A SMALL TORNADO, seen by some residents Friday afternoon, was blamed for wrecking this 54-foot trailer house four miles north of Hereford about 5:30 p.m. It was located on the Clinton Jackson farm and belonged to Don Jackson. The mobile home was classified as a total wreck. (Staff Photo)

Funnel Hits As Storms Batter Crops And Roads

Thunderstorms that have blasted the Panhandle for the past week caused some crop damage and gave birth to at least one small tornado in Deaf Smith County.

Continued wet weather is beginning to create a serious problem to farmers and has brought on traffic stoppages and snarls in every direction.

A small tornado that dipped down momentarily is believed to have wrecked a new trailer house and a sheet iron granary about four miles north of town. Lightning and rain have knocked out some rural telephone circuits. Several persons reported seeing a small funnel (some observers said two funnels) snake down from a boiling cloud bank about 5:30 p.m. Friday.

A 54-foot trailer house just west of U. S. Highway 385 north of Hereford was overturned. The trailer was on the Clinton Jackson farm and had been purchased by his son, Don. The Jackson youth and his fiancée, Miss Jeanne Brown, had been furnishing and working on the trailer, which was to have been their home after their marriage in July. No one was in or near the trailer at the time it overturned.

It was believed the trailer and its contents were a total loss.

At the same time, a small, cylindrical sheet iron granary located about 100 yards west of the road was picked up and thrown across two fences and the road. Its twisted wreckage came to rest near a corral, near the Mercer home. Pieces of the granary were strewn along the path it probably followed.

The funnel's point of contact with the earth is just south of the temporary lake across U. S. 385 where a car went into the water later Friday night.

Rain gauges have been getting a work-out, as some eight to ten inches have been reported across the county since Sunday.

Heavy rains fell in the Dawn area and the northern part of the county Friday night. Lack of operating telephone circuits (Continued on page 3)

The Slickers are favored to take the third straight win when the game comes off on the evening of August 20 at the Price College Field in Amarillo.

Coaching the Slickers will be Clark Jarnagin, former West Texas State College head coach. The City Slickers beat the Sodabusters 24-12 in the 1958 game that opened the series and repeated last year with a 12-6 victory.

Several of the players on the Hereford football fans. There are two players from Phillips two from Dumas, and one each from Levelland, Littlefield and Hereford.

Presiding in court was County Judge Homer Henslee.

Tour Wednesday On Wheat Tests

The wheat drill box survey which was made last fall by Deaf Smith County farmers, 4-H Club members and County Agent J. W. "Lefty" Thomas will be completed with a tour of plots planted from samples on the Harold Shearhart farm, located northeast of Hereford, Wednesday.

The field tour will begin at 2 p. m. Purpose of the survey is to determine the variety and quality of wheat seeded by farmers in this county.

The demonstration program, aimed at improving the quality of wheat produced locally, was started last Oct. 1.

All interested persons are invited to attend the tour, where discussions will be held in the field under direction of Dr. Kenneth Porter of the Bushland Experiment Station, and Dr. I. M. Atkins and R. J. Hodges of Texas A & M College Extension Service.

Hodges will give results of the survey at 2 p. m. Dr. Porter will discuss recommended varieties and wheat breeding programs at 2:30 p. m. and Dr. Atkins will discuss varietal mixtures in individual plots at 3 p. m.

Officers Arrest Two Youths For Shooting Store Windows

Two Hereford youths, 18 and 16, were charged by Hereford Police Department with one of the 15 incidents of damage to windows by shots from a BB gun reported early this week.

Charged were: Stanley Kropff, 18, Route 1, with malicious mischief; and Wendell Wilson, 16, 336 Star St., with juvenile delinquency by malicious mischief.

Sentence Youth On Bicycle Theft

William Robert Drerup, 17, of Hereford Friday was sentenced to three days in Deaf Smith County Jail plus $25 and court costs in County Court after entering a plea of guilty to charge of theft under $50.

Drerup was arrested Thursday in Hereford. Arrest was made by Hereford police patrolman Don Metcalf.

Arrest was made in connection with theft of a bicycle reported Wednesday of this week. Presiding in court was County Judge Homer Henslee.

Damage to windows at 15 locations in Hereford, allegedly caused by shots from an air or BB rifle, Friday was estimated at $5,119.06.

Specifically, the youths were charged in connection with shooting and damaging five plate glass windows at McGee Furniture Store with an air (BB) rifle Monday night. The offense allegedly occurred between 9:30 and 10:30 p. m., according to Capt. L. B. Bartlett, supervisory officer in charge of Hereford Police Department.

Capt. Bartlett said the youths admitted shooting at windows at 14 other locations on the same night, including: Long Star Insurance Co., Del's Humble Service Station, E. B. Black Furniture, Park Ave. Grill, Southwestern Public Service, Hereford Community Center, Case Implement Co., John Deere Implement Co., First National Bank, Ink Spot, Osborn Buick, Orchid Beauty Shop, Stan Knox Television Service and Acme Cleaners.

Wilson was released to the custody of his parents Friday. Kropff was released on $500 bond Friday morning in the office of Justice Of The Peace C. B. Miles.

NO, NOT A LAKE — that's U. S. 385 about four miles north of Hereford. When Jimmy Allred of Hereford, left, heard that a station wagon was nearly submerged under water on the north side of a half-mile "temporary lake" across the highway, he launched his boat to aid Highway Patrol officers in ascertaining ownership of the car. The boat was launched on the south side of the water patch, which measures up to eight feet deep, in some spots. In the boat are Highway Patrol officers Caryl Parker and Charles Skinner of Hereford. The automobile's occupants, a family from Adrian, were discovered at a nearby farm house later. (Staff Photo)

Adrian Family Spends Night Atop Car In Lake On US 385

An Adrian family, including two small boys, spent a wet night Saturday sitting on top of their submerged auto four miles north of Hereford.

None of the family was injured, although they were cold and suffering slightly from exposure.

Halle A. Gee Jr., 35, a teacher and coach at Adrian, and his family hit water that was covering U. S. Highway 385 to a depth of about nine feet about midnight. With Gee were his wife, Cathryn, and their two sons, nine-year-old Russell and three-year-old Randy.

Their 1957 station wagon carned off the road after hitting water on the north side of the lake crossing the highway. It came to rest on the west side of the road with only about one foot of the top left above water.

The Gee family spent the rest of the night, until about 5:30 a. m., on top of the car. Their clothes and luggage were floating around inside.

When it began to get light, the family waded out through the water to higher ground and found refuge at the home of the A. G. Martins about half a mile away.

Two Businesses Hit By Thieves

Hereford police Saturday morning investigated theft of a pneumatic air gun and tool and theft of coins from a soft drink machine at two business locations.

Investigating Hereford patrolman Bobby Roberts said a tool and the air gun were taken from Hereford Parts And Supply, 232 Main St., during business hours between 12:30 p. m. and 6 p. m. Friday. Both items, valued at $97.45, were in a supply room at the rear of the building, he said.

At Nelson's Laundry, 839 E. First St., a coin box of a soft drink dispenser was pried open sometime between 6 p. m. Thursday and 9 a. m. Friday, patrolman Roberts said. From 40 cents to $1 was taken from the machine, which was inside the 24-hour laundry.

Grand Jury Will Hear 16 Cases

Sixteen cases are scheduled for consideration by 69th District Grand Jury, which convenes at 10 a. m. Monday in District Court. Last meeting of the Grand Jury was held here on April 12.

Jurors called to convene include Mrs. B. E. Roberson, Mrs. J. H. Sears, Homer Brumley, Harold K. Shearhart, Lovell R. Sharp, R. Paul Conaway, Edward B. Roberson, Leo Forrest, Carl T. Wimberley, G. W. Simmons, Austin C. Rose Jr. and Mrs. R. G. Peeler.

Registration Set Next Week For Swim Instruction

Registration for the first session of classes in the Deaf Smith County Red Cross Chapter's annual water safety program will begin at 9 a. m. Monday.

Registration hours of 9-11 a. m. will be observed through Saturday of this week, and classes for the first session will begin Monday, June 20, and continue through Saturday, July 2.

Persons planning to enroll for the first session are required to register this week at Hereford Municipal Pool. Mrs. Ted Higgins of Hereford is in charge of registration.

During the program's organizational meeting last month, the following daily schedule of classes was adopted: adult classes (beginners, intermediate and swimmers), 6 to 7 a. m.; competitive swimming, 7 to 8:30 a. m.; and classes for children (pre-school, beginners, intermediate and swimmers), 9 a. m. through noon.

Registration for senior and junior lifesaving classes also will be held 9-11 a. m. this week. To enroll for senior lifesaving, the person must be 15 years or older and capable of swimming 440 yards continuously.

Requirements for junior lifesaving are that the person be between the ages of 12 to 15 and capable of swimming 220 yards continuously. The requirements for both lifesaving classes are stated in the Red Cross Swimming Manual.

Start Youth Jobs Service Monday

Scheduled to operate this summer on the half-day basis, Youth Employment Service will open at 8 a. m. Monday, it has been announced by Hereford City Manager Dudley Bayne.

The jobs-for-youth agency, which began operating last summer, will be open from 8 a. m. to noon Mondays through Saturdays. Jeannette Rayburn, who last month graduated from Hereford High School, has been hired as full-time receptionist.

An office on the second floor of City Hall will provide a clearing house for youngsters 12 to 18 who are seeking jobs and for employers looking for summer or part-time help.

Telephone number of the YES office is EM-4-2622, Bayne said.

Last summer YES was operated on a full-day basis, but Bayne said operation of the project slowed greatly during af-ternnoons. The employment service has been allocated $291.02 by the United Fund budget for operating expenses.

Allocation from the United Fund will be used to pay salaries of office help and telephone, printing and other minor expense.

Last summer, Youth Employment Service was financed by civic club and private donations. Bayne said employers may hire workers by telephone or by going to the YES office. Youngsters wanting to seek work through the service must fill out forms at the office.

Youth Employment Service started last year at the urging of both youngsters and parents. Success of the program made provision for it to be included as one of ten agencies which were allotted financial help under the United Fund.

Around Town

Here we go getting web-footed again. And the folks we talked to Saturday morning said it was 1941 when the water last went across U. S. Highway 385 north of Hereford. We haven't been here nearly that long, but we know that we've had a frog-strangler.

Four adventuresome young men from Hereford tried boating on Tierra Blanca Creek Friday afternoon and were fairly successful. Black clouds and lightning convinced them they shouldn't try their first plan to ride the creek to Buffalo Lake, so they went west of town and rode about five miles back to town. Making the trip were Carl Zimmerman, Bill Druke and Wallace and Robert Woolsey. They rose a four-man, surplus rubber raft owned by Zimmerman. It took them from (Continued on page 3)

Fast-Changing Wants Of Golden Age Group Of Prime Importance

(Editor's Note: This is the second of three articles which explore the problems of aging citizens, and what should be done to care for them. The author is Executive Director of Homes for Older Adults for the Northwest Texas Conference of The Methodist Church. The new Hereford Area Foundation is working to locate a planned home in Hereford for Golden Age Citizens.)

By Rev. Don R. Davidson
Each member of the Governor's Advisory Committee on the White House Conference on Aging received over 320 pages of printed material this week describing what is being done and what is not being done in Texas for this group of our exploding population. Those reports show that there are serious problems in this field of service and many of them have been there a long time.

As was pointed out last week, part of our problem is in teaching our people who want to be and are able to be benefactors at this point to find a way to build a larger home rather than the small, limited home that cannot make its own community for a balance in their lives.

Another of our problems lies in the fact that many who want to go into the home cannot realize how quickly their own wants will change.

A man or woman who says,

"I will become a Founder of the home with a generous gift if you will place it in walking distance of a fishing hole," forgets that at 76 his interest in fishing probably will not last much more than three years.

Some want to be downtown, near the post office and the "square." They forget that while glad to cross the street on a green light at 78 they may want desperately to be out in the quiet away from fast traffic in a mere three years.

A similar problem lies in the fact that we have sad experience in trying to get two of our senior citizens who knew each other previously to share an apartment in the home for the sake of capital building economy. Few older people can adjust readily to a new roommate. Therefore, we insist that each have a private room with very few exceptions, and this costs more money.

Another problem lies in the fact that too many people who are able to pay for exactly the kind of care and arrangements they want, enter the expensive homes built to attract the wealthy without facing the joy they might have in being a benefactor as well as a beneficiary in such a family situation, as the church-sponsored home would be.

ly need the home and can see that they will need it in time. Insist on waiting until they cannot help take care of themselves, and then they apply for entrance. Our type of home must have many who are willing to enter while yet able to help wait on many about them who have grown

Inside the home.

Many problems arise by comments made by people who know only a part of the finance plan. Almost every day I hear one say, "I understand they made that dear old lady give them every dollar she had before they would take her in." If life expectancy is 12 years, no person is going to live - really live - those 12 years on much less than $12,000. Many of the thousands who are now in church homes had far less than that when they came in. What is wrong with accepting all they have in exchange for two or three times that much? What is wrong with expecting people whose financial level is above the hundred thousand dollar mark to give half of it to be able to get back into a happy family life that could not be bought with a million dollars unless sponsoring interests make such provision?

Hereford can help us meet all these problems by uniting in purpose to see that the best type of home comes to your city. Hereford has a health - for aging feature that no other town in Texas has, so far as bone growth is concerned. She has strong hospital and welfare programs. She can afford a site that will be far enough to be away from fast - moving and dangerous traffic, and yet provide a slow - moving traffic with a nearby gathering of life and community activity where members of the home could visit outside community without being forced to do so with a directed program.

There are enough people in Hereford who would profit by living in the home to provide far more than the hundred thousand dollar good - will gift to help start the project.

There are many in the city who will gladly help with the good - will gift. The report to our committee of developments thus far is encouraging.

The Annual Conference Session at Amarillo the last of May required us to contact other cities about our first home. We hope to establish at least homes within the Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Church in the next four or five years. Two other cities have called us in and are at work on a proposal.

We believe that we can be ready to make a decision in the month of September. What decision can you be making about it?

Next week we will talk about

Officers.....

The case will be put before 69th District Grand Jury.

Both youngsters were placed under arrest for questioning at police headquarters at 5 p. m. Thursday. A BB rifle, which belongs to an acquaintance of the boys, was later confiscated by police.

Capt. Bartlett said the reward money which has been offered would not be accepted, as arrest of the suspects was a direct result of police investigation. Wednesday morning, local insurance agencies and private individuals had collected $60 to be used as reward money for the apprehension of the person or persons responsible for the vandalism reported at that time.

Approximate estimate on windows at the 15 locations reporting damage by BB shot was $5,119.06. Value of the windows at McGee Furniture was estimated at $930.

The youths said that they each had shot at windows from a moving automobile. Capt. Bartlett said they said they had borrowed the BB rifle from an acquaintance they had visited earlier in the evening.

Earlier in the week, police investigated damaged plate glass windows and doors at 36 business places in the city in attempting to ascertain the damage caused by vandalism. At that time, damage had been estimated at about $10,000.

about 7 a. m., Texas Highway Patrol units from Vega and Hereford converged on opposite sides of the temporary lake.

Jimmy Alfred of Hereford brought out his motor boat to get to the car, where officers feared someone might have been trapped. He was accompanied by Carlos Anderson and Highway Patrolmen Charles Skinner and Caryl Parker.

The car was finally pulled, dripping, from the lake by a large Texas Highway Department truck. Hallie Gee appeared about the same time and gave details to the investigating officers.

The Gees were returned to their home in Adrian about 9 a. m. by the Texas Highway Patrolman based in Vega.

There were barricades and warning signs at both approaches to the lake. The lower barricades were placed at the edge of the water Friday afternoon, but ended up in about two feet of water Saturday after heavy rains Friday night.

Funnel.....

has hampered reports of moisture or crop conditions.

The cloud that deposited .20 of an inch in Hereford Friday night burst loose for two or three inches north of the city. A comparatively small swath of hail was reported to have damaged wheat crops north of Hereford.

Barley, which was ready to harvest within the week, is beginning to fall.

Wheat farmers have become quite concerned with the continued wet weather. Some wheat has fallen before winds of 60 - 80 miles per hour.

Scattered reports of hail damage to wheat were beginning to trickle in to town Saturday morning. Some fields had an estimated 70 per cent damage, although this is expected to be in fairly small areas.

Complete report on crop damage and rainfall is not expected until next week, since most dirt roads are impassable.

Presently, there seems to be only slight wheat crop losses. But continued wet weather might bring on mold for fields which have fallen. If the weather clears, most of the grain should be harvested.

Torrential rains sent water racing above U. S. 60 about four miles east of Hereford Thursday night. About three miles was under water, although the road was never closed to traffic. Water was as high as 18 inches over the road at one time.

On U. S. 385 north from Hereford, the highway was completely closed by a low area which held up to ten feet of water. For a time Friday, Farm - to - Market Road 412 north from Dawn was closed. It was reported to be open again Saturday morning.

Harrison Highway west from Hereford was closed Friday by high water near the O. G. Hill ranch, about seven miles from the city. The paved road south from U. S. 60 at the east edge of Hereford was closed by the flooding Tierra Blanca Creek. Roads southwest to Clovis and south to Dimmitt were open Saturday morning, although water covered the pavement in some places.

North - South traffic between Hereford and Vega was being routed through Dawn, then north or through Bootleg and north.

Texas Highway Department workers have been on the job continuously since Thursday night, putting up barricades and warning motorists of road conditions. They pulled stalled motorists through the water east of Hereford. Most of that stretch of road has been marked with stakes at the edge of the paving.

Highway workers said it might be as long as three weeks before water would recede enough for traffic to get through on U. S. 385 north of Hereford.

George Stambaugh, manager of the West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative said Friday that four circuits from Dawn were under water and that 15 circuits going north from Hereford had been knocked out. Rural telephone service in Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer Counties has been hard - hit by the weather and lightning.

drill box samples of wheat being sown, having a seed laboratory make analysis tests on the samples and planting of seed from the sample to determine its varietal purity and yield.

Factors determined for each sample included seed quality, source of seed, cleaning and treatment practices, varieties, purity, inert matter, weed seed, planting rates and other crop seed.

County 4-H Club boys and their fathers gathered and catalogued samples taken last October. Providing financial support for the program were Hereford Grain Corporation, Pittman Grain Corporation, Miller Seed Company, W. A. C. Seed Company, Continental Grain Company and Scott Seed Company.

Plantings on the Shearhart farm consist of three 15 - foot rows from each sample taken, with the various varieties grouped together. A sample of foundation seed of each variety was planted so the drill box samples could be checked for varietal purity.

Results of the test from the seed laboratory show the number of noxious and common weed seeds in the one - pound sample tested. The test also shows the amount of inert matter and the amount and kinds of other crop seeds.

The program was started as little is known about seed - borne diseases and fungus, which will be revealed by the sample plantings.

Also under study are germination and rates of planting. With more than 150,000 acres of wheat planted in Deaf Smith County, such a survey may reveal weak points and show how yields and quality could mean additional thousands of dollars each year.

YOUR RED CROSS ON THE JOB

By CORINNE J. NEELY

We take this means to thank people who have been sending donations for the Chile Relief Fund through this chapter. We are not making a drive but will accept donations for this disaster. They will be sent to area office marked for Chile Disaster.

The chapter cannot accept clothing and bedding but some churches are able to do this and send to the disaster area. We have not the means or funds to handle these.

This year has been a bad one for disaster - near and far. Sunnyside was our nearby neighbor who was hit by a tornado. Floods and tornadoes which hit the midwest and Oklahoma affected people known and related to our own citizens. We feel concern about these and funds were given for them through the chapter or direct to individuals. But when we hear and read about the dreadful earthquake and the following floods in Chile, it seems so far away and not up to us to give aid. But as far as Red Cross is concerned that is not true. We do have a volunteer obligation even there. President Eisenhower has issued a statement of their need, as has the president of the American Red Cross, General Alfred M. Guenther. The American Red Cross early gave $150,000.00 from our national disaster fund to the Chilean Red Cross. The Children's Red Cross (Jrs) sent $25,000.00.

Top trained disaster personnel and nurses have been sent to aid as well. The United States government is doing all it can to assist the government of Chile and the Chilean people in this catastrophe.

In President Eisenhower's appeal to the people he stated, "Many people in Chile are homeless, injured, poorly clothed. It is now winter in Chile. The disaster area is one of heavy rainfall, hence the extent of personal suffering being experienced by Chileans is almost beyond comprehension."

Individuals and businesses or other groups with South American interests are especially urged to make contributions. Anyone else interested for humanity's sake is invited to do so.

Man Sought For Forgery Caught

George Russell Dooley, 25, of Telephone, Tex., who was indicted by 69th District Grand Jury last Dec. 7 for passing a forged instrument, was arrested by the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department in Bonham Tuesday.

The man was returned to Hereford Wednesday night. Making the arrest in Bonham was County Deputy Sheriff Bill McCarter of Hereford.

The Grand Jury set Dooley's bond at $1,000. Dooley was charged in connection with passing a forged instrument, in the form of a $69 check, at Harman's store in Hereford last November.

SONS OF FIREMEN
STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) - It's no wonder that Oklahoma State pitchers Dick Soergel and Bill Burgess Jr. know how to "put out the fire" when batters start slugging the ball. Their fathers are firefighters.

John Soergel is a veteran of the Oklahoma City department while Burgess is a captain on the Tulsa department.

Goalie George Hainsworth recorded 22 shutouts in 44 games with the Montreal Canadiens in the 1928 - 29 National Hockey League season.

There will be a meeting of all instructors and persons interested in helping with the season's program Saturday, June 18. The meeting will be held at 3 p. m. in Hereford Community Center. At that time, class assignments will be made.
Competitive swimmers will begin classes and training periods at 7 a. m., June 20, under direction of Wayne Lawrence of Hereford. Competitive swimmers may register on June 20.
Sponsored by the local Red Cross Chapter, five local instructors last week attended the National Aquatic school at Ardmore, Okla. Attending from Hereford were Mrs. Donna Smith, Mrs. Ramona Noel, Mrs. Lorraine Fowkes, Mrs. Nicki Dameron and Miss Ann Smith.

3:10 p. m. until 6 p. m. to reach the Pitman Golf Course, where they landed.

We heard this week that a former Hereford High School teacher, Lavern Corder, and his wife were hurt recently in a car wreck. Information we got indicates that the Corders had left Abilene for Oklahoma when they were involved in a wreck about 21 miles from Abilene. Mrs. Corder has a broken ankle and Lavern is suffering from a broken vertebra in his neck. He has been teaching at Hardin - Simmons University in Abilene since leaving Hereford. Both are in the Hendricks Memorial Hospital at Abilene.

The junior olympic swimming team, sponsored by the Hereford Athletic Club, will begin training on June 20. Wayne Lawrence is in charge of the program. He says the team will compete in four or five meets this summer. All youngsters up to age 16 are invited to attend the work-outs each morning from 7 - 8:30 a. m. Assisting Lawrence will be Mary Stapp and John Matt Gilliland.

A former Hereford girl, Lawanna Lookingbill, recently reigned as Queen of World Trade Week in New York City. She lived here until after her freshman year in high school, when she moved to a ranch near Loco, Okla., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lookingbill. Lawanna is a telephone sales representative for Pan American World Airways in New York.

Hereford Future Farmers of America chapter will meet Monday, June 13, at 8:30 p. m. in the high school agriculture building. All members are urged to attend, since the summer campsite will be chosen.

The Deaf Smith Commission is scheduled to hold a regular meeting on Monday, starting at 10 a. m.

All members of the Hereford Area Foundation are requested to attend a meeting on Monday at 5 p. m. in the First National Bank community room. Committee reports will highlight the meeting.

The Hereford Harvest Festival board is to meet at 7 a. m. Thursday, June 16, in the Chamber of Commerce board room.

Dr. Hap Cavness is water safety chairman, and J. H. Early will be in charge of adult classes.
Second session registration will be held July 5, 9 from 9 to 11 a. m. Classes will be held from July 11 through July 23. If deemed necessary, a third session of classes will be held during the first two weeks of August.

"We ask that all persons who have had previous swimming instruction in one of the summer programs show their certificates during registration," Dr. Cavness said. Certificates are available at Streu Hardware Store to persons who have passed requirements for certificate.

"There will be an absolute maximum limit of 12 students for each instructor," Dr. Cavness pointed out. "Swimmers who are related will not be permitted to enroll for a class together."

Parents of children taking classes will not be permitted in the pool area during a class. It was decided at the meeting last month. Parents will be encouraged to leave the park while children are taking classes.

A new feature of the swimming program this summer will be lifeguard supervision during classes. There will be a lifeguard stationed on each end of the pool during all classes.

Names of persons failing to meet certificate requirements for the first session will be placed on the bottom of the list for second session classes.

Pre-school age limit is four years, and the child must be tall enough to stand in the shallowest part of the pool with head above water.

All persons interested in helping with the swimming program this year are asked to contact Dr. Cavness. Arrangements have been made for Hereford Camp Fire Girls to sit with instructors' children during classes. An attempt will be made later to organize a Junior Guard Corps for youngsters 12 to 15 years old who have completed junior lifesaving. Junior and senior lifesaving classes will be scheduled soon after registration.

Dr. Cavness said that there are possibilities of offering a class for scuba divers for an aqua - lung sport similar to skin diving if enough interest is shown later.

Ground rules have been discussed to make the program as effective as possible and still accommodate the large number of swimmers expected to enroll in classes, Dr. Cavness said. About 1,000 persons are expected to enroll before the summer program ends.

Program officers include Mrs. Higgins, chairman of registration and records, and Mrs. Pat Hill, chairman of special events. Last summer, 811 adults and children enrolled in classes, and about 500 received certificates. Adverse weather hindered some classes.

W. VERNON WALSH of Brownsville, president of the Texas Real Estate Association, will be principal speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Hereford Real Estate Board on Thursday, June 16, at noon in the Jim Hill Hotel ballroom.

Health Is Priceless,
Yet Costs Less Than Ever

By JIMMIE GILLENTE
I do believe that farmers are the hardest people in the world to please. A few days ago they were complaining about no rain; the wheat was hurting, the maize wouldn't come up, and even the rangeland was beginning to hurt. We get a couple of showers, and now they are all screaming to high heaven about too much moisture. Even Hank Williams was grumbling Friday morning because he couldn't get a combine into his field, and Jay Boston was saying . . . "Now, let me tell YOU!"

We do have plenty of moisture, and most people are ready to turn off the tap, Casey Glibbreath says it was bad enough to have his wheat fall, but he just finished watering two days before the deluge started. Having made the prediction away back last Fall, it was no surprise to me — but I am ready for some sunshine and hot weather.

Howard Gault says he does not see any moisture damage on potatoes. He has some two-thirds the size of baseballs, and figures they are in good condition. The vines are meeting between rows, and Howard is feeling A-One. This is unusual. Excess moisture generally throws the potato men a big, wide curve.

Roy V. Smith, who pretty well grew up around legal papers and records, says that Deaf Smith County is in a dangerous position with only one set of records in the clerk's office. He figures they should be micro-filmed and a copy of the film placed in a fire-proof vault for safe keeping.

"If we had a tornado or courthouse fire, and lost all of those records, none of our titles would be good," alleges Roy. He says we have lawsuits — even with the copy on record — and without records, it would be a holy mess.

Roy might have an idea, too. I don't know what it would cost, but it would be a mere pittance in case of disaster.

Phil Barkley is another fellow with an idea. He says we should have a referendum vote in the Presidential Election to find out what the majority of the people in the United States think about our international role. Phil keeps reading where the senators and congressmen say that the people want to give aid to all countries, large and small, and he doubts if it is true.

"By putting the question on the ballot, we can find out what the average American thinks of our free-wheeling spending," says Mr. Barkley. "Maybe, then, people would wake up."

Stock certificates were delivered to Country Club members this week, and President Clint Formby says that the clubhouse is coming right along. Directors estimate that the building will be completed in August. If you haven't seen it lately, drive down the paved road just south of the golf course. It really is going to be nice.

I stopped in Dimmitt the other day for a cup of coffee and right away ran into B. M. Nelson and Bruce Wooddell.

"I knew we'd get you down here, when Precinct 4 went wet," declared Nelson.

Along came Jess Robinson, on his way home from Austin, and Jim Hays drove past in a pickup. I decided the reason Hereford didn't show a bigger population gain could be that all of our people are moving to Dimmitt. It was also interesting to note that the Jumbo directory signs are still up and looking like new.

Complaints keep popping up concerning the infiltrating Mexican population. Many people declare that they do not object to Mexicans, but find that their customs vary tremendously and sometimes unfavorably. One lady was telling me that the house next to her is inhabited by eight adults, 16 small children and eight teenagers. She thinks 32 people are too many.

The situation, due largely to lack of community planning, was to be expected. Several times we have had editorials on the subject, and have even suggested a planning committee to work hand in hand with city, school and county officials. Nobody, but nobody, gets interested in the subject until the situation happens to them — and then it's too late. Right now, a lot of people are faced with moving or selling their property, many at a financial loss. A planning committee might still do some good. Who knows?

The chain letter craze sweeps the country every few years. Back during the depression they had one to collect dimes, then some smart alec started the fad on savings bonds, and the last one I saw was on fishing plugs. Dub Hair got one the other day, however, where the recipient was supposed to send his wife — and ultimately wind up with 18,746 wives when the returns finished rolling in. Personally, I don't figure this deal will become too popular. In the first place, not many men I know can exert such discipline over their wives and, secondly, who wants 18,746 wives?

If I get one of the letters, I figure on breaking the chain regardless of dire consequences. One wife is all I can stand, and I don't figure any of the others would put up with me very long. The thing that really worries me is that the wives might turn tables and start sending off the husbands — and that might really work.

Ralph Hastings figures the water-bound folks out north on 385 get wet if they stay at home and, once in town, have a tough time getting back home. Ralph has been going east to Dawn turning north, then back west and covering the 15 mile jaunt with a 45 mile trip. However, if the lake closes the Dawn road north, he says the only shot will be to travel into Amarillo via Canyon, come back west on U. S. 66, and turn south at Vega. This will lengthen his route to some 135 miles. He rode the country out on horseback Friday, and was giving his town-farmer neighbors detailed reports. Ralph says you can just see the top tip of Robert Veigel's irrigation motor; also that lots of cattle are standing in water. He estimates that 385 will be closed six weeks.

"I doubt if we can haul any wheat over the road this year," declared Hastings. "It will take 4-mile Lake a long time to drain." He further said that many of the fields are washing and that mud has washed in up to the first wire on many of the fences.

Meanwhile, be careful not to spill any rice around the place. As wet as this country is becoming, it might be quite a problem — and we have enough trouble with dandelions, Johnson grass and bind weeds.

PX-1 SPECIAL-Z

FOLIAR NUTRIENT

The benefits derived from leaf feeding phosphorus, in the form of PX-1, have been thoroughly established. Now, to meet needs of many areas, a companion product has been developed which provides both phosphorus and zinc! It is called PX-1 Special-Z.

It has been definitely determined that minute quantities of zinc are necessary to trigger certain growth processes, and in the development of normal growth regulating substances in any plant.

Cotton growers, in particular, will find the use of PX-1 Special-Z beneficial, as many of the cotton growing regions of California, Arizona and the Southwest have soil conditions in which zinc is not available in sufficient quantities to promote optimum development of the cotton crop. Field tests in these areas have shown that PX-1 Special-Z, applied at the onset of the reproductive phase of the cotton plant aids in holding more squares, blossoms and bolls, resulting in decidedly increased yield!

SAFE... PX-1 is harmless to people, pets, livestock and plants.

INEXPENSIVE. TOO... Only 1 pint of PX-1 is used per acre, per application, and it may be applied with your insecticide to cut application costs.

Shower Courtesy For Bride-Elect

A shower courtesy in the home of Mrs. Gilbert Davis, 207 Sunset Drive, honored Miss Jane Holtzclaw of Lawrence, Kans. Tuesday afternoon. Miss Holtzclaw is the bride-elect of the Rev. Bill Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson of Hereford.

The Rev. Robinson is pastor of the First Christian Church of Crockett.

The wedding will take place on June 26 in the First Christian Church of Lawrence, Kans.

Receiving the guests were the hostess, the bride-to-be and her mother, Mrs. Henry F. Holtzclaw, Mrs. Robinson, the prospective bridegroom's mother, and Mrs. Leora Robinson, grandmother of the future bridegroom.

The table was covered with an imported white embroidered cloth and held a center silver candelabrum arranged with pale pink tapers, sweetheart roses and sprays of baby breath.

The bridal colors of pink and blue were used in the corsages and flower arrangements throughout the house.

Presiding at the punch bowl were aunts of the Rev. Robinson, Mrs. Tom Robinson, and Mrs. Melton Brewton of Mineral Wells. Another aunt, Mrs. Bruce Cobb of Plainview, and Mrs. S. O. Wilson served cake.

Mary Cobb of Plainview and Tommie Kaye Robinson presided at the guest register. Others in the house party were Mesdames Bert Brown, B. F. Cain, Ellis Coombes, Robert Veigel, Lois Woodford, Essie Cardwell,

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I, when making jelly, assure myself of a nice, clear mixture?

A. Add a teaspoon of glycerin to the jellies 15 minutes before they are finished, and this contributes greatly to its clearness. If shavings of paraffin are put in the bottoms of the jelly glasses before pouring in the jelly, the paraffin will melt and rise to the top—clarifying and sealing the jelly.

Q. How can I clean some of my copper utensils?

A. Mix a cupful of flour and a tablespoon of salt to a paste with some vinegar, then rub this over the article with a soft cloth and polish with a bit of flannel or chamois.

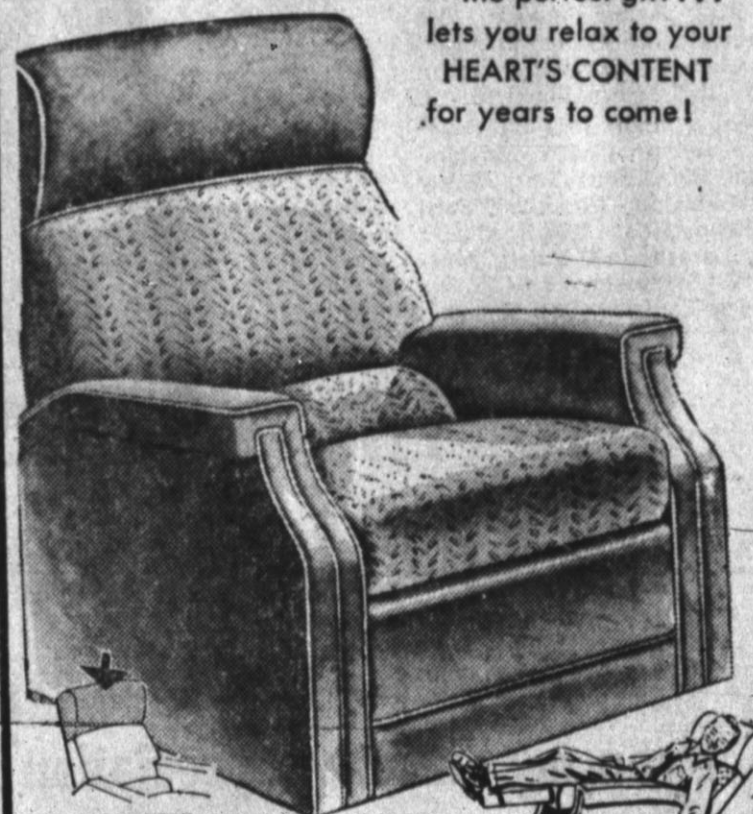

Q. How can I freshen the atmosphere in a moldy or musty-smelling cellar?

A. If you'll spray some unslaked lime on the walls of the cellar, it will freshen not only the cellar, but also the atmosphere of the whole house.

4 BEL AIRS—Sumptuous as these Bel Airs are to behold, they're priced just above Chevy's thriftiest models. And, like all Chevis, they give you a choice of two of the thriftiest engines going as standard equipment—the famed Hi-Thrift 6 and a new Economy Turbo-Fire V8 that gets up to 10% more miles out of a gallon of regular while giving you more "git" at normal speeds. Besides the 4-door Bel Air sedan above, there are a 2-door sedan, sport sedan and sport coupe.

3 BISCAYNES—These (though you'd never know to look at them) are the lowest priced of the superlative '60 Chevrolets. They bring you the same basic beauty and relaxing roominess as the other models. And, like all Chevis, they ride on cradle-soft Full Coil suspension, isolated from road shock and noise by thicker, newly designed body mounts. Along with the 4-door Biscayne sedan above, you have your choice of 2-door and a utility sedan.

5 STATION WAGONS—These Chevy wagons are stunningly styled to carry you away. And they've got the kind of cargo space (over 10 ft. from the back of the front seat to the tip of the tailgate) to carry away most anything you want to take with you. Besides that thrifty 2-door Brookwood above, you have your choice of a 4-door Brookwood, 4-door Parkwood, 9-passenger Kingswood and the nifty Nomad.

Vows Repeated Saturday

Miss Shirley Carolyn Carthel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Carthel, and Terrell Scott Hodges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hodges, Route 2, were married Saturday, June 11, in the Avenue Baptist Church at 8 p. m.

Bob Wear, minister of the Canyon Church of Christ, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Baskets of white gladioli and greenery flanked an arch of white chrysanthemums at the altar, with tall wedding tapers in pyramiding candelabra providing the illumination for the ceremony. Jackie McBea, of Halfway and Donnie Carthel of Black laid the white aisle cloth.

Mrs. Bill Carthel and Mrs. Jerry Mayard provided wedding music.

The bride's sister, Ruby Beth Carthel, served as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Sharon Farmer, Phyllis Ward, Kylene Hodges, Sandra Hodges and Kay Packard. They wore identical dresses of royal blue chiffon over taffeta and picture hats matching the color and material of the dresses. They carried nosegays of white carnations.

Flower girls were Sherree Andrews of Seminole and Lou Net Clark of Brownfield, cousins of the bridegroom. Ring bearers were Debbie Carthel, niece of the bride, and Bruce McBea, of Halfway and Nickie Nan Bradford.

Bill McBea, of Canyon, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Jerry Howard, Roy Ship, Lonell Wimberley and Joe Gross, all of Muleshoe, and Bud Thomas.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a scalloped square neckline traced with sequins, and long tapering sleeves. The lace of the elongated bodice extended into an apron effect in front and dipped to the full length of the bouffant nylon and tulle skirt in the back.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones, and she wore a pearl necklace, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridal bouquet of white rosebuds was carried on a white Bible.

The bride's mother wore dark rose lace with white accessories. Mrs. Hodges, the bridegroom's mother, chose a blue silk sheath type dress. Each mother wore a corsage of white carnations.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the annex to the new church building. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth over blue and the attendants' bouquets formed the centerpiece. Appointments were in crystal and silver. Assisting in the house party were Mrs. Jack Andrews of Edmonson, Mrs. Loveta McBea of Halfway

Walls of the baptistry, choir and the immediate nuptial space were draped with white satin. Fan-shaped arrangements of white gladioli and Marguerite daisies gave added accent to a white wrought iron fence entwined with greenery at the center altar.

Music was presented by Miss Carole Snead and Gwin Morris, vocalists, and Miss Bette Jean Noland, organist.

Miss Noland played a concert of wedding melodies preceding the ceremony and accompanied the vocalists, who sang "Whither Thou Goest", "Always" and "The Wedding Prayer." She also played "Traumeri" during the ceremony and the traditional wedding marches.

CHANGE IN TECHNIQUE
LONDON (AP)—Drama critics in England in 1960 spoke their criticism aloud during the performance of a play. After the play was over, they remained to speak aloud their verdicts if a play would be a success or failure.

Ladies often would remain in their boxes after a performance to hear critics' verdict.

Nine Inches Of Rain Gauged Since Sunday

By MRS. CARL WIMBERLEY
Four and one-quarter inches of rain fell here Thursday evening. Lakes are full to the brim. This makes 9.22 inches of rain registered at the government gauges at the Carl Wimberley farm since Sunday evening.

The rain on Thursday was the hardest yet received with more wind than previously. Wednesday was the dry day -- no rain fell.

Telephone service has been disrupted because of the rain. No tabulation on areas outside the Dawn vicinity could be made Friday morning.

The Rev. and Mrs. Charles

Davenport and son, Kevin, returned home Wednesday from Seymour where they visited in the homes of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Peek and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Casselberry.

A family reunion was held Sunday in the Casselberry home with more than 400 persons attending.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Lindeman and family, who have been living on the Walter Galley farm, have moved in the house on the Benny Womble farm. Lindeman works for W. H. Gentry.

Jaudon McCathern is visiting this week with friends at Carswell Air Force Base at Fort Worth.

Mrs. Jewell Miller and son, Wayne, of Hereford visited Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stewart.

Mrs. Miller and son have returned this week from a two-week trip, which took them as far as Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming.

Alice Ann Caraway is spending this week in the home of her uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Obed Caraway, who lives west of Hereford.

Ann Gentry and Bobby Gentry are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lechner in Greenville.

Ann and Bobby are attending vacation Bible school there. Ann is leading the singing for the Bible School.

Phyllis Wimberley attended the Panhellenic Tea Sunday afternoon at the Federated Women's Club building in Amarillo. The tea was for high school girl graduates who are interested in joining a Greek letter sorority in college.

Those in the group with Phyllis were Charlotte McElroy, Karen Bell of Dimmitt, Phyllis Goettsch of Hereford, Marilyn Christian of Stinnett and Vordell Germany of Petersburg.

Mrs. Dameron Goes On European Trip

Mrs. W. E. Dameron has made reservations for a trip to Europe and attendance at the World Convention of the Disciples of Christ Churches in Edinburgh, Scotland as a member of a tour to be directed by Dr. A. T. DeGroot, head of the Bible Chair at Texas Christian University.

The tour will begin in New York June 18 and will return there August 18.

Mrs. Dameron was to leave Sunday by train for New York City and will meet friends there from Fort Worth, Dallas and Austin, who will board a jet plane for Le Havre, France, where they will be joined by other members of the tour making the trip by the S. S. United States liner to begin sightseeing in Normandy and Northern France.

In Paris they will see both opera and ballet, while the days will be spent visiting the city's spots of interest. Other countries to be visited on the tour include: Holland, Germany, (in Oberammergau the Passion Play will be seen) Denmark, Belgium, Italy and Switzerland, Austria and Luxembourg.

In Rome there will be evenings of opera before traveling on to Naples and Pompeii to see extensive excavations of that buried city, and the trip to the Isle of Capri will be made by boat. In Geneva, Switzerland, the group will visit the World Council of Protestant Churches and from Sweden and Norway boat trips will take the group through the fjords along the coastal area of the Norwegian sea.

In Edinburgh, where the World Convention of Disciples of Christ Churches is to be held, Mrs. Dameron will serve as a delegate from the Hereford First Christian Church. A tour of Scotland, Ireland and England will be made. Eminent European and British church leaders will address Dr. De Groot's party including the Archbishop of Canterbury, and in Westminster Abbey the great organ and choir will be heard.

Shakespearean. Plays, opera and concerts will be added forms of entertainment.

At Southampton, the party will board the S. S. United States and the S. S. Queen Mary for the return trip home.

Don Peebles, the Anthony Weatherman on KVII - TV, is rapidly building a solid reputation for his reliable and complete weather forecasting and reporting. One big reason for his "almost overnight" success is the installation of his complete weather station at the Channel 7 studios.

This means Don is able to couple his knowledge and experience as a registered professional meteorologist together with the necessary recording instruments and direct wire services to bring his viewers a truly accurate weather report. Don is even equipped to show a "watch tower" view of severe weather as it approaches as seen from the K-7 Weather-eye in the sky located high atop the First National Bank building in Amarillo.

But, even with all his know-how and equipment, Don must depend on you, his viewers, to supply him with valuable information . . . from your area.

Don invites you to call him at Channel 7 when you have important weather information to report . . . such as unusual amounts of rain or hail or perhaps damaging winds in your vicinity.

Most of all, Don Peebles wishes to invite you to watch the Anthony Weather each week day evening at 10:10 on KVII - TV Channel Seven, Amarillo.—Adv.

'Deaf' Smith Says

TO: THE SPIRIT OF SAM
FROM: THE SPIRIT OF ER-
ASTUS 'DEAF' SMITH
SUBJECT: PROGRESS RE-PORT ON MY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Two more area businesses have joined the Chamber of Commerce within the last week. Curtis Trawick took a membership subscription in the name of La Posta store while Steve Bavousett joined as a new and very active farmer member from the Dawn area.

When Steve went into the Chamber of Commerce office to discuss his membership with Mrs. McClurkin, the office secretary, he asked her just what the Chamber of Commerce had done for the farmer or rancher. Being a new employee, she was somewhat at a loss for words. It was easy for her to see the activity directly beneficial to the businesses serving the traveling public because of recent convention activity. She also knew of the frequent planning meetings of the Trade Promotion Committee and its services to the retailers.

She knew about the Newcomer Welcoming Service and Mrs. Don Steele, the hostess for that project which has as its objective making all new families feel at home in Hereford. The Harvest Festival, Christmas Decorations, the Annual Banquet, the Clean Up - Paint Up - Fix

Up Week she had handled correspondence on Industrial Development and Water Resources she could talk about too, but what about the farmer who represents 22 per cent of the Chamber's membership.

Sam, let's review the record of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and its service to agriculture in this area. When Bill Lenderman was manager of the Chamber of Commerce, he worked with a large group of grain producers to help organize what is now the Sorghum Grain Producers Association. During Pete Cowert's administration the Chamber of Commerce worked hard to interest additional vegetable brokers in the produce of our expanding vegetable crop. Last year, Bill Dameron was instrumental in organizing the Hereford Breeders into an effective Livestock Committee, a committee that is still very effectively operating under the leadership of Jack Renfro and Dr. Bud Barnett.

This committee last year had one of the most successful cattle tours in the industry. In addition to the tour they caused signs proclaiming this area "The Hereford Capitol" on all the highway entrances to the city.

A brochure listing many of the area cattle ranches was also produced and distributed. The cattle tour will again be held on Monday August 22, and will attract a large number of cattle buyers to the area.

Dr. Barnett has already held one public meeting for potential operators of on - farm feeding pens and buyers. The Chamber also assisted in the effort to get the Deaf Smith Research and Clinical lab certified for brucellosis testing.

There is, at this time, no active program in which the Chamber of Commerce farm members are actively participating. Luther Lesly, the chairman of the agriculture committee, has been attempting to determine the projects that the farm members want worked on. With this objective in mind, there will be a clinic type meeting called in the near future at which the Chamber's agriculture program of work will be decided.

It appears to me, Sam, that, as in the past, the Chamber of Commerce in my county is able and eager to attempt any project which will assist the farmer to improve his economic position or to provide any physical facilities that will make Deaf Smith County farms a better place to live. That's my report for this week, Sam.

'Sitting Duck' Night Riders Set New 'Low' In Community Vandalism

Vandalism cost the people of this community an estimated $10,000 last Tuesday night, and no one gained a single cent from the wanton destruction.

Frankly, it is difficult to see how the vandals could possibly have gained an iota of personal satisfaction from their activity. Even the gun slingers on TV have the fortitude to face their victims, while only the lowest form of humanity stoops to lurking in dark corners and pot-shooting people in the back. Marksmanship, too, is out of the picture because any five-year-old child could aim an air rifle and successfully hit an eight by 12-foot plate-glass window.

General assumption on the part of most people tends to place blame for these outrages on teenagers, and we hope this is right — because we hate to think that any adult would have so little intelligence or disrespect for property as to drive down the street, discharging lead pellets at glass windows. The circumstances does answer one question, however, and that centers around why so many towns and cities have been forced to enact curfew laws. The Brand has always agreed with the City Commission that curfew laws should be outlawed in our present advanced state of civilization. Now we are beginning to wonder, and we wouldn't be surprised if the same thought has not occurred to our commissioners.

These same vandals would likely be the first to complain should some neighbor inflict equal damage on their car. They seem to believe in protection for themselves, but would let their neighbors and friends survive as best they can. Even the thief who robs a bank of an equal amount ($10,000) at least has a motive in that he anticipates some enjoyment from the spoils. Hereford's night riders, on the other hand, have all to lose and nothing to gain — except the questionable thrill of "sitting duck" violations.

Equally alarming is the fact that such acts of vandalism go hand in hand with Communist predictions that our democracy will gobble its ownself through too much soft living.

Mostly, though, we join the majority of citizens of the community in feeling genuine sorrow and pity for what we hope is a misguided group of youngsters. Unquestionably, they should be punished when apprehended — and to the fullest extent — but modern living is not an easy thing these days, and any youngster who starts life with such an undeveloped or warped mind has little chance of pursuing a profitable, successful or happy existence.

Meanwhile, the people of the community are losers by $10,000, which must come out of their pockets, or in the form of extremely higher insurance payments. We wonder if our "sitting duck" marksmen really got a thrill or, more likely, if they are not just a little bit ashamed?

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

The story of a small group of San Francisco Buddhists is bringing a new understanding of faith in America to the peoples of the Orient.

A few years ago members of the little group purchased an old building only to find it was too weak to remodel into a house of worship.

They set out to build one themselves — and soon found they were not alone.

Two leading architects, one a Protestant, designed the building. Their fee: The cost of the paper.

Catholic terrazzo craftsmen taught the Buddhists the art of marble-chip flooring.

A Jewish contractor loaned equipment, labored and directed.

Neighboring men folk carpentered while their wives held bazaars and children sold cookies.

The result is the impressive Buddha's Universal Church with an unadorned altar in the shape of "the ship of virtue" on which men may sail from shore to shore.

And in front of the church, members have placed a sign:

"A symbol of America's generosity and freedom of religion."

Local Residents Plan For Independence Day

Plans for celebrating our National Independence Day are going forward nicely. The committees are working hard, and in unison, to have everything in shape for the great basket picnic to be held in Sulphur Park on July 3.

Judge Gough has been selected to procure speakers for the day, and Messrs. Curtiss and McNeerney are the committees on music.

A shade pavilion of ample size, with plenty of seats for the crowd, is being provided, under which will be the speaker's platform.

Ice water for the crowd will be provided.

The committee, after thorough canvass, considered it best to allow one privilege to a good responsible party for a cold drink and ice cream stand instead of furnishing ice, lemons and sugar as first suggested.

This will relieve the ladies of much work. However, the arrangement will not deprive anyone from making his own ice cream or lemonade if he so desires.

The boys are arranging for a ball game on the heights. The committee on sports is short on variety. Bring something along and help somebody have a good time: bring flags and bunting — let's see what the colors look like once more.

Thunder and lightning! We always say that, but really it should be "lightning and thunder" as the lightning is always first.

By the time we hear the terrifying noise of the thunder, the lightning has already passed and the damage is done. There are many lightning stories, some tragic and some comical. Let's look at a few before we judge them.

Electric storms are an awe-inspiring sight, and there is beauty in them all. But their beauty is more pronounced if they come and are beheld in the early dusk.

The many shapes of the cloud formations are visible along with the fantastic shapes the lightning takes before it reaches the ground. Any object standing alone and tall in the sky is marked for a strike. Never, never take refuge under a tree from a thunder shower, for there is too much danger of the tree being struck.

Our TV antennas, standing above the roof, are an invitation to lightning, but they are grounded well and this removes some of the danger.

New Water Rate Seems In Line

Frequently, you hear a merchant laughingly say: "You'd better come and get such-and-such an item: it's here for you, so I just put it on your bill."

Government is different from private business, however, and the illustration well describes the situation faced by Hereford citizens in regard to the recent raise from $1.50 to $2.50 on minimum water rates. The city commission, faced with a shortage of water consumption due to extensive rainfall, established the new minimum for the declared purpose of meeting existing city obligations.

CACTUS PLANS RABIES DRIVE

The Cactus Village arranged for a veterinarian to vaccinate dogs for prevention of rabies at the housing office on Thursday between 1 p. m. and 6 p. m. Plans are being made to pick up and impound all untagged dogs soon after the veterinarian has completed his service. Dogs that have already been vaccinated should be registered with the housing office. The period of impounding will be for three days; and then all unclaimed animals will be eliminated. Dogs may be claimed by the owners by furnishing certificate of vaccination or certificates before the dogs are returned to the housing area. Residents of the housing area are asked to cooperate by seeing that their dogs wear current inoculation tags at all times, by reporting stray dogs and by assisting to catch the animals to be eliminated.

FIRST GRAIN DELIVERED

Swisher County's first load of 1960 grain was delivered Friday afternoon to Star Grain Company in Tulia. The load of barley was grown by Jim and Don Stout on the old Conner land, immediately north of Tulia. The dryland grain was yielding 20 bushels to the acre with 15 per cent moisture. The market price was $1.60 a hundred plus a first load bonus. George Hipp of Star Grain said that this is the earliest first load he can recall in almost 30 years. He predicted that the first load of new wheat would have been delivered before June 1 had Sunday night's shower not delayed harvest. Hipp also predicted a good summer harvest. To date, Swisher has been spared general hail destruction of crops. Hail accompanies almost every shower and heavy damage occurred last week to wheat-high wheat in the vicinity of Friona and Hereford. Heavy hail also struck west of Plainview Saturday evening. Farmers are "holding their breaths" as they pray for favorable weather until they can harvest their bumper crops.

RAIN BOOSTS FARM PROSPECTS

Turbulent weather loaded with welcome rain and un-welcome hail in some instances left two inches of moisture in the Littlefield area this week, a check of rain reports early Monday morning and Tuesday night showed. Farm observers called the moisture "cotton planting" rain for dryland farmers. It also could have been described as "money-saving moisture" for irrigation farmers, most of whom were able to shut off their wells following the rains. Littlefield received .81 of an inch of rain Monday morning and another .20 Tuesday night, according to a gauge at Western Cottonoil. Some other gauges in town showed an inch Monday morning. Rains in the Olton-Earth areas were gauged at an inch to 1.6 inches Monday morning, followed by a general moisture of about an inch Tuesday night. The moisture was lighter toward the northwest, with .80 gauged at the Harold Allison farm at Pleasant Valley Monday.

CITY BENEFITS FROM MAIL SERVICE

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has announced sweeping improvements in mail transportation which will mean better mail service for Levelland and 124 other communities in the Amarillo and Lubbock metropolitan areas, covering over 37,000 square miles. Postmaster Rex Hudson says the changes, worked out by a special Post Office Department and instituted in the entire area at once will primarily give service to and from the Texas Panhandle.

The BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm apparently doesn't have a full understanding of what the price index is, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

One trouble with this country is that not enough business people keep up with the economic trends.

For example, I read in a copy of a newspaper day before yesterday that living costs rose four-tenths of one per cent in April, as reflected by the consumers price index, a set of figures put out by the government.

As a result of this, the article explained, nearly a million workers in the auto, farm equipment and related parts industries got an automatic 2-cents-an-hour raise. Their contracts call for adjustments based on the government's consumers price index.

Well, now, I figure, I'm in the auto and farm equipment business so to speak, especially the parts end of it, so naturally I concluded I was supposed to get a pay raise, too, and since nobody pays me by the hour out here on this bindweed farm, the only way I could see how to get a pay raise was to raise the price of things I sell.

I don't know how long it takes for a hen to lay a dozen eggs, but I figured on the basis of that 2-cents-an-hour boost the others were getting, me and my hens would settle for 2-cents-a-dozen increase, which ought to be cheap enough, so I automatically marked up the price that much and took some into town.

Like I said, the trouble with this country is not enough business people keep up with the economic trends. I couldn't find an egg dealer in this part of the state who'd ever heard of the government's consumers price index. When I said the price of my eggs were 2 cents a dozen higher, they looked at me like they thought I was crazy.

What I figure is we've got a lot of business people in this country who don't keep up with the economic trends, or else they're still using the same price index they had posted on their office walls twenty-five years ago.

You've got a printing press somewhere there in The Brand office, haven't you? How about printing up a bunch of these new prices indexes and distributing them around the country?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

IT MAY NOT BE TIME TO DIVIDE TEXAS, BUT

Archie Is Tired Of Driving To The Polls In An Automobile To Cast A Horse-and-Buggy Ballot

"Well, how'd ya like the way the elections came out?" asked Archie as he and Tex met for coffee this week.

"OK, I guess," responded Tex. "It's easy enough to vote on the local level, where you know the people, but some of those state and district offices sure had me going."

"Me, too," agreed Archie, "especially for that judge of Criminal Appeals and the State Representative. How is an average guy gonna know about these people?"

"Personally, I don't figure that one person out of a hundred really knows what he is doing, especially in the first primary," avowed Tex. "A long time ago, before present day newspapers, radio, and TV, we pretty well followed the local editor, or the community party leader. Now, it's different. We know as much about these people as the average editor or chairman — and we have to make the decisions ourselves."

"I go by their names a lot," responded Archie, "but my wife says she picks them by their place on the ballot."

"A lot of folks do that," agreed Tex. "A name is important in Texas politics. They say that is why we elect the same people over and over in a lot of jobs like state treasurer, comptroller and judgeships. It may be all right, but it sure is different from the way we vote on local races."

"It's the newspapers fault," declared Archie; "they had oughta tell us about these people. They couldn't do it on TV because that would knock out a lot of my favorite programs, like 'Wagon Train' and 'Gunsmoke', but I can always pick up the paper when these programs are finished."

"I don't know," said Tex, "when they try, everyone accuses them of being propagandizing — and sometimes they do. It is also a big headache to the candidates, and it costs them a lot of money."

"Looks to me like we bit off more than we can chew," avowed Archie. "We figure we are smart enough to be good citizens in a democracy — but we choose our officials by luck. Lots of times I vote for someone, and don't know a smattering thing about him."

"The real trouble is that our government needs modernizing," opined Tex. "All of these things were set up back in the horse and buggy days when Sam Houston was president, and times have changed. We drive to the polls in our automobiles to cast a horse and buggy type ballot. Another trouble, Texas is too big to know all the candidates."

"Can't we divide the state?" questioned Archie. "Course, we would want to keep the Alamo, but those East Texans could have the boll weavils and wood ticks."

"The constitution provides that we can make five states out of Texas," Tex pointed out, "but, like you said, everyone wants to keep the Alamo. However, you are probably right, Archie; this is the only way we can cut down the cost of running for state office in Texas — and it's the only way we can intelligently cast our votes. The state is too darn big."

"What's the difference?" questioned Archie; "If we chop it off at Wichita Falls, Amarillo and Lubbock will have a knock-down, drag-out over which would be the capital — and that would be as hard a decision as voting for the judges. I reckon I'll just keep on shutting my eyes, and making a mark."

New Water Rate

As the city group pointed out, Hereford still boasts the lowest water rates in the Panhandle. When you compare the recent raise with other living costs, most of us will probably wonder why it did not occur sooner. Our water facilities appear to be in excellent shape, our bonded indebtedness in line, and the community stands ready to meet possible other expansion.

Meanwhile, all of us realize that we have to meet minimum requirements on these improvements. It appears that the commission did the only sensible thing at this time. As citizens and individuals, we might also decide:

"Use enough water for every purpose. It's there for us and, use it or not, we are going to have to pay for it."

REMEMBER WHEN?

BY CHARLIE SEEDS

His name was Bill Bevens. He was not a well-known pitcher on the Yankee roster... but he almost reached the pinnacle of baseball fame on that October day.

Bevens had not pitched a perfect game. In fact, he had allowed one run, and there were two men on base in the ninth inning, with two out. But the Yankees were leading the Dodgers 2-1... and Bevens was hurling a no-hit game.

Then came one of the most dramatic moments in World Series history. Cookie Lavagetto, a veteran Dodger third baseman nearing the end of his playing career, was called off the bench to pinch-hit with two down. He was the last man between Bevens and the Hall of Fame.

Cookie ran out the count... then caught hold of Bevens' last pitch and drove it out for a double... two runs and the ball game! Bevens not only lost his no-hitter... but he lost the game.

Remember the year? That was a year when many a man was trying to keep the old car going. New cars were scarce, and it wasn't very easy to make a good deal.

The year was 1947. You'll find it's very easy to make a good deal today with us on a brand new 1960 FORD. You won't want to limp along in the old car when you find out how much it's worth right now in trade, at CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR COMPANY, INC., 146 E. Second, Phone EM 4-2727.

often they also spoke of fever.

In those days farm homes were quite a distance from each other but the women folk knew of each other's little private fears and would often help each other to overcome them. One lady was terrified of thunderstorms and would hurry to a neighbor's house if there was only a fair-sized cloud in the sky. This particular neighbor was practically fearless and loved the electrical storms. She never thought of fearing them, knowing that if lightning struck one would never know he had been struck.

Her children took them as a matter of course and played happily through them or watched them in delight. But the poor lady was so frightened that she walked the floor, one room to another, and when there was a loud clap she would wring her hands in despair and ask God to spare them.

This had gone for some time when the little girl of the house went to her mother and pulling her head low said in a stage whisper, "Mother, does she have fever with those fits?"

Just then a particularly loud clap came and she danced with glee. "Wow! There goes the cocklebur wagon boys; there'll be a million of 'em to cut." This she had heard her father say to her brothers during cotton-chopping time.

This was a clear, hot day in early June and very dry. The ranch was dry—so dry in fact that unusual measures were being made to supply water for the ranch camps. A hand-dug well had filled with mud during the rainy season and now had to be cleaned out. The pipes laid with a pump for water at the cook shack.

The men had worked most of the day and were twisting the pipe together when a small cloud appeared in the sky. Thunder rolled now and then but the men worked hurriedly as the pump had to be started so they would have water with which to clean up. One man had worked in the mud all day and his shoes were muddy and soaked through. He had a Stillson wrench and hooked it onto the pipe to tighten the joint. Suddenly he yelled in great pain. He was unable to let the wrench go. The men heard the thunder but did not think of the lightning. The man quickly sat on the ground and pulled off his shoe. Everyone noticed that there was no lace in the shoe and wondered how he had kept it on in the mud. The lace was burned completely; the brass tips were found on the ground. They were all laughing a little uncertainly as the man said over and over, "O, my poor toe, my poor toe!"

His shoe sole was burned practically through and his big toe was such a dark red it was almost black. It was badly burned.

Not until they saw the burn did they realize he had been struck by lightning.

Some of the pipes were leaning against a tree. The lightning had run down the pipe and along the one lying on the ground and since it was highly charged, it had burned his shoe sole and his toe. If the ground had been wet, he would have been killed instantly.

This was not all; it ran along the phone line and into the gutter and down until it, in turn, jumped from the gutterpipe down the side of the house and struck a little girl on her right side, going on down her legs, which were burned in the shape of fingers of flame. Again, if the ground had been wet, she too would have been instantly killed.

It has been said that lightning never strikes twice in the same place, but it surely strikes in the same vicinity. Two cowboys were standing on the front porch of this same house a number of years before when lightning struck the pipe from one man's mouth, took a couple of teeth with it and knocked them both unconscious.

Less than half a mile away there was a grain field, where much of the roughage was raised to feed cattle during the winter. Two men were chopping the weeds from the cane and maize when lightning killed one of them, broke every button in half on the others' clothes and knocked the shoes from his feet.

The shoes were found 50 or 60 feet from here the men were found. One lived, but the other was killed instantly.

Lightning has killed many cowboys as they rode in the storms, and it has also killed farmers and livestock.

A young boy was driving two fine horses to a cultivator and was very anxious to finish plowing the cotton before it rained. He lacked less than one round when the storm came. He saw his mother coming across the field to help him with the horses as one was a little mean about taking off without the traces being loosed. He stepped from the plow to unhitch the team, heard a sizzling sound, and knew no more.

Later, he was awakened by the rain pelting his face. When he sat up the horses were lying in a squinting position, still hitched to the plow. He looked for his mother and saw her lying face down in the mud.

He thought she was dead and placed her bonnet over her face and hurried to the house to call his father.

The wind was blowing now and it was raining so hard he could hardly see his way across the field. As he neared the house the rain stopped and he looked back to see if it was all a dream and saw his mother making her way, a bit uncertainly, across the field behind him. Their family doctor told them that the hard pelting rain was the only thing that saved them and that the boy had probably saved his mother's life when he turned her face up and placed the bonnet over it.

The wind had blown the bonnet off and the rain had stung her into consciousness. Ranchers have counted as many as 11 and 12 steers along a fence dead from lightning running along the fence trying to get away from the storm.

"When I was a child," a lady said, "we went to the funeral of a man who was killed by lightning. As long as I live, I will never forget the screams of that young wife as her husband lay before her."

"He loved to hunt with dogs and had eight of them. These he would take to the ranches as often as he could get away from his farm chores."

"Early one spring it had rained and it was planting time but the fields were a sea of mud and he decided to wait one afternoon. He saddled his pet horse, called the dogs and told his wife he would be back before dark and set out for the nearest ranch to hunt coyotes."

"As the sun sank in the west, she began looking for him but there was no sign. Their little son was only a few days old and her worry upset him and he began to cry. When the sky darkened, she became frantic and, carrying the baby, went to her nearest neighbor and told him her husband was still out and told him where he had gone."

"He organized a group of men and they set out to hunt him. They hunted all night, or until the clouds became so heavy it was impossible to see anything. They went home to change horses and got ready to begin again. As soon as it was light, they set out and found him within less than a mile in the ranch pasture. Lightning had killed him within less than a mile in the ranch pasture. Lightning had killed both him and his horse and he was lying with his face over the horn of the saddle. The horse had his between his front feet as a dog lies at rest."

"The dogs were all living in a circle several feet apart, but kept watch over their master and his horse in their last sleep. They had undoubtedly formed the watch circle to protect the two from the coyotes as they were plentiful then."

Coyotes are very clever animals and though many of the wild animals are now gone from the range there are still many coyotes to roam as ever, wily enough to keep the species going.

There are many more stories to be told of lightning, but most of them are tragic.

Now here is one about rain. This was told by an old cook. He had cooked for the chuck wagon for the Swenson Ranch many years and had gone blind in their service. Since he had no people, he was living on the farm at the time of the telling.

The wagon was camped on a flat near, or rather between Haskell and Throckmorton, Tex. It was the fall of 1906, and during the time of one of the Galveston floods.

It had rained for days and it had been difficult to find enough dry wood to build a fire for cooking. One night it had rained, and when daylight came he climbed from the Hood Wagon wondering how in the world he could cook breakfast for the cowboys. As he stepped down, he stepped into water halfway up his boot. On a closer look, he saw that the whole flat was covered with water, anywhere from six inches to a foot or more deep. Needless to say, there was no cooking, no coffee—just canned tomatoes and what cold sour dough he had kept for Bear (a chocolate pudding) and dried fruit he had prepared the day before for breakfast.

All day it rained and then a great all night and there was a repeat performance. He had never seen so much rain in all his 50 years.

Finally, on the fourth day, the sun peeped out and that afternoon he found a prairie dog mound. He waded out to it, filled the cavity with mud, and by burning bacon rinds to start the fire he managed to cook bread for the first time in almost a week.

You can imagine how grouchy those hungry men had gotten, just eating canned tomatoes and dried fruit for almost a week. He made coffee first and the men swore they had smelled it miles away and hurried as fast as possible to get back to the wagon for supper.

The ground was so muddy it took them some time to get out of the flat and get to a few scrubby mesquites on which to hang their bedding and clothes to dry. They had lived wet for so long they were not anxious to see another rain. But it rained many more times that fall and winter, but none of the old timers ever recalled that rainy time without a shudder and an appreciation for hot coffee and hot food, learned from those days camped in muddy water.

Ranchers can tell many tales of lightning and most of them will happen in July, August and September as these are the driest time of the year. The earth becomes powdery dry and the grass is like tinder.

The thunder clouds will build up daily and sometimes will drop down and set the grass on fire. On the larger ranches as many as 15 or 20 will be set in one day. If the wind isn't blowing a gale, the cowboys will set out merrily to put out the small fires. But if the wind is blowing hard, they will set about their task grimly, knowing well that they may be fighting for days instead of hours and the womenfolk on the ranch will let their regular tasks go to prepare sandwiches and coffee and pies to take to the firefighters to keep up their strength in extinguishing the fires.

Ranchers will load their firefighting paraphernalia into trucks along with all the men of the outfit and drive many miles over the roughest terrain in order to help fight the fire to keep it from spreading over all the ranches.

In the old days, when the prairies were covered with lush grass and the wind was high, the fire would travel for miles and miles. One could see the reddened sky on the horizon, especially at night, and the winds would be so hot it was not safe to touch metal of any kind for fear of being burned.

Thousands of cattle have died of starvation during the winter because of prairie fires.

busters as how to handle unethical servants, barking dogs in a neighborhood of millionaires and what to do with the reporters who record every itch of the movie stars.

With drama, amusement and detail, Anderson tells of his unusual job.

He tells of the Lana Turner - Johnny Stompanato case, which saw Lana's daughter protect her mother and commit murder. He also tells about the unluckiest crook he ever met - the burglar who fell asleep on the wall - to - wall carpeting while waiting for his victims to arrive.

Another new non - fiction book at the Library is Spearheads by James Altieri.

This is Altieri's own story, from personal experience, of the formation, training and deployment of the American Rangers during World War II.

And the author knows his subject thoroughly. After volunteering from an artillery outfit in Ireland, he underwent the toughest possible training.

British Commandos trained the men, using live ammunition and rugged field work to eliminate all but the very best. When that was completed, the Ranger Battalion officers devised some new tortures.

Major William O. Darby and his executive officer, Captain Herman Dammer provided the spark of leadership. Darby was a West Pointer who had been taken out of an aide's post to head the new group.

And he led with the born instinct that inspires and commands respect.

A small group of Rangers made a quick sortie into Dieppe. The entire Battalion then made a lightning attack at Arzew, Algeria, and was called upon to crack the defenses of Oran.

Next stop scheduled was a small island in the Mediterranean. Seemingly, it was just waiting for a Ranger attack. It included a battalion of Italian troops guarding radar and radio installations. After loading on the ship that was to take them, the mission was inexplicably called off.

The disheartened Rangers were spilling for a fight. And Darby got a dilly for them. He took three companies to the last French outpost in the Tunisian desert. When they jumped off, they faced 20 miles of desert and mountains, and the entire route was thoroughly watched by German armored and aerial patrols.

The group marched at night, hiding in the mountains during the day. The following night they struck the outpost at Sened. The Rangers killed more than 100 and wounded countless others in the midnight attack. They lost just one man, with several others wounded, but the battle was nothing compared with the forced march they had to make, carrying their wounded.

After a rear guard action for the entire II Corps withdrawal, the Rangers were used as the nucleus of three new Ranger battalions; another was to be formed in the United States.

All three Battalions went onto the beach and fought to capture Gena in Sicily. They not only took the town, they successfully kept two determined tank columns from breaking through to the beach.

The Rangers came to an end in a bloody battle that found them attacking tanks and fortified positions with little support. They were trying to cut a vital link and relieve the battle at Cassino.

While the Ranger Battalions were chewing up three crack German regiments, they lost more men than in their previous six campaigns.

That was the last of the Rangers. Now soldiers from all branches receive rugged Ranger training and return to train others.

Altieri is one of the men most qualified to tell the Rangers' story. He joined it at the formation and remained until it was disbanded. During that time he rose from a private in the ranks to become squad leader, platoon sergeant, getting a battlefield commission and winding up as a Captain and commander of Fox Company, 4th Rangers.

Any reader who enjoys adventure will have a fine time with this book. I highly recommend Spearheads by James Altieri.

Venezuela was given this name by Spanish conquistadores because they found native villages built on stilts on Lake Maracaibo. Venezuela means "little Venice."

ADRIAN NEWS

Seniors Return From Trip To Old Mexico

BY MRS. R. L. PINNELL
The Adrian seniors returned home on Monday night of last week from the eventful senior trip, which was a tour of Old Mexico and South Texas.

The group left Adrian on May 29 immediately after graduation. They left in two cars under the sponsorship of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Halie and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Pounds. Their final destination was Monterey, Mex. Sunday afternoon to observe the bull fights.

They then went by way of San Angelo and ate breakfast in Junction. They went out by way of Uvalde. They spent Saturday night in Laredo, where they first stopped driving for a night's rest.

The group left Laredo at 12 p. m., bound for Monterey. This was the "off-season" for the fights and the "novelos", or beginners, had taken over. The group reported that they enjoyed the fights.

On Monday, they toured the leather, straw and silver markets of Monterey where they had checked in to the "Anfa Motel." Next day a native guide was hired for a tour of Horse Tail Falls, approximately 30 miles south of Monterey.

This was the deepest the class members pierced the country of Mexico, and it proved to be the most enjoyable part of the trip. They drove to the lodge, where they abandoned the cars and hired donkeys for the last one-half mile. American influence had evidently invaded even the donkey population as one of the guides announced she was riding "Eisenhower."

After dinner at the lodge the group returned to Monterey for films and supplies before the afternoon tour to the west of Garcia Caves. This was nestled high in the mountains and they rode 915 feet off the ground in a cable car to be able to see the sights.

On Wednesday the group decided to return to American soil where they re-entered Texas at Ruidosa. They drove to Kingsville by 5 p. m. and spent the night.

Galveston was the next stop on Thursday night and they remained until Saturday at 3 p. m. Here the group enjoyed swimming in the Gulf of Mexico and made a two-hour boat cruise around Pelican Island to Texas City in the bay area.

Beauty At Home

By LYNN CARTER

Q. Is there any simple, effective way I can promote more strength in my fingernails?

A. For stimulating exercise of the nails, nothing is better than regular buffing. Colorless iodine

Part of the group examined the wharf and later found this to not be open to the public.

On Saturday the homeward trip began at 3 p. m. They attended church on Sunday morning and drove into Dallas for the night. They returned to Adrian Monday night, with an estimated 2,000 miles behind them.

Seniors who went on the trip were Alma Mosteller, Ninette Pounds, Terry Creitz, Morris Lee Blankenship, Wanda Pinnell, Melanie Weidner and Cynthia Kromer.

BEING CONSIDERED FOR NATIONAL PARK — Pretty Dorothy Wimberly collects sea shells on Padre Island located in the Gulf of Mexico off the Texas coast. Eighty-eight miles of the island is now being considered by the Department of Interior as a national park. Part of the proposed park site is accessible from Padre Beach by car which is how our shell collector got there. The southern tip, Padre Beach, is located in the Rio Grande Valley and is fast developing into a winter and summer resort. (AP Photo) painted over the nails and around the cuticles periodically, is a healthful practice, too.

Q. How can I prepare a good, bleaching facial beauty mask?

A. Make a paste of about three tablespoons of ground oatmeal and buttermilk, thinning this out with enough lemon juice to the consistency of smooth spreading. While your skin is still moist from its washing, spread the paste generously over it, and allow to remain until dry. Remove with tepid water and a soft cloth. If this seems too drying to your skin, apply some cold cream when it has been removed.

Q. Just where in their general beauty makeup, do you think women first show their age?

A. I can't find too much wrong with the results of one poll I read recently. It listed the eyes first, followed in order by the skin in general, the neck, the hips, the hands, the mouth, the hair, and finally the legs.

Q. How can I make a quick emergency repair to my makeup without the necessity of removing the old makeup and applying new?

A. If you'll just pat over your old makeup with a cotton pad dampened with skin freshener or astringent, this will remove much of the accumulated oil or grime.

Q. What is a good, slimming exercise for waistline, hips, and thighs?

A. Lie on floor, arms outstretched shoulder - high, palms down. Swing your left leg across your body, trying to touch the right hand, and return. Do the same with the right leg, swinging it across the body and trying to touch your left hand. Keep repeating in rhythm.

Q. Is it all right to apply moist rouge to the face without first having used foundation cream or makeup base?

A. Not unless you want to risk the danger of the rouge's clogging and enlarging the pores in your skin. The use of moist rouge, with foundation base, will give your skin the illusion of natural coloring.

Q. The tiny pore hairs on my upper lip hinder the smooth application of my lipstick. Do you have any corrective suggestions for this?

A. Probably your best answer to this is the removal of those troublesome hairs with a wax depilatory - or, for permanent removal, by electrolysis.

Q. How can I mix a heena shampoo at home?

A. Dissolve three teaspoons of powdered heena and 3/4 - teaspoon of ordinary powdered borax in a quart of water. Strain through fresh muslin, and add four ounces of shaved castile soap. Put this into an old saucepan and allow to simmer over a low flame until all the soap is melted. Stir well, then set aside to cool.

Q. What can I do about some unsightly dandruff flakes I've noticed appearing recently in my eyebrows?

A. Your brows are in need of some good scrubbing with a complexion brush and warm soapsuds, then gentle massages with some olive oil or mineral oil before retiring at night.

Q. Do you think it is really necessary, for beauty's sake, to wear colored fingernail polish, or any kind of polish for that matter?

A. Not at all. Many women look beautiful with natural fingernails buffed to a good polish with nail powder.

Q. Please suggest an exercise that is good for the chin or throatline.

A. If you'll perform this one a half - dozen times or more daily, without fail, it will do throatline firm: Tilt the head back slightly, holding your finger under your chin. Now stretch the neck up, lifting the chin forward and over the finger.

Q. Just how should one govern one's rouge application by the size of one's nose?

A. You shouldn't rouge too close to a larger-than-average nose. And for the small, button-like nose, you should bring your rouge fairly close to it.

Q. How can I perform a good, emergency "cover - up" on a "hickey" or pimple that suddenly pops up on my face?

A. Make a paste out of some powder and your foundation cream, pat this over the blemish, then press some dry powder evenly over the offending spot.

Q. What makeup advice do you have for the girl with an unusually high forehead?

A. By using only dark powder on her forehead and highlighting the lower portion of her face with a lighter makeup, she will reduce the prominence of her forehead. If the eyebrows are darkened a little more than usual, this will help, too.

Q. Is there a good, cleansing "homemade" compound I can use on my skin to help dislodge blackheads?

A. One very good one consists of a tablespoon of oatmeal, one of cornmeal, and some soda, and water. Rub this over the skin, then scrub over this with a complexion brush, and finally rinse off. The "abrasive" quality of the mixture usually proves very effective for digging into the pores and eradicating those blackheads.

Store left - over mashed potatoes in buttered aluminum foil and reheat in the oven for a later meal.

Why Install a Gas Light?

If you are a home owner who takes justifiable pride in the appearance of his property... if you have a regard for the convenience and safety of folks who come to see you... and if you have a keen sense of economy as well as for things functional... then a Gas Light will be a satisfying addition to your yard.

Neighbors welcome its glareless illumination... insects give its soft, mellow glow a wide berth. And regardless of the architectural style of your home, gas lights provide an indefinable "something" that adds noticeably to the appeal of any residence, at an amazingly small cost of operation.

Why not call Pioneer tomorrow and find out all the details about Gas Lights? Special Budget Prices start at just $49.50, installed.

OUT WHERE THE COUNTRY CAN TEAR A TRUCK TO PIECES—

Chevy middleweights get 1/3 more work done in a day!

Where they used to deliver 2,300 gallons of liquefied petroleum gas in other trucks, Petrolane Gas Service of Long Beach, California, can now deliver 3,500 gallons a day! That's 7 days a week usually, over back trails and up into high rock country with maximum GVW loads. And with Chevy's Torsion-Spring Ride paving every foot of the way! "You don't get any more jolting on washboard roads than you do in a passenger car, or any sideway on curves," says driver Bernie Stone. "I used to take some rough roads at from 5 to 8 miles an hour. Now I can go 30 over them." Petrolane has over 200 Chevrolets hauling for them.

If you think we're excited about Chevy's independent front suspension, you ought to talk to the truck owners who are profiting by it. They'll tell you Chevy's torsion-spring design is the hottest thing to hit the industry since trucks began. Drive one—that's the proof, short and sweet.

A TRIBUTE

To Our Ministers!

Each Sunday and oftentimes throughout the week, the minister of your church lifts his head in prayer and envisions the heaven of your faith. He is a patient man. He is an understanding man. He's there, your loyal friend, in sickness, sorrow. He officiates at weddings and visits the homes of his parishioners. Yet with all his biblical knowledge and his interest in his sermons, he is a man. A fine man. And he should be treated as a friend and companion, not merely as a cleric. Your minister and his church deserves all the support you can give them. Attend services regularly and be generous with your contributions.
