Amarillo Hotel Fire Burns 3; Others Hurt

(By International News Service)
AMARILLO, May 11.—The bodies of three persons were recovered from the ruins of the Tourist Inn Hotel which was swept by fire early today. One man, said to be named Atchison, from Shamrock, Texas, received probably fatal injuries when he jumped from the top of the three-story frame structure. The hotel was operated by Fred Rogers, a blind man, who received probably fatal burns and Mrs. Birdie Rhodes, who received injuries when she jumped from the upper story. The three bodies found on the third floor were burned beyond recognition. None have so far been identified. The hotel register was recovered from the ruins and it was expected that the victims will be identified today. Two men were rushed to the hospital suffering from burns, and were thought to be R. Barnhart of Elk City, Okla., and C. H. Welchel, of Gainesville. The hotel was destroyed.

Chinese Warfare Becomes Serious

(By International News Service)
LONDON, May 11.—A critical condition exists at Canton, China, where fighting between Cantonese troops, nationalist supporters, and Kwangsi rebels was reported on the outskirts of the city, according to advices received from Hong Kong today. A number of Americans, English and other foreigners are in the city. In addition much American-owned property is in the endangered section. The Kwangsi insurgents outnumber the Cantonese defenders two to one, it is reported. It was also stated that the Kwangsi faction is endeavoring to overturn the Nanking government and plans to set up its own provisional government in Canton if it is successful.

Mother Meets Her Long Lost Daughter

(By International News Service)
FORT WORTH, May 11.—After having been separated for 19 years, Mrs. O. C. Taylor of Dallas, and Miss Beatrice Beasley of Sherman, mother and daughter, respectively, were reunited here recently. The meeting had been arranged by County Clerk Hollis after newspaper stories had placed the mother and daughter in communication with each other by telephone the day before they met.

Beatrice is a nurse at a Sherman hospital. Nineteen years ago she was placed in the Tarrant County Orphans Home by her mother along with five other children. The five were adopted by a Tyler family. Beatrice was later adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beasley of Whitewright. Mrs. Beasley died about a year ago and Mr. Beasley is in ill health. This state of circumstances led Beatrice to seek her kin.

"No one can rejoice more than I do at finding Beatrice," said Mrs. Taylor, "because I was left an orphan at three."

One officer will be sent to Los Angeles on July 1 to supervise the landing at that place.

Senate Rallying For Farm Bill

(By International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 11.—The senate, having twice rebuffed President Hoover in the farm relief administration forces, today is rallying its ranks to save the new Hoover-approved farm bill from further modification at the hands of the democratic insurgent coalition. After adopting the export debenture plan, which Hoover has thoroughly disapproved, the senate slashed out of the bill a provision proposing to give the president the extraordinary power of personally fixing the salary of the chairman of the proposed Federal Farm Board. This action in itself did not alarm administration leaders so much as its significance. They interpret it as meaning that the great "paper" majority in the senate has lost control of that branch to the old democratic insurgent alliance.

House Leaders Try For a Compromise

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Republican leaders in the house today took further steps to reach a compromise in the bitter fight over the Pawley tariff bill when republican members of the ways and means committee decided to call the bill back into the committee chambers to review the demands of the "farm bloc." The committee meeting will be held Tuesday.

James Trail is at home for the week-end visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Trail, and friends. He has with him as his guest, Robert Galloway of Corsicana.

If your water bill seems a little high don't blame the water meter or your department officials. More than likely there is a leak somewhere. The Ballinger Water Department is handing out to their customers at the present time a card showing on one side how to read a meter and on the other side a table showing what a small leak will do in 24 hours. One thirty-second of an inch drip will waste in 24 hours a total of 170 gallons. One-sixteenth of an inch leak will waste in 24 hours 970 gallons. A leak of one-eighth of an inch will waste in a single day 3600 gallons of water. The smallest of these leaks, the one thirty-second of an inch leak, will use in one month $12 worth of water figured at the rate of the local department, 20 cents per 1000 gallons. When your water bill seems a little high look at each of your hydrants and see if there is not a drip some place that is causing the trouble.

Tomorrow is Mother's Day. In this country this is a beautiful custom we have of honoring all mothers on the second Sunday in May. There will be no Mother's Day services here Sunday morning on account of the baccalaureate service with all churches participating, but the spirit of the day can be carried out just the same. Happy indeed should be the boy or girl who is privileged to honor his or her mother in the flesh. Make this Mother's Day mean something to the living mother and show her the love she deserves for bringing you into this life. Millions of red flowers will be worn Sunday for living mothers, and millions of white flowers will be worn in loving memory of mothers who have passed on to their reward. Regardless of where you go Sunday, place a flower in your buttonhole in honor of your mother.

BILIOUSNESS

Arkansan Convinced Since His Childhood That "Black-Draught Can't Be Beaten" For It.

West Helena, Ark.—"I am fifty-two years of age, and I have taken Black-Draught, when needed, all my life," writes Mr. G. L. Smith, of 253 North Third Street, this city.

"When I was just a child, my mother made Black-Draught tea, and gave it to me for colds and biliousness. It was a family medicine with us.

"After I was grown and went out on the farm, working hard, I would get a dull, tired feeling and a bad taste in my mouth. I would know then, that I was bilious. I would take a few doses of Black-Draught, and soon feel good as new.

"In later years, I have taken Black-Draught and it has helped me for constipation and biliousness, and I am still of the same belief, as when a child, that Black-Draught can't be beaten."

Thousands of men and women find Black-Draught of great help in relieving the common ailments, due to constipation, biliousness and indigestion.

Black-Draught is prepared from selected medicinal herbs and roots. A natural remedy for unnatural conditions of the system.

Costs only 1 cent a dose. NC-201

Homerun Proves Another Defeat

Five bobbles helped Big Spring defeat Ballinger in the opening game of the series here Friday afternoon. The day was windy and high hits were hard to judge. Three fly balls were dropped during the game and each of these bobbles proved fatal to the Bearcats. Red Hill, pitching for Ballinger, had only one bad inning during the game. Four hits and five runs were made by Big Spring in the fifth inning. An error started the ball to rolling and after the bases were loaded Pitcher Dobbs for Big Spring hit the ball over the fence. Dobbs should have been out and on the bench on a high hit foul ball but the ball was dropped and the next one resulted in one over the fence.

The game was the fastest played here this season and was only one hour and 45 minutes from the time the game started until it was over.

Dobbs pitched a fine game for Big Spring and only allowed six hits scattered over four innings.

Big Spring will be here again today and the Sunday game will be called at 3:30 at the Giant Park at Miles and both clubs will return here after the game.

Manager Bean had a change of heart Friday night and retained Infielder Brown on the team and gave Mandola the pink slip.

Three pitchers will report over the week-end and John King, a center fielder on the old Bearcat Club in 1921, will arrive Monday and suit out in a Bearcat uniform. John has been with Tyler in the Lone Star League this year and is hitting the ball at 370, which is pretty fair for an old man.

Big Tom Vaughn is due today for the Ballinger Club and should be in shape to turn in another win unless the breaks continue against the Cats or the boys start kicking the ball again.

Tory Campaign Is Mild Affair; No Excitement

By Harry R. Flory
LONDON, May 11.—England is in the throes of a general election campaign but the throes are not very violent.

The observer accustomed to blaring bands, torchlight parades and oratorical fireworks of an American presidential campaign is due for a shock if he expects such accompaniments in an English campaign.

Recently Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, leader of the conservative party, outlined his campaign to conservative members of parliament and party workers from all over the country. The meeting was staged at the Drury Lane Theatre at 11 o'clock in the morning. Such a meeting should compare favorably in importance with a republican or democratic national convention.

Cabinet ministers, with their under secretaries, the majority being garbed in short black coats and striped trousers, ranged themselves on the stage at the appointed time.

Premier Baldwin made his entrance at just the right moment, from the back center of the stage, striding quickly to his seat behind a table draped with the Union Jack in the center of the stage. The theatre had no other decoration. That lack of color might be excused since "New Moon" is running at the Drury Lane nightly.

The applause was anything but deafening. But the crowd did sing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

There were no other preliminaries. Baldwin rose, posed for one flashlight photograph and launched into his speech.

Lord Castleross, a contributor to the Sunday Express, was seated with other newspaper men in the orchestra pit. He said afterward that just as Baldwin started to speak he felt an irritation in his throat and had the urge to burst into a violent fit of coughing. He decided to exercise restraint and do his coughing under cover of the first burst of applause. And as a result, according to his story, he almost died of apoplexy.

Occasional cries of "Here, here," from the audience punctuated the speech. On only five or six occasions was there any more determined expressions of the audience's approval. The longest drawn out applause lasted 30 seconds.

Even Mr. Baldwin's assertion that English broccoli, a form of cauliflower, had begun to penetrate continental markets, failed to induce enthusiasm or laughter.

Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, sitting in the front row on the stage, crossed both his legs and his arms and dozed happily several times. He roused himself to join in the mild ministerial hand clapping when Mr. Baldwin paid a glowing tribute to Neville Chamberlain, their colleague at the health ministry.

Neville Chamberlain beamed his appreciation. Sir Austen, Neville's brother, did not applaud. He was basking in the reflected glory of his brother and probably considered it a family matter. Or perhaps he feared he would dislodge his monocle.

As Baldwin spoke he referred frequently to his notes. As he finished with each sheet of notes, he took up the sheet, folded it and tore it into bits which he threw on the table.

There was no attempt at oratory. Mr. Baldwin seemed quite pleased with himself. He rocked backward and forward on his heels as he spoke. Frequently he grasped the lapels of his coat with his hands, a favorite pose. He lampooned the opposition parties very gently.

There were many vacant seats in the theatre. That may or may not have been the fault of the organizer for admission was by card only.

And when it was all over in slightly more than an hour, including the voting of a resolution of confidence in Mr. Baldwin and his leadership, all filed out quietly, placed their high hats carefully on their heads and drove away in private cars and taxis.

Liberals and laborites, being in a minority position, inject a little more enthusiasm into their meetings—a little, not much.

A CORRECTION

I beg to make a correction to a statement made in your paper of Friday regarding the enforcement of cemetery taxes. You stated that it was more or less optional as to the payment of taxes assessed but this is an error. The Ballinger Cemetery Association is incorporated under the laws of Texas with power to levy taxes for maintenance purposes, can sue and be sued, can foreclose on unoccupied portions of lots for delinquent taxes, in fact, have all the powers that almost any other corporation has.

The board of directors hopes that it will never become necessary to exercise its power in order to collect taxes; we never have thus far, but some have been rather unthoughtful. It occurs to the board that if they can give of their time, without any remuneration whatever, surely the lot owners could keep up with their taxes paid up. It will be a great help at this time if you know yourself delinquent to pay up so that the work will not be retarded.

DETECTIVES' "BANJO EYES" FIND STOLEN PROPERTY

(By International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 11.—Harry Hirsch, city detective, has "banjo eyes."

Passing a pawnshop recently, he noticed an instrument hanging in the window that looked a little more valuable than do most banjos. He went inside, took the serial number, checked through a local music store to the factory and learned the instrument had been stolen from Kalamazoo, Mich.

The Kalamazoo concern reported two other banjos sold "on installments" to the same person at the same time, each valued at $500. Hirsch found the man who pawned them; also the other two banjos. The factory did not want to prosecute and were satisfied with the return of the instruments.

Decoration Day Program Made

The committee from the American Legion has announced the program that will be held at Evergreen Cemetery on Decoration Day, May 30.

The stores of the town will be asked to close at 6 o'clock in the afternoon and the program will start at the cemetery at 6:30. This hour has been set by the Legionnaires hoping that a large crowd will be present to honor the dead warriors of our country. The graves of all soldiers of all wars will be decorated.

Assembly will be held at 6:15 at the gate leading into the cemetery of the band, National Guard, American Legion, Spanish American War veterans and Confederate veterans. At 6:30 they will march to the grave in the center of the cemetery where the service will be held. The line of march will be: Colors and color guard, music, firing squad and National Guard, Confederate soldiers, Spanish-American War veterans, and American Legion. All American Legion members are requested to wear their caps and victory medals for this occasion.

After the parade reaches the grave the band will furnish one number of patriotic music. Post Commander M. C. Atkins will make a few introductory remarks. Chaplain E. W. McLaurin will lead the prayer and Rev. G. T. Reaves, pastor of the First Christian Church, will deliver the principal address. Following the address the band will play "Stars and Stripes Forever," and while this music is being played the ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary will go to the graves to be decorated and wait until the firing squad fires the salute to the dead. At this signal the flowers will be placed on the graves by the ladies and everybody will stand at attention as "Taps" is blown.

The program will be short and impressive and it is hoped that many local people will make their plans to be present. Last year on this occasion the crowd was very small and only those that were to have some part on the program were present.

The cemetery association plans to have all their improvement work done by the time of this program and the grove will be a beautiful place for such an occasion.

The Legion will furnish transportation for the band and National Guard and Capt. Dobbs of the National Guard has ordered all men to report in full uniform.
