'Unitization' Of Oil Fields Is Criticized

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—The chairman of a Senate subcommittee investigating oil leasing practices says he fears major companies are using "unitization" to evade legal acreage restrictions.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM), hearing a Senate Interior subcommittee, said this at a hearing on leasing of federal land by oil firms.

"Unitization" is an agreement by oil firms in the same area to develop the area jointly. Such agreements exempt leases of federal land from normal limitation.

Anderson said Congress intended unitization only for proven fields, but testimony indicated areas are being unitized before wells are drilled in them.

"I'm worried that unitization might be a way for companies to get around the acreage limits," Anderson said.

He thinks about that matter with Jack Hamilton, once Stanolind Oil's division land man in New Mexico. The discussion centered on the San Juan Basin in northwest New Mexico.

Hamilton called the area "unique in that production is not directly related to structure as is normally found in other areas."

Hamilton said his company's policy is to try to enter unitization agreements "as soon as a suitable structure is found where we have options."

Anderson interrupted with, "But you just said you didn't know the structure" in the San Juan Basin.

Anderson indicated several times he believed the hearing would result in changes in federal law to better define unitization and non-renewable option rules.

Ken Whitford, Tulsa attorney for Stanolind, testified his firm established areas in which it wanted individuals to file leases, and the firm then took options on the individuals' leases for slightly more than the cost of federal land rental and filing fees.

Federal law provides that no company or individual can hold more than 46,080 acres of public land under oil and gas leases in any state, but allows them to hold other options on leases owned by others up to 200,000 acres in any state.

Anderson said he believed Congress had been "frightfully imposed upon to be so taken on the question of federal land dispersion."

The hearing, resumed today, is expected to last for about 10 days.

GIANT SNOWBALLS—Hugh and Janis Morgan found more than two inches of snow to their liking at Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan. The tots spent more than an hour making the large snowballs, then found they were too big for a snowman. The 2.7 inch snowfall was a September record for this area.

Agreement On Suez Proposal Hits Snag

Joint Action Sought

LONDON (AP) — The 18-nation Suez conference ended tonight with a hint from Pakistan, a holdout, that it might join the Western - sponsored Cooperative Assn. of Suez Canal Users, already assured majority backing.

LONDON (AP)—Last-minute snags today delayed final agreement among foreign ministers and envoys of 18 nations considering joint action to challenge Egyptian control of the Suez Canal.

There was no indication of the precise nature of the difficulty except that it involved drafting of tricky political passages in two documents the conference was to issue.

Experts of 17 of the nations agreed on the form and timing of an approach to the United Nations.

They hammered out the accord after the final touches to a plan setting up the "Cooperative Assn. of Suez Canal Users" (CASCU) to protect the rights of the maritime nations in the canal Egypt took over July 26.

Only Pakistan, of the 18 nations in conference here since Wednesday, stayed away from the experts' meeting. The Pakistani delegation, which regards the majority approach as too much like an ultimatum to Egypt, said it could not attend without instructions from Karachi.

However, Japan also came out against the users project as it stands and three other conference nations — Sweden, Denmark and Iran — called instead for an immediate approach to the U. N.

Ethiopia's position remained to be announced.

Indications were that all the rest of the conference nations, an even dozen, could be counted on to join as soon as their governments at home gave formal approval.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, described as highly pleased, planned to fly back to Washington tonight.

"He didn't expect so much agreement," an authoritative American source said. "Most if not all the 18 will join the users' association. We never expected all 18 would sign on the dotted line."

In Tokyo, Foreign Minister Mamoru Sigemitsu told newsmen Japan will not take part in the plan unless and until it wins Egypt's support. A spokesman for the Japanese shipping industry applauded this statement. The spokesman was quoted by the Kyodo News Service as saying there was no reason for Japan to join since Egypt "has assured Japanese ships safe and speedy passage."

The experts' meeting ran long overtime, causing postponement of the expected final plenary session of the 18.

Tips On Moon Trip

ROME (AP)—Before you book that seat on the first ship to the Moon, you'd better find out if you're "the space ship type," an American scientist warned today.

Dr. Siegfried Gerathewohl of the U.S. Air Force School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Field, Tex., told delegates to the 7th International Astronautical Congress that just as many people will be spacesick among the stars as would be seasick on the Atlantic.

Others will get "space happy" and start to giggle while some might get fits of depression, he said in a paper entitled "Personal Experiences During Short Periods of Weightlessness by 16 Subjects."

Gerathewohl said the pointers were collected by exposing Air Force volunteers to dives in jet aircraft which induced the same effect of weightlessness as would be experienced in a space ship. This "subgravity state" lasts only about 20 seconds, he said.

"The majority of our subjects felt very comfortable," he said. "Several subjects reported sensations of motion with no emotional involvement. A small group of subjects experienced discomfort, nausea, and severe symptoms of motion sickness."

Several of the guinea pig pilots reported "feelings of considerable well-being," Gerathewohl reported. Others felt confused and unhappy for the first few seconds, but later recovered and were able to observe objects floating in the air and to feel themselves lifted from their seats.

One 22-year-old airman with about 300 flying hours to his credit described his trip this way:

"Actually, I've never been so comfortable in my life. I think if I had my choice of places to relax, a weightless condition would be definitely it."

Dr. E. Sanger, director of the Forschungs Physics Laboratory, at Stuttgart, Germany, said in a highly technical paper that man would one day be able to fly out into the Milky Way and explore the outer universe—and come back not one day older.

Once outside the earth's orbit, he said, the Newtonian laws of gravity no longer have effect. Instead, the Einstein laws of relativity take over. Man would travel at the speed of light, he said, and "earth time" will no longer exist.

Members Of Church Get Jail Terms

DALLAS (AP)—Four church members were sentenced to begin contempt of court terms today after others in the congregation told of a member displaying a pistol during services. They told also of other members singing discordantly in the choir, and member pulling up a chair and sitting immediately in front of the pastor during a sermon.

The sentences were the outgrowth of a long feud in the Roe Chapel Baptist Church, whose members are Negroes.

Dist. Judge A. R. Stout of Waxahachie ordered Rufus Coleman, Novella Frazier and Clara Seay to jail for 72 hours. Mary George was given 48 hours in jail.

The court bailiff said they were to begin serving the sentences this afternoon.

W. J. Durham, lawyer for some church deacons and trustees, brought the contempt action.

The Frazier woman at one time during the lengthy feud had been accused of sitting at the church's piano, and placing a pistol to her chest to distract attention from the services.

Another complaint was that some dissidents without authority would stand with the choir and sound unmusical notes.

The church fuss began last summer when one group alleged that a faction with no legal standing was locking the pastor, the Rev. J. W. Hackett, and the congregation out of the church. The court then ordered the dissidents to stop interfering with services.

Mistrial In Murder Trial

BOSTON, Tex. (AP)—A mistrial was declared today in the case of Mrs. Josephine Jones Black, charged with murder, after she remained groggy from an overdose of drugs for the second straight day.

Mrs. Black, of Bloomberg, is charged with the death of her aged father, Joe Jones, at Bloomberg last March 11. R. C. Richardson, also indicted in the case, pleaded guilty and is serving a 20-year sentence. Officers who investigated the case said Mrs. Black offered Richardson $1,000 to kill her father.

Judge Maxwell Welch ordered Mrs. Black back in court today but doctors reported she still was unable to appear. The case then was declared a mistrial and will be called later.

Her elderly father was shot to death last spring as he slept in his living quarters behind his grocery store at Bloomberg. The state is asking the death penalty.

Ike, Mamie To Lunch At Family Tent

NEWTON, Iowa (AP) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower will lunch today in the "family tent" at the National Field Days site near here, as guests of the executive committee members for the big farm show.

Several delegations of farm folk and others will be brought in to meet the President at the tent.

His hosts are headed by Mr. and Mrs. J. Merrill Anderson, Newton. Anderson, a farmer, is general chairman for the Field Days.

For lunch the President and his lady will have lamb, fried chicken, halibut steak and apple pie.

The family tent is pitched on the Henry Steenhoek farm, where headquarters activity for Field Days is centered.

But the Steenhoeks will not lunch with the Eisenhowers. They will have a family meal at their old home. Their spanking new farm home, just built on the farmstead, will not be occupied until after Field Days.

The Steenhoeks hope, however, to see some of the Field Days activities, though they will be going about their chores as usual.

Steenhoek has been a Republican and says:

"I like Ike but I'm not sure that I'll vote his way in November."

Steenhoek says he believes the farmers in his area are not happy with the Eisenhower administration's farm program.

Garza Reads Fine Print

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—It may be because Manuel Garza reads the fine print that he was acquitted yesterday of driving while intoxicated.

Testifying in county court, Garza said after his arrest he was taken to a Corpus Christi hospital by police for a blood test. Someone gave him a release to sign, giving his consent for the test to be made.

Garza insisted on reading the form before signing it. The paper was a consent for amputation.

After that, Garza said, he wasn't signing anything.

Patrolmen Gordon Hewlett and Bill Eppard sheepishly admitted on the stand that the wrong form had been given to Garza to sign.

The jury freed Garza.

Cafe Is Damaged In Knapp This Morning

Fire early this morning did some damage to the Howard Cafe at Knapp, city firemen said.

The fire apparently started from a defective refrigerator and spread to a wall behind the cooling unit, however firemen put the blaze out before serious damage was done.

The fire occurred about 5:30 o'clock.

WEATHER

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: Yesterday's high 101; Low of 61, with a 71 reading at 7:30 a.m. today.

West Texas: Generally fair through Saturday. Cooler Panhandle and upper South Plains Saturday.

Negroes Lag Scholastically, Washington Principal Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Washington high school principal told House investigators today Negro students in his school on the average lagged scholastically behind whites, even when their home backgrounds were comparable.

Cederic Reynolds gave his views to a special House subcommittee, made up predominantly of Southerners, which is conducting hearings on the effects of racial integration and other problems of the Washington school system.

Reynolds said he was speaking on the basis of individual cases he observed at Calvin Coolidge High School. The school is in a predominantly white neighborhood, but had about 20 Negro students last year and about 60 or 65 at the school opening this fall.

Reynolds said that of the 20 Negroes who attended the school last year, 12 failed in two or more subjects. He said the median intelligence quotient, a measure of learning ability based on psychological tests, for the whole school was 110 but for the Negroes 92.5.

The principal said some of the Negro students were the children of professional people, but that in general he found Negro children, even if coming from homes of a high social and economic status, do not do as well in school as white children of comparable backgrounds.

Miss Ruth E. Davis, who retired last December as a teacher at Eastern High School, gave the subcommittee a somewhat less dark picture of disciplinary problems created by integration than it had received earlier from a retired principal of the same school.

Miss Davis described some fights, including an episode in which she said white girls complained Negro girls stuck pins into them, but she said there was no overt misbehavior in her classrooms. She said also, that while she had heard some rumors, she did not herself know of any stealing or sex episodes.

The subcommittee on Wednesday received a sworn statement from the retired principal, John Paul Collins, in which he said his health had been undermined by breakdowns in discipline following integrartion. Collins spoke of a number of sex, stealing and fighting occurences.

Foundation Giving Aid At Lackland

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The National Polio Foundation extended help today to Lackland AFB where Salk vaccination was being given 30,000 military and civilian personnel.

The mass inoculation was ordered Wednesday after five cases of polio were reported at the base.

No new cases were reported today and training operations were continuing. Improvement was reported in three of the four patients.

Dan Quill, chairman of the Bexar County polio chapter, said the foundation had provided nine special nurses for treatment of the four patients at Brooke Army Hospital. One more iron lung was provided.

Lackland said Capt. Gordon Glayshier no longer is paralyzed and is in "very good" condition. Lt. Neil Carlson was reported "recovering from paralysis" and in good condition. Lt. Randolph Smith was "responding satisfactorily" and in good condition.

Lt. Richard Spindler was reported in poor but not critical condition. No report was available on Lt. Allen Wall, hospitalized at Houston, where he became ill after transfer from Lackland.

Florida Man Faces Charges Of Murder

BEEVILLE (AP) — Sheriff J. L. Duffy said yesterday that Eugene Stone, 21, of Orlando, Fla., had been charged with murder in the death Wednesday of Mrs. Evelyn Galphin, 34, of Daytona Beach, Fla.

Mrs. Galphin was the estranged wife of a former Daytona Beach policeman now in Germany with the Air Force. Justice of Peace J. A. Nichols quoted Stone as saying the woman tried to jump from his car Tuesday night and bumped her head. The two came to Texas about four weeks ago, police said.

High School Is Evacuated

ELK POINT, S.D. (AP) — This small Missouri River community, its high school already partly evacuated because of shifting glacial sand under its foundation, waited to learn what the peculiar forces of nature hold in store.

Gradual settling of the earth beneath Elk Point, in the southeastern corner of South Dakota, has been causing basements to crack and foundations to shift over the past two years.

This week 167 high school students were jarred in their classrooms as the school building settled 2½ inches on its foundation.

Most of the school was closed and the pupils were transferred to the adjoining grade school building. Elementary pupils will attend classes in the basement of the city auditorium.

Four sparate rumbles opened a wide crack in the wall of the high school, built 42 years ago. The grade school, built in 1938, suffered lesser damage. Donald Jacoby, school superintendent, said the grade school building also would be unusable if the settling continues.

Democrats To Have Campaign Newspaper

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee, which already publishes a monthly magazine, now has a campaign newspaper.

First copies of the eight-page tabloid were mailed today, the committee said, to 400,000 party leaders and precinct workers throughout the country. It is titled "The New America," a name taken from one of presidential nominee Adlai E. Stevenson's speeches.

The committee said five issues of the paper will be published.

Consumer Prices Drop Last Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices dipped two-tenths of one per cent last month from the all-time high recorded in July, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

Ewan Clague, BLS commissioner, said a sharp seasonal drop in fresh food prices caused the decline. Other items in the index generally rose.

Clague said an expected rsie in meat, apparel, automobile and other prices may offset the still-falling fresh food prices in the September index, and added:

"The September index could equal the all-time high."

The August consumer price index stood at 116.8 per cent of the 1947-9 average and was about 2 per cent above a year ago chiefly because of steep rises in May, June and July.

Despite the slight decline last month, about 100,000 workers in aircraft factories will receive a two-cent or three-cent hourly wage increase under contracts which call for adjustment of wages in line with three-month fluctuations of the price index.

The strong trend of nonfood prices suggests, Clague told reporters, that a leveling-off of the index, which has been expected this autumn, will be at a level close to the peak recently attained.

The spendable earnings — or take home pay — of factory workers went to the highest level in history in August.

"Real earnings" — the amount of goods and services the worker can buy with his pay — was the highest on record for the month, though not as high as the peak attained last December.

Food prices, accounting for about 30 per cent of the living costs of the average city family, dropped 1½ per cent in August because of big reductions in fresh fruit and vegetables.

Prices of all other types of food advanced over the month, especially those of beef, veal and some pork cuts. The trend is still upward, Clague said.

Apparel costs are on the rise as fall clothing reaches the stores.

An unusual increase in the price of used cars contributed to a net climb of six-tenths of 1 per cent in transportation in August. Gasoline and motor oil costs were up.

The cost of housing went up. House furnishings declined on the average because textile items were reduced for the usual August white sales. Lower prices were reported for household appliances.

The cost of medical care, personal services, and reading and recreation all advanced.

Factory take-home pay was measured at $73.06 a week for the worker with a wife and 2 children and $65.71 for the single worker. Both the figures were more than $2.70, or about 4 per cent higher than an year ago.

British Hang 3 Cypriot Rebels

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Three more Greek Cypriot rebels were hanged today as fellow prisoners shouted and sang to protest Britain's rule over this Mediterranean island colony.

A general strike by the island's Greek Cypriot residents went into its second day. PEKA, a new nationalist underground organization circulated leaflets saying the strike would continue three days "in tribute to three more heroes."

Fresh anti-British violence flared.

Hanged behind the walls of Nicosia's central prison shortly before 2 a.m. were Michael Koutsoftas, Andreas Panayides and Stelios Mavrommatis. Their deaths brought to eight the number of nationalist extremists hanged since Greek Cypriots 18 months ago began a campaign of violence to end British rule and join Cyprus to Greece.

Koutsoftas and Panayides, both 22, were convicted of the slaying of a Royal Air Force corporal. Mavrommatis, 23, was convicted of shooting at two RAF cyclists.

In the tense hours just before the hangings, the nearly 400 other prisoners in the central prison raised a deafening clamor in their cells. They shouted "Long live EOKA," and sang the Greek national anthem and hymns.

EOKA is the underground organization that has been leading the campaign of violence against the British.

Gov. Sir John Harding turned down last-minute pleas for mercy presented by lawyers for the trio.

Close relatives of the condemned men were permitted to visit them shortly before the executions. They reported the three were calm and said they were "proud to die as heroes."

Their bodies were buried in a tiny cemetery inside the prison grounds — alongside those hanged previously — to forestall burial as "national heroes" if the bodies were turned over to their families.

In Athens an authoritative source said Premier Constantine Karamanlis and his Cabinet stayed away from the visiting American Ballet Theater's premiere because of the hangings. The performance was under U.S. Embassy auspices.

At Cyprus' east coast port of Famagusta, three British soldiers were wounded slightly by bombs. The house of a security force member there also was the target of a bomb hurler.

UNASSISTED AT BIRTH—Mrs. Nancy Parker and her husband, James; admire their 4-hour-old daughter at their home in Corpus-Christi, Texas. Mrs. Parker gave birth to her second child unassisted and waited until her husband arrived home from work two hours later to tell him, because she didn't want to disturb anyone. Mrs. Parker said she felt fine, but thought she might stay in bed a day or two now.

SNYDER ROAD STUDIED

Highway Needs Are Listed

AUSTIN (AP)—Highway mileage between San Antonio and Galveston could be cut 15 miles if a road were built between Hochheim and Smiley, the Highway Commission heard yesterday.

Gonzales and DeWitt County men said the road, mostly in Gonzales County, would serve "considerable through traffic." It would cost half a million to $1,200,000, depending on the type of construction.

Bruce Gustwick of Yoakum and Durwood Manford of Smiley headed the delegation at the commission's public hearing.

The commission tried to convince a Brazoria County delegation to junk its request for removal of median curbs on heavily traveled 288 from Freeport and Houston.

"If you will name me one person who will say he will be responsible for the death and carnage that will result on the highway" with the removal of the 16 foot separations," Chairman E. H. Thornton Jr. said, "I'll vote to stop the highway."

Thornton said he believed the present highway would result in more business rather than a decrease in business in Clute and Lake Barbara.

Other recommendations taken under consideration:

A connecting road from U.S. 285 to Farm 1217 in Terrell. It would cover 40.6 miles at a cost of $420,000.

A Brazoria County delegation outlined its highway problems in the Brazosport area and agreed that the most immediate need was improving FM 1460 from west of Lake Jackson to its intersection with FM 521. Cost: $300,000. The delegation also discussed a four-lane divided facility on FM 1460 from its intersection with State 288 to Lake Jackson.

Extension of FM 700 from U.S. 87 in Big Spring to U.S. 80 at Cosden Refinery. The extension over 4.3 miles would cost $460,000. The Howard County delegation also asked for expansion of FM 700 from U.S. 87 west to U.S. 80 at Big Spring. 2.3 miles at a $200,000 cost.

Pave State 350 between Snyder and Big Spring to connect with FM 1298 near Lake J. B. Thomas, 7.2 miles at a cost of $123,000. Mitchell County Judge Sam Bullock said the right of way had been bought by the county.

Navarro County Judge James Sewell of Corsicana requested a farm road from U.S. 75 at Rice to Emhouse, 7.8 miles.

A request was made for a spur track crossing of State 3 for the Galveston, Houston and Henderson Railroad, south of Genoa to allow deliveries to a furniture warehouse in Harris County.

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

Wildcats Set In Three Counties

Stonewall, Kent and Terry Counties have gained new wildcat locations.

Sun Oil Co., of Dallas No. 1-A W. F. Martin will be drilled 10 miles south of Aspermont in South Stonewall County. 1,400 feet from west and 1,572 feet from north lines of section 136, block 1, H&TC survey. It is slated for a 6,700-foot bottom.

Sojourner Drilling Co. and others of Abilene will dig a 7,750-foot wildcat 15 miles northwest of Clairemont in Northwest Kent County. It is No. 1 S. M. Swenson, 660 feet from north and east lines of section 38, block 7, H&GN survey.

Amerada Petroleum Corp. announced site for a 12,000-foot Devonian exploration three miles southeast of Meadow in Northeast Terry County. It is No. 1 M. D. Green, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 60, block 4X, C&M survey.

Core hole was being reamed in Hunt Oil Co. No. 1 Drum, Northwest Scurry County wildcat, after core from 2,769 to 2,812 feet showed oil.

Recovery on the core was 44 feet of sandy dolomite bleeding oil. A subsequent core, from 2,812 to 2,866 feet returned 55 feet of dolomite bleeding oil.

Location is 330 feet from south and east lines of the west half of section 512, block 97, H&TC survey, two miles northeast of Fluvanna.

Camp Oil Co. of San Antonio No. 1 Emma Blue, Southeast Dawson County wildcat, has been completed as a flowing discovery from the Canyon reef lime.

On 24-hour potential test, the strike made 227 barrels of 40 gravity oil through a ¼-inch choke and perforations from 9,086 to 9,092 feet, after 500 gallons of mud acid. Gas-oil ratio was 563-1.

The new field opener is 3¾ miles north of the Ackerly (Dean sand) field, 330 feet from north and 1,100 feet from east lines of section 25, T-4-N, T&P survey; five miles north of Ackerly.

Drillstem test was underway in Seaboard Oil Co. No. 1-A J. R. Weaver, West Dawson County wildcat.

Bottomed at 8,983 feet, the project had fluorescense and shows of oil in drilling samples.

The Canyon reef was topped at 8,965 feet, 695 feet high to Humble Oil & Refining Co. No. 1 J. R. Weaver.

Location for 1-A Weaver is 660 feet from north and east lines of labor 27, league 3, Taylor County School Land survey, 2½ miles southwest of Mungerville.

Humble Oil & Refining Co. will attempt to extend Borden County Jo-Mill (Spraberry) production into Southeast Dawson County with No. 2 J. A. Lane, and wife.

The new project is 3,100 feet from north and 1,800 feet from west lines of section 45, block 33, T-5-N, T&P survey, 20 miles southeast of Lamesa. Contract depth is 7,500 feet.

A Glorieta discovery has been indicated in South Garza County at Superior Oil Co. No. 1-38 J. P. Crump, north offset to Neville G. Penrose and R. S. Anderson No. 1-x Miller, Strawn and Ellenburger discovery.

No. 1-38 Crumb drillstem tested the section from 3,050-3,090 feet for 90 minutes. Gas surfaced in 10 minutes, with volume too small to measure. Reversed out was 15 barrels of oil, gravity of which was 33.1 degrees. Recovery was 90 feet of slightly mud-cut oil and 90 feet of oil below the tool. Flowing pressure was from zero to 585 pounds, and shutin pressure in 30 minutes, 1,050 pounds.

Drilling continued below 3,280 feet in lime.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 38, block southwest of Justiceburg.

J. D. Baker No. 1 W. F. Bennett, North Nolan County wildcat, has been plugged and abandoned at 6,100-feet.

The duster is seven miles east of Sweetwater, 660 feet from north and east lines of northwest quarter of section 31, block 20, T&P survey, 3½ miles west of White Flat Multipay area.

School Plan Is Discussed At Meeting

Dr. Wilton Jones and Max West, members of the Snyder school board, yesterday discussed the problem of integration at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club.

The two explained several problems concerning integration and the two alternatives which the Snyder schools could choose between, inviting discussion of members.

The alternatives: the Snyder schools could completely integrate with facilities now available, or there could be a bond issue proposed to build a second, but smaller, high school in the Lincoln School area, declaring integration and giving Negro students a choice between the two high schools.

Integration would be necessary, according to law, in either case but Negro residents indicated in a meeting several days ago that they would rather their children attend a high school in their own area, although they would have a choice of attending either high school. A projection of the present school census, Jones said, shows there will be 75 to 80 Negro students in the last six grades of school within a short time.

There are now 15 Negro students attending high school out of town, most of them at a parochial school. This is the last year such will be done, however. Until now, Negro students have been sent to the parochial school by common consent, although it is illegal to use tax funds in any way for sending students to such a school.

Jones told the group that Negro residents had indicated they are not ready for complete integration.

If a second high school were to be built, it would require some $150,000 for construction. That would be proposed in a bond issue.

The board members explained that the board has not yet taken the position of proposing either of the two alternatives but that it felt it was a community problem and that the people of the community should discuss it and indicate their feeling before any definite proposal is amde.

The board has been meeting with all of Snyder's civic clubs this week to discuss the problem.

Cancels TV Permit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communications Commission said yesterday it had cancelled the East Texas Television Co.'s Channel 32 TV construction permit at Longview because the company failed to build the authorized station.

Young Men Are Needed In Service

The old saying "opportunity only knocks once" is not true in the case of the opportunity to enlist for assignment with the Army's Third Armored Division, now stationed in Europe.

A limited number of young men without prior military service are needed to fill vacancies that will soon exist within the Third Armored Division. Applicants must be of a high mental and physical character.

Individuals who are accepted will receive basic training with the 4th Armored Division, Fort Hood. After basic training, enlistees will join the Third Armored Division in Germany as replacement troops, and will return to the states with the division in early 1959.

This is the second time enlistments have been sought for this division, the first being in 1955 before the division left the United States.

Young men enlisting for duty with the Third Armored Division under the "Operation Gyroscope" plan have their military career mapped before enlisting. They know where and when they are going and to which division they will be assigned. This takes the guesswork out of plans for the future. Adventure and the opportunity to see colorful Europe is assured men enlisting for the Third Armored Division.

Information on an enlistment in the Third Armored Division and other gyroscope units is available by contacting Sgt. Hazlett of the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, Court House each Wednesday from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Ike Greeted By Big Iowa Crowd

BOONE, Iowa (AP)—At the crossroads in Iowa, where the farmers park their shiny cars in long lines down the side roads, they seem to like President Eisenhower.

This is the corn-hog Farm Belt, where Democratic politicians have been saying there is a revolt against the Eisenhower administration's flexible farm price support policies.

Yesterday the farm people turned out by the thousands to wave and smile and exclaim over Ike and Mamie as they drove 60 miles from Des Moines to this birthplace of Mrs. Eisenhower. If the men were sometimes indifferent to the passage down the concrete highway of a presidential candidate, the women were not.

Almost without fail they turned to each other in squealing delight after the presidential car with its open sky dome had passed to exclaim "Oh, he waved at me."

Eisenhower, getting into the swing of campaigning, showed a definite taste for it. If there was a hand to shake, he shook it at the airport or on the lawn of his wife's old family home here.

On the ride to Boone, the President, grinning widely rose through the open plexiglass dome of his specially designed car to signal his delight at each contingent of roadside voters.

Greeted by about 2,000 persons at the Des Moines airport, Eisenhower found another turnout of about the same number lining the street at Adel. At Minburn there were 300 and near Perry about 2,500. At Ogden there were 500 cheering spectators who waved back enthusiastically as the President, hatless but in top coat, gave them his victory salute.

Palpably, Eisenhower and his aides were somewhat amazed at the turnout in what they calculated might well be an area hostile to his flexible farm price support program. Gov. Leo Hoegh, somewhat flushed with the success of it all, predicted Eisenhower would carry Iowa by 200,000 votes.

This would be a drop from the 1952 Eisenhower margin of about 350,000, but — from the Republican standpoint — a considerable improvement over the 28,000 by which Democratic former President Harry S. Truman carried the state in 1948.

There remained, however, a small fly in what White House press secretary James C. Hagerty seemed to regard as the best GOP ointment applied this far in the campaign.

Marlowe Williams, Boone attorney who arranged the homecoming for Mrs. Eisenhower, blurted out in the receiving line at her family homestead that "the farmers are still complaining."

Eisenhower, who probably never saw Williams before, came back quickly with a characteristic statement:

"By golly, we're doing everything we can for them."

MR. AND MRS. WAYLAND HUDDLESTON

Miss Carlile Is Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

Wayland Ross Huddleston and Miss Betty Margaret Carlile were united in marriage Sunday, Sept. 16, at the Baptist Church in Webb City, Ark. Miss Carlile is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Carlile of Webb City, and Mr. Huddleston is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Huddleston of Ratcliff, Ark., formerly of Snyder.

The Rev. Audra Martin officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

White floor baskets filled with giant white chrysanthemums and ferns tied with bows of white satin ribbon formed the setting for the ceremony. The bridal aisle was marked with white satin and lace braid bows.

Preceding the ceremony, traditional wedding music was played by Miss Ann Carter of Ozark, Ark., and Miss Hilda Earls of Paris, Tex., sang "O Promise Me" and "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Douglas Carlile of Stillwater, Okla.

The bride's gown was of ballerina-length lace over satin and twilight illusion. The molded bodice was of lace-covered satin with a scalloped, scooped neckline embroidered with seed pearls with a yoke of twilight illusion forming a high round neckline. The bodice was opened down the back and fastened with tiny satin covered buttons, as were the long tapered lace sleeves. The white satin and lace panel formed a double circled skirt with twilight illusion over all. Her finger-tip veil of twilight illusion was attached to a lace cap outlined with clusters of seed pearls. She carried a lace-covered white Bible topped with an orchid with satin streamers tied in love knots.

For something borrowed she wore two hat pins, a blue garter, and for luck a penny in her shoe. Her only jewelry was a three strand pearl necklace with matching ear screws, a gift from the groom.

Maid of honor was Miss Lucille King of Ozark, whose dress was a ballerina-length formal of pink net. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations with blue satin puffs and streamers.

The bridesmaid was Miss Della Smith of Ozark. Her dress was a ballerina-length formal of pink net. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations with pink satin puffs and streamers.

Miss Earl's dress was a pale blue lace formal. Miss Carter wore a sheath dress of pink polished cotton.

Best man was Johnny Law of Ratcliff, and groomsman was Roger Bohannan of Houston., brother-in-law of the bride. Usher were Bill Wiggins and Jacky Holzman of Ratcliff.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Carlile chose a blue rayon and nylon tweed. Her accessories were of navy and white, with a colonial corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Huddleston, mother of the groom, wore a sheath dress of winter green silk crepe trimmed with satin and green nail heads. Her accessories were of walnut brown and beige velvet with a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Laura Miller of Webb City. The table was laid with a lace cloth, centered with a four-tiered wedding cake of pink and white, the bride's chosen colors, topped with a miniature bride and groom. A white floor basket of flowers stood at each end of the table, backed by a large mirror.

The couple cut the cake with a silver knife tied with a pink satin and lace braid bow.

Mrs. Roger Bohannan of Houston, sister of the bride, served the cake, while Mrs. Douglas D. Carlile of Stillwater, Okla., sister-in-law of the bride, presided at the punch bowl.

After the reception, the couple left for a wedding trip to Eureka Springs and other places of interest in the Ozarks. They also planned to visit Roaring River in Missouri and the Diamond Crater of Arkansas. They will make their home near Snyder, where Mr. Huddleston is engaged in farming.

For traveling, Mrs. Huddleston chose a black faille sheath dress. Her accessories were silver and her flower was an orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Spadea's american designer pattern

1277

You'll be off to a smart start this fall in this new version of the perenially popular shirtwaist by Claire McCardell. A step-in model, it has soft bosom pleating that continues on down the front of the skirt, which hangs fairly straight in front but flares out in back. The neckline is a bright new detail, a combination of the crushed neckband. Easy to make, the fact that the pattern is precisely perforated for accurate matching makes the job even more simple. Make it in solids or the currently important checks and plaids in cottons, synthetics, foulards and surahs or sheer wools.

DRESS: Size 12 requires 6⅜ yards of 39 inch material. INTERFACING: Size 12 requires ¼ yard of 35 inch material. To order Pattern No. 1277, state size, enclose $1.00. Women's Clubhouse Will Be Dedicated On Sept. 30

The Board of Directors of the Martha Ann Women's Clubhouse, have announced dedication services will be held Sunday, Sept. 30 at 3 p.m.

The members of the club and their husbands are invited to meet at the clubhouse at 3 p.m. Sunday for the services.

The general public is cordially invited to attend the open house to be held from 4 to 6 p.m. Special guests who will attend include, clubwomen from Lamesa, Abilene, Colorado, Big Spring and Lubbock.

The Board of Directors for the new club include: Mrs. C. V. Thompson, Jr., president; Mrs. Jack Bowden, vice-president; Mrs. E. A. Brooks, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jack Gore, recording secretary, and Mrs. J. R. Hicks, treasurer.

The architect for the $250,000 building was Frank Drew, with Honingblum Furniture of San Antonio in charge of the furnishings. The Women's clubs, sponsoring the annual rodeo queen activities the past three years, contributed more than $25,000 for the furnishings.

The rules of the clubhouse participation are: Any club whose purpose is education or charitable in part or mainly, is eligible, upon election by the board. They pay $100 yearly for all meetings guaranteed space at the club and two extra eventss of their club. Their members may buy individual memberships for $20.00 the first year; $10.00 later years. Women unaffiliated with a participating club pay $25.00 yearly for membership.

Participating clubs thus far include: Alpha, Altrurian Daughters, Altrurian, Atheneum, Art Guild, American Association for University Women, Cosmarama, Twentieth Century, Women's Culture, Business and Professional Women, Snyder Garden Club, Town and County Garden Club, Aracia, Snyder Book Review, and the Desk and Derrick.

WHY BE A MEMBER OF THE CHURCH OF CHRIST? (No. 5)

BECAUSE IT IS SCRIPTURAL IN NAME. The prevalent idea that there is nothing in a name is in keeping with neither reason nor scripture. Sons are named "James" and "John"; dogs are named "Fido" and "Shep" etc. But if there is nothing in a name, try calling the son, "Fido" or "Shep"! or call a truthful man a "liar"! The Holy Spirit condemns human and divisive names (1Cor.1:11-13). Paul said, "I thank God that I baptized none of you, but Crispus and Gaius"—not that baptism is unimportant—but "lest any should say that I had baptized in mine own name." (1Cor.1:14,15).

WHAT THE CHURCH IS CALLED. It has no special name designated by the Holy Spirit but it is referred to by a number of different, significant terms: (1) "My church" (Matt.16:18); Jesus said that, therefore it is Christ's church, or the church of Christ. (2) "The church" (Acts 8:1); the word "church" comes from the Greek word, "ekklesia," meaning a group of called-out people, an assembly. The Lord has but one such group and it is "the church." (3) "Church of God" (1Cor.1:2); this shows ownership. (4) "The churches of Christ" (Rom.16:16); the Holy Spirit is speaking of various congregations which belong to Christ. (5) "The body of Christ" (1Cor.12:27; Col.1:24); the body (church) which belongs to Christ. (6) "The church of the living God" (1Tim.3:15); this term indicates ownership. (7) "Church of the firstborn" (Heb.12:23) refers to the honor and glory bestowed upon each member of the church—even enrolled in heaven. Any of the above terms are applicable to the church and to honor God, Christ and the Bible (Acts 4:12). This is another reason why one should be a member of the church of Christ.

"THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST SALUTE YOU." (Rom.16:16). Nineteen hundred years ago the church you read about in the New Testament was established! Today, she is referred to by the same terms, has the same worship, organization, doctrine, and life. Tune in KSNY on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7:15 p.m. and hear C. Dale Brooks.

Legislation Is Reviewed At Meeting

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Legislation on the status of women and constitutional amendments were reviewed yesterday for 300 women's club presidents and Texas Federation board members.

Mrs. A. J. House of Yoakum, president, called the meeting the "largest of its kind ever to meet in the history of the federation."

The women, policy-makers of the women's organizations, could not take official action on proposed legislation, but urged study of the matters.

Mrs. Jud Collier of Mumford reviewed pending national and state legislation which deals with the status of women. She urged support of law revisions pertaining to separate acknowledgments and the rights of women to handle property owned before marriage or acquired after marriage through inheritance or gift.

Mrs. Florence Scott of Rio Grande City outlined eight state amendments to be voted upon Nov. 6.

She urged support of the teachers retirement amendment and suggested study and research before voting.

State Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont, author of an amendment to provide state aid for totally disabled persons over 18, also spoke.

Personality Rated Over Girls' Looks

AP Newsfeatures

How important is a good personality?

"It's the most important asset a girl can have" according to one popular young male student. "If she happens to be good looking with a nice figure too, more power to her. But my experience is that beautiful girls depend on their looks to carry them on to social success."

Pretty girls, he says, are not always the most popular because they think the world owes them some sort of special adoration.

"Take a girl I dated recently" this 18-year-old student says, "she delayed us 15 minutes at home even though we were late for our date with another group, waiting somewhere for us. Then she pouted because she didn't like the evening's schedule, although she had nothing more constructive to suggest in the way of entertainment, even if we could have changed our plans."

When you are out with a beauty she is likely to spend a good deal of time glancing in the mirror, powdering and re-finishing her makeup. She worries about her looks constantly, this young man says.

He insists too, that pretty girls are usually bad sports. "The mere fact that they are good looking," he says, "seems to make them determined to shun any form of entertainment that will even muss their hair."

His examples include swimming, skating, skiing.

"Oh, yes they'll sit around in a bathing suit and look pretty but they don't want to get their hair wet or ruin their makeup," he says. "Also they may corral the most tremendous wardrobe, riding clothes, ski stuff, skating skirts that are worn like a fashion show rather than to contribute to the activity planned for them.

This young man seems to feel that a girl with a winning personality automatically is entertaining, that she makes a sincere effort to be gay on a date, and that it just sort of goes with her type.

She is likely to be a better sport too, he says, enjoying any entertainment planned by her date, he says.

He doesn't think men want that kind of companionship anymore, he says.

N.Y. Senatorial Race

One of the most interesting 1956 Senatorial races is in New York. The Democrats have put up Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City, son and namesake of a Senator who helped mightily in enacting legislation of the New Deal. The Republicans have named Jacob K. Javits, in 1954 the only Republican to win an important N. Y. state office, the attorney generalship.

The Senate internal security subcommittee has announced that it will take still further testimony on Javit's alleged early political association with Reds and Red sympathizers. Republicans charge that hearings so far simply showed Democrats trying to smear a GOP leader with guilt by association. Democrats retort that the Republicans are fine ones to complain on that score.

Javits in his eight years in the House voted frequently against the overwhelming majority of his fellow Republicans. Indeed, on no less than 60 of 72 major roll call votes in the House, he was on the same side as the Democrat whom he defeated for Attorney General in 1954, Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) refused to make a choice as between the two men.

Javits had only a handful of Republican Representatives with him in voting to sustain the Truman vetoes of the Taft-Hartley act, of the subversives activities control bill, of the McCarran immigration bill — in voting against the offshore oil bill, antitrust exemption for certain railroad practices, cutting TVA funds, reducing federal jobs by 10 percent — in voting for certain Truman government reorganization plans and more funds for public power. On these and many other issues Javits showed much the same political philosophy as Mayor Wagner's father had shown.

Useful Distinction

At his press conference Mr. Stevenson said "it is no secret that I don't think much of the recent conduct of our foreign affairs." All the same, Mr. Stevenson very sensibly refused to criticize the Administration's handling of the Suez dispute.

We think this reflects an important distinction. The so-called bipartisan approach to foreign affairs can be dangerous when it tends to remove from political discussion the broad policies on which the question of war or peace depends.

Neither party, on the evidence so far, intends to fall into that trap. The Democrats, as Mr. Stevenson indicates, profess to be deeply dissatisfied with the Administration's foreign policies in general. And though their criticisms have not been penetrating, they are certainly entitled to make them. The Republicans, for their part, consider the record of achieving and keeping peace one of their strongest campaign cards. To the extent there is an issue here, it should certainly be developed.

But it is not "bipartisanship" to refrain from attacking the Administration on an aspect of foreign policy which is currently the subject of international negotiation and the results of which remain to be seen. No one can categorically say whether the U.S. is pursuing the wisest course through the Suez maze, but it is plain that necessarily ill-informed denunciation could jeapardize the peaceful solution it seeks.

Mr. Stevenson has thus distinguished between the propriety of general partisan criticism of foreign policy and the impropriety of trying to draw political advantage from adding, as he said, "to the difficulties of the President and the Secretary of State" in a particular application of the policy. It is a distinction which might usefully be borne in the mind by both parties during the campaign.

Demos Already Citing Living Cost Rise As Refutation Of 'Sound Dollar' Claim

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Climbing prices have blossomed into an economic headache and a political embarrassment to the Eisenhower administration.

There is general agreement that the consumer price index, after a spurt this summer, will proceed at a more sober gait.

But Democrats already have seized on the rise in living costs as a refutation of the aministration's "sound dollar" claims. Republicans retort: "Look who's talking about inflation."

Even before the political campaign started, official Washington had reacted to the march of prices to a record high.

President Eisenhower voiced concern, and his administration lined up behind Federal Reserve Board efforts to hold the new, higher price line.

There is speculation that, unless the unprecedented boom in industrial expansion slackens off soon, the board may move again this fall to make credit tighter and borrowing more costly.

In August the Federal Reserve board boosted the discount rate from 2¾ to 3 per cent. This means that it raised the interest rate on money borrowed by its member to raise private interest rates and banks for relending. The effect is to raise private interest rates and discourage borrowing.

There remain signs that the aministration is not wholly certain that inflation can be stopped cold.

One high White House adviser said in an interview that the administration's policy is one of economic growth "while containing inflation." He added that "containing" doesn't mean "preventing."

Apparently it means exercising such restraint as is thought necessary to keep prices within reasonable bounds, without choking off the expansion of production and employment. It does not mean that prices will not rise; it seems to mean they won't run away.

The same official conceded that the rise already recorded may be "damaging, to some extent," politically.

But he added that the stabilization record of the Eisenhower administration—a 3 per cent rise in living costs in 3¼ years—is a "remarkable achievement," particularly in view of the "very high use" to which the economy is being put.

Secretary Mitchell has reduced the argument to simpler terms. The Republican rise, he told reporters, "compares with a 34 per cent increase under Truman."

When reminded that two wars and congressional insistence on the removal of price controls had complicated President Truman's problems, Mitchell cut off the discussion with: "All I'm quoting is the statistics."

The Democrats are unimpressed. They have contended that stability began in the last year of the Truman administration. A "fact sheet" from the Democratic National Committee declared:

"The only reason the over-all cost of living remains fairly steady is the severe drop in farm prices which has brought about somewhat lower food prices."

So the arguments go 'round and 'round. Two facts remain undisputed:

The recent spurt of inflation has given the Democrats a campaign talking point they didn't have before. And it has taken some of the punch out of the Republicans' claims that they have found the key to what Eisenhower has called "prosperity with general price stability."

Politics aside, what's to be done to see that inflation doesn't spiral dangerously?

Secretary of Commerce Weeks twice has appealed to industry and labor for "self-restraint," lest thy price themselves out of the market and bring on a damaging recession.

Such appeals are not wholly in vain. But most officials rest their faith chiefly in the indirect, and not fully tested, powers of the Federal Reserve Board to expand and contract the supply of money and credit.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—A lady asks irritably if I ever liked any half-hour filmed program on television.

Why, yes, Madame, my personal favorite is "Crunch and Des," a package filmed series currently appearing on more than 150 TV stations around the country. It glues me to the set on its weekly appearance over a local station.

"Crunch and Des" is based on Philip Wylie's grand Saturday Evening Post stories about a couple of Florida fisherman and their boat, the Poseidon, and the interesting characters who enter their lives. It's an authentic, credible, absorbing series free of hackneyed plot twists and cornball situations.

For one thing, "Crunch and Des" takes you out of doors and out to sea instead of to that western range where so many cowboys roam on television. For another, its well-paced action is firmly based in the characters of Crunch and Des themselves.

Crunch is more a man of action. Des is more a man of imiagination. Together they round out a unity of what every man would be. When they board an apparently deserted boat belonging to a rival and find its crew mysteriously missing, Des is enraptured by the mystery of the sea and talks of giant squid no man has seen. But Crunch remains on the boat and becomes involved in a knock-down slugfest with the paranoid skipper who has been hounding him. The man of action is triumphant.

This series portrays violence but does not extol it. It has a warm sense of character that lifts it far above the average package show.

If last week's premiere of "On Trial" over NBC - TV — (Fridays, 9 p.m., EDT) is typical of its season's course, it's a very average half-hour weekly package film series inseed.

The initial offering concerned a noted Scots physician at the turn of the century who was accused of poisoning his wife and mother-in - law. He really did it, but throughout the course of the film the audience was led to believe someone else did it by every plot and camera trick that Hollywood has been using since "Birth of a Nation."

They could fool the audience, but by golly they couldn't fool a jury of 12 Scotsmen. They knew the doctor had done it and he was sentenced to swing for it. Just before he did swing, he confessed that he really had done it—in a fit of boredom.

Warren Magnuson Senses A Trend For Demos And Reporter Inclined To Agree

By HOLMES ALEXANDER

SEATTLE, WASHINGTON—Clap hands, here comes Maggie! He is everybody's friend in Washinton State, the giver and the getter of whatever-you-want from Washington, D. C. Maggie is sleek in the jowl from good wining and dining. He is an animated cartoon of the wide-smiling, cigar-chewing, hard-shaking host who wants everybody to have a high old time at the party.

Maggie is the Hon. Warren G. Magnuson, U. S. Senator from Washington for the past 12 years. Before that he was a Congressman for 8 years. At the ruddy age of 51 he is a political institution in his State, which is now plastered with campaign billboards saying: "We're stronger with Magnuson." The signs mean to every Washingtonian that Maggie, with his knowledge of the Federal cupboard and his rising seniority in the Senate, can "serve" the people and industries of the State better than his Republican rival, Gov. Arthur Langlie, whose ideas of public service are much different.

Maggie was hustling through a hotel lobby, flushed with a cold caught in outdoor campaigning, hoarse from campaign talking. But he was courteous and genial, as always, to the reporter who came abreast. How were things going, Senator?

"Going great. I tell you it's surprising. I haven't met a single fella who was a Democrat in '52 and is switching now. Not a single one. But I've met dozens who've come up and said they were for Ike in '52 and now they're switching. Well, people don't like to say that. It's equivalent to admitting that they've made a mistake. I've still got a lot of places to go. I've got to run ahead of Adlai Stevenson. But things are going great."

The reporter who had been traveling all over acknowledged that he too had sensed a Democratic trend. "I'm inclined to be for Ike," he told the Senator, "but he's going to have to get out of Gettysburg and hustle. Will the President help the Republican ticket when he comes to this State?"

"It's too late," Maggie averred. "When people switch, they don't switch back. How is the President going to help Langlie? He can say he wants Langlie in the Senate, but the people will say that ain't good enough. You'll see."

The reporter half assented. Maggie is a reliable authority on political matters. There isn't an ounce of deceit in him. Even when his own interests are concerned, you could be wrong. Did he think Vice President Nixon, the GOP's ace campaigner, could change the trend?

"Not a chance," said Maggie. "They've got him trapped. If he goes back to his old campaign methods, he convicts himself. If he sticks to high level stuff, he talks in platitudes."

The reporter thanked him, wished him luck and went his own way. You can't help liking Maggie and respecting his political savvy. But it doesn't take much discernment to understand that the Senator's rugged, hail-fellow charm is his menace. A vote for Magnuson is an affirmation that governments are instituted among men for very different reasons than the Founding Fathers postulated. The more Mangusons in the Senate, the more intellect and attention will be directed toward pretending that the American Republic is a cornucopia instead of a constitutional guarantee of liberty and opportunity.

But such attacks on Maggie by his Republican rival, Governor Langlie, have not aroused much public resentment against the Senator. The Governor's taunts have not goaded the Senator into making public his income report which would show where and how he made money.

None of this is to say what the result of the November election will be, Statewise or nationally. But perhaps a glance at Warren Magnuson, the jolly deliverer of whatever - you - want from Federalia, will indicate what the 1956 election is really about.

Few Ever Had It So Good As The Collyer Brothers

By INEZ ROBB

There's a lot to be said for the Collyer brothers, and I'd like to have the floor for a few moments to say it.

The brothers, as you will recall, lived in an old mansion on New York's upper Fifth Avenue. If either had ever heard that cleanliness is next to Godliness, they had the strength of character to rise above it and brand it as a canard.

The mansion was crammed to the rafters with a little bit of everything except brooms, mops, vacuum cleaners, carpet sweetpers, dust cloths, furniture polish, floor wax and all the other infinite tools of orderly housekeeping.

And when the brothers were found dead in their mansion and the police took over, the old house was labeled a health menace and a sanitary hazard. As both a reporter and a housewife, I clucked in righteous distaste at the Collyer housekeeping, or lack of it.

But this is the day when I realize that no one ever had it so good as the Collyer brothers. Man and boy, they rose above the nagging necessities of 20th Century cleanliness, and I wish to heaven that I had their intestinal fortitude.

For my cowardice, I am standing today in the middle of an apartment that appears to have entertained Hurricane Edna in passing, or played host to a truant bomb. At Chex Robb we are in the middle of what is known as "redecorating", a cyclonic upheaval to which every tenant in New York City is entitled every three years.

What with rent control and one thing and another, feelings have run high between landlord and tenant in most areas of the U. S. A. since World War II. But the more I think about it, the more I am convinced that the redecorating clause should be known as "The Landlord's Revenge."

People always want what they're entitled to. At the end of three years, I simply HAD to have this apartment redecorated, and darned if it doesn't serve me right. There isn't a habitable room in the apartment and appears unlikely to be in the foreseeable future.

Why is it that painters, when they come into a home, have to go through every room, push all the furniture into a ghastly heap in the center and make the whole place unlivable before they even start to put a priming coat on the first room? This, to me, is a greater mystery than the composition of the atom bomb.

In the interest of ultimate cleanleness, this apartment as of today is 10 times as dirty as when the redecorating job started. The apartment was neat, tidy and well-ordered before the redoers moved in. Today it's a repulsive junk heap, buried in an inch of dust and debris, and I defy anyone to find a place to sit down, even on the floor.

Three moves, says the old saw, are as good as a fire, but one redecorating job beats both. And I have no one to blame but myself, which is killing me. Three years from now I shall take a leaf from my heroes, the Brothers Collyer.

Reporter Can't Think Of A Better Life Than His

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—In a world of easy cynicism and much self-doubt it is rare and refreshing to find a man in his 80th year who is robustly sure he has spent his life in the best possible way.

Such a man is Joseph E. Sharkey, retired dean of the world's diplomatic reporters and a top war correspondent between the era of Richard Harding Davis and Ernie Pyle.

"I couldn't think of a better life than the one I've had," he remarked on returning from Paris for his first visit to his homeland in eight years.

As a boy in Cambridge, Mass., Sharkey looked at a map of the world and told himself, "I want to see all of it." As a student in Harvard University he read a phrase in Ralph Waldo Emerson's journal that stirred him deeply: "Truth is beautiful."

These two things determined his career. For 40 years he roamed the world as an Associated Press reporter guided only by one objective: To find the truth—and tell it.

Sharkey, whose by-line has been carried from scores of foreign lands, still totes with him a battered volume of Emerson's essays.

"They have been a great consolation to me," he remarked. "Truth is beautiful. And what is more important today than that countries know the truth about each other's real problems?"

Sharkey, slender and scholarly, looks more like a retired schoolteacher than a famous correspondent. But most reporters look like reporters only in the movies.

"As a diplomatic reporter, and I was a reporter, never a journalist," he said. "I never found it necessary to affect striped pants or a cane. I sometimes use a cane now, but not for social prestige."

Sharkey, hardier than he seems, covered riots, rebellions, and revolutions in Korea, Ireland, Greece and Russia.

In 1920 he traveled across Siberia for 29 days in a boxcar with British troops in 60 below zero weather to get a scoop on Adm. Kolchak's abortive plan to set up a White Russian government. Before he got his story he had to pull out his pistol to dissuade a Russian droshky driver who had decided to rob him.

"I caught the last train out of Omsk," he said. "Adm. Kolchak came down to tell me goodby, and the next day the Bolshevists executed him."

After the first world war, Sharkey covered top international conferences in Washington, Genoa, The Hague, Lausanne, Locarno and Geneva, where he reported the rise and fall of the League of Nations.

He became friend and confidant of such statesmen as Lloyd George, Briand, Austen Chamberlain, Benes and De Valera.

Three countries — France, Belgium and Greece — officially honored Sharkey for the honesty of his dispatches. With him on most of his journeys was his wife, Beatrice, descendant of one of Napoleon's staff officers.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Keeper Of Blair House Stays Home On Vacation

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — There was a time this summer when Victoria Geaney was told by her State Department bosses to take herself a vacation. The legislators had all deserted the Capital, and no dignitaries from foreign countries were dropping into town.

But Mrs. Geaney stayed "home" at Blair House, where she's lived for more than 34 years and where, since 1942 when the government bought the property for its official guest residence, she has served as Uncle Sam's hotess and housekeeper when the world's top dignitaries come to pay a call.

What did Mrs. Geaney do? She cleaned house, "just like you do at home, sending curtains and rugs to be cleaned, taking down pictures and brushing the walls, polishing the furniture and floors — a million things."

"I'm supposed to be on vacation," she told me at that time. "I went away on a Monday, but came back on Wednesday. I'm just not happy anywhere else."

Mrs. Geany's job sometimes involves a 16 to 18-hour day and a share of headaches, but she doesn't mind planning breakfast for an Asian prince, or a reception for a European diplomat, or seeing to it that kings and queens sleep well and prime ministers get to appointments on time.

"There's always something to do around Blair House, even if it's only seeing to it that the flag is out and in again," she adds.

Mrs. Geaney has a new cook, Rozina Gratzer, a talented Hungarian who took the place of Jane, and Irish girl who returned home after many years of whipping up fancy fare for widely varying palates. Rozina, trained under famous European chefs, makes all the breads, pastries and desserts, as well as main dishes.

During her busy season, Mrs. Geaney also has two maids and a houseman to help her out. "But the people who come here are all nice people who appreciate nice things, and are not careless, or untidy, so what we do is more of a joy than a job," she says.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

AN EDWARDIAN YOUTH. By L. E. Jones. St. Martin's Press.

After passing most engagingly through his "Victorian Boyhood," Jones now continues his nostalgic story of Jones for the decade or more leading up to World War I. Three previous Joneses went to Trinity, Cambridge, but he picked what had been Jowett's Balliol. He tried the law, and business, and as he neared 30 and the end of this volume, he married.

The past, he says, does not come alive through types but through individuals "busy with their private fugitive concerns."

So his past comes charmingly alive in the sedate dances, the solemn grind of rowing, the warm, cool, dull, invigorating relations with masters, the hunting, the rigid formalities of scoial intercourse — the cane, the gloves, the visiting card and what to do with them.

There are names, like Alexander Cadogan and Donald Tovey. There are hilarious stories: The headmaster who, hard pressed for small talk, said the morning had brought a little sun, only to have the trembling freshman hope his wife was doing well, she being 89; and the postmaster-general who arrived at Waterloo Station in silk hat, tail coat, but no trousers.

That by-gone age had its faults, as in a heartless attitude toward women and workers. But if you were a Jones, one of the Joneses other folks try to keep up with, it was a wonderful and fabulous time of the most gracious amenities. A remembrance of things past, this is much more remote than Proust, and much gentler and more delicate. It was a world of utter inutility — it is a book of uncommon delight.

Church To Talk Building Plans At Loyalty Dinner

The Ven. Claude E. Canterbury of Amarillo, archdeacon of North Texas for the Episcopal Church, will address members of the St. John's Episcopal Church at 8 o'clock tonight in a loyalty dinner to be held at the Hilander.

"A Program of Progress" will be theme of the program, which will include presentation of building plans and plans for enlarging the church's local operation. George F. Horst is general chairman of the program and will preside at the dinner. Others on the arrangements committee are Mrs. Thomas F. Hartley and Mrs. J. Mark McLaughlin. Program canvassers include Robert G. Wilson, Fred C. Auforth, Steve Birdwell, and Scott Patterson.

The Rev. M. W. Clark, retired Methodist minister, will be speaker at the Sunday 7:30 p.m. service at the First Methodist Church. It is the church's custom to have Rev. Clark as speaker annually on the Sunday nearest his birthday. He is 86. At the 10:55 a.m. service, the Rev. J. Lennol Hester, pastor, will speak, and the choir will sing "Sanctus," by Gounod. At 3:30 p. m., the church will have its quarterly conference, and Dr. O. W Carter of Big Spring, district superintendent, will meet with the membership. Sunday will be Rally Day, with the church attempting high attendance figures in Sunday school.

• • •

"Alter Gold" will be the subject of the Rev. G. M. Cole, pastor of the First Baptist Church, at the Sunday 11 a.m. service, and the choir will sing "Onward Christian Soldiers." At the 8 p.m. service, the pastor will speak on "The Finger of God." Sunday is Harvest Day at the church, and it is striving for high attendance at Sunday school and training union.

• • •

Time of services have been changed at the Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, which meets at the West Elementary School. Sunday school will be at 9:45 a.m., Sunday morning worship at 10:45 a.m. The pastor, the Rev. Paul E. Janson, will speak on "Your Church Home" at the Sunday morning service. At 6:30 o'clock tonight, the church will have a coop supper at the West Elementary cafeteria.

• • •

The Rev. T. Gerald Cates, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, will teach a lesson on "Salvation in the Name of Jesus" to the adult Bible class Sunday morning. His subject at the 11 a.m. service will be "Lessons From the Life of Giden," and at the 7:45 p.m. service he will speak on "Behold He Cometh With Clouds," the first of a series of sermons on the book of Re lations.

• • •

The Rev. W. B. Leonard, field representative for the Latin American Orphanage of Alcupulco, Mexico, will show a sound and color film, "Cargadero," at the First Assembly of God tonight. The film, taken entirely in Mexico, shows work of the orphanage. It is the true story of an orphan boy.

• • •

"Life's Triangle" will be the subject of Ted Norton, minister at the Twenty-fifth Street Church of Christ, at Sunday 8:45 and 10:45 a.m. services. At the 7 p.m. service he will speak on "The First Coming and the Second Coming of Christ."

• • •

At the First Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Julian Hendren, pastor, will speak on "The Desire to Get Something for Northing" at the Sunday 10:55 a.m. service. The anthem will be "Speak to My Soul, O Lord," by Sulivan. At the 5 p.m. vesper service, the pastor will speak on "The Doctrine of the Holy Trinity."

New Models Are Revealed By Chevrolet

DETROIT (AP)— Chevrolet, the world's biggest car and truck builder, expects another big year in 1957. Its new models going on the assembly lines Oct. 1 will be lower and longer and will have new styling and major engineering advances.

Edward Cole, general manager, made these disclosures at a preview of hand-tooled 1957 models today at the General Motors Technical Center north of Detroit.

It followed by one day the 1957 model preview of Ford cars. The Fords will reach the market Oct. 3. Chevrolet will take its 1957 lines to the public about two weeks later.

Cole said he believed 1957 should bring the industry a total market of 6½ million cars and nearly one million trucks. Chevrolet, he added, believes it will be "on the threshold of another two million unit year" in 1957.

Implying Chevrolet expects to advance prices, W. N. Fish, general sales manager, said he did not think higher prices will have any appreciable effect on total sales. Higher prices, he said, will not affect the car market any more than the general price increases will curtail sales of other commodities.

Ford said yesterday wholesale prices will be increased on its 1957 models an average of 2.9 per cent, or about $53 per unit.

Chevrolet gave no percentage or dollar averages on its price plans.

Cole said in Chevrolet's 1957 line customers will be able to choose from 460 combinations of exterior color and body designs. He also said his company during the next year will maintain an employment level comparable with that of 1956 in its 32 plants in 21 cities throughout the United States.

The 86,000 labor force expected to be employed by Oct. 15, Cole said, will be the highest employment peak achieved by Chevrolet since the first week in May, 1956. Indications are, he added, that it will remain at a high level in the "foreseeable future."

Cole said Chevrolet had expansion projects currently under way or in the planning stage that will add 4½ million square feet of space at Chevrolet warehouses and manufacturing and assembly plants.

The company's general sales manager said Chevrolet's final sales figures for 1956 should total 1,880,000 vehicles, including 1,570,000 passenger cars.

New car registrations for the first seven months of 1956 gave Chevrolet 946,837 deliveries. Ford, in the industry's No. 2 spot, registered 791,685.

Housewife Can't Identify Marshal

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—As Deputy U.S. Marshall Joseph A. Gilliland Jr. was searching a neighborhood for a probation violator, he showed his card — bearing his photograph —to a Norfolk housewife to identify himself.

She studied the picture closely, then shook her head.

"Cap'n," she said, "I don't believe I've ever seen that man around here."

Official Blasts Probe Of NAACP

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Dr. H. Boyd Hall, state president of the National Assn. for the Advance of Colored People, charged last night that Texas Negroes are entering an era of persecution.

His statement came as William Davis, Texas assistant attorney general, accompanied by an armed highway patrolman, checked NAACP records in Corpus Christi.

U. Simpson Tate, regional attorney for the NAACP, said representatives of the attorney general's office have been accompanied by armed Texas Rangers, state highway patrolmen and local police officers on recent visits to NAACP offices in many sections of Texas.

"We are cooperating entirely with the attorney general's office, but we consider the presence of armed police officers coercive and intimidating," Tate said.

Davis refused to comment on his investigation in Corpus Christi. He did say, however, that all NAACP records in Corpus Christi on the state and local level have been turned over to him and that there has been no trouble.

The attorney general's office started an investigation of NAACP offices at Dallas and Houston last week. Texas laws give the office authority to make inspection of corporations doing business in Texas.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd was not available for comment on the matter. Earlier he said that he could not give reasons for the investigation at this time.

"Hitler began his persecutions by taking Jews' wealth, then their liberty, then their lives," Dr. Hall said. "Texas Negroes are facing a parallel situation."

An NAACP spokesman in New York said the names of Texas members of the organization will not be disclosed to Shepperd's representatives as protection "against possible reprisals."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, made the comment in a statement pledging cooperation with two Texas investigators visiting the national offices of the NAACP in New York City.

"The NAACP as a law-abiding organization will certainly cooperate with any authorized agency," he said.

"However, in order to protect our members in Texas against possible reprisals, we are withholding our membership lists."

Tate said last night, however, that three state investigators were shown membership lists of the Houston chapter.

W. J. Durham, an attorney in the Dallas NAACP office, said one of the reasons given by state officials for the investigation was whether the NAACP had engaged in any illegal political practices.

Texas law prohibits corporations from making political contributions or actively engaging in politics.

He said other reasons were whether the NAACP should have a permit to do business in Texas and whether it was following the franchise tax law.

Snyder Man Takes Part In Activities

Sfc. Billy H. Evans, 26, son of Mrs. Bertha Coldiron of Snyder, participated in organizational day activities for the new 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Ky., today.

The 101st has been reorganized along concepts of modern atomic-age warfare and is now a streamlined completely air-transportable unit.

Evans is a platoon sergeant. His decorations include the Purple Heart and the Combat Infantryman Badge.

Evans, in the Army since 1948, went to Fort Campbell from an assignment in Korea.

"Son, Your Direction's Wrong"

— — — You look but don't see. Your thoughts are base... your direction down. I've noticed your horizon is about the top of the ditch you happen to stand in. Why, your whole formula is wrong. What makes it worse, you are trying to work out-of-it alone. You can't do it! Give God a chance! You are strong of body but what about that starved, selfish, shriveled soul of yours? I tell you son, God won't let you get away with it. Right now He is inquiring about your church attendance, your Sunday School record, how many churches you have helped build and what you did with the tenth that belonged to Him? Son, with all the love of a good father, and with the promised help of God... I beg you to make a change. Let your life count for Him because your business successes won't help much in the last hours.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

ONE OF OUR LOCAL football teams has been more or less neglected by the fans in the past and we sincerely hope this will be corrected this year.

We're speaking of the Tiger "B" team.

It seems that in the past the Tiger B teamers have been receiving less support from the fans than any of the other Snyder teams.

It's hard to understand, too, why this is the case because a majority of the B team squad usually make up the bigger portion of the varsity squad the following year.

In other words, you might say, you're seeing the Tigers a year ahead of time when you watch the B team play.

We don't believe the B team has been neglected because the fans aren't interested in the boys. They are the same boys who have come up through the ranks starting with junior high and they've always drawn fairly good crowds during their pre-B team days.

Date Of Games May Be Cause

It's a mystery, then, why the fans suddenly drop them when they reach the B team status.

The date of the B team games may be the reason for the slim crowds. All of the B team games are played on Saturday nights. This is a bad night because many of the fans who would make all of the local games are away taking in a college game on Saturday's.

This week, for instance, many of our fans will drive over to Dallas from Weatherford to attend the Notre Dame-SMU game in the Cotton Bowl Saturday night.

But, all who will be home Saturday, why not give the B teamers a little boost when they meet Lamesa tomorrow night at Tiger Stadium?

We certainly got off to a ridiculous beginning in our game of prognisticating last week — 16 right and 9 wrong for 64 percent.

To anyone that is interested, we have a brand new "Crystal Ball" for sale and cheap.

Our predicted winners for this week may be found in the "Snyder News Grid Pickins" elsewhere in this section.

The only score that we'll attempt to call this week is the Tiger-Weatherford contest of which we see it this way:

Tigers 20, Weatherford 7.

Cain Picked But Failed To Show

We really did "strike out" on predicting who would win the 2nd annual Snyder Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament played last weekend.

We said John Paul Cain of Sweetwater would walk off with the tournament title. We made our prediction before qualifying day and consequently we were caught picking a fellow who didn't even play in the tournament.

Cain had informed Snyder pro Shanty Horgan that he would be here but John Paul was forced to cancel his plans at the last moment because of a conflict in his enrollment at Texas Tech.

Even had Cain been here he would have had to fire some red-hot golf to win the title because Lamesa's Frank Freer, the champion, played terrific golf all the way through.

Snyder Frosh 11 In 18-12 Victory

LAMESA, Sept. 21 — The Snyder High School Freshmen made it two in a row here Thursday night with a come-from-behind 18-12 victory over the Lamesa High School Freshmen.

Coach J. P. Ward's Snyder team trailed 12-6 midway through the third quarter before battling back for the victory.

The Future Tigers tied the score late in the third at 12-12 and then scored the winning touchdown midway through the fourth period.

Jimmy Maroney scooted 25 yards for the tieing touchdown in the third with Coleman John racing 15 yards for the winning TD in the fourth.

Snyder took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter when she drove 65 yards to paydirt after taking the opening kickoff back to its own 35.

Coleman John climaxed the drive with a 12-yard burest through the Lamesa line. The future Tigers consumed most of the playing time in the first quarter with their opening drive.

Lamesa tied the scored midway in the second and was threatening again when the half ended at 6-6.

The future Tornadoes took the lead for the first time in the third on a 45-yard scamper by quarterback Jimmy Smith.

But Maroney tied it up for Snyder with his 25-yard gallop late in the third to set the stage for John's 15-yard tun for the winning tally in the fourth.

Two passes set up the tieing touchdown. Quarterback Alex Cross hit Devane Jones with a 15-yard pass and Maroney with as 18-yard toss before Maroney finished off the drive with his 25-yarder.

After John scored the winning touchdown for Snyder, Lamesa drove to the Snyder 20 before Wayne Berry intercepted a Lamesa pass on the goal line and returned it back to the Snyder 20.

Snyder then drove to the Lamesa 10 where it lost the ball on downs with only 30 seconds remaining. Lamesa was unable to go in the few short seconds left.

Jones stood out on both offense and defense for the winning Snyder team.

250,000 Fans To Watch SWC Openers

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
The Associated Press

Southwest Conference teams march to the football wars Saturday with prospects of getting away fast in a bristling intersectional schedule.

A quarter of a million fans will see the seven teams in their openers. The biggest outpouring was expected at Dallas where SMU tries to knock down Notre Dame.

Some 60,000 will turn out to watch the only conference eleven not expected to win its game. Notre Dame talks of its green team but compared to SMU, the Irish are a settled and veteran lot. Paul Hornung quarterbacks an outfit that is rated No. 3 in the nation.

It's the eighth meeting of the two schools since 1930 and only once has SMU managed to outscore the Irish.

Texas hosts Southern California. The game is scheduled to draw 45,000. High-powered offenses collide with Southern Cal hitching its attack to the running of Jon Arnett and C. R. Roberts and Texas relying on a multiple offense that features versatile Walt Fondren and the passing of Joe Clements and Vince Matthews.

Texas A&M, finding itself in a favored spot after "slipping up" on most everybody last season, plays Villanova at College Station in a day game. Villanova won only one game last season but has all the fellows back plus some promising newcomers. The Aggies are expecting more than passive resistance.

Baylor is on the West Coast to joust with California, a team the Baylors beat 25-0 in 1953 in their only other meeting. The Golden Bears are veterans all the way around.

A third afternoon melee will be Arkansas' opener against Hardin-Simmons of the Border Conference at Fayetteville. The Razorbacks, with a stepped up offense and with a sizeable array of veteran material, expects to have to match aerial shots with the pupils of famed passing man Sam Baugh. Arkansas will be an easy favorite to win, however.

Having not lost a single prediction from 1956 as yet, here are the choices this week:

Notre Dame-SMU: No way to figure how the Methodists might pull that one out; Notre Dame by three touchdowns to one.

Texas-Southern Cal: Two multiple offense teams get together. Texas is more multiple and will win in a close finish.

Rice-Alabama: The Owls will get off on the right foot by beating Alabama.

Texas A&M-Villanova: The Aggies ought to sack this one up with some ease.

Arkansas-Hardin-Simmons: Arkansas is too many and too experienced.

TCU-Kansas: Only TCU overconfidence could hold the score down.

Crippled Tigers Meet Kangys Tonight

By BUCK FRANCIS

WEATHERFORD, Sept. 21 — Snyder High School's Tiger football team will go into tonight's favorites as the Bengals go after victory No. 2 this season.

The Tigers, however, will be badly crippled for the game. Bobby Pollard, starting halfback probably will see only limited action — if any — as result of an appenticitis attack yesterday.

Pollard spent the night in the hospital but was given the green light to make the trip this morning. Although he boarded the Tiger bus, Pollard isn't expected to see much service in tonight's game.

Pollard joined three other Tigers on the injury or sick list. Previously tackle John Partain and ends Dwaine Merritt and John Ward had been sidelined with injuries.

Partain is suffering from a knee injury that will keep him out of action for most or all of the 1956 season; Ward is still recuperating from a broken foot he received in a pre-season workout; and Merritt came up with a broken finger in workouts this week. All are reserves but their absence, along with Pollard ailing, will hinder the Tigers' depth tonight.

Both the Tigers and Kangaroos are expected to take to the air tonight as each seek their second victories. Weatherford gained 154 yards through the air in beating Fort Worth Tech last week in its season opener, 19-6.

Although the Tigers took to the air on only three occasions enroute to their 21-0 opening victory over Borger last week, the Bengals are expected to use the airways frequently tonight.

The Tigers completed one of their three tosses last week and it resulted in a touchdown with Ronnie Smith hitting end Milton Ham for a 60-yard scoring play.

Smith and Powell Berry will probably divide the passing chores for the Tigers tonight.

Gary Beck, 128-pound Weatherford quarterback, is the Kangaroos chief tosser.

Both the Tigers and Kangaroos also have dangerous runners that may turn tonight's game into a wide-open affair. Top rushers for Weatherford are fullback Ned Dickey and halfbacks Joe Kelley and Lynn Dobbins.

Berry was the top ground gainer for the Tigers last week but most of the ball carrying chores will likely be handled by halfbacks Bud Morgan and Tommy Prichard and fullback Bill Fowler.

The Tigers will spend the night after the game here and will proceed on to Dallas Saturday to watch the SMU-Notre Dame game.

Tonight's probable starting lineups:

TIGERS

Ends — Milton Ham, 175, and Robert Dabbs, 189.
Tackles — Wiley Denson, 197, and Billy Mark Phillips, 190.
Guards — Gary Hill, 168, and Gene Williamson, 183, or Roger Hensley, 188.
Center — Joe Reaves, 168.
Quarterback — Powell Berry, 163.
Halfbacks — Bud Morgan, 152, and Tommy Prichard, 163.
Fullback — Bill Fowler, 188.

WEATHERFORD

Ends — Charles Beavers, 145, and Harold Liddell, 145.
Guards — Charles Daugherty, 161, and Ted Hartness, 169.
Tackles — Tommy Taylor, 168, and Bill Murrell, 202.
Center — Larry Mahan, 163.
Quarterback — Gary Beck, 128.
Halfbacks — Lynn Dobbins, 143, and Joe Kelley, 145.
Fullback — Ned Dickey, 188.

Tiger 'B' Opens Season Tomorrow

The Snyder High School "B" team will open its 1956 season tomorrow night when she meets Lamesa "B" at Tiger Stadium.

Kickoff time has been set for 7:30 p.m.

Snyder B thus will be making its initial start under Jim Stehley, new B coach. Stehley assumed the role of B team coach from Jack Dillon who had guided the local B teamers the past three seasons.

Dillon resigned last summer to join a Lubbock sporting goods firm.

Snyder B was originally scheduled to open the season last week against Colorado City but C-City cancelled out. C-City didn't have enough boys to make up a B squad and thus was forced to cancel its B program.

A majority of the Tiger B teamers are made up of sophomores.

Assisting Stehley with the Tiger B teamers is V. V. Shearburn. Shearburn is in his second year on the high school coaching staff.

Stehley is a Kansas State graduate while Shearburn is an ex-Arkansas State grad.

Following is the probable starting lineup for Snyder B.

Ends — Tony Anger and Rex Wilson.
Tackles — Ronnie Giles and Leon Reed.
Guards — Terry Lee and Billy Dubose.
Center — Harley Merritt.
Quarterback — Richard Mahan.
Halfbacks — Kenneth Drake and James Vincent.
Fullback — Dick Hayes.

Sweetwater, Abilene In Schoolboy Feature

By The Associated Press

Abilene meets Sweetwater, Palestine goes to Marshall, Houston Lamar tests Corpus Christi Miller, Stamford plays at Andrews and Hillsboro hosts Ennis in headline games in Texas schoolboy football Friday.

Abilene of AAAA, winner of 24 straight, gets a tough AAA team at Sweetwater.

Palestine, which looks like one of the best in AAA, steps up against AAAA Marshall.

Houston Lamar runs into one of the powerhouses of South Texas in Miller.

Stamford, champion of AA, tries AAA competition in rolling against Andrews.

Hillsboro, which looks like a leader of AA, will be taking on an AAA team in Ennis.

The list of undefeated, untied teams was cut to 200 Thursday as Dallas Crozier Tech fell 20-6 to Dallas Pleasant Grove. Houston San Jacinto continued with a prefect record in AAAA, however, by manhandling Houston State Thomas 40-19

San Antonio Edison clipped San Antonio Harlandale 20-13.

El Paso Texans Win Southwestern Title

By The Associated Press

El Paso took the first championship in the Southwestern League last night, smothering San Angelo 13-4 with a 15-hit barrage.

The Texans went through the playoffs almost unchecked, beating Pampa four straight games in first round play and losing but one game—the first—to San Angelo in finals play.

LITTLE BUT SPEEDY—Joshua John, pint-sized halfback for Snyer's 7th grade football team, is shown sweeping wide for a 10-yard touchdown scamper against Colorado City last night. Leading interference for John is quarterback Mike Morris, No. 11. Snyder 7th won 34-0. (Lee Watson photograph)

Local Junior High 11s Romp To Victories Over C-City

Snyder's two Junior High football teams had an easy time in their games with Colorado City last night at Tiger Stadium.

The Snyder 7th graders romped to a 34-0 win in the opening game with the local 8th graders shellacking the Colorado Citians, 51-6, in the nightcap.

Bother teams let it be known early of what was to come. Snyder's 7th grade scored on its first offensive play while the local 8th graders tallied on their second offensive play.

Both Snyder teams surged into a 3-touchdown lead in the first half, the 7th graders by 21-0 and the 8th graders at 19-0.

And coaches Bill Hartsfield and Jimmy Stewart of the Snyder 7th graders and Ace Amos and Charlie Sparks of Snyder 8th cleaned their respective benches in the two games.

About 40 Snyder 7th graders saw action with an estimated 50 being pushed into service for the 8th grade 11.

In the 7th grade game, Mike McCright sped 31 yards for a touchdown on Snyder's first offensive thrust. Bill Weaver converted on a run to make it 7-0.

A few minutes later Weaver climaxed a short Snyder drive with a three-yard blast at the line and McCright converting on a run for a 14-0 first quarter Snyder lead.

The locals tallied once in the second on a two-yard line buck by David Kee and Mike Morris raced over with the extra point to boost Snyder lead to 21-0.

Joshua John swept 10 yards on an end run for Snyder's only TD in the third quarter to put the locals ahead by 27-0.

McCright completed the Snyder scoring in the fourth period on a 27-yard scamper. McCright's scoring dash was set up by a 40-yard run by Weaver. David Gan carried over the extra point to complete the night's scoring.

Tackle James McCormick and center Larry McNair stood out defensively for Snyder 7th.

John Weaver led the Snyder 8th scoring with three touchdowns. Stanley Kruse scored two touchdowns for Snyder with Jesse Crawford, Perry Culwell and Reginald Scarborough scoring once each for the locals.

Quarterback Mike Moffett threw two touchdown passes for Snyder 8th. He hit Kruse for five yards and the second Snyder TD and Kruse again in the third on a 14-yard play. Moffett, the play preceding his second TD pass, had connected with Kruse for a 30-yard gain.

Weaver went 80 yards on the second Snyder offensive play for his first TD. His other two TD's came on a 20-yard blast up the middle and on an 80-yard pass and run play with Crawford tossing the pass.

Larry Patterson also threw a TD pass for Snyder 8th with Scarborough on the receiving end, the play covering 25 yards.

Culwell and Crawford each scored their touchdowns on pass interceptions and ironically each sped 40 yards to paydirt after stealing the C-City passes.

Colorado City's lone score in the 8th grade game came in the fourth period with Snyder leading, 45-0.

Braves Slip Another Notch In Quest Of National Flag

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Are the Braves breathin'?
Like a man with asthma.

They have to roll a seven to hold any real hope for the National League pennant. And after losing 2-1 to Pittsburgh in 10 innings yesterday, even winning all their seven remaining games won't guarantee a thing for the Braves—who have been able to win as many as three in a row only once in the last two weeks.

Even by winning all seven, Milwaukee can't gain as much as a tie for the pennant unless Brooklyn's world champion Dodgers lose two of their remaining nine. The Brooks, beginning to hear the jingle of another world series payoff, have won nine of their last 11 and took a full-game lead while idle yesterday.

The Braves had to battle from behind yesterday against Bob Friend, who gave just four hits but almost missed his 16th victory when two errors on one play by first baseman Dale Long gave Milwaukee the tying run in the ninth. Then Roberto Clemente tagged reliefer Ray Crone for a two-out single Billy Bruton just couldn't get to in center field and Bill Mazeroski scrambled home with the winner.

The only hits off Friend, winning his first since Aug. 26 and defeating the Braves a third time this season, were fifth and 10th inning singles by Johnny Logan, Hank Aaron's single and Bobby Thomson's double, both in the seventh. Logan's first single came with two out in the fifth—after Friend had retired the first 14 men in order.

Bob Buhl of the Braves gave three hits — one Jack Sheppard's seventh home run in the seventh inning—before being lifted for a pinch-hitter in the 9th.

Going into a four-game series at Pittsburgh tonight, the Dodgers now are 3-1 favorites to win the pennant. It's 8-1 the race won't end in a tie.

It's Sal Maglie (11-4) against Ron Kline (13-16) with Sal seeking his seventh straight success and third in Brooklyn's current surge which has brought them to the top from a third place, two-games-behind deficit two weeks ago.

After the foes with the Pirates, beaten 9-6 so far by the Dodgers, Brooklyn returns to Ebbets Field for two with Philadelphia (8-12) vs the champs and a windup three with the Bucs.

Milwaukee, playing just .500 ball in the past two weeks (7-7) sends old reliable Warren Spahn (18-10) against bonus kid Don Kaiser (3-9) as the Cubs close the Braves' home season with three this weekend. The Braves, 11-8 vs the last place Cubs, play one at Cincinnati Tuesday (they're 12-9 against the Redlegs) then finish the season with three at St. Louis (7-12) vs Milwaukee.

Cincinnati, facing elimination if either Brooklyn or Milwaukee win five more even if the Redlegs win all of their remaining seven, send Joe Nuxhall (12-11) against St. Louis' Wilmer Mizell (14-12) in the first of four tonight. The Redlegs are 9-9 with St. Louis. Cincy is at home to St. Louis and Milwaukee, then finishes at Chicago (6-14 vs the Reds) next week.

In the American, the pennant-clinching New York Yankees want only a 20th victory for Whitey Ford, (19-5), some more home runs and a bat title for Mickey Mantle and three more runs batted in for Yogi Berra, who then will have 1,000 for his career. It's Don Larsen vs Willard Nixon tonight at Boston for the Yankees—already favored to win the World Series.

The only "race" in the AL is for second and fourth place. Cleveland holds second by 1½ games over Chicago. Boston has the same hold on fourth over Detroit. The Tribe plays Detroit this weekend while the Red Sox play the Yanks and Chicago meets Kansas City.

Odds Favor Bums By 3-1 In NL Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Brooklyn's Dodgers lead Milwaukee by a full game with 10 days remaining in the National League race and the world champions were 3-1 favorites today to win the pennant.

It's 8-1 the race won't end in a tie.

OU Co-Ed Named 'Miss Football'

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Donna was crowned "Miss Football of 1956" last night by California Gov. Knight.

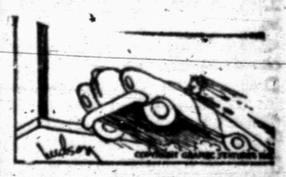

A panel chose Miss Cason, 20, over 13 other contestants to reign over Berkeley's "Festival of Football" built around the season's opening game between California and Baylor Saturday.

The runnersup and their schools included Ann Hughes, Baylor, and Carolyn Dearmond, Rice.

Miss Cason will lead the "Parade of Light" tonight through Berkeley streets, watched by an estimated 250,000 people.

CARTER'S DAUGHTER MIFFED

Air Service Poor, She Says

FORT WORTH (AP)—A four-hour delay of a flight from Carter Field sent Mrs. Lee Johnson III, daughter of the man for whom the field was named, to a hearing today to tell the Civil Aeronautics Board how she resents what she called poor service.

Mrs. Johnson said she and her husband went to the field at 10 a.m. to catch a flight to Austin. She said they were noitfied by a Braniff ticket agent that their 10:25 a:m. flight had been canceled because of "lack of equipment."

She said they made arrangements to leave on a 2:55 p.m. flight and returned to town where she went to the hearing with her complaint.

"I was highly upset when I got to the airport and found there was no flight. I knew this hearing was going on and I just thought I would come, present myself and see what was going on, see if I couldn't explain to some of the gentlemen what had happened. I thoroughly resented it, frankly," Mrs. Johnson said.

Braniff Attorney Hubert Schneider declined to cross-examine Mrs. Johnson.

He said "So that counsel may be informed, it was an engine failure. It was established that an advisory was sent to Fort Worth at 10:05 about the engine failure. The flight could not originate at Dallas."

Mrs. Johnson, asked if she considered such treatment adequate service, declared, "I don't consider letting somebody come out to an airfield and 30 minutes beforehand telling them the flight is canceled as adequate service."

Marion Hicks, assistant division manager of Convair, brought statistics to the hearing to back up the firm's belief that "its operations generate more airline traffic in the Fort Worth-Dallas area than any other company in Fort Worth or Dallas."

"More than half of its employes, its vendors, sub-contractors and other Convair division personnel and visiting military personnel enplane and deplane at Love attributable to a lack of desirable and convenient airline service at Amon Carter Field," Hicks testified.

Soviet-American Exchange Snarled

NEW YORK (AP)—For two months the projected Soviet-American exchange of official propaganda periodicals has been tangled in red tape.

There's no indication it will get unsnarled soon.

Thousands of copies of the Soviet government's English-language magazine U.S.S.R. are lying in a Manhattan warehouse. Thousands of copies of the Russian-language Amerika are stacked up in the American Embassy in Moscow.

State Department officials said today negotiations are going on in Moscow over the question of how big a cut the official Soviet government distribution agency is going to take from the sale price of Amerika. Until that is agreed, the officials indicated, there isn't going to be any exchange.

The U.S. and Soviet governments agreed on the exchange last December. Both magazines were ready to go in early July. A simultaneous release date for both early that month had been hoped for. But it was delayed when the Soviet distribution agency failed to present a contract covering Amerika to the U.S. Embassy for a considerable period. The Soviets, meanwhile, had reached an agreement with State Department approval for the American News Co. to distribute U.S.S.R.

When the draft Soviet contract did arrive at last, State Department officials reported the Soviet agency was attempting to outdo capitalists in its commission margin. The Russian agency has been seeking, apparently, to slice off more than half the sale price of 5 rubles ($1.25 at the official exchange rate).

The Soviet government intends to price U.S.S.R. at 20 cents on American newstands. American News Co. declines to indicate exactly how much of this the Soviet Embassy will get — but informed guesses are that it is likely to be a little over half.

Shafer Trial Defense Puts On Witnesses

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The defense sent a parade of character witnesses to the stand yesterday in the bomb conspiracy trial of Raymond Shafer.

James Sanders, Dallas, secretary of the Southwest Operators Assn., was called to the stand by Defense Atty. John Peace. He testified that Shafer, as business agent of the Teamsters' Union, had been fair in his dealings when he served on a labor-management grievance committee.

Elvin Brown, John Maxwell, Harold Dudley, J. B. Lewis, Edward Dickison and C. B. Wilhelme, all of Dallas, testified for Shafer. The truck lines officials said he was fair-minded and congenial at grievance committee meetings held at various times.

Howard Ashley, manager of a Houston truck line, testified that Shafer was present at a Houston meeting which continued late into the afternoon of Jan. 5, 1955. That day a bomb was tossed on the doorstep of the Alamo Motor Freight Lines at San Antonio.

Shafer's mother, Mrs. John Shafer, 50, testified that her son was visiting her home in Pyote, Tex., Christmas Eve morning, 1954, when prosecution witnesses alleged he was plotting the bombing.

Chief Prosecutor Anthony Nicholas Cross examined witness Earl Trull of Austin, business agent of the Building Trades Union. He demanded to know if Trull recalled an alleged meeting in a trailer on a Sunday night in August, 1954, which included the late Bob Kimbrell, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Springer, Pat Davis and the state's star witness, Buck Owens.

Trull first said he recalled no such meeting. Later he said he did recall some such meeting, but couldn't recall whether Owens was present.

Trull said he had never heard any discussion of a plot to blow up San Antonio Truck Lines.

When Mrs. Springer was pointed out, Trull said he recalled seeing her at the trailer meeting.

Owens testified earlier that he first met with Shafer and Kimbrell in Trull's office late in August, 1954. He said that Shafer then asked him if he knew where he could get some dynamite to blow up Alamo Motor Freight Lines and Southwestern Motor Transport.

Fuel Is Too High Powered

BLOOMFIELD, Ind. (AP)—Robert Clark, Bloomfield used auto parts dealer, could hardly hold his jeep yesterday after he filled the tank with some new fuel he had bought from the Crane Naval Ammunition Depot.

"I couldn't keep the darn thing under 40 miles an hour," Clark said after he got it stopped. Annoyed at the Navy, he called a Terre Haute company and tried to sell the rest of 980 gallons he had picked up as surplus on bid of $156.80.

The company's buyer smelled the stuff and called the Internal Revenue Service, which had authorized the sale. The IRS notified the Navy, which agreed to take back its $25,000 worth of torpedo fuel and refund Clark's $156.80.

Several persons had learned the difference between ethyl alcohol and premium gasoline, and the only problem left was to tame the jeep.

Power Dam Costs Given

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army Engineers have said that the cost of five proposed power dams on the Brazos River would outweigh the benefits.

The Brazos River Authority has proposed building the dams.

An engineer report says the cost-benefit ratio would be 0.68 to one.

The authority proposed building the dams at a cost of about 155 million dollars. Private financing would put up 100 million and the government the rest, the authority proposed.

The report was compiled at the request of the House Public works Committee. The dams, between Whitney and Possum Kingdom dams, would be located at Turkey Creek, Inspiration Point, Hightower, Decordova Bend and Been Mountain.

The House committee is expected to study next year the engineers' report in determining whether to approve legislation.

No Telephone Service

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—The Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce added its efforts today to those of state and city officials trying to restore phone service to this city of about 40,000 persons. Portsmouth has been without service since Tuesday night. The struck Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. closed its exchanges here and in nearby Sciotoville after five company supervisors were attacked by 30 men.

Demonstration Flops

BOMBAY (AP)—An anti-Western demonstration to support Egypt on Suez fizzled today. Only 30 persons turned up.

Compulsory Draft In Reserve Program Opposed By Wilson

WASHINGTON (AP)— Secretary of Defense Wilson says that although the volunteer reserve program isn't getting the men it needs, he still doesn't believe a compulsory draft to provide it with manpawer is in order now.

However, he says that if the number of volunteers for the program doesn't pick up "we'll have to use some alternative method" of inducing young men to join up for the plan's six months of active duty and 7½ years in the active reserve.

Wilson's reply to one news conference question suggested that a possible alternative might be the release of two-year draftees after serving only 21 months, with their immediate assignment to reserve duty.

The defense chief said there is no present intention of asking Congress for new legislation to permit direct drafting of men for the reserve program. Such a possibility had been suggested last week by the National Security Training Commission.

Wilson was asked his views regarding the need for continuing the drafting of men for the Army, in light of Adlai Stevenson's recent statement that "we can now anticipate the possibility, hopefully but responsibly, that within the foreseeable future we can maintain the military forces we need without the draft."

Wilson said he thought "the President commented very clearly and covered the situation very well" in his address Wednesday night. President Eisenhower said that "this (suspension of the draft) cannot be done under world conditions of today."

It was the first news conference Wilson had held since Aug. 7.

There were questions about politics. Has the Republican National Committee asked Wilson to make a campaign speech?

"No sir," Wilson answered.

But, he said, he thought "the people of our country are entitled to know the facts about the defense of the country." He said he thought people were entitled to know facts about the draft "and not be confused."

Wilson disclosed that the Pentagon is studying the possibility of cutting the number of Air Force wings below the 137 now planned, while at the same time increasing the number of planes in each wing.

At present, the Air Force has about 131 wings, with the 137-wing goal still showing on the schedule as attainable by next summer.

Sausage Maker Says His Secret Stolen

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A man who says he has sausage-making know-how ground out a $250,000 breach-of-contract suit against a local meat processing firm.

John Richt alleged that the Klarer Provision Co. terminated his services last month after other employes learned his secret technique for making sausage. He said he entered the sausage trade 37 years ago and that the firm hired him last September. Richt claimed he was to receive $150 weekly for life plus one-fourth of a cent on all production over 50,000 pounds a week.

Nine Resign Over Draft Board Case

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Strong feeling against postponement of Army induction for a young Montgomery Negro attorney has brought nine resignations from the Selective Service system in central Alabama. More resignations were being considered today.

The Fred D. Gray case has also provoked several telegrams and letters to Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national Selective Service director, who recently postponed induction of Gray indefinitely.

The resignations, which started here Monday with three members of Gray's draft board, were all with comments that Hershey had improperly overridden the authority of the local board. Some were accompanied by criticism at what was termed "political influence" that reached into the White House.

Local 51 classified Gray 1-A after he had become prominent as legal spokesman for Negroes in the nine-month-old buy boycott here. The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People obtained a review of the case and the classification was sustained by the highest appeal board.

Then after Gray was ordered to active duty Hershey asked that the case be reopened. He said he had been informed that the 25-year-old attorney was now full-time pastor of a Negro church, replacing the absent minister. Ministers are draft-exempt.

The local board took the stand that it was too late to introduce new evidence and refused twice to reopen the case. Three board members walked out with bitter comments of "NAACP pressure" when Gray didn't go into the Army Monday as they had ordered.

Next day the Barbour County board and appeal agent resigned in protest over the case. Wednesday Gov. James E. Folsom, a Democrat, said the case had been made "a political football by the Republican White House." That day too J. M. Stanton of Greensboro, member of the Hale County board, quit in protest.

Another resignation came yesterday, from J. Stuart Yow of Selma, appeal agent for Dallas County. He wired Hershey objecting to what he said was "evident outside pressure."

Near Riot Broken Up

DALLAS (AP)—A near riot erupted between police and about 200 howling high school grid fans last night when officers arrested an unruly rooter at a Woodrow Wilson-South Oak Cliff game.

Nearly 50 policemen and firemen with hoses waged an hour-long battle of nerves at the stadium. The mob smashed glass in three squad cars with stones and pop bottles.

Four boys were arrested. Several policemen were bruised by flying rocks.

One police badge was ripped from an officer's shirt. A former student, 17, was treated for a scalp cut he said he received when clubbed with a police flashlight.

Supt. W. T. White promised prompt suspension for any students involved.

Housing Integration Foreseen By Official

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — Gov. Dennis J. Roberts (D) says that changes in the state's public housing policy "will rapidly eliminate any remaining evidence of segregation and produce total integration." He told the Newport branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People that Negroes segregated in public housing projects will be given first choice of units in other parts of the projects as soon as they become available.

Red Ballet Troupe Cancels Its Trip

MOSCOW (AP)—The world-famous Bolshoi Theater ballet troupe today refused to make a scheduled London appearance—its first in the West—because of British refusal to quash shoplifting charges against a Soviet woman discus champion.

"What guarantee is there that a similar provocation like the one against Nina Ponomareva is not repeated against one of us?" leading members of the company said in a two-column letter published in the Soviet government organ Izvestia.

The management of the state-operated theater so far had not announced official cancellation of the widely publicized tour, but apparently the plans were off.

It was the second time international politics had halted the 180-year-old Bolshoi troupe's debut in the West. Just before it was to open in 1954 in Paris, the Indochinese fortress of Dien Bien Phu fell to the Communist North Vietnamese. French officials canceled the ballet engagement to forestall public demonstrations.

Covent Garden Opera House, where the troupe was to open a month's season Oct. 3, were shocked by the Russian action. But Soviet diplomats in London had hinted the soldout visit would be off unless the British police abandoned their hunt for Miss Ponomareva.

Miss Ponomareva, a 27-year-old Olympic champion, was arrested last month on a charge of trying to walk off with five cheap hats from a London store. Released on bail, she did not appear for trial. The Soviets called the charge against her a "fabricated provocation" and withdrew from the annual British-Soviet track meet for which she and a team had come to London.

Nina was not with the team when it left London, and the British think she is still in the Soviet Embassy there. The British Foreign Office rejected Russian requests that the charges be dropped, saying it could not interfere with the courts.

STEVENSON EYES THE WHITE HOUSE—Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, eyes a big mural of the White House as he passes through the lobby of the Sheraton Park Hotel where he is staying in Washington. Stevenson is spending much of his time in Washington working on speeches and campaign plans. He begins a speaking tour next Saturday that will take him into the Mid-West and South.

Plane Flies 24 Miles High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has staged another in its series of daring piloted flights into space, this time to an altitude of almost 24 miles.

Capt. Iven C. Kincheloe, 28, who piloted the Bell X2 rocket plane to that height, ventured twice as high as the altitude at which, without protection, a man's blood would boil, bringing instant death.

Secretary of Defense Wilson declined, at a news conference yesterday, to confirm published reports that Kinchelo, probing heat and altitude problems of supersonic flight high above Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., had piloted the X2 to an unprecedented altitude of 126,000 feet—23.86 miles—late in August.

Wilson also refused to confirm similar unofficial information released in New Orleans early in August that Lt. Col. Frank K. Everest Jr. flew the X2 1,900 miles an hour at Edwards last July 25.

Wilson only would say "I think I could say that it has flown higher and faster than any other aircraft."

Wilson observed that with people talking about Russia "closing the gap" between U. S. and Soviet air power, "If we yap about everything we do the gap will be closed."

The X2 has wings and tail of stainless steel and a body of the nickel alloy K-monel, to give it greater resistance to the heat.

It is borne aloft by a B50 mother plane and launched at about 30,000 feet.

Inventor George Selden, who applicd for a patent on a "road machine" on May 8, 1879, is the father of the gasoline automobile in the U. S.

Airborne Group Plans Ceremony

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP) — The Army shows off today its new atomic-age fighting outfit, the 101st Airborne Division, brought back into existence from its famous days of World War II.

It arranged elaborate ceremonies and demonstrations by its paratroopers and their missile and atomic era weapons to mark formal reactivation of the Screaming Eagle Divison — the name coming from the shoulder patch worn by the 101st.

Not only are many of the weapons and techniques of battle new for the division, but its size and organization differ drastically from the outfit which drifted down into battle in Normandy, in Holland and at Bastogne.

Against the 17,500-man strength of standard infantry divisions, and the 13,000 or 14,000 men of other airborne divisions, the 101st has 11,500 men. Instead of the traditional three-regiment core of combat strength, the 101st is made up of five "combat groups" — smaller, more flexible, but with heavy firepower and high mobility in the air and on the ground.

The 101st will ftght atomic war, if war comes, with its own atomic weapons. Included in the basic weapons will be the Honest John rocket, which has a range of about 20 miles and can be fitted with an atomic warhead.

Despite its size, the rocket can be transported by air to frontline positions of "airheads" established by invading paratroopers behind enemy lines.

The division also may have, at a later date, conventional caliber artillery pieces which can be moved by air and which can fire nuclear shells.

Oil Import Limit Sought By Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman for a group of Texas independent oil operators said today he believed Congress should limit oil imports if the administration doesn't take action at once.

A. E. Herrman, president of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Assn., was a witness before a House Ways and Means subcommittee studying foreign trade policies.

Herrman said his group believes "voluntary action by the importing companies themselves is incapable of assuring a limit on oil imports consistent with the national security and economy.

"Attempts to effect this result without a formal import policy tend to encourage a degree of coordinated action by importing companies which is contrary to the anti-trust policies of this nation.

"In the face of the most urgent appeals by the topmost governmental authorities, importers increased their ratio to domestic production in 1955 to 18.3 per cent and in 1956 to more than 20 per cent.

"Formal action is called for without delay. If it is not taken by the administration, we believe it is the clear duty and responsibility of the Congress to reassert its jurisdiction and define in unequivocal terms the role which oil from abroad is to be allowed in filling domestic demand."

Cold Front Is Moving Over Texas

By The Associated Press

A cool front stretched its fingers toward Texas Friday.

The front, heading in from the west, was expected to cool most of northern Texas by Saturday night. It is due in the upper Panhandle and South Plains early Saturday.

No rain was expected.

Dawn temperatures Friday ranged from 65 degrees at Salt Flat to 80 at Galveston. Skies were clear.

Thursday was the hottest Sept. 20 ever recorded in Houston, 98. The mercury soared to 100 degrees or over from Del Rio on the border to Childress in the Panhandle.

Today was the last full day of the summer season and chilly autumn weather already moved in over most of the eastern half of the nation.

Frosty air extended over the lower Great Lakes region and lower Mississippi Valley eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

The summer season ends officially at 8:36 p.m., EST, tomorrow.

Temperatures were in the 30s from Virginia and North Carolina northward with some places reporting readings below freezing. In the Southeast, however, they were in the 50s and low 60s and in Florida, where the cold air had not reached, most temperatures were in the mid-70s.

An increasing flow of southerly air brought a little warming to the central third of the country from northern Texas northward through the upper Great Lakes region and Northern Plains. Temperatures were in the 40s and 50s and edged into the upper 70s in the Southern Plains.

Mostly fair weather was reported east of the Rockies to the Eastern seaboard.

Test Is Cancelled

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—The opening blast in Britain's on again-off again atomic test series at the Maralinga Proving Ground in South Australia was postponed again today. The test chief, Sir William Penney, called it off after a sudden weather change just 15 minutes before the device was to be fired. It was the fifth postponement.

HOMEOWNER?? or HOBO??

What you do about insurance protection within the next 24 hours might very well determine whether you remain a homeowner or wind up "out in the cold" like the gentleman above.

Building costs have doubled. Would you be able to replace your home if it is destroyed tomorrow? Not if it is insured by 1946 standards.

Be sure your insurance protection is up-to-date. Our free protection check costs you nothing, and may save you thousands of dollars.

And low first cost is only your first saving

Before you buy your next truck, look at both sides of Ford's story of value. Check what you get and what it costs. You'll like what you see.

Look at the costs. Ford's first cost is low. Resale value is high. Modern Short Stroke engines—V-8 or Six—are designed for less friction, less wear, lower running costs. Maintenance costs are lower, too, because Ford trucks are built stronger for rugged long life. And a 10-million truck study proves Ford trucks last longer.

Look at what you get and you'll see you get more for your money in a Ford. For example, more horsepower per dollar—proved by a comparison of factory-suggested list prices and net horsepower of all truck lines. You get more comfort with a Driverized Cab, and more safety with Ford's exclusive Lifeguard features.

Look carefully . . . consider everything. You'll agree Ford trucks cost less, give you more. If you want a great deal—a great deal more for your money—see your Ford Dealer.
