Texas Pen Guard Slain In Battle--Alvin Ireland Escapes

SEVEN STATE PRISONERS IN DARING BREAK

Dog Sergeant at Imperial Farm Shot Down in Fight

TWO GUN BATTLES

Freed Men Heavily Armed As Officers Take Pursuit

HOUSTON, July 27. (AP)—Henry Ward, dog sergeant at Imperial State Farm No. 2, near Sugarland, was killed and two Richmond deputy sheriffs and two convicts were wounded following a break for freedom by seven men at the farm about 5:30 p. m. Friday.

The break, one of the worst in the history of the penitentiary farm system in South Texas, was marked by two running gun battles between officers and guards and the fleeing, desperate men, some of them armed heavily.

Ward lost his life when he rushed to the assistance of Jim Jester, a guard, who had been disarmed by the convicts. Jester's shotgun and pistol were taken from him and he was ordered to "Get away quick."

Shot Misses

Jester complied with the command and as he galloped his horse across the prairie, one of the convicts kneeled, leveled the shotgun and fired at the retreating figure.

Jester was unharmed, but Ward, when he rushed to his assistance, was shot from his horse with a shotgun and two bullets from a .45 caliber pistol were sent through his head and neck. He died almost instantly.

Seven convicts then trailed away, swam the Brazos river and scattered in the underbrush, fleeing westward toward the Sugarland-Houston highway.

Jester spread the alarm and officers from nearby towns joined the chase. Deputy Sheriffs Tom Davis and Henry Dell of Richmond "jumped" four convicts on the highway after the convicts had taken an automobile from a motorist, and a second battle followed.

Two Men Escape

During the exchange of shots, two of the convicts jumped from the automobile and escaped in the darkness. The other two, both wounded, were recaptured, but only after they had wounded both officers.

Davis was wounded seriously and Dell suffered flesh wounds. Both were taken to a hospital at Rosenburg.

Five of the men still at large have two guns in their possession and are expected to resist arrest. The officers and guards participating in the search were prepared to "shoot to kill."

Ireland Named

Officials at the farm could furnish the names of only four men involved in the break. They are R. R. Carter, serving 99 years; Alvin Ireland, serving 20 years; Fred Burkett, serving 10 years, and Johnny Collins, serving two years.

Ward, as dog sergeant, had charge of bloodhounds at the farm and was the officer in charge of tracking escaped men in previous breaks.

IRELAND CONVICTED OF DUNDEE RAID

Alvin Ireland, named as one of seven prisoners who late Friday escaped from the Imperial State farm at Sugarland, was convicted for the robbery of the First State bank of Dundee about three years ago after a daring daylight holdup of the bank by three men. He was also convicted on a charge of committing a similar robbery at a Loving, Young county, bank, which occurred just a few days after the Dundee robbery.

This is Ireland's third escape from state prisons, Wichita county officials said.

At the time Ireland was convicted for the robbery, Lewis Tillman and John Reed also were convicted, according to Ben Allred, district attorney.

About a year after they were sent to the penitentiary, Ireland and Tillman escaped and returned to this section, where a manhunt ended in their recapture a few days after the break.

Late Ireland gained temporary liberty in a short break, according to W. B. Bralley, sheriff. It was not known Saturday morning whether other men from this section were among those who escaped the prison farm. The names of only four of the men were given.

Bastrop Widow Given 45 Years In Murder Of Husband

JURY FINDS WOMAN GUILTY

Mrs. Rosie Waybourne Is Given Sentence

BASTROP, Texas, July 27. (AP)—A verdict of guilty of the murder of W. W. Waybourne, Smithville railroad man and a penalty of 45 years was fixed upon his 48-year-old widow, Mrs. Rosie Waybourne late Friday by a district court jury which heard Hugo Middleton, her blacksmith lover, tell of hiring a Mexican at her solicitation to do the killing.

The closing argument of District Attorney Merton L. Harris, a novelist, was punctuated by Mrs. Waybourne's sobs and cries from a cot near the witness stand.

Widow Hysterical

As the district attorney hurled the charge of "felon" at her, Mrs. Waybourne's hysteria provoked her to sit upright and scream:

"I didn't do it, I couldn't do it, I did not kill my husband."

She broke in again after Harris resumed his accusations.

The jury was out an hour and ten minutes.

The state made out the case mainly with the testimony of Middleton and W. P. Rascoe, San Antonio detective, hired by the blacksmith and Mrs. Waybourne to "find the guilty party no matter who it is." This was Harris' quotation of Mrs. Waybourne, whom he said urged him to divert suspicious in Smithville from her and Middleton. The latter told of a year's planning to get Waybourne out of the way after refusing to do the killing himself at Mrs. Waybourne's request, he said. Testimony developed that Middleton and Mrs. Waybourne had been paying her husband's premiums on insurance totaling $12,000.

Killing in March

The Mexican horse breaker, Joe Morales, whom Middleton claimed to have hired to kill Waybourne, never was produced in court. County officials said his whereabouts is not known.

Waybourne was found beaten to death in bed last March 11 by Mrs. Waybourne after an overnight trip to Austin. Middleton testified she gave him Waybourne's room key before leaving and he gave it to the Mexican.

The defense failed in the attempt to show a motive for Middleton's implication of the widow in the confession by attempting to prove that he previously had confessed to her that he poisoned his 83-year-old father. The blacksmith is under indictment in both deaths.

Ely Denies Wardlaw's Road Favor Charge

ABILENE, Texas, July 27. (AP)—Judge W. R. Ely, member of the State Highway commission, today flatly denied the allegation reported to have been made last night at Arlington by Louis J. Wardlaw, candidate for governor, that Ely had promised voters of Eastland county a $1,000,000 appropriation for highway construction in exchange for support of Gov. Dan Moody for re-election.

"That is absolutely without foundation. I have never made such a promise," declared Judge Ely.

Crimean Veteran's Age Gains Three Years When He Finds Old Certificate

NEWARK, N. J., July 27. (UP)—Dr. Edwin Pye Turner Onslow Osaldeston, to all intents and purposes, had reached the age of 96 years on Thursday. Today he was 99.

Dr. Edwin Pye Turner Onslow Osaldeston's sudden maturity was not so startling in view of the fact that he is—in addition to being a veteran of the Crimean war—an advocate of excitement, physical activity and publicity as aids to longevity.

At the vigorous age of 96, Dr. Edwin Pye, etc., could indulge freely in excitement, physical activity and publicity as aids to longevity, but the weight of nearly a century forced him to relax, he said. He has taken up the ancient and colorful art of archery, which must have been a bit old-fashioned even in the doctor's tender years.

The little matter of three years, by the way, was cleared up when Dr. Edwin Pye, etc., found a rather musty birth certificate hidden away between trophies of the battle of Balaklava and William Tell's overture. The subject of the certificate (Edwin Pye Turner Onslow Osbaldeston) was ending the first day of his career on July 27, 1829, it was recorded.

In the ensuing century, the doctor calculated, there must have been a mistake of three years.

But, despite the fact that the Crimean war veteran celebrated his 99th birthday last December 27, he was blowing a collection of candles

ANOTHER OIL HIKE FORECAST

Other Buyers Quick To Meet Humble Raise

More money for oil means more money for all and the sentiment was growing among Wichita Falls oil men Friday that still better oil news is to be uncovered within a short time.

Major crude oil purchasers lost no time in getting on the Standard Oil company of New Jersey's band wagon and by Friday night all save one had posted new schedules to conform with the Humble's pace setter of Thursday.

Light Oil Wanted

The rapidity with which other companies placed their prices on a level with Humble's was interpreted here as meaning that light oil is being sought more seriously than it has been for two years, or since the prices started tumbling.

Even Magnolia was expected to meet the raise within a few days although that company had acted as the vane when the price structure was tilted so decidedly in the wrong direction. Magnolia, it is said, has access to so much production of its own as to make it hesitant in seeking more.

Fall In Line

The Texas, Continental, Gulf, Sinclair, Panhandle and Prairie Oil and Gas companies all announced adoption of the new schedules Friday with such rapidity that observers could not help feel optimistic in view of past instances when there were always from one to a half dozen purchasers who held back for several days when a change was made in either direction.

Word from the Panhandle says that operators there feel good. Development in that great district has been practically at a standstill for many months. The new price revision is more favorable to the Panhandle that to any other section.

Mid-West Raise

Still another light oil district was heard from Friday in a wire from Findlay, Ohio, which said that the Ohio Oil company announced an increase in price for Central West crude. The new prices which are increased five cents a barrel are: Lima, $1.80; Indiana, 1.37; Illinois, $1.55; Princeton, $1.58; and Plymouth, $1.28. Wooster was increased 10 cents a barrel to $1.67.

Aged Woman Faces Court In Third Liquor Trial

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 27. (UP)—An 80-year-old woman, Mrs. Bridget McCarthy, today stood before Judge Fred R. White in police court for the third time in five months.

Sergeant Clarence Ryan testified he found a quart of liquor in her home yesterday and a dozen or more empty bottles. Mrs. McCarthy was assessed a fine of $100 and a jail sentence of 30 days.

"Do you drink much of the liquor?" asked Judge White.

"Only in the marnin'," replied Mrs. McCarthy.

Election Returns Flashed Tonight At Times Office

GRAND JURY BLAMES JAIL FOR ESCAPES

Officers Exonerated In Report Friday To Judge Thornton

12 TRUE BILLS VOTED

Shook Indicted On Charge of Driving While Intoxicated

Members of the sheriff's department were exonerated of all blame in the recent breaks from the Wichita county jail in a report made by the Wichita county grand jury to Judge E. G. Thornton when the jury recessed until Tuesday morning after an all-day session Friday. The brief report of the jury had to do entirely with the construction of the jail. Other recommendations were omitted.

At the time the jury was impaneled July 2, the jurors were instructed by Judge Thornton to investigate claims of W. G. Bralley, sheriff, that construction of the interior of the jail was to blame for the recent breaks and to make whatever recommendations the jurors thought necessary.

Shook Held in Jail

Tom Shook, erstwhile peace officer at Electra, was indicted by the jury on charges of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He is being held in jail in default of $1,000 bond. Earlier in the term the jury indicted Shook, Ed Pryor, Electra constable, and Henry Shumate, escaped prisoner, on a joint charge of burglary. Shook and Pryor were released on bond of $1,500.

A few days ago Shook again was arrested, after an Electra cafe owner reported a disturbance. Shook was lodged in jail here and charged with driving while drunk. It is from this charge the indictment grew.

A man, previously indicted, was reindicted on two counts because of faulty first indictments. He is not under arrest. Nine other indictments were returned by the grand jury Friday.

They included indictments against W. H. Bennett, forgery and passing; W. J. Padgett, forgery and passing; W. H. Barney, operating a motor vehicle while drunk; Ray Sanders, negro, forgery and attempting to pass a forged instrument (two indictments); Ed Thompson, negro, burglary; Moss Daniels, negro, burglary; Vera Dunn, arson, and an indictment on forgery and passing against a man not yet under arrest.

Report Filed

The jurors were ordered to report to Judge W. W. Cook, 89th district court, upon reconvening Tuesday.

The report of the jury to Judge Thornton follows:

"Hon. E. G. Thornton,

"Judge of the 30th judicial district.

"We, your grand jury beg to report that as per your instructions, we have made an examination of the interior arrangement of the county jail as to the causes of recent jail breaks and find that said arrangements make it easy for prisoners to reach and overpower the jailer at any time it is necessary for him to open the cell doors, either for the handling of prisoners or for the placing of supplies in their cells, and recommend that proper safeguards be placed around the entrances to the main cells, which we think would make it possible to avoid jail breaks.

"We further recommend that an entrance to a cell on the second floor be made in order that holdover prisoners and drunks may be handled without placing them with the more hardened criminals.

STUMP PLEAS DIE TO ECHOES

Candidates Yield Fate To Election Today

AUSTIN, Texas, July 27. (AP)—A copious wealth of campaign oratory, hitting its peak on election eve, died into silence Friday night, echoing the weary candidates' promises and claims of past accomplishments upon the ears of thousands of voters who attended the final rallies and listened by radio.

A total vote of around 700,000 seems probable in the primary election Saturday. The campaign has not provoked the interest it did during the memorable Moody-Ferguson fight for governor two years ago, when 821,234 votes were polled.

Weather Is Factor

In case of bad weather, the expected total for Saturday may be materially reduced, especially in the rural sections.

Thirty-four candidates are bidding for state office, if the post of United States senator is properly classed under that head. Twelve of the candidates are out for reelection.

Among these are Gov. Dan Moody. His vote in the first primary two years ago was 409,732. If he should approximate that again, and the total vote run no more than the expected 700,000 he would win without a run-off.

On the same 700,000 basis, if L. J. Wardlaw, another candidate for governor supported by former Gov. James E. Ferguson, gets about the same vote Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson got in 1926, and the other two candidates poll enough to run the three's combined total over 350,000, Governor Moody would be forced into a run-off. Mr. Ferguson got 283,483 votes. Lynch Davidson, another 1926 candidate for governor polled 122,449 votes. The manner in which that block of votes is distributed Saturday may have a large bearing on the results.

Final Stands Made

Congressman Tom Connally, candidate for United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield's seat, made his final stand at Fort Worth, where he had arranged to broadcast from radio station WBAP.

Mayfield's closing date was at San Antonio and that of Mrs. Fisher Cunningham, also seeking his seat, at Galveston. Her headquarters announced here Friday that a "distinguished broadcaster" also would speak for her by radio from San Antonio. Congressman Tom Blanton, another senatorial candidate, went to Abilene for a home coming speech and Alvin Owsley, a fifth opponent of Mayfield's wound up at Dallas.

Besides these five senatorial candidates, a sixth, Jeff McLemore of Hebronville, is on the ticket.

English Seaplane Balks In Return From Azores

HORTA, Azores, July 27. (US)—Capt. Frank T. Courtney, English trans-Atlantic flier, failed this afternoon to get his Dornier-Wall seaplane off the water for the resumption of his flight to New York. Examination showed that the hull of the ship was encrusted with barnacles and this was blamed for the plane's failure to rise. Captain Courtney had made a previous unsuccessful attempt to get away Thursday morning.

Hoover Welcomed By 100,000 in Home Town

Oil Fire Controlled After Causing Death Toll and $1,250,000 Loss

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 27. (UP)—An oil fire which started early today and spread over the surface and banks of the Buffalo river, causing damage estimated at $1,250,000, was brought under control tonight. Thirty fire companies and two fire boats had fought the blaze throughout the day.

A strong west wind, which started about dusk, aided the fire fighters in saving a score of big oil storage tanks along the river front.

One man was found dead, another was missing, and 28 firemen were injured, according to a check at dusk when the blaze was threatening a score of oil storage tanks near the river front. Officials said only a change in wind could save the big tanks.

An explosion of unknown origin on the barge of John F. Cahill started the fire, which spread over the river after 1,500 barrels of crude oil had been ignited. The barge, an oil steamer, and the fireboat Gratten were destroyed and damage to railroad tracks and nearby property was estimated at $1,000,000.

RECORDS MAY BE TOPPLED IN ELECTION

Wichita Voters Expected To Set New Mark At Polls

FEW IDLE VOTERS

Local Races Vie With State Contests For Citizens' Favor

By FRANK GRAHAM
The Record News Staff

The answer of almost a million voters of Texas will roll out from the precinct polls of every hamlet, town and city of the state today as the mighty pencil expresses the approval or distaste of citizens for Democratic candidates.

Friday night hundreds of precinct, county, district and state office seekers of the Lone Star expressed themselves as universally confident of victory; Saturday night their fate will have been decided. When the polls close at 7 o'clock tonight the hopes of scores will be buried beneath a deluge of votes while the dirge to other hopes will be stayed yet another 30 days.

An unprecedented vote is expected in Wichita county, despite the facts that this is the homing place of the "Constitutionals" and a near Republican stronghold.

More than 18,000 persons have qualified as voters here. Ordinarily three-fifths of those qualifying vote in the Democratic primary in Wichita county. This was true in 1928, even when Republicans had a small party of their own in the never hoped for G. O. P. primary in Texas.

May "Save" Votes

But here, where dislike for Smith gave birth to the first "Constitutional Democratic" group, a number are expected to stay away from the polls in order to be able conscientiously to vote for the Republican national nominee in November.

Of those who paid poll taxes here, 3,500 perhaps are Republicans who will stay out of the Democratic primaries. Hundreds of other persons probably will not be sufficiently interested in the election to go to the polls.

But those who should like to stay out of the Democratic primaries probably will remember that nominations by the party always has been equivalent to election in Texas. Realizing the futility for hope of carrying the state for the Republican nominee, numbers of the G. O. P. here probably will sacrifice their vote for Hoover in order that they may have a voice in the election of friends to state and county office.

In Wichita county campaigning for a number of local offices has reached white heat. Where friendship was, near bitterness stalks, after an intensive campaign of extensive mud-slinging.

Accusations have been hurled in the heat of battle for the people's favor which have severed, at least temporarily, friendships of long standing.

District Races Hot

It is probable that most interest has been aroused in the sweepstakes for the office of district attorney, where W. L. Scott, E. F. Fruechte, John B. Rhea and Sam Spence are the entries. All are fast racers, and the winner impossible of prediction.

Another race where blows have been averted but where personalities have been bandied back and forth with hot intensity is that for judge of the 78th district court. Ben F. Allred, H. F. Weldon, George A. Smoot and W. W. Cook have spared not, neither have they been spared. This office, as that for district attorney, probably will not be de-

WHEAT RECEIPT RECORDS GROW

1,262 Cars Poured Into Kansas City Pit

KANSAS CITY, July 27. (INS)—Wheat receipts records continued to fall here today like ripe grain before the knves of a binder.

Another record for a single day's receipts was broken as seven middle western states poured their golden crop into the lap of Kansas City's primary market.

Today's receipts totaled 1,262 cars, 10 more than the previous record established last Saturday. Today marked the fourth day this year that the single day receipt record had been broken.

Another new record for one week's receipts already had been established this week. Elevators here have already received 7,123 cars this week, and the previous high for one week's receipts, set last week, was 6,549 cars.

A new record for one month's receipts is also assured. The present high was established in July, 1926, when 22,821 cars of wheat arrived here. Twenty thousand, eight hundred and eighty-eight cars have already been received this month and it is estimated that the total month's receipts will reach 25,000.

The quality of the wheat is improving rapidly and the moisture content steadily decreasing.

The states which shipped wheat into Kansas City today are Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado, New Mexico and Nebraska.

AUSTIN, July 27. (AP)—Rain last night and today was general through South Central Texas, breaking a dry period extending back to July 7.

Clyde Wofford Urges Separation of Church and State

My attention has been called to a letter which was mailed out by the Rev. Floyd A. Bash, pastor of the First Christian church of Wichita Falls, urging the members of his church "to work and vote for" my honorable opponent, Burl Bryant, for county superintendent, and as an argument for his support, stating that he thinks "it good church sense and common sense to work and vote for those who are working to build up the same things you love and sacrifice for."

Sec. 4, Art. 1 of our State Constitution provides that "no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust in this state; nor shall any one be excluded from holding office on account of his religious sentiments, provided that he acknowledges the existence of a Supreme Being."

Sec. 6, Art. 1 of our State Constitution provides that "all men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own conscience. No man shall be compelled to attend, erect, or support any place of worship or to maintain any ministry against his consent. No human authority ought, in any case whatever to control or interfere with the rights of conscience in matters of religion, and no preference shall ever be given by law to any religious society or mode of worship. But it shall be the duty of the legislature to pass such laws as may be necessary to protect equally every religious denomination in the peaceable enjoyment of its own mode of public worship."

CLYDE WOFFORD

I am a firm believer in the separation of church and state and of the above-mentioned provisions of our State Constitution, granting to every man, woman and child, the natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of his own conscience. I do not criticize any man for his religious views, and I concede to every man the right to join any church, Catholic, Hebrew or Protestant, which he may elect to join. I grant unto them the same privileges that I enjoy, to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of his own conscience.

I am a protestant and a Baptist by faith and belief, still, I ask no man or woman to cast his vote for me because of my religious faith, and I do not believe that you should vote against me simply because I am not of your religious faith and do not belong to your church. I believe that a man should be elected to office only upon his merits and qualifications for office and not upon his "religious beliefs" and church affiliations.

I would like to have the votes of all good people, whether you be Baptists, Methodists, Lutherans, Presbyterians, Catholics, Jews, or other religious denominations, as well as of the Christian church of which my honorable opponent, Burl Bryant, is a member, if after investigation, you believe me worthy and qualified to discharge the duties of the office. We should have no "church issue" in this or any other race, as members of all churches are making one common fight to reach a common goal, to prepare for the great hereafter. It is unimportant in this race to what church we respective candidates belong; the real issue is; qualification and merit. Upon this issue alone, I stand and pledge my candidacy for the office of county superintendent. If elected to the office, I will give to every one, regardless of his religious faith, the very best service of which I am capable, and without any favoritism.

Tunney Receives His Full Share But Blames Tex For Big Flop

NEW YORK, July 27. (INS)—Although declaring the main reason for the flop of the championship bout was Tex Rickard's failure "to tend to business," Gene Tunney today received the balance of his guarantee of $525,000.

A check for $325,000 was sent to Tunney's lawyers today by the promoter.

Tunney had already received $200,000 from Rickard, according to an agreement entered into when Tunney signed for the fight.

Rickard's answer to Tunney's declaration that he would take a cut was the sending of the balance of the guarantee to Tunney's lawyers.

A check was also sent to the boxing commission for $195,533.34 which is 37½ per cent of the net receipts and the champion's share according to law. Gene may call for this check any time he likes but when he gets it he'll probably hand it back to Rickard or place it among his souvenirs.

Tunney seldom has been as genial and affable as he was today. He had just returned from Searboro where he visited his mother, Mrs. Mary Tunney, and beamed his satisfaction at the outcome of last night's fight.

"Tom Heeney is a fine boy, as fine a man and as courageous a fighter as I ever shall meet," he said. "He is the soul of sportsmanship and a loveable, earnest man who should be and is a credit to the game. I am sorry for him because of the physical and mental discomfort of losing, but I am glad he had the opportunity to make the money and earn the glory."

Asked about the injury to Heeney's eye and if he had thrust his thumb into it in such a way as to double the lashes back, Tunney said tartly:

"I don't go around sticking my thumb in opponents' eyes. If I had to win that way, I wouldn't be in the business. What actually happened was that I hit Tom a tremendous clip over the eye and the optical nerve temporarily was paralyzed.

Recalls Old Yarn

"It's difficult to describe my feelings as I saw the old boy clawing at his eye and blinking so strangely. I backed away and a story Gene Delmont, the lightweight fighter of a few years ago, told me, kept running through my mind.

"He told me he was fighting on the coast when he was struck a tremendous blow over the eye. When he went to his corner he said to his seconds: 'Open my left eye for me—it's stuck.' The second told him that the eye was open and Delmont, aghast, said: 'If the eye's open, I'm blind—stone blind.'

"Delmont recovered the sight of his eye under careful attention but I felt a sickening sensation as I realized that Heeney might have been blinded. I guess that's the reason I stepped back and dropped my guard as he kept brushing at his eye with his gloved hand. Luckily, I understand, the injury was only temporary."

Next Gate Big One

Asked if he expected to retire, Tunney denied that he had any intention of doing so for several years yet. He ventured the opinion that his next fight—if a suitable opponent should be picked—would result in another huge gate such as prevailed during the ascendency of Jack Dempsey.

"Why, I'm right at my peak now," he said. "I'm punching better, boxing better and feeling better than ever before. Why should I retire? I'm ready to fight any man the public believes would make a good match, and I'm not, as some have intimated, picking my opponents with an eye to building up a reputation.

"I don't know who my next opponent will be, but I imagine it will be Johnny Risko. He has improved more than any fighter in the game since I fought him some three years ago and is a dangerous man for any one to meet.

"As for Jack Sharkey, it seems that he has fought himself out of the picture. He had many chances to make good—to scale the heights, but he fell down. I don't believe he ever will get a chance at the championship now. But if he is the most logical contender, he certainly will not be barred, at least not by Tunney."

PLAN ROUND TRIP JAUNT

Los Angeles Trio To Fly To London and Back

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 27. (INS)—Los Angeles to London and return!

This is the proposed itinerary next spring of an airplane trip, plans for which are being developed today by Capt. W. R. Lancaster, British flier, who will be one of the three adventurers attempting the lengthy jaunt.

Lancaster announced that his companions would be Mrs. Keith Miller, who with him set a distance record for a flight from England to Australia, and Capt. Harry Lyon, navigator of the "Southern Cross" on its recent hop to Australia.

The 12,000-mile flight will be made in a Los Angeles-built plane and the expedition will be financed here, Lancaster said. The trio will hop off some time between March 15 and May 15.

Plans call for a stop-over at New York for refueling, then following the great circle route across the Atlantic to England.

HEAVY TEXAS VOTE EXPECTED

Wichita County May Set New Mark

cided until the voters with their iconoclastic pencils have marched a second time to the polls.

The race for county attorney, likewise, is expected to draw out hundreds who otherwise would not vote. The campaign has been waged in a swirl of accusation and condemnation. The four candidates, Bill Davenport, Wayne Somerville, Robert K. Crain and W. E. Wilson all give good reason for the optimism that they hold.

A test of the "Constitutional" Democrat against the Democrat is expected when doom giving pencils reach the lowly offices of precinct chairmen, where both factions have advanced almost complete slates.

Another test of party trend is seen in the race for representative of the 112th district, Wichita and Wilbarger counties, where two of the candidates have announced their purpose of supporting the national nominee of the party and a third has declared that he will vote for the Republican, Herbert Hoover. A. V. Grant is the Hoover man. His opponents are Early Van Deventer and Cecil Storey.

Pledge Upheld

Meanwhile precinct chairmen have been carefully instructed in the manner of procedure. The pledge, word has gone out from E. C. DeMontel, county chairman, must be enforced. Precinct chairmen have been instructed to advise voters at their precinct boxes that if the pledge appearing at the top of the ballot, is scratched, the entire ballot is voided.

The polls open at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, closing 11 hours later. Judges, in addition to the precinct chairmen, will be stationed at each of the 39 boxes of the county. Each hour after the polls, have closed the result of the count of ballots, as it proceeds through the night, will be announced.

And at the building of The Times Publishing company on the corner of Scott and Seventh streets, results as they come in from over the city, county and state will be flashed upon a screen across the street from the office. Police have promised to give the same able assistance in handling the crowd of 10,000 expected that they gave the night of the Tunney-Heeney fight.

Precinct boundaries, polling places and a copy of the official ballot were published in The Record News of Friday and The Times of Thursday.

Shepherd Speaks At School Ceremony

R. E. Shepherd was principal speaker at the laying of the cornerstone of the new $50,000 school at Valley View, 12 miles north of Nocona Thursday afternoon. The ceremonies, in charge of the Masonic order, were attended by a large crowd, including a number of Wichita Falls Masons. The program began at 3 o'clock.

Judge E. W. Nicholson took charge of the county judge's office on Jan. 1, 1927, and since said time has never failed to be at the office for one single day. He is attentive to business, kind and courteous to the people having business with him or the commissioners court. Let's give him another term.—(A political adv. paid by friends.

Wichitan Appeals to County To Cast Heavy Vote for Gov. Moody

Efficient and Honorable Government, Free of Graft Charges, "Red-Head's" Work for State

Charging that politicians of Texas have no hopes of defeating Dan Moody in his race for re-election but that they hope simply for a large enough vote to cripple his power and influence in the state in the next two years, R. O. Kenley has addressed an open letter to the citizens of Wichita county through the Record News urging that they return the governor with an overwhelming majority as they did in the similar cases of Jim Hogg and Charles A. Culberson.

The letter follows:

To the citizens of Wichita county:

It may not be so important as to who will be our next president or as to who will fill our local county offices, but as to who will be our next governor means much for the continued progress and development of the great state of Texas.

Four years ago, the people of Texas elected as their attorney general a red headed boy who was then serving as district attorney of one of the judicial districts of Texas. They selected him as attorney general because of his honesty, integrity, courage and fidelity to every trust imposed in him. He served two years as attorney general of Texas, and none of the citizens of the state of Texas had any occasion to apologize for his conduct officially, personally or otherwise, but on the contrary, he proved to be one of the most courageous, law-enforcing officers that Texas or any other state ever had. He attacked graft and corruption wherever it showed its head, and single-handed, with the then executive on his shoulders, he emerged victorious in every contest, and as a result of his courageous action saved many hundreds of thousands of dollars to the state of Texas, and in addition preserved the honor and integrity of the state and its people.

Makes Fine Record

As a reward for the courageous, vigilant and efficient services rendered, the people of Texas two years ago elected this man as its governor. Since his election as governor no scandal or corruption of any kind has been connected with any department of the state of Texas, but on the contrary, the executive, all appointive officers under him, as well as all other holders of high state offices have conducted their personal and official affairs in such way as to merit the good will and respect of everyone, and have restored to the great state of Texas the good will and esteem of all states and nations.

This man has made for Texas a great governor, and today Texas is making strides in business, social and educational lines unequalled by any other state in the union, and for the next two years, under a continuance of his administration, Texas will make greater progress an ddevelopment than for any former period.

A few months back, Texas' governor attempted to play the role of a political leader. He soon became entangled with the politicians pro and con, and not being a politician, but a gentleman instead, he emerged from the contest with the ill will of some of the politicians, but with his integrity as a man, gentleman and statesman unsullied, and today, so far as his integrity is concerned and his fitness to fill the governor's office is concerned, he stands without a peer.

Campaign by Politicians

In the last few weeks, designing politicians have commenced an active campaign against him, not with any hope of defeating him, but for the purpose of crippling his power and influence during the next two years as governor of the great state of Texas. If his enemies and the enemies of good government could succeed in having cast against him on next Saturday a large negative vote, they would be satisfied, feeling that they had rebuked him for his conduct in not becoming a tool in the hands of the politicians of Texas.

For your information, I want to remind you that after the lamented Jim Hogg had served Texas as its governor for two years and caused to be enacted some of the best laws on the statute books of Texas today, the politicians gathered and demanded that he should surrender his seat as the governor of Texas. They caused Judge Clark of Waco, one of Texas' greatest lawyers, to become a candidate against him, with the slogan "Turn Texas Loose." The integrity of Governor Hogg as a man and as a governor stood without a blemish, and the people on election day returned the governor to office by an overwhelming vote. Two years later, the lamented Charles A. Culberson was elected governor of Texas, and after giving to Texas a great administration for two years, and after he had refused to take the dictates of the politicians, his head was demanded by the politicians of the state, and in an effort to defeat him, the grand old man of Texas, John H. Reagan, was induced to become a candidate against him, but the people refused to be fooled by the politicians and Charles A. Culberson was again elected as governor.

Now we have Dan Moody as our governor who belongs in the class with Governors Hogg and Culberson and whose every act as governor of Texas during the past two years has been in the interest and in furtherance of the state of Texas and its people, and again we have the politicians demanding that he surrender his seat, but the people of Texas now are going to be by Dan Moody like they were by Jim Hogg and Charlie Culberson, they are not going to let the politicians cause them to cast their ballots against one of the most honorable and efficient governors Texas ever had.

On next Saturday it behooves every good citizen in Texas to go to the polls and cast their vote for Dan Moody for governor of the state of Texas.

R. O. KENLEY.

Candidates End Campaign Talks

the state capitol will be closed for election day. In the summer, the capitol knocks off Saturday afternoon anyway, so the employees really lose half a day by the fact that the election is on Saturday.

Thomas B. Greenwood, associate justice of the supreme court, Attorney General Claude Pollard, and George B. Terrell, commissioner of agriculture, are the only state candidates without opposition.

In the governor's race, Governor Moody is opposed besides Wardlaw, by Mrs. Edith E. Wilmans, Dallas county and William E. Hawkins, Stephens county, former justice of the supreme court. Mrs. Wilmans was in the last race.

Parnell vs. Miller

Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller is opposed for reelection by J. D. Parnell, Wichita county, H. L. Darwin, Lamar county, State Senator Tom Love, Dallas county, and John D. McCall, Jefferson county.

For railroad commissioner, the present incumbent, Lon A. Smith is opposed by Jefferson Smith, recently of the state department of education.

State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher's only opponent for reelection is Grover Cleveland Harris of Dallas county.

Land Commissioner J. T. Robison, who has served in that capacity for nearly 20 years, has three opponents in his reelection race. They are E. I. Flynt, Hardeman county; Otis Terrell, Travis county, and Andrew J. Britton, Wood county. Although conducting a quiet campaign, Commissioner Robison has been in Northwest Texas and the panhandle for the past two weeks re-valuing gold state lands, as provided by act of the legislature.

Three candidates opposing the reelection of State School Supt. S. M. N. Marrs are W. F. Garner, Nacogdoches county, H. P. Davis, Travis county, and W. E. James, Travis county.

J. D. Jones, Travis county, is the only candidate opposing Comptroller S. H. Terrell for reelection and Lee P. Pierson of Dallas county, is the only opponent of Presiding Judge W. C. Morrow of the court of criminal appeals, seeking another term.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER

He Has Made Good

The enormous business transacted by the County Commissioners Court of Wichita County makes it necessary for the public good that these duties should be attended to by business men of experience and training in county affairs. Mr. Bundy is a man of unquestioned integrity, broad business experience and his record of road improvement, county tax reduction, and economy in business affairs, recommend him highly to the people of this precinct for re-election.

Mr. Bundy has been very active in securing tax reductions for the coming year, which it is estimated will save the tax payers of this county about $177,000 annually.

Mr. Bundy has been on the job. He has worked diligently as commissioner and has given a very large percentage of his time to the details of the management of road improvement and all of the varied work that falls upon the commissioners of this county. He is progressive without being impractical. He is economical without being shortsighted. He has tried to get a dollar's worth of results for every dollar expended of the people's money.

Ramblin'

Marie Theresa

RAMBLIN' has regained all its pleasures with no rain apparent today. But the absence of rain Friday has caused us to lose a few citizens who might have otherwise given up starting out on summer trips. They have been watching the skies for the last week, and had about given up the usual summer wandering about. But today makes 'em ambitious again, and now they've really gone.

YOU LADIES who have been so elated over the result of the fight Thursday evening between Tunney and Heeney, have probably never received so graphic description of Tunney as Marie Theresa received today from an admirer of Dempsey.

Tunney, despite all tales to the contrary, is not a perfect Adonis—the man has pipe stem legs!

THIS matter of catering to ladies is costing a business man in town more than he reckoned. He doesn't yet see an end to the thing. Some two weeks ago, a certain business man gave a party to a group of ladies, all of them members of the Woman's Forum. He had to pay 'em to come, a dollar a lady, so a pretty good number turned out.

He offered a $10 prize to the lady who submitted the best name for a certain product of his plant, and according to agreement, paid off.

Now the lady turned around and donated the prize money toward a junior college scholarship from the Woman's Forum, challenging B. M. to another $10 to match the first.

A MEMBER of the office force has just passed around a box of candy won on the Heeney-Tunney fight last night. Said she had put up a bet with an athlete in training who couldn't have eaten the candy had Heeney won the fight. Even a timid fellow should be able to present a box of candy with more honor to himself. We can't think much of that fellow, Cub.

GIRLS who have a domestic trend of mind are a part of the law of averages just as other things are. Richard W. Lewis, partner of the oldest kitchen furnishing concern in New York, says that a man's chances of getting an ideal wife are three out of ten. That's summing it down pretty closely.

He bases his deductions on years of experience in watching women choose furnishings for their kitchens. American wives fall into five classes, he believes, homemakers, 30 per cent; can opener type, 20 per cent; nagging type, 15 per cent; drudge type, 20 per cent; and the baby doll type, 15 per cent.

Guests were as follows: Allie Mae Pink, Alma Pink, Dorothy Lewis, Charline Lewis, La Moss Lanier, Georgia Gorin, Evelyn Gillespie and the honoree.

King of Confidence Men in Custody

SAN PEDRO, Calif., July 27. (INS)—Dr. Lester Parker, Philadelphia, said by police to be the outstanding confidence man of the country, was arrested by Los Angeles detectives as he stepped off the engineers' gangway of the liner H. F. Alexander here today, police reported.

Posing as a naval medical officer, Parker assertedly secured money from acquaintances made on steamships and railroad trains, police declared.

Department of commerce investigators and special detectives of the American Railway Express company who accompanied police declared that Parker is the most sought confidence man in the country.

Grocers Friendly To Farm Food Bazaar

ENID, Okla., July 27. (AP)—A bazaar at which farm wives sell food raised at their homes and prepared in their kitchens is held in Enid every Saturday.

Grocers, instead of looking at the bazaar as a rival, are friendly to it, believing that the women spend their income at the stores for things that are not raised on farms. The grocers even provide the farm wives' market with a price list, to which the bazaar adheres.

The bazaar usually opens at 8 o'clock in the morning and closes early in the afternoon. Thus the women have several hours for shopping before they go back to their country homes to prepare the evening meal.

Sales at the bazaar total as much as $500 some Saturdays. Twenty to 40 women bring food, and each pays 50 cents for the privilege of using a booth.

Fresh vegetables, dressed chickens, country sausage, butter, bread, cakes, pies, sweet milk and butter milk are among the foods from the farm offered to the Enid housewives. The market is maintained in the building occupied by the county farm bureau.

SHORT SKIRTS CAUSE OUTCRY

Hungarian Girls Wear 'Em Extremely Brief

BUDAPEST, July 27. (AP)—Prominent society women have opened a campaign against the short skirts worn by Hungarian girls. It is charged that nowhere in the world has the style for brevity been carried to such startling extremes as in Hungary.

The appearance of girls and young women on the promenades and in the fashionable tea rooms along the Danube with skirts four or five inches above the knee has produced an outcry in press, church and parliament.

Mrs. Anna Kethely, a woman deputy, who in addition to her parliamentary duties is the chairman of the Women Employes' association, heads the campaign for more modest dress. She made a spirited speech in the national parliament in which she scathingly denounced the "present tendencies towards complete undress" as a national scandal. Her words, however, fell on deaf ears, the house refusing to be distracted from its usual routine of political matters.

Archduchess Isabella of Hapsburg, who is the patron of several philanthropic associations in Hungary, is among the chief opponents of the abbreviated skirt.

"Our women are simply crazy," she said to The Associated Press correspondent. "They would sooner starve than run counter to the exigencies of dame fashion. I have just been looking at the Paris fashion journals, and nowhere do I find skirts so short as those worn in Hungary. It is simply a disgrace. Our women are degrading our nation and themselves by exposing their legs beyond the limit of decency."

Woman Movie Censor Cuts "Talking" Film

HOUSTON, July 27. (AP)—Mrs. T. H. Eggert, city movie censor, has learned that she can cut the "talking" movies without interfering with their continuity.

"I was told by theater managers that one elimination would ruin the picture; that the talking would be thrown in the wrong place and the entire picture would have to be taken off the screen," Mrs. Eggert said.

And so, she said, she watched some scenes and let them pass, although her fingers itched for the scissors.

Finally, when she became curious about how the talking movies were operated, she discovered that the operator would, at will, switch from the talking machine in the case of a breakdown.

"If you can do that when you have a breakdown," she told the manager who was explaining things to her, "you can do it when I make this elimination."

And she proceeded to do so.

Kellogg Sends Peace Ultimatum to Panama

WASHINGTON, July 27. (US)—The United States government today served a sharp and unexpected ultimatum on Panama that if revolution follows the national elections of August 5, intervention will follow.

The note was written by Secretary of State Kellogg in response to a request from the "opposition" party in Panama.

Brains and Common Sense Can Overcome Handicap of Homeliness

Would a Plain Woman Be Happy Married to a Handsome Man?—The Girl Who Consoles Her Sister's Beaux—Should a Business Woman Give Up Her Independence to Help Her In-Laws?

Dear Miss Dix—I am engaged to an exceedingly handsome young man. One of the kind that all women fall for, young and old, and who flatter him and tell him how good-looking he is, and what lovely eyes he has, and why isn't he in the movies, etc. At first, it amused me and I felt honored to have such a sheik for a sweetheart, but now I am beginning to realize that it would be quite some job to hold such a man as a husband and to have to be always jollying him as he has been accustomed to. I am not good-looking, just a plain ordinary girl, and I am wondering if he wouldn't tire of me after we were married. He tells me that he loves me, but he never notices my looks. He is always on the receiving end of the compliment line. Don't think I am jealous. I am just wondering if an insignificant little piece of a woman could tackle such a big job as holding that sort of a man and get away with it? —BOBBIE.

Answer: You may be short on beauty, Bobbie, but you are evidently long on brains. You have intelligence and insight and wit and humor, and good, hard horse sense, and I don't think you need be afraid to marry your handsome sweetheart. You will hold him. Doubtless there will be times when he will wander away a little, but he will always come back to home and mother because you will interest him, and you will know how to take him, and that will be soothing and restful for him. Besides, he will get fed up from time to time on too much adulation.

That you are no beauty yourself cuts no figure in the case. That type of man cares far less about the looks of the woman he marries than a homely man does. In fact, he prefers a woman who does not distract attention from himself. He wants to be the whole show and have the spotlight turned upon him. If you will look about you, you will observe that extraordinarily handsome men almost invariably pick out some modest little wren for a wife.

Nor need you feel that it will be any more difficult to hold a handsome husband than an ugly one. It is true that wherever he goes the women will flatter him and tell him how good-looking he is, and what a classic profile he has, but too much flattery immunizes a man.

It works its own cure and passes off him harmlessly. It titilates his vanity for a moment, but he had heard all about his eyes and his nose and his godlike form so often that it makes no impression on him to have it said again, and he only thinks of the flatterer as one who has swelled the chorus singing his charms.

He is in no such danger from the horde of women flatterers as is the homely man whom some one single woman jollies. He isn't used to compliments, and when he gets one he rolls it under his tongue, and its effect is to go to his head.

Let some woman tell an ugly man that he has the most interesting face she ever saw, or that he has a brow exactly like Napoleon, or that his eyes are fathomless, and he decides that she is the only woman he ever met who understands him. And then his wife had better look out.

Anyway, it is a man's pocketbook and not his face that mark him as the prey of the vamps. A handsome husband a wife may keep. But a rich one—well, hardly ever.

However, I am not press-agenting the handsome man as a headliner among husbands. Far from it. In the first place nature is more just than we give her credit for being, and when she endows a man overlavishly with pulchritude, she nearly always scrimps on the gray matter, and between a man who is a good-looker, and one who is a good talker, give me the good talker every time. I have known dozens of handsome men who were no more inspiring companions than a nice red-checked tailor's dummy would have been.

Again, the handsome man is nearly always selfish. Because he was a pretty baby, his mother began kotowing to him when he was in the cradle, and every other woman has kept it up. He expects his wife to go on burning incense before him and, furthermore, he considers that he is entitled to most of the family income to spend on his own back, and that wife should be content to wear the old duds while he has the newest thing in klassy kut klothes.

And, finally, the wife of the very handsome man must reconcile herself to always presenting an invidious comparison with him and to hearing people say wherever she goes: "My goodness, what on earth do you suppose made him marry her?" —DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Should I consider it my place to be a friend to all my sister's boy friends when she is on the outs with them and going with some one else? They all ask me to date with them when they are not on speaking terms with her, and seemed peeved if I don't, but when they get back with her again I am second choice. My sister seems to appreciate me doing this for her and I enjoy myself with her friends, but it is no fun to be second choice. —AN UNDECIDED SISTER.

Answer: There are some women whose mission in life seems to be to comfort men for the things that other women do to them. They always get the leftovers.

Perhaps you are one of these. Perhaps you lack the personal magnetism, the come-hither-look in the eye, the sex appeal, the whatever it is that makes some girls irresistibly attractive to boys that your sister has, and that makes the boys flock around her like bees around the honey pot. If such is the case, you will be wise to continue to fill the role of consoler to her disgruntled beaux. For it is better to be second choice than to be left out altogether, and many a heart is caught on the rebound.

The main thing that girls without it lack is opportunity to get acquainted with boys. They have plenty of charm of their own, but they get no chance to exercise it because the young men never come around and so never find out how sweet they are, or how entertaining and amusing they can be, or how well they can dance.

While you are comforting your sister's disgruntled dates you are having your innings, and have your show to get in your own fine work, so don't disdain the role of consoler. It can be made a very profitable one.

Besides, it is a very common thing for plain and unattractive girls to pick out some pretty and popular girl and use her as a decoy to lure the boys in. I have known plenty of ugly girls who always had some raving beauty as a house guest, and who selected the best-looking girl they could find to go about with. —DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a business woman who earns a good salary, and have a nice little apartment of my own. My married sister and her husband want me to come and live with them because the money I am spending for an apartment could so nicely be applied on the house that my brother-in-law is buying. My brother-in-law is a good man, but the worst old maid in my acquaintance. Will you please give your candid opinion regarding this question. —SATISFIED AS IS.

Answer: If you are satisfied as you are, for goodness sake, stay that way. The only way for families to keep on good terms with each other and fond of each other is by not attempting to live together.

When we live apart from our families we see their little peculiar traits as amusing eccentricities and we laugh at them good-naturedly, but when we have to live with them they get on our nerves and rub them raw, and that leads to quarrels and estrangement.

Moreover, if you go to live with your family, you will find that it will cost you just as much as it does now and you will get nothing in return. Your sister will not feel that she should cater to you as she would to a stranger, or that you should have the privacy and freedom that a stranger would have. If you feel you should help your brother-in-law buy a house, give him the money, but don't sacrifice your freedom to it. —DOROTHY DIX.

CHINA SURE TO BE RECOGNIZED

American Rights Only Fight In U. S. Senate

WASHINGTON, July 27. (US)—Early recognition of China by the United States is assured, it was learned in an authoritative quarter here today.

It will in all probability become an accomplished fact before congress meets in December. Then it will only be necessary for the senate to ratify the various treaties supplementing those now in existence.

The senate, it is learned, is in some little conflict with the state department as to what form the new treaties should take and whether the United States should surrender such rights as are secured under the general extraterritorial agreements.

Some members of congress, including Chairman Stephen Porter, of the house foreign affairs committee, are in favor of junking all treaties which give the United States and other foreign nations rights in China which they do not enjoy in other countries. The state department, on the other hand is in favor of holding onto all agreements which guarantee the fullest protection for American life and property.

These treaties, in brief, give the United States the right to maintain gunboats on the great Yangtze Kiang river for the protection of American missions. They also allow the United States to land naval troops in the event of any disorder. At Keing, the ancient capital, the United States is allowed to maintain a legation guard of one regiment of infantry to guard the legation and to keep the railroad open from Peking to Tsinanfu. Just at the moment the state department is reluctant to surrender this right until there may be some more definite assurance that the newly formed nationalist government will be able to guarantee this measure of protection.

It was pointed out that there still are in China some armies with mighty leaders at their heads, which have not been disbanded and there is some little doubt as to whether they will fit in with the general scheme of things.

However, the state department has already ordered back a large portion of the marines and naval guard which have been on station there. The department has also been in daily conference with Dr. C. C. Wu, the representative here of the nationalists. And they have let it be known that just as soon as negotiations may be completed, and this country believes that it will be the first to do so, formal recognition will be extended.

It is also emphasized by the department that this country, more than any other, has been the traditional friends of China and that this friendship will be renewed and continued at any and all costs.

Pan-Pacific Line Quits Conference

NEW YORK, July 27. (AP)—The Panama Pacific line announced today that it had withdrawn from the United States intercostal conference. Its action follows that of the Transmarine lines. The Panama Pacific's notice of withdrawal was dated July 17 and becomes effective in 90 days.

P. S. A. Franklin, president of the International Merchant Marine, of which the Panama Pacific is a subsidiary, said in explanation that the present conference had become ineffective. The whole intercoastal trade has been upset as a result of a joint rate agreement between the Illinois Central and the Redwood line, he said, by which shipments from the central west via the gulf and Pacific receive the same rates as shipments from points east of Pittsburgh via Atlantic ports.

SEEK DODGE MERGER TODAY

Reluctant Stockholders Halt Business Deal

NEW YORK, July 27. (INS)—The Chrysler corporation is expected to make a final decision tomorrow as to whether the company will go through with its proposed merger with Dodge Brothers. This merger, if effected, would mean an automobile combination ranking next to the Ford Motor company and General Mtors.

Rumors were current in Wall street today that unless fully 90 per cent of the Dodge stock holders assent to the plan it will be dropped. Published newspaper articles have asserted that the merger is being held up and possibly may be blocked by a small minority of Dodge stockholders scattered over the United States, Canada and Europe. These stockholders are represented as not ebing fully cognizant of what the heads of their company are trying to accomplish.

Accomplishments in County Administration During Guy C. Raley's Service as Tax Collector

Mr. Raley has thoroughly systematized the various branches of the office by putting the same on a business basis.

He has collected millions of dollars for the county during his tenure of office in an efficient manner, as disclosed by the auditor's report, which gave him a clean bill of health.

Co-operating with the County Attorney's office, he has assisted in collecting hundreds of thousands of dollars in back taxes, thereby enabling the Commissioner's Court this year to reduce the taxes of the people, thousands of dollars being collected by him without the necessity of filing suit therefor.

He has compiled the best delinquent tax records from 1885 to 1926 of any officer in the state. The Comptroller states that "it is a most exceptional and authentic record which the department prizes most highly."

Mr. Raley has been on hand at his office most all of the time supervising the work of the office and doing much of the work personally, and that he has not had the time nor the disposition to neglect his official duties by running around over the country continually electioneering with the people.

Why not re-elect Guy C. Raley Tax Collector and thereby continue a business administration of the office? He is thoroughly competent and trustworthy.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By GRANT DIXON

NEW YORK—The world is full of fyp games. Some, but only a few, are good, some bad and a good many indifferent. But they all work and keep on working.

Recently an office boy from one of the down town business houses was sent to the post office for a hundred dollars worth of stamps. He bought the stamps and was on his way out of the building when a man, hatless, coatless and apparently an employee of the post office, rushed after and stopped him as he got to the door.

"Would you mind stepping back to the counter for a moment?" he said. "There has been a slight mistake in the stamps and we want to correct it before you go."

There was nothing to make the boy suspicious. Obviously he had to deal with one of the postofifce staff and he returned with the man but not to the window where his purchase had been made. Instead they went to a window at which nobody appeared to be at work. The stranger looked inside as if expecting the clerk in charge of the window to appear.

"He must be out for a few minutes," he said to the boy, "but I can get the matter adjusted for you in a second. Give me the stamps and I'll take them inside. Wait here and I'll be right back."

The stranger disappeared round the corner. It was the end window that was used for the trick, and the office boy would be waiting yet if he had carried out the stranger's request. Neither the stranger nor the stamps appeared again.

A local on the Third Avenue 'L' rattled downtown; an express thundered uptown, and underneath stood a horse patiently waiting while the driver read a pink newspaper. The wagon was painted dark green and printed on the side of it was first of all the "pickles" and below this "and"—then came a picture of a prancing horse painted bright red, under which were the three letters "lish."

Two women stopped and looked at the wagon a minute or so before they comprehended that the announcement was "pickles and horseradish."

They laughed and started to walk on when one of them looked at the sign over a store. They both stopped again. The store was a sign painter's whose name evidently was Brown, for above it was a sign saying "Hang on to Brown," and to the corner of the sign was the tin form of a gentleman (perhaps a convincing likeness of Mr. Brown himself) all dressed in brown, even to the derby.

Evidently this part of town was given to the sign language.

It happened not such a long way from New York. The lady was nervous in traffic anyway, and when she drove her new automobile too close to a trolley car, with the resultant loss of one of its front fenders, she became more so. Hard over went the steering wheel and down went her foot on the accelerator. With a bound like a spurred horse the machine cleared the curb, while pedestrians scattered, screaming. In a second or two it had gone through the plate-glass window of a store.

The reporter said she lost control of her car.

Next morning the city editor's phone jingled, and a highly agitated voice said: "I've read your paper all my life, but I'm stopping my subscription today.

"Why, what's the trouble?" he asked.

"You gave a very unfair account of my accident on Main street yesterday."

"In what way, may I ask?"

"Well I guess I did drive into that window, but I want it distinctly understood that I did not lose control of my car."

Smith Ready for the Big Event

GOV. AL SMITH is ready for the big event. He will tell the country at twilight on Wednesday, August 22, just where he stands on certain campaign issues. This from the east steps of the state capitol in the city of Albany. It is expected a crowd numbering 100,000 will be massed in and about the capitol ground.

Senator Key Pittman of Nevada will make the nomination speech. It will be a short talk. Senator Pittman is a practical man. He will consume 15 minutes. Then the nominee of the Democracy of the nation will tell the country just where he stands and those who are close to him say that his remarks will be straight from the shoulder.

Grover Cleveland was notified in the city of Albany of his selection as the Democratic presidential nominee 44 years ago while he was governor of the great state of New York. There was no radio to carry the acceptance speech far and wide.

Grover Cleveland ranks with the greatest of presidents of the republic. Now another New York governor will carry the standard in the campaign. Cleveland served a term. He was defeated for re-election. He came back in 1892 as the standard bearer of his party for the third time. He won marvelous victory.

In 1895 and 1896 the free silver issue came. Grover Cleveland stood for honest money. Leaders of his party cut the political throat of the donkey and let in the Republicans.

Long ago free silver as an issue was consigned to the tomb. Grover Cleveland was vindicated. He stood for the gold standard and the gold standard is the standard of the civilized nation.

Otherwise, Don't Vote

COMES another election day, and the occasion for newspapers to exhort the owners of poll tax receipts to "go out and vote." This ancient and accepted custom of editorializing is based on the theory that a large vote shows public interest in governmental affairs, and makes the precinct, county, district or state safe for Democracy and tax-collectors for another two years. If the majority is wrong, it is at least a majority in error, and may right itself two years later.

While it is far from the purpose of this newspaper to decry the need of greater interest in election affairs, it has no exhortations to deliver to those voters who do not feel they have a definite purpose to accomplish in today's primaries. There is no evidence that a large vote is more intelligent than a small vote, and it may be less discriminating if any great number of voters turn out from a feeling of duty, rather than from the strength of their convictions.

If you feel the county and state will rock along just as well for the next two years without your vote, don't vote.

If you don't know who is seeking office and can't find out, don't vote.

If you think present office holders will do just as well as new ones, or vice versa, stay at home.

In other words, if you can't mark an intelligent ballot on a half dozen out of the score or more of contests, don't clutter up the work of those who know more about the selection of officers.

Otherwise, The Record News hopes the ballots polled in the election today will set a new record for Wichita county.

Safety Lessons From Youngsters

THOSE of us who generally accept the explanation that the "accident was unavoidable" should give thought to the record of Western Union messenger boys, who have maintained a spotless safety record here for more than six months.

No other group of workers is more constantly subjected to the hazards of automobile traffic than the boys who speed through the streets delivering telegraph messages. Nowhere could there be a clearer demonstration of the worth of education and training than in the elimination of all accidents by these boys for a period of six months.

All accidents are unavoidable under the circumstances which bring them about. A great majority of accidents are avoidable if we realize that the events which led to accidents can be changed by the exercise of greater care.

General Motors Protects Its Men

MORE than 200,000 employes of the General Motors corporation are participants in what is described as the largest group insurance policy ever issued. The policy for nearly $400,000,000 covers death, sickness and accident. John J. Raskob worked out the plan. John J. Raskob believes that in the near future five work days in a week will be the lot of labor without a reduction in the weekly wage. He has been a worker from early boyhood. IS SPEECH FREE?

Speech is free, but when presidential candidates start their campaigns in this day of swift communication, there are difficulties to be overcome if the progressive office seeker gets his message to the great mass of voters. A few years ago, the only preparation necessary for the presidential candidate's speech of acceptance of the nomination was to hire a hall or erect an open air platform and trust to the newspapers to print his talk verbatim.

Today that is not enough, for the radio hookup must be obtained, and that stumbling block delayed the announcement of the date Governor Smith is to formally accept the nomination from the Democratic party. Commercial interests have long term contracts to use the limited time of the radio hookups, and apparently are loath to release these hours for the use of political campaign managers, even though they be the presidential campaigns.

Presidential campaigns over radio will be rather a novelty this year and probably four years from now, but such a use of the air can be overdone, and then the radio fans will balk.

When A Girl Loves

© 1928 by NEA Service — by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Virginia Brewster is in love with a poor artist, Nathaniel Dann, but she is tricked into promising to marry Frederick Dean in one year if she fails to earn $100,000, which he alleges her father cheated him out of.

Brewster had lost his fortune in speculation just before his sudden death, so that Virginia is left destitute. She pawns some of her jewelry and a broker friend, Oliver Cutter, promises to invest the money for her.

She avoids all wealthy friends and seeks work under an assumed name, but without success. She finds orchids at her hotel one evening from Dean and wonders how he learned her address. A call from the agency brings hope, but when she goes there the manager tries to dissuade her from working.

Virginia suspects that Dean has bribed her, and this conviction is strengthened when she finds that she is being chadowed. She tries other agencies, but word leaks out that the "Brewster girl" is job-seeking and she is beseiged by reporters. Among the group that are interviewing her she recognizes the man who has been following her.

Cutter insists on taking Virginia out to dinner and hints that it won't be necessary for her to work for her money, but pretends innocence when she challenges his remark. Neil rather resents the attentions of Cutter and Virginia does not like the familiarity with which his model, Chiri Mond, treats him.

A gorgeous evening wrap comes to her hotel, and Virginia discovers that Dean has sent it to her. She phones him that she is returning it.

Now go on with the story.

CHAPTER XXXIII

Virginia caught her breath in astonishment at Dean's cool temerity. Her momentary speechlessness gave him a chance to finish his greeting without interruption. When she did speak, however, her voice carried over the wire like a breath of winter.

"I am returning the thing," she said, "to the shop. And I want you to know that I consider you are acting most dishonorably. No one but a cheating coward would behave as you are doing, and you can gain nothing but my utmost contempt by setting someone to watch me. It was underhanded and low to have Mrs. Phelps try to dissuade me from seeking a position. I don't know what your object was in doing that unless you thought I would turn to someone whose influence would be favorable to you."

Frederick Dean's mouth thinned to a narrow line as he listened to her rush of words. His eyes showed extreme anger but his voice continued pleasantly pitched in friendly, conversational tones. "Didn't it occur to you, my dear Virginia, that I might not wish my future wife to be reduced to working for a living?" he asked. "I know it would cause a great deal of talk and I wished to avoid that sort of thing."

"I have every reason to believe that you need not distress yourself on that account," Virginia retorted icily.

"No?" he echoed mockingly. "I suppose you are thinking of what Oliver Cutter is going to do for you? Well, let me tell you, dear girl, I shall break that young pup when I'm ready. Don't build too heavily on his help."

"Oh, you're inhuman!" Virginia cried and hung up the receiver hastily.

She was thoroughly frightened. Had he the power to harm Oliver? It seemed absurd. Oliver had money. But not so much money as Frederick Dean, Virginia knew. And she was aware that men ruined each other on Wall Street. It could be done. Oliver must be warned.

Virginia had breakfasted and was dressed for the street. She had intended to call that morning at some of the agencies where she had left her name, and make inquiries. Now she pulled on her hat, grabbed her handbag and hurried out to take the subway to Wall Street.

On this occasion Oliver was in when she arrived. Virginia told Miss Evans that she must see him at once. The secretary scarcely looked at her as she took the message, but Virginia was too wrought up to take heed of anything but the necessity of getting to Oliver.

"There aren't any worms on Wall Street," he laughed when she entered his private office. "All bulls and bears."

"Oliver, tell me, could anyone . . . a man who wanted to, I mean, do something to ruin you?" Virginia burst out.

Oliver jumped. "What's this? What the devil are you talking about?"

"Because someone has threatened to do it," Virginia confided breathlessly.

Oliver smiled. "Is that all? A jealous sweetie, huh? I thought he was an artist."

Virginia made an impatient gesture. "It was Frederick Dean," she announced simply.

Oliver stared at her and Virginia saw a light, greenish tinge come into his skin. It brought a sinking feeling to her heart. Then Dean was to be feared! She saw her hopes go glimmering off into the distance.

Oliver gulped. "Well, he's a powerful man," he said slowly; "but since you've warned me I'll be fairly safe. Are you sure he meant it?"

"I believe he did. (It's on my account. Of course you will have to stop speculating for me. That might save you."

"I wish you'd tell me what's behind all this."

"I can't do that, but there's a chance that the threat was made to force you to drop my . . ." She hesitated for the word. "Account," Oliver supplied. "Account," Virginia repeated.

Oliver did not answer immediately. He appeared to be thinking deeply and Virginia surmised that he was deciding between two courses. She believed he was weighing his safety against his desire to aid her.

"Dean can go to blazes," he exploded finally. "Forewarned is forearmed."

"But Oliver, I can't let you risk it. Knowing about it can't help you much or he wouldn't have told me what he meant to do."

"And on the other hand, it's not such a simple thing to ruin me, you know. I think it was just a bluff to make me drop your account. Well, I won't do it."

"I'm afraid you must. I can't have your ruin on my conscience."

Oliver considered. "We'll fool the old boy! I'll drop the account. You can let him know it. And we'll get someone to handle it for us on the Q. T."

"Do you think he wouldn't find it out?" Virginia questioned dubiously. "He's having me watched."

Oliver sat back in his chair and looked completely mystified. "What is he up to, Virginia? You can trust me," he pleaded.

"I do trust you, Oliver, but I can't explain now. Mr. Dean is my bitterest enemy. I'm sure he wouldn't stop at anything to prevent anyone helping me."

"Well, we'll have to be careful then. I'll find a way to meet you secretly. You can tell Mr. Dean that you've withdrawn your account from my firm. I'll send a messenger when I want to see you. Would it be possible for you to leave your hotel unnoticed?"

"I think the management would help me," Virginia told him.

"I wanted to buy A. C. M. stock for you today but I'll wait until we've thrown Dean off the trail," Oliver said. "I'll have something to talk over with you in a day or two."

Virginia left and went back to her hotel to write to Mr. Dean. ". . . in view of your threat against Mr. Cutter I have withdrawn my account from his firm," she wrote. "And please be advised that I warned him of your intention."

When she had mailed the letter she started out to visit the agencies. The nearest was within walking distance and as she turned east from her hotel she saw the man who was trailing her standing in a doorway. He made no attempt to conceal his presence there and Virginia understood that he had been told she was aware of his espoinage.

She wondered if it were not unlawful and was of half a mind to see Mr. Gardiner about it. But the thought of possible consequences deterred her. Dean was not to be trusted. Were she to antagonize him sufficiently he might break his promise to give her a year to repay the money he claimed, and spread his charges against her father abroad.

Besides, his interference had acted as a boomerang and defeated the object he had in mind when he induced Mrs. Phelps to try to persuade her to accept the aid of friends. It had served to send her out looking for employment under her own name and thus made her search much less difficult. And if Oliver could be saved from his attacks what harm could he do? Virginia decided to let the matter drop, at least for the present.

There was nothing for her at the first agency, but the second place she visited had a position the manager believed she could fill very well. Virginia was delighted when she heard of it.

A steamship company had received so many inquiries from passengers in regard to information concerning traveling by water that it realized the necessity of establishing a personal information bureau, she was told.

"They want someone to take charge of the New York branch—someone who has traveled abroad and will be competent to give helpful advice upon any subject pertaining to ocean voyaging," the head of the agency explained. "I've seen a few of the letters they have received from people who have booked passage, or propose to, and the nature of some of these inquiries is amazing. For instance, they want to know what to wear, and how they can get a seat at the captain's table; or whether it's proper to strike up an acquaintance with fellow passengers, how much to tip and what to do for seasickness."

"I'm sure I'd like the position Virginia enthused. "What is the salary?"

"Sixty dollars a week to begin with. As soon as the usefulness of the bureau is established there will be a larger appropriation made for it, I understand."

Virginia hesitated a moment. "I'd have liked more," she said, "but I think I can earn my salary in this work. I'll take it if my application will be accepted."

"I can assure you of that. The matter came up just this morning and I suggested you for the place at once. We'd have telephoned for you if you hadn't come in. If you are free you might go down and see Mr. Welkins. I told him we would communicate with you immediately. I felt sure you would want to accept."

"Thank you very much, Miss Stone. Is there time before lunch?"

"Yes, if you hurry. He won't go out before one, he said. I will telephone that you're on the way. And I hope you will take the position." She smiled. "We're very pleased to have your services to offer, Miss Brewster."

Virginia smiled back at her radiantly. It was a relief to feel that she had at last found something to suit both her taste and her ability.

Possessed of a feeling that she had gained a step on firmer ground, she hurried to the lower end of Manhattan on a subway express. She was nearing her station when a thought that troubled her greatly occupied her mind and lodged there to cast a shadow upon the bright prospect of the day.

CARE

'Twas yesterday I had a guest.
Unwelcome as could be;
He happened in quite unannounced
To pay a call to me.
He brought his clothes and all his things,
Expecting to remain;
I promptly told him he must go,
And never come again.

Perhaps you wonder who it was,
Whom I uncordially
Expelled from out my heart and soul?
He's known as Care to me.

PARNELL

for

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

THIS ADVERTISEMENT PUBLISHED IN FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM

LET'S HAVE A CHANGE?

I have become convinced that it is best for you and me to select Senator J. D. Parnell of Wichita Falls for our next Lieutenant Governor. My friend "Barry" has had this position of honor two consecutive terms—long enough for any Democrat to want to hold any profitless position.

My friend "Tom" already holds the position of Senator from the Dallas district. Evidently he wants to be elected Lieutenant Governor so that he can pass his present position to Crown Prince "George." One vote is all I want "Tom" to have on ANY question, especially since he wishes to vote against the Democratic nominee.

I have polled the most outstanding Democrats in Wichita Falls and they have assured me that "Parnell" is ALL right. Let's stop this Love-Miller Kilkenny cat fight in the Senate and put "Parnell" there to look after our State's interests. Think it over, friends! I feel enough interest in this matter to pay personally for this advertisement. Parnell is our kind of Democrat. Remember always—a Democrat can not be a Klansman; a Klansman can not be a Democrat.

CECIL STOREY'S REPLY TO THE ELEVENTH HOUR PROPAGANDA OF A. V. GRANT

In reply to the five reasons given by Mr. Grant why I should not be reelected as representative of the 112th District of Texas, will say:

1st.—In reply to reason No. 1: I led the fight to prohibit the remission of state taxes of Tarrant and Dallas counties in the last legislature, thereby saving the tax payers of Texas over $500,000.00 annually.

I introduced a resolution proposing a constitutional amendment which would prohibit the remission of taxes by the legislature for a longer period than two years at any time, and in that event only in cases of great calamity. This was passed through the House of Representatives but defeated in the Senate.

I have voted for every sane measure proposed since I have been a member of the legislature, which affected law enforcement.

2nd.—In reply to reason No. 2: I am not a Ferguson supporter and booster.

I did vote for the Amnesty Bill because I thought the majority of the people favored its passage. Like thousands of other people in Texas, I was disappointed in the Ferguson Administration.

Two years ago I supported Hon. Dan Moody for governor of Texas against Mrs. Ferguson.

I was never Ferguson's floor leader in the House of Representatives.

3rd.—In reply to reason No. 3: I am not an Anti-Prohibitionist.

I have always voted the prohibition ticket and helped to pass the law making it a felony or misdemeanor to drive an automobile while intoxicated.

4th.—In reply to reason No. 4: I did not vote for the final passage of the free pass bill.

5th.—In reply to reason No. 5: I have sufficiently answered this in replies Nos. 2 and 3 above.

Mr. Grant and I have covered this county on the stump during the past few weeks and up to Friday, July 27, 1928, he has never even mentioned these matters but waited until the eleventh hour to scatter such propaganda.

I am going to ask the sensible people of this district to remember that this is eleventh hour propaganda and to please remember the kind and character of propaganda that is usually spread at this time in any election.

Rugeley Prepares Plat For Scotland Zoo

F. M. Rugeley, city engineer, is preparing a plat and plan of Scotland park so that a miniature "city plan" may be developed for the present arrangement and future development.

When the plat is completed, it will be possible to plan on the future needs of the city, the arrangement of the tennis courts, the bear pits, the zoo, the wading pool and the numerous other park attractions. Mr. Rugeley is also at work on plans for a circular island that will be the future home of the monkeys. This island will be surrounded by a wide and deep moat, guarded on the outside by a wall so the public cannot get into the water. On the island there will be all sorts of things for "monkey shines," such as tight wires, swings and the like.

BUFFS' PHENOMENAL FIELDING STOPS SPUDDERS IN OPENER

BARNES WINNER SOUTHPAW DUEL

Cvengros Drops Tough One By Score of 3 to 2

HOUSTON, Texas, July 27.—Given sparkling support, Frank Barnes here Friday gained a 3 to 2 decision over Mike Cvengros in a great hillock struggle. The Buff portsider gave up five bingles, while Mike was toched for six.

After the Spudders had tied the count at two all in the sixth on Brick Eldred's line single to left, Houston scored the wining tally in its half of the sixth, due mainly to the fact Buck Stanton was asleep on Cvengros' throw to first in an effort to get Snyder. The ball rolled into the dugout, and the Buff manager went to third, whence he scored on Walker's fly to center.

Both teams hustled hard, and the game was one of the most entertaining of the season, with Pete Lapan being subjected to considerable good natured razzing from the fans.

Manager Jim Galloway indicated he would pitch Milt Steengrafe Saturday, while Ken Penner is practically certain to work for the home team.

The Houston victory reduced the Spudders' lead to one-half game.

Fitzgerald Robbed

In the first round, after Benton had lined to center and Turgeon had grounded to third, Joe Walker pulled a miraculous play on Howard Fitzgerald. The Spudder outfielder slapped the ball hard down the first base line and it seemed a certain double. Walker dived headlong at the ball and grabbed it with his gloved hand, lying flat on his back, Joe tossed to Barnes to retire Fitzgerald. The Buffs went out in order.

To start the second, Frank fanned Brick Eldred on straight pitches. Tom Jenkins fanned. Swenson flied to right. The crowd kidded Pete Lapan when Watkins came to the platter. A short time ago at Wichita Falls Watty and Pete tangled. Watty crashed a hard single to right. Peel popped to Swenson. Schuble lined a single to right, Watty taking third. Heinie stole second. After Snyder had fouled the first two offerings Cvengros refused to give Pancho anything good, and the Buff skipper walked, loading the bases. Walker fanned on three pitches. Frank Barnes cracked the first pitch. The hard smash took a bad hop for Turgeon, and Watty and Heinie scored on the single. Snyder showed a lot of speed in going to third on the single. Hock popped to Benton.

Neither side threatened seriously in the third, fourth or fifth.

In the sixth the Spudders got right. Cvengros popped to Schuble. Benton singled to left. Turgeon beat out a grounder in front of the plate, Benton taking second. Fitzgerald grounded to first, the runners advancing a base. With the county two strikes and a ball, Barnes came right down the middle for Eldred and Brick lined the ball over short for a single, scoring Benton and Turgeon. Jenkins flied to center.

Buffs Win It

Schuble dropped a Texas leaguer into right center. Fitzgerald and Eldred collided and the wind was knocked out of Brick. After a time, Eldred was able to resume play. Snyder forced Schuble, short to second. Buck Stanton took a little nap and allowed Cvengros' throw to get through him. The ball rolled into the dugout, and Snyder went to third. Snyder scored on Walker's fly to short center. Barnes was called out on strikes.

In the seventh Selph robbed Swenson. He went back of second to scoop up the Swede's grounder and get him at first. It was a scintillating play. Stanton grounded to the pitcher. Lapan flied to center. Hock fanned. Selph flied to right. Worthing popped to first. In the eighth, Cvengros grounded to short.

Benton singled between third and short. Turgeon flied to Watty with no advance. Snyder's perfect throw to Selph caught Benton trying to steal.

Watkins flied to center. Peel dropped a double into left, Jenkins failing, after a hard try, to catch his pop fly. Schuble strolled. Snyder flied to right, Peel taking third. Schuble stayed at first. Cvengros made a nice play on Walker's hard grounder right back at the pitcher throwing out the first-sacker at first.

In the ninth Fitzgerald grounded out to short. With his back against the left field boards, Peel leaped high to snare Eldred's vicious drive, a marvelous catch. Lamb batting for Jenkins lined to Selph.

Olympic Games To Start Today

Fifty-nine Countries in Colorful Competition

AMSTERDAM, July 27. (US)—Athletes of all nations, a magnificent aggregation of muscle and brawn, will make their debut in the ninth Olympiad tomorrow when they defile in a grandiose parade, with national colors flying, before Prince Henry, the queen's consort.

The queen herself will not attend in order to avoid offending the religious scruples of those of her people who object to the games being held on Sundays.

Fifty-nine countries, some of them having only the status of colonies, will be represented in the most picturesque ceremony the world of sport is able to provide. The banner-bearer of each nation will take the oath of amateur sportsmanship in behalf of his country's competitors.

There will be a few opening speeches, too, and then in the evening the actual games will start with the weight-lifting competition. The track and field events begin on Sunday, when the high jump, shot put and 10,000-meter race will be decided, and heats will be run in the 100-meter and 800-meter races and in the 400-meter hurdles.

The American team goes into the games brimming with confidence that it will make good in practically every event for which it has entries. Without underrating the opposition, which in some events is particularly strong from Finland, Germany and Sweden, although not so serious in the cases of Great Britain and France, the American managers and coaches look to the United States to outpoint all other nations.

OWENS TRIMS BEARS

SAN ANTONIO, July 27. (AP)—Owens, who used to pitch for San Antonio, showed about 600 fans Friday he is as good as ever when he held his former teammates to eight scattered hits, as a result of which Shreveport won the opening game of the series, 2 to 1. The only Bear run was a home run by Nason in the seventh. Cox was the victim of a questionable hit on Holman's grounder to third in the fifth inning, which was instrumental in putting over the first run and Kilduff's home run in the sixth was the clincher. Heeney Not Alone

TEX RICKARD

Tom Heeney is not the sole occupant of the mourner's bench. While the Anzac Friday was patching up his countenance, Mr. George L. Rickard was repairing the damage inflicted on his pocket-book by the Tunney and Heeney fight of Thursday night. The latest figure on Tex' loss is $150,000, and that's quite some money, even to one of Rickard's financial standing.

Tilden's Victory Gives Americans Even Break in First Two Matches

Big Bill Stages Inspired Comeback to Defeat French Ace, Lacoste, While Heenessey Is Beaten

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN
(Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service)

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, PARIS, July 27.—The fighting heart of William T. Tilden II., triumphed today over the handicap of 13 years.

"Big Bill" celebrated his return from the Elba of official suspension by smashing and stroking his way to a brilliant victory over Rene Lacoste, the "Marshal Foch" of tennis, in five sets, 1-6, 6-4, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

His compatriot, John Hennessy of Indianapolis, was less fortunate, and after a grilling battle succumbed to Heri Cochet of the French musketeers, 5-7, 9-7, 6-3, 6-0.

So the score of the Davis cup matches is one-all tonight. George Lott and Hennessy tomorrow will meet Jacques Brugnon and Jean Borotra in the doubles.

Tilden's victory softened the sting of past defeats received from France's master of tennis strategy, and effectively dispelled the shadow cast over him by the recent action of the United States Lawn Tennis association. "Big Bill" demonstrated in the most conclusive fashion that "they do come back."

Ten thousand French and American tennis fans ecstatically cheered the two combatants when they shook hands across the net at the conclusion of the match. The Americans were wildly enthusiastic, as "Big Bill's" spectacular playing brought it within the realm of possibility that the United States might win back the coveted Davis cup from France.

May Win Doubles

Lott and Hennessy are conceded an even chance of winning the doubles tomorrow, and then the only obstacle to an American triumph would be the phlegmatic Cochet, who is slated to meet Tilden on Sunday. If "Big Bill" is in the same fighting mood Sunday that he was today, his victory over the slender Frenchman from Lyons is a certainty.

Tilden's comeback contest today was one that presented many unusual features. Although the American won, Lacoste outscored him, paradoxically enough, on points and games, just as "Big Bill" had outscored Rene when beaten by him at Wimbledon. The Frenchman's score today was 153 points to Tilden's 148. Tilden won only 21 games to take three out of five sets, while Lacoste won 23 to lost the match.

Ambassador Herrick of the United States, the Japanese ambassador and most of the diplomatic corps were present when Tilden and Lacoste approached the court arm in arm. Among the box-holders were Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Bishop W. T. Manning of New York, Craig Biddle, former Senator George Wharton Pepper, Count de Polignac, Princess d'Orleans, John Wanamaker, Mr. and Mrs. M. Jackson Crispin of New York, with their daughter Betty, Francois Coty and Andre Citroen.

Lacoste in Lead

Lacoste took the first set easily, 6-1. Tilden obviously was playing with restraint, cautiously guarding against burning himself out as he had done in other matches against the French machine. Methodical tennis plus inspired strategy won the next two sets for "Big Bill," 6-4, 6-4.

But after the 10 minute rest Lacoste made a stirring change of pace and took the last four games of the fourth set from Tilden, capturing the set. A shiver ran through the Americans present when the French ace uncorked a wicked rally at the opening of the last set, winning 7-5. Tilden peremptorily nipped Lacoste's effort by taking the next game on Rene's own service.

After capturing Lacoste's own service at love, "Big Bill" was on his mettle. The last shot which won the match for Tilden was a scoring liner that scudded along the sideline and dipped barely inside the baseline, abruptly ending the game.

The Hennessy-Cochet match was played under a scorching sun. Hennessy put up a game battle, and played better tennis on more even terms with his French opponent than the set score shows. It was the almost jewelled precision of Cochet's game that finally triumphed.

Tex Blames Radio, Taxes and Tunney Himself for Loss

Risko, Paolino, Sharkey and Loughran Remain in Field

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 27. (UP)—Tex Rickard today blamed the radio, federal taxes, and Gene Tunney's insistenec on a title bout in July for the financial failure of the Tunney-Heeney fight Thursday night at Yankee stadium.

The Madison Square Garden corporation, of which Rockard is general manager, lost $155,719.77 on the bout, according to the official figures compiled by Joe Boynton, box office treasurer, and a staff of 42 men.

The bout drew 43,191 persons who paid a total of $691,014.50 for the privilege of seeing Tunney score a technical knockout over Heeney after two minutes and 52 seconds of fighting in the eleventh round. Tex Rickard issued 3,496 complimentary tickets, 422 of which were to working newspapermen.

The federal tax of 25 per cent dealt Rickard his hardest blow. The government tax on admissions was $126,084.50 and $13,309.22 on complimentary seats.

Last Big Fight

"This is the last big fight I will stage and permit radio at the ringside," Rickard said. "My contract with the radio people expires soon, and I will not renew it unless they are willing to pay high for privilege."

Practically every receiving set in the world was in reach of the blow by blow description of the fight, and for this privilege the radio sponsors paid $15,000.

Merlin Hall Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting company, characterized the broadcast of the Tunney-Heeney fight as the first real world-wide radio report of a news event.

"It was the first great attempt to coordinate the great broadcasting systems of the world, and it probably was the most constructive thing ever done for boxing, as it stimulated interest everywhere and gave the world a direct picture of the clean and sportsmanlike performance of Gene Tunney."

Satisfied Tunney

Failure to back his own judgement was attributed by Rickard as one of the principal reasons for the bout's small gate receipts.

"The trouble with the fight was that I was rushed into doing something I didn't want to," he said. "I never cared to stage a bout of the nature of this one in July and urged against it, but Gene Tunney was insistent that he fight twice this year and in order to meet him half way, I compromised by letting him have one fight and that last night."

In the next breath, Rickard said that he would permit no one to dictate the date, place, or the challenger for the next heavyweight championship bout.

Speculation today as to the probable site of the next bout and Tunney's probable opponent revealed that Rickard has his eye on Montreal as the place and Risko, Paolino, Sharkey, and Loughran as the champion's probable opponent. There is little likelihood of another heavyweight title bout this year.

"Gene Tunney will not fight again until next year," Rickard said, "and I feel that when he enters the ring again, the champion will be as popular as any of his predecessors—Tunnney has finally come into his own. He has developed a punch and that is what makes for hero-worship."

Tunney left the city early today for a trip to Stamford, Conn., to look over his new home, recently completed there. He may not return here until Monday. On Aug. 14 he will leave for a walking tour over the European continent with Thornton Wilder, author of "The Bridge of San Luis Rey."

The champion proved himself a sharpshooter as well as a boxing master in defeating Heeney. Despite his long layoff from the ring, Tunney slashed the challenger to pieces with well-directed punches which almost always found their mark.

Rickard will reserve a place for Heeney in the promoter's next series of eliminations on the strength o his showing.

"Heeney put up a courageous fight," Rickard said, "and he is entitled to a place in the next tournament. Tom has a horde of American admirers and he gained thousands more last night."

Battling for their third straight Twilight baseball league championship, the Panhandle Longhorns open the first game of a three-game series with Texas Electric Service company, which will decide the season's pennant race of the loop, this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Katy park, the home lot of the Twilight leaguers.

The Longhorns took the first half of the season, pushing out the Electrics in the last two games, while the Kilowats won the second half race by holding the leadership from the first game.

Andy Anderson, big righthander and ace of the Longhorn pitching staff, will meet Archie Womack, a small but capable righthand hurler, on the mound in the opening contest, according to an announcement of the rival managers.

The Panhandle as a club probably has a higher hitting average than does the Electric team, though the Kilowats boast of the loop's star fielders, as well as a team of hard hitters.

On the mound today the Electrics suffer a slight disadvantage, as Womack who hurls righthanded is forced to pitch to five left hand hitters, one of whom is the league leader and the others among the best batsmen in the loop. Anderson, also a righthander, must face only three lefthand hitters, one of whom is second in league batting and the other two fair Twilight league hitters.

Neely Vaught will be the official umpire of the contest behind the plate, while the arbiter for bases has not been announced.

Admission to adults will be 50 cents, while children under 16 years of age will be admitted free, according to Leon Horn, treasurer, who is in charge of the series, in the absence from the city of President L. O. Landon.

Baer Facts

(Copyright, 1928, By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, July 27.—What's become of that good old philanthropic bozo who formerly donated drinking fountains to his natal town?

If memory doesn't scramble the details every town had its memorial trough where dobbin could wangle his thirsty throat and show his appreciation with an operatic neigh.

In 1900 there were 45,678 drinking fountains for hosses in this country.

Now there are none. And that seems too many.

There were also aqua bars for little birds, tiny fountains for pug dogs and if the habit had continued there might have been a public fountain for squirrels in memory of the burg's leading citizen.

In addition, every saloon had its hoss trough outside the family entrance. This was a mutual arrangement. The hoss stayed outside the saloon when the driver got thirsty and the driver went inside the saloon when the hoss got parched.

The skeletons of these fountains are scattered all over New York. The testimonial recipe etched in imperishable granite testify to the benevolence of some departed citizen whose name is now no more important than a mustache cup or a bicycle pump.

By what has this fountain habit faded and drooped like the ears on a dying elephant? There is a great opportunity for a big, doublejointed humanitarian to perpetuate his name until the day when the plaster cracks on the ceiling of doom.

Why not a public drinking fountain for flivvers?

Why doesn't somebody dedicate a memorial gasoline pump to the memory of his ancestor who came over in the Mayflower just in time to get deported?

Visualize a free gasoline fountain with the aromatic elixir of sideswipes permeating the humidity. Where the tired motor car could nestle its tank against the grateful pump and drink $2 worth of gasoline.

Did you ever hear of a hoss or a sparrow drinking $2 worth of water?

There is a chance for some public spirited moron to become famous for the rest of his senatorial investigation. Give this fountain to the gasoline famished public and we will not only plant flowers on his grave but we will also run all the way to show our appreciation.

Mustang Fans To See Army Battle

DALLAS, July 27. (AP)—The Southern Methodist University Mustangs will not lack vocal support when they kick off against the vaunted army football eleven, Oct. 6, at West Point.

It is estimated that the battle cry, "Yea, Mustangs, let's go," will echo from at least 600 throats as they line up for the big intersectional engagement.

At this time, 11 weeks before the game is scheduled, 340 reservations have been made on the special train to be run to West Point from Dallas and they still are coming in. Plans first called for one train of 300 fans, but it now seems possible that the special will have to be run in three sections.

The S. M. U.-Army football game is not the only attraction for the excursionists, however. Stopover privileges will make it possible for the fans to witness the world series, part of which appears certain to be played in New York. Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis has promised to reserve a block of choice seats for the party.

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

ONE MAY REGARD Bill Tilden and the U. S. L. T. A. as sources of comedy, which they frequently are. The quarrels of Tilden and the governing body of the net sport are many and varied. Decisions of the United States board in ruling Tilden an amateur to play against France in the Davis cup challenge round, and that thereafter he shall be banned because of professionalism is the most asinine move made of many similar verdicts by the tennis moguls. But no matter such affairs, and that Tilden is an upstage chap, who fully realizes his own importance, one must accord Bill the homage due a great and courageous athlete.

Tilden is one of few, very few, athletes who "came back" to defeat former conquerors. The victory of Big Bill over Rene Lacoste in five sets yesterday in the start of the Davis cup finals was one of the most impressive comebacks ever achieved in the annals of sports. It showed Tilden, the aging veteran, playing the superlative tennis that has earned his place as the greatest racquet wielder of all time. But more than that, it showed a man of iron heart and resolution, with such superb confidence in his own wizardry of the courts that he arose to greater heights than ever.

TILDEN WAS GREAT when he dominated international tennis. But he never approached the heights, even in the zenith of his spectacular triumphs when he was unbeatable, as he achieved yesterday in the defeat of the young Lacoste.

J. ALVIN GARDNER, boss of the Spudders, left yesterday to see the final games of the series today and tomorrow at Houston. Visibly elated at the recent showing of his athletes and their rise to undisputed possession of the league lead, the prexy is confident they will maintain the pace they are now setting. Gardner always has had implicit faith in his club, and it is only reiteration to say that he is satisfied to stand pat on the present personnel, with the confidence that Wichita Falls will win the second half title.

J. STANLEY MAXWELL, silver-tongued and quick at repartee, whose announcing of the Tunney-Heeney fight evoked such praise, was asked to ascribe the cause of his success in that role, in addition to the one as the oil editor of all Wichita Falls' newspapers.

"I am a man of few words," J. Stanley said. "Thus I always am in good voice for such occasions."

Heeney's Father Critically Sick

Tom and Three Brothers Soon to Sail for Home

NEW YORK, July 27. (AP)—Tom Heeney, the solid man, is going back to his native New Zealand within two weeks probably $100,000 richer than when he invaded America in quest of the world's heavyweight championship 15 months ago.

Heeney decided to return home today with his trio of brothers after receiving the distressing news that his aged father was seriously ill.

Aside from his damaged eye, Heeney bore no serious marks of the battle. The optic, however, is giving him considerable trouble and he intends to consult an oculist tomorrow.

Today, after reviewing his blasted ambition, Heeney not only reiterated the statement that Tunney beat him fairly and squarely, but elaborated on them. He refused to charge that Tunney was deliberately jamming his thumb into his eye in the eighth round, although some of his intimates wanted him to make out that the champion had wilfully roughed him.

Espinosa Brothers Lead Western Field

NORTH SHORE GOLF CLUB, July 27. (UP)—Abe and Al, scions of the proud castillian family of Espinosa, head the field of 71 golfers who will play the 36 hole championship round in the Western open championship here Saturday.

The Espinosa brothers jumped into the lead during the second 18-hole round of play today. Al, professional at Illinois Golf club and winner of the recent mid-American tourney at Kansas City, was first to break into the limelight, turning in a 37-36-73, which bought his card to 144, one stroke below Jim Foulis, Jr., of Hinsdale, the day's first lo wscorer.

Al's score stood for several hours, but as the sun began to set word flashed around the club that Abe Espinosa was "burning up the course." The news sent a big gallary out to see the elder Espinosa finish, and the fans were priviliged to watch Abe set a new competitive course record of 69 for the North Shore links.

Joel Hunt Making Good In Pro Baseball Ranks

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, July 27. (AP)—The fact that a real athlete can make good at any sport to which he sets himself is illustrated in the case of Joel Hunt, quarterback and individual star of the 1927 champion Texas Aggies.

While at A. & M. Hunt was only an ordinary baseball player, but since joining the Laurel club in the Cotton States league this spring he has developed sterling ability. At last reports he was pounding the agate at a .320 clip and fielding brilliantly. The Laurel club is another branch of the St. Louis Cardinals' clearing house.

Nicholson, in conjunction with the commissioners court, has reduced your taxes 10 per cent, which means that we will pay the state $67,500 less than heretofore, and has also reduced the county tax rate from 80 cents to 75 cents, which means a saving to the people of Wichita county of $110,000. Let's return him to the office to serve a second term.—(Political adv. paid by friends).

PARNELL ASKS HOME VOTES

Candidate Reviews Race on Election Eve

From the east and west of Texas, from the north and south, telegrams assuring J. D. Parnell that he would be in the run-off in the race for lieutenant governor poured Friday into Parnell headquarters, it was announced by his friends.

Senator Parnell returned Friday night to Wichita Falls after a speaking tour of Texas. He came by automobile from Amarillo, where he spoke Thursday night, and was met at Electra by a delegation of his supporters.

Leaving Electra in another automobile driven by Dr. L. D. Parnell, brother of the candidate, who has taken an active part in the campaign, Senator Parnell arrived here in time to issue the following statement to the voters:

"I am counting on my own home district and the surrounding counties to give me an overwhelming majority due to the fact that I have served them well and faithfully in the past," he said.

"Never have any of these counties called on me for help when I have not responded.

"In 10 years I have not used my political influence for my own private gain, but rather for the interest of the district.

"I have spoken no hard words of any of my opponents insofar as their character or private life is concerned. I have not resorted to mud slinging.

"More than 500 have been actively interested in my campaign, and to them, to my loyal friends here, in the county, in Wilbarger and in all parts of the state, I express my appreciation and gratitude.

"I want to thank the newspapers of Texas for the space that has been given me in this campaign. I am sincerely grateful for the time and money spent by my friends in my behalf.

"Of the immediate personnel in my campaign I extend my sincere gratitude to Bob Collier, who has been in charge on the Wichita Falls headquarters, and to Steve Stevenson, Wichita Falls newspaper and magazine writer who aided me in my first primary campaign.

Owsley Predicts Victory In Race

Predicting that he will be the next United States senator to be elected from Texas, Alvin Owsley has addressed a letter to W. E. George of Wichita Falls thanking Mr. George for efforts on behalf of Mr. Owsley's candidacy.

The letter, which was received Friday, says that Mr. Owsley has been making as many as five speeches a day during the campaign, and that he has been going day and night in what he considers a successful campaign.

"Wonderful reports" received at his state office headquarters, are given by the candidate for his certainty of victory both Saturday and in the second primary.

Strange Story of Valley Reaches Alabama

The fame of the valley of the Wichita, spreading to Eufaula, Ala., has brought a strange letter to G. C. McGown, county agricultural agent.

"I understand," writes R. D. Hays, manager of the Eufaula Chamber of Commerce, "that there are some large ranch owners in your section owning large acreages of bottom lands that are well covered with seedling pecans that bear good crops of nuts, but that these large owners do not bother with having the crop harvested."

Mr. Hays writes Mr. McGown to ask him if he thinks "there would be any owners in your county who would be interested in having their pecans gathered on a percentage basis."

Smith Refuses To Elucidate on Old Anti-Fag Measure

ALBANY, N. Y., July 27. (INS)—Governor Al Smith has no objection to being characterized as a foe of the Volstead law but he showed deep resentment today because he had been pictured as a crusader against the cigaret in the days when he was first elected to the state assembly.

Thirty years ago, according to published disclosures, the governor introduced in the legislature an anti-cigaret bill. The measure was the most drastic ever drafted. It not only called for the punishment of cigaret manufacturers but provided that any person convicted of rolling his own cigaret could be sentenced to the county jail for six months.

When interviewed in the executive mansion today, shortly before he was to leave for New York to confer with Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, Smith plainly showed that he was annoyed because he had been pictured as a reformer.

"Did you read the story in which you were held up to the country as a reformer and crusader against the cigaret?" the governor was asked.

Al Says: That's Not News

"Yes I read it," he replied, "and if that is news its beyond me."

"About 20 years ago a woman pestered me to death with letters asking me to introduce such a bill in the legislature," the governor continued.

Glancing about the room he spied a reporter busy taking notes. He suddenly halted his narration of what happened many years ago.

"If you intend to publish what I say about this then I am going to stop because that isn't news." He exclaimed, sternly. "I can't have my time taken up with such nonsensical stuff."

The governor sank back in his big easy chair and refused to say another word about the anti-cigaret bill.

The first bill sponsored by the governor and which was aimed at the cigaret, was introduced in March, 1907. It was killed in the general laws committee of the lower house, but in January of the following year, Smith again introduced it. The second bill met the same fate as the first.

Many Crank Letters

The governor revealed he is receiving all sorts of requests in letters which are virtually flooding the executive mansion. He said he received a letter from a man in Nebraska asking him to buy his farm for $32,000. Another man from a southern state asked the governor if he could spare $1,500 so that he could go to Mexico for his health.

The "best" letter, according to the governor, came from a man in Schenectady, who asked the executive to loan him a million dollars so that he could develop a patent.

The governor today declined an invitation extended to him by Jesse Jones of Texas, former chairman of the finance committee of the Democratic national committee, to accompany him on a fishing trip to the Thousand Islands.

"I'd like to go fishing but I can't do it now," the governor said.

off another birthday cake today and recalling his experiences.

He was wounded in the battle of Balaklava, he said, but the greatest spot in his career involved those two famous characters, Abdullah Bulbul Ahmeer and Ivan Petrofski Skovar, who, according to the barroom ballad, dueled until both fell dead.

Dr. Edwin Pye Turner, etc., had a different version.

He remarked with due modesty that he witnessed the duel and, as the fight grew warm, he stepped in between the knife swinging Turk and the sneering infidel and told them to go to their corners.

Like late umpires and referees, his decision proved to be unpopular and both gladiators turned on him.

"I was," the nonogenarian said regretfully, "forced to kill them both in self defense."

ANT TRAP

If ants are in your sugar and otherwise entering places about your home where their presence is unInvited, give them their last party.

The extension department of A. & M. college has recommended the following formula as a diet for the pests:

Dissolve 125 grains of arsenate of soda in a small portion of water. Add to it a syrup made of one pound of sugar dissolved in one quart of water. Boil the syrup and saturate a sponge with the solution, placing it in a glass jar with perforated top. The ants will enter the jar, feed upon the syrup and carry it to their nests, killing the colonies. Be sure and label the jar poison and keep it out of the reach of children.

Fresh vegetables should be thoroughly cleaned with a vegetable brush under running water in order to remove all trace of grit or poison spray. The water that clings after the final washing usually affords sufficient moisture to start the cooking process, especially where the heavy aluminum pans are used. With a little care almost any vegetable may be entirely cooked in practically its own juice, whether on top of the stove or by baking. Many vegetables which are commonly cooked by boiling or steaming may be given a desirable and "different" taste by baking, such as ground beets, turnips, carrots, etc. The flavor may be varied by slightly browning on top.

In either boiling or baking vegetables, avoid over-cooking and be sparing of the water added. A little careful practice, with the proper cooking utensils, will more than repay you in the better flavor and actual benefit derived from fresh or canned vegetables.

It is believed by some that the vitamins in vegetables are lessened through the process of canning, but with our modern methods of canning, the loss of vitamins is so slight as to be of no consequence. My advice is to stock your pantry with a variety of canned vegetables to be used when the fresh ones are not procurable, and thus guarantee yourself a plentiful supply of the essential minerals every day in the year.

Questions and Answers

Question—Mrs. P. asks: "What causes the palate to often drop down on the tongue, and what can be done to prevent it?"

Answer: The average soft palate touches the back of the tongue part of the time. If it bothers you very much there is a simple operation you can have performed which consists of clipping off the end of the soft palate if it is too long.

Question—W. J. L. asks: "What foods may be used with the starchy foods?"

Answer: Starchy foods should be used only with the cooked and raw non-starchy vegetables.

Question—Mrs. A. L. K. writes: "Please advise if in playing suit with a person who is in the first stages of tuberculosis one is in danger of contracting this disease."

Answer: I do not consider there is the slightest danger of contracting tuberculosis from another even through close contact. However, I would advise you to tell your tubercular friend to stop playing golf, as the swinging necessary with a golf club is too strenuous for one who is suffering from any form of pulmonary trouble. Tell him to take his exercises by walking long distances each day, but to stop exercising his upper body.

Question—P. M. J. asks: "Could you tell me the cause of a staggering and dizzy feeling in my head in the mornings, and the remedy? Also the reason for a rash completely covering the body when a person gets excited? I was tested as 50 per cent anemic two years ago. Would this have anything to do with it? My weight is about 110 pounds."

Answer: If you are still anemic, that could account for your dizziness in the mornings, and also for the rash on the body. Have a blood count made in a laboratory, send me the report, and I will give you further advice. Also, send me a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

FRANK ERNEST NICHOLSON

By WILLARD MACK

"The Scarlet Fox," now running on Broadway, is the one-hundredth successful play from the pen of Willard Mack. He has been known to write a presentable drama in a week's time.

Mack used to wear a red coat and horseback all over Canada's great open spaces tracking down his man. He and Robert W. Service are the only two honorary members of that order.

Since going playwright, Mr. Mack has been married half a dozen times which looks as if Willard reversed the sex of that Northwest mounted police order to "get your man."

"I get a big chuckle," he told me "out of a story about an East Side tough who brought his girl over on the West Side to Texas Guinan's night club for a Saturday night's whoopee.

"When they reached the iron-grilled door of Guinan's asylum the doorman denied them entrance, explaining that one must be attired in evening clothes before he could go inside.

"But the East-Sider failed to understand, and the attendant, pointing to a sign over the door which read: 'Only Those in Evening Dress Admitted,' thundered:

"'Can't you read?'

"'Coitinly,' replied the Bowery-ite, indignantly, 'but who's smokin'.'"

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 27. (AP)—About half of yesterday's advances were lost in cotton today under renewed liquidation combined with local and southern selling based on talk of improving crop prospects. December contracts sold off to 20.56 or about 20 points net lower, and closed at 20.62, the general market closing steady at net declines of 14 to 17 points. There may have been selling on unfavorable labor reports from Manchester, and reports that the Texas crop was being estimated at a little over 5,000,000 bales in some quarters.

October declined to 20.73 and January to 20.50 or about 35 to 38 points from the early high level, but the decline was checked at these figures by covering for over the week-end and last prices showed rallies of a few points from the lowest.

Some local brokers attributed part of the trading to further evening up of accounts because of uncertainty on the showing of the private month and crop reports next week.

Cable advices said Lancashire spinners had decided to lock out all operatives in the spinning mills if work was not resumed by August 11, in one of the mills which has recently been tied up by labor troubles.

Private Liverpool cables reported covering and trade calling supplied by local and Manchester selling, but that demand for cotton cloth, showed slight improvement.

Port receipts today 6551 bales. U. S. port stocks, 624,709. Exports 15,152, making 7,754,039 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 27. (AP)—Although cotton was comparatively quiet today values worked lower under realizing and selling promoted by expectations of favorable official and private crop reports and advices of mill curtailment. October contracts closed at 20.22, or 12 points net lower. The general market closed quiet at net declines of 12 to 16 points.

The opening was easier in sympathy with relatively lower Liverpool cables. First trades showed losses of 1 to 3 points. Early offerings were promptly absorbed, however, on buying induced by unfavorable weather. October soon sold up to 20.52, December 20.47 and January 20.43, or 17 to 19 points above the initial prices.

Later rather general selling developed, probably based on a bearish report of crop progress in Texas and Oklahoma and a cable stating that the master spinners had voted in favor of a lockout in Lancashire mills beginning August 11. Fears of bearish private month-end estimates and a favorable government condition and yield report due August 8 helped the easier tone. Despite occasional rallies October eventually traded off to 20.16, December 20.14 and January 20.09, or 33 to 36 points below the day's highs.

In the final trading shorts covered and the market rallied 3 to 6 points from the lows, December closing at 20.17, or 16 points net lower.

DUN'S WEEKLY STATEMENT

NEW YORK, July 27. (AP)—Dun's tomorrow will say:

With more activity in certain lines than commonly prevails at this period, July has been a month of encouraging commercial conditions. Some actual gains recently have developed. The outlook for autumn trade, in which the chief interest centers now, is being regarded with increased confidence. The status of merchandise stocks in most quarters is reassuring, without burdensome accumulations, and there is no indication of any prospective departure from the prudent policy of purchasing almost exclusively for well-defined requirements. There does not exist, as on some previous occasions, the over-extension of commitments that invariably leads to forced liquidation with its accompanying unsettlement. The level of wholesale quotations has changed only moderately, having for a long time maintained exceptional stability.

Weekly bank clearings $8,853,836,000, an increase of 1.1 per cent over last year.

The county government has been run for several thousand dollars less per year, under the administration of Judge Nicholson, than it was before he went in. The county records will prove this. Vote for E. W. Nicholson for a second term. —(A political adv. paid by friends.)

Chrysler, Undaunted By Proposed Merger, Leads Big Stock Advance

By BROADAN WALL
Universal Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, July 27.—Stocks today staged one of the strongest advances in several weeks with virtually the entire list participating. There was nothing particularly new developing during the day to account for the advance Favorable factors at least partially known in advance helped considerably to buoy public confidence. Trading was one the most active scale in weeks as many timid speculators returned to the market after witnessing the creeping advance of the past several days.

Leadership was assumed by the most prominent issues, thereby imparting confidence to the general list. Steel common continued its persistent advance and in a rush of buying spurted almost 4 points in anticipation of a brilliant earnings statement to be issued next Tuesday. There was evidence that good sized blocks of steel have been taken out of the market during the recent sinking spell and that much of this stock may be transferred to executives of the corporation.

General Motors fell in line with Steel and registered a new high for the move as revised earnings estimates were confirmed in the semi-annual report issued after the market closed. The net of $9 a share satisfied the most rabid bull on the stock and indicated quite clearly why directors are expected later this year to decide upon another substantial distribution. American Smelting, from which special action is also anticipated, added over 5 points to its advance, while other standard issues such as American Can were in active demand.

Undoubtedly the most brilliant performance of the day was by Chrysler. The advance of 5 points in this issue reflected the renewed activities of a strong group in celebration of the company's continued record-breaking pace in sales. Doubts as to the Chrysler-Dodge merger eventuating were hardly effective in halting the buying enthusiasm in Chrysler, since the principal absorption is based on known facts regarding the corporation's maintained profits on high scale.

Of course there were a few weak sisters, including the American Woolen issues, both of which sunk to new lows, and Ward Baking "A" and "B" stocks, which likewise broke through the old btotoms. Estate liquidation was blamed for the declines in these stocks. To offset these losses, Radio jumped over 6 points despite the forthcoming report which will hardly make encouraging comparison with the first quarter. The shorts in International Nickel were subjected to further squeezing and the stock gained 4½ points. This issue is harboring a tremendous short interest and coupled with this is the repeated reports that the Canadian Pacific has taken out of the market large blocks of Nickel. The company's earnings would hardly warrant the current selling price of its stock, but the prospects of the company's large mining developments, the buyers claim, forecast large increase in earnings over the next few years.

CHICAGO, July 27. (AP)—Active trading and higher prices formed the rule in the corn market today during early dealings. Enlarged eastern demand for corn available to be given prompt shipment helped to lift values.

Opening ⅛c off to ⅜c up, corn soon scored a sharp general advance. Wheat and oats were easy, with wheat starting ⅛ to ⅛c lower but afterward recovering. Provisions displayed firmness.

Corn closed nervous, ⅜c to 1⅝c net higher, wheat 1c to 1⅛c off, oats ⅛c to 1c down and provisions unchanged to a rise of 35c.

GRAIN REVIEW

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE

CHICAGO, July 27. (US) — Although corn closed higher today there were no fireworks. In fact, there seemed to be a perceptible coolness in the July deal. The fever in the whole corn situation seemed to be allayed. It may have run its course. Wheat was weak during most of the session.

At the close wheat was down 1⅛c to 1½c; corn was ⅜c to 1⅝c higher; oats were ⅝c to ⅞c lower; rye was ⅜c to ⅝c lower.

There was a continuance of the covering of short corn in all the futures, but during most of the trading period there appeared to be plenty of corn on tap. As has been repeatedly insisted here, the public interest in the July future is probably exceedingly small.

December corn at the close acted as if the buying power in that future may be exhausted for the time being. To this writer December corn looks like a sale on all bulges. The chief reason why it is able to make recoveries after small breaks may be only sympathetic strength from the July and the September, which move in a sphere of influence from which corn is entirely excluded.

Wheat was a bitter disappointment to bulls today. In spite of a strong Liverpool cable our market never could get above its close of the day before and advance.

The market may be in a trading position at the present time and vacillate up and down with a comparatively narrow range. Unless its condition is much weaker than it looked today it ought to hold its own tomorrow. But it may be erratic. The cautious trader will abstain from making sales on breaks or purchases on upturns.

The weakness in oats is an incidental depressing item in the general market news.

Rye may be bumping around bottom, but after the miserable exhibition this grain has given in the face of statistics on the new and old crop that seemed to show it was in a very strong position, it is not worth trading in until later in the year, when the situation can be more definitely discerned.

In the cash market wheat was unchanged to ½c lower; corn was steady to 2c higher; oats were steady to 3c lower; rye was unchanged; barley was unchanged.

MIDWESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, July 27. (AP)—(USDA)—Although receipts of cattle around the 11-market circuit, estimated at 7,300, were 4,300 short of last Friday and 3,000 under a year ago, trade on killing classes was draggy at steady to weak prices. Eastern dressed beef markets are very sluggish and light to moderate supplies on foot will be necessary next week if present price levels are to be maintained. A broad demand for feeding steers has been a deciding prop to the market on better kinds of western grassers. Country buyers at Kansas City this week purchased the bulk of well-bred grassers, regardless of weight and condition. So far this season grass cattle have been chiefly of southwest origin, but next month the northwest will begin to ship.

Shippers filled their orders for hogs at most points at steady prices, but packers where supplies were ample, enforced a decline of 10c to 25c. St. Louis had a top of $11.60, while other river markets realized $11.00 or better. Total offerings were around 59,500, as compared with 65,481 last Friday and 56,005 a year ago. Decreased receipts of sheep resulted in a steady to strong trade; aged stock was unchanged. Western lambs at Kansas City and Chicago topped at $15.00. The supply, estimated at 24,400, was 9,500 short of a week ago and 4,700 less than the same day last year.

Council May Change Hour For Meeting

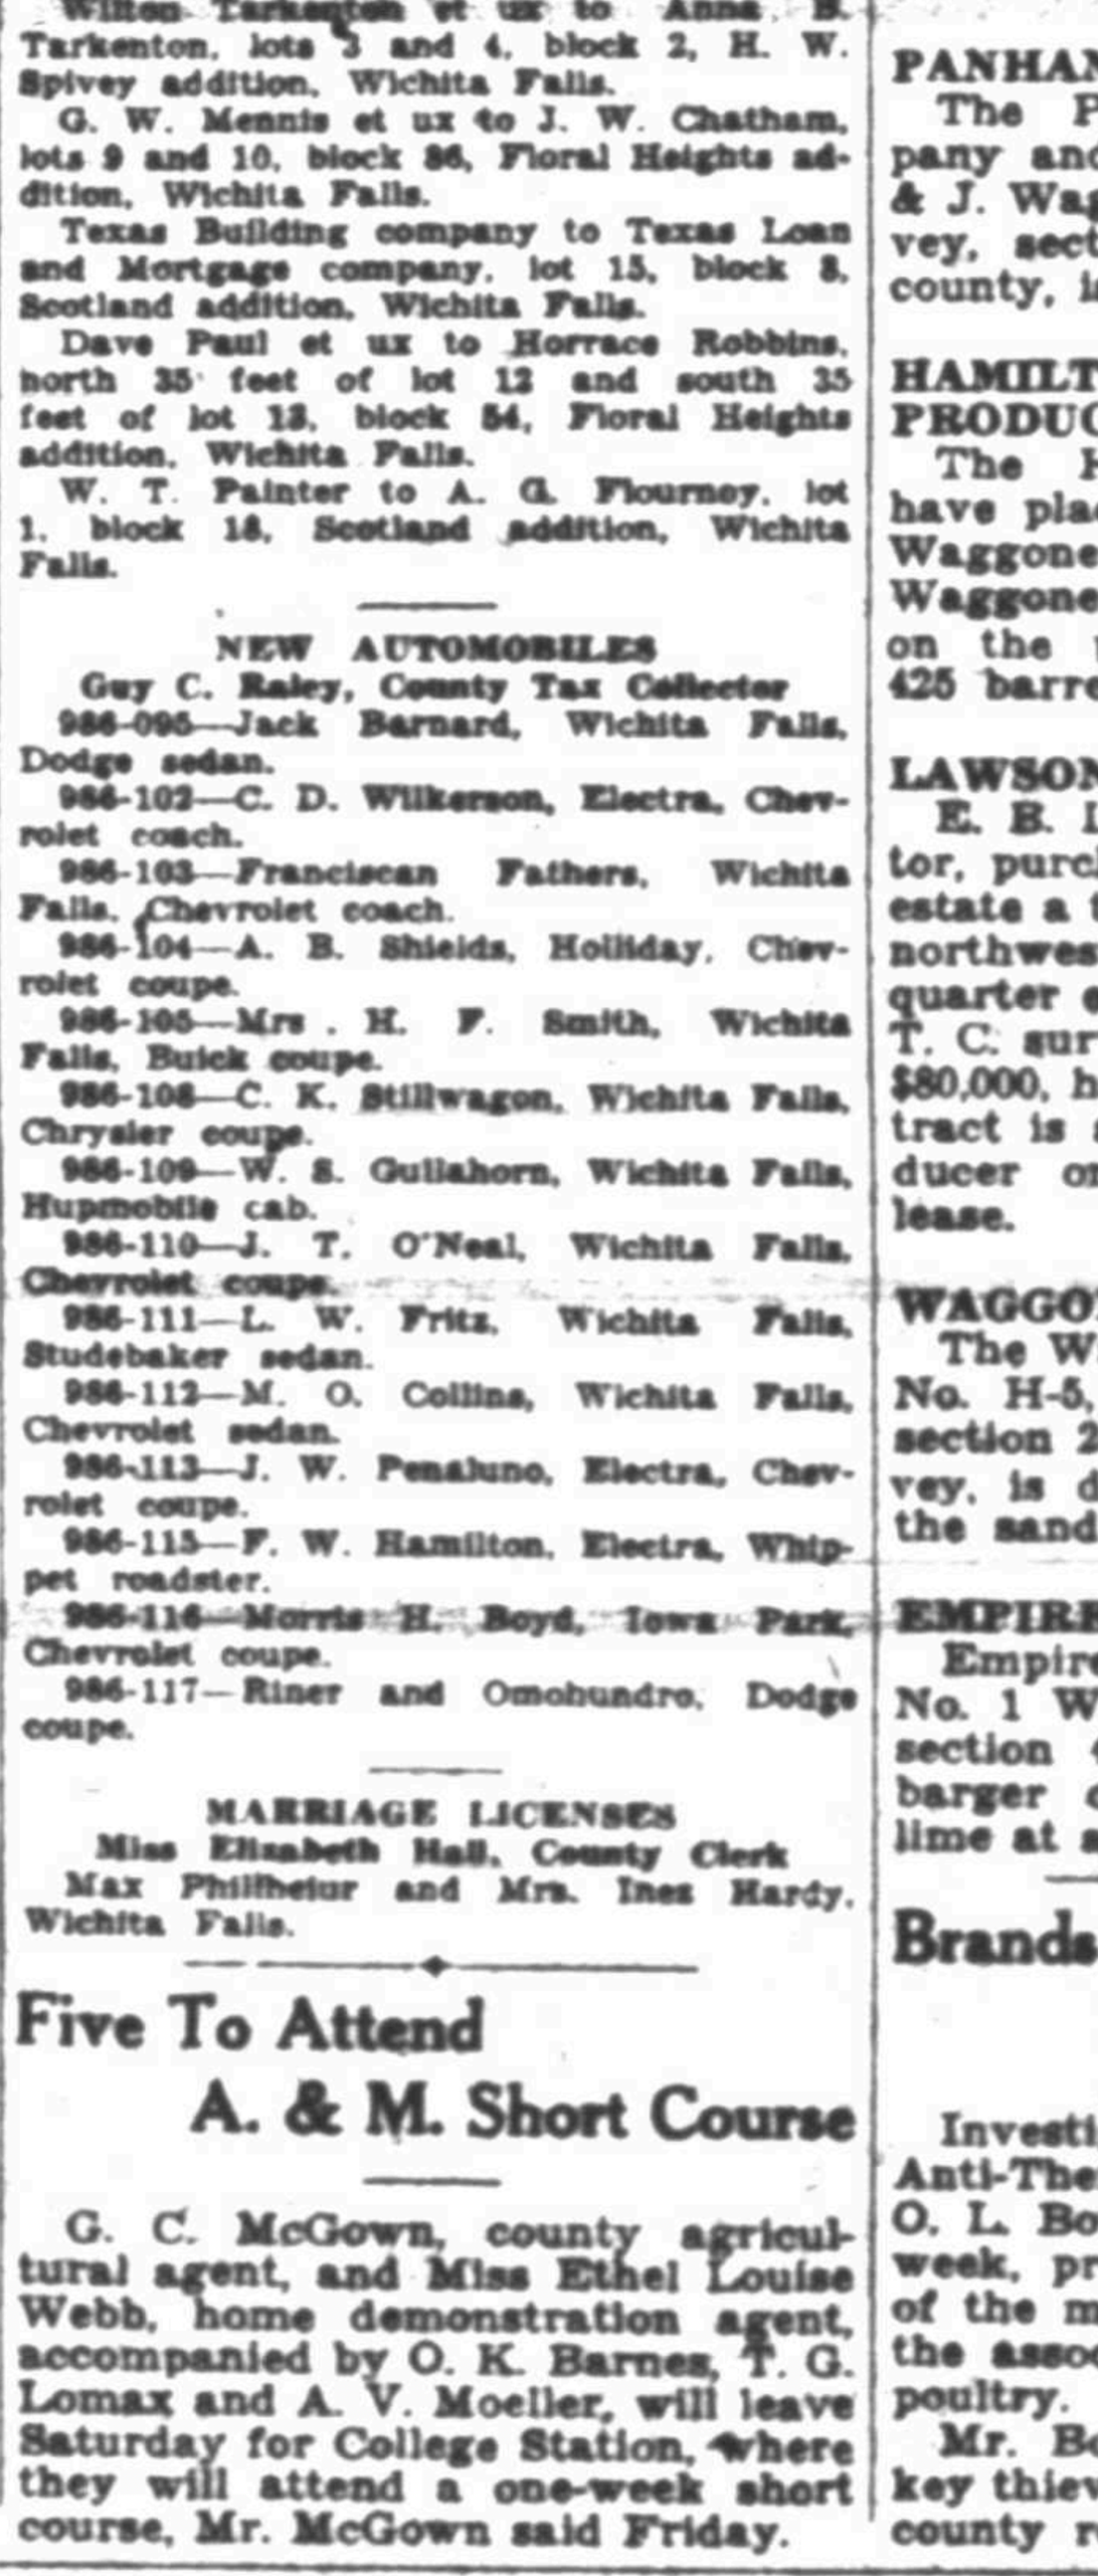

After Monday night the city council probably will hold its Monday night meetings at 8 o'clock instead of 7:30 o'clock, if the members pass an ordinance which they asked Thelbert Martin, city attorney, to draw up at the last meeting of the council.

Mr. Martin has completed the ordinance, and Friday he turned it over to W. E. McBroom, city clerk, for presentation to the council Monday night.

The new ordinance sets the council meeting hour at 8 o'clock from April 1 to Oct. 1. The rest of the year the council will start its meetings at 7:30 o'clock as at present.

You can make no mistake by voting for E. W. Nicholson for a second term as county judge. He is all right in every respect.—(A political adv. paid by friends).

JACK COUNTY HAS BIG WELL

Petroleum Producers-Texas Test Is Flowing

Jack county pool added another good well to its number of producers in the deep pay when the Petroleum Producers and Texas company No. 1 Jones, located in the Isaac Hughson survey, drilled a few feet deeper into the sand at 3160-65 feet and in a short time oil rose rapidly in the casing and began flowing. The well is, according to 24-hour gauge, flowing between 20 and 25 barrels per hour. It is in wildcat territory, located about two miles north of Bryson, and three quarters of a mile east and south of the Panhandle Refining company's recent completion on the J. T. O. Jones land in the Hughson survey.

The bringing in of the well has created considerable demand for close-in acreage and as a result several leases changed hands at fair prices.

No. 1 Tankersley Shows Up For Production

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, July 27.—Moore and Kennedy's No. 1 Tankersley, two miles south of Mertzon, conceded to offer greater promise of becoming a commercial producer than any wildcat yet drilled in Irion county, pumped 28 barrels of oil and five barrels of water in 12 hours ending Friday morning, R. E. Moore, one of the operators, announced. There was 600 feet of fluid in the hole when pumping began. It will continue at least for three days to test. MARKET REVIEW

R. O. Harvey & Co., rooms 630-34 Harvey-Snider Bldg., received the following Friday on cotton, grain and stocks from their New York and Chicago connections, E. A. Pierce & Co.:

Cotton

NEW YORK, July 27.—The demand from shorts is less urgent today and the tone is relatively easier. The weather is not of the best and while sentiment remains friendly to the bear side the selling is not nearly as aggressive as recently. Reports of weevil being plentiful in Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina are coming to hand and the present weather is certainly not unfavorable for the propagation of the pest. For the time being a trading market is apt to develop.

Stocks

NEW YORK, July 27.—The market gave the most impressive demonstration of strength today. Activity and buying did not spread beyond the industrial group, the rails continuing to be neglected. The leaders on the upside included American Can, Smelters, Chrysler, General Motors, Steel and Radio. Oil shares made no particular response to the price changes in crude oil announced yesterday. It is pointed out that while the value of light crude has increased, the value of heavy crude has declined. The gasoline market is strong but the fuel oil market is not. No announcement was forthcoming on Chrysler-Dodge consolidation plan, but heavy buying appeared in the former, the stock acting as if volume accumulation had been completed. Steel acted in much the same way, the stock breaking out of its narrow range between 139 and 141, and advancing rapidly to 144⅛. The street anticipates that the earnings report of the corporation for the second quarter, which will be made public Tuesday of next week, will be quite favorable. The optimistic remarks of President Grace of Bethlehem Steel, also aided the sentiment towards the steel stocks. Particular comment was made upon the fact the second quarter of the year Bethlehem enjoyed an increase in average price of products sold. Volume was substantially heavier today and there were some signs of reawakening on the part of the public. The active stocks seem to attract a following more rapidly than in the recent past. Call money was 5½ per cent all day.

Grain

CHICAGO, July 27.—Action of the Liverpool market was fairly responsive to our upturn of yesterday and closed 2½c to 2⅝c higher. Our wheat opened fractionally lower and no time sold up to last night's finals. Both commission houses and locals were pressing sales on all minor rallies and with lack of consistent buying power to bolster up the situation the market eased off to a point, at which it had just about lost all of the gain registered Thursday. Export business was present; but in only moderate proportions, being estimated at around 350,000 bushels, mostly Manitobas.

Although the corn made some new highs on the recent move on both the old and the new crop positions, with July making a new high since last April, when the bull market was on, the early bulge did not hold. The market advanced on small buying orders and reported short covering, but later movement seemed to be about over for the time being, with market sagging off to around last night's finals about half an hour before the close.

Trade has been largely of professional character, with considerable realizing above the 96-cent market on September. Fair amount of corn sold to go to store. More or less talk about further export business in new corn crop. Cash arrivals heavy at 368 cars and sales running from 1½ higher to one lower.

Oats trade a featureless proposition and showing no disposition to continue yesterday's upturn and with heavy arrivals in cash department, which is tending to act as a weight on the nearby delivery. All options sold off to under last night's finals.

Rye was following wheat again today, with no special features noted.

Another Small Loss In Seminole's Yield

TULSA, Okla., July 27.—The greater Seminole oil field on Thursday averaged 237,020 barrels from 1,099 wells, a loss of 110 barrels. The two days' production reports follow:

CANDIDATES CLOSE CAMPAIGNS CONFIDENT VICTORY IN PRIMARIES

VOTERS GIVE VERDICT TODAY

Modesty "Lost Art" as All See Success

The predictions of candidates for office in Wichita county reveal one surprising fact. Somebody is wrong, for everyone can't win and everyone claims victory. Even Miss Elizabeth Hall, candidate for county clerk, who is unopposed.

A number of the candidates could not be reached.

Modesty was a lost art or behaviorism with the candidates. They admitted it and we will.

A number of persons were pre predicting "no second primary." Among these were R. J. Long, W. G. Bralley, Burl Bryant and John A. Donald.

Predictions of the candidates follow:

Rep. District 111, Place 1

J. R. Long—There'll be no second primary in my race.

F. G. Swanson—I am confident. It is certain that I will win. It's all over but the counting of the votes.

Dr. Joseph Graves—I haven't given the matter much thought. There won't be a second primary unless Bob Long wins his way to the first or second place.

Rep. District 112

A. V. Grant—No report, out of town.

Early Van Deventer—No report, out of town.

Cecil Storey—No report, out of town.

Judge, 78th District Court

Ben F. Allred—I'll win in the second primary.

H. F. Weldon—When I announced my candidacy for judge of the 78th district court I placed my campaign on that high ethical plane which the dignity of this office demands. I want to thank my opponents and their friends for their helpful efforts to maintain this proper attitude toward the race.

I could not make a statement for publication without expressing my gratitude to my loyal friends who have aided me and who will vote for me at the election.

Modesty forbids making any prophecy as to the outcome of the race but I trust that should I receive the nomination of the Democratic party to this office that my service shall reflect some credit on my party.

George A. Smoot—Could not be reached.

W. W. Cook—I think I will have a good lead in the primary.

Judge 89th District Court

P. A. Martin—I expect my record as district judge to be approved by the citizenship of the county, and to be approved by a large majority.

Harry Bunnenburg—I am confident of winning.

District Attorney

W. L. Scott—Any statement as to results of the election is of necessity a surmise. My belief is that I will receive as many votes in Young county as all of my opponents and more votes in Archer county than all of my opponents and as many votes in Wichita county as any one of my opponents. This belief is based on reports from all sections of the district as well as the opinion expressed by people in various parts of the district who should be in a position to be fairly reliable.

E. F. Fruechte—Thanks to my friends for the many favors extended and to the public for the courteous manner in which it has received me. The outlook is most encouraging, and I want to take this opportunity af asking that I again be given due consideration during August, should a second primary be necessary.

John B. Rhea—All reports are favorable. I am hopeful.

Sam B. Spence—From the expression of friends throughout the district I feel confident that I will lead the ticket.

District Clerk

Miss Eunice Jackson—I am confident the voters of the county will return me to office Saturday.

Jesse S. Smith—I don't know how to forecast an election. That is up to the people.

County Judge

John P. Marrs—Of course no one can tell, but I feel very confident. I have worked hard and believe I will get over in the first primary without requiring a runoff.

P. B. Curd—I feel mighty good. I am not worried a bit.

E. W. Nicholson—I'll wait until after the election to make any predictions.

Judge, County Court at Law

Irvin J. Vogel—I have tried to carry on a vigorous campaign and have tried to see the people and present my candidacy to them. I believe the primary will give me a nice vote and one from which victory will be assured.

Ralph D. Pittman—I have been thoroughly over the county and expect to lead the ticket for county judge in the first primary, but think there may be a run off.

C. M. McFarland—The situation looks very satisfactory to me.

County Attorney

Bill Davenport—My friends tell me it looks good. I hope to lead the ticket and will be satisfied with the result.

Wayne Somerville—I don't have anything to say. The voters will have to decide.

Robert K. Crain—Everybody is predicting their election. I'll win.

W. E. Wilson—Feeling confident that people of Wichita county desire a change in the county attorney's office, I await the verdict that will place me in the run off.

County Tax Collector

Guy C. Raley—The people giveth and the people taketh away; blessed be the name of the people.

Arthur C. Howard—I feel that I am going to carry the entire county by a good majority.

County Tax Collector

Max Shumake—(Mr. Shumake's father, C. J. Shumake, spoke for his son, who is ill.) Max is going to be in the run-off good and strong.

N. A. Moore—I believe I will lead the ticket by 1,500 votes.

B. L. Trevathan—I believe I will lead the ticket.

Everett Hughes—Could not be reached.

Mart Banta—No report.

R. S. Dunaway—I expect a good plurality in the election Saturday and feel that I will receive an especially good vote outside the city as well as in Wichita Falls. Having served six years in office, I am confident of election.

County Treasurer

Mrs. W. W. Gardner—Could not be reached.

T. W. McHam—I think I will be re-elected.

County Superintendent

J. A. Hood—On the eve of the election, I wish to thank my friends for their support and for their votes Saturday. I am confident of election and of a good majority at Electra and Wichita Falls.

Burl Bryant—Friends from all parts of the county predict victory for me in the first primary without necessity for a run-off.

Clyde R. Wofford—I will get as many votes as any of my opponents in the first primary and will win in the second.

Sheriff

H. L. White—I am well pleased with the outlook. I am going strong all over the county.

W. G. Bralley—I don't think there will be a second primary in the sheriff's race.

S. M. Spruiell—I will be second in the first primary and first in the second primary.

CROPS NEED HOT WEATHER

Little Damage So Far, Says Oates

Though more rain than necessary to complete this year's cotton crop has fallen in the vicinity of Wichita Falls during the last few days it was not enough to seriously handicap the growing crops, in the opinion of M. B. Oates, agricultural agent of the Fort Worth and Denver railway.

Some signs of boll weevils and other cotton pests are beginning to show. No great damage has been done, although the cloudy wet days may help their rapid multiplication, Mr. Oates said.

A few days of hot weather is all that is needed to exterminate the cotton pests and a good crop will be made through this section, Mr. Oates believes.

Wichitans Invited To Oklahoma C. M. T. C.

Routine drills of infantry and artillery students, athletic contests, and exhibition calisthenics will be features of the day's program at the Citizen's Military Training camp at Fort Sill, Okla., next Friday, which has been set aside as "Visitors' day," camp officials have announced. A special invitation has been extended citizens of Wichita Falls to attend the day's festivities.

A track and field meet which has been arranged for the afternoon promises to be one of the most spectacular staged in recent years. The day will be brought to a close with a dance in the evening.

The military camp has been in progress since July 6, and is in command of Major Seth L. Weld of the 38th infantry. It will continue until Aug. 4.

Rain Comes Down While Sun Shines

Sunshine and rain drops interested some and amazed others in Wichita Falls at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening. The big drops pattered down while the setting sun seemed even brighter than usual.

The answer was that the rain cloud was not very large and that it was directly overhead while the sun was in the west and shooting its rays on the city at an angle. The rain lasted about 10 minutes.

Attention, Voters

Former Commissioner R. L. Eads, who is trying to elect John P. Marrs for County Judge, is making a mighty howl about tax cutting. Ask him why it was he did not cut taxes when he was commissioner of this county.

He RAISED both your rate and your value — but of course he doesn't mention that. (Political advertisement paid for by friends.)
