Food Prices Feeding Inflation

By MICHAEL DOAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)- Wholesale prices rose 0.7 percent in November as the cost of food continued to climb at a rapid rate, the Labor Department said today.

The wholesale price increase was smaller than the 0.8 per cent gain in October, but it was still enough to contribute substantially to inflation.

Farm products rose 3 percent in cost for the month after a 2.4 percent rise in October and five months of declines before that.

The prices of industrial commodities rose 0.4 percent, compared with a 0.6 percent increase the month before, indicating that food prices have been the main cause of the two-month jump in wholesale prices.

Prices paid to wholesalers usually show up later at retail stores and are considered an early warning of inflation trends. Most of the food price increases had not been reflected at supermarkets in the latest consumer price report for October.

Wholesale price increases usually take a few months to show up in the Consumer Price Index, which measures the nation's inflation rate. That index went up a moderate 0.3 percent in each of the last three months.

The Labor Department said the price of finished goods, which may be a more accurate indicator than the Wholesale Price Index, rose 0.4 percent, half the 0.8 percent increase the month before. This index does not duplicate price changes as they move through all stages of processing.

Finished consumer foods rose 0.6 percent, the second consecutive monthly increase after four months of decreases. Prices were higher for beef and veal, fresh and dried vegetables, dairy products, cereal and bakery products, processed fruits and vegetables and particularly sugar.

Prices were lower for roasted coffee, pork, processed poultry, and fresh fruits.

Prices in consumer durable goods, which are long-lasting products, rose only 9.1 percent, mainly because of smaller rises for jewelry and passenger cars.

Prices increased sharply for gasoline and home heating oil but declined for tobacco products.

The main reason for the slower rise in industrial products was the first decline since May in lumber and wood prices. However, fuels and power rose 1.1 percent and non-metallic mineral products climbed 0.6 percent.

Among farm products, prices were higher for grains, fresh and dried vegetables, oil seeds, green coffee, tea and cattle. Prices were lower for nuts, fresh fruits, leaf tobacco, hogs, live poultry, milk and raw cotton.

GOP Director Named

AUSTIN (AP)-Wayne Thorburn, assistant professor of political science at Arkansas State University, was named today as executive director of the Texas Republican Party, effective Jan. 1.

He succeeds Doug Lewis, who resigned.

Thorburn, 33, has been active in Republican campaigns since 1964. Last year he was chairman of Citizens for Reagan in northeast Arkansas and was a delegate to the 1976 Republican National Convention.

He is a native of West Somerville, Mass.

Coal Strike Costly

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)-The national coal strike is costing the 160,000 striking members of the United Mine Workers $10 million a day in wages, an industry spokesman says.

Negotiations between the UMW and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association were scheduled to resume today in Washington, D.C., and UMW President Arnold Miller said he asked the industry negotiators to present "a complete counter proposal" during the sessions.

The union's demands include refinancing of miners' health and retirement benefits, a limited right to strike over local grievances and a wage increase to $114.36 per day over the proposed three-year span of the pact. The maximum wage under the contract just expired was $65.36.

According to the estimates of wage and production losses by BCOA spokesman Morris Peibusch, the strike also will cost the union's health and retirement funds approximately $1.21 million daily.

The SDN Column

Picked up from the mail:

Consumers do not have a monolithic common interest, says the consumer Alert Council. Some consumers may value quality above all else, while others value low prices. The beauty of the market system is that the consumers, through their economic voting power, show the producers which types of products they prefer. The activists in the consumerist movement are contending, in effect, that consumers have poor taste. The further implication, of course, is that consumers simply lack sufficient intellectual capacity to decide the good or ill of a product; that consumers will buy products they do not need. Such a simplistic version of the realities of the marketplace is a dangerous doctrine.

The real issue which the Consumer Product Safety Act of 1972 presents is whether we want the consumers to direct production or whether we want a bureaucratic agency to authorize production.

Curtis Is Quitting

WASHINGTON (AP)-After weeks of rumors and speculation, the White House has confirmed that Kenneth M. Curtis is quitting his job as chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said that, at the request of President Carter, Curtis will remain in the post until a replacement is found.

Powell on Wednesday denied suggestions that Curtis, one of Carter's early supporters, was being forced out by White House staff members, although some involved with political operations at the White House are known to have been disatisfied with his work.

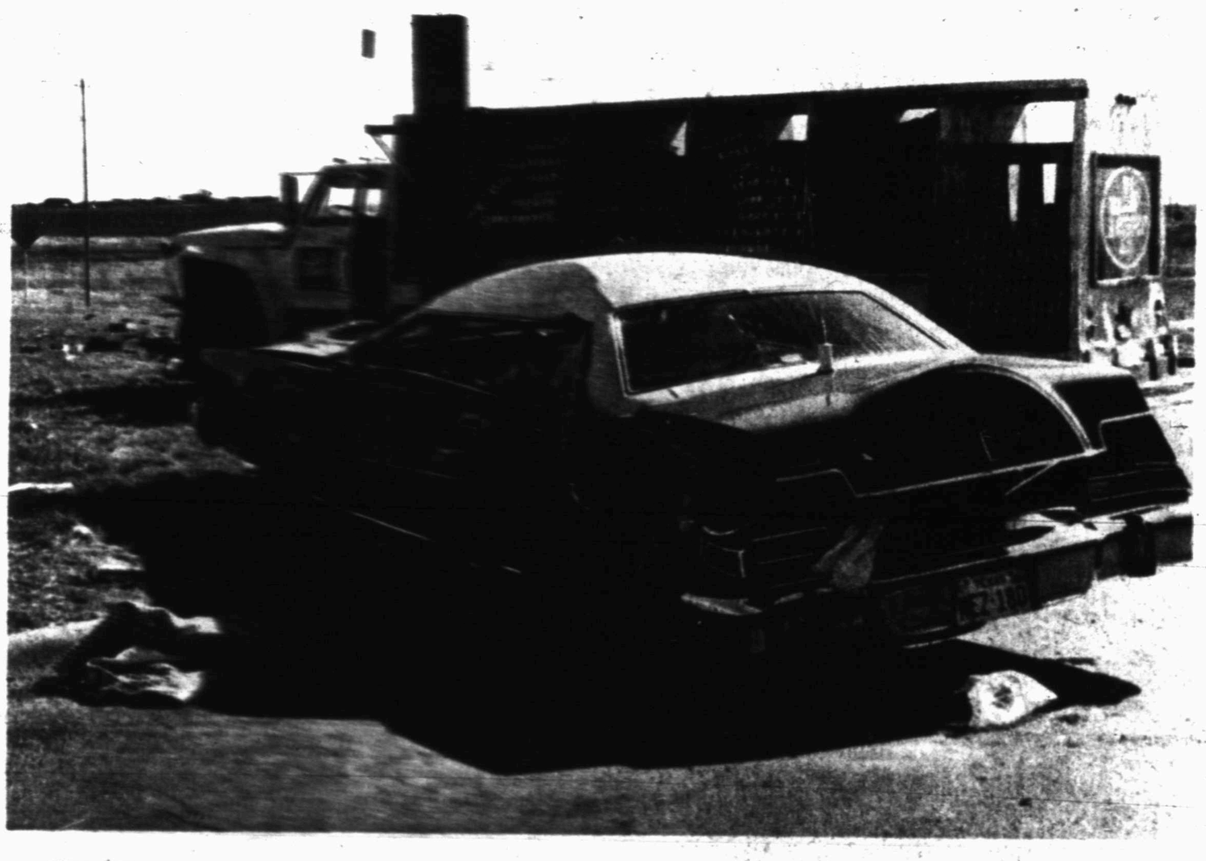

"Unnamed sources who have made such suggestions are decidedly out of step with the president's views about the man both personally and professionally," Powell told reporters.

Carter chose the former Maine governor for the top party job after the 1976 presidential election.

Powell said Curtis told Carter on Oct. 13 of his decision to leave Washington and return to Maine.

SPE To Hear Preston Smith

Former Governor Preston Smith of Lubbock will be the guest speaker tonight at a "Ladies Night" meeting of the Society of Petroleum Engineers, AIME.

The meeting will begin at the Snyder Country Club at 6:30 with a hospitality hour, which will be followed by dinner and the program.

College Board Sets Session

Scurry County Junior College District Trustees are scheduled to consider approval of a carrier for unemployment compensation for the college district at their meeting this evening.

It is the only action item on the agenda except for approval of minutes for the Nov. 17 meeting and approval of the monthly financial statement.

The meeting is set for 5:45 p.m. in the board room of the administration building.

Rash Of Mishaps Causes Injuries, Damages Here

Shards of broken glass littered the traffic Y in Southeast Snyder Wednesday afternoon when a truck laden with bottled soft drinks was in collision with a car.

Two of the car's occupants, Yvonne Johnson, 31, and her 16-month-old daughter, D'Antionnette Johnson, both of Snyder, were admitted to Cogdell Memorial Hospital for observation following the 12:40 p.m. accident. They were not believed to have been seriously injured.

Reports filed by investigating police officers indicate that the 1974 Lincoln Continental driven by Mrs. Johnson was traveling north on State Highway 208 when it was in collision with a 1973 Ford truck, driven by Ruben Ortiz, 21, of Sweetwater, traveling east on a road leading to U.S. Highway 84.

Two other passengers in the Johnson car, Stanley Johnson and Tamora Johnson, did not require hospitalization.

Each of the vehicles received heavy damages in the mishap and both were removed from the scene by wreckers.

In a day seemingly set aside for traffic accidents, three other wrecks were investigated by police yesterday.

In a major mishap at 3 p.m. at the intersection of 25th St. and Ave. Q, three persons were taken to physicians offices for examination, reports indicate.

They were Ora Ussery, 65, Sonja Hartley, 28, and 2-year-old Travis James Hartley, all of Snyder.

Preliminary reports show that a 1974 Buick driven by Ms. Ussery and traveling east on 25th St. was in collision with 1976 Jeep driven by Ms. Hartley that was southbound on Ave. Q.

Extensive damages were reported to both vehicles.

The 1900 block of Ave. N was the scene of a two-

Texas Panel To Prepare Emergency Guidelines

AUSTIN (AP)-Texas' Emergency Preparedness Committee decided today to draw up a state energy emergency planning guide similar to the guidelines just issued by the federal government.

"This will help us two ways," said Mack Wallace, Railroad Commission chairman who heads the special preparedness committee. "We will get on paper just what each state agency should do during an emergency and it will show the federal government what we can do for other states."

Wallace said the preparedness committe likely would make recommendations to the 1979 Legislature for legislation to deal with energy emergencies. He said he understood Texas was one of only a few states without such legislattion.

Dr. Milton Holloway, executive director of the Texas Energy Advisory Council, said the only likely energy problem in Texas this winter was natural gas, not heating oil or propane.

Alan Erwin, a member of the Public Utility Commission, said there should be "no windfall profits" for anyone from an emergency gas supply plan devised by the preparedness committee.

Guy Mathews, chief statistician for the Railroad Commission's gas utility division, said there are 85 interconnections among the 18 intrastate gas pipelines of 250 miles or more.

"We know the pipelines that have an ample supply of gas for their customers," he said.

He said the commission has the authority to order one pipeline to supply gas to another in an emergency but has not had to use it because the companies worked it out themselves.

At Labor Meeting

Meany Assured Of Re-Election

LOS ANGELES (AP)- George Meany gavels the AFL-CIO's 12th constitutional convention to order today with the 1,200 delegates worried about unemployment, imports, organizing and declining union membership rolls.

Some of the delegates believe that Meany himself, at 83, is a problem and are saying publicly that he should step down in favor of younger leadership. But it is only talk by a minority.

Although slowed by age, Meany's grip on the 13.5 million-member labor federation remains strong, and he is assured of unanimous re-election to the presidency he has held since 1955.

The convention comes at a time when the AFL-CIO is beset with serious problems:

-Its ranks have fallen by 500,000 since 1975 and its treasury is $475,000 in the red this year. Leaders largely blame unemployment and will ask the delegates from 106 affiliated unions to raise monthly dues to the international union from 13 cents per member to 16 cents. This will raise an additional $4.8 million a year.

-Public opinion polls show that labor leaders are held in low esteem by most Americans, in part due to repeated allegations of corruption within some unions, unpopular strikes by public employees and aging union leadership.

-Cheap foreign imports are costing thousands of jobs in key manufacturing industries, such as steel, auto, clothing and electrical equipment, where union membership is strongest.

too much guesswork

In a letter addressed to members of the House-Senate conference committee now in the process of adjusting differences in two measures dealing with Social Security, President Carter recommended abandoning plans to increase benefits to claimants over 65 years of age and dropping a provision that allows tax credits to offset cost of college tuition.

The President also recommended that conferees include in their report repeal of an earlier statute which has the effect of giving certain Social Security claimants two cost-of-living increases. Net result of these suggestions would ease the burden of supporting the Social Security System by an estimated $10 billion annually beginning with 1978.

Concern over these items comes a little late, but not too late to be effective in correcting the situation. But it would have been much better if authors of the original measures had done their home work a little more thoroughly. It is this kind of irresponsible action by Congressional committees that explains, as much as anything else does, why our public debt topped $700 billion a few days ago and why present informed projections place the figure at $800 billion within a year.

The immediate problem underscored by the President's letter to the members of the committee charged with responsibility of reconciling differences in House and Senate Social Security bills involves only a single facet of the Federal budget.

Already certain is a substantial increase in payroll taxes in order to keep checks coming through for the millions of claimants. Reason these taxes must be substantially increased is that the system has become insolvent as a result of increasing benefits from time to time without assessing offsetting tax increases.

What the President is really saying is that there will be no net gain in contemplated increases in payroll taxes if Congress at the same time orders new payouts that will about equal the yield of a tax hike.

The tragic aspect of this situation is that there seems to be no basic working plan at either end of Washington's Pennsylvania Avenue. What began as an attempt to restore solvency to the Social Security trust fund has become a mixture of changes which haven't been checked for effect they will have on the final result.

Guesswork and hope are unsatisfactory substitutes for honest research.

out to lunch

President Carter may have an ally in Peking for his campaign against the three-martini expense account lunch.

The Chinese Communist newspaper People's Daily is railing against party officials who are "squandering public money like playboys" with their "extravagent wining and dining."

Our hunch is that the Chinese will make more headway than the Carter administration.

Chairman Hua is identifying overblown lunches and dinners with the influence of the banished "Gang of Four." Thus, a party functionary who orders another round will immediately be suspected of disloyalty or subversion.

All the Carter administration can theaten is the loss of a tax deduction.

And since the people who write our tax laws regularly break for lunch, retiring to Washington restaurants where the menus and wine lists are anything but ascetic, it's difficult to imagine them going back to work with real dedication to this proposal for tax reform.

According to one study, "fast food" meals really aren't so bad.

Fast food, the food dished out in a seemingly endless supply by short-order, chain restaurants, is about equal to home-cooked meals in nutrition.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System, citing a study conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, said that while the meals are comparable in nutritional value, they are different in caloric content and cost.

Five of the seven restaurant meals provided one-fifth or more of the recommended daily allowance for protein, riboflavin, thiamin, and vitamin C.

The restaurant meals consisted of a hamburger or cheeseburger, French fries, and a soft drink. A meal with a milkshake exceeded one-fifth of the recommended daily allowance for calcium.

In all but one of the fast food chains' hamburger meals, fat provided less than 42 percent of the calories, the average in most American diets. A home-cooked meal, however, was slightly less fattening and cost less.

The study indicated that a hamburger, French fries, and soft drink cost about 1.8 times as much as it would have cost to prepare at home. An apple pie dessert at a fast food restaurant cost about 3.5 times as much as a similar home-cooked treat did.

In fast food hamburgers, thiamin values were consistently lower than in hamburgers eaten in the home. Riboflavin values were higher in store-bought hamburgers. Protein levels in home-cooked hamburgers were greater than in other hamburgers.

The study advised that people should bear in mind when eating at a fast food restaurant that the meal provides only a partial supply of their daily food needs. The remainder of the day's food should provide the rest of the recommended amount of nutrients without an excess of calories.

It should also be noted, however, that fast food restaurants are time savers for harried persons too busy during the day to cook their own food.

I find it refreshing to learn that the food I have been gorging myself on is actually fairly decent.

who pays most taxes?

If our President does not understand how the American income tax works, no wonder we don't!

Roper pollsters find three out of four Americans are confused by federal income tax forms.

Most Americans, Roper reports, think the rich people are getting off too easy.

President Carter thinks so.

President Carter says, "The average person in our nation who makes less than $10,000 a year pays a bigger proportion of his income in taxes than the person who makes more than a million dollars a year." That is a precise quote.

But it is not correct.

President Carter is not the first to parrot this political bunkum. No wonder we, the people, are misled.

Here are the numbers direct from the Internal Revenue Service: The average person with a taxable income of $10,000 a year paid 10.3 percent in federal income taxes.

The average person with a taxable income of a million dollars a year paid 49.2 percent.

While politicians protest that many rich people pay no taxes at all, the IRS confirms that people in the $100,000 to $1 million bracket the last audited year paid a total of $8 BILLION in income taxes.

And the IRS confirms that most tax cheaters are in the unaudited echelon; that most tax cheaters make less than $10,000 a year. So now the IRS is undertaking to audit some of them.

One of these cases is Helen, a waitress in a busy cafe, who did not keep track of her tips.

When computing her tax return she "guesstimated."

She reported a total of $290 in tips for the year. That would mean that she received 16 cents an hour in tips.

The Internal Revenue Service didn't buy that.

The IRS people recomputed and came up with their own guesstaimate.

They figured that this particular cafe's credit card sales showed the average tip per meal was 13.9 percent.

Because waitresses customarily give busboys a cut of each tip, the IRS reduced that average to 12.5 percent.

Then the IRS computed average sales per waitress per hour and multiplied that by 12.5 to get tips per waitress per hour.

That is $2.04.

Helen worked 1,833 hours last year–indicating that she pocketed in tips–not a total of $290–but a total of $3,739.

When the case came to tax court, however, Helen's lawyer argued that she worked the six p.m. to two a.m. shirt–serving a clientele which was inclined to tip less than average.

So the tax court reduced the average tip from 12.5 percent to 8 percent.

Thus Helen owes the government taxes on a total of $2,400 in tips.

Plus a 5 percent penalty.

Plus what her lawyer cost.

martha angle and robert walters

WASHINGTON–(NEA) - More than 14 years have passed since the killing, but for too many people the case still remains unsolved. Every purported conclusion about the slaying has been matched by the emergence of a new sub-lot, conspiracy theory or mysterious death.

The assassination of John F. Kennedy "is America's deepest running mystery," notes Tom Miller, author of an important new book on the subject, "The Assassination Please Almanac."

Miller's book is worthy of note because it includes an unprecedented survey of the fascinating cottage industry spawned by citizen discontent with the official investigation of the assassination.

Pollster Louis Harris reported in 1967 that 59 percent of all those questioned in a nationwide survey believed there remained unanswered questions about the Kennedy death.

In the same poll, 44 percent thought there was a wider plot than did the presidential commission headed by then - Chief Justice Earl Warren. A public opinion survey today, 10 years later, probably would reveal even greater cynicism.

Early critics of the Warren Commission's findings were widely dismissed as ghouls and fools, scavengers and sensationalist. In too many instances, there was good cause for that criticism.

The list of those implicated in assassination conspiracies by various self-certified citizen investigators includes an international corporate cabal, the Mafia, Texas oilmen, Zionists, the Secret Service, Lyndon Johnson, Fidel Castro, J. Edgar Hoover and an unidentified man with a black umbrella.

For every left-of-center theorist convinced that the FBI or CIA was orchestrating a vast conspiracy there was a right-of-center analyst equally certain that the Communists masterminded the whole affair.

But assassination buffs are not unlike lawyers, journalists, auto mechanics, plumbers and those engaged in all other forms of human endeavor: Some are sloppy, inept and stupid but others are bright, talented and highly competent.

Miller's book catalogs 247 other books, 15 films, 15 records and 9 plays on the subject. In addition, he identifies scores of researchers, some of them located in such unexpected places as Hammond, La.; Findlay, Ohio; and Bolinas, Calif.

Among them are a number of serious individuals and organizations which not only have exposed major contradictions within the Warren Commission report but also have developed new evidence that merits serious consideration. Almost all have undertaken their work at considerable personal expense.

The Assassination Information Bureau, probably the most respected of the groups, publishes a valuable bimonthly newsletter. Its Washington headquarters serves as a center for the gathering, analysis and dissemination of information.

Sylvia Meagher, a New Yorker, devoted two years of her life to a job the Warren Commission should have done - indexing the commission's 26 volumes of testimony and exhibits so others can readily find specific information. She also is the author of a definitive book on the commission's failures.

Peter Dale Scott, an English professor at the University of California at Berkeley, is the author of several incisive analyses. Harold Weisberg, a Frederick, Md. resident, has written seven hard-to-read but meticulously researched books.

The FBI is about to add fuel to the fire by releasing 80,000 documents from its files on the assassination. Among them is a memo summarizing an FBI investigation that showed the bullet that killed Kennedy was one of four million manufactured for the Marine Corps.

But the memo notes that the Marines had no weapons in which the bullets could be used. It concludes with the suggestion that the ammunition may have been covertly produced for the CIA.

The nation deserves a much fuller official explanation of the Kennedy assassination than has been provided thus far.

doom popular

WASHINGTON, D.C. - In one form or another, doom has always been a best seller and, in many instances, profitable. The production and distribution of doom have sales outlets to be admired by Sears, Wards and General Motors.

The doom ideas crop up in religious, political and economic versions. For decades, it has appeared in population projections, I.Q. studies and weather. Universal doomsday – the end of the world – at a specific time has been sold to thousands on innumberable occasions. No one's money was ever refunded when the time came and went uneventfully. We would assume that there have been many customers satisfied with the mere foreboding.

Why doom is popular evidently remains a trade secret - like the flavoring of Coca Cola or the batter used on Colonel Sanders' fried chicken.

The prophets of doom have been maintained by constantly updating classic models. When science became sort of a religion, doom began to appear in graphs, equations and computer printouts. The trick of sounding specific while being vague has taken on statistical dimensions. For instance, we may be told that 40 million Americans are gored to death by bulls each year and another indefinite number pulverized by pile drivers or otherwise subjected to death, disease and pestilence. Some of these can be found in "movements" and social agencies and in Government.

Facts might be called a rival product but are more often defeated in attempts to compete with the doomsayers. Population explosions have, since the 18th century, been a favorite in the doom industry and continue to be in many parts of the world.

In the 1930's, an underpopulation model was marketed with equal success. Doom was promised on the basis of declining growth which would reduce demand and bring on massive unemployment throughout the western world. This idea was endorsed by the economist, John Keynes, and by a representative of the American Economic Association.

Within a little more than two decades, overpopulation staged a comeback under the same argument advanced by Malthus in the 18th century.

Promoters of doom usually have only to produce the theories but prove nothing. Some are like the temperature having risen 15 degrees since early morning and, should it continue at that same rate, we would all be burned to a crisp before the week is out.

Some legislation in the congress often will have some form of doom atmosphere in its support. At present, an example is the energy bill. The exhaustion of our natural resources, and particularly oil and gas, was assumed until some analyst fed more realistic assumptions into the computer and out came the result that we had several centuries supply of petroleum and natural gas.

Some politicians are pretty good at selling a package of "leadership." Sometimes, it goes like this, "You are almost doomed but I can save you." Some political philosophers will tell us that our salvation requires us to surrender our money and our misused freedom to our "leader" who can make good use of both.

Like catsup, doom goes with a lot of things.

tempest in the brewery

NEW YORK (AP)-It was viewed at first as another strategem in the bruising competition between the nation's two biggest brewers, Anheuser-Busch, sometimes called the king, and Miller Brewing, a growing, aggressive marketer.

It appears now that the issues may be more than a tempest in a bottle.

Involved are accusations of deliberate misrepresentation and exploitation of consumers, and claims that the news media and a government agency are being "used."

On November 10, Anheuser-Busch filed with the Federal Trade Commission a request for an investigation of Miller, its parent, Philip Morris, Inc., and its advertising agency, McCann-Erickson Worldwide.

Miller, said A-B, has been improperly insinuating that Lowenbrau, a quality beer that it distributes, is the original imported product that connoisseurs have savored for nearly five centuries, when in fact Miller now brews it domestically.

McCann-Erickson declined to comment, but the response from Miller was immediate and spirited. "We find it incredulous that the world's largest brewer would ask the FTC to protect them," it said, adding pointedly:

"It seems apparent that the crown on the King of Beers must be slipping."

But a study of the 32-page statement filed by A-B indicates that its accusations were motivated by more than, as Miller suggested, Lowenbrau's success in the "super-premium" market, where it competes with A-B Michelob.

Perhaps most importantly, A-B claimed that domestic Lowenbrau isn't even the same beer that it said the consumer market was led to believe was a successor to that which was first tapped from a keg in 1383.

It isn't, said A-B, even the same beer that was until recently imported from Germany, but which Miller now makes in the United States under a licensing agreement.

Contacted at the Lowenbrau Brewery in Germany, a spokesman seemed to concur. The domestic product he said, is "sort of a light beer that has been tested and found good for American tastes."

A-B listed these specifics in its complaint:

1. German-brewed Lowenbrau is made with 100 percent barley malt and no adjuncts. Domestic Lowenbrau is 72 percent by weight barley malt and 28 percent corn grits.

2. German-brewed Lowenbrau contains no nonnatural additives. Domestic Lowenbrau contains potassium meta bisulfate, an anti-oxidant, and enzymatic chillproofing compound, as well as kelcoloid to improve foam.

3. The German product is naturally carbonated, or krausened. The domestic brew is carbonated nonnaturally by injection of carbon dioxide.

4. The German brew if fermented twice over a period in excess of six weeks. The domestic product is fermented once for a period of nine days.

Holiday Cooks Favor Yams

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press
Food Editor

ORANGE BANANA YAMS--They're luscious with roast turkey.

DEAR CECILY: Some years ago you printed a recipe for canned sweet potatoes baked with brown sugar, orange juice, butter and cornstarch. They were put in the oven for about twenty minutes in a shallow baking dish. It is a very easy, excellent and different dish. I used the recipe several times and then the clipping was lost. I will appreciate it very much if I can have the recipe again.
-HOLIDAY HOSTESS.

DEAR HOLIDAY HOSTESS: I'm happy you asked about that sweet potato dish because I have a new version of it I like very much and hope you and other cooks will, too. Here it is-the original recipe with bananas added. The yam and banana combination is delicious with roast turkey, chicken, duck and goose as well as with roast pork and baked ham.

When I originally worked out the dish I used whole, vacuum-packed sweet potatoes canned without syrup. Nowadays these are not as generally available as they once where. However, I've found that the whole sweet potatoes (yams) in syrup that are in many supermarkets are excellent to use because their syrup is very light. It doesn't make them sticky-sweet. In addition the light syrup seems to keep the yams from being mushy and breaking up; their texture, color, flavor, and shape are all good-C.B.

ORANGE BANNANA YAMS
23-ounce can whole sweet potatoes (yams) in syrup
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1-3rd cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
Grated rind of 1 medium orange (1 tablespoon)
3 medium bananas

Drain the sweet potatoes. (The syrup may be put to some other use.) Slice the potatoes in half lengthwise and place in a single layer in an oblong glass 1½-quart baking dish or similar utensil.

In a small saucepan stir together the cornstarch and brown sugar; gradually stir in the orange juice, keeping smooth. Stir constantly over moderate heat until clear and thickened. Off heat, stir in the butter and the orange rind.

Peel the bananas. Score if you like by drawing a fork lengthwise down them. Slice crosswise about ¼-inch thick. Arrange the bananas over the sweet potatoes. Spoon the orange sauce evenly over the top so the yams and especially the bananas are covered with it.

Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until bubbling hot-15 to 20 minutes. Serve at once. The bananas will have flavored the yams delicately.

Makes 6 to 8 servings-depending on appetites and what else is offered.

Fischer ArrestWarrant Extended

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) -An arrest warrant for former world chess champion Bobby Fischer has been extended because a lawyer says he needs more time to get Fischer to surrender for booking on an assault charge.

"If he's not in by 2 p.m. Friday, there'll be no more extensions, no more requests," Municipal Judge Mortimer Franciscus said Tuesday. "The bench warrant goes out ....."

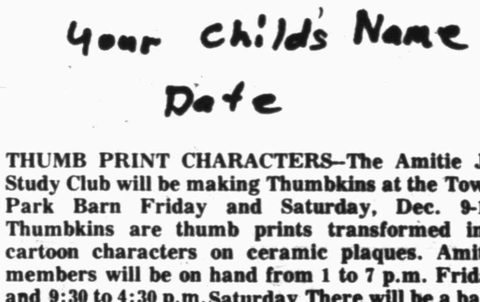

Fischer's appearance in court Tuesday was part of an out-of-court financial settlement made with the plaintiff. Charges would have been dropped if the 32-year-old Fischer had appeared for booking.

Police issued a warrant for Fischer's arrest Oct. 28 after Holly Ruiz, 30, a South Pasadena magazine writer, accused Fischer of threatening and striking her. She said Fischer became angry when he realized that an interview she was conducting was being recorded for publication.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Jim Jacoby is writing today's article as a 75th birthday present to his father.

Dad has been playing a long time, but this 40-year-old hand which has appeared before in this column and many books is still his favorite. The game was rubber bridge and back in those early days Dad opened four-card spade suits regularly.

West might have tried an immediate seven hearts but West figured that such a bid would get a seven-spade sacrifice against it. Hence, his decision to double. West continued his deceptive tactics by bidding just five and six hearts. Dad fell into the trap and doubled, but West couldn't stand prosperity. He redoubled.

North, the late Charles Lockett of St. Louis passed. He was not a rescuer but Dad was. He rescued himself to six spades and went on to seven after West went to seven hearts. By this time he knew West held 13 red cards.

The play was simple. At least Dad thinks so. He ruffed the diamond lead with the eight (a heart lead would have beaten the hand), led trump, finessed his six, ruffed a diamond high, finessed his nine of trumps, ruffed the last diamond with dummy's last trump, came to his hand with the ace of clubs, cashed his ace-king of trumps and wound up by chucking his losing hearts on long clubs.

ASK THE JACOBYS

A New York reader wants to know if spades were always the highest ranking suit.

No, they were not. In Bridge and the early days of auction they ranked lowest. Then they were jumped past all the other suits to rank first.

County 4-H Plans Events

Scurry County 4-H'ers will go caroling and have a Christmas party afterward in the county extension office on December 15. County Wide 4-H Committee planned this activity and others as they met Saturday.

Several 4-H parents will be asked to help with the party by bringing refreshments, and by going along on the bus ride to the homes of some elderly Snyder people for the caroling. Gifts will be exchanged at the party in the extension office after the caroling. Each 4-H'er will be asked to bring a gift for a person of their own age and sex.

The Share-the-Fun Contest is tentatively set for the middle of February. A definite time for it will be set later when school schedules are known.

Those attending were Mary Garza, Josephine Rios, Rosemary Rios, Isabel Rios, Martha Beavers, Xalyn Harris, Becky Natividad, Angela Wilson, Mrs. Elizabeth Beavers, Mrs. Gail Burleson, Angela Burleson and Miss Ruby Butts, county extension agent.

You can "barbecue" corned beef. After simmering the meat in water until tender, pour off the water and put the meat in a shallow baking dish. Pour some barbecue sauce over it and bake, uncovered, in a pre-heated 350-degree oven, basting with the sauce several times, for about half an hour.

Products Liability Insurance Rates Eyed

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)-Products liability insurance rates might not be sky-rocketing, but that day seems near, says the chairman of the State Insurance Board.

Hugh Yantis testified Wednesday before the House Joint Committee on Products Liability, which is looking for ways lawmakers can help reduce rates for such coverage and make sure it is available.

"Premiums are beginning to go up. I can't tell from talking to my staff whether they are skyrocketing, but the fuse is lit," Yantis said.

One possible method for easing the problem would be legislation placing a limit on how long a manufacturer can be held responsible for accidents resulting from the use of his products, he said.

"If a man makes a product, he should not forever be liable for it," Yantis said. He did not recommend, however, how long the statute of limitations should run.

Yantis, who has a flair for the dramatic, opened his pocket knife and simulated how he sometimes uses it to drill holes in wood.

He then showed how the knife blade could collapse "and cut my finger off."

"Does that mean it is a defective knife unless it has locks to hold the blade open?" he asked.

"We have got a lot of philosophizing to do that hasn't been done" about the extent to which manufacturers should be held liable for accidents involving their products, Yantis said.

Yantis said the products liability problem is only "at the beginning of a curve that is going up."

Ed Clay, president of American Body and Equipment Co. of Grand Prairie, which makes truck bodies and equipment, said only the legislature can solve the problem.

Later, he said he paid $600 for $300,000 worth of products liability coverage in 1973 and now pays $29,000 for $500,000 worth, while his sales have held steady at $3 million a year.

DINNER THEATER SCENE--Jepthah (Bob Doolittle) left, is confronted with a very uneasy situation by Obed (Bobby Wells) right, in a scene from "The Dowry," a one-act play to be presented at First Baptist Church. Looking on with interest is old Isaac (Glenn Polk). "The Dowry" is one of two plays to be presented as part of the annual Christmas Dinner Theater at First Baptist. They are set for Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 13-14 in the fellowship hall of the church. Tickets cost $1.50 each, including dinner. Advance reservations are required and may be obtained by calling 573-2631. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m. each evening.

Hill Blasts Gas Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)-A Federal Power Commission ruling that would put more Texas gas into the interstate market has drawn fire from Texas Attorney General John Hill before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Hill urged the court Wednesday to either uphold a lower court decision overturning the FPC ruling or to apply the FPC position only to relatively rare fixed-term leases.

The problem stems from a long-running case among Southland Royalty Co., El Paso Gas Co. and Gulf Oil Corp.

Essentially, the FPC position is that once gas is sold from a lease into the interstate market, other gas from that lease cannot be sold intrastate, whether the gas is within the term of the original lease or not.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the FPC, saying that only gas owned during the term of a lease could be dedicated.

Hill and Houston Attorney J. Evans Attwell asked the court to uphold the appeals court. "You can't sell what you never owned. You can't dedicate what you never owned," Attwell said.

Hill said a ruling in favor of the FPC could cause serious harm to Texas.

Hill said some land in Texas has been leased by as many as nine or 10 gas explorers. Some of them might have found a little gas in one corner of a tract, sold it in interstate commerce, and then let the lease expire when the well petered out, he said.

In the intervening years, a new leaseholder might find another gas field via a different well on the same tract, Hill argued. If the FPC position prevails, the new gas discoverer would be bound to sell that gas in interstate commerce, he said.

How much sleep?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like your advice on a matter that concerns me very much. How long can a person go with only four to five hours of sleep a night and do hard physical labor? A friend of mine who is 59, very nervous, and has high blood pressure, will not take medication for it. He works 10 to 11 hours a day, six days a week. He does very heavy lifting. He drinks several beers when he gets home, and then lives on a diet of mostly starch.

He goes to bed around 7:00, and then is up and down all night smoking. He smokes around two cartons a week. At 3:30 a.m., he is up with the coffee pot on, and off to work around 5:00 a.m.

No matter what I say, he will not listen. He won't see a doctor so I thought maybe you could give us an answer in the paper. I read it every day, and maybe a word from you would help this man.

DEAR READER — He does need help. Ignoring the sleep hours for the moment, if he is a heavy smoker and has high blood pressure, he is greatly increasing the risk of having a heart attack or a stroke.

He should stop cigarettes entirely. Also, he should stop coffee. A person who is nervous and has high blood pressure is often treated with medicines that have a tranquilizing effect. Coffee has the opposite effect. I think people who have high blood pressure should eliminate coffee, tea, colas and chocolate.

It's very important to control blood pressure to help prevent heart attacks and strokes. If your friend's change in lifestyle doesn't result in lowered blood pressure, he should have medicine. All of this means he needs to be under a doctor's care.

He may be getting more rest than you think. If he goes to bed at 7:00, and gets up at 3:00, that is eight hours. The fact that he is up and down may decrease his rest, but just resting for the eight hours does some good even if a person is not sleeping.

Whether he is eating a proper diet or not depends upon what else he eats besides starches, and whether or not he is overweight. If he is overweight, he needs to lose weight in the interest of helping to lower his blood pressure.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-8, Blood Pressure, to give you a better idea of how blood pressure works. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please tell me if the medication, diethylstilbesterol, is a cancer deterrent.

DEAR READER — That depends. It is a synthetic female hormone known as DES or simply as stilbesterol. It can be used as an anticancer chemotherapy, as in the treatment of cancer of the prostate. On the other hand, its use in women to prevent a miscarriage may rarely cause a cancer in the female offspring of the mother. And, there are the questions about female hormones as a factor in cancer of the lining of the uterus. This is a good example where medicine has different effects in different people, which makes it hard for people to understand why their doctor is using that medicine.

ASTRO-GRAPH
Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Dec. 9, 1977

The year ahead could be a very adventuresome one for you. You'll gain knowledge through new experiences and contacts. Some of this may be a result of long-distrance travel.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Unless you make a game of your serious goals today, you may find them dull and pedestrian. If you can make light of them, you'll overcome. Like to find out more of what lies ahead for you? Send for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing 50 cents for each sign and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Put aside your anxieties that one who is indebted to you won't come through. It's better than even money that your fears are groundless.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Social forums should not be used for attempting to transact business today. Chances are good that those you're clinking teacups with aren't interested.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You'll need more than charm and good looks to cut the mustard today. It's going to take the three big E's — Energy, Effort and Enthusiasm.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Sometimes you have an unfortunate tendency to do the right things for the wrong people. This could be one of those days.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Normally you're a plodder and will hang in there at all costs. Today you get discouraged when all it takes is a little extra push to get over the hump.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Keep your priorities in order today. Your first responsibilities are to your family, then to outsiders. You may be tempted to reverse the order.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're not too willing to put yourself out for others today. You'll want to make sure there's something in it for you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Put a lock on your purse today and hide the key. Rather than finding ways to spend money, think of ways that you can add to your resources.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Loved ones may lean on you a little heavily today and this might pique you a bit. Think of what they've done for you. You'll soon change your tune.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You may be guilty of something today very foreign to your nature — prejudging others. If you are aware of this, you certainly won't do it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) By all means, try to avoid parasitic types today. They'll really turn you off. They're diametrically opposed to your generous nature.

Hatfield Speaks To Baptist, Jews

DALLAS (AP)-A first-ever meeting of Baptist and Jewish leaders heard Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., say Wednesday that both religions have the responsibility to "bear a truly prophetic witness to the human rights that emerge from our Biblical tradition."

The three-day meeting closed on an emotional note when House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Texas cried as he spoke of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's recent trip to Israel.

"I'm deeply impressed with the sincerity of Sadat," Wright said. "There is no parallel for what he did."

Calling the spirit of the joint meeting "the wave of the future," Wright said, "People of the Middle East are tired of the burden and cost of war."

The religious leaders met to discuss political and social issues.

Hatfield, a Baptist, said the suffering of Jews throughout history and modern-day persecution of Christians in Uganda illustrates why people of God must restore the world's human rights.

"Every person is a creation of God and has the right to have his life valued," Hatfield said.

James Dunn, director of the Texas Baptist Christian Life Commission, and Rabbi Marc Tannenbaum, a leader of the American Jewish Committee, said the Baptist and Jewish leaders had decided to continue collaboration in an attempt to resolve human rights problems.

The Scurry County Courthouse will close at 3 p.m. Friday so that some repairs to the electrical wiring can be made. County offices will reopen at the regular hours on Monday.

Firemen Called

A minor wall furnace fire was doused late Wednesday morning by city firefighters.

The fire occurred in the Mike Brown home, approximately two miles east of Snyder on the Roby Highway.

The fire was reported at 11:18 a.m.

Three Perish In Fire

BEAUMONT (AP)-Three Lamar University students from Louisiana were killed early today when fire swept through an apartment complex near the Southeast Texas school.

The victims were identified by Beaumont Police Lt. Lyle Amy as Louis A. Peltier, 18, Kyle L. Landry, 18, and John R. Olmstead, 19.

The three victims were Iberia, La., natives, Amy said.

The fire destroyed seven units of the Four Oaks apartment complex and caused heavy damage in other units, according to Amy.

Two other residents of the apartment complex were being treated for injuries suffered in the blaze.

Baby's Body Is Found

GRAPEVINE (AP)-"Please take care of him. His name is Gary Don and I love him," read the note near the body of a newborn baby, discovered Thursday in a paper bag.

Grapevine policeman Don Armstrong said the body was wrapped in a sheet. It was discovered by two teenage girls on their way to school.

Grapevine Police Chief Bill McLain said the baby may not have been alive when it was placed in the car. "I'm hoping against hope that the baby wasn't put out there and it froze to death," McLain said.

Authorities were awaiting the results of an autopsy on the body.

Play Rehearsals Family Thing For McCormicks

Play rehearsals and theatrical productions are a "family thing" around the Junior McCormick household at 3106 Avenue U since all three of the children in the household are a part of the upcoming Snyder High School Musical "Oliver."

Senior Jeanne McCormick plays the role of Mrs. Sowerberry, is stage-manager for the show, assists both directors, and is heavily involved in the production of costumes for the show. She is no stranger to the stage, having appeared in numerous SHS productions, and locally for a large number of service clubs. She is a member of last year's All State Choir and a candidate for the same honors this year. She was also a member of last years state championship play "Romeo and Juliet."

Cindi, a Sophomore, plays a role of a young boy in the production. She is also involved in making costumes, props and scenery for the show.

Charlie is a student at West Elementary School, but is in his second high school production.

All three were members of last year's musical, "The Sound of Music" as was the "fourth" child in the family, AFS Student, Inge Hefel from Austria.

The musical comedy is no stranger to these family members. On a trip to New York City summer before last they saw "My Fair Lady" on Broadway as well as other shows. Jeanne, an AFS exchange student to Brazil during the past summer, also took advantage of theatrical offerings there.

Both reserved and general admission seats for the production of "Oliver" are available at Snyder High School.

A 1976 Ford pickup truck driven by Renee Patterson Floyd was in collision with a 1976 Chevrolet driven by Rudy Johnson yesterday in the Varsity Square Shopping Center parking lot.

The mishap was reported at 10:12 a.m. and resulted in minor damages to each car.

More Whoopers

AUSTIN (AP)-Things are looking up for the rare whooping crane, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reported Thursday.

Latest reports from the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge near Corpus Christi show that 61 adults and nine young have arrived at their wintering grounds.

This total of 70 birds compares with last year's count of 69, all of which were adults.

At one time, in 1939, the department said, there were only 14 whooping cranes sighted along the Texas coast.

Auto Tax Is OK'd By Panel

WASHINGTON (AP)-President Carter can claim an important victory in congressional negotiators' approval of a tax on fuel-wasting cars. But a final agreement on the toughest energy problems seems as elusive as ever.

If accepted by a second conference committee and then by the House and Senate, the auto tax would cost buyers of inefficient 1979-model cars up to $550, a figure that would soar to as much as $3,850 on 1985 models.

The tax was approved Wednesday by the conference committee on energy taxes. Another part of the compromise approved by the committee would allow the 19 million motorists who itemize income tax deductions to continue to take a deduction for state and local gasoline taxes. The House had voted to end that tax break.

Even with those agreements, it seems unlikely that Congress will be able to wrap up work this year on Carter's energy program.

The two energy conference committees still face the toughest issues of all - the price of natural gas, a tax on domestic crude oil to force conservation and the distribution of revenues from that tax.

There appears to be a hardening of positions on key issues.

Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, who supports Carter's House-approved plan to keep federal controls on the price of natural gas, said, "We have no leeway in our position, absolutely no flexibility."

Rep. Anthony Moffett, D-Conn., said an increasing number of House members "would certainly rather have no bill than to move too far toward deregulation" of natural gas prices, which is favored by the Senate.

And Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the chief Senate delegate at the tax committee, was sharply critical of the Carter administration for what he called its refusal to compromise on giving the oil and gas industry additional incentives to increase production.

The House-Senate panel considering natural gas faced another session today with little prospect of progress.

The tax panel, after approving the auto tax, adjourned until next week to give staff members time to work out some proposals for taxing factories and power plants that burn large amounts of oil or natural gas.

The vote on the auto tax was the first major agreement reached by the tax conferees in 11 days of meetings.

The tax is not expected to save a great deal of energy, only about 175,000 barrels of oil a day compared to current U.S. consumption of 18 million barrels a day. But backers view the tax as a highly visible tool to make Americans aware of the need to conserve fuel.

The tax would be paid directly by the buyer of any car that does not meet minimum standards. It would be in addition to a heavy fine on any manufacturer whose fleet of new cars did not meet mileage standards. While the manufacturer would have to pay that penalty, it would be passed along to customers as higher car prices.

Two Girls Are Arrested In Burglary

Two girls were arrested Wednesday by police in connection with a recent burglary in which $57 worth of food stamps were reportedly stolen.

Chief Juvenile Officer Jim Saunders reported that the girls, aged 14 and 19, respectively, were apprehended yesterday after redeeming the stamps for food at a local supermarket. They were booked on charges alleging burglary of a habitation.

Reported originally as a theft, Saunders said the food stamps were taken in a burglary of the 1711 13th St. home of Delores Allen. The incident was reported to police Tuesday afternoon.

The juvenile, said Saunders, is alleged to have burglarized the home while the other girl is reported to acted as an accomplice.

Ehrlichman Gets Freedom Date

Campbell Expected Heisman Trophy Winner Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)-Earl Campbell, the University of Texas' 220-pound bruising runner, is expected to become (1) the Heisman Trophy winner and (2) a television personality tonight when college football's most prestigious award is presented in an hour-long TV special CBS, 10 p.m., EST.

Since Jay Berwanger of the University of Chicago won the first Heisman Trophy in 1935, the 13½-inch-high statue of a running back has gone to a runner or a quarterback every year but two.

Larry Kelley of Yale in 1936 and Leon Hart of Notre Dame in 1949 were the only "outsiders" to capture the award.

Both were two-way ends. No interior lineman has ever won the Heisman.

One thing is certain this year-the winner won't be a quarterback. To provide some suspense and drama, the Downtown Athletic Club of New York, which sponsors the Heisman, has created six new trophies known as the DAC Awards.

The top three finishers in each category-offensive end, offensive lineman, running back, defensive lineman, linebacker, defensive back-have been invited to attend tonight's $65-a-plate black-tie banquet at the New York Hilton Hotel.

The accounting firm of Harris, Kerr, Forster & Co., which tabulated the ballots of some 1,050 members of the media from coast to coast, announced that the top three Heisman finishers are among the invites.

Indians Surprise 2nd Seeded North Carolina

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

It's not often anybody mentions William & Mary's basketball team in the same breath with North Carolina, but the indians are certainly on equal footing with the Tar Heels today.

In fact, they're a step ahead of them.

William & Mary pulled off the upset of the young college season Wednesday night with a 78-75 victory over the nation's second-ranked team, and Coach Bruce Parkhill indulged himself with the inevitable superlatives.

"It was a great, great win for us," said the William & Mary coach. "I think we maintained the tempo of the game throughout. UNC is a heck of a ball team, but right now I just can't find words to describe how I feel about our squad."

North Carolina Coach Dean Smith was kind enough to throw some superlatives of his own William & Mary's way.

"They played a great, great basketball game," he said.

Elsewhere in college basketball, third-ranked Notre Dame walloped Northwestern 88-48; No. 16 Louisville defeated No. 9 Michigan 88-85; No. 12 Maryland tripped East Carolina 130-106; 15th-ranked Holy Cross whipped Iona 105-83; 18th-ranked Syracuse trounced Colgate 99-50 and No. 19 Kansas blasted Fairleigh Dickinson 88-54.

John Lowenhaupt's 21 points led William & Mary's upset of North Carolina. The surprising Indians took a 32-31 lead at halftime and steadily built it until the Tar Heels made a belated comeback behind Phil Ford, who scored 24 points in the game.

The Indians came close to losing their lead late in the game by missing the front end of two one-on-one free throw situations. With 31 seconds left, North Carolina's Mike O'Koren hit on two to make it 71-70. But then free throws by Bobby Boyd and Billy Harrington moved the Indians ahead 76-71 and the Tar Heels couldn't come back.

Duck Williams scored 23 points as Notre Dame held Northwestern scoreless for the first seven minutes and romped over the outclassed Big Ten team.

Rick Wilson stole the ball from Paul Heuerman and scored on a layup with 26 seconds left, then iced the game with two free throws with six seconds remaining as Louisville beat Michigan. Wilson had 26 points to lead the Cardinals before a capacity crowd of 13,600 at Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Greg Manning scored 20 points, leading eight players in double figures as Maryland defeated East Carolina in a school record performance. The Terps' point total broke the mark of 127, set against East Carolina and equalled against Brown.

Ronnie Perry scored a game-high 29 points to lead Holy Cross past Iona.

Dale Shackleford and Marty Byrnes combined for 30 points as Syracuse's well-balanced attack buried Colgate. Darnell Valentine scored 19 points to lead Kansas over Fairleigh Dickinson.

In other games, Texas beat Oklahoma State 108-87 as Jim Krivacs scored 42 points; Jim Graziano's 24 points led South Carolina over Baptist College of Charleston 107-75; Georgetown walloped Wagner 96-65 as Rich Jackson scored 16 second-half points; George Washington defeated Wisconsin 77-74 behind Tom Glenn's 20 points and West Virginia buried CCNY 105-66 as Lowes Moore scored 24.

ALL-STAR--Bernie Weems, Sul Ross State University freshman from Snyder, has been named to the second defensive unit of the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association All-Star Team. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Weems of Snyder, he also held second place in conference punting with an average of 40.5 yards per punt. He was credited with 54 solo tackles and 25 assists as a defensive back for SRSU.

Independence, 7-1, garnered six of 21 first-place votes in the poll for a sizable lead over Vincennes, Ind., 7-1, which had one first place vote.

The top 10 teams in the poll: 1, Independence, Kan., 7-1. 2, Vincennes, Ind., 7-1. 3, Grayson County, Texas, 7-0. 4, Casper, Wyo., 6-0. 5, Mercer County, N.J., 5-0. 6, DuPage, Ill., 7-0. 7, North Iowa, 6-0. 8. Rice's Kramer Tosses Well For Minnesota

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP)-Even if rookie Tommy Kramer does not start his first regular season game Sunday against the Oakland Raiders, there is no doubt that he is the Minnesota Vikings' quarterback of the future.

"He's certainly done everything we expected of him when we drafted him No. 1," says Minnesota General Manager Mike Lynn.

Kramer's total playing time with only two weeks left in the National Football League regular season amounts to about half a game. He got in a few minutes on Nov. 6, when the Vikings absorbed a 27-7 licking at the hands of the St. Louis Cardinals.

A week later 37-year-old Fran Tarkenton was carried off the field with a broken bone in his leg. Kramer was pressed into action in the third quarter because veteran backup quarterback Bob Lee had not recovered from a broken bone in his right hand.

Kramer completed four of six passes, one for a touchdown, and directed three TD marches to complete a 42-10 rout of the Cincinnati Bengals.

With Tarkenton sidelined for the season and Lee generally ineffective against the San Francisco 49ers last Sunday, the 22-year-old from the Rice University played the last 12½ minutes.

Minnesota scored three touchdowns, all on Kramer passes, in wiping out a 24-7 deficit to nip the 49ers 28-27.

That means the Vikings have scored six touchdowns in their nine possessions with Kramer at quarterback. "It's almost impossible for him to continue to play at the same level," Lynn notes.

"When I go in things have happened and it's been fortunate for me," says Kramer.

Kramer was a four-year starter at Rice, a school he chose because of its high academic ratings. He completed 507 of 1,036 passes for 37 TDs in his college career, capped by a spectacular senior year of 269 completions of 501 attempts for 3,317 yards and 21 TD passes.

"When Tom had an open receiver he got him the ball," says Vikings Coach Bud Grant in explaining why he was the first quarterback to be drafted on the first round by Minnesota. "I think that was the single outstanding thing."

House, Senate Agree On Abortion Funding

WASHINGTON (AP)- Congress is ending its debate over public payments for poor women's abortions, but members already are predicting that the issue will come up again.

After more than four months of bitter argument, the House and Senate agreed Wednesday on conditions for abortion funding through the Medicaid program, which serves mostly poor people.

The agreement freed a $60.2 billion appropriation for the government's major social service agencies and guaranteed that the 240,000 employees involved would receive full paychecks before Christmas.

Without an agreement on the measure, their checks would have been cut in half as the agencies ran out of payroll money.

The dispute arose in connection with the funding authorization for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare in fiscal year 1978. Ten smaller agencies also depended upon the legislation for their budgets.

The compromise calls for abortion payments when a woman might die by going through a full pregnaney, for rape or incest victims who make prompt reports to law enforcement or public health authorities and in cases where two doctors certify that a woman would suffer severe and long-lasting physical health damage because of a pregnancy.

The House and Senate agreed from the beginning that abortion payments should be provided when a pregnant woman's life was threatened. But they differed on other points.

The Senate wanted to take the physical and mental health of the woman and the fetus into account. The House, in declining to go that far, ruled out entirely any exceptions for fetal health and a woman's mental health. The House also insisted on limits to the exemptions for a woman's physical health.

The provisions for rape and incest victims were among the most controversial. The House members were willing to provide coverage in case of forced rape. But they opposed the statutory rape provision, which covers pregnancies of women below the legal age of consent.

The Senate reluctantly agreed to the reporting requirements to satisfy House concerns that the rape-incest provision would encourage fraud.

Action Taken On 5 Texas Nursing Homes

AUSTIN (AP)-The Texas Department of Health said Wednesday it has taken action the past week against five Texas nursing homes because their operations did not meet federal-state standards.

Nine other homes named in earlier punitive actions were given approval to continue operations.

Vendor holds, the withholding of state and federal money, were ordered against the Jarvis Heights Nursing Center, Fort Worth; Leisure Lodge, Anahuac, and Golden Age Manor-Rookin, Houston.

Decertification action was taken against Willowbrook Manor of Longview and Retama Manor South, Laredo, pending correction of deficiencies.

The release of vendor money was ordered for the Manor Retirement and Convalescent Center, Mexia; Oak Manor Nursing Home, Nacodoches; Deerings of Odessa; Colonial Nursing Home of Lubbock and Wileyvale Community Nursing Home, Houston.

Recertification was ordered for Harlingen Good Samaritan Center, Retama Manor Nursing Center, Robstown; Leisure Lodge, Childress, and Manor Care-Winter Haven, Houston.

Group Tours Museums Here

Twenty Lubbock residents on a one-day sightseeing tour arranged by TNM&O Tours, Inc., visited the Diamond M Museum and the Scurry County Museum at Western Texas College Tuesday.

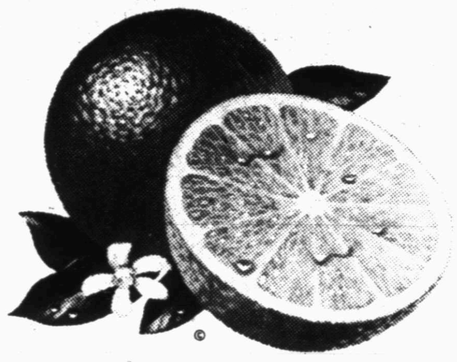

The group went to the Diamond M Museum during the morning and then visited the Scurry County Museum after lunch. A brief tour of the college campus was also provided for the visitors.

Mrs. James Whitson, tour director, said TNM&O is planning several day-long tours and that the Snyder museums will probably be included on later tours.

Dallas, Houston Battle For Biggest Plex Rights

DALLAS (AP)-Round Two of the Great Texas Population Fight is under way, with Dallas and Houston contending for bragging rights as the state's biggest "plex."

Dallas, staggered earlier by a San Antonio claim that it is now bigger than Big D, went to the canvas Thursday when the Houston Chamber of Commerce predicted the "Houstoplex" will be bigger than the Dallas-Fort Worth "Metroplex" by 1981.

Houston officials based their punch on the results of a private marketing survey that uses a new technique to determine populations.

Recent publicity releases from Houston boast that the "seven-county Houston-Galveston Standard Consolidated Statistical Area" will reach a population of 2,953,400 in the next four years.

The releases claim the "11-county Dallas-Fort Worth Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) will be foundering at a mere 2,790,000 population in 1981."

The Houston area already leads the Metroplex in several areas, including total retail sales.

While the Thursday punch from the Bayou City put Big D down, it didn't end the scrap.

Dan Petty, president of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, climbed off the canvas and countered with a combination, claiming that the Houston numbers are artificial.

"I don't know what a 'consolidated' area is," Petty jabbed. "But I do know our SMSA was about 250,000 larger at last estimate. And Galveston adds only 182,000, so that won't make up the difference."

Petty displayed flashy footwork when he said that "arbitrarily" combining two SMSAs is unfair. "I guess we could combine with Sherman and Denison under the same logic and pick up 100,000 or so."

Houston pressed the attack, unleashing Howard Martin, director of research for the Houston chamber. He said the numbers put out by his outfit were developed by a New York-based firm which publishes a book he called the "Bible to the advertising field."

Santa And The Pigwidgen

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The elves give Claus four gifts to destroy the Pigwidgen: an arrow, a ring, a mouthharp and a dagger dipped in poison. The magic of each will work only once.

CHAPTER SEVEN
THE GIANT

WHAT did it matter, thought Claus, if the magic of the elves' marvelous gifts would work but once? Each weapon was so powerful that it could destroy the Pigwidgen. And once only would it be needed.

Claus thanked the elves and climbed aboard the Sopchoppy River Ferry. Patrick Tweedleknees poled the raft back through the dark and perilous currents.

At the river's end they clambered out of the hole and started on their way to the land of frost and never-ending snow where the Pigwidgen was said to dwell.

Day and night they traveled north. They stopped only for a few hours' sleep or to hunt for a bit of food in the forests. One night they came upon a mansion standing dark and empty against the moonlighted sky.

It was a cold night and so they crept through the doorless entrance of the mansion to find warmth. Using Tweedleknees' fire-fly flashlight they found themselves in an empty hall from which four long and one short corridors led. They tiptoed into the short corridor and lay down on the floor and fell asleep.

With a great bellow, the giant raced after them.

When dawn came they went back to the hall and out the flapping, doorless entrance. Tweedleknees stood there yawning noisily. Claus clapped his hand over the elf's mouth. He pointed at a nearby hill.

"What is it?" sputtered Tweedleknees behind Claus' hand.

"It's not a hill!" gasped Claus. "It's a sleeping giant!" He pointed at the mansion where they had spent the night. "And that isn't a mansion. It's the giant's glove!"

Suddenly the mighty hump stirred.

"L-let's get out of here!" stuttered Tweedleknees. He and Claus started off as fast as their trembling legs could carry them.

Unfortunately the only place to run was straight up a mountainside. They had hardly started when a grinding, crunching caterwaul split their ears. They fell to the ground and shivered and shook. When they peered down at the hump they saw the giant had merely turned on his back and was now peacefully snoring.

"What an oaf!" grumbled Tweedleknees. He was ashamed to have been so afraid. "I should have given him a good clouting while we were there."

"Come on," urged Claus. "He may wake soon."

They scrambled up the rocky mountain. They had only to disappear on the other side to be safe and the giant would never know they had been there.

But when they reached the top Tweedleknees turned and glared down at the hump far below. "I'm not afraid of giants," he bragged. "In fact, I thinR I'll just finish off that giant before we go."

Before Claus could stop him, Tweedleknees put all his weight behind a colossal boulder and shoved it off the top of the mountain. The boulder rocketed down the mountain side and bashed the head of the sleeping giant.

"What have you done?" cried Claus in alarm.

"Demolished a giant!" said Tweedleknees gleefully.

But the boulder had done the giant no more harm than an acorn dropped from a tree. It had merely awakened him and he was very annoyed.

He lumbered to his feet. Seeing Claus and Tweedleknees at the top of the mountain he gave a bellow and started after them.

Should She Marry Man With Epilepsy?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y.News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Last month I met a wonderful young man. He's 32 and I'm 29. We liked each other immediately and he asked to take me out. He said he couldn't drive a car because of the "medication" he was taking. I asked why he was on medication and he told me he had epilepsy. I was shocked because he looks so healthy. He explained that when he was a child he had been hit by a car and was in a coma for a week with head injuries. He said he takes pills to keep from blacking out, but he may get a seizure once or twice a year anyway, so he can't drive.

Now here's the unbelievable part. Two years ago I started going with a fellow who wore a bracelet stating he had epilepsy, only this fellow told me that he was born with it. He took three pills a day to keep from falling down.

I broke off with him because I was afraid if we married and had children they might inherit epilepsy. Also I wouldn't know what to do if he ever got sick in front of me. I never told him why I broke off with him because I didn't want to hurt him.

Now I find myself attracted to another man with the same problem. I can't believe it! Can epileptics marry and have children? How often do their "spells" occur, and how bad are they? What can a person do to help them? (I heard you have to hold their tongue so they won't swallow it.) Please explain these things to me, Abby. I can't ask anyone else.

NO NAME IN MICHIGAN

DEAR NO NAME: An estimated one out of every 100 Americans has epilepsy. It's the only common disorder where the sufferer is more handicapped by the attitude of society than by his disability.

Although the tendency toward epilepsy can be inherited, it is not considered a hereditary disorder. In recent years medication and treatment have been very effective in controlling epilepsy. With proper care, most epileptics are able to live normal lives, marry and have healthy children.

Don't hesitate to ask the young man questions about his condition, and if your relationship becomes serious, you may want to speak with his doctor.

In the meantime, write to the Epilepsy Foundation of America, 1828 L. St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036, who will refer you to your local chapter. They will provide you with free booklets telling you all you want to know about epilepsy but are afraid to ask.

DEAR ABBY: My husband was sentenced to three years in prison. We have two small children who love their Daddy very much. They are still too young to know what has happened, but I plan to take them and go back to live with my parents until my husband gets out of prison.

What should I tell my children when they ask where their father is?

TROUBLED IN TEXAS

DEAR TROUBLED: Tell them the truth in language that they will be able to understand. (If you don't, somebody else will.)
