

Additional Numberals Given

BUYS NEW STATION

TAHOKA. (Special)—W. H. Fulkerson, who recently purchased a filling station in the north part of town on Highway No. 9, has begun an addition. He plans the largest drive-in station in Tahoka, with nine pumps.

How They Hold Out

Tommy Henrich, N. Y. Yankee outfielder, rests and eats, meanwhile keeping one eye on the postman who'll bring an answer to his plea for more money.

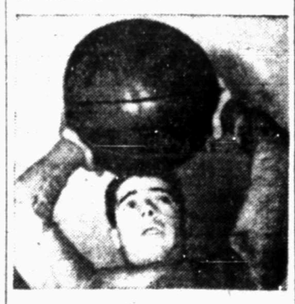

Frank Demaree, Chicago Cub outfielder, picks grapefruit on his California grove. He says that if the Cubs feel he is too valuable to trade, he's worth more cash.

Dick Bartell, N. Y. Giants, one of the highest-paid shortstops last season, romps on the golf links as he awaits results of his demand for better wages.

Lefty Gomez, N. Y. Yankee pitcher, also golfs. Judging from his contract figure, Gomez fears the Yanks forgot he led the American league in wins last season.

Joe DiMaggio, Yankee outfielder, prepares for a possible long siege by flopping a medicine ball about in a gym. He knows the Yankee boss is a tough rival.

Texas Wrestlers

the very first professional show under Sled Allen's promotion here nearly five years ago, comes back after a long absence to "start all over" on the preliminary. A colorful figure, Pogi is favored to take the Amarilloan tonight.

Sailor Moran, the roughster from Arkansas, has a match, from all indications, in the newcomer from California, Don Williams. The latter has made his strike in middleweight wrestling, and is here to carry on in California style.

Spawning Areas Near Lake Buchanan Closed By Order

AUSTIN, Feb. 15. (AP)—The game commission, by proclamation, today closed additional fishing areas in the vicinity of Lake Buchanan to halt possible damage to spawning.

The areas included Cherokee creek to Alexander Falls, about a mile and a half upstream; from the mouth of the creek to the middle of the Colorado river, and a half mile up and down the Colorado from the mouth of the creek.

Game department officials said fishermen, deprived of a chance to make large catches in the recently closed portions of Lake Buchanan, had migrated up the Colorado to make big hauls from spawning areas.

The closure had the approval of San Saba county commissioners court.

Choice Herefords At Albany Are Auctioned

ALBANY, Feb. 15. (AP)—Thirty choice Herefords—20 bulls and 10 heifers—sold for a total of $8,225 today in F. W. Alexander's fifth annual auction sale at his Diamond ranch.

Dorinne 56th, 21-month-old heifer, sold for $600 to Howard Hampton of Clarksville to top the sale. The females averaged $345. J. J. Ketter of Throckmorton paid $435 for Pauline Stanway 8th, another top heifer.

Merrick Davis, Albany rancher, paid $405 for Gwen Domino, 20-month-old bull that topped that part of the sale. W. M. Watterman of Roanoke paid $310 for Don Gwen, another top bull.

Buyers were Woods Stock farm, Fort Worth; Jim Nail, Albany; Merrick Davis, Brown and Davis of Throckmorton; R. A. Brown, Desdemona; Brown and Corbett, Stamford; David Diller, Albany; H. B. Key, Albany; M. L. Wood, Ranger; Roy Parks, Midland; Dr. J. M. Alexander, Abilene; Lewis Brook and son, Brady; E. A. Jeter, Albany; L. L. Stour, Seymour; Guy Caldwell, Albany; Bob Mason, Throckmorton; Lee Atkinson, Throckmorton; Howard Hampton, Arledge Stock farm of Knox City; H. H. Wilkinson, Fort Worth; Dr. C. W. Dunn, Abilene; J. J. Keeter, and W. M. Waterman.

The sale was conducted by Earl Gartin, Frank Farley and O. R. Peterson. The entire consignment was sent through the sale ring in two hours.

DALLAS OFFICER VICTIM

Altrock And His Hand-Mashie Special!

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 15.—Don't tell anybody, but Nick Altrock plays "hand mashie" shots out of sand traps. "Slick going," he says. "Saves strokes, easy on the sand traps, easy on clubs, easy on everybody—if they don't catch you." Nick snitches the ball from the ground with a quick left-handed motion. Keeping an eye on his opponent, he flicks the pellet onto the green while he whizzes his club into the sand with his right hand. "Great stuff," says Washington's clowning baseball laugh-producer. Paul Waner is lying down on the green.

Egg Cracking Is On At Lamesa

LAMESA, Feb. 15. (Special)—Egg cracking got under way here this week for Henningsen Bros., New York City, at the Kraft-Phenix Cheese corporation plant with 32 women and girls and 12 men employed. The company has been operating here in the late winter and early spring since 1932.

Capacity of the plant is placed at between 900 and 1,000 cases of eggs daily. Each case has 30 dozen.

Two Types Used

Two types of drying are used, the spray and the pan. In the former eggs after being broken are sprayed down a huge inverted cone about 25 feet high. The pay type calls for eggs to be placed in open pans that are exposed to heat. Yolks and whites the separated.

Eggs come from farmers' flocks and from the surplus of stores, jobbers and produce houses.

W. F. Hessler is manager of the plant this year. The company is the largest egg drying concern in the country. It operates plants in Denison and Fort Worth, as well as Lamesa.

Have Various Uses

Dried eggs are used in various commercial lines. Yolks are mainly used in the manufacture of ice cream, pies and pastries, candy and egg noodles. Whites are used for making candy, in textile printing such as rayon and silk and for other commercial uses.

Hessler hopes to operate the plant well up into the summer. The demand for dried eggs is constantly increasing. Up to a few years ago the chief source of supply was in China. War has changed that source.

The company ships in car load lots. Dried eggs are more easily handled than in the natural state and can be held for an indefinite period before use, without deterioration, it is explained.

Apricot Tree Said In Bloom Tuesday

An apricot tree on the state experiment sub-station is in bloom, said Don L. Jones, superintendent, Tuesday. It is the first blooming of a tree reported here.

Unseasonable temperatures for the past two or three weeks, ranging upwards of 70 degrees, to as high as 75 degrees, has caused buds on fruit trees and other trees to swell. Blooming of the trees is a little early, but is due to the unseasonably warm weather that has prevailed.

Average date of last killing frost is April 8.

Apricot trees are the earliest to bloom, Jones said. Peaches generally follow, with plums, apples and cherry trees coming later. Grapes follow the fruit trees in blooming.

Buds on shade trees are also blooming, especially the Chinese elms. They can stand a considerable amount of cold, however, before killing the seeds. Jones said he had known of Chinese elms surviving with a low of 25 degrees.

Chief danger for trees following the hot weather, is a killing frost to come with the sap active. "That would mean a lot of dead trees," Jones added.

Two Farm Security Officials Go To New Posts, Evans Reveals

DALLAS, Feb. 15. (AP)—Bassett Orr, farm management specialist, and Glenn Briggs, agricultural economist, have left the staff of the Farm Security administration here for new posts, C. M. Evans, regional FSA director, announced today.

Orr resigned to become state land specialist for the bureau of agricultural economics at College Station and Briggs went to Amarillo to head the land conservation section of the FSA regional headquarters there.

Unknown Cause To Be Verdict

(Special To The Avalanche)

LITTLEFIELD, Feb. 15.—Justice of Peace M. W. Brewer tonight said he would render a verdict of death from an "unknown cause" in the case of the death of Alvin Elliott, 25, of Levelland Jan. 30.

Brewer's report came after word was received here this afternoon from a toxicologist at Austin associated with the department of public safety which said that tests made on Elliott's viscera showed no poison.

Sent For Poison Tests

Working on the possibility of poisoning, the man's viscera had been sent by officers to Austin for tests.

On the Sunday afternoon of Jan. 30, Elliott's body was found on a bed in a cabin at a Littlefield tourist camp. Attending physicians had said the man had been dead probably more than 10 hours. On the floor and beside the bed was found a young Levelland girl in an unconscious condition.

Her condition did not permit questioning until early that night.

Got Cabin Saturday

Owner of the tourist camp said the couple had rented the cabin late on the Saturday night preceding the man's death.

In the couple's car had been found a six ounce bottle labeled "solution of arsenic" and from which approximately two ounces were missing, a bottle of antiseptic, and a three-fourths full pint bottle labeled whisky, Brewer said. No bottles were found in the cabin.

Plea Of Guilty Is Entered In Theft

ABILENE, Feb. 15. (AP) — Rufus McNurlen, 44-year-old former operator of a service station at Eastland, entered a plea of guilty when arraigned today on a charge of theft from the mails.

He appeared before U. S. Commissioner Ida M. James, who fixed his bond at $5,000. The prisoner, arrested yesterday at his home four miles south of Ranger, was brought here this afternoon by Deputy U. S. Marshal C. S. Brown.

McNurlen is the eighth person to be charged in connection with theft of a mail pouch containing $28,950. It disappeared from a railway mail car early in November, between Dallas and O'Donnell.

Postal Inspector L. W. Morris signed the complaint naming McNurlen. It was filed Monday at Lubbock with U. S. Commissioner Olive Fluke. Brown said McNurlen had signed a statement about the case.

The 600 varieties of cultivated cherry trees originated from two European species.

Everything Failed In His Case Until He Began Gly-Cas

New Remedy Amazing In Restoring Health; Stomach And Kidneys Now Regulated. Free Of All Suffering

"I have never seen a medicine do its work as well before as this new Gly-Cas," said Mr. F. L. Fitch, Rt. 5, Box 173, Austin, Texas. "Practically all my life I had been bothered with a stubborn case of constipation. My entire system had become clogged with poisons which affected my stomach and kidneys greatly. After each meal gas would form in such abundance I could hardly get my breath at times. The pain and misery I endured was terrible and in spite of all I tried I could not find anything to help me. My kidneys got me up at all hours of the night and to get my rest or sleep was out of the question. I soon lost my strength and energy and was unable to do my work. I thought I was doomed to finish my life in this suffering—but that was before I had taken this new Gly-Cas."

"By the time I had finished just half the recommended treatment I was like a new man," continued Mr. Fitch. "My kidneys and bowels are now regulated, stomach is fine and I can eat and sleep good, those dreadful poisons have been eliminated and I have new strength and energy and am able to do my work again. Gly-Cas is surely one medicine that is deserving of all its praise—for it does exactly as it claims to do.—GIVES DESIRED RESULTS."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns. —Adv.

Almost Unanimous Opinion

FOR once in their lives, those who hold places of congressional leadership will find the nation's opinion almost in unanimous agreement with theirs.

Those leaders have voiced the view that another disarmament conference of world naval powers at this time would be "futile." If there should be any popular disagreement with that opinion, it will be one merely of degree. Most folks would regard any such conference, to use a mild expression, as being the blankest of idiotic foolishness.

In the first place, the American public would place no confidence in any agreement to which several of the other world power might subscribe. They have demonstrated all too frequently that any treaty in which they join becomes nothing but another scrap of paper when violation is to their advantage.

In the second place, Uncle Sam invariably is on the short end of the deal when the bargaining at such conferences is completed. He simply is no match for Europeans and Orientals who, because of necessity through the centuries, have acquired an adeptness of diplomatic deception the American cannot approach.

A third, and perhaps the most important consideration is, that we had best keep ourselves clear of anything and everything which may hint of foreign entanglement while world affairs are in their present precarious state.

Guarantees Development

A LONG time has elapsed since Lubbock has received more pleasing news than that from Washington Monday that President Roosevelt has approved an allotment clearing the way for more than 10 miles of new street paving in Lubbock.

Need for the improvement is too obvious to require comment. Too many people have done all but get on their knees in the last year or two to plead that streets in front of their homes be improved.

They and any other citizen reasonably well informed realizes that carrying out of the program will virtually guarantee the rapid development of excellent residential sections which have been retarded chiefly for the lack of pavement. It is almost certain to encourage extensive home building. It should mean real progress toward solving the traffic problem which seems eternally with Lubbock. It means another forward step has been taken toward making Lubbock the city we want it to be.

The One-Minute Sermon

Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.

Believe It Or Not---By Robert Ripley

Empire For A Lady

By Alan LeMay
C. By The Associated Press

SYNOPSIS: A widespread revolt of savage Dyak tribes makes it impossible for my uncle, James Clyde, to run guns to his client, the besieged rajah. A further complication is the presence of the Forresters' yawl, the Avon, in tropical Balingong bay. Christine and her brother, Robert, blankly refuse to leave because they are completing a "plan" of their dead father. Unwilling to quit the island with the young English girl in danger, we are attempting to reach Rajah Mantusen upriver. There is something queer and wrong about this whole situation.

Chapter Eight

Refuge!

Suddenly there was a ripping crackle of rifle fire, concentrated at first, then quickly subsiding into the ragged pounding of irregularly reloaded guns. Over these presently began to sound the hoarse, blunt concussion of lantakas, the small-bore brass cannon of the Malays.

Something like cold fire jumped into my uncle's eyes. "By God Mantusen still holds Balingong!"

I remember hearing myself say, "The Dyaks may be fighting among themselves."

"With lantakas you fool?"

His decision then was instant, without thought or reason; it was as sudden the reflex of a muscle or the crack of a whip.

"Paul, swing her nose upstream! Set your oars! I'm going through."

I started to say, "Wait! You can't—"

He didn't hear me. "Wait your swing—wait your swing—Now pull!"

The faces of the men were blank with astonishment but they obeyed with everything they had, lashed into action by the sting of Clyde's voice. "Pull, you fools! Pull as you never pulled! Lift her, if you want to live!"

The water boiled from the blades, and from every blade a deep spiraling hole in the river opened up to go whirling away down the stream. It was as if the violence of my uncle's will had lifted the whaleboat half out of the water and kicked the river out from under him.

Now the ugly rabbish drone of voices with which Dyaks go into action rose from the stockade. Brown figures raced along the shore and ran parallel to us in the jungle. They piled into 20 praus. A throwing-spear splashed into the water close by the boat, sending up a little crystal spout from the brown polished surface of the flood. It was a small sound, not terrifying in itself; it might have been made by a jumping fish, except that I had seen the quick slicing flicker in the air that was the attempt of a brown savage to get himself an oarsman.

"Pull, will you? Can't you pull?"

Somehow we made the turn untouched. Far up ahead, at the end of the next long reach, Balingong hove in sight at last, raised high on pilings whose feet were in the water.

Balingong was a strange town, built there by many elements, not one of which was white. Not even a single ugly Dutch bodega softened its completely native look. The river here spread out widely into many-throated shallows, cut up by sandbars and mud islands; and most of the houses stood upon pilings in the water itself, or in mud which would be water when the river turned brackish with the high tide. There were about 400 of these houses, set high on their stilts, made of bamboo and split bamboo and nipa thatch. The disorderly arrangement of the place made it look larger than it was, rambling and tortuous, so that the first time I ever saw it I thought there were thousands of those houses there.

Shower Of Spears

Just now Balingong had a single immediate meaning. It was refuge. The bold, dangerous reconnoitering of my uncle had suddenly changed into something else. We had come groupingly at first, feeling our way. Clyde's abrupt, brilliantly swift decision—even then I thought it questionable in the extreme—had snatched us through the blockade, and there was no longer any question of turning back. Already we were irretrievably caught in the undertow of events.

With the first sight of Balingong I saw that the town was strangely changed, and after a moment I knew what was the matter. The palace of the Rajah Mantusen was no longer there.

Because his slaves could bring in his water supply from distant springs, the Rajah Mantusen had been able to elect that no other house in Balingong should be between his own and the sea. It had been set in the river like most of the rest, and like them had been built of bamboo, but topped with shingles, its roof-trees decorated with figureheads. Stilted upon pilings, the bamboo palace had always been the first thing in sight coming up the river.

Only some long lines of blackened pilings stood there now.

Behind the pilings of the vanished palace, set upon a steep beach, now stood the double stockade to which Mantusen had evidently retired. The outer and inner walls of this stockade, which opened to the river itself, were both much lower than those of the Dyaks, but strongly built and advantageously placed. Within those defenses figures were moving, recognizable even at the distance as Malays. At a glance I could see that a few score of Malay krismen could hold that place until they starved, against almost any number of fighting men equipped with primitive weapons.

More throwing-spears began to sting into the water around us now, cleaving deep, then rising again to float away. A dart from a sumpitan, fired from a hopeless distance, stuck momentarily in the back of my wrist, then fell off.

One of those loaded-bamboo throwing sticks caught the stroke-oar back of the head with a sound like a falling cocoanut, and he collapsed, one shoulder trailing in the water. His oar dropped free, and I caught it out of the water and shipped it, as we boiled past.

Then abruptly the spears seemed to be all around us, so that you could not count the flickers in the air or the splashes in the water. They ripped into the smooth surface of the Siderong as if somebody had thrown a handful of gravel.

Clyde said, "The damned fools will hurt somebody if they don't look out."

One of the spears struck an oar close by young Slider's hands, and the high spinning bound of the glancing spear gave an idea of the force with which it had been thrown. It came and went like a shadow, leaving a quick flowing curtain of blood on Slider's cheek. It began to drip and run down his chest and his sweat-soaked shirt, without Slider or anybody else knowing just how or how much he had been wounded.

Sea-going Praus

Another spear broke its point against the bottom of the boat, and splinters jumped; but instead of bounding, this spear stood fantastically on its head, waving crazily straight up. Grogan was looking down at it in a dazed way, the spear was standing there because it had gone through his foot. For two full strokes he stared at that phenomenon, until my uncle's quiet, supremely matter-of-fact voice awoke him.

"Well, pull it out and throw it away."

Grogan dropped his oar, grabbed the spear with both hands and in a single motion pulled it out and threw it high over his head, then seized his oar and rowed again, slashing a great shower of water over me in his attempt to catch the boat.

The narrow fighting praus which had put into the river in pursuit of us can lift and skim; they can ride over the water with a free-running ease which was a serious threat. Driven by a short choppy stroke with many paddles very quick in the beat, they look to be going much faster than they are and they made our heavy whaleboat seem to flounder.

I said, "Shall I fire, sir?"

"Mr. Thorne, you will please get away from those weapons. What, shoot at our little brown brothers, with ammunition that sets me back better than seven cents a round?"

Fortunately those praus were sea-going too. Some of them had come a long way by the coast. If they had been river canoes they could not have helped running all over us. But their long outriggers, light built though they were, put a bad drag on them, and the praus themselves, with their narrow beams, rode deeper than they looked.

And though they seemed able to close a good bit of distance, they put less enthusiasm into it than we might have feared. We had showed no weapon, but they were afraid just the same. That was the type of advantage Clyde always got by sticking to his white crews, punk though they might be. The Dyaks did not know what kind of explosion of sudden death to expect from us—simply because we were men of the unaccountable white race.

So we swung up that last long reach to Balingong without anybody stopping us. At the stroke oar, Schweicamp, who had been knocked out, began to flounder about a little again, trying to find out where he was; and Grogan, the next oar on Schweicamp's side, was showing his teeth as he made a mighty effort to make up for Schweicamp's missing oar. But the rest of the crew was pulling smoothly.

Clyde laid hands upon a rifle, half picked it up, then laid it down again and took a pistol. The bill passed me so closely that I felt the hornet-like buzz of it along the skin of my arm.

The praus faltered.

"Ram her through where the palace used to be," Clyde said.

Are the Dyaks the only source of danger? Read tomorrow's chapter.

Campbell Is Re-Appointed As Baptist Convention Secretary

DALLAS, Feb. 15.(AP) — Dr. R. C. Campbell, general secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, accepted re-appointment as secretary of the convention Monday after receiving word from the officials of the Immanuel Baptist church at Little Rock, Ark., releasing him from his promises to them.

Dr. Campbell resigned in January, his resignation to take effect March 1, so that he could accept a call to the pulpit of that church.

The News Behind The News

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG
WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

BOTH big and little business men have been scanning charts to detect whether their collisions with the head man at the White House have rocked his economic plans and poise. Their private communiques reflect the conviction that they didn't even muss his hair.

Mr. Roosevelt, their retrospective review shows, conceded nothing. It now develops that he talked chiefly about his stamp and marine collections at the over-ballyhooed conference with Messrs. Sloane, Weir, etc. He disagreed flatly with the recovery program submitted by Thomas W. Lamont, Owen D. Young and John L. Lewis. He forced the Roper chorus to revise their suggestions before giving half-way approval. He resented the apparent alliance between the "little men" and their more important partners in business crime.

Not a single major objective has been modified, though some attacks may be deferred, as on holding companies and monopolies. He will spend his way out again if he can. Most important, there is a hint that he will soon lay the blame for the depression on Big Business and Congress for their supposed failure to cooperate—a move which most insiders anticipated and predicted months ago.

LOSERS: The communings and complaints revolving around the White House have produced a deep effect on more impressionable heads at the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue.

Congressmen bend their ears much lower to the ground than Presidents. They listen to people on W. P. A. as well as to bank presidents. So they have secretly resolved to provide the relief which both lowly and exalted demand. They will pass new appropriations for the spending agencies, especially Harry Hopkins, but they will scrutinize with a hostile eye punitive proposals against big and little business.

Barring a crisis like 1929's, this means that only five new measures will emerge—housing (already passed), a farm compromise, a tax bill shorn by the Senate of several drastic House features, the $800,000,000 navy building program, and possibly the war mobilization proposal. Since none of these represents a sensational New Deal reform, it means that when Congress quits, the brain trusters will emerge as legislative losers over a period of almost two years. That's how the boys and the girls on "the hill" feel about things.

LICKINGS: A sensational report from a New Deal observer that the key state of Ohio might fall into ways of Republicanism next fall accounts for the hurry-up call which President Roosevelt made to Senator Donahey—"Honest Vic." But the blunt vote-getter apparently offered no comfort to pulmotor politicians.

Democratic politics in the Buckeye state are tangled. The Roosevelt-Farley faction hates Governor Davey, and he reciprocates. They would like to defeat him, but they suspect that a factional fight may endanger Senator Bulkley, a Roosevelt classmate at Harvard and several loyal members of the House. Mr. Roosevelt likes Charles Sawyer personally, but politicos doubt whether he could trim Davey in a primary battle. So, though nobody will admit it, they begged "Honest Vic" to forsake his Senate seat and run for an office he has filled several times. It's like asking a managing editor to start all over as a cub reporter, showing how desperate the situation must be.

Mr. Donahey is understood to have declined. It's true he doesn't want the job at Columbus—again—but there's the untold fact that he's not so keen for the New Deal, and wouldn't object if some of its banner-waving back home and at Washington were soundly licked in the gathering free-for-all. And they probably will be.

POSSIBLE: The prickliest thorn in the Roosevelt-Farley sides is the stubborn attitude of their old pal—Governor Herbert Lehman of New York. They can't make him out—and don't dare ask him to tell his secrets.

At Philadelphia in 1936 they trumped up a demonstration to force him to run again, now they're afraid he may take that exhibition of old friendship too seriously. The governor opposed F. D. R. on court reform, and impliedly assailed the New Deal's aims and philosophy in a Jackson Day speech at New York. He has visited Washington several times without being invited to the White House even for tea. The old comrades have soured.

Should the governor seek reelection, it would stymie secret buildup plans for Mr. Roosevelt's reputed 1940 heir—Robert H. Jackson—who must win the New York governorship as a political starter. Worse still, it might give Mr. Lehman too big a say in choosing the Empire state's 47 delegates in 1940. He might probably will—align with the anti-third term or anti-Roosevelt-heir crowd in that year, especially if radical Mr. Jackson is given the nod in the meantime.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

NEW YORK political sharps found food for thought in the recent mayoralty contest in Nashville, Tennessee. The election was a clear test of strength between Governor Gordon Browning and the forces led by Senator Kenneth McKellar and Ross E. H. Crump of Memphis.

Browning knocked McKeller for a loop in this tryout. An inside angle to note is that Jim Farley, while talking no overt part in the scrap, is silently lined up with Browning. This fits with the report in our Washington column a few days ago that Farley is quietly reaching understandings with certain Democratic governors in preparation for 1940.

On the other hand, insiders get word that President Roosevelt is stringing with McKellar behind the scene of the Tennessee feud. This Roosevelt-Farley drift may lead to major shifts in existing political line-ups within the next two years.

REBUFF: Another significant straw in the political wind was the recent crack by Senator Vic Donahey to the effect that Ohio is able to run its own primaries and needs no advice from outside.

As politicians become increasingly aware of the Roosevelt-Farley situation, more of them can be expected to rebuff administration efforts to influence the choice of state and local candidates.

FUTILE: The recent action of the A. F. of L. executive council in expelling three C. I. O. unions from the Federation is described by labor insiders as a typical devious Bill Green maneuver.

Those given the bum's rush were John Lewis' United Mine Workers, the Federation of Flat Glass Workers and the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers. The last two are comparatively unimportant, but their expulsion clears the way for the Federation to encourage rival organizations. Sidney Hillman's Amalgamated Clothing Workers had originally been scheduled for the same treatment, but the Green cohorts got cold feet on that propcsition at the last minute, union and the Mine Workers—two of the most powerful and prosperous outfits in the C. I. O.

The strategy is very ingenious and intricate, but it doesn't mean anything. The fundamental situation is unchanged. The posturings and jockeying by bitter-enders on both sides are futile gestures of Canutes seeking to halt an irresistable tide. Pressure for a settlement of labor's civil war is mounting steadily behind the scenes and should bear fruit within a few months.

BETTER: The best feature of General Motors' sales figures for January was the fact that 6,000 more cars were sold to retail customers during the month than were shipped to dealers from the factories.

This doesn't make much of a dent in the huge dealer inventory of unsold cars, but at least it indicates progress in the right direction. G. M.'s production schedules will be kept very small in the next months, in the hope that by then dealers will have been able to dispose of a substantial portion of their excess stocks.

It's a foregone conclusion that the corporation's report for the first quarter of 1938 will make sad reading for stockholders. But if the policy outlined above works out as planned, the second quarter should be much better.

MR. OSCAR ODD McINTYRE, the game bon vivant of the editorial page, who was claimed by death Monday, and many another jolly gentleman were forever mooning about the public's waning interest in the theater.

To those patrons of acting-in-the-flesh, the vast popularity of the movies and the resultant slump of the living stage is something akin to stark tragedy and raw ruin.

They just can't understand the debacle and scold about it no end.

Like other people who live out here, The Plainsman doesn't have too many opportunities to see stage productions. But occasionally he does, and rarely misses the chance. And it seems to him that the ill fortune upon which the stage, in general, has fallen is more the fault of the stage than it is of the movies.

At any rate, even the most loyal of stage fans must admit that's an idea.

WHILE flesh-and-blood actors are, by and large, considerably more polished and generally more adept than the rank and file of Hollywood's clothes horses, the stage has two strikes and a foul on it when it comes to presentation.

The finest settings imaginable fade into insignificance with the very average movie background and half the audience in any legitimate stage production can easily pick out the flaws of makeup and of backdrop.

The limitations of the legitimate stage make it impossible for the spoken drama to keep pace even with the rowdiest of movietown's horse operas. Settings have not kept pace with human talent.

We sympathize with others of the press in their tears for the legitimate stage, just as we sympathize with those other oldsters who weep over the demise of the 5-cent beer, the cigar store Indian and the red-wheeled, rubber-tired buggy.

But there doesn't seem to be any remedy for the situation as Hollywood, foolishness and all, marches on.

FOLKS who get a wallop out of the literary style of Stanley Walker, former roommate of Owen McWhorter at University of Texas; former Peck's Bad Boy of his home town, Lampasas; husband of the daughter of President Sandefer, of Hardin-Simmons university, and former Dallas News reporter, will howl with glee over his latest piece.

It is entitled "Hell Bent For A Good Time," and is in the February edition of Vogue magazine.

In the article, Walker, former city editor of the New York Herald-Tribune, lets his ready wit run its gamut and really does a swell job of chiding his countrymen for rushing pell-mell after fun.

Some excerpts from "Hell Bent For a Good Time":

"The American can grow sentimental over 'Home Sweet Home', but actually he has an acute distaste for the comforts of the fireside, and he wants to get away as quickly as he can."

"The American is gregarious. He fear of being alone while millions of other people are having fun is nothing short of tragic."

That highly effective Roosevelian catch-phrase, the more abundant life . . . raises up in the American mind not an existence of spiritual peace or intellectual contentment and satisfaction, but a life in which there is as little drudgery (work) as possible and plenty of money to spend on radios, night clubs, automobiles, bridge, the latest gadgets, carnivals, beaches, fast football games, baseball, the theater, and whatever."

"The American champion at piling matches on a beer bottle's neck last count was Mr. Wade F. Brown of Baltimore, who astounded his friends and won many salvos of applause by piling 7,200 matches on a bottle. To accomplish this feat required only three days, and everyone seemed to feel it was worth it."

"Seventy-five million Americans attend motion pictures every week; they pay about 700 million dollars per year. The so-called czar of the movies is Will Hays, who gets an enormous salary for seeing that the contents don't alarm old people."

"For one American who curls up with a good book a thousand will be out chasing phantoms."

If you like satire, you'll like Vogue's "Hell Bent For a Good Time."

It's worth reading, if only for the chuckles.

IF YOU believe the Laredo chamber of commerce, that thriving border community is "The Onion City." And they do raise a lot of onions down there.

But if you ask The Plainsman he'll tell you it's "the Rooster City"—that roosters are more likely to impress the visitor than are onions. Here's why:

Last fall when we stopped over night there en route from Lubbock to Brownsville via the army border road, and although we were on the eighth floor of one of the leading hostelries in the middle of downtown, we were awakened before dawn — and kept awake — by the crowing of innumerable roosters.

That sounds like a lot of hooey—but it is as true as Gospel!

Laredo is a city of around 40,000 souls but it must have about 240,000 roosters and a lot of them must be downtown.

We've never noticed crowing roosters in Lubbock, and we've lived in a half-dozen neighborhoods here, including a couple of years in a downtown hotel.

We've never noticed it anywhere else in a city of any size.

But the roosters sure crow in downtown Laredo. Check up on this story if you're ever down there!

ALEXANDER ANTONVICH TROYANOVSKY, Russian ambassador to the United States, told a University of North Carolina audience at Chapel Hill, N. C., the other night, that "there is more danger of a war at the present time than there was in the days preceding the World war."

While The Plainsman doesn't like to agree to any statement like that, judging from what everyone is saying on this side of the Atlantic and the other, it must be true.

U S Oil Reserves Hit New Peak

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. — The American Petroleum Institute made public today a report showing a new high total of proven petroleum reserves in the United States on January 1, 1938—15,507,268,000 barrels.

This is 2,443,868,000 barrels more than the estimate of January 1, 1937.

This estimate was contained in a report filed with the institute by its committee on petroleum reserves of which J. Edgar Pew, of the Sun Oil company, Philadelphia, is chairman.

Untested Reserves Unknown

The estimate makes no allowance for possible reserves in untested areas, the report said, representing only the amount of crude oil which may be extracted by present known methods from fields now completely developed or drilled, or sufficiently drilled and explored to permit reasonably accurate calculation.

New reserves discovered in 1937 were estimated at 928,742,000 barrels, making the total 16,784,932,000 barrels. From this, the committee deducted 1,277,664,000 barrels as an estimate of oil produced in the United States in 1937.

In Four Divisions

The report breaks down the proven reserves into four principal divisions, as follows:

California—3,063,142,000 barrels; Rocky Mountain states—399,839,000; Central and Southern states—11,508,205,000; and Eastern states—536,082,000 barrels.

The reserves of Texas were estimated as the largest, amounting to 8,247,928,000 barrels.

Oklahoma's Administration Of Social Security Is Condemned

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (AP)—The Social Security board has condemned Oklahoma's administration of its security program and called. A hearing to determine whether to grant the state further aid.

Arthur J. Altmeyer, board chairman, wrote Governor E. W. Marland and John Eddleman, state welfare commissioner, they might submit evidence here February 25 to show compliance with provisions of the Social Security act had been sufficient to warrant future grants for old age assistance, aid to blind and dependent needy children.

Assistance now is being given to 107,100 Oklahomans. The February estimate indicated the combined state and federal payments would be about $1,325,200 with the government furnishing about $600,000.

Slivers Of Glass In Negro's Hair Lead To His Arrest On Suspected Burglary Charge

BALTIMORE, Feb. 15. (AP) — Slivers of glass in his hair caused the arrest of a negro today as a suspected tavern burglar.

Leon Lampe, the tavern keeper, fired five shots when he heard a burglar in his establishment early today. The burglar fled amid the tinkle of broken glass and Walter J. Banion, 29, was arrested in the neighborhood. He was held under $3,000 bond for the grand jury.

TARZAN THE MAGNIFICENT No. 27 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"We'll go now," Tarzan announced simply, and set out along the trail. Wood seemed in better condition now, and he followed in silence. Then, once more, thoughts of Mafka began to drum in his mind. Suddenly he stopped and called hopelessly to Tarzan.

"I've got to go back. Mafka is calling. You go on—if you can." The ape-man turned. "You really want to go with me?" he demanded. "I want to, but I can't." Without a word Tarzan lifetd him up, flung him across a broad shoulder, and resumed his easy stride.

Soon night fell, the journey was halted, and the two men lay down to sleep. Beforehand, however, at Wood's suggestion, Tarzan tied his rope around the man's ankle, then to his own wrist. Thus Wood could not obey the urge to return to the land of the Kaji.

But most of all, Tarzan depended on the remarkable keenness of his senses, which usually were almost as active when he slept as when he was awake. So, when he awoke at dawn, he experienced one of the few shocks of his adventurous career. Stanley Wood was gone!

THE WHITE LEGHORN HATCHERY

If you could see the 1938 matings that THE WHITE LEGHORN HATCHERY has you would not wonder at their boasting of quality chicks.

Farm A—
Pen 1. Dams up to 289 egg record—Sire dams 300 plus.
Pen 2. Dams as high as 225—Sire's dams all above 300.
Pen 3. Dams up to 200—Sire's dams 256 to 263.

Farm B—All pens Pen-pedigreed — Sires dams up to 341 eggs in pullet year.

Farm C—Not a pen that contains a female from dam under 250 eggs—Sires dams all above 300 pedigreed matings.

Farm D—Each pen contains select individuals from trap-nest hens from 250 to 289 eggs in pullet year.

Farm E—
Pen 1. Individual pedigreed 90% from hens above 300 eggs—mated to male bird from a 352 egg hen.
Pen 2. Females not pedigreed but from a 300 egg blood-line headed by pedigreed males from above 300 egg dams.

If you buy from THE WHITE LEGHORN HATCHERY you can't keep from getting choice chicks. Ask them for their complete 1938 mating list. And remember they are members of THE BABY CHICK ASSOCIATION. Which gives you the greatest possible protection.

French Women Are Assured Of Freedom From Centuries-Old Marriage Obligation 'Obey'

PARIS, Feb. 15. (AP)—French women have been assured freedom from their centuries-old marriage obligation to "obey" their husbands.

The official transcript of the far-reaching civil rights bill for women was published Monday in the official journal. It has been approved by both the senate and chamber of deputies.

The measure recognizes women as the equals of men as well as according them civil rights.

The act changes the ancient Napoleonic marital law to read "the husband is the head of the family and has the choice of the family's residence," instead of "the husband owes protection to his wife and wife obedience to her husband."

For more than a century French wives have been the legal prisoners of their husbands under the Napoleonic principle that "nature made women our slaves."

LEADING ISSUES DIP

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. (AP) — The stock market encountered selling flurries today after an early rally and leading issues dipped fractions to as much as 2 points.

A crack in Chicago grain prices helped reverse the upward trend, observers declared. Other factors they said, were profit selling and the statement of Secretary Morgenthau before a congressional committee that the business situation "is most acute." He added, however, the recession was leveling out, but declined to predict a bottom might be reached.

Virtual suspension by the treasury of its gold sterilization program was regarded in Wall Street as mildly inflationary in its psychological aspects, but had little effect on the market except to boost gold mining stocks in the final hour.

Volume failed to pick up much and transfers totaled only 523,310 shares compared with 400,870 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks slipped .4 of a point at 43.8.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15. (AP)—After advancing into new high ground for the present movement cotton prices reacted later today under realizing and liquidation. The close was steady at net losses of 3 to 7 points.

In early dealings the trade and speculative interests purchased on the passage of the farm bill by the senate late yesterday and the treasury's new gold program.

Trade circles believed the farm bill would result in a considerable cut in acreage and would bring about freer trading in the staple because of the amendment impounding approximately 5,000,000 bales until 1939. The gold plan was believed put forward to aid commodities and induce larger buying orders.

The demand was supplied at advances of 7 to 8 points however, and prices started downward shortly after mid-session. Selling became most aggressive in the afternoon but there was some rebuying and last prices were several points above the bottom on most positions.

March contracts closed at 8.92. May at 8.97, July at 9.05@9.06, Oct. at 9.13, Dec. at 9.15 and Jan. at 9.17.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. (AP)—After advancing into further new high ground for the movement early today, cotton eased in sympathy with the action of stocks and grains. May sold off from 8.98@8.61 and closed at 8.87, with final prices 5 points net higher to 4 lower.

Bullish foreign views of senate passage of the farm bill late yesterday and of the treasury's modified gold policy, were reflected in opening gains of 8 to 11 points. Prices advanced a few points further but heavy realizing developed around the 9 cent basis. In the last hour prices slipped 11 to 17 points from the highs to net losses of 2 to 8 points. A little covering and trade buying accounted for partial recoveries in the last few minutes.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern markets was 8.91 cents a pound average for the past thirty market days 8.65 cents a pound.

WILL LIST 800 ACRES

WHITEFACE, (Special) — Pick Flowers has rented the Alamo farms four miles northwest of here on highway 24 and will begin listing the 800 acres. He will run his tractor 24 hours a day, he said. The farm belongs to Fred Snyder of Lbbock.

Ecuador refused in 1911 a United States offer to lease the Galapagos islands for 99 years as a naval base for $15,000,000.

Additional Praise Is Given Lubbock For Work In Campaign

Lubbock as the "cleanest city in Texas has been acclaimed to a mailing list of at least 15,000, including every chamber of commerce in the United States, by the National Cleanup, Paintup Campaign bureau in Washington, D. C., according to notification received at the chamber of commerce here Tuesday.

The praise of Lubbock is contained in a communication from the bureau inviting various cities of the nation to participate in the cleanup, paintup campaign of 1938. It brings to attention that Lubbock recently, for the eighth consecutive year, was awarded the trophy for having made the outstanding cleanup record of any Texas city the previous 12 months. The communication bears the signature of R. W. Emerson, executive secretary of the bureau.

Accompanying the communication is a reproduction in its entirety of an editorial which appeared in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram after Lubbock had been announced as the 1937 trophy winner. Title of the editorial was, "The Cleanest City in Texas," and it related wholly to the record Lubbock had made.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Feb. 15. (AP)—Indications that drouth in domestic drouth areas southwest and west had been broken by widespread rains mashed Chicago wheat prices down 3⅜ cents a bushel today.

Brisk trading in wheat here accompanied the fall of values, with execution of many stop-loss selling orders accelerating the market collapse. Adding impetus to the price tumble was a forecast of more rain or snow throughout virtually the entire United States winter wheat area.

Fresh bulges in sterling exchange rates to new peaks for the season were generally interpreted by wheat traders here as a reflection of United States treasury steps to limit sterilizing of gold, but not as a direct measure of inflation.

At the close, Chicago wheat future were at about day's bottom prices, 2⅞ to 3⅜ cents under yesterday's finish, May 91⅞@93, July 87½@87⅝, corn ⅝ to ⅞ down, May 59@59⅛, July 60, oats unchanged to ⅜ off, rye showing 1¾ to 2 cents drop, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents advance.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Feb. 15. (AP)—Demand for grain was dull here today. Estimated receipts: wheat 16 cars, corn 2, sorghums 4.

Want To Find Oddities? Then Look Into Law Of Texas And Court Records For Laughs; Quirks Of Legal Statutes Are Found

By DAN TARPLEY
Avalanche Staff Writer

Texas law, like the statutes of other states, are filled with oddities, if not downright freaks.

Talk with Lubbock attorneys and you'll hear plenty.

For instance:

A person is subject to a fine of $1 to $25 if he does not return a public library book after he has been given final notice by the library.

Charges His Own Client

One of Lubbock's attorneys, still a practicing lawyer, in representing a Mexican confused the names of the complaining witness and the defendant in a criminal action and filed a complaint against his own client.

The client was jailed.

When browsing through a volume of Texas law, it was found that it is unlawful to strew Johnson grass seed on land of another person. Likewise, a person selling wheat, oats, feed, or other products that might have Johnson grass heads or seeds in them to another person who does not know that the heads or seeds were contained therein is subject to fines ranging from $25 to $1,000.

Unlawful To Carry Pliers

Attorneys here generally agreed, although exact laws were not found, that it is unlawful in Texas to carry pliers, more specifically, "wire-cuttters," in an automobile. The law was supposed to have been passed when the feud between cattlemen and farmers was at its height, and an attendant fence cutting practice.

District Attorney Burton S. Burks, a student of Texas criminal law several years and who has kept notes on many "unusual" decisions and ruling, had among his notes references to show that:

Proof that a man has a child or children is sufficient evidence he is married legally; but proof that a woman has a child is not sufficient evidence to show that she is legally married.

Case Ordered Reversed

Rulings in the same week from the court of criminal appeals: Affirmed a case in which a man charged with rape had been convicted of assault to rape, in view of the fact the greater charge included the lesser; but ordered reversal of the case of a man who was charged with attempted burglary and who was convicted of that charge upon testimony revealing there actually was a burglary. It was pointed out in the latter case that, legally speaking, attempted burglary can be charged only under circumstances in which the facts do not show the completed act of burglary.

The law of confessions requires that a defendant, when under arrest, making a voluntary statement must be warned that what he says may be used in evidence against him, but if in giving the warning the officer inadvertently tells him, that such, statement may be used for or against him, the addition of the words "for or" render a statement inadmissible in evidence.

Regarding Continuances

If a defendant is in jail and makes a sworn application for continuance, the statements therein cannot be used against him on trial; but if the sworn application for continuance is made when he is under bond, the statements therein may be used against him.

When a defendant is on examining trial, any voluntary statement he may make when not under oath may be used against him, but if it is sworn to, it is not admissible.

A person charged with a criminal offense may upon examining trial make "a voluntary statement" and say as much or as little as he desires, but even after taking the stand in such proceeding, if he is cross-examined by the state's attorney what he says on cross-examination may not be used against him on trial, however incriminating it might be.

Prize Fight Films Illegal

On fingering through volumes of Texas law, it was found by County Attorney Robert J. Allen that, although it is lawful to have prize fights in Texas, it is unlawful to show moving pictures of them. The fines are $100 to $1,000.

A Lubbock lawyer who refused to disclose any names repeated an incident which happened at a Texas town, although he "won't swear by it." A senior member of a law firm told a younger member to go see a woman who wished to sue a railroad company.

The youthful attorney learned that when the woman was awaiting a train at a depot a "norther blew in." The woman had the situation well in hand, however, and went to the woman's lounge to change to "long-handles" in her suitcase. When in the midst of the change, which meant entirely without clothes, an employe of the railroad company entered. She was embarrassed and wanted to sue.

Question Is Debated

The lawyer spent the next two weeks at the law library in attempts to determine if the woman was a "naked transpasser or a bare licensee."

A young attorney here produced an excerpt from a judge's charge to the jury: "The indictment charges the prisoner with stealing a pig. This offense seems to be becoming a common one. The time has come when it must be put a stop to; otherwise, gentlemen, none of you will be safe."

Whether it's the true cause of the "unusual" things in law or not, it was said in the proceedings of a case at Texarkana, Texas, that:

"Men have been getting drunk ever since Noah celebrated the subsidence of the flood. The ancient Germans, from whom the Anglo-Saxon race sprung, used to propose their laws in their legislature while drunk and consider their passage while sober. And it is suspected by some that their descendants propose laws in legislatures of the present day while in the same condition, though their enactment may not be considered while sober, as by their ancestors."

'One-Arm Driver' To Be In Radio Skit By Schools Today

Citing the dangers of one arm driving, reckless bicycle riding, and students who are underage driving automobiles, the Safety club of Senior High school will present the regular Lubbock Public school program over station KFYO this afternoon at 3:45. Eugene Williamson, president of the club, and Kenneth Duke are in charge of the program. It has been directed by Erton Tate, the sponsor.

A skit on the "One-Arm Driver" will open the program. In the skit will be Eugene Williamson, G. C. Lindsey, Marie Peterman, Ernest Thaxton, and Kenneth Duke. Safety songs written in the social science classes of Mr. Tate will be sung by the boy's quartet, directed by Mrs. F. Waldo Trotter. Boys in the quartet are Jack Giles, Neil Armstrong, Ed Armstrong, and Carey May.

Eugene Williamson will be the interviewer for the second part of the program when different types of high school students are questioned. Dilla Parker will represent the average high school girl driver, Kennth Lovell the underage driver, and A. J. Lair the bicycle rider.

The program will be broadcast from Senior High auditorium, and visitors are invited to witness the program, those in charge said.

Lamesa To Vote School Bonds

LAMESA, Feb. 14. (Special) — Voters of the Lamesa Independent school district will decide on March 3 as to erection of a new school building when they vote on issuance of $83,000 in bonds.

Crowded conditions in the schools particularly in the primary grades, is such that a new building is necessary. It is proposed to build a 12-room structure, with storage space and an auxiliary room. This will permit changes in rearrangements of rooms to handle the emergency.

The school board considered a petition signed by over 60 taxpayers, asking for the election.

Enrollment in the high school, also crowded, is 535, with 1,068 in the grades. Enrollment continues to increase every week since the mid-term enrollment, the present total of 1,603 is an all-time record.

Indictment Against Owen White Voted By Grand Jury In Bexar

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 15. (AP) — Owen P. White, writer for a national magazine (Collier's) was indicted today by the Bexar county grand jury for criminal libel in connection with statements made in an article published in 1937.

The indictment specifically charges that White libelled Dr. W. A. King, city health officer, in an issue of the magazine in September, 1937.

White's residence in Springfield, Ohio. Court officials said libel in Texas is not an extraditionable offense.

Oil Session Will Be In Amarillo

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Feb. 15.—More than 1000 oil men from the Mid-Continent district will gather in Amarillo Thursday for the spring meeting of the production division of the American Petroleum Institute.

Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Texas Railroad commission—the state's oil regulatory body—and the chairman of the state oil compact, will open the meeting with an address of welcome. Thompson's home is in Amarillo.

Leading oil men in the Mid-Continent district will present technical papers, many of them illustrated by motion pictures, on the various phases of the oil business.

More than 500 oil men have made reservations for the meeting and the list of delegates is increasing daily. Members of the local arrangements committee said that although the meeting would be one of the division's largest in recent years, adequate hotel accommodations had been arranged.

The Mid-Continent district includes all of Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, northern Louisiana, North Texas and the Texas Panhandle.

Data Is Given On Pullman Rates

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 15—The railroad commission learned today why railroads charge more for the privilege of riding in a Pullman than for travel in other coaches.

Ernest O. Thompson, commission member, raised the question at a hearing on a request of railroads to boost rates on several classes of passenger fares, a request already denied once.

"If I want to ride a Pullman" inquired Thompson, "Why do I have to buy a higher-priced ticket, in addition to paying the special charge for a Pullman?"

Down Same Track

"It's the same train, going down the same track, isn't it?"

Attorneys for the railroads gave the answer. It costs the railroads more to operate the Pullmans, they said.

W. L. Rodgers of St. Louis, chairman of the Southwestern Passenger association, said in Europe there were first, second and third classes of travel by railroad, but the American people won't stand for the system, at least by name.

"Every man in this country thinks he is as good as another," he said.

Spoke up another lawyer.

Just Like Hotel

"It's just like a hotel. You can get a room with or without bath."

It was explained further railroads paid the Pullman company fixed charges and had to have higher rates for travel in Pullmans to meet those charges. It was said Pullmans weighed more and required extra servicing at terminals.

Higher rates were asked on first class round trip tickets with limits of six months, round trip coach fares with 30-day limits and certain fares affecting traffic to and from El Paso in a tourist car primarily intended to care for travel between New Orleans and San Francisco.

The carriers claimed the increases would net about $35,000 a year additional revenue.

The commission was not convinced, it said, the requested increases would yield more revenue.

Mrs. R. J. Doss Of Post Dies In City

Mrs. R. J. Doss, 46, of Post was claimed by death yesterday morning at 6:45 in a hospital here where she had undergone major surgery several days ago. She had been a patient there since early in February.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Primitive Baptist church in Slaton. Rev. Virgil Lawrence, pastor, will officiate. Rev. Chas. Bollmer will assist. Rix Funeral home will conduct burial rites.

Mrs. Doss had lived in the South Plains area for 14 years. She recently moved to Garza county, her former residence, from Terry county.

Survivors include her husband; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McCampbell of Post; three brothers, A. T. and J. D. McCampbell of Post, and O. B. McCampbell of Fort Worth; five sisters, Mrs. N. R. Crosbyton Church Is Planning Program

(Special To The Avalanche)

CROSBYTON, Feb. 15.—A dedicatory service will be held Sunday by members of the first Baptist church here in observance of the payment of the church's indebtedness, said Rev. L. E. Kent, pastor.

Rev. R. C. Campbell, former pastor of the First Baptist church at Lubbock and now executive secretary of the state mission board of Dallas, will take part on the program. Others who will participate in the service include Dr. Lee Scarborough, president of the Southwestern Theological Seminary at Fort Worth and Dr. J. Pat Horton, pastor of the First Baptist church at Plainview.

"An all day service will be conducted and there will be dinner on the ground," Mr. Kent said. All former members are invited.

Construction of the church began in 1929, and it was completed the next year.
