JUBILEE RODEO KEEPS CROWD'S INTEREST HIGH

Sydna Yokley and Junior Wilson Turn in Shows Of Unusual Skill

AMATEUR SHOW

The Golden Jubilee rodeo which was held at Fairgrounds park Tuesday, Aug. 22, offered such a varied and exciting program that several thousand spectators were still tensely interested when the show, which lasted more than four hours, came to an end as darkness fell.

Sydna Yoakley, skilled renowned and captivating cowgirl from Canadian, provided a dignified period of smooth showmanship to add spice an variation to the rough-and-tumble contest events in which man and beast pitted wit and muscle. With her educated horse, Sonny Boy, Miss Yoakley gave an exhibition of tricks. Later in the program, she showed her calf-roping artistry by roping and tying a calf in 29 seconds. Had she been entered in the contest events, this score would hav entitled her to second money.

Junior Wilson of Perryton, a 17-year-old cowpoke who is recognized as a rising star of rodeo, also turned in exhibition performances which evoked expressions of wonder from hard-bitten cowhands who had been "in the game" for many years.

Every entrant in the rodeo was "out for blood" and, though many of them were eliminated, all showed earnestness and sportsmanship. All entrants were taken from ranches of this section and all competitors were strictly amateurs.

Winners in the six divisions of the rodeo were:

Wild cow milking—Junior Wilson, first with 40.5 seconds; Joe Day second with 46.6 seconds; and Oscar Archer, third with 47.5.

Bronc riding—Glen Bowen, first; Bud Derrick, second; and Corbitt South, third.

Carl Studer of Canadian was secretary and announcer for the rodeo. Josh Hopkins, also of Canadian, assisted Mr. Studer and assumed the greater part of the announcing.

Judges of contests were Cap Kelley, Fred Frass and Roy Linn.

Georgia Hurlbey had as her guests Tuesday her father, H. H. Hurlbey, Lipscomb, her sister, Mrs. W. F. Long, Borger, her nephew, Hurlbey Scott, Lipscomb and Mrs. Jake Sell, Lipscomb. Two nieces, Misses Helen and Georgia Mae Scott, who had been visiting here a week, returned to their home in Lipscomb that evening.

Miss Micky Taylor, who has been visiting with her aunt, Mrs. W. R. Slaton, Las Vegas, N. M., and enjoyed a vacation at El Porvenir, returned today, Thursday.

JUST HERE and THERE

About all there is to talk about is that grand Golden Jubilee party that was held here in Perryton Tuesday. We think that it was just the very best celebration we ever had and we feel sure that the thousands of people who were our guests enjoyed the day just as much as we enjoyed having them with us.

We want to acknowledge a telegram from Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Fryer at St. Augustine, Fla. as follows: "Hurrah for the Golden Jubilee, wish we were there." Well Mr. and Mrs. Jim, we wish you could have been here and we know that you would have enjoyed visiting with your mnay old friends. We're counting mighty big on the Fryer's being our special guests of honor when the Wolf Creek Lake is dedicated.

W. H. Lance and his committees did a swell job with every phase of the Golden Jubilee program, and the results showed that hours and hours of hard work had been expended by individuals and organizations. An while we're on the subject of organizations too much credit cannot be given the organizations of Ochiltree County and Perryton who entered the many beautiful floats. There were several attractive floats entered by Perryton business firms but with a few exceptions, they were not in a class with those of the organizations.

We owe a great big vote of thanks to "Nubbin" Byron for bringing that fine band of his all the way from Eunice, N. M.

Ochiltree Once Known as "Free State of Ochiltree" on Account of a Tax Dispute

The following story was written by Dave Shanks Jr., now on the staff of the San Angelo Daily Standard, and first published in the Ochiltree County Herald two years ago. Current interest in the "Free State of Ochiltree" prompts us to rerun this story.

Back in 1905 the district court of Lipscomb county convened at the town of Lipscomb in the old frame courthouse among the trees near the creek. To some that attended it was just another court convening but to others it was more. Certain cases had been transferred from the district court of Ochiltree county to that county for reasons very apparent. At the time Geo. M. Perry, now a resident of Perryton, and the man for whom the town was named, was county judge of Ochiltree county and Jas. H. Whippo, now of Corvallis, Oregon, was county clerk and H. N. Yates was sheriff. Yes, public officials of the "Free State of Ochiltree."

But why the "Free State of Ochiltree"? This queer name for Ochiltree county has interested many since those hectic days of 1904 and 1905. There were two political parties in Ochiltree county then and believe it or not, neither of them was democratic nor republican, but Taxers and Anti-Taxers. There were no "mugwamps" or independents for such was prohibited. You were either Taxer or Anti-Taxer and every man knew where the other man was and why. J. S. Talley who is now nearing his 32nd year of continuous service as sheriff and who had not then appeared on the political scene as a public official, said: "I saw some guns, but no one was shot."

And who were the Taxers and who were the Anti-Taxers? From whence did they come and whither did they go? How could a new resident determine just which side or which group he was to join or line up with, for he had to do so? Well, in the second quarter of the 19th century at Mexico City the ruthless, heartless Santa Anna had risen to power and he was determined to rid Texas of all Americans who were settling Texas too fast. In 1836 at San Antonio, he administered the "Slaughter of the Alamo." In that same year came the defeat of this the "Mighty Napoleon of the West" at San Jacinto by Sam Houston. Thus Texas became an independent republic in fact.

The main wealth of Texas was in the richness and the vastness of her lands. For ten years Texas was a republic but in the latter part of 1845 entered the American Union yet retaining all of her public lands for the State.

To encourage development of her vast empire Texas offered railroad companies liberal awards of public lands for each mile of road built and thus we find in Ochiltree county some half dozen railroad surveys, which almost blanket the entire county. Of these surveys each alternate section was retained by the State for the schools and the railroads given a patent (deed) to the remaining half of the lands surveyed. By act of the legislature the State lands that were retained for the public schools were offered for sale and a few settlers took the trouble to "file" on school lands. The terms of the sale of the school lands were 2½ cents per acre cash and 40 years time with 3% interest on the balance. For some $16 cash a man could purchase a section of Ochiltree county lands, at the price of $1.00 per acre.

"Free State of Ochiltree" Capitol

The old capitol building of the "Free State of Ochiltree" is now the home of the Pierce Johnson Post and Auxiliary Unit of The American Legion. Erected in 1890-91 at old Ochiltree, it served the county as a courthouse until the fall of 1928 when it was sold to The American Legion. It was moved overland to Perryton in 1919. Headquarters for the "Old Timer's Reunion" during the Golden Jubilee on August 22 was held in this old landmark.

In the year of 1905 the railroad companies put their land on sale. To this time they paid practically all of the taxes that were paid, with the exceptions mostly of the lands that were granted to veterans of the Texas Revolution. The owners of school lands failing and refusing to pay taxes on the ground that the lands they were on still belonged to the State and not being subject to taxes, hence they refused to pay taxes and became known as "Anti-Taxers." As all railroad lands were patented (deeded) lands and the state having released all claim to them became, of course subject to taxation and the purchasers of such lands became known as "Taxers." Thus we find the county at least geographically speaking checkerboarded with Taxers and Anti-Taxers.

As shown by the election record for the year of 1904, the following persons were installed as public officials of Ochiltree county: county judge, George M. Perry; county and district clerk, Jas. H. Whippo; sheriff and tax collector, S. J. Black; assessor, W. B. Dennison; treasurer, W. F. Cale.

War was brewing and everybody knew it. The Anti-Taxers were determined not to pay taxes and the Taxers were as determined that everybody would pay taxes. The Commissioners' court refused to enter the Anti-Taxers school lands on the tax rolls.

Resignations of county officials and injunctions against county officials became the order of the day. Proceedings for the removal of public officials from office were not by any means missing for that is the reason we find that George M. Perry and Jas. H. Whippo and W. N. Yates were in court in Lipscomb county.

The "War of Ochiltree" was one of preparation entirely but at the least incident it might have been a free for all gun fight between the Taxers and the Anti-Taxers. As we can gather from those that pass down to the "moderns" the incidents the Anti-Taxers held possession of the courthouse and the records. Jas. H. Whippo, the county clerk, locked the record vault and threw the key away when removed from office by order of the district court. There was talk of dynamiting the vault to get the records but in making preparation for such, a shotgun in the hands of the Anti-Taxer County Clerk Whippo was encountered and brought a hasty change in mind and the vault was not dynamited.

In rapid succession three different men occupied the sheriff's office within a short space of time. S. J. Black, now in New Mexico and father of assistant postmaster John Black, resigned to escape being removed from office by the district court as were Whippo and Perry each removed. The commissioners' court appointed W. N. Yates another Anti-Taxer to fill the place but District Judge Barker removed appointee Yates and appointed W. M. Ashby, Taxer, to act. Whippo was removed as clerk and George Horn appointed to fill his place. George M. Perry was removed and Frank Dodson (now a Perryton merchant) was appointed county judge in his place.

The trials at Lipscomb were heated. H. E. Hoover, now of Canadian and one of the firm of Hoover and Taylor, defended Perry, Yates and Whippo. Perry lost his case and Frank Dodson served out the term. Jas. H. Whippo won and regained the county clerk's office, displacing Geo. Horn, the court appointed clerk. Horn and Hoover had a fight in the streets of Lipscomb. Yates regained his seat as sheriff, replacing the court-appointed Ashby and got judgment against Ashby for all the salary collected. The commissioners did not contest their removal and their appointed successors served out their term.

And who made up the citizenship of Ochiltree county then? Geo. M. Perry had drifted down from Iowa after graduating from college; Generalissimo of the Anti-Taxers, A. M. Jines, (father of Sibley Jines, Perryton real estate and insurance man), and his brother, Sherman had moved in from Illinois; Jim and Ed Whippo came from the Hoosier state (Indiana) as did Chas. T. Jackson; Smith Ellis came from New York; the Glasgows, Garretts, Brillharts, Seitzs, Ben Jackson, and Cutters had moved in from various other states. Cap Correll from the Old Dominion had arrived and the Talleys, Richardsons, Gilliams, came up from the South Land and all being of a slightly newer and younger group at that time. So were the Stumps, Grogans, and various others whose names are now in Ochiltree county history.

Such is the history in brief of the "Free State of Ochiltree" won by repudiation of state law, and the Taxer and Anti-Taxer long heard of and much talked about in Ochiltree county. But finally everyone paid their taxes and the "war of Ochiltree" that came near becoming a real exhibition of blood-shed is now a cross between a myth and a memory and looked upon with a rare humor by those that know the story at first hand.

Early Day Freighting

By M. H. CRUM

While the history of Ochiltree county is being brought to light, I wish to state that I had the honor of shipping the first carload of freight into the county by rail.

A great deal of "red tape" and much delay were necessary in order to get the traffic managers of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company at Wellington, Kans., and Amarillo to obtain permission from the construction engineer who had charge of the road to this county at that time. The railroad had not been turned over to the Santa Fe Railway company at that date, since the rails and construction had not yet reached as far as the Perryton townsite.

I was shipping from Perry, Okla. When I reached Shattuck, Okla., I found a Mr. Walters and gave him a letter of introduction which I had procured from the general traffic manager at Amarillo. In the letter, the traffic manager gave his permission for my two carloads to be shipped.

My cars of freight were hooked behind the construction train and pulled to the Twichell switch east of Perryton. The freight bill from Shattuck to Twichell for one carload of mules and one car filled with household goods, machinery and registered Hereford cattle was $210.

It was almost dark when I arrived at the spot where Perryton now stands but we immediately began erecting our chutes to unload at once, assuming all responsibility in case of accident or damage. This happened on Aug. 15, 1919, just before the opening of the Perryton townsite on the twenty-second.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Guthrie left Saturday to make their home in Las Animas, Colorado. The Guthrie's have purchased the Kruder Electric Company and a new home in Las Animas.

RODEO SOUNDS AT WOODWARD

SQUEAK OF SADDLE LEATHER CLOP OF HORSES' HOOFS WILL ACCOMPANY SHOW NEXT MONTH

WOODWARD, August 23—(Special)—It's rodeo time again in Woodward. The squeak of saddle leather—the clop of horses' hoofs on the pavement—the soft pad of Indian moccasins—the crunching of boots—all these sounds, and many more combine to fill the air with a rodeo consciousness in this bustling northwestern Oklahoma town. For the three big days are less than a month away.

The spectacular sporting event that hurls Woodward into the limelight of national publicity each year will be held this year on September 8-9-10.

On Friday and Saturday mornings there will be a gigantic parade of decorative and historical floats, massed bands, clowns, cowboys and cowgirls, a mobile U. S. army unit and hundreds of horseback riders, both men and women.

Every event in the rodeo arena will be a contest. Calf and steer roping, bulldogging, bronc riding, steer riding and steer roping. Between arena events, there will be presented a group of nationally famous performers including Jimmie Nesbit, the clown, Don Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, trick riders, Elmer Quait and his mule in a comedy act, Cecil Cornish and his educated horse as well as the Big Brahma bull which he puts through unbelievable acts.

Cash prizes in each event have been increased until the entry list of contestants reads like a Who's Who of the rodeo world. They will all be here, the big boys from Cheyenne and Pendleton, Bob Crosby, Toots Mansfield, Jim Whiteman, Jess Goodspeed, Nick Knight, Eddie Curtis, to list a few.

The new $75,000 stadium used for the first time last year is being enlarged by 2,500 bleacher seats and an elaborate public address system will carry the announcer's voice to every seat in the huge structure.

After the show each day guests can visit the Crystal Beach lake that lies adjacent to the rodeo arena and take a dip in its cooling waters. Each night there will be a number of big dances in progress for those who choose that type of entertainment.

WHY Humble Oil & Refining Co. Reduced the Price of Crude

This statement is published as a paid advertisement by Humble Oil & Refining Company for the benefit of those who are interested and not acquainted with the facts.

On August 11 the Humble Company posted reductions in the prices at which it purchased crude oil in Texas and New Mexico by amounts ranging from 5c to 32c per barrel, and averaging 18.5c per barrel. In view of the fact that this action on our part has been severely criticized before the public, we outline below the facts and reasons on which it was based:

1. On August 1 the quantities of crude oil listed below, aggregating 218,920 barrels daily in Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas, were moving to market at prices substantially below the Humble's postings for similar crudes:

AREA	BBLS. DAY
Texas—
West Central	37,000
Gulf Coast	22,600
Southwest	16,900
East Central	12,800
East Texas Field	6,850
Panhandle	1,500
Total Texas	97,650
South Louisiana	81,920
North Louisiana and Arkansas	39,350
Total	218,920

2. The amount of crude moving below Humble's postings was greatly increased when on August 10 the Sinclair-Prairie Company posted a reduction of 20c per barrel affecting the oil produced and purchased by it in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas, which action was followed immediately by reductions in the price made by a number of smaller purchasers. These reductions applied to more than 150,000 barrels of oil. This, added to that mentioned in the preceding paragraph, equals 368,000 barrels. In the three States in which Humble operates, Texas, New Mexico, and Louisiana, the aggregate volume of oil moving below Humble's prices approximated 17½% of the total current production in those States.

3. The movement of constantly increasing quantities over the past year or more of crude produced in the new Illinois fields, reaching a total of 300,000 barrels daily on August 1, on a price basis substantially lower than Humble's postings in its territory, exerted a progressively depressing effect on the crude oil market. The effect was felt in Texas; and actually since April 1 Humble has lost 10,000 barrels per day of business absorbed by Illinois crude. This loss of business was in addition to that lost by Humble as a result of the movement of crude at low prices in the territory where we operate.

4. On August 11, therefore, the total volume of oil moving at prices below those of the Humble was approximately 668,000 barrels.

5. The crude oil market has been under pressure for more than a year. The price adjustments made last October did not remove fully the disparity between Humble's prices and those of some oil moving in its markets. Since that time the volumes of crude moving below our prices have increased steadily, with the result that when the reductions of Sinclair-Prairie and others came on August 10, affecting approximately 150,000 barrels of crude per day, conditions were so bad that we were compelled to reduce our prices to meet this competition. In no case are our new postings lower than the Sinclair-Prairie postings for similar crudes.

6. The Humble Company is primarily a producer of oil. Its crude oil properties constitute its principal asset. Its net production averages 133,000 barrels a day. We are also crude oil merchants and purchase, at our posted prices, 251,000 barrels of crude oil daily in Texas and New Mexico. These prices also govern the price at which we sell the oil which we produce. Because of our large production we are vitally interested in the maintenance of fair prices.

Our refineries consume something near the amount of oil which we produce. As a consequence, with respect to our purchases we are in the same position as a merchant dealing in any commodity. To continue in business, we can not over a long period of time pay higher prices than our competitors. We are compelled to meet competition. The price of oil, like that of other commodities, is subject to change with market conditions. These are simple and fundamental business principles. We were reluctant to cut the price of crude, not alone because of its adverse effect on our own earnings, but also because of its effect on our customers and upon the industry and the state at large. Under these circumstances, we could not continue to pay the prices we had been paying.

7. As a matter of policy the Humble Company maintains stocks of crude oil very slightly in excess of the amount required as working stocks to carry on operations. We do not believe in storage of oil above ground but in production of oil currently as required for market. We do not speculate in oil. We have no desire to buy oil at any price to accumulate for storage.

8. We think the price for oil brought about by the competitive conditions above mentioned is lower than should be realized. In our opinion the flood of oil from Illinois and Louisiana, most of which is being produced wastefully, in violation of conservation principles, is primarily responsible for the market conditions which necessitated our price reductions. It is our hope that these conditions will be corrected and that the market will improve.

Starting ends are Earl Brown of Notre Dame and Bowden Wyatt, Tennessee's All-America. Backing them up are Bill Daddio of Pitt and Waddie Young of Oklahoma, among others.

SOROSIS IS A LADIES CLUB

THE PERRYTON ORGANIZATION ENTERS ITS SIXTEENTH YEAR OF SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

"What is a Woman's Club? A place where kindly lifting words are said, and kindlier deeds are done; where hearts are fed; where wealth of mind for poverty atones; where hand grasps hand, and souls find touch with souls."

—Suggested by Mrs. S. D. Johnston.

It was a praiseworthy and far seeing group of women who, on October 29, 1924, met together and organized the Perryton Sorosis Club. Several of this group were pioneers of this county, who like most of the members of the club are women of the highest type, culturally and spiritually.

The club was federated the same year of its organization, and has continued throughout the years to carry out the plans of the State and National Federation.

Mrs. W. D. Tenney served the club as its first president. Other charter members are Mesdames John Bolin, D. C. Wilson, H. I. Hudson, Jack Allen, C. B. Rogers, H. T. Cutter, J. M. Bull, J. L. Dodson (deceased), W. B. LaMaster, Harriet Thornton, G. C. Castleman, F. A. Edwards, and Van W. Stewart.

The original objective of the club was to stimulate intellectual growth; however it has donated to community welfare to a great extent and is always alert to special needs of the community.

One of the main projects of the club is a small library of 630 volumes. A Choral Club was organized last year composed of thirty Sorosis members. Mrs. R. P. Hurn is the director and Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, the pianist.

There are three departments composing the club, namely; Current Events, Fine Arts, and Home Economics with a total membership of eighty.

Members of the Executive Board will be hostesses at the opening program of the new club year on September 6 at the Hotel Perryton.

The programs for the general meetings will adhere strictly to requirements of the State Federation. Among the guest speakers who will appear on these programs are District Judge Jack Allen, Mrs. Flora Allen, R. N., and an officer of the State Highway Department.

The Fine Arts Department has chosen for its course of study "The Drama." The Home Economics Department will study "The Woman's Movement." "Consumers Education" will be discussed by the Current Events Department.

Another interesting program of the year will be conducted at Christmas time. Mrs. T. V. Elzey will tell the Christmas story and a party for children of the town will follow.

The members of the club are proud of its projects and achievements during the past years.

Following are the officers for the year 1939-1940:

Mrs. L. T. Tucker, president.
Mrs. W. C. Herndon, first vice president.
Mrs. Carl Ellis, second vice president.
Mrs. Earl Miller, third vice president.

Mrs. R. L. Duke, parliamentarian.
Mrs. Audie O. Conley, program chairman.

Birth Records

Are You Sure That the Date Of Your Birth is on Record Beyond Dispute?

Are you sure you can prove you were born? If not, it might be a good idea to check up on how to go about proving such a thing.

A new law, passed during the recent session of the Legislature, allows a person whose birth was never officially recorded to present evidence of today to prove when and where that person was born, acoring to County Judge D. D. Shanks.

There are many old people, says Judge Shanks, who were born in a community where no records were kept of their birth. Now, with the old-age assistance, social security, and other similar laws being enacted, the need of official birth records are increasing.

Neither is the family Bible to be considered as absolute proof. Of course, if the material in the Bible appears to be material which was currently written there, it can be accepted as partial proof. However, if the material appears to be of recent origin, it an hardly be accepted as proof.

It was pointed out that if the parents and all other close relatives of some person are dead, then it is rather hard for that person to establish the place and time of his birth.

In any case, if a person's birth has not been recorded, the material for proof has to be prepared and brought to the county judge of that person's section. The judge then decides whether that proof is sufficient to establish definitely the time and place of the birth of that person.

If the proof is not sufficient, more must be obtained. If it is sufficient the record is officially put into the county records and later transferred to the state records.

The Golden Text is: "The Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth" (John 1:14).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If men understood their real spiritual source to be all blessedness, they would struggle for recourse to the spiritual and be at peace; but the deeper the error into which mortal mind is plunged, the more intense the opposition to spirituality, till error yields to Truth" (page 329).

Marry Sunday

An impressive wedding was held Sunday afternoon, August 20, three o'clock at the Mennonite Brethren Church, Balko, Okla., when Miss Cecille Ruth Karber became the bride of Mr. Arthur C. Almquist of Patterson, Calif.

Before the ceremony, Miss Lydia Mehl, cousin of the bride, played "Salut' d Amore" by Elgar; a vocal selection "Because" was given by Wesley Penner and a quartet number, "He Sumbers Not" was sung by Arthur Penner, Vernon Karber, Lloyd Penner and Wesley Penner.

...To the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Miss Mehl, the bridal party proceeded unattended from the rear of the church and were met at the alter by Rev. H. T. Davis, Methodist pastor of Forgan, Okla., who officiated. After the vows were spoken, Rev. Davis gave a talk on the "Sacreoness of Marriage."

The bride was serene and lovely in a gown of white satin made floor length with a tight fitted bodice fastened down the back with tiny satin buttons. A yoke insert of lace was fashioned below the high stand-up collar. The cap effect of the finger-tip veil of white net edged in lace, was held in place by a row of seed pears. She carried a boupuet of white gladioli and asters.

Mrs. Almquist is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Karber, a prominent family of the Bethany, Okla., community for many years. She received her high school education at Bethany and for the past year and half has been working in California.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Almquist, Patterson Calif. He graduated at Patterson High School and has since been associated with his father in truck farming.

Two hundred and twenty-five friends and relatives witnessed the marriage vows and later proceeded to the Karber home, where congratulations were spoken and a wedding dinner enjoyed. Guitar music was furnished by Arthur Lloyd and P. J. Penner and Miss Lillian Just gave several accordian selections.

Mr. and Mrs. Almquist left that evening for a trip to Carlsbad Cavern and points in New Mexico. After which they will return to the Karber home for a weeks stay before leaving for their ranch home near Patterson, Calif.

Given Shower

Mrs. Percy Austin, the former Miss Barbalee Chase, was entertained with a bridal shower in the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Dear, Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Dean Conner and Miss Lillian Williams shared the hostess duties.

The cut glass punch service adorned the center of the table. The cake, iced in pink, was served with punch and pink and white mints.

Guests called from two to five o'clock. Sixty-five gifts were received by the honoree during these hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wolford left Wednesday for a vacation in Colorado and New Mexico. They will be accompanied by his sister, Mrs. F. O. Blue Clayton, New Mex.

AMERICAN BOY MAGAZINE COMPANION TO THOUSANDS

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 15c a copy. Subscription prices are $1.50 for one year or $3.00 for three years. Foreign rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan. 31-4t-c

LABOR DAY IS PICNIC DATE

RED LEMONADE, CHIGGERS, CARNIVAL RIDES, AND HOT DOG STANDS MIX IN TYPICAL OUTING

Pampa, Aug. 23.—All Panhandle roads will lead to the third annual free community picnic, which will be held this year on the newly completed Pampa-Borger highway. The picnic grounds will be twenty miles west of Pampa and six miles east of Borger on the usual date, Labor Day, September 4.

The national holiday has again been chosen by the Kerley Crossman Post of the American Legion at Pampa, sponsors of this Panhandle-wide affair, as the best day of the vacation season to get together all the folks of the Panhandle for a good old-fashioned basket picnic.

Officials of the Pampa Legion Post have sent letters to Mayors and other public-spirited citizens in dozens of surrounding towns and cities inviting all to come out for this great day.

"This picnic is for everybody everywhere," said I. J. Huval, Commander, "and we want everybody to come. Bring the family and your own basket, talk to your neighbor in the next county or next door, let the kids come barefooted and get barefooted yourself if you care to; everybody, make a day of it."

Particularly are the picnic sponsors anxious to get large attendance from Pampa's and Borger's neighboring towns and communities in order to cement the bonds of community neighborliness and restore the good neighbor policy among the Panhandle communities.

It will be an all-day affair and plenty of entertainment has been planned. There will be games and contests of very description for all ages and with prizes for the winners.

An unusual list of distinguished visitors has been invited to address the huge throng expected to attend. W. Lee O'Daniel and his hill billy band have been invited and may be present. Other notables who will be announced later, will be present.

Legion officials pointed out that the picnic is for everybody and not for legionnaires only. A gala event such as has been planned should be of interest to every lover of this country. Last year the picnic was held east of Miami and was attended by over 15,000 people. There were folks from five states and twenty-eight Panhandle counties, and from the location this year 20,000 and more are excpected to be present for the good times.

There will be plenty of good things that go with picnics—red lemonade, pink ice cream, grass burrs, chiggers, carnival rides, hot dog stands, and old time dances.

Labor Day should be a red letter day in the Northeast Panhandle. Business in practically all cities surrounding the 80-acre picnic site will be suspended for the day to give everybody an opportunity to attend. This is your invitation to be there. Come early with a filled basket and bring the family.

Mrs. L. W. Lamb and children, Billie Ann, Betty and Jim came in Monday from Amarillo for a few days visit in the home of Mrs. Lamb's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Conley.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Williard Witt on Sunday, August 20. The name, Cecelia Kay, has been selected for the young Miss, who wth her mother is resting nicely at the Perryton Hospital.

Ford Sale

Universal Motor Company in the Nation-Wide Used Car Sale By Ford Dealers

August 15 marks the opening of the Ford Dealer's annual nation-wide used car clearance sale, according to Garland Redfern of the Universal Motor Company.

"The sale, in which Ford dealers all over the United States take part, has never been held this early before," reports Mr. Redfern.

"The advanced date will make it possible for many buyers to obtain better cars before vacation trips and before Labor Day holidays. The sale will run through September 30, and will be promoted by national and local newspaper, radio and direct mail advertising.

"As in other years," Mr. Redfern said, "this clearance sale will feature sharp reductions in used car prices. Of equal importance to buyers is the fact that all late model cars are specially reconditioned and many are sold with a written guarantee. Included in the sale are a wide variety of makes and models as well as pickups and trucks."

Preparations for the annual event at the Universal are virtually completed according to Mr. Redfern, who indicated that in addition to arranging a special used car display, the company is identifying the display with signs and banners of the type used by other Ford dealers participating throughout the county.

Mrs. Clyde F. Milam and daughter, Katherine Frances and Betty Gene, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. True, Memphis and Mrs. Will S. Knight of Corsicana returned Friday from a tour of Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, Utah, Montana, Arizona and New Mexico.

John R. Biggs of the Hurn Dry Goods company left Wednesday for Dallas to attend a short course in interior decorating which is sponsored by the Higginbotham-Bailey-Bartlett wholesale dry goods company of Dallas. Mr. Biggs will visit relatives in Dallas and McKinney before he returns to Perryton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Grabeel returned Friday from a months visit in the East. At Rose Hill, Va., they spent most of the time with relatives. Ray's twin sister, Miss Rhee accompanied them from Rose Hill on a trip to New York City, where they spent a week attending the Fair.

House investigation of abor Board, which the administration strongly opposed.

Continuation of the life of the famous Dies committee, which the administration would have liked to see discontinued.

On a couple of controversial subjects, the result was just about a toss-up. Thus, while the WPA bill was not at all what the administration wanted, it was better than the administration seemed likely to get last winter, when a widespread sentiment to revamp the work-relief program entirely and get back to direct, state-administered relief was growing rapidly in Congress.

And although the administration failed to get the amendments it wanted to the Wage-Hour law, it prevented the conservative coalition in the House from putting through its amendments. Against the Labor Board and Dies investigations may be balanced the fact that the La-Follette committee finally won an extension of its life.

ONE point often overlooked in the rebuffs received by the administration is that some of them, at least, were brought on by poor strategy.

One of the staunchest New Dealers in the Senate remarked that the spend-lend bill should have been brought in early in the session, if at all. It aroused little enthusiasm, he pointed out, and made many enemies; under such circumstances, its doom was practically certain when it came in late and was presented without much in the way of advance warning.

Neither the spend-lend bill nor the neutrality law revision is dead. Both can be taken up again, and undoubtedly will be, when Congress reconvenes in January. There is some chance, indeed, that a special session may be called in the fall to consider them.

Two Sheep and a Farmer— That Was First County Fair

From an 1886 drawing by Louis Maurer

The old-time county fair. No airplanes, no automobiles. But, in most respects, much like the fair of today.

PEACHES and Percherons, corn and cattle are sideshow attractions at the modern county fair. For most farmers, fair time is fun time, and the main entertainment is on the midway, where carnival barkers call to the crowd, or in the grandstand, in front of which daredevils defy death to provide a momentary thrill.

Except for this, however, the 1940 fair is not very different from that of 1889. Ruralites still make the fair grounds an annual meeting place; Mrs. Brown's pickles still vie with Mrs. Thompson's; blue ribbons still hang from livestock pens; harness racing is still featured.

But today's fair is some spectacle compared to that first exhibition back in 1807 when Elkanah Watson posed under an elm tree in the public square at Pittsfield, Mass., with two Merino sheep.

THERE had been a few American fairs before. But all of them had conformed to the European pattern — large community sales and bazaars.

Watson's own little show was the forerunner of the fair as we know it now. "Many farmers and even women were excited by curiosity to attend my humble exhibition," he wrote. "The farmers responded to my remarks with approbation."

A former city resident, Watson had turned to farming late in life. His urban ideas led him to an inspiration for an agricultural society. This was the starting gun in his campaign.

But fellow farmers were still isolated, self conscious. They came to gape at Watson's sheep, but feared to display any livestock of their own. It took Watson three years to break down this feeling.

Finally he managed to obtain 26 signatures to a petition for a "cattle show." An agricultural group was formed, with Watson as president.

The next Pittsfield show started with a parade, closed with a ball. The procession was headed by 69 oxen, drawing a plow held by the oldest man in the county. Other parade units included a band, a squadron of agricultural society members, a float exhibiting American manufactures.

THIS march stepped up fair enthusiasm. Premiums advanced from $70 that year to $208 the next. And Watson started out to sell his idea in other sections.

By 1819, he had induced the New York state legislature to pass an annual appropriation of $10,000 to aid the new societies.

From these beginnings came the more than 2000 county fairs held in the United States each year. And the fair tradition has been handed down from generation to generation because it gives rural and city folk alike an opportunity to escape from routine, a chance to show others what they've done.

Thompson Says That Oil Tax Will Pay Old Age Pensions

Austin, August 12—Placing conservation of human beings above all else, Ernest O. Thompson—the fighting Colonel who saved Texas' mighty oil industry for its people—feverently appealed to Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel this week to call a pension-raising review session of the Legislature.

His non-poltcal plea swept Thompson into statewide leadership of a campaign against saddling a harsh sales tax on the poor—main objective of rich major oil companies.

Thompson made specific recommendations to prevent "soaking" the common citizens in a letter to Governor O'Daniel. He wrote:

"A five-cent per-barrel tax on oil will provide sufficient revenue for all social security requirements which the people have voted."

Elaborating on his solution, Thompson added:

"The balance should go into a permanent fund to be invested against the day when our Texas oil will be depleted. This fund could not be spent. The earnings of that fund would supply the revenue lost from oil depletions. We know our oil will play out. We should have something to take its place when the oil is gone. This permanent fund will do the job . . . " He continued:

"The oil companies want to saddle a sales tax on our people. You can save the day by keeping this one hundred million dollars per year in Texas and make a sales tax forever unnecessary in our state."

The fighting colonel hastened back to the capital city from Camp Hulen at Palacios, where he was in annual encampment as commanding officer of the 111th quartermasters' regiment of the Texas National guard, to make recommendation for a special session directly to the Governor. He is a member of the Texas Railroad Commission and chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

Money derived from an increased oil levy, Thompson assured the Governor, would be enough to pay fully the oil folks, take care of the penniless children, give the blind a guiding hand, and provide for teacher retirement.

His suggestion to the Governor, offered in the spirit of "good neighbor"— Thompson always has been eager to help the Governor in any way—came as thunder—claps of an oil-price cut crisis were heard throughout Texas. While dark clouds gathered over oildom—Thompson, calm leader in emergencies, took it upon himself to advise the Governor. He emphasized:

"The big oil companies have cut the price of crude oil 20 cents per barrel. This cut in price is wholly unwarranted because the stocks of all oil above ground is at a record low for 12 years and the demand for gasoline is at a record high."

In other words, the major oil companies boost the price of gasoline, which virtually every Texas citizen must use, and then slash the price of crude oil.

"This means a loss of one hundred million dollars a year to Texas. This extra one hundred million dollars will go into the cash drawers of the oil companies back East unless you act promptly to keep it in Texas. It is far better to care for the aged than to enrich Eastern millionaires on our Texas oil."

He pleaded to the Governor: "Let's free Texas from this situation. The opportunity has been offered us by the unprecedented creed of these crude oil price cutters."

In plain, forceful language, Thompson further stressed the rapidly growing necessity for an extraordinary session:

"I urge you to promptly call a special session for the purpose of providing funds "for all social security needs." These funds "can easily be provided for by a tax on oil."

Thompson's insistence was encouraged by Gov. O'Daniel's repeated statements that he would NOT convene the Legislature in special session.

The position of the fighting colonel in urging the Governor to summon the extra legislative meeting was easily explained by veteran observers. For years, Thompson has been an outstanding spokesman of forces opposed to a general sales tax, besides the fact he was a strong runner-up to Gov. O'Daniel in last summer's gubernatorial race. In addition, Thompson is well established as a progressive, liberal and courageous member of the nationally important railroad commission, guardian of the oil industry, and chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

In this capacity, he pointed out to the Governor:

"If it should be said that the Texas railroad commission should busy itself with writing orders, my answer to it is that we are charged with the duty of looking after the whole people, not just those who wish to make money out of oil. The whole state of Texas depends upon oil for its prosperity. The prosperity of the oil business has made Texas the white spot of the nation.

"Five hundred million dollars have been rolling into our state treasury from the sale of oil each year. Now to have one hundred million dollars of that cut off in one fell-swoop looks like somebody is after Texas."

lars will affect every citizen of Texas. He pointed out that the little man may not own the oil wells, but he gets a reflection of the general prosperity.

"When you put the little man out of business, you hurt everybody," Thompson insisted.

He complimented members of the Legislature with whom he has worked in harmony for many years.

"The railroad commission of Texas is charged with the duty of regulating production of oil and gas, but the Legislature wisely provided in this statute, that we would consider the consumer as well as the producer."

Thompson always has stoutly subscribed to the philosophy that the general welfare of all the people is of much more concern than the specific prosperity of any group. He commonly puts it like this:

"A state where a few are very rich at the expense of many is not a good place to live."

Foxes have become so numerous in County Clare, Ireland that farmers have to do night duty to protect lambs, and armed with clubs and lantern they patrol the fields from dusk to dawn.

Brazil is constructing a number of buildings to house various ministries, pensions institutes, government savings banks and Army and Navy edifices.

Argentina will spend about $50,000,000 on public works this year.

Strange Adventure Coming

STANLEY AND LIVINGSTONE

GREATEST SPECTACLE KNOWN TO MAN COMING TO ELLIS THEATRE SUNDAY AND MONDAY, AUG. 27-28

The greatest daventure known to man will be thrillingly enacted on the screen of the Ellis Theatre when Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Stanley and Livingstone" shows there Sunday and Monday, August 27-28, with twice Academy Award winning Spencer Tracy turning in another masterful performance, co-starred with Nancy Kelly and Richard Greene at the head of one of the greatest acting casts ever assembled.

When Tracy, in the role of Henry M. Stanley, the crack young reporter on the old New York Herald, spoke those famous words, "Dr. Livingstone, I presume," in the heart of Africa, drama's most thrilling moment was stirringly reenacted in this spectacular 20th Century-Fox film.

Producer Zanuck, his associate producer, Kenneth Macgowan, and his director, Henry King, all sticklers for realism, insured a true and authentic picture of the thrilling adventure and the heroic adventurer who feared all the nameless dangers of unknown Africa—heat, fever, cannibals, jungle—when his fiery and dynamic publisher, James Gordon Bennett, gave him that memorable assignment: "Find Livingstone!"

The film shows Stanley first as he was in 1869, a hard-boiled reporter of bulldog tenacity who willingly risked his neck to get his story!

It follows him through all the thrills and dangers of his great adventure and shows with great dramatic force the influence on his character and his whole life of his meeting and subsequent friendship with the great missionary-explorer, who had buried himself in the black heart of unknown Africa to serve humanity. For when Livingstone died, young Stanley picked up the torch and became one of the greatest men of his day.

The chief romantic interest of the story is carried by Nancy Kelly, as the lovely daughter of the English consular agent at Zanzibar, and Richard Greene, as the son of Lord Tyce, who had just returned, fever-racked, from a similar but unsuccessful expedition.

Walter Brennan is grand as the old Indian scout who accompanies Stanley; Charles Coburn is splendid as Lord Tyce, the pompous publisher of the London Globe; Sir Cedric Hardwicke offers a truly great portrayal of Dr. Livingstone; Henry Hull brings James Gordon Bennett back to vivid life; and Henry Travers is superb as the English consular agent whom Africa has aged before his time.

Three years in the making, much of the film was shot in the actual locale in Africa.

E. D. Kelley left Sunday on a business trip to Fort Worth. From there he will go to Abilene and will return Saturday with Mrs. Kelley and Camilla, who have been attending summer school there.

INTERNATIONAL Sunday School Lesson

A Man Who Forgot God

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Aug. 27.

Text: II Chronicles 26:3-5, 16-21.

ONE wonders at times why, with so many fine passages in the Bible which are clear and beyond any question as to their meaning and their application to life today, the distinguished Christian leaders who have selected the lessons should have gone so far out of their way to choose a passage which inevitably involves questions and difficulties. It is not often that one has such a complaint to make concerning the lessons, for most of them are at least very clear in their application. But if any teacher feels himself in difficulties with this lesson, he may take some comfort from the fact that commentators, like the present writer, also do not find it easy.

The facts as recorded in the lesson are simple. Uzziah began to reign as king of Judah when he was 16 years old, and he reigned for 52 years. On the whole his rule is recorded as good, and it is stated that it was right in the eyes of the Lord "according to all that his father Amaziah had done." We are told also that he set himself to seek God in the days of Zechariah, and that as long as he sought God he prospered.

The record goes on to say that when he was strong and his heart was lifted up, he turned from this good course and acted corruptly. It is especially charged against him that he went into the temple to burn incense upon the altar. The priests, who regarded this as their sacred and holy right, strongly opposed him, and we are told when Uzziah was angry and was proceeding with the censer in his hand to burn incense he was suddenly stricken with leprosy.

* * *

THE story leaves one with some embarrassing questions. The record we have was probably written by some priestly writer. Was Uzziah's offense a real sin, an act of paganism, or was it merely an ecclesiastical offense, a matter of authority and privilege? It is easy, of course, to modernize the lesson and make it a case of the head of the state invading and interfering in the offices of religion and to have an offense against our modern American idea of the separation of church and state. But somehow, one would like to have Uzziah's side of the story.

Also, are we to teach the young that when they do wrong judgment will come upon them thus quickly and severely? The Bible itself, in its whole teaching, is in conflict with that idea. It teaches clearly enough that sin finds man out, and that evil-doing inevitably and surely brings evil consequences. But it also teaches that these are not always apparent. The Bible speaks of the wicked flourishing and spreading himself like the green bay tree, while at the same time it presents to us the saints of God suffering cruelly and unjustly, but sacrificially, for the sins of others.

If we are to teach a lesson like this with any realism, it must be in the atmosphere of this larger experience and teaching of the Bible. One wishes that lessons were chosen with the purpose of this making the larger aspect of the main highways of Scripture more emphasized and with less attention to the by-ways and by-paths.

Fattening of Hogs

By FRED HALE
Chief of Division of Swine Husbandry, Texas A. and M.

In the fattening of hogs, methods of preparing and feeding farm grains afect the net results about as much as does the kind of ration fed. We quite often receive letters relative to the method of feeding grain sorghum heads, threshed grain sorghum, wheat, and barley to fattening hogs. Does it pay to soak grain sorghum heads, or threshed milo grain before feeding? Does it pay to grind these grains for fattening hogs? Still another question is, what other feeds should be fed with farm grains to make a balaned ration?

The Texas station has made an extensive study of these problems, and the findings are set forth briefly as follows: It does not pay to soak milo heads before feeding to fattening hogs. The pigs used in the Texas tests actually made greater gains when fed dry milo heads in self-feeders, free-choice, than did similar pigs fed soaked milo heads by hand three times daily. The labor involved in soaking and feeding the milo heads was about five times greater than that for the dry milo heads. The milo heads should be fed on a platform of some kind, however. In our experiments, pigs gained 16 pounds more per head in 90 days and required 58 pounds less grain and 8 pounds less protein supplement per 100 pounds gain where the grain was fed on a platform instead of in the dirt.

According to our experiments it is not necessary to soak threshed whole milo for fattening hogs. The pigs gained as fast and as economically on the dry as on the soaked milo grain, and besides, it requires more labor to feed the soaked grain.

Another interesting point is that pigs will make fast and as economical gains when fed whole milo or whole kafir grain in self-feeders, free-choice, as they will when fed ground milo or kafir. Pigs that were fed at the Texas Station for 90 days on whole and ground kafir gained 1.93 pounds per day on whole kafir, and 1.94 pounds per day on ground kafir. Only 3.17 pounds of kafir was saved by grindnig 100 pounds of kafir.The saving was too small in these tests to pay for the grinding. Observations made during these experiments show that pigs make many trips to the self-feeder during the day. The pigs in these tests made 23 trips to the self-feeder in 24 hours. Out of every 100 pounds of whole kafir fed to the pigs on self-feeders, only 2 pounds of whole kafir was undigested, while out of every 100 pounds of whole kafir fed to pigs by hand, twice daily, 10 pounds of whole kafir was undigested. This observation, together with the observation that the self-fed pigs made 23 trips to the self-feeder in 24 hours, shows why the pigs can profitably utilize the whole kafir when fed free-choice in self-feeders. It simply means that when fattening pigs are fed whole kafir by hand twice daily, the pigs eat faster, eat more greedily, and consequently swallow larger quantities of grain before masticating or grinding it with their teeth than they do when fed by the free-choice self-feeder method.

If the self-feeder is placed where dust can blow into the feed, or if the pigs are permitted to carry mud on their feet and nose to the grain in the feeder, one can not expect to get good results. In other words, the feed in the self-feeder must be kept clean and fresh for best results. Better returns can be expected where fresh grain is put in the self-feeder every three or four days. Pigs are more inclined to eat too much protein supplement where the grain is dirty and unpalatable.

Barley should be ground for fattening hogs. Ground barley will give much better results than will soaked unground barley when feeding hogs for market.

In feeding wheat to fattening hogs, a coarsely ground wheat is better than finely ground or soaked unground wheat. Whole or unground wheat may be fed to fattening hogs when fed free-choice in self-feeders, but one will lose about 6 pounds of wheat for every 100 pounds of wheat fed.

All of these grains are deficient in protein and minerals. For best results, therefore, a protein supplement and a mineral mixture should be fed with these farm grains. A mixture of one-half tankage and one-half cottonseed meal by weight, provides a good protein supplement where green pasture is available. If green pasture is not available, use a mixture of 40 parts tankage, 40 parts cottonseed meal, and 20 parts of green alfalfa meal.

A simple mineral mixture composed of equal parts by weight of bone meal, ground limestone or oyster shell flour, and salt will usually furnish the necessary minerals.

NO. 4—Continued From Front Page

Then there was that colorful Spearman High Band arrayed in brilliant purple uniforms. In our opinion our neighbors to the west have one of the best school bands in the Southwest. We are indebted to them.

Glenn Truax and his Shamrock High School band; the Pampa Junior High School band; Fred Kreigle and his Cowboy Band from Guymon; and our own Ranger band put on a great show. The Guymon Cowboy Band was the official band for the Old Timers Reunion, playing during the luncheon. They were guests of the American Legion for dinner. The other visiting bands were fed at the High School cafeteria.

We've got to hand it to Sibley Jines and the members of his parade committee. They put over their assignment in a big way. It was the outstanding feature of the celebration. In fact, it was lots better than we expected and we know they were surprised at their own success and are very grateful for the cooperation of everyone.

We don't know how many visitors were here. We read a lot about the thousands of people that attend various celebrations and we are sometimes inclined to think that news writers let their superlatives run wild but at a conservative guess we would say that we had a crowd of at least 10,000. Now you can guess and we won't argue.

John McCarty, editor of the Amarillo News-Globe, and his good wife were with us during the day and don't think that John has lost his gift as a reporter. Did you read his story of the Golden Jubilee in Wednesday's News? We'll say he really covered our party from dawn to dark.

And so on through the day, the program moved smoothly with credit to those in charge. The band concerts, the special reception headquarters, the Old Timers Reunion, baseball game, rodeo, free ice water fountains, bathing beauty, water carnival, carnival, dance, etc. Everything moved smoothly and according to schedule.

Financial reports of the Golden Jubilee are not available but while on the subject of celebration costs, we offer the following figures on the cost of the recent Randall County 50th Anniversary celebration held at Canyon several weeks ago. Total expense of the Canyon show was $3,386.50. Receipts from rodeo, dances and concessions were $1,492.80. Donations to the celebration finances in cash, merchandise and beef totaled $2,004.78. After all expenses were paid, there was left a balance of $111.08 which was given to the American Legion to be placed in their charity fund.

Canyon will soon vote on bond issue of $7,000 for the purposes of buying an old bank building to be used as a city hall. If this bond election carries, the total bonded indebtedness of Canyon will only be $66,000. As Editor Clyde Warwick of the Canyon News says, "It is exceedingly small as compared to the debt of most towns on the Plains." We wonder if he didn't have Perryton in mind.

T. D. Moss and Mrs. Moss and daughter were Golden Jubilee visitors. "Doc," former Perryton Chamber of Commerce secretary, is very anxious to return to Perryton and install a bowling alley. If anyone has a building or will erect one of this purpose, get in touch with him at Texola.

Word has been received by Dr. J. C. May that the Soil Conservation Service has accepted his proposal to lease them his Plaza Hospital building for headquarters for the Perryton SCS Area offices. This building will make an ideal set-up for the SCS having an abundance of rooms, both large and small for reception, private offies, conference and drafting rooms. We have been told that the Perryton quarters will be the best of the six area offices in Region 6. Other area offices are at Lubbock, Dodge City, Salina, Pueblo and Denver.

Hay fever sufferers will begin to feel the effects of rag weed pollen during the month of September, and the State Department of Health again urges that local civic and municipal organizations start now eradicating all rag weed before the plants start blooming. By cutting rag weed now, the pollen content of the air will be greatly reduced during the fall months, and hay fever sufferers will be greatly benefitted. A pamphlet containing complete information relative to the acepted principles of ragweed control may be secured free of charge upon request from the State Department of Health, Austin, Texas.
