One Candidate Announced

Eight County and Precinct Officers Will Be Picked in '62

An earlier than usual pickup in county political interest has been noted, and for the first time in several years, there has been a political announcement before January 1.

Eight county and precinct officers will be affected by this year's elections. Of these, a major change is due, since the attorney general's office has ruled that the offices of county clerk and district clerk are to be combined with this election. This comes about due to a drop in the county's population.

Neither present office holder has announced. Mrs. Lorene Jenkins, county clerk, ran in the last election, but this was because she is filling out an unexpired term, and was required under the Texas Election Laws. The present election is the one in which the county clerk will be chosen for a regular term.

The county treasurer will be chosen this year, as will the county judge, county school superintendent, the commissioners of Precincts 2 and 4, and the justice of the peace.

First of the candidates to announce was Judge C. C.

Bishop, who is asking re-election as county judge.

The office of county school superintendent, now held by B. W. Baird, normally would be combined with that of county judge, because of the drop in county population. However in an election held here a number of years ago, the people voted that the offices shall be separate, and under the attorney general's ruling last year, this election governs the status of the offices in the county.

Bishop First to Announce for County Office

Judge C. C. Bishop is the first county candidate to announce for public office subject to the Democratic primaries in 1962. His statement follows:

C. C. Bishop has requested The Wellington Leader to announce his candidacy for County Judge for his second term. In making this statement Judge Bishop expressed himself as fully enjoying the work of County Judge. During his first term, the County has been able to operate on a cash basis and that no new indebtedness has been created of any kind. Should the County continue this kind of operations it will be a debt free County in a very few years. The County has been able to purchase $50,000.00 of new road equipment and pay cash for it. We have cooperated with other agencies, by maintaining a wolf trapper, and just recently entered into an agreement to purchase a rural fire truck. Our County is being operated on a business like basis and the credit goes to many people. It is my wish that I may see all the voters of the County between now and May Primary and discuss these matters more fully with you. Thanking you for any consideration that you will show my candidacy.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Elbert.

Funeral for Mrs. R. L. Wood Will be Thursday

1961 Construction Tops Quarter Million Mark

Construction, most of it in the home building field, topped the quarter million mark in Wellington in 1961, and a continuation of this trend is expected in 1962.

Many people shared in Wellington's building during the period, for there was no single large project in 1961 to run up the total.

Opening of the Bratten Addition to Wellington late in the year, and building up of almost all the Lewis Green Addition, both in southeast Wellington, during 1961, centered most of the construction in that part of town, a continuation of the area opened by the late Dudley McMillin to home construction.

Building permits reveal that most of Wellington's new homes range in the $13,000 to $20,000 price bracket. Almost all of these, it is noted, are built by the owners, and by families who are long and well established here.

Construction during 1961 is a continuation of the home building trend started in 1960. This period has seen homes go up in the town that compare with those in much larger towns and small cities of the Panhandle area, and reflect the solidarity of Wellington's population.

While home building has been more spectacular, business remodeling has given a brighter look to that part of the town's economy, and there has been some new construction.

The complete remodeling of two drug stores and of Harrell's Ben Franklin Store set the pace for work around the square, followed by the work on the building where Lanman Auto Supply will open in early 1962.

Most completely new business building, such as Bradley Refrigeration and Young's Laundry, has been away from the business section, where the owners' needs are better served.

Construction in 1962 will probably keep pace with this year, local lumber yards and builders believe, although one pointed out that it will probably be a month or two until this can be determined. Another said he felt there would be some larger building projects in next year's picture, too.

Not all of this year's building is reflected in the approximately $200,000 worth of building permits issued by the City of Wellington. Mrs. Jennie Holcomb, city secretary, pointed out that there is a city ordinance that all persons building or remodeling must secure a permit, but this is not always done.

An effort is being made to have all persons, no matter

Dodson, Wellington

Burglary, Car Theft During Week End

Burglars entered one office in Dodson and made two stops in Wellington over the Christmas week end, Sheriff John Rainey said. He also reported the theft of a car from a

Dodson teacher, but the following morning the vehicle was found parked near the owner's home.

The safe at the Davis Gin office was damaged when burglars, failing to note that it was unlocked, knocked the knob and tried to punch the pin, the sheriff said. There was no money in the safe. The burglars also damaged the Coke machine, but got an es-

Entry was gained through a rest room window.

Sheriff Rainey said the Dairy

Mart was again entered on Friday morning, but owner

Jimmy Milner could miss nothing. The outdoor juke box of the Dixie Maid was entered but there was only a small amount of money in it, according to Rainey.

Albert Mosenbocker, Dodson teacher, reported the theft of his 1957 Chevrolet from his home Tuesday night, Dec.

19, while he was attending a ball game.

A stolen car report was put out on the vehicle, and officers and Dodson men hunted through the east part of the county without finding a trace of the car.

However, Sheriff Rainey said

Mosenbocker notified him early the next morning the car was left near the house some time between 2:30 and 7:00 a.m.

In an earlier car theft, the 1957 Ford belonging to James

Reynolds was taken from in front of his home, 301 13th Street, and later found abandoned at the intersection of Highway 83 and the Samnorwood road, Sheriff Rainey reported. It had skidded in the ditch and the battery was down, he said.

Safety an Essential Part of Preparing for Winter

There's an excitement and a deep indescribable satisfaction that comes with making preparations for winter.

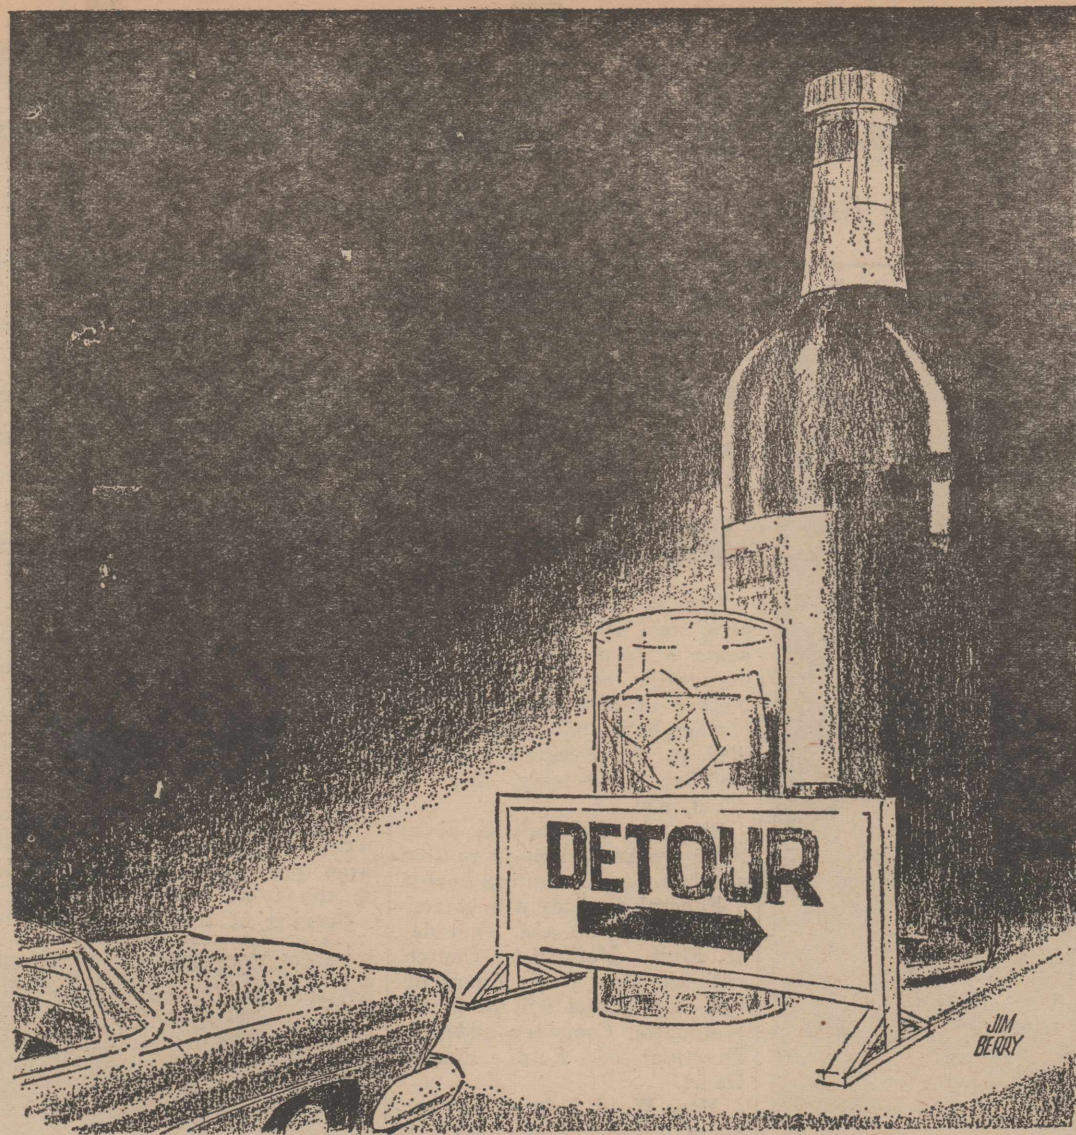

We can sense it, having seen busy squirrels storing away their winter food, and heard the chatter of birds gathering food. We remember it as we recall childhood experiences—the high woodpile, the full fruit cellar. We can feel it in the comforting warmth of a favorite sweater or jacket.

Warmth and Safety — these are the magic words. Happily, our comfort and safety during the long winter months do not require "holing up" like the hibernating bear. With the help of science and industry — and a little home-made planning—life and commerce go on as usual in all but the very worst winter weather. Then it can become chaotic, even dangerous, for procrastinators. Unfortunately, even a relatively few unprepared drivers can delay the majority who are ready for whatever Old Man Winter may throw our way.

Of course, it is common sense to postpone trips in the family car when weather reports warn of impending severe blizzards or sleet storms, or if they are actually reporting deep snow or icy road conditions. But modern autos are wonderful today. They provide real comfort against bad weather, at least for car owners who make sensible preparations for safe winter driving. They can usually go about their business without fear of getting stalled or having a skidding accident. Unless, of course, they are blocked by the unprepared, the wishful thinkers who just hoped bad weather would not come and whose cars block roads.

And what does it take to put the car in shape for driving during bad winter weather? For our comfort: A heating-defrosting system that really does the job; a tuned-up completely winterized engine that won't fail in traffic.

For our safety: Lights that will dependably illuminate the winter night or the blizzard-swept day; windshield wipers with live rubber blades and arms exerting sufficient pressure to really clear off rain, snow and sleet; an exhaust system tightly sealed to prevent leakage of carbon monoxide into the car; properly inflated tires with good treads; and in the car trunk, a pair of reinforced tire chains, ready and able to give you necessary stop-and-go traction protection when winter does its worst.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where pious and peace-loving Mr. Nehru has noticed somebody he can lick and has poured his troops all over Portuguese Goa.

My one-gallused neighbor says this shows that even with all the New World Order righteousness that prevails, it is still open season on little countries, taxpayers, and other helpless elements.

Says the outlook for Peace is good now, though, with Nehru, Khrushchev, the UN-US combo, etc., determined to have peace if it takes killing off everybody they are not afraid of.

I see where the Supreme Court is going to decide if prayer in a public schoolhouse is against the law of the land.

My degreeless neighbor says this matter is being pushed by certain interests who don't want the kids to find out there is any higher Authority than a Ph.D.

But he says if the Court decides prayers can't be said in a school room, where are the teachers going to get the strength to make it through each day?

I see where the AFL-CIO people love President Kennedy, but don't think much of his advice to restrain their itch for higher wages.

My me-first neighbor says self-denial is a nice virtue, but people don't get born with it, and have to be encouraged toward same by example, or by taxation.

And says it would take a very self-sacrificing politician to set much of an example of temperance by using less people money to lay up votes in store for '64.

Internal Revenue men say everybody had better repent and get right with Washington before income tax returns start being checked by the new electronic cheat detectors.

My middle-of-the-road honest neighbor says the last time he tangled with a machine, it was a $1-play slot machine which seemed to be adjusted to favor the house.

Says he expects the tax bureau's robots will also be tuned so there is not much hope that any of them might goof and award some taxpayer a $-million refund jackpot.

My displaced farmer neighbor says Abraham Lincoln is to blame for the farm problem, on account of he was the duck who started the Department of Agriculture.

And he figures that by setting up a Department of Urbiculture, President Kennedy is fixing to get city people in the same kind of a mess.

Says he is writing his Congressman to suggest the way to get Communism good and fouled up would be to open up a Department of Commiculture.

I see where there is a move on to have our high schools teach more economics.

This in spite of for years we have watched economics graduates in Washington bankrupting the U.S., which proves you can't learn economics in school any better than you can learn to ride a bicycle out of a book.

My overdrafty neighbor says anyhow it's not the plain people who are economic illiterates; it's the Washington spenders, who never got the kind of economic learning that comes with getting your car repossessed.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones Singley and daughters, Jennifer, Beverly and Cathy, left Thursday for the holidays in Pensacola, Fla., with their daughter and family, Ensign and Mrs. Ted Stansbury and three sons. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stansbury of Amarillo, who formerly lived here, were to arrive later in the week for a Christmas holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reynolds and daughter, Cary Susan, of Amarillo, were here for the Christmas week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Sachse of Loco.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson left Christmas Day for a short visit with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Henegar and Karen, of Tyler.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fourmentin and her grandfather, A. G. Cochran, who is in the Smith Rest Home, spent Christmas Day with Mrs. Fourmentin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones, at Wheeler.

Babson Foretells a Better Year in 1962; Retail Trade Due to Reach New Record

Here is Roger Babson's business and financial forecast for 1962 — one of the most optimistic forecasts he has made in recent years. Conditions will continue good, he believes, and he foresees no nuclear war.

Roger Babson

Basic Values Stressed

Babson Continues to Inspire Business Life

American business has no more inspiring personality than Roger W. Babson, internationally known business commentator and investment adviser. An outstanding feature of his philosophy has been his lifelong insistence on the importance of both religion and advertising in business.

Born and reared in an old-fashioned atmosphere of hard work and hustle on a farm in Gloucester, Mr. Babson went to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Upon graduating, he turned instinctively to financial and business activities in which his father was engaged.

His exertions, however, undermined his health; he contracted tuberculosis and he was sent West "as good as dead." It was while he was convalescing from this dread malady that he worked out some of the possibilities and problems of business forecasting.

His weekly releases are used by over 400 newspapers and his financial reports by 20,000 corporations and estates. His research work is carried on by a large staff of experts.

Mr. Babson founded Babson Institute for Men; and, in cooperation with the late Mrs. Babson, developed Webber College for Women—Both nationally-known educational institutions. Here young men and women may concentrate on the fundamentals of honest and efficient business administration.

Later, he founded a Midwest Institute of Business Administration, located in Eureka, Kan., the center of the United States.

He has been active also in the establishment of other mediums of service to the public, such as the Gravity Research Foundation, located at New Boston, N.H.

Mr. Babson has probably done more than any other man to create among his millions of newspaper readers an interest in simple business problems and to instill a broader vision in businessmen, enabling them to meet the ups-and-downs of the business cycle.

1. I am hopeful for 1962. It should be a better year for my readers than 1961. Industrial production will exceed that of 1961.

2. There will be no nuclear war nor total disarmament in 1962. Considerable progress may be made toward a ban on atomic weapons.

3. Some thirty stocks may reach an average of 1000 during 1962, although these will not necessarily be the thirty Dow-Jones stocks.

4. Retail trade will make new records in 1962. Increased newspaper advertising, especially in colors, will be a great boon to merchandising.

5. Commodity prices will act erratic in 1962. Agricultural prices will be held up by legislation, but many metals will sell for less.

6. The official cost-of-living figure will rise slightly in 1962, but there may be a scandal in Washington over how this figure is calculated or adjusted. The real increase in the cost-of-living will be due to increased wages demanded.

7. The only certain shortages during 1962 will be in land suitable for parking places and waterfront property readily accessible to building lots; also for automobile "graveyards" near cities that have been zoned.

8. The building of shelters will look silly before the end of 1962. Certainly the Federal Government will not underwrite the building of private shelters for individual families.

9. Good real estate must rise in price as the population increases. Elementary mathematics determines the price of suburban real estate. This is notwithstanding the claim of the "space companies" which are said to be interested in selling rights on the moon. There probably are crazier speculations.

10. While the land on which your house now stands should increase in value during 1962, the building itself depreciates from the moment when it is first occupied. A possible exception would be certain very attractive ranch houses painted in color.

11. Automobile production will be the most important statistical indicator during 1962. This applies to both the number of automobiles and their sales value. We now have no reliable figures for the latter.

12. We will gradually approach an average of two cars for every family. The life of automobiles should gradually increase. The percentage of automobiles annually destroyed will decrease in 1962.

13. Automobiles and gasoline will be, increasingly, sources for raising money by taxation. These means will be extended to include an additional assessment on the manufacturers of automobiles.

14. Taxes, as a whole, will continue to increase in 1962 for every family. Business net taxes, however, will decrease in 1962, through the granting of depreciation refunds which can be done by Executive order. The manufacturer may greatly increase his deductions for past investments and new machinery, plant, and equipment. Douglas Dillon feels that such tax reductions will increase the purchase of new equipment, develop greater efficiency, and result in a net improvement in the employment situation. This is good news for 1962.

15. Speculation in real estate and securities will be active during 1962; but good children will gradually be recognized as the best investment. Young people will be married earlier and will want to have large families.

16. Public education will gradually be reorganized during the years ahead. Schoolhouses will be built as places to "park the kids" while the parents are at work. New schoolhouses will be built so as not to be over one story high, with lots of sunshine.

17. Owing to the lack of airport facilities and to inadequate equipment, there will be increasing airplane accidents during 1962.

18. With all the above changes, plus increased public improvements and longer vacation periods, families must save somehow and cut somewhere. I think it will begin in 1962 with clothing. This will gradually become cheaper and more attention will be paid to color.

19. The time is approaching when the weaving of cloth will be greatly curtailed. Clothes will be made like paper. Plastic coats are already on the market. These are produced by feeding the cellophane into a machine which cuts to desired sizes and bonds (not sews) the material into beautifully finished goods of different colors.

20. We will hear more about automation during 1962. But the cost of building automatic factories is so great that the change is coming slowly. Even electronics has been overemphasized.

21. There need be no unemployment among steel workers during 1962. But Government unemployment figures will remain high. Foreign competition, due to low wages abroad, will be an important factor. Women will prefer to work in air-conditioned factories and have their home pantries filled with precooked foods.

22. Labor unrest will grow in extent and power. The Kennedy administration is friendly to union leaders and their demands. There will be demands for more "fringes" in 1962. A steel strike is possible.

23. This means that with increased taxes, prices of retail products will be higher. This will be blamed on "inflation" of money, but will be due to inflation of living standards.

24. The real value of the dollar will decline slightly in 1962, due to the decrease in the productivity of labor. The electronics industry will temporarily suffer in 1962 if atomic warfare is outlawed. But otherwise the electronics industry will increase for some years to come and hold up the dollar value. Watch polymer chemicals and "epoxy" cements.

25. There will be enough money for mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration in 1962. Plenty of money will be available for mortgages guaranteed by the Veterans Administration, although this supply varies with different sections of the country. Interest rates on conventional loans not having any government guarantees will be a little higher. Real estate people will worry about the public's desire to build, rather than about their obtaining mortgage money.

26. The kilowatt hours of electricity produced in 1962 will exceed the total for any previous year. This is favorable to utility preferences.

27. Steel production in 1962 will exceed this year's 100 million tons, but the increase will come from producing steel in colors.

28. Cement production will be about the same in 1962 as in 1961, but the industry's capacity to produce is increasing too rapidly in view of the demand. The cement manufacturers must give more attention to colors.

29. Expenditures for plants and equipment in 1962 will increase, supplemented by large appropriations for repainting factories and offices in many colors.

30. Newsprint production depends upon the number of newspapers and the amount of advertising sold. I forecast a decline in the amount of newsprint sold during 1962, but advertising receipts may increase through the better use of colors. This may result in the increased use of coated paper to better take color printing—with a 50% increase in advertising rates.

31. Furniture manufacturers are marking up prices so that young couples will buy furniture in the raw and paint same themselves.

32. There will be some increases in color TV sales in 1962. In fact, I think the present TV market is far from being saturated.

33. First-class postage rates will not be increased during 1962. Hence, more money will be spent on direct mail selling. This should help job printers in 1962, as their present margin of profit is very small. Billboard advertising will increase during 1962, due to a new kind of paint.

34. Lumber will do well to hold its own in 1962 and much of it will be sold colored. Wall-to-wall carpeting will become even more popular, reducing the price of the best hardwood floors.

35. Fewer "scatter rugs" will be sold in 1962. Rug dealers must go to brighter colors, even for "orientals".

36. One of the greatest developments during 1962 will be the increased use of color in homes, offices, stores, and factories. This should increase both the demand for and the price of good paint.

37. Exports will probably increase during 1962, but the surplus of trade in favor of the United States is constantly decreasing.

38. President Kennedy is encouraged by the recent elections in New York, New Jersey and Texas. This Democratic trend will continue during 1962, not withstanding former President Eisenhower's campaign speeches.

39. President Kennedy will be more favorable to "big business" in 1962 ONLY when he is able to use big business to increase employment. Profit margins will not improve during 1962, although most industries will do better in terms of gross and volume.

40. Bond prices will not change much during 1962, except in the case of "non-taxables." European investors are buying American stocks and bonds feeling that their money is safer in the United States industries and real estate. Even the first mortgage bonds of transcontinental railroads are being bought by Europeans. The manufacturers of West Germany are making huge profits through the use of new machinery and low wages. They are sending their money to the United States to be invested. They seem to prefer suburban real estate, shopping centers, and electric utilities. I hope they are not buying into too many "fly-by-night" new electronic companies.

41. Buying of Mutual Funds will continue to exceed selling in 1962. Considering that brokers make much more profit by selling Mutual Funds than by selling shares of individual stocks — and considering the thousands of salesmen selling Mutual Funds — this should help stock prices during 1962. Remember that Mutual Funds operators must go to the New York Stock Exchange to purchase stock to support these Mutual Funds which salesmen are selling in the field.

42. The so-called "service" industries—including education, beauty parlors, travel, entertainment, and government positions—should prosper in 1962.

43. Among the fastest-growing industries in 1962 will be the plastics and glass industries. These materials will gradually take the place of wood, stone, cement, and even some metals—except as these are colored. Plastics and glass will become more important building materials and perhaps be used much more for automobiles.

44. Some unexpected event or discovery will cause the Dow-Jones Industrial Average to sell much higher during the next few years. As an illustration of what one of these unexpected events will be, I mention the polymer developments in chemistry, including "DNA" and "RNA", which may provide the source of life and extend it—yes, perhaps restore it, in special cases.

45. I am bullish on Canada for safe investments during 1962. Canada has a small population of only about 18,000,000, but it is rich in natural resources and has a sound, progressive government. I do not expect a nuclear war to be started by Russia; but if it comes, Canada will be a good place to live and to have your money invested.

46. South and Central America also have great natural resources; but most of their countries are ruled by selfish dictators. I believe most of our southern neighbors will suffer from serious inflation during 1962 and become a great problem for the United States.

47. Although the countries of Europe could be the greatest sufferers in case of World War III, the people I meet in Europe fail to realize this. I forecast that they will look at the situation more realistically during 1962.

48. West Germany is very prosperous; East Germany is in terrible condition. Much unemployment exists in Italy, France, and even Great Britain. I advise against investing money in Europe during 1962.

49. I am uncertain how to advise about Africa. But it is very rich in natural resources—including gold, diamonds, and almost every metal—as well as having the greatest undeveloped waterpower in the world. Barclays Bank I am personally acquainted with and recommend. Both Barclays and the Standard Bank are owned in England and have a great many branches; the latter has over 850 branch offices in Africa. Readers who are interested in keeping in touch with Africa may secure free of charge the Standard Bank Monthly Review by writing the Standard Bank of South Africa, 10 Clement Lane, London, EC 4. The banking of Northern Africa is controlled by the French. I would advise against putting money into Northern Africa during 1962.

50. The final result of 1962—whether it will make us a stronger or a softer nation—spiritually, physically, and mentally—depends upon our parents, teachers, preachers, and newspaper publishers. These, and not Russia, hold the future of the United States in their hands.

"It's uncool, uncouth, to groove your wheels cross this footpath. Like split, Cat, fore the tow truck drags."

In plain English, it is supposed to mean: "No parking on the sidewalk."

IN MEMORIAM

In Memory of Mrs. Nancy E. Jeffcoat (My Mother-in-Law)
Born August 15, 1874; passed Dec. 19, 1961.

I married her oldest daughter Oct. 5, 1913. She was a devout Christian from the first time I knew her. Always doing everything she possibly could for her Church, school, community, neighbors and fraternities to which she belonged that consisted of the following: W O W Circle; M W A; Royal Neighbors; O. E. S., which she held offices in each. Also a Gold Star Mother in World War I, having lost a son in that war; a member of the American Legion Auxiliary, which she gave of her time and sources serving at banquets and the sick. In short she was known at Sayre, Okla. and loved by all who knew her as a wise and good counselor. In her early life she nursed the sick and assisted the Drs. in operations in Clay County, Texas before there was a hospital there. She was a mother to me in my younger days, always assisting me in every way she could. Her advice was good sound and loving as any man's own Mother could possibly be.

I think she was one of the greatest women I ever knew. Her last four years she spent as an invalid; three of them in the Smith Rest Home in Wellington, in which she never complained about anything or to anybody. I loved her as a mother. I could write a book if I had the education and the words to express the things I want to say on paper.

Lovingly,
Her Oldest Son-in-Law,
J. B. (Jim) Clark,
Wellington, Texas.

Emergency

What do you do when you can't wait?

WHEN A CRISIS COMES

... and you need a prescription filled
at midnight

... or your plumbing starts leaking

... or your car won't start

... or you run out of clean shirts or when the cupboard or the baby is bare

DO YOU saddle up and take a day off to get the matter taken care of in the City, or do you write to a catalog house for help?

OF COURSE NOT. Likely you hardly recognize these and similar predicaments as crises.

Because YOU'VE GOT NEIGHBORS, right here at home ... with their skill and their money invested in establishments able to take most of your troubles on their own shoulders so quickly that you scarcely notice they are difficulties at all.

But HOW MANY skilled craftsmen, and good business men, and good neighbors, and good workers in civic and church affairs, and good taxpayers
... how many of these have cut down their stocks, laid off employees, or left the country ... because all you were buying from them was the things you couldn't wait to get somewhere else
... and how many will leave in the future to go where your money is going?

Comanche Scout Committee Sets Up Year's Work

The Comanche District Boy Scout Committee met in the City State Bank in Wellington at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 21. The meeting was under the chairmanship of Lawrence Neece, from Clarendon, the district chairman for 1962.

The meeting was attended by Zook Thomas, Wellington, vice chairman; Jim Moore, Shamrock, vice chairman; Sandy Parsons, Adobe Walls, council executive board member from Wellington; and Hollis Alford, district executive for the Comanche District.

The agenda covered such items as where and when the district committee meetings will be held in 1962. The committee decided to continue the 1961 plan of meeting in the different towns of the district but had to change the meeting dates from the fourth Monday to the third Monday except for January, when the meeting will be held on the fourth Monday.

The committee then took up the subject of selecting a district commissioner, to be recommended to the county executive board for appointment.

Sandy Parsons accepted the nomination and will be duly recommended to the board to be appointed as the Comanche District Commissioner.

Hollis Alford announced his resignation effective Jan. 15, 1962. He is resigning to accept the position as Field Director for the Gulf Coast Council, Boy Scouts of America, and will live in Corpus Christi. He is being replaced by Lewis McCoy, who will serve as Comanche district executive and director of Camp Kiowa.

LETTERS from the People

To the Editor:

Every time I come to Wellington I delight in picking up The Wellington Leader. It is attractive with clean type and has catching head lines. You carry a good deal of local news; the pictures and ads are clear, sharp and attractive. As an outsider who comes to Wellington only now and then, I wonder if the citizens of Wellington are aware of their fine paper.

Amongst other things it seems that the paper is very cooperative about carrying church news. We thank you for the publicity that you recently gave to our high school youth choir that came to sing the cantata "Night of Miracles" at First Baptist, Wellington. Keep up the fine work in your community!

Babson and other forecasters say that retail sales will reach a new peak in the United States in 1962. There is no reason why it should not be the same in the Wellington area for we have had another great year in wheat, cattle, grain sorghum and cotton as well as other lesser products that go to make up our economy. There is going to be plenty of business if you can get it. However, the fine print in these forecasts should be read. This business is not going to be served up on a platter. Competition for the customer's dollar will be keener than ever, the forecasters predict.

Every merchant knows that his main competitor is not necessarily the man next door who handles the same kind of products. Neither is it always the store in another town in the same line of business even if that is an important factor. In many cases it is competition against a product that you do not carry. A woman who buys new furniture is not likely to buy a new stove or refrigerator that month or even that season. A man who adds a new room to his house or even repairs it is not prone to be in the mood to go around looking at new cars. That is where the importance of desire advertising becomes apparent. A considerable portion of every firm's advertising should be directed toward creating a desire for a certain product or service. The same principle applies to the decoration of the store windows and the conversation of the sales clerk. This is the year to sell, sell, sell.

This column is going a bit slow this morning. I have been up since 5 o'clock and now it is 6:30. At this rate I will have four paragraphs written by 8 o'clock when the office opens. Of course I have made coffee, shaved and glanced at the morning paper while trying to get in the mood to compose this weekly offering of fact and fancy.

As usual there was considerable grumbling over some places being closed three days and in some cases four for the holidays. I did not hear as much discussion of the courthouse and city hall being closed four days as I do about the banks not being open on Saturday. Most people have so little business at either of the public places it would suit them about as well for them to be open two days a week as it would if they stayed open seven.

The banks are somewhat different. I hear about them every week. Last Saturday Steve Owens, who is about as vocal on the subject as Sandy Parsons, was really on a tirade. He wanted me to tell him how it happens that the banks in Shamrock, Dodson, Hollis, Childress and Memphis can stay open on Saturday while the ones in Wellington have to close. I told him that I didn't know, but that if I were a director in a bank I would step in and find out. He snorted that he was no director, only a stockholder. I said well if I were a stockholder in any bank I would step in once in a while and give them the benefit of my views.

This Christmas was a most memorable one for my little family, marred only by the fact that Diane and Ansel and their children were so far away. We went to Lake Kickapoo Saturday night and spent all day Sunday and Sunday night with the Frost family. It was so calm the lake looked like a vast sheet of glass. We had a wood fire made of Wichita mesquite and Bexar hickory going night and day. Two tremendous flights of geese flew over the lake early Christmas morning. The amount of food was remarkable. We ate like Eskimos—that is each one got up and ate whenever he or she felt like it. The only meal we shared in common was breakfast Christmas morning.

Christmas morning we drove up to Iowa Park for dinner with the China Smith family. We made a recording of my Mother telling of Christmas in Mississippi when she was a girl. Henry operated the machine and Nancy (Sullivan) Dickens, who has done some radio work conducted the interview. Mother told of the homemade toys and dolls, the goose stuffed with apples and

Navy Announces Broader Program for Recruitment

Commander Donald L. Fuller announced today from Navy recruiting headquarters for the area that the building up of manpower has caused the Navy to take many new steps in their recruiting program.

Effective immediately young men can enlist and be guaranteed a school plus leave beyond the holidays. In addition many new openings in the less critical areas now makes it possible for men who were not qualified in the past to be qualified at the present time.

Many new openings for enlistment with a previous rate being restored is also possible. There are many sweeping changes that cannot be covered in detail, but every Navy recruiter has the information.

HOPEFUL SIGN

AUSTIN.—Texas Commission on Alcoholism reports good results in its six-year old program of rehabilitation for alcoholics in state hospitals, and progress with prison system inmates. But it is still concerned about the estimated 250,000 drinkers in Texas who need treatment.

Commission says 2,334 patients were treated for alcoholism in six state hospitals during 1961.

Improvement after 6 months from date of discharge was reported by about 500 out of 1,600 patients released last year.

In less than 18 months, the number of alcoholics participating in prison rehabilitation programs has grown from 800 to 3,000.

Commission now lists councils on alcoholism in 29 Texas cities, working to educate the public to recognize alcoholism as a disease. Their attempts are aimed at the 250,000 ailing alcoholics and their families—as well as the 4,000,000 Texans who use alcohol.

THE BUDGET

Soon after Jan. 10, 1962, the President of the United States will submit his annual Budget Message to the Congress. This will be the first official Budget Message to be submitted to the Congress by President John F. Kennedy.

The Budget Message for the Fiscal Year 1962 was submitted to the Congress on Jan. 16, 1961 by President Eisenhower, having been prepared by his Bureau of the Budget and other departments of the government. Fiscal Year 1962 began on July 1, 1961 and continues through June 30, 1962.

The total budget request was $80.9 billion. The estimated income or receipts during the period were $82.3 billion. The word "estimated" is used because it is impossible to tell just what actual receipts will be, since these depend upon economic growth and many other factors.

It is not unusual for Presidents to present a budget that reflects that there will be a surplus. For instance, in 1953 the President's Budget Message made this statement: "The President's Budget proposes that the Federal Government spend $1.8 billion less than its estimated revenue in Fiscal Year 1958 . . . The Budget, receipts from taxes and other sources are estimated to be $73.6 billion in the next Fiscal Year. From this income, the 1958 budget provides for expenditures totaling $71.8 billion." When the smoke had all cleared away and actual figures could be found, there was a deficit in the year 1958 of $2,819 million. This was so because the income of the government was not $73.6 billion as estimated, but was only $69.1 billion.

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER Thursday, December 28, 1961

In 1959, the Budget Message indicated that the budget receipts would be $74.4 billion and that expenditures would be $73.9 billion, leaving a surplus of $500 million. However, in September of 1958, the President's office issued another budget message on the 1959 proposals, which was called "The Mid-Year Review" in which it was stated: "A substantial deficit is now in prospect for Fiscal Year 1959." When the smoke had cleared and actual figures were available, the budget expenditures had amounted to $80.7 billion as against the original estimate of $73.9 billion. The income had amounted to $68.3 billion as against the previous estimate of $74.4 billion. Hence instead of a surplus of $500 million, the result was the largest deficit in peacetime history, to-wit: $12.4 billion.

In the year 1953, the budget report indicated an estimate of $71 billion in income. Actual income amounted to $64.8 billion. In 1954, the estimated income was $68.7 billion. The actual income was $64.6 billion. In 1955, the estimated income was $62.7 billion. The actual income was $60.4 billion.

In 1956 it was estimated the income of the government would be $60 billion and that the expenditures would be $62.4 billion, leaving a deficit of $2.4 billion. However, the guess was wrong again, both as to receipts and expenditures. The actual receipts were $68.1 billion, while the expenditures were $66.5 billion.

The unexpected receipts should have resulted in a surplus of some $6 billion, but the overall result was a surplus of only $1.6 billion.

In 1957 it was estimated that the income would be $66 billion, but when the year was over it had amounted to $71 billion, an increase of $5 billion. However, instead of a $5 billion surplus, it was discovered that expenditures had been over-estimated and the taxpayers ended up with only a $1.5 billion surplus instead of the $5 billion.

But, as you will see in the first part of this newsletter, this surplus was completely obliterated in 1958 because of a $2.8 billion deficit.

So it goes; it seems that the Bureau of the Budget, which is part of the President's official office, is not very good at guessing.

The 1962 Budget Message which came to the Congress on January 16, 1961, contained this statement: "Money which has been borrowed by the Treasury and not yet repaid is called the public debt. Most borrowing is from the public, but the Treasury also borrows from the larger trust funds which have authority to invest in Government securities. . . The principal factor which determines the amount by which the public debt increases or decreases from year to year is the budget surplus or deficit."

Hence, from reading above, you will no doubt surmise that the public debt has been increased. In Fiscal Year 1953 the public debt was $266 billion. The debt had a few ups and downs, but in 1960 it had reached a figure of $284.9 billion. The estimates were that it would be reduced in 1961 and 1962, but it would appear from present information that the bad guessers are still at work.
