YOUNG MAN IS MISTAKEN FOR BANK ROBBER

MORRIS BOOLES DIES IN LIPAN BANK LAST NIGHT

WEATHERFORD, Jan. 15.—Morris Booles, 27, was shot and fatally wounded last night in the lobby of the National Bank at Lipan, 25 miles southwest of here. A charge from a shot gun struck him in the chest, and he died almost instantly.

Booles had recently gone to Lipan to take the place of an employee who was ill. Sitting in the bank of reading, because his hotel room was cold, Booles was hailed by the nightwatchman, who did not know him.

Fired Through Door
Arising and walking toward the door, he was struck by the charge of buckshot, fired through the plate glass door. The night watchman then ran to the home of the bank cashier and told him a bank robber had been killed.

The body was brought here to await funeral arrangements. Booles was the son of J. P. Booles, oil field operator in Eastland county for many years. He was formerly bookkeeper in the Citizens National bank here.

CAPTURE OF TRIO IS MADE

WOMAN AND TWO MEN IN JAIL AFTER "WILD WEST" INCIDENTS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 15.—Climaxing a "wild west" career punctuated by a kidnapping and two gun fights, Mrs. Irene Schroeder of Berkeley, W. Va., and two men believed to be Joe F. Wells, Texas convict, and M. Glen Dague, husband of Mrs. Schroeder, were in jail here today.

The trio had been the object of a nation-wide search since the slaying last December of Corporal Brady Paul of the Pennsylvania state highway police and the wounding of Private Ernest Moore, near Newcastle, Pa.

Captured By posse
They were surrounded and captured by a posse in the mountains near Laven, Ariz., after they had barricaded themselves behind rocks and fired upon the searchers. No one was hurt in the battle, and the beleaguered fugitives surrendered when a horseman, upon whom first

The child said older youths had aided in obtaining the goods. Police didn't know just what

CONSULATE AT LAREDO TO BE OPENED AGAIN

TROUBLE ON BORDER IS ENDED WITH ACTION; OPENS FRIDAY

(By Associated Press)
LAREDO, Jan. 15.—Officials of the Mexican consulate, closed since December 12, were expected to return here today from San Antonio to prepare for reopening the consulate Friday. Business men were making preparations for resumption of international trade, virtually at a standstill since the threats of District Attorney John A. Valls to arrest former President Plutarco Elias Calles of Mexico on a charge of conspiracy to murder led to the closing of the consulate.

Enrique Santibanez, Mexican consul general in San Antonio yesterday announced the ministry of foreign relations of Mexico had instructed him to reopen the consulate with Consul Rafael de la Colina in charge. This action was taken, the consul general said, when the state department of Washington assured Mexican residents and travelers in Webb county and its county seat, Laredo, would "enjoy the guarantees granted to them by law."

Valls Threatened Calles
When Calles was in the United States recently, Valls declared he would have the former president arrested, should he come through Laredo, for conspiracy in the slaying.

(By Associated Press)
CENTRALIA, Ill., Jan. 15.—Southern Illinois streams continued to swell today, augmenting the havoc caused by recent rains, sleet and snow. The Kaskaskia river was two miles wide in places and reported at its highest stage in 20 years. More than 60,000 acres of fertile farm land in the Kaskaskia river bottoms north of Vandalia were inundated.

WORST FLOOD SINCE 1913 IS EXPERIENCED

CLEVELAND, Jan. 15 (AP)—Ohio's rivers and streams, swollen by excessive January rains, today continued to threaten several communities and in some places constituted the worst flood since 1913. Sections of 30 state highways were under water. Ottawa was in the most serious predicament. Nearly 300 families were marooned in their homes by waters of the Blanchard river.

SAND BAGS BEING SENT TO REGIONS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 15 (AP)—Engineers labored feverishly along five rivers in Arkansas today reinforcing levees which have been weakened by floods in the lower Mississippi valley. Thousands of sand bags have been shipped by government inspectors to levee crews along the St. Francis, White, Black, Ouachita and Cache rivers. Virtually all unprotected lands are under water, and many families have been forced to quit their homes.

DE TROP IS ORDER FOR SHORT SKIRT

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—The short skirt is strictly de trop in the spring wardrobe, judging from models exhibited before the Garment Retailers of America.

The creations of 43 leading fashion arbiters paraded before representatives of the trade in the annual spring promenade last night displayed skirted evening gowns and frocks for afternoon, street and sport wear with hem lines from four to six inches below the knee.

The consensus was that a certain latitude of personal preference was permitted in the skirt length rather than any hard and fast ruling, but no models shown had knee-length skirts. The natural waistline and the molded silhouette were features of the dresses for all occasions. Spring colors featured prints and plain colored fabrics, lively but not riotous.

The governor said he had been advised from many parts of Texas that a fund was being collected to be used in opposing passage of an income tax.

"To inquiries made of me I have replied that I do not intend to submit the subject of an income tax to the legislature, and that hence they need not contribute to the 'slush fund,'" Governor Moody said.

Rep. T. N. Maurits of Guadalupe, author of a bill levying an income tax during the legislature last winter and fall, announced he would be a candidate for governor with the income tax his main platform plank after his measure had been killed in committee.

Intimate Chats with Eve Ve Verka on PERSONALITY-BEAUTY-HEALTH

When is a pretty girl not a pretty girl?

No, Smart Alexander, the answer is not "Before Breakfast." That may be alas too often true, but this is another riddle with another answer.

And the answer to my riddle is, "When she tries too hard."

Think about that. And if you see Ermintrude, tell her to think about it, too.

Poor dear Ermintrude. Ermintrude is beautiful. And the tragedy of Ermintrude is not that she is a tramp, but that she is too much of a very famous writer.

She was securely established, had traveled broadly, acquired considerable wealth, and a not inconsiderable reputation for her artistic intuitions.

With omnipresent feminine interest, I mingled my delight at making her acquaintance with curiosity about her appearance, her clothes, her studio. Certainly her studio must be a veritable storehouse of glory stripped from her years of travel and a fat exchequer.

A huge room it was, with gray domed ceilings, square continental sofas upholstered in black were about, and enough chairs to make the place inviting. A niche for books, a table or two. All unobtrusive, colorless.

But against one wall stood a Grecian urn of that period when color was added to sculpture. The urn was blue. It was the only ornamentation as such, in the room.

The urn was a Pandora's box of all the loveliness the soul could seek. Its blue brought the sea and the sky into the room, and the dreams of violet and loved remembered eyes. Its symmetry, its gentle grace, was food for hearts hungry for beauty.

Now, the point is that one saw the urn. One was aware of its divine loveliness the moment the room was entered. One was overwhelmed with its perfection with an almost electric intensity.

None of its beauty was lost, because our hostess did not try to show us a hundred beauties during the glimpse we should have of her studio. A studied effect perhaps but what an effect!

Now to get back to Ermintrude. Ermintrude would never have been content with the cerulean urn. She would have packed into that room all the "beauty that was Greece," and the grandeur that was Rome, not to mention everything available from silken Samarkand and far Cathay and Fifth Avenue and China town, and the Mojave Desert.

Ermintrude owns a pair of beautifully tooled bracelets from Venice. She always wears them, whatever her gown, one of them on the same wrist as her wristwatch. One of her prized possessions is a handsome antique locket, suspended on a large carved-link chain. Last year, a friend brought her a rose quartz choker from England. Ermintrude gallantly wears them both. With the result, of course, that you don't see either in the clutter. She always wears all her rings.

This principle of irreducible simplicity is almost a cult with me. I frankly admit that it amounts almost to personal idiosyncrasy. I am very addicted to earrings, for example. But I never wear them with a hat. Neither do I wear earrings when I wear decoration about the throat. If a necklace or pearls, even the tiniest, then no earrings. Nor do I wear earrings when my hair is waved. I never wear but one ring on a hand. And never a ring and bracelet on the same hand.

Intermediates Are Guests For Social

So successful was the "cub" party, emphasizing the newspaper theme, given two weeks ago for the young people of the First Presbyterian church, that the same idea was used by the Intermediate Christian Endeavor of the same church Tuesday evening in the home of J. Mason Moxley, 1809 11th street, which was made unusually attractive through decorations of colorful pot plants.

The social was presided by a business meeting, during which the president, Stanley Gunn, presided. Reports were made by the following members: Julia Blackwell, music committee; R. C. Douglas, social committee; Ruth Elaine Lewis, information committee. Stanley Gunn gave the treasurer's report in the absence of Helen Wagner, and Miss Virginia McLean reported in the absence of John D. Cooper, chairman of the program committee.

R. C. Douglas was in charge of the games for the party, which included "headlines," "news," "editorials," "sports," "fashion news," and "beauty column," and was assisted in directing them by Miss Virginia McLean, young people's director of the church.

Large chocolate doughnuts filled with fruit salad and topped with whipped cream were served with hot punch at the close of the evening.

Those attending the party were Ruth Lewis, Carol Amacker, Julia Blackwell, Mary Wilson, Audrey Overstreet, Harry Blocker, Jr., Stanley Gunn, J. Mason Moxley, Bobbie Clements, R. C. Douglas, Alfred Arnold, Clarence and Albert Strick, Baxter Birdwell, and Guion Greer.

WOMAN IS CHARGED WITH POISONING EIGHTEEN CHILDREN IN SUMMER CAMP

(By Associated Press)

HACKENSACK, N. J., Jan. 15. — Mrs. Pearl Topper, arrested in New York City last night on a warrant issued in Bergen county, was indicted by the grand jury January 7. She was charged with having poisoned 18 children at a summer camp in revenge after she was discharged as cook.

Mrs. Topper was discharged August 19 by Miss Helen Simmons, manager of a camp conducted at Montvale by the Mary Hillard society for tenement children of New York City.

Prosecutor A. C. Hart said Miss Simmons charged the woman returned the next morning and poured large quantities of poison over the breakfast cereal.

Dr. Samuel Alexander ordered nine children to New York hospitals and treated the others at the camp. He said the poison had no fatal effects because the unusually large dose acted as an antidote.

A smaller quantity, he said, probably would have proved fatal.

London street car receipts from April 1 to December 4 totaled $14,866.15, an increase of $119,723 over the same period of last year.

Waco To Intervene For New Railroad

WACO, Jan. 15 (AP)—Waco Chamber of Commerce will ask permission of the Interstate Commerce Commission to intervene in behalf of construction of a railroad line between Cross Plains and Abilene, President R. J. Potts announced Tuesday.

Announcement of Texas capitalists and Abilene citizens that application for permission to build the road had been filed brought statements of opposition from North Texas railroads because the new line would give advantages to Northwest and West Texas of a short line outlet to Waco and other points, according to W. V. Crawford, general manager of the Waco Chamber of Commerce.

L. M. Sheppardson, traffic and transportation manager of the local organization will represent Waco at a conference in Abilene January 27, relative to the proposed line.

TECH QUINTET LOOMS AS WINNING COMBINATION

IN THE REALM OF SPORTS
WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Journal Sports Editor

After a final appeal from Breckenridge authorities, it now appears certain that the state high school football title for 1929 will be shared jointly by both Port Arthur and Breckenridge. The contention of the Breckenridge that they should be recognized champions because of their superiority in penetrations in the final game played at Waco, was not upheld by the state committee. Interscholastic League rulings say nothing about awarding tie decisions on first downs and 20-yard penetrations in the championship game, but district, bi-district and semi-final games may be settled in this way.

The mere fact that it was impossible for the state committee to name a title holder in the case where the Breckenridge were so evidently the stronger club means that some new ruling should be made to handle a situation of this nature. Those who watched both Breckenridge and Port Arthur in action last season agree that the West Texans eleven could whip the Yellow Jackets almost every day in the week consistently, but the impossible weather conditions at Waco on the day of the championship battle held back the Old Belt scoring machine and as a result we have no state title.

But this is another year and plans are under way for another football campaign. Neither Breckenridge or Port Arthur are likely to be in the running for the 1930 championship. We are not saying that Lubbock will be among the select few when the finalists thunder down the home stretch next fall, but you can rest assured that the Westerners will have a fighting well club that will be dangerous up until the end.

Personally, we're looking forward to Friday night when the annual high school football banquet is held. If you are the type that gets a wallop out of a real demonstration of team and school spirit, buy a ticket to the Westerners' feed and get an earful of pent-up enthusiasm at its best. Henry Frnka will introduce all the letter men for the past grid season, and Chas. A. Guy, the Plainsman himself, will serve as toastmaster and delight his hearers with his classic reports of wisecracks. He has promised that he will relate his old favorite about the traveling salesman who stopped at the farm house to spend the night. And if you're there, you might persuade the Prize of Tulsa to inform you personally why "Ze age of chivalry in France is not passed, etc."

It will be up to the football fans of the city to put over the banquet as it should be put over and the more the merrier. Lubbock High had a great football team last season and a pair of good coaches. A good turnout for this occasion will be no more than a gesture on the part of Lubbockites that the Westerners and their commanders deserve. Buy a ticket for yourself and another one for a high school football player.

At the close of the 1929 season it was our good fortune to attend the Westerners' banquet and to say it was most enjoyable is putting it too mildly. It was a well-known gentleman of the city, who has lived through several more winters than the writer, declared during the course of the evening that he had heard and taken ten years off his life. We might have felt the same way but just at that time couldn't afford to look that many years and continue to hold down the present job. Another year has passed and we feel somewhat older. For this reason we intend to take the chance of letting the pendulum of time swing backward just as far as it will be going to the field. And being a Methodist who likes his chicken and turkey, the generator of this daily paper wouldn't miss it for anything.

What is likely to turn out to be the death knell of the West Texas league was sounded at Houston the other day when Texas League moguls started plans for sponsoring a six-team Class D circuit in East and Central Texas. Official announcement of the league's death has not been made, but action on the proposed new circuit is pending the approval of Commissioner K. M. Landis, the czar of baseball. On the face of it all, there appears little hope for the continuance of the West Texas loop this year.

President Dave Snodgrass and other West Texas League officials met with the Texas League owners, asking that the Gardner loop take over the West Texas organization as a baseball farm. Snodgrass and his associates informed the Texas League owners that unless some financial aid came from the A. circuit, the Old Belt loop would not be able to make the grade. It has developed that only three clubs in the West Texas league are strong enough to carry on. These are Beltinger, Coleman, and San Angelo. Midland, Big Spring and Abilene have already struck the financial rock bottom. Although Lubbock fans expressed in no uncertain terms last year that Class B baseball was not desirable here, it is with considerable interest that we note the passing of the West Texas league.

TECH TO PLAY SCHOOL GRID

INTRAMURAL GAMES TO BE PLAYED DURING NEAR FUTURE

Actual training for the annual battle between the three major teams of Texas Tech for the intramural football supremacy will start next week as the weather permits it was announced last night by E. V. Freeland, director of athletics.

Members of the college coaching staff will instruct the three squads and each will be furnished a student assistant. The members are Coach H. H. Hunsicker, Assistant Coach Victor Payne, Lateral Arts, Rhodes, Ingerton, Engineers.

The series of games is due to start some time before the middle of February and three weeks of training will precede the contests. Last year the Liberal Arts eleven coached by Sidney Knowles, Matador tackle, won two games and gained a tie decision in the other to win the title. It was the first time in the history of the school that a team other than the Engineers captured the intramural championship.

BANQUET TICKETS NEARLY ALL SOLD

Practically all available tickets for the annual football banquet for the Lubbock Westerners Friday evening have been sold. It was announced by M. H. Duncan, superintendent of schools, here this morning.

"Plans for the affair have been limited to 100 and only a few remain to be sold."

"We are more than pleased with the way Lubbock fans grabbed up the tickets yesterday when they were put on sale, and feel sure that several hundred would attend if adequate facilities were available," said the local school head.

JACKET CREW ARE DEFEATED IN TWO TILTS

MATADOR PLAYERS ARE IMPRESSIVE IN FIRST GAMES

A rosy hue tints the basketball horizon for Texas Tech today as a result of the fourth consecutive court triumph for the Matador combination at the college gymnasium last night when the Yellow Jackets from Howard Payne college suffered their second decisive defeat in as many nights at the hands of the Crimson-clad basketball shooters.

Despite the fact that the Matadors performance in turning back the Brownwood crew last night, 40 to 18, was ragged throughout, the scoring machine exhibited by the locals in ringing up their four straight triumphs in indicative that the pupils of Victor Payne are headed for one of the most successful court seasons in the history of the institution.

Lead Is Maintained

Except for the first few minutes of play when the Jackets enjoyed a scant lead, the Tech dribblers led the visitors by a comfortable margin. Once the locals gained the lead, their margin continued to increase and at the half, the score stood 21 to 8. Clarence Hodges scored the way for the Matadors in their first half scoring assault and was ably assisted by Maxwell and Fletcher.

Both clubs speeded up considerably in the final period, but the Yellow Jackets were powerless to stage a comeback. It was Bill Maxwell that forged to the front of the scoring lights during this half, striking his favorite rebound shots consistently. Five baskets in the last 20 minutes enabled the flashy Tech center to nose out Hodges for high scoring honors. Maxwell was first with 14 points and Hodges came next with 12.

Simmons Here Thursday.

One night's practice remains for the Tech cagers before they face the strong Simmons university quintet at the college gymnasium here Thursday night. The Cowhounds came to Lubbock following single engagements with the Wayland Jackabids and West Texas State Teachers of Canyon. Last year's clash between the two rivals resulted in a decisive triumph for the Abilene aggregation.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—Bob Grove of the Philadelphia Athletics southpaw was acclaimed the leading pitcher of the American League in 1929, but old Tom Zachary, rounding out 10 years of major league service, was the mathematical champion, according to official figures.

Zachary, working for the New York Yankees, after terms with Washington and St. Louis, won an even dozen victories and was undefeated during the campaign. His earned run average, 2.47 per nine innings, also was best.

Grove works in 27 1/2 innings, while Grove pitched 27 1/2, winning 20 and losing but six games. His earned run average was 2.32, second only to Zachary. Grove also was the strikeout champion with 170, giving him the title for a second year. Eddie Rommel, another Philadelphia hurler, won 12 games and lost two, being employed mostly as a relief hurler.

Other leaders were: Fred Marberry, Washington, 19 won, 12 lost, earned run average 3.06; Alphonse Thomas, Chicago, 14 won, 14 lost, earned run average 3.19; George Earnshaw, Philadelphia, 24 won, 9 lost, earned run average 3.28; Willie Huddin, Cleveland, 17 won, 15 lost, earned run average 3.34; J. Walter Miller, Cleveland, 14 won, 12 lost, earned run average 3.56; George Walberg, Philadelphia, 18 won, 11 lost, earned run average 3.59; Wesley Ferrell, Cleveland, 21 won, 10 lost, earned run average 3.59.

Sam Gray Leads

Sam Gray of St. Louis put in the greatest number of innings, 205, and completed 23 of his 43 games. Thomas of Chicago pitched 23 full games out of 36.

American League pitchers did not turn in a single no-hit game, but Urban Faber of Chicago, Walberg of Philadelphia, and Edwin Wells and George Pipgras of the Yankees each pitched a one-hit contest.

Zachary's 12 straight was the best run while Charlie Buffing of Boston, made the same record in reverse, losing 12 in a row.

RALLS CAGERS WIN OVER WILSON FIVE

RAILS JAN 15 — Breering along with little effort, the Ralls Jackabids turned back the Wilson High quintet for the second successive night Tuesday, 28 to 13.

The visitors held the Rabbits fairly well in check during the first period, but in the last half the local broke loose and forged far into the lead. King Ralls center, was the offensive star of the game with 10 points. T. Z. and "Flashy" Walker, both with six points were tied for second honors at the end of the game.

Indications point to a record-breaking turnout here on Friday and Saturday nights of this week when the Athens Hornets invade the local auditorium to pay their annual visit.

SHUTE WINS FIRST PRIZE IN TOURNEY

YOUNGSTER FACES BAD WEATHER TO TRIUMPH IN BIG MONEY

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

RIEVEA COUNTRY CLUB, LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15. (AP)—Over the same flooded fairways and rain soaked greens that proved a golfer's grave yard for America's greatest, there tramped yesterday a little known disciple of the royal and ancient game to win the championship of the $10,000 Los Angeles 72 hole open.

Young Denny Shute, from Columbus, Ohio, whose brief two year career as a professional hardly ratted him the honor of a gallery hunched his shoulders into the wind and braved the torrential rains to post the respectable and winning score of 286. It exceeded by four strokes the efforts of such notables as Horton Smith, Joplin, Mo. star, and Bobby Cruikshank, of New York, winner of the Los Angeles open in 1927. They tied for second place with 300.

The Stars Hopes Fade

Smith and Cruikshank started first round three strokes behind Shute. Cruikshank saw his hopes shattered on the morning nine—Smith's chances faded away on the incoming stretch when on three holes he went over par figures.

Not brilliant golf but rather a steady game that clung close to Rivera's par 71 figures brought Shute laurels in the fifth open championship here, one of the biggest money events of the winter season.

For four rounds the mid-westerner posted scores of 73-74-75 and 74 and for his efforts Shute pocketed last night $3,500, the winner's share.

Came Unheralded

Thus unheralded and unnoticed the 25 year old Oshkosh came to the Pacific coast for the first time in a golfing role to club his way to top honors over a field that numbered all the stars of the game.

His only cause for matching strokes with the "Big Time" players was that he tied for fifth place in the national open, took third place in the same event a year later and also held the professional and open titles of his native state.

Shute's victory was a remarkable feat, for he was never a contender as it was decisive. To top the field he conquered most adverse weather conditions, three of the four days and maintained his same unflinching pace during the one round that was not played in rain.

West Into Lead

His 73 on the opening day put him in a tie for third place along with Horton Smith and Leo Diegel, Aqua Caliente, pro. Adding a 74 in the second round he went into a two-stroke lead over Smith. From that time on he was never in danger of being overtaken.

MacDonald Smith of Long Island, N. Y., winner of the title for the last two years and one of the pre-tournament favorites, was unable to meet the climatic test and tied with Chas. Herr, Bakersfield, Calif. for eighth place.

EARL SANDE RETURNS TO SADDLE: TO RIDE IN COMING MIAMI RACING MEET

BY ORLO L. ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—Earl Sande, the familiar cry that once swept over the American turf and again will ring forth as the all-time idol of the racing fans goes back to his first love.

For Earl Sande will return to the saddle at the coming meeting of the Miami Jockey Club at Hialeah Park in an effort to achieve his greatest ambition to ride 1,000 winners.

Has Good Record

When Sande hung up his spurs two years ago after 11 seasons in the "big time," his record on the Jockey Club books showed he had accepted 3,532 mounts and piloted 942 winners. His mounts amassed the record total of 22,612,235 in prize money.

Pleased to desert the saddle because of difficulty in making the light riding weights, the former star of the Rancocas stable turned to owner and trainer.

But luck was against him. Nasak, a $25,000 colt, split a hoof in the legs of the Southern Maryland jockey and never raced again. Other mishaps were disappointments to Sande, who sold his little stable last fall and retired from the ranks of owner and trainer, a saddler and wheel man.

Two years hence, one of the saddle did convince Sande that he could still pull the reins. After giving up the riding game and eating anything he wanted he found he ceased to put on pounds. At the close of the past season, he weighed less than when he was endeavoring to reduce the year before.

For more than a decade Sande ruled supreme among the jockeys of the country. During that period he was up on a winner of practically every stake in America. It was with the late Sam Hildreth of the Rancocas stable, however, that Sande achieved his greatest success.

How he rode his in that memorable international race against the English derby winner, Dromedary, a matter of record as it is his last performance on the turf. A three-year-old swept through the career to a new world money winning mark.

Flying The Airmail

The city of St. Louis began a campaign the other day to erect a monument to Colonel Lindbergh; but when Lindbergh was consulted on the matter he said that instead of being honored for his flight across the Atlantic, he would much rather be remembered as "a boy who flew the airmail."

Lindbergh's lone flight across the ocean was one of the supremely spectacular feats in all history. It was the perfect incarnation of the wild dream of the small boy. This generation at least never saw anything remotely like it.

Yet he looks on his service as an small pilot in a thing much more north of controversy. He said that the flight was not a feat of man but rather a feat of the machine.
The airmail pilots don't get a great deal of public attention. Once in a great while one of them gets tangled in a fog and ends up in a ditch, and in his death makes the front page of the paper. But the part of the airmail pilots who go forth on their routes without any trouble to announce them.

But airmail pilots generally seem to recognize the service as the arrangements of flying. Lindbergh himself, who really knows what constitutes real achievement in the air, seems to be a member of his airmail crew. He is a pilot who flies across the ocean.

When he looks it over, perhaps you'll agree with him.
There is nothing of the "stunt" about the airmail. It is a sober, unspectacular business, and the men who pilot the planes are unemotional professionals pursuing their usual routine. They are not flying for the sake of flying, and they are not flying for the sake of making a name for themselves. They are flying for the sake of the airmail.

Lindbergh's choice isn't hard to understand. The flight to Paris was a magnificent venture—but a job in the airmail carries just a little more reason for honest pride.

The Die-Hards

A gloomy discord begins to creep into the optimistic mood of rejoicing about the pending London naval armament conference.
Premier MacDonald will attend the conference ready to make real sacrifices in order to end naval competition. But the British Tories, it is said, are making ready to appeal to the British public's traditional feeling for its navy and thus defeat parliamentary ratification of any agreement that MacDonald may reach. Providing it does not clearly leave the British navy in a stronger position than any other.

That is bad news; yet the same thing is going on in this country.
The die-hards, who refuse to admit that the world has gone forward since Trafalgar, it does not clearly leave the British navy in a stronger
position than any other.

It is up to the friends of peace—who, believe, are in the majority in each country—to make their voices heard, and insist that something more than an empty gesture come out of the London meeting.

Two million $200,000,000 were made in the United States in the last year.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says:
That Girl on Broadway says most wives would rather mend their husband's habits than mend their socks.

The Plainsman is a great movie fan, as has been noted here upon numerous occasions.
While back we remember—at length on the talkies—expressing a wish that some-up-and-coming movie producer would cast a picture with folks who talk like we do below the Mason-Dixon line. We mentioned that the Yankee brogue—New Yorkese, or whatever it is they use in the noisies—was hard to understand and then, to and behold, we went to a show and found one of the actresses couldn't even speak New Yorkese!

This gal Bacanova is the one to whom we refer. She hasn't got the one name (pronounced it like you want to for nobody'll know whether you're right or not) "Bacanova." Her daddy must have sent her out in the world to make a name for herself and she hasn't gotten around to making all of it yet. Anyway, the things she doesn't know about speaking English are no-body's business and we've heard Mexican section hands who could make her plumb ashamed of herself.

She's a pretty good actress, has beautiful "eyes," if you know what we mean, and plays and sings nicely. But Mr. B.
F. Schulberg—or whatever Irish gentleman is releasing the pictures—ought to make her learn to "speak dat English" before putting her any more jobs.

Speaking further about the movies, The Plainsman is sold upon their educational advantages. This writer rarely sees a show of any kind that he doesn't learn something or other from and the folks who don't think the flickers pack a punch that way just aren't keeping their eyes open.

In one of the news reels the other night was shown a new kind of apparatus which washes Pullman cars and does the work of 18 men. It never dawned upon The Plainsman that the invention of the Pullman car wash was much less than the fact that there is a big washing machine which can do the work of a dozen and a third man. Those of you who have worn a palm beach suit on a Pullman car wash will probably find the invention a no good, but it's interesting to know about it just the same.

Maybe it's because he's a newspaper man but The Plainsman gets a big kick out of the news reels. Incidentally there is a movie palace in New York which shows nothing but news reels, charging regular prices and displaying programs which take the same amount of time as the ordinary theatre program. The movie palace indicates that the show is "turning them away and that the new idea has clicked with a bang.

The showings are very much like a newspaper's headlines, taking the place of subtitles.
"Extras" are slipped in as soon as they are made and local pictures are given the preference.
The Plainsman hasn't seen a report of the enterprise recently but when he does, he will be telling the "GRO" sign hung on the theatre's front so often that it was monotonous.

Lubbock, of course, is too small for such a theatre to prosper but The Plainsman is sure going to take in one of those shows the first chance he gets.

That man on Avenue Q says two things never make a right but two wrong often make a riot.

Every time The Plainsman hears or reads some long discourse entitled "What's Wrong With This Country" it gives him the leas and jerks. A lot of long-haired people who can't see anything good in anything at all—and a lot of others who aren't so long-haired but who nevertheless delight in singing the blues for public consumption—ought to be ashamed of themselves and the rest of us ought to put the quietus on them.

Maybe we are having a lot of trouble with prohibition, taxes and foreign relations. Maybe it's practically impossible to find a parking place downtown and maybe there is considerable unemployment abroad in the land. Perhaps the farmers haven't been given a square deal, the courts have gone to pot and the crime toll is much too vast—but even at that most of us are eating three square meals a day, have plenty of warm clothes to wear and enjoy sleeping indoors. Things could be considerably worse even if the South Plains didn't get a rain until August!

All this outburst can be traced to a dispatch carried in yesterday's papers and telling of the famine conditions in China. In the province of Shensi, the As-forces has not been chosen and it is too easily to get a line on the sen-it ought to be a good scrap.

In New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—The most theatrical figure produced by New York's crookdom in many a season is becoming known as "Ghetto Kate."

She is, seemingly, a consummate actress, with a capacity for impersonating East Side types. It may be, of course, that she is actually a product of the tenements.

At any rate, her debut marked the reappearance, for the first time in many a year, of the old-fashioned "dip," or pickpocket—a form of crookery which had been thought out of vogue. She works with a "gang" and the crowded holiday season inaugurated their appearance.

They worked the crowded "shuttles" which operate between the East Side and Times Square. The victims have described her as a bent and tired-looking woman, wearing an old-fashioned shawl over her head. She had all the earmarks of a tenement dweller planning to some swindle. Her face had a foreign cast. As it developed, the shawl was merely a device to aid in the filching.

The method of operation never varied. Three or four members of the band would wait until the doors of a subway train were about to close. Then they would make a sudden rush, pummeling everyone who stood in their path. During the resulting pushing and shoving, they would extract wallets from hip pockets. These would be quickly transferred to the "girl with the shawl" who would hide the loot carefully under this protection.
Hastily extracting the money and dropping the shawl upon the floor.

This is the oldest method of operating among pickpockets. They never allow themselves to be caught with the goods if it can be prevented. That is, they quickly frisk purses and wallets of their contents and toss them to the ground. Thus if any individual started the evidence will be missing. And ready cash cannot be absolutely identified unless marked.

At any rate, the very uneventful looking ghetto lady of the shawl attended the grabbing of the shawl and the dropping of the wallet.

Hoboken, with its beer and famous melodrama, has come up in several days. When the first act of the melodrama was over, Bismarck rolled around, the theatrical experiment of the Messrs.
Morley, Throckmorton and Gribble had lost most of its lure for the "audience." Two theatrical efforts had completely flopped, with a considerable loss and one of the two stars which had been leased was dark. Furthermore, from here and there came whisperings that some of the her had been introduced to the "needle" with unpleasant after-effects.

The first production, "After Dark," which created so much woop-de-do, had finally succumbed after a long run and Christopher Morley, the swastika-friend novelist-producer was found leaving details to rumors that he wasn't paying theater rent.

At the moment an old Civil War drama, "The Blue and the Gray," has been brought forth from the not far and a being tried out.
But the Manhattan novelty seekers as many have had reason to learn, soon begin to yawn and cry for something different.

The Yorkville vogue, with its Alpine lodge, its leather breeches, its stethoscopes and "Blue Danube" has long since been abandoned by the regulars. It was good for a winter.

It's an old rule in this town that those who ride on the crest of passion waves would do well to "lean up" while the going is good and then prepare for slow death.

ried Miss Gladys, daughter of Mr.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

FERMENTATION IN INTESTINAL TRACT IS CAUSE OF GAS SAYS DR. PETERS

"DEAR DOCTOR: I have been on your diet for reducing, and I want to tell you it is all you claim.
I weighed 248
pounds when I started seven months ago, and now I weigh 182
—a loss of 66
pounds. Am not trying to reduce to rapidly now. I have a lot of trouble with gas.
Please tell me
what to do for it.
Do you think I should reduce any more for a while? I am 5 feet 5 inches tall. How much weight should I lose?"
MRS. H.

Gas means fermentation in the intestinal tract, and it may be caused by several things. Mrs. H. it can come from fermentation of excess carbohydrates, starches and sugars in the diet, or the fermentation of excess protein—especially flesh foods and eggs—with putrefaction, or perhaps an imperfect mastication of these foods. Another cause is some derangement of the intestinal tract so that proper digestion doesn't go on. The derangement of the tract needn't necessarily be in the intestines proper or stomach. It may be a chronically inflamed appendix or gall bladder for instance.

You reduced a lot. Did you follow the foundation diet carefully? Usually, on the proper reduction diet, all troubles from gas disappear as well as many other troubles. It is not likely for you to go on a diet of day or two of liquids to clear out the tract—say alternate with fruit juices and milk. If you are constipated you should take measures to overcome that. If it is the ordinary kind of constipation, perhaps you need more bulk, such as the addition of bran or agar, or perhaps you need a laxative with mucous coats, you will need less bulk and your fruits and vegetables should be purged for a while. Our article on Constipation covers the diet in both cases.

For those who are interested, I have an article on Tuberculosis. Because of its importance.

CHANGE FROM PROHIBITION TO TEMPERANCE PREDICTED

BY HARRY BARNETT R. BRICKNER

Of the Euclid Avenue Temple, Cleveland, O.

Barrett R. Brickner was born in New York City in 1892. He is graduate of Columbia University, the University of Cincinnati, and Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati. In 1925 he came to Cleveland rabbi of the Euclid Avenue Temple, from Toronto, Canada.

There will be a tremendous increase in world-wide spirituality with the opening of the new decade.
The world has long had splendid ideals but now men are acquiring the moral courage to put these ideals to work.

The evidences for an increase in spiritual outlook are to be found in the tendency which is manifesting itself to outlaw war and the better understanding between religious bodies as is evidenced in the church union movement of the Protestant groups, and the goodwill movement between Jews and Christians and also in the tendency to reject social responsibilities of the unfortunate who fall in the battle of life.

President Hoover's position on prohibition and law enforcement rests on the theory that all laws are equal in majesty and power and in their claims upon the obedience of the citizen.

It has yet to be established that disrespect for one law causes necessarily disrespect for all laws, as has

SLATON HOLDS C-C. BANQUET

"HOME AFFAIR" GIVEN LAST NIGHT; WORK OF YEAR REVIEWED

(Special To The Journal)

SLATON, Jan. 15.—Slaton had an "at home" evening here last night when 150 persons assembled in the local club house to hear the chamber of commerce review accomplishments of the past year and outline a new program of work for this year.

John Rayburn, Slaton high school student, spoke on "My Home Town," giving the address he gave last October at the annual meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Lillian Butler, accompanied at the piano by Miss Jeannette Ramsey, sang a solo, instrumental and vocal numbers were rendered by B. E. Clark and Coke Oliver.

L. A. Wilson, secretary of the chamber, made a short address in which he made reference to the annual report.

In the report, the completion of Mercy hospital, a $200,000 institution which was opened on Dec. 1, and the adoption of a special city charter, which occurred last March, were mentioned as major civic accomplishments.

Agricultural work, highway development, industrial work, activity in public relations affairs, and other matters of importance were enumerated.

A record of continuous and rapid growth of Slaton was pointed to in being shown that for the past eight years the city's building permits have averaged more than $300,000 per year.

Agricultural resources and industrial payrolls were described as the "double foundation" on which the city is building, and which have made possible the city's advancement from nothing in 1911 to a population of over 6,000 in 1930.

Enthusiasm ran high when a roundtable discussion was held on various Slaton problems, opportunities, ideals, prospects and plans for 1930.

Fifteen men were nominated by the members, from whom five will be chosen later to succeed five members of the board of directors whose terms expire in April. The five outgoing members are: A. J. Payne, J. W. Hood, O. Z. Ball, R. P. Burks,
