After Floods, The Breadlines

Suffering from floods only slackens, does not cease, when the water begins to recede, California relief officials are learning as they strive with meager resources to feed thousands of refugees of the recent floods. Scenes like those above are common throughout the great Central Valley where 10,000 migratory workers were without jobs because farmlands were inundated. Above, a bread line forms outside a temporary Red Cross relief station in a schoolhouse. Below, a mother is shown feeding her begrimed, half-starved children in a makeshift relief kitchen.

Harry Wells Smoked Out By Tear Gas

Party Of Twenty Officers Surrounds House And Effects Surrender

(By The Associated Press)

LONGVIEW, Mar. 15—Twenty state policemen, county officers, and federal operatives surrounded a house in Gladewater early today and used tear gas to subdue and capture Harry Wells, escaped Arkansas convict.

Acting on a tip obtained about 1 a. m., the party found Wells sleeping alone in a small three-room frame structure of a type commonly seen in the oil fields.

Bombs Tossed Into House

The officers tossed the tear gas bombs into the house and when they heard Wells coughing, called on him to surrender.

After a short parley the youth came out and was taken without resistance, Capt. Lee Miller of the state police said.

Miller said a pistol, a sawed off shotgun, a rifle, and currency were recovered when Wells was captured.

The convict admitted his identity, but would say nothing else, Miller said.

Believed Same Man

He said he had no doubt Wells was the same man who robbed a bank at Luling March 5, and engaged in gun fights with officers as he fled through South Texas Saturday.

Miller said that about 5 p. m. yesterday he, with other officers, arrested several persons at Gladewater for questioning, but nothing had developed until the tip about 1 a. m.

Capt. Walter Elliott of Tyler, state policeman; Chief Deputy Sheriff Geo. Black of Gregg county, and John Klevenhagen and Jim Bauck, Bexar county officers, San Antonio, with two federal bureau of investi-

Ancient Spain Is Being Devastated

BY CHARLES P. NUTTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

MADRID, March 15 — Ancient Spain is being devastated, a government communique said today, by a 20th century Italian army.

Describing the Spanish insurgent march eastward toward the Mediterranean, the government itself told of artillery and motorized columns and bombing planes sweeping through the ancient land that once was part of the Roman empire.

Italian troops and German and Italian planes took part in the insurgent capture yesterday of Alcaniz in eastern Spain, 45 miles from the Mediterranean, the government declared.

While the troops struck directly against the city, the government related, the planes spread death and confusion over a dozen coastal towns.

Planes Swing Along Highways

Almost hourly the planes swung along the main Barcelona to Valencia highway, now become the most dangerous 250-mile stretch for government convoys.

No car along the heavily congested road within the past three days escaped attack, and motorists frequently deserted their cars and jumped into roadside ditches until danger was past.

Reus Tortosa suffered particularly heavy damages from the aerial raiders who today directed their efforts to protecting the infantry advance from Alcaniz, designed to cut government Spain in two and isolate Catalonia from the remainder of government territory.

BRITISH STEAMER BOMBED

BARCELONA, March 15 (AP)—A British seaman was killed and four others wounded today when the British steamer Stanwell was bombed and set afire at the Spanish port of Tarragona.

A Danish nonintervention observer also was wounded.

The Stanwell, a 5,747-ton vessel registered from London, was still burning hours after it was hit and was believed a total loss.

The bombing occurred shortly before dawn, half an hour before an insurgent hydroplane was brought down and its five occupants burned to death. Officials said they all were Germans.

Texas Quotas Vote Is 88.3 Per Cent

COLLEGE STATION, March 15. (AP) — Texas cotton farmers today had piled up a favorable vote of 88.3 per cent for the government's marketing quota plan.

State AAA officials announced today returns from 163 counties showed 164,563 votes favoring the plan while 21,903 voted negatively.

COMPLETES 14TH YEAR

BAXTER, Tenn., March 15 (AP) — This village's "human alarm clock" celebrated today the completion of 14 years of bugling from atop a 20-foot pole in his backyard.

Charlie Hughes, the 50-year-old bugler, toots the 6 o'clock reveille to arouse his sleeping neighbors, though he says none of the 600 ever requested this "service."

Cost Of Relief Is Reported

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 15 — The cost of relief in the United States for 1933-1937, inclusive, was $19,303,000,000, the senate unemployment committee heard today.

Stuart A. Rice, chairman of the central statistical board, told the committee the federal government had spent $14,219,000,000 of this amount. State and local governments expended the remainder.

Permanent CCC Urged

The committee also heard from Director Robert Fechner, a recommendation for making the Civilian Conservation corps a permanent establishment. The present CCC authorization will expire July 1, 1940.

Fechner testified that, while he believed the "present distress" of unemployment would be relieved soon, he was satisfied the country would face the problem of providing jobs for needy young men for several years.

Per capita relief expenditures turned downward sharply in 1937 after reaching a peak in 1936, Rice testified.

Government To Get Millions In Taxes

WASHINGTON, March 15. (AP)—The government collected several hundred million dollars worth of income taxes today, but it won't know the exact amount for several days.

The deadline for filing returns on 1937 income is midnight tonight and most of the 64 collectors' offices throughout the country agreed to stay open late to take care of the last-minute rush.

The treasury hopes the month's income tax collections will total about $730,000,000. During the first 11 days of March $76,209,440 was received. This was nearly $9,000,000 more than in the similar period last year.

Four Soviet Explorers Are Acclaimed As Heroes Today

MOSCOW, March 15 (AP)—The four Soviet explorers rescued Feb. 18 from a drifting ice floe in the Arctic ocean were acclaimed as heroes upon their return to Leningrad today aboard the icebreaker Yermak.

Army planes escorted the Yermak into the harbor. Leaflets welcoming Ivan Papanin, leader of the expedition, and his three companions, were dropped.

The return of Papanin's party was timed to come after the trial of 21 alleged traitors to the Soviet cause.

ELECTIONS ORDERED

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—The Labor Relations board today ordered elections "as soon as convenient" among radio operators on all tankers operated out of Pacific coast ports by four companies.

Roscoe Youth's Entry First Received For Stock Show

First entry in the South Plains Junior Fat Stock show here April 4-6 was received this morning from Bill Arledge, vocational agriculture pupil at Roscoe, according to information given by officials of the show.

Arledge will exhibit five lambs. The entry was submitted by J. C. Hattox, vocational agriculture teacher.

Officials of the show said the rush of entries should begin in the next two or three days, as the deadline will be March 28.

Motorized Column Is Moving Near Catalonia

HENDAYE, France, at the Spanish Frontier, March 15 (AP)—An insurgent motorized column, like the Italian cavalcade that rode into Addis Ababa to complete conquest of Ethiopia, rumbled near to Catalonia today in a drive to win the Spanish civil war.

Insurgents said the advance guard, after passing Alcaniz yesterday, was within cannon shot of Torroecilla where the main highway branches northeast of Tarragona and Barcelona and to the southeast to Castellon de La Plana and Valencia.

The front line position is less than 37 miles in a straight line from Tortosa, between Tarragona and Castellon, after a six day advance of about 56 miles.

Time Hasn't Dimmed The Romantic Appeal Of Sea

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP) — Time has not dimmed the romantic appeal of the sea.

A mass of applications from young men all over America attests to that fact, Maritime commission officials said today as they began a campaign to school new officers for the merchant marine.

The avalanche of letters followed announcement of plans to place 300 to 500 cadets aboard government-owned and government-subsidized vessels, with a view to fitting them for a career at sea.

Arming Britain Is First Task

BY JAMES C. OLDFIELD
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 15—Prime Minister Chamberlain was determined today to match the armed might of Adolf Hitler before publicly pledging Britain to support Czechoslovakia against German aggression.

There were indications that Britain privately had told Germany she might be compelled to act if Chancellor Hitler sought to bring the German minority in Czechoslovakia into the German nation, as without opposition he absorbed Austria.

FRANCE STUDIES ARMAMENTS

PARIS, March 15 (AP)—Premier Leon Blum, beset by war fears and internal political-financial tension, called military officials into conference today to expedite production of fighting equipment.

National Defense Minister Edouard Daladier, Navy Minister Cesar Campinchi and Air Minister Guy La Chambre were summoned for a technical discussion with workers' groups of the best method of strengthening France to meet the danger of war.

The conference was one of many the premier had with French officials and foreign diplomats, including talks with the envoys of Russia, France's ally in the east, and of the hard-pressed Spanish government.

Refrains From Guarantee

Publicly, however, Chamberlain refrained yesterday in his address to the house of commons from any guarantee of aid to Czechoslovakia.

Nevertheless, the British ambassador, Sir Neville Henderson, told Field Marshal Goering in Berlin, diplomatic informants said, that Britain considered "binding" his friendly assurances to Czechoslovakia on Saturday. Goering is acting chancellor in Hitler's absence in Austria.

A similar communication went to Jan Masaryk, the Cech minister to London.

Implied Warning Given

Thus, it was felt here, Britain had given an implied warning to Germany of a determination to uphold the remaining boundaries of central Europe.

Addressing the house of commons, Chamberlain did sharply reject Ger-

Slaton Youngster is To Be Dismissed From Hospital

Apparently none the worse for his 100 hours' sleep, eight-year-old Frederick Meyer of Slaton will be dismissed today from West Texas hospital, said his physician.

The boy is still slightly drowsy. He became conscious and recognized his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyer, Sunday for the first time since he had consumed between 60 and 65 luminal sedative tablets shortly after noon Wednesday. He awakened only at intervals Sunday, however, and not until Monday was he conscious any length of time.

Search For Missing Plane Extends Into Third Week

FRESNO, Calif., March 15 (AP) — The search for a missing TWA transport plane and its nine occupants extended into its third week today, with hope diminishing that the ship would be found before melting of the mountain snows.

WASHINGTON, March 15. (AP)—The Social Security board announced today that 37,781,710 men and women had applied for account numbers by Feb. 28.

Austrian Minister Has Task Of 'Liquidating' Embassy In Washington Once More

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 15 — Edgar Prochnik, Austrian minister to the United States, and members of his legation staff were under instructions from Berlin today to place themselves at the disposal of German Ambassador Hans Dieckhoff.

Their activities, the orders said, will be subordinated to those of the German embassy.

Dieckhoff delivered to Secretary Hull last night a note setting forth that policy and also formally notifying the state department that Austria had become a part of the German reich.

The assumption here was that the Austrian legation and the Austrian consulates throughout the United States soon will be closed entirely, and that Minister Prochnik will retire.

"This would be my second liquidation," Prochnik told interviewers.

After the World war he took charge of the imperial Austro-Hungarian embassy here, distributing its archives among the empire's successor states—Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Italy and Rumania.

Informed persons said the United States is prepared to give up its legation quarters in Vienna and to open a consulate in what is now the minister's residence.

Gigantic Transport Plane Is Proposed

BY DEVON FRANCIS
Associated Press Aviation Editor

FARMINDALE, N. Y., March 15. (AP)—A proposal to build a 120-passenger flying yacht for service between New York and London was made today to the world's largest trans-oceanic air transport company.

The offer, by the Seversky Aircraft corporation, was in response to an invitation issued by Pan-American Airways last December to eight American aircraft manufacturers to bid on airplanes of at least 100-passenger capacity.

Could Go Up 4 Miles

The Seversky craft, would be constructed of stainless steel and contain several dozen staterooms, a dining salon to seat 50 persons, promenades, and a cocktail lounge. It was given a cruising speed of 250 miles an hour at an altitude of four miles.

It would weigh 300,000 pounds—six times heavier than the flying Clippers now in the Pacific service—and have a wingspread of 250 feet.

Powered By 8 Engines

Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky, World war flyer and designer of the giant craft, said the machine, equipped with eight engines developing a total of 18,400 horsepower, could be built easily to fly nonstop between the United States and Europe.

The bridge of the ship and its huge twin fuselages would be supercharged to permit flying in the substratosphere.

For the first time in the history of commercial aviation, passengers would be housed in the wings, which, at points, would be nine feet thick. The eight powerful engines would be streamlined into the edge of the wing.

Net Income Of Company In 1937 Highest In History

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)— Columbian Carbon Co. for 1937 today reported net income of $4,466,249, the highest in its history, equal to $8.31 a share on the capital stock, against $4,021,137, or $7.43 a share, in 1936. The company has plants in Pennsylvania, Texas, Louisiana, West Virginia, Kansas and New Jersey.

Lanky Konrad Henlein Is Man Of Hour In Czechoslovakia

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, Mar. 15. (AP)—Lanky Konrad Henlein is the man of the hour to Germans in Czechoslovakia.

Leader of the Sudeten (south) German party and foremost champion of the 3,500,000 Germans in this country, he followed Reichsfeuhrer Adolh Hitler's Austrian coup with the statement:

"The rights of Germans in Czechoslovakia will prevail against all obstacles."

His New Year's day prediction that the Sudeten German question would remain one of the major European issues in 1938 appeared to be coming true in view of Hitler's determination to bring racial Germans beyond Germany's borders into his fold sooner or later.

Premier Milan Hodza has countered with the statement that Germans in this nation are receiving the same consideration and rights as all Czech citizens.

Henlein is not among the 44 Sudeten Germans in the chamber of deputies.

He prefers directing his campaign for German element outside of parliament, leaving his deputy friends to voice the party's claim for autonomy.

Henlein was an obscure in-

Vienna Crowd Hears Hitler

BY WADE WERNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

VIENNA, March 15—With the imperial palace of the Hapsburgs as a background Adolf Hitler today proclaimed the end of Austrian independence and "the entrance of my native land into the German Reich."

Madly cheered by hundreds of thousands of Austrians, the Fuehrer rode into Heroes' square outside the palace through the great stone arch of the emperor which bears the inscription, "Justice is foundation of government."

Parading Austrian and German troops, armored cars and tanks, machine-gun and artillery units provided Viennese an impressive afternoon show. Several hundred planes roared overhead as the procession wound through Ringstrasse in the heart of the city.

HITLER LEAVES BY PLANE

VIENNA, March 15 (AP) — Adolf Hitler, his triumph in Vienna completed, late today departed from the Aspern airport by plane, presumably for Munich.

The Fuehrer's departure came at the end of a day during which his career seemed to reach its zenith.

Hitler Salutes Frequently

Amid the din of shouting, the roar of planes and the tramp of goosestepping troops, Hitler stood on a sun-drenched platform facing the entrance of Heroes' square, his face stern and saluting frequently.

The German infantry marched with great precision but there was more applause for the Austrian units.

"The Austrians do not step quite so high," a jovial radio announcer said.

Wearing German Insignia

Some of the Austrians were already wearing the German insignia. Detachments of German police were led by Heinrich Himmler, their chief. Many spectators fainted in the jam.

While Hitler presided over the greatest triumph of his meteoric career, his lieutenants took over all functions of the Austrian government.

The Austrian treasury was absorbed by the German treasury. Hitler's foreign minister took over all Austria's foreign relations with the outside world.

Austria became merely a gau—district—of the German realm, Vienna a provincial German city, Chancellor Arthur Seysz-Inquart merely "governor of Austria"—so addressed significantly by the Fuehrer himself.

Jews Cannot Vote

The new government announced that Jews no longer can vote.

Seysz-Inquart, introducing Hitler to the throng in Heroes' square,

Probe Of TVA Is Demanded

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 15 — A group of senate and house critics of TVA joined forces today in demanding a joint congressional investigation instead of one by the senate alone as proposed by several senators.

Senator Bridges (R-NH), who, with Senator King (D-Utah), previously had pressed for a senate investigation announced they had joined with Chairman May (D-Ky) of the house military affairs committee and Representative Andrews (R-NY), ranking Republican on the house committee, in asking the joint inquiry.

Senator Norris (Ind-Neb), who was at first insistent on an investigation by the Federal Trade commission, failed to gain approval of a senate investigation yesterday.

The new resolution called for an inquiry by five members of the senate, appointed by the vice president, and five members of the house, named by the speaker.

Allred Invited To Dogwood Journey

PALESTINE, March 15 (AP)—Dogwood Trail, Palestine folks believe, is the proper setting for Governor James V. Allred to announce his future political plans.

Recalling that the governor said he would announce his attitude toward a third term when the dogwood blooms, the governor was invited today to journey here next week-end and make known his plans while Palestine is repeating last Sunday's Dogwood Trail celebration.

Hundreds of visitors last week were conducted through the woodlands around Palestine where dogwood predominated.

Dust Clouds Reported Over Parts Of Oklahoma Today

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 15 (AP) —Dust clouds billowed over parts of western Oklahoma today after a night of freakish weather which included a tornado, hail and heavy thundershowers.

Light rain cleared the air at Guymon in the Panhandle, but a new dust storm blew into Beaver from the northwest this morning cutting visibility to less than half a mile.

Light dust was reported as far east as Bartlesville, where a sudden downpour last night brought .73 inch of rain which flooded streets. Some hail also was reported.

A small tornado dipped into a block of Okmulgee's residential district last night during a thunderstorm, overturning a barn and damaging three outbuildings. A heavy hailstorm followed.

People Would Cast Ballots On Expansion

Little Immediate Reaction Given To Proposal; Time Element Is Considered

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15—A proposal that the people vote on the administration's billion dollar naval expansion program at the November election came today from Representative Sauthoff (Pro-Wis.)

Asserting the construction program could not be started for two years, Sauthoff said nothing would be lost if the voters decided in its favor.

HOUSE HEARS WARNING

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP) — A tensely silent house heard a warning today that the United States must prepare to defend the entire western hemisphere because "dictatorships are on the march."

Representative Wadsworth (R-NY), in one of his rare floor speeches, endorsed the Roosevelt administration's billion dollar naval expansion program as a realization of the "grim, grim fact" that "force today is ruling the world."

Little Immediate Reaction

There was little immediate reaction to his unprecedented suggestion, but Representative Brewster (R-Me), a leading critic of the building program, called it "interesting."

Constantly reminded of the shifting European panorama, the house continued its discussion of foreign policy implications in the bill to enlarge the navy.

Point To Austrian Coup

Opponents of the legislation said Adolf Hitler's Austrian coup emphasized the wisdom of a "stay at home" policy for the United States. They contended the existing national defense was adequate for that purpose.

Proponents argued that the "inevitability" of another European war made it imperative for this country to strengthen her naval forces.

Committee Determined To 'Get Necessary Revenue'

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP) — Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) said today the senate finance committee was determined to bring out a tax bill which will "get the necessary revenue" and at the same time raise business confidence.

As passed by the house, treasury experts have estimated the tax revision bill will fall $22,000,000 short of raising the $5,330,000,000 which the treasury has contended is necessary.

Want Necessary Revenue

"We want to get the necessary revenue," Harrison said. "That is one of the main features of the tax situation the committee is considering."

After an executive session of the finance committee, Harrison reiterated that his "main goal" for the tax revision bill "is to restore business confidence."

"The more we can restore confi-

Lower Prices For Wheat Are Seen

CHICAGO, March 15. (AP)—Chalk quotations above the Chicago wheat pit today indicated farmers may sell their 1938 winter crop at the lowest prices in five years unless some development forces a sharp upturn within the next few months.

The market on which the price of wheat is established is largely dominated by improved crop prospects in the United States.

Wheat now is within less than a cent of the lowest level since May, 1935. The July contract, which represents the new crop, is the lowest for this time of year since 1933.

A year ago, with wheat quoted from $1.19 to $1.36, farmers envisioned a summer harvest worth more than $800,000,000 at market. Domestic stocks were small and the country was on an importing basis. Present price levels ranging from 82 to 86 cents put the market value of the expected winter crop at about $500,000,000.

Larger domestic supplies and improved crop prospects, together with the change in general business conditions since a year ago were largely responsible for the price difference, traders said.

In April last year July wheat reached an eight-year peak of $1.30. Now it is at 82 1-2 cents compared with $1.21 a year ago, 91 cents two years ago, 83 three years ago and 89 four years ago.

Mexico Removes Tariff On Corn Remainder Of 1938

WASHINGTON, March 15. (AP)—Mexico has removed its tariff on corn, the American attache at Mexico City reported today to the commerce department.

The duty was lifted for the remainder of 1938 due to the scarcity of corn in several sections of Mexico. Permits must be obtained from the secretary of national economy of Mexico, however, for the shipment of duty-free corn into the country.

Miss Jonnie McCrery Is Hostess Monday With Showing Of Travels Abroad

One Hundred Fifty Guests Present

Miss Jonnie McCrery entertained Monday night in the ballroom of the Hilton hotel with a formal, private showing of motion pictures she made of her travels in the Mediterranean and Holy land.

The hostess enlivened the showing with clever interpretations of the scenes, which were taken last summer.

Refreshments were served from a table centered with lilies. Mesdames Paul W. Horn and F. R. Friend presided at either end of the table. In the house party were Misses Ellen Kleppe, Mary Meador, Troy Allen, Josephine Looney, Sammy Tate, Sannie Callan, Bonnie K. Dysart, Mesdames Edna Lyles and R. M. Chitwood.

Ushers were Richard Flowers, Maurice Erickson, R. I. Lockard, Willis Bledsoe and Dr. W. J. Howard.

About 150 guests were present.

Mrs. J. F. Wicker Is Birthday Honoree

SLATON, March 15. (Special) — Honoring Mrs. J. F. Wicker on her 74th birthday, a dinner was given at the Slaton club house Sunday, March 13. Placed before the guest of honor's plate was a three-tiered cake bearing the inscription, "Happy Birthday." The cake was encircled with gifts.

Nine of Mrs. Wicker's ten children were present. Sons and families attending were: Roy, C. C. Shorty and E. P. Wicker, of Slaton and Bill Wicker of McCaulley. Daughters and their families present were: Mrs. J. E. Waldrop, Mrs. Jim Wolfe of Slaton; Mrs. C. H. Wilson of Winters; Mrs. J. O. Jones of Hamlin. Mrs. J. I. Parker of McCaulley, a daughter, was absent.

Fifteen of 39 grandchildren were present and four of 12 great-grandchildren attended. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. L. B. Mires and children of McCaulley, Mrs. Tom Nall of Hamlin, Mrs. W. D. Rhea and son of Houston and Earl Reasoner of McClung.

No Wonder You Are Constipated!

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat, potatoes? No wonder you're constipated—due to lack of "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft, bulky mass in the bowels. It's this mass that helps your bowels move.

The common sense thing to do about it is to eat a natural laxative food. Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast will give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal-tonic, vitamin B1. Eat this crunchy toasted cereal every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Busy Debutante

As she rapidly becomes the "glamor girl" of the hour, pretty Eileen Herrick continues to pursue her duties as a busy, popular New York debutante. Aside from being a member of practically every deb committee that has been formed this year, she has been hounded by movie scouts to make screen tests. She has soft, curly, brown hair and large blue eyes which are glamorized by sweeping, dark lashes. Her charming smile reveals even, pearly white teeth, and her pert little nose adds an unsophisticated touch to her face.

Fort Worth Pianist To Be Presented

Marion Roberts of Fort Worth will appear in public recital at 8 o'clock Thursday night in the Senior High school auditorium as a feature of the 15th annual music festival to be sponsored by the South Plains Music Teachers association Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Lubbock.

Young Mr. Roberts who has studied under Miss Eva Browning since early childhood has been a student of Miss Jeanette Tillet of the Fort Worth Conservatory of Music the past two years. He is the son of Mrs. Corene Pickas.

Assisted by Troy Pickens and Douglas Hardy, violinists, Mr. Roberts will play the following program:

Etudes, A flat major, G sharp minor, C sharp minor and C minor (Chopin); sonata, Op. 27, No. 1, andante allegro, allegro molto e vivace, adagio con espresione and allegro vivace (Beethoven); "Theme and Variations (Paderewski); "Forest Murmurs" (Liszt); "Western Sketches: The Whirlwind, The Prairie Dog, The Bronco" (Tillet), and prelude, G minor (Rachmaninoff).

Helps Open Up Stuffed Nostrils

"2-Drop" Treatment Brings Head Cold Relief

What causes that stuffed up feeling in head colds? Here's what happens—the mucus-laden membranes become irritated and swollen—the more they swell—the harder to breathe—for they almost close up the air passages.

What to do—It's simple—you need something to shrink those swollen membranes—open up the nasal passages—or in other words—"give you room to breathe."

That's just what this two-drop treatment helps do, for Penetro Nose Drops contains ephedrine which helps shrink swollen membranes—also other ingredients that soothe—clear away that stuffy—miserable head cold feeling.

Start this "2-Drop" treatment now—Two drops of Penetro Nose Drops in each nostril—breathe in—Gosh! what relief—Be sure to get Penetro Nose Drops—nothing else. 25c, 50c, $1—all druggists.

Operetta Of Sea To Be Given Tonight

On a stage set to represent the deck of the H.M.S. Pinafore one hundred boys and girls of Central Ward will present the operetta "H. M.S. Pinafore" or "The Lass That Loved a Sailor" in the Senior High school auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

The stage set and costumes have been arranged by Miss Opal Sloan and Russell Wimberley. White sailor suits with red trim for the boys and navy blue for the girls will be the costume of the chorus of 75 voices. Evening dresses will be worn by the girls in one scene.

Charles E. Fike is director of the music and Mrs. Lattie Rankin of the dramatics. Miss Dimple Watson has directed the dancing and Mrs. Charles Fagg and Miss Frances Conley have been in charge of ticket sales.

Funds raised from the production will go to buy new books for the library.

Assistance From Lubbock's Department Saves Plants

Assistance given by Lubbock fire department was an important factor in averting sericus damage to the Farmers Cooperative and the Plemons gins at Idalou when blazing burrs were scattered by a 35-mile velocity wind Monday, according to J. H. Plemons.

Only "six or seven bales of cotton" on the Farmers Cooperative platform were damaged, Plemons said. Loss to his gin was negligible, he added.

Blaze started from the burr burner of the Plemons gin. A crew of three men and a pumper responded to the call from the Lubbock department.

The call for assistance here recalled an epidemic of such fires within a period of a few hours last fall. The blowing burrs endangered scores of gins and at least two were destroyed or heavily damaged by fires resulting from that cause.

WASHING CHINA SAFELY

When washing choice china or glassware put only one piece at a time in the dishpan to prevent nicking or breaking. Do not have the water too hot and, if there is gold in the design, use a bland soap. If you use a dish drainer, one of the new rubber-covered racks are safer.

Dramatic Bonnet

Here's a dramatic spring bonnet for luncheon or tea. It's of shiny straw with a white silk crepe rim and a flowing, Spanish-type veil that falls in soft cascades over neck and shoulders, making a flattering frame for the face.

Fleet Begins War Games

(By The Associated Press)

SAN PEDRO, Calif., March 15—The United States fleet started its secret war games of 1938 today on a real war-time basis.

A grim patrol was established off the harbors of southern California. The fleet marine expeditionary force left San Diego aboard the demilitarized battleship Utah.

The fleet commander-in-chief, Admiral C. C. Bloch, imposed censorship of silence upon all forces. Never before has the United States fleet operated on this basis in its annual maneuvers.

To Prevent Observation

One of the reasons for secrecy of the time of departure was believed to be an effort to prevent observation of fleet movement by foreign vessels. In past maneuvers fleet officers found foreign ships within observation distance both at time of departure and during early stages of maneuvers.

The 105 fighting ships, and several hundred war planes, leaving from the coast here will eventually join up with other forces in the Hawaiian area, making more than 150 fighting ships and 500 planes in the exercises.

For the first time in the navy's peacetime history, news correspondents have been denied permission to accompany the fleet.

Tech Judging Team 5th In Dairy Cattle

Sixth place was won by the Texas Technological college dairy cattle judging team in contests at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show in Fort Worth, according to information received Monday night by Dean A. H. Leidigh of the agricultural division.

Order of the teams were: Texas A. and M., first; Louisiana State university, second; Southwestern Louisiana institute, third; New Mexico A. and M., fourth; Oklahoma A. and M., fifth; Texas Tech, sixth; and Mississippi State, seventh.

Dean Leidigh said he had received no reports on other judging contests in which Tech had entries.

Gly-Cas Gives Complete Relief

Lady 76 Years Old; Suffered Many Years With Constipation, Stomach And Kidney Disorder; Amazed At Wonderful Action Of Gly-Cas

"I am feeling like a different person since I began taking Gly-Cas," said Mrs. Sallie Z. Bass, Route No. 1, Box 178, McAllen, Texas. "Constipation caused me much discomfort and suffering for the past twenty-two years. I was tired, sluggish, and worn-out continually and lacked the pep and energy to get about as I should. My stomach became greatly disordered and at times, I thought I could not stand the terrible gas pains, bloating and indigestion that followed every meal I ate. My head ached from morning until night and I was extremely nervous. My kidneys were not functioning normally making my condition even more complicated. I tried to get relief through the use of various medicines but somehow each one failed repeatedly. But when I became acquainted with Gly-Cas things began to change for the better for me.

MRS. SALLIE Z. BASS

"I am so happy that my health is normal again," she continued. "My kidneys and bowels are regulated, my stomach is functioning as it should. Those terrible gas pains, bloating and indigestion are all in the past. I have no more headaches and my nerves are quieted. I am feeling fine now and better than I have for many years. Gly-Cas is the medicine that DOES NOT DISAPPOINT."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns. Adv.

Work Sheets Must Be Filed For Every Farm In County Before '38 Allotments

Work sheets for 1937 for every farm in the county must be filed before cotton allotments for 1938 can be made, County Agent C. C. Jobson warned here Monday.

Lubbock county farmers last year made out about 1,400 work sheets. Approximately 650 of these made application for payments under the soil conservation program. Most of these have been checked and rechecked and are now in College Station for payment.

Dispatch Suggested

Two months ago Jobson was notified that work sheets were needed for every farm in the county. He and his office force have been busy since trying to communicate with farmers and explain the situation. Last week they were able to get a large number of farmers to give them information needed at community meetings.

"The way I understand it, is this; no county cotton allotment quota is to be made for any county until all work sheets are made out," Jobson said. "The state desires the information in order that it may make out a correct allotment for each county.

Same Impose Hardship

"Farmers who are withholding necessary information are working a hardship on their neighbors as well as themselves. The information does not obligate the farmer in any way, but it is necessary in order that every cotton producer may get a square deal."

Information for the work sheet includes acreage of crops yields and total farm acreage.

Under the government program for 1938, cotton producers will be allotted a percentage of their cotton acreage on which cotton may be produced without penalty. On non-alloted acreage growing cotton there will be a penalty.

Former Ohio Justice Shoots Wife Then Takes Own Life

CINCINNATI, March 15 (AP)—Coleman Avery, 58, former Ohio supreme court justice, died Monday, a short time after police said he shot and killed his attractive wife, Sara, then turned the gun on himself. Lieut. Martin Roettinger said a revolver was found alongside Avery as he lay unconscious near the body of Mrs. Avery in the kitchen of their home on fashionable North Bend road. Roettinger said it was "plainly a case of murder and suicide."

Prominent in Ohio legal circles, Avery recently had been in ill health, members of the family said.

Approximately $3,000,000 in mutilated currency turns up each year for redemption.

Lloyd R. Hankins Is Victim Of Accident

Body of Lloyd R. Hankins, 29, of 2408 Sixteenth street, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident early Monday morning six miles east of Ysleta, probably will be brought here for burial, members of the family said today.

Definite arrangement for funeral services are pending arrival here of his parents from Sweetwater and other relatives.

Hankins' head was crushed when the automobile in which he was riding crushed into a tree. He died in an El Paso hospital.

Highway police said Glen R. Joy, 50, of Wichita, Kan., was driver of the car. He escaped with back and head injuries. Investigating officers quoted Joy as saying he had picked up Hankins at Big Spring Sunday.

En Route To California

F. B. Stephens of 2408 Sixteenth street, brother-in-law of Hankins, said Roy Dennis of Maryville, Kan., also was with the fatally injured man and that Hankins was going to California to work.

Hankins had worked for the Lubbock Poultry and Egg company here 16 months.

Among his survivors are: his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Hankins of Sweetwater; four brothers, Toyd Hankins of Enid, Okla., Marshall Hankins of Lubbock, and Charles and Jack Hankins of Sweetwater; five sisters, Mrs. F. B. Stephens of Lubbock, Mrs. Allen McDonaugh of Littlefield, Miss Francis Hankins of Littlefield, and Glenna and Elva Jo Hankins of Sweetwater.

Plans For Scout Activities Made By Brownfield Group

BROWNFIELD, March 15 (Special)—The southwestern district committee of the South Plains council, Boy Scouts of America, met here last night with C. C. Coleman, council vice-president and district chairman, in charge.

M. L. H. Baze, district commissioner, made a brief report on troops, and J. C. Powell, district activities chairman, reported plans for a cub scout kite tournament here April 1. The committee voted to get new camping equipment for each of the troops and discussed plans for a cub Easter egg hunt April 17, in which troops from Gaines, Terry, and Yoakum counties will participate.

Petersburg Man Is Richer By $100 After Reading Paper

One hundred dollars has reached Marvin J. Smith of route 1, Petersburg, due to a story in the morning Avalanche.

Smith, whose address was on Uncle Sam's record as route 3, Petersburg, back in 1933 put over 16 bales of cotton in the government cotton pool during the plow-up year. He was paid a portion of the money due, but the government still held for him a final disbursement of $7.60 a bale.

Efforts to locate Smith out of Floydada failed. County Agent C. C. Jobson was asked to locate him. A sister-in-law saw the story in the newspaper last week and notified Smith. He came in Monday, gave proof of his claim and papers were prepared by Jobson and sent to Washington.

Neon Double-T Sign On Tech Campus Is Being Considered

A committee appointed by Paul White, president of the senior class at Texas Technological college, is studying advisability of erecting a neon Double-T sign 16 feet tall at the Broadway entrance to the campus.

The sign would be presented by the class as a parting gift to the college.

Committee members are Reginald Jordan, Fort Worth; Doris Joice, Rule; and Clarence Ranuefeld, Roscoe.

White and the committee will meet with the campus beautification committee this week to present the proposal, and if the plan is considered advisable it will be recommended to the class. O. B. Howell, horticulture professor, is head of the campus beautification committee.

"Let's put telephones in at the customer's convenience!"

BETTER and better telephone service, at lower cost to the user, has been for years the goal of the men who head the telephone company. Their efforts, linked with those of every other telephone worker, have brought this result, among others: today most new telephones are put in the day you need them.

In 1926 it took 10 days to get a telephone after you ordered it. Today 98 out of every 100 are installed the day customers need them...usually the next day.

Boxfighters Warming Up

By Collier Parris

IF YOU ARE in the vicinity of Slaton or Lockney tonight and need to pass a bit of time away, 'tis suggested you patronize the boxing show.

Stumpy Hamilton, Slaton High school coach, is putting on a fight night show at the Slaton City Hall auditorium. It's the final in a string of fight programs to select a team for the District A.A.U. tournament, to be held at the Auditorium here Friday night.

Horace Gearhart, manager of Lockney's Isis theatre, is putting on a show for the benefit of fighters and fans of that section, the winners to compete in the Lubbock tournament. Lockney's show is to be at the Isis theatre, where Horace has rigged up a ring in full view of the spectators.

Fighters from Wilson, Southland and Slaton are competing at Slaton tonight. Floydada, Flomot, Silverton and Lockney boxers are to participate in the Lockney show.

Other selections for the District A.A.U. tournament will come from Lubbock, Littlefield, Seagraves, Crowell, Colorado and possibly other points, mainly Matador. They have some light heavyweights over there who are "needed" here.

It is hoped that four fighters of each weight division will report for the Friday night fireworks.

Looks like we sort of jumped the gun on the Babe Ritchie deal. A story says Babe goes along with the Chicago team to New York, anyway, regardless of being defeated in the Chicago semi-finals. His family was looking for him Sunday, but came the report he'd go to New York.

So we'll have to get along without Babe. There'll be at least one heavyweight fight, however, maybe two. The winner will be designated as the district's official representative to the Southwestern A.A.U. tournament.

No definite word yet regarding plans to bring the Southwestern meet to Amarillo. It may be too late to move it. President Bob Humphrey, who has conceded a point or two regarding the state tournament, after being urged by district promoters and directors, is expected to make an announcement in a day or two.

Meanwhile, better get your district tournament tickets right away at one of the downtown agencies. The pasteboards are on sale at the Hotel Hilton lobby, the Hotel Lubbock drug or Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers. For a cherce seat, better shop early.

OUR GOOD FRIENDS over at Lamesa are still dissatisfied with their football setup, and want to move out of District 1 into District 3.

Mineral Wells was added to District 3 last week, and Lamesa's bid for transfer was being considered.

With ten teams in it already, the Oil Belt loop would have an even dozen if Lamesa is transferred. District 1 would go back to its five-team routine in that case.

With twelve teams, it would be a good time for District 3 to start a revolution in the Texas Interscholastic league, if anybody wants to start a revolution.

There was talk of it a few years back, when the 18-year age limit and the one-year transfer-residence rules were being cussed and discussed.

Prexy Anderson, the Abilene scribe, suggests that the ultimate winner of the Oil Belt district be automatically certified as a semi-finalist in the state tournament.

"If the head office at Austin, which Friday added Mineral Wells to the Oil Belt's overcrowded membership, tosses Lamesa into the scramble, too, no doubt the bigwigs of this district will be big hearted and broad minded about it," wrote Anderson.

"It is predicted that they would accept the twelfth member of the circuit with a smile and a warm handclasp (possibly with the fingers crossed) if granted only a minor concession by the league.

"That concession—and surely it wouldn't be asking too much—is that the champion of the Oil Belt be allowed to meet in the state final the survivor of a playoff between the fifteen district champs."

Hogan And Goggin To Face Kingpins

MIAMI, Fla., March 15. (AP)—Ben Hogan and Willie Goggin, displaying a fine disregard for reputations in the first two rounds of the $4,000 international four-ball golf tournament, bucked the king-pins — Johnny Revolta and Henry Picard —in the semi-finals today.

In the first round Hogan and Goggin conquered Lawson Little and Tony Manero, last year's runnerup. Yesterday they disposed of Harry Cooper and Jimmy Thomson, 2 and 1 and were conceded an excellent chance to end the three-year reign of Revolta and Picard, the favorites. The latter defeated Jimmy Hines and Victor Ghezzi, 4 and 3 yesterday.

Byron Nelson and Harold (Jug) McSpaden battled Dick Metz and Ky Laffoon in the other semi-final. Nelson and McSpaden were 15 under par yesterday when their match with Denny Shute and Frank Moore ended on the 35th green. Metz and Laffoon trounced Bill Burke and Craig Wood, two up, with their second display of amazing golf.

PGA Championship Tourney Is Carded

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—The 1938 P. G. A. championship will be played at the Shawnee Country club, Shawnee-On-Delamare, Pa., July 10-16, George Jacobus, president of the Professional Golfers' association, announced today.

A 36-hole qualifying round will be played the first two days, the low 63 earning places in the match play rounds along with the Defending Champion Denny Shute who is exempt from qualifying competition.

The 18-hole match play rounds will be played June 12-13. Thereafter competition will be at 36 holes up to and including the final round on July 16.

At least 20 days prior to the championship, 36-hole sectional qualifying rounds will be played in the 28 P. G. A. sections.

New Home Boys Take Lead In South Plains League Playoff

The New Home boys basketball team took a lead in the South Plains League championship play-off last night by defeating Ropesville, 16 to 7. The game was played in the New Home gymnasium.

The teams meet tonight at Ropesville to continue the series. A victory by Ropesville would throw the play-off into a tie and necessitate a third game, which would be played on a neutral court.

The score last night stood 4 to 2, favoring New Home, at the end of the first half.

Soldier Thomas To Tangle With Hall On Mat In City

Soldier Thomas, fourth "newcomer" to be introduced by Promoter Sled Allen within two weeks, steps on the Auditorium platform tomorrow night for a wrestling debut against Rubberlegs Bill Hall of Hollywood. They introduce the evening's program.

The supporting card for this week is further embellished by a return of Jack Mandell and Gorilla Pogi, who will set to in the 30-minute semi-final. Mandell looked good against Dick Sampson last week, although losing to the Denton lad in the main event.

George Hartay, the Hungarian who made his debut against the Hindu, Singh, last week, and pleased the fans with his fast work, graduates to main event honors, and will tackle Sampson tomorrow night.

Branch Moves Men In Effort To Plug Gaps

First of a series from the spring training camps.

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 15. — Branch Rickey, the eminent baseball scientist, is doing altogether too much experimenting to suit his very practical manager, Frank Frisch.

Nineteen seasons on the firing line taught Frisch the value of experience at, and familiarity with, a position, so his pain is not confined to chipped bones in his right foot. The world champion worrier has a severe headache as Rickey, at a time when the old Fordham Flash should be picking the St. Louis Cardinals of 1938, attempts to make:

Outfielder A Catcher

Outfielder Don Padgett a catcher.

Third Baseman Don Gutteridge a shortstop.

Outfielder Terry Moore a third baseman, and—

Pitcher Mike Ryba a catcher.

The Red Birds haven't won a pennant in three years, which is the longest they've been out of first place since 1926, when they came down in front for the first time.

Going Back Last Three

They bagged five flags in nine campaigns, but have been going back the last three. They finished second in 1935, tied for the same spot in '36 and ran a poor fourth last term, 15 games behind the New York Giants, 12 in back of the Chicago Cubs, five to the rear of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and only one game ahead of the Boston Bees. They dropped seven of their last nine engagements.

The big improvement this season is expected to be provided by a subdued Dizzy Dean. The incredible hick won only 13 games in 1937, developing arm trouble and being practically worthless after being struck on the great toe by a liner from Earl Averill's bat in the all-star game.

Dean's Return Wodld Help

In the form that was his from 1932 to 1936, inclusive, Dean easily might make up from seven to 12 of the games the Gas House Gang finished in arrears in 1937, but Diz is just another of the Cardinal question marks.

If Dizzy's arm is all right, the blatant blokes in the red blazers should get ample pitching even if the removal of dead tissue from Paul Dean's shoulder last May leaves him with a dead arm. If the two Deans come through, it goes without saying that the Cardinals will have an outstanding staff, for—

Warneke Looks Better

The ever steady Lon Warneke never looked better, and the corps is rounded out by Si Johnson, Bob Weiland, Bill McGee and Max Macon, who copped 21 engagements for Columbus in 1937. Roy Henshaw, the little southpaw who has seen service with the Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers, and Ray Harrell, who is about due to locate control, also are on hand, together with a half dozen others brought in from the farms.

But the finest pitching in history would be sorely handicapped by the current crop of Red Bird catchers.

Has Little Faith

Frisch would like to string along with Padgett, but has little faith in the ability of as fine a teacher as Rickey to convert an outfielder so rapidly. Mickey Owen may do some day, but he is very young and still inclined to be rattle-brained.

The best of the lot probably is Herb Bremer, who finished with the Cardinals last fall after hitting .305 for the Columbus, Ga., club, but he is taking it easy following an appendectomy.

Sluggers Sure Of Jobs

Outside of Pitchers Dizzy Dean and Warneke, only two Cardinals are assured of positions, and they are the great long-range hitters, Joe Medwick and Johnny Mize.

Hard Luck Stuart Martin will do at second base as quickly as he recovers his full strength following a late-January attack of mumps.

Other candidates for second base are Jimmy Brown and Jimmy Bucher. Brown also plays considerable shortstop.

Brown At Short

Brown probably will wind up at shortstop if the fleet Gutteridge finds the job too difficult, which would leave an additional aspirant for third base, where there already are Joe Stripp and Art Garibaldi, the latter back from the Pacific Coast League. There also are Justin Stein, up from Columbus, and Terry Moore, if Rickey goes through with his plan to bring the latter in from center field.

Jimmy Webb, up from Columbus, perhaps is the finest fielding shortstop in the party, but Frisch doesn't like the way "Skeeter" handles the shillalah despite the fact that he hit .290 in the American Association.

Enos Slaughter is the prize recruit of the 1938 Cardinals, and next to Medwick and Mize, is surest of a position. He's an outfielder, and gets over the terrain so rapidly that Frisch already is considering playing him in center. "Country" Slaughter's cool .382 blazed the slugging trail for American Association batters last season.

Sorting Talent Is Problem

The Cardinals have plenty of outfielders, including Stanley Bordagaray and the veteran Johnny Cooney.

Indeed, the Gas House Gang has its customary carload of material.

The problem is assorting it, locating a catcher capable of handling what easily might be superlative pitching, and developing a first rate second base combination.

Meanwhile, Frisch wishes that Rickey would quit experimenting with supposedly major league ball players, and let him get down to the task at hand.

West Texans Are Defeated Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

DENVER, March 15.—With the setups behind and the upsets ahead, survivors of two days of intensive pruning in the National AAU Basketball tournament today were booked for a third marathon session of 14 games which will whittle the field down to 16 teams.

On the whole sterner competition was expected in today's games, which found six Rocky Mountain quintets, three from the Southwest, 10 from the Midwest, five from the Pacific coast, four from the East and two from the South still among those present.

The Padgitts from Waco, Tex., were scheduled to play the Studebakers of South Bend at 11 a. m. (CST) today.

Results yesterday:

First Round

Uniques 45, St. Louis Golubs 29.

New Mexico Normal 66, Southwestern (Okla.) Teachers 40.

Harmon Demons 49, Weber college, Ogden, Utah 45.

Gaylords 66, Denver Red Shields 57.

Montana State 59, Arkansas College 46.

General Electric 45, National Business college, Roanoke, Va. 31.

Warrensburg, Mo., Teachers 36, Panhandle, Okla., Aggies 29.

Eckers 43, Cicero Merchants, Chicago 35.

Colorado college 55, West Texas Teachers 45.

Second Round

Denver Safeways 52, Tulsa Fruehaufs 28.

Hollywood A. C. 60, Kansas City, Kas., Refiners 51.

Healeys, Kansas City, Kas., won by forfeit over Young Americans, Minneapolis.

Upsets Ahead In Cage Play

Boxing Programs Tonight In Slaton And Lockney Point Way To Tournament Here

"Warm-up" exercises tonight in Slaton and Lockney point the way to Friday night's District A.A.U. boxing tournament at the Auditorium here.

Preliminary fight programs to determine delegates to the Lubbock tournament are expected to attract more than a thousand fans at the two towns tonight. A gathering of about 2,000 is anticipated for the Auditorium battles which begin at 8 o'clock Friday night.

Only the choice boxers of the section will compete in the Lubbock tournament. The list will be held to four fighters in each division, with the possibility that two or three "exhibition" bouts will be staged to offset lack of full quota in the heavyweight and flyweight groups.

The A.A.U. tournament will be a one-night affair. Thirty-two boxers are expected to stage 24 fights for the championships in each weight division. Winners of the first round will return to battle for district titles in the second round.

Gold Trophies Ordered

From Lubbock, the winners compete in the Southwestern A.A.U. tournament at Dallas, and winners there go directly to Boston for the National meet.

Many of the fighters to be seen here Friday night are lads who "made good" in the City and District Golden Gloves tournaments. With the exception of Heavyweight Babe Ritchie, who is to fight in New York next Monday night, all District Golden Gloves champions are due to be on hand here Friday night.

Tickets are on sale now at three downtown places—The Hilton Hotel lobby, Hotel Lubbock drug store, and Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers. For choice seats, the fans are advised to do their ticket shopping at once.

Rich-looking prizes in the form of 10-inch gold plated statuettes, boxing figures, will go to the District A.A.U. winners. The trophies were ordered yesterday, and will be on display at Sherrod Bros., Hardware, toward the latter part of the week.

Corbett-Apostoli Decision Wasn't So Sour After All; DiMaggio To Sign Up During Day

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 15 — Seems that decision in the Young Corbett-Fred Apostoli match wasn't so sour after all. . . . Ed Orman, sports editor of the Fresno (Calif.) Bee, polled seven sports writers at the ringside and only one of them thought Apostoli "wuz robbed" . . . so off goes your hat to Corbett, who is one of the real marvels of the boxing game . . . He has had more than 150 fights, but sports no scars, no cauliflower ears or battered-up features . . . Only guys to lick him were Jimmy McLarnin, Sammy Baker, Billy Conn, Dominick McCarthy and Lou Brouillard . . . Five defeats in 17 years of campaigning — where can you tie that?

Ross Victory Seen

Gus Dorais, smart coach at U. of Detroit, will conduct a coaching school at Erie, Pa., late in June. . . . Izzy Kelin, who formerly trained him, predicts Barney Ross will score an early victory over Henry Armstrong . . . "Pound for pound, he is the best fighter in the country," says Izzy who has been around long enough to know whereof he speaks.

When he fought and licked Tommy Farr the other night, Maxie Baer didn't know his daddy had been in a hospital for two weeks . . . That's the reason Max beat it back to the coast so soon. . . . Joe DiMaggio will sign a Yankee contract before this line hits you in the eyes.

Two guys named Max — Max Roesch, 21-year-old heavyweight and Max Long, 20-year-old middleweight — are putting Dallas back on the fistic map . . . Max Roesch was the best looking spar mate Jim Braddock had when he trained for Joe Louis last summer . . . Training camp news from the South is not the same this year with Dizzy Dean and Van Mungo all but sprouting wings.

Ancil Hoffman was so sure of Max Baer against Farr he bet $5,000 on Max at 2 to 1 — and cleaned up . . . Reports from Dixie say Al Lang, who made Florida baseball conscious, is going stronger than ever this year —Which is going some . . . Baseball men here see the fine Italian hand of the Irishman Joe McCarthy in the capitulation of Lou Gehrig.

Ralls To Be Host To Relay Carnival On Next Saturday

RALLS, March 15—(Special)—Virtually all high school track and field teams of the section are expected to compete in the Ralls relay carnival Saturday, March 19.

Ten clubs had been entered today, Coach Bill McWilliams of Ralls High school, said. They are Tulia, Lubbock, Levelland, Slaton, Post, Idalou, Crosbyton, Floydada, Petersburg and Ralls.

Entries will be accepted up to noon Thursday, McWilliams said.

Little Rock Buys Infielder McLeod From Ft. Worth Cats

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 15 (AP)—Manager Doc Prothro said today the Little Rock baseball club had purchased Infielder Jimmy McLeod from the Fort Worth Cats of the Texas league.

His play against the Travelers in the Dixie series last year was outstanding both at the plate and in the field. He batted close to .300 last season.

No One Glares At Johnny In The Lobby But He Holds One Of Better Pitching Records

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS, March 15 — Everybody in the hotel lobby turns to gaze when the Feller family—Bob clinging to the hand of his little sister, and proudly followed by Ma and Pa Feller and the family preacher, Charley Fix — goes out through the doors looking for an orange juice stand.

Everybody knows Bob is the most sensational young pitcher in a coon's age, and they discuss his chances of pitching Cleveland to a flag this year. If he comes through, they say, the Yanks will have to hump themselves.

Nobody Gapes At Him

Leaning against a pillar, also watching the Feller family procession, is another Cleveland pitcher. Nobody gapes at him. He's Johnny Allen of Lenoir, N. C., who happens to be only the greatest pitcher in baseball on his record for the last six years.

Feller still has his to do. Allen has done his. He won 15 straight victories last year before he was beaten, 1 to 0, by Detroit in his final start. In six years he has won 85 games and lost 30 for a percentage of .739.

That's tops. For the same period Carl Hubbell shows a winning average of .727, Lefty Gomez .671, Lefty Grove .655 and Dizzy Dean .650.

With Only One Winner

Allen has been with only one championship team, the Yankees of 1932, his first season in the big show. Hubbell and Gomez have been with three winners each in that time. Dean with one.

To make his superiority more emphatic, Johnny has led both leagues in strikeouts, with an average of 5.65 per game and dished out more low-hit games than any revival. He has pitched 18 games of four hits or less. All this is a matter of record.

"I never could get a no-hitter," said Johnny. "But I had a onehitter and a couple of twos. Somebody always gets a knock off me early in the game."

Johnny doesn't like to talk much about his achievements. He's 32 now, and, fully recovered from an appendix operation last season, feels that his fast ball is going to be faster than ever.

"Maybe I'd better not say so, though," he reflected, "or I might not be able to get anybody out."

How about those Yankees? Did he have any trouble pitching to them, and had he discovered Joe DiMaggio's weakness?

"I beat 'em the only two times I faced 'em last year," said Johnny. "Sure, DiMaggio can be pitched to, but I don't think I'd better tell how."

Was there any one player he had particular trouble with, any batter he never seemed able to get out?

"Sure," Johnny grinned. "There's two or three of 'em, but I wouldn't give 'em the satisfaction of knowing it. Might give 'em ideas."

Annual Tech Tourney Set

Qualifying rounds for the annual Toreador tournament for Texas Tech students will begin Sunday over the Meadowbrook layout according to Professional J. W. Byrne. The event is sponsored each year by the student newspaper. Entrants will have through March 19 to qualify over the 18 hole route.

Competition this year appears closer than ever before in history of the tournament. Byrne said Donald Doherty, defending champion, will be on hand to attempt to make it two straight. Lindsey Telford, crack little dynamiter, is improved this spring and Manson Allen, who missed the event last year, is ready to give Doherty a fight for the title. All students are eligible.

Prizes will go to the medalist and winners and runners-up in each flight. A green fee of $1 entitles the entrant to play the course throughout the tournament, Byrne said.

Hard Place To Collect A Crowd

Subject of a friendly ownership dispute with Great Britain which Secretary Hull has indicated will be amicably settled, is this sandy waste, littered with broken coral rock and sparsely dotted with lonesome palms. Suddenly valuable as a stepping stone for aviators, it is Enderbury Island, which, with its sister, Canton Island, of the mid-Pacific Phoenix group, will be prepared as a commercial aviation base by Hawaiian "colonists," all U. S. citizens.

structor of gymnastics at Asch up to 1933 when Hitler took power in Germany.

He had fought as a youth with the Austrians in the World war, was wounded and taken prisoner by Italian forces in 1918, and was a bank clerk after his repatriation.

It was not until 1925, however, that he found his true vocation as a gymnastics instructor.

So popular did he become that he acquired control of German clubs in the country—and from there his mind turned to politics.

many's contention that Britain had no right to interest herself in Austrian independence and avowed:

"His majesty's government are and must always be interested in developments in central Europe."

He voiced "severe condemnation" of Germany's step in Austria and enunciated his program to put Britain on a wartime footing.

Today he was busy endeavoring to win opposition parties to support tremendous defenses, which eventually might even include compulsory military service for all capable of fighting.

Britain's present five-year defense program, in its second year, is to cost $7,500,000,000 but the figure may be raised to $10,000,000,000.

Jury Is Selected In Negro's Trial

A jury was selected this morning and testimony was begun in Judge E. L. Pitts' 99th district court in murder case, charging A. C. Alexander with fatal shooting of Hiram Johnson, another negro, near Wolfforth the night of Feb. 26.

Burton S. Burks, district attorney, and his assistant, Victor H. Lindsey, represent the state. John Vickers and John Moore Steel were appointed by the court to defend Alexander.

Jurors selected were: E. E. Ireland of route 1, Shallowater, Roy Collins of route 2, Slaton, R. E. Bryant of Idalou, C. H. Weston of route 1, Idalou, Ed G. Foerston of Lubbock, A. W. McKee of Lubbock, Will Fugate of Lubbock, J. W. Cannon of Idalou, J. A Russell of Slaton, G. L. Jones of Becton, C. Conger of Lorenzo, and J. A. Elliott of Slaton.

Maximum penalty of 15 years in the penitentiary was assessed Frank Undray, alias Frank Taylor, negro, Monday afternoon by Judge Pitts on his plea of guilty of shooting R. M. O'Neal, Wolfforth farmer, Feb. 16 with intent to kill.

Jeff Reagan was given a three-year suspended sentence on plea of guilty to theft of a hog from Charlie Boyd, Nov. 27.

The judge took under advisement the sentences to be given Marvin Monroe, charged by indictment with theft of an automobile from Bryan Landers Jan. 23, and Floyd Myers, charged by indictment with forgery of a $29.75 check on the Slaton compress, who pleaded guilty.

gation agents, were among officers with Miller at the capture.

Wells was first brought to the Gregg county jail here, where he was found to be suffering from a wound in the left instep. Officers said he was carrying over a thousand dollars in cash.

A group of state and federal officers left here with Wells for an unannounced destination just before daylight.

Miller, with a group of patrolmen, left Dallas yesterday to join the search for the person, believed to have been Wells, who abandoned an automobile at Jonesville, Tex., on the highway between Marshall and Shreveport.

Three Officers Injured

First victims of the young gunman, were Police Chief Pat Martin, 60, and Deputy Sheriff R. J. Ball, 37, both of Beeville, wounded Saturday as they attempted to arrest the youth for robbery of the Luling bank, when nearly $3,000 was taken.

The gunman's car had been disabled on the highway five miles from Beeville when Sheriff Harper Morris and Deputy John Rutledge of Kenedy fired a volley at it as it roared over the Karnes-Bee county line.

Shots from two pistols in the youth's hands struck Martin in the chest and Ball in the hand, hip, and leg as they approached the car. Neither could return the fire.

Took Officers' Car

The fugitive rolled the two seriously wounded men out of the car and fled in their machine, taking their rifle and a sawed off shotgun with him.

Shortly after noon Saturday Deputy Sheriff C. R. Siebrecht and Constable Buck Lane of Wharton sighted the outlaw near El Campo, and a 45-mile chase followed, ending in a roadside battle between the officers and gunman near Rosenberg. Deputy Siebrecht was nicked in the shoulder by a bullet.

As the battle raged Frank Albright of Beasley drove up and the gunman forced Albright to drive him from the battle scene.

Later Albright jumped from the car.

Searcl Over Wide Area

The search for the fugitive spread over a wide area, once drawing in Louisiana authorities when he was reported between Vinton, La., and Newton, Tex.

At Gonzales, Sheriff B. Neighbors Sunday said Wells had married a South Texas girl on Wednesday, March 2, before the robbery of the Luling bank on March 5, and that on the following Saturday night he returned to his bride's home and showed her more than $2,000 in currency and quarters.

dence," he told reporters, "the more revenue will flow into the treasury."

Hearings Start Friday

Harrison said public hearings on the tax bill would start Friday, with requests from more than 50 witnesses to be heard. Many of these, he asserted, would be asked to make their testimony brief and submit supplemental statements.

Committee members said they were hopeful the tax bill could be sent to the senate floor some time next week.

At the committee session this morning, Arthur H. Kent, a treasury tax attorney, and Roswell Magill, treasury under-secretary, outlined capital gains tax provisions of the house-approved bill.

Substitution Suggested

Committee members said Kent favored retention of the sliding scale of capital gains levies fixed by the house. Harrison and other senate finance committee members have suggested substitution of a flat tax rate on capital gains.

Members declared sentiment in the committee was overwhelmingly for outright repeal of the undistributed profits tax retained in principle in the house bill.

Asked what could be substituted for the undistributed profits levy if it were eliminated, Harrison mentioned a flat corporation tax. He declined, however, to estimate what flat tax rate might be needed, asserting that he did not want to be committed "to 17 or 18 or 19 per cent."

Other Developments

Other developments of the day included:

A group of senate and house of the Tennessee valley authority joined in proposing a joint inquiry of that agency. Speaker Bankhead said he thought the house should be included in any inquiry of TVA.

Rep. Luckey, (D-Neb) told the house that the billion dollar naval construction bill was a deliberate step toward war.

There were indications that President Roosevelt would send a message to congress proposing a plan for rehabilitating the nation's railroads.

The president conferred today with 14 federal and private authorities concerned with solving the rail carriers' financial problems.

Other presidential communications expected to go to the capitol before adjournment were authoritatively listed as proposals for a study looking toward revision of the anti-trust laws, what should be done about Hungary's proposed debt settlement, and an outline of the world phosphate situation.

Austria Made Concession To Education Even In Face Of Nazi Threat, Lubbock Doctor Observed In Visit To Vienna

Even in the face of threat of Hitler domination which since has come to pass, Austria made a concession to education in its requirements that Austrian youths serve in the army.

That fact was noted by Dr. T. L. Morgan; Lubbock physician, who studied four months at the University of Vienna and left Austria only a few weeks before that country capitulated to Hitler. Dr. Morgan returned to Lubbock Saturday night.

Although Austrian youths are required to begi a year's service in the army when they reach 21, students were exempt until they completed a college education, if they only lacked two or three years. Dr. Morgan knew two students who were exempt.

Realizing war was inevitable, the Viennese with whom the physician came into contact appeared resigned. The political prison was filled with persons who had spoken unwisely, and Austrians seldom discussed politics and war. Even those who discussed the situation became close mouthed around foreigners, or broke into the German language.

Even barring danger of political offense, persons ran the risk of personal offense in discussing politics, because of the variety of beliefs. Even the Jewish members of the university faculty, who risked losing everything should Hitler come into power in Austria, seldom mentioned politics but seemed only interested in their work.

Austrians appeared to "like and respect" their chancellor, Schuschnigg, who has been displaced by Hitler's invasion, although they did not consider him a politician.

A doctor at the University of Vienna, where Dr. Morgan studied the eye, ear, nose and and throat phase of medicine, was an admirer of Hitler. He included in Hitler's attributes his having built up the army, stabilized finance, given jobs and refortified the country.

En route to Austria, Dr. Morgan went through southern Germany and en route home through Italy, sailing from Venice. He lacked time to study conditions in either country, and his principal impression was there were children, or "future soldiers" everywhere.

No Military Demonstrations

He saw no militaristic demonstrations in Austria. The only times he saw soldiers were when they were leaving or returning from drills.

He saw one monarchist parade, but the younger people have no sympathy with the monarchists, who are for the most part "old people living in the past."

Austrians are "very appreciative of what America did in the last war," said Dr. Morgan, a staff member of West Texas hospital.

In speaking of medicine, Dr. Morgan said he did not find doctors to be much ahead of those in the United States in methods. The newest medical find was that by Dr. Hans Brunner, who has "worked out diagnosis of mastoid to a fine degree." On neurological basis, the new diagnosis is "more sure" and makes it possible for the physician to know "what he will find" before he operates.

There were approximately university. Among persons of nationality other than Austrian, there appeared to be no fear of war. Should war break out, there would be no mad scramble of Americans to get out of Austria, in the physician's opinion.

The economy of living was one of the principal contrasts to American life the physician noted. Coal is used for heating for the most part, for instance. "They never waste anything over there," said the physician.

Hitler In Vienna

solemnly proclaimed to the world Hitler had come in this significant hour as "Fuehrer and Reichschancellor in the Hofburg (palace) of the old imperial capital, the guardian of the crown."

Some of his hearers took this as a hint that Hitler one day might assume that crown.

Announces New Mission

Hitler, who reached Vienna yesterday for the climax of his triumphal journey from Berlin, announced for Austria—"the most thoroughly German outpost of the German people"—its "new mission," to be henceforth "the newest bulwark of the German nation and therefore of the German reich."

"Through centuries in troubled times of the past," he declared, "storms of the east have broken on the border of the old eastern outpost (Ostmark, the old name for Austria).

"In centuries to come, for all time, there shall be an iron guarantee for the security and freedom of the German reich and therewith a guarantee for the happiness and peace of our great people."

Revival Of March Hinted

Many saw in this a hint of revival of the pre-war German "Drang Nach Osten"—march to the east.

Hitler concluded:

"In this hour I report to the German people the greatest achievement of my life. As leader and chancellor of the great German nation I declare to history the entrance of my native land into the German reich."

Hitler spoke from the spot from which Engelbert Dollfuss and Kurt Schuschnigg often spoke in exhortation to the Austrians to cling to their independence.

Cheered As Redeemer

He spoke within sight of the chancellery at Ballhausplatz where Dollfuss, trying to save his Austrian countrymen from Hitler, was assassinated in 1934.

But when these Austrian countrymen today heard Hitler they cheered him as a redeemer.

Hitler referred to neither Dollfuss nor the recent ousted Schuschnigg by name, but spoke of the previous regime as one whose object was "to prevent the formation of a great German people and thus was a barricade to the path of the German people into the future."

The derisive roar which greeted this assertion could be heard half a mile away in Belvedere palace, where Schuschnigg was held captive by the new masters of his country.

As Hitler told his 7,000,000 new Austrian subjects to meet their new responsibilities, his officials expunged the Austrian national government.

Soviet Executions Believed Already Carried Out Today

MOSCOW, March 15 (AP)—Guns of the OGPU blazing away in secret execution corridors were believed today to have snuffed out the lives of 18 condemned traitors and murderers, victims of Russia's latest purge trial.

The time and place of such executions always are a mystery but if Soviet practice was followed they were carried out within a few hours after rejection of appeals for mercy.

The presidium of the supreme Soviet last night sealed their fate by denying clemency to 17 of the convicted.

Charges Echo Burglary Here

Two charges of receiving and concealing stolen property were filed in county court Monday naming two defendants. The charges came on the heels of a burglary charge Saturday night against a third man in connection with recent entrance into the 2324 Sixteenth residence of Roy Neil.

Only one of the two charged with receiving and concealing the property had been apprehended Monday night, according to information from the sheriff's office. Julius Smith, 20, of Lubbock was released on $250 bond set by Judge J. J. Dillard of county court. Both were charged with receiving from Ewing Lee, 18-year-old Lubbock man, two rifles assertedly belonging to Neal and concealing them. Aubrey Fawver of the police department swore to the complaints before Hugh Anderson, assistant county attorney.

Bond Of $1,000 Posted

Lee was charged Saturday night in the justice court of Walter Davies with burglary and he posted $1,000 bond.

Henry Hereford, 26-year-old negro, Monday was released on $500 bond set by Judge Dillard on arraignment of a charge in county court of aggravated assault on Bert Childress. Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff, swore to the complaint.

In turn, Hereford filed a charge of assault against Childress alleging he committed an assault on a person commonly known as Baby Boy. Childress was released on bond of $300.

J. A. Peel of Peel Meat company at 812 Texas avenue reported to police that groceries were taken from a truck parked near his place of business Saturday night.

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

Not 'Choosey'

NEW YORK—An attorney here advertised in a New York newspaper:

"Lawyer disgusted with conditions will take job as: dishwasher, business executive, musician, bodyguard, traveler, diplomat, truck driver, writer or anything else anywhere—paying a decent salary."

'Crime Never Pays'

ST. LOUIS—All the police have to do to solve a burglary here is to find a man standing up to eat—and with a hole in his trousers.

The hole was made by a family watchdog whose bite was worse than his bark to a thief who made off with jewelry and clothing from the home.

The householder reported to police he found bits of trouser cloth and bloodstains, proving the dog had not slept on the job.

Strategy

KANSAS CITY — "Help! There's a man hanging himself down here," yelled someone in a basement cell of the city jail.

Several policemen dashed downstairs only to be greeted with:

"Give me a match, I just wanted to light a cigaret."

Pipe Snatcher

RALEIGH, N. C.—They found out today why the First Baptist church's organ had been playing "sour notes."

Someone had stolen a dozen pipes from the instrument.

German Nazi Flag In St. Louis Is Set Afire

ST. LOUIS, March 15 (AP)—A German Nazi flag, hanging from a fourteenih floor window of the German consulate here, was ignited today by an unidentified person who reached from a thirteenth floor window, below the flag, with a blow torch.

Consulate employes pulled the flag up, extinguished the flames and wrapped it around the pole, while a crowd of about 200 watched from the street.

Earlier police were called to disperse a crowd in front of the German consulate after requests were made that an American flag be placed beside the Nazi swastika.

THE Plainsman personally thinks there should be a law against the manufacture and sale of air rifles and another law forcing the taking up and destroying of all of those dangerous playthings which are now in circulation.

But that is a personal opinion.

There are other parents who see nothing wrong with giving their kids air guns to play with, and that certainly is their business as long as their children do not harm others in the pursuit of their fun.

In the face of recent occurrences in the northeast part of the city, however, The Plainsman wishes to call to the attention of parents all over Lubbock the very evident danger of boys, plus air rifles, plus carelessness.

It will be too late for warnings when the next eye is lost—and there have been two eyes lost to air rifles here within the past couple of years.

PARENTS of children with air rifles should counsel with their youngsters to exercise the strictest of care when playing with the gadgets.

A Lubbock citizen was in The Plainsman's office yesterday, displaying a small hole in the side of his face where a BB struck him late Sunday, and that hole was less than two inches from the man's left eye. Had he been turned a wee bit to his left, the shot which struck him by accident would have gone smack into the pupil of his eye and then everybody concerned would have been very sorry.

But that would not have brought the man's eye back.

If parents of boys with BB guns will stop long enough to consider how terrible it would be if a shot from their boy's gun did serious damage, most of them, to say the least, would see that the boys played with the guns only under the strictest of supervision, or in areas where there is the least danger of serious accident.

Perhaps there is some excuse for air rifles; perhaps the toys have something to recommend them—although The Plainsman can't see it.

But regardless of personal opinions aren't air rifles, no one can deny that care should be exercised in their use.

And no one has ever accused the average small boy of having a great deal of judgment, especially when he's out playing and having a big time.

Wise parents will watch well this danger and do their utmost to avoid it.

EDWARD Rowland Sill, one of the more prominen' of the present day poets, has written a piece which packs quite a lesson for those of us who are prone to give up too easily, and to feel that the other fellow is better equipped in the battle for success than we are.

Called "Opportunity," the poem is herewith reproduced:

"This I beheld, or dreamed it in a dream:
There spread a cloud of dust along a plain;
And underneath the cloud, or in it, raged
A furious battle, and men yelled, and swords
Shocked upon swords and shields.
A prince's banner
Wavered, then staggered backward, hemmed by foes.

"A craven hung, along the battle's edge,
And thought, 'Had I a sword of keener steel—
That blue blade that the king's son bears—but this
Blunt thing!' — He snapped and flung it from his hand,
And lowering crept away and left the field.

"Then came the king's son, wounded, sore bestead,
And weaponless, and saw the broken sword
Hilt-buried in the dry and trodden sand.
And ran and snatched it, and with battle-shout
Lifted afresh he hewed his enemy down,
And saved a great cause that heroic day."

POSSIBLY because of a dearth of subjects, the Dallas News recently commented editorially upon the fact that too many judges reach the bench because they are popular, or good campaigners, rather than because they are fitted for judgeships.

No one argues against the truth of the statement, but the News goes further with a suggestion that judges be appointed, rather than elected. And there's plenty of room for argument there.

Whoever heard of qualifications playing such a big part in the appointment of officials, whether they be judges, or not?

Certainly the News is not so naive as to believe appointments are made without thought to personal friendship or politics.

While The Plainsman doubts that the voting public of Texas, any other state, or the U. S. as a whole, for that matter, takes as much interest in a candidate's qualifications and general fitness as it should, he'd just as soon permit the people, as a whole, to make whatever mistakes are made, instead of leaving it up to those who might be empowered to make appointments.

Among the weaknesses of the democratic form of government is the fact that the electorate is prone to err. But on the whole, we can't say any more for the judgment of those who appoint officials than we can for the rest of us who elect 'em.

MAYBE it's because The Plainsman doesn't get out of his office as much as he used to and thereby can't mix and mingle with as many folks as he once did, but it seems to him that there isn't the same interest in the Ft. Worth Stock show there was a decade or so ago.

We remember when the opening of the Cowtown show was on every tongue and when a lot of folks felt like their year would be ruined if they didn't get down to see Midnight toss a rider or two in the big arena.

This year, we haven't heard a word about the show, except when the Ft. Worth boosters were here something like a month ago.

* * *

This column really regrets the situation and hopes it is wrong in fearing that our people are not still interested in one of the few remaining ties to the West Texas of long ago.

The Cowtown show will run through March 20, in case you're interested, and, as usual, it is well worth seeing.

Let's don't permit all our old ties to be broken!

Yesterday: Too late, the woman in the blue bonnet attempts to tell Polly the truth about Jerry and Jerry, meanwhile, is setting out to sea on the Sunrise.

CHAPTER XIV

Polly Chelsey got off the coach at the Queen Anne Tavern in Dover, where she took a room overlooking the stable yard in order to keep an eye on Nuisance. She had a fear of being separated from the dog before leaving England.

Next morning in a nearby shop she bought a dress length of black woolen material of the cheapest sort, and thread to sew it with. Then she found a mantuamaker who said she could turn it into a dress before night.

"Make it plain and ill-fitting," Polly ordered, "and high in the neck."

"Lud, Miss! Are you doing penance for something?"

Polly shrugged. "Yes, for my follies. Where can I get a widow's bonnet made."

The mantuamaker said her sister had been a milliner in her day and still knew how to fashion and cover a hat frame. She promised to have the bonnet and dress ready by nightfall and would, herself, bring them to the Queen Anne Tavern.

Polly then made another surprising request. "Can you direct me to a wigmaker?"

The woman told her there was such a man on the next street, next door to the tobacconist's. "And not busy any more since people have taken a fancy to their own hair."

Polly found the wigmaker to be an elderly Jew with a sympathetic manner. When he had finished waiting on a customer and they were alone in the shop Polly explained her need. "I must dress as an old woman for a time. An old woman of no importance and no money. Can you help me?"

The old man looked into Polly's honest young face and decided it was free of evil intent. "Come into the back room," he said. He placed her on a tall stool and studied her head. "Your hair is too heavy to be covered with a wig. Will you permit me to cut it?"

"Cut it," answered Polly. "It's of no interest to me."

Yet when the first brown lock fell to the floor beneath the sheers, Polly shuddered. She remembered with a stab of pain a remark of Jerry Whitfield's: "Your hair's so shiny, Polly. I like the way you coil it on your head, without curls." . . . Well, her looks no longer mattered to her.

The old wigmaker knew a good deal about disguise. He had some shadow salve he had once made up for a theatrical troupe. He experimented on Polly's face with this. Now and then he would be summoned to the front room by the jingle of the shop bell, but he would always return eagerly to his amusing task. The white wig that he fitted on her was too elegant, he said, so he skillfully applied the shears to make it appear thin and scraggling. He was an artisan with the artist's urge for perfection.

When he had fitted the wig and applied the lines of age to Polly's eyes he said exultantly, "That is good!" But he added, "If it's a reckless prank you're up to, think twice. Such things can lead to trouble."

"It's no prank," Polly said. "It's an escape from danger."

The old man's face grew grave. "Then it's well I've contrived with skill." He refused pay for anything save the wig itself and wished her bon voyage.

That night when the dress and bonnet had been delivered, Polly was obliged to send for the innkeeper and porter and tell them of her intent. She showed them dress, bonnet and wig, assuming a high-handed aggressiveness she was far from feeling.

"When I leave here tomorrow morning," she said, "I'll be disguised as an old woman for reasons entirely my own. I assure you no harm will come to anybody because of it." To forestall any qualms of conscience on the part of either, she hastily overpaid her tavern bill and tipped the porter.

Next morning, what appeared to be a tall, bent old woman, haggard and uncommunicative, came into the stable yard of the inn to take conveyance on the Deal coach. She was followed by a mongrel dog and by a porter bearing her trunk.

As the latter helped her into the coach he said, "Watch yer dog, old dame. He's a frisky one." He lowered an eyelid to show his enjoyment of the situation, for he was a good-natured Devonshireman who relished a joke.

"Mind your manners!" retorted the old woman, frowning severely. "Get along with you!" Her mouth twitched oddly.

"Not till I ask ye about a letter," said the porter. "Here 'tis. This came from Lon'on last night, but not by regular post. The driver carried it down. He remembered about it this mornin', sayin' it was to be delivered to a young lady by name of Chelsey. Now your name be Chelsey, but it's been a time since ye were young . . ."

"Give it here!" said the old woman and whacked him smartly across the shoulder with her staff. "It's for my niece." Her eyelid, too, lowered discreetly, in mute apology for the whack.

As the coach jolted out of the cobbled stable yard and gained the highway, Polly Chelsey examined the letter with curiosity. She did not recognize the cramped feminine handwriting of the address, but supposed it must be from Mrs. Toby, belatedly wishing her bon voyage.

She had a more pressing matter to think about. The driver would soon be asking his passengers where they wanted to be set down, and Polly had not chosen her destination. Even yet her only beacon was that phrase of Jerry's: "some where short of Deal there's a wretched fishing village where this smuggler puts in . . ."

Will I know the place when I see it? she was asking herself. Her fingers were automatically breaking the seal of the letter, and opening it. And now she began to read. By the time she had reached

CLARENCE DARROW, IN RETROSPECT

Passing of Clarence Darrow, famous Chicago attorney, will provoke sharper disagreement as to the justness of his claims to greatness than perhaps would be true of any nationally known figure of the day.

About the only fact concerning him on which there will be no disagreement will be the acknowledgment that his was a gigantic intellect; that insofar as sheer ability was concerned, he was one of the all-time great of American jurisprudence.

But there the agreement ends. His proclaimed agnosticism naturally is in conflict with the views of all Christian people, among whom are greater geniuses than Darrow. Likewise, there will be wide variance of opinion as to whether the attorney, from the professional standpoint, was a benefactor or detriment to society.

Perhaps to greater degree than any of his contemporaries, he typified the "attorney for the defense." Almost invariably, he was on the side of the accused. He insisted that he was merely on the side of the "under-dog," and perhaps he believed that. But regardless what his beliefs were, undoubtedly he saved the lives of men who should have been hanged, secured freedom for those who should have been in prison.

Darrow, however, does not belong in the class of money-grabbing shysters who sacrifice principle to fee. Without question, he rejected many cases when he could have named his own charge. If there is to be criticism of his professional career, it will be tempered by the agreement that his errors there were largely of the heart.

Punishment is justice for the unjust.—Augustine

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 15 — No sooner was it fully realized that Walt Disney's "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" would make millions than nearly all the major studios began figuring on feature-length cartoons.

Some of them are ambitious enough to expect to have animated features in the theaters by next Christmas—yet none of them has a story, nor anything resembling the staff and equipment that Disney has assembled. Only Warner Brothers have a man who seems capable of competing with Disney. He's Leon Schlesinger, maker of Looney Tunes and Merrie Melodies. And Schlesinger doesn't want to make features.

One powerful studio, I'm told by certain artists who should know, has set out with checkbook and blandishments to lure away all the Disney animators and directors who can be hired. The response has been astonishing and—to Disney, if he knows about it—heartening. Confronted with fat offers from the big studio, his artists and technicians have answered with raspberries. Such a demonstration of mass loyalty is without precedent in the whole history of movietown, the double-crossroads of creation.

Disney Runs Show

It isn't difficult to understand the attitude of the Disney workers, as one of them explained it to me. The ax is whistling over all of Hollywood. Thousands of persons have been fired, and are still being bounced, in a worse production slump than was brought by the depression. Some studio departments have been eliminated, others merged, in a desperate drive for retrenchment. Bankers control most of the studios and can dictate economies.

But bankers don't worry Disney. He and his brother own every dime's worth of their concern. They didn't have to ask anybody's permission to gamble $1,600,000 and more than three years' time on an animated feature which the rest of the industry regarded as an artistic but commercially futile experiment.

Disney employes recall how, shortly before the bank holiday, their boss distributed an $80,000 cash bonus. They remember, too, how Disney defied all the studio heads who in the face of their greatest emergency decided that all wages had to be cut 50 per cent. And today, while payrolls elsewhere are being whittled, they feel pretty secure in the reports which indicate that the picture they recently finished likely will make more money than any other movie filmed.

Those are some reasons why the hands at the mouse-and-duck factory aren't listening to outside offers. They figure that if this be loyalty, they're making the most of it.

Idles Of March

Every year, for a couple of months preceding this date, there is a slackening of production in the movie mills. The reason: taxes. About the middle of March, city and county assessors swoop down on the studios and begin checking all the film on the shelves. Thus, if a studio is three-fourths finished with a $2,000,000 epic, it will have to pay taxes on the $1,500,000 portion. The tax rate varies from $4.95 per hundred in Burbank to $7.85 per hundred in Culver City, and it is levied against about 40 per cent of the value of the films.

So you can see why the studios find it desirable to have their cupboards pretty bare and their sound stages nearly vacant when the assessors arrive. This year there are fewer pictures in work than there have been during any previous March period, but the total tax bill will run close to $1,000,000.

Foreign Trouble

This item, however, doesn't explain the production slump and the economy wave that have beset Hollywood for several months. Neither does the general business recession explain it. The motion picture industry was the last to feel the depression and the first to recover from it, and the recession has not materially lowered theater receipts.

The real trouble is in the foreign market. Picture-making has become so expensive that the most costly films can't make a profit in America. They must depend upon other countries for up to 40 per cent of their revenue. These outlets are threatened by new foreign quotas and restrictions, but most of all by the danger of war. And Hollywood believes that a general European war is imminent and inevitable.

New Deal's "Last Stand" May Come This Ye Instead Of In 1940, Rodney Dutcher Thinks

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 15 — The concentration of interest on the forthcoming primaries and elections which lately has been shown by Mr. Roosevelt and his friends is partly traceable to a fear that 1938, rather than 1940, may turn out to be the last stand of the New Deal.

Rodney Dutcher

If F. D. R. is to control the Democratic party when it undertakes to nominate his successor more than two years hence he is going to need something that can be hailed as a personal victory next November.

To achieve that, he must identify himself with the campaign through certain definite issues. Moreover, he must assure the return to office of "loyal New Dealers" in Congress and, if possible, the defeat of conservative Democrats who have fought Roosevelt policies.

A year ago, when the battle over the Supreme Court reorganization plan was on, there was plenty of talk about punishment and reprisal. Roosevelt himself inspired much of it. But the voters who had returned him to office in 1936 never did get excited about that issue and the President learned to his disappointment that he couldn't get them to punish senators simply because he resented their disagreement with him on that one point. At one time he had been almost convinced that any senator who opposed him on the court issue was committing political suicide.

Has Its Hands Full

Until quite lately it seemed that the administration, far from being in a position to inflict reprisals on anyone for desertion on the court and other issues, would have its hands full in merely trying to save the skins of the faithful.

Specific endorsements of Senators Alben Barkley of Kentucky, Claude Pepper of Florida and Ryan Duffy of Wisconsin — all in spite of solemn assurances that the White House "as usual" was keeping its hands off the primaries — tended to emphasize the impression that the New Deal was on the defensive.

There was a period of moaning and gnashing of teeth over the paucity of strong New Dealish candidates who might have a chance of beating such senators as Clark of Missouri, Adams of Colorado, Lonergan of Connecticut, McCarran of Nevada, Smith of South Carolina and Tydings of Maryland — all up again this year.

The situation actually hasn't changed much, but it is apparent that Roosevelt is out to do everything he possibly can to see that it does. The first overt move was the announcement by Congressman Otha Wearin of Iowa from the White House steps that he would seek the senatorial seat of Guy M. Gillette. Wearin is a progressive, a liberal, a New Dealer. Gillette is considered an anti-New Dealer.

See Nothing To Lose

New Dealers in the administration have been telling Roosevelt that he has nothing to lose by making the strongest possible effort to reward his friends and punish his enemies this year. Delicately, they have sought to convince him that he has lost a great deal already.

His prestige has diminished, if not his popularity, and his power has waned to the point where he can't control Congress and doesn't try. A depression has wiped off 75 per cent or more of the New Deal recovery, at the same time weakening the political strength of Roosevelt's allies in the labor movement.

Efforts to build up Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson for governor of New York and as a presidential possibility haven't been very successful. The Democratic party machinery is largely in the hands of men who have no great sympathy with Roosevelt's policies and objectives.

President Still Aggressive

Under the circumstances it has not been difficult to convince Roosevelt that the situation demands a certain amount of aggressiveness on his part if he is to be the important force in 19 which he desires to be. His recen and subsequent public statemen should be taken as intended to influence the political and busine situations, rather than as effort to impress Congress.

It isn't easy to forecast the degree of success the President will have in the effort to retain political leadership. He may even find his opponents so strong that he will feel compelled to "join 'em."

Your Sweetheart got fee and sobered the man up d then went with us to the Ve- kle. It was Nothing but Kind- s on his part and it shames me say he was then Hit on the head d carried to a Ship. They said was a deserter from His Maj- y's Navy but on thinking it over realize this may be a lie as our vy is Short of Men and some- nes they are not to careful. they uld as soon have an amerikan not. maybe rather. But whether was a Navy Deserter or not, he s not a Deserter of you and this what I had to Tell you. My ad- e to you is go to the fishing wn of Corly south of Deal and k at the Inn there for a Man med John McGean. He is a ruggler that dont mind a Peasan- r. And now Good luck and God ess you from your frend Mazie iller.

P. S. The Ship they took J. hi-field to was the Sun Rise an- red out in the Harbor but I nk it has already Sailed. This a very sad situashion.'

Negro Dies In Electric Chair

Leroy Kelly, 31-year-old negro, convicted slayer of Sheriff F. A. Loyd of Lamb county, was electrocuted in Huntsville prison shortly after midnight this morning, according to Associated Press dispatches.

Kelly was convicted of the slaying, March 20, 1937, when the officer stopped him for investigation. He was convicted April 5, 1937, becoming first person ever given the death penalty in Lamb county.

Negro Captured Later

The negro was captured late on the night of the murder, several hours after the gunplay between him and the sheriff in which both were wounded. The capture culminated a brief but sensational manhunt.

Reports said Kelly was unemotional in his march to the execution chamber. He said he was "ready to go" when asked if he had anything to say.

The firing came when the sheriff and a deputy, Sam Hutson, attempted to arrest Kelly after he had shot at a negro woman. Kelly escaped, only to be captured at a Littlefield compress by Constable Tom Matthews and three Littlefield men, Skete Dillard, Slim Speight, and Elmer Linton. Officers from several neighboring towns participated in the search.

Rushed To Jail Here

Kelly was rushed to the Lubbock county jail to avoid a possible lynching. Approximately 100 persons made up a threatening mob which gathered at the Lamb county jail shortly after the negro was arrested.

Loyd died in a hospital here two days after the shooting.

On April 10 a 64th district court in session at Olton, with Judge C. D. Russell presiding, found Kelly guilty and sentenced him to die in the electric chair. A special grand jury had indicted him only a few days before.

An appeal to the court of criminal appeals at Austin failed to save the life of the condemned murderer, and Feb. 10 Judge Russell formally pronounced sentence and set date for execution. He was taken to the state penitentiary by Hutson, chief deputy sheriff of Lamb county, and Jas. P. Posey, chief deputy of Lubbock county.

Honorary Awards Given Tech Men

Three Texas Technological college professors received honorary Lone Star Farmer degrees from the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show at Fort Worth, according to announcement received here Monday.

K. M. Renner, head professor of dairy manufacture; Ray C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry; and T. L. Leach, assistant professor of vocational agriculture, received awards.

The degree is the highest honor conferred by the Texas Association of Future Farmers of America. Only 116 such degrees have been conferred since organization of the group in 1928.

Honor previously has been given Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Tech; Dean A. H. Leidigh of the agriculture division; Ray L. Chappelle, head professor of agricultural education; and O. T. Ryan, state supervisor of vocational agriculture for area 1.

Bullet No. 7 Hits Its Mark

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, March 15—Bullet No. 7 in the several-year feud between Jim H. Fletcher, 61, and Charlie (Cy) Perkins, 56, ended their dispute Monday as Perkins fell fatally wounded on a downtown street corner.

Last night in county jail Fletcher declared, "Well it's all over for me then. I don't have to be ducking and a dodging any more to see that he don't shoot me. That's all over. I can go where I want to."

Fletcher still limps from wounds inflicted when he was shot six times on Feb. 22, 1936. He also bears scars from gashes opened in his head and face by a flailing pistol and axe. Perkins was indicted on an assault to murder charge in connection with the shooting and attack, but the case was twice postponed after it was set for trial.

Fletcher said he shot Perkins because he thought the other man was reaching for a gun.

Officers said the two had had differences over squatters rights to riverbottom land, and at one time carried their dispute to court.

Five Sentenced In Houston Fraud Case

HOUSTON, March 15. (AP)—Five men accused of fraud in the $1,580,000 Sterling & Baker bankruptcy were sentenced Monday by Federal Judge Robert T. Ervin to terms ranging from six months to three years.

B. Frank Sterling, president of the bankrupt Sterling & Baker brokerage partnership and the Sterling & Baker Securities corporation, received three years; Harry V. Baker, his partner, and vice president of both firms, was given two years, which was reduced to one year in New Orleans jail; Bertrand Burleigh, brokerage trader, a year and a day, reduced to six months in jail; Hulon Sterling, brother to B. Frank Sterling and bookkeeper for the firms, six months, and C. R. Munger, secretary of the securities corporation, six months.

J. M. Damon, hired eight years ago by the partnership as an office boy, was freed Saturday from all blame in the bankruptcy.

The six men had been named in an indictment listing 10 substantive counts and one conspiracy count—accusing them of violating the esecurities and exchange act of 1933.

Marking Time In Probe Of Slaying

MOBILE, Ala., March 15. (AP) — Mobile police authorities today awaited word from Dallas, before taking further action in the case of W. W. Bass, 55, admitted paroled slayer, who told officers he witnessed the slaying 25 years ago of Florence Brown, pretty Dallas choir singer.

Three Dallas officers left Monday for Texas after questioning Bass. Will Fritz, Dallas detective inspector and one of the three investigators who came here, said Bass told him he killed a man named Tate in Tyler, Tex., in 1901 and was paroled in 1908.

Previously, Bass had told solicitor Bart R. Chamberlain of Mobile and the Texas officers that he knew the slayer of Miss Brown, and that he had kept silent on the crime because of fear of the man, Chamberlain said.

Barnett Case Up In Courts Again

OKMULGEE, Okla., March 15. (AP) —Judge Robert L. Williams of the circuit court of appeals reopened Monday the legal marathon involving claims of more than 1,000 litigants to the oil wealth amassed by the illiterate and eccentric Jackson Barnett, "world's richest Indian."

Harking back to his emphisis on speeding up the hearing, which he began as a federal judge for eastern Oklahoma, Judge Williams told litigants if they were not "careful" the case would outlive him.

Paul Pinson, Tulsa attorney, began submitting the testimony of the so-called Ellis Gentry group of claimants, some of whom are residents of Kansas.

Barnett died at Los Angeles in 1934 leaving an estate variously valued at from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000.

Former Sweetwater Man Dies After Fall Beneath Truck

BIG SPRING, Mar. 15. (AP)—T. J. Smith, 35, of Houston, former resident of Sweetwater, was killed instantly here Monday when a log chain from a truck towing his truck fouled in the front wheels, throwing him beneath the machine.

A lock of Nelson's hair was sold at a recent London auction for $60.

New Mexico 'Nester' Passes Through City Sunday En Route To His Native Arkansas

Ending the first week of a 720-mile journey by covered wagon, J. B. Holman, 76-year-old "nester" of Roswell, N. M., passed through Lubbock Sunday morning en route to Franklin county, Ark., for the first visit to his native state in 30 years. Average speed of his range ponies is between 25 and 30 miles a day.

Born nine miles from Webb City, Ark., in 1861, Holman came west in 1903, working several years as a freighter. Later he staked a claim on 600 acres of ranch land near Roswell, where he lived until last week.

Has Worked Cows

Recounting his trials as a western farmer, Holman said he had worked "burros, horses, cows and Red Durham males" from time to time in the field. He worked the cows only in emergencies, and added, "but I'd rather pull cows any time as a steer."

Yearning for a sight of the river bottoms and piney woods of Arkansas, he sold his New Mexico holdings for $1 an acre last week, loaded mattress and springs, cooking utensils, and a few personal belongings into an old-fashioned prairie schooner, threw in a few bundles of feed for the three cayuses, and left New Mexico a week ago Sunday.

Tried To Sell Hen

Rolling quietly through Lubbock about noon Sunday, Holman saw a speeding automobile run over and kill a fat Rhode Island Red hen. He halted his ponies, jumped agilely from his wagon, picked up the hen while she was still kicking and took her to a neighborhood store to sell. Failing, he started back to his wagon, resigned to another meal of raisins and dried prunes.

Asked what he ate, Holman answered he cooked nothing. His principal diet on the farm had been bread and milk. On the trip he had eaten dried fruit for lunch and occasionally for breakfast. Stopping at farmhouses at night, he was always invited to sup with the family. Sometimes, he said, they gave his breakfast, too. Saturday night he spent with an acquaintance near Brownfield.

Hearty And Jovial

Dressed in brown corduroy cap and jacket and wearing thrice-patched gray woolen trousers, he looked as hearty and jovial as a vagabond Saint Nick. A curling gray beard hid only half of his tanned face, and his squinting eyes seemed to see many miles ahead.

Asked his secret for staying young, he pointed to his wagon and team. "Who can beat that?" he said. He had never tasted whisky, puffed a cigaret, or chewed a quid of tobacco, he added. Not even coffee was included in his menu.

Holman has one son, but doesn't know where he is. The son, Manuel, now a man of about 45, visited him in New Mexico for a few months in 1918, worked on a nearby ranch, then went to Oklahoma and joined the Salvation Army. What has become of him since his father does not know.

Of Roosevelt he said, "He has got the perpetual motion and he don't know how he got it and he don't know if he is going to stop it."

Founding Of Legion Post Is Observed In Session Monday

Observance of the 19th anniversary of the founding of the American Legion featured the semi-monthly meeting of Allen Bros. post here at the hall Monday night.

Clark M. Mullican, who was at the organization meeting in France 19 years ago this week, was the principal speaker.

As a complete surprise, two members of the junior auxiliary entered the legion hall with a three-layer birthday cake on a serving table. The cake was large enough to serve all the attendants.

It was announced that a program would be broadcast over a nation-wide radio hookup today in honor of the legion.

Highway 15 To Get U. S. Aid

WASHINGTON, March 15. (AP) — Representative Mahon (D-Tex) announced the Bureau of Public Roads has designated state highway No. 15 in West Texas as a part of the Texas system of federal aid highways.

The route designated is through Roby, Snyder, Gail, Lamesa, and Seminole, Tex., and thence to the New Mexico line. Mahon said the route is now eligible for improvement with the aid of federal funds.

Data On Growing Of Crops Is Offered

Information dealing with growing of truck featured a talk by Ralph R. Will of the Amarillo office of the Resettlement administration at the regular meeting of Lubbock County Irrigation association at the courthouse here Monday night. Will formerly was county farm agent at Portales, N. M., 13 years.

Will outlined the history of the truck growing industry of the Portales area from its beginning in 1921. He warned the approximately 100 farmers and business men attending that "there is lots of work in truck farming between the planting and the harvest." He also emphasized the need of cooperation of the farmers and the "local market."

Four points of importance in the truck industry, he said, were: Guarding against the overuse of soil depleting crops; the continued practice of the principles of farming and crop rotation; conservation of underground moisture; and selection of proper varieties of crops and reliable sources for obtaining seeds.

Dr. Harry L. Kent, director of administrative research at Texas Technological college, spoke briefly, stressing the need for water control and characteristic marketing problems.

Robert H. Bean, president, announced no meeting would be held next Monday. He said farmers would be notified later of the date for the next session.

Mimeographed material, compiled by J. E. Hancock and J. I. Exum, was distributed to prospective producers of cantaloupes.

FARMER VOTE HEAVY

COLLEGE STATION, March 15. (AP)—Totals from 148 Texas counties showed this afternoon that 142,398 farmers had voted for an 19,340 had voted against cotton marketing quotas in the referendum held Saturday.

Moore Rites At 3 Today

Last rites will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon for John Harvey Moore, 70, at the First Methodist church with Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, pastor, officiating, assisted by Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Burial will be directed by Yellowhouse chapter 841 of the Masonic lodge, of which Moore had been secretary 13 years, at Lubbock cemetery, according to Rix Funeral home. Marcus W. Weatherred of Coleman, past grand master, will have charge of Masonic services.

Taught Class 22 Years

Moore had been affiliated with the Methodist church since youth. He had taught a Sunday school class in the church here 22 consecutive years. He was grand high priest of the Masonic Grand Royal Arch of Texas in 1936.

He was secretary of the lodge at the time of his death, although he had not taken active part for several months due to illness. Hugh J. McClellan was acting secretary.

Former County Judge

He had served as county judge and ex-officio superintendent of schools in Lubbock county.

Active pallbearers will be Early Daniel, Neil H. Wright, T. E. May, Douglas Pounds, Guy Casey, B. F. Hodges, Joe Smith, and H. L. Godwin. Honorary pallbearers will be R. Butler, Earl Jones, Lee Cock, J. H. Lasiter, H. A. Davidson, Hill Stewart, W. W. Campbell, J. A. Barton, W. O. Sheely, Frank Moore, and H. H. Sides.

Summer Activities Of Group To Be Discussed Wednesday

Summer activities will be discussed at a dinner for Sons of the American Legion at Allen Bros. post Legion hall at 7 o'clock Wednesday night, according to E. Kelley Nail, member of the son's committee for the post.

Nail announced that $75 worth of baseball equipment was purchased for the boys Monday in preparation for participation in the Legion's junior baseball tournament this year.

Members of the drum and bugle corps, Nail said, will meet at 6 o'clock for an hour's practice before the dinner. No charge will be made for the meal.

Coyotes follow badgers around and let the badgers dig ground squirrels for them.

Safety School Is Tonight

First of the two demonstrations included in the traffic safety school sponsored here by Lubbock Safety council will feature the session to be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the National Guard armory, according to Mrs. H. F. Godeke, member of the committee in charge.

Scoggin-Dickey Motor company will furnish a cut-away chassis for the demonstration of mechanics of an automobile. F. L. McRee, associate professor of civil engineering at Texas Technological college, will be in charge of the class.

Hostesses will stand at the door of the armory to direct those who attend, and will act as ushers. They are Mrs. S. B. Haynes, chairman of the hostess group, Rotary club men and K. Carter and Sanders Parent-Teacher association members.

All persons interested in the safety drive are urged to attend, especially young people over 14 years old, Mrs. Godeke said.

Mexican Official Arrives To Investigate Juarez Death

EL PASO, March 15. (AP)—Chihuahau's attorney general, Ignacio Lomeli Jauregui, arrived in Juarez Monday to take personal charge of the investigation into the shooting affray in Juarez Saturday which resulted in the death of Federal Senator Angel Posada of Chihuahua City and the wounding of four other persons.

The leftist bloc, organization of Juarez labor unions, Monday protested to President Lazaro Cardenas of the shooting of Senator Posada. It charged the killing of the Mexican senator was purely "for political reasons" and that a severe punishment be given to the persons responsible.

First Lady Rides Tractor To Break Ground For Coast Fair

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15 (AP)—America's indefatigable First Lady rode a flower-bedecked tractor to break ground for the $500,000 federal building at the 1939 island World's fair site here Monday, as part of a strenuous day's program in her lecture tour.

Arriving by train from Los Angeles more than three hours late over rain-softened road-beds, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt had barely time to sandwich in all the things arranged for her by eager welcoming committees.

Denison Dam Is Favored

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 15 — The proposed $54,000,000 Denison dam to curb floods on the Red river and utilize their destructive forces for power development has received a favorable report from the war department.

Majority Leader Rayburn (D-Tex) predicted congress would pass an omnibus flood control measure this year and that it would include the Denison dam.

Included In Report

The department's recommendation on the project was included in a report sent to congress by Secretary Woodring recommending dam construction, flood control and river deepening projects on a number of waterways.

Woodring approved both the flood control and hydro-electric power generating features of the project and after noting that no local agency was in a position to stand the cost of the power feature, recommended that the government put up the entire $54,000,000 on one of the following three conditions:

Conditions Listed

1. A qualified private applicant be licensed by the Federal Power commission to operate the power generation and distribution features.
2. That some state agency or joint state agencies operate the power system.
3. The United States operate and maintain the power system as planned at Bonnerville dam.

The report said Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana would profit by the project, with Louisiana receiving two-fifths of the flood control benefits, and the other states one-fifth each. The lake to be created by the dam would lie in Texas and Oklahoma.

Boys Win In Stock Show

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, March 15 — Two 16-year-old boys, one a 4-H club member and the other a Future Farmer of America, left veteran cattle breeders sputtering in the dust of their home grown grand champion fat steers today at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show.

For Gordon Grote, Mason 4-H club boy, whose junior Hereford steer took the grand title, it was the second magnificent victory of 1938. His senior steer calf won the Western National show championship at Denver in January.

Glynn Duncan of Whitney, the F. F. A. member, whose 905-pound Shorthorn steer was reserve champion, declared he will be back next year with another Shorthorn which will win over all.

Triumph of the two youths was the highlight of the fourth day of the stock show which saw 26,493 enter the gates to establish a new Monday record.

Lubbock Men To Participate In Short Course In Memphis

Jno. A. Stinson and Leo Cook plan to leave Wednesday for Memphis, Tenn., to participate in the annual McClarey Bros. cleaning and dyeing short course, described as one of the largest in the nation. Stinson is head of a local cleaning and dyeing plant and Cook is his assistant laboratory technician.

Joining them here to make the motor trip to Memphis will be C. K. Kirkpatrick of Los Angeles, one of the foremost authorities in the handling of leathers and furs, who also will appear on the program. Kirkpatrick was a speaker at the cleaners and dyers short course here last year.
