Area TB Control Is Discussed

What is possible in TB control in 18 South Texas counties was considered by directors of the Coastal Bend TB-RD Association at their first orientation meeting in Beeville Saturday.

A. F. Tasch, M.D., is president of the association which services Aransas, Bee, Calhoun, Duval, Goliad, Jackson, Jim Wells, Kleberg, Kennedy, LaSalle, Live Oak, McMullen, Matagorda, Nueces, Refugio, San Patricio, Victoria, and Wharton Counties.

In describing the meeting, Dr. Tasch said, "Directors were not only informed about possibilities of controlling, even eradicating, tuberculosis from the area—but they were given suggestions as to how they could help his own association and the tax-supported State Department of Health to bring this about. TB patients can now be rendered non-contagious in a relatively short period. They must take medication daily for about two years, generally," said Dr. Tasch, in observing the importance of board members being aware of changes in TB treatment.

TOPS News

By Betty McMeredit

Here we are into the autumn, and as the leaves fall so do the pounds of the dedicated ladies of the Rockport TOPS club.

Our Queen of the Month was Mrs. Lonnie McLead, whose loss added considerably to the club month's total loss of 195 pounds. At this rate, we'll be nearing the 2,000-pound weight loss mark by the time the club's first anniversary comes around next January.

Several members have already attained their desired weight goal, and all without exception say they feel better and look younger than they have in years. All of them have checked periodically with their doctors, who were unanimous in reporting that the ladies were in good physical shape, healthwise and figure wise.

One doctor went so far as to make a very complimentary remark, which might have earned him a stony stare 15 years ago, but now—this very mature lady says it was the sweetest thing she'd heard since her husband said "I do."

Our club has proved again that sometimes it pays to be a loser. Further information from Secretary Betty McMeredit, 729-6213.

Wildlife research projects include studies of deer movements, reproduction and census. Winkler said that at present the deer population of South Texas is reasonably well stabilized, the animals are almost completely disease free and their size is satisfactory.

Illinois Judge Asks Help In Locating Brain-Damaged Son

Sheriff Bob Hewes received the following letter from Appellate Judge George J. Moran of Granite City, Ill., asking for help in locating Moran's 21-year-old, brain damaged son:

"I would appreciate it very much if you would be on the look-out for my twenty-one year old brain damaged son, Bill, who, because of his peculiar injury could be almost anywhere. Bill was so badly injured in an automobile accident about four years ago that he was not expected to live. However, he has to this date made a remarkable recovery except that some primary functions, such as his recent memory and ability to find directions, have been severely impaired.

"As one of the final steps in his rehabilitation we recently placed him at a rehabilitation center in the East. However, on September 3, 1969, he wandered away from that place and we have been desperately trying to find him since.

"Our most distressing problem is this. Bill's doctor tells us that in his present condition, Bill would tend to walk aimlessly, never knowing exactly where he was going. In all probability he would not hitchhike, but he would accept a ride if one was offered him and he would ride in any direction the ride was offered. Since we do not have the faintest idea where Bill is at this time, we are asking the sheriffs in the different counties where he may wander to be on the look-out for him.

"I am enclosing a few "flyers" for your use, but Bill's appearance may have changed considerably since this was made. If you or any of your deputies see him, he will respond respectfully to any of your questions and I am sure he will tell you his (Continued on Page 8)

Thoroughfare Plan for City

Details of the Plan

The proposed relocation of State Route 35 into the central portion of the peninsula is the single most important proposal in the thoroughfare plan. This will accomplish two important objectives: (1) to relieve through traffic movements from the central urbanizing portion of the peninsula, and (2) to provide more direct access for through traffic movements between the urban areas surrounding Corpus Christi Bay and destinations to the north. This proposed relocation, taking place from slightly north of Fulton, extends southwest across the peninsula and intersects with Farm-to-Market Road 881, about one and one-half miles west of the city limits.

Major access points into the city from this new route would be found on Fifth Street, Market Street, Copano Road, and the present alignment of State Route 35. In addition to linking the central urban area in the county with the major highway route, these roads would also extend into the western and northern portions of the county providing access from an area expected to develop during the planning period. All farm-to-market roads should connect with other major portions of the major street system; new connections from Pearl to Church and on Market Street should be added to the system.

A new major north-south street, three-fourths of a mile west of the city limits, would be added to the thoroughfare system. Enterprise Street at the southern end of the Aransas County High School would be extended to the east to connect with the present alignment of State Route 35, and extended to the west to intersect with Copano Village Road. At this point, a major thoroughfare would be extended to the south, connecting with Market Street and Fifth Street. The extension of this road from Copano Village Road to Fifth Street would cover a distance of approximately three miles.

Sixteenth Street, ten blocks south of the present corporate limits, would be extended to (Continued on Page 8)

Thirty-four additional customers will be served by the treated Nueces River water which will be piped to this area by the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

PASS THE SPINACH

Children will eat less spinach in the future than they have in the past and it'll be better for them if parents follow the advice offered in a paper presented at the 135th meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The youngsters, for as long as we can remember, have turned up their noses at spinach but they've eaten it because Mom and Pop insisted it was good for them. Why, even Popeye the Sailor man was a party to persuading the playground set that spinach had what it takes to make strong men and women out of puny boys and girls. Remember how Popeye would take a gulp of spinach, flex his muscles and then get himself out of any danger he might be in? Well, forget it.

Spinach isn't at all what it's cracked up to be. The fact of the matter is, it may kill you, reports Dr. Barry Commoner's paper to the AAAS. He reported that nitrates in spinach has poisoned infants in Germany and France and his paper says evidence of nitrogen poison has been found in drinking water, especially in Southern California. In tests conducted at some 800 water wells in Southern California, Commoner found the nitrogen level in 88 to be above the limits set by the U.S. Public Health Service.

The rise in the amount of nitrogen found in food and water is due to the increased use of nonorganic fertilizers by farmers, said Commoner. Nitrate fertilizers are less expensive than their organic counterparts and also produce a larger crop yield. But, says, Commoner, they also are poisonous and unless something is done to stop their use, the world's population will suffer from an increased food supply instead benefiting by it.

EXPLOSIVE POVERTY

Times without number the developing countries have been advised that "trade is better than aid." And no doubt there is a great deal to be said in support of this advice. For one thing, nations like individuals, do not like to give money for nothing. And the danger of strings being tied to aid has always to be guarded against. Aid can make the recipient like Wednesday's regular meeting. We started the flag ceremony and then we chose officers for patrols. Two scribes were chosen and a treasurer. The patrols chose the names of the patrols. More details will be in next week's report.

Sept. 27, Fun Day at Sinton. We started off on a beautiful day. We loaded up the cars and off we went. When we got to Bob and Bessie Welder Park we played games. The games were file relay, jump rope relay, partner relay, siamese relay, rope walking relay, block of wood relay, hop relay, sack relay, elastic band relay, three legged race, and then we sang taps and left.

Officers chosen at troop meeting were patrol leaders, Jean Marie Hayes, Susan Stafford, Mollie Hynes, Annette Ledbetter and Troop treasurer Candy Coole.

King Ranch Grant Aids Lawngrass Research

College Station — Texas A&M research on a lawngrass killer known as St. Augustine Decline (SAD) has received a $5,000 boost from King Ranch, Inc. of Kingsville, Texas.

King Ranch, Inc. provided the grant for fundamental and applied research on St. Augustine Decline and for developing adaptable resistant varieties, which will ultimately be distributed to growers of St. Augustine grass.

Homeowners from Orange to Brownsville and as far north at Ft. Worth will benefit from this research since St. Augustine Decline has been found throughout that area. About 96 percent of lawns in the Coastal Bend area of Texas are seeded to St. Augustine grass.

Initial research on St. Augustine Decline was funded by a $1,000 grant from the Coastal Bend Lawn Improvement Association of Corpus Christi, one of the areas hardest hit by the virus disease.

Since discovery of St. Augustine Decline, Texas A&M has named the disease, identified it as a virus, and worked toward development of plant resistance. Possibly resistant varieties are now being tested.

Community Blood Bank Authorized In Corpus Christi

An application for a charter to establish and operate a community blood bank has been authorized by the Blood Bank Committee of the Nueces County Medical Society.

The authorization took place recently at a meeting at Memorial Center.

John W. Chriss, president of the Medical Society, presided. Administrators of Spohn Hospital and Memorial — two institutions now operating blood banks—were in attendance.

Dr. Chriss said the Community Blood Bank will be "a community institution designed to provide a central source and adequate supply of blood needed by hospitals in all of Nueces County and, eventually in the other 12 counties within the scope of the Coastal Bend Health Planning Council."

The other counties are Aransas, Bee, Brooks, Duval, Jim Wells, Karnes, Kennedy, Kleberg, Live Oak, McMullen, Refugio, and San Patricio.

The Nueces County Medical Society membership recently authorized a $25,000, interest-free loan to start the organization of the Community Blood Bank.

Dr. Chriss said the proposed blood bank will function on a continuing basis, with a medical director and its own staff. Twenty-four-hour service will be available when necessary, he said.

"As we visualize it, the Community Blood Bank will consign a certain amount of blood to each participating hospital," Dr. Chriss explained.

"The amount will be in keeping with each hospital's pattern of blood usage. "In emergencies blood will be rushed in either from our central supply location in Corpus Christi or from nearby participating hospitals."

The blood banks at Spohn and Memorial, he said, will be phased out as the Community Blood Bank grows.

Dr. Chriss estimated that the Community Blood Bank will require up to 10,000 units of blood.

Two Rockport Masons, Andrew G. Gardner 32°, and David P. Gruber 32° KCCH were in attendance at the Waco Scottish Rite and the R. Lee Lockwood Library and Museum dedication on Saturday, Sept. 27.

HURRICANE INFORMATION

The following information on hurricanes is supplied by U. S. Department of Commerce, Environmental Science Services Administration, Rockville, Maryland:

Hurricanes are tropical cyclones in which winds reach speeds of 74 miles per hour or more, and blow in a large spiral around a relatively calm center—the eye of the hurricane. Every year, these violent storms bring destruction to coastlines and islands in their erratic path. Tropical cyclones of the same type are called typhoons in the North Pacific, baguios in the Philippines, and cyclones in the Indian Ocean.

Stated very simply, hurricanes are giant whirlwinds in which air moves in a large, tightening spiral around a center of extreme low pressure, reaching maximum velocity in a circular band extending outward 20 or 30 miles from the rim of the eye. The circulation is counterclockwise in the Northern Hemisphere, and clockwise in the Southern Hemisphere. Near the eye, hurricane winds may gust to more than 200 miles per hour, and the entire storm dominates the ocean surface and lower atmosphere over tens of thousands of square miles.

The eye, like the spiral structure of the storm, is unique to hurricanes. Here, winds are light and skies are clear or partly cloudy. But this calm is deceptive, bordered as it is by hurricane-force winds and torrential rains. Many persons have been killed or injured when the calm eye lured them out of shelter, only to be caught in the hurricane winds at the far side of the eye, where the wind blows from a direction opposite to that in the leading half of the storm.

Hurricane winds do much damage, but drowning is the greatest cause of hurricane deaths. As the storm approaches and moves across the coastline, it brings huge waves, raising tides some 15 feet or more above normal. The rise may come rapidly, and produce flash floods in coastal lowlands, or may come in the form of giant waves—which are mistakenly called "tidal waves." Waves and currents erode beaches and barrier islands, undermine waterfront structures, and wash out highway and railroad beds. The torrential rains produce sudden flooding; as the storm moves inland and its winds diminish, floods constitute the hurricane's greatest threat.

The hurricanes that strike the eastern United States are born in the tropical and subtropical North Atlantic Ocean, the Caribbean Sea, and the Gulf of Mexico. Most occur in August, September and October, but the six-month period from June 1 to November 30 is considered the Atlantic hurricane season.

The principal regions of tropical cyclone origin vary during the season. Most early (May and June) storms originate in the Gulf of Mexico and western Caribbean. In July and August, the areas of most frequent origin shift eastward, and by September are located over the larger area from the Bahamas southeastward to the Lesser Antilles, and thence eastward to south of the Cape Verde Islands, near the west coast of Africa. After mid-September, the principal areas or origin shift back to the western Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico.

On average, six Atlantic hurricanes occur per year. However, there are significant deviations from this average. In 1916 and 1950, 11 hurricanes were observed, and no hurricanes were observed in 1907 and 1914. During 1893, 1950, and 1961 seasons, four hurricanes were observed in progress at the same time.

Hurricanes also form along the west coast of Mexico and Central America, but their effects are seldom felt as far north as California. These threaten shipping and aviation, however, and are watched as carefully as their Atlantic cousins. Hurricanes begin as relatively small tropical cyclones which drift gradually to the west-northwest (in the Northern Hemisphere), imbedded in the westward-blowing trade-winds of the tropics. Under certain conditions these disturbances increase in size, speed, and intensity until they become full-fledged hurricanes.

The storms move forward very slowly in the tropics, and may sometimes hover for short periods of time. The initial forward speed is usually 15 miles per hour or less. Then as the hurricane moves farther from the Equator, its forward speed tends to increase; at middle latitudes it may exceed 60 miles per hour in extreme cases.

The great storms are driven by the heat released by condensing water vapor, and by external mechanical forces. Once cut off from the warm ocean, the storm begins to die, starved for water and heat energy, and dragged apart by friction as it moves over the land.

This game is the first to be played this season, and we have great hopes of defeating

Thirty members of the local chapter of Future Homemakers of America held a picnic at Goose Island State Park on Sept. 27. They took sack lunches and traveled by bus, leaving the homemaker building at 5 p.m. and returning at 7:30.

The new members were divided into two teams. A large chocolate cake was cut in half and the halves were placed on two plates in front of the teams. The girls had to run to their half of the cake, take a bite (no hands allowed) and return to the end of the line. After this the girls (not so hungry) ate their lunches.

After supper the new members had a sack race and a three-legged race. Following the races, informal group discussion was held. The girls discussed their "big sisters," sponsors and the club itself.

The FHA wishes to thank Mr. Mills for driving the bus, and Melinda Mills for planning and arranging the picnic.

Parents and faculty committee members interested in Cub Scout Pack 49 are urged to attend a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 7, at Live Oak Elementary School. Prospective Cub Scouts from 8 to 11 and their parents also are invited.

This and That

A day in the life of the editor:

Come to work, check through news items that have been brought in or mailed in by local folks. Type those which have been handwritten so that Gene Shults can easily read them when he sets type. Carefully edit those items that have been typed and make sure that names are spelled right and that days and dates correspond (such as Tuesday, Oct. 7).

After this strenuous work, go out for a cup of coffee.

Go to the courthouse to see if there is any news. Check with Sheriff Bob Hewes, County Judge John D. Wendell, County Clerk Ed Beasley and others. Attend Commissioners Court meeting. Take notes as Judge Wendell and County Commissioners W. B. Allen, Raymond Owens, Mrs. Wanda Sparks and Mrs. Ludene Wofford discuss various matters and make decisions.

Return to Pilot, write stories based on information picked up. Answer two or three phone calls, generally from people who have items they'd like to have in the paper.

Exhausted by this time, go out for another cup of coffee. Try to get Roy Woods or Roy Rogero to go along to match for the coffee. A free cup tastes a lot better.

After lunch, go to City Hall. Check with Chief of Police Everett Taylor, Tax Assessor Herman Johnson, Commissioner of Public Works Tom Shults, and City Secretary Mary Lake Segler. Pick up whatever news is available and write it up.

Go to City Council meeting. Get copy of agenda. Take notes as Mayor Delmar Hiller and Aldermen Charlie Garrett, N. F. Jackson, Mrs. J. W. "Tony" Harden and Joe "Pepe" Zambrano discuss different proposals and vote.

Be ready to get detailed information on Council action on request by Aransas Natural Gas Company for permission to raise rates. The Council then decides to terminate the regular meeting and discuss the request in workshop, which means no official decision will be made and there is no news story on the gas matter, for the time being.

If time permits, try to dig up interesting feature story and try to figure something for this column.

In the meantime, better have another cup of coffee.

Girl Scouts

Troop 448 met Sept. 25. The Busy Bee Patrol furnished refreshments. The patrols decided what badges they wanted to work on during the year. All the troops went to Sinton Sept. 27 for a "fun day" with area towns. Games were played and the girls ate their sack lunches under the trees. Nineteen girls from Troop 448 attended.

Rockport Loses to Gregory-Portland

By Dan T. Oliver
The Rockport-Fulton High School Pirates lost their first game of the season last Friday night when Gregory-Portland scored a victory, 55 to 12.

The game opened with Rockport kicking off to the Wildcats who lost no time in making a touchdown following a series of successful passes. Gregory-Portland kicked off to the Pirates who failed to make first down and had to punt.

The Wildcats took the ball on their 43-yard line and moved to the Pirates' two-yard line from where they scored another touchdown. Gregory-Portland kicked off and Rockport again stalled and had to punt. For the third time the Wildcats plowed steadily down the field and scored.

Gregory-Portland kicked off and Rockport returned the ball 16 yards. The Pirates made a number of good gains and then halfback Robert Brooks made a thrilling 66-yard run for a touchdown. The conversion attempt failed.

Rockport kicked off and the Wildcats took possession on their 31-yard line. Gregory-Portland failed to make a first down and had to punt. The first quarter ended with the score: Gregory-Portland 21, Rockport 6. In the second quarter the Wildcats made another touchdown and the half ended with Rockport trailing 28 to 6.

In the third quarter the relentless Gregory-Portland team made two more touchdowns. As the game entered the final quarter, the scoreboard read: Gregory-Portland 41, Rockport-Fulton 6.

The Pirates' second touchdown was made in the fourth quarter following two more touchdowns by Gregory-Portland. The game ended 55 to 12 in favor of the Wildcats.

Robert Crawford's field report showed that Gregory-Portland made 27 first downs to 18 by Rockport. In yards rushing, the Pirates had 291 to 223 by the Wildcats. In passing, Gregory-Portland completed 11 out of 12 for 211 yards while Rockport completed two out of 10 for 37 yards.

Thoroughfare—

the west intersecting with the new alignment of State Route 35. Proposed major streets should become a part of new subdivisions and included in all plats for these areas.

Major thoroughfares establish boundaries of new neighborhoods to be developed as the city grows into the surrounding area. Between these major thoroughfares, a system of collector streets would link minor streets in the neighborhood with major street system. Major drainage channels proposed in the southern and northern portions of the community would also act as boundaries between neighborhoods. Both the major thoroughfare system and important collector streets would provide access across these channels.

In the southern portion of the city, a sketch plan for the development of waterfront lots on a system of internal channels illustrates the manner in which collector streets and major streets work together to define the boundaries of the neighborhoods while permitting the most efficient use of these lands for residential development. Neighborhood, highway, and tourist-resort commercial facilities would be an integral part of these neighborhoods. The concept of the neighborhood school-park feature is also clearly illustrated.

The thoroughfare plan is designed to accomplish objectives of convenient access and safety. This plan identifies needed major street improvements. Based on the plan, sufficient right-of-ways to accommodate required pavement widths can be set aside in advance of development. In the central business district, some modification of the present major street system is proposed to connect Pearl Street with Church Street in the vicinity of the proposed civic center.

In addition to these improvements, substantial investments in and fill and bulkheads are proposed along Broadway adjacent to Little Bay. The expansion of the parkway system, placement of bulkheads and necessary recreational facilities would be a part of major thoroughfare in the parks and recreation plan.

In the planning period most of the major street and highway improvements will likely be accomplished with the assistance of the Texas Highway Department and Aransas County. Therefore, all standards for these portions of the thoroughfare system should conform to those standards currently in effect, as determined by the Texas Highway Department.

Minor street standards should be adopted to allow some flexibility for the level of improvements. For example in those areas where storm sewer facilities are planned, in the central portion of the community, streets should have curbing and gutters to adequately drain the streets. Gradually all neighborhood streets, the minor street system, should be upgraded to conform to minimum standards as reflected in Subdivision Ordinance: 28 foot wide pavements with curbs and gutters.

Question and Answer Column

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I'm now retired and have Social Security and my company pension to live on. Will any of this be taxable?

A—Social Security benefits are not taxable. Your company pension may or may not be taxable depending on whether you contributed to its cost.

If the pension plan is of a type where the pensioner's cost is recoverable within the first three years, the pension is tax-free until this cost is fully recovered. After that, the full pension is taxable income.

One provision you should check is the retirement income credit. When certain conditions are met, this provision allows a taxpayer to reduce his income tax by up to 15 percent of his retirement income.

Details on these provisions are given in IRS Publication 524, Retirement Income and Retirement Income Credit. You may obtain a free copy at any IRS office.

Q—Is a gardener considered household help? If so, will I have to withhold Social Security taxes on wages paid?

A—Wages paid to a gardener are subject to Social Security taxes. If you pay him cash wages of $50 or more during a calendar quarter then you are required to file a Form 942, "Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees," and pay Social Security taxes.

Income taxes, however, do not have to be withheld from wages paid gardeners and other household help.

Q—This is the first year my income will be high enough so that I'll have to file a tax return. Is there anything I can do to avoid having to pay any tax at the end of the year?

A—If taxes are withheld from your wages, any increase in the amount withheld will reduce the chances of having additional tax to pay when you file your 1969 return. Your withholding can be increased by not claiming all your withholding exemptions or by having additional amounts withheld through an agreement with your employer.

Note that if you do not claim all the exemptions you are entitled to for withholding purposes you have not forfeited your right to claim them at a later date. You can, and should, claim all exemptions you are entitled to on your income tax return.

Q—I just started working in a beauty shop as a beautician. What tax records should I keep?

A—The W-2 statement you will get from your employer will show your earnings and the amounts withheld for Federal income and Social Security taxes. A copy of this form should be attached to your 1040 tax return when you send it in and you should keep a copy.

It's a good practice to keep records of all expenses that are deductible for Federal income tax purposes. Put your receipts and cancelled checks for charitable contributions, medical expenses, and interest expenses in a special envelope or file folder. This way you'll have them when you start to prepare your return.

If you have a job where tips are part of your income, record them daily. When they amount to $20 or more a month earned while working for one employer, they should be reported to your employer on or before the 10th of the next month. This will enable your employer to adjust your withholding.

For details on reporting tips, obtain a free copy of Publication No. 531, "Reporting Your Tips for Federal Income Tax Purposes," from any IRS office.

Q—My divorce came through, can I still claim my ex-wife's exemption for withholding purposes?

A—No, after your divorce you are no longer entitled to claim her exemption. You should file a new W-4, "Withholding Exemption Certificate," with your employer to make the change.

Eight New Homes Are Completed At Palm Harbor

Eight new houses have been completed recently at Palm Harbor, the waterfront residential development three miles south of Rockport.

Six of them are now occupied and the remaining two have been placed on the market, according to R. L. Irwin, president of Irwin Real Estate Sales, owner and developer of Palm Harbor. All of the new houses are on waterways, he said.

Largest of the new homes is that of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Monzingo at 251 Starboard Avenue. It is a two-story frame and brick structure with an adjacent covered boat slip which has a roof serving as a sun deck for the house. It has four bedrooms and three baths.

Monzingo, who is associated with Irwin in developing Unit 2 of Palm Harbor, has lived there for the past six years. Recently he sold his former home at 17 Port Avenue to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cunningham of Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ivy of San Antonio are occupying their new two-bedroom, two-bath, one-story frame vacation home on Ocean Drive. It is directly on the Intracoastal Waterway and overlooks Redfish Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dupre, formerly of Key Allegro and El Campo, Texas, recently moved into their new one-floor three bedroom and two-bath brick home at 150 Palm Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. John Keenan, formerly of San Antonio, are occupying their recently completed two-story frame house at 125 Port Avenue. It has two bedrooms and two baths with a recreation room, garage and utilities room on the first floor. Their former home in which they have lived for the past year is adjacent to their new house. It has been offered for sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Levit of Dallas recently purchased a new two-story, two-bedroom and two-bath frame house at 256 Starboard Avenue. It is located at the junction of Palm Harbor channel and the waterway leading to the channel in Unit 2. They are using it as a week-end and vacation home.

Last week Murl Green of Rockport bought a new one-floor frame house at 243 Starboard Avenue. It has three bedrooms and two baths.

The two new houses not yet sold are a frame and concrete block split-level structure at 134 Palm Drive and a two-story frame house at 126 Palm Drive. The former has two bedrooms and two baths, and the latter has four bedrooms and two baths.

The Monzingo and Ivy homes were built by Bert Harry, local contractor. The others were built by the Irwin Company.

There are now 62 houses in Palm Harbor, more than half of them occupied by permanent residents, according to Irwin. The others are used as weekend and vacation homes, he added.

High-Low Bridge Club

Mrs. Tom Smallwood was hostess to the High-Low Bridge Club last Wednesday. Present were Mrs. Charles Cleveland, Mrs. H. H. Dick, Mrs. R. L. Eckman, Mrs. H. F. Elliot, Mrs. Chester Johnson, Mrs. Virginia Miller, Mrs. J. H. Mills, Mrs. F. L. McCord, Mrs. Harry McDow, Mrs. Lois Rozzell and one guest, Mrs. Roy Burke. High score was won by Mrs. Elliot and Mrs. McDow won low.
