COMMITTEE OPENS WATER RIGHTS HEARING CONSPIRACY TRIAL OF FALL AND SINCLAIR OPENS

TRIAL FOLLOWS CANCELLATION OF OIL LEASE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Twelve tentative jurors selected today in District of Columbia supreme court to try Harry F. Sinclair and Albert B. Fall on criminal conspiracy charges arising out of the leasing of the Teapot Dome naval reserve. They are subject to challenge by opposition counsel.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The weight of a supreme court standing against them, Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair went to trial today on charges of criminal conspiracy growing out of the famous Teapot Dome naval reserve.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Although today's proceedings in the district of Columbia court are only the preliminary phase of the long drawn out fight of the government to cancel the oil leases granted by Fall as secretary of the interior, the supreme court's action in cancelling the Teapot Dome leases expressed the opinion of the twelve tentative jurors that the two defendants had conspired together. That opinion, however, was rendered in the civil and did not relate directly to indictments under which Fall and Sinclair are being tried.

Both in Court Room... The million-dollar oil operator and his partner, were in the little court room early. They presented a sharp contrast. Fall, a tall, grizzled veteran of the frontier days of the southwest, wore the stamp of experience as prosecutor and lawyer before he attained to national reputation as senator and cabinet officer.

The petition charges that when Myrick and Oshman obtained the $249,000 worth of bonds they presented the bonds to the plaintiff and demand made but before the plaintiff would be permitted to obtain them, same would have to pay $1,745 above the price contracted with the city, which excess was paid in order to prevent the plaintiff from having to pay a forfeit to the defendant.

Life's Niceties HINTS ON ETIQUET

1. When are suppers usually given?
 2. Does one seat guests formally, or is a buffet supper just as good form?
 3. At a buffet supper how is the food served?
- The answers:
Suppers, holidays, after the theater or opera, or in summer, when the dinner comes at noon.

The silver, dishes and food are placed on tables and either servants pass them or guests wait on themselves.

Jersey Becomes Formal As It Makes A Comeback For Fashion's Favor; It Often Has Snappy Trimmings Of Fur

BY BETSY SCHUYLER
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Dog days of Indian summer seem to be fetching out "doggy" clothes for the smart set. Shows that are being held in Gotham's environs.

Dorothy Ledyard

I take back a lot I said about elaborate, formal daytime frocks suits clear out of sight!

Some Have Even Fur! Some of them even have fur to dignify them! A midnight blue cardigan jumper and skirt at the recent North Shore Kennel Club dog show had a regular vestee and collar of mole, with a little four-in-hand of the fur.

One smart model had a tweed circle skirt, anora cardigan and jumper and under the skirt, as the wearer stood with one foot on an auto step, one glimpsed a cute pair of English shorts of the jersey with tweed bandings.

I noticed Mrs. F. E. Blackwell leaning on her Alpine stick surveying a recent sports event, wearing a striking striped two-piece jersey suit—almost a brick red, with black and pinkish reds in an odd striped weave that looked like peasant embroidery.

Mrs. Soldwedel's Odd Weave. Mrs. Frederick Soldwedel sponsored another odd weave—a zigzag pattern of tiny diamond-shaped dots in white yellow and brown. The skirt had sidepleated insets that flared like an open fan. A fan like jabot flared from the left side of the collarless neck.

Miss Nancy Hawthorn, who won a second prize with her little white "Dinky" wore a trim three-piece sports suit of a soft blue jersey, with the jumper decoratively striped with a somewhat deeper blue and shot with silver. Glass buttons and a cute little boutonniere of glass flowers enlivened her outfit.

The new high neck is much more stylish than any other note in new sportswear. Mrs. John Van S. Bloodgood is one of the first to adopt it. Her rosey angora sports suit looked smartly trim with one of the high collars—the kind that resembled a bit like a Russian smock—under the left ear. A banding running from the neck to the bottom of the jumper also decorated the left side, and in turn was decorated with wooden buttons and piping in a darker tone.

Her rose hat had a couple of left tabs flapping from the high crown that corresponded to the jabot side of her high collar.

Of the younger girls who favored kasha or tweed with their jerseys, Miss Dorothy Ledyard was a charming example. Grass-green jersey and kasha fashioned the two piece dress she wore and a little green enameled clover in matching shade ornamented her darker green felt hat.

Her skirt was circular and her jewelry had a snug hipline, a collarless neck and two tiny tufts had shoulder fullness.

Evident at the Ritz. All this dressing up of Jersey is only one indication of just how formal, decorative, interesting and unusual are many of the season's modes. If you don't realize the change—step into the Ritz for tea. There's all the difference in the world in, say, the headgear this season and last. I saw Mrs. Dorothy Caruso (as the late Caruso's widow chooses to be called since she divorced Capt. Ingram in Paris) in a stunning, soft green turban that had just the right bit of manipulation up-in-the-front to give it individuality.

Broadway openings, too, are always as interesting for the brilliant assemblages in the audience as for the productions. Swatched hiplines with flaring dipping, semitilted skirts—bodices elaborately decorated but simply cut, though very low.

Mrs. Margaret Perry, at "The Letter" opening, wore a stunning Chanel gown of tulle lace, embroidered in matching lace in the trip, tailored belt, with the most ordered with a left side drape and a nate of rhinestone buckles. Her evening cape was of gorgeous seal brown velvet, tiered.

Distribution Of Air Mail Matter In Gotham Rapped

(By Associated Press)
WEST BADEN, Ind., Oct. 17.—The mounting protests and popularity of air mail in the east is endangering in sorting and distributing this matter in the New York postoffice, Harold H. Brannan of Detroit, Mich., complained in a formal statement to the postal service commissioner of the United States which the committee in session here last night took under advisement.

Asserting that there was considerable delay in the "workings" of mail which 200 trains bring into New York every morning, Brannan said that "the air mail received the same treatment with the result that frequently it would have been delivered earlier had it been sent by regular mail."

Brannan urged that the committee communicate with Postmaster General New, with a view of having air mail handled separately in the New York postoffice, even if a special clerk or clerks must be assigned to do it.

WEEK-END HIGH TELTS PRESAGE BATTLES FOR DISTRICT CROWN

AMARILLO AND VERNON SEEM THE STRONGEST

LUBBOCK PREPARES TO BATTLE ELECTRA IN SATURDAY'S GAME

The Class A conference of the Panhandle high schools opened last week-end with the Amarillo Sandies, Vernon Lions, and Electra Tiders keeping their slate clear and with the Lubbock Westerners Plainview Bulldogs and Quannah Chiefs looking equal. The Wichita Falls Coyotes were idle but will play their first conference game this week-end with the Lions of Vernon.

Amarillo Beats Lubbock
The Amarillo machine defeated the Lubbock Westerners in a hard fought contest by a score of 13 to 9. The Vernon team won over the Allen Kennel of Plainview by a score of 20 to 9, and Electra trounced the Chiefs of Quannah by a score of 46 to 9. The conference percentage standing for the first week is:

	P	W	L	Pct.
Amarillo	1	1	0	100
Vernon	1	1	0	100
Electra	1	0	0	100
Wichita Falls	0	0	0	000
Lubbock	1	0	1	000
Plainview	1	0	1	000
Quannah	1	0	1	000

Vernon And Amarillo Strong

Vernon and Amarillo present the strongest bid for the conference title thus far, however, since the Wichita Falls Coyotes have not yet played a conference game they are still considered in the running. Electra run amuck over the Quannah Chiefs ringing up a high school which indicated a strong offensive club. The Vernon Lions are thought to be the strongest club of the district by a majority of the Class A coaches. The Amarillo and Lubbock mentors are looking for a hard tussle with the Vernon combination.

Westerners Meet Electra Friday

The Westerners of the Lubbock high school start another grilling week of workouts for the second conference game with the Electra high school Tigers on the home gridiron Friday afternoon. This game was scheduled to be played on Saturday afternoon but since the Texas Tech officials shifted the scene of their game with the Sul Ross Teachers College from Amarillo to Lubbock the high school authorities were forced to move up their scheduled contest with the Electra club to Friday.

Big Fighting Spirit

The Westerners displayed the greatest fighting spirit that has been shown on the Panhandle this season when they battled with the highly touted Sandies last week-end. Even though defeated by a score of 13 to 9 the high school combination looked good; they fought, they drove, they passed and for two quarters outplayed, out-generaled, and out-gamed the Golden Sandstormers. The high school club of this city is deserving of the attention of the fans and with this attention the lads will battle harder and more for the local school.

COLLEGE GIRLS GET NEW PLAN FOR ATHLETICS

Each Chooses Sport Most Desired And Centers On It

By Associated Press
DENVER, Oct. 17.—"The old order changeth" and dumbbells no longer have a place in the modern college gymnasium.

They have passed out of the picture along with Indian clubs and the old count of "All Together! One, two, three, four."

At the University of Denver, at least, this new conception of athletic activities for girls was put into actual practice when the fall term opened this year under the direction of Mabel S. Billing, director of the department of physical education.

Sport Is Chosen
Pursuing formal exercise, including the swinging of dumbbells as "old-fashioned" and "impractical," Miss Billing is aiding the college in choosing the type of sport in which they are most interested. The selection is now much the same as the judgment exercised in the selection of a sorority or the choosing of a husband.

According to this new program a co-ed may choose the sport or game which will give her most enjoyment. The range of choice includes fencing, riding, swimming, archery, hockey, tennis, basketball, track, volleyball, baseball and hiking.

Natural Inclinations
"The girls are allowed to follow their natural inclination and insist as nearly as possible," Miss Billing says. "We are concentrating on this program in order to give them something which can be carried into real life. We have found that few students will follow a program of formal exercise after leaving school."

On the other hand, if the girls follow a sport in which they are directly interested and in which they can become efficient, they will continue to make use of that knowledge after leaving college. I have reached the conclusion after 18 years of physical education instruction, that it is much better for the student to act on individual instinct in athletic work than to exercise only in unison.

Department Managers
As a result of this innovation in the college athletic system, each sport with sufficient followers to make a showing has been organized with a manager for each department.

The program for girls has received co-operation from the Women's Athletic Association of the school, which is in direct charge of this phase of the co-ed's education.

Miss Billing received her degree in physical education from the Yale university summer school in 1905.

Cuyler May Go
Don't take it for granted that at the trade talk, as well as the actual transactions, are going to be confined to the American League.

John McGraw of the New York Giants thought he had an excellent chance to win the National League pennant. He did. As a result he watched the team in spring training. The Giants fell short and, if so doing, revealed several weak points.

No one knows better than John McGraw where the club must be strengthened, if it is again to be a serious contender. The leader of the Giants isn't the kind of a manager who remains silent and sits idle when there is work to be done.

It looks as if Pittsburgh would be in the market with "Kiki" Cuyler and he should be an even more interesting trade prospect than the great Sleser, since he is much younger.

New players make for increased interest and it's a cinch that every club that failed to come up to expectations during the past season will at least offer new faces for fan-dim's consideration, stars if possible.

AGGIES BATTLE HORNFROGS THIS WEEK-END

ENTIRE CADET CORPS TO MAKE TRIP TO FORT WORTH

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 17.—Efforts to gain recognition for swimming as a conference sport are being made by swimming club composed of A. and M. college students.

As yet official recognition of swimming as a sport has not been given by the athletic council of the college and the council decided at a recent meeting not to accord such recognition until it has facilities for such a sport and until swimming has been recognized by the Southwest conference. Swimming is included, however, as one of the intramural sports of the college.

Swimming is classed as one of the major sports in many of the eastern athletic conferences and should at least be rated as one of the minor sports in the Southwest conference. Turner suggested. Swimming teams rarely exist at the University of Texas and S. M. U. and there should be very little difficulty in forming teams at the other schools in the conference, he added.

The local swimming team last year demonstrated much strength in defeating the Houston team and in establishing records in the 50 yard dash and in the 200 yard relay in the splash day meet at Galveston. All the members of last year's team are back and there are 48 candidates in addition to those who are working for places on the team.

Last Year's Team
Last year's team was as follows: Herman Cox, Fort Worth coach; Drexley Turner, E. D. Clardy, Galveston; C. M. Everts, Houston; P. Anderson, Los Angeles; E. M. Meyers, Pearland; C. H. Hegenmann, San Antonio; H. L. Phillips, Dallas; W. M. McCrea, Dallas; W. Woodliff, Dallas.

Turner is Gulf coast champion of 50 and 100 yard dashes; Everts holds southern A. A. U. record for 50 yard dash and the Houston city record for 100 and 200 yard dash, while Clardy holds the Gulf coast championship with back stroke for 50, 100 and 200 yard dashes with time records better than those of any collegiate swimmer on record.

Friday around noon with the Aggie players enroute to Fort Worth. The party of players and officials will number about thirty. From here the Aggies will go to Waco first, stopping there over Friday night. They will arrive in Waco in the afternoon and expect to hold a workout on the Texas league baseball field, Saturday morning they will go to Fort Worth in motor buses.

Ships Seek Rescue Of Lumber Schooner
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17 (AP)—Three ships today were fighting a gale to save the lumber schooner Wallingford, bound from Portland to San Francisco with 29 men and a woman aboard, from going on the rocks south of Point Arago, on the Oregon coast.

The steamer lost her propeller Saturday night, and the tow line which the steamer Cellis put aboard to bring her south broke yesterday. Radio dispatches late yesterday said the steamer Wallingford had put a line aboard the Wallingford and was struggling south with the crippled steamer in tow. The U. S. coast guard cutter Cahokia was steaming from Eureka to help in the rescue.

The steamers Silverado and Cellis were standing by to assist if possible.

FINANCES, NOT DISAGREEMENT, CAUSED BREAK UP IN MISSOURI VALLEY, CLAIM COACHES OF SIX WITHDRAWING TEAMS

Financial Reasons Alone And The Necessity For Making Every Football Game A Super-Attraction Caused The Break, Several Valley Athletic Heads Declare

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 17.—The high cost of athletics, particularly football, was the big factor in the recent disruption of the Missouri valley conference, established in 1907, when teams were glad to get their expenses paid to games, the conference has seen the development of athletics to a point where success in a financial way has caused its virtual collapse.

Six of the most important members—Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Iowa State and the Kansas Aggies—announced their withdrawal from the conference to form a new six-school association, leaving only Grinnell, Drake, Washington and the Oklahoma Aggies in the old conference. The withdrawal becomes effective in June, 1928.

Financial reasons alone and the necessity for making every football game a super-attraction caused the break, several valley athletic heads declare.

King Football, which foots the bill for most of the other intercollegiate sports, must pay in a large measure for the monster athletic stadia and field houses in the larger valley schools. The withdrawing members all have huge physical athletic plants to maintain, and none of the four remaining teams in the conference has ever drawn the large crowd necessary to pay fancy amounts to rival schools.

Each of the six withdrawing members must realize from $10,000 to $25,000 profit on each football game played to keep the books balanced, one athletic director pointed out.

"The football season," he said, "must show a balance, above expenses, of between $75,000 and $150,000 in order to pay the expenses of intramural and the lesser intercollegiate sports and the salaries of the coaching staffs, buy equipment and keep up the athletic plants."

The football season is too short, directors point out to sandwich in games with non-profit paying schools. A few years ago Nebraska made a long trip to Oklahoma on a guaranteed guarantee of $5,000. The actual expense of the trip was $2,000, Oklahoma university recently journeyed to St. Louis to play Washington University and the guarantee failed by $300 to pay the expenses of the trip.

Sentiment, strained relations, hard feelings, or other reasons yard dash and in the 200 yard relay in the splash day meet at Galveston. All the members of last year's team are back and there are 48 candidates in addition to those who are working for places on the team.

Famous Surgeon Is Also Famous Man On Football Field; Dr. O'Brien Can Operate Equally Well Both Places

By BILLY EVANS

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—One of Boston's leading surgeons five days of the week, one of football's greatest referees the rest of the time, and rated by many of the leading coaches as the best of all football arbiters—that is the dual personality Dr. E. J. O'Brien lives during the ten weeks of the football season.

As a youngster, football was always a hobby with Eddie O'Brien, the name by which players, coaches and football fans know the famous surgeon. It continued during his college days at Tufts. It has remained with him ever since.

For many years the name "E. J. O'Brien, Tufts" has been carried in the summary of most of the outstanding grid games of the year as one of the officials. While Dr. O'Brien is usually selected as the referee he is equally at home at any of the other positions.

In all probability, Eddie O'Brien will keep the atmosphere of the football field rather than the clinic and thereby drop the prefix doctor for a time) is the only football official in all the wide world who loses money when acting as one of the officials at a football game. How? Well, let me explain.

His football work makes it necessary that he depart for his destination Friday evening. That means for two days each week he must turn over certain details of his work to other surgeons. Since his services as a specialist call for a fancy fee, it is easy to understand why it usually costs Eddie O'Brien plenty of money when he acts as the referee at Yale and Army, Dartmouth and Harvard, Princeton and Yale, Army and Navy or any of the other big games. A stipend of $150 is top price for an official.

Why then, you ask, does Dr. E. J. O'Brien refer to keep in close touch with injuries that ultimately will require major operations, suggest Major Cavanaugh, Fordham coach, who happened to be present at the time.

"How long are you going to keep at the refereeing game?" I recently asked Dr. O'Brien.

"Just as long as anybody is willing to have me officiate," was his rejoinder. "I love the game, its associations and its thrills."

I am inclined to think you merely refer to keep in close touch with injuries that ultimately will require major operations, suggest Major Cavanaugh, Fordham coach, who happened to be present at the time.

Recently the Daily Journal published a picture of what its owner thought was the smallest bible in the world.

That let's get back to these bibles. Neither one is more than a half inch square and neither can be read without the aid of a strong reading glass.

There are millions of bibles in the world of which a picture will never be taken - much less published in hundreds of newspapers - get any one of those bibles and you are probably more benefited than the little ones.

A bible is just like anything else - it must be used if any good is to be taken from it. It isn't the freak bibles of the world upon which the salvation of millions hang.

That Girl on Broadway says a race won at the flip-flop - not at the halfway point like so many people seem to think.

An airplane fell near San Antonio recently, killing five passengers. Had it not been for the truthfulness of trust of one of the ill-fated passengers the world would never have known just what had happened during the fatal flight.

William Winburn, of the San Antonio Light, just a newspaper reporter, was one of those who died. When the plane fell his notes, taken preparatory to the writing of a feature article concerning the trip, were found intact, giving other reporters 'covering' the accident, not only the names and initials of the people who were killed but also many essential features of the flight.

It does not take the barest mental grasp, the hearing of his martial music, the booming of his brass band, the cheers of a crowd to make a hero of anybody. Plenty of opportunities are offered to us all in every-day life, even though most of them are overlooked.

Opportunity is the only knock-out of which anything good can be said.

Morrow Will Find An Election Fight In Mexico Like Ours If Coolidge Ran, Dutcher Writes From Capital

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer. WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. - (Special) Morrow will find Mexico in the midst of a presidential campaign which will remind him of the third year of our own.

PARIS, Oct. 17. - If Paris is to be described in a word, that word is "majesty." It has and abides in majesty. It has and abides in a sense of individualistic social life, but physically the city is majestic. In fact, the main campaign issues of the Mexican campaign is whether a president, having served one term, should ever be re-elected as long as he lives.

The question of real importance to the United States, however, is not one of re-election, but of whether the next president will be strong enough and wise enough to protect American lives and property, meet Mexico's financial obligations and guide Mexico toward the day when there will be one of our biggest export markets as a result of increased buying power.

The candidates are former President Alvaro Obregon and General Arnaldo Gomez. Obregon is the man whose force and diplomacy stopped the post-Diaz series of revolutions and who put the government on a comparatively sound basis before handing the reins to Calles. General Serrano, who was regarded as a presidential possibility, was slain in the uprising in Mexico City the other day.

The "no re-election" cry is directed at Obregon, principally by the followers of Gomez. These point to the 1917 constitution which stipulated that a president should never (nearly) be re-elected. The Obregon folks say that this only meant a president couldn't succeed himself and that, anyway, the last congress formally interpreted the law to permit non-successive re-election. The answer of the opposition is that Obregon's election might mean a return of the old days of the Diaz dictatorship, although Obregon is a liberal.

The Calles-Obregon faction has charged that Serrano and Gomez were financed by foreign oil companies. Gomez has shown marked favoritism to the oil interests during his term. Cruz responded, "but Calles and Obregon were said to favor Serrano in case it appeared that Obregon can't make the grade."

In the government at Washington there has been one group which favored Obregon and another which favored Gomez. Gomez, incidentally, has hinted that he will lead a revolution if he is not elected. One reason is the fact that Mexican elections aren't like ours. Mexican politicians may be no more crooked than our own, but their methods are cruder and the party in power at Mexico City is likely to determine the result.

Obregon and Morrow ought to get along very well, principally because both of them presumably will be in a mood to compromise rather than to determine the result.

Holland in wooden shoes clanks by. How, then, are you to remember that just ahead rise the towers of Notre Dame, or that the long, dry reaches of the Tuileries lead to the majestically spreading old edifices of St. Louis. How, then, can you think of majesty when the world is playing its game so prettily in the front yard and sort of blunting its nose at the end of dignity at stage?

Here are buttressed walls and gates that tell of regal past, here is a push cart full of reminders of the New York ghetto, and here an outdoor market in the very center of a boulevard where you can buy anything from two dollars of sugar to a leg of lamb. The "white" neighborhood is out with paper bags and hand-made baskets. A girl from to pursue courses of action wherefrom which both sides would lose. Obregon saved himself in the day by the revolution only with arms obtained from the United States and although he has opposed the Kellough policy, he probably will be guided by an intelligent self-interest.

GILBERT SWAN.

With Our West BY TEXAS JAMES L. DOW Contemporaries

MENTAL SUNSHINE

The title of this is stolen boldly and boldly from a tobacco advertisement, which is proof that it really pays to read the paid-for publicity, often the most useful as well as the most interesting part of our newspapers and periodicals.

Just what ordinary sunshine is we do not know. We know that from it we get light and heat and that both are made up from vibrations in the ether and the atmosphere, which separates the earth from the ether.

We know that a pane of glass will allow the passage through it of a maximum of the light and a minimum of the heat, and we know that a sheet of black iron will allow the passage of a maximum of the heat and a minimum of the light, but the cause of the vibrations and what makes the difference between the light and heat vibrations are among the many unsolved problems of science.

Mental sunshine offers us no such answers. There is nothing through which the light of a smile will not penetrate. There is nothing which will not show the effects of a warm handshake.

There is no sun among all the billions of the heaven's luminaries that will reach into the depths of sorrow but mental sunshine will lighten those dark places and warm the coldness of a soul.

All that we see in this world is made visible by reflected light. The green of the fields, the blue of our sweetheart's eyes, all color and all form are visible to us only by the light which reflected from them and falling upon our retinas is registered by our optic nerves to the opposite side of our heads.

The man who cannot and does not reflect mental sunshine is living in the dark a lonesome and pitiable creature. We cannot cultivate sunshine in the heavens. But we can encourage it in ourselves. We strive and deal for ourselves. We make little or no effort to increase our mental sunshine. Yet empty with-out happiness is a wealth we can spend unceasingly and never lessen the supply.

What do you say to spending five minutes a day letting our mental sun brightly shine light and warmth on whatever is within its radius? If we begin with the five minutes it will shortly shine all through the 24 hours - Cochrans County News.

We are very certain that a very small percent of the people of this world put in anything like the same amount of time trying to spread sunshine in their lives, that they do just moving along indifferently on the pathway of life and doing nothing in that way.

If we could cultivate the habit of being cheerful, our lives would be a great asset to the community in which we live. We do not know of anything that is more commendable of a man or a woman than to have a cheery disposition and have it said of them that they are pleasant all the time. So few people are gifted with that sort of disposition.

Let us resolve that we will make more people happy than we do with a big margin on the former. We will have stars added to our crown if we do, and besides we will have the pleasure of the fine experience of seeing people enjoy life rather than to go dragging through life to see one day and one day and one day to see another come.

Atlanta Officers Rap Celebration Of Tech Students

(By Associated Press.) ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 17. - Celebration such as demolished the downtown district Saturday night as an aftermath of the Georgia Tech victory over Alabama's Crimson Tide are not included in the course of humor of the Atlanta police force.

"In other words," said First Assistant Chief A. Lamar Pool today, "it is all very well for college boys to have their fun, but when it comes to wholesale and deliberate stoppage of traffic and flagrant disregard of every rule of public conduct, it is quite another matter. There will be no repetition of Saturday night's affair."

Saturday's celebration by the Georgia Tech students centered in the business district and before it was quieted it was necessary to call out the police reserves. The riot squad arrived with tear bombs and three companies of the fire department. Several tear bombs exploded in the crowd dispersed the celebrants toward midnight.

OFFICIALS ASK RIGID CONTROL FOR AVIATION

FIVE DEATHS SATURDAY BRING ACTION FOR RETRENCHMENT

(By Associated Press) SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 17.—Stems of a provident method of rigi- nautical control of commercial aviation in the vicinity of San Antonio were taken today by Phil Wright, acting mayor, as resolutions for the funeral of five persons killed in an air crash here Saturday were made.

Wright announced that he was selecting a board of flight experts to investigate the disaster and to recommend some method of avoiding future accidents.

Monoplane Crashes The five persons, three men, a woman, and a three and a half months old baby were killed when a passenger cabin monoplane crashed shortly after leaving the ground, Ed B. Cavanaugh, manager of a local bank, had planned to take four generations of his family to an air show at San Antonio today.

Two unable to fly Cavanaugh's grandchild, his other and his three and one half months old baby, Nancy Katherine, were to have represented the generations. His grandmother was unable to come and at the last moment it was impossible for his mother to make the trip so Cavanaugh took the wife instead, W. S. Winburn, the reporter who was to have written the story accompanied the party to the field and was to have made the flight.

Stalls During Flight The monoplane started to make a big circle around the field, but stalled before it had traveled a mile and nose over. All of the occupants were killed. Funerals for the victims will be held today. They are: Russell Clark, pilot of the plane. W. B. Winburn, Mrs. Ed B. Cavanaugh and their infant daughter.

WATER ROW

(Continued from Page 1) a certain corporation had secured the water rights on the Colorado river. We have no right to make on this corporation, but we want to see justice done and a fair solution arrived at.

Misapprehension Claimed Leonard Tillotson of the Brazos River Improvement association, said there was a misapprehension concerning the state law governing water rights. He pointed to the conservation and reclamation act of 1917 declaring that there is no need of a constitutional amendment.

Asks Peace and Harmony A plea for peace and harmony was made by A. J. Eilers, president of the Colorado Improvement association. "Let's get together, work and cooperate—give and take," he urged. He then cited statistics of the cotton industry.

Members of Committee A. J. Writz, Colorado Improvement association, John Middleton, East Texas Chamber of Commerce, Frank Robertson, Rio Grande association, C. L. McCarthy, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, W. E. Anderson, South Texas Chamber of Commerce, J. C. Cavitation, Guadalupe River Improvement association, T. H. Harbin, Trinity River association, Leonard Tillotson, Brazos River association, Byron Johnson, Pecos River association, Clarence Wharton, rice growers and south Texas organizations; C. H. Clark, Texas Consolidated association; J. V. Stanley, Pecos Valley association.

After an executive session the committee will report back to the all-state committee late this afternoon.

Page Congressmen ANGORA—There is only five days' oratory left for President Kahl. He is progressing on a seven day speech to the congressional assembly telling of the accomplishments of his administration. It is being radio-cast.

FRENCH STAND NOT APPROVED

PROPOSALS IN TARIFF ROW UNSATISFACTORY TO U. S. LEADERS

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Proposals contained in the French tariff report received Saturday night are questioned by the state department officials as far as their examination of the document has proceeded.

The department did not make public any summary of the note today but it was indicated that conditions attached by the French government to concessions as to the status of American goods during commercial treaty negotiations do not satisfy Washington officials.

The specific character of these conditional proposals was not revealed. It was indicated that the French communication would have to be studied in conjunction with the tariff commission and the commerce department before the American answer could be prepared.

Some doubt existed whether the conditions were to be regarded as inseparable from the grant of concessions in that event, it appeared certain that a new deadlock in the tariff controversy was impending.

British Seaplanes Start Long Cruise

PLYMOUTH, England, Oct. 17 (AP)—To the accompaniment of salutes from warships and the cheers of thousands of spectators, four British air force flying boats started today on an Empire cruise of 25,000 miles which is scheduled to take a year to complete.

The flight includes the first aerial coasting of India, a complete circuit of Australia, a hop to Hong Kong and then back to Singapore, where the fleet is expected to be stationed permanently.

Aviator Seeks New Low Gasoline Mark

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Seeking to establish a new record for low gasoline consumption by airplanes, George Messner, test pilot for the Fairchild Aviation corporation, today dived a monotonous course over the Long Island flying fields in a lone triplane started at 5:21 p. m. yesterday.

LEVINE TALKS OF AIR PLANS

REACHES HOME TODAY AND TELLS OF HIS TRIP TO EUROPE

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Charles A. Levine, the only trans-Atlantic air passenger, came home today. He announced on his arrival that he would fly the reverse journey, from Europe to America, next summer, and that within two years he would have in operation an ocean air mail service carrying letters to Europe for fifty cents a piece.

Received By Committee Levine was taken from the Levenson at Quarantine on the city "Macon" which carried the mayor's reception committee headed by Grover Whalen, and relatives and friends of the flyer. Clarence Chamberlin, Levine's pilot on the ocean hop, was not on the Macon and no reason for his absence was given.

Levine accorded reporters a lengthy interview on the Macon as it steamed up the bay, but friends stopped all questions dealing with documents in which the air passenger became embroiled during his four and a half months in Europe.

How about the fight you had with an American on the street in Paris? "That was the first question of this type asked, Levine opened his mouth to answer but a friend interrupted.

Other Answers Halted In the manner Levine was asked and prevented from replying to questions about his differences with the French pilot he hired to fly him back to America. He did, however, talk some about the time he "sold" his own plane in Paris and flew it to London.

Walker Says New York Proud Of Him

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Charles A. Levine, first trans-Atlantic air passenger, returned from Europe today, to be told by Mayor Walker that "no amount of whispering can ever efface the memory that you are a genuine New Yorker and a patriotic American."

"I know something myself," the mayor said at the official welcome in city hall, "about the way people 'crowd' one home from abroad. And I know how far ahead you are from the truth those reports are."

"I remember one thing about your flight, Mr. Levine, when you stepped forward to take your seat with Clarence Chamberlin, no one was killed in the rush to get that seat ahead of you."

"The people of New York, sir, and don't let any one tell you different, are genuinely proud of you for the courageous thing you did to the honor and glory of this city."

FLIERS TO TRY FOR NEW OCEAN PLANE RECORD

JUMP FROM HAWAII TO NEW BRITAIN IS NOW PLANNED

(By Associated Press) OAKLAND, Calif., Oct. 17.—It is a 2,800-mile jump of sea can be achieved by thoroughness of preparation and a spirit of daring, four Australian aviators will carry home with them the world's record for long distance trans-oceanic flying.

Weeks of study of weather and air conditions have convinced Captain Kingsford Smith and his three associates of the feasibility of trying to make a single jump from Hawaii to New Britain Island off the coast of New Guinea.

Alternate As Pilots Captain Smith and Lieut. Keith V. Anderson will alternate as pilots of the ship Charles T. Ulm and W. A. Todd, a sub-lieutenant in the Royal Australian naval reserve, will go as navigators.

When the plane leaves Bay Farm Island, the municipal flying field near Oakland, it will have the largest crew aboard that has headed for Hawaii since the memorable attempt of the late Commander John Rodgers. The seaplanes of his unsuccessful expedition were manned by five men. Only one plane in the recent Dole flight carried as many as three.

1,400 Gallons of Gas With slightly more than 1,400 gallons of gasoline, the Australian plane will have a capacity for a calculated sustained flight of 4 1/2 hours, giving a cruising margin of 200 miles in excess of the distance between Kauai Island, Hawaii and New Guinea.

The jump to Hawaii, while considerably shorter than the next span of the itinerary, is regarded as the more dangerous, first because of the need for greater accuracy in navigation to locate the island and second because weather conditions are likely to be more disagreeable.

In the northern area in October an November, cyclones and squalls are prevalent, while in the South Pacific, where it is spring, the normal weather is more equitable.

Would Avoid Storms Thomas Reed, United States weather observer at San Francisco, believes he can foretell conditions between the Golden Gate and Hawaii far enough in advance to enable the fliers to avoid storms, but his office does not map the weather off the hundred and sixteenth meridians.

Flashes Of Life (By The Associated Press) NEW YORK—Isadora Duncan, dancer in New York where no curtain can separate her from the beauties of the universe, in the opinion of John Cooper Powys, English critic. Powys spoke at a memorial service at St. Mark's-in-the-Bowery and said he thought that a curtain across the altar was peculiar.

"Dry" Delegations

DETROIT—If the Essex County Automobile club, composed of Windsor folks, is correct in its conclusions, Americans visit Ontario mainly to see its scenic beauties. The premises that of 25,000 motorists who entered Ontario via Detroit during the last summer, only 850 bought wet goods in Windsor.

Jazz Symphony

NEW YORK—Leopold Godowsky, pianist and composer, in a studio atop a hotel, is working on a pean of pandemonium. He translates noise of elevated trains, fire sirens, steamboat whistles and the like to what is to be a jazz symphony of a big city.

Some Argument

BOSTON—Pussfoot Johnson and Dudley Field Malone are to argue here November 12 as to whether prohibition should be modified.

SITUATION IN COAL INDUSTRY MOST CURIOUS

While the whole situation is reviewed by a commission, meanwhile, observers in the government and in the industry were hesitant in commenting on the prospects for the future in other fields.

The outstanding fact about the situation is that up to last April when the union fields shut down, there were "too many coal mines and too many coal miners" in the United States to use the language that results in past coal controversies adopted.

Part time operation had for years been characteristic of mine operation. In 1927 the United Mine Workers, under the leadership of John L. Lewis, in the face of the refusal of owners of union mines to pay longer the union wage scale, walked out in a body, and by their action, as so far the situation has ensued, took upon themselves and put upon the union fields all the burden of carrying the overproduction.

Nonunion mines, located, mostly in West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee, assumed the task of supplying the eastern half of the country with coal and have done it with amazing ease. For the week ending September 17, the government figures show, there was a bituminous production of 3,046,000 tons in the country, and for the year 1927, including that date, there has been a total output of 325,000,000 tons, about equal to the average supply. Oil has supplemented the bituminous supply, particularly on railroads, and further, there has been a steady breaking away from union operations in former fields.

Union Control Weakens
During war and post-war years the union dominated coal production in all the more northerly coal producing states like Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Pennsylvania. At the end of six months of the 1927

PRODUCTION IS ABOUT NORMAL IN SPITE OF LENGTHY STRIKE

By C. A. COFFIN
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Never in the turbulent history of the coal industry in the United States has been presented so curious a situation as that which engages operators, miners and consumers with the fall of 1927.

For six months a strike, or rather a work "suspension" in the unionized bituminous mining fields, has been waged, with all the union strength. Approximately 400,000 mine workers have stayed idle at the behest of their own and the union policy without appreciably disturbing the general industrial life of the country. Coal prices have remained low; coal supplies have remained entirely adequate to the demands made upon them; public attention has hardly even been sporadically engaged by the outbreaks of violence, and the record of previous struggles in the mining fields have had almost no counterpart in 1927.

Future Still Uncertain
The first indication of a break in the situation was the settlement reached in Illinois, whereby the miners will go back to work temporarily on the Jacksonville agree-

Little Public Outcry
It is just possible that winter weather and heightened industrial activity may in future months run up the demand for coal and that the Eastern supply from non-union territory will prove adequate. To date the whole difficulty occasioned by the union suspension has been that of having coal hauled a matter of 150 or 250 miles further over railroads than in normal times, and both railroads and consumers have surmised that obstacle easily.

The workers and the mine owners in union territory have stood the burden of their extraordinary contest with little public outcry. So far the federal government has kept out, and there has been no real appeal from the industry for it to do anything else. The union mine operators have asserted that the union wage scale meant ruin for them anyway, and the union has held steadfast to insistence upon the pay rate attained in the years after the war.

Meanwhile the coal fields with the best possible and closest proximity to the industrial northeast of the United States for six months have been reverting to coal pastured scrub woods, while the once populous mining villages and towns have encountered depression amounting to desertion.

Fairy Reappears In London Theater

LONDON, Oct. 17 (AP)—A little London fairy who danced her way into fame in America has come back to her old home town as a star of such proportions that gallery patrons stood in line 30 hours for opening night seats.

For the first time in the history of the city's playgoing, the waiting throng was served hot meals by the theatre management.

Miss Gertrude Lawrence, who made her first appearance on the London stage as a fairy in a Christmas pantomime, went to the United States in 1925 as a member of Charles' Revue, the "really really discovered" in America, where she played the principal part in "Oh, Kay" for a year before bringing the play to London.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocus that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocus is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocus, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocus goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

PENNSYLVANIA DEMOS HOPE TO LEAD IN FIGHT

WOULD END 46 YEARS OF DEFEAT IN PLAN TO OUST VARE

(By Associated Press) HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 17.—Pennsylvania democrats hope they have found a weak link at last in the chain of defeats that for 46 years has barred their path to the United States senate.

Approximately 2,000,000 ballots have been impounded to determine whether or not fraud was perpetrated in the 1926 election in which Senator-elect William S. Vare, republican, led William B. Wilson, democrat, by some 172,000 votes.

Closest to Win This was the closest a democrat had come in many years to winning a United States senatorship in the Keystone state, and Wilson refused to admit defeat. Instead, he charged that fraud had been committed in Philadelphia. Denial of the charges was made by supporters of Vare.

The United States senate is to be final arbiter of the dispute. Should Wilson at last be seated, he would be the first democratic senator from Pennsylvania since William A. Wallace, who served from 1875 to 1881.

Beaten in Philadelphia At the general election last year Wilson, combining the support of the democratic and labor parties, carried 55 of the 67 counties in the state and went into Philadelphia with a lead of approximately 50,000 votes, but a tremendous vote for Vare in his home city turned the tide.

After the election Wilson made allegations of fraud before the special committee named by the senate to investigate the 1926 primary expenditures. This committee, headed by Senator James A. Reed, investigated accounts showing expenditures on behalf of Mr. Vare aggregating more than $650,000.

Certification Refused Gifford Pinchot, republican governor of Pennsylvania and a primary candidate against Vare, refused to certify the election of Vare in the usual manner but informed the senate that "on the basis of returns" Vare apparently had been elected. Later, when Governor John S. Fisher succeeded him, a certificate following the customary form was issued.

Wilson pressed his charges of fraud and ballot boxes in Philadelphia and Allegheny county were taken to Washington by the senate committee. In four counties authorities refused to surrender the boxes. A test case, in which a federal district court refused to order relinquishment of the ballots, has been appealed.

No Votes in 46 Districts In the meantime discovery was made that in 46 Philadelphia districts Wilson had received no votes, or only one vote. Vare forces reported that in many districts in Wilson territory Vare received no votes, and demanded return and recount of all ballots. Orders impounding all ballots and providing for preservation of election records were issued and federal marshals collected more than 5,000 ballot boxes. The ballots now await disposition by the senate committee on privilege and elections, before which the contest is expected to be threshed out.

Another Challenge The challenge to Vare's right to a senate seat on the basis of large campaign expenditures in his behalf is distinct from the contest waged by Wilson, which counts will be considered first, the senate must determine. Parliamentarians maintain that if Vare were denied his seat because of large expenditures in his campaign, the Wilson contest could not be pressed. Refusal of the senate to seat him on these grounds would, in effect, declare the seat vacant, and unless he resigned, a successor could neither be appointed nor elected.

Oh Henry! Home And Widow Calls You Wife, Who Ousted Spouse, Wants Him

He went away, did "Hen," but now Mrs. von Schilling, sentimentalist, wants him back.

BY HAMPTON SMITH, JR., NEA Service Writer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Mrs. Henry von Schilling plays "Home Sweet Home" on the piano at her home in Ozone Park, New York suburb, each evening.

Some day, "Henry"—or "Hen," as his wife calls him—will hear the melody and come back, she hopes. And if this hope seems a bit preposterous—well, "Home Sweet Home" is a bit soothing to Mrs. von Schilling's troubled spirit. If nothing else, she is somewhat of a sentimentalist, you see.

After Seven Years "Seven years ago," were happy together," Mrs. von Schilling recalled. "We were industrious and contented. Hen was in the real estate business, and he made nice profits. I helped out by giving lessons in piano."

"Then Hen began to spend a lot of his time around the house. He said he was getting too old to work regularly, and that he needed repose."

"I let him take the rest cure for two months. Then I told him to get out and get contaminated with work again."

"He complained of being ill. I thought he was faking about both his age and his illness. He didn't look very old, you know."

"I kept on nagging him. Finally I told him to leave. He did."

"One day, later on, I found an old life insurance policy of Hen's was as old as he said—71 years. My conscience has been hurting me ever since."

"Not long ago I inherited a lot of money. But what good is it to me, when Hen isn't here to share it?"

Mrs. von Schilling glanced tearfully at five diamonds rings that sparkled on her plump hand.

"I'd part with my jewels to get him back," she said. Letters from hospital, police chiefs, poorhouse, and even prisons were exhibited by Mrs. von Schilling. The writers sorrowfully informed her that they could give no information regarding "Hen."

And Finally, Henry suggested to his wife that they move out into some neat, tree-hidden cottage in what New York calls "the country"—meaning the great city's fringe of suburban communities.

"Nothing doing," she replied. "No pastoral paradise for me. I like the shows and subways and sidewalks."

But it's in just such a "pastoral paradise" as Henry dreamed of that the sentimental Mrs. von Schilling is living now—living and playing "Home Sweet Home" each day after the sun goes down.

ARCTIC STILL UNSOLVED Mysteries of the Arctic are still unsolved, declared Dr. E. N. Rudmose Brown, president of the geographical section of the British Association while speaking in London recently. He declared that existence of an antarctic continent is still based on circumstantial evidence, that Enderby Land, with more than 2,000 miles of hypothetical coast line has never been searched for since Blisco found it in 1831, and that no ship had even penetrated the western shores of the Weddell sea. He prophesied that eventually the tide of white settlement will definitely set northward, even to the Arctic sea.

SENATOR ASKS TEXAS SURVEY OF INDUSTRIES MAYFIELD CAMPING ON TRAIL OF OFFICIALS IN BIG PROPOSAL

(By Associated Press) HOUSTON, Oct. 17.—United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield apparently is camping on the trail of General Herbert M. Lord, director of the budget, in order to get federal funds for a commercial survey of the Southwest, including Texas and Oklahoma.

A letter from Senator Mayfield to General Lord, made public here by Ernest L. Tutt, in charge of the Houston office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, reveals that only a part of the funds for the survey have been granted and urges General Lord to reconsider and allocate to the bureau "a sufficient amount of money that will not only enable it to take care of the normal increase of projects under way, but that will permit it to make a commercial survey of the Texas-Oklahoma territory."

Tex's Much Interested "Texas at this time," Senator Mayfield insisted, "is tremendously interested in industrial development. Many requests are daily received by the chambers of commerce of our state for information and assistance relative to the establishment of various industrial concerns in different sections of our state. The only information available to the prospective establisher of an industry in Texas is that obtainable from chambers of commerce, or the industrialists must survey the state himself. In order to be able to proceed efficiently in building up industry and economic merchandising in the Southwest, it undoubtedly would be very helpful to have authentic information covering all phases of our economic, industrial and commercial distributing system. The department of Commerce could gather the information needed in a survey, such as the commercial survey which the department has made in Philadelphia, New England, Southwest states and Pacific coast areas."

Information Needed "The information covered in the commercial surveys is just the data needed by the prospective manufacturer concerning plant location, labor conditions, climate, power and other like items."

"Also, the manufacturer and merchant find such data valuable in estimating markets, in working out sales territories and salesmen's quotas."

"Texas is becoming much more interested in selling in foreign markets. Many opportunities for the development of the foreign markets for Texas products are known to exist. Efforts are being put forth to assist the development of selling Texas products abroad by chambers of commerce and by government organization. The information gathered in a commercial survey of Texas would be most helpful data to have at hand to make possible the prosecution of an intelligent campaign in Texas."

Relative Position Senator Mayfield appends to his letter a showing of the relative position of the state in the production of crops and in many lines of endeavor as well as other data showings its progress.

United States Senator W. E. Pine of Oklahoma, Mr. Tutt said in connection with the announcement is co-operating with Senator Mayfield in an attempt to secure funds for the survey.

Canada exported more than $12,000,000 worth of furs during 1926.

CLOCK PLAYS MANY TUNES

A clock that plays tunes has just been put on display in London. Every part is hand made and engraved, and the time piece is believed to be the only one of its kind in the world. It is a perfect time keeper, chimes every quarter of the hour on eight bells, and at the hour, after striking, plays one of six tunes on 14 bells, concealed in a gilt wooden box. The tunes are "Auld Lang Syne," "The Blue Bells of Scotland," "Robin Adair," "Cielles Hermin," a Scotch reel and the Scotch national anthem. The clock was made in Glasgow, and required two years to construct. Some of the parts are minute, and are perfect in detail.

PHOTOGRAPHS TAKEN IN FOG

Photographs showing every detail of the landscape with complete clearness have been taken in an opaque fog, according to J. Baird, the young Scotch inventor of television. He recently exhibited before the British association in London such photographs and a camera, equipped with his television ray. The special photographic plates are sensitized to the infra-rays of the spectrum-rays—which are invisible to the human eye—and, by this means, the camera can record pictures through the thickest cloud. Baird predicts that photography and observation in the next war will be carried out by an aeroplane far above the clouds and hidden from the sight or hearing of earth below.
