France, Britain Propose Plan Rid Mediterranean of 'Pirates'

Appeal To 7 Others For Pact

Mutual Assistance To Be Agreed Upon If Measure Passes

GENEVA, Sept. 10. (AP)— France and Great Britain called upon seven other powers today to adopt "by common accord" a sweeping plan to annihilate pirate submarines in the Mediterranean high seas.

French foreign minister Yvon Delbos, elected conference president, told the delegates "it is impossible to permit the present situation of insecurity to continue without the gravest perils."

He said "we regret Italy and Germany considered it necessary to boycott the conference," and demanded "rapid action."

The plan, expected to be approved shortly, embraces actual mutual assistance agreements. The nations would use dirigibles, planes and warcraft to safeguard merchant shipping. Submarines on the surface, flying national colors, would be unmolested.

Soviet foreign commissar Maxim Litvinoff warned his country "must and will take its own measures" against the submarines.

Besides the men-of-war of Britain and France, the international fleet would include those of the other seven nations participating in the parley—Greece, Turkey, Yugoslavia, Soviet Russia, Egypt, Rumania and Bulgaria.

French foreign office officials said they already had received assurances from Turkey and Greece of their support.

Although there was no new incidents of aggression against Mediterranean shipping the French naval ministry, incensed over the shooting down of a French mail plane near Oran, Spain, prepared a protest to the Spanish insurgents and ordered four destroyers from France's Atlantic fleet to bolster her full Mediterranean force.

Germany and Italy acted in concert in rejecting invitations to the parley, both refusing to sit with Soviet Russia because of Moscow's sharp notes to Rome accusing Italy of sinking two Soviet merchantmen and demanding redress.

Local Legion Commander To Attend National Convention

W. H. Hoffman, commander of the local Woods W. Lynch Post of the American Legion and chief draftsman for the civil engineering department of the Humble Oil and Refining Company here, left Midland last night for New York City from whence on September 23 he will sail for Europe on a six-weeks tour, returning to the United States about the middle of November.

In New York City, Hoffman will attend the national convention of the American Legion, September 19 to 23, as an alternate delegate from the Fifth Division, Department of Texas.

Immediately following the adjournment of the American Legion conclave, Hoffman, with several thousand other veterans of the World War, will sail for Europe, landing at Cherbourg, France, on September 28. There the veterans will be met by a French delegation which will escort them to Paris where they will remain for a week as special guests of the French government. The World's Fair and other points of interest will be visited in Paris.

A tour of the battlefields at Muse-Argonne and Chateau-Thierry is scheduled for the group, a monument to be unveiled at Chateau-Thierry. Injured on the field of battle near Verennes, Hoffman will visit the town and battlefield in an effort to locate the exact spot where he was struck by a piece of shrapnel and seriously injured shortly before the termination of the war.

Those in the American group who fought at either St. Mahiel or Verdun will be decorated with medals when the party visits the two towns. The Midland man, who was engaged in conflict at both places, will be decorated at St. Mahiel and at Verdun.

Following the French tours, the delegation of ex-soldiers will break up into smaller groups and will visit sections of Europe in which they are most interested. Hoffman plans on flying to London for a few days before touring the Rhineland. He will visit Berlin and from there

Japs Strike At Stubborn Resistance

American Lives Are Endangered as War Spreads Over China

SHANGHAI, Sept. 10. (AP) — Japanese struck at stubborn Chinese defenders on all fronts today, endangering Americans and other foreigners with the spreading hostilities.

The new assault found China's armies holding virtually the same positions as when Shanghai warfare started August 13.

More than 2,000 American civilians, mostly business men and their families, stayed in Shanghai with aparently no thought of abandoning their fortunes.

American lives were gravely endangered Thursday at Shanghai, Amoy and Swatow. Japanese warplanes and warships subjected Amoy to a terrific two-hour bombardment, causing American residents to seek shelter in dugouts. The American naval vessel Asheville was caught in the bombardment; several air bombs fell close to her and her crew took shelter below decks to avoid a hail of shrapnel.

Army and police headquarters, an army airfield and an old fort near the compound of the American Standard-Vacuum Oil company were the principal targets of the bombardment. Two bombs fell near the oil plant, where several American employes were sticking to their posts, but none was injured.

A raid by Japanese planes made Swatow, northeast of Hongkong, unsafe for American and British residents. At Hongkong the British destroyer Thacian had steam up preparatory to a run to Swatow, where the British consul reported the Japanese attacks had created a dangerous situation.

Higher Costs of Living Worrying Officials of WPA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP).—WPA economists expressed concern today that the higher cost of living may disturb their program.

They said possible difficulties were wage increase demands and the extra cost of supplies to local project sponsors.

The WPA has $1,500,000,000 to last until July 1. If expenses increase, economists said that curtailment of nation-wide work would result.

BY FRANK GARDNER.

Drilling was halted yesterday at 5,033 feet in P. N. Wiggings, Jr., C. E. Hyde and Harry Lawson No. 1 Carrie Slaughter Dean, four-mile northwest extension of southeast Cochran's Duggan pool and the farthest north producer in the West Texas district. The well had been 2,000 and 2,100 feet of oil in the hole from pay topped at 4,995. Operators will run tubing tomorrow and acidize the well early next week. Gas is estimated at 100,000 cubic feet, and oil tests 29.4-gravity. The No. 1 Dean is located in the center of labor 26, league 92, Lipscomb county school land.

Five miles to the east and slightly north of No. 1 Dean, the same owners' No. 1-A Dean was found to be off four degrees at 5,285 and has plugged back to straighten hole. It topped anhydrite at 2,240 feet, datum of plus 1,446. Location is 330 feet from the north and east lines of league 58, Martin county school land.

In Hockley county, Stanolind No. 1 Slaughter, two and one-half mile southeast extension to the Slaughter pool, flowed 35 barrels of oil per hour for four hours when opened up, then died, and has been shut in again. It will be shot. Total depth is 4,975 feet in lime.

Walker Hits Water.

One-half bailer of sulphur water hourly was encountered from 5,177-80, the total depth, by Texas No. 1 Walker, southwest Yoakum well, and it is testing today. On the last 24-hour swabbing test, the well yielded 27 barrels of oil. It is 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 794, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1 R. A. Cox estate et al, Wasson pool producer one-half mile south of the discovery well, flowed 668.16 barrels through 1-inch choke on 2 1/2-inch tubing for 24-hour poten-

Duke's U. S. Home, Says Rumor

Because $350,000 is being spent in restoring this mansion, secluded on its Chesapeake Bay island, and because W. H. Stillwell, its owner, is a friend of Herman L. Rogers, frequent spokesman for the Duke of Windsor, rumors have arisen that the 147-year-old estate is to become the home of the former English king and his American wife. Stillwell has denied that the restored estate is for any use but his own. It was once the home of William Paca, wealthy leader of revolution and lavish society. The lovely and secluded site of the mansion is shown in the top picture, its regal aspect is suggested in the lower.

Humble To Build Pipeline To Northern Basin Wells

Rumors of a pipe line to the northern pools of the Permian Basin became facts today when it was learned that Humble Pipe Line Company this morning had unloaded five carloads of pipe at Seagraves, in northern Gaines county, and will start surveying immediately for a 6-inch welded line from Hobbs, N. M., to the Wasson pool in northwestern Gaines and thence to the Bennett pool in southeastern Yoakum.

The new line will tie in with Humble's 8-inch line at Hobbs. Pipe-line outlet for the Wasson and Bennett pools is expected to add greatly to the drilling activity in both areas, development having hitherto been retarded because of lack of a market for oil produced in them. Some of the operators in the two pools have been hauling oil out by truck.

Recent completion of several large producers in the Wasson pool is said to have forced Humble's decision to connect to the area. Rumors are still prevalent that the Texas-New Mexico Pipe Line Company will lay a line from the Hobbs terminal to the north West Texas pools, probably to the Slaughter area in Hockley and the Duggan pool in Cochran.

Mexico Faces Direct Crisis In Oil Issue; Vast Interests Are Affected

It is the most pressing question which the regular four months session of Congress, convoked here last week, must face. It is involved in a profound labor movement, part of a nation-wide democratization plan. Directly, it affects something over $400,00,000 in foreign investments.

It is only in recent years that the petroleum issue has become a lively one in the nation. Since 1925 it had remained dormant, but threatening ever to become paramount.

Now it outranks probably the acute question of the cost of living and the perennial agrarian problem.

Favored Wage Boost.

Labor was encouraged to seek higher wages when Cardenas became President nearly three years ago. A so-called "Cardenas Doctrine" was evolved, which in essence states that each industry should pay its employes as much as it possibly can. In other words if one company can pay its stenographers 500 pecos a month, it should pay them that much, even though the prevailing wage-scale for stenographers is only 100 pesos.

The Sindicato de Trabajadores Petroleros de la Republica Mexicana, the union controlling the 17,000 employes of the oil companies, began agaitating for higher wages and in August, 1936, presented its demands to the companies. They asked increased wages, extra pay for work on hot days, long vacations with free trips paid to any part of the world they might desire to visit (first class), free residences, overalls, medical attention for all relatives, etc., etc. Furthermore, the union demanded that practically all the executives be members of the union.

The companies rejected the workers' demands and a strike was called, to start on November 27, 1936. One the eve of the call, Cardenas asked the union to post-pone it, and to arbitrate.

WADE STEVENS IS COLLISION VICTIM

Wade Stevens, 24-year-old Midland man, was killed instantly at 1:30 this morning when the car he was driving collided with a truck load of gravel about seven miles west of Midland.

Stevens had taken a friend to Monahans earlier last night and was en route back home here at the time of the accident.

He had just passed one truck when he struck the one that caused his death. He struck the front end of the truck bed and the car overturned, finally coming to a stop upright.

An ambulance was rushed to the scene but Stevens was dead before he could be given medical attention. A doctor said that a skull fracture was the cause of his death. His chest was also severely crushed.

Stevens would have been 25 years old September 25 had he lived. He was born in Malvern, Ark., Sept. 25, 1912, moved to El Paso in 1918 and to Midland in 1923.

He attended Midland schools until 1929 when he finished high school. After one year of study in Texas University, he finished his college work in the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell. Upon completion of his college work, he became associated with his father, deceased, in a grocery store here.

For the past several months he had been doing oil field work in Ector county. At the time of his death he was on a vacation, having returned from Malvern only about four days ago following a visit there with relatives. He was to return to work in a few days.

He is survived by his mother and a small daughter.

Commissioner To Explain Securities Act Here Tonight

A meeting at which the state securities act will be explained will be held in the Crystal Ballroom of the Hotel Scharbauer tonight at 8 o'clock with D. Leon Harp, State Securities Commissioner, in charge. He will be assisted by Horace Sessions, department investigator.

Interest in how the act works has been expressed by many local oil and business men, and an invitation to them to attend the meeting tonight has been given by the state officials.

Citing the enormous amount of fraudulent and worthless stocks sold in the state each year as the reason for passage of the act by the state legislature, Harp says it is the desire of officials to acquaint the public at large with it in efforts to rid the state of promoters and salesmen of such type of stock.

Pointing out that 18 lease and stock brokers at present in Midland are licensed by the state commission, he urges persons contemplating investing money in stocks or leases to trade only with men that have been licensed.

Harp has pointed out that what is most needed to aid him in his work in Midland is knowledge of the securities act by securities, trades, attorneys, bankers and business men, as well as land owners.

A branch office will be established somewhere in West Texas and Sessions will be in charge of it. Location of the office here is contemplated by the men due to Midland at present being the center of the largest leasing and trading area in the state.

Son Believed to Have Been Dead Is Found Alive

SHAWNEE, Okla. Sept. 10. (AP) — Mrs. Ella Cummings was convinced last night after a telephone conversation with a youth at Salt Lake City, Utah, that it was not her son she buried here last Monday—17-year-old Earl Dean Cummings, a survivor of the New London, Tex., disaster.

"What's all this about you burying someone mama?" said a youth at the other end of the wire who said he was her son.

"Well, I have," Mrs. Cummings replied, "and I thought it was you, son."

Then she added in a mildly scolding tone: "Why hadn't you written to me son?"

Mrs. Cummings early this week went to Hobart, Okla., identified the mangled body of a youth crushed beneath a train as that of her son, and brought the body here and buried it beside her daughter, Marcella Cummins, killed in the New London explosion.

"But I shan't disturb the grave," said Mrs. Cummins. "It's some mothers' son, and I'll never be sorry for providing him a decent burial."

A companion of young Cummins when he left here some time ago, Monte Ely, telegraphed Mrs. Cummins from Salt Lake her son was alive and well.

Mrs. Cummins said her son told her he would give up a job he had obtained there and return home. She said her son telegraphed from a Salt Lake newspaper office.

It was the second time, she said, she had given her son up for lost.

The first time was following the New London disaster, which took the life of young Cummin's sister and two of his cousins, Betty and Oliver Rider. It was several hours after the explosion, she said, before she was reunited with the son.

Meanwhile, F. A. Budd, chief of police, renewed his efforts to identify the dead youth. Budd said the dead youth told companions before the fatal accident that his home was here.

CONGRATULATIONS.

Probe of Nazis in United States Is Asked by Senators

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP).—Two senators—Borah (R-Ida) and Burke (D-Neb)—declared Wednesday congress should investigate Nazi activities in the United States.

They made their proposals in commenting on a Chicago Daily Times article declaring German-American Nazi leaders are organizing American citizens with intent to seize control of the nation.

"On the first day of the next session, special or regular," Burke said, "I am going to introduce a resolution proposing a senate committee investigation."

The Idahoan, who charged on the senate floor last session that Nazi groups were training American youths in anti-American principles, said he deemed the matter "sufficiently important" to call for a special inquiry.

"There isn't any doubt of the fact such organization is going on in this country," Borah said, "but to what extent I do not know."

Application of Neutrality Act To Affect Trade

WASHINGTON. Sept. 10. (AP) — Government officials said today that any future application of the neutrality act might seriously restrict the export of such things as cotton, wheat, scrap iron and automobiles as well as the shipment of arms and ammunition.

They said this possibility was under the Eresident's discretionary powers under the act's cash and carry section.

'Hinky Dinks' Is The Newest Thing In Parlor Games

"HINKY DINKS," matching an adjective and noun with a synonymous rhyming phrase, is coming out of the east as the latest thing in parlor games. Here's how it's played:

First player in line offers a noun with an adjective to describe it—"crippled woman." The next, to avoid elimination, must match "crippled woman" with a synonymous adjective and noun in rhyme —"lame dame" will do.

The matching continues — wooden horse and phoney pony, good view and keen scene—until failure to supply a "Hinky Dink" within a brief specified time has eliminated all except one player.

REPUBLICANS MUST FIND LEADER TRUSTED BY RANK AND FILE, CLAIMS LODGE

EDITOR'S NOTE: Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts ata 35 is the youngest Republican senator and recently was the only Republican senator to vote for the wage-hour bill. He has long been interested in labor and industry. Carefully, with restraint, he analyzes the future of the nation.

* * *

BY SENATOR HENRY CABOT LODGE

Written Exclusively for The Reporter-Telegram and NEA Service, Inc.

THE Republicans are the opposition. And as dissatisfaction develops with the methods and failures of the New Deal the Republican party will be the only place for dissatisfied voters to go.

To regain first the confidence of the people and then control of the government, the Republican party must do several things.

It must develop a genuine and realistic 20th century Republicanism

It must have a personnel at its national conventions which will include actual representation of the rank and file of the people. If it doesn't whoever is nominated for president by the next convention will be discredited from the start. This policy also must be carreid out in the state and congressional districts.

This country no longer votes for parties, It votes for men—or women. Platforms usually are about the same. The Republican platform last year promised at least as much to labor, for instance as did the democratic platform.

And the Republican party can get the vote of the working man, which it conspicuously failed to get in the last election, if it puts up the candidate who will convince labor of his sincerity.

* * *

Labor Is Non-Partisan.

LABOR continues to be non-partisan. There is no doubt that a larger Republican congressional contingent will be elected in 1938 than in 1936 and it is reasonable to suspect that some of them will have labor support.

Personally, I don't make routine speeches damning the New Deal. I have no quarrel with its larger aims, but I do insist that Roosevelt and the Democratic Congresses have not achieved results.

The President in his recent session of Congress placed all his executive energy on attemps to enlarge the executive power and spent practically none at all in improving the condition of the people.

The wage and hour legislation, for which I was glad to record my vote, could have passed easily if the President, early in the session, had not insisted on attempting to assert complete mastery over the Supreme Court and club Congress into abetting his attempt.

* * *

Nothing Has Been Done.

EVERYONE knows that our system of unemployment relief needs overhauling and reform that it could be more honest and more just.

Everyone knows that the Social Security act is imperfect in numerous details, that the wage earner pays too much for the security he receives. The principle of a vast reserve fund of tens of billions of dollars is dangerous. Everyone knows this. But nothing has been done about it.

With a chance to really do something about floods, the New England Flood Control Compacts have been temporarily killed here, and the whole New England flood control program put off because our program doesn't fit in with the President's ideas about power.

We Republicans have suggested remedies in all these instances and will continue to do so until we get the power to apply them. We will not engage in destructive attack, but in constructive suggestions. I have accepted the fact that since the last election that the administration aims are almost unanimously accepted by the people. But let's achieve them! And let's achieve them within the Constitution.

* * *

Won't Be Third Party.

THE strong tendency toward enlargement of executive power still continues, although it has been checked in certain of its extreme manifestations. The Republican party is the only instrument which can check it adequately.

It is extremely unlikely that any third party will come along which will help.

We have had third parties and we will have more. But no third party has even been successful and the only time one ever affected the outcome of a presidential election was in 1912.

Meanwhile, I can manage to watch the things that are happening inside the Democratic party with complacency and without comment.

NEXT: Representative Maury Maverick, dynamic Texas Congressman, outlines a definite program for the future, a goal to which all must work, regardless of politics.

The PAYOFF

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Zeke Bonura is the most popular ball player on either Chicago club. He was given an automobile as such in June.

But despite his bucks office magnetism, a batting average of .342, and 91 runs batted in up until he went out six weeks ago, when he pulled a muscle in his groin, Bonura is on the market. Bonura always is on the market, it seems.

Jimmy Dykes says that he would trade Bonura for Joe Kuhel of Washington. He wants value received, and does not intend to give the Big Banana Man of New Orleans too good an opportunity to smack him down every now and then. That's the big drawback to shipping a slugger of Zooming Zeke's potentialities down the river.

Dykes charges Bonura with letting the White Sox down, but the vast Italian has heard accusations of this kind before, and let them go in one ear and out the other. And he always has landed right back in Comiskey Park.

But the stumpy Dykes is playing first base for the White Sox now, and declares that he will continute to do so just so long as his 41-year-old legs will carry him.

By this time you no doubt have gathered that Dykes is very mad at Zeke Bonura, and that this is nothing new.

* * *

Dykes Insists That Bonura Die With Sox.

"I don't like to say it, but, then, I might just as well say it as think it," asserts Dykes. "Bonura, in my opinion, is 'Jaking'—'Jaking' at a time when we need him most. 'Jaking' with his club in the stretch—fighting for second place and the $1500 or so a man that goes with it."

This is not the first time that Bonura, the club's power hitter, has "Jaked it," according to Dykes.

Bonura failed to put in an appearance for a double-header that closed the season in Cleveland two years ago.

Again Dykes had to play first base, although he hadn't been active for two months.

Between innings, he asked Trainer Ad Schacht to find out what, if anything, was wrong with Bonura.

"Bonura says that he is very ill," reported Schacht, an inning or so later, "in fact, he fears that he may be dying."

"Tell him to come out here and die with me and the ball club," ordered Dykes, but Bonura remained in the straw, or wherever he happened to be.

Dykes suspected that Bonura was more concerned about an even .300 batting average than his health, and was positive when he saw the hungry Italian at the dinner table that night.

"At the time I had a respectable batting average for Dykes," explains the Duke of Upper Darby. "I drew a horse collar for nine trips to the plate, and I cursed Bonura every time I went out."

* * *

If He Can Dance, He Can Play First Base.

Bonura batted in 65 runs by early June this season, but in the following little more than two months, or until he broke down, he hit in only 26. Dykes now suspects that his large problem child is more than willing to stand on his batting average of .342. This Dykes is willing to let him do, as long as he himself is swatting the ball at his current .378 clip.

Practically every ball player has pulled a muscle in his groin at one time or another, and Dykes can't understand how such an injury can keep a fellow on the sidelines for the length of time that Bonura has been there.

"Bonura isn't so badly hurt that he can't dance," asserts the Pale Hose pilot. "If he can dance, he can play first base. That's all a first baseman has to do.

"I wouldn't mind if he had showed up at the park and made some effort to get back in shape, but he checked in only once—the day we left on the last western trip. He wanted to make the trip—said he might be able to hit, but I told him to stay out until he could play first base. So he broadcast from Wrigley Field while we were away.

"Ted Lyons recently pulled a muscle in his groin, but he turned in a five-hit performance against Cleveland on Labor Day morning. He couldn't have run if he had wanted to, but I would have made an enemy for life had I taken him out."

Jimmy Dykes goes on to make it plain that while Zeke Bonura has his story now, he'll hear a better one from the front office in the spring.

But, as related in the foregoing, one word from the front office and Zeke Bonura does just as he pleases.

Mozelle Saunders And Colonel Sparkman Married In Lenorah

Couple to Make Home In Dalhart, Texas

At seven o'clock Thursday morning at the home of her mother in Lenorah, Miss Mozelle Saunders became the bride of Mr. Colonel Sparkman. The single ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fred McPearson of the First Baptist Church of Stanton.

The couple was attended by Miss Allie Jo Saunders of Midland, sister of the bride, and Mr. Wade Branson. The bride wore a brown crepe tailored frock with brown accessories. Her flowers were a bouquet of red rose buds and she also carried her great, great grandmother's Prayer Book. For traveling Mrs. Sparkman wore a mustard-gold crepe frock, with brown accessories.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. D. C. Saunders, has been an employee of the Resettlement in Midland for the past two years. She attended school in Blackwell.

Mr. Sparkman, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Sparkman of Bonham, was in charge of the Resettlement in Midland for two years but now has his headquarters in Dalhart. He was graduated from Bonham high school and Texas Technological College at Lubbock.

After a two weeks' wedding trip to Fort Worth, Dallas, Bonham and points on the coast, the couple will be at home in Dalhart.

Immediately following the wedding, an informal breakfast was given by the bride's mother for the wedding guests, who were as follows: Miss Allie Jo Saunders, Miss Johnnie Richardson, Miss Olga Edwards and Miss Mary Merle Howard of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hagerton, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Eurie Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Meridan Koonce and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Standifer, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Trailkill, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hardin and children, Mr. and Mrs. Prather Leeman, Wade Branton, Mrs. L. Standifer, Mr. and Mrs. George Hurley, Mrs. Lurline Williams, Miss Billie Lou Williams, Leston Edwards, Donald Edwards, Jack Elvin, D. C. and Dan Saunders.

Mrs. Weatherred Is Hostess to Club

At the meeting of the Past Time Club, at the home of Mrs. J. T. Weatherred, it was decided to have the club meetings at 3:30 instead of 3 o'clock for the convenience of those having children in school. All members tardy will be fined five cents.

A bean guessing contest and a doll sewing contest were won by Mrs. J. E. Miller and Mrs. W. D. McCarthy. Mrs. McCarthy will be hostess to the club next Wednesday.

Refreshments were served to seven members present.

Blames Movies, Pulps For Family Squabbles

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (U.P.)—Dr. Paul Popenoe, head of the Los Angeles Institute of Family Relations, blames the movies, the "pulp" magazines, and newspaper headlines for wrecking the majority of American families that get wrecked.

All three of these elements that play such a predominating part in American life at the present time fail utterly to impart the right attitude towards family life, he states.

Barbara's Back---Thin and Blond

Thin and trim and blond was the Countess Haugwitz von Reventlow, the former Barbara Hutton, when she returned to New York from a long stay in Europe, as the above two pictures show. A shining new coiffure crowning narrower facial and figure lines gave the "five and ten" heiress a changed appearance as she stepped from the Queen Mary, when these pictures were taken

Carver of Her Own Film Career

Mrs. Phil Scharbauer Returns to Midland From Honolulu Trip

Mrs. Phil Scharbauer and Miss Annie May Rankin of Abilene have returned from a two month's vacation trip to San Francisco and Honolulu. They spent a month in Honolulu, which Mrs. Scharbauer said was rightfully named The Paradise of the Pacific. The flowering trees, the, beautiful shrubs and the ocean all make the Hawaiian Islands the beauty spot of the world.

Mrs. Scharbauer and Miss Rankin returned to San Francisco on the Monterrey and spent a delightful two weeks there before returning to Texas.

Movie on Trains Popular in England

LONDON (U.P.)—Not all the innovations in railroad travel come from the United States, says Sherman A. Boyce of the American Express Travel Service, who reports that the first permanent railway "movie" coach in England is now entering its third year.

Introduced in May, 1935, on the King's Cross-Leeds service, the movies have been shown six times a day, to an estimated 60,000 people in the last two years. Each program is an hour long and sound pictures are used, outside noises being excluded by the insulation of the coach. The original "movie" coach was so successful that a second one was put into service last year.

Oatmeal Solves The Roast Stuffing Problem

There is an old saying that a roast is no better than its stuffing, and often the difference between success and failure depends on nothing more than an extra pinch to the stuffing of salt, pepper, or other seasoning. For fowl stuffing there are numerous seasonings—such as thyme, chestnuts, sage, celery, or parsley.

It is prepared from the following ingredients:

2 cups toasted bread crumbs
2 cups Quick Quaker Oats
¼ cup butter
2 teaspoons chopped onion
¼ teaspoon sage
2 eggs slightly beaten
¼ teaspoon black pepper

Melt the butter in a frying pan. Add onion and brown. Add oats and stir until crisp. Mix with bread crumbs, seasoning and egg and then stuff the fowl.

FIRST GAMES OF SOFT BALL LEAGUE PLAY-OFF START TONIGHT

FORD AND HOTEL, GULF HARDWARE CLUBS TO TANGLE

The first two games of the Industrial League play-off will be held tonight with the Scharbauer Hotel and the Ford clubs meeting in the initial game, and the Gulf and Hardware clubs meeting in the second game.

Although the league season was not scheduled to end until after tonight's games, league directors decided to cancel the remaining games and start the playoff tonight in order to end the playing season as quickly as possible.

The Ford club, by virtue of having finished first in the league standings, was paired with the fourth place Scharbauer team. The second and third place clubs were paired for the other game. By the flip of a coin it was decided which two teams would meet in the first game tonight. They will alternate Monday night, the Gulf and Hardware meeting in the first game.

By special permission of directors, it was voted to allow some of the clubs to strengthen for the play off due to the fact that some of them were short of players because of various reasons. A few players from the cellar Sinclair and KRLH clubs will be allowed to play with those needing help.

It was decided to charge an admission fee of 10 cents per person for the play off games. The streets will be roped off late this afternoon and keepers will be stationed at all corners around the diamond tonight.

The clubs will meet in two best out of three series in the first round, the two finalists to play three best out of five. Length of time needed depends on results of the game. The minimum for winding up the season is five days, the maximus is eight days.

Jennings Believes Conference Teams Practically Even

WACO, Texas, Sept. 10. — Southwest conference games and the outcome of the race will be harder for the forecaster than at any time in recent years, Coach Morley Jennings of the Baylor university Golden Bears, says.

The teams, in his opinion, are more evenly matched than they have been in the past four or five years. A. & M. and Arkansas, of course, have a little edge over the other clubs when one looks at the dope sheets, but Rice, S. M. U., T. C. U., Texas, and even Baylor may surprise the sports critics almost any week-end.

Defensively the Bears will be stronger than they were in 1936, but doubt hovers over the offense play. Loss of the Southwest scoring ace, Lloyd Russell, is the reason for the doubt expressed. Coach Jennings looks over his 58 charges who have started fall training with hopes that some of the squadmen, some of the Sophomores, or perhaps a transfer student might fill in the extra backfield hole.

About the best prospect among the new faces to show up is Durham Bivins, hefty transfer from Kemper Military Institute. Bivins, a Longview boy, comes with a fine backfield record at that institution.

Billy Patterson, Hillsboroite, is slated to carry most of the heavy duty passing load. His kicking is excellent, and when he is not in the game, two of Baylors ends—probably Sherman Barnes, Wacoan, and Sammie Boyd of Cleburne, may be assigned to handle the job.

Bubba Gernand, Beaumont, and Carl Brazell of Barbers Hill, are practically cinches for two of the starting backfield posts.

Coach Jennings frankly admits that his weakest position is at center, vacated by All-Conference John D. Reynolds by graduation. Reynold's old post is considerably weaker, but W. J. Wimpee, Gerald McCarver, Virgil Cloyd, and Sherill Bailey, all sophomores and without experience in the tough Southwest play, will battle it out to wear the shoes. They are already striving hard—and thus far it is anybody's victory.

Tackle and guard positions will be well taken care of, and the Baylor mentor and his aides believe the ends will be about the best in the history of "That Good Old Baylor Line," saying a lot considering the fact that Frank James and Jim Tom (Red) Petty once played those roles.

LIONS PROVE SUPERIORITY OVER THE ROTARIANS IN DONKEY SOFT BALL GAME AS BURRO QUITS ON BASEMAN

The Lions club finally proved their boasted superiority over the Rotarians at donkey soft ball last night when they finally came through with a run in the seventh inning, the second overtime frame, to cop the game by a 1-0 score.

Riders were a bit "leery" of mounting the trained mules last night, and as a result the action was not as fast as it was the night before when the two clubs battled to a 2-2 tie.

Rotarians claimed black magic and other things as the result of the winning tally last night. In the seventh inning, Bob Scruggs hit one into the outfield, got on his donkey and started around the bases. The ball was relayed from the outfield to Marion Flynt at second base and his donkey lay flat down and refused all pleas and threats to rise. Flynt was restricted from tagging Scruggs until he could get the donkey on his feet and mount him and before he could do so Scruggs had turned the hit into a home run.

The game went off fast last night, neither side ever threatening to score until in the late innings. Riders found the burros a little easier to ride but were unable to stop them once they reached a base. Several races ensued with the little donkey on which the second basemen rode showing more speed each time.

Tool Conference Is Held by Chevrolet

As a further step in Chevrolet's balanced program for development of unexcelled service to Chevrolet owners, dealer service managers from every zone in the United States have just concluded their second annual tool conference.

In selecting necessary tools and equipment to service Chevrolets properly, these men, actively at work in the field, were assisted in their studies of proper mechanical equipment by central office executives. C. W. Wood, national director of service, conducted the various sessions.

An all-day conference during which non-essential tools and equipment were weeded from the list by these authorities was followed by a banquet at the Detroit-Leland hotel, conference headquarters. Discussion was resumed next day under J. M. Crawford, chief engineer for Chevrolet. Every phase of dealer service operation was covered in the two-day session.

Speakers who addressed the nation-wide group of service managers included M. E. Coyle, general manager Chevrolet division, General Motors Corporation; H. B. Hatch and W. G. Lewellen, assistant general sales managers of Chevrolet; W. E. Fish, manager of Chevrolet truck sales, J. M. Crawford and C. W. Wood. Discussions within the conference were led by E. L. Harrig, assistant service manager in charge of service operations, and F. L. Frazier, assistant service manager in charge of mechanical operations. R. C. Clark, chief school instructor, officiated throughout the sessions.

The group of service officials, brought to Detroit by Chevrolet, all are presidents of their respective 85 Clubs, highest honorary organization for service managers in their respective zones. They attain this office on a basis of merit alone, and are thus the outstanding service managers in the nation, Mr. Wood explained.

eace Without Profit n Early Indian War

UIERRE, S. D. (U.P.) — What is aid to have been the earliest inci-dent in the history of the United States where the government fought a war and negotiated peace conced-ing every demand of the enemy, ex-acting nothing in return, is closely linked with early South Dakota his-tory.

It occurred with the signing of a peace treaty following the great Red Cloud war. Red Cloud had won a complete victory, his every demand having been granted, des-pite defeat in battle.

This New Yoke Dress Gives an Illusion of Slimness

BY CAROL DAY

FRETTING because your diet isn't taking down the inches as quickly as you would like? Then give strength to your determination to continue by making this dress (Pattern 8033) for early Fall days. The simply made yoke which extends into long sleeves gives a natural squareness to the shoulders that makes the waist and hips look smaller. The neckline is plain and low, trimmed at the point where it joins the bodice with a gracefully tied ribbon bow. The simple 2-panel skirt flares gracefully at the hem.

The fabric choice for this dress is not wide—a heavy silk crepe, jersey or sheer wool would be best. Prints may be used, but a small conventional design should be chosen for most charming effect.

Pattern 8033 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38 requires 5 1-8 yards of 39 inch material and 1 1-3 yards of ribbon for trimming.

The new Fall and Winter Pattern Book is ready for you now. It has 32 pages of attractive designs for every size and every occasion. Photographs show dresses made from these patterns being worn; a feature you will enjoy. Let the charming designs in this new book help you in your sewing. One pattern and the new Fall and Winter Pattern Book—25 cents. Fall and Winter Book alone—15 cents.

Mexico Faces- -

Both sides agreed to the proposal and a joint capitalistic-labor convention with Department of Labor officials presiding met in Mexico City, seeking to draw up a mutually satisfactory wage scale and working agreement which would serve to stabilize the whole industry and avoid future threat of strikes.

Strike Finally Broke.

Long sessions were held, lasting for 120 days, with the companies paying all the expenses of the convention. Finally the time-limit expired on May 27 with the meeting deadlocked. The strike then broke.

The tieup was one of the worst that Mexico has ever experienced. Gasoline soon gave out, automobiles and buses quit running, and many industries were forced to remain in idleness. The tourist trade dropped off to nearly nothing for a fortnight. Food prices soared as deliveries were difficult.

Among the big sufferers was the national treasury, which saw its revenues drop off from non-collection of taxes on oil production, gasoline sales, etc. On Saturday night, June 5, Cardenas in a cryptic announcement said the strike would be over June 7. On June 7 the strike was stronger than ever. Suddenly, on June 9, the laborers agreed to call it off and submit the whole matter to the Federal Boaord of Conciliation and Arbitration. The strike ended on June 10, and a special committee of three experts was then named to investigate the financial condition of the companies.

Wide Reforms.

The experts worked rapidly, and on August 3 presented a huge report to the Arbitration Board. They bitterly attacked the foreign companies. They recommended that they pay a minimum wage of 5.00 pesos ($1.38) per day, establish the 40-hour week with payment for 56 hours, etc. Furthermore, they recommended that the companies give big sums for education, sports, hospitalization, retirement, etc. They said that these wage increase and extra expenses would cost the companies only about 26,000,000 pesos ($7,222,222) per year.

On August 9 the foreign companies presented their objections to the report, declaring that the additional costs recommended by the experts really amounted to about 65,000,000 pesos ($18,005,000) per year. They contended that their annual combined net profit is really only $6,300,000 per year, instead of the $21,000,000 claimed by the investigators. They declared that the extra burden would, if inflicted, force them to curtail or suspend their business in Mexico.

Union Objects Too.

The union also objected to the experts report, contending that it recommended that the companies be allowed to employ more non-union officials than the union desired.

The matter is still before the Arbitration Boaord. No decision has been rendered by anybody.

Now with nationalization of all such industries definitely on the program for Mexico's future, the problem again assumes an acute stage.

Goldsmith Extension Flows.

Shasta No. 1-D Scharbauer, northeast extension of the Goldsmith pool in Ector, is flowing eight barrels of oil hourly, with a little water, following 1,500 gallons of acid. Gas is estimated at 1,500,00 cubic feet daily. Total depth is 4,203.

Shasta No. 1 Katherine Sands, two mile southwest outpost to the pool, is coring at 4,322 feet in lime. It tested one and one-half barrels of oil and four barrels of water daily at 4,295, where it had been cemented back from 4,300 in an attempt to shut off water.

Mid-Continent No. 1 Wanda Hinkle, mile-south extension of the Foster pool in Ector, is preparing to drill ahead from 4,250 after erecting two 500-barrels storage tanks. It had 1,125 feet of oil in the hole when shut in several days ago.

Slayer of Son in Law Clings to Life

WINK, Sept. 10. (AP) — V. C. Newchurch, 65, set his jaws yesterday against death from a razor-slashed throat, received in a family quarrel fatal to his son-in-law, hoping he could hold out until he saw a daughter speeding to him from California.

The 65-year-old West Texan was in a critical condition which doctors said improved slightly during the day. Meanwhile the body of E. L. Crouse, 42, was prepared for transfer to his Hammond, La., home. The dead mans' bride of a week, 17-year-old, Emiline Newchurch Crouse, was recovering from a superficial wound.

Crouse was shot Wednesday night when he and his bride called at New church's barber shop. A moment after the shots were heard Newchurch was found in the shop his throat cut. No charges have been filed.

County Attorney V. S. Gray today disclosed a note scrawled on rough paper: "I, V. C. Newchurch, give Mrs. W. E. Wands power of attorney to draw $100 from postoffice for my burial expenses. Notify Mrs. W. E. Wands, 400 county road, Taft, Calif. Agnes forgive me. Revenge is sweet." Officers said Newchurch had objected to the marriage.

Ed Edwards of Hobbs, N. M., Newchurch's broth-in-law, said the wounded man told him: "I want to see Agnes (Mrs. Wands) and then I don't care what happens." When Edwards told Newchurch Mrs. Wand's would arrive shortly by bus, Newchurch replied: "I don't think I can make it that long."

Firemen Called to Extinguish Blaze

Firemen were called but this morning at 8 o'clock when a can of gasoline caught fire underneath a car in the Hotel Scharbauer garage. The blaze was put out with a fire extinguisher.

One of the firemen said the blaze evidently caught from a spark from a faulty wire to which a "trouble light" was attached. The light was placed near the can and it was believed a spark reached the can, causing it to ignite. No damage was reported.

Bandit Hideout in Louisiana Raided

VIDALIA, La., Sept. 10 (AP).—Officers found a make-shift hospital for wounded desperadoes when they raided a hideout in the swamps near here today and arrested two men and a woman. The woman was said to be a former trained nurse.

They believe the woman treated "Goldie" Hairston, Texas bandit suspected in the slaying of an officer in Gulfport, Miss., Tuesday. Hairston's body was found yesterday.

Sheppard Ready for Prohibition Drive

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP).—Senator Morris Sheppard, Texas, author of the eighteenth amendment, said today he will open a congressional battle for repealing repeal whenever prohibition leaders think the time is ripe.

SIDEWALK FARM.

CHARDON, O. (U.P.)—There's no grass in this city's streets, but there's a large tomato plant, in full bloom, growing, out of a crack in a downtown sidewalk. Residents are anxious to see who will be first to pick tomatoes there.
